Start your day with Bright Mornings (☎ 904-491-1771; 105 S 3rd St; mains $5-10; ⏰ 7:30am-2pm Mon-Tue & Thu-Fri, 8am-2pm Sat & Sun), a supremely pleasant café serving heaping portions of breakfast and lunch. Small plates and mains live happily side by side at the tiny, stylish bistro 29 South (☎ 904-277-7919; 29 S 3rd St; small plates $5-12, mains $18-30; ⏰ 11am-2pm & 5:30-9pm Tue-Sat, 10am-2pm Sun). And rounding out your dining options is Beech Street Grill (☎ 904-277-3662; 801 Beech St; mains $17-30, brunch $7-10; ⏰ 6pm-close daily, 11:30am-2pm Sun), with whatever kind of seafood your heart desires at dinner, not to mention a killer brunch.

Hwy A1A links the island to the mainland, but there's no public transportation. Rent bikes at Pipeline Surfshop (☎ 904-277-3717; 2022 1st Ave; per hr/business day $5/12; ⏰ 10am-6pm).

WEST COAST

If Henry Flagler's railroad made the east coast of Florida what it is today, his non-attention to the rest of the state similarly affected the west coast. Things are calmer here, with fewer tourist hordes and more room for nature to amuse us with shelling beaches, swamp lands and nature preserves. The west coast has front-row seats to flame-red sunsets emblazoned over the Gulf of Mexico, as well as adrenaline-pumping roller coasters, hand-rolled cigars and lip-synching mermaids.

TAMPA

Florida's third-largest city is all business. Well, mostly business. Chains and oversized office parks line the highways and it's not immediately apparent what there is to do here, other than get a nine-to-five job. But Tampa's revitalized historic district Ybor City and a few downtown museums absolutely reward a stop. Information is available from the convention & visitors bureau (☎ 813-223-2752, 800-448-2672; www.visittampabay.com; 615 Channelside Dr; 9:30am-5:30pm Mon-Sat, 11:30am-5pm Sun).

Sight & Activities

DOWNTOWN TAMPA

Check out the Henry B Plant Museum (☎ 813-254-1891; www.plantmuseum.com; 401 W Kennedy Blvd; adult/child $5/2; ⏰ 10am-4pm Tue-Sat, noon-4pm Sun) if for no other reason than to wander around the landmark Victorian building it's housed in. Formerly a luxury hotel, it's easily the most beautiful building in town.

At the time of research, the Tampa Museum of Art (☎ 813-274-8130; www.tampamuseum.org; 120 Gasparilla Plaza; adult/child $7/3; ⏰ 10am-5pm) was putting the finishing touches on a brand new, 66,000-sq-ft building – which should be open by the time you read this – to house their paintings, sculptures, and Greek and roman antiquities.

Kids can challenge the laws of physics as well as their fear of heights at the Museum of Science & Industry (☎ 813-987-6100; www.mosi.org; 4801 E Fowler Ave; adult/child $20/16; ⏰ 9am-5pm Mon-Fri, to 6pm Sat & Sun; 👶), where you can ride a bike across a highwire 30ft in the air and learn about dinosaurs, hurricanes and the human body.

At Florida Aquarium (☎ 813-273-4000; www.flaquarium.org; 701 Channelside Dr; adult/child $20/15; ⏰ 9:30am-5pm; 👶) you can get your hands wet with touch tanks or dive into the shark tank (scuba divers $150).

YBOR CITY

This cobblestoned 19th-century historic district preserves a strong Cuban-Spanish heritage while embracing a hip, happening nightlife scene. About two miles from

MARCY TERRY

For more than 10 years Marcy Terry has delighted audiences with underwater mermaid performances at Weeki Wachee Springs. Marcy now holds the dual title of Underwater Theatre Manager and Head Mermaid.

What's your favorite thing about being a mermaid? I just love the environment. My office is a beautiful underwater spring; I get to swim and get paid; I interact with children who believe in mermaids and they're just so happy to be here.

How long does it take to become a mermaid? First we have to get scuba-certified, then we learn to breathe through air hoses, which is different from regular scuba diving. Then we start learning how to swim in a tail and learning the choreography, so it takes three to six months.

Other than Weeki Wachee, what's your favorite Florida tourist attraction? I would have to say Disney. I just love the magic there, and I have a two-year-old and she loves going there. I love seeing her little eyes light up. Everybody's happy and all the little kids believe all that stuff so you can't help but feel that way also.

If you had visitors from out of state, where would you take them? First I would bring them here. Then, the beaches are beautiful; we'd probably go to a beach. Of course we'd hit Disney. And, I don't know, I think the small roadside attractions need all the tourists they can get, so I'd probably do those.

downtown, Ybor (rhymes with Eeyore) City was established by the owner of a cigar factory who drew hundreds of Cuban, Spanish and Italian immigrant workers to the area, and that diversity has bestowed more charm on this area than the whole rest of Tampa put together. The visitor center (☎ 813-241-8838; www.ybor.org; 1600 E 8th Ave; 🕒 10am-6pm Mon-Sat, noon-6pm Sun) provides an excellent introduction with walking-tour maps and info. Centered around a seven-block stretch of 7th and 8th Aves, everything is within walking distance.

You can still pick up a close-to-Cuban cigar and watch master cigar rollers at work at several different shops, including La Herencia de Cuba (☎ 813-248-9620, 800-324-9803; www.ramirezcigars.com; 1817 E 7th Ave) and Gonzalez y Martinez (☎ 813-248-8210; www.gonzalezymartinez.com; 2103 E 7th Ave) in the Columbia Restaurant building.

The Ybor City Museum State Park (☎ 813-247-6323; www.ybormuseum.org; 1818 E 9th Ave; admission $3; 🕒 9am-5pm) chronicles the history of cigar-making in interesting if text-heavy exhibits, and historic walking tours (incl museum admission $6) depart from the museum at 10:30am each Saturday.

BUSCH GARDENS & ADVENTURE ISLAND

Is it a theme park with animals or a zoo with rides? Busch Gardens Africa (☎ 813-987-5000; www.buschgardens.com; 10000 McKinley Dr; adult/child $70/60; 🕒 9am-6pm with seasonal variations; P 👪) is both – and way more exciting than Disney's Animal Kingdom (p548), thanks to all the rides. Cool off at Adventure Island (☎ 813-987-5660, 888-800-5447; www.adventureisland.com; 10001 McKinley Dr; adult/child $40/36; 🕒 10am-5pm with seasonal variations; 👪), a water park with slides and rides galore. Discounts and combination tickets are available online; parking costs $12 at Busch Gardens and $10 at Adventure Island.

WEEKI WACHEE SPRINGS

Since 1947 tourists have been lured up the coast by the siren song of Weeki Wachee Springs (☎ 352-596-2062; www.weekiwachee.com; 6131 Commercial Way, Weeki Wachee; adult/child $25/17; 🕒 10am-4pm, with seasonal variations; 👪), one of Florida's original roadside attractions. Elvis Presley and Esther Williams were among the guests who flocked here to watch glamorous long-haired mermaids perform in an underwater grotto. The mermaids are the main attraction, but there's also a river cruise, plus swimming and waterslides at the adjoining Buccaneer Bay water park. (Hint: admissions are reduced in the off-season when the water park is closed.)

Sleeping

Chains abound near Busch Gardens, along Fowler Ave/Morris Bridge Rd (Hwy 582) and Busch Blvd (Hwy 580).

Gram's Place Hostel (☎ 813-221-0596; www.grams-inn-tampa.com; 3109 N Ola Ave; campsites $15, dm $23, r 25-70; P ⊠ ❄ 💻 📶) Rooms at this rockin' hostel are themed by music genre, and the jukebox spins more than 400 CDs.

Tahitian Inn (☎ 800-876-1397; www.tahitianinn.com; 601 S Dale Mabry Hwy; r $69-149; P ⊠ ❄ 📶 🏊)

Once a classic roadside motel, this family-owned and -operated place built in 1954 got a major facelift that's kept it looking smart.

our pick Don Vicente de Ybor Historic Inn (☎ 813-241-4545, 866-206-4545; www.donvicenteinn.com; 1915 Republica de Cuba; r $119-249; P ❄) Built in 1895 by Ybor City's founder, this atmospheric B&B exudes history right down to its original marble staircase.

Casitas de la Verdad (☎ 813-654-6087; www.yborcityguesthouse.com, 1609 6th Ave; house $180-250; P ❄) Right on the fringe of Ybor City you can rent an entire two-bedroom 1908 cigar-maker's cottage that's been artfully restored with a colorful whimsy.

Eating

Downtown is a desert for dining, but Ybor City is an oasis. Keep an eye out for places popping up in Tampa's SoHo area (South of Houston Ave).

Nicko's Fine Foods (☎ 813-234-9301; 4603 N Florida Ave, Tampa; mains $4-10; 🕑 6am-9pm Mon-Fri, 7am-9pm Sat, 7am-2pm Sun) The lure of cheap eats in a classic diner atmosphere has kept people coming here for decades, including Elvis back in 1956.

La Teresita (☎ 813-879-4909; 3246 W Columbus Dr, Ybor City; mains $5-7; 🕑 5am-midnight Mon-Thu, 24hr Fri & Sat, 5am-10pm Sun) Skip the restaurant and head for the cafeteria counters to eat your fill of plantains, yellow rice, black beans, Cuban bread and coffee.

Columbia Restaurant (☎ 813-248-4961; 2117 E 7th Ave, Ybor City; lunch mains $9-18, dinner $17-29; 🕑 11am-10pm Mon-Thu, to 11pm Fri & Sat, noon-9pm Sun) See that enormous building covered in hand-painted tiles? That's the famous Columbia, serving Spanish and Cuban specialties since 1920. Reservations and $6 gets you seating for flamenco performances.

Bella's Italian Cafe (☎ 813-254-3355; 1413 S Howard Ave, Tampa; mains $9-27; 🕑 11:30am-11:30pm Mon-Wed, to 12:30am Thu, to 1:30am Fri & Sat, 4-11:30pm Sun) Go simple or go fancy; this cute Italian place has enough options to fulfill all your carb cravings.

Bern's Steakhouse (☎ 813-251-2421; 1208 S Howard Ave, Tampa; mains $21-70; 🕑 5-10pm Sun-Thu, to 11pm Fri & Sat) Start with one of 20 kinds of caviar then move on to steak prepared to the most exacting tastes and specifications at this over-the-top homage to indulgence.

Drinking & Entertainment

Find out what's happening from the Weekly Planet, and Tampa Tribune's 'Friday Extra.' When it comes to nightlife, just head for Ybor City's 7th Ave. Start at the pirate ship-like bar Gaspar's Grotto (☎ 813-248-5900; 1805 7th Ave; 🕑 11:30am-3am) then wander till you find the right scene.

Experience art in action at the Tampa Bay Performing Arts Center (☎ 813-229-7827, 800-955-1045; www.tbpac.org; 1010 MacInnes Pl), a sprawling, multi-venue complex where you can see touring Broadway shows, concerts, opera and more. For independent and classic films, try the elaborate 1926 Tampa Theatre (☎ 813-274-8981; www.tampatheatre.org; 711 N Franklin St; tickets $9).

Sports are big in Tampa. Catch Major League Baseball at Tropicana Field (☎ 888-326-7297; www.tampabayrays.com; 1 Tropicana Dr, St Petersburg; tickets from $8) with the Tampa Bay Rays, watch the Buccaneers play NFL football at Raymond James Stadium (☎ 800-795-2827; www.buccaneers.com; 4201 Dale Mabry Hwy; tickets from $30), or enjoy professional hockey at St Pete Times Forum (☎ 813-301-6600; http://lightning.nhl.com; 401 Channelside Dr; tickets from $8) with Tampa Bay Lightning.

Spring training for numerous Major League teams is a great way to see baseball stars up close in a spontaneous atmosphere. Tickets are around $30. Try George M Steinbrenner Field (☎ 813-879-2244; www.steinbrennerfield.com; 3802 W Dr ML King Jr Blvd) to watch the New York Yankees practice.

Getting There & Around

Tampa International Airport (TPA; ☎ 813-870-8700; www.tampaairport.com) has car-rental agencies inside. Greyhound (☎ 813-229-2174; 610 E Polk St) has numerous services. Trains run south to Miami and north through Jacksonville at the Amtrak station (☎ 813-221-7601; 601 Nebraska Ave). HARTline (☎ 813-254-4278; www.hartline.org; single/day pass $1.75/3.75) runs the old-style streetcars.

ST PETERSBURG

You know how in some families there's a sophisticated older sibling who wears suits and has an Important Job, and then there's the younger sibling who's kind of artsy and easier to hang out with? In this particular metaphor, Tampa is the former, and St Pete is the latter. Perched on a peninsula along the west side of Tampa Bay, St Pete is a cultured and tourist-friendly town that is in easy proximity to the beaches. For the scoop on local sights, stop by the information booth (☎ 727-821-6164) at the over-hyped St Petersburg Pier (☎ 727-821-6443; www.stpetepier.com; 800 2nd Ave N; 🕑 10am-8pm Mon-Thu,

WHAT THE...?

Of course St Petersburg was the logical place to put a museum dedicated to Salvador Dalí, the eccentric Spanish artist who painted melting clocks, grew an exaggerated handlebar mustache to look like King Philip, and once filled a Rolls Royce with cauliflower. Right? In fact, the Salvador Dalí Museum (☎ 727-823-3767; www.salvadordalimuseum.org; 1000 3rd St S; adult/child 5-9yr $17/4; 🕒 10am-5:30pm Mon-Sat, to 8pm Thu, noon-5:30pm Sun) is the largest Dalí collection outside of Spain. So how did that happen exactly?

In 1942, A Reynolds Morse and his wife Eleanor bought their first Dalí painting – the start of what would become the largest private Dalí collection in the world. When it came time to find a permanent home for the collection, they had one stipulation: that the collection had to stay together. Only three cities could agree to the terms, and St Petersburg won out for its waterfront location. The museum doesn't have the melting clocks, but it does have some melting clocks, as well as paintings with titles such as The Ghost of Vermeer of Delft Which Can Be Used as a Table.

to 9pm Fri & Sat, 11am-7pm Sun), which also houses tchotchke shops, restaurants and an observation deck. Advance planners can check out www.floridasbeach.com for information.

The recently expanded and twice-as-big Museum of Fine Arts (☎ 727-896-2667; www.fine-arts.org; 255 Beach Dr NE; adult/child 7-18 $12/6; 🕒 10am-5pm Tue-Sat, 1-5pm Sun) spans pre-Columbian to impressionism to modern. St Petersburg Museum of History (☎ 727-894-1052; www.spmoh.org; 335 2nd Ave NE; adult/child 7-17 $9/5; 🕒 10am-5pm Tue-Sat, 1-5pm Sun, summer hr vary) has interesting mementos of early Florida, plus a funky 3000-year-old mummy.

Hikers, cyclists and skaters can head north on the paved, 34-mile-long Pinellas Trail (☎ 727-464-8200; 🕒 sunrise-sunset), starting at 34th St and Fairfield Ave and ending in Tarpon Springs. A free booklet with mile-by-mile information is available at visitor centers.

One of the finest beaches in Florida – partly because of excellent amenities such as lots of shady picnic tables – is at Fort DeSoto Park (☎ 727-582-2267; www.pinellascounty.org/park; 3500 Pinellas Bayway S; admission free; 🕒 sunrsie-sunset), with a fishing pier, historic trail, water sports, camping and a fort built in 1898.

Sleeping & Eating

Fort DeSoto Park Campground (☎ 727-582-2267; www.pinellascounty.org/park; 3500 Pinellas Bayway S; campsites $30-35; Ⓟ) Book way ahead for sites at the waterfront campground; the beaches here make it all worthwhile.

Dickens House (☎ 727-822-8622; www.dickenshouse.com; 335 8th Ave NE; r $109-235; Ⓟ ⊠ ❄ 📶) This gorgeous craftsman home, convenient to downtown, offers Jacuzzis and gourmet breakfasts.

Renaissance Vinoy Resort (☎ 727-894-1000; www.marriott.com; 501 5th Ave NE; r from $139; Ⓟ ⊠ ❄ 📶 🏊) This historic behemoth has been providing superposh pink lodging in downtown St Pete since the 1920s.

Loew's Don CeSar Beach Resort (☎ 727-360-1881; www.doncesar.com; 3400 Gulf Blvd, St Pete Beach; r from $194; Ⓟ ⊠ ❄ 📶 🏊) Like the Vinoy, it's historical, posh and pink, but this one's located out at the beach.

our pick Ceviche Tapas Bar (☎ 727-209-2302; 10 Beach Dr SE; small plates $7-15; 🕒 5-10pm Sun & Mon, to midnight Tue-Thu, to 1am Fri & Sat) The flavors are amazing and, with over 100 different options, your foraging experience is limited only by your time and budget. Tuesday happy hour is a bargain.

Moon Under Water (☎ 727-896-6160; 332 Beach Dr NE; mains $7-20; 🕒 11am-11pm Sun-Thu, to 1am Fri & Sat) Get your fill of fish-and-chips, tikka masala and cold pints at this British-style pub with a lovely front patio.

Cafe Alma (☎ 727-502-5002; 260 1st Ave S; mains $7-24; 🕒 11am-10pm Mon-Thu, to 11pm Fri & Sat, to 8pm Sun) This cute subterranean café is a little hidden away but worth finding, serving sophisticated salads and sandwiches at lunch and small plates and mains at dinner.

Gratzzi Ristorante (☎ 727-822-7769; 199 2nd Ave N in Baywalk Mall; lunch $8-12, dinner $13-27; 🕒 11:30am-10pm Mon-Thu, to 11pm Fri & Sat, noon-10pm Sun) Don't be fooled by its mall location; the food is amazing, with presentation that will leave you agog.

Getting There & Around

St Petersburg-Clearwater International Airport (PIE; ☎ 727-453-7800; www.fly2pie.com) has several major carriers serving the US and Canada.

It also has car rentals. Greyhound (☎ 727-898-1496; 180 9th St N) services include to Tampa ($7, 35 minutes). Amtrak trains don't go to St Petersburg, but there is a bus link from Tampa.

Pinellas Suncoast Transit Authority (PSTA; ☎ 727-540-1900; www.psta.net; day pass/concession $4/1.75) operates PSTA buses citywide and the Suncoast Beach Trolley that links the beaches from Clearwater to Pass-a-Grille. The Looper trolley (per ride 25¢; 🕒 10am-5pm Sun-Thu, to midnight Fri & Sat) links the museums and St Petersburg Pier on a 30-minute narrated loop.

SARASOTA

Artists, writers, musicians, entertainers – artsy types have flocked to Sarasota since the 1920s, with John Ringling leading the way (see the boxed text, below). Today you can find cultural performances and arts venues – not to mention bookstores – all over town. The visitor bureau (☎ 941-957-1877, 800-522-9799; www.sarasotafl.org; 701 N Tamiami Trail; 🕒 10am-4pm Mon-Sat) has local information.

That big, fantastical purple building – some might say 'obnoxious' – is the Van Wezel Performing Arts Hall (☎ 941-953-3368, 800-826-9303; www.vanwezel.org; 777 N Tamiami Trail), purveyor of symphony, dance and theater. The Sarasota County Arts Council (☎ 941-365-5118; www.sarasota-arts.org; 1226 N Tamiami Trail, Suite 300) has information about a variety of upcoming local performances.

Wander about a cluster of colorful galleries and studios at Towles Court Art District (www.towlescourt.com; 1938 Adams Lane; 🕒 noon-4pm Tue-Sat). Independent films screen at the Burns Court Cinema (☎ 941-955-3456; 506 Burns Ct); call or visit www.filmsociety.org for schedules.

Right over the Ringling Causeway (which circus elephants helped build) on Lido Key is St Armands Circle, a roundabout that also serves as a social hub, with a proliferation of stylish shops and restaurants. Mote Aquarium (☎ 941-388-4441; www.mote.org; 1600 Ken Thompson Pkwy; adult/child 4-12yr $17/12; 🕒 10am-5pm; 👪), a research center and rehabilitation facility, has touch pools, a manatee habitat, the fun Shark Attack Theater and, of course, fish.

Many of the beautiful beaches are private. The best public-access beach is Siesta Key Beach, about 5 miles south of downtown on Siesta Key, with wide, white strips of sugary quartz sand for your sunning pleasure.

Sleeping & Eating

Aloha Kai (☎ 941-349-5410; www.alohakai.net; 6020 Midnight Pass Rd; r $135-150; P ❄ 📶 🏊) The glorious Siesta Key sand is right at the end of the parking lot from your motel room, studio or retro apartment.

Cypress (☎ 941-955-4683; www.cypressbb.com; 621 Gulfstream Ave; r $150-279, ste 180-289; P ✖ ❄ 📶) Beneath palm and mango trees sits this romantic – if occasionally frilly – B&B on the mainland.

Yoders (☎ 941-955-7771; 3434 Bahia Vista St; mains $5-12; 🕒 6am-8pm Mon-Sat) Not just home-cooking, but Amish home-cooking, and what could be homier than that? Finish off with a slice of their famous pie.

Broken Egg (☎ 941-346-2750; 140 Avenida Messina, Siesta Key; mains $6-12; 🕒 7:30am-2:30pm) This breakfast institution on Siesta Key, known for its pancakes and hash browns, has a new location and scored a great patio in the move.

Bijou Café (☎ 941-366-8111; 1287 1st St; lunch $9-19, dinner $17-29; 🕒 11:30am-2pm Mon-Fri, 5pm-close

CLOWNING AROUND AT THE RINGLING COMPLEX

Who doesn't love the circus? Well...people who are afraid of clowns. But a little coulrophobia isn't necessarily a deal-breaker at the Ringling Museum Complex (☎ 941-359-5700; www.ringling.org; 5401 Bayshore Rd; adult/child 6-17yr $20/7; 🕒 10am-5:30pm). On the grounds of the 66-acre complex are three separate museums, all included in your admission and each one a worthy attraction on its own. Railroad, real-estate and circus baron John Ringling and his wife Mabel put down roots here, building a Venetian Gothic waterfront mansion called Ca d'Zan. You can wander the ground floor at your own pace, or take a guided tour – totally worth it – which grants you access to the upstairs bedrooms. Also on the grounds, the John & Mabel Museum of Art is an excellent art museum with impressive high ceilings, intimidatingly large paintings and a recreated room from the Astor mansion. But the real standout here – the one you might want to avoid if you saw Stephen King's It – is the one-of-a-kind Museum of the Circus, which lets you relive the excitement of the big-top era with costumes, props, posters, antique circus wagons and an extensive miniature model.

Mon-Sat & Sun in high season) Indulge in the excellent French-inspired cuisine at this intimate downtown café.

FORT MYERS

Just a sleepy resort town in 1885, Fort Myers was pretty enough to entice Thomas Edison to build his winter home here. Among his many visions was palm-lined avenues, which he kicked off with a gift of more than 800 trees. His arboreal legacy lives on, and today 14 miles of McGregor Blvd are lined with more than 2000 palms. It's a nice introduction to what's still a fairly sleepy town; would that the rest of it were as impressive. The visitor & convention bureau (☎ 239-338-3500; www.fortmyers-sanibel.com) has visitor information; call or check online.

See how the early innovators lived at the Edison & Ford Winter Estates (☎ 239-334-7419; www.efwefla.org; 2350 McGregor Blvd; adult/child 6-12yr $20/11; 🕒 9am-5:30pm). In addition to Edison's winter home, you'll see his laboratory, gardens and a museum dedicated to his work, as well as the estate Henry Ford bought next door and the largest banyan tree in the continental US. Forty-minute guided tours leave every half-hour until 4pm.

Just north of Fort Myers, take a 90-minute swamp-buggy wildlife excursion through pinewoods, freshwater marsh and cypress swamp, led by Babcock Wilderness Adventure (☎ 800-500-5583; www.babcockwilderness.com; 8000 SR 31, Punta Gorda; adult/child 3-12yr $20/13; 🕒 tours vary, call for times).

For American bistro food try the cute McGregor Cafe (☎ 239-936-1771; 4305 McGregor Blvd; lunch $8-12, dinner $15-25; 🕒 lunch 11am-3pm Mon-Sun, dinner 5-9pm Tue-Sat), in a converted home with a shady patio under a huge live oak. Impress your date (or Mom, or client) with the regional specialties at the lovely Veranda (☎ 239-332-2065; 2122 Second St, Fort Myers; mains lunch $8-14, dinner $28-39; 🕒 11am-2pm Mon-Fri, 5:30-10pm Mon-Sat) located in a turn-of-the-century residence in downtown Fort Myers.

Getting There & Around

Regional, national and international flights service Southwest Florida International Airport (RSW; ☎ 239-590-4800; http://flylcpa.com). Greyhound (☎ 239-334-1011; 2250 Peck St) has regular services.

LeeTran (☎ 239-533-8726; www.rideleetran.com; single/all day $1.50/2.50) gets you from downtown to Summerlin Square, from where you can catch a beach-bound trolley. Check online for maps and schedules.

FORT MYERS BEACH

Fifteen miles south of Fort Myers, Fort Myers Beach is a cute if touristy party town on Estero Island. Look for blue, white and yellow flags marking beach access between houses. It's a good base for exploring nearby Lovers Key State Recreation Area (☎ 239-463-4588; pedestrian & cyclist $1, car $3-5; 🕒 8am-dusk), a bird and wildlife haven with gorgeous beaches where you can rent bikes, canoes and kayaks. You can also catch a ferry for a day trip to Key West (p527) via the Key West Express (☎ 888-539-2628; www.keywestshuttle.com; 2200 Main St; round trip adult/child $145/75).

Silver Sands Villas (☎ 239-463-6554; www.silversands-villas.com; 1207 Estero Blvd, Fort Myers Beach; r $89-199; Ⓟ ✤ 🏊) is a sunny cluster of beach cottages painted with fresh, bright, tropical colors. Sunsets and sandy beaches are right downstairs from your room at the Outrigger Beach Resort (☎ 239-463-3131, 800-655-8997; www.outriggerfmb.com; 6200 Estero Blvd; r $105-225, ste $115-330; Ⓟ ✖ ✤ 🏊). Snag some terrific fresh seafood and waterfront views at Snug Harbor (☎ 239-463-4343; San Carlos Blvd, Fort Myers Beach; mains $8-24; 🕒 4-9pm Tue-Fri, 11:30am-9pm Sat & Sun).

SANIBEL & CAPTIVA ISLANDS

Shaped like a fish hook trying to lure Fort Myers, these two slivers of barrier island lie just across a 2-mile causeway (toll $6). Remarkably undeveloped and free from condo-fever, they're as lush and green as Hawaii. Even the houses are hidden by foliage, giving the islands a wild, tropical feel.

The islands are famed for shell-collecting. Stop just over the causeway at the extremely helpful chamber of commerce visitor center (☎ 239-472-1080; www.sanibel-captiva.org; 1159 Causeway Rd) for information about the islands – including where and at what time the shells will show themselves that day (an hour before or after low tide). The Bailey-Matthews Shell Museum (☎ 239-395-2233; www.shellmuseum.org; 3075 Sanibel-Captiva Rd; adult/child 5-16yr $7/4; 🕒 10am-5pm) helps you identify your shell finds, and is a nice place to wait out an afternoon shower.

Bike trails run all over the island, and you can rent bikes (4 hours $9) and more at Finnimore's Bike & Beach Rentals (☎ 239-472-5577; www.finnimores.com; behind 2353 Periwinkle Way, Sanibel; 🕒 9am-4pm). This is an especially good way to experience the marvelous, 5-mile wildlife drive (pedestrian/cyclist $1, car $5; 🕒 7:30am-sunset Sat-

Thu) at the bird-filled 6300-acre JN 'Ding' Darling National Wildlife Refuge (☎ 239-472-1100; www.fws.gov/dingdarling; 1 Wildlife Dr, Sanibel; 🕑 9am-4pm, to 5pm Jan-Apr). You can also experience the refuge with a guided tram, kayak or canoe tour through Tarpon Bay Explorers (☎ 239-472-8900; www.tarponbayexplorers.com; 900 Tarpon Bay Rd, Sanibel); call ahead for schedules.

Lodging on the islands is more expensive than on the mainland, but Kona Kai Motel & Cottages (☎ 239-472-1001, 800-820-2385; 1539 Periwinkle Way, Sanibel; r $100-160, ste $130-200; Ⓟ ⊠ ❄ 📶 🏊) is great value, with lush gardens and clean, cute rooms. The lovely beachfront Casa Ybel (☎ 239-472-3145; www.casaybelresort.com; 2255 West Gulf Dr, Sanibel; r from $279; Ⓟ ⊠ ❄ 📶 🏊) has casually elegant suites and its own bird sanctuary. You can find more lodging options at www.sanibelsmallinns.com.

Start your day at Amy's Over Easy (☎ 239-472-2625; 630 Tarpon Rd, Sanibel; mains $5-10; 🕑 7am-2:30pm), where you can still have breakfast even if it's lunchtime. Take a break at Island Cow (☎ 239-472-0606; 2163 Periwinkle Way, Sanibel; mains $8-20; 🕑 7am-9pm), a colorful island café, with tons of options from paella to po'boys to steaks. Or fancy it up at Dolce Vita (☎ 239-472-5555; 1244 Periwinkle Way, Sanibel; mains $17-36; 🕑 5:30-10:30pm), with an eclectic menu including wild boar saddle and Bahamian lobster tail.

On Captiva, the historic 'Tween Waters Inn Beach Resort (☎ 239-472-5161; www.tween-waters.com; 15951 Captiva Dr, Captiva; r $180-290, ste $230-710; Ⓟ ⊠ ❄ 📶 🏊) has a vast selection of rooms and cottages, plus tennis courts, spa, full-service marina and three restaurants. Don't miss the spectacularly kitschy Bubble Room (☎ 239-472-5558; 15001 Captiva Dr, Captiva; lunch $9-14, dinner $19-28; 🕑 11:30am-3pm & 4:30-9pm), with Christmas collectibles and memorabilia from the 1930s and '40s crammed into every corner.

CENTRAL FLORIDA

With such beautiful sand and water, it's no surprise that people gravitate to the coasts, leaving much of the middle part of the state a hollow, under-populated core. The exception is Orlando, the beating heart of tourism and the largest inland city. Tourists from around the world make the pilgrimage here, drawn to the oodles of family-lovin' theme parks. Central Florida also has a slew of gorgeous natural springs bubbling up from deep beneath the earth, offering yet another reason to leave behind the beaches for a couple of days inland.

ORLANDO

One of the top family destinations in the world, Orlando seems destined to always be mentioned in the same breath as theme parks. In fact, the parks seem to have permeated every corner, reaching their glossy, over-produced tentacles to restaurants and hotels across the city. Where are the dive bars? The hole-in-the-wall restaurants? Why are the waiters costumed and why does there always have to be something fiberglass hanging overhead? It's all Walt Disney's fault. The Magic Kingdom was so successful that it spawned a whole empire and attracted a slew of like-minded attractions; nowadays you can go to a different theme park every day of the week.

Of course, there are other things to do in Orlando. Many people are surprised to find that there's a stylish downtown district, a thriving nightlife scene, and even some residents who don't dress up like pirates during the day.

Orientation & Information

So many attractions compete for tourist dollars that it's easy to get overwhelmed. Good multilingual guides and maps are available from the visitor bureau (☎ 407-363-5872, 800-972-3304; www.orlandoinfo.com; 8723 International Dr; 🕑 8:30am-6:30pm); also check Visit Orlando (www.visitorlandoonline.com).

I-4 is the main north–south connector, though it's confusingly labeled east–west. To go north, take I-4 east (toward Daytona); to go south, get on I-4 west (toward Tampa). The main east–west roads are Hwy 50 and Hwy 528 (the Bee Line Expwy, a toll road), which connect Orlando to the Space Coast. The Bee Line Expwy accesses Orlando International Airport.

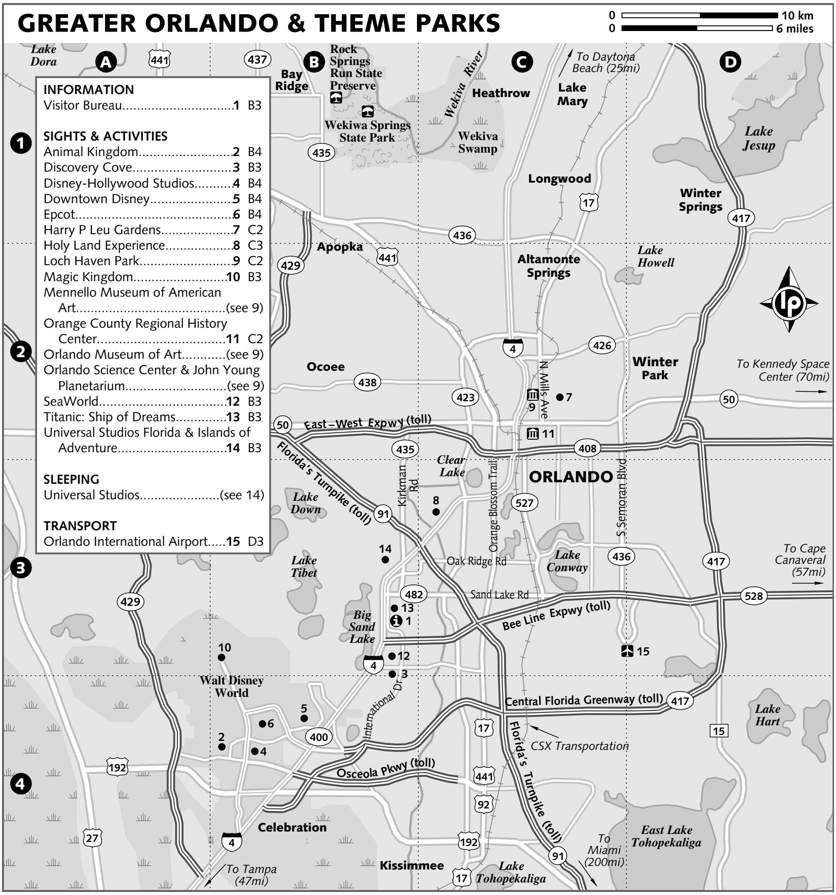
Sights & Activities

DOWNTOWN & LOCH HAVEN PARK

A good place to get 'It's a Small World' out of your head is in and around downtown's Loch Haven Park, a cluster of culture with nary a theme in sight.

Start with the Orlando Museum of Art (☎ 407-896-4231; www.omart.org; 2416 N Mills Ave; adult/child

GREATER ORLANDO & THEME PARKS



0 10 km
0 6 miles
A
B
C
D
1
2
3
4
Lake Dora Bay Ridge
Rock Springs Run State Preserve
Wekiwa Springs State Park
Wekiwa River
Heathrow
Lake Mary
To Daytona Beach (25mi)
Wekiva Swamp
Lake Jesup Longwood Winter Springs Apopka
Altamonte Springs Lake Howell
Ocoee
Winter Park
To Kennedy Space Center (70mi)
N Mills Ave
East–West Expwy (toll)
Florida's Turnpike (toll)
Kirkman Rd
Clear Lake
Orange Blossom Trail
ORLANDO
S Semoran Blvd
Lake Down Lake Tibet
Oak Ridge Rd
Lake Conway
To Cape Canaveral (57mi)
Sand Lake Rd
Bee Line Expwy (toll)
Big Sand Lake
Walt Disney World
International Dr
Central Florida Greenway (toll)
Lake Hart
CSX Transportation
Osceola Pkwy (toll) Celebration
To Tampa (47mi)
Kissimmee
Lake Tohopekaliga
To Miami (200mi)
East Lake Tohopekaliga
441
437
435
436
17
417
429
4
426 438
423
50
408
435
91
527
436
482 528
400 192
27
92 15

INFORMATION
Visitor Bureau	1	B3
SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES
Animal Kingdom	2	B4
Discovery Cove	3	B3
Disney-Hollywood Studios	4	B4
Downtown Disney	5	B4
Epcot	6	B4
Harry P Leu Gardens	7	C2
Holy Land Experience	8	C3
Loch Haven Park	9	C2
Magic Kingdom	10	B3
Mennello Museum of American Art	(see 9)
Orange County Regional History Center	11	C2
Orlando Museum of Art	(see 9)
Orlando Science Center & John Young Planetarium	(see 9)
SeaWorld	12	B3
Titanic: Ship of Dreams	13	B3
Universal Studios Florida & Islands of Adventure	14	B3
SLEEPING
Universal Studios	(see 14)
TRANSPORT
Orlando International Airport	15	D3

4-17yr $8/5; ⌚ 10am-4pm Tue-Fri, from noon Sat & Sun), spotlighting American and African art as well as unique traveling exhibits. The Mennello Museum of American Art (☎ 407-246-4278; www.mennellomuseum.org; 900 E Princeton St; adult/child under 12 $4/free; ⌚ 10:30am-4:30pm Tue-Sat, from noon Sun) features fascinating traveling exhibitions. Right across the street is the family-friendly Orlando Science Center & John Young Planetarium (☎ 407-514-2000; www.osc.org; 777 E Princeton St; adult/child 3-11yr $17/12; ⌚ 10am-5pm Sun-Fri, to 10pm Sat). One mile east of Loch Haven Park is the 50-acre Harry P Leu Gardens (☎ 407-246-2620; www.leugardens.org; 1920 N Forest Ave; adult/child 6-18yr $5/1; ⌚ 9am-5pm), a tranquil escape from all the gloss.

Pre-mouse Orlando is featured at the Orange County Regional History Center (☎ 407-836-8500; www.thehistorycenter.org; 65 E Central Blvd; adult/child 5-12yr $9/6; ⌚ 10am-5pm Mon-Sat, noon-5pm Sun) in a series of permanent and traveling exhibits showcasing the region.

INTERNATIONAL DRIVE

There are so many themed attractions, themed restaurants and themed hotels surrounding International Drive (I-Dr) that it's a quasi-theme park itself (with a theme of, well, themes). Two attractions attempt to add some gravitas to I-Dr's giddiness: Titanic: Ship of Dreams (☎ 407-248-1166; www.titanicshipofdreams.com; 8445 International Dr, at the Mercado; adult/child 6-11yr $17/12; ⌚ 10am-8pm) immerses you in replicas and relics from the doomed ship. And just north of I-Dr, Holy Land Experience (☎ 407-872-2272; www.holylandexperience.com; 4655 Vineland Rd; adult/child 6-12yr $35/20; 🕐 10am-6pm Mon-Sat) is like a fun day in ancient Jerusalem, complete with lots of lessons from the bible.

UNIVERSAL ORLANDO

Universal is giving Disney a run for its money with this mega-complex that features two theme parks, a water park, three hotels and an entertainment district. But where Disney is all happy and magical, Universal's shtick is 'action, thrills and excitement.'

Universal Studios Florida (☎ 407-363-8000; www.universalorlando.com; 1000 Universal Studios Plaza; adult/child 3-9yr $75/65; 🕐 from 9am, closing times vary; 👪) has a Hollywood backlot feel with celluloid-inspired rides. Don't miss the Back to the Future time-travel simulator, or the fun 4-D Shrek show. Universal's Islands of Adventure (single day adult/child 3-9yr $67/56; 👪) is a favorite with coaster-lovers, and is divided into five 'islands': Marvel Super Hero Island, featuring The Amazing Adventures of Spider Man; the dino-happy Jurassic Park; the ersatz-mystical Lost Continent; and the kid-friendly Toon Lagoon and Seuss Landing.

Look online for ticket deals, such as multi-day park-hopper passes. Parking at Universal costs $12.

SEAWORLD & DISCOVERY COVE

A not-altogether-logical blend of marine animals and thrill rides, SeaWorld (☎ 888-800-5447; www.seaworld.com; 7007 SeaWorld Dr; adult/child 3-9yr $75/65 🕐 from 9am, closing times vary; Ⓟ 👪) is home to both Shamu the killer whale and Kraken the floorless roller coaster. Journey to Atlantis tries to bring both concepts together: it's an oceanic water-coaster with a 60ft vertical drop. Feedings and shows take place at scheduled times, so plan your day to make sure you don't miss out. Parking costs $12.

Sister park Discovery Cove (☎ 407-370-1280, 877-557-7404; 6000 Discovery Cove Way; per person with/without dolphin swim $289/189; 🕐 9am-5:30pm, check-in from 8am; Ⓟ 👪) is like an exclusive tropical resort, complete with beaches, a fish-filled reef and an aviary. The price is steep, but everything is included: lunch, towels, parking, even a day pass to SeaWorld. Plus, they only admit 1000 guests per day – and that's worth a lot.

Sleeping

In addition to the Walt Disney World resorts (p549), Orlando has countless lodging options. Most are clustered around I-Dr, US 192 in Kissimmee and I-4. The Central Reservation Service (☎ 800-548-3311) operates a free service in conjunction with the visitor bureau to assist in making hotel reservations. Universal Studios (☎ 888-273-1311; r $199-439) has three hotels, and guests zoom straight to the front of the line for rides.

Magic Castle Inn & Suites (☎ 407-396-2212, 800-446-5669; www.magicorlando.com; 5055 W Hwy 192, Kissimmee; r $35-45; Ⓟ ❄ 🏊 👪) Garish exterior and serviceable rooms, but what the heck: it's super cheap, and just 3.5 miles from Walt Disney World.

Sheraton Safari Hotel (☎ 407-239-0444, 888-354-1356; www.sheratonsafari.com; 12205 Apopka Vineland Rd; r $99-159; Ⓟ ⊠ ❄ 🏊 👪) Families can find a happy compromise at this well-located, safari-themed hotel that's fun for kids but not annoying for adults. The lavish pool area includes a 79ft python waterslide.

Veranda Bed & Breakfast (☎ 407-849-0321; www.theverandabandb.com; 115 N Summerlin Ave; r $99-209; Ⓟ ⊠ ❄ 📶 🏊) Ideal for wandering Thornton Park and Lake Eola, this European style B&B has big antique beds and is a lovely retreat from all the bustle.

our pick Courtyard at Lake Lucerne (☎ 407-648-5188, 800-444-5289; www.orlandohistoricinn.com; 211 N Lucerne Circle E; r $99-225; Ⓟ ⊠ ❄ 📶) This complex of four inns in a secluded enclave near downtown is a real find. Choices include art-deco suites in a refurbished apartment building and grand Victorian rooms in the Dr Phillips House, including cocktails and breakfast.

EO Inn & Spa (☎ 407-481-8485; www.eoinn.com; 227 N Eola Dr; r $119-189; Ⓟ ❄ 📶) Sleek and understated, this downtown boutique inn overlooks Lake Eola, with neutral-toned rooms that are elegant in their simplicity. It's mostly child-free.

Hyatt Regency Orlando Airport Hotel (☎ 407-825-1234; 9300 Airport Blvd; r from $159; Ⓟ ❄ 📶 🏊) Right inside the main terminal, this hotel has quite nice (and soundproof) rooms with balconies looking down on the hubbub below, plus easy access to airport shopping, dining and people-watching.

Grand Bohemian (☎ 407-313-9000; 325 S Orange Ave; r $169-459 Ⓟ ⊠ ❄ 📶 🏊) No theme here, just lots of style, comfort, luxury and attentive service (if you like that sort of thing). Check out their art gallery; it's no sub for a museum, but it's a nice touch.

Eating

On and around I-Dr you'll find an explosion of chains; Sand Lake Rd has upscale dining.

Sea Thai (☎ 407-895-0985; 3812 E Colonial Dr; mains $6.50-16; 🕒 11am-2:30pm, 5pm-9:30pm, to 10pm Fri & Sat) Hidden in a strip mall is this surprisingly chic restaurant serving what could well be the best Thai in Orlando.

Dexter's (☎ 407-648-2777; 808 E Washington St; mains $8-25; 🕒 11am-10pm Mon-Thu, to 11pm Fri & Sat, 10am-10pm Sun) If you're craving low-key, head for this neighborhood café in fashionable Thornton Park on the edge of downtown.

Hot Olives (☎ 407-629-1030; 463 W New England Ave, Winter Park; lunch $9-14, dinner $18-37; 🕒 11am-10pm, closed Sun & Mon during summer) Sandwiches and big salads at lunch, tropical seafood at dinner, all enjoyed on a breezy lanai.

Seasons 52 (☎ 407-354-5212; 7700 Sand Lake Rd; mains $11-27; 🕒 11:30am-2:30pm & 5-10pm Mon-Fri, 11:30am-11pm Sat, 11:30am-10pm Sun) For a little under-indulgence, try this fresh-food grill that eschews butter, espouses low-cal and still pulls off a tasty meal.

Le Coq au Vin (☎ 407-851-6980; 4800 S Orange Ave; mains $12-29; 🕒 5:30-10pm Tue-Sat, 5-9pm Sun) Known for its namesake, this immensely popular restaurant serves superb but hard-to-pronounce French specialties.

Combine dinner with a show and you usually end up with some lesser version of both; however, a lot of people find the combination fun enough that they don't mind. (Hint: you probably already have a pretty good idea if you're a dinner show type of person or not.) Good choices include the rollicking Pirate's Dinner Adventure (☎ 407-248-0590, 800-866-2469; www.piratesdinneradventure.com; 6400 Carrier Dr; adult/child $56/36) and the equestrian delight Arabian Nights (☎ 407-239-9223, 800-553-6116; www.arabian-nights.com; 6225 W Hwy 192; adult/child $53/29).

Drinking & Entertainment

Orlando Weekly (www.orlandoweekly.com) is the best source for entertainment listings, but there's plenty to do downtown, where there's a happening bar district around Orange Ave between Church St and Jefferson St. Find cheap drinks and a rockin' jukebox at the delightfully divey Bar BQ Bar (☎ 407-648-5441; 64 N Orange Ave). Check out great live music at the Social (☎ 407-246-1419; 54 N Orange Ave; cover varies). Or unwind upstairs at Latitudes (☎ 407-649-4270; 33 W Church St) in a pleasant, open-air setting. Whatever else you're looking for could be found at one of the eight bars constituting Wall St Plaza (☎ 407-849-0471; www.wallstplaza.net; 18 Wall St Plaza) or the six gay bars that make up Parliament House (☎ 407-425-7571; www.parliamenthouse.com; 410 N Orange Blossom Trail; cover varies).

Universal Studio's CityWalk (☎ 407-363-8000; www.citywalkorlando.com; 🕒 11am-2am) has a concentration of movies, restaurants and clubs, and a $12 CityWalk Party Pass gives you access to most clubs. Venues include CityJazz (☎ 407-224-2189; cover $7) and Hard Rock Live Orlando (☎ 407-351-5483; www.hardrocklive.com; tickets from $20; 🕒 box office 10am-9pm).

Getting There & Around

Orlando International Airport (MCO; ☎ 407-825-2001; www.orlandoairports.net) has buses and taxis to major tourist areas for around $40 to $60. And Meares Transportation (☎ 407-423-5566; www.mearstransportation.com) provides shuttles for around $20 per person. Greyhound (☎ 407-292-3424; 555 N John Young Pkwy) serves numerous cities. Amtrak (☎ 407-843-7611; 1400 Sligh Blvd) offers daily trains south to Miami ($36) and north to New York City ($154).

Orlando's bus network is operated by Lynx (☎ 407-841-5969; www.golynx.com; single ride/day pass $1.50/3.50). I-Ride Trolley (www.iridetrolley.com; adult/child under 12/senior $1.25/free/25¢, exact change required; 🕒 8am-10:30pm) buses run along I-Dr.

WALT DISNEY WORLD

At over 20,000 acres, Walt Disney World (WDW) is the largest theme park resort in the world. It includes four parks, two water parks, six golf courses, a couple dozen hotels, numerous restaurants and a mega-Disney entertainment district – proving that it's not such a small world, after all. At times it feels ridiculously crowded and corporate, but if you have kids in tow, you won't be able to inoculate yourself against their highly infectious enthusiasm. Even without kids, anyone who isn't scared off by the thought of life-sized costumed characters can easily end up drunk on Disney and clapping their hands because they do believe in fairies – they do! – and wandering home with bags full of souvenirs wondering what overtook them.

Orientation & Information

Walt Disney World (☎ 407-934-7639; www.waltdisneyworld.com; single-park admission adult/child 3-9yr $75/63, multiday discounts available; 👪) is 20 miles southwest of downtown Orlando and 4 miles northwest of Kissimmee.

To avoid lines for park admission, buy your tickets in advance online, by phone or from a Disney store. For an extra $50 a day, upgrade to a Park Hopper pass, which allows you to hop between all four WDW parks in the same day.

Crowds can sap the magic right out of the Magic Kingdom. Holidays aside (see p1141), WDW is least crowded in January, February, mid-September through October and early December. During the summer, weekends are the least crowded days; the rest of the year it's the other way round. Late fall tends to have the best weather, since frequent downpours dampen the hot, humid months of June, July and August.

Sights & Activities

MAGIC KINGDOM

It's the centerpiece of WDW and home of Cinderella's Castle. Pirates of the Caribbean has gotten some snazzed-up special effects with a dash of Johnny Depp, and Haunted Mansion and Space Mountain are still going strong. Mickey's Toontown Fair and Fantasyland are a hit with smaller kids, but anyone over 12 will want to keep walking. Fireworks displays light up the sky nightly and many nights end with a parade.

DISNEY HOLLYWOOD STUDIOS

Formerly Disney-MGM Studios, this park caters to the post-fairytale crowd and is also a working studio. Hands-down the most exciting rides are the spooky and unpredictable elevator in the Twilight Zone Tower of Terror, and the Rock 'n' Roller Coaster, where your stretch limo races through the streets of LA after dark. Wannabes can audition for the American Idol Experience, where casting agents determine which park guests will go on to perform onstage.

EPCOT

An acronym for 'Experimental Prototype Community of Tomorrow,' Epcot was Disney's vision of a high-tech city when it opened in 1982. It's divided into two halves: Future World, with corporate-sponsored journeys through not-very-cutting-edge technology, and World Showcase, which gives you an interesting toe-dip into the cultures of 11 different countries. (They were originally intended to be two separate parks, which explains a lot.) Epcot isn't the kids' paradise that the Magic Kingdom is, but the new Soarin' ride is a winner, and Mission: SPACE is good for getting the adrenaline pumping after one too many educational exhibits.

ANIMAL KINGDOM

Light on attractions, bigger on animals, this park lets you see wild things in re-created 'natural' environments through assorted experiences, including the 110-acre Kilimanjaro Safari (best early in the day). The iconic Tree of Life houses the fun It's Tough to Be a Bug! show, and Expedition Everest plummets you through an old mountain railway.

Sleeping

There are more than two dozen exceedingly family-friendly places to stay on Disney property, all offering free transportation to the parks and extended park hours. A central reservation line (☎ 407-934-7639) handles bookings and information.

Four properties make up Disney's 'value' segment, offering thousands of basic rooms. Beyond the themes, they're interchangeable, with over-the-top exteriors and wall-to-wall children common to all. Three All-Star Resorts (r $82-141; Ⓟ ⊠ ⁙ 🏊 👪) let you take your pick between movie, music and sports themes; and Pop Century Resort (r $82-141; Ⓟ ⊠ ⁙ 🏊 👪) tackles pop culture by the decade, with bowling pins and Mr Potato Head living side-by-side.

In the 'moderate' segment, Port Orleans Resort (r $149-199; Ⓟ ⊠ ⁙ 🏊) is divided into the Southern-style Riverside Resort and the French Quarter Resort, which pulls off a pretty good facsimile of New Orleans architecture. And Coronado Springs Resort (r $149-199; Ⓟ ⊠ ⁙ 🏊) has a Southwestern vibe that's low-key if not entirely authentic.

One of our favorite 'deluxe' resorts is the Yosemite-style Wilderness Lodge (r $240-420; Ⓟ ⊠ ⁙ 🏊 👪); the 'rustic opulence' theme includes erupting geysers, a lakelike swimming area and bunk beds for the kids.

Eating

Dining with Mickey and friends is insanely popular (and only available to park guests).

If you have your heart set on a particular restaurant, make reservations two to six months out with central reservations (☎ 407-939-3463). The hottest character dinner in all four parks is the usually-frenzied Cinderella's Royal Table (adult/child $32-40/$22-25; 👪), where guests dine with Disney princesses in Cinderella's Castle.

Also in the Magic Kingdom, the old-timey Plaza Restaurant (Main St; sandwiches $10-13; 👪) is a great option for sandwiches and banana splits. Crystal Palace (Main St; adult/child 3-9yr buffet $19-29/$11-14; 👪) serves a lavish buffet with Pooh and friends at breakfast, lunch and dinner – tops in both quality and quantity.

At Disney Hollywood Studios, nostalgia rules at the Sci-Fi Dine-In Theater (by Star Tours; mains $12-22, kids meals $7.50; 👪), where you dine in a Cadillac while watching B-movies (and traffic is bumper to bumper).

Each pavilion in Epcot's World Showcase has a sit-down restaurant that will set you back $14 to $30 per main, but it's more fun to snack your way around the world with the considerably cheaper counter-service options.

You can feast on Disney outside the parks, as well. Make a reservation at one of the resort restaurants, such as California Grill (☎ 407-939-3463; Disney's Contemporary Resort, 4600 North World Drive, Lake Buena Vista, mains $19-44) which pairs upscale eats with great views of the fireworks. Or wander Downtown Disney's many restaurants till you find what you're looking for. On Sundays, feed your soul at gospel brunch at Downtown Disney's House of Blues (☎ 407-934-2583; adult/child 3-9yr $33.50/17.25), serving an all-you-can-eat buffet that's fun and filling.

Drinking & Entertainment

Disney wouldn't dream of leaving you with non-Disney downtime, so it built Downtown Disney as a slightly overwhelming evening entertainment complex full of restaurants, shops and entertainment. The best live show in all of Disney World is Cirque du Soleil (☎ 407-939-7600; www.cirquedusoleil.com; adult $53-117, child 3-9yr $43-94; 🕒 6pm & 9pm Tue-Sat), featuring exquisitely theatrical acrobatics, and House of Blues (☎ 407-934-2583; www.hob.com; cover varies) hosts live music acts. Catch a movie at the 24-screen AMC Pleasure Island (☎ 888-262-4386), or enjoy five floors of virtual reality and arcade games at DisneyQuest (adult/child 3-9yr $40/34; 🕒 11:30am-10pm Sun-Thu, to 11pm Fri & Sat).

Getting There & Around

Most hotels in Kissimmee and Orlando – and all Disney properties – offer free transportation to WDW. Disney-owned resorts also offer free transportation from the airport. Drivers can reach all four parks via I-4 and park for $12. The Magic Kingdom lot is huge; you might need to catch a tram just to get to the entrance.

Within WDW, a complex network of monorails, boats and buses can get you anywhere you want to go, including resorts and Downtown Disney. Pick up a map at your resort or at Guest Relations (just inside the ticket turnstiles) to better understand your options.

AROUND CENTRAL FLORIDA

Hundreds of natural springs gush billions of gallons of crystal-clear water every day throughout the state, offering a plethora of outdoor pursuits. The water at Salt Springs Recreation Area (☎ 352-685-2048; 14152 SR 19N, Salt Springs; admission $4.25, camp-/RV sites $17/20; 🕒 8am-dusk) in the Ocala National Forest is rumored to have curative powers; either way, the swimming is sublime and there are fantastic opportunities for hiking, biking, canoeing, kayaking and camping.

At Ichetucknee Springs State Park (☎ 386-497-4690; 12087 SW US Hwy 27, Fort White; car $5, tubing $5; 🕒 8am-dusk), you can lie back on an inner tube or raft and gently float downstream on the crystal-clear waters through unspoiled wilderness as otters swim right up beside you.

In Volusia County, De Leon Springs State Recreation Area (☎ 386-985-4212; 601 Ponce DeLeon Blvd, De Leon Springs; pedestrian & cyclist $1, car $5; 🕒 8am-dusk) has a huge swimming area, and you can also explore the springs by canoe or kayak (per hour/day $10/$28). The springs flow into the Lake Woodruff National Wildlife Refuge, with 18,000 acres of lakes, creeks and marshes.

FLORIDA PANHANDLE

The beaches up here are lovely, with translucent aquamarine seas lapping against white sugar-sand formed by quartz crystal from the Appalachians. Known as the Emerald Coast, the area from Pensacola to Panama City has also earned the nickname 'Redneck Riviera' for its proximity to the southern states whose residents flock here.

There is indeed a Southern feel to the area that doesn't quite trickle down to the rest of Florida. Hwy 10 – the clothesline from which the whole state is hung – is lined with wooded forest for a scenic welcome to the Sunshine State.

TALLAHASSEE

Given how little resemblance it bears to the rest of the state, Tallahassee seems like an unlikely spot for the state capital. More Southern than Floridian, more forest than beach, it's a montage in the style of Margaret Mitchell's Gone With the Wind, with moss-draped oaks, rolling hills and sprawling plantations.

It was chosen as the capital in 1824, not so much for its representative qualities, but because they just couldn't pick between St Augustine and Pensacola, the two largest cities at the time. In a King Solomon–like move, they cut the baby in half, as it were, and put the capital approximately midway between the two. Still, it's a lovely place to visit and plays the gracious Southern host to anyone who drops by for a visit. Information and walking-tour maps are available from the visitor center (☎ 850-413-9200, 800-628-2866; www.seetallahassee.com; 106 E Jefferson St; 🕐 8am-5pm Mon-Fri, 9am-1pm Sat).

Sights & Activities

To learn about the people and events that shaped Florida, head to the museum in the Florida Historic Capitol (☎ 850-487-1902; www.flhistoriccapitol.gov; 400 S Monroe St; admission free; 🕐 9am-4:30pm Mon-Fri, 10am-4:30pm Sat, noon-4:30pm Sun & holidays), a grand, columned building with an art-glass dome and candy-striped awnings. Hovering behind it, with considerably less architectural charm, is the current Florida State Capitol (☎ 850-488-6167; cnr Pensacola & Duval Sts), a 22-story concrete slab where the state legislature meets for 60 days a year. The top floor has an observation deck and art gallery, and the ground floor has visitor information for the whole state.

The site of a 17th-century Spanish and Apalachee Indian mission, Mission San Luis (☎ 850-487-3711; www.missionsanluis.org; 2020 W Mission Rd; admission free; 🕐 10am-4pm Tue-Sun) has several convincingly re-created buildings, including the impressive Council House, for a fascinating look at what the area was like 300 years ago.

If the above elicited moans of boredom and shuffling of feet among the younger travelers in your party, make it up to them at the kid-friendly Mary Brogan Museum of Art & Science (☎ 850-513-0700; www.thebrogan.org; 350 S Duval St; adult/child 3-17yr $6/3.50; 🕐 10am-5pm Mon-Sat, 1-5pm Sun; 👪), which has diverse collections ranging from folk art to hands-on science exhibits.

A treat for runners, skaters and cyclists, Tallahassee–St Marks Historic Railroad State Trail (☎ 877-822-5208; admission free; 🕐 8am-dusk) starts 100 yards south of the intersection of Capital Circle (Hwy 319) and Woodville Hwy (Hwy 363), and heads south for 16 flat, paved miles to the town of St Marks.

Sleeping & Eating

Accommodation rates can spike during football-game weekends and legislative sessions. Chains are clumped at exits along I-10 and along Monroe St between I-10 and downtown.

Doubletree Hotel (☎ 850-224-5000; 101 S Adams St; r $79-259; 🅿 ⊠ ❄ 📶 🏊) This downtown hotel has homogenously nice rooms and is wired for business, making it a good base for the business traveler.

Inn at Park Avenue (☎ 850-544-2192; www.innatparkave.com; 323 E Park Ave; r $139-199; 🅿 ⊠ ❄) Stay in grand Tallahassee style at this historic downtown inn, a stately home that's been in the same family for over 160 years.

Governors Inn (☎ 850-681-6855; www.thegovinn.com; 209 S Adams St; r $139-219, ste $179-299; 🅿 ❄ 📶) In a stellar downtown location, this warm, inviting inn has everything from single rooms to two-level loft suites, plus a daily cocktail hour.

Hopkins Eatery (☎ 850-386-4258; 1700 N Monroe; mains $7-10; 🕐 11am-9pm Mon-Fri, to 5pm Sat) These people will put anything between bread – and we mean that in a good way. Their creative combinations elevate the sandwich to new heights.

Po' Boys Creole Café (☎ 850-224-5400; 224 E College Ave; mains $7-15; 🕐 11am-9pm Sun & Mon, to 10pm Tue, Wed & Sat, to 11pm Thu & Fri, to 10pm Sat) Crawfish, jambalaya, red beans and blackened fish – not to mention an outdoor bar with a great happy hour – make this place a favorite among students and legislators alike.

Andrew's Capital Grill & Bar (☎ 850-222-3444; 228 S Adams St; mains $8-15; 🕐 11:30am-10pm Mon-Thu, to 11pm Fri & Sat, 11am-2pm Sun) Politicians spill onto sidewalk tables for salads and burgers named after themselves, and you can fuel up at the lunch buffet for only $10.

Book your stay at lonelyplanet.com/hotels

Urbane (☎ 850-422-2221; 115 E Park Ave; mains $16-32; 🕑 5:30-10pm Tue-Sat) The vibe is chic, and the menu is creative. (Antelope? Really?) Make this your big night out, or stop by for small plates during happy hour.

Entertainment

Bradfordville Blues Club (☎ 850-906-0766; www.bradfordvilleblues.com; 7152 Moses Lane off Bradfordville Rd; tickets from $10; 🕑 call for schedule) Down the end of a dirt road lit by tiki torches, you'll find a bonfire raging under the live oaks at this hidden-away juke joint that hosts excellent national blues acts.

Getting There & Around

The Tallahassee Regional Airport (TLH; ☎ 850-891-7800) is about 5 miles southwest of downtown, off Hwy 263, and the Greyhound station (☎ 850-222-4249; 112 W Tennessee St; 🕑 24hr) is right downtown. Star Metro (☎ 850-891-5200; http://talgov.com/starmetro; adult/child $1.25/60¢) provides a local bus service. Rent bikes at Great Bicycle Shop (☎ 850-224-7461; 1909 Thomasville Rd; bikes per 24hr $30; 🕑 10am-6pm Mon-Fri, 10am-5pm Sat, noon-4pm Sun).

PANAMA CITY BEACH

There's no mistaking Panama City Beach for anything other than what it is: a beach town. Spring breakers and summer vacationers flock here for the beautiful white-sand beaches, and mile after mile of high-rise condos insist on disrupting the view. Stop by the visitor bureau (☎ 850-233-5070, 800-722-3224; www.thebeachloversbeach.com; 17001 Panama City Beach Pkwy; 🕑 8am-5pm) for more information.

A renowned wreck-diving site, the area around Panama City Beach has dozens of natural, historic and artificial reefs. Dive Locker (☎ 850-230-8006, 888-612-7968; 106 Thomas Dr; 🕑 8am-6pm Mon-Sat) has dives from $79 plus gear rental. Get inspiration at the Man in the Sea Museum (☎ 850-235-4101; www.maninthesea.org; 17314 Panama City Beach Pkwy; adult/child under 7 $5/free; 🕑 10am-4pm Tue-Sun), showcasing the history of diving.

St Andrews State Recreation Area (☎ 850-233-5140; 4607 State Park Lane; pedestrian & cyclist/vehicle $1/5) is graced with nature trails and swimming beaches (one of the best places to swim with children is the 4ft-deep water near the jetties). Just offshore, Shell Island has fantastic snorkeling, and shuttles (☎ 850-233-0197, trip plus gear for adult/child $22/17) depart every 30 minutes in summer.

Mini-golf is big in Panama City Beach. Nostalgic favorite Goofy Golf (☎ 850-234-6403; 12206 Front Beach Rd; per round $7; 🕑 9am-10pm or later Mar-Sep; 👪) was built in 1959 – look for the supersize sphinx.

Sleeping & Eating

Summer is the high season for Panhandle beaches.

Sandpiper Beacon Beach Resort (☎ 800-488-8828; www.sandpiperbeacon.com; 17403 Front Beach Rd; beachfront r $49-229, ste $209-269; P ❄ 📶 🏊 👪) With a tiki bar, lazy river, waterslides, mini-golf and even a grocery store, there's just not much need to leave the premises of this beachfront extravaganza.

Flamingo (☎ 850-234-2232; www.flamingomotel.com; 15525 Front Beach Rd; r $49-174, ste $54-219; P ❄ 🏊 👪) Most of the immaculate rooms at this family-run, kid-friendly place on the beach have ocean views and kitchens.

Wisteria Inn (☎ 850-234-0557; wisteria-inn.com; 20404 Front Beach Rd; r $69-149; P ⊠ ❄ 📶 🏊) More sophisticated than your average beach digs, the larger rooms are lightly themed and there are economical doubles in the back.

Mike's Diner (☎ 850-234-1942; 17554 Front Beach Rd; mains $4-11; 🕑 8am-3pm) Cheap beach fuel can be found at this friendly, unassuming place with a little bit of everything.

DON'T MISS

Just 15 miles south of Tallahassee is the world's deepest freshwater spring at Edward Ball Wakulla Springs State Park (☎ 850-224-5950; 550 Wakulla Park Drive; cyclist/car $1/4, boat tours per adult/child $6/4; 🕑 8am-dusk; 👪). The springs flow from massive underwater caves that are an archeologist's dream, with fossilized bones including a mastodon that was discovered around 1850. These days you can swim in the icy springs or enjoy them from a glass-bottom boat. You can also take a boat tour of the wildlife-filled Wakulla River, which was used as a movie set for several Tarzan movies, as well as Creature from the Black Lagoon. Overnighters can stay in the park at the Wakulla Springs Lodge (☎ 850-224-5950; r $85-105; P ⊠ ❄), a grand Spanish-style lodge built in 1937, where an 11ft stuffed alligator named 'Old Joe' keeps an eye on things.

SCENIC DRIVE: HIGHWAY 30A

Along the Panhandle coast between Panama City Beach and Destin, skip the main highway (Hwy 98) in favor of one of the most enchanting drives in Florida: Scenic Hwy 30A. This 18-mile stretch of road hugs what's referred to as the Emerald Coast for its almost fluorescent, gem-colored waters lapping brilliant white beaches of ground-quartz crystal.

Leading off Scenic Hwy 30A are pristine, wild parklands like Grayton Beach State Recreation Area (☎ 850-231-4210; 357 Main Park Rd, Santa Rosa Beach; pedestrian/vehicle $2/5). You also get to escape the high rises that obstruct the views in the more populated areas. But the best reason to make the detour is to visit the little village of Seaside (www.seasidefl.com).

If you saw the movie The Truman Show, you'll remember the town it was set in, with unnervingly friendly neighbors and candy-colored cottages clustered around a model town square. Turns out that that was no Hollywood backlot. It was Seaside. Stop for lunch in the slightly surreal planned community and wander the shops and galleries.

Good online resources are www.30-a.com, which has updated listings of all public beach access, and the website for the South Walton Chamber of Commerce (www.waltoncountychamber.com).

Firefly (☎ 850-249-3359; 535 Beckrich Rd; mains $12-35; ⌚ 5-9:30pm) The food is fabulous, but it's the ambience that won us over, with drinks in the Library Lounge and dinner under a twinkle-lit oak tree.

Pineapple Willy's (☎ 850-235-0928; 9875 S Thomas Dr; mains $15-22; ⌚ 11am-late) Ask for a table on the restaurant pier for breezy beachside dining. Famed for its signature drinks and its house special: Jack Daniels BBQ ribs.

Drinking & Entertainment

Billing itself as the 'last local beach club,' Schooners (☎ 850-235-3555; www.schooners.com; 5121 Gulf Dr; ⌚ 11am-late) is good for a low-key beer on the beach. The two mega nightclubs are Spinnaker (☎ 850-234-7892; www.spinnakerbeachclub.com; 8795 Thomas Dr; ⌚ 10am-4am) and the enormous, multiroom Club La Vela (☎ 850-234-3866; www.lavela.com; 8813 Thomas Dr; ⌚ 10am-4am), which boasts activities such as Bon Jovi tribute nights and bikini beach parties. Covers apply – and vary – at both.

Getting There & Around

The Panama City International Airport (PFN; ☎ 850-763-6751; www.pcairport.com) is served by a handful of major and minor airlines.

The Greyhound Station (☎ 850-785-6111; 917 Harrison Ave) is in Panama City, and the limited Bay Town Trolley (☎ 850-769-0557; $1.25/60¢) will get you around town weekdays from 6am to 6pm.

PENSACOLA

Right next door to Alabama, Pensacola welcomes visitors driving in from the west. People are drawn not just by Pensacola's relative proximity, but by its white-sand beaches. In 2004 Hurricane Ivan smashed through the city; clean-up and regeneration is a lengthy process, but things are relatively back to normal and the local highway system got a major overhaul as an added bonus. The visitor bureau (☎ 850-434-1234, 800-874-1234; www.visitpensacola.com; 1401 E Gregory St; ⌚ 8am-5pm Mon-Fri, 9am-4pm Sat, 11am-4pm Sun) has maps and free internet access.

The Spanish tried to colonize this stretch of the Panhandle in 1559, but the hurricane-plagued settlement was abandoned after two years, leaving St Augustine to claim the title of longest continuous European settlement in the country. Pensacola's harbor and geographical position have been key in its development as a military city.

Sights & Activities

Pensacola says 'take that!' to St Augustine with the Historic Pensacola Village (☎ 850-595-5985; www.historicpensacola.org; Zaragoza St, btwn Tarragona St & Adams St; adult/child 4-16yr $6/3; ⌚ 10am-4pm Tue-Sat, tours at 11am, 1pm & 2:30pm), a self-contained enclave of historic homes and museums. Admission is good for one week and includes a guided tour and entrance to each building. The nearby TT Wentworth Museum (☎ 850-595-5990; 330 S Jefferson St; admission free; ⌚ 10am-4pm Tue-Sat) has two floors of Florida history and one floor of Wentworth's collection of oddities, including his famous (and disgusting) petrified cat.

The Pensacola Naval Air Station (NAS) is home to both the National Museum of Naval Aviation (☎ 850-452-3604; www.naval-air.org; 1750 Radford Blvd; admission free; ⌚ 9am-5pm)

WHAT THE…?

Every April, locals gather around the Florida–Alabama state line on Perdido Key for the Interstate Mullet Toss. This probably bears some explaining. 'Interstate' refers not to an interstate highway, but the fact that it involves two different states. 'Mullet' refers not to a redneck hairdo, but to a type of fish. And 'Toss,' well, that's pretty self-explanatory. Put them all together, and you've got contestants vying to see who can throw their dead fish furthest into Alabama. Organized by the Flora-Bama Lounge & Package Store (www.florabama.com), the mullet-toss has become a time-honored tradition, as well as a great excuse for a party.

and the elite Blue Angels squadron. You can watch the Blue Angels practice their death-defying air show at 8:30am most Tuesdays and Wednesdays through the summer and fall (check website).

To enjoy the area's lovely white sands, head to the easy-access Pensacola Beach or the neighboring Gulf Islands National Seashore (☎ 850-934-2600; www.nps.gov/guis; pedestrian or cyclist per 7 days $3, vehicle $8; 🕒 sunrise-sunset), part of a 150-mile stretch of undeveloped beach. After five years of closure due to Hurricane Ivan, the seashore's road to Fort Pickens has finally reopened, so you can once again picnic under the shadow of the imposing Civil War-era brick fort that once held Geronimo as a prisoner.

In 2006, a 910ft-long aircraft carrier was intentionally sunk off the coast of Pensacola to make the world's largest artificial reef. Now dubbed 'The Great Carrier Reef,' the USS Oriskany sits in the sand 210ft below the surface, with its flight deck at 137ft. Viking Diving (☎ 850-916-3483, 888-848-3483; 4612a Bellview Ave) and Scuba Shack (☎ 850-433-4319, 888-659-3483; 711 S Palafox St) can take you there.

Sleeping & Eating

Paradise Inn (☎ 850-932-2319, 800-301-5925; www.paradiseinn-pb.com; 21 Via de Luna; r $69-180; Ⓟ ✲ 🏊) Bringing a boutique feel to a motel format – we'll call it 'motel nouveau' – this Pensacola Beach inn is walking distance to the beach.

New World Inn (☎ 850-432-4111; www.newworldlanding.com; 600 S Palafox St; r $99-129; Ⓟ ⊠ ✲ 📶) Peek under the lid of this former box factory and you'll find surprisingly lovely rooms with luxe bedding and real carpeting (a beach-town luxury).

our pick Noble Manor (☎ 850-434-9544, 877-598-4634; www.noblemanor.com; 110 W Strong St; r $125, ste $165; Ⓟ ⊠ ✲ 🏊) This B&B has the prettiest rooms in town; 'Bacall' would be opulent enough for its namesake.

Jerry's Drive-In (☎ 850-433-9910; 2815 E Cervantes St; mains $6-13; 🕒 10am-10pm Mon-Fri, 7am-10pm Sat; 👪) No longer a drive-in or owned by Jerry, but this greasy spoon is always packed – possibly because you can hardly eat for less. Cash only.

Peg Leg Pete's Oyster Bar (☎ 850-932-4139; 1010 Fort. Pickens Rd; mains $8-20; 🕒 11am-10pm) Raw? Rockefeller? Casino? Get your oysters the way you like 'em at this popular beach hangout that also serves lunch, dinner and plenty of cold beer.

Dharma Blue (☎ 850-433-1275; 300 S Alcaniz St; lunch mains $9-12, dinner $11-28; 🕒 lunch 11am-4pm Mon-Sat, dinner from 5pm nightly) Where else can you get both fried green tomatoes and sushi rolls? The menu may be a mishmash, but everyone leaves happy.

Jackson's Restaurant (☎ 850-469-9898; 400 S Palafox St; lunch mains $12-17, dinner $26-35; 🕒 lunch 11am-2pm Tue-Fri, dinner 5:30-10pm Tue-Sat, to 10:30pm Fri & Sat) Not your typical white-tablecloth restaurant; this one adds rustic touches and a stellar menu for dignified dining.

Drinking & Entertainment

Check out the Pensacola News Journal's Friday 'Weekender' section for entertainment listings. If you're not sure what you're after, head to Seville Quarter (☎ 850-434-6211), an entertainment complex with lots of options. Other good choices are McGuire's Irish Pub (☎ 850-433-6789; 600 E Gregory St) and gay dance club Emerald City (☎ 850-433-9491; 406 E Wright St).

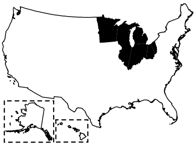
Getting There & Around

Five miles northeast of downtown, Pensacola Regional Airport (PNS; ☎ 850-436-5000; www.flypensacola.com) is served by major airlines. The Greyhound station (☎ 850-476-4800; 505 W Burgess Rd) is nine miles north of downtown.

© Lonely Planet. To make it easier for you to use, access to this chapter is not digitally restricted. In return, we think it's fair to ask you to use it for personal, non-commercial purposes only. In other words, please don't upload this chapter to a peer-to-peer site, mass email it to everyone you know, or resell it. See the terms and conditions on our site for a longer way of saying the above - 'Do the right thing with our content.'

Great Lakes



Here's how it's going to go down. You're planning your USA trip; you unfurl the map and gravitate immediately to the coasts. Mountains! Oceans! Metropolises! Movie stars! But the middle of the country – what's the middle ever good for? Middle management, middle child, middle of nowhere. It's nothing to strive for.

Fine. Be that way. You'll miss out on surfing beaches and Tibetan temples, car-free islands and the green-draped night-lights of the aurora borealis. You'll forgo the only region in which you can sip a fresh-from-the-dairy-farm milk shake for lunch, and then take part in a five-way in the city for dinner. Are you sure you want to pass it up?

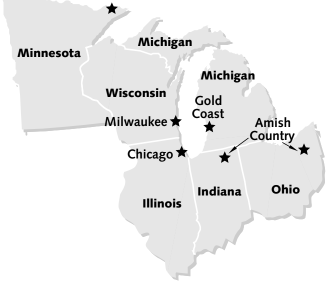
Roll call for the Midwest's cities starts with soaring Chicago, which shoots up the country's mightiest skyline. Milwaukee keeps the beer-and-Harley flame burning, while Minneapolis shines a hipster beacon out over the cornfields. Detroit rocks, plain and simple.

The Great Lakes themselves are huge, like inland seas, offering beaches, islands, dunes, resort towns and lots of lighthouse-dotted scenery. Dairy farms and fruit orchards blanket the region, meaning fresh pie and ice cream await hungry road-trippers. Thirsty travelers can indulge in the Midwest's beers – the cities here have long been known for suds crafting, thanks to their German heritage, and several microbreweries maintain the tradition.

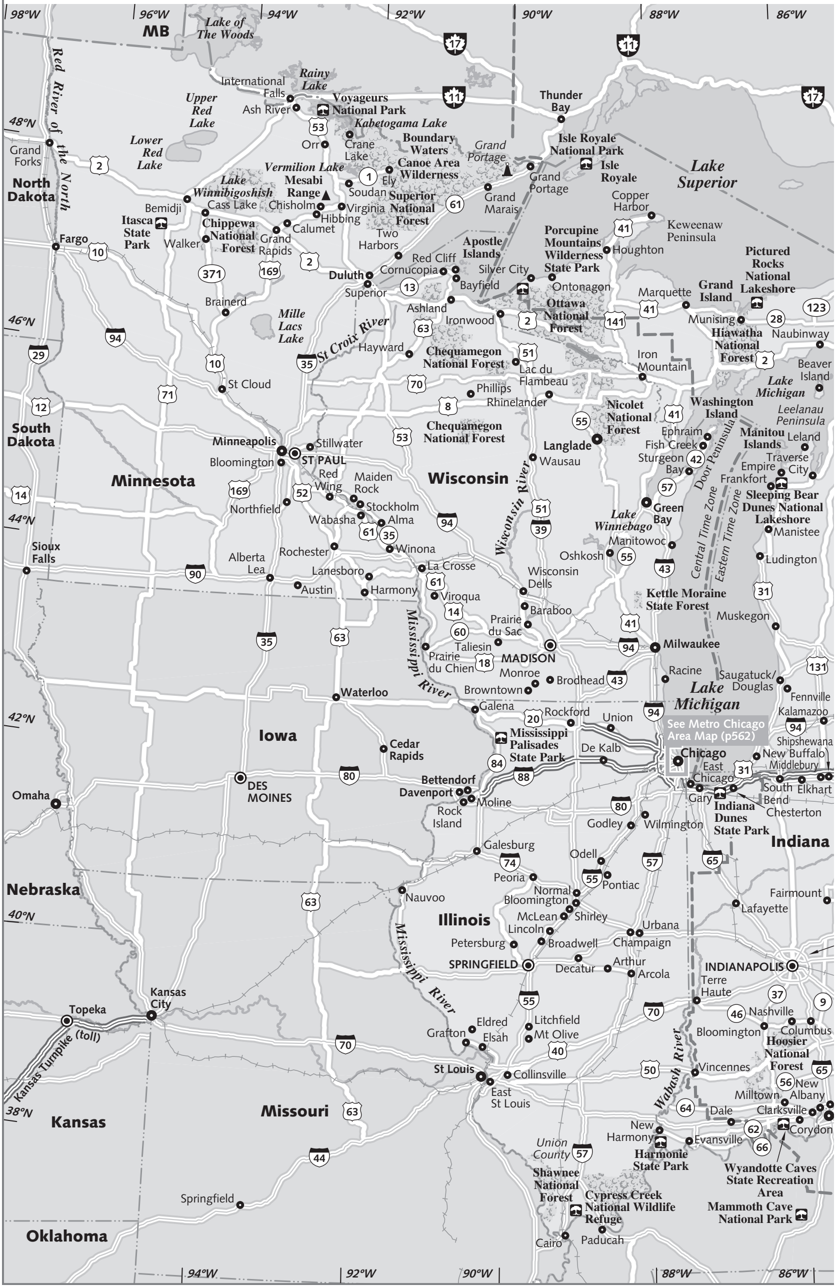
Most visitors come in summer when the weather is fine for hiking, biking, canoeing and kayaking in the local lakes and forests. Snowmobiling and cross-country skiing take over in the butt-freezing winter (as do eating and drinking in warm taverns). Whatever the season, you're guaranteed a true slice of America here in the heartland.

HIGHLIGHTS

- Absorbing the skyscrapers, museums, festivals and foodie bounty of Chicago (p559)
- Beach lounging, berry eating and surfing on Michigan's Gold Coast (p619)
- Slowing down for clip-clopping horses and buggies in Amish Country (p596 and p603)
- Polka dancing at a Friday-night fish fry in Milwaukee (p627)
- Paddling the Boundary Waters (p648) and sleeping under a blanket of stars



GREAT LAKES



98°W
96°W
94°W
92°W
90°W
88°W
86°W
48°N
46°N
44°N
42°N
40°N
38°N
MB
Lake of The Woods
Red River of the North
Rainy Lake
International Falls
Ash River
Voyageurs National Park
Kabetogama Lake
Upper Red Lake
Lower Red Lake
Grand Forks
North Dakota
Orr
Crane Lake
Boundary Waters Canoe Area Wilderness
Grand Portage Thunder Bay
Isle Royale National Park
Isle Royale
Lake Superior
Vermilion Lake
Mesabi Range
Ely
Soudan
Lake Winnibigoshish Bemidji
Cass Lake
Chisholm
Virginia
Superior National Forest
Grand Marais
Copper Harbor
Keweenaw Peninsula
Itasca State Park
Chippewa National Forest
Hibbing
Calumet
Walker
Grand Rapids
Two Harbors
Apostle Islands
Porcupine Mountains Wilderness State Park
Houghton
Pictured Rocks National Lakeshore
Fargo
Red Cliff
Cornucopia
Silver City
Duluth
Bayfield
Ontonagon Superior
Grand Island
Marquette
Brainerd
Ashland
Ironwood
Ottawa National Forest
Munising
Mille Lacs Lake
St Croix River
Hiawatha National Forest
Naubinway
Hayward
Chequamegon National Forest
Lac du Flambeau
Iron Mountain
Beaver Island
St Cloud
Phillips
Lake Michigan
Rhinelander
Nicolet National Forest
Leelanau Peninsula
South Dakota
Washington Island
Minneapolis
Stillwater
Chequamegon National Forest
Ephraim Manitou Islands
Leland
Bloomington
ST PAUL Langlade
Fish Creek
Sturgeon Bay
Traverse City
Minnesota
Red Wing
Maiden Rock
Wausau
Wisconsin
Empire
Frankfort
Door Peninsula
Sleeping Bear Dunes National Lakeshore
Northfield
Stockholm
Wisconsin River
Green Bay
Wabasha
Alma Lake Winnebago
Central Time Zone
Eastern Time Zone
Manistee Winona
Manitowoc
Sioux Falls
Rochester
Oshkosh Ludington
Alberta Lea
Lanesboro
La Crosse
Wisconsin Dells
Austin
Harmony
Viroqua
Kettle Moraine State Forest
Baraboo
Mississippi River
Prairie du Sac
Muskegon
Taliesin
MADISON
Milwaukee
Prairie du Chien
Monroe
Racine Brodhead
Saugatuck/Douglas Browntown
Lake Michigan
Fennville
Waterloo
Galena Kalamazoo
Rockford
Union
See Metro Chicago Area Map (p562)
Iowa
Mississippi Palisades State Park
Shipshewana
Cedar Rapids
De Kalb
Chicago
New Buffalo
Middlebury
East Chicago
DES MOINES
Bettendorf
Davenport
South Bend
Elkhart
Omaha
Gary
Moline
Indiana Dunes State Park
Chesterton
Rock Island
Godley Wilmington
Indiana
Galesburg
Odell
Peoria Pontiac
Nebraska
Nauvoo
Normal
Bloomington
Fairmount
Lafayette
Illinois
McLean
Shirley Lincoln
Urbana
Petersburg
Broadwell
Champaign
SPRINGFIELD
Decatur
Arthur Arcola
INDIANAPOLIS
Terre Haute
Kansas City
Topeka
Eldred Litchfield
Nashville Grafton Elsah
Mt Olive Bloomington
Columbus
Kansas Turnpike (toll)
Hoosier National Forest
St Louis
Collinsville
Wabash River
Vincennes
East St Louis
New Albany
Milltown
Kansas
Missouri
Dale Clarksville Corydon
New Harmony
Evansville
Union County
Harmonie State Park
Wyandotte Caves State Recreation Area
Shawnee National Forest
Cypress Creek National Wildlife Refuge
Mammoth Cave National Park Springfield
Oklahoma
Cairo
Paducah
17 11 53
1
61
2
41 10 371
169 13
63
141
28 123
94
29 35
51
70 10
8 12
55
41 42
71
53 57
14
52 169
44 61
35
51 39 90
55
43
61 14 60 31 41
63
35
94
18 43
131
20
94
84
88 31 80 80
57
65
74
55
63
37
9 55
46 70 40
70
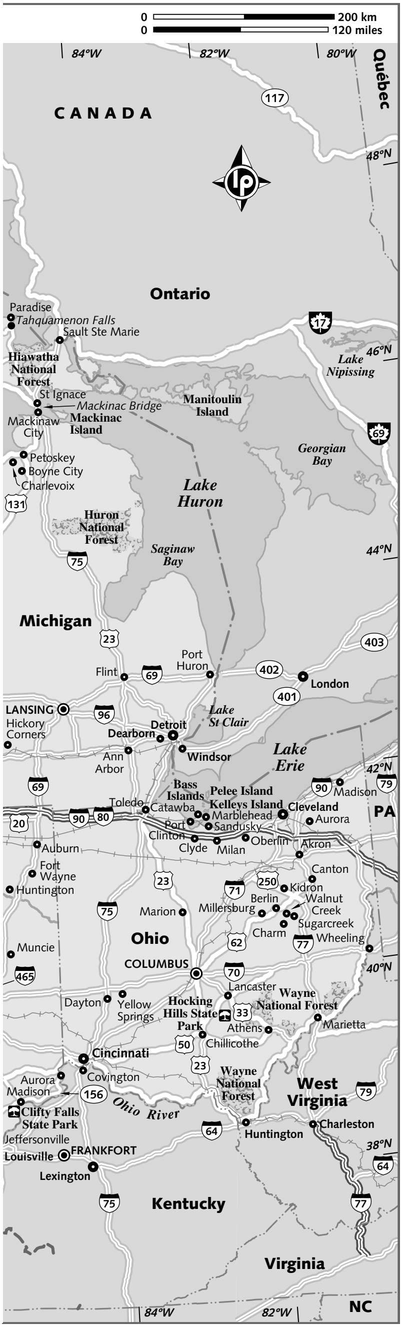
50
56
65
63
64
62
44
57
66



0 200 km
0 120 miles
84°W
82°W
80°W
Québec
117 CANADA
48°N
Ontario
Paradise
Tahquamenon Falls
Sault Ste Marie
17
Hiawatha National Forest
Lake Nipissing
46°N
St Ignace
Mackinac Bridge
Mackinaw City
Mackinac Island
Manitoulin Island
69
Georgian Bay
Petoskey
Boyne City Charlevoix
Lake Huron
131
Huron National Forest
Saginaw Bay
44°N
75
Michigan
23 403
Port Huron
Flint
69
402 London 401
LANSING
96
Lake St Clair
Hickory Corners
Detroit
Dearborn
Windsor
Lake Erie
Ann Arbor
42°N
69
Bass Islands
Pelee Island
90 Madison
79 Toledo
Catawba
Kelleys Island
Cleveland
Marblehead
Aurora
PA 20 90 80 Sandusky
Port Clinton
Oberlin
Akron
Clyde
Milan
Auburn
Canton
Fort Wayne
23
71
250 Kidron
Huntington Berlin
Walnut Creek
Millersburg
75 Marion Sugarcreek Charm
Wheeling
Ohio
62
77
Muncie
COLUMBUS
70
40°N
465 Lancaster
Wayne National Forest
Dayton
Yellow Springs
Hocking Hills State Park
33 Athens
Marietta
50 Chillicothe
Cincinnati
23 Aurora
Covington
Wayne National Forest
West Virginia
79 Madison
156
Clifty Falls State Park
Ohio River
64 Huntington
Charleston
Jeffersonville
38°N
Louisville FRANKFORT
64 Lexington
75 Kentucky
77
Virginia
84°W
82°W
NC

HISTORY

The region's first residents included the Hopewell (around 200 BC) and Mississippi River mound builders (around AD 700). Both left behind mysterious piles of earth that were tombs for their leaders and possibly tributes to their deities. You can see remnants at Cahokia (p590) in Illinois, and Mound City (p606) in Ohio.

The mound-building cultures began to decline around AD 1000, and over the next centuries the Miami, Shawnee and Winnebago moved in.

French voyageurs (fur traders) arrived in the early 17th century and established missions and forts. The British turned up soon after that. The rivalry spilled over into the French and Indian Wars (Seven Years' War, 1754–61), after which Britain gained all of the land east of the Mississippi. Following the Revolutionary War, the Great Lakes area became the new USA's Northwest Territory, which soon was divided into states.

Settlers flocked in after the region developed its impressive canal and railroad network. But conflicts erupted between the newcomers and the Native Americans here, including the 1811 Battle of Tippecanoe in Indiana; the bloody 1832 Black Hawk War in Wisconsin, Illinois and around, which forced indigenous people to move west of the Mississippi; and the 1862 Sioux uprising in Minnesota.

Industries sprang up and grew quickly, fueled by resources of coal and iron and cheap transport on the lakes. The work available brought huge influxes of immigrants from Ireland, Germany, Scandinavia and southern and eastern Europe. For decades after the Civil War, a great number of African Americans also migrated to the region's urban centers from the South.

The area prospered during WWII and throughout the 1950s. Then came 20 years of social turmoil and economic stagnation. Manufacturing industries declined, walloping Rust Belt cities like Detroit and Cleveland with high unemployment and 'white flight' (ie white middle-class families who fled to the suburbs).

The 1980s and '90s brought urban revitalization. The region's population picked up, notably with newcomers from Asia and Mexico. Growth in the service and high-tech sectors resulted in a better economic balance. But manufacturing industries like car making and steel still played a big role, and when the economic crisis hit in 2008, Great Lakes towns felt the pinch first and foremost.

LOCAL CULTURE

The Great Lakes region – aka the Midwest – is the USA's solid, sensible heartland. Folks here shrug at the brash glitz of the East Coast and flaky sex appeal of the West Coast, happy instead to be in the plain-speaking middle. It's no surprise that novelist Ernest Hemingway hailed from this part of the country, where words are seldom wasted.

Regional pride manifests at every turn in the road. It's evident in Wisconsin's freshly painted barns, the tidiness of family-owned motels in Michigan's Upper Peninsula, even in Rockford, Illinois' Sock Monkey Festival (p587).

If the Midwest had a mantra, it might be to work hard, go to church, and stick to the straight and narrow…unless there's a sports game happening, and then it's OK to slather on the body paint and dye your hair purple (or whatever team colors dictate). Baseball, football, basketball and ice hockey are all hugely popular, with the big cities sponsoring pro teams for each sport.

Music has always been a big part of local culture. Muddy Waters and Chess Records spawned the electric blues in Chicago. Motown Records started the soul sound in Detroit. Alt rock shakes both cities (think Wilco in Chicago, White Stripes in Detroit), and has come out of Minneapolis (the Replacements, Hüsker Dü), and Dayton, Ohio (Guided By Voices, the Breeders), as well.

The region is more diverse than outsiders might expect. Immigrants from Mexico, Africa, the Middle East and Asia have established communities throughout the Midwest, mostly in the cities, where they are making welcomed contributions, especially to local dining scenes.

LAND & CLIMATE

The Great Lakes possess about 20% of the earth's and 95% of America's fresh water. The largest by volume is Lake Superior, followed by Lakes Michigan, Huron, Ontario and Erie, – all four of which could be easily contained in Lake Superior.

The lakes' health is always an issue. Industrial pollution used to be the big problem, though today it takes a back seat to invasive species (see boxed text, p568) and water diversion (that is, exporting water in massive quantities to other states or countries).

GREAT LAKES…

In Five Days

Spend the first two days in Chicago (opposite). On your third day, make the 1½-hour trip to Milwaukee (p627) for culture, both high- and lowbrow. Take the ferry over to Michigan and spend your fourth day beaching in Saugatuck (p620). Come back via northern Indiana's sand dunes (p597) or Amish community (p596).

In 10 Days

After two days in Chicago, on day three make for Madison (p630) and its surrounding quirky sights. Spend your fourth and fifth days at the Apostle Islands (p635), and then head into the Upper Peninsula to visit Marquette (p625) and Pictured Rocks (p625) for a few days, followed by Sleeping Bear Dunes (p620) and the wineries around Traverse City (p621). Return via the galleries, pies and beaches of Saugatuck (p620).

Active Endeavors

The region offers activities to match a variety of weather moods and personal tastes. Visitors can surf (p619) in New Buffalo, rock climb (p605) at Hocking Hills, kayak (p635) the Apostle Islands, canoe (p648) amid moose and wolves in the Boundary Waters, houseboat (p650) in remote Voyageurs National Park, mountain bike (p635) in Chequamegon Nation Forest, cycle rails-to-trail (p627) through Wisconsin's cow-dotted farmland, ski (p626) in the Porkies, and backcountry hike (p625) on Isle Royale. Almost all of these are doable by beginners, so get up off your duff and get moving.

The Ohio and Mississippi Rivers are the major riverways. Most of the region's larger cities lie along them or on the lakeshores.

Winters can last from late November well into April, with plenty of snow, icy winds and subfreezing temperatures (eg Chicago and Minneapolis each average about 20°F (-7°C) in January, the coldest month). By June the sun is out and temperatures start to rise, and in July and August it can be downright hot and sticky. Spring and autumn fit in around the edges, and are wonderful times to visit – particularly autumn, when leaves are at their peak of color.

PARKS & WILDLIFE

Hiking, kayaking and sand-dune climbing are on tap at the region's national parks and lakeshores, including Isle Royale (p625), Sleeping Bear Dunes (p620) and Pictured Rocks (p625) in Michigan; the Apostle Islands (p635) in Wisconsin; Indiana Dunes (p597) in Indiana; and Voyageurs National Park (p649) in Minnesota.

Wide swaths of state park land also crisscross the Great Lakes; see each state's Information section for details.

Black bears, moose and wolves are the wildlife stars, though you'll have to travel to the dense northern forests to see them. Bald eagles fly in huge numbers in Minnesota and along the Mississippi River. Not as fun to encounter are insects, which can be a real pain the further north you go, specifically blackflies in the spring and mosquitoes in summer. It's therefore a good idea to pack bug repellent.

INFORMATION

The Great Lakes Information Network (www.great-lakes.net) is a web resource with info aplenty on the region's environment, economy and tourism, much of it culled from local news sources.

GETTING THERE & AROUND

Chicago's O'Hare International Airport (ORD) is the main air hub for the region. Detroit, Cleveland and Minneapolis also have busy airports.

Greyhound (p1160) connects many local cities and towns. Upstart Megabus (☎ 877-462-6342; www.megabus.com/us) provides an efficient alternative between major Great Lakes cities. Note that Megabus has no bus terminals (drop-off and pick-up are at various street corners), and all purchases must be made in advance online (you cannot buy a ticket from the driver). Most Megabus vehicles have wi-fi, though service can be sketchy.

If you are traveling on major interstate highways, such as I-80 in Ohio or I-90 in Illinois, piles of change are useful for the tolls.

Two car/passenger ferries sail across Lake Michigan, providing a shortcut between Wisconsin and Michigan. The Lake Express (p620) crosses between Milwaukee and Muskegon. The older SS Badger (p620) crosses between Manitowoc and Ludington.

The national railroad network centers on Chicago, from which Amtrak (p1166) runs trains regularly to cities throughout the region and the rest of the USA.

ILLINOIS

Chicago dominates the state with its sky-high architecture, lakefront beaches and superlative museums, restaurants and music clubs. But venturing further afield reveals Hemingway's hometown of 'wide lawns and narrow minds,' scattered shrines to local hero Abe Lincoln, and a trail of corn dogs, pies and drive-in movie theaters down Route 66. A cypress swamp and prehistoric World Heritage Site make appearances in Illinois too.

Information

Illinois Bureau of Tourism (☎ 800-226-6632; www.enjoyillinois.com)

Illinois highway conditions (☎ 800-452-4368; www.gettingaroundillinois.com)

Illinois state park information (☎ 217-782-6752; www.dnr.state.il.us) State parks are free to visit. Campsites cost $6 to $35; some accept reservations (fee $5).

CHICAGO

Loving Chicago is 'like loving a woman with a broken nose: you may well find lovelier lovelies, but never a lovely so real.' Writer Nelson Algren summed it up well in Chicago: City on the Make. There's something about this cloud-scraping city that bewitches. Well, maybe not during the six-month winter, when the 'Windy City' gets slapped by snowy blasts; however, come May, when the weather warms and everyone dashes for the outdoor festivals, ballparks, lakefront beaches and beer gardens – ahh, nowhere tops Chicago. And we mean it

CHICAGO…

In Two Days

On your first day take an architectural tour (p577) and look up at the city's skyscrapers. Look down from the John Hancock Center (p568), one of the world's tallest buildings. See 'the Bean' reflect the skyline, and splash with Crown Fountain's human gargoyles at Millennium Park (p563). Hungry after all the walking? Chow down on a deep-dish pizza at Giordano's (see boxed text, p580).

Make the second day a cultural one: explore the Art Institute of Chicago (p563) or Field Museum of Natural History (p567). Browse boutiques and grab a stylish dinner in Wicker Park (p581). Then head north to Al Capone's gin joint, the Green Mill (p584), for an evening of jazz.

In Four Days

Follow the two-day itinerary and then on your third day, rent a bicycle, dip your toes in Lake Michigan at North Avenue Beach (p569) and cruise through Lincoln Park (p569), making stops at the zoo and conservatory. If it's baseball season, head directly to Wrigley Field (p569) for a Cubs game. A smoky blues club, such as Buddy Guy's Legends (p584), is a fine way to finish the day (or start the morning).

Pick a neighborhood on your fourth day to eat, shop and soak up the culture: murals and mole sauce in Pilsen (p572), pagodas and Vietnamese sandwiches in Uptown (p569), or Obama and the Nuclear Energy sculpture in Hyde Park (p574). Then see a play at one of Chicago's 200 theaters, or a comedy at Second City (p585).

literally as the Willis Tower is here, the USA's tallest building.

Beyond its mighty architecture, Chicago is a city of Mexican, Polish, Vietnamese and other ethnic neighborhoods to eat and wander through. It's a city of blues, jazz and rock clubs any night of the week, and a full-fledged foodie scene that extends even to gourmet hot dogs.

Thanks to the election of local boy Barack Obama to the White House, Chicago has jumped into the spotlight and been 'discovered' for its low-key, cultured awesomeness. It's a wonder it took so long.

History

In the late 17th century, the Potawatomi gave the name Checagou – meaning wild onions – to the once-swampy environs, and the city was on its way. Its pivotal moment happened on October 8, 1871. That's when Mrs O'Leary's cow kicked over the lantern that started the Great Chicago Fire (or so the story goes). It torched the entire inner city and left 90,000 people homeless.

'Damn,' said the city planners. 'Guess we shouldn't have built everything from wood. It's flammable.' So they rebuilt with steel and created space for bold new structures, like the world's first skyscraper, which popped up in 1885.

Workers fought against factories' poor conditions in the late 1800s, and after violent strikes, the world's labor movement was born in Chicago (so thank the city for your lunch break).

Al Capone's gang more or less ran things during the 1920s and corrupted the city's political system. Local government has had issues ever since, with 30 city council members going to jail since 1970.

The 'Democratic Machine,' as City Hall is often referred to by the press, has been helmed by the Daleys for 40-plus years, namely Richard J Daley, Chicago's mayor from 1955 to 1976, and his son Richard M Daley, Da Mayor since 1989.

Orientation

The central downtown area is known as the Loop, a hub of skyscrapers and Chicago Transit Authority (CTA) trains. The city's streets are laid out on a grid and numbered; Madison and State Sts are the grid's center. As you go north, south, east or west from here, each increase of 800 in street numbers corresponds to 1 mile. At every increase of 400, there is a major arterial street. For instance, Division St (1200 N) is followed by North Ave (1600 N) and Armitage Ave (2000 N), at which point you're 2.5 miles north of downtown.

Information

Chicago's sales tax – from 10.25% to 11.25% – is the nation's highest.

BOOKSTORES

Borders (Map pp570-1; ☎ 312-573-0564; 830 N Michigan Ave) You name it, they've got it.
Quimby's (Map p562; ☎ 773-342-0910; 1854 W North Ave) Ground Zero for comics, zines and underground culture.
Women & Children First (Map p573; ☎ 773-769-9299; 5233 N Clark St) Women-penned books.

EMERGENCY & MEDICAL SERVICES

Northwestern Memorial Hospital (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-926-5188; 251 E Erie St) Well-respected hospital downtown.
Rape crisis (☎ 888-293-2080)
Stroger Cook County Hospital (Map p562; ☎ 312-864-1300; 1969 W Ogden Ave) Public hospital serving low-income patients.
Walgreens (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-664-8686; 757 N Michigan Ave; 🕐 24hr)

INTERNET ACCESS

Public libraries remain the best bet for free wired and wireless internet access. Bars and restaurants in Lincoln Park, Bucktown and Near North often have free wi-fi, as does the Chicago Cultural Center (p567) downtown.

INTERNET RESOURCES

The local media (right) websites and free downloadable audio tours (p577) are also good resources.

Chicagoist (www.chicagoist.com) Quirky take on news, food, arts and events.
Gaper's Block (www.gapersblock.com) News and events site with Chicago attitude.
Huffington Post Chicago (www.huffingtonpost.com/chicago) Amalgamates news from major local sources.
Mayor Daley's Channel (www.gapersblock.com) Da Mayor spouts on YouTube.
Vegchicago (www.vegchicago.com) Vegetarian/vegan dining guide.

DON'T MISS

The Midwest is ready to pour you a cold one thanks to its German heritage. Yes, Budweiser and Miller are based here, but that's not what we're talking about. Far more exciting is the region's cache of craft brewers. Keep an eye on the taps for these slurpable brewers, available throughout the area:

Bell's Kalamazoo, MI
Capital Madison, WI
Founder's Grand Rapids, MI
Goose Island Chicago, IL Great Lakes Cleveland, OH
Lakefront Milwaukee, WI
New Holland Holland, MI Summit St Paul, MN
Three Floyds Munster, IN Two Brothers Warrenville, IL

ILLINOIS FACTS

Nicknames Prairie State, Land of Lincoln
Population 12.8 million
Area 57,900 sq miles
Capital city Springfield (population 116,500)
Other cities Chicago (population 2,833,321)
Sales tax 6.25%
Birthplace of Author Ernest Hemingway (1899–1961), animator Walt Disney (1901–66), jazz musician Miles Davis (1926–91), actor Bill Murray (b 1950)
Home of Cornfields, Route 66 starting point
Famous for Skyscrapers, corn dogs, Abe Lincoln sights
Official snack food Popcorn
Driving distances Chicago to Milwaukee 92 miles, Chicago to Springfield 200 miles

LIBRARIES

Harold Washington Library Center (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-747-4300; 400 S State St; 🕐 9am-9pm Mon-Thu, 9am-5pm Fri & Sat, 1-5pm Sun) A grand, art-filled building with free wi-fi throughout and 3rd-floor internet terminals.

MEDIA

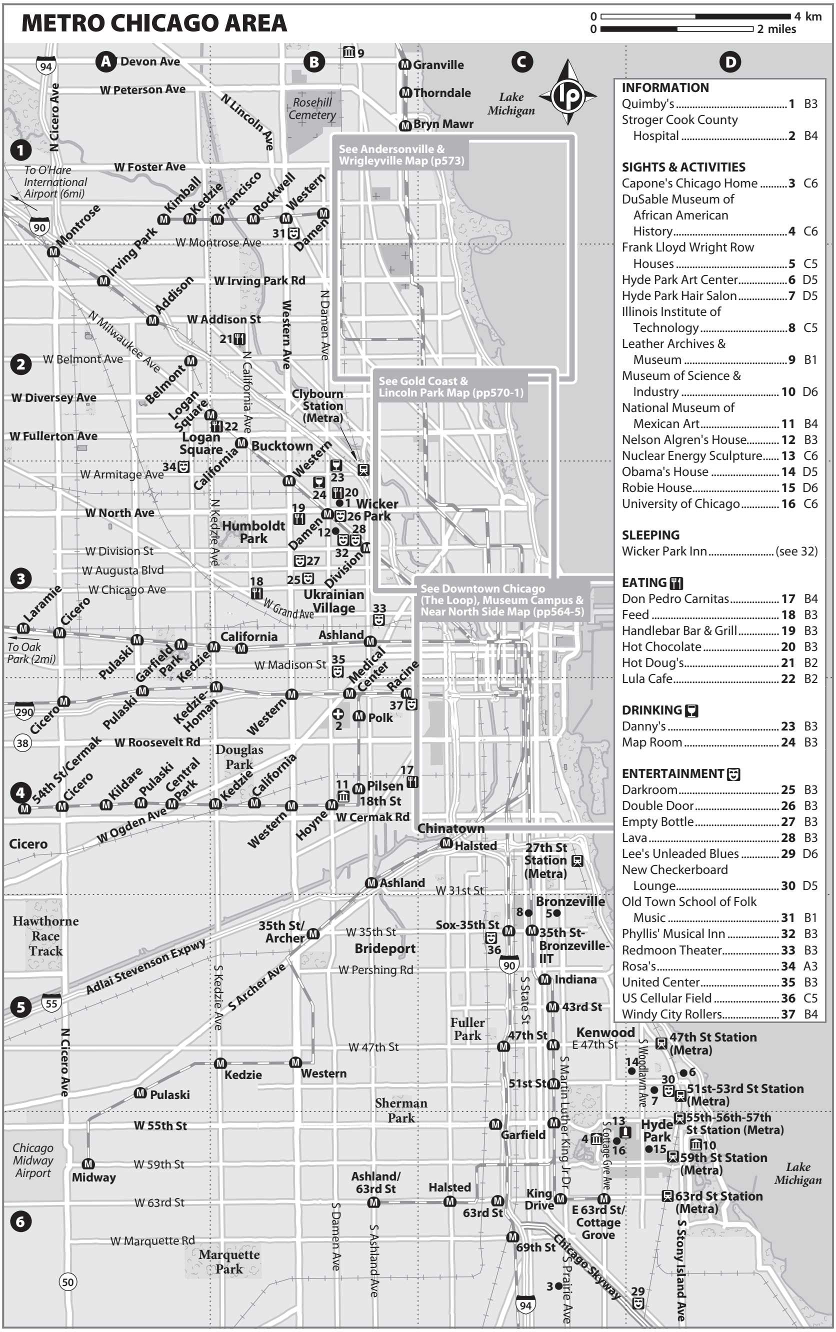
Chicago's National Public Radio (NPR) affiliate is WBEZ-FM 91.5. For alternative music, tune into WXRT-FM 93.1.

Chicago Reader (www.chicagoreader.com) Free alternative newspaper with comprehensive arts and entertainment listings.
Chicago Sun-Times (www.suntimes.com) The Tribune's daily, tabloidesque competitor.
Chicago Tribune (www.chicagotribune.com) The city's stalwart daily newspaper; its younger, trimmed-down, freebie version is RedEye.

MONEY

ATMs are plentiful downtown, with many near Chicago and Michigan Aves. To change

METRO CHICAGO AREA



0 4 km
0 2 miles
A
B
C
D
1
2
3
4
5
6
94
Devon Ave
W Peterson Ave
N Cicero Ave
N Lincoln Ave
Rosehill Cemetery
9 Granville Thorndale
Bryn Mawr
Lake Michigan
See Andersonville & Wrigleyville Map (p573)
To O'Hare International Airport (6mi)
W Foster Ave
Kimball Kedzie
Francisco Rockwell Western Damen
31 90 Montrose
W Montrose Ave
Irving Park
W Irving Park Rd
Addison
W Addison St
N Damen Ave
Western Ave
21
N Milwaukee Ave
W Belmont Ave
Belmont
N California Ave
W Diversey Ave
Logan Square
Clybourn Station (Metra)
22
See Gold Coast & Lincoln Park Map (pp570-1)
W Fullerton Ave
Logan Square
Bucktown
W Armitage Ave
34 California Western 23 24 20
1 Wicker
26 Park
19
W North Ave
Humboldt Park
N Kedzie Ave
Damen
12
28
W Division St
32
27
W Augusta Blvd Division
W Chicago Ave
18 25 Laramie
Cicero
W Grand Ave
Ukrainian Village
33
See Downtown Chicago (The Loop), Museum Campus & Near North Side Map (pp564-5)
To Oak Park (2mi)
California
Ashland
Pulaski
Garfield Park
Kedzie
W Madison St
35 Medical Center
Racine 290 Cicero
Pulaski
Kedzie-Homan Western 37
2 Polk 38
W Roosevelt Rd
Douglas Park
54th St/Cermak
Cicero
Kildare
Pulaski
Central Park
Kedzie
California
17 11 Pilsen
18th St
W Cermak Rd
W Ogden Ave Western Hoyne
Chinatown
Cicero
Halsted
27th St Station (Metra)
Ashland
W 31st St
Bronzeville
Hawthorne Race Track
8
5
35th St/ Archer
W 35th St
Sox-35th St
35th St-Bronzeville-IIT Bridgeport
36
Adlai Stevenson Expwy
W Pershing Rd
90
S Kedzie Ave
S Archer Ave
Indiana
55
S State St
43rd St
Fuller Park
Kenwood
N Cicero Ave
47th St
E 47th St
47th St Station (Metra)
W 47th St
S Martin Luther King Jr Dr
S Woodlawn Ave
14 Kedzie
Western
6 30
51st-53rd St Station (Metra)
51st St
7 Pulaski
Sherman Park
55th-56th-57th St Station (Metra)
13
W 55th St
Garfield
Hyde Park
4
S Cottage Gve Ave
16 10 15
59th St Station (Metra)
Chicago Midway Airport
W 59th St
Midway
Lake Michigan
Ashland/ 63rd St
Halsted
King Drive
63rd St Station (Metra)
W 63rd St
63rd St
E 63rd St/ Cottage Grove
S Damen Ave
S Ashland Ave
S Stony Island Ave
W Marquette Rd
69th St
Marquette Park
Chicago Skyway
S Prairie Ave
3 29
50
94

INFORMATION

Quimby's	1	B3
Stroger Cook County Hospital	2	B4

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

Capone's Chicago Home	3	C6
DuSable Museum of African American History	4	C6
Frank Lloyd Wright Row Houses	5	C5
Hyde Park Art Center	6	D5
Hyde Park Hair Salon	7	D5
Illinois Institute of Technology	8	C5
Leather Archives & Museum	9	B1
Museum of Science & Industry	10	D6
National Museum of Mexican Art	11	B4
Nelson Algren's House	12	B3
Nuclear Energy Sculpture	13	C6
Obama's House	14	D5
Robie House	15	D6
University of Chicago	16	C6

SLEEPING

Wicker Park Inn	(see 32)

EATING

Don Pedro Carnitas	17	B4
Feed	18	B3
Handlebar Bar & Grill	19	B3
Hot Chocolate	20	B3
Hot Doug's	21	B2
Lula Cafe	22	B2

DRINKING

Danny's	23	B3
Map Room	24	B3

ENTERTAINMENT

Darkroom	25	B3
Double Door	26	B3
Empty Bottle	27	B3
Lava	28	B3
Lee's Unleaded Blues	29	D6
New Checkerboard Lounge	30	D5
Old Town School of Folk Music	31	B1
Phyllis' Musical Inn	32	B3
Redmoon Theater	33	B3
Rosa's	34	A3
United Center	35	B3
US Cellular Field	36	C5
Windy City Rollers	37	B4

money, try Terminal 5 at O'Hare International or the following places in the Loop:

Travelex (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-807-4941; 19 S LaSalle St)

World's Money Exchange (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-641-2151; 203 N LaSalle St)

POST

Post office (Map pp564-5) Fort Dearborn (☎ 312-644-0485; 540 N Dearborn St) Main (☎ 312-983-8182; 433 W Harrison St; 🕒 7:30am-midnight Mon-Thu, Sat & Sun, to 5pm Fri)

TOURIST INFORMATION

The Chicago Office of Tourism (☎ 312-744-2400, 877-244-2246; www.explorechicago.org) operates two well-staffed and -stocked visitors centers:

Chicago Cultural Center Visitors Center (Map pp564-5; 77 E Randolph St; 🕒 8am-7pm Mon-Thu, 8am-6pm Fri, 9am-6pm Sat, 10am-6pm Sun)

Water Works Visitors Center (Map pp570-1; 163 E Pearson St; 🕒 8am-7pm Mon-Thu, 8am-6pm Fri, 10am-6pm Sat, 10am-4pm Sun)

Sights

Chicago's main attractions are found mostly in or near the city center, though visits to distant neighborhoods, like Pilsen and Hyde Park, can also be rewarding. Purchase the lump-sum CityPass (☎ 888-330-5008; www.citypass.com; adult/child 3-11yr $69/59) and save on admission fees to five top attractions: the Shedd Aquarium (p567), Field Museum of Natural History (p567), Adler Planetarium (p567), Museum of Science & Industry (p574), and the Hancock (p568) or Willis Tower (p566) observatories. Students with ID often receive reduced admission. Look for additional discounts at www.chicagoofficeoftourism.org/chicagocoupons.

For a more in-depth exploration of the Windy City, pick up Lonely Planet's Chicago city guide or Chicago Encounter guide.

THE LOOP

The city center and financial district is named for the elevated train tracks that lasso its streets. It's busy all day, though not much happens at night other than in the Theater District, near the intersection of N State and W Randolph Sts.

Route 66 buffs should note the Mother Road starts in the Loop. Look for the Route 66 sign (Map pp564–5) on Adams St's north side, between Michigan and Wabash Aves.

Art Institute of Chicago

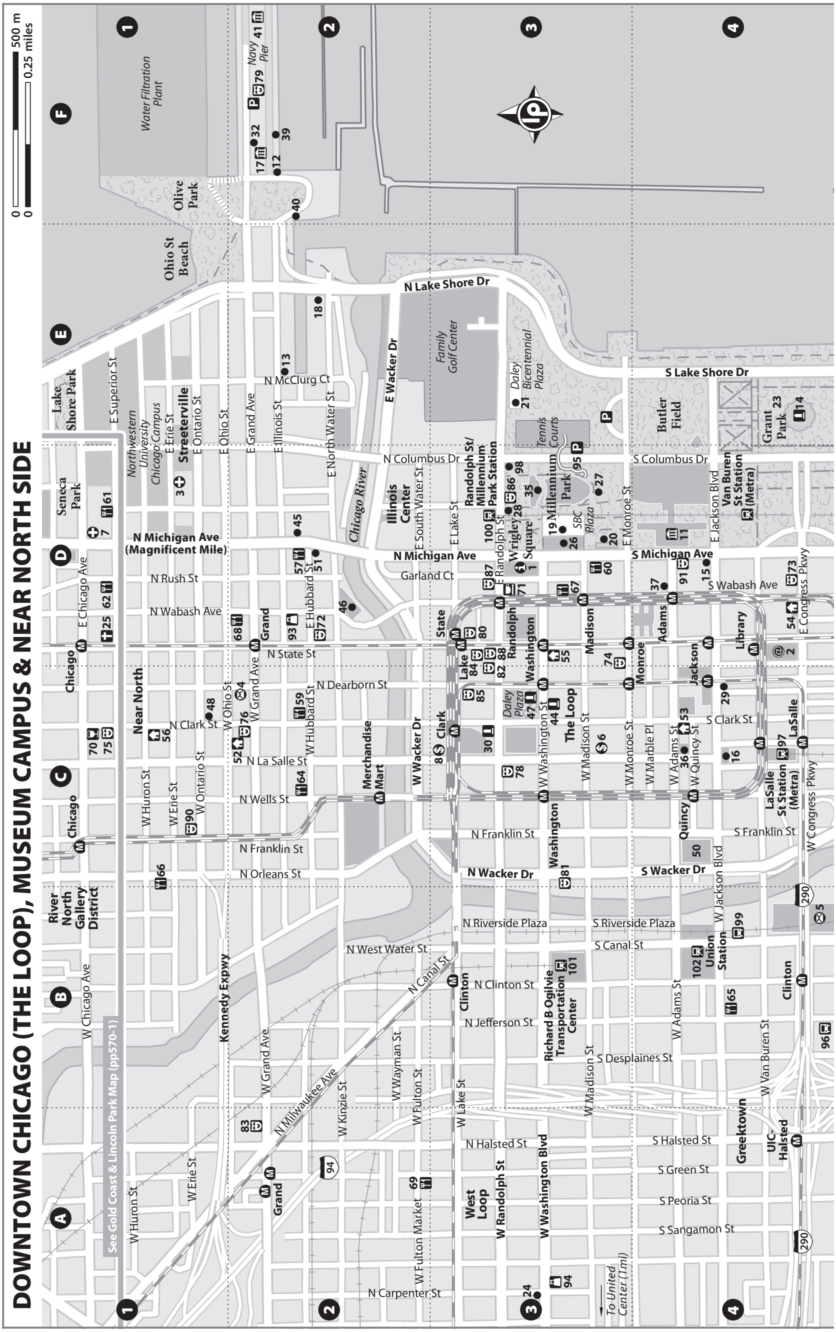
The second-largest museum in the country, the Art Institute (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-443-3600; www.artic.edu/aic; 111 S Michigan Ave; adult/child/student 14-18yr $18/free/12, admission free 5-9pm Thu & Fri; 🕒 10:30am-5pm Mon-Wed, to 9pm Thu & Fri, 10am-5pm Sat & Sun Jun-Aug, 10:30am-5pm Mon-Wed & Fri, to 8pm Thu, 10am-5pm Sat & Sun Sep-May) houses treasures and masterpieces from around the globe, including a fabulous selection of both Impressionist and post-Impressionist paintings. Georges Seurat's pointillist A Sunday on La Grande Jatte is here, so is Grant Wood's American Gothic. The new Modern Wing, dazzling with natural light, hangs Picassos and Miros on its 3rd floor (added bonus: the mod, pedestrian Nichols Bridgeway arches from here into Millennium Park). Allow two hours to browse the museum's highlights; art buffs should allocate much longer. Ask at the front desk about free talks and tours once you're inside.

Millennium Park & Grant Park

Grant Park (Map pp564-5; Michigan Ave btwn 12th & Randolph Sts) is the sprawling green space that forms a playful buffer between the Loop and Lake Michigan. Millennium Park (Map pp564-5; Michigan Ave btwn Monroe & Randolph Sts) is Grant's crown jewel, sparkling in the northwest corner. Here, Frank Gehry's 120ft-high swooping silver band shell, aka Pritzker Pavilion (Map pp564–5), anchors what is, in essence, an outdoor modern-design gallery. It includes Jaume Plensa's 50ft-high fountain that projects video images of locals spitting out water gargoyle-style, a Gehry-designed bridge (his first) that spans Columbus Dr and offers great skyline views, and a winter ice-skating rink (p575). But the thing that has become the park's biggest draw is the Bean – Anish Kapoor's 110-ton, ridiculously smooth silver-drop sculpture, officially titled Cloud Gate (Map pp564–5). Visitors swarm it to see their reflection and that of the city skyline.

Free activities fill both parks in summer. Millennium's pavilion hosts free concerts at 6:30pm (new music on Mondays, world music on Thursdays and classical music on other days). Each Saturday free exercise classes take place on the Great Lawn (tai chi at 8am, yoga at 9am, Pilates at 10am and dance at 11am). And the Family Fun Tent provides free kids' activities daily between

DOWNTOWN CHICAGO (THE LOOP), MUSEUM CAMPUS & NEAR NORTH SIDE



0 500 m
0 0.25 miles
A
B
C
D
E
F
1
2
3
4
See Gold Coast & Lincoln Park Map (pp570-1)
Water Filtration Plant
Navy Pier
Olive Park
Ohio St Beach
Lake Shore Park
Seneca Park
Northwestern University Chicago Campus Streeterville
Near North
River North Gallery District
N Lake Shore Dr
S Lake Shore Dr
E Superior St
E Erie St
E Ontario St
E Ohio St
E Grand Ave
E Illinois St
N McClurg Ct
E North Water St
E Wacker Dr
Family Golf Center
Daley Bicentennial Plaza
Tennis Courts
Millennium Park
SBC Plaza
Butler Field
Grant Park
N Columbus Dr
S Columbus Dr
N Michigan Ave (Magnificent Mile)
N Michigan Ave
S Michigan Ave
Chicago River
Illinois Center
E South Water St
E Lake St
Randolph St/Millennium Park Station
Garland Ct
E Randolph St
Wrigley Square
E Monroe St
E Jackson Blvd
Van Buren St Station (Metra)
S Wabash Ave
E Congress Pkwy
E Chicago Ave
N Rush St
N Wabash Ave
E Hubbard St
N State St
N Dearborn St
N Clark St
N La Salle St
N Wells St
N Franklin St
N Orleans St
W Huron St
W Erie St
W Ontario St
W Ohio St
W Grand Ave
W Hubbard St
Chicago
Grand
State
Lake
Randolph
Washington
Madison
Monroe
Adams
Jackson
Library
LaSalle
Clark
Merchandise Mart
W Wacker Dr
The Loop
Daley Plaza
W Washington St
W Madison St
W Monroe St
W Marble Pl
W Adams St
W Quincy St
S Clark St
Quincy
LaSalle St Station (Metra)
W Congress Pkwy
S Franklin St
N Wacker Dr
S Wacker Dr
N Riverside Plaza
S Riverside Plaza
S Canal St
W Jackson Blvd
Union Station
N West Water St
N Canal St
N Clinton St
Clinton
N Jefferson St
Richard B Ogilvie Transportation Center
S Desplaines St
W Van Buren St
W Chicago Ave
Kennedy Expwy
W Grand Ave
N Milwaukee Ave
W Kinzie St
W Wayman St
W Fulton St
W Lake St
W Fulton Market
N Halsted St
S Halsted St
S Green St
S Peoria St
S Sangamon St
West Loop
W Randolph St
W Washington Blvd
Greektown
UIC-Halsted
N Carpenter St
To United Center (1mi)
94
290
1
2
3
4
5
6
7
8 11 12 13 14 15 16
17 18 19 20 21
23 24
25 26 27 28 29 30 32 35 36 37
39 40
41
44 45
46 47 48
50 51
52 53
54
55
56 57
59 60
61
62
64
65
66
67
68
69
70 71
72 73
74
75 76
78
79 80
81
82 83
84
85
86 87
88 90
91
93
94
95
96
97
98
99 100 101
102 P

5
6
7
8
LAKE MICHIGAN
Lakefront Path Solidarity Dr
10
12th St Beach
9
P
S Linn White Dr
Northerly Island
33
Burnham Park Yacht Harbor
38
S Museum Campus Dr
Old Lake Shore Dr
Museum Campus
22
E McFetridge Dr
89
E Waldron Dr
Burnham Park
Lake Shore Dr
18th St Station (Metra)
E Balbo Ave
Hutchinson Field
S Columbus Dr
Tennis Courts
Grant Park
Roosevelt Rd/ Museum Campus Station
E 12th St
Central Station
S Calumet Ave
S Prairie Ave
S Indiana Ave
S Michigan Ave
S Wabash Ave
Prairie Avenue Historic District
E Cullerton St
E 21st St
49
92
43
31 42
77
E 9th St
E 11th St
Roosevelt
E 13th St
E 14th St
E 16th St
E 18th St
S Holden Ct
S State St
Harrison
Printer's Row
58
S Plymouth Ct
S Dearborn St
S Federal St
Dearborn St Station
Dearborn Park
W 15th St
W 19th St
E Cermak Rd
Cermak-Chinatown
S La Salle St
S Financial Pl
S Wells St
S Wentworth Ave
Chinatown Square Mall
63 Chinatown
34
South Branch Chicago River
S Lumber St
New Maxwell St Market
S Canal St
W 18th St
S Normal Ave
S Clinton St
W Polk St
W Cabrini St
S Jefferson St
S Desplaines St
W Harrison St
W 14th Pl
W 15th St
S Ruble St
S Canal Port Ave
S Union Ave
90
94
W Roosevelt Rd
W 19th St
S Halsted St
W Cermak Rd
Halsted St Station (Metra)
S Peoria St
S Sangamon St
W Cullerton St
W 21st St
W Taylor St
University of Illinois at Chicago
S Morgan St
To Little Italy (0.25mi)
W 18th St
Pilsen

INFORMATION

Chicago Cultural Center Visitors Center	1	D3
Harold Washington Library Center	2	D4
Northwestern Memorial Hospital	3	D1
Post Office (Fort Dearborn)	4	C2
Post Office (Main Branch)	5	B4
Travelex	6	C3
Walgreens	7	D1
World's Money Exchange	8	C3

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

12th St Beach	9	F6
Adler Planetarium & Astronomy Museum	10	F6
Art Institute of Chicago	11	D4
Bike Chicago	12	F2
Bike Chicago	(see 98)
Bobby's Bike Hike	13	E2
Buckingham Fountain	14	E4
Chicago Architecture Foundation	15	D4
Chicago Board of Trade	16	C4
Chicago Children's Museum	17	F2
Chicago Cultural Center	(see 1)
Chicago Greeter	(see 1)
Chicago Spire	18	E2
Cloud Gate	19	D3
Crown Fountain	20	D3
Daley Bicentennial Plaza Rink	21	E3
Field Museum of Natural History	22	E6
Grant Park	23	E4
Harpo Studios	24	A3
Holy Name Cathedral	25	D1
InstaGreeter	(see 1)
McCormick Tribune Ice Rink	26	D3
Millennium Park	27	D3
Millennium Park Welcome Center	28	D3
Monadnock Building	29	C4
Monument with Standing Beast	30	C3
Museum of Contemporary Photography	31	D5
Navy Pier	32	F2
Northerly Island	33	F7
Ping Tom Memorial Park	34	C7
Pritzker Pavilion	35	D3
Rookery	36	C4
Route 66 Sign	37	D4
Shedd Aquarium	38	E6
Shoreline Lake Water Taxi to Museum Campus	39	F2
Shoreline River Water Taxi to Willis Tower	40	F2
Skydeck	(see 50)
Smith Museum of Stained Glass Windows	41	F2
Spertus Museum	42	D5
SummerDance	43	D5
Sun, the Moon & One Star	44	C3
Tribune Tower	45	D2
Trump Tower	46	D2
Untitled	47	C3
Weird Chicago Tours	48	C1
Willie Dixon's Blues Heaven	49	D8
Willis Tower	50	C4
Wrigley Building	51	D2

SLEEPING

Best Western River North	52	C2
Central Loop Hotel	53	C4
HI-Chicago	54	D4
Hotel Burnham	55	D3
Hotel Felix	56	C1

EATING

Billy Goat Tavern	57	D2
Cafecito	(see 54)
Chicago Curry House	58	D5
Chicago's Downtown Farmstand	(see 87)
Frontera Grill	59	C2
Gage	60	D3
Gino's East	61	D1
Giordano's	62	D1
Joy Yee's Noodles	63	C8
Lou Malnati's	64	C2
Lou Mitchell's	65	B4
Mr Beef	66	C1
Oasis	67	D3
Pizzeria Uno	68	D2
Publican	69	A2
Topolobampo	(see 59)

DRINKING

Clark Street Ale House	70	C1
Intelligentsia Coffee	71	D3

ENTERTAINMENT

Andy's	72	D2
Auditorium Theater	73	D4
Bank of America Theater	74	D3
Blue Chicago	75	C1
Blue Chicago	76	C2
Buddy Guy's Legends	77	D5
Butterfly Social Club	(see 83)
Cadillac Palace Theater	78	C3
Chicago Shakespeare Theater	79	F2
Chicago Theater	80	D3
Civic Opera House	81	C3
Ford Center/Oriental Theater	82	C3
Funky Buddha Lounge	83	A2
Gene Siskel Film Center	84	D3
Goodman Theatre	85	C3
Harpo Studios	(see 24)
Harris Theater for Music and Dance	86	D3
Hot Tix	87	D3
Hubbard Street Dance Chicago	(see 86)
Joffrey Ballet	88	D3
Soldier Field	89	E7
Sound-Bar	90	C1
Symphony Center	91	D4
Velvet Lounge	92	D8

SHOPPING

Chicago Architecture Foundation Shop	(see 15)
Jazz Record Mart	93	D2
Oprah Store	94	A3

TRANSPORT

East Monroe Garage	95	D3
Greyhound Bus Station	96	B4
LaSalle St Station	97	C4
McDonalds Cycle Center	98	D3
Megabus	99	B4
Randolph St/Millenium Park Station	100	D3
Richard B Ogilvie Transportation Center	101	B3
Union Station	102	B4

10am and 3pm. The Millennium Park Welcome Center (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-742-1168; www.millenniumpark.org; 201 E Randolph St; 🕘 9am-7pm mid-May–mid-Oct, 10am-4pm mid-Oct–mid-May) has the lowdown; it also offers free park tours at 11:30am and 1pm.

Grant Park hosts all the big-city events, like Taste of Chicago, Blues Fest and Lollapalooza. Buckingham Fountain (Map pp564-5; cnr Congress Pkwy & Columbus Dr) is Grant's centerpiece. The fountain is one of the world's largest squirters, with a 1.5-million-gallon capacity. It lets loose on the hour from 10am to 11pm mid-April to mid-October, accompanied at night by multicolored lights and music.

Willis Tower

Yes, you're at the right place. Willis Tower (Map pp564–5) was the Sears Tower until mid-2009, when insurance broker Willis Group Holdings bought the naming rights. No matter what you call it, it's still the USA's tallest building, and its 103rd-floor Skydeck (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-875-9696; www.the-skydeck.com; 233 S Wacker Dr; adult/child 3-11yr $15/10.50; 🕘 9am-10pm Apr-Sep, 10am-8pm Oct-Mar) puts visitors way up in the clouds. Enter via Jackson Blvd, go through security and take the elevator down to the waiting area. A sign will tell you the wait time (at its summertime peak 11am to 4pm Friday through Sunday). There's a factoid-filled film to watch while queuing, and then the 70-second ride to the top. Step onto the glass-floored Ledge for a feeling of mid-air suspension and view straight down. For those who prefer a drink with their vista, the John Hancock Center (p568) is a better choice.

Chicago Cultural Center

The exquisite interior of the Cultural Center (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-744-6630; www.chicagoculturalcenter.org; 78 E Washington St; admission free; 🕘 8am-7pm Mon-Thu, 8am-6pm Fri, 9am-6pm Sat, 10am-6pm Sun) features rooms modeled on the Doge's Palace in Venice and Palazzo Vecchio in Florence, and is notable for the 3rd floor's stained-glass Tiffany dome and sparkling mosaics. Free exhibits and lunchtime concerts are ongoing; there's also free wi-fi.

Architecture & Public Art

Ever since it presented the world with the first skyscraper, Chicago has thought big with its architecture and pushed the envelope of modern design. The Loop is a fantastic place to roam and gawk at these ambitious structures.

The Chicago Architecture Foundation (p577) runs tours that explain the following buildings and more.

The Chicago Board of Trade (Map pp564-5; 141 W Jackson Blvd) is a 1930 art-deco gem. Inside, manic traders swap futures and options – a mysterious process that has something to do with corn. A small visitors center (☎ 312-435-3590; admission free; 🕘 8am-4pm Mon-Fri) tries to explain it. Or stay outside and check out the mondo statue of Ceres, the goddess of agriculture, that tops the building.

The 1888 Rookery (Map pp564-5; 209 S LaSalle St) looks fortresslike outside, but this office building is light and airy inside thanks to Frank Lloyd Wright's atrium overhaul. Pigeons used to roost here, hence the name.

Architectural pilgrims get weak-kneed when they see the Monadnock Building (Map pp564-5; 53 W Jackson Blvd), which is two buildings in one. The north is the older, traditional design from 1891, while the south is the newer, mod half from 1893. See the difference? The Monadnock remains true to its original purpose as an office building.

Chicago has commissioned several head-scratching public sculptures throughout the decades. The Loop's triumvirate of puzzlement includes Pablo Picasso's Untitled (Map pp564-5; 50 W Washington St), which everyone just calls 'the Picasso;' Joan Miro's the Sun, the Moon and One Star (Map pp564-5; 69 W Washington St), which everyone just calls 'Miro's Chicago;' and Jean Dubuffet's Monument with Standing Beast (Map pp564-5; 100 W Randolph St), which everyone just calls 'Snoopy in a Blender.'

SOUTH LOOP

The South Loop, which includes the lower ends of downtown and Grant Park, along with the historic Printer's Row neighborhood of rare bookshops, soared recently from dereliction to development central. The Museum Campus is the lakefront area south of Grant Park, where three top attractions huddle.

Field Museum of Natural History

The mammoth Field Museum (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-922-9410; www.fieldmuseum.org; 1400 S Lake Shore Dr; adult/child 3-11yr $15/10; 🕘 9am-5pm; 👪) houses everything but the kitchen sink – beetles, mummies, gemstones, Bushman the stuffed ape. The collection's rockstar is Sue, the largest Tyrannosaurus rex yet discovered. She even gets her own gift shop. Special exhibits cost extra.

Shedd Aquarium

Top draws at the kiddie-mobbed Shedd Aquarium (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-939-2438; www.sheddaquarium.org; 1200 S Lake Shore Dr; adult/child 3-11yr $25/18; 🕘 9am-6pm Jun-Aug, to 10pm some Thu, reduced Sep-May; 👪) include the Oceanarium, with its beluga whales and frolicking white-sided dolphins, and the shark exhibit, where there's just 5in of Plexiglas between you and two dozen fierce-looking swimmers. The 4-D theater costs $4 extra. For admission to just the plain ol' fish tanks, ask for the unadvertised 'aquarium only/general admission' fee (adult/child $8/6).

Adler Planetarium & Astronomy Museum

Space enthusiasts will get a big bang (pun!) out of the Adler Planetarium (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-922-7827; www.adlerplanetarium.org; 1300 S Lake Shore Dr; adult/child 3-17yr $10/6; 🕘 9:30am-6pm Jun-Aug, 10am-4pm Sep-May). Cosmic films show in the digital theaters and cost $9 extra. A real bonus is if you're here the first Friday night of the month, when the Adler's staff bring out their telescopes and let you view the skies with them (adult/child $20/17).

HOT TOPIC: THE FISH WHO ATE THE GREAT LAKES

The title sounds like a bad sci-fi movie. The scary thing is, it has the potential to become reality.

The ravenous fish causing all the trouble is the Asian carp. Fish farms in the southern USA imported these creatures in the 1960s and '70s to eat away pesky algae. Floods washed them into the Mississippi River and they swam north. Though they only eat plankton, they chow phenomenal quantities – up to 40% of their body weight daily. The result is a 3ft-long, 50lb bully that's wiping out the food base for native species.

The carp are now in the Illinois River, which connects to Lake Michigan and the waters beyond. The fear is that if the fish enter, they'll wipe out the Great Lakes ecosystem. And since the lakes contain 20% of the world's fresh water…well, you get the scope of the problem.

So engineers built an electric barrier 50 miles southwest of Chicago that has kept the fish at bay – for now. The barrier has experienced all kinds of problems, from funding shortages to safety issues regarding electrocution risk.

Meanwhile, the fish wait hungrily at the gate, hoping it lets down its guard.

Around the Museum Campus

A path runs south from the planetarium to 12th St Beach (Map pp564–5), where you'll have good views of the lake and fishermen casting there. Nearby Northerly Island (Map pp564–5) hosts big-name summer concerts (which you can hear from 12th St Beach for free), trails and bird-watching.

In addition to the big-ticket museums, the small Museum of Contemporary Photography (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-663-5554; www.mocp.org; Columbia College, 600 S Michigan Ave; admission free; 🕘 10am-5pm Mon-Sat, to 8pm Thu, noon-5pm Sun) is worth exploring. Next door the Spertus Museum (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-322-1700; www.spertus.edu; 610 S Michigan Ave; adult/child 5-18yr $7/5; 🕘 call for hours) has Jewish cultural exhibits on its 9th and 10th floors.

NEAR NORTH

The area north of the Chicago River to Chicago Ave encompasses several points of interest. Between the river and Oak St, the Magnificent Mile (Map pp564-5; N Michigan Ave) is the much-touted upscale shopping strip, where Bloomingdales, Neiman's and Saks will lighten your wallet.

The white terra-cotta exterior of the Wrigley Building (Map pp564-5; 400 N Michigan Ave) glows day or night. Take a close look when passing by the gothic Tribune Tower (Map pp564-5; 435 N Michigan Ave) to see chunks of the Taj Mahal, Parthenon and other famous structures embedded in the lower walls. The Donald's 1360ft Trump Tower (Map pp564-5; 401 N Wabash Ave) is now Chicago's second-tallest building, though architecture critics have mocked its 'toothpick' look. The Chicago Spire (Map pp564-5; 400 N Lake Shore Dr) is poised to rise above Trump and everything else in the country, though progress has been slow.

Navy Pier

Once the city's municipal wharf, Navy Pier (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-595-7437; www.navypier.com; 600 E Grand Ave; admission free; 🕘 from 10am, closing times vary seasonally from 7pm-midnight), which is a half-mile long, is now covered with a Ferris wheel (per ride $6), an IMAX theater, numerous shops and gimmicky chain restaurants. Locals groan over its commercialization, but its lakefront view and cool breezes can't be beat. The fireworks displays on Wednesday (9:30pm) and Saturday (10:15pm) are a treat too.

The Chicago Children's Museum (p576) and gorgeous Smith Museum of Stained Glass Windows (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-595-5024; admission free; 🕘 same as pier) are also on the pier, as are several boat-cruise operators. Try the Shoreline water taxi (Map pp564-5; 🕘 10am-6pm May-Aug) for a useful and economic ride to the Museum Campus (adult/child $7/3) or Willis Tower ($6/4).

GOLD COAST

Starting in 1882, Chicago's wealthy flocked to this neighborhood flanking the lake between Chicago and North Aves. Within 40 years most of the Gold Coast was covered with mansions.

Today the neighborhood giant is the 1127ft-tall John Hancock Center (Map pp570-1; ☎ 888-875-8439; www.hancock-observatory.com; 875 N Michigan Ave; adult/child 4-11yr $15/10; 🕘 9am-11pm), which has a great 94th-floor observatory that's often less crowded than the one at Willis Tower. Better yet, skip the observatory and head straight up to the 96th-floor Signature Lounge (p582), where the view is free if you buy a drink ($7 to $14). Time it to coincide with Navy Pier's fireworks (opposite) and you're stylin'.

The 154ft-tall, turreted Water Tower (Map pp570-1; cnr Chicago & Michigan Aves) is a defining city landmark: it was the sole downtown survivor of the 1871 Great Fire.

The Museum of Contemporary Art (Map pp570-1; ☎ 312-280-2660; www.mcachicago.org; 220 E Chicago Ave; adult/student 13-18yr $12/7, admission free Tue; 🕒 10am-8pm Tue, 10am-5pm Wed-Sun) displays head-scratching works by Franz Kline, René Magritte, Cindy Sherman and Andy Warhol. Consider it the Art Institute's brash, rebellious sibling.

Oak Street Beach (Map pp570-1; 1000 N Lake Shore Dr) packs in bodies beautiful at the edge of downtown.

To sample the Gold Coast's former grandeur, saunter down the 1300 and 1400 blocks of N Astor St, where gems include Frank Lloyd Wright's Charnley-Persky House (Map pp570-1; ☎ 312-915-0105; www.charnleyhouse.org; 1365 N Astor St; tours free-$15; 🕒 Wed & Sat, call for times), which he proclaimed the 'first modern building.' One block west is a first of another kind – the First Playboy Mansion (Map pp570-1; 1340 N State St). Hugh Hefner began wearing his all-day jammies here, when the rigors of magazine production and heavy partying prevented him from getting dressed. The building contains condos now, but a visit still allows you to boast, 'I've been to the Playboy mansion.'

LINCOLN PARK & OLD TOWN

Lincoln Park is an urban oasis spanning 1200 leafy acres; its widest swath is between North Ave and Diversey Pkwy. 'Lincoln Park' is also the name for the abutting neighborhood. Both are alive day and night with people skating, walking dogs, pushing strollers and driving in circles looking for a place to park.

The Lincoln Park Zoo (Map pp570-1; ☎ 312-742-2000; www.lpzoo.org; 2200 N Cannon Dr; admission free; 🕒 10am-4:30pm Nov-Mar, 10am-5pm Apr-Oct, 10am-6:30pm Sat & Sun Jun-Aug; 👶) is popular with families, who stroll by the habitats of gorillas, lions, tigers and other exotic creatures. Pick up a free map at the Gateway Pavilion (the main entrance), which provides times and locations of when zookeepers give free discussions about various animals, as well as feeding times and training demonstrations.

Near the zoo's north entrance, the magnificent 1891 Lincoln Park Conservatory (Map pp570-1; ☎ 312-742-7736; 2391 N Stockton Dr; admission free; 🕒 9am-5pm) coaxes palms, ferns and orchids to flourish despite Chicago's brutal weather.

The Peggy Notebaert Nature Museum (Map pp570-1; ☎ 773-755-5100; www.naturemuseum.org; 2430 N Cannon Dr; adult/child 3-12yr $9/6, admission free Thu; 🕒 9am-4:30pm Mon-Fri, 10am-5pm Sat & Sun) has a year-round butterfly park and other natural wonders.

The Chicago History Museum (Map pp570-1; ☎ 312-642-4600; www.chicagohs.org; 1601 N Clark St; adult/child under 13yr/child 13-22yr $14/free/12, admission free Mon; 🕒 9:30am-4:30pm Mon-Sat, noon-5pm Sun) covers the Great Fire well, among other storied events. Ask for the free audio tour.

North Avenue Beach (Map pp570-1; 1600 N Lake Shore Dr) is Chicago's most popular and amenity-laden stretch of sand. You can rent bikes, volleyballs and lounge chairs, as well as eat and drink at the beach house.

Old Town rests at the southwest foot of Lincoln Park. The intersection of North Ave and Wells St is the epicenter, with restaurants, bars and Second City (p585) fanning out from here.

LAKE VIEW & WRIGLEYVILLE

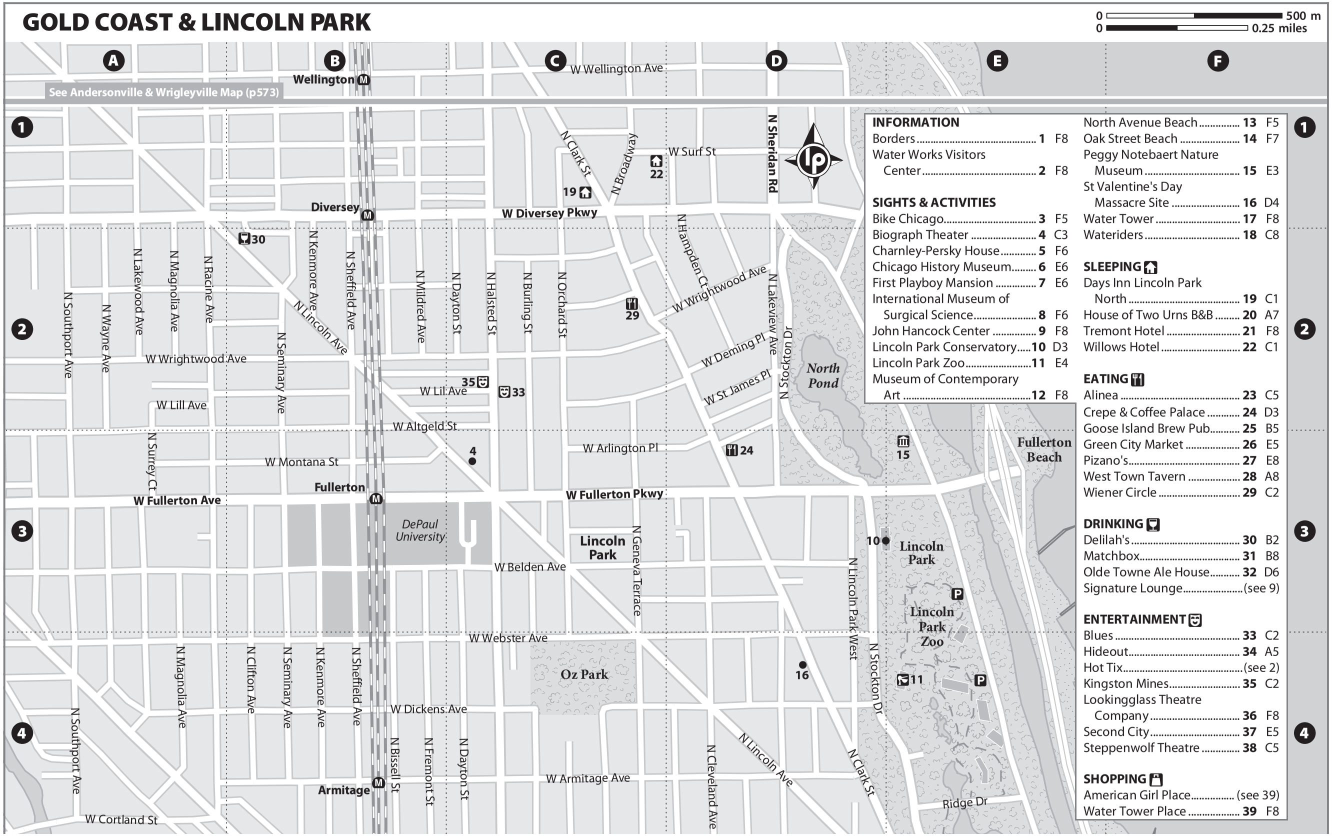
North of Lincoln Park, these neighborhoods can be enjoyed by ambling along Halsted St, Clark St, Belmont Ave or Southport Ave, which are well supplied with restaurants, bars and shops. Ivy-covered Wrigley Field (Map p573; 1060 W Addison St) is named after the chewing-gum guy and is home to the adored but perpetually losing Chicago Cubs. If they're playing a game, you can peep in the 'knothole,' a garage door–sized opening on Sheffield Ave, to watch the action for free. For ticket information, see above.

ANDERSONVILLE & UPTOWN

Creative types, lesbians, gays and yuppies occupy most of walkable, bar-filled Andersonville (Map p573), which was once heavily Swedish. Take the CTA Red Line to the Berwyn stop and walk west for about a mile.

Get off one stop south at the pagoda-like Argyle St station, and you're in Uptown's 'Little Saigon' area with its abundant Vietnamese, Chinese and Thai restaurants and shops.

GOLD COAST & LINCOLN PARK



0 500 m
0 0.25 miles
A
B
C
D
E
F
1
2
3
4
See Andersonville & Wrigleyville Map (p573)
Wellington
Diversey
Fullerton
Armitage
W Wellington Ave
W Surf St
N Sheridan Rd
N Clark St
N Broadway
W Diversey Pkwy
N Hampden Ct
W Wrightwood Ave
N Lakeview Ave
W Deming Pl
W St James Pl
N Stockton Dr
North Pond
N Southport Ave
N Wayne Ave
N Lakewood Ave
N Magnolia Ave
N Racine Ave
N Seminary Ave
N Kenmore Ave
N Lincoln Ave
N Sheffield Ave
N Mildred Ave
N Dayton St
N Halsted St
N Burling St
N Orchard St
W Lill Ave
W Lil Ave
W Altgeld St
W Montana St
W Arlington Pl
N Surrey Ct
W Fullerton Ave
W Fullerton Pkwy
DePaul University
Lincoln Park
W Belden Ave
N Geneva Terrace
W Webster Ave
Oz Park
N Clifton Ave
W Dickens Ave
N Bissell St
N Fremont St
W Armitage Ave
N Cleveland Ave
N Lincoln Park West
Lincoln Park Zoo
Fullerton Beach Ridge Dr
W Cortland St
1
2
3
4
10 11 15 16
19 22 24
29 30
33 35

INFORMATION

Borders	1	F8
Water Works Visitors Center	2	F8

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

Bike Chicago	3	F5
Biograph Theater	4	C3
Charnley-Persky House	5	F6
Chicago History Museum	6	E6
First Playboy Mansion	7	E6
International Museum of Surgical Science	8	F6
John Hancock Center	9	F8
Lincoln Park Conservatory	10	D3
Lincoln Park Zoo	11	E4
Museum of Contemporary Art	12	F8
North Avenue Beach	13	F5
Oak Street Beach	14	F7
Peggy Notebaert Nature Museum	15	E3
St Valentine's Day Massacre Site	16	D4
Water Tower	17	F8
Wateriders	18	C8

SLEEPING

Days Inn Lincoln Park North	19	C1
House of Two Urns B&B	20	A7
Tremont Hotel	21	F8
Willows Hotel	22	C1

EATING

Alinea	23	C5
Crepe & Coffee Palace	24	D3
Goose Island Brew Pub	25	B5
Green City Market	26	E5
Pizano's	27	E8
West Town Tavern	28	A8
Wiener Circle	29	C2

DRINKING

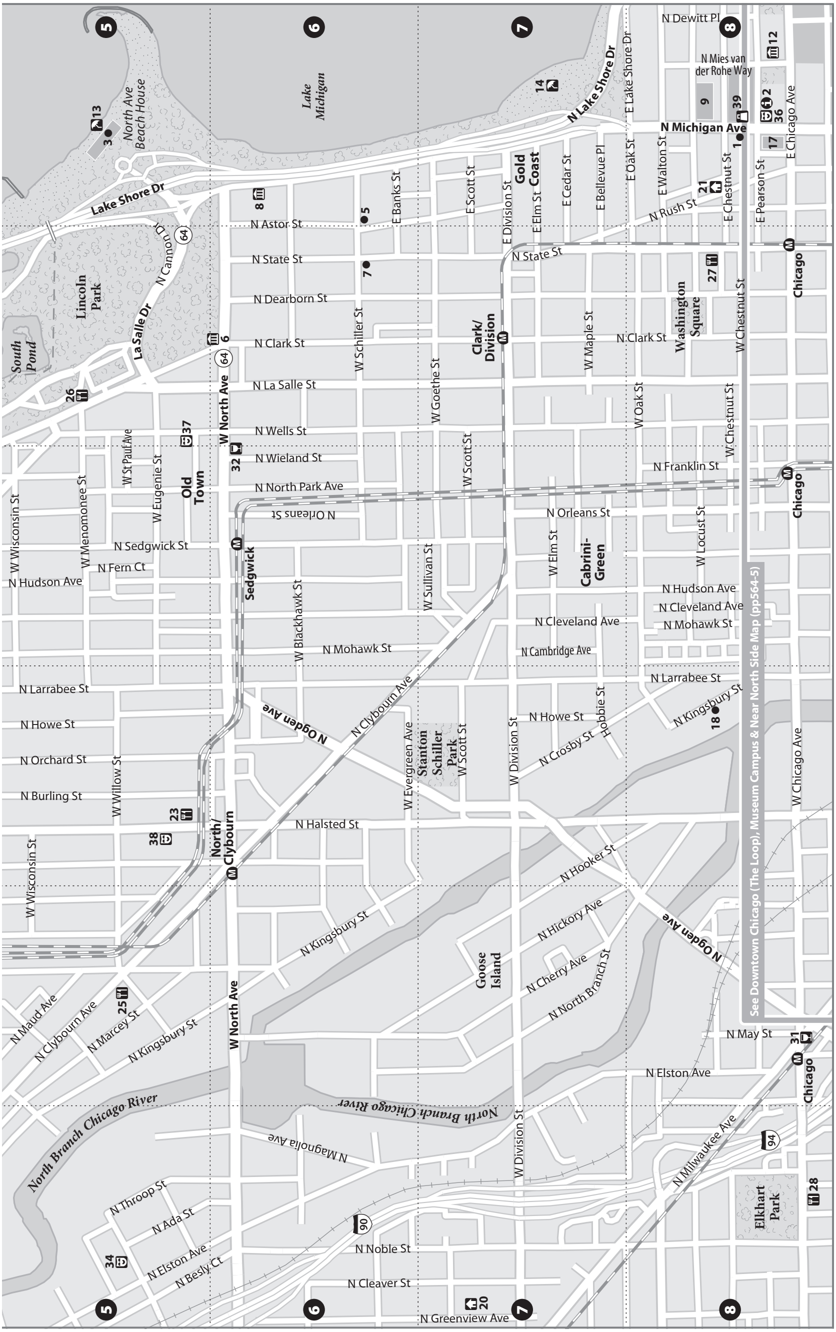
Delilah's	30	B2
Matchbox	31	B8
Olde Towne Ale House	32	D6
Signature Lounge	(see 9)

ENTERTAINMENT

Blues	33	C2
Hideout	34	A5
Hot Tix	(see 2)
Kingston Mines	35	C2
Lookingglass Theatre Company	36	F8
Second City	37	E5
Steppenwolf Theatre	38	C5

SHOPPING

American Girl Place	(see 39)
Water Tower Place	39	F8



5
6
7
8
Lake Michigan
North Ave Beach House
13
3 14
Lake Shore Dr
N Lake Shore Dr
E Lake Shore Dr
N Dewitt Pl
N Mies van der Rohe Way 12 9 39
2 36
N Michigan Ave
1
17
E Chicago Ave
E Pearson St
E Chestnut St
21
E Walton St
N Rush St
E Oak St
E Bellevue Pl
E Cedar St
Gold Coast
E Elm St
E Division St
E Scott St
E Banks St
8
5
7
N Astor St
N State St
N Dearborn St
N Clark St
N La Salle St
N Wells St
N Wieland St
N North Park Ave
N Orleans St
N Sedgwick St
N Fern Ct
N Hudson Ave
N Cannon Dr
64
La Salle Dr
Lincoln Park
South Pond
26
6
W North Ave
37
32
W St Paul Ave
W Eugenie St
Old Town
W Menomonee St
W Wisconsin St
Sedgwick
W Schiller St
W Goethe St
Clark/Division
W Scott St
W Sullivan St
W Blackhawk St
N Mohawk St
N State St
27 Washington Square
Chicago
W Chestnut St
W Maple St
N Clark St
W Oak St
N Franklin St
W Locust St
W Elm St
Cabrini-Green
N Orleans St
N Hudson Ave
N Cleveland Ave
N Mohawk St
N Cleveland Ave
N Cambridge Ave
N Larrabee St
N Kingsbury St
18 Hobbie St
N Howe St
N Crosby St
W Division St
Stanton Schiller Park
W Scott St
W Evergreen Ave
N Clybourn Ave
N Ogden Ave
N Larrabee St
N Howe St
N Orchard St
N Burling St
W Willow St
23 38
North/Clybourn
N Halsted St
W Wisconsin St
W Chicago Ave
See Downtown Chicago (The Loop), Museum Campus & Near North Side Map (pp564-5)
N Hooker St
N Ogden Ave
N Hickory Ave
N Cherry Ave
N North Branch St
Goose Island
N Kingsbury St
N Maud Ave
N Clybourn Ave
25
N Marcey St
N Kingsbury St
W North Ave
N May St
31
Chicago
N Elston Ave
North Branch Chicago River
North Branch Chicago River
N Magnolia Ave
W Division St
N Milwaukee Ave
94
Elkhart Park
28
N Throop St
N Ada St
N Elston Ave
N Besly Ct
34
90
N Noble St
N Cleaver St
20
N Greenview Ave

GANGLAND CHICAGO

The city would rather not discuss its gangster past; consequently there are no brochures or exhibits about infamous sites. So you'll need to use your imagination when visiting the following as most are not designated as notorious.

Two murders took place near Holy Name Cathedral (Map pp564-5; 735 N State St). In 1924 North Side boss Dion O'Banion was gunned down in his florist shop (738 N State St) after he crossed Al Capone. O'Banion's replacement, Hymie Weiss, fared no better. In 1926 he was killed on his way to church by bullets flying from a window at 740 N State St.

The St Valentine's Day Massacre Site (Map pp570-1; 2122 N Clark St) is where Capone's goons, dressed as cops, lined up seven members of Bugs Moran's gang against the garage wall that used to be here and sprayed them with bullets. The garage was torn down in 1967.

In 1934, the 'lady in red' betrayed John Dillinger at the Biograph Theater (Map pp570-1; 2433 N Lincoln Ave). He was shot by the FBI outside it.

The speakeasy in the basement of the glamorous jazz bar Green Mill (p584) was a Capone favorite.

Capone's Chicago Home (Map p562; 7244 S Prairie Ave) is on the South Side in a sketchy area, so use caution. The residence was used mostly by Capone's wife, Mae, his mom and other relatives.

WICKER PARK, BUCKTOWN & UKRAINIAN VILLAGE

West of Lincoln Park, these three neighborhoods (Map p562) – once havens for working-class, central European immigrants and bohemian writers – have become hot property. Aside from staring at Nelson Algren's house (Map p562; 1958 W Evergreen Ave), where he wrote several gritty, Chicago-based novels (it's a private residence, so you can't go inside), the neighborhoods are all about entertainment. Heaps of small galleries, boutiques, music clubs and martini-and-sushi lounges have shot up, especially near the Milwaukee–North–Damen Aves intersection (a notoriously traffic-jammed area known as 'the Crotch'). Division St is another designer vein, which is a change from its former glory as the 'Polish Broadway' – a name that came from all the polka bars that once lined the road. Take the CTA Blue Line to Damen or Division.

LOGAN SQUARE & HUMBOLDT PARK

When artists and hipsters got priced out of the aforementioned 'hoods, they moved west to the Latino communities of Logan Square and Humboldt Park (Map p562). For visitors, these are places for small, stylish cafés and bars. Take the CTA Blue Line to Logan Square or California.

NEAR WEST SIDE & PILSEN

Just west of the Loop is, well, the West Loop (Map pp564–5). It's akin to New York City's Meatpacking District, with restaurants, clubs and galleries poking out between meat-processing plants. W Randolph St and W Washington Blvd are the main veins, and it's here you'll find the area's most famous resident, Oprah Winfrey. Her Harpo Studios (Map pp564-5; 1058 W Washington Blvd) extends over several blocks. For ticket info, see p585.

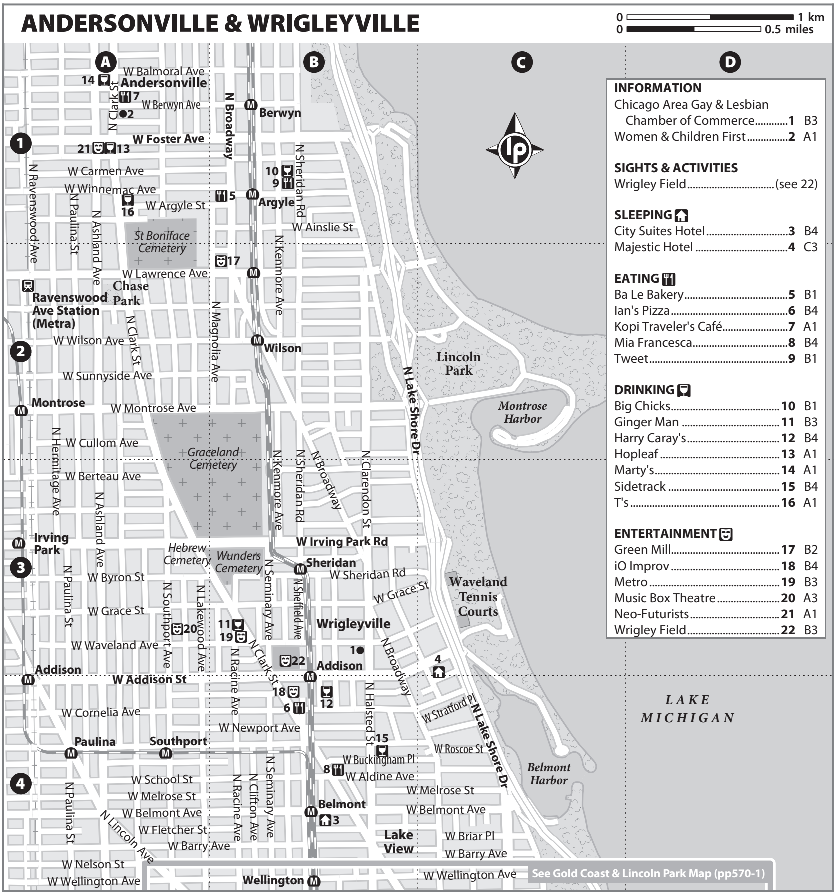
The rest of the region is a patchwork of ethnic neighborhoods. Greektown (Map pp564–5) runs along S Halsted St. Little Italy (Map pp564–5) extends along Taylor St. The University of Illinois at Chicago (UIC) fills the area between the two.

Southwest lies the Mexican enclave of Pilsen (Map p562). The area centers around W 18th St, which has scores of taquerías, bakeries and galleries. Brightly painted murals cover the community's walls. Local artist Jose Guerrero leads the highly recommended Pilsen Mural Tours (☎ 773-342-4191; 1½hr tour $100), during which you can learn more about this traditional art form; call to arrange an excursion.

The National Museum of Mexican Art (Map p562; ☎ 312-738-1503; www.nationalmuseumofmexicanart.org; 1852 W 19th St; admission free; 🕑 10am-5pm Tue-Sun) is the largest Latino arts institution in the US. The vivid permanent collection includes classical paintings, shining gold altars, skeleton-rich folk art, beadwork and much more.

NEAR SOUTH SIDE & CHINATOWN

A century ago the best and worst of Chicago lived side by side south of Roosevelt Rd. Prairie Ave between 16th and 20th Sts was



ANDERSONVILLE & WRIGLEYVILLE

0 1 km
0 0.5 miles
A
B
C
D
1
2
3
4
INFORMATION
Chicago Area Gay & Lesbian Chamber of Commerce 1 B3
Women & Children First 2 A1
SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES
Wrigley Field (see 22)
SLEEPING
City Suites Hotel 3 B4
Majestic Hotel 4 C3
EATING
Ba Le Bakery 5 B1
Ian's Pizza 6 B4
Kopi Traveler's Café 7 A1
Mia Francesca 8 B4
Tweet 9 B1
DRINKING
Big Chicks 10 B1
Ginger Man 11 B3
Harry Caray's 12 B4
Hopleaf 13 A1
Marty's 14 A1
Sidetrack 15 B4
T's 16 A1
ENTERTAINMENT
Green Mill 17 B2
iO Improv 18 B4
Metro 19 B3
Music Box Theatre 20 A3
Neo-Futurists 21 A1
Wrigley Field 22 B3 Andersonville Berwyn
Argyle
Wilson
Montrose
Irving Park
Sheridan
Addison
Paulina
Southport
Belmont
Wellington
Ravenswood Ave Station (Metra)
Chase Park
Lincoln Park
Montrose Harbor
Waveland Tennis Courts
Belmont Harbor
Wrigleyville
Lake View
LAKE MICHIGAN
St Boniface Cemetery
Graceland Cemetery
Hebrew Cemetery
Wunders Cemetery
W Balmoral Ave
W Berwyn Ave
W Foster Ave
W Carmen Ave
W Winnemac Ave
W Argyle St
W Ainslie St
W Lawrence Ave
W Wilson Ave
W Sunnyside Ave
W Montrose Ave
W Cullom Ave
W Berteau Ave
W Irving Park Rd
W Sheridan Rd
W Byron St
W Grace St
W Waveland Ave
W Addison St
W Cornelia Ave
W Newport Ave
W Stratford Pl
W Roscoe St
W Buckingham Pl
W Aldine Ave
W School St
W Melrose St
W Belmont Ave
W Fletcher St
W Barry Ave
W Briar Pl
W Nelson St
W Wellington Ave
N Clark St
N Broadway
N Sheridan Rd
N Kenmore Ave
N Ravenswood Ave
N Paulina St
N Ashland Ave
N Magnolia Ave
N Lake Shore Dr
N Hermitage Ave
N Clarendon St
N Seminary Ave
N Sheffield Ave
N Southport Ave
N Lakewood Ave
N Racine Ave
N Halsted St
N Clifton Ave
N Lincoln Ave
See Gold Coast & Lincoln Park Map (pp570-1)

Millionaire's Row, while the Levee District, four blocks to the west, was packed with saloons, brothels and opium dens. When the millionaires moved north, the neighborhood declined and mansions were demolished for industry. Now the neighborhood is on the upswing again.

The main (if modest) attraction is a building on Michigan Ave, where the Chess brothers started a recording studio in 1957. Bluesmen Muddy Waters, Howlin' Wolf and Bo Diddley cut tracks here first, and paved the way for rock 'n' roll with their sick licks and amped-up sound. Chuck Berry and the Rolling Stones arrived soon after that. The studio is now called Willie Dixon's Blues Heaven (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-808-1286; www.bluesheaven.com; 2120 S Michigan Ave; tours $10; 🕓 11am-4pm Mon-Fri, noon-2pm Sat), and it holds a collection of blues memorabilia. Dixon was the guy who wrote most of the label's hits and the one who summed up the genre best: 'Blues is the roots, and everything else is the fruits.'

Chinatown's charm is best enjoyed by going bakery to bakery, nibbling chestnut cakes and almond cookies, and then shopping for Hello Kitty items in the small shops. Wentworth Ave, south of Cermak Rd, is the retail heart of old Chinatown; Chinatown Sq, along Archer Ave north of Cermak, is the newer commerce district. Ping Tom Memorial Park (Map pp564-5; 300 W 19th St) offers dramatic city and railroad-bridge views. Take the CTA Red Line to Cermak-Chinatown.

HYDE PARK, BRONZEVILLE & SOUTH SIDE

The South Side is the generic term applied to Chicago's myriad neighborhoods roughly to the south of 25th St; many are defined by their poverty and significant African American populations.

Hyde Park and abutting Kenwood are the South Side's stars, vaulted into the spotlight by local boy Barack Obama. Hefty security means you can't get close to Obama's house (Map p562; 5046 S Greenwood Ave), but you can visit his barber Zariff and the bulletproof glass–encased presidential barber chair at the Hyde Park Hair Salon (Map p562; 5234 S Blackstone Ave).

Obama taught law at the University of Chicago (Map p562; 5801 S Ellis Ave), at which the faculty and students have racked up 80-plus Nobel prizes (the economics and physics departments lay claim to most). It's also where the nuclear age began: Enrico Fermi and his Manhattan Project cronies built a reactor and carried out the world's first controlled atomic reaction on December 2, 1942. The Nuclear Energy sculpture (Map p562; S Ellis Ave btwn E 56th & E 57th Sts), by Henry Moore, marks the spot where it blew its stack.

The vast Museum of Science & Industry (Map p562; ☎ 773-684-1414; www.msichicago.org; cnr 57th St & S Lake Shore Dr; adult/child 3-11yr $13/11; 🕒 9:30am-4pm Mon-Sat, 11am-4pm Sun, to 5:30pm Jun-Aug) will overstimulate the serenest of souls with its myriad (and often loud) exhibits. Highlights include a WWII German U-boat nestled in an underground display ($6 extra to tour it) and the 'body slices' exhibit. Special exhibits cost extra. The museum is revamping through 2011, though it should remain open throughout.

Of the numerous buildings that Frank Lloyd Wright designed around Chicago, none is more famous or influential than Robie House (Map p562; ☎ 773-834-1847; www.wrightplus.org; 5757 S Woodlawn Ave; adult/child 4-17yr $15/12). The resemblance of its horizontal lines to the flat landscape of the Midwestern prairie became known as the Prairie style. Inside are 174 art glass windows and doors. Robie offers hour-long tours from 11am to 3pm, Friday through Sunday; frequency varies by season.

The DuSable Museum of African American History (Map p562; ☎ 773-947-0600; www.dusablemuseum.org; 740 E 56th Pl; adult/child 6-12yr $3/1, admission free Sun; 🕒 10am-5pm Tue-Sat, noon-5pm Sun) has artworks and exhibits on African Americans from slavery to the Civil Rights era.

All of the these sights are in or near Hyde Park, easily reached via Metra Electric Line trains from Randolph St/Millennium Park station downtown to the 55th-56th-57th St station. Bicycle tours (below) cruise by the highlights. InstaGreeter (p577) offers free one-hour walking tours from the Hyde Park Art Center (Map p562; 5020 S Cornell Ave; 🕒 10am & 3pm Jun-Aug).

Bronzeville is another South Side neighborhood of note. Radiating from 35th St and Martin Luther King Jr Dr, it was the center of Chicago's African American culture from 1920 to 1950, comparable to Harlem in New York. Many of the area's grand houses are being restored, especially on Calumet Ave between 31st and 33rd Sts – this was once a high-crime neighborhood, and while it's gentrified to a great extent now, some elements linger, so visitors should still use caution. Note the stylish architecture of the Frank Lloyd Wright row houses (Map p562; 3213-3219 S Calumet Ave). Architecture buffs can explore further at the Illinois Institute of Technology (IIT; Map p562; ☎ 312-567-5014; www.mies.iit.edu; 3201 S State St; 90min tour $5; 🕒 10am & 1pm), where famed architect Ludwig Mies van der Rohe designed all the modern buildings. To reach the area, take the CTA Green Line to 35th St-Bronzeville-IIT.

Activities

Tucked away in Chicago's 552 parks are public golf courses, ice rinks, swimming pools and more. Activities are free or low cost, and the necessary equipment is usually available for rent. Contact the Chicago Park District (☎ 312-742-7529; www.chicagoparkdistrict.com); there's a separate number for golf information (☎ 312-245-0909).

CYCLING

Riding along the 18.5-mile lakefront path is a great way to see the city. Two companies rent wheels. The cost is $18 to $35 per half day or $25 to $40 per full day; booking online nabs a discount. Both companies also offer two- to four-hour tours ($30 to $45, including bikes) that cover themes like the lakefront, nighttime fireworks or Obama sights (highly recommended!). Bobby's Bike Hike (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-915-0995; www.bobbysbikehike.com; Ogden Slip at River East Docks, 465 N McClurg Ct; 🕒 9am-7pm Jun-Aug, 9am-5pm Mar-May & Sep-Nov) is the eager upstart. Bike Chicago (☎ 888-245-3929; www.bikechicago.com) is more corporate, with multiple locations:

Millennium Park (Map pp564–5; 239 E Randolph St; 🕒 6:30am-8pm Mon-Fri & 8am-8pm Sat & Sun Jun-Aug,

6:30am-7pm Mon-Fri & 9am-7pm Sat & Sun Apr-May & Sep-Oct, 6:30am-6:30pm Mon-Fri Nov-Mar)
Navy Pier (Map pp564–5; 600 E Grand Ave; 🕑 8am-10pm Jun-Aug, 9am-7pm Apr-May & Sep-Oct, closed Nov-Mar)
North Avenue Beach (Map pp570-1; 1603 N Lake Shore Dr; 🕑 8am-8pm Jun-Aug, 9am-7pm May & Sep, closed Oct-Apr)

The Active Transportation Alliance (www.activetrans.org) lists bike events around town. For more information, see p586.

ICE SKATING

The Park District (☎ 312-742-7529; www.chicagoparkdistrict.com) operates the McCormick Tribune Ice Rink (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-742-5222; 55 N Michigan Ave; skate rental $10; 🕑 10am-8pm), with great views from Millennium Park, and the less-crowded Daley Bicentennial Plaza Rink (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-742-7650; 337 E Randolph St; skate rental $5; 🕑 10am-3:30pm & 7-9:30pm Mon-Fri, 8:30am-noon Sat & Sun). Admission is free to both.

RUNNING & INLINE SKATING

Runners and inline skaters crowd onto the lakefront path alongside cyclists. Bike Chicago (opposite) rents inline skates for prices similar to its two-wheelers.

WATER SPORTS

Chicago sits by a big lake and river, so it's no surprise that water sports rule the waves here.

Take a dip, build a sand castle or loaf in the sun at any of Chicago's 30-plus beaches, operated by the Chicago Park District (above). All beaches are staffed with lifeguards during the summer. North Avenue Beach (Map pp570-1; 1600 N Lake Shore Dr) and Oak Street Beach (Map pp570-1; 1000 N Lake Shore Dr), both close to downtown, are particularly body-filled. Brace yourself as the water remains butt-numbing well into July.

For a remarkable view of downtown, where you'll slither through a canyon of glass and steel, kayak the Chicago River with Wateriders (Map pp570-1; ☎ 312-953-9287; www.wateriders.com; 950 N Kingsbury St; 3hr tours $50-60). Tours take in architectural sights and gangster spots. Beginners are welcome. Call for the schedule.

YOGA & PILATES

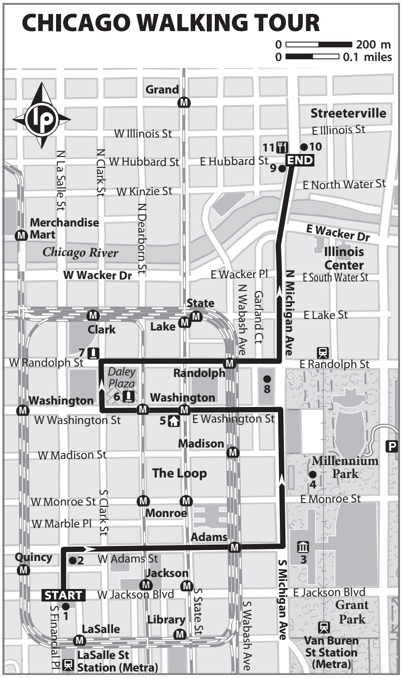
Center yourself with Millennium Park's free yoga, Pilates and tai chi classes on summer Saturdays (p563).

Walking Tour

This tour swoops through the Loop, highlighting Chicago's revered art and architecture, with a visit to Al Capone's dentist thrown in for good measure.

Start at the Chicago Board of Trade (1; p567), where guys in Technicolor coats swap corn (or something like that) inside a cool art-deco building. Step into the nearby Rookery (2; p567) to see Frank Lloyd Wright's handiwork in the atrium.

Head east on Adams St to the Art Institute (3; p563), one of the city's most-visited attractions. The lion statues out front make a classic keepsake photo. Walk a few blocks north to avant-garde Millennium Park (4; p563), and saunter in to explore 'the Bean' sculpture,



CHICAGO WALKING TOUR
0 200 m
0 0.1 miles
Grand Streeterville
E Illinois St
W Illinois St
11 10
W Hubbard St
E Hubbard St
END
9
N La Salle St
N Clark St
W Kinzie St
E North Water St
N Dearborn St
Merchandise Mart
E Wacker Dr
Chicago River
Illinois Center
W Wacker Dr
E Wacker Pl
N Wabash Ave
Garland Ct
N Michigan Ave
E South Water St
State
Clark
Lake
E Lake St
7
W Randolph St
Daley Plaza
Randolph
E Randolph St
8 Washington
6
Washington
W Washington St
5
E Washington St
Madison
W Madison St
The Loop
Millennium Park
4
W Monroe St
S Clark St
Monroe
E Monroe St
W Marble Pl
Adams
Quincy
2
W Adams St
3 Jackson
START
W Jackson Blvd
S State St
S Wabash Ave
S Michigan Ave
E Jackson Blvd
Grant Park
1
S Financial Pl
LaSalle
Library
LaSalle St Station (Metra)
Van Buren St Station (Metra)
P
M

WALK FACTS

Start: Chicago Board of Trade Finish: Billy Goat Tavern
Distance: 3 miles
Duration: About two hours human-gargoyle fountains and other contemporary designs.

When you depart Millennium Park, head west on Washington St to Hotel Burnham (5; p579). It's housed in the Reliance Building, which was the precursor to modern skyscraper design; Capone's dentist drilled teeth in what's now room 809. Just west, the Untitled (6; p567), created by Mr Abstract himself, is ensconced in Daley Center Plaza. Bird, dog, woman? You decide. Then go north on Clark St to Monument with Standing Beast (7; p567), another head-scratching sculpture.

Walk east on Randolph St through the theater district. Pop into the Cultural Center (8; p567) to get a soda in the café and maybe catch a free concert. Refreshed? Now go north on Michigan Ave and cross the Chicago River. Just north of the bridge you'll pass the Wrigley Building (9; p568), glowing as white as the Double Mint twins' teeth, and the nearby Gothic, eye-popping Tribune Tower (10; p568).

To finish your tour, visit Billy Goat Tavern (11; p580), a vintage Chicago dive that spawned the Curse of the Cubs. Just look around and you'll get the details, but in short: the tavern's owner, Billy Sianis, once tried to enter Wrigley Field with his pet goat. The smelly creature was denied entry, so Sianis called down a mighty curse on the baseball team in retaliation. They've had futile World Series attempts ever since.

Chicago for Children

Chicago is a kid's kind of town. Most museums have special areas to entertain and educate wee ones. A good resource is Chicago Parent (www.chicagoparent.com), a free publication available at libraries, the Children's Museum and elsewhere. Also check www.chicagokids.com.

CHILDREN'S THEATER

The Children's Theatre Company (☎ 773-227-0180; www.chicagochildrenstheatre.org) is one of the few, fully-fledged kids' theater troupes in the country. Performances take place at various venues around town; ticket prices and times vary.

For a theatrical experience of a different kind, take the youngsters to a taping of Chic-A-Go-Go (www.myspace.com/chicagogoshow), a cable-access TV show that's like a kiddie version of Soul Train – it's a dance party with children and adult hipsters groovin' to eclectic tunes and live bands. Check the website for taping dates and locations, which vary.

CHICAGO CHILDREN'S MUSEUM

This museum (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-527-1000; www.chicagochildrensmuseum.org; 700 E Grand Ave; admission $10, free Thu evening; 🕒 10am-5pm, to 8pm Thu; 👪) is on Navy Pier. Kids can climb a schooner, excavate dinosaur bones and generate hydroelectric power. It's fun – really! Follow up with an expedition down the pier itself, including spins on the Ferris wheel and carousel.

OTHER SIGHTS

Shedd Aquarium (p567) is drenched with whales, sharks and weird-looking fish and always pleases the young. The Field Museum of Natural History (p567) offers lots and lots of those perennial kid favorites – dinosaurs! Lincoln Park Zoo (p569) has a children's area and farm where tykes can touch the animals.

Other kid-friendly activities include an El ride (see p586) around the Loop; get on the Brown Line at Merchandise Mart (Map pp564–5) and go to Clark St, which takes you on a leisurely trip through the thick of downtown's tall buildings. In July and August, take a lakefront swim at North Avenue Beach (p569), where there's soft sand, lifeguards, a snack bar and bathrooms.

Girls visiting Chicago will want to head directly to American Girl Place (Map pp570-1; ☎ 877-247-5223; 835 N Michigan Ave; 👪). In addition to purveying dolls from bygone eras, the store has a café in which dolls are seated and treated as part of the family.

American Childcare Services (☎ 312-644-7300; per hr $18.50, plus agency fee $20) provides professional babysitters who will come to your hotel; it's a four-hour minimum service.

Quirky Chicago

Sure, your friends will listen politely as you describe your trip to the Willis Tower's tip, but you'll stop them mid-yawn when you unleash stories of how you boozed with roller babes and honed your cornhole strategy. Chicago has a fine collection of unusual sights and activities to supplement its standard attractions.

First thing to know: locals love cornhole (www.chicagocornhole.com). C'mon, get your mind out of the gutter; we're not talking porn here. We mean a game in which small corn-filled bags (aka beanbags) are tossed into a sloped box with a hole in it. Cornhole is a game! Several bars have leagues and tournaments.

The International Museum of Surgical Science (Map pp570-1; ☎ 312-642-6502; www.imss.org; 1524 N Lake Shore Dr; adult/student $10/6, admission free Tue; 🕑 10am-4pm Tue-Sun May-Sep, closed Sun Oct-Apr) has a bloodletting exhibit and fine collection of 'stones' (as in kidney stones and gallstones). For those who've always wanted to see an iron lung, here's your chance.

The bang-em-up sport of roller derby was born in Chicago in 1935, and the battlin' babes of the Windy City Rollers (Map p562; www.windycityrollers.com; UIC Pavilion, 525 S Racine Ave; tickets $20-40) will show you how it's played, bruises and all. Matches take place monthly.

Who knew Ben Franklin liked to be flogged and Egypt's Queen Hatshepsut had a foot fetish? The Leather Archives & Museum (Map p562; ☎ 773-761-9200; www.leatherarchives.org; 6418 N Greenview Ave; admission $5; 🕑 11am-7pm Thu & Fri, to 5pm Sat & Sun) reveals these facts and more in its displays of leather, fetish and S&M subcultures.

Weird Chicago Tours (below) drives by kinky and spooky spots. And Chic-A-Go-Go (opposite) isn't just for kids: you, too, can shake it on the dancefloor with Miss Mia and Ratso.

Tours

For highly recommended architectural tours by foot, boat or bus, contact the Chicago Architecture Foundation (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-922-3432; www.architecture.org; 224 S Michigan Ave; tours $5-40; 🕑 year-round). The $5 lunchtime tours Monday through Thursday are a bargain, as are the $15 Rise of the Skyscraper tours. Departure points and times vary.

The Chicago History Museum (Map pp570-1; ☎ 312-642-4600; www.chicagohs.org; 1601 N Clark St; tours $10-45; 🕑 year-round) counts pub crawls, kayak jaunts and cemetery walks among its tour arsenal. Departure points and times vary.

The three-hour Weird Chicago Tours (Map pp564-5; ☎ 888-446-7859; www.weirdchicago.com; cnr Clark & Ontario Sts; tours $30; 🕑 tours 7pm Thu-Sat) go by bus to ghost, gangster and red-light sites. Departure is from the Hard Rock Cafe.

Foodies can graze through various neighborhoods with Chicago Food Planet Tours (☎ 212-209-3370; www.chicagofoodplanet.com; tours $42; 🕑 year-round). Tickets must be prepurchased online or by telephone. Departure points and times vary.

Chicago Greeter (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-744-8000; www.chicagogreeter.com; 🕑 year-round) pairs you with a local city dweller who takes you on a personal free two- to four-hour tour customized by theme (architecture, history, gay and lesbian and more) or neighborhood. Travel is by foot and/or public transportation; reserve seven business days in advance. InstaGreeter (Map pp564-5; 🕑 10am-4pm Fri-Sun) is the quicker version, offering free on-the-spot one-hour tours from the visitors center at 77 E Randolph St and from Hyde Park (p574). For free Millennium Park tours, see p566.

The Activities section has information on bicycle tours (p574) and kayak tours (p575).

And you can always do it yourself with free downloadable audio tours. Try www.downloadchicagotours.com for jaunts like a Buddy Guy–narrated blues tour, or www.onscreenillinois.com for a tour of Chicago's famous movie sites.

Festivals & Events

Chicago has a full events calendar year-round, but the biggies are held in the summer. SummerDance (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-742-4007; www.chicagosummerdance.org; 601 S Michigan Ave; admission free; 🕑 from 6pm Thu-Sat, from 4pm Sun mid-June–mid-Aug) has bands playing rumba, samba and other world music preceded by fun dance lessons.

The following events are free and are held downtown on a weekend, unless noted otherwise. For exact dates and other details, you can contact the city's Office of Special Events (☎ 312-744-3315; www.cityofchicago.org/specialevents).

St Patrick's Day Parade Mid-March. The local plumbers union dyes the Chicago River shamrock green; a big parade follows.

Blues Festival Early June. It's the biggest free blues fest in the world, with three days of the music that made Chicago famous.

Taste of Chicago Late June to early July. This 10-day food festival in Grant Park includes bands and a huge July 3 concert with fireworks.

Pitchfork Music Festival (www.pitchforkmusicfestival.com; day pass $35) Mid-July. Indie bands strum for three days in Union Park.

Lollapalooza (www.lollapalooza.com; day pass around $100) Early August. For three days, 130 bands take over Grant Park.

Air and Water Show Mid-August. People flock to North Avenue Beach to see daredevil displays by boats and planes.

Jazz Festival Early September. Top names on the national jazz scene play over Labor Day weekend.

Gay & Lesbian Chicago

Chicago has a flourishing gay and lesbian scene; for details, check the weekly free publications of Chicago Free Press (www.chicagofreepress.com) or Windy City Times (www.windycitymediagroup.com).

The Chicago Area Gay & Lesbian Chamber of Commerce (Map p573; ☎ 773-303-0167; www.glchamber.org; 3656 N Halsted St; 🕒 9:30am-6pm Mon-Fri) provides useful visitor information. Chicago Greeter (see Tours, p577) offers personalized sightseeing trips.

The biggest concentration of bars and clubs is in Wrigleyville on N Halsted St between Belmont Ave and Grace St, an area known as 'Boys' Town.' Massive Sidetrack (Map p573; ☎ 773-477-9189; 3349 N Halsted St) thumps dance music and show tunes and is prime for people watching.

Andersonville, aka 'Girls' Town,' is another area with many choices. Despite the name, both men and women frequent Big Chicks (Map p573; ☎ 773-728-5511; 5024 N Sheridan Rd; 📶), with its weekend DJs, art displays and next-door organic restaurant Tweet (Map p573; ☎ 773-728-5576; 5020 N Sheridan Ave; 🕒 9am-3pm, closed Tue; 📶), where weekend brunch is a major gay scene. Both sexes also hang out at T's (Map p573; ☎ 773-784-6000; 5025 N Clark St), a casual bar with good grub, and Marty's (Map p573; ☎ 773-561-6425; 1511 W Balmoral Ave), a martini bar attracting older, professional types.

The edgy party Chance's Dances (www.chancesdances.org) rocks in Wicker Park twice monthly; check the website for locations and times.

The late-June Pride Parade (☎ 773-348-8243; www.chicagopridecalendar.org; admission free) winds through Boys' Town and attracts close to 400,000 people.

Sleeping

Chicago lodging doesn't come cheap. The best way to cut costs is to use a bidding site like Priceline or Hotwire (look for 'River North' or 'Mag Mile' locations). On weekends and when the frequent big conventions trample through town, your options become much slimmer, so plan ahead to avoid unpleasant surprises. The prices we've listed are normal midweek rates in summer, the high season. Taxes add 15.4%.

B&Bs give a nice bang for the midrange buck. Contact the Chicago Bed & Breakfast Association (www.chicago-bed-breakfast.com; r $100-229), which represents 18 guesthouses. Many properties have two- to three-night minimum stays. Vacation rentals in local apartments are also a good deal here. Try VacationsFRBO (www.vacationsfrbo.com) or Craigslist (www.chicago.craigslist.org).

Hotels in the Loop are convenient to Grant Park, the museums and business district, but the area is pretty dead come nightfall. Accommodations in the Near North and Gold Coast are most popular, given their proximity to eating, shopping and entertainment venues. Rooms in Lincoln Park, Lake View and Wicker Park entice because they're often cheaper than rooms downtown; they are also near swingin' nightlife.

All properties listed here have free wi-fi.

BUDGET

HI-Chicago (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-360-0300; www.hichicago.org; 24 E Congress Pkwy; dm incl breakfast $29-38; 🅿 ❄ 💻 📶) Chicago's best hostel is immaculate, centrally located in the Loop, and offers bonuses like a staffed information desk, free volunteer-led tours and discount passes to museums and shows. The simple dorm rooms have six to 12 beds and attached bathrooms. Parking costs $27.

MIDRANGE

Central Loop Hotel (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-601-3525, 866-744-2333; www.centralloophotel.com; 111 W Adams St; r $119-171; 🅿 ❄ 💻 📶) The Central Loop has a good location (the name doesn't lie) and good prices if you're stuck paying rack rates. It's accessorized for business folk, though not so useful for families given the rooms' smallish size. A fine pub pours drinks downstairs. Parking costs $30.

Days Inn Lincoln Park North (Map pp570-1; ☎ 773-525-7010, 888-576-3297; www.lpndaysinn.com; 644 W Diversey Pkwy; r incl breakfast $120-180; 🅿 ☒ ❄ 💻 📶) Don't let the blah exterior put you off: this well-maintained chain hotel in Lincoln Park is a family favorite, with well-kept rooms, good service and perks like free health club access. It's an easy amble to the lakefront's parks and beaches, and a 15-minute bus ride to downtown. Parking costs $22.

House of Two Urns B&B (Map pp570-1; ☎ 773-235-1408, 877-896-8767; www.twourns.com; 1239 N Greenview Ave; r incl breakfast $129-199; 🅿 ☒ ❄ 💻 📶) Artists own these two houses at mod Wicker Park's edge, so it's no surprise both places are fancifully furnished with odd antiques and original art. Some rooms share a bathroom. Take the CTA Blue Line to Division.

Tremont Hotel (Map pp570-1; ☎ 312-751-1900, 800-621-8133; www.tremontchicago.com; 100 E Chestnut St; r incl breakfast $129-249; Ⓟ ✱ 📶) The worn but mannerly Tremont, near the Water Tower, is good value if you find a room at the lower end of its price spectrum. The old-world, European-esque rooms are spacious but without many amenities. Mustachioed football hero Mike Ditka owns the attached bar and steakhouse. Parking costs $49.

our pick Hotel Felix (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-447-3440; 877-848-404; www.hotelfelixchicago.com; 111 W Huron St; r $139-189; Ⓟ ⊠ ✱ 💻 📶) Opened in 2009 in the Near North, the 225-room, 12-story Felix is downtown's first hotel to earn eco-friendly LEED certification (Silver status, to be exact). The earth-toned, mod-furnished rooms are small but efficiently and comfortably designed. Parking costs $42 (if you drive a hybrid, it's free).

Willows Hotel (Map pp570-1; ☎ 773-528-8400, 800-787-3108; www.cityinns.com; 555 W Surf St; r/ste incl breakfast from $149/169; Ⓟ ⊠ ✱ 📶) Small and stylish, this Lake View hotel wins an architectural gold star. The chic little lobby provides a swell refuge of overstuffed chairs by the fireplace. The 55 rooms, done up in shades of peach, cream and soft green, evoke a 19th-century French countryside feel. Parking is $22.

Wicker Park Inn (Map p562; ☎ 773-486-2743; www.wickerparkinn.com; 1329 N Wicker Park Ave; r incl breakfast $149-199; Ⓟ ⊠ ✱ 📶) This six-room B&B lets you stay in a classic brick row house in Wicker Park. The location puts you a few blocks from Chicago's nouveau eating, drinking and shopping epicenter, while downtown is a mere 10-minute train ride. Take the CTA Blue Line to Damen.

Best Western River North (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-467-0800, 800-727-0800; www.rivernorthhotel.com; 125 W Ohio St; r $169-235; Ⓟ ✱ 📶 🏊) Its large, vaguely Asian-flaired rooms, coupled with a marvy Near North location, indoor pool and sundeck overlooking the city, are unusual benefits in this price bracket. Free parking seals the deal.

The owners of the Willows Hotel have two other similarly styled and priced properties in the neighborhood: City Suites Hotel (Map p573; ☎ 773-404-3400, 800-248-9108; 933 W Belmont Ave), near the CTA Red/Brown Line Belmont station, which is a bit noisier than its counterparts; and the Majestic Hotel (Map p573; ☎ 773-404-3499, 800-727-5108; 528 W Brompton Ave), which lies east toward the lake and is more remote than its counterparts.

TOP END

Hotel Burnham (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-782-1111, 877-294-9712; www.burnhamhotel.com; 1 W Washington St; r incl breakfast from $200; Ⓟ ⊠ ✱ 💻 📶) The proprietors brag that the Burnham has the highest guest return rates in Chicago; it's easy to see why. Housed in the Loop's landmark 1890s Reliance Building (precedent for the modern skyscraper), its super-slick decor woos architecture buffs. The bright rooms are lavishly furnished with mahogany writing desks and chaise lounges. There's complimentary wine to sip each evening. Parking costs $45.

Eating

For years epicures wrote off Chicago as a meaty backwater. Then a funny thing happened: the city won a heap of James Beard awards, and foodie magazines like Saveur ranked it as the nation's top restaurant scene. Highlights include ethnic eats, locavore fare and 'molecular gastronomy.' Food fanatics can fill up on anything from Nepali dumplings to Cuban sandwiches; from $225, 24-course meals to $2 hot dogs. Prices listed are for dinner mains, unless specified otherwise.

THE LOOP & SOUTH LOOP

It gets lonely here come nighttime as most Loop eateries are geared to lunch crowds of office workers.

Cafecito (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-922-2233; 26 E Congress Pkwy; sandwiches $4-6; 🕑 6am-9pm Mon-Fri, 10am-6pm Sat & Sun; 📶) Attached to the hostel and perfect for the hungry, thrifty traveler, Cafecito serves kick-ass Cuban sandwiches layered with citrus-garlic-marinated roasted pork and ham. Strong coffee and hearty egg sandwiches make a fine breakfast.

Oasis (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-443-9534; 21 N Wabash Ave; mains $5-7; 🕑 10am-5pm Mon-Fri, 11am-3pm Sat) Walk past diamonds, gold and other bling in the jewelers' mall before striking it rich at the café in back. Creamy hummus, crisp falafel, grilled chicken kebabs and other Middle Eastern favorites fill plates at bargain prices. Eat in or carry out to the nearby parks.

Chicago Curry House (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-362-9999; 899 S Plymouth Ct; mains $10-19; 🕑 11am-10pm) The Nepali dishes rock harder than the Indian dishes. Standouts include aloo tama bodi (potatoes and black-eyed peas) and khasi ko

EATING CHICAGO: THE HOLY TRINITY

Chicago cooks up three beloved specialties. Foremost is deep-dish pizza, a hulking mass of crust that rises two or three inches above the plate and cradles a molten pile of toppings. One gooey piece is practically a meal. A large pizza averages $20 at the following places:

Pizzeria Uno (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-321-1000; 29 E Ohio St; 🕐 11am-1am Mon-Thu, 11am-2am Fri & Sat, 11am-11pm Sun) Where the deep-dish concept originated in 1943; sister outlet Due is one block north.

Gino's East (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-266-3337; 162 E Superior St; 🕐 11am-10pm Mon-Sat, to 9pm Sun) Write on the walls while you wait for your pie.

Lou Malnati's (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-828-9800; 439 N Wells St; 🕐 11am-11pm Mon-Thu, 11am-midnight Fri & Sat, noon-10pm Sun) Famous for its butter crust.

Giordano's (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-951-0747; 730 N Rush St; 🕐 11am-11pm Sun-Thu, 11am-midnight Fri & Sat) Perfectly tangy tomato sauce.

Pizano's (Map pp570–1; ☎ 312-751-1766; 864 N State St; 🕐 11am-2am Sun-Fri, to 3am Sat) Oprah's favorite.

No less iconic is the Chicago hot dog – a wiener that's been 'dragged through the garden' (ie topped with onions, tomatoes, shredded lettuce, bell peppers, pepperoncini and sweet relish, or variations thereof, but never ketchup), and then cushioned on a poppy-seed bun. Hot Doug's (p582) does it right.

The city is also revered for its spicy, drippy, only-in-Chicago Italian beef sandwiches. Mr Beef (below) serves the gold standard.

maasu (goat meat on the bone). Sample them during the lunch buffet ($11). Several menu items are vegetarian; a full bar helps wash it all down.

Gage (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-372-4243; 24 S Michigan Ave; mains $16-32; 🕐 11am-2am Mon-Fri, 10am-3am Sat, 10am-midnight Sun) This gastropub dishes Irish-tinged grub with a fanciful twist, from Guinness-battered fish and chips and fries smothered in curry gravy to spicy mustard chicken livers. Ask the knowledgeable servers which beers from the solid list best accompany your food.

NEAR NORTH

Loads of restaurants and cafés pack the Near North's streets.

Billy Goat Tavern (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-222-1525; lower level, 430 N Michigan Ave; burgers $3-6; 🕐 6am-2am Mon-Fri, 10am-2am Sat & Sun) Scruffy like the titular animal, this subterranean bar and burger joint is the legendary haunt of Tribune and Sun-Times reporters. Only the dimmest of bulbs orders fries with their cheezborger (remember John Belushi's famous Saturday Night Live skit: 'No fries – chips!').

Mr Beef (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-337-8500; 666 N Orleans St; sandwiches $4-7; 🕐 8am-7pm Mon-Thu, to 5am Fri, 10:30am-3:30pm & 10:30pm-5am Sat) A Chicago specialty, the Italian beef sandwich stacks up like this: thin-sliced, slow-cooked roast beef that's sopped in natural gravy and giardiniera (spicy, pickled vegetables), and then heaped on a hoagie roll. Mr Beef serves the best at its picnic-style tables.

Frontera Grill (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-661-1434; 445 N Clark St; small plates $7-9, mains $18-29; 🕐 11:30am-2:30pm Tue-Fri, 10:30am-2:30pm Sat, 5:30-9:30pm Tue-Thu, to 10:30pm Fri & Sat) Perhaps you've seen chef Rick Bayless on TV, stirring up pepper sauces and other jump-off-the-tongue Mexican creations. His isn't your typical taco menu: Bayless uses seasonal, sustainable ingredients for flavor-packed fare. No wonder it's a fave of President Obama. Sister restaurant Topolobampo, in an adjoining room, is sleeker and pricier, with similar hours.

LINCOLN PARK & OLD TOWN

Halsted, Lincoln and Clark Sts are the main veins teeming with restaurants and bars. Parking is frightful, but it's handy to the CTA train stops at Armitage and Fullerton.

Wiener Circle (Map pp570-1; ☎ 773-477-7444; 2622 N Clark St; items $2-5; 🕐 10:30am-4am Sun-Thu, 10:30am-5am Fri & Sat) As famous for its unruly, foul-mouthed ambience as its char-dogs and cheddar fries, the Wiener Circle is the place for late-night munchies. It helps to be shnockered before entering.

Crepe & Coffee Palace (Map pp570-1; ☎ 773-404-1300; 2433 N Clark St; mains $6-9; 🕐 9am-9pm Mon-Thu, 9am-10pm Fri, 8am-10pm Sat, 8am-9pm Sun) It's OK – delicious, in fact – to make a meal of pancakes. This Algerian eatery serves 'em sweet or savory (stuffed with chicken, smoked salmon or escargot).

Goose Island Brew Pub (Map pp570-1; ☎ 312-915-0071; 1800 N Clybourn Ave; mains $8-15; 🕒 11am-10pm) Goose Island's grub often incorporates its specialty beer into its dishes, like Belgian beef stew and ale-roasted chicken. Suds enthusiasts can swill from 24 drafts on tap, or get a four-beer flight (each 5oz) for $8. Crisp Honker's Ale remains a crowd favorite.

Alinea (Map pp570-1; ☎ 312-867-0110; 1723 N Halsted St; multicourse tastings $145-225; 🕒 5:30-9:30pm Wed-Sun) Grant Achatz is the guy behind Alinea's 'molecular gastronomy.' If you secure a coveted reservation, prepare for roughly 12 to 24 courses of mind-bending, space-age cuisine. Dishes may emanate from a centrifuge or be pressed into a capsule. Gourmet magazine recently ranked it the USA's number-one restaurant.

LAKE VIEW & WRIGLEYVILLE

Clark, Halsted, Belmont and Southport are fertile streets. Parking is near impossible, so take the CTA train to the Belmont, Southport or Addison stops.

Ian's Pizza (Map p573; ☎ 773-525-4580; 3463 N Clark St; slices $2.75-3.75; 🕒 5pm-2am Tue-Fri, noon-2am Sat & Sun) Need to soak up all those brewskis post Cubs game? Ian's can help. Crazy slices topped by macaroni and cheese (most popular), guacamole taco, barbecue chicken and about 20 other items are in high demand late night, so prepare to queue for the pleasure.

Mia Francesca (Map p573; ☎ 773-281-3310; 3311 N Clark St; mains $13-27; 🕒 5-10pm Sun-Thu, to 11pm Fri & Sat) Local chain Mia's buzzes with regulars who come for the trattoria's Italian standards, such as seafood linguine, spinach ravioli and mushroom-sauced veal medallions, all prepared with simple flair.

ANDERSONVILLE & UPTOWN

These northern neighborhoods burst with casual restaurants and bars. 'Little Saigon' is nearby on Argyle St. Take the CTA Red Line to Argyle or Berwyn.

Ba Le Bakery (Map p573; ☎ 773-561-4424; 5018 N Broadway; sandwiches $3-4.25; 🕒 7:30am-8pm) Ba Le serves sandwiches Saigon-style, called banh mi, with steamed pork, shrimp cakes or meatballs on fresh baguettes made right dang here.

Kopi Traveler's Café (Map p573; ☎ 773-989-5674; 5317 N Clark St; items $5-9; 🕒 8am-11pm Mon-Fri, 9am-midnight Sat, 10am-11pm Sun) Kopi has an Asian trekker-lodge vibe, from the pile of cushions to sit on and the healthy sandwiches to the bulletin board on which travelers post flyers.

WICKER PARK, BUCKTOWN & UKRAINIAN VILLAGE

Trendy restaurants open almost every day. Take the CTA Blue Line to Chicago, Damen or Western.

Handlebar Bar & Grill (Map p562; ☎ 773-384-9546; 2311 W North Ave; mains $9-14; 🕒 10am-midnight Mon-Thu, to 2am Fri & Sat, 10am-11pm Sun) Handlebar peddles (pun intended, since the decor is

FARM TO FORK FARE

These entities provide unique ways to eat local, sustainable foods:

- The outdoor Green City Market (Map pp570-1; ☎ 773-880-1266; www.chicagogreencitymarket.org; 1750 N Clark St; 🕒 7am-1pm Wed & Sat mid-May–late Oct) offers heirloom veggies, homemade pies, chef demos and much more at Lincoln Park's south end.
- Chicago's Downtown Farmstand (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-742-8419; 66 E Randolph St; 🕒 11am-7pm Tue-Fri, to 4pm Sat) sells locally made honey, pastries and produce. Farmers come in to share stories on Fridays at noon.
- Clandestino (www.clandestinodining.com; multicourse meals $65-85) is an underground, 'community dining project,' where chef Efrain Cuevas serves sustainable meals in changing locations, like galleries or lofts. Sign up for the online mailing list, and grab a spot when he sends out event invitations.
- City Provisions (☎ 773-293-2489; www.cityprovisions.com; tours $125) takes foodies to area farms for dining amid the fields. The price includes transportation on a biodiesel bus from Chicago, food and beer pairings.

bicycle oriented) West African groundnut stew, wasabi-baked tofu and other energizing dishes; quaff the excellent beer selection on the patio.

Hot Chocolate (Map p562; ☎ 773-489-1747; 1747 N Damen Ave; sandwiches $10-15, mains $16-30; 🕒 11:30am-2pm Wed-Fri, 10am-2pm Sat & Sun, 5:30-10pm Tue-Sun) The pastry-chef owner whips up tasty mains, say walleye fish with pea-and-mint puree. But you're really here for dessert, so save room for the hot fudge.

West Town Tavern (Map pp570-1; ☎ 312-666-6175; 1329 W Chicago Ave; mains $19-25; 🕒 5-10pm Mon-Sat) Mmm, contemporary comfort foods – pot roast, pasta with turkey meatballs, mushroom chowder – all served in a warm, exposed-brick old row house.

LOGAN SQUARE & HUMBOLDT PARK

Several eats and drinks ring the intersection of Milwaukee, Logan and Kedzie Blvds. Take the CTA Blue Line to Logan Square.

our pick Hot Doug's (Map p562; ☎ 773-279-9550; 3324 N California Ave; mains $2.50-8; 🕒 10:30am-4pm Mon-Sat) Doug's the man to fulfill all your hot-dog fantasies. He serves multiple dog styles (Polish, bratwursts, Chicago) cooked multiple dog ways (char-grilled, deep-fried, steamed). Confused? He'll explain it all. Doug also makes gourmet 'haute dogs,' say blue-cheese pork with cherry cream sauce.

Feed (Map p562; ☎ 773-489-4600; 2803 W Chicago Ave; mains $6-12; 🕒 8am-10pm Mon & Wed-Fri, 9am-10pm Sat, 9am-9pm Sun) Folksy Feed serves a small menu of down-home chow such as rotisserie chicken, mac-n-cheese, mashed potatoes, corn pudding, fried okra and bulging fruit pies. Bring your own booze; cash only.

Lula Cafe (Map p562; ☎ 773-489-9554; 2537 N Kedzie Blvd; mains $17-26; 🕒 9am-10pm Mon & Wed-Thu, to 11pm Fri & Sat, closed Tue) Slow-food lovers crowd in for Lula's locally sourced menu, which changes with the seasons. Prior dishes include striped bass with pine nut–peppered orzo, and pasta with Moroccan cinnamon and feta.

NEAR WEST SIDE & PILSEN

Greektown extends along S Halsted St (take the Blue Line to UIC-Halsted), Little Italy is along Taylor St, and the Mexican Pilsen enclave centers around W 18th St (take the Pink Line to 18th). The West Loop holds several stylish eateries along Randolph and Washington Sts, and is most easily reached by taxi (about $8 from downtown).

Don Pedro Carnitas (Map p562; ☎ 312-829-4757; 1113 W 18th St; tacos $1.50-2; 🕒 6am-6pm Mon-Fri, 5am-5pm Sat, to 3pm Sun) At this no-frills Pilsen meat hive, a man with a machete salutes you at the front counter. He awaits your command to hack off pork pieces, and then wraps the thick chunks with onion and cilantro in a fresh tortilla. Goat stew and tripe add to the meaty menu. Cash only.

Lou Mitchell's (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-939-3111; 565 W Jackson Blvd; mains $4-9; 🕒 5:30am-3pm Mon-Sat, 7am-3pm Sun) Lou's sprang up in Route 66's heyday. There's a queue to get in for the famed breakfasts, but staff give out free Milk Duds to ease the wait.

Publican (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-733-9555; 837 W Fulton Market; mains $15-30; 🕒 3:30-10:30pm Mon-Thu, to 11:30pm Fri & Sat, 10am-2pm & 5-10pm Sun) Set up like a swanky beer hall, Publican specializes in oysters, hams and fine suds – all from small family farms and microbrewers. There's a four-course special ($45) Sunday nights.

NEAR SOUTH SIDE & CHINATOWN

Take the CTA Red Line to Harrison, Roosevelt or Cermak-Chinatown.

Joy Yee's Noodles (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-328-0001; 2139 S China Pl; mains $7-12; 🕒 11am-10:30pm) Joy Yee's roaring blenders mix more than 100 types of fruit drinks and tapioca bubble teas, which make a fine accompaniment to the pan-Asian dishes such as udon (thick, wheat-based noodles) and chow mein.

Drinking

During the long winters, Chicagoans count on bars for warmth. The usual closing time is 2am, but some places stay open until 4am or 5am. In summer many bars boast beer gardens.

THE LOOP & NEAR NORTH

Intelligentsia Coffee (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-920-9332; 53 E Randolph St; 🕒 6am-8pm Mon-Thu, 6am-9pm Fri, 7am-9pm Sat, 7am-7pm Sun) This local chain roasts its own beans and percolates good strong stuff. One of its baristas recently won the national latte-making championship.

Signature Lounge (Map pp570-1; ☎ 312-787-7230; John Hancock Center, 875 N Michigan Ave) Have the Hancock Observatory view without the Hancock Observatory admission price. Shoot straight up to the 96th floor and order a beverage while looking out over the city. Ladies: don't miss the bathroom view.

Clark Street Ale House (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-642-9253; 742 N Clark St) Do as the retro sign advises and 'Stop & Drink Liquor.' Midwestern microbrews are the main draw; order a three-beer sampler for $5.

LINCOLN PARK & OLD TOWN

Olde Towne Ale House (Map pp570-1; ☎ 312-944-7020; 219 W North Ave) There are no pretenses at this longtime favorite: you'll mingle with beautiful people and not-so-beautiful people (they're the ones face down at the bar). It is across from Second City.

Delilah's (Map pp570-1; ☎ 773-472-2771; 2771 N Lincoln Ave) Delilah's is where underground rockers come to drink from the lengthy whiskey list.

WRIGLEYVILLE & ANDERSONVILLE

Ginger Man (Map p573; ☎ 773-549-2050; 3740 N Clark St) The pierced-and-tattooed patrons, pool tables and good beer selection make Ginger Man wonderfully different from the surrounding Wrigley sports bars.

Harry Caray's (Map p573; ☎ 773-327-7800; 3551 N Sheffield Ave) Across from Wrigley and named after its famed announcer, Harry Caray's caters to pre- and post–Cubs game guzzlers. The 60ft-6in bar is the same distance as the pitcher's mound to the home plate.

Hopleaf (Map p573; ☎ 773-334-9851; 5148 N Clark St) You've hit the mother lode of beer selection when you walk into this beauty – there are 200 types available (30 on tap) and a Belgian eatery upstairs.

DIY: HOW TO FIND A REAL CHICAGO BAR

While we can't list every watering hole in town – which is too bad because we'd enjoy the research process – we can give you the tools to go out and discover classic, character-filled bars on your own. Look for the following:

- an 'Old Style' beer sign swinging out front
- a well-worn dart board and/or pool table inside
- patrons wearing Cubs-, White Sox– or Bears-logoed ballcaps
- bottles of brew served in buckets of ice
- sports on TV (with the latter being a 1974 Zenith, not some fancy flat-screen thing).

WICKER PARK, BUCKTOWN & UKRAINIAN VILLAGE

Map Room (Map p562; ☎ 773-252-7636; 1949 N Hoyne Ave) At this map-and-globe-filled 'travelers' tavern,' artsy types sip coffee by day and suds from the 200-strong beer list by night. There's free ethnic food on Tuesdays at 7pm.

Danny's (Map p562; ☎ 773-489-6457; 1951 W Dickens Ave) Danny's comfortably dim and dog-eared ambience is perfect for conversations over a pint. A poetry-reading series and occasional DJs add to the scruffy artiness.

Matchbox (Map pp570-1; ☎ 312-666-9292; 770 N Milwaukee Ave) Lawyers, artists and bums all squeeze in for retro cocktails. It's small as – you got it – a matchbox, with about 10 barstools; everyone else stands against the back wall.

Entertainment

Check the Reader and other local media (see p561).

Hot Tix (www.hottix.org; 🕑 10am-6pm Tue-Sat, 11am-4pm Sun) sells same-day theater tickets for half-price, either online, or at the branches: Randolph (Map pp564-5; 72 E Randolph St) or Pearson (Map pp570-1; 163 E Pearson St). Cover charges at music and dance clubs range from nil to $20 or more, depending on who's playing and the day of the week.

CLUBS

The club scene ranges from snooty places to casual joints where all you do is dance.

Funky Buddha Lounge (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-666-1695; 728 W Grand Ave; 🕑 closed Mon-Wed) The Buddha shakes with hip-hop and house music.

Butterfly Social Club (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-666-1695; 722 W Grand Ave) Next door to Funky Buddha, the ecohip Butterfly serves all-organic cocktails while DJs spin and patrons dance.

The Wicker Park-Ukie Village area has several clubs that tend to be more casual than those elsewhere. Lava (Map p562; ☎ 773-342-5282; 1270 N Milwaukee Ave) blasts music from the underground, while the Darkroom (Map p562; ☎ 773-276-1411; 2210 W Chicago Ave) welcomes everyone from Goths to reggae-heads with its eclectic spins.

The Near North's clubs are more cavernous and luxurious (with dress codes), such as Sound-Bar (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-787-4480; 226 W Ontario St; 🕑 Fri & Sat only).

LIVE MUSIC

Blues and jazz both have deep roots in Chicago, and world-class performers appear at myriad venues nightly.

Blues

Buddy Guy's Legends (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-427-0333; 754 S Wabash Ave) This place gets the top acts in town, including the venerable Mr Guy himself.

Rosa's (Map p562; ☎ 773-342-0452; 3420 W Armitage Ave; 🕑 closed Sun & Mon) Rosa's is a real-deal venue that brings in top local talent and dedicated fans to a somewhat dodgy Logan Sq block.

Lee's Unleaded Blues (Map p562; ☎ 773-493-3477; 7401 S South Chicago Ave; 🕑 closed Tue & Wed) Far off the tourist path and buried deep on the South Side, Lee's is a genuine juke joint. The local crowd dresses in their finest threads, and everyone jams until dawn.

Blue Chicago (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-642-6261; 536 & 736 N Clark St) This is a pair of friendly clubs downtown.

New Checkerboard Lounge (Map p562; ☎ 773-684-1472; 5201 S Harper Ct) The Checkerboard was a renowned Bronzeville dump for decades. Then it moved to Hyde Park and slicked up. But the songs remain the same: blues or jazz nightly.

Noisy, hot, sweaty and crowded are Blues (Map pp570-1; ☎ 773-528-1012; 2519 N Halsted St) and Kingston Mines (Map pp570-1; ☎ 773-477-4646; 2548 N Halsted St). Both are conveniently located in Lincoln Park and are popular drawcards for the holiday-making 4am crowd.

Jazz

Green Mill (Map p573; ☎ 773-878-5552; 4802 N Broadway) The noble Green Mill earned its notoriety as Al Capone's favorite speakeasy (the tunnels in which he hid the booze are still underneath the bar), and you can feel his ghost urging you on to another martini. Top-flight local and national artists perform six nights per week; Sundays are for the nationally acclaimed poetry slam.

Velvet Lounge (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-791-9050; 67 E Cermak Rd; 🕑 closed Mon) The intimate Velvet Lounge is a jazz musician's jazz club, with avant-garde notes wafting from the saxophones.

Andy's (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-642-6805; 11 E Hubbard St) Andy's is affordable and mixed, from its multiage clientele to its fusion of swing, bop and Afro-pop.

Rock & Folk

Metro (Map p573; ☎ 773-549-3604; 3730 N Clark St) Local bands and big names looking for an 'intimate' venue play here.

Old Town School of Folk Music (Map p562; ☎ 773-728-6000; 4544 N Lincoln Ave) It's a superb room offering an eclectic line-up of world music and, yes, folk music.

Hideout (Map pp570-1; ☎ 773-227-4433; 1354 W Wabansia Ave) Tucked behind a factory, Hideout is as hard to find as the name implies, but it is worth it for the laid-back, indie atmosphere and nightly rock, folk and country tunes (and sometimes theater).

Phyllis' Musical Inn (Map p562; ☎ 773-486-9862; 1800 W Division St) One of the all-time great dives, this former Polish polka bar features scrappy up-and-coming bands nightly.

Double Door (Map p562; ☎ 773-489-3160; 1572 N Milwaukee Ave) and Empty Bottle (Map p562; ☎ 773-276-3600; 1035 N Western Ave) epitomize the edgy Chicago rock scene. The Bottle hosts free shows on Mondays.

THEATER

Chicago's reputation for stage drama is well deserved. These are the city's main companies:

Chicago Shakespeare Theater (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-595-5600; www.chicagoshakes.com; 800 E Grand Ave) Will's comedies and tragedies at Navy Pier.

Goodman Theatre (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-443-3800; www.goodmantheatre.org; 170 N Dearborn St) Known for both new and classic works.

Steppenwolf Theatre (Map pp570-1; ☎ 312-335-1650; www.steppenwolf.org; 1650 N Halsted St) Drama club of Malkovich, Sinise and other Hollywood stars.

Some first-rate smaller companies:

Lookingglass Theatre Company (Map pp570-1; ☎ 312-337-0665; www.lookingglasstheatre.org; 821 N Michigan Ave) Improv-based works, often incorporating acrobatics.

Neo-Futurists (Map p573; ☎ 773-275-5255; www.neofuturists.org; 5153 N Ashland Ave) Original works that make you ponder and laugh simultaneously.

Redmoon Theater (Map p562; ☎ 312-850-8440; www.redmoon.org; 1463 W Hubbard St) Puppet-oriented productions.

Major venues for touring shows mostly cluster at State and Randolph Sts:

Auditorium Theater (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-922-2110; 50 E Congress Pkwy)

Bank of America Theater (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-977-1700; 18 W Monroe St)

Cadillac Palace Theater (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-977-1700; 151 W Randolph St)

Chicago Theater (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-462-6300; 175 N State St)
Ford Center/Oriental Theater (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-977-1700; 24 W Randolph St)

COMEDY

Improv comedy began in Chicago, and the city still nurtures the best in the business.

Second City (Map pp570-1; ☎ 312-337-3992; www.secondcity.com; 1616 N Wells St) The cream of the crop – it's the place where John Belushi, Bill Murray and many others honed their wit.

iO Improv (Map p573; ☎ 773-880-0199; www.ioimprov.com; 3541 N Clark St) Many Saturday Night Livers were fostered here.

TELEVISION & CINEMA

Oprah Winfrey Show (Map pp564-5; ☎ tickets 312-591-9222, studio 312-633-1000; www.oprah.com; 1058 W Washington Blvd) The self-help queen's TV show is extremely popular and the free tickets are difficult to come by. Try the studio number if the ticket number isn't working. Last-minute tickets sometimes surface on the website.

Music Box Theatre (Map p573; ☎ 773-871-6604; www.musicboxtheatre.com; 3733 N Southport Ave) Patrons hear live organ music and see clouds roll across the ceiling prior to their art films at this old movie palace.

Gene Siskel Film Center (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-846-2800; www.siskelfilmcenter.org; 164 N State St) This small theater screens offbeat films.

PERFORMING ARTS

Symphony Center (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-294-3000; www.cso.org; 220 S Michigan Ave) The Chicago Symphony Orchestra makes music in this beautiful facility.

Civic Opera House (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-332-2244; www.lyricopera.org; 20 N Wacker Dr) The Lyric Opera of Chicago, one of the country's best, performs in the grand venue here.

Grant Park Orchestra (☎ 312-742-7638; www.grantparkmusicfestival.com) The orchestra puts on free classical concerts in Millennium Park (p563) throughout the summer.

Joffrey Ballet (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-386-8905; www.joffrey.com; 10 E Randolph St) The ballet practices in swanky new digs downtown, though it typically performs at the Auditorium Theater (opposite).

Modern Hubbard Street Dance Chicago (☎ 312-850-9744; www.hubbardstreetdance.com) performs at the Harris Theater for Music and Dance (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-334-7777; 205 E Randolph St).

SPORTS

The Cubs (☎ 773-404-2827; www.cubs.com) last won the World Series in 1908, but their fans still pack baseball's most charming stadium, Wrigley Field (Map p573; 1060 W Addison St), which dates from 1914 and is known for its ivy-walled field, classic neon sign and men's trough urinals. Tickets are tough to procure. Try the box office about three hours before game time as tickets sometimes appear. Or you can buy 'em from street hustlers for big bucks. If all else fails, peer in the ballpark's 'knothole' on Sheffield Ave. Take the CTA Red Line to Addison; it's 4.5 miles north of the Loop.

The White Sox (☎ 312-674-1000; www.whitesox.com) are the Cubs' South Side rivals and play in the more modern 'Cell,' the US Cellular Field (Map p562; 333 W 35th St). Tickets are usually cheaper and easier to get than at Wrigley. Take the CTA Red Line to the Sox-35th-station; it's 4.5 miles south of the Loop.

The Bulls (☎ 800-462-2849; www.nba.com/bulls) play basketball in the huge United Center (Map p562; 1901 W Madison St), which is also used by the Blackhawks (☎ 312-559-1212; www.chicagoblackhawks.com) for ice hockey. It's about 2 miles west of the Loop. CTA runs special buses on game days; it's best not to walk here.

Soldier Field (Map pp564-5; 425 E McFetridge Dr) is where Chicago's NFL team, the Bears (☎ 847-615-2327; www.chicagobears.com), tackles. It stirred huge controversy when it was renovated from a classical facade to its current flying-saucer look; it is referred to as 'the mistake on the lake.'

Shopping

Easy-to-obtain local souvenirs include sports-logoed gear and jazz or blues CDs.

The shoppers' siren song emanates from N Michigan Ave, along the Magnificent Mile (p568). Water Tower Place (Map pp570-1; 835 N Michigan Ave) is among the large vertical malls here. Moving onward, boutiques fill Bucktown (mod), Lincoln Park (tony), Lake View (countercultural) and Andersonville (all three).

Chicago Architecture Foundation Shop (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-922-3432; 224 S Michigan Ave) Skyscraper playing cards, Frank Lloyd Wright note cards and many more unusual gifts for those with an edifice complex.

Jazz Record Mart (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-222-1467; 27 E Illinois St) It's thoroughly stocked with Chicago blues and jazz CDs.

Oprah Store (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-633-2100; 37 N Carpenter St) Pick up a passion journal, 'live your own dreams' coffee cup or pair of Manolo Blahnik pumps – just like Oprah wears!

Getting There & Away

O'Hare International Airport (ORD; off Map p562; ☎ 800-832-6352; www.flychicago.com) is among the world's busiest. Most non-US airlines and international flights use Terminal 5 (except Lufthansa and flights from Canada).

The smaller Chicago Midway Airport (MDW; Map p562; ☎ 773-838-0600; www.flychicago.com) is used mostly by domestic carriers, like Southwest, which often have cheaper flights than airlines serving O'Hare.

The main Greyhound station (Map pp564-5; ☎ 312-408-5800; www.greyhound.com; 630 W Harrison St) is two blocks from the CTA Blue Line Clinton stop. Buses run frequently to Cleveland ($34 to $53, 7½ hours), Detroit ($26 to $41, seven hours) and Minneapolis ($29 to $63, nine hours), as well as small towns throughout the USA.

Megabus (Map pp564-5; ☎ 877-462-6342; www.megabus.com/us; southeast cnr Canal St & Jackson Blvd) travels only to major Midwestern cities. Prices are often less, and quality and efficiency are better than Greyhound on these routes.

Chicago's classic Union Station (Map pp564-5; 225 S Canal St) is the hub for Amtrak's (☎ 800-872-7245; www.amtrak.com) national and regional service. Seven trains a day go to Milwaukee ($22, 1½ hours). Other connections:

Detroit ($29 to $41, 5½ hours, three trains daily)
Minneapolis/St Paul ($56 to $125, eight hours, one train daily)
New York ($84 to $137, 20½ hours, two trains daily)
San Francisco (Emeryville) ($182 to $227, 53 hours, one train daily)
St Louis ($23, 5½ hours, five trains daily)

Getting Around

TO/FROM THE AIRPORT

O'Hare International Airport is 17 miles northwest of the Loop. The cheapest, and often the quickest, way to/from O'Hare is by the CTA Blue Line ($2.25), but the station is a long walk from the flight terminals. Airport Express shuttles run between the airport and downtown hotels (per person $27). Cabs to/from downtown cost about $45.

Chicago Midway Airport is 11 miles southwest of the Loop, connected via the CTA Orange Line ($2.25). Other options include shuttles (per person $22) and cabs ($25 to $35).

BICYCLE

Chicago has 120 miles of bike lanes. Request a free map from the city's transportation department (☎ 312-742-2453; www.chicagobikes.org). Bike racks are plentiful; the biggest, with showers, is at McDonalds Cycle Center (Map pp564-5; ☎ 888-245-3929; 239 E Randolph St). Lock it or lose it. For bike-rental information, see p574.

CAR & MOTORCYCLE

Be warned: street and garage/lot parking are expensive. If you must, try East Monroe Garage (Map pp564-5; Columbus Dr btwn Randolph & Monroe Sts; per 12hr $14). Chicago's rush-hour traffic is abysmal.

PUBLIC TRANSPORTATION

The Chicago Transit Authority (CTA; ☎ 888-968-7282; www.transitchicago.com) operates the city bus and train network, including both elevated (El) and subway trains. CTA buses go everywhere from early morning until late evening. Two of the eight color-coded train lines – the Red Line, and the Blue Line to O'Hare International Airport – operate 24 hours a day. The other lines run from about 5am to midnight daily. During the day, you shouldn't have to wait more than 15 minutes for a train (although track renovations can create lengthier lags). Get free maps at any station.

The standard fare per train is $2.25; per bus, it is $2. Transfers cost 25¢. On buses, you can use a fare card (called a Transit Card) or pay with exact change. On the train, you must use a Transit Card, which is sold from vending machines at train stations. Day passes (one-/three-day pass $5.75/14) provide excellent savings, but they can be purchased only at airports or downtown currency exchanges.

Metra commuter trains (☎ 312-836-7000; www.metrarail.com) have 12 routes serving the suburbs from four terminals ringing the Loop (LaSalle St Station, Randolph St/Millennium Park Station, Richard B Ogilvie Transportation Center and Union Station – all on Map pp564–5). Some lines run daily, while others operate only during weekday rush hours. Metra fares cost $2.15 to $7 or more. An all-weekend pass costs $5.

PACE (☎ 847-364-7223; www.pacebus.com) runs the suburban bus system that connects with city transport.

TAXI

Cabs are plentiful in the Loop, north to Andersonville and west to Bucktown. In other areas, call Yellow Cab (☎ 312-829-4222) or Flash Cab (☎ 773-561-1444). Flagfall is $2.25, plus $1.80 per mile and $1 per extra passenger; a 15% tip is expected. Venture outside city limits and you'll pay one and a half times the fare.

AROUND CHICAGO

Evanston & North Shore

Evanston, 14 miles north of the Loop and reached via the CTA Purple Line, combines sprawling old houses with a compact downtown. It's also home to Northwestern University.

Beyond are Chicago's northern lakeshore suburbs, which became popular with the carriage set in the late 19th century. A classic 30-mile drive follows Sheridan Rd through various tony towns to the socioeconomic apex of Lake Forest. Attractions include the Baha'i House of Worship (☎ 847-853-2300; www.bahai.us/bahai-temple; 100 Linden Ave, Wilmette; admission free; 🕓 6am-10pm), a glistening white architectural marvel, and the Chicago Botanic Garden (☎ 847-835-5440; www.chicagobotanic.org; 1000 Lake Cook Rd, Glencoe; admission free; 🕓 8am-dusk), with hiking trails, 255 bird species and weekend cooking demos by well-known chefs. Parking costs $20.

Inland lies the Illinois Holocaust Museum (☎ 847-967-4800; www.ilholocaustmuseum.org; 9603 Woods Dr, Skokie; adult/child 5-11yr $8/5; 🕓 10am-5pm Mon-Fri, to 8pm Thu, 11am-4pm Sat & Sun). Besides its excellent videos of survivors' stories from WWII, the museum contains thought-provoking art about genocides in Armenia, Rwanda, Cambodia and others.

Oak Park

Located west of the Loop and easily reached on the CTA Green Line, Oak Park spawned two famous sons: novelist Ernest Hemingway was born here, and architect Frank Lloyd Wright (see boxed text, p92) lived and worked here from 1889 to 1909.

During Wright's 20 years in Oak Park, he designed a helluva lot of houses. Stop at the visitors center (☎ 888-625-7275; www.visitoakpark.com; 158 N Forest Ave; 🕓 10am-5pm) and ask for the architectural site map (a free, photocopied page), which gives their locations. To actually get inside a Wright-designed dwelling, you'll need to tour the Frank Lloyd Wright Home & Studio (☎ 708-848-1976; www.wrightplus.org; 951 Chicago Ave; adult/child 4-17yr $15/12; 🕓 11am-3pm Mon-Fri, to 4pm Sat & Sun). Tour frequency varies seasonally, from every two hours in winter to every 20 minutes on summer weekends.

Despite Hemingway calling Oak Park a 'village of wide lawns and narrow minds,' the town still pays homage to him at the Ernest Hemingway Museum (☎ 708-848-2222; www.ehfop.org; 200 N Oak Park Ave; adult/child $8/6; 🕓 1-5pm Sun-Fri, 10am-5pm Sat). Admission also includes access to Hemingway's Birthplace (339 N Oak Park Ave).

NORTHERN ILLINOIS

The highlight is the hilly northwest, where cottonwood trees, grazing horses and twisty roads over old stagecoach trails fill the pocket around Galena.

En route is Union, where the Illinois Railway Museum (☎ 815-923-4000; www.irm.org; US 20 to Union Rd; adult $8-12, child 3-11yr $4-8 depending upon season; 🕓 hours vary Apr-Oct) sends trainspotters into fits of ecstasy with 200 acres of locomotives. Thirty miles farther west is Rockford, which birthed the sock knitting machine and subsequent Sock Monkey stuffed toy. Early March brings the Sock Monkey Festival (☎ 815-397-9112; www.midwayvillage.com; adult/child $7/4), complete with monkey-making workshops.

Galena

Though just a speck on the map, Galena is the area's main attraction and a popular excursion from Chicago. The town spreads across wooded hillsides near the Mississippi River and is perfectly preserved, despite a slew of tourist-oriented antique shops and restaurants.

Galena's heyday was the mid-19th century, when industrial demands fueled the need for lead, which the region's mines had in spades. Galena (whose name means 'lead sulfide ore') became a center for the industry, and businesses, hotels and mansions shot up. The boom ended abruptly after the Civil War, and Galena remained all but deserted until restoration began in the 1960s.

The visitors center (☎ 815-777-4390, 877-464-2536; www.galena.org; 101 Bouthillier St; 🕓 9am-5pm) is on the eastern side of the Galena River, in the 1857 train depot. Get a map, leave your car in the lot ($3 per day) and explore on foot.

Elegant old Main St curves around the hillside and the historic heart of town. Among numerous sights is the Ulysses S Grant Home (☎ 815-777-3310; www.granthome.com; 500 Bouthillier St; adult/child $4/2; 🕑 9am-4:45pm Wed-Sun Apr-Oct, reduced hrs Nov-Mar), which was a gift from local Republicans to the victorious general at the Civil War's end. Tours are provided (sometimes conducted by a guy who pretends he 'is' Grant). The elaborate Italianate Belvedere Mansion (☎ 815-777-0747; 1008 Park Ave; adult/child $12/6; 🕑 11am-4pm Sun-Fri, to 5pm Sat late May-Oct) hangs the green drapes from Gone With the Wind.

Outdoors enthusiasts should head to Fever River Outfitters (☎ 815-776-9425; www.feverriveroutfitters.com; 525 S Main St; 🕑 10am-5pm, closed Tue-Thu early Sep-late May), which rents canoes, kayaks, bicycles and snowshoes. It also offers guided tours, such as two-hour kayak trips ($45 per person, equipment included) on the Mississippi River's backwaters.

On weekend evenings, set out on the hokey but fun Annie Wiggins Ghost Tour (☎ 815-777-0336; www.anniewiggins.com; 1004 Park Ave; 1hr tour $10.75; 🕑 Fri & Sat evenings May-Oct). Or visit local bison ranches, artisanal cheesemakers and herb farms on a culinary tour with Learn Great Foods (☎ 866-240-1650; www.learngreatfoods.com; tours $50-105). Excursions vary; check online for the schedule and locations.

Galena brims with old-school B&Bs. Most cost $100 to $200 nightly and fill up during weekends. The visitors center website provides contact information. Otherwise, there's Grant Hills Motel (☎ 877-421-0924; www.granthills.com; 9372 US 20; s/d $69/79; ❄ 🏊), a no-frills option 1.5 miles east of town, with countryside views and a horseshoe pitch. Presidential types can be like Grant and Lincoln and stay in the well-furnished rooms at DeSoto House Hotel (☎ 815-777-0090; www.desotohouse.com; 230 S Main St; r $128-200; ❄ 📶), which dates from 1855.

Clarks Again (☎ 815-777-4407; 200 N Main St; mains $4-8; 🕑 6am-1:30pm) is ideal for biscuit-and-gravy breakfasts or lunchtime sandwiches. 111 Main (☎ 815-777-8030; 111 N Main St; mains $13-24; 🕑 11am-9pm Sun-Thu, to 10pm Fri & Sat) makes meatloaf, pork-and-beans and other Midwestern favorites using ingredients sourced from local farms.

Quad Cities

South of Galena along a pretty stretch of the Great River Road (www.greatriverroad-illinois.org) is scenic Mississippi Palisades State Park (☎ 815-273-2731), a popular rock-climbing, hiking and camping area; pick up trail maps at the north entrance park office.

SCENIC DRIVES: STAGECOACH TRAIL & BLACKJACK RD

Two pretty drives roll out of Galena. The Stagecoach Trail, which morphs from Field St downtown, is a 26-mile ride on a narrow, twisty road en route to Warren. And yes, it really was part of the old stagecoach route between Galena and Chicago. Blackjack Rd is a hilly, 16-mile ridge road that ambles between Galena and Hanover, passing farms, cottonwood trees, cows and horses along the way. Take Fourth St from downtown, which becomes Blackjack Rd.

Further downstream, the Quad Cities (☎ 563-322-3911; www.visitquadcities.com) – Moline and Rock Island in Illinois, and Davenport and Bettendorf across the river in Iowa – make a surprisingly good stop. Rock Island has an appealing downtown (based at 3rd Ave and 18th St), with a couple of cafés, a lively pub and music scene, and a paddle wheeler casino. On the edge of town, Black Hawk State Historic Site (☎ 309-788-0177; www.blackhawkpark.org; 1510 46th Ave; 🕑 sunrise-10pm) is a huge park with trails by the Rock River. Its Hauberg Indian Museum (☎ 309-788-9536; 1510 46th Ave, Watch Tower Lodge; admission free; 🕑 9am-noon & 1-5pm Wed-Sun) outlines the sorry story of Sauk leader Black Hawk and his people.

Out in the Mississippi River, the actual island of Rock Island once held a Civil War–era arsenal and POW camp. It now maintains an impressive arms museum, Civil War cemetery, national cemetery and visitor center for barge viewing. All are free, but bring photo ID as the island is still an active army facility.

Moline is the home of John Deere, the international farm machinery manufacturer, which has a museum/showroom in town. For Iowa-side attractions, see p671.

CENTRAL ILLINOIS

Abraham Lincoln and Route 66 sights are sprinkled liberally throughout central Illinois, which is otherwise farmland plain. East of Decatur, Arthur and Arcola are Amish centers.

Springfield

The small state capital has a serious obsession with Abraham Lincoln, who practiced law here from 1837 to 1861. Its Abe-related sights offer an in-depth look at the man and his turbulent times, which only some cynics find overdone. Many of the attractions are walkable downtown and cost little to nothing. Get your bearings with a map from the visitors center (☎ 800-545-7300; www.visitspringfieldillinois.com; 109 N 7th St; ⏰ 8:30am-5pm Mon-Fri).

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

To visit the top-draw Lincoln Home, you must first pick up a ticket at the Lincoln Home Visitors Center (☎ 217-492-4150; www.nps.gov/liho; 426 S 7th St; admission free; ⏰ 8:30am-5pm). A tour guide will then take you through the house where Abraham and Mary Lincoln lived from 1844 until they moved to the White House in 1861. You'll see considerably more than just the home, as the whole block has been preserved.

The Lincoln Presidential Library & Museum (☎ 217-558-8844; www.alplm.org; 212 N 6th St; adult/child 5-15yr $10/4; ⏰ 9am-5pm) contains the most complete Lincoln collection in the world. Real-deal artifacts like Abe's shaving mirror and briefcase join whiz-bang exhibits and Disneyesque holograms that keep the kids agog.

After his assassination, Lincoln's body was returned to Springfield, where it lies today. The impressive Lincoln's Tomb sits in Oak Ridge Cemetery (☎ 217-782-2717; admission free; ⏰ 9am-5pm Mar-Oct, to 4pm Nov-Feb), north of downtown. The gleam on the nose of Lincoln's bust, created by visitors' light touches, indicates the numbers of those who pay their respects here.

Standing a block apart are the noteworthy Old State Capitol (☎ 217-785-7960; cnr 5th & Adams Sts; suggested donation adult/child $4/2; ⏰ 9am-5pm, closed Sun & Mon early Sep–mid-May) and Lincoln-Herndon Law Offices (cnr 6th & Adams Sts; same cost & hours). Both offer detailed tours covering Lincoln's early political life; the former takes in his dramatic pre–Civil War debates with Stephen Douglas.

Lincoln-free attractions include the pristine 1904 Dana-Thomas House (☎ 217-782-6776; www.dana-thomas.org; 301 E Lawrence St; adult/child $5/3; ⏰ 9am-4pm Wed-Sun), one of Frank Lloyd Wright's Prairie-style masterworks, with an insightful tour; Shea's Gas Station Museum (☎ 217-522-0475; 2075 Peoria Rd; admission $2; ⏰ 8am-4pm Tue-Fri, to noon Sat), with Route 66 pumps and signs; and the Route 66 Drive In (☎ 217-698-0066; www.route66-drivein.com; 1700 Recreation Dr; adult/child 4-12yr $6/4; ⏰ nightly Jun-Aug, weekends mid-Apr–May & Sep), with first-run flicks under the stars.

SLEEPING & EATING

Statehouse Inn (☎ 217-528-5100; www.thestatehouseinn.com; 101 E Adams St; r incl breakfast $95-145; Ⓟ 🚭 💻 📶) It looks concrete-drab outside, but inside, the Statehouse shows its style. Comfy beds, large baths and free wired internet access fill the rooms; a mod bar and free wi-fi fill the lobby.

Inn at 835 (☎ 217-523-4466; www.innat835.com; 835 S 2nd St; r incl breakfast $125-175; Ⓟ 🚭) This 10-room B&B in an historic home offers the classiest digs in town.

Cozy Dog Drive In (☎ 217-525-1992; 2935 S 6th St; items $2-4; ⏰ 8am-8pm Mon-Sat) All must stop to hail the corn dog's birthplace at the Cozy Dog. It's a Route 66 legend, with memorabilia and souvenirs in addition to the deeply fried main course.

Trout Lilly Cafe (217-391-0101; 218 S Sixth St; mains $4-6; 7am-4:30pm Mon-Fri, 9am-3pm Sat; 📶) Arty Trout Lilly serves quiche and muffins for breakfast, soups and sandwiches for lunch, and coffee anytime.

D'Arcy's Pint (217-492-8800; 661 W Stanford Ave; mains $6-12; ⏰ 11am-10pm Mon-Thu, to 11pm Fri & Sat) This pub concocts Springfield's best 'horseshoe,' a local sandwich that consists of fried meat on toasted bread, mounded with french fries and smothered in melted cheese. It's 3 miles south of downtown.

GETTING THERE & AROUND

The downtown Amtrak station (☎ 217-753-2013; cnr 3rd & Washington Sts) has four to five trains daily to/from St Louis ($13 to $25, two hours) and Chicago ($18 to $50, 3½ hours).

Petersburg

When Lincoln first arrived in Illinois in 1831, he worked variously as a clerk, storekeeper and postmaster in the frontier village of New Salem before studying law and moving to Springfield. In Petersburg, 20 miles northwest of Springfield, Lincoln's New Salem State Historic Site (☎ 217-632-4000; www.lincolnsnewsalem.com; Hwy 97; suggested donation adult/child $4/2; ⏰ 9am-5pm, closed Mon & Tue mid-Sep–Apr) reconstructs the village with building replicas, historical displays and costumed performances – a pretty informative and entertaining package.

SOUTHERN ILLINOIS

A surprise awaits near Collinsville, 8 miles east of East St Louis: classified as a Unesco World Heritage Site with the likes of

ROUTE 66: GET YOUR KICKS IN ILLINOIS

America's 'Mother Road' kicks off in Chicago on Adams St, just west of Michigan Ave. Before embarking, fuel up at Lou Mitchell's (p582) diner near Union Station. After all, it's about 300 miles from the start of Route 66 to the Missouri state line.

Sadly, most of the original Route 66 has been superseded by I-55 in Illinois, though the old road still exists in scattered sections often paralleling the interstate. Follow the brown 'Historic Route 66' signs to keep on track.

A true route highlight pops up soon after Joliet. Leave I-55 at Joliet Rd, following Hwy 53 southbound to Wilmington. Here pay your respects to the 28ft fiberglass spaceman known as the Gemini Giant outside the Launching Pad Drive-In (☎ 815-476-6535; 810 E Baltimore St; 🕒 10am-9:30pm). Motor 33 miles onward to Odell and its preserved service station (☎ 815-998-2133; 400 S West St; 🕒 11am-3pm most days), which doubles as a Route 66 souvenir shop.

Next come Pontiac and the tchotchke-and-photo-filled Route 66 Hall of Fame (☎ 815-844-4566; 110 W Howard St; admission free; 🕒 11am-3pm Mon-Fri, 10am-4pm Sat). Cruise by Bloomington-Normal and stop off 12 miles later in Shirley at Funk's Grove (☎ 309-874-3360; 🕒 call for seasonal hrs), a pretty 19th-century maple syrup farm and nature preserve.

The state capital of Springfield harbors a trio of sights: Shea's Gas Station Museum (p589), the Cozy Dog Drive In (p589) and Route 66 Drive In (p589).

Further south, a good section of old Route 66 parallels I-55 through Litchfield. Grab a meal and piece of pie at the 1924 Ariston Cafe (☎ 217-324-2023; N Old Rte 66; mains $7-15; 🕒 11am-9pm Tue-Fri, 4-10pm Sat, 11am-8pm Sun). In Mt Olive, the 1926 Soulsby Shell Station is the route's oldest gas pump and is in the slow process of becoming a museum.

Finally, before driving west over the Mississippi River and into Missouri, detour off I-70 at exit 3. Follow Hwy 203 south, turn right at the first stoplight and drive west to the 1929 Chain of Rocks Bridge (🕒 sunrise-sunet). Only open to pedestrians and cyclists, this mile-long bridge has a historically famous 22-degree angled bend.

For more information, contact the Route 66 Association of Illinois (www.il66assoc.org) or Illinois Route 66 Heritage Project (www.illinoisroute66.org). Detailed driving directions are at www.historic66.com/illinois.

Stonehenge, the Acropolis and the Egyptian pyramids is Cahokia Mounds State Historic Site (☎ 618-346-5160; www.cahokiamounds.com; Collinsville Rd; suggested donation adult/child $4/2; 🕒 visitors center 9am-5pm, grounds 8am-dusk). Cahokia protects the remnants of North America's largest prehistoric city (20,000 people, with suburbs), dating from AD 1200. While the 65 earthen mounds, including the enormous Monk's Mound and the 'Woodhenge' sun calendar, are not overwhelmingly impressive in themselves, the whole site is worth seeing. If you're approaching from the north, take exit 24 off I-255 S; if approaching from St Louis, take exit 6 off I-55/70.

Grafton lies at the confluence of the Illinois and Mississippi Rivers. The time-forgotten town of Elsah, a few miles east, makes a worthy stop. The Great River Road in this area is edged with cliffs and is especially scenic. Guests at Bluffdale Vacation Farm (☎ 217-983-2854; www.bluffdalevacationfarm.com; off Hwy 108; per person all-inclusive $99-122; 🧒) help with chores like grooming horses, collecting eggs and feeding ducks. It's a kid-friendly family favorite located in Eldred, north of Grafton.

An exception to the state's flat farmland is the green southernmost section, punctuated by rolling Shawnee National Forest (☎ 618-253-7114) and rocky outcroppings. The area has numerous state parks and recreation areas good for hiking, swimming, fishing and canoeing, particularly around Little Grassy Lake and Devil's Kitchen. And who would think that Florida-like swampland, complete with bald cypress trees and croaking bullfrogs, would be here? But it is, at Cypress Creek National Wildlife Refuge (☎ 618-634-2231; www.fws.gov/midwest/cypresscreek).

Union County, near the state's southern tip, has wineries and orchards. Sample the wares on the 35-mile Shawnee Hills Wine Trail (☎ 618-967-4006; www.shawneewinetrail.com), which connects 12 vineyards. At little Cairo, on the Kentucky border, the Mississippi and Ohio Rivers converge.

INDIANA

The state revs up around the Indy 500 race, but otherwise it's about slow-paced pleasures in corn-stubbled Indiana: pie-eating in Amish Country, meditating in Bloomington's Tibetan temples and admiring the big architecture in small Columbus. For the record, folks have called Indianans 'Hoosiers' since the 1830s, but the word's origin is unknown. One theory is that early settlers knocking on a door were met with 'Who's here?' which soon became 'Hoosier.' It's certainly something to discuss with locals, perhaps over a traditional pork tenderloin sandwich.

Information

Indiana highway conditions (☎ 800-261-7623; www.in.gov/indot)
Indiana Office of Tourism (☎ 888-365-6946; www.visitindiana.com)
Indiana state park information (☎ 800-622-4931; www.in.gov/dnr/parklake) Park entry costs $2 per day by foot or bicycle, $5 to $10 by vehicle. Campsites cost $6 to $38; reservations accepted (☎ 866-622-6746; www.camp.in.gov).

INDIANAPOLIS

Clean-cut Indianapolis (aka Indy) won't win any excitement contests, but it is a perfectly pleasant place to ogle racecars and take a spin around the renowned speedway. The art museum and White River State Park have their merits, as do the Mass Ave and Broad Ripple 'hoods for eating and drinking.

INDIANA FACTS

Nicknames Hoosier State, Crossroads of America
Population 6.3 million
Area 36,420 sq miles
Capital city Indianapolis (population 795,460)
Sales tax 7%
Birthplace of Author Kurt Vonnegut (1922–2007), actor James Dean (1931–55), Brady Bunch mom Florence Henderson (b 1934), TV host David Letterman (b 1947), king of pop Michael Jackson (1958–2009)
Home of Farmers, corn
Famous for Indy 500 motor race, winning basketball teams, pork tenderloin sandwich
Official pie Sugar cream
Driving distances Indianapolis to Chicago 185 miles, Indianapolis to Bloomington 53 miles

History

The location of Indiana's capital, on flat cornfields in the geographical center of the state, was the result of a legislative compromise in 1820 between agricultural and industrial regions. Many early carmakers opened shop in the city, but were eclipsed by the Detroit giants. They did leave a lasting legacy though – a 2.5-mile test track, which became the site for the first Indianapolis 500 race in 1911 (won at an average speed of 75mph).

Orientation

Indianapolis is geometrically laid out with diagonal avenues superimposed on a grid layout. Everything radiates from the massively impressive Monument Circle. Meridian St divides streets east from west; Washington St divides them north from south. The Broad Ripple neighborhood is 6 miles north at College Ave and 62nd St.

Information

BOOKSTORES

Borders (☎ 317-972-8595; 11 S Meridian St; ⌚ 8am-7pm Mon-Thu, to 8pm Fri & Sat, 11am-6pm Sun)

EMERGENCY & MEDICAL SERVICES

CVS (☎ 317-923-1491; 1744 N Illinois St; ⌚ 24hr) Pharmacy.
Indiana University Medical Center (☎ 317-274-4705; 550 N University Blvd)

INTERNET ACCESS

The visitors center at the Artsgarden has free wi-fi, as do most coffeehouses.

Indianapolis Central Library (☎ 317-275-4100; 40 E Saint Clair St; ⌚ 9am-9pm Mon-Thu, to 6pm Fri, to 5pm Sat, 1-5pm Sun) Log on for free downtown.

INTERNET RESOURCES & MEDIA

WFBQ-FM 94.7 is the main rock channel; NPR sits on the dial at WFYI-FM 90.1.

Gay Indy (www.gayindy.org) Gay and lesbian news and entertainment listings.
Indianapolis Star (www.indystar.com) The city's daily newspaper.
Nuvo (www.nuvo.net) Free, weekly alternative paper with the arts and music low-down.

TOURIST INFORMATION

Visitors center (☎ 317-624-2563, 800-323-4639; www.visitindy.com; Artsgarden Bldg, cnr Washington & Illinois Sts; ⌚ 10am-9pm Mon-Sat, noon-6pm Sun)

Sights & Activities

Who knew you could hike in Indy? The Indianapolis Hiking Club (www.indyhike.org) leads free, 5- to 8-mile jaunts around downtown, Broad Ripple, rugged Eagle Creek Park and elsewhere. Check the website for times and departure points.

INDIANAPOLIS MOTOR SPEEDWAY

The Speedway, home of the Indianapolis 500 motor race, is Indy's supersight. The Hall of Fame Museum (☎ 317-492-6784; www.indianapolismotorspeedway.com; 4790 W 16th St; adult/child 6-15yr $3/1; ⏰ 9am-5pm) features 75 racing cars (including former winners), a 500lb Tiffany trophy and a track tour ($3 extra). OK, so you're on a bus for the latter and not even beginning to burn rubber at 37mph, but it's still fun to pretend. Tickets (☎ 317-484-6700, 800-822-4639; www.imstix.com; $25-150) are hard to come by for the big event, which is held on Memorial Day weekend and attended by 450,000 crazed fans. Tickets for pre-race trials and practices are more likely (and cheaper). Other races at the Speedway are the NASCAR Brickyard 400 in late July and Indianapolis MotoGP in late August. It's located 7.5 miles northwest of downtown.

The city celebrates the Indy 500 throughout May with the 500 Festival (☎ 317-614-6400; www.500festival.com; tickets from $7). Events include a parade comprised of racecar drivers and a community shindig at the racetrack.

WHITE RIVER STATE PARK

Sprawling White River State Park, located at the edge of downtown, contains several worthwhile sights. The adobe Eiteljorg Museum of American Indians & Western Art (☎ 317-636-9378; www.eiteljorg.org; 500 W Washington St; adult/child 5-17yr $8/5; ⏰ 10am-5pm Tue-Sat, noon-5pm Sun, plus Mon in summer) features Native American basketry, pots and masks, as well as a realistic/romantic Western painting collection with works by Frederic Remington and Georgia O'Keeffe.

The NCAA Hall of Champions (☎ 800-735-6222; www.ncaahallofchampions.org; 700 W Washington St; adult/child 6-18yr $5/3; ⏰ 10am-5pm Tue-Sat, noon-5pm Sun, plus Mon in summer) reveals the country's fascination with college sports. The NCAA renovated the museum recently, making it much more interactive, so you can now shoot free throws or climb onto a swimming platform à la Michael Phelps. You'll probably find most Hoosiers hovering around the basketball exhibits, as locals are renowned hoop-ball fanatics.

Other park highlights include gardens, a zoo, a canal walk and a military Medal of Honor Memorial.

A few miles further west, at the Indiana Medical History Museum (☎ 317-635-7329; www.imhm.org; 3045 Vermont St; adult/child under 19yr $5/1; ⏰ 10am-4pm Thu-Sat), a guide leads visitors through century-old pathology labs. The highlight, especially for zombies, is the room full of brains in jars. There's also a healing herb garden to walk through.

INDIANAPOLIS MUSEUM OF ART

This museum (☎ 317-920-2660; www.imamuseum.org; 4000 Michigan Rd; admission free; ⏰ 11am-5pm Tue-Sat, to 9pm Thu & Fri, noon-5pm Sun) has a terrific collection of European art (especially Turner and some post-Impressionists), African tribal art, South Pacific art and Chinese works. The museum is linked to Oldfields – Lilly House & Gardens (⏰ same as museum), the 26-acre estate of the Lilly pharmaceutical family, and Fairbanks Art & Nature Park, which will feature sculptures and audio installations amid 100 acres of woodlands when it opens in mid-to-late 2010.

MONUMENTS

At Monument Circle, the city center is marked by the jaw-dropping 284ft Soldiers & Sailors Monument. For a bizarre (and cramped) experience, take the elevator ($1) to the top. Beneath is the Civil War Museum (☎ 317-232-7615; admission free; ⏰ 10:30am-5:30pm Wed-Sun), which neatly outlines the conflict and Indiana's abolition position. A few blocks north, the World War Memorial (cnr Vermont & Meridian Sts) is another impressively beefy monument.

Sleeping

Hotels cost more and are usually full during race weeks in May, July and August. Add 16% tax to the prices listed here. Look for low-cost motels off I-465, the freeway that circles Indianapolis.

Indy Hostel (☎ 317-727-1696; www.indyhostel.us; 4903 Winthrop Ave; weekday/weekend dm $25/29, r $58/64; 🅿 💻 📶) This small, friendly hostel offers two dorm rooms (one six-bed coed room, and one four-bed female room) and a private room. The Monon Trail runs nearby (bike rental per day $5). It's located 6 miles from downtown, by Broad Ripple.

Stone Soup (☎ 866-639-9550; www.stonesoupinn.com; 1304 N Central Ave; r incl breakfast $85-145; 🅿 🚭 ❄ 📶) This nine-room B&B sprawls throughout a rambling house filled with antiques and stained glass. The less-expensive rooms share a bath.

Hampton Inn (☎ 317-261-1200; www.hamptondt.com; 105 S Meridian St; r incl breakfast $139-169; 🅿 ❄ 💻 📶) Handsome-looking public areas, good amenities, plush beds and the prime downtown location add value to the cookie-cutter rooms. Parking is $14.

Conrad Indianapolis (☎ 317-713-5000; www.conradindianapolis.com; 50 W Washington St; r from $200; 🅿 ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) This is Indy's top address: a 241-room beauty near the sports venues. Spa services, 42-inch plasma screen TVs and bath telephones are part of the package. Wi-fi costs $12.95, and parking is $32.

Eating

Central Massachusetts Ave ('Mass Ave' to locals) is bounteous when the stomach growls. The Broad Ripple area, 6 miles north at College Ave and 62nd St, has pubs and eateries of numerous nationalities. At lunch it's hard to beat the cheap eats at the old City Market (222 E Market St; 🕑 6am-6pm Mon-Fri, 11am-3pm Sat), which is two blocks east of Monument Circle, and filled with ethnic food stalls and local produce vendors.

Mug 'N' Bun (☎ 317-244-5669; 5211 W 10th St; mains $3-5; 🕑 10:30am-10pm Mon-Sat, 11am-10pm Sun) The mugs are frosted and filled with a wonderful home-brewed root beer. The buns contain burgers, chili dogs and juicy pork tenderloins. And don't forget the fried macaroni-and-cheese wedges. At this vintage drive-in near the Speedway, you are served – where else? – in your car.

Monon Coffee Company (☎ 317-255-0510; 920 E Westfield Blvd; items $3-6; 🕑 6:30am-8pm Mon-Thu, to 10pm Fri, 7am-10pm Sat, 8am-8pm Sun; 📶) This locally owned, art-infused shop takes its lattes seriously, as well as its fruit smoothies, sandwiches and baked goods. It's located in Broad Ripple, just off the Monon Trail.

Shapiro's Deli (☎ 317-631-4041; 808 S Meridian St; sandwiches $8-12; 🕑 6:30am-8pm; 📶) Chomp into a towering corned beef or peppery pastrami sandwich on homemade bread, and then chase it with fat slices of chocolate cake or fruit pie.

Bazbeaux (☎ 317-636-7662; 334 Massachusetts Ave; sandwiches $6-9, large pizza $19-23; 🕑 11am-10pm Sun-Thu, to 11pm Fri & Sat) A local favorite, Bazbeaux offers an eclectic pizza selection, like the 'Tchoupitoulas,' topped with Cajun shrimp and andouille sausage. Muffalettas, stromboli and Belgian beer are some of the other unusual offerings.

Drinking & Entertainment

Downtown and Mass Ave have some good watering holes; Broad Ripple has several.

BARS & NIGHTCLUBS

Slippery Noodle Inn (☎ 317-631-6974; 372 S Meridian St) Downtown's Noodle is the oldest bar in the state, and has seen action as a whorehouse, slaughterhouse, gangster hangout and Underground Railroad station; currently, it's one of the best blues clubs in the country. There's live music nightly, and it's cheap.

Rathskeller (☎ 317-636-0396; 401 E Michigan St) Quaff German brews at the outdoor beer garden's picnic tables in summer, or at the deer-head–lined indoor beer hall once winter strikes. The six-beer sampler gets you acquainted with the wares. It is located in the historic Athenaeum building near Mass Ave.

Plump's Last Shot (☎ 317-257-5867; 6416 Cornell Ave) Bobby Plump inspired the iconic movie Hoosiers. He's the kid who swished in the last-second shot, so his tiny school beat the 'big city' school in the 1950s state basketball championship. There's sports memorabilia everywhere, and sometimes Bobby himself is on site. It's located in a big house in Broad Ripple overlooking the Monon Trail – great for people-watching and sipping a cold one on the dog-friendly patio.

SPORTS

The motor races aren't the only coveted spectator events. The NFL's Colts win football games under a huge retractable roof at Lucas Oil Stadium (☎ 317-262-3389; www.colts.com; 500 S Capitol Ave). Basketball is huge in Indiana, and Conseco Fieldhouse (☎ 317-917-2500; www.nba.com/pacers; 125 S Pennsylvania St) is ground zero, where the NBA's Pacers make it happen.

Getting There & Around

The new Indianapolis International Airport (IND; ☎ 317-487-7243; www.indianapolisairport.com; 7800 Col H Weir Cook Memorial Dr) is 16 miles southwest of town. The Washington bus (8) runs between the airport and downtown ($1.75, 50 minutes); the Green Line bus does it quicker ($7, 20 minutes). A cab to downtown costs about $30.

Greyhound (☎ 317-267-3076; www.greyhound.com) shares Union Station (350 S Illinois St) with Amtrak.

RONALD AUKERMAN

Ronald Aukerman, age 93, a retired grain-storage company owner and lifelong resident of Amboy, Indiana (population 400). He passed away shortly after this interview.

What's the biggest change in your town over the years? The stores on Main St are all gone now. Small towns like ours are having trouble. Kids can't get jobs out here, and they have to move away. Or join the army. It's all old men and old women left now, like a retirement community.

What's the most defining characteristic about people from Indiana? We're halfway between hillbillies and city people, though some of the farmers are pretty sharp. My friend Wendell, he's always got 5000 hogs on his farm. Slaughter time comes around, he sells them, buys 5000 more. That's a lot of money. And the price of corn is going up because of ethanol. A bunch of little towns around here now have ethanol plants. They buy up about a third of the corn crop. Of course, that means there's less corn to feed the hogs, so the farmers have to pay more to get their feed, and so the price of meat goes up.

You've been to India, the Middle East and all over Europe. When you travel, what do you miss most about home? Sometimes I think, 'I can't wait to get home to see some grain growing or green pasture fields.'

It goes to Cincinnati ($18 to $26, two hours) and Chicago ($25 to $38, 3½ hours). Megabus (☎ 877-462-6342; www.megabus.com/us) stops at 200 E Washington St, and is often cheaper.

IndyGo (☎ 317-635-3344; www.indygo.net; fares $1.75) runs the local buses. Bus 17 goes to Broad Ripple. The Red Line shuttle circles the downtown sights. Service is minimal during weekends.

Amtrak (☎ 317-263-0550; www.amtrak.com) chugs into Union Station (350 S Illinois St). One train daily goes to Chicago ($19 to $24, five hours), and three trains a week go to Cincinnati ($21 to $30, 3½ hours).

For a taxi, call Yellow Cab (☎ 317-487-7777).

AROUND INDIANAPOLIS

Bluegrass music, architectural hot spots, Tibetan temples and James Dean all furrow into the farmland around here.

Fairmount

This small town, north on Hwy 9, is the birthplace of James Dean, one of the original icons of cool. Fans should head directly to the Historical Museum (☎ 765-948-4555; www.jamesdeanartifacts.com; 203 E Washington St; admission free; ⏲ 10am-5pm Mon-Sat, noon-5pm Sun, closed Dec-Feb) to see Dean's bongo drums, among other artifacts. This is also the place to pick up a free map that will guide you to sites like the farmhouse where Jimmy grew up and his red-lipstick–kissed grave site. The museum sells Dean posters, zippo lighters and other memorabilia, and sponsors the annual James Dean Festival (admission free; late Sep), when as many as 50,000 fans pour in for four days of music and rebelry. The privately owned James Dean Gallery (☎ 765-948-3326; www.jamesdeangallery.com; 425 N Main St; admission free; ⏲ 9am-6pm) has more memorabilia a few blocks away.

If James Dean was the embodiment of cool, surely his polar opposite is Dan Quayle, who resided a mere 30 miles north on Hwy 9 in Huntington. The USA's 44th vice president (you spell potato, he spells potatoe) is treated reverentially, along with the country's other second fiddles, at the Dan Quayle Center & Vice Presidential Museum (☎ 260-356-6356; www.quaylemuseum.org; 815 Warren St; adult/child 7-17yr $3/1; ⏲ 9:30am-4:30pm Mon-Fri). Indiana is called 'the mother of vice presidents' for the five veeps it has spawned.

Columbus

When you think of the USA's great architectural cities – Chicago, New York, Washington DC – Columbus, Indiana, doesn't quite leap to mind, but it should. Located 40 miles south of Indianapolis on I-65, Columbus is a remarkable gallery of physical design. Since the 1940s the city and its leading corporations have commissioned some of the world's best architects, including Eero Saarinen, Richard Meier and IM Pei, to create both public and private buildings. Stop at the visitors center (☎ 812-378-2622, 800-468-6564; www.columbus.in.us; 506 5th St; ⏲ 9am-5pm Mon-Sat, noon-4pm Sun Mar-Nov, closed Sun Dec-Feb) to pick up a self-guided tour map ($2) or join a bus tour (adult/student/child $12/7/3); tours begin at 10am Monday to Friday, 10am and 2pm Saturday, and 1pm

Sunday. Over 70 notable buildings and pieces of public art are spread over a wide area (car required), but about 15 diverse works can be seen on foot downtown. Hotel Indigo (☎ 812-375-9100; www.hotelindigo.com; 400 Brown St; r from $117-159; ❄ 📶 🏊), also downtown, offers the chain's trademark mod, cheery rooms, plus a fluffy white dog who works as the lobby ambassador (he even has his own email address).

Nashville

Gentrified and antique-filled, this 19th-century town west of Columbus on Hwy 46 is now a bustling tourist center, at its busiest in fall when leaf-peepers pour in. The visitors center (☎ 800-753-3255; www.browncounty.com; 10 N Van Buren St; ⏰ 9am-6pm Mon-Thu, to 8pm Fri & Sat, 10am-5pm Sun) provides maps and online coupons.

Beyond gallery browsing, Nashville is the jump-off point to Brown County State Park (☎ 812-988-6406; www.browncountystatepark.com; campsites $13-26, cabins from $69), a 15,700-acre stand of oak, hickory and birch trees, where trails give hikers, mountain bikers and horseback riders access to the area's green hill country.

Among several B&Bs, central Artists Colony Inn (☎ 812-988-0600, 800-737-0255; www.artistscolonyinn.com; 105 S Van Buren St; r incl breakfast $100-170; ⊠ 📶) stands out for its spiffy rooms and rooftop hot tub. The dining room (mains $8-15; ⏰ 7:30am-8pm Sun-Thu, to 9pm Fri & Sat) offers traditional Hoosier fare, such as catfish and pork tenderloins.

As with Nashville (p423), Tennessee, Nashville, Indiana, enjoys country music, and bands play regularly at several venues. To shake a leg, mosey into Mike's Music & Dance Barn (☎ 812-988-8636; www.thedancebarn; 2277 Hwy 46; ⏰ Thu-Mon). The Bill Monroe Museum (☎ 812-988-6422; 5163 Rte 135 N, Bean Blossom; adult/child under 13yr $4/free; ⏰ 9am-5pm daily May-Oct, 10am-4pm Tue-Sat Nov-Apr) hails the bluegrass hero 5 miles north of town.

Bloomington

Lively and lovely Bloomington, 53 miles south of Indianapolis via Hwy 37, is the home of Indiana University. The town centers on Courthouse Sq, surrounded by restaurants, bars, bookshops and the historic facade of Fountain Sq Mall. The super-stocked visitors center (☎ 812-334-8900; www.visitbloomington.com; 2855 N Walnut St; ⏰ 8:30am-5pm Mon-Fri, 9am-4pm Sat) is a few miles north of the town center. Nearly everything else is walkable.

On the expansive campus, the Art Museum (☎ 812-855-5445; www.indiana.edu/~iuam; 1133 E 7th St; admission free; ⏰ 10am-5pm Tue-Sat, noon-5pm Sun, reduced hours summer), designed by IM Pei, has an excellent collection of African art, as well as European and US paintings.

The colorful, prayer flag–covered Tibetan Cultural Center (☎ 812-331-0014; www.tibetancc.com; 3655 Snoddy Rd; admission free; ⏰ 10am-4pm) and stupa, as well as the Dagom Gaden Tensung Ling Monastery (☎ 812-339-0857; www.dgtlmonastery.org; 102 Clubhouse Dr; admission free; ⏰ 9am-6pm), indicate Bloomington's significant Tibetan presence. Both offer free teachings and meditation sessions; check the websites for weekly schedules.

If you arrive in mid-April and wonder why an extra 20,000 people are hanging out in town, it's for the Little 500 (☎ 812-855-1103; www.iusf.indiana.edu; tickets $25). Lance Armstrong called the bike race, where amateurs ride one-speed Schwinns for 200 laps around a quarter-mile track, 'the coolest event I ever attended.' Look for cheap lodgings along N Walnut St near Hwy 46. Grant Street Inn (☎ 800-328-4350; www.grantstinn.com; 310 N Grant St; r incl breakfast $129-189; 💻 📶) fluffs up 24 rooms in a Victorian house and annex near campus.

For a town of its size, Bloomington offers a mind-blowing array of ethnic restaurants – everything from Burmese to Eritrean to Mexican. Browse Kirkwood Ave and E 4th St. Anyetsang's Little Tibet (☎ 812-331-0122; 415 E 4th St; mains $9-11; ⏰ 11am-9:30pm, closed Tue) offers specialties from the Himalayan homeland. Pubs on Kirkwood Ave, close to the university, cater to the student crowd. Nick's English Hut (☎ 812-332-4040; 423 E Kirkwood Ave) pours not only for students and professors but also for Kurt Vonnegut, Dylan Thomas and Barack Obama.

SOUTHERN INDIANA

The pretty hills, caves, rivers and utopian history of southern Indiana mark it as a completely different region from the flat and industrialized north.

Ohio River

The Indiana segment of the 981-mile Ohio River marks the state's southern border. From tiny Aurora, in the southeastern corner of the state, Hwys 56, 156, 62 and 66, known collectively as the Ohio River Scenic Route, wind through a varied landscape.

Coming from the east, a perfect place to stop is little Madison, a well-preserved river settlement from the mid-19th century where architectural beauties beckon genteelly from the streets. At the visitors center (☎ 812-265-2956; www.visitmadison.org; 601 W First St; 🕒 9am-5pm Mon-Fri, 9am-4pm Sat, 11am-4pm Sun), pick up a walking tour brochure, which includes the James Lanier Mansion, a designated landmark overlooking the river.

Madison has motels around its edges, as well as several B&Bs; the visitors center can help with bookings. Large, wooded Clifty Falls State Park (☎ 812-273-8885; campsites $17-26), off Hwy 56 and a couple of miles west of town, has camping, hiking trails, views and waterfalls. Main St, with its numerous antique stores, also has places for a bite. Cafe Camille (☎ 812-265-5626; 149 E Main St; mains $3-7; 🕒 7am-3pm Mon-Thu, to 4pm Fri-Sun) is ideal for breakfast or lunch.

In Clarksville, Falls of the Ohio State Park (☎ 812-280-9970; www.fallsoftheohio.org; 201 W Riverside Dr) has only rapids, no falls, but is of interest for its 386-million-year-old fossil beds. The interpretive center (adult/child $4/1, plus $1 Fri-Sun; 🕒 9am-5pm Mon-Sat, 1-5pm Sun) explains it all. The rest of town and adjacent New Albany, the largest Indiana town in the region, aren't much, with one exception: Rich O's Public House/New Albanian Brewing Company (☎ 812-949-2804; 3312 Plaza Dr, New Albany; 🕒 from 3pm Mon-Thu, from 1pm Fri & Sat) and its fine suds selection.

Scenic Hwy 62 heads west and leads to the Lincoln Hills and southern Indiana's limestone caves. A plunge into Wyandotte Caves (www.wyandottecaves.com; 7315 S Wyandotte Cave Rd; 🕒 Mar-Oct), near Leavenworth, is highly recommended – though at the time of writing they were undergoing renovation and closed for tours; check the website for updates. Marengo Cave (☎ 812-365-2705, 888-702-2837; www.marengocave.com; 🕒 9am-6pm year-round), north on Hwy 66, is another standout. It offers a 40-minute tour (adult/child four to 12 years $12.75/6.75), 70-minute tour ($14.50/7.50) and combination tour ($21/11) walking past stalagmites and other ancient formations. The same group operates Cave Country Canoes (☎ 812-365-2705, 888-702-2837; www.cavecountrycanoes.com; 🕒 May-Oct) in nearby Milltown, with half-day ($22), full-day ($25) or longer trips on the scenic Blue River; keep an eye out for river otters and rare hellbender salamanders.

Four miles south of Dale, off I-64, is the Lincoln Boyhood National Memorial (☎ 812-937-4541; www.nps.gov/libo; adult/child $3/free; 🕒 8am-5pm), where young Abe lived from age seven to 21. This isolated but good site also includes admission to a working pioneer farm (🕒 8am-5pm mid-Apr–Sep). Further west, on the Ohio River, Evansville is one of the state's largest cities; its Riverside Historic District retains many early 19th-century mansions.

Wabash River

In southwest Indiana, the Wabash River forms the border with Illinois. Beside it, south of I-64, captivating New Harmony is the site of two early communal-living experiments and is worth a visit. In the early 19th century a German Christian sect, the Harmonists, developed a sophisticated town here while awaiting the Second Coming. Later it was acquired by the British utopian Robert Owen. Learn more and pick up a walking tour map at the angular Atheneum Visitors Center (☎ 812-682-4488, 800-231-2168; www.newharmony.org; cnr North & Arthur Sts; 🕒 9:30am-5pm).

Today New Harmony retains an air of contemplation, if not otherworldliness, which you can experience at its newer attractions, such as the templelike Roofless Church and the Labyrinth, a maze symbolizing the spirit's quest. The town has a couple of guesthouses and camping at Harmonie State Park (☎ 812-682-4821; campsites $17-25). Pop into Main Cafe (☎ 812-682-3370; 508 Main St; mains $4-7; 🕒 5:30am-1pm Mon-Fri) for a ham-bean-and-cornbread lunch, but save room for the coconut cream pie.

NORTHERN INDIANA

The truck-laden I-80/I-90 tollways cut across Indiana's northern section. Parallel US 20 is slower and cheaper, but not much more attractive. Classic car connoisseurs should dip south on I-69 to the town of Auburn, where the Cord Company produced the USA's favorite cars in the 1920s and '30s. The Auburn Cord Duesenberg Museum (☎ 260-925-1444; www.automobilemuseum.org; 1600 S Wayne St; adult/child $10/6; 🕒 9am-5pm) has a wonderful display of early roadsters in a beautiful art-deco setting. Next door are the vintage rigs of the National Automotive and Truck Museum (☎ 260-925-9100; www.natmus.org; 1000 Gordon Buehrig Pl; adult/child $7/4; 🕒 9am-5pm).

Amish Country

Northwest of Auburn, around Shipshewana and Middlebury, is the USA's third-largest Amish community. Horses and buggies clip clop by, and long-bearded men hand-plow the tidy fields. Get situated with maps from the Elkhart County CVB (☎ 800-517-9739; www.amishcountry.org). Better yet, simply pick a backroad and head down it. Often you'll see families selling beeswax candles, quilts and fresh produce on their porch, which beats the often-touristy shops and restaurants on the main roads.

our pick Village Inn (☎ 574-825-2043; 105 S Main St; pie $2, mains $3-7; 🕑 5am-8pm Mon-Fri, to 2pm Sat), in Middlebury, sells real-deal pies; bonneted women in pastel dresses come in at 4:30am to bake the flaky wares. It's best to arrive early. Note most places close on Sunday.

South Bend

The city of South Bend is another ex-carmaker. Stop at the Studebaker National Museum (☎ 574-235-9714; www.studebakermuseum.org; 201 S Chapin St; adult/child 7-18yr $8/5; 🕑 10am-5pm Mon-Sat, noon-5pm Sun) and take a gander at the gorgeous 1956 Packard and many other classic beauties. South Bend is better known as the home of the University of Notre Dame, which is famous for its 'Fighting Irish' football team. To tour the pretty campus with its gold-domed administration building, Lourdes Grotto Replica and Touchdown Jesus painting, start at the visitors center (☎ 574-631-5726; www.nd.edu/visitors; 111 Eck Center; 🕑 8am-5pm Mon-Fri, noon-4pm Sat & Sun). US residents especially will be interested in seeing the downtown College Football Hall of Fame (☎ 574-235-9999; www.collegefootball.org; 111 S St Joseph St; adult/child 5-12yr $12/5; 🕑 10am-5pm Mon-Thu, 9am-6pm Fri & Sat, 9am-5pm Sun Jun-Nov, 10am-5pm daily Dec-May).

Indiana Dunes

Hugely popular on summer days with sunbathers from Chicago and South Bend, Indiana Dunes National Lakeshore (☎ 219-926-7561, 800-959-9174; www.nps.gov/indu; campsites $15; 🕑 beaches 7am-sunset, park 7am-11pm) stretches along 21 miles of Lake Michigan shoreline. In addition to its beaches, the area is noted for its plant variety: everything from cactus to pine trees sprouts here. Hiking trails crisscross the dunes and woodlands, winding by a peat bog, a still-operating 1870s farm and a blue heron rookery, among other payoffs. Mt Baldy is the top dune to climb. Oddly, all this natural bounty lies smack-dab next to smoke-belching factories, which you'll also see at various vantage points. Stop at the Dorothy Buell Visitor Center (☎ 219-926-7561, 800-959-9174; Hwy 49; 🕑 8:30am-6:30pm Jun-Aug, to 4:30 Sep-May) for beach details, a schedule of ranger-guided walks and activities, and to pick up hiking, biking and birding maps. Or contact the Porter County Convention & Visitors Bureau (☎ 800-283-8687; www.indianadunes.com) to order the guides ahead of time.

Indiana Dunes State Park (☎ 219-926-1952; www.dnr.in.gov/parklake; per walk-in/car $2/10, campsites $17-28; 🕑 beaches 9am-sunset, park 7am-11pm) is a 2100-acre, shoreside pocket within the national lakeshore; it's located at the end of Hwy 49, near Chesterton. It has more amenities, but it's also more regulated and crowded – and charges an entry fee. Wintertime brings out the cross-country skiers; summertime brings out the hikers. Seven trails zigzag over the landscape; No 4 up Mt Tom rewards with Chicago skyline views.

It's easy to reach the Dunes from Chicago. Driving takes one hour. The South Shore Metra train (see p586) departs from Randolph St/Millennium Park station downtown, and it's about 1¼ hours to the Dune Park or Beverly Shores stops (note both stations are a 1½-mile walk from the beach).

Other than a couple of beachfront snack bars, you won't find much to eat in the parks, so stop at homey, Italian Lucrezia (☎ 219-926-5829; 428 S Calumet Rd; mains $17-27; 🕑 11am-10pm Sun-Thu, to 11pm Fri & Sat) in Chesterton or the sophisticated foodie favorite Miller Bakery Cafe (☎ 219-938-2229; 555 Lake St; lunch $11-16, dinner mains $18-29; 🕑 11:30am-2pm Tue-Fri, 5-9pm Tue-Thu, to 10pm Fri & Sat, 4-8pm Sun) in Miller Beach.

Near Illinois, the steel cities of Gary and East Chicago present some of the bleakest urban landscapes anywhere. Taking the train (Amtrak or South Shore line) through here will get you up close and personal with the industrial underbelly.

OHIO

All right, time for your Ohio quiz. In the Buckeye State you can 1) watch butter churn on an Amish farm; 2) party your ass off at an island resort; 3) lose your stomach on one of the world's fastest roller coasters; 4) rock climb among streams and caves; 5) suck down a dreamy creamy milk shake fresh from a working dairy; or 6) examine a mondo, mysterious snake built into the earth.

OHIO FACTS

Nickname Buckeye State
Population 11.5 million
Area 44,825 sq miles
Capital city Columbus (population 747,755)
Other cities Cleveland (population 444,313), Cincinnati (population 332,252)
Sales tax 5.5%
Birthplace of Inventor Thomas Edison (1847–1931), author Toni Morrison (b 1931), entrepreneur Ted Turner (b 1938), filmmaker Steven Spielberg (b 1947)
Home of Cows, roller coasters, aviation pioneers Wright Brothers
Famous for First airplane, first pro baseball team, deciding the outcome of presidential elections
State rock song 'Hang On Sloopy'
Driving distances Cleveland to Columbus 142 miles, Columbus to Cincinnati 108 miles

And the answer is…all of these. It hurts locals' feelings when visitors think the only thing to do here is tip over cows. C'mon, give Ohio a chance. Besides these activities, you can partake in a five-way in Cincinnati and rock out in Cleveland.

Information

Ohio Division of Travel and Tourism (☎ 800-282-5393; www.discoverohio.com)
Ohio highway conditions (www.buckeyetraffic.org)
Ohio state park information (☎ 614-265-6561; www.ohiodnr.com/parks) State parks are free to visit; some have free wi-fi. Campsites cost $18 to $35; reservations accepted (☎ 866-644-6727; www.ohio.reserveworld.com; fee $8.25).

CLEVELAND

Does it or does it not rock? That is the question. Drawing from its roots as a working man's town, Cleveland has toiled hard in recent years to prove it does. Step one was to control the urban decay/river-on-fire thing – the Cuyahoga River was once so polluted that it actually burned. Check. Step two was to bring a worthy attraction to town, say the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame. Check. Step three was to get grub beyond steak-and-potatoes. Check. So can Cleveland finally wipe the sweat from its brow? Check.

History

Surveyed in 1796, Cleveland boomed after the Civil War by using iron from the upper Great Lakes and coal transported along the Cuyahoga River to become one of the USA's top steel producers. Later, industrial wealth (think Rockefeller) bankrolled cultural aspirations, and the city still surprises with its world-class museums and performing arts.

Like neighboring Detroit, Cleveland has had its share of urban blight and industrial woes over the years. The recent global economic crisis hit it hard, and one out of every 13 houses stood vacant at the time of writing.

Orientation & Information

Cleveland's center is Public Sq, dominated by the conspicuous Terminal Tower. Ontario St is the east–west dividing line.

Most of Cleveland's attractions are downtown or at University Circle (the area around Case Western Reserve University, Cleveland Clinic and other institutions). Ohio City and Tremont, near downtown, are good neighborhoods for eating and drinking, as are Little Italy and Coventry, near the university.

Information

BOOKSTORES

Mac's (☎ 216-321-2665; 1820 Coventry Rd, Coventry; 🕘 10am-9pm Mon-Thu, to 10pm Fri & Sat, 11am-8pm Sun) Attached to Tommy's (p601).

EMERGENCY & MEDICAL SERVICES

MetroHealth Medical Center (☎ 216-778-7800; 2500 MetroHealth Dr)
Rape crisis (☎ 216-619-6192)

INTERNET ACCESS

Many of Cleveland's public places have free wi-fi, such as Public Sq and University Circle.

INTERNET RESOURCES & MEDIA

Tune into WCPN-FM 90.3 for NPR, or WNCX-FM 98.5 for rock.

Gay People's Chronicle (www.gaypeopleschronicle.com) A weekly publication with entertainment listings, distributed free throughout town.
Plain Dealer (www.cleveland.com) The city's daily newspaper, with a good Friday entertainment section.
Scene (www.clevescene.com) A weekly entertainment paper; out on Wednesday.

TOURIST INFORMATION

The Cleveland CVB (☎ 800-321-1001; www.positivelycleveland.com) operates a visitors center in the Higbee Building (☎ 216-875-6680; 100 Public Sq, Suite 100; 🕓 9am-5pm Mon-Fri, plus 10am-3pm Sat & Sun Jun-Aug).

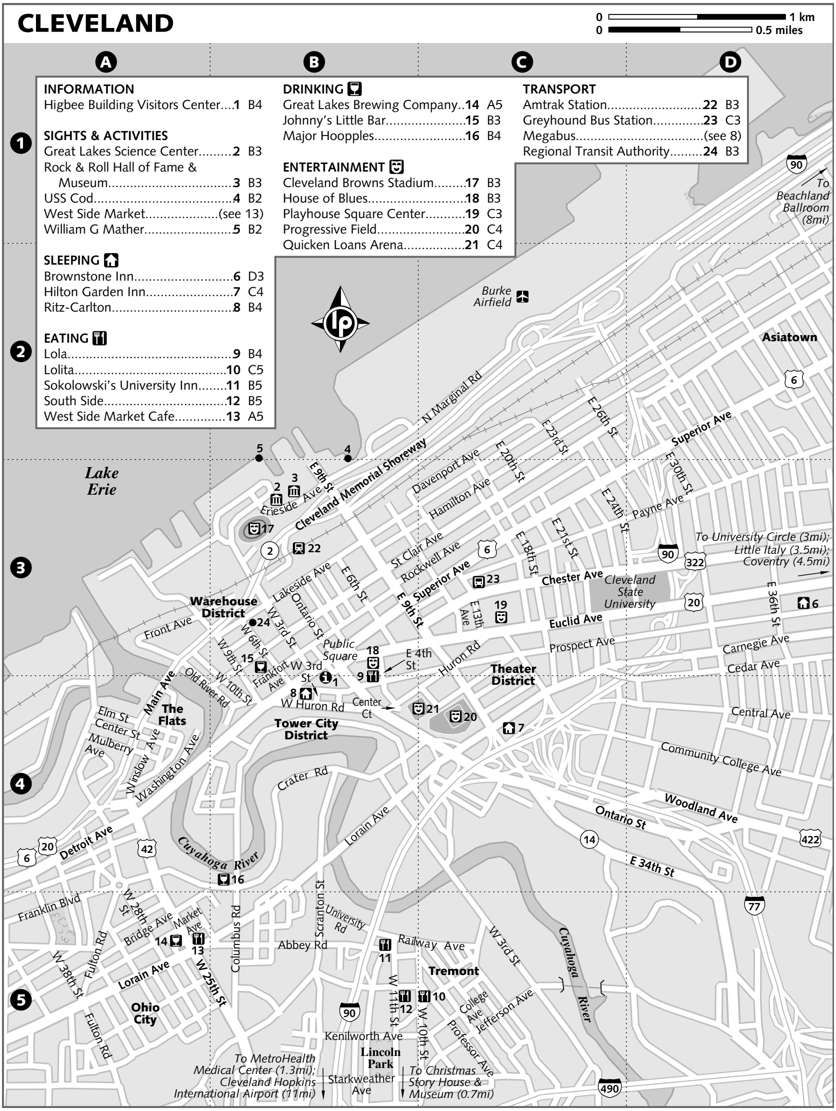
Sights & Activities

There's not a ton to do sight-wise; the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame and art museum are the big attractions.

DOWNTOWN

Cleveland's top attraction, the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame & Museum (☎ 216-781-7625, 888-764-7625; www.rockhall.com; 1 Key Plaza; adult/child 9-12yr $22/13; 🕓 10am-5:30pm, to 9pm Wed year-round, to 9pm Sat Jun-Aug) is more than a collection of memorabilia, though it does have Jimi Hendrix' Stratocaster, Janis Joplin's psychedelic Porsche and Ray

CLEVELAND



0 1 km
0 0.5 miles
A
B
C
D
1
2
3
4
5
Lake Erie
Burke Airfield
Asiatown
N Marginal Rd
Cleveland Memorial Shoreway
Erieside Ave
E 9th St
Davenport Ave
Hamilton Ave
E 20th St
E 23rd St
E 26th St
Superior Ave
E 30th St
Payne Ave
E 24th St
E 21st St
E 18th St
St Clair Ave
Rockwell Ave
Chester Ave
Cleveland State University
To University Circle (3mi); Little Italy (3.5mi); Coventry (4.5mi)
To Beachland Ballroom (8mi)
E 36th St
Euclid Ave
Prospect Ave
Carnegie Ave
Cedar Ave
Central Ave
Community College Ave
Woodland Ave
Ontario St
E 34th St
Warehouse District
Front Ave
Lakeside Ave
Ontario St
E 6th St
W 3rd St
W 6th St
W 9th St
W 10th St
Frankfort Ave
Public Square
W 3rd St
E 4th St
E 13th Ave
Huron Rd Theater District
W Huron Rd
Center Ct
Tower City District
Old River Rd
Main Ave
The Flats
Elm St
Center St
Mulberry Ave
Winslow Ave
Washington Ave
Crater Rd
Lorain Ave
Detroit Ave
Cuyahoga River
Franklin Blvd
W 28th St
Bridge Ave
Market Ave
W 25th St
Columbus Rd
Scranton Rd University Rd
Abbey Rd
Railway Ave
Tremont
W 3rd St
W 38th St
Fulton Rd
Lorain Ave
Ohio City
W 11th St
W 10th St
College Ave
Professor Ave
Jefferson Ave
Kenilworth Ave
Lincoln Park
Starkweather Ave
To MetroHealth Medical Center (1.3mi); Cleveland Hopkins International Airport (11mi)
To Christmas Story House & Museum (0.7mi)
90
6
2
322 20 14
422
77
42
490

INFORMATION
Higbee Building Visitors Center	1	B4

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES
Great Lakes Science Center	2	B3
Rock & Roll Hall of Fame & Museum	3	B3
USS Cod	4	B2
West Side Market	(see 13)
William G Mather	5	B2

SLEEPING
Brownstone Inn	6	D3
Hilton Garden Inn	7	C4
Ritz-Carlton	8	B4

EATING
Lola	9	B4
Lolita	10	C5
Sokolowski's University Inn	11	B5
South Side	12	B5
West Side Market Cafe	13	A5

DRINKING
Great Lakes Brewing Company	14	A5
Johnny's Little Bar	15	B3
Major Hoopples	16	B4

ENTERTAINMENT
Cleveland Browns Stadium	17	B3
House of Blues	18	B3
Playhouse Square Center	19	C3
Progressive Field	20	C4
Quicken Loans Arena	21	C4

TRANSPORT
Amtrak Station	22	B3
Greyhound Bus Station	23	C3
Megabus	(see 8)
Regional Transit Authority	24	B3

Charles' sunglasses. Interactive multimedia exhibits trace the history and social context of rock music and the performers who created it. Why is the museum in Cleveland? Because this is the hometown of Alan Freed, the disk jockey who popularized the term 'rock 'n' roll' in the early 1950s, and because the city lobbied hard and paid big. Be prepared for crowds.

The Great Lakes Science Center (☎ 216-694-2000; www.glsc.org; 601 Erieside Ave; adult/child 2-17yr $9.50/7.50; 🕑 10am-5pm; 👪), next to the Rock Hall, gives a good account of the lakes' environmental problems. The wind turbine and solar panels out front provide 6% of the museum's energy. The center also sells tickets for the William G Mather (☎ 216-574-6262; http://wgmather.nhlink.net; 305 Mather Way; adult/child 5-17yr $6/4; 🕑 10am-5pm daily Jun-Aug, Fri-Sun only May, Sep & Oct, closed Nov-Apr), a freighter incarnated as a steamship museum. Berthed nearby on the waterfront (though not affiliated) is the storied submarine USS Cod (☎ 216-566-8770; www.usscod.org; 1089 E 9th St; adult/child 6-18yr $7/4; 🕑 10am-4:30pm May-Sep), which saw action in WWII.

OHIO CITY & TREMONT

Remember the beloved 1983 film A Christmas Story, in which Ralphie yearns for a Red Ryder BB gun? The original Christmas Story House & Museum (☎ 216-298-4919; www.achristmasstoryhouse.com; 3159 W 11th St; adult/child 7-12yr $7.50/5.50; 🕑 10am-5pm Thu-Sat, noon-5pm Sun) sits in Tremont, complete with leg lamp. This attraction's for true fans only.

Nearby the European-style West Side Market (www.westsidemarket.org; cnr W 25th St & Lorain Ave; 🕑 7am-4pm Mon & Wed, to 6pm Fri & Sat) overflows with greengrocers and their fruit and vegetable pyramids, as well as purveyors of Hungarian sausage, Mexican flat breads and Polish pierogies.

UNIVERSITY CIRCLE

Several attractions cluster in University Circle (the area around Case Western Reserve University, Cleveland Clinic and other institutions) 5 miles east of downtown.

The star of the lot is the Cleveland Museum of Art (☎ 216-421-7340; www.clevelandart.org; 11150 East Blvd; admission free; 🕑 10am-5pm Tue-Sun, to 9pm Wed & Fri), which houses an excellent collection of European paintings, as well as African, Asian and American art. It's undergoing a whopping expansion, to be completed in 2012, that will increase gallery space by more than 40%.

The lovely Cleveland Botanical Garden (☎ 216-721-1600; www.cbgarden.org; 11030 East Blvd; adult/child 3-12yr $7.50/3; 🕑 10am-5pm Tue-Sat, noon-5pm Sun, to 9pm Wed Jun-Aug) has a Costa Rican cloud forest and Madagascan desert exhibits. An ice-skating rink opens nearby in winter; skate rentals cost $3. Parking costs $5 to $10 per day and gives access to all the museums here.

Beyond the circle further east, don't forget eclectic Lake View Cemetery (☎ 216-421-2665; www.lakeviewcemetery.com; 12316 Euclid Ave; admission free; 🕑 7am-5:30pm), the 'outdoor museum' where President Garfield and John Rockefeller rest.

Sleeping

Prices listed are for summer, which is high season, and do not include the 15.25% tax. Modest motels are southwest of Cleveland's center, near the airport. The W 150th exit off I-71 (exit 240) has several options for under $100.

Brownstone Inn (☎ 216-426-1753; www.brownstoneinndowntown.com; 3649 Prospect Ave; r incl breakfast $89-139; Ⓟ ❄ 💻 📶) This Victorian townhouse B&B has a whole lotta personality. All five rooms have a private bath, and each comes equipped with robes to lounge in and an invitation for evening aperitifs. It's between downtown and University Circle, though in a bit of a no-man's-land for walkable entertainment.

University Circle B&B (☎ 866-735-5960; www.ucbnb.com; 1575 E 108th St; r incl breakfast $110-145; Ⓟ ❄ 📶) Located in the heart of University Circle and within walking distance of its museums, this four-room B&B gets lots of academic visitors. Two rooms share a bath.

our pick Hilton Garden Inn (☎ 216-658-6400, 877-782-9444; www.hiltongardeninn.com; 1100 Carnegie Ave; r $110-169; Ⓟ ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) While nothing fancy, the Hilton's rooms are good value with comfy beds, wi-fi-rigged workstations and mini refrigerators. It's right by the baseball park. Parking costs $16.

Ritz-Carlton (☎ 216-623-1300; www.ritzcarlton.com; 1515 W 3rd St; r from $229; Ⓟ ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) What the heck? Stay where the rock stars stay and enjoy the perks, like marble baths, free shoe shines and a 24-hour fitness and massage center. Wi-fi costs $9.95 per day, and parking is $24.

Eating

There's more range than you might expect in a Rust Belt town. Celebrity chef Anthony Bourdain (the guy who travels the world eating snake blood and whatnot) even filmed a 'No Reservations' episode here.

DOWNTOWN

The Warehouse District, between W 6th and W 9th Sts, jumps with trendy restaurants. Off the beaten path and east of the city center, Asiatown (bounded by Payne and St Clair Aves, and E 30th and 40ths Sts) has several Chinese, Vietnamese and Korean eateries.

Lola (☎ 216-621-5652; 2058 E 4th St; lunch mains $9-19, dinner mains $18-29; 🕒 11:30am-2:30pm Mon-Fri, 5-10pm Mon-Thu, to 11pm Fri & Sat) Famous for his piercings, Food Channel TV appearances and multiple national awards, local boy Michael Symon has put Cleveland on the foodie map with Lola. The lunch dishes are the most fun, say coconut-and-lime-tinged scallop ceviche or the showstopper – an egg-and-cheese-topped fried bologna sandwich.

OHIO CITY & TREMONT

Ohio City and Tremont, which straddle I-90 south of downtown, are areas with lots of new establishments popping up.

West Side Market Cafe (☎ 216-579-6800; 1995 W 25th St; mains $6-9; 🕒 7am-4pm Mon-Thu, to 9pm Fri & Sat, 9am-3pm Sun) This is a smart stop if you're craving well-made breakfast and lunch fare, and cheap fish and chicken mains. The café is inside West Side Market itself, which overflows with fresh produce and prepared foods that are handy for picnicking or road-tripping.

Sokolowski's University Inn (☎ 216-771-9236; 1201 University Rd; mains $6-14; 🕒 11am-3pm Mon-Fri, 5-9pm Fri, 4-9pm Sat) The portions are huge, enough to fuel the hungriest steelworker. It's cafeteria style, so grab a tray and fill it with plump pierogi, cabbage rolls and other rib-sticking Polish fare.

our pick South Side (☎ 216-937-2288; 2207 W 11 St; sandwiches $9-11, mains $14-19; 🕒 11am-2am; 📶) Local athletes, blue-collar electricians and everyone in between pile into this sleek Tremont establishment to drink at the winding granite bar. They come for the food too, like the grouper sandwich, veggie reuben, Kobe burger and chicken and waffles (brunch only).

Lolita (☎ 216-771-5652; 900 Literary Rd; mains $9-17; 🕒 5-11pm Tue-Thu, to 1am Fri & Sat, 4-9pm Sun) It's the lighter-fare sister of Lola (above). Munch on Iowa prosciutto, mussels and Neapolitan-style pizzas with cold local beer. Five-dollar food specials rock happy hour (5pm to 6:30pm, and after 9:30pm or so).

LITTLE ITALY & COVENTRY

These two neighborhoods make prime stops for refueling after hanging out in University Circle. Little Italy is closest: it's along Mayfield Rd, near Lake View Cemetery (look out for the Rte 322 sign). Alternatively, relaxed Coventry Village is a bit further east off Mayfield Rd.

Presti's Bakery (☎ 216-421-3060; 12101 Mayfield Rd; items $2-5; 🕒 6am-9pm Mon-Thu, to 10pm Fri & Sat, to 6pm Sun) Try Presti's for its popular sandwiches, stromboli and divine pastries.

Tommy's (☎ 216-321-7757; 1823 Coventry Rd; mains $5-9; 🕒 9am-9pm Sun-Thu, to 10pm Fri, 7:30am-10pm Sat) This is a neighborhood standout, with a broad, veggie-heavy menu; don't miss the Mary Lynn spinach pie.

Drinking

The downtown action centers on the Warehouse District (around W 6th St), and around E 4th St's entertainment venues. Tremont is also chockablock with chic bars. Most places stay open until 1am; some to 2:30am.

Major Hoopples (☎ 216-575-0483; 1930 Columbus Rd; 🕒 closed Sun) Look over the bar for Cleveland's best skyline view from this friendly, eclectic watering hole. There's free live music some nights.

Great Lakes Brewing Company (☎ 216-771-4404; 2516 Market Ave; 🕒 closed Sun) Great Lakes wins numerous prizes for its brewed-on-the-premises beers. Added historical bonus: Eliott Ness got into a shootout with criminals here; ask the bartender to show you the bullet holes.

Johnny's Little Bar (☎ 216-861-2166; 614 Frankfort Ave) One of the Warehouse District's more casual, compact offerings. The hard-to-find entrance is on Frankfort Ave, a side street.

Entertainment

LIVE MUSIC

Check Scene and Friday's Plain Dealer for listings.

House of Blues (☎ 216-523-2583; www.hob.com; 308 Euclid Ave) The chain brings in medium- and top-tier bands.

Beachland Ballroom (☎ 216-383-1124; www.beachlandballroom.com; 15711 Waterloo Rd) Hip young bands play at this venue east of downtown.

Grog Shop (☎ 216-321-5588; www.grogshop.gs; 2785 Euclid Hts Blvd) Up-and-coming rockers thrash at this longtime Coventry music house.

THEATER & CULTURE

Playhouse Square Center (☎ 216-771-4444; www.playhousesquare.com; 1501 Euclid Ave) This elegant center hosts theater, opera and ballet. Check the website for $10 'Smart Seats.'

Severance Hall (☎ 216-231-1111; www.clevelandorch.com; 11001 Euclid Ave) Near University Circle, Severance Hall is where the acclaimed Cleveland Symphony Orchestra holds its season (August to May). The orchestra's summer home is Blossom Music Center in Cuyahoga Valley National Park, about 22 miles south.

SPORTS

Cleveland is a serious jock town with three modern downtown venues.

Progressive Field (☎ 866-488-7423; www.indians.com; 2401 Ontario St) Pro baseball's Indians (aka 'the Tribe') hit here. Great sightlines and a fun atmosphere make it a top park to see a game.

Quicken Loans Arena (☎ 800-820-2287; www.nba.com/cavaliers; 1 Center Ct) The Cavaliers play basketball at 'the Q,' which doubles as an entertainment venue.

Cleveland Browns Stadium (☎ 440-891-5000; www.clevelandbrowns.com; 1085 W 3rd St) The NFL's Browns pass the football on the lakefront.

Getting There & Around

Eleven miles southwest of downtown, Cleveland Hopkins International Airport (CLE; ☎ 216-265-6030; www.clevelandairport.com; 5300 Riverside Dr) is linked by the Regional Transit Authority (RTA) Red Line train ($2). A cab to downtown costs about $29.

From downtown, Greyhound (☎ 216-781-0520; 1465 Chester Ave) offers frequent departures to Chicago ($34 to $53, 7½ hours) and New York ($59 to $72, 13 hours). Megabus (☎ 877-462-6342; www.megabus.com/us) also goes to Chicago, often for lower fares; it departs from the corner of W 3rd St and W Huron Rd.

The Regional Transit Authority (RTA; ☎ 216-621-9500; www.riderta.com; 1240 W 6th St) operates the Red Line train that goes to both the airport and Ohio City. It also runs the HealthLine bus that motors along Euclid Ave from downtown to University Circle's museums. Fares are $2; day passes are $4.50.

Amtrak (☎ 216-696-5115; 200 Cleveland Memorial Shoreway) runs once daily to Chicago ($49 to $96, seven hours) and New York City ($67 to $126, 13 hours).

For cab service, call Americab (☎ 216-429-1111).

AROUND CLEVELAND

Thirty miles south of Cleveland, Akron was a small village until Dr BF Goodrich established the first rubber factory in 1869. Akron became the 'rubber capital,' and it still produces more than half the country's tires.

Further south in Canton, the birthplace of the NFL, the popular Pro Football Hall of Fame (☎ 330-456-8207; www.profootballhof.com; 2121 George Halas Dr; adult/child 6-14yr $18/12; 🕒 9am-8pm Jun-Aug, 9am-5pm rest of year) is a shrine for the gridiron-obsessed. Look for the football-shaped tower off I-77.

West of Cleveland, attractive Oberlin is an old-fashioned college town, with noteworthy architecture by Cass Gilbert, Frank Lloyd Wright and Robert Venturi. Further west, just south of I-90, the tiny town of Milan is the birthplace of Thomas Edison. His home, restored to its 1847 likeness, is now a small museum (☎ 419-499-2135; www.tomedison.org; 9 Edison Dr; adult/child 6-12yr $7/4; 🕒 1-4pm Wed-Sun winter, extended hours Tue-Sun summer, closed Jan) outlining his inventions, like the light bulb and phonograph.

Still further west, on US 20 and surrounded by farmland, is Clyde, which bills itself as the USA's most famous small town. It got that way when native son Sherwood Anderson published Winesburg, Ohio in 1919. It didn't take long for the unimpressed residents to figure out where the fictitious town really was. Stop at the Clyde Museum (☎ 419-547-7946; www.clydeheritageleague.org; 124 W Buckeye St; admission free; 🕒 1-4pm Thu Apr-Sep & by appointment) in the old church for Anderson tidbits or at the library, a few doors down.

ERIE LAKESHORE & ISLANDS

In summer this good-time resort area is one of the busiest – and most expensive – places in Ohio. The season lasts from mid-May to mid-September, and then just about everything shuts down. Pre-book your accommodations.

Sandusky, long a port, now serves as the jump-off point to the Erie Islands and the world's roller-coaster capital (see boxed text, p604). The visitors center (☎ 419-625-2984; www.shoresandislands.com; 4424 Milan Rd; 🕒 8:30am-5:30pm Mon-Fri, plus evenings & weekends in summer) provides lodging and ferry information. Scads of chain motels line the roads heading into town.

New Sandusky Fish Company (☎ 419-621-8263; 235 E Shoreline Dr; items $4-6; 🕒 11am-7pm Mon-Thu, to 8pm Fri-Sun) makes waiting for the ferry easier. It fries up lightly breaded local lake perch and clams just east of the dock.

WORTH THE VISIT: CHILLIN' WITH ICE WINE

Hey, if the guys across the border in Canada can do it, so can Ohio. Ten state wineries, most along Lake Erie, began making ice wine a few years ago, and they're reaping big praise. The local weather – long autumns, followed by winters cold enough to freeze the grapes but not so cold that the vines die – results in a sweet dessert wine with hints of melon and apricot. Tour and try samples at Debonne Vineyards (☎ 440-466-3485; www.debonne.com; 7743 Doty Rd; 8-sample tasting $6; 🕐 noon-6pm Tue, to 11pm Wed & Fri, to 8pm Thu & Sat year-round, 1-6pm Sun Apr-Oct) in Madison, east of Cleveland.

Bass Islands

In the war of 1812's Battle of Lake Erie, Admiral Perry met the enemy English fleet near South Bass Island. His victory ensured that all the lands south of the Great Lakes became US, not Canadian, territory. While that's nice, history is all but forgotten on a summer weekend in packed Put In Bay, the island's main town and a party place full of restaurants and shops. Move beyond it, and you'll find a winery and opportunities for camping, fishing, kayaking and swimming. A singular attraction is the 352ft Doric column commemorating Perry's victory in the Battle of Lake Erie – you can climb up to the observation deck ($3) for views of the battle site and, on a good day, Canada.

The Chamber of Commerce (☎ 419-285-2832; www.visitputinbay.com; 148 Delaware Ave; 🕐 10am-4pm Mon-Fri, to 5pm Sat & Sun) has information on activities and lodging, which starts at $90 in summer. Ashley's Island House (☎ 419-285-2844; www.ashleysislandhouse.com; 557 Catawba Ave; r incl breakfast $90-165, weekend $120-175; ❄) is a 13-room B&B, where naval officers stayed in the late 1800s. The Beer Barrel Saloon (☎ 419-285-2337; Delaware Ave; 🕐 11am-1am) has plenty of space for imbibing – its bar is 406ft long.

Cabs and tour buses serve the island, though cycling is a fine way to get around. Jet Express (☎ 800-245-1538; www.jet-express.com) leaves Port Clinton on the mainland for Put In Bay (round-trip adult/child six to 12 years $28/4, no cars), and also departs from Sandusky ($36/10, no cars); leave your car in the lot (per day $10). Miller Boatline (☎ 800-500-2421; www.millerferry.com) from Catawba is cheapest (round-trip adult/child six to 11 years $13/3, car $30).

Middle Bass Island, a good day trip by ferry from South Bass, offers nature and quiet; Miller Boatline will get you there.

Kelleys Island

Quiet and green, Kelleys Island is a popular weekend escape, especially for families. It has pretty 19th-century buildings, Native American pictographs, a good beach and glacial grooves raked through its landscape. Even its old limestone quarries are scenic.

The Chamber of Commerce (☎ 419-746-2360; www.kelleysislandchamber.com; Seaway Marina Bldg; 🕐 10am-4pm, closed Wed), by the ferry dock, has information on accommodations and activities – hiking, camping, kayaking and fishing are popular. The Village, the island's small commercial center, has places to eat, drink, shop and rent bicycles – the recommended way to sightsee.

Kelleys Island Ferry Boat Line (☎ 419-798-9763; www.kelleysislandferry.com) departs frequently from the Marblehead dock (round-trip adult/child five to 11 years $18/12, car $30). The crossing takes about 20 minutes and leaves hourly (more frequently in summer). Jet Express (☎ 800-245-1538; www.jet-express.com) departs from Sandusky (round-trip adult/child six to 12 years $28/8, no cars) and also goes onward to Put In Bay on South Bass Island (island-hopping round-trip $40/12, no cars).

Pelee Island

Pelee, the largest Erie island, is a ridiculously green, quiet wine-producing and bird-watching destination that belongs to Canada. Pelee Island Transportation (☎ 800-661-2220; www.ontarioferries.com) runs a ferry (one way adult/child six to 12 years $13.75/6.75, car $30) from Sandusky to Pelee and onward to Ontario's mainland. Check www.pelee.org for lodging and trip planning information.

AMISH COUNTRY

The Amish have resisted modernity for centuries, and visiting here is like entering a time warp. Wayne and Holmes counties, between Cleveland and Columbus (immediately east of I-71), have the USA's densest Amish concentration, followed by areas in Pennsylvania and Indiana.

DON'T MISS

For the world's greatest concentration of roller-coasters, head to Cedar Point Amusement Park (☎ 419-627-2350; www.cedarpoint.com; adult/child $44/20; ⏰ from 10am mid-May–Aug, closing times vary, Fri-Sun evenings only Sep-Oct), 6 miles from Sandusky. The Top Thrill Dragster drops 420ft high and whips around at 120mph (one of the world's tallest and fastest), while the Maverick drops at a 95° angle (that's steeper than straight down) and rolls over eight hills, causing riders to feel weightless. If those and the 15 other coasters aren't enough, the surrounding area has a nice beach, a water park and a slew of tacky, old-fashioned attractions. Parking is $10.

Descendants of conservative Dutch–Swiss religious factions who migrated to the USA during the 18th century, the Amish continue to follow the ordnung (way of life), in varying degrees. Many adhere to rules prohibiting the use of electricity, telephones and motorized vehicles. They wear traditional clothing, farm the land with plow and mule, and go to church in horse-drawn buggies. Others are not so strict.

Unfortunately, what would surely be a peaceful country scene is often disturbed by behemoth tour buses. Many Amish are happy to profit from this influx of outside dollars, but don't equate this with free photographic access – the Amish typically view photographs as taboo. Drive carefully as roads are narrow and curvy, and there's always the chance of pulling up on a slow-moving buggy just around the bend. Many places are closed Sunday.

Contact the Holmes County Chamber of Commerce (☎ 877-643-8824; www.visitamishcountry.com) for information and maps online or via snail mail.

Kidron, on Rte 52 just north of US 250, is worth a stop on Thursday, when the Kidron Auction takes place at the livestock barn. Hundreds of buggies line up along the roadside, and an interesting flea market rings the barn. Across the street, Lehman's Store (☎ 888-438-5346; ⏰ 8am-5:30pm Mon-Sat) is an absolute must-see. It's the Amish community's main purveyor of modern-looking products that use no electricity. Ogle the wind-up flashlights and nonelectric waffle irons, and then take a pie break at the café inside.

To the south, on Hwy 39 between Walnut Creek and Sugarcreek, check out the Amish Flea Market (☎ 330-852-0181; ⏰ 9am-5pm Thu-Sat), where you can find new or used knickknacks, crafts, quilts, produce, antiques and delicious baked goods. Just north of Walnut Creek, along Hwy 515, Yoder's (☎ 330-893-2541; ⏰ 10am-5pm Mon-Sat mid-Apr–Oct) is an Amish farm that's open to visitors. Tours (adult/child $11/7) include a buggy ride.

Nearby, US 62 connects Berlin and Millersburg, the area's side-by-side 'big' towns. The historic Hotel Millersburg (☎ 330-674-1457; www.hotelmillersburg.com; 35 W Jackson St; r $65-95; ❄ 📶) has basic, reasonably priced rooms, as well as a modern tavern and dining room on the ground floor. Atmospheric Boyd & Wurthmann Restaurant (☎ 330-893-3287; Main St; mains $7-13; ⏰ 5:30am-8pm Mon-Sat) in Berlin serves home-style cooking that attracts locals and tourists alike. Amish specialties, like ham loaf and wedding steak (ground meat in mushroom sauce), join familiar American fare on the menu.

To get further off the beaten path, take Rte 557 through the countryside to wee Charm, 4 miles south of Berlin. The peaceful Guggisberg Swiss Inn (☎ 877-467-9477; www.guggisbergswissinn.com; r incl breakfast $75-110; ❄ 📶) has a cheese-making facility and horses on the grounds.

COLUMBUS

Columbus is like the blind date your mom arranges – average looking, restrained personality, but solid and affable. Better yet, she's easy on the wallet, an influence from Ohio State University's 50,000-plus students (the uni is the nation's largest).

There's a visitors center (☎ 866-397-2657; www.experiencecolumbus.com; 277 W Nationwide Blvd; ⏰ 8am-5pm Mon-Fri) in the Arena District.

The Columbus Dispatch (www.dispatch.com) is the city's daily newspaper. The free, weekly Alive (www.columbusalive.com) has entertainment listings. Outlook (www.outlookmedia.com) is a monthly gay and lesbian publication.

Sights & Activities

The remarkably large, all-brick German Village, a half mile south of downtown, is a restored 19th-century neighborhood with cobbled streets and Italianate and Queen Anne architecture. The German Village Society (☎ 614-221-8888; www.germanvillage.com; 588 S 3rd St; 🕐 9am-4pm Mon-Fri, 10am-2pm Sat) has self-guided walking-tour information. Just north of downtown, the browse-worthy Short North is a redeveloped strip of High St that holds contemporary art galleries, restaurants and jazz bars.

North of downtown, the university area has many casual storefronts. The campus's Wexner Center for the Arts (☎ 614-292-3535; www.wexarts.org; cnr 15th & N High Sts; gallery admission $5; 🕐 11am-6pm Tue, Wed & Sun, to 8pm Thu-Sat) offers cutting-edge art exhibits, films and performances.

Sleeping & Eating

Add 16.75% tax to hotel rates. German Village and the Short North provide fertile grazing and guzzling grounds. The Arena District (the area around the Nationwide Arena hockey stadium) bursts with midrange chains and brewpubs. Around the university and along N High St from 15th Ave onward, you'll find everything from Mexican to Ethiopian to sushi, plus quality coffee shops.

Red Roof Inn (☎ 614-224-6539; 111 E Nationwide Blvd; r incl breakfast $85-129; Ⓟ ❄ 📶) Located in the Arena District, it's one of the classiest-looking Red Roofs you'll ever see. Parking is $10.

Short North B&B (☎ 614-299-5050, 800-516-9664; www.columbus-bed-breakfast.com; 50 E Lincoln St; r incl breakfast $129-149; Ⓟ ❄ 📶) These seven well-maintained rooms are steps away from the eponymous neighborhood's scene.

Blue Danube (☎ 614-261-9308; 2439 N High St; mains $5-9; 🕐 11am-1am) The D'ube's neon-lit booths (and cheap beer) endure as a campus favorite. Meals are late-night booze-absorbers, like gravy-smothered fries and gyros.

Schmidt's (☎ 614-444-6808; 240 E Kossuth St; mains $8-15; 🕐 11am-10pm Tue-Thu, to 11pm Fri & Sat, to 9pm Sun & Mon) In German Village, shovel in Old Country staples like sausage and schnitzel, but save room for the whopping half-pound cream puffs. Oompah bands play Wednesday to Saturday.

Drinking & Entertainment

The Ohio State Buckeyes football team packs a rabid crowd into legendary, horseshoe-shaped Ohio Stadium (☎ 800-462-8257; www.ohiostatebuckeyes.com; 411 Woody Hayes Dr) for its games, held on Saturdays in the fall. The National Hockey League's Columbus Blue Jackets slap the puck at downtown's Nationwide Arena (☎ 614-246-2000; www.bluejackets.com; 200 W Nationwide Blvd). The popular Columbus Crew pro soccer team plays in Crew Stadium (☎ 614-447-2739; www.thecrew.com), which is north off I-71 and 17th Ave, from March to October.

Getting There & Around

The Port Columbus Airport (CMH; ☎ 614-239-4000; www.port-columbus.com) is 10 miles east of town. A cab to downtown costs about $25.

Greyhound (☎ 614-221-4642; www.greyhound.com; 111 E Town St) buses run at least six times daily to Cincinnati ($15 to $24, two hours) and Cleveland ($18 to $30, 2½ hours). Often cheaper, Megabus (☎ 877-462-6342; www.megabus.com/us) runs once daily to Cincinnati and twice daily to Chicago. Check the website for exact locations.

SOUTHEASTERN OHIO

Ohio's southeastern corner cradles most of its forested areas, as well as the rolling foothills of the Appalachian Mountains and scattered farms.

Around Lancaster, southeast of Columbus, the hills lead gently into Hocking County, a region of streams and waterfalls, sandstone cliffs and cavelike formations. It's splendid to explore in any season, with miles of trails for hiking and rivers for canoeing, as well as abundant campgrounds and cabins at Hocking Hills State Park (☎ 740-385-6165; 20160 Hwy 664; campsites/cottages from $24/105). Old Man's Cave is a scenic winner for hiking. Hocking Valley Canoe Livery (☎ 740-385-8685; www.hockinghillscanoeing.com; 31251 Chieftain Dr; 2hr tours $42; 🕐 9am-5pm Apr-Oct) lets you paddle by moonlight and tiki torch from nearby Logan. Earth-Water-Rock: Outdoor Adventures (☎ 740-664-5220; www.ewroutdoors.com; half-day tour $85-110) provides thrills with guided rock climbing and rappelling trips; beginners are welcome.

Athens makes a lovely base for seeing the region. Situated where US 50 crosses US 33, it's set among wooded hills and built around the Ohio University campus (which comprises half the town). The visitors center (☎ 800-878-9767; www.athensohio.com; 667 E State St; 🕐 9am-5pm Mon-Fri) has good regional information. Nearby the Village Bakery & Cafe (☎ 740-594-7311; 268 E State St; mains $4-8; 🕐 7:30am-8pm Tue-Sat, 9am-2pm Sun) uses organic veggies, grass-fed meat and farmstead cheeses in its pizzas, soups and sandwiches. Student cafés and pubs line Court St, Athens' main road.

Further south, the Ohio River marks the state boundary and flows through many scenic stretches. It's a surprisingly quiet, undeveloped area.

The area south of Columbus was a center for the fascinating prehistoric Hopewell people, who left behind huge geometric earthworks and burial mounds from around 200 BC to AD 600. For a fine introduction visit the Hopewell Culture National Historical Park (☎ 740-774-1126; www.nps.gov/hocu; Hwy 104 north of I-35; admission free; ⏰ 8:30am-6pm Jun-Aug, to 4:30pm Sep-May), 3 miles north of Chillicothe. Stop in the visitors center, and then wander about the variously shaped ceremonial mounds spread over 13-acre Mound City, a mysterious town of the dead. Serpent Mound (☎ 937-587-2796; www.ohiohistory.org; 3850 Hwy 73; per vehicle $7; ⏰ 10am-5pm Fri-Sun Jun-Aug), southwest of Chillicothe and 4 miles northwest of Locust Grove, is perhaps the most captivating site of all. The giant, uncoiling snake stretches over a quarter of a mile and is the largest effigy mound in the USA.

DAYTON & YELLOW SPRINGS

Dayton has the aviation sights, but little Yellow Springs (18 miles northeast on US 68) has much more personality for accommodation and places to eat.

Sights & Activities

The huge National Museum of the US Air Force (☎ 937-255-3286; www.nationalmuseum.af.mil; 1100 Spaatz St; admission free; ⏰ 9am-5pm) is at the Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, 6 miles northeast of Dayton. It's got everything from a Wright Brothers exhibit and Sopwith Camel (WWI biplane) to a Stealth bomber. Don't miss the annex with its collection of presidential planes; a free shuttle bus takes you over to the hangar (which you'll need a passport or driver's license to enter). Expect your visit to take three or more hours.

There are numerous Wright attractions. Among them, Carillon Historical Park (☎ 937-293-2841; www.daytonhistory.org; 1000 Carillon Blvd; adult/child 3-17yr $8/5; ⏰ 9:30am-5pm Mon-Sat, noon-5pm Sun) has the 1905 Wright Flyer III biplane and a replica of the Wright workshop. The Dayton Aviation Heritage National Historical Park (☎ 937-225-7705; www.nps.gov/daav; 16 S Williams St; admission free; ⏰ 8:30am-5pm), which includes Wright Cycle Company Complex, is where the brothers developed bikes and aviation ideas.

Sleeping & Eating

The following listings are located in Yellow Springs, a top-notch place to experience down-home Ohio.

Morgan House B&B (☎ 937-767-1761; www.arthurmorganhouse.com; 120 W Limestone St; r incl breakfast $90-125; 🚭 📶) The six comfy rooms have super-soft linens and private baths. Breakfasts are organic, with free-trade African coffee.

Winds Cafe (☎ 937-767-1144; 215 Xenia Ave; mains $18-25; ⏰ 11:30am-2pm & 5-10pm Tue-Sat, 10am-2pm Sun) A hippie co-op 30 years ago, the Winds has grown up to become a sophisticated foodie favorite plating seasonal dishes like fig-sauced asparagus crepes and rhubarb halibut.

our pick Young's Jersey Dairy (☎ 937-325-0629; 6880 Springfield-Xenia Rd) is a working dairy farm with two restaurants: the Golden Jersey Inn (mains $9-14; ⏰ lunch & dinner Mon-Fri, plus breakfast Sat & Sun), serving dishes like buttermilk chicken; and the Dairy Store (sandwiches $3.50-6.50; ⏰ 6am-9pm Sun-Thu, to 10pm Fri & Sat, later in summer), serving sandwiches, dreamy ice cream and Ohio's best milk shakes. There's also minigolf, batting cages and opportunities to watch the cows get milked.

CINCINNATI

Cincinnati splashes up the Ohio River's banks. Its prettiness surprises, as do its haunted music-club mansions, its twisting streets to hilltop Mt Adams and locals' unashamed ardor for a five-way (see boxed text, p610. Amid all that action, don't forget to catch a baseball game, stroll the riverfront and visit the free art museum.

History

Thanks to its riverfront real estate, Cincinnati, founded in 1788, became an early commerce hub. German immigrants flocked in, drawn to the landscape that reminded them of their Rhine Valley homeland. The town soon became known as 'Porkopolis' because of its many meat-packing plants. These factories provided enough leftover lard for Messrs Procter and Gamble to become one of the world's largest soap makers (and eventual corporate conglomerate). The city was also an important center for the Underground Railroad and antislavery movement.

In the 1970s Cincy had a mayor named Jerry Springer (yes, that Jerry Springer), who got in trouble – then was re-elected – after getting caught paying for a hooker with a check, which he admitted to in a televised press conference. It was a colorful time for a city that takes its knocks for being fogyish.

Orientation

Downtown streets are laid out on a grid radiating from Fountain Sq. Vine St is the east–west dividing line; east and westbound streets are numbered, while north and southbound streets are named. The snaking Ohio River forms the city's southern boundary, and Kentucky is just across the water. The Northside neighborhood, north of where I-74 and I-75 intersect, is 5 miles north of downtown.

Information

BOOKSTORES

Barnes & Noble (☎ 859-581-2000; Newport on the Levee; 🕒 10am-10pm Sun-Thu, to 11pm Fri & Sat)

EMERGENCY & MEDICAL SERVICES

University Hospital (☎ 513-584-1000; 234 Goodman St)

INTERNET ACCESS

FedEx (☎ 513-241-3366; 51 E 5th St; per 30min $6; 🕒 24hr)

INTERNET RESOURCES & MEDIA

Cin Weekly (www.cinweekly.com) Enquirer's weekly entertainment freebie.

Cincinnati Enquirer (www.enquirer.com) Daily newspaper.

CityBeat (www.citybeat.com) Free alternative weekly paper with good entertainment listings.

TOURIST INFORMATION

Cincinnati USA Regional Tourism Network (☎ 800-344-3445; www.cincinnatiusa.com) Call or go online for a visitor's guide.

Sights & Activities

DOWNTOWN

The elegant 1876 Roebling Suspension Bridge was a forerunner of John Roebling's famous Brooklyn Bridge in New York. At its foot is the National Underground Railroad Freedom Center (☎ 513-333-7500; www.freedomcenter.org; 50 E Freedom Way; adult/child 6-12yr $9/6; 🕒 11am-5pm Tue-Sat), with exhibits on how slaves escaped to the north; Cincinnati was a prominent stop on the railroad and a center for abolitionist activities led by residents, such as Harriet Beecher Stowe.

Fountain Square (cnr 5th & Vine Sts) is the city's centerpiece, a public space with a seasonal ice rink, chess tables, free wi-fi and the fancy old 'Spirit of the Waters' fountain. Just north, the Rosenthal Center for Contemporary Arts (☎ 513-721-0390; www.contemporaryartscenter.org; 44 E 6th St; adult/child 3-13yr $7.50/4.50, admission free Mon evening; 🕒 10am-9pm Mon, 10am-6pm Wed-Fri, 11am-6pm Sat & Sun) displays modern art in an avant-garde building designed by Iraqi architect Zaha Hadid. The structure and its artworks are a pretty big deal for traditionalist Cincy.

Indoor–outdoor Findlay Market (☎ 513-665-4839; www.findlaymarket.org; 1801 Race St; 🕒 9am-6pm Tue-Fri, 8am-6pm Sat, 10am-4pm Sun, reduced hours in winter) greens the somewhat blighted area at downtown's northern edge. It's a good stop for fresh produce, meats, cheeses and baked goods. The Belgian waffle guy will wow your taste buds.

A stroll along the riverfront will take you through several parks; one of them, Bicentennial Commons at Sawyer Point, features whimsical monuments and flying pigs. The pedestrian-only Purple People Bridge provides a unique crossing from Sawyer Point to Newport, Kentucky's entertainment district.

COVINGTON & NEWPORT

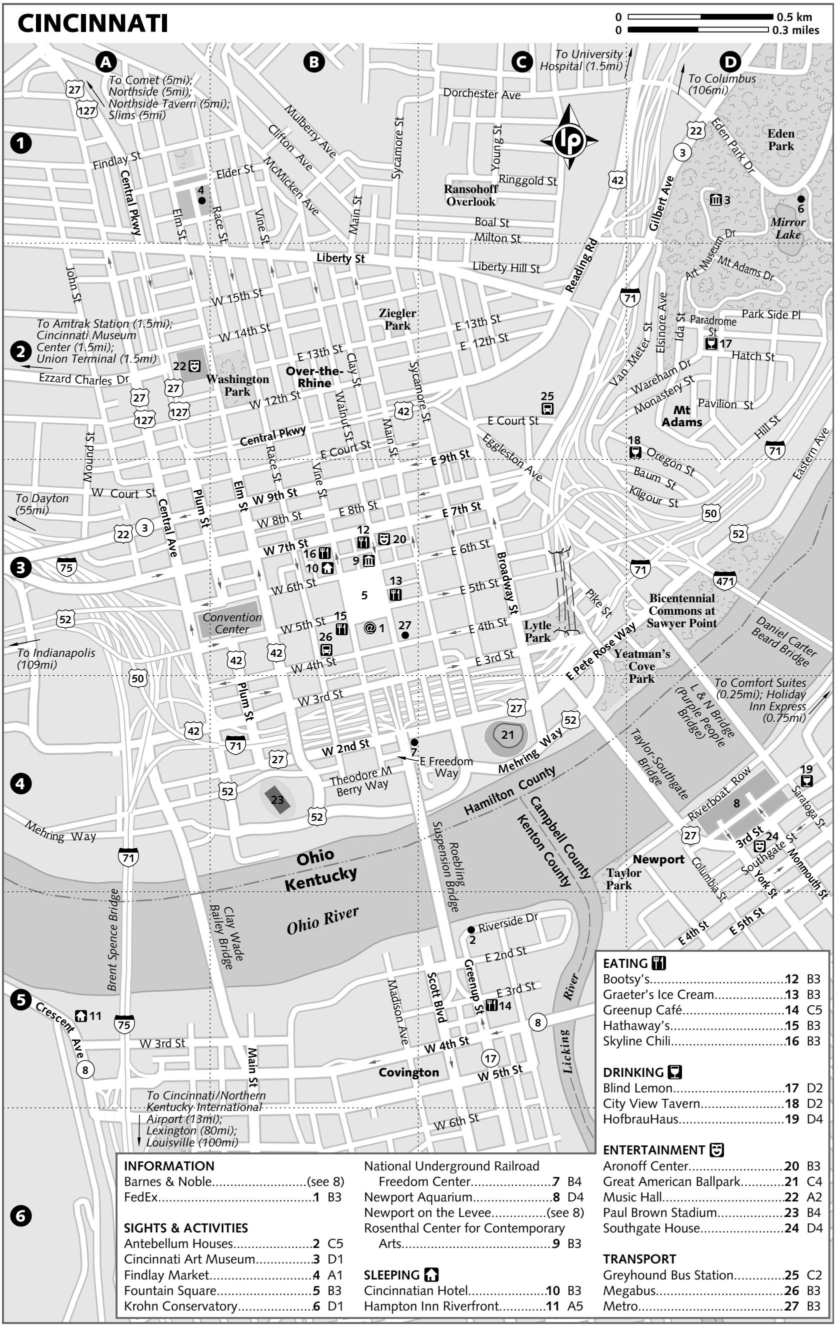
Covington and Newport, Kentucky, are sort of suburbs of Cincinnati. Newport is to the east and known for its massive Newport on the Levee restaurant and shopping complex. The development also contains the well-regarded Newport Aquarium (☎ 859-491-3467; www.newportaquarium.com; One Aquarium Way; adult/child 2-12yr $20/13; 🕒 9am-7pm Jun-Aug, 10am-6pm Sep-May), where you can meet Sweet Pea the shark ray, parading penguins and more.

Covington lies to the west. Funky restaurants and bars have opened in the neighborhood's 19th-century brick row houses. Antebellum mansions fringe Riverside Dr, and old paddlewheel boats tie up along the water's edge.

MT ADAMS

It might be a bit of a stretch to compare Mt Adams, immediately east of downtown, to Paris's Montmartre, but this hilly 19th-century enclave of narrow, twisting streets, Victorian town houses, galleries, bars and restaurants is certainly a pleasurable surprise. Two big attractions here are the Cincinnati Art Museum (☎ 513-721-5204; www.cincinnatiartmuseum.org; 953 Eden Park Dr; admission free; 🕒 11am-5pm Tue-Sun, to 9pm Wed), with an emphasis on Middle Eastern

CINCINNATI



0 0.5 km
0 0.3 miles
A
B
C
D
1
2
3
4
5
6
To Comet (5mi); Northside (5mi); Northside Tavern (5mi); Slims (5mi)
To University Hospital (1.5mi)
To Columbus (106mi)
Dorchester Ave
Mulberry Ave
Clifton Ave
McMicken Ave
Sycamore St
Young St
Ringgold St
Ransohoff Overlook
Boal St
Milton St
Eden Park Dr
Eden Park
Mirror Lake
Gilbert Ave
Art Museum Dr
Mt Adams Dr
Findlay St
Elder St
Central Pkwy
Elm St
Race St
Vine St
Main St
Liberty St
Liberty Hill St
Reading Rd
John St
W 15th St
W 14th St
Ziegler Park
E 13th St
E 12th St
To Amtrak Station (1.5mi); Cincinnati Museum Center (1.5mi); Union Terminal (1.5mi)
Ezzard Charles Dr
Washington Park
Over-the-Rhine
Clay St
W 12th St
Walnut St
Van Meter St
Elsinore Ave
Ida St
Paradrome St
Park Side Pl
Hatch St
Wareham Dr
Monastery St
Pavilion St
Mt Adams
Hill St
E Court St
Eggleston Ave
Mound St
Oregon St
Baum St
Kilgour St
Eastern Ave
E 9th St
W 9th St
W Court St
To Dayton (55mi)
Central Ave
Plum St
W 8th St
E 8th St
E 7th St
W 7th St
E 6th St
W 6th St
E 5th St
Broadway St
Pike St
Bicentennial Commons at Sawyer Point
Daniel Carter Beard Bridge Convention Center
W 5th St
E 4th St
Lytle Park
E Pete Rose Way
Yeatman's Cove Park
To Indianapolis (109mi)
W 4th St
E 3rd St
To Comfort Suites (0.25mi); Holiday Inn Express (0.75mi)
L & N Bridge (Purple People Bridge)
W 3rd St
Taylor-Southgate Bridge
W 2nd St
E Freedom Way
Mehring Way
Theodore M Berry Way
Hamilton County
Campbell County
Kenton County
Riverboat Row
Saratoga St
3rd St
Southgate St
Monmouth St
York St
Columbia St
Newport
Taylor Park
E 4th St
E 5th St
Roebling Suspension Bridge
Ohio
Kentucky
Ohio River
Brent Spence Bridge
Clay Wade Bailey Bridge
Riverside Dr
E 2nd St
E 3rd St
Greenup St
Scott Blvd
Madison Ave
Licking River
Crescent Ave
W 3rd St
Main St
W 4th St
Covington
W 5th St
W 6th St
To Cincinnati/Northern Kentucky International Airport (13mi); Lexington (80mi); Louisville (100mi) 27
127
22
42
71
75
52
50
471
3
8
17

EATING 🍴

Bootsy's	12	B3
Graeter's Ice Cream	13	B3
Greenup Café	14	C5
Hathaway's	15	B3
Skyline Chili	16	B3

DRINKING

Blind Lemon	17	D2
City View Tavern	18	D2
HofbrauHaus	19	D4

ENTERTAINMENT

Aronoff Center	20	B3
Great American Ballpark	21	C4
Music Hall	22	A2
Paul Brown Stadium	23	B4
Southgate House	24	D4

TRANSPORT

Greyhound Bus Station	25	C2
Megabus	26	B3
Metro	27	B3

INFORMATION

Barnes & Noble	(see 8)
FedEx	1	B3

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

Antebellum Houses	2	C5
Cincinnati Art Museum	3	D1
Findlay Market	4	A1
Fountain Square	5	B3
Krohn Conservatory	6	D1
National Underground Railroad Freedom Center	7	B4
Newport Aquarium	8	D4
Newport on the Levee	(see 8)
Rosenthal Center for Contemporary Arts	9	B3

SLEEPING ⌂

Cincinnatian Hotel	10	B3
Hampton Inn Riverfront	11	A5

and European arts, as well as local works, and the Krohn Conservatory (☎ 513-421-4086; www.cincinnatiparks.com/krohn-conservatory; 1501 Eden Park Dr; admission free; 🕑 10am-5pm), a vast greenhouse with a rainforest, desert flora and glorious seasonal flower shows. Most visitors just ascend the hill for a look around, a drink and a pause to enjoy the view from the hilltop Catholic church.

To get here, follow 7th St east of downtown to Gilbert Ave, bear northwest to Elsinore Ave, and head up the hill.

AROUND CINCINNATI

Two miles northwest of downtown, the Cincinnati Museum Center (☎ 513-287-7000; www.cincymuseum.org; 1301 Western Ave; 🕑 10am-5pm Mon-Sat, 11am-6pm Sun; 👶) occupies the 1933 Union Terminal, an art-deco jewel still used by Amtrak. The interior has fantastic murals made of Rookwood tiles. The Museum of Natural History (adult/child three to 12 years $8/6) is mostly geared to kids, but it does have a limestone cave with real bats inside. A history museum, Omnimax theater and children's museum round out the offerings. Discounted combination tickets are available. Parking costs $5.

Tours

Architreks (☎ 513-721-4506; www.cincinnatipreservation.org/architreks; tours adult/child $10/5; 🕑 May-Oct) Guided walking tours of various neighborhoods, including downtown, Mt Adams and Northside. Departure points and days/times vary.

Festivals & Events

Oktoberfest (www.oktoberfest-zinzinnati.com; admission free) German beer, brats and mania; held mid-September.

Midpoint Music Festival (www.mpmf.com; 3-day pass $29) Indie bands flood various venues in late September.

Sleeping

Hotel tax is cheaper on the Kentucky side at 11.3%, versus the 17% charged in Cincinnati. Tax is not included in the following prices.

Three similar midrange options on the Kentucky riverfront are Comfort Suites (☎ 859-291-6700; www.choicehotels.com; 420 Riverboat Row; r incl breakfast $105-170; P ❄ 📶), with a morning waffle bar; Hampton Inn Riverfront (☎ 859-581-7800; 200 Crescent Ave; r incl breakfast $129-169; P ❄ 📶 🏊), with a small indoor pool; and Holiday Inn Express (☎ 859-957-2320; www.ichotelsgroup.com; 110 Landmark Dr; r incl breakfast $111-150; P ❄ 📶 🏊), with a hot breakfast and small indoor pool. All are near the Newport–Covington attractions and bus stops for the quick trip to downtown Cincy.

Cincinnatian Hotel (☎ 513-381-3000, 800-942-9000; www.cincinnatianhotel.com; 601 Vine St; r $129-240; P ❄ 📶) The Cincinnatian is in a magnificent 1882 Victorian building; the spacious rooms have fluffy towels, silk-soft sheets and huge round bathtubs. Rates drop to the lower range during weekends. Parking costs $28.

Eating

In addition to downtown, dining options concentrate along the Kentucky riverfront and in Northside.

Graeter's Ice Cream (☎ 513-381-4191; 511 Walnut St; dishes $2-4; 🕑 6:30am-9pm Mon-Fri, 7am-9pm Sat, 11am-7pm Sun) It's a local delicacy, with scoop shops around the city. The flavors that mix in the gargantuan, chunky chocolate chips top the list.

Hathaway's (☎ 513-621-1332; Carew Tower, 441 Vine St; mains $5-8; 🕑 6:30am-4pm Mon-Fri, 8am-3pm Sat) Hathaway's hasn't changed its retro dinette tables, or apron-wearing waitresses, since it started feeding hungry businesspeople 30-plus years ago. Try the goetta (pork, oats, onions and herbs) for breakfast – it's a Cincy specialty. The milk shakes will please sweet tooths.

Greenup Café (☎ 859-261-3663; 308 Greenup St; mains $8-11; 🕑 8am-2pm Tue-Fri, 9:30am-2:30pm Sat & Sun) Greenup's French owner has imported the flavors of his homeland to this cheerful, bohemian bistro in an old brick warehouse. Get your croissants and croque monsieur (egg and ham sandwich) for breakfast; meatloaf hoagies and black-bean burgers for lunch; and pastries anytime.

Slims (☎ 513-681-6500; 4046 Hamilton Ave; mains $17-18; 🕑 5:30-9:30pm Thu-Sat) This bright, simple Northside restaurant serves organic and seasonal dishes – maybe a Chilean vegetarian stew or citrus-braised pork belly – at long communal tables from 5:30pm 'until the food runs out.' Cash only; bring your own vino.

Bootsy's (☎ 513-241-0707; 631 Walnut St; tapas $5-11, mains $15-23; 🕑 11am-2pm Mon-Fri, 5-10pm Mon-Thu, to 11pm Fri & Sat) True, it's trendy. And loud. But you gotta love a place vibed after Bootsy Collins, a Cincy boy done good as the funk bassist for James Brown and George Clinton. Check out Bootsy's gold records and other

JOIN IN A FIVE-WAY

Don't worry – you can keep your clothes on for this experience, though you may want to loosen your belt. A 'five-way' in Cincinnati has to do with chili, which is a local specialty. It comprises meat sauce (spiced with chocolate and cinnamon) ladled over spaghetti and beans, then garnished with cheese and onions. Although you can get it three-way (minus onions and beans) or four-way (minus onions or beans), you should go the whole way – after all, life's an adventure. Skyline Chili (☎ 513-241-2020; 643 Vine St; items $3.50-7.50; 🕒 10:30am-8pm Mon-Fri, 11am-4pm Sat) has a cultlike following devoted to its version. There are outlets throughout town; this one is downtown.

memorabilia while sipping mojitos and noshing on sushi, paella and duck tacos.

Drinking

Both Mt Adams and Northside are busy nightspots.

Blind Lemon (☎ 513-241-3885; 936 Hatch St) Head down the passageway to enter this atmospheric old speakeasy. It has an outdoor courtyard in summer, with a fire pit added in winter, and there's live music nightly.

Comet (☎ 513-541-8900; 4579 Hamilton Ave) The casual Comet, in Northside, has the city's best jukebox and bar food; try the burrito.

City View Tavern (☎ 513-241-8439; 403 Oregon St) The city sparkles out in front of you at this unassuming boozer.

HofbrauHaus (☎ 859-491-7200; 200 E 3rd St) The legendary Munich beer hall fills steins in Newport.

Entertainment

Scope for free publications like CityBeat and Cin Weekly for current listings. The free GLBT News (www.greatercincinnatiglbtnews.com) has a club guide.

LIVE MUSIC

Southgate House (☎ 859-431-2201; www.southgatehouse.com; 24 E 3rd St; 🕒 from noon) Big and small, touring and local bands alike play in this 1814 haunted mansion, which also happens to be the birthplace of the tommy gun.

Northside Tavern (☎ 513-542-3603; www.northside-tavern.com; 4163 Hamilton Ave) Local bands plug in their amps here, and it's always free.

THEATER & CULTURE

Music Hall (☎ 513-721-8222; www.cincinnatiarts.org; 1241 Elm St) The acoustically pristine Music Hall is Cincy's classical music venue, where the symphony orchestra, pops orchestra, opera and ballet hold their seasons. This is not the best neighborhood, so be cautious and park nearby.

Aronoff Center (☎ 513-621-2787; www.cincinnatiarts.org; 650 Walnut St) The mod Aronoff hosts touring shows.

SPORTS

Great American Ballpark (☎ 513-765-7000; www.cincinnatireds.com; 100 Main St) Home to the Reds (pro baseball's first team), Cincy is a great place to catch a game thanks to its bells-and-whistles riverside ballpark.

Paul Brown Stadium (☎ 513-621-3550; www.bengals.com; 1 Paul Brown Stadium) The Bengals pro football team scrimmages a few blocks west of the ballpark.

Getting There & Around

The Cincinnati/Northern Kentucky International Airport (CVG; ☎ 859-767-3501; www.cvgairport.com) is actually in Kentucky, 13 miles south. To get downtown, take the TANK bus ($1.75) from near Terminal 1 or 3; a cab costs about $27.

Greyhound (☎ 513-352-6012; www.greyhound.com; 1005 Gilbert Ave) buses travel daily to Louisville ($18 to $30, two hours), Indianapolis ($15 to $26, 2½ hours) and Columbus ($15 to $24, two hours). Often cheaper and quicker, Megabus (☎ 877-462-6342; www.megabus.com/us) runs once daily to Columbus (2½ hours) and twice daily to Chicago (six hours). It departs from downtown Cincy at 4th and Race Sts.

Metro (☎ 513-621-4455; 120 E 4th St; www.go-metro.com) runs the local buses ($1.50) and links with the Transit Authority of Northern Kentucky (TANK; ☎ 859-331-8265; www.tankbus.org), which charges $1.50 to $1.75 per trip.

Amtrak (☎ 513-651-3337; www.amtrak.com) choo-choos into Union Terminal (1301 Western Ave) thrice weekly en route to Chicago ($35 to $75, 9½ hours) and Washington, DC ($55 to $121, 14½ hours), departing in the middle of the night.

MICHIGAN

More, more, more – Michigan is the Midwest state that cranks it up. It sports more beaches than the Atlantic seaboard. More than half the state is covered by forests. And more cherries and berries get shoveled into pies here than anywhere else in the USA. Plus its gritty city Detroit is the Midwest's rawest of all – and we mean that in a good way. Of course, there's more unemployment in Michigan than any other state, but we digress…

Michigan occupies prime real estate, surrounded by four of the five Great Lakes – Superior, Michigan, Huron and Erie. Islands freckle its coast – Mackinac, Beaver and Isle Royale – and make top touring destinations. Surfing beaches, colored sandstone cliffs and trekkable sand dunes also woo visitors.

The state consists of two parts split by water: the larger Lower Peninsula, shaped like a mitten; and the smaller, lightly populated Upper Peninsula, shaped like a slipper. They are linked by the gasp-worthy Mackinac Bridge, which spans the Straits of Mackinac (pronounced mac-in-aw).

MICHIGAN FACTS

Nicknames Great Lakes State, Wolverine State
Population 10.1 million
Area 96,720 sq miles
Capital city Lansing (population 114,300)
Other cities Detroit (population 871,121)
Sales tax 6%
Birthplace of Industrialist Henry Ford (1863–1947), filmmaker Francis Ford Coppola (b 1939), musician Stevie Wonder (b 1950), singer Madonna (b 1958), tennis player Serena Williams (b 1984)
Home of Auto assembly plants, freshwater beaches
Famous for Cars, Cornflakes, tart cherries, Motown music
State reptile Painted turtle
Driving distances Detroit to Traverse City 255 miles, Detroit to Cleveland 168 miles

Information

Michigan highway conditions (☎ 800-381-8477; www.michigan.gov/mdot)
Michigan state park information (☎ 800-447-2757; www.michigan.gov/dnr) Park entry requires a vehicle permit (per day/year residents $6/24, nonresidents $8/29). Campsites cost $16 to $33; reservations accepted (www.midnrreservations.com; fee $8). Some parks have wi-fi.
Travel Michigan (☎ 800-644-2489; www.michigan.org)

DETROIT

Tell any American that you're planning to visit Detroit, and then watch their eyebrows shoot up quizzically. They'll ask 'Why?' and warn you about the off-the-chart homicide rates, boarded-up buildings with trash swirling at their bases, and whoppingly high foreclosure rates where homes sell for $1. 'Detroit's a crap-hole. You'll get killed there.'

Clearly, the Motor City has an image problem. While the aforementioned attributes are true, and while the city does waft a sort of bombed-out, apocalyptic vibe, it's these same qualities that fuel a raw urban energy you won't find anywhere else. And that manifests in the city's arts and music scene. They shred a mean guitar in 'the D.' Very mean.

Once the pride of the nation for its carmaking savvy, Detroit fell to pieces as the auto industry tanked. Its constant struggles to recover make it a fascinating, if eerie, place to visit.

History

French explorer Antoine de La Mothe Cadillac founded Detroit in 1701. Sweet fortune arrived in the 1920s. That's when Henry Ford began churning out cars. He didn't invent the automobile, as so many mistakenly believe, but he did perfect assembly-line manufacturing and mass-production techniques. The result was the Model T, the first car the USA's middle class could afford to own.

Detroit quickly became the motor capital of the world. General Motors (GM), Chrysler and Ford were all headquartered in or near Detroit (and still are). The 1950s were the city's heyday, when the population exceeded two million and Motown music hit the airwaves. But racial tensions in 1967, and Japanese car competitors in the 1970s, shook the city and its industry. Detroit entered an era of deep decline, losing about two-thirds of its population.

The D resurged somewhat in the mid-2000s. Then the global economic crisis of 2008–9 crushed the auto industry. GM and Chrysler filed for bankruptcy, and thousands of blue- and white-collar workers lost their jobs. The city is currently 'restructuring.'

DON'T MISS

- Detroit Institute of Arts – Diego Rivera murals and more (right)
- Henry Ford Museum – American history's greatest hits (p617)
- Heidelberg Project – Polka-dotted neighborhood (p614)
- Lafayette Coney Island – Chili-slathered hot dogs (p615)
- Funk Night – All-night, get-down dance party (p616)

Orientation

Downtown revolves around the riverfront Renaissance Center and nearby Hart Plaza. Woodward Ave, the city's main boulevard, heads north from here to Midtown (containing the Cultural Center and its museums, plus Wayne State University) and on to architecturally rich New Center. Victorian-era, bar-filled Corktown sits west of downtown. The Mile Roads are Detroit's major east–west arteries; 8 Mile forms the city–suburbs boundary. Across the Detroit River lies Windsor, Canada.

The area between the sports arenas north to around Willis Rd is pretty deserted and best avoided on foot come nighttime.

Information

BOOKSTORES

John King Books (☎ 313-961-0622; 901 W Lafayette Blvd; 🕘 9:30am-5:30pm Mon-Sat) Second-hand bookstore.

EMERGENCY & MEDICAL SERVICES

Crisis hotline (☎ 313-224-7000)
CVS (☎ 313-833-0201; 350 E Warren Ave; 🕘 24hr) Pharmacy.
Detroit Receiving Hospital (☎ 313-745-3000; 4201 St Antoine St)

INTERNET ACCESS

You'll find free wi-fi in many cafés and bars, as well as the Renaissance Center (RenCen) lobby.

Detroit Main Library (☎ 313-833-1000; 5201 Woodward Ave; 🕘 noon-8pm Tue & Wed, 10am-6pm Thu-Sat) Free internet terminals.

INTERNET RESOURCES

Forgotten Detroit (www.forgottendetroit.com) A website devoted to Detroit's 'ruins' (ie decaying buildings).

Model D (www.modeldmedia.com) Weekly e-zine about local developments and food/entertainment options, broken down by neighborhood.

MEDIA

WDET-FM 101.9 is the local NPR affiliate. WCSX-FM 94.7 blasts rock.

Between the Lines (www.pridesource.com) Free, weekly gay and lesbian paper.
Detroit News (www.detnews.com) Daily.
Detroit Free Press (www.freep.com) Daily.
Metro Times (www.metrotimes.com) Free alternative weekly that is the best guide to the entertainment scene.

MONEY

ATMs are plentiful in and near the RenCen. Metro Airport's McNamara Terminal has a couple of currency exchanges.

POST

Post office (☎ 313-226-8075; 1401 W Fort St; 🕘 6am-midnight)

TOURIST INFORMATION

Detroit Convention & Visitors Bureau (☎ 313-202-1800, 800-338-7648; www.visitdetroit.com; 10th fl, 211 W Fort St; 🕘 9am-5pm Mon-Fri)

Sights & Activities

Don't forget: top-notch attractions are also in Detroit's suburbs, like the Henry Ford Museum (p617) in Dearborn. Sights are commonly closed on Monday and Tuesday.

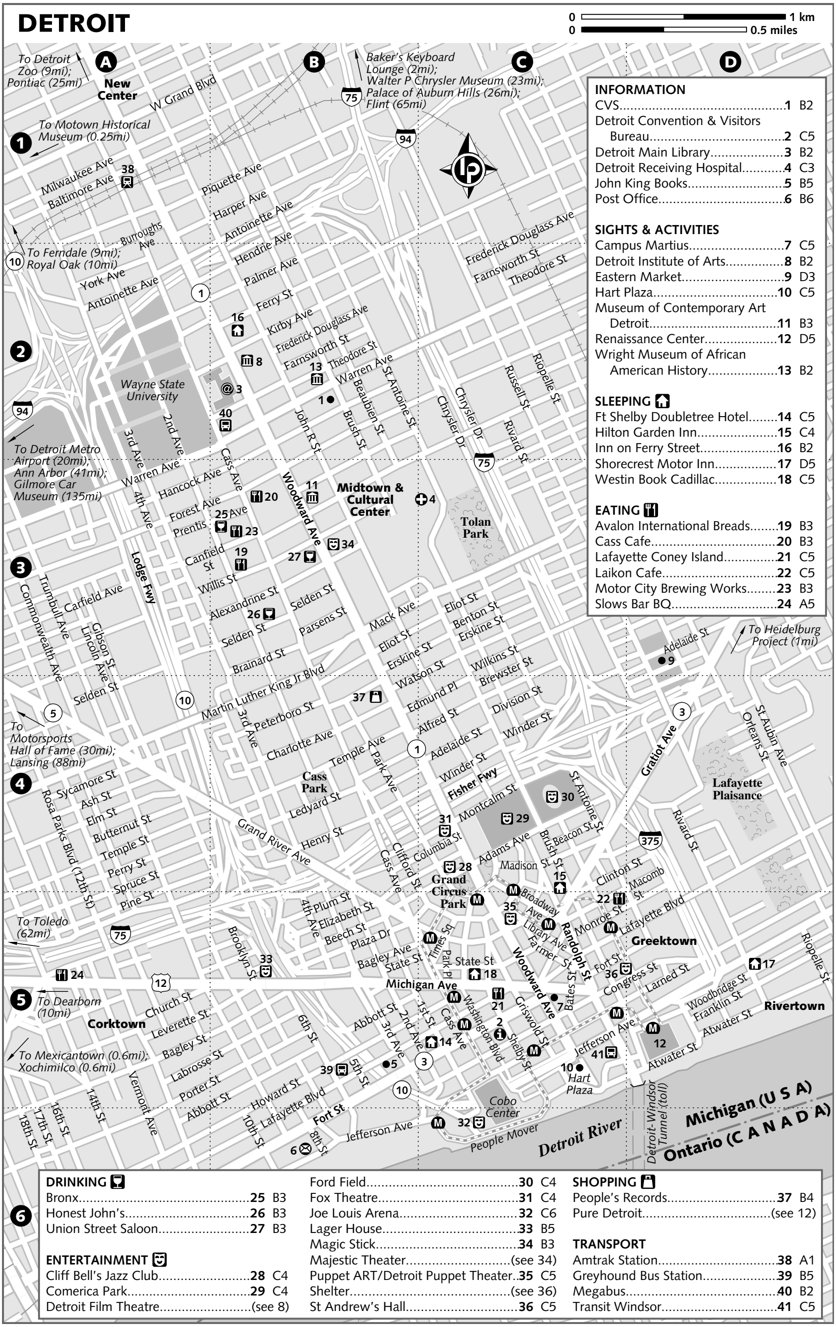
MIDTOWN & CULTURAL CENTER

Several museums cluster in the area known as the Cultural Center, by Woodward and Warren Aves. The cream of the crop is the Detroit Institute of Arts (☎ 313-833-7900; www.dia.org; 5200 Woodward Ave; adult/child 6-17yr $8/4; 🕘 10am-4pm Wed & Thu, 10am-10pm Fri, 10am-5pm Sat & Sun), which is lauded for its American collection. The centerpiece is Diego Rivera's mural Detroit Industry, which fills an entire room and reflects the city's blue-collar labor history.

The Wright Museum of African American History (☎ 313-494-5800; www.maah-detroit.org; 315 E Warren Ave; adult/child 3-12yr $8/5; 🕘 9am-5pm Tue-Sat, 1-5pm Sun) holds less than it would seem from the impressive exterior, though it's worth a look inside. The full-scale model of slaves chained up on a dark, creaking slave ship will leave you chilled.

The Museum of Contemporary Art Detroit (MOCAD; ☎ 313-832-6622; www.mocadetroit.org; 4454 Woodward

DETROIT



0 1 km
0 0.5 miles
A
B
C
D
1
2
3
4
5
6
To Detroit Zoo (9mi); Pontiac (25mi)
New Center
W Grand Blvd
Baker's Keyboard Lounge (2mi); Walter P Chrysler Museum (23mi); Palace of Auburn Hills (26mi); Flint (65mi) 75
94
To Motown Historical Museum (0.25mi)
Milwaukee Ave
Baltimore Ave
38 Piquette Ave
Harper Ave
Antoinette Ave
Hendrie Ave
Palmer Ave
Burroughs Ave
To Ferndale (9mi); Royal Oak (10mi) 10 York Ave
Antoinette Ave
Ferry St
Kirby Ave
Frederick Douglass Ave
Farnsworth St
Theodore St
Warren Ave
Frederick Douglass Ave
Farnsworth St
Theodore St
16
8 13
1
3 40
Wayne State University
2nd Ave
3rd Ave
John R St
Beaubien St
Brush St
St Antoine St
Chrysler Dr
Chrysler Dr
Russell St
Riopelle St
Rivard St
To Detroit Metro Airport (20mi); Ann Arbor (41mi); Gilmore Car Museum (135mi)
Warren Ave
4th Ave
Hancock Ave
Cass Ave
Forest Ave
Prentis Ave
25
23 20
Woodward Ave
11
Midtown & Cultural Center
4
Tolan Park
Canfield St
19
Willis St
27
34
Lodge Fwy
Trumbull Ave
Commonwealth Ave
Carfield Ave
Gibson St
Lincoln Ave
Alexandrine St
26
Selden St
Selden St
Parsens St
Brainard St
Mack Ave
Eliot St
Eliot St
Benton St
Erskine St
Erskine St
Watson St
Wilkins St
Brewster St
Selden St
Martin Luther King Jr Blvd
3rd Ave
Peterboro St
37
Edmund Pl
Division St
Alfred St
Winder St
Adelaide St
To Heidelburg Project (1mi)
Adelaide St
9
To Motorsports Hall of Fame (30mi); Lansing (88mi) Charlotte Ave
Temple Ave
Park Ave
Cass Park
Winder St
Fisher Fwy
Montcalm St
30 29
St Antoine St
Gratiot Ave
St Aubin Ave
Orleans St
Lafayette Plaisance
Sycamore St
Ash St
Elm St
Butternut St
Temple St
Perry St
Spruce St
Pine St
Rosa Parks Blvd (12th St)
Grand River Ave
Ledyard St
Henry St
Clifford St
Cass Ave
31
Columbia St
Adams Ave
Brush St
Beacon St
375 Rivard St
Madison St
15 28
Grand Circus Park
Clinton St
Macomb St
22 Broadway Ave
35 Library Ave
Randolph St
Monroe St
Lafayette Blvd
Greektown
To Toledo (62mi)
4th Ave
Plum St
Elizabeth St
Beech St
Plaza Dr
Brooklyn St
Times Sq
Park Pl
State St
Bagley Ave
State St
18
Woodward Ave
Farmer St
Bates St
Fort St
36
Congress St
Larned St
17 Riopelle St
24
33 12
Michigan Ave
Church St
To Dearborn (10mi)
Corktown
Leverette St
Bagley St
6th St
Abbott St
3rd Ave
1st St
2nd Ave
Cass Ave
Washington Blvd
21
2
Griswold St
Shelby St
7
Jefferson Ave
Woodbridge St
Franklin St
Rivertown
Atwater St
To Mexicantown (0.6mi); Xochimilco (0.6mi)
Labrosse St
14
41 12
Atwater St
Porter St
Abbott St
Howard St
Lafayette Blvd
39
5th St
5
3 10
Hart Plaza
14th St
Vermont Ave
16th St
17th St
18th St
10th St
Fort St
8th St
6
Jefferson Ave
Cobo Center
32
People Mover Detroit River
Detroit-Windsor Tunnel (toll)
Michigan (U S A)
Ontario (C A N A D A)

INFORMATION
CVS	1	B2
Detroit Convention & Visitors Bureau	2	C5
Detroit Main Library	3	B2
Detroit Receiving Hospital	4	C3
John King Books	5	B5
Post Office	6	B6

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES
Campus Martius	7	C5
Detroit Institute of Arts	8	B2
Eastern Market	9	D3
Hart Plaza	10	C5
Museum of Contemporary Art Detroit	11	B3
Renaissance Center	12	D5
Wright Museum of African American History	13	B2

SLEEPING
Ft Shelby Doubletree Hotel	14	C5
Hilton Garden Inn	15	C4
Inn on Ferry Street	16	B2
Shorecrest Motor Inn	17	D5
Westin Book Cadillac	18	C5

EATING
Avalon International Breads	19	B3
Cass Cafe	20	B3
Lafayette Coney Island	21	C5
Laikon Cafe	22	C5
Motor City Brewing Works	23	B3
Slows Bar BQ	24	A5

DRINKING
Bronx	25	B3
Honest John's	26	B3
Union Street Saloon	27	B3

ENTERTAINMENT
Cliff Bell's Jazz Club	28	C4
Comerica Park	29	C4
Detroit Film Theatre	(see 8)
Ford Field	30	C4
Fox Theatre	31	C4
Joe Louis Arena	32	C6
Lager House	33	B5
Magic Stick	34	B3
Majestic Theater	(see 34)
Puppet ART/Detroit Puppet Theater	35	C5
Shelter	(see 36)
St Andrew's Hall	36	C5

SHOPPING
People's Records	37	B4
Pure Detroit	(see 12)

TRANSPORT
Amtrak Station	38	A1
Greyhound Bus Station	39	B5
Megabus	40	B2
Transit Windsor	41	C5

Ave; admission free; 🕑 11am-5pm Wed-Sun, to 8pm Thu & Fri) opened in 2006 in an abandoned, graffiti-slathered auto dealership. Heat lamps hang from the ceiling over peculiar exhibits that change every few months. An organic-oriented café with free wi-fi adds to the young scene.

NEW CENTER

The Motown Historical Museum (☎ 313-875-2264; www.motownmuseum.com; 2648 W Grand Blvd; adult/child under 13yr $10/8; 🕑 11am-6pm Tue-Sat, 10am-6pm Mon Jul & Aug) comprises a string of modest houses that became known as 'Hitsville USA' after Berry Gordy launched Motown Records here – and the careers of Stevie Wonder, Diana Ross, Marvin Gaye, Gladys Knight and Michael Jackson – with an $800 loan in 1959. Gordy and Motown split for the glitz of Los Angeles in 1972, but you can still step into humble Studio A and see where the famed names recorded their first hits. A tour takes about 90 minutes, and consists mostly of looking at old photos and listening to guides' stories.

DOWNTOWN & AROUND

Downtown, the glossy Renaissance Center (RenCen; 330 E Jefferson Ave), GM's headquarters – assuming GM is still in business by the time you're reading this – is a fine place to grab a bite (in the Wintergarden), peruse vintage cars (on the lower level) or embark on the riverfront walkway. The path ambles to Hart Plaza (cnr Jefferson & Woodward Aves), the site of many free, summer weekend festivals and concerts. While there, check out the sculpture of Joe Louis's mighty fist.

Campus Martius (www.campusmartiuspark.org; 800 Woodward Ave) is another communal hot spot downtown, with an outdoor ice rink in winter, and eating areas, concerts and films in summer.

Busy Greektown (centered on Monroe St) has restaurants, bakeries and a casino. Produce, cheese, spice and flower vendors fill the large halls at the Eastern Market (www.detroiteasternmarket.com; Gratiot Ave & Russell St) on Saturday. Specialty shops, delis and restaurants surround the site and operate most other days.

The People Mover (☎ 313-224-2160; www.thepeoplemover.com) looks like the monorail in the classic Simpsons episode. As mass transit, its 3-mile loop on elevated tracks around downtown won't get you very far. As a tourist attraction, it's cheap (50¢) and provides great views of the city and riverfront.

Polka-dotted streets, houses covered in Technicolor paint blobs, strange sculptures in yards – this is no acid trip, but rather an art installation that covers an entire neighborhood. Welcome to the Heidelberg Project (www.heidelberg.org; Heidelberg St; admission free; 🕑 sunrise-sunset), the brainchild of street artist Tyree Guyton, who wanted to beautify his run-down community (which has the dubious distinction of being the USA's most economically depressed 'hood). Get here by taking Gratiot Ave northwest to Heidelberg St; the project spans from Ellery to Mt Elliott Sts.

Oddly, Detroit is one of the premier places to get a taste of the North Pole without having to dogsled for it. The Arctic Ring of Life at the Detroit Zoo (☎ 248-398-0900; www.detroitzoo.org; 8450 W 10 Mile Rd; adult/child 2-14yr $11/7; 🕑 10am-5pm Apr-Oct, 10am-4pm Nov-Mar; 👪) is the world's largest polar exhibit. It includes first-rate displays on Inuit culture and a 'polar bear tube,' where the huge white creatures swim overhead. It's located just north in Royal Oak. Parking costs $5.

Border junkies will find it easy to pop over to Windsor, Canada (see p617), where there are bars, restaurants and a huge casino.

Festivals & Events

North American International Auto Show (www.naias.com; 1 Washington Blvd; tickets $12) It's autos galore for two weeks in mid-January at the Cobo Center.

Movement/Detroit Electronic Music Festival (www.myspace.com/detroitmusicfest; weekend pass from $40) The world's largest electronic music festival congregates in Hart Plaza over Memorial Day weekend in May.

Woodward Dream Cruise (www.woodwarddreamcruise.com; admission free) Thousands of classic cars cruise down Woodward Ave on the third Saturday in August; 1.5 million people watch them.

Sleeping

Add 9% to 15% tax (it varies by lodging size and location) to the rates listed here, unless stated otherwise.

BUDGET & MIDRANGE

Affordable motels abound in Detroit's suburbs. If you're arriving from Metro Airport, follow the signs for Merriman Rd when leaving the airport and take your pick.

Shorecrest Motor Inn (☎ 313-568-3000, 800-992-9616; www.shorecrestmi.com; 1316 E Jefferson Ave; s/d incl tax from $79/99; Ⓟ ❄ 📶) You'll get what you pay for at downtown's lowest-priced digs – good location and free parking, but pretty darn shabby, no-frills rooms.

Ft Shelby Doubletree Hotel (☎ 313-963-5600, 800-222-8733; http://doubletree1.hilton.com; 525 W Lafayette Blvd; ste $126-169; ❄ 💻 📶) This new hotel fills an historic beaux-arts building downtown. All rooms are suites, with both the sitting area and bedroom equipped with HDTV and free wi-fi. Pets under 20lb can stay for $50 extra. Parking costs $20, and there's free shuttle service around downtown.

Hilton Garden Inn (☎ 313-967-0900; www.hiltongardeninn.com; 351 Gratiot Ave; d $129-239; ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) The Hilton offers standard-issue digs, but it's comfortable and close to Comerica Park, Ford Field and Greektown. Parking costs $20.

our pick Inn on Ferry Street (☎ 313-871-6000; www.innonferrystreet.com; 84 E Ferry St; r incl breakfast from $149; Ⓟ ☒ ❄ 💻 📶) Forty guest rooms fill a row of Victorian mansions right by the art museum. The lower-cost rooms are small but have deliciously soft bedding; the larger rooms feature plenty of antique wood furnishings. The healthy hot breakfast and shuttle to downtown are nice touches.

TOP END

Westin Book Cadillac (☎ 313-442-1600; www.bookcadillacwestin.com; 1114 Washington Blvd; r weekend/weekday from $179/299; ☒ ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) Opened in 2008, 'the Book' swooped into a 1924 landmark building and took over as the top address in town. It has all the amenities you'd expect at a swanky, 453-room hotel. In-room wi-fi costs $9.95 per day; parking costs $20.

Eating

Two nearby suburbs also have caches of hip restaurants and bars: walkable Ferndale at 9 Mile Rd and Woodward Ave, and Royal Oak just north of Ferndale on 10 Mile Rd.

MIDTOWN & CULTURAL CENTER

Avalon International Breads (☎ 313-832-0008; 422 W Willis St; items $1.50-5; 🕒 6am-6pm Tue-Sat, 7am-3pm Sun) Detroit's earthy types huddle round the hearth at Avalon, where its fresh-baked bread (like scallion dill or country Italian) makes an excellent base for the sandwiches it serves.

Cass Cafe (☎ 313-831-1400; 4620 Cass Ave; mains $6-14; 🕒 11am-11pm Mon-Thu, 11-1am Fri & Sat, 5-10pm Sun; 📶) The Cass is a bohemian art gallery fused with a bar and restaurant serving soups, sandwiches and veggie beauties, like the lentil-walnut burger. Service can be fickle.

Motor City Brewing Works (☎ 313-832-2700; 470 W Canfield St; pizzas $6-9; 🕒 11am-midnight Mon-Thu, to 1am Fri & Sat, noon-midnight Sun; 📶) Motor City fires up crisp-crusted pizzas in its brick oven, though you might be tempted to make a meal of house-brewed beer (Ghettoblaster wins praise) or the local cheese plate. For maximum effect, consume them on the rooftop patio.

DOWNTOWN

Fertile grazing grounds include Monroe St in Greektown and the RenCen fast-food court.

Lafayette Coney Island (☎ 313-964-8198; 118 Lafayette Blvd; items $2.50-4; 🕒 7:30-4am Mon-Thu, to 5am Fri & Sat, 9:30-4am Sun) The 'coney' – a hot dog smothered with chili and onions – is a Detroit specialty. When the craving strikes (and it will), take care of business at Lafayette. The minimalist menu consists of burgers, fries, pies, donuts and beer, in addition to the signature item. Cash only.

Laikon Cafe (☎ 313-963-7058; 569 Monroe St; mains $9-14; 🕒 11am-10pm Sun-Thu, to midnight Fri & Sat, closed Tue) Chef-owner Kostas has cooked staples like lamb and flaming cheese in his homey, old-school Greek restaurant for decades.

CORKTOWN & MEXICANTOWN

Xochimilco (☎ 313-843-0179; 3409 Bagley St; mains $5-12; 🕒 11-2am) Xochimilco is one of many places in Mexicantown, along Bagley St, that offers a solid, inexpensive line-up of burritos and other Mexican standards.

our pick Slows Bar BQ (☎ 313-962-9828; 2138 Michigan Ave; mains $12-20, half-rack ribs $16; 🕒 11am-11pm Mon-Thu, to midnight Fri & Sat, noon-11pm Sun) Mmm, slow-cooked southern-style barbecue in Corktown. Carnivores can carve into the three-meat combo plate (brisket, pulled pork and chicken). Vegetarians have options from okra fritters and mac 'n' cheese to a faux-meat barbecue sandwich.

Drinking

our pick Bronx (☎ 313-832-8464; 4476 2nd Ave; 📶) There's not much inside Detroit's best boozer besides a pool table, dim lighting and a couple of jukeboxes filled with ballsy rock and soul. But that's the way the hipsters, slackers and rockers (the White Stripes used to hang here) like their dive bars. They're also fond of the beefy burgers served late at night and cheap beer selection.

FROM MOTOWN TO ROCK CITY

Motown Records and soul music put Detroit on the map in the 1960s. The thrashing punk rock of the Stooges and MC5 was the response to that smooth sound. By 1976, Detroit had been dubbed 'Rock City' by a Kiss song (though – just Detroit's luck – the tune was eclipsed by its B-side, 'Beth'). In recent years it has been hard-edged rock – aka whiplash rock 'n' roll – that has pushed the city to the music scene forefront. Homegrown stars include the White Stripes, Von Bondies and Dirtbombs. Rap (thank you, Eminem) and techno are Detroit's other renowned genres. Many music aficionados say the city's blight is what produces such a beautifully angry explosion of sound, and who's to argue? Scope free publications like the Metro Times and Real Detroit Weekly, or blogs like 'Motor City Rocks' (www.motorcityrocks.com), for current show and club listings.

Honest John's (☎ 313-832-5646; 488 Selden St; 🕐 7am-2am; 📶) There really is a John and he's a Detroit classic, as is his unassuming bar where cops, nurses and other local workers toss back a cold one postshift.

Union Street Saloon (☎ 313-831-3965; 4145 Woodward Ave) This place has been around since the early 1900s and attracts a mod crowd.

Entertainment

LIVE MUSIC

St Andrew's Hall (☎ 313-961-6358; www.livenation.com; 431 E Congress St) It's a legendary alternative band venue in an old church. Downstairs is Shelter, a smaller music/dance club.

Lager House (☎ 313-961-4668; www.pjslagerhouse.com; 1254 Michigan Ave) This Corktown punk-underground club is dingy in an atmospheric way, with scrappy bands or DJs playing most nights.

Cliff Bell's Jazz Club (☎ 313-961-2543; www.cliffbells.com; 2030 Park Ave) With its dark wood, candlelight and art-deco decor, Bell's evokes 1930s elegance. Local jazz bands and poetry readings attract a diverse young audience nightly.

Baker's Keyboard Lounge (☎ 313-345-6300; www.bakerskeyboardlounge.com; 20510 Livernois Ave) Everyone from Miles Davis to Thelonious Monk to Nina Simone has let loose at the self-proclaimed 'world's oldest jazz club' on Detroit's far northwest side. It's rumored that the historic lounge may shutter due to financial constraints, so get here while you can.

Funk Night (www.myspace.com/funknightdetroit; rotating venues; admission $5) Dance your ass off at this all-night throw-down, which is held the last Friday of each month, when the owner of People's Records (see opposite) spins old funk tunes.

Magic Stick (☎ 313-833-9700; www.majesticdetroit.com; 4120 Woodward Ave) and the larger Majestic Theater (☎ 313-833-9700; 4140 Woodward Ave) are side-by-side concert halls where indie rockers and rap DJs perform. The complex also has bowling, billiards, a pizza joint and a café.

THEATER & CULTURE

Fox Theatre (☎ 313-983-6611; 2211 Woodward Ave) It's a gloriously restored 1928 venue that large touring shows occupy.

Puppet ART/Detroit Puppet Theater (☎ 313-961-7777; www.puppetart.org; 25 E Grand River Ave; adult/child $10/5; 👶) Soviet-trained puppeteers perform beautiful shows in this 70-person theater; a small museum displays puppets from different cultures. Shows are typically held on Saturday afternoons.

Detroit Film Theatre (☎ 313-833-3237; 5200 Woodward Ave; tickets $7.50) Watch art flicks at the Detroit Institute of Arts (p612).

SPORTS

Palace of Auburn Hills (☎ 248-377-0100; www.nba.com/pistons; 5 Championship Dr) The Palace hosts the Pistons pro basketball team. It's about 30 miles northwest of downtown; take I-75 to exit 81.

Joe Louis Arena (☎ 313-396-7575; www.detroitredwings.com; 600 Civic Center Dr) The much-loved Red Wings play pro ice hockey at this arena where, if you can wrangle tickets, you might witness the strange octopus-throwing custom.

Ford Field (☎ 313-262-2003; www.detroitlions.com; 2000 Brush St) The Lions pro football team plays here.

Comerica Park (☎ 313-471-2255; www.detroittigers.com; 2100 Woodward Ave) Next door to Ford Field, the Tigers (in case you hadn't guessed from the giant stone animals roaring over the entrance) play pro baseball here. The park is particularly kid friendly, with a small Ferris wheel and carousel inside.

Shopping

Pure Detroit (☎ 313-259-5100; www.puredetroit.com; Renaissance Center, Level 1 of Wintergarden; 🕑 10:30am-5:30pm Mon-Fri, 11am-5pm Sat) Local artists create stylish products for Pure Detroit that celebrate the city's fast-cars-and-rock-music culture. This auto-centric outlet in GM's headquarters offers clocks made out of pistons and handbags cut from Camaro upholstery.

People's Records (☎ 313-831-0864; 3161 Woodward Ave; 🕑 10am-6pm Mon-Sat) Calling all crate-diggers: DJ-owned People's Records is your vinyl Valhalla. Used 45s are the specialty, with more than 80,000 jazz, soul and R & B titles filling bins.

Getting There & Around

Detroit Metro Airport (DTW; ☎ 734-247-7678; www.metroairport.com) is about 20 miles southwest of Detroit. Transport options from the airport to the city are few: you can take a cab for about $45; or you can take the 125 SMART bus ($1.50), but it takes one to 1½ hours to get downtown.

Greyhound (☎ 313-961-8005; 1001 Howard St) runs to various cities in Michigan and beyond. Megabus (☎ 877-462-6342; www.megabus.com/us) runs to/from Chicago (five hours) daily; departures are from downtown (at the Grand Circus Park People Mover station) and Wayne State University (corner off Cass and Warren Aves).

Amtrak (☎ 313-873-3442; 11 W Baltimore Ave) trains go thrice daily to Chicago ($29 to $41, 5½ hours). You can also head east – to New York ($78 to $152, 16½ hours) or destinations en route – but you'll first be bused to Toledo.

Transit Windsor (☎ 519-944-4111; www.citywindsor.ca/transitwindsor) operates the Tunnel Bus to Windsor, Canada. It costs $3.75 (American or Canadian) and departs by Mariner's Church (corner of Randolph St and Jefferson Ave) near the Detroit–Windsor Tunnel entrance, as well as other spots downtown. Bring your passport.

The Detroit Department of Transportation (DDOT; ☎ 888-336-8287; www.ridedetroittransit.com) handles the pokey local bus service ($1.50). The Suburban Mobility Authority for Regional Transportation (SMART; ☎ 866-962-5515; www.smartbus.org) handles service to the 'burbs ($1.50 to $2). For information on the People Mover city-rail line, see p614.

If you need a cab service, call Checker Cab (☎ 313-963-7000).

AROUND DETROIT

Stunning Americana and good eatin' lie just down the road from Detroit.

Dearborn

Dearborn is 10 miles west of downtown Detroit and home to two of the USA's finest museums. The indoor Henry Ford Museum (☎ 313-982-6001; www.thehenryford.org; 20900 Oakwood Blvd; adult/child 5-12yr $15/11; 🕑 9:30am-5pm) contains a fascinating wealth of American culture, such as the chair Lincoln was sitting in when he was assassinated, the presidential limo in which Kennedy was killed, the hot-dog-shaped Oscar Mayer Wienermobile (photo op!) and the bus on which Rosa Parks refused to give up her seat. Don't worry: you'll get your vintage car fix here too. Parking is $5. The adjacent, outdoor Greenfield Village (☎ 313-982-6001; adult/child 5-12yr $22/16; 🕑 9:30am-5pm daily mid-Apr–Oct, 9:30am-5pm Fri-Sun Nov & Dec) features historic buildings shipped in from all over the country, reconstructed and restored, such as Thomas Edison's laboratory from Menlo Park and the Wright Brothers' airplane workshop. Plus you can add on the Rouge Factory Tour (☎ 313-982-6001; adult/child 5-12yr $15/11; 🕑 9:30am-3pm Mon-Sat) and see F-150 trucks roll off the assembly line where Ford first perfected his self-sufficient, mass-production techniques.

All of these three attractions are separate, but you can get a combination ticket for Henry Ford and Greenfield Village (adult/child five to 12 years $32/24). Plan on at least one very full day at the complex.

Dearborn has the nation's greatest concentration of people of Arab descent, so it's no surprise that the Arab American National Museum (☎ 313-582-2266; www.arabamericanmuseum.org; 13624 Michigan Ave; adult/child 6-12yr $6/3; 🕑 10am-6pm Wed-Sat, to 8pm Thu, noon-5pm Sun) popped up here. It's a noble concept, located in a pretty, bright-tiled building, but it's not terribly exciting unless actor Jamie Farr's MASH TV-show script wows you. The thousand-and-one Arabian eateries lining Michigan Ave provide a more engaging feel for the culture. Cavernous La Pita (☎ 313-563-7482; 22681 Newman St; sandwiches $3.75-4.75, mains $10-19; 🕑 10am-11pm Mon-Sat, 11am-10pm Sun) is a classic; it's a block south of Michigan Ave, tucked into one of the many strip malls along the road.

Ann Arbor

Forty-odd miles west of Detroit, liberal and bookish Ann Arbor is home to the University of Michigan. The walkable downtown, which

CLASSIC CARS IN MICHIGAN

More than sand dunes, beaches and Mackinac Island fudge, Michigan is synonymous with cars. While the connection hasn't been so positive in recent years, the state commemorates its glory days via several auto museums. The following fleets are within a few hours' drive from the Motor City.

Henry Ford Museum (p617) This Dearborn museum is loaded with vintage cars, including the first one Henry Ford ever built. In adjacent Greenfield Village you can ride in a Model T that rolled off the assembly line in 1923.

Automotive Hall of Fame (☎ 313-240-4000; www.automotivehalloffame.org; 21400 Oakwood Blvd, Dearborn; adult/child 5-12yr $8/4; 🕒 9am-5pm late May-Oct, closed Mon & Tue Nov-Apr) Next door to the Henry Ford Museum, the interactive Auto Hall focuses on the people behind famed cars, such as Mr Ferdinand Porsche and Mr Soichiro Honda.

Motorsports Hall of Fame (☎ 800-250-7223; www.mshf.com; Novi Rd, Novi; adult/child under 12yr $5/3; 🕒 10am-5pm Tue-Sun) In the Novi Expo Center just off I-96, the Motorsports Hall has three-dozen vehicles that were driven by legendary racers.

Walter P Chrysler Museum (☎ 248-944-0001; www.chryslerheritage.com; 1 Chrysler Dr, Auburn Hills; adult/child 6-12yr $8/4; 🕒 10am-5pm Tue-Sat, noon-5pm Sun) This museum at Chrysler's headquarters (take exit 78 off I-75) has 70 beauties on display, including rare Dodge, DeSoto, Nash and Hudson models.

Sloan Museum (☎ 810-237-3450; www.sloanmuseum.com; 1221 E Kearsley St, Flint; adult/child 3-11yr $6/4; 🕒 10am-5pm Mon-Fri, noon-5pm Sat & Sun) The Sloan has two buildings housing more than 60 cars, including the oldest production-model Chevrolet in existence and a 1910 Buick 'Bug' raced by Louis Chevrolet.

Gilmore Car Museum (☎ 269-671-5089; www.gilmorecarmuseum.org; 6865 Hickory Rd, Hickory Corners; adult/child 7-15yr $9/7; 🕒 9am-5pm Mon-Fri, to 6pm Sat & Sun, closed Nov-Apr) North of Kalamazoo along Hwy 43, this museum complex offers 22 barns filled with 120 vintage autos, including 15 Rolls Royces dating back to a 1910 Silver Ghost.

RE Olds Transportation Museum (☎ 517-372-0529; www.reoldsmuseum.org; 240 Museum Dr, Lansing; adult/child 5-18yr $5/3; 🕒 10am-5pm Tue-Sat year-round, noon-5pm Sun Apr-Oct) Twenty vintage cars sit in the old Lansing City Bus Garage, including the first Oldsmobile, which was built in 1897.

abuts the campus, is loaded with free-trade coffee shops, bookstores, brewpubs and independent record stores. The Ann Arbor CVB (☎ 800-888-9487; www.annarbor.org) has the town lowdown.

The university provides the main sights. The Matthaei Botanical Gardens (☎ 734-647-7600; www.mbgna.umich.edu; 1800 Dixboro Rd; admission free; 🕒 sunrise-sunset) offers 300-plus acres crisscrossed by walking paths, plus a cacti-filled conservatory (adult/child 5-18yr $5/2; 🕒 10am-4:30pm Tue-Sun, to 8pm Wed); it's about 5 miles east of downtown. The 'Arb' – Nichols Arboretum (☎ 734-647-7600; 1610 Washington Heights; admission free; 🕒 sunrise-sunset) – is another oasis of greenery for walking, jogging and Frisbee throwing; it's on the campus' east side. The university also has groovy free art and archaeology museums.

If you happen to arrive on a fall weekend and wonder why 110,000 people – the size of Ann Arbor's entire population, more or less – are crowding into the school's stadium, the answer is football. Tickets are nearly impossible to purchase, especially when nemesis Ohio State is in town. You can try by calling the U of M Ticket Office (☎ 734-764-0247; www.mgoblue.com /ticketoffice).

There are several B&Bs within walking distance of downtown. Hotels tend to be about 5 miles out, with several clustered south on State St. The CVB website has contact details.

All these things are fine and dandy, but let's be frank: the real reason to visit Ann Arbor is the donut sundae.

our pick Zingerman's Roadhouse (☎ 734-663-3663; 2501 Jackson Ave; burgers $10-16, mains $17-27; 🕒 7am-10pm Mon-Thu, to 11pm Fri & Sat, to 9pm Sun) makes the glorious, bourbon-caramel-sauced dessert, as well as traditional American dishes like Carolina grits, Iowa pork chops and Massachusetts oysters using sustainably produced ingredients; it's 2 miles west of downtown. Zingerman's Delicatessen (☎ 734-663-3354; 422 Detroit St; sandwiches $10-15.50; 🕒 7am-10pm) piles local, organic and specialty ingredients onto towering sandwiches in downtown proper. Jerusalem Garden (☎ 734-995-5060; 307 S 5th Ave; mains $4-9; 🕒 10am-9pm Mon-Thu, to 9:30pm Fri & Sat, noon-8pm Sun) plates Middle Eastern dishes.

When darkness falls, head to the Blind Pig (☎ 734-996-8555; www.blindpigmusic.com; 208 S 1st St) for rock and blues, or the folk-oriented Ark (☎ 734-761-1800; www.a2ark.org; 316 S Main St). Handcrafted beer, like crisp Sacred Cow IPA, is found at Arbor Brewing Company (☎ 734-213-1393; 114 E Washington St).

CENTRAL MICHIGAN

Michigan's heartland, plunked in the center of the Lower Peninsula, alternates between fertile farms and highway-crossed urban areas.

Lansing

Smallish Lansing is the state capital; a few miles east lies East Lansing, home of Michigan State University. The Greater Lansing CVB (☎ 888-252-6746; www.lansing.org) has information on both.

Between Lansing's downtown and the university is the River Trail, which extends 8 miles along the shores of Michigan's longest river, the Grand. The paved path is popular with cyclists, joggers and inline skaters, and links a number of attractions, including a children's museum, zoo and fish ladder.

Downtown, the Michigan Historical Museum (☎ 517-373-3559; 702 W Kalamazoo St; admission free; 🕘 9am-4:30pm Mon-Fri, 10am-4pm Sat, 1-5pm Sun) features 26 permanent galleries, including a replica UP copper mine you can walk through. The RE Olds Transportation Museum (see boxed text, opposite) will please car buffs.

Lansing's downtown hotels feed off politicians and lobbyists, so they're fairly expensive. It's best to head to East Lansing's Wild Goose Inn (☎ 517-333-3334; www.wildgooseinn.com; 512 Albert St; r incl breakfast $139-159; ☒ 📶), a six-room B&B one block from Michigan State's campus. All rooms have fireplaces and most have Jacuzzis.

Kewpee's (☎ 517-482-8049; 118 S Washington Sq; mains $3-7; 🕘 8am-6pm Mon-Fri, 11am-2pm Sat) has been feeding folks olive burgers and crisp onion rings by the capitol for more than 85 years. For breakfast, Golden Harvest (☎ 517-485-3663; 1625 Turner St; breakfast $7-9; 🕘 8am-2pm) is a loud, punk-rock-meets-hippie diner serving the sausage-and-French-toast Bubba Sandwich and hearty omelets. Abundant restaurants, pubs and nightclubs also fill Michigan State's northern campus area.

Grand Rapids

The second-largest city in Michigan, Grand Rapids is known for office-furniture manufacturing, a conservative Dutch Reform attitude and the fact that it's only 30 miles from Lake Michigan's Gold Coast. The Grand Rapids CVB (☎ 800-678-9859; www.visitgrandrapids.org) provides maps, coupons and any other information you'll need.

The downtown Gerald R Ford Museum (☎ 616-254-0400; www.fordlibrarymuseum.gov; 303 Pearl St NW; adult/child 6-18yr $7/3; 🕘 9am-5pm) is dedicated to the country's only Michigander president (though he was born with a different name in Nebraska). Ford stepped into the Oval Office after Richard Nixon and his vice president, Spiro Agnew, resigned in disgrace. It's an intriguing period in US history, and the museum does an excellent job of covering it, right down to displaying the burglary tools used in the Watergate break-in. Ford died in 2006 and is buried on a hillside on the museum's grounds.

The 118-acre Frederik Meijer Gardens (☎ 616-957-1580; www.meijergardens.org; 1000 E Beltline NE; adult/child 5-13yr $12/6; 🕘 9am-5pm Mon-Sat, to 9pm Tue, noon-5pm Sun) features impressive blooms and sculptures by Auguste Rodin, Henry Moore and others. It is 5 miles east of downtown via I-196.

Downtown's Days Inn (☎ 616-235-7611; www.dayshotelgrandrapids.com; 310 Pearl St NW; r $89-139; 🅿 ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) is a good-value, well-located sleeping option. But if you come to Grand Rapids with time for only one stop, make it Founders Brewing Company (☎ 616-776-1195; 235 Grandville Ave SW; sandwiches $6-8; 🕘 11am-2am Mon-Sat, 3pm-2am Sun). The ruby-tinged Dirty Bastard Ale is good swillin', and there's meaty (or vegetable-y, for vegetarians) deli sandwiches to soak it up.

LAKE MICHIGAN SHORE

They don't call it the Gold Coast for nothing. Michigan's 300-mile western shoreline features endless stretches of beach, coastal parks, wineries, orchards and small towns that boom during the summer – and shiver during the snow-packed winter. Note all state parks listed here take campsite reservations (☎ 800-447-2757; www.midnrreservations.com; fee $8) and require a vehicle permit (day/year $8/29), unless specified otherwise.

Harbor Country

Harbor Country refers to a group of eight small, lake-hugging towns just over the Michigan border. Yep, they've got your requisite beaches, wineries and antique shops; however, they've got a couple of big surprises too. The Harbor Country Chamber of Commerce (☎ 269-469-5409; www.harborcountry.org) has the basics.

First up, surfing. Believe it, people: you can surf Lake Michigan, and the VW bus–driving dudes at Third Coast Surf Shop (☎ 269-932-4575; www.thirdcoastsurfshop.com; 22 S Smith St; 🕘 11am-6pm Jun-Aug, reduced hours Sep-May) will show you how. They provide wetsuits and boards for surfing, skim boarding and paddle boarding. For novices, they offer 1½-hour lessons right from the public beach Thursday to Sunday from June through to August (and Saturdays in September). Board rentals cost $15/25 per half-/full day. Wet suits cost $10/15 per half-/full day. Lessons (equipment included) cost $45/65 for group/private instruction. The surf shop is in New Buffalo, Harbor Country's biggest town.

Three Oaks is the only Harbor community that's inland (6 miles in, via US 12). Here Green Acres meets Greenwich Village in a funky farm-and-arts blend. By day, rent bikes at Dewey Cannon Trading Company (☎ 269-756-3361; 3 Dewey Cannon Ave; bike per day $15; 🕘 10am-4pm Sun-Fri, to 9pm Sat) and cycle lightly used rural roads past orchards and wineries. By eve, catch a provocative play or art-house flick at Three Oaks' theaters.

Hungry? Get a wax paper–wrapped cheeseburger, spicy curly fries and cold beer at Redamak's (☎ 269-469-4522; 616 E Buffalo St; burgers $4.50-9; 🕘 noon-10:30pm, closed Nov-Feb) in New Buffalo.

Saugatuck & Douglas

Saugatuck is one of the Gold Coast's most popular resort areas, known for its strong arts community, numerous B&Bs and gay-friendly vibe. Douglas is its twin city a mile or so south, and they've pretty much sprawled into one. The Saugatuck/Douglas CVB (☎ 269-857-1701; www.saugatuck.com) provides maps and more.

The best thing to do in Saugatuck is also the most affordable. Jump aboard the Saugatuck Chain Ferry (one way $1; 🕘 9am-9pm late May-early Sep) at the foot of Mary St and the operator will pull you across the Kalamazoo River. On the other side, walk to the dock's left and soon you'll come to Mt Baldhead, a 200ft-high sand dune. Huff up the stairs to see the grand view, and then race down the north side to beautiful Oval Beach.

Galleries and shops proliferate downtown on Water and Butler Sts; galleries and antique shops also line the Blue Star Hwy running south from Saugatuck. Blueberry U-pick farms share the road here and make a juicy stop.

Several frilly B&Bs are tucked into the Saugatuck's century-old Victorian homes, with most ranging from $125 to $300 a night per couple in the summer high season. Try the Bayside Inn (☎ 269-857-4321; www.baysideinn.net; 618 Water St; r incl breakfast $110-200; 📶), a 10-room former boathouse with an outdoor tub on Saugatuck's waterfront, or the retro-cool Pines Motorlodge (☎ 269-857-5211; www.thepinesmotorlodge.com; 56 Blue Star Hwy; r incl breakfast $129-189; 📶), with rooms amid the firs in Douglas.

For eats, Marro's Italian Restaurant (☎ 269-857-4248; 147 Water St; pizzas $19-23; 🕘 5-10pm Tue-Sun) gets props for its pizzas. Saugatuck Brewing Company (☎ 269-857-7222; 2948 Blue Star Hwy; 🕘 11am-11pm Sun-Thu, to midnight Fri & Sat) gets praise for its beers and local clientele hangin' out. And for dessert, nothing beats the bulging fruit pies at Crane's Pie Pantry (☎ 269-561-2297; 6054 124th Ave; 🕘 9am-8pm Mon-Sat, 11am-8pm Sun May-Oct, reduced hours Nov-Apr). It's 3 miles south of Saugatuck–Douglas on the Blue Star, and then 4 miles inland on Hwy 89 in Fennville.

Muskegon & Ludington

These towns are jump-off points for the two ferries that sail across the lake, providing a shortcut between Michigan and Wisconsin. The Lake Express (☎ 866-914-1010; www.lake-express.com; 🕘 May-Oct) crosses between Muskegon and Milwaukee (one way adult/child five to 17 years $81/47.50, car/bicycle $90/12, 2½ hours). The older SS Badger (☎ 888-337-7948; www.ssbadger.com; 🕘 mid-May–mid-Oct) crosses from Ludington to Manitowoc (one way adult/child five to 15 years $74/29, car/bicycle $77/6, four hours).

The towns themselves aren't much, but the Muskegon Winter Sports Complex (☎ 231-744-9629; www.msports.org; 442 Scenic Dr; 🕘 Nov-Mar) kicks ass with its full-on luge track, ice-skating rinks and cross-country ski trails. And lakeside Ludington State Park (☎ 231-843-8671; campsites $16-27; 🕘 year-round), beyond the city limits on M-116, is one of Michigan's largest and most popular playlots. It has a top-notch trail system, a renovated lighthouse to visit (or live in, as a volunteer lighthouse keeper) and miles of beach.

Sleeping Bear Dunes National Lakeshore

This national park stretches from north of Frankfort to just before Leland, on the Leelanau Peninsula. Stop at the park's visitors center (☎ 231-326-5134; www.nps.gov/slbe; 9922 Front St; 🕑 8:30am-6pm Jun-Aug, to 4pm Sep-May) in Empire for information, trail maps and vehicle entry permits (week/annual $10/20).

Attractions include the famous Dune Climb along Hwy 109, where you trudge up the 200ft-high dune and then run or roll down. Gluttons for leg-muscle punishment can keep slogging all the way to Lake Michigan, a strenuous 1½-hour trek one way; bring water. There are also plenty of easier hikes; ask at the visitors center. Short on time or stamina? Take the 7-mile, one-lane, picnic area–studded Pierce Stocking Scenic Drive, perhaps the best way to absorb the stunning lake vistas.

Those seeking an overnight wilderness adventure should head to North Manitou Island or day-trip to South Manitou Island on the ferry (☎ 231-256-9061; www.leelanau.com/manitou; Leland). A round-trip costs $32/18 per adult/child under 13 years, with two to seven departures per week from May to mid-October. The ride takes about 1½ hours. On South Manitou, the 7-mile hike to the Valley of the Giants, a towering stand of old cedar trees, rewards with mystical silence.

Feeling lazy? Plop your butt in an inner tube and float down the Platte River with Riverside Canoe Trips (☎ 231-325-5622; www.canoemichigan.com; 5042 Scenic Hwy, Honor; tube/kayak/canoe $18/28/39; 🕑 May–mid-Oct) back on the mainland.

Traverse City

Michigan's 'cherry capital' is the largest city in the northern half of the Lower Peninsula. It's got a bit of urban sprawl, but it's still a happenin' base from which to see the Sleeping Bear Dunes, Mission Peninsula wineries, U-pick orchards and other area attractions.

Stop at the downtown visitors center (☎ 231-947-1120, 800-872-8377; www.visittraversecity.com; 101 W Grandview Pkwy; 🕑 9am-6pm Mon-Sat, 11am-3pm Sun Jun–mid-Oct, 9am-5pm Mon-Fri, 9am-3pm Sat mid-Oct–May) for maps and the do-it-yourself foodie tour brochure (also available online). Or kick it up a notch and take a guided jaunt to local farms and cherry orchards with Learn Great Foods (☎ 866-240-1650; www.learngreatfoods.com; tours $50-105). Excursions vary; some include alfresco dinner on the farm. Check online for the schedule and locations.

Traverse City State Park (☎ 231-922-5270; 1132 US 31 N; campsites $27) is a popular place to get your beach on, with 700ft of sugary sand. It's about 2 miles east of downtown, and dozens of resorts, motels, jet-ski rental shops and parasail operators fill the space in between.

Wineries are all over, but the most popular drive is to head north from Traverse City on Hwy 37 for 20 miles to the end of Mission Peninsula. Stop at Chateau Grand Traverse (☎ 231-223-7355; www.cgtwines.com; 🕑 10am-7pm Mon-Sat, noon-6pm Sun Jun-Aug, reduced hours Sep-May) or Chateau Chantal (☎ 800-969-4009; www.chateauchantal.com; 🕑 11am-8pm Mon-Sat, noon-5pm Sun mid-Jun–Aug, reduced hours Sep–mid-Jun) and sample their Chardonnay or Pinot Noir. Peninsula Cellars (☎ 231-933-9787; www.peninsulacellars.com; 🕑 10am-6pm Mon-Sat, noon-5pm Sun May-Oct, reduced hours Nov-Apr), which is in an old schoolhouse, is often less crowded and makes fine whites. Buy any local bottle; you can take it out to Lighthouse Park beach, at the peninsula's tip, and enjoy it with the waves licking your toes.

Back in the city, Brick Wheels (☎ 231-947-4274; www.brickwheels.com; 736 E 8th St; per day $30; 🕑 9am-6pm Tue-Thu, to 8pm Mon & Fri, 9am-4:30pm Sat, 11am-4pm Sun) rents bicycles; visitors can immediately jump onto the Traverse Area Recreation Trail (TART), an 11-mile paved path along the bay. Those with more ambition (and money) can learn to kiteboard with the outfitter Broneah (☎ 231-392-2212; www.broneah.com; 207 Grandview Pkwy; full-day lesson $450).

If you arrive in mid-July, be sure to drive north on US 31 toward Elk Rapids and beyond for roadside stands selling cherries and pies and for U-pick farms. Actually, they pop up throughout the region. We mean it literally when we say take your pick.

Traverse City lodgings are often full – and more expensive – during weekends; the visitors center website has contact details. Most resorts overlooking the bay cost $150 to $250 per night. The aforementioned Chantal and Grand Traverse wineries also double as B&Bs and fit into this price range.

Guests can rent jet skis and enjoy nightly bonfires at Park Shore Resort (☎ 877-349-8898; www.parkshoreresort.com; 1401 US 31 North; r incl breakfast weekday/weekend from $150/190; ❄ 📶 🏊). Motels on the other side of US 31 (away from the water) are more moderately priced, such as Mitchell Creek Inn (☎ 231-947-9330, 800-947-9330; www.mitchellcreek.com; 894 Munson Ave; r/cottages from $99/150), near the state park beach.

After a day of fun in the sun, refresh with sandwiches at gastronome favorite Folgarelli's

(☎ 231-941-7651; 424 W Front St; sandwiches $6-9; ⏰ 9:30am-6:30pm Mon-Fri, 9:30am-5:30 Sat) and cold, handcrafted beer and root beer at North Peak Brewing Company (☎ 231-941-7325; 400 W Front St).

Charlevoix & Petoskey

These two towns provide Hemingway sights and island excursions (see boxed text, below). They're also where Michigan's upper-crusters maintain summer homes. The downtown areas of both places have gourmet restaurants and high-class shops, and the marinas are filled with yachts.

In Petoskey, Stafford's Perry Hotel (☎ 231-347-4000; www.staffords.com; Bay at Lewis St; r $129-259; ❄ 💻 📶) is a grand historic place in which to stay. Petoskey State Park (☎ 231-347-2311; 2475 M-119; campsites $27-29; ⏰ year-round) is north along M-119 and has a beautiful beach. Look for indigenous Petoskey stones, which are honeycomb-patterned fragments of ancient coral. Or look for mushrooms. Inland at Boyne City, hundreds of fungus lovers forage at the National Morel Mushroom Festival (www.morelfest.com; ⏰ mid-May).

STRAITS OF MACKINAC

This region, between the Upper and Lower Peninsulas, features a long history of forts and fudge shops. Car-free Mackinac Island is Michigan's premier tourist draw.

One of the most spectacular sights in the area is the 5-mile-long Mackinac Bridge (known locally as 'Big Mac'), which spans the Straits of Mackinac. The $3 toll is worth every penny as the views from the bridge, which include two Great Lakes, two peninsulas and hundreds of islands, are second to none in Michigan.

And remember: despite the spelling, it's pronounced mac-in-aw.

Mackinaw City

At the south end of Mackinac Bridge, bordering I-75, is touristy Mackinaw City. It serves mainly as a jump-off point to Mackinac Island, but it does have a couple of interesting sights.

Next to the bridge (its visitors center is actually beneath the bridge) is Colonial Michilimackinac (☎ 231-436-5563; www.mackinacparks.com; adult/child 5-17yr $10.50/6.50; ⏰ 9am-6pm Jun-Aug, to 4pm May & Sep–mid-Oct), a National Historic Landmark that features a reconstructed stockade first built in 1715 by the French. Some 3 miles southeast of the city on US 23 is Historic Mill Creek (☎ 231-436-4226; www.mackinacparks.com; adult/child 5-17yr $8/4.75; ⏰ 9am-5pm Jun-Aug, to 4pm May & Sep–mid-Oct), which has an 18th-century sawmill, historic displays and nature trails. A combination ticket for both sights, along with Fort Mackinac (opposite), is available at a discount.

If you can't find lodging on Mackinac Island – which should be your first choice – motels line I-75 and US 23 in Mackinaw City. Most cost $100-plus per night. Try Days Inn (☎ 231-436-8961; www.daysinnbridgeview.com; 206 N Nicolet St; r incl breakfast $110-160; ❄ 📶 🏊).

PAPA'S FOOTPRINTS

A number of writers have ties to northwest Michigan, but none are as famous as Ernest Hemingway, who spent the summers of his youth at his family's cottage on Walloon Lake. Hemingway buffs often tour the area to view the places that made their way into his writing.

In Petoskey, you can see the Hemingway collection at the Little Traverse History Museum (☎ 231-347-2620; www.petoskeymuseum.org; 100 Depot Ct; admission $2; ⏰ 10am-4pm Mon-Fri, 1-4pm Sat Jun–mid-Oct), including rare 1st-edition books that the author autographed for a friend when he visited in 1947. Afterward, visit City Park Grill (☎ 231-347-0101; 432 E Lake St; ⏰ 11:30am-11pm Mon-Fri, to midnight Sat & Sun), where Hemingway, with his famous drinking habit, was a regular.

Next, head south on US 31 toward Charlevoix. Just before entering town, turn east onto Boyne City Rd. It skirts beautiful Lake Charlevoix and eventually arrives at the Horton Bay General Store, which appears in Hemingway's short story 'Up in Michigan.' Built in 1876 with 'a high false front,' the store's most prominent feature is its large porch, with benches and stairs at either end. Hemingway idled away some youthful summers on that porch and fished at nearby Horton Creek for trout. His fishing buddy was Vollie Fox, whose family owned the Red Fox Inn adjacent to the store. Fox's grandson now runs a Hemingway bookstore there.

The Michigan Hemingway Society (www.michiganhemingwaysociety.org) provides further information for self-guided tours. It also hosts a Hemingway festival for a weekend every October.

IF YOU HAVE A FEW MORE DAYS

Those looking for an alternative to Mackinac Island's fudgey hullabaloo can sail from downtown Charlevoix to Beaver Island (www.beaverisland.org), which is a quiet, Irish-influenced enclave of 600 people. The ferry (☎ 231-547-2311, 888-446-4095; www.beaverislandboatcompany.com) makes one to four trips daily from May to mid-September, less often in April and mid-September through to mid-December. The two-hour journey costs $24/75 one way per person/car.

Once on the island, Inland Seas Kayaking (☎ 231-448-2221; www.inlandseaskayaking.com; half-day tour $65) offers rewarding kayaking or snorkeling trips; the latter visit shipwrecked schooners. The island has a handful of hotels and B&Bs. You'll need to stay overnight if you go kayaking or snorkeling. The Emerald Isle Hotel (☎ 231-448-2376; www.emeraldislehotel.com; 37985 Kings Hwy; d $104-130, ste $149-169; 📶) is basic but pleasant.

St Ignace

At the north end of Mackinac Bridge is St Ignace, the other departure point for Mackinac Island and the second-oldest settlement in Michigan – Père Jacques Marquette founded a mission here in 1671. As soon as you've paid your bridge toll, you'll pass a huge visitors center (☎ 906-643-6979; I-75N; 🕐 8am-6pm summer, 9am-5pm rest of year) with racks of statewide information.

Mackinac Island

From either Mackinaw City or St Ignace you can catch a ferry to Mackinac Island, Michigan's top crowd-puller. The island's location in the straits between Lake Michigan and Lake Huron made it a prized port in the North American fur trade, and a site the British and Americans battled over many times.

The most important date on this 3.8-sq-mile island was 1898 – the year cars were banned to encourage tourism. Today all travel is by horse or bicycle; even the police use bikes to patrol the town. The crowds of tourists – called Fudgies by the islanders – can be crushing at times, particularly during summer weekends. But when the last ferry leaves in the evening and clears out the day-trippers, Mackinac's real charm emerges and you drift back into another, slower era.

The visitors center (☎ 800-454-5227; www.mackinacisland.org; Main St; 🕐 9am-5pm), by the Arnold Line ferry dock, has maps for hiking and cycling. Eighty percent of the island is state parkland. Not much stays open between November and April.

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

Edging the island's shoreline is Hwy 185, the only Michigan highway that doesn't permit cars. The best way to view the incredible scenery along this 8-mile road is by bicycle; bring your own or rent one in town at one of the many outfitters for $7 to $8 per hour. You can loop around the flat road in about an hour.

The two best attractions – Arch Rock (a huge limestone arch that sits 150ft above Lake Huron) and Fort Holmes (the island's other fort) – are both free. You can also ride past the Grand Hotel, which boasts a porch stretching halfway to Detroit. Unfortunately if you're not staying at the Grand (minimum $235 per night per person), it costs $10 to stroll its long porch. Best to admire from afar.

Fort Mackinac (☎ 906-847-3328; www.mackinacparks.com; adult/child 5-17yr $10/6; 🕐 9:30am-6pm Jun-Aug, 9:30am-4:30pm May & Sep–mid-Oct) sits atop limestone cliffs near downtown. The British built it in 1780, and it's one of the best-preserved military forts in the country. Stop into the fort's tearoom for a bite and million-dollar view of downtown and the Straits of Mackinac from the outdoor tables.

The fort admission price is also good for six other museums in town, including the Dr Beaumont Museum (where the doctor performed his famous digestive tract experiments) and Benjamin Blacksmith Shop. The Indian Dormitory Art Museum, housing Native American and other arts, is scheduled to open in 2010.

SLEEPING

Rooms are booked far in advance during summer weekends; July to mid-August is peak season. The visitors center website has lodging contacts. Camping is not permitted anywhere on the island.

Most hotels and B&Bs charge at least $175 for two people. Exceptions include the four-room Bogan Lane Inn (☎ 906-847-3439; www.boganlaneinn.com; Bogan Lane; r incl breakfast $85-125; 🕒 year-round; 🚭); the 11-room Cloghaun B&B (☎ 906-847-3885; www.cloghaun.com; Market St; r incl breakfast $105-190; 🕒 mid-May–late Oct; 🚭 📶) and the eight-room Hart's B&B (☎ 906-847-3854; www.hartsmackinac.com; Market St; r incl breakfast $145-175; ❄ 🚭). All are walkable to downtown.

EATING & DRINKING

Fudge shops are the island's best-known eateries; resistance is futile when they use fans to blow the aroma out onto Huron St. Hamburger and sandwich shops abound downtown.

JL Beanery Coffeehouse (☎ 906-847-6533; Huron St; mains $6-13; 🕒 7am-7pm; 📶) Read the newspaper, sip a steaming cup of joe and gaze at the lake at this waterside café. It serves dandy breakfasts, sandwiches and soups.

Horn's Bar (☎ 906-847-6154; Main St; mains $10-18; 🕒 11am-2am) Horn's saloon serves American burgers and south-of-the-border fare, and there's live entertainment nightly.

Village Inn (☎ 906-847-3542; Hoban St; mains $18-23; 🕒 8am-10pm) Planked whitefish, pan-fried perch and other fresh-from-the-lake fish, meat and pasta dishes stuff diners at this year-round local hangout with a bar and outdoor seating.

GETTING THERE & AROUND

Three ferry companies – Arnold Line (☎ 800-542-8528; www.arnoldline.com), Shepler's (☎ 800-828-6157; www.sheplersferry.com) and Star Line (☎ 800-638-9892; www.mackinacferry.com) – operate out of both Mackinaw City and St Ignace, and charge the same rates: round-trip adult $24, bicycle $8, child five to 12 years $12. The ferries run several times daily from May to October; Arnold Line runs longer, weather permitting. The trip takes about 15 minutes. Once you're on the island, horse-drawn cabs will take you anywhere. Better yet, rent a bicycle.

UPPER PENINSULA

Rugged and isolated, with hardwood forests blanketing 90% of its land, the Upper Peninsula (UP) is a Midwest highlight. Only 45 miles of interstate highway slice through the trees, punctuated by a handful of cities, of which Marquette (population 20,000) is the largest. Between the small towns lie miles of undeveloped shoreline on Lakes Huron, Michigan and Superior; scenic two-lane roads; and pasties, which are the local meat-and-vegetable pot pies brought over by Cornish miners 150 years ago.

You'll find it's a different world up north. Residents of the UP, aka 'Yoopers,' consider themselves distinct from the rest of the state – they've even threatened to secede in the past.

Sault Ste Marie & Around

Founded in 1668, Sault Ste Marie (Sault is pronounced 'soo') is the oldest city in Michigan and the third oldest in the USA. The town is best known for its locks that raise and lower 1000ft-long freighters between the different lake levels. Soo Locks Park & Visitors Center (☎ 906-253-9101; admission free; 🕒 9am-9pm mid-May–mid-Oct) is on Portage Ave in the heart of downtown. It features displays, videos and neato observation decks from which you can watch the boats leap 21ft from Lake Superior to Lake Huron.

Spiffy Askwith Lockview Motel (☎ 906-632-2491, 800-854-0745; www.lockview.com; 327 W Portage Ave; r incl breakfast $75-81; 🕒 May–mid-Oct) sits across from the locks and within walking distance of belly-filling Irish pubs, saloons and cafés on Portage Ave.

An hour's drive west of Sault Ste Marie, via Hwy 28 and Hwy 123, is the eastern UP's top attraction: lovely Tahquamenon Falls, with tea-colored waters tinted so by upstream hemlock leaves. The Upper Falls in Tahquamenon Falls State Park (☎ 906-492-3415; per vehicle $8) are 200ft across with a 50ft drop, making them some of the largest falls east of the Mississippi River. The Lower Falls are a series of smaller cascades best viewed by renting a boat (per person $4) and rowing across the river to an island. The large state park also has camping (campsites $16 to $23), great hiking and – bonus – a brewpub near the park entrance.

North of the park, beyond the little town of Paradise, is the fascinating Great Lakes Shipwreck Museum (☎ 906-635-1742; www.shipwreckmuseum.com; 18335 N Whitefish Point Rd; adult/child 6-17yr $12/8; 🕒 10am-6pm May-Oct); its intriguing displays include items trawled up from sunken ships. More than 300 vessels – including the Edmund Fitzgerald that Gordon Lightfoot crooned about – have sunk in the area's congested sea lanes and unpredictable weather, earning it such nicknames as the 'Shipwreck Coast' and 'Graveyard of the Great Lakes.'

Hwy 123 leads to Paradise, where family-owned Cloud Nine Cottages (☎ 906-492-3434; Hwy 123; cabins $75-100) provides four beachside abodes decked out with full kitchens, DVD players and outdoor grills; there's a two-night minimum stay. Numerous other well-kept mom-and-pop motels also line this stretch of highway.

Pictured Rocks National Lakeshore

Sitting roughly mid-peninsula on the Lake Superior shoreline, Munising is the gateway to Pictured Rocks National Lakeshore (www.nps.gov/piro), a 110-sq-mile national park to the east that holds the namesake colored sandstone bluffs. Most people view the 200ft-high cliffs on a 2½-hour boat tour with Pictured Rock Cruises (☎ 906-387-2379; www.picturedrocks.com; adult/child 6-12yr $33/10). Boats depart from downtown Munising hourly between 10am and 5pm (except for 11am and 4pm) in July and August; they go less often from mid-May to June and September to mid-October. You also can drive to Miners Castle Overlook, 12 miles east of Munising off Rte 58, for a good view. The most scenic backpacking adventure in Michigan is the North Country National Scenic Trail (www.nps.gov/noco), a four- to five-day, 42-mile trek from Grand Marais to Munising through the heart of the park. Stop in at the Hiawatha National Forest/Pictured Rocks Visitors Center (☎ 906-387-3700; www.nps.gov/piro; 400 E Munising Ave; 🕐 8am-6pm mid-May–mid-Oct, 9am-4:30pm Mon-Sat rest of year) at the corner of Hwy 28 and Rte 58 for maps, backcountry permits and other details.

Just offshore is Grand Island, part of Hiawatha National Forest. Hop aboard the Grand Island Ferry (☎ 906-387-3503; www.grandislandmi.com; 🕐 late May–mid-Oct) to get there (round-trip adult/child six to 12 years $15/10) and rent a mountain bike (per day $25) from the ferry company to zip around, or take the three-hour bus tour ($22). The ferry dock is on Hwy 28, which is about 4 miles west of town.

Munising has lots of motels, such as the recommended Alger Falls Motel (☎ 906-387-3536; www.algerfallsmotel.com; Hwy 28 E; r $48-68; ❄ 📶). Falling Rock Cafe & Bookstore (☎ 906-387-3008; 104 E Munising Ave; sandwiches $5-9; 🕐 9am-8pm Sun-Fri, to 10pm Sat) has sandwiches, pasties and live music.

Marquette

From Munising, Hwy 28 heads west and hugs Lake Superior. This beautiful stretch of highway has lots of beaches, roadside parks and rest areas where you can pull over and enjoy the scenery. Within 45 miles you'll reach Marquette, a city that abounds with outdoor recreation opportunities – and snow. It's the USA's second-snowiest city.

Stop at the log-lodge visitors center (☎ 906-249-9066; www.marquettecountry.org; 2201 US 41; 🕐 9am-5pm) as you enter the city for brochures on local hiking trails and waterfalls.

The easy Sugarloaf Mountain Trail and the harder, wilderness-like Hogsback Mountain Trail offer panoramic views. Both are reached from County Rd 550, just north of Marquette. In the city, the high bluffs of Presque Isle Park make a great place to catch the sunset.

The Noquemanon Trail Network (www.noquetrails.org) is highly recommended for mountain biking and cross-country skiing. Check the website for equipment rental and day pass (per day $8) purchase locations.

Marquette is the perfect place to stay put for a few days to explore the central UP. Budgeteers can bunk at Value Host Motor Inn (☎ 906-225-5000; www.valuehostmotorinn.com; 1101 US 41 W; r incl breakfast $55-65; ❄ 📶) a few miles west of town. Downtown's Landmark Inn (☎ 906-228-2580; www.thelandmarkinn.com; 230 N Front St; r $124-149; ❄ 📶) fills a historic lakefront building and has a couple of resident ghosts.

Sample the local meat-veggie pie specialty at Jean Kay's Pasties & Subs (☎ 906-228-5310; 1639 Presque Isle Ave; items $3-4; 🕐 11am-9pm Mon-Fri, to 8pm Sat & Sun).

Those craving creative fish and meat dishes, crepes or chicken-pear-brie panini can warm up in Coco's (☎ 906-228-2680; 911 Lakeshore Blvd; sandwiches $7-10, mains $11-15; 🕐 8am-8pm Tue-Sat, to 2pm Sun). Michigan berry pie and house-crafted Belgian chocolates sweeten the lengthy dessert menu.

UpFront and Company (☎ 906-228-5200; 102 E Main St; mains $13-19; 🕐 11am-10pm Mon-Fri, 2-10pm Sat, closed Mon in winter) fires up the wood oven for pizzas, the taps for hearty beers and the amps for live music.

Isle Royale National Park

Totally free of vehicles and roads, Isle Royale National Park (www.nps.gov/isro; user fee per day $4; 🕐 mid-May–Oct), a 210-sq-mile island in Lake Superior, is certainly the place to go for peace and quiet. It gets fewer visitors in a year than Yellowstone National Park gets in a day, which means the packs of wolves and moose creeping through the forest are all yours.

The island is laced with 165 miles of hiking trails that connect dozens of campgrounds along Superior and inland lakes. You must be totally prepared for this wilderness adventure, with a tent, camping stove, sleeping bags, food and water filter. Or say 'to hell with that crap' and shell out the dough for the Rock Harbor Lodge (☎ 906-337-4993; www.isleroyaleresort.com; r/cottages $216-248). The park headquarters (☎ 906-482-0984; 800 E Lakeshore Dr; ⌚ 8am-6pm Mon-Fri, 11am-6pm Sat Jun & Jul, 8am-4:30pm Mon-Fri, 2-4pm Sat Aug–mid-Sep, 8am-4:30pm Mon-Fri rest of year) in Houghton can provide information.

From the dock outside the headquarters in Houghton, the Ranger III (☎ 906-482-0984) departs at 9am on Tuesday and Friday for the six-hour boat trip (one way adult/child seven to 12 years $60/20) to Rock Harbor, at the east end of the island. Royale Air Service (☎ 877-359-4753; www.royaleairservice.com) offers a quicker trip, flying from Houghton County Airport to Rock Harbor in 30 minutes (one way $190). Or head 50 miles up the Keweenaw Peninsula to Copper Harbor (a beautiful drive) and jump on the Isle Royale Queen (☎ 906-289-4437; www.isleroyale.com) for the 8am three-hour crossing (one way adult/child under 12 years $64/32). Days of departure vary, so call for the schedule. You can also access Isle Royale from Grand Portage, Minnesota (p648). Bringing a kayak or canoe on the ferry costs an additional $25 each way.

Porcupine Mountains Wilderness State Park

Michigan's largest state park, with 90 miles of trails, is another UP winner, and it's a heckuva lot easier to reach than Isle Royale. 'The Porkies,' as they're called, are so rugged that loggers bypassed most of the range in the early 19th century, leaving the park with the largest tract of virgin forest between the Rocky Mountains and Adirondacks.

From Silver City, head west on Hwy 107 to reach the Porcupine Mountains visitors center (☎ 906-885-5275; www.porcupinemountains.com; 412 S Boundary Rd; ⌚ 10am-6pm mid-May–mid-Oct), where you buy vehicle entry permits (per day/year $8/29) and backcountry permits (one to four people per night $14). Continue to the end of Hwy 107 and climb 300ft for the stunning view of Lake of the Clouds.

Winter is also a busy time at the Porkies, with downhill skiing (a 787ft vertical drop) and 26 miles of cross-country trails on offer; check with the ski area (☎ 231-420-5405, 906-289-4105; www.skitheporkies.com) for conditions and costs.

The park rents rustic cabins (☎ 906-885-5275, 800-447-2757; www.mi.gov/porkies; cabins $60) perfect for wilderness adventurers, as you have to hike in 1 to 4 miles, boil your own water and use a privy. Sunshine Motel & Cabins (☎ 906-884-2187; www.ontonagon.net/sunshinemotel; 24077 Hwy 64; r $55, cabins $60-75), 3 miles west of Ontonagon, provides another good base.

WISCONSIN

Wisconsin is cheesy and proud of it. The state pumps out 2.4 billion pounds of cheddar, gouda and other smelly goodness – a quarter of America's hunks – from its cow-speckled farmland per year. Local license plates read 'The Dairy State' with udder dignity. Folks here even refer to themselves as 'cheeseheads' and emphasize it by wearing novelty foam rubber cheese-wedge hats for special occasions (most notably during Green Bay Packers football games).

So embrace the cheese thing, because there's a good chance you'll be here for a while. Wisconsin has heaps to offer: exploring the craggy cliffs and lighthouses of Door County (p634), kayaking through sea caves at Apostle Islands National Lakeshore (p635), cow chip throwing along US 12 (p632), mountain biking in Chequamegon National Forest (p635) and soaking up beer, art and festivals in Milwaukee and Madison.

WISCONSIN FACTS

Nicknames Badger State, America's Dairyland
Population 5.6 million
Area 65,500 sq miles
Capital city Madison (population 228,775)
Other cities Milwaukee (population 573,358)
Sales tax 5%
Birthplace of Author Laura Ingalls Wilder (1867–1957), architect Frank Lloyd Wright (1867–1959), painter Georgia O'Keeffe (1887–1986), Senator Joseph McCarthy (1908–57), actor Orson Welles (1915–85)
Home of 'Cheesehead' Packer fans, dairy farms, water parks
Famous for Breweries, artisanal cheese, first state to legislate gay rights
Official dance Polka
Driving distances Milwaukee to Minneapolis 336 miles, Milwaukee to Madison 80 miles

Information

Travel Green Wisconsin (www.travelgreenwisconsin.com) Certifies businesses as ecofriendly by grading them on waste reduction, energy efficiency and seven other categories.

Wisconsin B&B Association (☎ 715-539-9222; www.wbba.org)

Wisconsin Department of Tourism (☎ 800-432-8747; www.travelwisconsin.com) Produces loads of free guides on subjects like bird-watching, biking, golf and rustic roads.

Wisconsin highway conditions (☎ 511; www.511wi.gov)

Wisconsin Milk Marketing Board (☎ 608-836-8820; www.eatwisconsincheese.com) Provides a free statewide map of cheesemakers titled A Traveler's Guide to America's Dairyland.

Wisconsin state park information (☎ 608-266-2181; www.wiparks.net) Park entry requires a vehicle permit (per day/year residents $7/25, nonresidents $10/35). Campsites cost from $12 to $22; reservations accepted (☎ 888-947-2757; www.wisconsinstateparks.reserveamerica.com; fee $10).

MILWAUKEE

Here's the thing about Milwaukee: it's cool, but for some reason everyone refuses to admit it. Yes, the reputation lingers as a working man's town of brewskis, bowling alleys and polka halls. But attractions like the Calatrava-designed art museum, badass Harley-Davidson Museum and stylish eating and shopping 'hoods have turned Wisconsin's largest city into a surprisingly groovy place. In summertime, festivals let loose revelry by the lake almost every weekend. And where else on the planet will you see racing sausages?

History

Milwaukee was first settled by Germans in the 1840s. Many started small breweries, but a few decades later the introduction of bulk brewing technology turned beer production into a major industry here. Milwaukee earned its 'Brew City' and 'Nation's Watering Hole' nicknames in the 1880s when Pabst, Schlitz, Blatz, Miller and 80 other breweries made suds here. Today, only Miller and a few microbreweries remain. Later, waves of Italians, Poles, Irish, African Americans and Mexicans added to Milwaukee's varied culture.

Orientation

Lake Michigan sits to the east of the city, and is rimmed by parkland. The Riverwalk is a system of redeveloped walking paths along both sides of the Milwaukee River downtown. Wisconsin Ave divides east–west streets; north–south streets are usually numbered and increase as they head west from the lake.

Information

BOOKSTORES

Renaissance Books (☎ 414-271-6850; 834 N Plankinton Ave) Dusty used bookstore for bibliophiles.

EMERGENCY & MEDICAL SERVICES

Froedtert Hospital (☎ 414-805-3000; 9200 W Wisconsin Ave)

Walgreens (☎ 414-272-2171; 1400 E Brady St; 🕘 24hr) Pharmacy.

INTERNET ACCESS

The East Side neighborhood near the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee boasts several coffee shops with free wi-fi.

Milwaukee Central Library (☎ 414-286-3000; 814 W Wisconsin Ave; 🕘 9am-7pm Mon & Tue, to 5:30pm Wed-Sat, 1-5pm Sun, closed Sun May-Sep) Free internet terminals.

INTERNET RESOURCES & MEDIA

Tune into WUWM-FM 89.7 for NPR, or WHQG-FM 102.9 for rock.

MOOVING & GROOVING BY BICYCLE

Wisconsin has converted an amazing number of abandoned railroad lines into paved, bike-only paths. They go up hills, through old tunnels, over bridges and alongside pastures. Wherever you are in the state, there's likely a sweet ride nearby. Check www.trailsfromrails.com and the Department of Tourism's Bike Path Directory (www.travelwisconsin.com/bike_path_and_touring_directory.aspx).

Bike rentals are available in gateway towns, and you can buy trail passes (per day/year $4/20) at area businesses or trailhead drop-boxes.

Because this is Wisconsin, where cycling is almost as beloved as cheese, it's no surprise you can combine the two passions. That's right, the Wisconsin Milk Marketing Board provides maps (www.wisdairy.com/getmooving) highlighting cheese stores and dairy farms along various bike trails.

Milwaukee Journal Sentinel (www.jsonline.com) The city's daily newspaper.
On Milwaukee (www.onmilwaukee.com) Online site for traffic and weather updates, plus restaurant and entertainment reviews.
Quest (www.quest-online.com) GLBT entertainment resource.
Shepherd Express (www.expressmilwaukee.com) Free alternative weekly paper.

MONEY

US Bank (☎ 414-765-4035; 777 E Wisconsin Ave) ATM and foreign currency exchange is available.

POST

Post office (☎ 800-275-8777; 345 W St Paul Ave)

TOURIST INFORMATION

Visitors center (☎ 800-554-1448; www.visitmilwaukee.org; 1st fl, 500 N Harbor Dr, in Discovery World; 🕘 9am-5pm) Better information online than on-site.

Sights & Activities

MILWAUKEE ART MUSEUM

Even those who aren't usually museum-goers will be struck by this lakeside museum (☎ 414-224-3200; www.mam.org; 700 N Art Museum Dr; adult/child 13-18yr $12/10; 🕘 10am-5pm Tue-Sun, to 8pm Thu), which features a stunning winglike addition by Santiago Calatrava. It soars open and closed every day at noon, which is wild to see. There's a permanent display on architect Frank Lloyd Wright, and fabulous folk and outsider art galleries.

HARLEY-DAVIDSON MUSEUM & PLANT

In 1903 local schoolmates William Harley and Arthur Davidson built and sold their first Harley-Davidson motorcycle. A century later the big bikes are a symbol of American manufacturing pride. The Harley-Davidson Museum (☎ 877-436-8738; www.h-dmuseum.com; 400 W Canal St; adult/child 5-17yr $16/10; 🕘 9am-6pm, to 8pm Tue-Thu May-Oct, 10am-6pm Mon-Fri, 9am-6pm Sat & Sun Nov-Apr) pays homage in a sprawling industrial building just south of downtown. Hundreds of bikes show styles through the ages, but even non-Harley owners will like the scene – who doesn't jones to see the bikes of Elvis and Evel Knievel?

Hog-heads can get another fix at the Harley-Davidson plant (☎ 414-343-7850, 877-883-1450; www.harley-davidson.com; 11700 W Capitol Dr; admission free; 🕘 9:30am-2pm Mon-Fri, 10am-1pm Sat in summer), in the suburb of Wauwatosa, a 20-minute drive west of downtown. This is where the engines are built (body assembly goes on in York, Pennsylvania, and Kansas City, Missouri.) The one-hour tours are kind of technical, but the ultimate payoff comes when you get to sit in the saddle of a vintage bike. No open shoes are permitted.

BREWERIES

Pabst and Schlitz have moved on, but Miller Brewing Company (☎ 414-931-2337; www.millercoors.com; 4251 W State St; admission free; 🕘 10:30am-3:30pm Mon-Sat) preserves Milwaukee's beer legacy. Join the legions of drinkers lined up for the free tours. Though the mass-produced beer may not be your favorite, the factory impresses with its sheer scale: you'll visit the packaging plant where 2000 cans are filled each minute, and the warehouse where a half-million cases await shipment. And then there's the generous tasting session at the tour's end, where you can down three full-size samples. Don't forget your ID.

Well-loved Lakefront Brewery (☎ 414-372-8800; www.lakefrontbrewery.com; 1872 N Commerce St; 1hr-long tours $6; 🕘 Mon-Sat), across the river from Brady St, has afternoon tours, but the swellest time to visit is on Friday nights when there's a fish fry, 16 beers on tap and a polka band in the attached banquet hall. Tour times vary throughout the week, but there's usually at least a 2pm and 3pm show.

For more swills, head to Sprecher Brewing Company (☎ 414-964-2739; www.sprecherbrewery.com; 701 W Glendale Ave; tours $4; 🕘 4pm Mon-Fri, noon-2pm Sat & Sun). The small microbrewery's tour includes a museum of memorabilia from long-gone Milwaukee suds-makers and a beer garden replete with oompah music. It's 6 miles north of downtown; reservations are required.

OTHER MUSEUMS

The Eisner Museum of Advertising and Design (☎ 414-847-3290; www.eisnermuseum.org; 208 N Water St; adult/child 12-18yr $5/3; 🕘 11am-5pm Wed-Fri, to 8pm Thu, noon-5pm Sat, 1-5pm Sun) presents excellent exhibits on how the media influence today's culture.

Discovery World at Pier Wisconsin (☎ 414-765-9966; www.discoveryworld.org; 500 N Harbor Dr; adult/child 3-17yr $17/13; 🕘 9am-4pm Tue-Fri, 10am-5pm Sat & Sun; 👪) is the city's mondo, lakefront science and technology museum. It's primarily a kid-pleaser, with freshwater and saltwater aquariums (where you can touch sharks and sturgeon) and a dockside, triple-masted Great Lakes schooner to climb aboard.

LAKEFRONT PARK

The parkland edging Lake Michigan is prime for walking, cycling and in-line skating. For the latter, try Milwaukee Bike & Skate Rental (☎ 414-273-1343; www.milwbikeskaterental.com; Veteran's Park; per hr skates/bicycle $6/10; 🕒 10am-7pm Jun-Aug), just north of the art museum. Also here is Bradford Beach, which is good for swimming and lounging.

Festivals & Events

Summerfest (www.summerfest.com; day pass $15) is dubbed 'the world's largest music festival,' and indeed hundreds of rock, blues, jazz, country and alternative bands swarm its 10 stages over 11 days in late June/early July. The scene totally rawks; it is held at downtown's lakefront festival grounds.

There's also PrideFest (www.pridefest.com), held in mid-June, Polish Fest (www.polishfest.org), held in late June, German Fest (www.germanfest.com), held in late July, Irish Fest (www.irishfest.com), held in mid-August and a host of others. Call the visitors center for details.

Sleeping

Rates in this section are for summer, the peak season, when you should book in advance. Tax (14.6%) is not included. For cheap chain lodging, try Howell Ave, south near the airport. The first three places listed here are well-located downtown near the lakefront (and near each other).

Astor Hotel (☎ 414-271-4220, 800-558-0200; www.theastorhotel.com; 924 E Juneau Ave; r incl breakfast $99-139; Ⓟ ❄ 💻 📶) The 1918 Astor is your back-up plan when other lodgings are sold out. Though faded in its glory, the old place is slowly renovating its rooms and the result is decent value. Parking costs $5.

Comfort Inn & Suites Downtown Lakeshore (☎ 414-276-8800, 800-328-7275; www.choicehotels.com; 916 E State St; r incl breakfast $110-170; Ⓟ ❄ 📶) Check in here and you'll be laying low in the same digs as touring indie bands who come to town. The free wi-fi, breakfast buffet and shuttle bus to local sights supplement the contemporary rooms. Parking costs $10.

County Clare Irish Inn (☎ 414-272-5273, 888-942-5273; www.countyclare-inn.com; 1234 N Astor St; r incl breakfast $139-179; Ⓟ ❄ 📶) Rooms have that snug Irish-cottage feel, with four-post beds, white wainscot walls and whirlpool baths. There's free parking and an on-site Guinness-pouring pub, of course.

our pick Iron Horse Hotel (☎ 888-543-4766; www.theironhorsehotel.com; 500 W Florida St; r from $179; Ⓟ ❄ 📶) This boutique hotel near the Harley Museum is geared toward motorcycle enthusiasts, with covered parking for bikes. Most of the loft-style rooms retain the post-and-beam, exposed-brick interior of what was once a bedding factory. Parking costs $25.

Eating

Good places to scope for eats include N Old World 3rd St downtown; the fashionable East Side by the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee; hip, Italian-based Brady St by its intersection with N Farwell Ave; and the gentrified Third Ward, anchored along N Milwaukee St south of I-94.

The Friday night fish fry is a highly social tradition observed throughout Wisconsin and all over Milwaukee. Try it at Lakefront Brewery (opposite), which complements its fish with microbrews and a polka band.

Another Milwaukee specialty is frozen custard, which is like ice cream only smoother and richer. Leon's (☎ 414-383-1784; 3131 S 27th St; 🕒 11am-midnight) and Kopp's (☎ 414-961-2006; 5373 N Port Washington Rd, Glendale; 🕒 10:30am-11:30pm) are popular purveyors.

Milwaukee Public Market (☎ 414-336-1111; 400 N Water St; 🕒 10am-8pm Mon-Fri, 8am-6pm Sat, 10am-6pm Sun) Browse this Third Ward market for fresh and prepared foods, cheeses and chocolates – everything is local.

Trocadero (☎ 414-272-0205; 1758 N Water St; mains $7-17; 🕒 11am-11pm Mon-Fri, from 9am Sat & Sun) Let's see – a glorious wine list, cheese plates, crepes, baguettes with jam, mussels and frites. We're in Paris, oui? Nope, we're near Brady St at Trocadero, a romantic coffeehouse-restaurant-bar with a year-round patio (it's heated in winter).

Roots Restaurant and Cellar (☎ 414-374-8480; 1818 N Hubbard St; small plates $8-15, mains $19-36; 🕒 11am-2pm Mon-Fri, 5-9pm Mon-Thu, to 10pm Fri & Sat, 10am-2pm Sun) The Slow Food chefs host two options for dining. Upstairs is the sleek, pricier main room with entrees like soy-grilled tilapia. The funky downstairs (evening hours only) offers small plates, like the butterbean-peanut corn dog. The outdoor patio with views is prime for cocktails. It is located across the river from Brady St.

Drinking & Entertainment

BARS

Several bars tap kegs around N Water and E State Sts downtown, in the Third Ward and along Brady St between Astor and Farwell Sts. Drinkeries stay open to 2am.

Von Trier (☎ 414-272-1775; 2235 N Farwell Ave) The German Von Trier is a long-standing, real-deal favorite, with plenty of good stuff on tap and a biergarten.

Sugar Maple (☎ 414-481-2393; 441 E Lincoln Ave; 🚭) Located in an old Sikh temple in the south-side neighborhood of Bay View, the Sugar Maple sports an endless line of taps spurting 50 small-craft beers.

Kochanski's Concertina Beer Hall (☎ 414-837-6552; 1920 S 37th St; 🕑 closed Sun & Mon; 📶) Live polka music rules at kitschy Kochanski's, with beers from Schlitz to Polish drafts to Wisconsin craft labels. It's 5 miles southwest of downtown.

SPORTS

Miller Park (☎ 414-902-4000; www.milwaukeebrewers.com; 1 Brewers Way) The Milwaukee Brewers play baseball at top-notch Miller Park, which has a retractable roof, real grass and racing sausages (see right). It's located near S 46th St.

Bradley Center (☎ 414-227-0400; www.nba.com/bucks; 1001 N 4th St) The NBA's Milwaukee Bucks dunk here.

Getting There & Around

General Mitchell International Airport (MKE; ☎ 414-747-5300; www.mitchellairport.com) is 8 miles south of downtown. Take public bus 80 ($2) or a cab ($25).

The Lake Express ferry (☎ 866-914-1010; www.lake-express.com) sails from downtown (the terminal is located a few miles south of the city center) to Muskegon and Michigan; and provides easy access to Michigan's beach-lined Gold Coast. See p620 for details.

Greyhound (☎ 414-272-2156; 606 N James Lovell St) runs frequent buses to Chicago ($10 to $20, two hours) and Minneapolis ($39 to $61, seven hours). Across the street, Badger Bus (☎ 414-276-7490; www.badgerbus.com; 635 N James Lovell St) goes to Madison ($19, 1½ hours).

WHAT THE...?

It's common to see strange things after too many stadium beers. But a group of giant sausages sprinting around Miller Park's perimeter – is that for real? It is if it's the middle of the 6th inning. That's when the famous 'Racing Sausages' (actually people in meat costumes) waddle onto the field to give the fans a thrill. Folks here take their sausage seriously.

Megabus (☎ 877-462-6342; www.megabus.com/us) runs express to Chicago (two hours) and Minneapolis (six hours), often for lower fares than Greyhound.

The Milwaukee County Transit System (☎ 414-344-6711; www.ridemcts.com; 1942 N 17th Ave) provides an efficient local bus service ($2). Bus 31 goes to Miller Brewery; bus 90 goes to Miller Park.

Amtrak (☎ 414-271-0840; 433 W St Paul Ave) runs the Hiawatha train seven times a day to/from Chicago ($22, 1½ hours); catch it downtown or at Amtrak's airport train station.

If you're after a taxi service, call Yellow Cab (☎ 414-271-1800).

MADISON

Madison reaps a lot of kudos – most walkable city, best road-biking city, most vegetarian friendly, gay friendly, environmentally friendly, and just plain all-round friendliest city in the USA. Ensconced on a narrow isthmus between Mendota and Monona Lakes, it's a pretty combination of small, grassy state capital and liberal, bookish college town.

The visitors center (☎ 608-255-2537, 800-373-6376; www.visitmadison.com; 615 E Washington Ave; 🕑 8am-5pm Mon-Fri) is six blocks east of Capitol Sq. You'll also find info at the University of Wisconsin's Memorial Union (see opposite).

Sights & Activities

The X-shaped State Capitol (☎ 608-266-0382; admission free; 🕑 8am-6pm Mon-Fri, to 4pm Sat & Sun), the largest outside Washington, DC, marks the heart of downtown. Tours are available on the hour most days. On Saturday, the Dane County Farmers Market (www.dcfm.org; 🕑 6am-2pm late Apr-early Nov) takes over Capitol Sq. It's one of the nation's largest markets, famed for its artisanal cheeses and cheese curds. Can't get enough of that dairy goodness (or arriving on a nonmarket day)? Walk around the corner to Fromagination (☎ 608-255-2430; www.fromagination.com; 12 S Carroll St; 🕒 9:30am-6pm Mon-Fri, 8am-4pm Sat), which specializes in small-batch and hard-to-find local, artisanal hunks.

State Street runs from the capitol west to the University of Wisconsin. The lengthy avenue is lined with free-trade coffee shops, parked bicycles and incense-wafting stores selling hacky sacks and flowy Indian skirts. State St also holds the impressive Museum of Contemporary Art (☎ 608-257-0158; www.mmoca.org; 227 State St; admission free; 🕒 noon-5pm Tue-Thu, to 8pm Fri, 10am-8pm Sat, noon-5pm Sun), displaying works by Frida Kahlo, Claes Oldenburg and others. There's also a rooftop sculpture garden, cinema and martini lounge. The museum connects to the Overture Center for the Arts (☎ 608-258-4141; www.overturecenter.com; 201 State St), home to jazz, opera, dance and other performing arts.

The campus has its own attractions, including the 1260-acre Arboretum (☎ 608-263-7888; 1207 Seminole Hwy; admission free; 🕒 7am-10pm), dense with lilac, and the Memorial Union (☎ 608-265-3000; 800 Langdon St), with its festive outdoor bar and free live music, films and internet access.

It'd be a shame to leave town without taking advantage of the city's lakes and 120 miles of trails. For wheels, head to Budget Bicycle Center (☎ 608-251-8413; 1230 Regent St; rental per day $20; 🕒 9am-9pm Mon-Fri, to 7pm Sat, 10am-7pm Sun), about 1½ miles from Capitol Sq, near the university and good trails. For water-faring craft, try Rutabaga Paddlesports (☎ 608-223-9300, 800-472-3353; www.rutabaga.com; 220 W Broadway; canoe/kayak rental per half-/full day $25/40; 🕒 10am-8pm Mon-Fri, to 6pm Sat, 11am-5pm Sun), about 5 miles southeast of Capitol Sq and right on the water.

Festivals & Events

World's Largest Brat Fest (www.bratfest.com; admission free; 🕒 late May) At this festival, 208,000 bratwursts go down the hatch, plus rides and bands.

Great Taste of the Midwest Beer Festival (www.mhtg.org; tickets $35; 🕒 early Aug) Tickets sell out fast for this festival where 120 craft brewers pour their elixirs.

Sleeping & Eating

Moderately priced motels can be found off I-90/I-94 (about 6 miles from the town center), off Hwy 12/18 and along Washington Ave.

A global smorgasbord of restaurants peppers State St amid the pizza, sandwich and cheap-beer joints; many places have inviting patios. Cruising Williamson ('Willy') St turns up good Lao, Jamaican, Caribbean and other eateries.

HI Madison Hostel (☎ 608-441-0144; www.madisonhostel.org; 141 S Butler St; dm $22, r $49; Ⓟ 💻) This convenient hostel is a short walk from the State Capitol. The office is open from 8am to 11am and 5pm to 9pm, with continuous hours in summer. Parking is $5.

University Inn (☎ 608-285-8040, 800-279-4881; www.universityinn.org; 441 N Frances St; r $89-129; Ⓟ ❄ 💻 📶) The rooms are fine, though nothing special; the inn's greatest asset is its handy location right by the State St and university action. Rates are highest at weekends.

Arbor House (☎ 608-238-2981; www.arbor-house.com; 3402 Monroe St; r incl breakfast weekday $110-175, weekend $150-230; 📶) Arbor House was an old tavern back in the mid-1800s. Now it's a wind-powered, energy-efficient-appliance-using, vegetarian-breakfast-serving B&B. It's located about 3 miles southwest of the State Capitol but accessible to public transportation. The owners will lend you mountain bikes too.

Weary Traveler Free House (☎ 608-442-6207; 1201 Williamson St; mains $7-11; 🕒 4pm-2am Mon, 11:30am-2am Tue-Sun) It's global comfort food at this darkwood pub, including Hungarian goulash and vegan chili. Local brewers Capital and New Glarus provide the accompanying suds.

Himal Chuli (☎ 608-251-9225; 318 State St; mains $8-15; 🕒 11am-9pm Mon-Sat, noon-8pm Sun) Cheerful and cozy Himal Chuli serves up homemade Nepali fare, including lots of vegetarian dishes.

Cafe Soleil & L'Etoile (☎ 608-251-0500; 25 N Pinckney St; café mains $8-10, restaurant mains $29-42; 🕒 closed Sun) The chefs here are Slow Food pioneers who've created their local, seasonal menu for 30-plus years. Dishes at L'Etoile (the restaurant, open from 6pm to 8:30pm Tuesday to Thursday, 5:30pm to 9:45pm Friday, and from 5pm to 9:45pm on Saturday) might include red snapper with summer squash or eggplant napoleon. But the best chow is found in the attached café (open 7am to 2:30pm Monday to Saturday), serving scrumptious sandwiches like trout salad with fresh-baked honey oatbread and Wisconsin grilled cheeses on whole grain bread.

Drinking & Entertainment

Bars stay open to 2am. Isthmus (www.thedailypage.com) is the free entertainment paper.

WORTH THE TRIP: QUIRKY US 12

Unusual sights huddle around US 12, all easy to experience on a northerly day trip from Madison.

About 27 miles up the road is the town of Prairie du Sac. If you happen to be driving through the first weekend in September, you can watch the annual Cow Chip Throw (☎ 608-643-4317; www.wiscowchip.com; admission free), where 800 competitors fling dried manure patties as far as the eye can see; the record is 248ft.

Seven miles onward is Dr Evermor's Sculpture Park (admission free; 🕒 9am-5pm Mon & Thu-Sat, noon-5pm Sun). The doc welds old pipes, carburetors and other salvaged metal into a hallucinatory world of futuristic creatures and structures. The crowning glory is the giant, egg-domed Forevertron, once cited by Guinness World Records as the globe's largest scrap metal sculpture. The good doctor himself – aka Tom Every – is often around and happy to chat about his birds, dragons and other pieces of folk art. Finding the entrance is tricky. Look for the Badger Army Ammunition Plant, and then a small sign leading you into a driveway across the street.

Baraboo, 42 miles northwest of Madison, was once the winter home of the Ringling Brothers Circus. Circus World Museum (☎ 608-356-8341, 866-693-1500; www.wisconsinhistory.org/circusworld; 550 Water St; adult/child 5-11yr summer $15/8, winter $7/3.50; 🕒 9am-6pm summer, reduced hours winter) preserves a nostalgic collection of wagons, posters and equipment from the touring big-top heyday. In summer, admission includes clowns, animals and acrobats doing the three-ring thing.

Continue north another 12 miles to the Wisconsin Dells (☎ 800-223-3557; www.wisdells.com; 👪), a megacenter of kitschy diversions, including 21 water parks, water-skiing thrill shows and super-minigolf courses. It's a jolting contrast to the natural appeal of the area, with its scenic limestone formations carved by the Wisconsin River. To appreciate the original attraction, take a boat tour or walk the trails at Mirror Lake or Devil's Lake state parks.

Memorial Union (☎ 608-265-3000; 800 Langdon St) Sit on the lakeside terrace to sip at this all-ages university hangout.

Great Dane Pub (☎ 608-284-0000; 123 E Doty St) Big, friendly and rambling like its namesake dog, the Dane is a popular brewpub with occasional live music.

Getting There & Around

The central Greyhound station (☎ 608-257-3050; 2 S Bedford St) is also used by Badger Bus (☎ 414-255-6771; www.badgerbus.com) for trips to Milwaukee ($19, 1½ hours).

SOUTHERN WISCONSIN

This part of Wisconsin has some of the prettiest landscapes, particularly the hilly southwest. Architecture fans can be unleashed at Taliesin (opposite), the Frank Lloyd Wright ubersight, and Racine, where two of his other works stand. Dairies around here cut a lot of cheese.

Racine

Racine is an unremarkable industrial town 30 miles south of Milwaukee, but it has two key Frank Lloyd Wright sights, both of which offer 45-minute tours that must be prebooked. The first, the Johnson Wax Company Administration Building (☎ 262-260-2154; 1525 Howe St; admission free; 🕒 tours at 9am, 10am, 11am, 1:45pm & 3pm Fri), dates from 1939 and is a magnificent space with tall, flared columns. The second is the lakeside Wingspread (☎ 262-681-3353; 33 E Four Mile Rd; admission free; 🕒 9:30am-2:30pm Tue-Fri), the last and largest of Wright's Prairie houses.

Green County

This pastoral area holds the nation's greatest concentration of cheesemakers, and Green County Tourism (☎ 888-222-9111; www.greencounty.org) will introduce you to them. Monroe is a fine place to start sniffing. Follow your nose to Roth Käse (☎ 608-328-2122; www.rothkase.com; 657 Second St; 🕒 9am-6pm Mon-Fri, to 5pm Sat, 10am-5pm Sun), a store and factory where you can watch cheesemakers in action from the observation deck (weekday mornings only). Bite into a fresh limburger-and-raw-onion sandwich at Baumgartner's (☎ 608-325-6157; 1023 Sixteenth Ave; sandwiches $4-7; 🕒 8am-11pm), an old Swiss tavern on the town square. At night, catch a flick at the local drive-in movie theater, and then climb into bed at Inn Serendipity (☎ 608-329-7056; www.innserendipity.com; 7843 County Rd P; r incl breakfast $105-120), a two-room, wind-and-solar-powered B&B on a 5-acre organic farm in Browntown, 8 miles west of Monroe.

The small town of Brodhead, 16 miles east, is another good base, especially for cyclists. Earth Rider Hotel (☎ 608-897-8300, 866-245-5276; www.earthridercycling.com; 929 W Exchange St; r incl breakfast $80-130; 📶) offers five rooms with mod furnishings made from recycled bike gear. It's a delicious soft landing after riding the nearby, 23-mile Sugar River Trail. You can also rent bikes (per day $18) at the attached bike shop, and the owner will design a backroad route to your specification, taking in dairies, Amish businesses and/or emu farms.

For more on local dairy producers and plant tours, pick up the Traveler's Guide to America's Dairyland map (☎ 608-836-8820; www.eatwisconsincheese.com). For cheese-and-cycling routes, see p627.

Spring Green

Forty miles west of Madison and 3 miles south of the small town of Spring Green, Taliesin was the home of native son Frank Lloyd Wright for most of his life and is the site of his architectural school. It's now a major pilgrimage destination for fans and followers. The house was built in 1903, the Hillside Home School in 1932, and the visitors center (☎ 608-588-7900; www.taliesinpreservation.org; Hwy 23; 🕑 9am-5:30pm May-Oct) in 1953. A wide range of guided tours ($16 to $80) cover various parts of the complex; reservations are a good idea for the lengthier ones. The one-hour Hillside Tour ($16) provides a nice introduction to Wright's work.

A few miles south of Taliesin is the House on the Rock (☎ 608-935-3639; www.thehouseontherock.com; 5754 Hwy 23; adult/child 4-17yr $12.50/7.50; 🕑 9am-6pm May-Aug, to 5pm Sep & Oct, weekends only Nov-Apr), one of Wisconsin's busiest attractions. The strange 'house,' one man's obsession, was built atop a rock column and sprawled to become a monument of the imagination. The house is broken into three parts with a different tour exploring the objects and wonderments of each. Or you can experience the whole shebang for adult/child $28.50/15.50, which takes around three overwhelming hours.

Spring Green has a B&B in town and half a dozen motels strung along Hwy 14, north of town. Small Usonian Inn (☎ 877-876-6426; www.usonianinn.com; E 5116 Hwy 14; r $65-89; ⊠ ❄ 📶) was designed by a Wright student. Check www.springgreen.com for more options.

The Spring Green General Store (☎ 608-588-7070; 137 S Albany St; items $5-7; 🕑 9am-6pm Mon-Fri, 8am-6pm Sat, 8am-4pm Sun) serves sandwiches and earthy lunch specials.

The American Players Theatre (☎ 608-588-2361; www.playinthewoods.org) stages classical productions at an outdoor amphitheater by the Wisconsin River.

ALONG THE MISSISSIPPI RIVER

The Mississippi River forms most of Wisconsin's western border, and alongside it run some of the most scenic sections of the Great River Road (www.wigreatriverroad.org) – the designated route that follows Old Man River from Minnesota to the Gulf of Mexico.

From Madison, head west on US 18. You'll hit the River Rd (aka Hwy 35) at Prairie du Chien. Founded in 1673 as a French fur-trading post, the town's name quaintly honors the prairie dogs that once populated the area.

North of Prairie du Chien, the hilly riverside wends through the scene of the final battle in the bloody Black Hawk War. Historic markers tell part of the story, which finished at the Battle of Bad Ax when Native American men, women and children were massacred trying to flee across the Mississippi. At Genoa, Hwy 56 leads inland for 20 miles to the trout fishing mecca of Viroqua (☎ 608-637-2575; www.viroqua-wisconsin.com), a pretty little town surrounded by organic farms and round barns.

Back riverside and 18 miles upstream, La Crosse has a historic center nestling restaurants and pubs. Grandad Bluff offers grand views of the river. It's east of town along Main St (which becomes Bliss Rd); follow Bliss Rd up the hill and then turn right on Grandad Bluff Rd. For area information, stop by the visitors center (☎ 608-782-2366, 800-658-9424; www.explorelacrosse.com; 410 Veteran's Memorial Dr; 🕑 8am-5pm Mon-Fri, extended hours in summer). To bed down, try the friendly, English-owned Guest House Motel (☎ 608-784-8840, 800-274-6873; www.guesthousemotel.com; 810 S 4th St; r $60-100; 📶 🏊).

For destinations on up the road, see Southern Minnesota (p645).

EASTERN WISCONSIN

Rocky, lighthouse-dotted Door County draws crowds in summer, while Green Bay draws crazed football fans in the freakin' freezing winter.

Green Bay

Founded in the 1660s as a fur-trading post, Green Bay boomed as a Lake Michigan port and later as a terminus for Midwest railroads. Processing and packing agricultural products became a major industry, and gave name to the city's legendary pro football team: the Green Bay Packers. The franchise is unique as the only community-owned nonprofit team in the NFL; perhaps pride in ownership is what makes the fans so die-hard (and wear foam-rubber cheese wedges on their head).

The visitors center (☎ 920-494-9507, 888-867-3342; www.greenbay.com; 1901 S Oneida St; 🕒 8am-4:30pm Mon-Fri) is by Lambeau Field (the football stadium), just off Lombardi Ave, south of downtown. The town core is on the east side of the Fox River around Walnut St.

While tickets are nearly impossible to obtain, you can always get into the spirit by joining a pregame tailgate party, where fans fire up grills and set up tables by their cars. The generous flow of alcohol has led to Green Bay's reputation as a 'drinking town with a football problem.' Or visit the Green Bay Packer Hall of Fame (☎ 920-569-7512; www.lambeaufield.com; adult/child 6-11yr $10/5; 🕒 9am-6pm Mon-Sat, 10am-5pm Sun, hours vary during home games), which is indeed packed with memorabilia. It has football movies and interactive exhibits, plus stadium tours.

The National Railroad Museum (☎ 920-437-7623; www.nationalrrmuseum.org; 2285 S Broadway; adult/child 4-12yr $9/6.50 May-Sep; 🕒 9am-5pm Mon-Sat, 11am-5pm Sun, closed Mon Jan-Apr) features some of the biggest steam and diesel locomotives ever to haul freight into Green Bay's vast yards; train rides ($1) are offered in summer.

Tidy, bare-bones Bay Motel (☎ 920-494-3441; www.baymotelgreenbay.com; 1301 S Military Ave; r $52-75; 📶) is a mile from Lambeau Field.

Door County

With its rocky coastline, picturesque lighthouses, cherry orchards and small 19th-century villages, you have to admit Door County is pretty damn lovely. The area spreads across a narrow peninsula jutting 75 miles into Lake Michigan, and visitors usually loop around on the county's two highways. Hwy 57 runs beside Lake Michigan and goes through Jacksonport and Baileys Harbor; this is known as the more scenic 'quiet side.' Hwy 42 borders Green Bay and passes through (from south to north) Egg Harbor, Fish Creek, Ephraim and Sister Bay; this side is more action oriented. The fishing hamlet of Gills Rock perches at the peninsula's tip, decorated by a string of islands. No public buses serve the peninsula, and only about half the businesses stay open from November to April.

Sturgeon Bay is the gateway and biggest town. As you enter it stop at the visitors center (☎ 920-743-4456, 800-527-3529; www.doorcounty.com; 1015 Green Bay Rd; 🕒 8am-5pm Mon-Fri, 10am-4pm Sat & Sun mid-May–mid-Oct, reduced hours rest of year), which is an excellent resource with special-interest brochures on art galleries, biking, lighthouses and much more.

Parkland blankets the county. Bayside Peninsula State Park is the largest, with bluff-side hiking and biking trails and a beach for kayaking and sailing. In winter, cross-country skiers and snowshoers take over the trails. On the lake side, secluded Newport State Park offers trails, backcountry camping and solitude. Whitefish Dunes State Park has sandscapes and a wide beach (beware of riptides). Adjacent Cave Point Park is known for its sea caves and kayaking. Multiactivity outfitters include Bayshore Outdoor Store (☎ 920-854-9220; www.kayakdoorcounty.com; Sister Bay) and Nor Door Sport & Cyclery (☎ 920-868-2275; www.nordoorsports.com; Fish Creek).

The bay side has the most lodging. Prices listed are for July and August, the peak season; many places have minimum-stay requirements. Peninsula State Park (☎ 920-868-3258; campsites $17-22; Fish Creek) has amenity-laden camping. Right by the park, Julie's Park Cafe and Motel (☎ 920-868-2999; www.juliesmotel.com; Fish Creek; r $79-120; ☒ ✻ 📶) is tidy and relatively low cost (meals $7 to $14). All rooms at Egg Harbor Lodge (☎ 920-868-3115, 920-868-3215; www.eggharborlodge.com; Egg Harbor; r $155–195; ☒ ✻ 📶 🏊) have a water view and free bike use.

Many local restaurants host a 'fish boil,' a regional specialty started by Scandinavian lumberjacks, in which whitefish, potatoes and onions are cooked in a cauldron. It's sedate, until the chef douses the flames with kerosene, and then whoosh! A fireball creates the requisite 'boil over' (which gets rid of the fish oil), signaling dinner is ready. Finish with Door's famous cherry pie.

Village Cafe (☎ 920-868-3342; Egg Harbor; sandwiches $6.50-8.50, mains $14-16; 🕒 7am-8pm summer, 8am-2pm winter) serves tasty breakfast, lunch and dinner. For drinks, hang with the young boater types at JJ's (☎ 920-854-4513; Sister Bay; 🕒 11am-2am, closed Sun-Tue in winter), a good-time pub attached to a Mexican restaurant.

From the peninsula's tip near Gills Rock, daily ferries (☎ 920-847-2546; www.wisferry.com; Northport Pier) go every half hour to Washington Island (round-trip adult/child 6-11yr/bike/car $11.50/5.50/4/24), which has 700 Scandinavian descendants, a couple of museums, beaches, bike rentals and carefree roads for cycling. Accommodations and camping are available. More remote is lovely Rock Island, a state park with no cars or bikes at all. It's a wonderful place for hiking, swimming and camping. Get there via the eponymous ferry (☎ 920-535-0122), which departs Jackson Harbor on Washington Island (round-trip adult/child $9/5).

NORTHERN WISCONSIN

The north is a thinly populated region of forests and lakes, where folks paddle and fish in summer, and ski and snowmobile in winter. The cliffy, windswept Apostle Islands steal the show.

Northwoods & Lakelands

Nicolet National Forest is a vast, wooded district ideal for outdoor activities. The simple crossroads of Langlade is a center for white-water river adventures. Wolf River Guides (☎ 715-882-3002; www.wolfriverguides.com) provides half-day kayak-paddling classes followed by a half-day trip on the water (per person $110), while Wolf River Lodge (☎ 715-882-2182; www.wolfriverlodge.com; r incl breakfast $100; ✤) provides accommodation where you can dry off, get warm and celebrate your accomplishments in the on-site bar.

In winter, Granite Peak Ski Resort (☎ 715-845-2846; www.skigranitepeak.com; day pass adult/child $56/44), Wisconsin's largest, perks up in Wausau, offering 275 skiable acres and a 700ft vertical drop.

North on Hwy 13, folk artist and retired lumberjack Fred Smith's Concrete Park (www.friendsoffredsmith.org; admission free; 🕐 sunrise-sunset) in Phillips is extraordinary, with 200-plus whimsical, life-size sculptures.

West on Hwy 70, Chequamegon National Forest offers exceptional mountain biking with 300 miles of off-road trails. Contact the Chequamegon Area Mountain Bike Association (☎ 715-798-3599; www.cambatrails.org) for trail maps and bike rental information. The season culminates in mid-September with the Chequamegon Fat Tire Festival (☎ 715-798-3594; www.cheqfattire.com), when 1700 strong-legged men and women peddle 40 grueling miles through the woods. The town of Hayward (☎ 715-634-8662; www.haywardareachamber.com) makes a good base.

Apostle Islands

The 21 rugged Apostle Islands, floating in Lake Superior and freckling Wisconsin's northern tip, are a state highlight. Jump off from Bayfield, a humming resort town with hilly streets, Victorian-era buildings, apple orchards and nary a fast-food restaurant in sight. The Chamber of Commerce (☎ 715-779-3335; www.bayfield.org; 42 Broad St; 🕐 8:30am-5pm Mon-Fri) has an attached information center, accessible 24/7, with maps and the town lowdown.

Before exploring the Apostle Islands National Lakeshore, as it's officially called, drop by its visitors center (☎ 715-779-3397; www.nps.gov/apis; 410 Washington Ave; 🕐 8am-4:30pm Jun-Sep, closed Sat & Sun Oct-May). Campers can pick up the required camping permit (per night $10) here. The forested islands have no facilities, and walking is the only way to get around. Various companies offer seasonal charter, sailing and ferry trips to and around the islands, and kayaking is very popular. Try Living Adventure (☎ 715-779-9503; www.livingadventure.com; Hwy 13; half-/full-day tour $59/99; 🕐 Jun-Sep) for a guided paddle through arches and sea caves; beginners are welcome. If you prefer a motor to power your explorations, climb aboard the Apostle Islands Cruise Service (☎ 715-779-3925; www.apostleisland.com; 🕐 mid-May–mid-Oct) boat. It departs at 10am from Bayfield's City Dock for a three-hour narrated trip past sea caves and lighthouses (adult/child $40/24). Other trips call at islands to drop off/pick up campers and their kayaks, which avoids the long, possibly rough paddle.

Inhabited Madeline Island (☎ 715-747-2801; www.madelineisland.com), a fine day trip, is reached by a 20-minute ferry (☎ 715-747-2051; www.madferry.com) from Bayfield (round-trip adult/child/bicycle/car $11.50/5.50/5.50/24). Its walkable village of La Pointe has some mid-priced places to stay, and restaurants for a nosh. Bus tours are available, and you can rent bikes and mopeds – everything is near the ferry dock. Big Bay State Park (☎ 715-747-6425; campsites $15-17, vehicle $10) has a beach and trails.

Back in Bayfield, there are loads of B&Bs, cottages and other lodging, but reserve ahead in summer; see www.bayfield.org for options. Most rooms at no-frills Seagull Bay

Motel (☎ 715-779-5558; www.seagullbay.com; 325 S 7th St; r $70-100; ⊠ 📶) have decks; ask for a lake view. Going upscale: Pinehurst Inn (☎ 877-499-7651; www.pinehurstinn.com; 83645 State Hwy 13; r incl breakfast $119-195; ⊠ 📶) is a carbon-neutral, solar-heated, eight-room B&B.

Ecoconscious Big Water Cafe (☎ 715-779-9619; 117 Rittenhouse Ave; mains $4-7; 🕑 7am-4pm Mon-Fri, to 5pm Sat, 8am-4pm Sun) serves sandwiches, local farmstead cheeses and area microbrews. Kitschy, flamingo-themed Maggie's (☎ 715-779-5641; 257 Manypenny Ave; mains $7-16; 🕑 11:30am-9pm Sun-Thu, to 10pm Fri & Sat) is the place to sample local lake trout and whitefish; there's pizza and burgers too.

The Big Top Chautauqua (☎ 888-244-8368; www.bigtop.org) is a major regional summer event with big-name concerts and musical theater; call for schedule and prices.

SCENIC DRIVE: HIGHWAY 13

After departing Bayfield, Hwy 13 takes a fine route around the Lake Superior shore, past the Ojibwa community of Red Cliff and the Apostle Islands' mainland segment, which has a beach. Tiny Cornucopia, looking every bit like a seaside village, has great sunsets. The road runs on through a timeless countryside of forest and farm reaching US 2 for the final miles back to civilization at Superior.

MINNESOTA

Is Minnesota really the land of 10,000 lakes, as so often advertised? You betcha. Actually, in typically modest style, the state has undermarketed itself – there are 11,842 lakes. Which is great news for travelers. Intrepid outdoorsfolk can wet their paddles in the Boundary Waters (p648), where nighttime brings a blanket of stars and the lullaby of wolf howls. Those wanting to get further off the beaten path can journey to Voyageurs National Park (p649), where there's more water than roadway. If that all seems too far-flung, stick to the Twin Cities of Minneapolis and St Paul, where you can't swing a moose without hitting something cool or cultural. And for those looking for middle ground – a cross between the big city and big woods – the dramatic, freighter-filled port of Duluth (p646) beckons.

TALK LIKE A LOCAL

Admit it: you're puzzled by how to pronounce town names like Prairie du Chien and Lac du Flambeau. Lucky for you, the website www.misspronouncer.com provides recordings of how to say it in Wisconsinese. The site covers 190 cities, 1260 towns and heaps of famous locals' names. Soon you'll be chattering on about your visit to Rio (rye-o) or Chequamegon (sheh wom again) with confidence.

Information

Minnesota highway conditions (☎ 511; www.511mn.org)
Minnesota Office of Tourism (☎ 888-868-7476; www.exploreminnesota.com)
Minnesota state park information (☎ 888-646-6367; www.dnr.state.mn.us/state_parks) Park entry requires a vehicle permit (for residents and nonresidents per day/year $5/25). Campsites cost $12 to $24; reservations accepted (☎ 866-857-2757; www.stayatmnparks.com; fee $8.50).

MINNEAPOLIS

Minneapolis is the biggest and artiest town on the prairie, with all the trimmings of progressive prosperity – swank art museums, rowdy rock clubs, organic and ethnic eateries, and enough theaters to be nicknamed Mini-Apple (second only to the Big Apple, New York City). It's always happenin', even in winter.

But there's no attitude to go along with the abundance. It's the kind of place where homeless people are treated kindly at the coffee shops, where the buses are kept immaculately clean, and where the public workers tell everyone to 'Have a nice day,' rain or shine (or snow). No wonder the city recently topped the list as the most charitable place in America.

History

Timber was the city's first boom industry, and water-powered sawmills rose along the Mississippi River in the mid-1800s. Wheat from the prairies also needed to be processed, so flour mills churned into the next big business. The population boomed in the late 19th century with mass immigration, especially from Scandinavia and Germany. Today Minneapolis' Nordic heritage is evident, whereas twin city St Paul is more German and Irish-Catholic.

MINNESOTA FACTS

Nicknames North Star State, Gopher State
Population 5.2 million
Area 86,940 sq miles
Capital city St Paul (population 277,250)
Other cities Minneapolis (population 372,833)
Sales tax 6.875%
Birthplace of Author F Scott Fitzgerald (1896–1940), songwriter Bob Dylan (b 1941), filmmakers Joel Coen (b 1954) and Ethan Coen (b 1957)
Home of Lumberjack legend Paul Bunyan, Spam, walleye fish, Hmong and Somali immigrants
Famous for Niceness, funny accents, snowy weather, 10,000 lakes
Official muffin Blueberry
Driving distances Minneapolis to Duluth 153 miles, Minneapolis to Boundary Waters 245 miles

Orientation

Downtown Minneapolis is a modern grid of glassy high-rise buildings, many linked by enclosed overhead walkways called 'skyways' (very welcome in winter). The Mississippi River flows northeast of downtown. Despite the name, Uptown is actually southwest of downtown, with Hennepin Ave as its main axis. Minneapolis' twin city, St Paul, is 10 miles east.

Information

BOOKSTORES

Birchbark Books (☎ 612-374-4023; 2115 21st St W; 🕒 9am-6pm Mon-Fri, 10am-5pm Sat, 11am-5pm Sun) Writer Louise Erdrich's unique store of Native American books and arts.

EMERGENCY & MEDICAL SERVICES

Fairview/University of Minnesota Medical Center (☎ 612-273-6402; 2450 Riverside Ave)
Victim crisis line (☎ 612-340-5400)
Walgreens (☎ 612-377-3308; 2426 Hennepin Ave S; 🕒 24hr)

INTERNET ACCESS

Minneapolis Public Library (☎ 612-630-6000; www.hclib.org; 300 Nicollet Mall; 🕒 10am-8pm Tue & Thu, to 6pm Wed, Fri & Sat, noon-5pm Sun) Mod facility with free internet.

INTERNET RESOURCES & MEDIA

KNOW-FM 91.1 broadcasts NPR. Community station KFAI-FM 90.3 provides eclectic music and talk.

City Pages (www.citypages.com) Weekly entertainment freebie.
Pioneer Press (www.twincities.com) St Paul's daily.
Star Tribune (www.startribune.com) Minneapolis' daily.
Vita.MN (www.vita.mn) The Star Tribune's weekly entertainment freebie.

MONEY

Wells Fargo Bank (☎ 612-667-7990; cnr 6th St S & Marquette Ave) Offers foreign exchange, as well as an ATM and regular bank services.

POST

Post office (☎ 800-275-8777; 100 1st St S)

TOURIST INFORMATION

Visitors Center (☎ 612-335-6000, 888-676-6757; www.minneapolis.org; 1301 2nd Ave S; 🕒 8am-4:30pm) In the Convention Center by the spiral staircase (near Ballroom A).

Sights & Activities

Most attractions are closed Monday; many stay open late Thursday.

DOWNTOWN & LORING PARK

Nicollet Mall is the pedestrian-friendly portion of Nicollet Ave in the heart of downtown, dense with stores, bars and restaurants. It's perhaps most famous as the spot where Mary Tyler Moore (of '70s TV fame) threw her hat into the air during the show's opening sequence. A cheesy MTM statue (8th St S & Nicollet Mall) depicts our girl doing just that. A farmer's market (🕒 6am-6pm) takes over the mall on Thursdays from May to November.

The first-class Walker Art Center (☎ 612-375-7622; www.walkerart.org; 725 Vineland Pl; adult/child 13-18yr $10/6, admission free Thu evening; 🕒 11am-5pm

DON'T MISS

- Minneapolis Institute of Arts – a heckuva lot of free art (p640)
- Lake Calhoun – biking and boating with the locals (p640)
- Guthrie Theater – peek out from the 'Endless Bridge' (p642)
- Northeast neighborhood – art galleries, dive bars and meat (p639)
- International Marketplace – Hmong food and wares (p645)

Tue-Sun, to 9pm Thu) has a strong permanent collection of 20th-century art and photography, including big-name US painters and great US pop art.

Beside the Walker is the 7-acre Minneapolis Sculpture Garden (admission free; ⌚ 6am-midnight), studded with contemporary works, like the oft-photographed Spoonbridge & Cherry by Claes Oldenburg. The garden is connected to attractive Loring Park by a sculptural pedestrian bridge over I-94.

RIVERFRONT DISTRICT

At the north edge of downtown at the foot of Portland Ave is the St Anthony Falls Heritage Trail, a recommended 2-mile path that provides both interesting history (placards dot the route) and the city's best access to the banks of the Mississippi River. View the cascading falls from the car-free Stone Arch Bridge. On the north side of the river, Main St SE has a stretch of redeveloped buildings housing restaurants and bars. From here you can walk down to Water Power Park and feel the river's frothy spray.

Pick up a free trail map at the Mill City Museum (☎ 612-341-7555; www.millcitymuseum.org; 704 2nd St S; adult/child 6-17yr $10/5; ⌚ 10am-5pm Tue-Sat, noon-5pm Sun, open Mon Jul & Aug). The building is indeed a former mill, and highlights include a ride inside an eight-story grain elevator ('the Flour Tower'), Betty Crocker exhibits and a baking lab. It's a bit dull unless you're really into milling history. The Mill City Farmer's Market (www

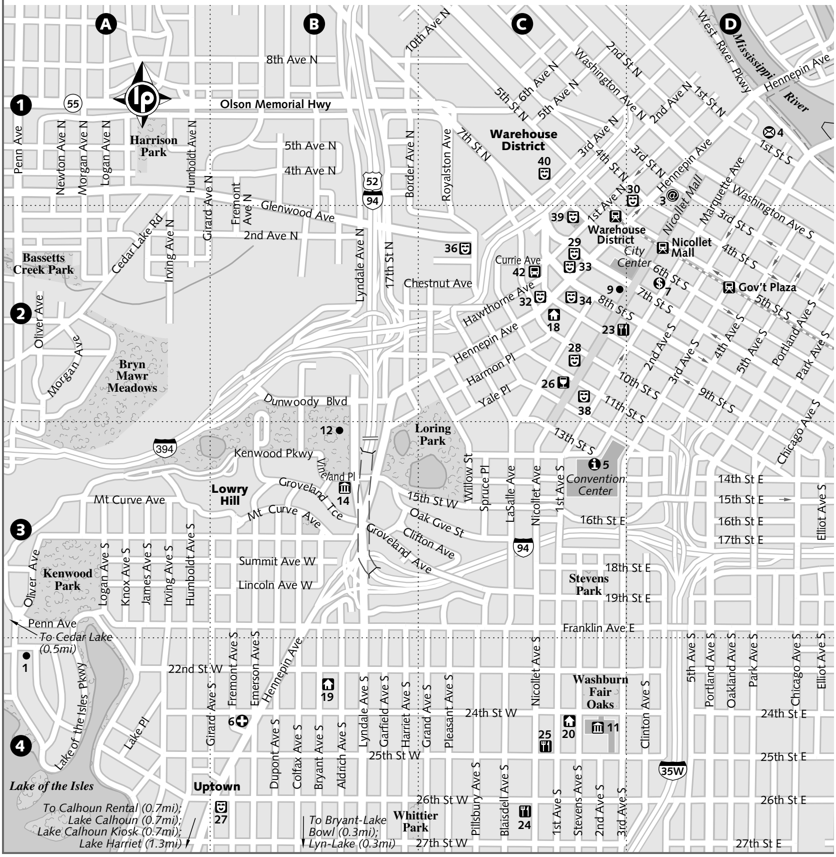
MINNEAPOLIS



A
B
C
D
1
2
3
4
8th Ave N
Olson Memorial Hwy
55
Harrison Park
Penn Ave
Newton Ave N
Morgan Ave N
Logan Ave N
Humboldt Ave N
Girard Ave N
Fremont Ave N
5th Ave N
4th Ave N
Glenwood Ave
2nd Ave N
52
94
Lyndale Ave N
17th St N
Border Ave N
Royalston Ave
10th Ave N
Chestnut Ave
Bassetts Creek Park
Cedar Lake Rd
Irving Ave N
Oliver Ave
Morgan Ave
Bryn Mawr Meadows
Dunwoody Blvd
394
Kenwood Pkwy
12
Vineland Pl
14
Lowry Hill
Groveland Tce
Mt Curve Ave
Loring Park
15th St W
Oak Gve St
Clifton Ave
Groveland Ave
Willow St
Spruce Pl
LaSalle Ave
Nicollet Ave
1st Ave S
Summit Ave W
Lincoln Ave W
Kenwood Park
Logan Ave S
Knox Ave S
James Ave S
Irving Ave S
Humboldt Ave S
Penn Ave
To Cedar Lake (0.5mi)
1
22nd St W
Lake of the Isles Pkwy
Lake Pl
Lake of the Isles
Girard Ave S
Fremont Ave S
Emerson Ave S
Hennepin Ave
6 19
Dupont Ave S
Colfax Ave S
Bryant Ave S
Aldrich Ave S
Lyndale Ave S
Garfield Ave S
Harriet Ave S
Grand Ave S
Pleasant Ave S
24th St W
25th St W
26th St W
27th St W
Uptown
27
To Calhoun Rental (0.7mi); Lake Calhoun (0.7mi); Lake Calhoun Kiosk (0.7mi); Lake Harriet (1.3mi)
To Bryant-Lake Bowl (0.3mi); Lyn-Lake (0.3mi)
Whittier Park
Pillsbury Ave S
Blaisdell Ave S
24
1st Ave S
Stevens Ave S
2nd Ave S
3rd Ave S
Nicollet Ave S
25 20
Washburn Fair Oaks
11
Clinton Ave S
35W
5th Ave S
Portland Ave S
Oakland Ave S
Park Ave S
Chicago Ave S
Elliot Ave S
24th St E
25th St E
26th St E
27th St E
Franklin Ave E
18th St E
19th St E
Stevens Park
16th St E
14th St E
15th St E
17th St E
Elliot Ave S
94
5 Convention Center
13th St S
11th St S
10th St S
9th St S
Chicago Ave S
Park Ave S
Portland Ave S
5th Ave S
4th Ave S
3rd Ave S
2nd Ave S
38
26
28
Yale Pl
Harmon Pl
Hennepin Ave
Hawthorne Ave
18 23
32 34
9
8th St S
7th St S
6th St S
7
Currie Ave
42
29 33
City Center
36 39 Warehouse District
1st Ave N
30
3
Nicollet Mall
Gov't Plaza
5th St S
4th St S
3rd St S
Washington Ave S
Marquette Ave
Hennepin Ave
Warehouse District
40
7th St N
5th St N
6th Ave N
5th Ave N
Washington Ave N
3rd Ave N
4th St N
3rd St N
2nd St N
2nd Ave N
1st St N
West River Pkwy
Mississippi River
Hennepin Ave
4
1st St S

.millcityfarmersmarket.org; ⌚ 8am-1pm Sat mid-May–mid-Oct) takes place in the museum's attached train shed; cooking demos fire up at 10am.

Definitely head next door to the cobalt-blue Guthrie Theater (p642) and make your way up to its 'Endless Bridge,' a cantilevered walkway overlooking the river. You don't need a theater ticket – it's intended as a public space – though see a show if you can as the Guthrie is one of the Midwest's finest companies. Gold Medal Park spirals next door.

NORTHEAST

Once a working-class Eastern European neighborhood, Northeast (so named because of its position to the river) is where urbanites and artists now work and play. They appreciate the dive bars pouring microbrews along with Pabst, and boutiques selling ecogifts next to companies grinding sausage. Hundreds of craftsfolk and galleries fill historic industrial buildings. They fling open their doors the first Thursday of each month when the Northeast Minneapolis Arts Association (☎ 612-788-1679; www.nemaa.org) sponsors a gallery walk. Heady veins include 4th St NE and 13th Ave NE.

UNIVERSITY AREA

The University of Minnesota, by the river southeast of Minneapolis' center, is one of the USA's largest campuses, with over 50,000 students. Most of the campus is in the East Bank neighborhood. A uni (and city) highlight is the expanding Weisman Art Museum (☎ 612-625-9494;

0 0.5 km
0 0.3 miles
E
F
G
H
1
2
3
4 Northeast
To Red Stag Supper Club (0.3mi)
To Northeast Minneapolis Arts Association (1.4mi); Mayslack's (1.5mi); Grumpy's (2mi)
Nicollet Island Park
3rd Ave Bridge Dam
Hennepin Park
St Anthony Falls
Pier
Stone Arch Bridge
St Anthony Falls Heritage Trail
Old St Anthony
Main St SE
2nd St SE
University Ave SE
4th St SE
5th St SE
6th St SE
7th Ave SE
8th Ave SE
11th Ave SE
12th Ave SE
13th Ave SE
14th Ave SE
15th Ave SE
17th Ave SE
18th Ave SE
Amtrak Line
Van Cleve Park
Dinkytown
Como Ave SE
E River Rd
Pleasant Ave SE
University of Minnesota
Washington Ave SE
Church St
Union St
Delaware St SE
Essex St SE
Oak St SE
Ontario St SE Huron Blvd SE
Fulton St SE
26th Ave
27th Ave
University Ave SE
To Amtrak Station (2.5mi)
Stadium Village
Tower Hill Park
Luxton Park
East Bank
East River Flats
Mississippi River
West River Pkwy
Riverside Park
West Bank
Pedestrian Bridge
Upper Level
University of Minnesota
4th St S
5th St S
6th St S
7th St S
8th St S
Riverside Ave
Murphy Square
Cedar Ave S
19th Ave S
20th Ave S
21st Ave S
Downtown East/Metrodome
Hiawatha Light-Rail Line
12th Ave S
2nd St S
Currie Park
Cedar/Riverside
Elliot Park
10th Ave S
11th Ave S
21nd St E
22nd St E
12th Ave S
13th Ave S
14th Ave S
15th Ave S
Bloomington Ave S
16th Ave S
Franklin Ave
Franklin Ave E
To St Paul (10mi)
To Fort Snelling (8mi); Minneapolis-St Paul International Airport (9mi); Mall of America (10mi); Minnesota Zoo (20mi); Valleyfair (25mi)
65
122
94
35W
55
94
2
8 10 13 15 16
17 21
22
31 35 37 41
INFORMATION
Birchbark Books 1 A4
Fairview/University of Minnesota Medical Center 2 G3
Minneapolis Public Library 3 D1
Post Office 4 D1
Visitors Center 5 C3
Walgreens 6 B4
Wells Fargo Bank 7 D2
SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES
Endless Bridge (see 31)
Gold Medal Park 8 E2
Mary Tyler Moore Statue 9 C2
Mill City Farmer's Market (see 10)
Mill City Museum 10 E2
Minneapolis Institute of Arts 11 C4
Minneapolis Sculpture Garden 12 B3
University of Minnesota 13 G2
Walker Art Center 14 B3
Water Power Park 15 E1
Weisman Art Museum 16 F2
SLEEPING
Aloft 17 E2
Chambers Hotel 18 C2
Evelo's B&B 19 B4
Minneapolis International Hostel 20 C4
Wales House 21 F1
EATING
Al's Breakfast 22 F1
Hell's Kitchen 23 C2
Peninsula 24 C4
Spyhouse Coffee 25 C4
DRINKING
Brit's Pub 26 C2
ENTERTAINMENT
Brave New Workshop Theatre 27 B4
Children's Theatre Company (see 11)
Dakota Jazz Club 28 C2
First Avenue & 7th St Entry 29 C2
Gay Nineties 30 D1
Guthrie Theater 31 E2
Historic Orpheum Theatre 32 C2
Historic Pantages Theatre 33 C2
Historic State Theatre 34 C2
Hubert H Humphrey Metrodome 35 E2
Lee's Liquor Lounge 36 C2
Nye's Polonaise Room 37 E1
Orchestra Hall 38 C2
Target Center 39 C2
Target Field 40 C1
Triple Rock Social Club 41 F3
TRANSPORT
Greyhound Bus Station 42 C2

www.weisman.umn.edu; 333 River Rd E; admission free; 🕐 10am-5pm Tue-Fri, to 8pm Thu, 11am-5pm Sat & Sun), which occupies a swooping silver structure by architect Frank Gehry. Works inside include early 20th-century American paintings. Dinkytown, based at 14th Ave SE and 4th St SE, is dense with student cafés and bookshops. A small part of the university is on the West Bank of the Mississippi River, near the intersection of 4th St S and Riverside Ave. This area has a few restaurants, some student hangouts and a big Somali community.

UPTOWN, LYN-LAKE & WHITTIER

These three neighborhoods are south of downtown. The fabulous Minneapolis Institute of Arts (☎ 612-870-3131; www.artsmia.org; 2400 3rd Ave S; admission free; 🕐 10am-5pm Tue-Sat, to 9pm Thu, 11am-5pm Sun) houses a veritable history of art, with a whopping modern and contemporary collection. The Prairie School and Asian galleries are also highlights.

Uptown, based around the intersection of Hennepin Ave S and Lake St, is a punk–yuppie collision of shops and restaurants that stays lively until late. Lyn-Lake abuts Uptown to the east and sports a similar urban-cool vibe; it's centered on Lyndale and Lake Sts. (Get the name?)

Uptown is a convenient jump-off point to the 'Chain of Lakes' – Lake Calhoun, Lake of the Isles, Lake Harriet and Cedar Lake. It seems all of Minneapolis is out frolicking by the water – not surprising, really, since this is known as the 'city of lakes.' Paved cycling paths (which double as cross-country ski trails in winter) meander around the four lakes, where you can go boating in summer or ice skating in winter. Rent bikes and blades at Calhoun Rental (☎ 612-827-8231; 1622 W Lake St; per half-/full day $25/40; 🕐 10am-7pm Mon-Thu, to 8pm Fri & Sat, 9am-7pm Sun Apr-Oct) in Uptown; credit card and driver's license are required. A few blocks west, the Lake Calhoun kiosk (☎ 612-823-5765; base of Lake St; per hr $15; 🕐 10am-9pm late May-Aug, weekends only Sep & Oct) rents canoes, kayaks and paddleboats. It's a busy spot as there's also a patio restaurant and sailing school here.

Further around Lake Calhoun, Thomas Beach is popular for swimming. Cedar Lake's freewheeling Hidden Beach (aka East Cedar Beach) brings out the nudists, though you're welcome to keep your clothes on when visiting.

Minneapolis for Children

The local Children's Theatre Company (☎ 612-874-0400; www.childrenstheatre.org; 2400 3rd Ave S; 👪) is so good it won a Tony award for 'outstanding regional theater.'

Note that many of the top sights for wee ones are in St Paul (p644), at the Mall of America (p645) and at Fort Snelling (p645). You'll also have to travel a ways to get to the respected Minnesota Zoo (☎ 952-431-9500; www.mnzoo.org; 13000 Zoo Blvd; adult/child 3-12yr $14/8; 🕐 9am-6pm summer, 9am-4pm winter; 👪) in suburban Apple Valley, which is 20 miles south of town. It has naturalistic habitats for its 400-plus species, with an emphasis on cold-climate creatures. Parking is $5. And if the rides at the Mall of America aren't enough, drive out to Valleyfair (☎ 952-445-7600, 800-386-7433; www.valleyfair.com; 1 Valleyfair Dr; adult/child $38/17; 🕐 from 10am daily mid-May–Aug, weekends only Sep, closing times vary; 👪), a full-scale amusement park 25 miles southwest in Shakopee. Parking costs $10.

Festivals & Events

Minneapolis Aquatennial (☎ 612-376-7669; www.aquatennial.org; admission free) Ten days celebrating the ubiquitous lakes in mid-July.

Holidazzle (☎ 612-376-7669; www.holidazzle.com; admission free) Parades, lights and lots of good cheer downtown throughout December.

Sleeping

B&Bs offer the best value – they've got budget prices but are solidly midrange in quality. Tax adds 13.4% to prices.

BUDGET

Minneapolis International Hostel (☎ 612-522-5000; www.minneapolishostel.com; 2400 Stevens Ave S; dm $28-33, r $39; ❄ 📶) This homey hostel beside the Institute of Arts has antique furniture, wood floors and fluffy quilts on the beds. Reservations are recommended.

MIDRANGE

Wales House (☎ 612-331-3931; www.waleshouse.com; 1115 5th St SE; r with/without shared bath, incl breakfast from $60/70; P 🚭 ❄ 📶) This cheery 10-bedroom B&B often houses scholars from the nearby University of Minnesota. Curl up with a book on the season-round porch, or lounge by the fireplace. A two-night minimum stay is required.

Evelo's B&B (☎ 612-374-9656; 2301 Bryant Ave S; r with shared bath, incl breakfast $75-95; 🚭 📶) Evelo's

GAY & LESBIAN MINNEAPOLIS

Minneapolis has the country's second-highest percentage of gay, lesbian, bisexual and transgender (GLBT) residents – only San Francisco has more – and the city enjoys strong GLBT rights. Outfront Minnesota (☎ 612-822-0127; www.outfront.org) provides information on GLBT-friendly local businesses; check the website for bar and restaurant information. Or pick up the free, biweekly magazine Lavender (www.lavendermagazine.com) at coffee shops around town.

For nightlife, Gay Nineties (☎ 612-333-7755; www.gay90s.com; 408 Hennepin Ave S) has dancing, dining and drag shows that attract both gay and straight clientele.

The late-June Pride Festival (☎ 952-852-6100; www.tcpride.com; admission free), one of the USA's largest, draws about 400,000 revelers.

four rooms creak and charm in this polished-wood-filled Victorian home. They're close quartered, but the B&B's strategic location between the Walker Art Center and Uptown compensates.

Aloft (☎ 612-455-8400; www.starwoodhotels.com/aloft; 900 Washington Ave S; r $109-149; 🅿 ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) Aloft's compact, efficiently designed, industrial-toned rooms draw a younger clientele. The clubby lobby has board games, a cocktail lounge and 24-hour snacks. There's a tiny pool and decent fitness room. Parking costs $15.

TOP END

Chambers Hotel (☎ 612-767-6900, 877-767-6990; www.chambersminneapolis.com; 901 Hennepin Ave S; r weekend/weekday from $179/265; 🅿 ❄ 📶) It's an art gallery – no, it's a hotel. Actually, it's both, with 200 artworks (including Damien Hirst's floating bull's head at the front desk) spread throughout, and 60 minimalist rooms with luxury touches, like heated bathroom floors. Parking costs $24.

Eating

Minneapolis has ripened into a rich dining scene known for its many restaurants that use local, sustainable ingredients.

DOWNTOWN & NORTHEAST

Nicollet Mall is loaded with eateries.

Mayslack's (☎ 612-789-9862; www.mayslacksbar.com; 1428 4th St NE; sandwiches $7-9, mains $10-15; 🕓 11am-midnight) It's hard to beat their meat. Mayslack's has been slicing garlicky roast beef onto sandwiches and pouring icy brewskis since 1955. Walleye, pizza and breakfast omelets also make appearances, as do local rock bands thrashing Thursday through Saturday.

Hell's Kitchen (☎ 612-332-4700; 80 9th St S; mains $10-15; 🕓 6:30am-10pm Mon-Thu, 7:30am-11pm Fri & Sat, 7:30am-10pm Sun) Descend the stairs to Hell's devilish lair, where spirited waitstaff bring you uniquely Minnesotan foods, like the walleye bacon-lettuce-tomato sandwich, bison burger and lemon-ricotta hotcakes. Happy hour (3pm to 6pm) at the bar is a dandy deal.

Red Stag Supper Club (☎ 612-767-7766; 509 1st Ave NE; bar menu $8-13, mains $18-27; 🕓 11am-2am Mon-Fri, 9am-2am Sat & Sun) The exposed-beam Northwoods lodge look belies Red Stag's LEED-certified architecture. The locally sourced arugula-and-pine-nut flatbread sandwiches, smelt fries, smoked trout and cassoulet soothe the stomach. There are good deals for Sunday brunch and Tuesday dinner.

UNIVERSITY AREA

Low-priced eateries cluster in the campus area by Washington Ave and Oak St.

Al's Breakfast (☎ 612-331-9991; 413 14th Ave SE; mains $4-7; 🕓 6am-1pm Mon-Sat, 9am-1pm Sun) It's the ultimate hole-in-the-wall: 14 stools at a tiny counter. Whenever a customer comes in, everyone picks up their plates and scoots down to make room for the newcomer. Fruit-full pancakes are the big crowd-pleaser.

UPTOWN, LYN-LAKE & WHITTIER

Vietnamese, Greek, African and other ethnic restaurants line Nicollet Ave S between 14th and 29th Sts – aka 'Eat Street.'

Spyhouse Coffee (☎ 612-871-3177; 2451 Nicollet Ave S; items $2-5; 🕓 6:30am-midnight Mon-Fri, 8am-midnight Sat & Sun; 📶) Join the artists, business types and cabbies who are here for the coffee and baked goods.

our pick Bryant-Lake Bowl (☎ 612-825-3737; 810 W Lake St; sandwiches $7-9, mains $11-16; 🕓 8am-12:30am) A workingman's bowling alley meets epicurean food at the BLB. Artisanal cheese plates, mock duck rolls, cornmeal-crusted walleye strips and organic oatmeal melt in the mouth. A lovely list of local suds washes it all down. The on-site theater always has something intriguing and odd going on too.

Peninsula (☎ 612-871-8282; 2608 Nicollet Ave S; mains $9-15; 🕑 11am-10pm Sun-Thu, to 11pm Fri & Sat) Malaysian dishes – including achat (tangy vegetable salad in peanut dressing), red curry hot pot, spicy crab and fish in banana leaves – rock the palate in this contemporary restaurant.

Drinking & Entertainment

With its large student population and thriving performing-arts scene, Minneapolis has an active nightlife. Check Vita.MN and City Pages for current goings on.

BARS & NIGHTCLUBS

Bars stay open until 2am.

Brit's Pub (☎ 612-332-3908; 1110 Nicollet Mall) A lawn bowling green carpets the roof, and Brit's sweeping selection of Scotch, port and beer is sure to unleash skills in the sport you never knew you had.

Grumpy's (☎ 612-789-7429; 2200 4th St NE) Grumpy's is the Northeast's classic dive, with cheap (but good) beer and an outdoor patio. Sample the specialty 'hot dish' on Tuesdays for $1.

LIVE MUSIC

Minneapolis rocks; everyone's in a band, it seems. Acts such as Prince and post-punkers Hüsker Dü and the Replacements cut their chops here.

First Avenue & 7th St Entry (☎ 612-338-8388; www.first-avenue.com; 701 1st Ave N) This is the bedrock of Minneapolis' music scene, and it still pulls in top bands and big crowds.

Triple Rock Social Club (☎ 612-333-7499; www.triplerocksocialclub.com; 629 Cedar Ave) Triple Rock is a popular punk-alternative club.

Lee's Liquor Lounge (☎ 612-338-9491; www.leesliquorlounge.com; 101 Glenwood Ave) Rockabilly and country-tinged alt bands twang here.

Dakota Jazz Club (☎ 612-332-1010; www.dakotacooks.com; 1010 Nicollet Mall) The Dakota is a classy venue that gets big-name jazz acts.

Nye's Polonaise Room (☎ 612-379-2021; 112 E Hennepin Ave) The World's Most Dangerous Polka Band lets loose Thursday through Saturday. It's smashing fun, and enhanced if you find yourself an old-timer to twirl you around the room.

THEATER & CULTURE

They don't call it Mini-Apple for nothing, with 100-plus theater groups here. The Guthrie and other venues put unsold tickets on sale 10 minutes before showtime for $15 to $25.

Brave New Workshop Theatre (☎ 612-332-6620; www.bravenewworkshop.com; 2605 Hennepin Ave S) An established venue for musical comedy, revue and satire.

Guthrie Theater (☎ 612-377-2224; www.guthrietheater.org; 818 2nd St S) Minneapolis' top-gun theater troupe, with the jumbo facility to prove it.

Historic Pantages, State & Orpheum Theatres (☎ 612-339-7007; www.hennepintheatredistrict.org) The main venues for Broadway shows and touring acts, all in a row on Hennepin Ave S at street Nos 710, 805 and 910, respectively.

Orchestra Hall (☎ 612-371-5656; www.minnesotaorchestra.org; 1111 Nicollet Mall) Superb acoustics for concerts by the acclaimed Minnesota Symphony Orchestra.

SPORTS

Minnesotans love their sports teams. Note that ice hockey (p645) happens in St Paul.

Hubert H Humphrey Metrodome (☎ 612-338-4537; www.vikings.com; 900 5th St S) The Vikings pro football team passes in the 'Dome.

Target Center (☎ 612-337-3865; www.nba.com/timberwolves; 600 1st Ave N) This is where the Timberwolves pro basketball team lays 'em up.

Target Field (☎ 612-338-9467; www.minnesotatwins.com; 3rd Ave N btwn 5th & 7th Sts N) It's the brand spankin' new stadium for the Twins pro baseball team.

Getting There & Around

The Minneapolis-St Paul International Airport (MSP; ☎ 612-726-5555; www.mspairport.com) is between the two cities to the south. It's the home of Northwest Airlines, which operates several direct flights to/from Europe.

The cheapest way into Minneapolis is via the Hiawatha light-rail line (regular/rush-hour fare $1.75/2.25, 25 minutes). To reach St Paul, take bus 54 (same fare, 25 minutes).

Greyhound (☎ 612-371-3325; www.greyhound.com; 950 Hawthorne Ave) runs frequent buses to Milwaukee ($39 to $61, seven hours), Chicago ($29 to $63, nine hours) and Duluth ($20 to $36, three hours). Megabus (☎ 877-462-6342; www.megabus.com/us) runs express to Milwaukee (six hours) and Chicago (eight hours), often for lower fares. It departs from both downtown and the university; check the website for exact locations.

Metro Transit (☎ 612-373-3333; www.metrotransit.org) runs frequent, spic-n-span buses (regular/rush-hour fare $1.75/2.25) throughout the area, as well as the excellent Hiawatha light-rail line (same fare) between downtown and the Mall of America. Express bus 94 (regular/rush-hour fare $2.25/3) connects Minneapolis to St Paul; it departs from 6th St N's south side, just west of Hennepin Ave. A day pass ($6) is available from any rail station or bus driver.

The Amtrak station (☎ 651-644-6012; www.amtrak.com; 730 Transfer Rd), off University Ave SE, is between Minneapolis and St Paul. Trains go daily to Chicago ($56 to $125, eight hours) and Seattle ($150 to $270, 37 hours). The ride east to La Crosse ($24 to $53, three hours), Wisconsin, is beautiful, skirting the Mississippi River and offering multiple eagle sightings.

If you need a taxi service, call Yellow Cab (☎ 612-824-4444).

At the time of writing, Minneapolis was set to launch the nation's largest bike-share program in May 2010. Nice Ride (www.niceridemn.com) is placing 1000 bikes in 80 self-serve kiosks around the city. Users pay a subscription fee (per day/week $5/15) online or at the kiosk, plus a small fee per half-hour of use. Bikes can be returned to any kiosk.

ST PAUL

Smaller and quieter than its twin city Minneapolis, St Paul has retained more of a historic character. Walk through F Scott Fitzgerald's old stomping grounds, trek the trails along the mighty Mississippi River, or slurp some Lao soup.

The visitors center (☎ 651-292-3225, 800-627-6101; www.visitstpaul.com; 75 W 5th St; 🕒 9am-4pm Mon-Fri, 10am-3pm Sat, noon-3pm Sun), in the Landmark Center, makes a good first stop for maps and DIY walking tour info. Pick up the St Paul Cultural Pass brochure for local discounts.

Sights & Activities

The Cathedral of St Paul (☎ 651-228-1766; www.cathedralsaintpaul.org; 239 Selby Ave; admission free; 🕒 7am-7pm Sun-Fri, to 9pm Sat) presides over the city from its hilltop perch and marks the attractive Summit-Selby neighborhood. This wealthy 19th-century district, now ethnically mixed, is well worth an afternoon stroll. Follow Summit Avenue, which has a fine string of Victorian houses, including the palatial James J Hill House (☎ 651-297-2555; www.mnhs.org/hillhouse; 240 Summit Ave; adult/child 6-17yr $8/4; 🕒 10am-3:30pm Wed-Sat, 1-3:30pm Sun), a railroad magnate's former mansion, now open for tours.

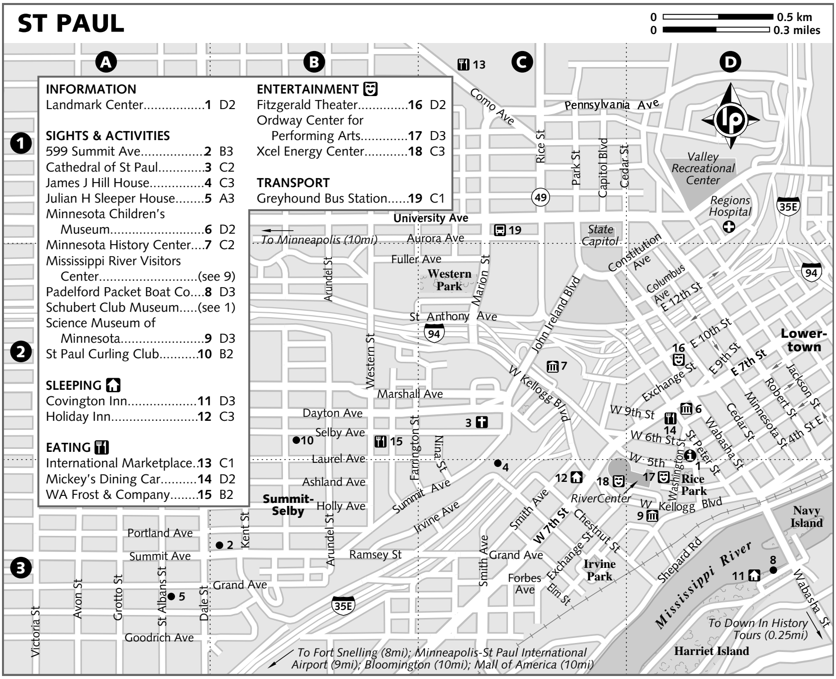
Writer F Scott Fitzgerald once lived at the privately owned 599 Summit Avenue, and authors Garrison Keillor and Sinclair Lewis have also called the area home. Literature buffs can pick up the Fitzgerald Homes and Haunts map at the visitors center (below).

A visit to the privately owned Julian H Sleeper House (☎ 651-225-1505; www.julianhsleeperhouse.com; 66 S St Albans St; tours $7; 🕒 by appointment) lets you see how the upper crust really lived. The place is filled with chandeliers, oriental carpets and decorative arts from the late 19th century. The owner is a colorful storyteller and will show you his antique postcard collection and other weird stuff.

Downtown, the turreted 1902 Landmark Center contains a couple of small museums in addition to the visitors center. The Schubert Club Museum (☎ 651-292-3267; www.schubert.org; 75 W 5th St; admission free; 🕒 11am-3pm Mon-Fri, 1-5pm Sun) has a brilliant collection of old pianos and harpsichords – some tickled by Mozart, Beethoven and the like – in the basement. It displays old manuscripts and letters from famous composers on the 2nd floor. A free wood-turning museum (it's a decorative form of woodworking) is also on the 2nd floor.

The Science Museum of Minnesota (☎ 651-221-9444; www.smm.org; 120 W Kellogg Blvd; adult/child 4-12yr $11/8.50; 🕒 9:30am-5pm Sun-Wed, to 9pm Thu-Sat, 8:30am-10pm daily mid-Jun–early Sep) has the usual hands-on kids' exhibits and Omnimax theater ($5 extra). Adults will be entertained by the wacky quackery of the 4th floor's 'questionable medical devices.' In the museum lobby is the National Park Service's Mississippi River Visitors Center (☎ 651-293-0200; www.nps.gov/miss; 🕒 9:30am-5pm Sun-Thu, to 9pm Fri & Sat). Definitely stop by to pick up trail maps and see what sort of free ranger-guided walks and bike rides are going on. Most take place at 10am on Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday in summer. In winter, the centers hosts ice-fishing and snowshoeing jaunts.

Revitalized Harriet Island, running south off Wabasha St, is a lovely place to meander; it has a park, river walk, concert stages and fishing dock. Padelford Packet Boat Co (☎ 651-227-1100; www.riverrides.com; adult/child 3-12yr $16/8) operates 1½-hour paddle-boat tours from the dock. Tours begin at noon and 2pm from June to August



ST PAUL
0 0.5 km
0 0.3 miles
INFORMATION
Landmark Center 1 D2
SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES
599 Summit Ave 2 B3
Cathedral of St Paul 3 C2
James J Hill House 4 C3
Julian H Sleeper House 5 A3
Minnesota Children's Museum 6 D2
Minnesota History Center 7 C2
Mississippi River Visitors Center (see 9)
Padelford Packet Boat Co 8 D3
Schubert Club Museum (see 1)
Science Museum of Minnesota 9 D3
St Paul Curling Club 10 B2
SLEEPING
Covington Inn 11 D3
Holiday Inn 12 C3
EATING
International Marketplace 13 C1
Mickey's Dining Car 14 D2
WA Frost & Company 15 B2
ENTERTAINMENT
Fitzgerald Theater 16 D2
Ordway Center for Performing Arts 17 D3
Xcel Energy Center 18 C3
TRANSPORT
Greyhound Bus Station 19 C1
To Minneapolis (10mi)
To Fort Snelling (8mi); Minneapolis-St Paul International Airport (9mi); Bloomington (10mi); Mall of America (10mi)
To Down In History Tours (0.25mi)
Valley Recreational Center Regions Hospital
State Capitol
Western Park
Lowertown
Summit-Selby
Rice Park
RiverCenter
Irvine Park
Navy Island
Harriet Island
Mississippi River

every day except Monday, and at 2pm Saturday and Sunday only in September and October.

From November to March, stop in and watch the action at the St Paul Curling Club (☎ 651-224-7408; www.stpaulcurlingclub.org; 470 Selby Ave). For those uninitiated in northern ways, curling is a winter sport that involves sliding a hubcap-sized 'puck' down the ice toward a bull's-eye.

St Paul for Children

The Minnesota Children's Museum (☎ 651-225-6000; www.mcm.org; 10 W 7th St; admission $9; 🕐 9am-5pm Tue-Sun, to 8pm Fri, open Mon Jun-Aug; 👪) has the usual gamut of hands-on activities, as well as a giant anthill to burrow through, and the 'One World' intercultural community where kids can shop and vote.

The Minnesota History Center (☎ 651-259-3000; www.mnhs.org/historycenter; 345 W Kellogg Blvd; adult/child 6-17yr $10/5, admission free Tue evening; 🕐 10am-8pm Tue, 10am-5pm Wed-Sat, noon-5pm Sun; 👪) educates with its 'A to Z' treasure hunt and climbable boxcar, while the Science Museum of Minnesota (p643) pleases kids with its laser show and Omnimax.

Tours

Down In History Tours (☎ 651-292-1220; www.wabashastreetcaves.com; 215 S Wabasha St) Tour St Paul's underground caves ($5), which gangsters once used as a speakeasy. The company offers other fun, offbeat tours too. Times vary.

Festivals & Events

St Paul Winter Carnival (☎ 651-223-4700; www.winter-carnival.com; admission varies depending on event) Ten days of ice sculptures, ice skating and ice fishing in January.

Sleeping

You'll find a bigger selection in Minneapolis.

Holiday Inn (☎ 651-225-1515; www.holiday-inn.com/stpaulmn; 175 W 7th St; r $99-159; P ❄ 📶 🏊) The rooms are the usual decent quality you expect from the Holiday Inn chain; the perks are the location adjacent to the RiverCentre, a small pool and an on-site Irish pub. Parking is $14.

Covington Inn (☎ 651-292-1411; www.covingtoninn.com; 100 Harriet Island Rd; r incl breakfast $150-235; P ❄) This four-room, Harriet Island B&B is on a tugboat floating in the Mississippi River; watch the river traffic glide by while sipping your morning coffee.

Eating & Drinking

Grand Ave between Dale and Victoria Sts is a worthy browse, with cafés, foodie shops and ethnic eats in close proximity.

Mickey's Dining Car (☎ 651-222-5633; 36 W 7th St; mains $4-8; 🕒 24hr) Mickey's is a downtown classic; the kind of place where the friendly waitress calls you 'honey' and satisfied regulars line the bar with their coffee cups and newspapers. The food has timeless appeal too: burgers, malts and apple pie.

our pick International Marketplace (☎ 651-487-3700; 217 Como Ave; items $4-8; 🕒 9am-7pm) The nation's largest enclave of Hmong immigrants live in the Twin Cities, and this market delivers their favorite Vietnamese, Lao and Thai dishes at its humble food court. Find the West Building and head to the back where vendors ladle hot-spiced papaya salad, beef ribs, sticky rice and curry noodle soup. Then stroll the market, where you can fix your dentures or buy a cockatoo or brass gong.

WA Frost & Company (☎ 651-224-5715; 374 Selby Ave; sandwiches $9-11, mains $16-32; 🕒 11am-10pm Sun-Thu, to 11pm Fri & Sat) Frost's tree-shaded, ivy-covered, twinkling-light patio is right out of a Fitzgerald novel, perfect for a glass of wine, beer or gin. The restaurant locally sources many ingredients for dishes like the artisanal cheese plate, glazed tofu steak and cardamom-glazed duck.

Entertainment

Fitzgerald Theater (☎ 651-290-1221; www.fitzgeraldtheater.org; 10 E Exchange St) Where Garrison Keillor tapes his Prairie Home Companion radio show.

Ordway Center for Performing Arts (☎ 651-224-4222; www.ordway.org; 345 Washington St) Chamber music and the Minnesota Opera fill the hall here.

Xcel Energy Center (☎ 651-222-9453; www.wild.com; 199 Kellogg Blvd) The Wild pro hockey team skates at Xcel.

Getting There & Around

St Paul is served by the same transit systems as Minneapolis; see p643 for details. Greyhound bus routes serving Minneapolis usually stop at the St Paul station (☎ 651-222-0507; 166 W University Ave) too.

AROUND MINNEAPOLIS–ST PAUL

Mall of America

In Bloomington, the Mall of America (☎ 952-883-8800; www.mallofamerica.com; off I-494 at 24th Ave; 🕒 10am-9:30pm Mon-Sat, 11am-7pm Sun) is the USA's largest shopping center. Yes, it's just a mall, filled with the usual stores, movie theaters and eateries. But there's also a wedding chapel inside. And an 18-hole minigolf course (☎ 952-883-8777; adult/child 4-12yr $9/7). And an amusement park, aka Nickelodeon Universe (☎ 952-883-8600; www.nickelodeonuniverse.com; 👶), with 24 rides, including a couple of scream-inducing roller coasters. To walk through will cost you nothing; a one-day, unlimited-ride wristband is $30; or you can pay for rides individually ($3 to $6). What's more, the state's largest aquarium, Underwater Adventures (☎ 952-883-0202; www.sharky.tv; adult/child 3-12yr $19/12; 👶) – where children can touch sharks and stingrays – is in the mall too. Combination passes are available to save dough. The Hiawatha light-rail runs to/from downtown.

Fort Snelling

East of the mall, Fort Snelling (☎ 612-726-1171; www.mnhs.org/fortsnelling; cnr Hwys 5 & 55; adult/child 6-17yr $10/5; 🕒 10am-5pm Mon-Sat, noon-5pm Sun Jun-Aug, Sat & Sun only May, Sep & Oct) is the state's oldest structure, established in 1820 as a frontier outpost in the remote Northwest Territory. Guides in period dress show restored buildings and reenact pioneer life.

SOUTHERN MINNESOTA

Some of the scenic southeast can be seen on short drives from the Twin Cities. Better is a loop of a few days' duration, following the rivers and stopping in some of the historic towns and state parks.

Just east of St Paul, the St Croix River forms the border with Wisconsin. Northeast of the city along US 61, then east on US 8, attractive Taylors Falls marks the upper limit of navigation. Take a walk along the gorge in Interstate Park. Due east of St Paul, on Hwy 36, touristy Stillwater, on the lower St Croix, is an old logging town with restored 19th-century buildings, river cruises and antique stores. It's also an official 'booktown,' an honor bestowed upon a few small towns worldwide that possess an extraordinary number of antiquarian bookshops. What's more, the town is filled with classy historic B&Bs; the chamber of commerce (☎ 651-439-4001; www.ilovestillwater.com) provides listings.

Larger Red Wing, to the south on US 61, is a similar but less-interesting restored town, though it does offer its famous Red Wing Shoes – actually more like sturdy boots – and salt glaze pottery.

The prettiest part of the Mississippi Valley area begins south of here. To drive it and see the best bits, you'll need to flip-flop back and forth between Minnesota and Wisconsin.

From Red Wing, cross the river on US 63. Maiden Rock, on Wisconsin Hwy 35 (aka the Great River Rd), is downstream and offers views from its 400ft Indian-legend namesake. A bit further south, a great stretch of Hwy 35 edges beside the bluffs around Stockholm (population 90). It's worth a stop here at Bogus Creek Cafe (☎ 715-442-5017; Spring St; mains $7-11; 🕘 10am-4pm Mon-Thu, 9am-5pm Fri-Sun) for the sweetastic French toast cut from croissants, and fresh bread and Swedish pastries.

Continuing south, cross back over the river to Wabasha in Minnesota, which has a historic downtown and large population of bald eagles that congregate in winter. To learn more, visit the National Eagle Center (☎ 651-565-4989; www.nationaleaglecenter.org; 50 Pembroke Ave; adult/child $6/4; 🕘 10am-5pm).

On the Wisconsin side again, Hwy 35 is scenic heading south to Alma, offering superlative views from Buena Vista Park. Cross back to Minnesota further downstream at Winona, where there are fine views from lofty Garvin Heights Park, with eagle sightings an added bonus in winter.

Inland and south, the Bluff Country is dotted with limestone bluffs, southeast Minnesota's main geological feature. Lanesboro is a gem for rails-to-trails cycling and canoeing. Seven miles westward on County Rd 8 (call for directions) is Old Barn Resort (☎ 507-467-2512; www.barnresort.com; dm/r $25/50, camp-/RV site $28/36; 🕘 Apr–mid-Nov; 🏊), a pastoral hostel-cum campground-restaurant-outfitter. Harmony, south of Lanesboro, is the center of an Amish community and another welcoming town.

WHAT THE...?

Behold the World's Largest Ball of Twine (☎ 320-693-7544; www.darwintwineball.com; 1st St; admission free; 🕘 24hr) in Darwin, 62 miles west of Minneapolis on US 12. To be specific, it's the 'Largest Built by One Person' – Francis A Johnson wrapped the 17,400lb whopper on his farm over the course of 29 years. Gawk at it in the town gazebo. Better yet, visit the museum (🕘 1-4pm Apr-Sep, by appointment Oct-Mar) beside it and buy your own twine ball starter kit in the gift shop.

Head north on US 52 to Rochester, home of the famed Mayo Clinic (☎ 507-284-2511; www.mayoclinic.org; 200 1st St SW), which attracts medical patients and practitioners from around the world. Free 90-minute tours (at 10am weekdays) and a film outline the Mayo brothers' story and describe how the clinic developed its cutting-edge reputation.

NORTHERN MINNESOTA

Northern Minnesota is where you come to 'do some fishing, do some drinking,' as one resident summed it up.

Duluth

At the Great Lakes' westernmost end, Duluth (with its neighbor, Superior, Wisconsin) is one of the busiest ports in the country, sporting over 40 miles of wharf and waterfront. The town's dramatic location spliced into a cliff makes it a fab place to see changeable Lake Superior in action. The water, along with the area's trails and natural splendor, has earned Duluth a reputation as a hot spot for outdoors junkies.

A seasonal visitors center (☎ 218-722-6024, 800-438-5884; www.visitduluth.com; 350 Harbor Dr; 🕘 9:30am-7:30pm mid-May–Aug, reduced hours Sep–mid-Oct) is in the Duluth Entertainment Convention Center (DECC), opposite the Vista dock.

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

The waterfront area is distinctive. Mosey along the Lakewalk trail and around Canal Park. Look for the Aerial Lift Bridge, which rises to let ships into the port; about a thousand ships a year pass through here. Check the computer screens outside the Maritime Visitors Center (☎ 218-720-5260; www.lsmma.com; 600 Lake Ave S; admission free; 🕘 10am-9pm Jun-Aug, reduced hours Sep-May) to learn when the big ones come and go. The first-rate center also has exhibits on Great Lakes' shipping and shipwrecks.

To continue the nautical theme, walk the mighty William A Irvin (☎ 218-722-7876; www.williamairvin.com; 350 Harbor Dr; adult/child $9/free; 🕘 9am-7pm Jun-Aug, 10am-4pm May, Sep & Oct), a 610ft Great Lakes freighter. The hour-long tour also includes a look aboard a Coastguard ice cutter (although this may become a separate attraction with its own admission fee in the near future).

The Great Lakes Aquarium (☎ 218-740-3474; www.glaquarium.org; 353 Harbor Dr; adult/child 3-16yr $14.50/8.50; 🕘 10am-6pm) is one of the country's few freshwater aquariums. Highlights include the daily stingray feedings at 2pm and the otter tanks.

WHAT THE...?

Lookin' for a little sweet pork magic? Hop on I-90 heading southwest from Rochester and pull off in Austin. Here, friends, lies the Spam Museum (☎ 800-588-7726; www.spam.com; 1101 N Main St; admission free; 🕘 10am-5pm Mon-Sat, noon-4pm Sun May-Aug, closed Mon Sep-Apr), an entire institution devoted to the peculiar, revered blue tins of meat. Who knew canned hog could be so much fun?

The 1½-hour harbor cruises from Vista Fleet (☎ 218-722-6218; www.vistafleet.com; 323 Harbor Dr; adult/child $14/6; 🕘 mid-May–Oct) will get you out on the water. Or do it yourself by paddling a kayak with the University of Minnesota Duluth's outdoor program (☎ 218-726-7128; www.umdrsop.org; 1216 Ordean Ct; 4hr tour $45-50). It also offers rock climbing, paddleboarding and snowkiting programs; beginners are welcome for all activities.

Skiing and snowboarding are big pastimes come winter, and Spirit Mountain (☎ 218-628-2891; www.spiritmt.com; 9500 Spirit Mountain Pl; per day adult/child 7-12yr $45/35; 🕘 9am-8pm Sun-Thu, to 9pm Fri & Sat mid-Nov–Mar), 10 miles south of Duluth, is the place to go; rentals are available.

For a spectacular view of the city and harbor, climb the rock tower in Enger Park (Skyline Pkwy), located a couple miles southwest by the golf course.

Back in town, Leif Erikson Park (cnr London Rd & 14th Ave E) is a lakefront sweet spot with a rose garden, replica of Leif's Viking ship and free outdoor movies each Friday night in summer. Take the Lakewalk from Canal Park (about 1½ miles) and you can say you hiked the Superior Trail (p649), which traverses this stretch.

SLEEPING & EATING

Duluth has several B&Bs; rooms cost at least $125 in the summer. Check Duluth Historic Inns (www.duluthbandb.com) for listings. The town's accommodations fill up fast in summer, which may mean you'll have to try your luck across the border in Superior, Wisconsin (where it's cheaper too). Note that most restaurants and bars reduce their hours in winter.

Willard Munger Inn (☎ 218-624-4814, 800-982-2453; www.mungerinn.com; 7408 Grand Ave; r incl breakfast peak weekends $90-136; 🚭 💻 📶) Family-owned Munger Inn offers a fine variety of rooms (budget to Jacuzzi suites), along with perks for outdoor enthusiasts, such as hiking and biking trails right outside the door, free use of bikes and canoes and a fire pit. It's near Spirit Mountain.

Fitger's Inn (☎ 218-722-8826, 888-348-4377; www.fitgers.com; 600 E Superior St; r incl breakfast $99-209; 🚭 💻 📶) Fitger's carved its 62 large rooms, each with slightly varied decor, from an old brewery. Located on the Lakewalk, the pricier rooms have great water views. The free shuttle to local sights is handy.

The Canal Park waterfront area has eateries of all price ranges. In the DeWitt-Seitz Marketplace (394 Lake Ave S), Amazing Grace (☎ 218-723-0075; sandwiches $6-10; 🕘 7am-10pm) serves sandwiches in a hippyish café with folk music some evenings, while Taste of Saigon (☎ 218-727-1598; mains $7-12; 🕘 11am-8:30pm Sun-Thu, to 9:30pm Fri & Sat) cooks Vietnamese meals, including vegetarian dishes like mock duck.

Earthy, pinewood-boothed Chester Creek Cafe (☎ 218-723-8569; 1902 E 8th St; mains $7-14; 🕘 7am-9pm Mon-Sat, 7:30am-4pm Sun) plates omelets, tempeh reubens, thai tofu curry and fish and meat dishes. Organic wines and thick, double-crusted pie slices appear too. It's in the university area, about 2 miles from downtown.

Fully licensed Pizza Luce (☎ 218-727-7400; 11 E Superior St; large pizza $20-22; 🕘 8am-1:30am Sun-Thu, to 2:30am Fri & Sat) is renowned for its gourmet pizzas, vegetarian options and late-night vibe. It's also plugged into the local music scene and hosts bands.

GETTING THERE & AROUND

Greyhound (☎ 218-722-5591; 4426 Grand Ave) has a couple of buses daily to Minneapolis ($20 to $36, three hours) and Milwaukee ($65 to $98, 12 hours).

North Shore

Heading northeast to Canada, Hwy 61 (see boxed text, p648) edges Lake Superior and passes numerous state parks, waterfalls, hiking trails and mom-and-pop towns. Lots of weekend, summer and fall traffic makes reservations essential.

Two Harbors has a museum, lighthouse and B&B. Actually, the latter two are one and the same, with the Lighthouse B&B (☎ 218-834-4814, 888-832-5606; www.lighthousebb.org; r incl breakfast $135-155) being a unique place to spend the night if you can snag one of its four rooms. Just beyond town is the Houle Information Center (☎ 800-777-7384; www.twoharborschamber.com; 1330 Hwy 61; 🕒 9am-5pm Mon-Fri, to 6pm Sat, 10am-5pm Sun), which provides area information.

Route highlights north of Two Harbors are Gooseberry Falls, Split Rock Lighthouse and Palisade Head. About 110 miles from Duluth, artsy little Grand Marais makes an excellent base for exploring the Boundary Waters (right) and environs. For Boundary permits and information, visit the Gunflint Ranger Station (☎ 218-387-1750; 🕒 7am-5pm May-Sep), just south of town. The visitors center (☎ 218-387-2524; www.grandmarais.com; 13 N Broadway St; 🕒 9am-5pm Mon-Thu, to 6pm Fri & Sat, 10am-2pm Sun Jul-Oct, reduced hours rest of year) is also a good resource.

Do-it-yourself enthusiasts can learn to build boats, tie flies or brew beer at the North House Folk School (☎ 218-387-9762; www.northhousefolkschool.com; 500 Hwy 61). Classes start at $35, and the course list is phenomenal

Grand Marais' lodging options include camping, resorts and motels, like the Harbor Inn (☎ 218-387-1191; www.bytheharbor.com; 207 Wisconsin St; r $95-135; 📶) in town or rustic, trail-encircled Naniboujou Lodge (☎ 218-387-2688; www.naniboujou.com; 20 Naniboujou; r $90-110), which is 8 miles outside town. Sven and Ole's (☎ 218-387-1713; 9 Wisconsin St; sandwiches $4-7.50; 🕒 11am-8pm, to 9pm Thu-Sat) is a classic for sandwiches and pizza; beer flows at the attached Pickled Herring Pub. Ecofriendly Angry Trout Cafe (☎ 218-387-1265; 416 Hwy 61; mains $19-25; 🕒 11am-8:30pm May–mid-Oct) grills fresh-plucked lake fish in a converted fishing shanty.

Hwy 61 continues to Grand Portage National Monument, beside Canada, where the early voyageurs had to carry their canoes around the Pigeon River rapids. This was the center of a far-flung trading empire, and the reconstructed 1788 trading post is well worth seeing. Isle Royale National Park in Lake Superior is reached by daily ferries (☎ 218-475-0024; www.isleroyaleboats.com; day trip adult/child 4-11yr $63/42) from May to October. (The park is also accessible from Michigan; see p625.)

Boundary Waters

From Two Harbors, Hwy 2 runs inland to the legendary Boundary Waters Canoe Area Wilderness (BWCAW). This pristine region has more than a thousand lakes and streams in which to dip a paddle. It's possible to go just for the day, but most people opt for at least one night of camping. If you're willing to dig in and canoe for a while, you'll lose the crowds. Camping then becomes a wonderfully remote experience where it will be you, the howling wolves, the moose who's nuzzling the tent and the aurora borealis' greenish light filling the night sky. Beginners are welcome, and everyone can get set up with gear from local lodges and outfitters. Permits (☎ 877-550-6777; www.recreation.gov; adult/child under 18yr $16/8, plus $12 reservation fee) are required for overnight stays. Day permits, though free, are also required. Call Superior National Forest (☎ 218-626-4300; www.fs.fed.us/r9/forests/superior/bwcaw) for details; the website has a useful trip planning guide. Try to plan ahead, if possible, as permits are quota restricted and sometimes run out.

Many argue the best BWCAW access is via the engaging town of Ely, northeast of the Iron Range area, which has accommodations, restaurants and scores of outfitters. The Chamber of Commerce (☎ 800-777-7281; www.ely.org; 1600 E Sheridan St; 🕒 9am-5pm Mon-Sat, noon-3pm Sun) has general information and lodging assistance. Don't miss the International Wolf

SCENIC DRIVE: HWY 61

Hwy 61 conjures a headful of images. Local boy Bob Dylan mythologized it in his angry 1965 album Highway 61 Revisited. It's the fabled 'Blues Highway' clasping the Mississippi River en route to New Orleans (see p37 and p48). And in northern Minnesota, it evokes red-tinged cliffs and forested beaches as it follows Lake Superior's shoreline.

But let's back up and get a few things straight. The Blues Highway is actually US 61, and it starts just north of the Twin Cities. Hwy 61 is a state scenic road, and it starts in Duluth. To confuse matters more, there are two 61s between Duluth and Two Harbors: a four-lane expressway and a two-lane 'Old Hwy 61' (also called Scenic 61, Country Rd 61 and North Shore Scenic Drive). Whatever the name, take it. After Two Harbors, it's one wonderfully scenic strip of pavement all the way to the Canadian border. For more information, check the North Shore Scenic Drive at www.superiorbyways.com.

WORTH THE TREK: SUPERIOR HIKING TRAIL

The 205-mile Superior Hiking Trail (☎ 218-834-2700; www.shta.org) follows the lake-hugging ridgeline between Two Harbors and the Canadian border. Along the way it passes dramatic red-rock overlooks and the occasional moose and black bear. Trailheads with parking lots pop up every 5 to 10 miles, making it ideal for day hikes. The Superior Shuttle (☎ 218-834-5511; www.superiorhikingshuttle.com; $15-30; 🕐 Fri-Sun mid-May–mid-Oct) makes life even easier, picking up trekkers from 17 stops along the route. Overnight hikers will find 81 backcountry campsites and several lodges to cushion the body come nightfall; the trail website has details. The whole footpath is free, with no reservations or permits required. Duluth also sports 39 miles of the trail, which should be connected to Two Harbors by 2012.

Center (☎ 218-365-4695; www.wolf.org; 1369 Hwy 169; adult/child 3-12yr $8.50/4.50; 🕐 10am-5pm), which offers intriguing exhibits and wolf-viewing trips. Across the highway from the center, Kawishiwi Wilderness Station (☎ 218-365-7561; 🕐 7am-5pm May-Aug, 8:30am-4:30pm Sep) provides expert camping and canoeing details, trip suggestions and required permits.

In winter, Ely gets mushy – it's a renowned dogsledding town. Outfitters such as Wintergreen Dogsled Lodge (☎ 218-365-6022, 877-753-3386; www.dogsledding.com; 4hr tour $125) and Boundary Country Trekking (☎ 800-322-8327; www.boundarycountry.com; 2-night trip $325) offer numerous packages.

Iron Range District

An area of red-tinged scrubby hills rather than mountains, Minnesota's Iron Range District consists of the Mesabi and Vermilion Ranges, running north and south of Hwy 169 from roughly Grand Rapids northeast to Ely. Iron was discovered here in the 1850s, and at one time more than three-quarters of the nation's iron ore was extracted from these vast open-pit mines. Visitors can see working mines and the terrain's raw, sparse beauty all along Hwy 169.

In Calumet, a perfect introduction is the Hill Annex Mine State Park (☎ 218-247-7215; 880 Gary St; tours adult/child 5-12yr $10/6; 🕐 9am-5:30pm Wed-Sat), with its open-pit tours and exhibit center. Tours are held in summertime only, from Wednesday to Saturday at 12:30pm and 3pm; there's also a fossil tour at 10am.

An even bigger pit sprawls in Hibbing, where a must-see viewpoint (admission free; 🕐 9am-5pm mid-May–mid-Sep) north of town overlooks the 3-mile Hull-Rust Mahoning Mine. Bob Dylan lived at 2425 E 7th Ave as a boy and teenager; the Hibbing Public Library (☎ 218-362-5959; www.hibbing.lib.mn.us; 2020 E 5th Ave; 🕐 9am-8pm Mon-Thu, to 5pm Fri) has well-done Dylan displays and a free walking tour map that takes you past various sites, like the place where Bobby had his bar mitzvah. Zimmy's (☎ 218-262-6145; 531 E Howard St; sandwiches $7-9, mains $12-24; 🕐 11am-1am) has more memorabilia, plus drinks and pub grub. For a bed, try Hibbing Park Hotel (☎ 218-262-3481; www.hibbingparkhotel.com; 1402 E Howard St; r $88-93; ❋ 🏊).

Chisholm has Ironworld Discovery Center (☎ 218-254-7959; www.ironworld.com; Hwy 169; adult/child 6-18yr $8/6; 🕐 10am-5pm Tue-Sun, to 9pm Thu), a theme park featuring open-pit mine tours and area ethnic displays.

Further east is Virginia, with more mine sites plus a giant loon, Minnesota's state bird. The Pine View Inn Motel (☎ 218-741-8918; www.pineviewinnmotel.com; 903 N 17th St; r incl breakfast $59-99; ❋ 📶) could be the cleanest in the state. The Virginia area also has the Range's best restaurant selection. The Whistling Bird Cafe (☎ 218-741-7544; 101 N Broadway Ave; mains $15-23; 🕐 5-9pm Mon-Thu, 4-9pm Fri-Sun), a few miles south in Gilbert, serves Jamaican food.

Soudan sports the area's only underground mine (☎ 218-753-2245; www.soudan.umn.edu; 1379 Stuntz Bay Rd; adult/child 5-12yr $10/6; 🕐 10am-4pm late May-early Sep), which is available for touring; wear warm clothes.

Voyageurs National Park

In the 17th century, French-Canadian fur traders, or voyageurs, began exploring the Great Lakes and northern rivers by canoe. Voyageurs National Park (www.nps.gov/voya) covers part of their customary waterway, which became the border between the USA and Canada.

It's all about water up here. Most of the park is accessible only by hiking or motorboat – the waters are mostly too wide and too rough for canoeing, though kayaks are becoming popular. A few access roads lead to campgrounds and lodges on or near Lake

THE ROOTBEER LADY

So you've been hanging out in the remoter portions of the Boundary Waters, thinking you're a real wilderness stud. Sorry, that honor belongs to Dorothy Molter, who lived for 56 years in a cabin smack in the middle of nowhere, 18 miles from the nearest road. Dorothy paddled, hiked, fished, skied and snowshoed around the Boundary Waters – and served her homemade root beer to anyone who happened to drop by – cementing her reputation as a colorful north woods character. She died at age 79, and her friends hauled her homestead by dogsled to Ely. It's now a museum (☎ 218-365-4451; www.rootbeerlady.com; adult/child 6-12yr $6/4; 🕒 10am-5:30pm Mon-Sat, noon-5:30pm Sun Jun-Aug, weekends only May & Sep), which is located on the south side of Hwy 169; a guided tour is included in the admission and is well worth your time.

Superior, but these are mostly used by people putting in their own boats.

The visitors centers are car accessible and good places to begin your visit. Twelve miles east of International Falls on Hwy 11 is Rainy Lake Visitors Center (☎ 218-286-5258; 🕒 9am-5pm Jun-Sep, closed Mon & Tue Oct-May), the main park office. Ranger-guided walks and boat tours are available here. Seasonal visitors centers are at Ash River (☎ 218-374-3221; 🕒 9am-5pm Jun-Sep) and Kabetogama Lake (☎ 218-875-2111; 🕒 9am-5pm Jun-Sep). These areas have outfitters, rentals and services, plus some smaller bays for canoeing.

Houseboating is the region's rage. Outfitters such as Ebel's (☎ 888-883-2357; www.ebels.com; 10326 Ash River Trail, Orr) and Voyagaire Houseboats (☎ 800-882-6287; www.voyagaire.com; 7576 Gold Coast Rd, Crane Lake) can set you up. Rentals range from $260 to $685 per day, depending on boat size. Novice boaters are welcome and receive instruction on how to operate the vessels.

For sleeping, your choices are pretty much camping or resorts. The 12-room, shared-bath Kettle Falls Hotel (☎ 218-240-1724; www.kettlefallshotel.com; r incl breakfast $50-70; 🕒 May–mid-Oct) is an exception, located in the park's midst and accessible only by boat; make arrangements with the owners for pick-up (per person round-trip $45). Nelson's Resort (☎ 800-433-0743; www.nelsonsresort.com; 7632 Nelson Rd; cabins from $180) at Crane Lake is a winner for hiking, fishing and relaxing under blue skies.

While this is certainly a remote and wild area, those seeking wildlife, canoeing and forest camping in all their glory are best off in the Boundary Waters (p648).

Chippewa National Forest Area

This area is synonymous with outdoor activities and summer fun. Campsites and cottages abound, and almost everybody is fishing-crazy.

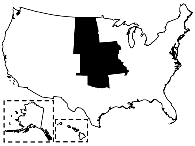
Attractive Walker has a beach and makes a good spot for a break. For information on hiking, canoeing and camping, check in at the Chippewa National Forest office (☎ 218-547-1044; 201 Minnesota Ave E; 🕒 8am-4:30pm Mon-Fri) either here, or in the town of Cass Lake, to the north.

Northwest of Walker, Itasca State Park (☎ 218-266-2100; off Hwy 71 N; campsites $16-24) is an area highlight. You can walk across the tiny headwaters of the mighty Mississippi River, rent canoes or bikes, hike the trails and camp. The log HI Mississippi Headwaters Hostel (☎ 218-266-3415; www.himinnesota.org; dm $24-27, r $80-130; ☒ 📶) is in the park; winter hours vary, so call ahead. Or if you want a little rustic luxury, try the venerable Douglas Lodge (☎ 866-857-2757; r $69-115), run by the park, which also has cabins and two good dining rooms.

On the western edge of the forest, tidy Bemidji is an old lumber town with a well-preserved downtown and a giant statue of legendary logger Paul Bunyan and his faithful blue ox, Babe. The visitors center (☎ 800-458-2223; www.visitbemidji.com; 300 Bemidji Ave N; 🕒 8am-5pm Mon-Fri, 9am-5pm Sat, noon-4pm Sun Jun-Aug, reduced hours Sep-May) displays Paul's toothbrush. Stay by the lake and fish at Taber's Log Cabins (☎ 218-751-5781; www.taberslogcabins.com; 2404 Bemidji Ave N; cabins $69-79; 🕒 May-Oct). Raphael's Bakery Cafe (☎ 218-759-2015; 319 Minnesota Ave; items $3-5; 🕒 6am-5:30pm Mon-Fri, 6am-2pm Sat) has fine light lunches, coffee and wild-rice bread.

© Lonely Planet. To make it easier for you to use, access to this chapter is not digitally restricted. In return, we think it's fair to ask you to use it for personal, non-commercial purposes only. In other words, please don't upload this chapter to a peer-to-peer site, mass email it to everyone you know, or resell it. See the terms and conditions on our site for a longer way of saying the above - 'Do the right thing with our content.'

Great Plains



To best appreciate this vast and under-appreciated region in the heart of the US, you need to split the name. The first word, great, is easy. Great food, great scenery, great tornadoes, great people, great surprises all apply. The problem is with plains. Humdrum and flat are just two of the words that come to mind. Neither applies.

True, the Great Plains rarely head anybody's holiday plans but they should. Really. There are the endless horizons and raw drama of the settler experience in North Dakota; the dramatic peaks, valleys and monuments of South Dakota's respective Black Hills, Badlands and Mt Rushmore; and Iowa, which surprises with small towns and friendly folks that exude a creative charm that outclasses the snoots boasting of flying over.

Nebraska is much more than I-80. It captures the majestic sweep of the continent's center and has everything from the unexpected joys of arty Omaha to the miles of sand dunes in the middle. Missouri is bookended by two great cities, St Louis and Kansas City, which each have a unique and strong local vibe. In between is lots of lushly forested countryside.

Kansas has rural drives aplenty through scenery both bucolic and evocative of the Old West, while Oklahoma has more Native American culture than any other state.

So 'great' yes, 'plain' no. Possibly the biggest impediment to enjoying this enormous region is the great distances: the sites and attractions are scattered. In this chapter, many places are organized around important roads: the interstates and the more-intriguing two-laners. More far-flung points of interest and scenic drives are listed in a 'Detours & Extras' box for each state.

HIGHLIGHTS

- Going from mountain highs in the Black Hills (p680) to death valley lows in the Badlands (p679)
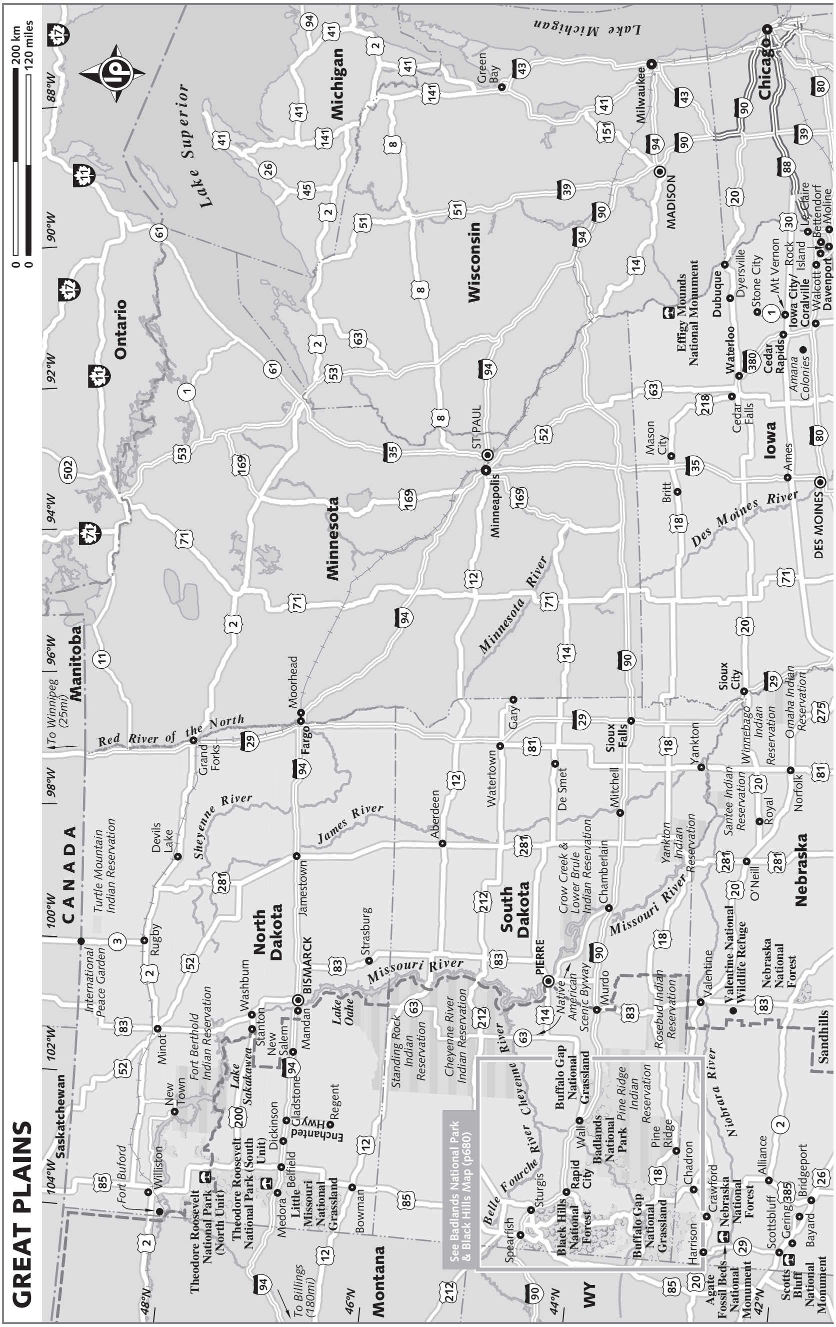
- Gaping at the otherworldly landscapes of Theodore Roosevelt National Park (p675)
- Eating yourself silly on the amazing barbecue in Kansas City (p668)
- Finding your own rhythms in quietly beautiful Chase County, Kansas (p694)
- Veering off the interstates for beguiling alternate routes such as old Route 66 through Missouri (p666), Kansas (p694) and Oklahoma (p696)

GREAT PLAINS



0 200 km
0 120 miles
CANADA Saskatchewan
Manitoba
Ontario
Michigan
Wisconsin
Minnesota
Iowa
North Dakota
South Dakota
Nebraska
Montana
WY
Lake Superior
Lake Michigan
To Winnipeg (25mi)
To Billings (180mi)
International Peace Garden
Turtle Mountain Indian Reservation
Fort Berthold Indian Reservation
Standing Rock Indian Reservation
Cheyenne River Indian Reservation
Crow Creek & Lower Brule Indian Reservation
Rosebud Indian Reservation
Pine Ridge Indian Reservation
Yankton Indian Reservation
Santee Indian Reservation
Winnebago Indian Reservation
Omaha Indian Reservation
Theodore Roosevelt National Park (North Unit)
Theodore Roosevelt National Park (South Unit)
Little Missouri National Grassland
Black Hills National Forest
Buffalo Gap National Grassland
Badlands National Park
Agate Fossil Beds National Monument
Scotts Bluff National Monument
Nebraska National Forest
Valentine National Wildlife Refuge
Effigy Mounds National Monument
Native American Scenic Byway
Enchanted Hwy
Sandhills
See Badlands National Park & Black Hills Map (p680)
Red River of the North
Sheyenne River
James River
Missouri River
Lake Sakakawea
Lake Oahe
Belle Fourche River
Cheyenne River
Niobrara River
Minnesota River
Des Moines River
Fort Buford Williston
New Town
Minot
Rugby
Devils Lake
Grand Forks
Fargo
Moorhead
Jamestown
BISMARCK
Mandan
New Salem
Washburn
Stanton
Gladstone
Dickinson
Belfield
Medora
Regent
Bowman
Strasburg Aberdeen
Watertown
Gary
De Smet
Mitchell
Sioux Falls
Yankton
Chamberlain
PIERRE
Murdo
Wall
Rapid City
Sturgis
Spearfish
Pine Ridge
Chadron
Crawford
Harrison Alliance
Scottsbluff
Gering
Bridgeport
Bayard
Valentine
O'Neill
Royal Norfolk
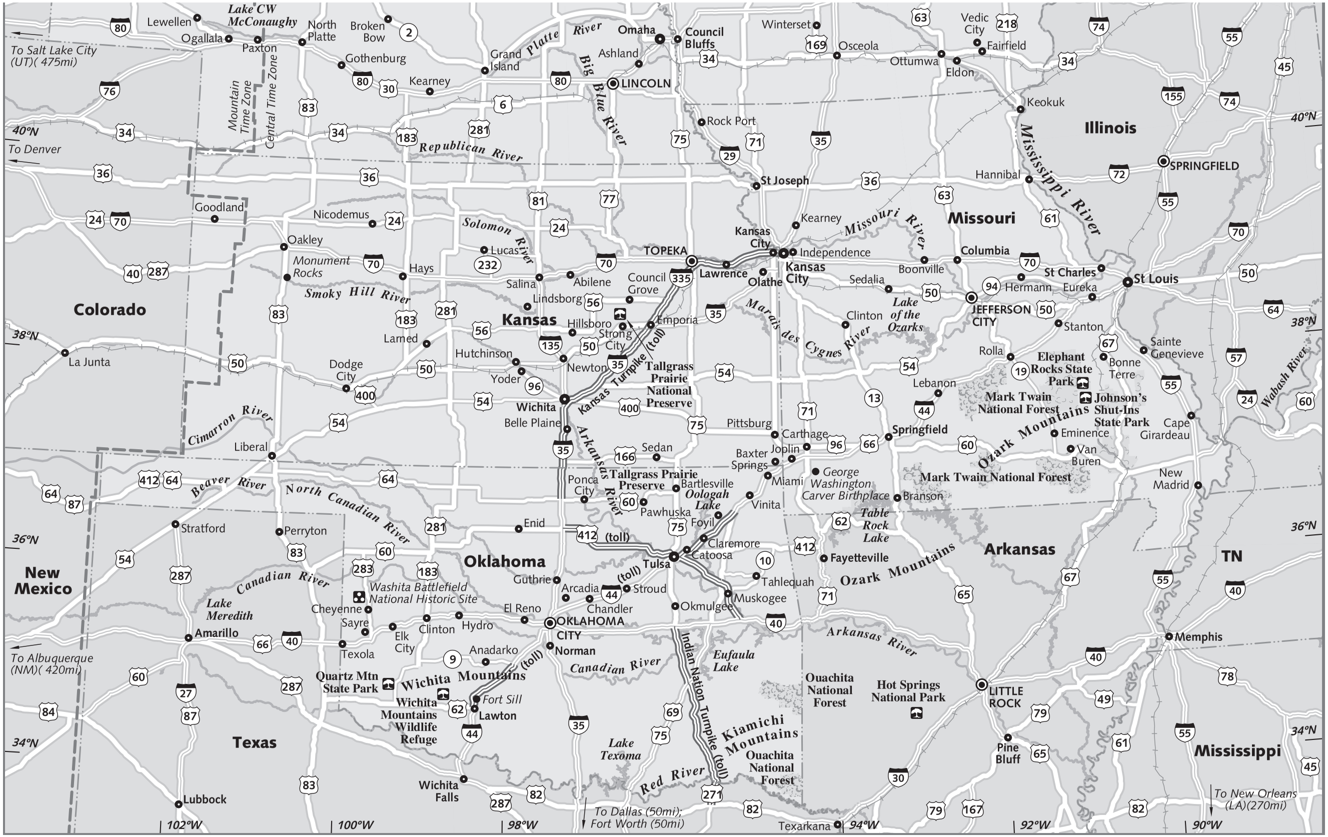
Sioux City
Minneapolis
ST PAUL
Mason City
Britt
Cedar Falls
Waterloo
Cedar Rapids
Amana Colonies
Iowa City
Coralville
Ames
DES MOINES
Dubuque
Dyersville
Stone City
Mt Vernon
Walcott
Davenport
Bettendorf
Le Claire
Rock Island
Moline
MADISON
Milwaukee
Green Bay
Chicago
104°W
102°W
100°W
98°W
96°W
94°W
92°W
90°W
88°W
48°N
46°N
44°N
42°N



Lewellen
Lake CW McConaughy
Ogallala
Paxton
North Platte
Broken Bow
Gothenburg
Kearney
Grand Island
Platte River
Omaha
Council Bluffs Ashland
LINCOLN
Big Blue River
Winterset
Osceola
Ottumwa
Eldon
Vedic City
Fairfield
Keokuk
Illinois
SPRINGFIELD
To Salt Lake City (UT)(475mi)
Mountain Time Zone
Central Time Zone
40°N
To Denver Republican River
Rock Port
St Joseph
Hannibal
Mississippi River
Goodland
Nicodemus
Oakley
Monument Rocks
Hays
Solomon River
Lucas
Salina
Abilene
TOPEKA
Kansas City
Independence
Kearney
Missouri River
Missouri
Columbia
Boonville
St Charles
St Louis
Lawrence
Olathe
Sedalia
Hermann
Eureka
JEFFERSON CITY
Stanton
Smoky Hill River
Colorado
Kansas
Lindsborg Council Grove Emporia
Hillsboro
Strong City
Marais des Cygnes River
Clinton
Lake of the Ozarks
Sainte Genevieve
38°N
La Junta
Larned
Hutchinson
Newton
Dodge City
Yoder
Wichita
Kansas Turnpike (toll)
Tallgrass Prairie National Preserve Rolla
Elephant Rocks State Park
Bonne Terre Lebanon
Mark Twain National Forest
Johnson's Shut-Ins State Park
Wabash River
Cape Girardeau
Cimarron River
Belle Plaine
Pittsburg
Carthage
Springfield
Ozark Mountains
Eminence
Van Buren Liberal
Sedan
Baxter Springs
Joplin
Miami
George Washington Carver Birthplace
Mark Twain National Forest
New Madrid
Beaver River
North Canadian River
Ponca City
Arkansas River
Tallgrass Prairie Preserve
Bartlesville
Oologah Lake
Pawhuska
Vinita
Branson
Table Rock Lake
36°N
Stratford
Perryton
Enid
(toll) Foyil
Claremore
Catoosa
Tulsa
Fayetteville
Arkansas
TN
New Mexico
Oklahoma
Canadian River
Washita Battlefield National Historic Site
Guthrie
Arcadia
Stroud
Tahlequah
Muskogee
Ozark Mountains
Lake Meredith Cheyenne Chandler
El Reno
OKLAHOMA CITY
Okmulgee
Amarillo
Sayre
Elk City
Clinton
Hydro
Texola
Anadarko
Norman
Arkansas River
Memphis
To Albuquerque (NM)(420mi)
Quartz Mtn State Park
Wichita Mountains
Canadian River
Eufaula Lake
Ouachita National Forest
Hot Springs National Park
LITTLE ROCK
Wichita Mountains Wildlife Refuge
Fort Sill
Lawton
Indian Nation Turnpike (toll)
Kiamichi Mountains
34°N
Texas
Lake Texoma
Ouachita National Forest
Pine Bluff
Mississippi
Wichita Falls
Red River
Lubbock
To Dallas (50mi); Fort Worth (50mi)
To New Orleans (LA)(270mi)
Texarkana
102°W
100°W
98°W
94°W
92°W
90°W

HISTORY

Spear-toting nomads hunted mammoths here 11,000 years ago, long before cannon-toting Spaniards introduced the horse (accidentally) around 1630. Fur-frenzied French explorers, following the Mississippi and Missouri Rivers, claimed most of the land between the Mississippi and the Rocky Mountains for France. The territory passed to Spain in 1763, the French got it back in 1800 and then sold it to the USA in the 1803 Louisiana Purchase.

Settlers' hunger for land pushed resident Native American tribes westward, often forcibly, as in the notorious relocation of the Five Civilized Tribes – Cherokee, Chickasaw, Choctaw, Creek and Seminole – along the 1838–39 'Trail of Tears,' which led to Oklahoma from back east. Pioneers blazed west on trails such as the Santa Fe across Kansas, and cowboys made their myth on the cattle-drivin' Chisholm Trail from Texas to wild towns like Dodge City.

Earlier occupants, including the Osage and Sioux, had different, but often tragic, fates. Many resettled in pockets of Oklahoma (the Osage luckily found their plots to be above the world's richest oil wells), while others fought for lands once promised.

Railroads, barbed wire and oil all brought change as the 20th century hovered. The 1930s Dust Bowl ruined farms and spurred many residents to say: 'I've had enough of this crap – I'm heading west.' Even today, many regions remain eerily empty.

LOCAL CULTURE

The people who settled the Great Plains usually faced difficult lives of scarcity, uncertainty and isolation; and it literally drove many of them crazy. Others gave up and got out (failed homesteads dot the region). Only fiercely independent people could thrive in those conditions and that born-and-bred rugged individualism is the core of Plains culture today. Life here is a whole lot easier now, but it's not without challenges.

All that staring out across empty space tends to make a person look inward a little. People here keep their thoughts close to the vest, and most are confident and content with their own way of doing things. Quiet restraint is considered an important and polite trait here. But sit yourself down on any small-town barstool and you'll be welcomed into the conversation.

These traits get diffused in the cities, which host the same diversity and opportunity found in the rest of the country's large towns.

LAND & CLIMATE

Like the dodgy product of a huckster, the Plains are misnamed; they actually have all manner of contours. Rolling hills characterize Missouri's Ozark Plateau, while South Dakota's Black Hills and some spots in southern Oklahoma sport real mountains. Another bumpy exception is the convoluted, below-the-plains Badlands of the Dakotas.

Thunderstorms, drought, blizzards and hailstorms all brew with equal abandon in these parts. As Dorothy can attest, tornadoes (p690) are the region's wildest weather manifestation and if you hear a tornado warning, heed it. They don't call this 'tornado alley' for nothing.

Winter can be painfully cold (well below 0°F/-17°C) in the north and summer can be hot (above 90°F/32°C) everywhere. Spring and fall are mild, with an average maximum of about 50°F (10°C), so these are good seasons to visit. Many attractions cut back hours, or close up altogether, in the winter.

PARKS & WILDLIFE

The National Park Service operates scores of sites across the plains, although only three are national parks – Wind Cave (p685), Badlands (p679) and Theodore Roosevelt (p675) – all in the Dakotas. The latter, along with South Dakota's Custer State Park (p684), is the best place to see bison (aka buffalo), creatures that once roamed the Plains 60-million strong but were killed off in wanton slaughters during the mid-19th century.

Other notable wildlife-watching destinations include South Dakota's Black Hills National Forest (p681) and Oklahoma's Wichita Mountains Wildlife Refuge (p700).

Most of the prairie grasslands have gone by way of the farmer's plow: only about 1% of the original tallgrass survives. Great places to see what's left are Kansas' Tallgrass Prairie National Preserve (p694), Oklahoma's Tallgrass Prairie Preserve (p702), Wind Cave National Park (p685) and near the Badlands (p679).

See individual state introductory sections for state park details.

GETTING THERE & AROUND

The region's main airport is Lambert-St Louis International (STL; ☎ 314-426-8000; www.flystl.com), but it only has a few direct international flights from Canada. Visitors from abroad will be better off flying to Chicago (p586) or Dallas (p740) and then connecting to one of the region's myriad airports.

The car- or motorcycle-less brave will miss a lot of the Plains. Greyhound buses only cover some interstates and don't enter much of the region at all, but Jefferson Lines (☎ 800-451-5333; www.jeffersonlines.com) and Burlington Trailways (☎ 800-992-4618; www.burlingtontrailways.com), a smaller carrier that specializes in Great Plains routes, take up the slack, getting you to most major towns and many smaller ones. They both honor Greyhound's Discovery passes.

A few other companies have limited service including Megabus (☎ 877-462-6342; www.megabus.com), linking Kansas City to Chicago via St Louis for as little as $15.

Unlike the rest of the US, you can actually get somewhat of a feel for the region from the interstate, since the wide-open spaces know no bounds. But the real joy of the region are the oodles of two-lane roads. Substantial stretches of Route 66 survive and are covered in the Missouri (p666), Kansas (p694) and Oklahoma (p696) sections.

Numerous daily Amtrak (☎ 800-872-7245; www.amtrak.com) routes across the Plains make getting here by train easy, but getting around by rail is impractical.

California Zephyr Between Chicago and San Francisco via Iowa (including Osceola, south of Des Moines) and Nebraska (including Omaha and Lincoln).
Empire Builder Between Chicago and Seattle via North Dakota.
Heartland Flyer Between Fort Worth and Oklahoma City.
Lincoln Service Between Chicago and St Louis.
Missouri River Runner Between St Louis and Kansas City.
Southwest Chief Between Chicago and Los Angeles via Missouri (including Kansas City) and Kansas (including Topeka and Dodge City).
Texas Eagle Between Chicago and San Antonio via St Louis.

MISSOURI

The most-populated state in the Plains, Missouri likes to mix things up, serving visitors ample portions of both sophisticated city life and down-home country sights. St Louis and Kansas City are vibrant cities that are destinations in their own right. But, with more forest and less farm field than neighboring states, Missouri also cradles plenty of wild places and wide-open spaces, most notably the rolling Ozark Mountains where the winding valleys invite adventurous exploring or just some laid-back meandering behind the steering wheel. Maybe you'll find an adventure worthy of Hannibal-native Mark Twain as you wander the state.

MISSOURI FACTS

Nickname Show-Me State
Population 5.8 million
Area 69,710 sq miles
Capital city Jefferson City (population 39,600)
Other cities St Louis (population 347,181), Kansas City (population 447,306)
Sales Tax 4.23%
Birthplace of author Samuel Clemens (Mark Twain; 1835–1910), scientist George Washington Carver (1864–1943), author William S Burroughs (1914–97), author Maya Angelou (b 1928), singer Sheryl Crow (b 1962)
Home of Budweiser, Chuck Berry
Famous for Gateway Arch, Branson
Official dance Square dance
Driving distances St Louis to Kansas City 250 miles, St Louis to Chicago 300 miles

History

Claimed by France as part of the Louisiana Territory in 1682, Missouri had only a few small river towns by the start of the 19th century when the land passed to American hands and Lewis and Clark pushed up the Missouri River. Missouri was admitted to the Union as a slave state in 1821, per the Missouri Compromise (which permitted slavery in Missouri but prohibited it in any other part of the Louisiana Territory above the 36°30′ parallel), but abolitionists never compromised their ideals, and bitter feelings were stoked along the Missouri–Kansas border by Civil War time.

The state's 'Show-Me' nickname is attributed to Congressman Willard Duncan Vandiver, who said in an 1899 speech, 'I come from a state that raises corn and cotton and cockleburs and Democrats, and frothy eloquence neither convinces nor satisfies me. I am from Missouri. You have got to show me.' The name now implies a stalwart, not-easily-impressed character.

Information

Bed & Breakfast Inns of Missouri (www.bbim.org)
Missouri Division of Tourism (☎ 800-519-2100; www.visitmo.com)
Missouri state parks (☎ 800-334-6946; www.mostateparks.com) State parks are free to visit. Site fees range from $10 to $24 and some sites may be reserved in advance.

ST LOUIS

Slide into St Louis and revel in the unique vibe of the largest city in the Great Plains. Beer, bowling and baseball are some of the top attractions, but history and culture, much of it linked to the Mississippi River, are a vital part of the fabric. And, of course, there's the iconic Gateway Arch that you have seen in a million pictures; it's even more impressive in person. Many music legends, including the likes of Scott Joplin, Chuck Berry, Tina Turner and Miles Davis, got their start here and the bouncy live music venues keep the flame burning.

History

Fur-trapper Pierre Laclede knew prime real estate when he saw it, so he put down stakes at the junction of the Mississippi and Missouri rivers in 1764. The hustle picked up considerably when prospectors discovered gold in California in 1849 and St Louis became the jump-off point (aka 'Gateway to the West') for get-rich-quick dreamers.

St Louis became known as a center of innovation after hosting the 1904 World's Fair. Aviator Charles Lindbergh furthered the reputation in 1927 when he flew the first nonstop, solo transatlantic flight in the 'Spirit of St Louis,' named for the far-sighted town that funded the aircraft. Grand plans have always been part of the city's self-assurance and you'll find no chips on local shoulders.

GREAT PLAINS…

In One Week

Spend your first two or three days in either St Louis (above) or Kansas City (p665) and the next two or three exploring the small town standouts of Nebraska and Iowa, such as Lincoln (p687) or Iowa City (p671). Try scenic routes like the Loess Hills Scenic Byway (p673) or the Great River Road (p673) at either end of Iowa. Then head north to South Dakota where the gorgeous Black Hills (p680) and Badlands National Park (p679) will vie for your remaining time.

In Two Weeks

With two weeks behind the wheel, you can take a big bite out of the Plains. Do the trip as above. But then head south from South Dakota along eastern Nebraska, stopping at fascinating, isolated sites like the Agate Fossil Beds National Monument (p689), Carhenge (p689) and Scotts Bluff (p689).

Meander into Kansas and pick up US 50 (p694) heading east. Stop at the amazing, astonishing Cosmosphere (p693) in Hutchinson. Head south to Oklahoma and join historic Route 66 (p696) going northeast for sights like the Will Rogers Memorial Museum (p702). Follow the road into Missouri and finish your trip at either of the major cities you skipped on the way out.

For Nature-lovers

Skip straight out of Oklahoma City for the mixed-grass prairie and wildlife of the Wichita Mountains Wildlife Refuge (p700). Leave the fields for the forest to paddle and hike in The Ozarks (p664) in Missouri and then head up to Nebraska, stopping in Kansas' Flint Hills to see the Tallgrass Prairie National Preserve (p694) on the way.

Between February and April along the Platte River (p688), near Grand Island, view half a million sandhill cranes. Head northwest through the awesome Sandhills to the Valentine National Wildlife Refuge (p689). Take a canoe trip on the Niobrara River (p689) and then drive through more Sandhills scenery on the Bridges to Buttes Byway (p688).

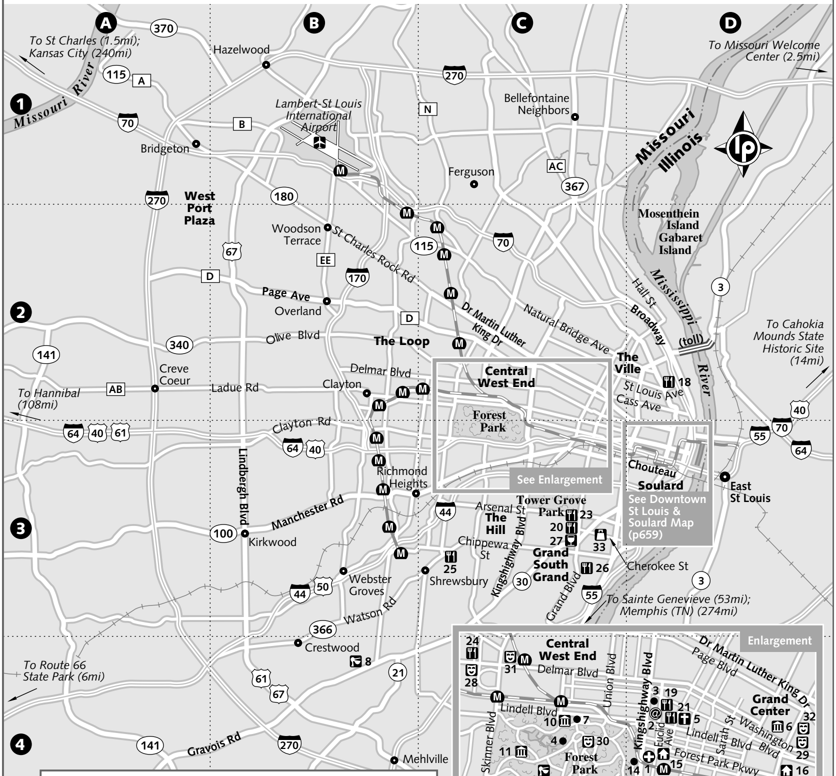
Go north to South Dakota's spectacular Black Hills (p680) and on to North Dakota's Theodore Roosevelt National Park (p675) where the badlands are even more beautiful than South Dakota's.

Orientation & Information

The landmark Gateway Arch rises right along the Mississippi River. Downtown runs west of the arch while the Laclede's Landing entertainment district sits just to the north.

The neighborhoods of most interest radiate out from this core. These include the posh Central West End abutting Forest Park; the buzzing-all-night Loop northwest of the park; the Hill, an Italian-American neighborhood; the Bohemian but gentrifying Grand South Grand; Soulard, the city's Irish-Cajun-blues entertainment quarter; and finally, nearby, historic but increasingly trendy Lafayette Sq.

GREATER ST LOUIS



0 4 km
0 2 miles
A
B
C
D
1
2
3
4
5
To St Charles (1.5mi); Kansas City (240mi)
Missouri River
Hazelwood
To Missouri Welcome Center (2.5mi)
Lambert-St Louis International Airport
Bellefontaine Neighbors
Bridgeton
Ferguson
Missouri
Illinois
West Port Plaza
Woodson Terrace
St Charles Rock Rd
Mosenthein Island
Gabaret Island
Page Ave
Overland
Dr Martin Luther King Dr
Natural Bridge Ave
Hall St
Broadway
Mississippi River
(toll)
Olive Blvd
The Loop
The Ville
To Cahokia Mounds State Historic Site (14mi)
Creve Coeur
Ladue Rd
Delmar Blvd
Clayton
Central West End
St Louis Ave
Cass Ave
To Hannibal (108mi)
Forest Park
Clayton Rd
Lindbergh Blvd
Richmond Heights
See Enlargement
Chouteau
Soulard
East St Louis
See Downtown St Louis & Soulard Map (p659)
Manchester Rd
Arsenal St
Tower Grove Park
The Hill
Kirkwood
Chippewa St
Kingshighway Blvd
Grand South Grand
Cherokee St
Webster Groves
Shrewsbury
Grand Blvd
To Sainte Genevieve (53mi); Memphis (TN) (274mi)
Watson Rd
Crestwood
To Route 66 State Park (6mi)
Gravois Rd
Mehlville
370
115
70
270
180
67 170
367
340
141
64 40
61 100 44
50
366
21
55
3
A
B
N
AC
EE
D
AB
Enlargement
Central West End
Delmar Blvd
Union Blvd
Kingshighway Blvd
Dr Martin Luther King Dr
Page Blvd
Lindell Blvd
Grand Center
Euclid Ave
Sarah St
Washington Blvd
Lindell Blvd
Skinner Blvd
Forest Park
Forest Park Pkwy
Oakland Ave
Vandeventer Ave
Chouteau Ave
Grand Blvd
Manchester Rd
Shaw Ave
Wilson Ave
0 2 km
0 1 miles

INFORMATION
Barnes Jewish Hospital	1	D4
Coffee Cartel	2	D4
Left Bank Books	3	D4
SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES
Boathouse	4	C4
Cathedral Basilica of Saint Louis	5	D4
City Cycling Tours	(see 7)
Contemporary Art Museum St Louis	6	D4
Forest Park Visitor Center	7	C4
Grant's Farm	8	B4
Missouri Botanical Garden	9	D5
Missouri History Museum	10	C4
Pulitzer Foundation for the Arts	(see 29)
St Louis Art Museum	11	C4
St Louis Science Center	12	D4
St Louis Zoo	13	C4
Steinberg Ice Skating Rink	14	D4
SLEEPING
Moonrise Hotel	(see 31)
Parkway Hotel	15	D4
Water Tower Inn	16	D4
EATING
Charlie Gitto's	17	C5
Crown Candy Kitchen	18	D2
Duff's	19	D4
King & I	20	C3
Liluma	21	D4
Milo's Bocce Garden	22	C5
MoKaBe's Coffeehouse	23	C3
Saleem's	24	C4
Ted Drewes	25	C3
Ted Drewes	26	C3
DRINKING
Jade Room	27	C3
ENTERTAINMENT
Blueberry Hill	28	C4
Jazz at the Bistro	29	D4
Muny	30	C4
Pageant	31	C4
St Louis Symphony Orchestra	32	D4
SHOPPING
Cherokee Antique Row	33	C3

DON'T MISS

- Get pumped at the morning at the fun-filled city museum (p660).
- Lick your lunch at a Ted Drewes Frozen Custard stand (p662).
- Laze away the afternoon in Forest Park (right).
- See the sunset glinting off the Gateway Arch (right).
- Take in a Cardinals night game (p663).

BOOKSTORES

Left Bank Books (Map p657; ☎ 314-367-6731; 399 North Euclid, Central West End; 🕑 10am-8pm Mon-Wed, to 8pm Thu-Sat, 11am-6pm Sun) A great indie bookstore stocking new and used titles.

INTERNET ACCESS

Coffee Cartel (Map p657; ☎ 314-454-0000; 2 Maryland Plaza, Central West End; 🕑 24/7; 📶) Has terminals ($5 for 50 min) and free wi-fi.

MEDIA

KDHX FM 88.1 (www.kdhx.org) Community-run radio playing folk, blues, odd rock and local arts reports.

Riverfront Times (www.riverfronttimes.com) The city's alternative weekly.

St Louis Post-Dispatch (www.stltoday.com) St Louis' daily newspaper; its Get Out entertainment section is published each Thursday.

Vital Voice (www.thevitalvoice.com) A free, biweekly gay and lesbian paper.

MEDICAL SERVICES

Barnes Jewish Hospital (Map p657; ☎ 314-747-3000; www.barnesjewish.org; N Kingshighway Blvd) Next to Forest Park.

MONEY

US Bank (Map p659; ☎ 314-418-2803; 721 Locust St; 🕑 exchange dept 8:30am-4pm Mon-Fri) Best bet, after the airport, for foreign-currency exchange.

POST

Post office (Map p659; ☎ 314-436-6853; 1720 Market St; 🕑 8am-8pm Mon-Fri, 8am-1pm Sat)

TOURIST INFORMATION

Explore St Louis (Map p659; ☎ 800-607-2683; www.explorestlouis.com; America's Center, 7th St & Washington Ave; 🕑 8:30am-5pm Mon-Fri, 9am-2pm Sat) There are other branches in Kiener Plaza at 6th and Chestnut and at the airport.

Missouri Welcome Center (☎ 314-869-7100; www.visitmo.com; I-270 exit 34; 🕑 8am-5pm, closed Sun Nov-Mar)

Sights & Activities

JEFFERSON NATIONAL EXPANSION MEMORIAL

As a symbol for St Louis, the arch has soared above any expectations its backers could have had in 1965 when it opened. The centerpiece of this National Park Service property, the silvery, shimmering Gateway Arch (Map p659; ☎ 877-982-1410; www.gatewayarch.com; 🕑 8:30am-9pm Jun-Aug, 9:30am-5pm Sep-May) is the Great Plains' own Eiffel Tower. It stands 630ft high and symbolizes St Louis' historical role as 'Gateway to the West.' The tram ride (adult/child $10/5) takes you to the tight confines at the top.

The subterranean Museum of Westward Expansion (Map p659; www.nps.gov/jeff; admission free; 🕑 8am-10pm Jun-Aug, 9am-6pm Sep-May), under the Arch, chronicles the Lewis and Clark expedition. Two theaters here show films (adult/child $7/2.50) throughout the day.

Churn up the Big Muddy on replica 19th-century steamboats with Gateway Arch Riverboats (Map p659; ☎ 877-982-1410; 1hr tour adult/child $14/8; 🕑 10:30am-6pm). A park ranger narrates the midday cruises and those after 3pm sail subject to availability. There are also numerous dinner and drinking cruises. Various combo tickets are available.

Facing the Arch, the 1845 Old Courthouse & Museum (Map p659; ☎ 877-982-1410; 11 N 4th St; admission free; 🕑 8am-4:30pm) is where the famed Dred Scott slavery case was first tried. Galleries depict the trial's history, as well as that of the city.

The grounds around the arch are bucolic but are something of an island. Unfortunately well-founded fears of flooding mean that the arch site sits high atop levees and walls to the east while the west side is blocked by the noxious barriers of Memorial Dr and I-70.

FOREST PARK

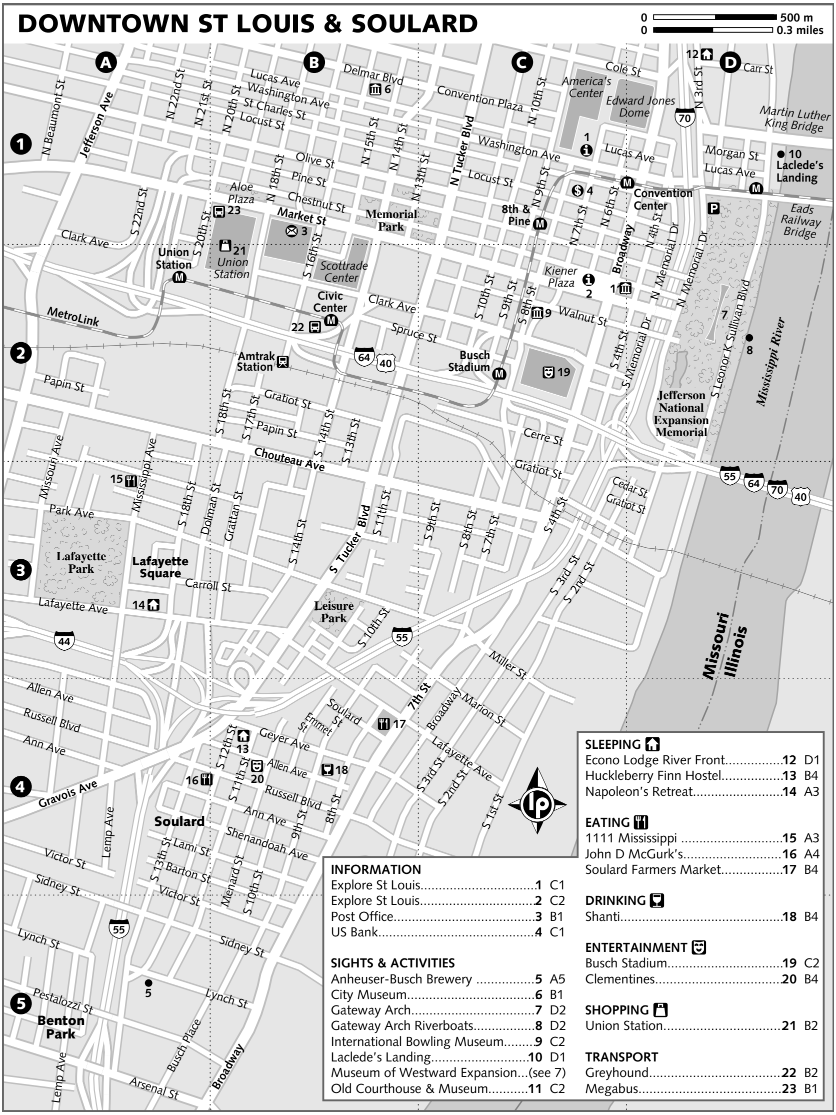
New York City may have Central Park, but St Louis has the even bigger (by 528 acres) Forest Park (Map p657; www.stlouis.missouri.org/citygov/parks/forestpark; 🕑 6am-10pm). The superb, 1371-acre spread was the setting of the 1904 World's Fair. It's a beautiful place to escape the city and is dotted with attractions, many free.

The visitor center (Map p657; ☎ 314-367-7275; www.forestparkforever.org; 5595 Grand Dr; 🕒 6am-8pm Mon-Fri, 6am-7pm Sat & Sun) is in an old street car pavilion and has a café.

In warm weather, sail over to the Boathouse (Map p657; ☎ 314-367-2224; 6101 Government Dr; boat rental per hr $15; 🕒 10am-sunset) to paddle over Post- Dispatch Lake. In cooler weather, make for the Steinberg Ice Skating Rink (Map p657; ☎ 314-367-7465; off N Kingshighway Blvd; adult/child $6.50/5.50, skates $2.50; 🕒 10am-9pm Sun-Thu, 10am-midnight Fri & Sat Nov-Mar).

In the grounds is the grand beaux arts St Louis Art Museum (Map p657; ☎ 314-721-0072; www.slam.org; 1 Fine Arts Dr; admission free; 🕒 10am-5pm Tue-Sun, to 9pm Fri), originally built for the fair.

DOWNTOWN ST LOUIS & SOULARD



0 500 m
0 0.3 miles
A
B
C
D
1
2
3
4
5
N Beaumont St
Jefferson Ave
N 22nd St
N 21st St
N 20th St
Lucas Ave
Washington Ave
St Charles St
Locust St
Delmar Blvd
Convention Plaza
N 10th St
Cole St
America's Center
Edward Jones Dome
N 3rd St
Carr St
Martin Luther King Bridge
Morgan St
Lucas Ave
Laclede's Landing
N 15th St
N 14th St
N 13th St
N Tucker Blvd
Washington Ave
Locust St
N 9th St
Olive St
Pine St
N 18th St
Aloe Plaza
Chestnut St
Market St
Memorial Park
8th & Pine
N 7th St
N 6th St
Convention Center
N 4th St
N Memorial Dr
Eads Railway Bridge
S 22nd St
Clark Ave
Union Station
S 20th St
Union Station
S 16th St
Scottrade Center
Kiener Plaza
Broadway
Civic Center
Clark Ave
MetroLink
Spruce St
S 10th St
S 9th St
S 8th St
Walnut St
S 4th St
S Memorial Dr
S Leonor K Sullivan Blvd
Mississippi River
Amtrak Station
Busch Stadium
Jefferson National Expansion Memorial
Papin St
S 18th St
S 17th St
Gratiot St
Papin St
S 14th St
S 13th St
Cerre St
Chouteau Ave
Gratiot St
Cedar St
Gratiot St
Missouri Ave
Mississippi Ave
S 18th St
Dolman St
Grattan St
Park Ave
S 14th St
S Tucker Blvd
S 11th St
S 9th St
S 8th St
S 7th St
S 4th St
S 3rd St
S 2nd St
Lafayette Park
Lafayette Square
Carroll St
Lafayette Ave
Leisure Park
S 10th St
Missouri
Illinois
Miller St
Allen Ave
Russell Blvd
Ann Ave
Soulard St
Emmet St
7th St
Broadway
Marion St
S 12th St
Geyer Ave
Allen Ave
Lafayette Ave
S 11th St
Russell Blvd
S 3rd St
S 2nd St
Gravois Ave
Ann Ave
9th St
8th St
S 1st St
Soulard
Shenandoah Ave
Lemp Ave
Lami St
Victor St
S 13th St
Barton St
Sidney St
Menard St
Victor St
S 10th St
Sidney St
Lynch St
Lynch St
Pestalozzi St
Benton Park
Busch Place
Lemp Ave
Arsenal St
Broadway
70
64 40 55
44

INFORMATION

Explore St Louis	1	C1
Explore St Louis	2	C2
Post Office	3	B1
US Bank	4	C1

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

Anheuser-Busch Brewery	5	A5
City Museum	6	B1
Gateway Arch	7	D2
Gateway Arch Riverboats	8	D2
International Bowling Museum	9	C2
Laclede's Landing	10	D1
Museum of Westward Expansion	(see 7)
Old Courthouse & Museum	11	C2

SLEEPING

Econo Lodge River Front	12	D1
Huckleberry Finn Hostel	13	B4
Napoleon's Retreat	14	A3

EATING

1111 Mississippi	15	A3
John D McGurk's	16	A4
Soulard Farmers Market	17	B4

DRINKING

Shanti	18	B4

ENTERTAINMENT

Busch Stadium	19	C2
Clementines	20	B4

SHOPPING

Union Station	21	B2

TRANSPORT

Greyhound	22	B2
Megabus	23	B1

YOUR BELGIAN BUD

The world's largest beer plant, the historic Anheuser-Busch Brewery (Map p659; ☎ 314-577-2626; www.budweisertours.com; 12th & Lynch Sts; admission free; 🕘 9am-4pm Mon-Sat, 11:30am-4pm Sun, to 5pm Jun-Aug, start 10am Nov-Feb), gives the sort of marketing-driven tours you'd expect from the company with nearly half of the US market. View the bottling plant and famous Clydesdale horses. One thing to note, the purchase of this St Louis icon by the Belgian InBev in 2008 is a sore spot locally. Don't ask: 'Now that the Belgians own Budweiser, does that mean it will have flavor?'

A storied institution, its collections span time and styles.

The story of St Louis, starring such worthies as the world's fair, Charles Lindbergh and a host of bluesmen, is presented in the Missouri History Museum (Map p657; ☎ 314-746-4599; www.mohistory.org; 5700 Lindell Blvd; admission free; 🕘 10am-6pm, to 8pm Tue). The rich local stories will help you understand why proud locals go 'Chicago? Where's that?'

Also in the park is the St Louis Zoo (Map p657; ☎ 314-781-0900; www.stlzoo.org; 1 Government Dr; admission free, fee for some exhibits; 🕘 9am-5pm, to 7pm Fri-Sun in summer; 👶) and the kid-savvy St Louis Science Center (Map p657; ☎ 314-289-4400; www.slsc.org; 5050 Oakland Ave; admission free; 🕘 9:30am-5:30pm Mon-Sat, from 10:30am Sun, closing 4:30pm rest of year; 👶), which also has a planetarium and an IMAX theater for additional fees.

City Cycling Tours (Map p657; ☎ 314-616-5724; www.citycyclingtours.com; 3hr tour $30; 🕘 daily year-round, call for times) offers narrated rides through the park (bicycles and helmets included) starting at the visitor center. Bike rental from the visitor center costs $10/25 per hour/half-day.

MUSEUMS, GARDENS & CHURCHES

Possibly the wildest highlight to any visit to St Louis, City Museum (Map p659; ☎ 314-231-2489; www.citymuseum.org; 701 N 15th St; admission $12; 🕘 9am-5pm Mon-Thu, 9am-1am Fri & Sat, 11am-5pm Sun; 👶) is a frivolous, frilly fun-house in a vast old shoe factory. The Museum of Mirth, Mystery and Mayhem sets the tone. Run, jump and explore all manner of exhibits. A new Ferris wheel on the roof ($5) offers grand views of the city.

Nobody knows if they designated beer frames, but there is some evidence the ancient Romans and Egyptians bowled. Learn this and much more at the International Bowling Museum (Map p659; ☎ 314-231-6340; www.bowlingmuseum.com; 111 Stadium Plaza; adult/child $7.50/6; 🕘 9am-5pm Apr-Sep, to 6:30pm during Cardinals games, 11am-4pm Tue-Sat Oct-Mar) and then bowl free frames at the lanes below.

Under the big green dome of the stunning Cathedral Basilica of Saint Louis (Map p657; ☎ 314-373-8200; 4431 Lindell Blvd; admission free; 🕘 7am-5pm), three blocks east of Forest Park, you'll find a Byzantine interior draped with 83,000 sq ft of mosaics – that's 41.5 million pieces. You can learn about the 80 years of construction (1907–87) downstairs in the church's museum (entry $1; 🕘 10am-4pm).

The 150-year-old Missouri Botanical Garden (Map p657; ☎ 800-642-8842; www.mobot.org; 4344 Shaw Ave; adult/child $8/free; 🕘 9am-5pm) holds a 14-acre Japanese garden, carnivorous plant bog and Victorian-style hedge maze.

Though they are separate entities, the side-by-side Contemporary Art Museum St Louis (Map p657; ☎ 314-535-4660; www.contemporarystl.org; 3750 Washington Blvd; adult/student $5/free; 🕘 10am-5pm Wed-Sat, 11am-4pm Sun) and Pulitzer Foundation for the Arts (Map p657; ☎ 314-754-1850; www.pulitzerarts.org; 3716 Washington Blvd; admission free; 🕘 noon-5pm Wed & Sat) are a perfect pair. The former focuses on modern art while the latter has programs and exhibits across disciplines including architecture.

Grant's Farm (Map p657; ☎ 314-843-1700; www.grantsfarm.com; 10501 Gravois Rd; admission free; 🕘 9am-3:30pm Tue-Fri, 9am-4pm Sat, 9:30am-4pm Sun mid-May–mid-Aug, reduced hrs spring & fall, closed Nov–mid-Apr) thrills kids with its Clydesdale horses and 1000 other animals from six continents; a tram takes you through the preserve where the beasts roam free. Parking costs $11.

Cross the river to see Cahokia Mounds State Historic Site (p589).

Festivals & Events

The Big Muddy Blues Festival (www.bigmuddybluesfestival.com; admission free) has five stages of riverfront blues at Lacledes Landing on the Labor Day weekend (September).

Sleeping

Just about every midrange and upscale chain has a hotel near the arch in downtown. Indie cheapies are thin on the ground in interesting areas but you'll find plenty near the airport and you can ride the MetroLink light rail into the city. Upscale Clayton at exit 1F on I-170 also has rail access and a cluster of chains.

BUDGET

Huckleberry Finn Hostel (Map p659; ☎ 314-241-0076; www.huckfinnhostel.com; 1908 S 12th St, Soulard; dm $25; ⏰ closed Jan & Feb; ❄) In two old town houses, this independent hostel is a bit ragged, but it's a friendly gathering spot with a piano in the lounge/kitchen and free lockers. Its Soulard location is ideal. Reserve ahead.

Econo Lodge River Front (Map p659; ☎ 314-421-6556; www.econolodge.com; 1100 N 3rd St; r from $70; P ❄ 📶) When you're sleeping in one of the barebones but clean rooms here, you can't see just what a charmless place this is. But the Lacledes Landing location is ideal, as are the prices.

MIDRANGE

Water Tower Inn (Map p657; ☎ 314-977-7500; www.slu.edu/x27017.xml; Saint Louis University, 3545 Lafayette Ave; r $80-100; P ❄ 📶) Right in the middle of Saint Louis University and near the interesting Central West End, the 62 rooms here are clean and modern.

Napoleon's Retreat (Map p659; ☎ 314-772-6979, 800-700-9980; www.napoleonsretreat.com; 1815 Lafayette Ave; r $100-175, 2-night min weekends; ⊠ ❄ 💻 📶) A lovely 2nd French Empire home in beautiful and historic Lafayette Sq, this B&B has five bold and beautiful rooms, each with private bath and antique furnishings. Michael and Jeff are excellent hosts.

Parkway Hotel (Map p657; ☎ 314-256-7777, 866-314-7700; www.theparkwayhotel.com; 4550 Forest Park Blvd; r $90-200; P ⊠ ❄ 💻 📶) Right in the midst of the upscale fun of the Central West End, this indie 8-story hotel has 220 modern rooms. Standards are high and you simply can't beat the location.

Moonrise Hotel (Map p657; ☎ 314-721-1111, 877-872-1122; www.moonrisehotel.com; 6177 Delmar Blvd; r $140-220; P ⊠ ❄ 💻 📶) Easily the city's most cutting-edge hotel, the Moonrise has a high-profile amidst the high-energy of the Loop neighborhood. Rooms are sleekly decorated with just enough whimsy to slow things down to comfy.

Eating

St Louis boasts the region's most diverse selection of food. The monthly magazine Sauce (www.saucemagazine.com) is full of reviews.

The Soulard Farmers Market (Map p659; 7th St, Soulard; ⏰ 8am-5pm Wed-Sat) is a local treasure with a range of vendors selling the best organic regional produce and foodstuffs. Picnic or nosh yourself silly.

DOWNTOWN

Laclede's Landing, along the riverfront next to the historic Eads Railway Bridge, has several restaurants, though generally people pop down here for the atmosphere – cobblestoned streets, converted brick buildings and free-flowing beer – rather than the food.

Crown Candy Kitchen (Map p657; ☎ 314-621-9650; 1401 St Louis Ave; mains $3-10; ⏰ 11am-8pm Sun-Thu, 11am-10pm Fri & Sat) An authentic family-run soda fountain that's been making families smile for decades. Malts come with spoons, the floats, well, float, and you can snack on chili dogs where the wiener groans under the toppings. Homemade candies top it off.

SOULARD & LAFAYETTE SQUARE

Restaurants and pubs occupy most corners in Soulard, with plenty of live blues and Irish music. Just go and wander. Lafayette Sq, 1 mile northwest, has a growing number of trendy spots.

John D McGurk's (Map p659; ☎ 314-776-8309; 1200 Russell Blvd, Soulard; mains $7-20; ⏰ 11am-1:30am Mon-Sat, 3pm-midnight Sun) The city's favorite pub oozes charm inside, where there's live Irish music many nights, but you can't beat the backyard garden. The steaky menu is a cut above pub fare.

1111 Mississippi (Map p659; ☎ 314-241-9999; 1111 Mississippi Ave, Lafayette Sq; mains $9-22; ⏰ 11am-10pm Mon-Thu, to midnight Fri & Sat; ⊠) Supplying the food and drink to help the local revival continue, this wildly popular bistro and wine bar fills an old shoe factory. Options on the seasonal menu include sandwiches, pizzas, steaks and many veggie options. Excellent wine bar.

GRAND SOUTH GRAND

Running along South Grand Blvd, this young, Bohemian area near beautiful Tower Grove Park has a slew of excellent ethnic restaurants, many with outside terraces.

King & I (Map p657; ☎ 314-771-1777; 3157 S Grand Blvd; mains $7-15; ⏰ 11:30am-9:30pm Tue-Sun) Fiery and authentic Thai food draws in locals who appreciate the weeknight-friendly prices. The decor has a bit of Royal Thai pomp.

EATING ST LOUIS: LOCAL SPECIALTIES

Try these local specialties:

- Toasted ravioli They're filled with meat, coated in breadcrumbs, then deep fried. Charlie Gitto's (below) probably started it all, but practically every restaurant on the Hill serves them.
- St Louis pizza Its thin-crusted, square-cut, Provolone cheese–based pizzas are really addictive. Local chain Imo's (www.imospizza.com; large special $16), with over 70 locations across the metro, bakes 'the square beyond compare.'
- our pick Frozen custard Don't dare leave town without licking yourself silly on this super-creamy ice cream-like treat at historic Ted Drewes (Map p657; ☎ 314-481-2652; 6726 Chippewa St; cone $0.50-2.50; 🕑 11am-11pm or so Feb-Dec). There's a smaller summer-only branch at 4224 S Grand Blvd. Rich and poor rub elbows enjoying a 'concrete.'
- Schlafly beer This sign in the window speaks well of the bar; the only locally brewed beer (a fine ale) still owned locally.

THE HILL

This tiny-housed Italian neighborhood has innumerable pasta joints. Stroll the tidy streets and stop for a coffee at an Italian café or deli.

our pick Milo's Bocce Garden (Map p657; ☎ 314-776-0468; 5201 Wilson Ave; mains $6-14; 🕑 11am-1am) Enjoy sandwiches, pizzas and pastas out on the vast outdoor courtyard. Watch and join the regulars on the busy bocce ball courts.

Charlie Gitto's (p657 ☎ 314-772-8898; 26 Shaw Ave; mains $16-40; 🕑 5-10pm Mon-Thu, 5-11pm Fri & Sat, 4-10pm Sun) Legendary Charlie Gitto's makes a strong claim to having invented St Louis' famous toasted ravioli. On any night the weather allows, dine under the huge tree on the patio. Classy but casual.

CENTRAL WEST END & THE LOOP

Sidewalk cafés rule Euclid Ave in this posh and trendy old neighborhood. 'The Loop,' near Washington University, runs along Delmar Blvd (embedded with the St Louis Walk of Fame) and has many bars and ethnic restaurants catering to a hipster crowd.

Saleem's (Map p657; ☎ 314-721-7947; 6501 Delmar Blvd, The Loop; mains $7-18; 🕑 5-10pm Mon-Sat, to 11pm Fri & Sat) 'Where garlic is king' is the alluring motto, and the favored flavor shows up in Saleem's kabobs, kofte, silky hummus and other Persian dishes. Portions are huge.

Duff's (Map p657; ☎ 314-361-0522; 392 N Euclid Ave, Central West End; mains $8-18; 🕑 11am-10pm Sun-Thu, to midnight Fri & Sat) The hippies who once tossed back cheap Chablis here are now enjoying the many fine wines on the long list. Duff's has gentrified with the neighborhood and serves an eclectic fusion menu of sandwiches, salads and more ambitious fare. Score a sidewalk table outside under the trees.

Liluma (Map p657; ☎ 314-361-7771; 238 N Euclid Ave, Central West End; mains $10-30; 🕑 11am-9pm Mon-Thu, to 10pm Fri & Sat; ⊠) Amidst the buzzy outdoor cafés of the Maryland and Euclid Aves hot spot, this bistro serves up fresh seasonal fare with a strong Italian accent.

Drinking & Entertainment

BARS & NIGHTCLUBS

Check the Riverfront Times (www.riverfronttimes.com) for updates on entertainment options around town. Laclede's Landing and Soulard are loaded with pubs and bars, many with live music. Most bars close at 1:30am, though some have 3am licenses.

Blueberry Hill (Map p657; ☎ 314-727-0880; www.blueberryhill.com; 6504 Delmar Blvd, The Loop) St Louis native Chuck Berry still rocks the small basement bar here at least one Wednesday a month. The $30 tickets sell out very quickly. The venue hosts smaller-tier bands on the other nights.

Jazz at the Bistro (Map p657; ☎ 314-531-1012; www.jazzatthebistro.com; 3536 Washington Ave, Grand Center; ⊠) Big names often play this serious little club.

Jade Room (Map p657; ☎ 314-664-2020; 3131 S Grand Blvd, Grand South Grand; 🕑 5pm-late) One of several good bars and clubs here, the Jade Room is ideal for sitting outside on a balmy night with a brew and planning your next move.

Pageant (Map p657; ☎ 314-726-6161; www.thepageant.com; 6161 Delmar Blvd, The Loop) A big venue for touring bands.

Shanti (Map p659; ☎ 314-241-4772; www.theshanti.com; 825 Allen Ave, Soulard; 🕑 10am-1:30am Mon-Sat)

Meaning ‘peace’ in Sanskrit, Shanti is the Bohemian heart of Soulard. It hosts a popular Tuesday open mike and folk-bluegrass-rock acts most other nights.

PERFORMING ARTS

Grand Center, west of downtown, is the heart of St Louis’ theater scene and home of the St Louis Symphony Orchestra (Map p657; ☎ 800-232-1880; www.slso.org; 718 N Grand Blvd), which has 50 free tickets for most performances.

Muny (Map p657; ☎ 314-361-1900; www.muny.com) The Municipal Opera (aka ‘Muny’) hosts nightly summer musicals outdoors in Forest Park; some of the 12,000 seats are free.

Purchase tickets for most venues through MetroTix (☎ 800-293-5949; www.metrotix.com).

GAY & LESBIAN VENUES

The Central West End is the GLBT community’s hub, but Soulard and Grand South Grand also have hangouts.

Overlooking Tower Grove Park, MoKaBe’s Coffeehouse (Map p657; ☎ 314-865-2009; 3606 Arsenal St, Grand South Grand; 🕐 8am-midnight Mon-Sat, 9am-midnight Sun) caters to women. Men in leather to Levis will enjoy Clementines (Map p659; ☎ 314-664-7869; 2001 Menard St; 🕐 10am-1:30am Mon-Sat, 11am-midnight Sun), a long-running favorite with good bar food.

Peruse the Vital Voice (www.thevitalvoice.com) or St Louis Gay Guide (www.stlouisgayguide.com) for more.

SPORTS

Busch Stadium (Map p659; ☎ 314-345-9000; www.stlcardinals.com; Broadway & Clark Ave) The Cardinals baseball team won the World Series in 2006, the same year this fun, retro-style stadium opened.

Shopping

The Loop and Central West End have the best mix of shops. If you love antiques, you’ll love Cherokee Antique Row (Map p657; Cherokee St, east of Jefferson Ave) in the appropriately historic Cherokee-Lemp neighborhood. The shops in the reconstructed Union Station (Map p659; 1820 Market St) cover the chain gang.

Getting There & Around

Lambert-St Louis International Airport (Map p657; STL; ☎ 314-426-8000; www.lambert-stlouis.com) is the Great Plains’ hub, with flights to many US cities. The airport is 12 miles northwest of downtown and is connected by the light-rail MetroLink ($3.75), taxi (about $35) or Trans Express (☎ 800-844-1985; $15) shuttles, which can drop you off at downtown hotels.

Greyhound (Map p659; ☎ 314-231-4485; 430 S 15th St) buses depart several times daily to Chicago ($40, six to seven hours), Memphis ($50, six hours), Kansas City ($45, 4½ hours) and many more cities. The station is near Amtrak downtown.

The low-cost Megabus (Map p659; ☎ 877-462-6342; www.megabus.com) runs services to Chicago and Kansas City from as little as $15 one way; it stops next to Union Station.

Metro (☎ 314-231-2345; www.metrostlouis.org; single/day-pass $2.25/7.50) runs local buses and the MetroLink light-rail system. Bus 93 connects most points of interest, including Soulard, downtown and the Central West End.

If you need a taxi, call St Louis County Cabs (☎ 314-993-8294).

The Amtrak (Map p659; ☎ 314-331-3304; 551 S 16th St) Lincoln Service travels five times daily to Chicago (from $23, 5½ hours). Two daily Missouri River Runner trains go to/from Kansas City (from $26, six hours). There is also an Amtrak bus link to Memphis and the daily Texas Eagle to Dallas (16 hours).

AROUND ST LOUIS

Several appealing and historic river towns north and south of St Louis on the Mississippi and just west on the Missouri make popular weekend excursions for St Louisans, including the historic pair of St Charles and Hannibal. If you’re looking for some grand meeting of the two great rivers however, don’t. The two muddies meet in a swirl of mud and are surrounded by many square miles of – you guessed it – often muddy and inaccessible floodplains.

St Charles

This Missouri River town, founded in 1769 by the French, is just 20 miles northwest of St Louis. The cobblestoned Main St anchors a well-preserved downtown where you can visit the first state capitol (☎ 636-940-3322; 200 S Main St; admission free, tours adult/child $2.50/1.50; 🕐 9am-4pm Mon-Sat, 11am-5pm Sun, closed Mon Jan-Mar). Ask at the visitor center (☎ 800-366-2427; www.historicstcharles.com; 230 S Main St; 🕐 8am-5pm Mon-Fri, 10am-5pm Sat, noon-5pm Sun) about tours, which pass some rare French colonial architecture in the Frenchtown neighborhood just north.

Lewis and Clark began their epic journey in St Charles on May 21, 1804 and their encampment is reenacted annually at that time. The Lewis & Clark Boathouse and Nature Center (☎ 636-947-3199; www.lewisandclarkcenter.org; 1050 Riverside Dr; adult/child $3/1.50; 🕒 10am-5pm Mon-Sat, noon-5pm Sun) has a handful of displays about the duo.

For cyclists, St Charles is the eastern gateway to Katy Trail State Park (☎ 800-334-6946; www.katytrailstatepark.com), a superb 225-mile trail that cuts across Missouri to Clinton, 65 miles southeast of Kansas City, along the former Missouri–Kansas–Texas railroad (the 'Katy'). The trail's eastern two-thirds snake between high bluffs and the Missouri River. Momentum Cycles (☎ 636-946-7433; 104 S Main St; 1hr/day from $6/30) rents out bikes.

Hotels are spread along St Charles' four I-70 exits. St Charles also has several historic B&Bs, including Boone's Colonial Inn (☎ 888-377-0003; www.boonescolonialinn.com; 322 S Main St; r weekday $150-250; ✣ 📶). The three rooms in the 1820 stone row houses are posh.

Hannibal

When the air is sultry in this old river town, you almost expect to hear the whistle of a paddlewheel. Mark Twain's boyhood home, 100 miles northwest of St Louis, has some authentically vintage sections and plenty of sites where you can get a sense of the muse and his creations Tom Sawyer and Huck Finn.

The Mark Twain Boyhood Home & Museum (☎ 573-221-9010; www.marktwainmuseum.org; 415 N Main St; adult/child $9/4; 🕒 9am-7pm, reduced in winter) presents eight buildings, including two homes Twain lived in and that of Laura Hawkins, the real-life inspiration for Becky Thatcher. Afterward, float down the Mississippi on the Mark Twain Riverboat (☎ 573-221-3222; www.marktwainriverboat.com; Center St; 1hr sightseeing cruise adult/child $14/11; 🕒 Apr-Nov, schedule varies). National Tom Sawyer Days (around Jul 4th weekend) features frog jumping and fence painting contests and much more.

Many of Hannibal's historic homes are now B&Bs. The Hannibal Visitors Bureau (☎ 866-263-4825; www.visithannibal.com; 505 N 3rd St; 🕒 8am-5pm Mon & Wed, 8am-6pm Tue, Thu & Fri, 9am-6pm Sat, 10am-5pm Sun) keeps a list. Garden House B&B (☎ 573-221-7800, 866-423-7800; www.gardenhousebedandbreakfast.com; 301 N 5th St; r $150-240; ✣ 📶), in a Victorian house, lives up to its name. Some rooms share bathrooms.

THE OZARKS

Ozark hill country spreads across southern Missouri and extends into northern Arkansas and eastern Oklahoma.

One of the best Ozark escapes is the Ozark Trail (☎ 573-436-0540; www.ozarktrail.com), a 350-mile hiking route mostly through the Mark Twain National Forest.

At massive Johnson's Shut-Ins State Park (☎ 573-546-2450; www.mostateparks.com/jshutins.htm), 8 miles north of Lesterville on Hwy N, the swift Black River swirls through canyon-like gorges (shut-ins). The park reopened in 2009, much improved after floods in 2005. Little Elephant Rocks State Park (☎ 573-546-3454), next to Graniteville on Hwy 21, has enormous billion-year-old rocks – most far larger than any pachyderm. Some stand end-to-end like circus elephants.

North of US 60, in the state's southcentral region, the Ozark National Scenic Riverways (☎ 573-323-4236; www.nps.gov/ozar) – the Current and Jack's Fork Rivers – boast 134 miles of splendid canoeing and inner-tubing. Weekends often get busy and boisterous. The headquarters, along with outfitters and motels, is in Van Buren. Eminence also makes a good base. There are many campgrounds along the rivers. Hwy 19 through here is a scenic gem.

Branson

Hokey Branson is a cheerfully shameless tourist resort in the tradition of Blackpool or Atlantic City. The main attractions are the more than 50 theaters hosting 100-plus country music, magic and comedy shows. The neon-lit '76 Strip' (Hwy 76) packs in miles of motels, restaurants, wax museums, shopping malls, fun parks and theaters. As Bart Simpson once said: 'It's like Vegas; if it were run by Ned Flanders.'

During the summer and again in November and December, the SUV-laden traffic often crawls. It's often faster to walk than drive, although few others have this idea.

The Branson Lakes Area Convention & Visitors Bureau (☎ 800-214-3661; www.explorebranson.com; 269 Hwy 248; 🕒 8am-5pm Mon-Sat, 10am-4pm Sun), just west of the US 65 junction, has town and lodging information. It has a second location north of town at the junction of US 65 and Hwy 160. The scores of 'Visitor Information' centers around town (even the 'official' ones) are fronts for time-share sales outfits. Sit through a pitch, however, and you can get free tickets to a show.

Popular theater shows feature performers you may have thought were dead. However, Branson has been the salvation for scores of entertainers young and old whose careers collapsed after the death of variety shows on TV (who knew there were still bird acts?). Patriotic themes are a stock part of every show; the official singer of the Republican Party, Lee Greenwood, seems to have a lifetime contract. Fundamentalist Christian themes are also common; expect dancers wearing enough fabric to outfit all of their counterparts in Vegas for a year. And while fudge is available in copious quantities, irony is not: when we drove by a much-hyped Titanic attraction, the sign implored people to come in and 'renew your wedding vows'. Expect a lot of Elvis.

Theaters usually run afternoon and evening shows, and sometimes morning ones. Prices range from about $25 to $50 a head, but you rarely need to pay full price. Pick up any of the many coupon books around town or stop by Branson 2 for 1 Tickets (☎ 417-336-0241; www.branson2for1tickets.com; 1100 W Hwy 76), which does business with, as the sign says, 'No Bull.' Reserve a week in advance during peak seasons.

Two attractions, opened in 1959 and 1960 respectively, spurred the Branson boom. The Baldknobbers Jamboree (☎ 888-734-1935; www.baldknobbers.com; 2835 W Hwy 76; adult/child $34/18), a cornball country music and comedy show; and Silver Dollar City (☎ 800-831-4386; www.silverdollarcity.com; adult/child $50/40; 🕒 9:30am-7pm summer, shorter hr other times), a huge amusement park west of town.

There are dozens of indie and chain motels (starting at around $30) along Hwy 76 on the strip. Meloday Lane Inn (☎ 417-338-8598; 2821 W Hwy 76; r from $60; ❄ 📶 🏊) is a large old property with good-sized rooms and pool and actual large trees with shade out front (a Strip rarity). Nicer places are off the Strip in quieter locales. Table Rock Lake, snaking through the hills southwest of town, is a deservedly popular destination for boating, fishing, camping and other outdoor activities, and it also has good value lodging. Try unassuming Indian Trails Resort (☎ 417-338-2327; www.indiantrailsresort.com; Indian Point Rd; cottages $95-185; ☒ ❄ 🏊), on the lake 9 miles south of Branson.

Branson cuisine consists almost entirely of fast food, junk food and all-you-can-eat buffets (most priced $5 to $10).

KANSAS CITY

Wide open and inviting, Kansas City (KC) is famed for its BBQ (100-plus joints smoke it up), fountains (over 200; on par with Rome) and jazz. The latter serves as an anchor for a vibrant African American community. Attractive neighborhoods abound and you can easily run aground for several days as you enjoy the local vibe, which ranges from buff to boho.

History

KC began life in 1821 as a trading post but really came into its own once westward expansion began. The Oregon, California and Santa Fe trails all met steamboats loaded with pioneers here.

Jazz exploded in the early 1930s under Mayor Tom Pendergast's Prohibition-era tenure, when he allowed alcohol to flow freely. At its peak, KC had more than 100 nightclubs, dance halls and vaudeville houses swinging to the beat (and booze). The roaring good times ended with Pendergast's indictment on tax evasion (the same way they got Capone) and the scene had largely faded by the mid-1940s.

KC was a bustling farm-distribution and industrial center for generations – a serious cowtown, though its giant stockyards closed in 1991.

Orientation

State Line Rd divides KC Missouri and KC Kansas (a conservative suburban sprawl with little to offer travelers). KC Missouri has some distinct areas, including the fun and historic River Market (still home to a large farmers market) immediately north of downtown; the gallery-filled Crossroads Arts District around Baltimore and 20th Sts; and the historic 18th and Vine Historic Jazz District (on the upswing, but still rough).

Westport, on Westport Rd just west of Main St; 39th St West, just west of Westport by the Kansas border; and the upscale Country Club Plaza (often shortened to 'the Plaza'), centered on Broadway and 47th Sts, are ideal for eating, drinking and shopping.

Information

BOOKSTORES

Barnes & Noble (☎ 816-753-1313; 420 W 47th St; 🕒 9am-10pm Sun-Thu, 9am-11pm Fri & Sat) At the Plaza.

Prospero's Books (☎ 816-531-9673; 1800 W 39th St; 🕒 10am-9pm) Funky used bookstore in a vibey part of town. Great recommendations, live poetry and even a few bands.

INTERNET ACCESS

Westport Coffeehouse (☎ 816-756-3222; 4010 Pennsylvania St; 🕐 8am-11pm Mon-Thu, to midnight Fri & Sat, 10am-10pm Sun; ☒ 💻 📶) Computers (per hr $5). Free wi-fi for customers (also see opposite).

INTERNET RESOURCES & MEDIA

Arts Council of Metropolitan Kansas City (www.artskc.org) Has details on culture high and low.

Bar Scoop (www.barscoop.com) Helps boozers plot their evening.

Kansas City Star (www.kansascity.com) KC's daily paper; its Preview entertainment section comes out on Thursday.

Pitch (www.pitch.com) The free alt-weekly newspaper.

MEDICAL SERVICES

University of Kansas Medical Center (☎ 913-588-5000; 3901 Rainbow Blvd) In Kansas, just across the border from 39th St West.

POST

Post office (☎ 816-374-9180; 300 W Pershing; 🕐 7am-6pm Mon-Fri, 7:30am-3:30pm Sat) In Union Station.

TOURIST INFORMATION

Greater Kansas City Visitor Center (☎ 816-221-5242, 800-767-7700; www.visitkc.com; 22nd fl, 1100 Main St in City Center Sq; 🕐 8:30am-5pm Mon-Fri) A desk is also staffed daily in Union Station.

Missouri Welcome Center (☎ 816-889-3330; www.visitmo.com; I-70, exit 9; 🕐 8am-5pm) Statewide maps and information.

Sights & Activities

Quality Hill, downtown around W 10th St and Broadway, has grand, restored buildings from the 1920s. Just north, the Arabia Steamboat Museum (☎ 816-471-1856; www.1856.com; 400 Grand Blvd; adult/child $12.50/4.75; 🕐 10am-5:30pm Mon-Sat, noon-5pm Sun) is home to 200 tons of salvaged 'treasure' from a riverboat that sunk in 1856 (one of hundreds claimed by the river). It's in City Market, which is an attraction itself (opposite).

South of downtown, Crown Plaza is a 1970s development anchored by several major hotels and Hallmark (yes, the greeting card company is located right here). Uphill, the sobering National WWI Museum (☎ 816-784-1918; www.nww1.org; 100 W 26th St; adult/child $8/4; 🕐 10am-5pm Tue-Sun) sits under the towering Liberty Memorial (observation deck adult/child $4/3; 🕐 last ticket sold 4:15pm).

The Museums at 18th & Vine (☎ 816-474-8463; 1616 E 18th St; adult for 1/2 museums $6/8, child $2.50/4;

ROUTE 66: GET YOUR KICKS IN MISSOURI

The Show-Me state will show you a long swath of Mother Road. Meet the route in St Louis (p656), where Ted Drewes Frozen Custard (p662) has been serving generations of Roadies from its Route 66 location on Chippewa St. There are a couple of well-signed historic routes through the city.

Follow I-44 (the interstate is built over most of Route 66 in Missouri) west to Route 66 State Park (☎ 636-938-7198; www.mostateparks.com/route66.htm; exit 266; 🕐 7am-30min after sunset), with its visitor center and museum (admission free; 🕐 9am-4:30pm) inside a 1935 roadhouse. Although the displays show vintage scenes from around St Louis, the real intrigue here concerns the town of Times Beach, which once stood on this very site. It was contaminated with dioxin and in the 1980s the government had to raze the entire area.

Speed southwest on I-44 to Stanton, then follow the signs to family-mobbed Meramec Caverns (☎ 800-676-6105; www.americascave.com; adult/child $18/9; 🕐 8:30am-7:30pm summer, reduced hr rest of year), as interesting for the Civil War history and hokey charm as for the stalactites; and the conspiracy-crazy Jesse James Museum (☎ 573-927-5233; adult/child $6/2.50; 🕐 9am-6pm Jun-Aug, 9am-5pm Sat & Sun Sep-Oct), which posits that James faked his death and lived until 1951.

The Route 66 Museum & Research Center (☎ 417-532-2148; www.lebanon-laclede.lib.mo.us; 915 S Jefferson St; admission free; 🕐 8am-8pm Mon-Thu, 8am-5pm Fri & Sat) at the library in Lebanon has memorabilia past and present. Ready for a snooze? Head to the 1940s Munger Moss Motel (☎ 417-532-3111; www.mungermoss.com; 1336 E Rte 66; r from $40; ❄ 🏊). It's got a monster of a sign and Mother Road–loving owners.

Ditch the interstate west of Springfield, taking Hwy 96 to Civil War–era Carthage's historic town square and 66 Drive-In Theatre (☎ 417-359-5959; www.66drivein.com; 17231 Old 66 Blvd; adult/child $6/3; 🕐 Fri-Sun Apr-Oct). In Joplin get on State Hwy 66, turning onto old Route 66 (the pre-1940s route), before the Kansas state line.

The Route 66 Association of Missouri (www.missouri66.org) has loads of info on its website.

🕑 9am-6pm Tue-Sat, noon-6pm Sun) are must-stops. You'll learn about different styles, rhythms, instruments and musicians – including KC native Charlie Parker – at the interactive American Jazz Museum (www.americanjazzmuseum.org). The Negro Leagues Baseball Museum (www.nlbm.com) covers African American teams (eg the KC Monarchs and New York Black Yankees) that flourished until baseball became fully integrated.

Giant badminton shuttlecocks (the building represents the net) surround the encyclopedic Nelson-Atkins Museum of Art (☎ 816-751-1278; www.nelson-atkins.org; 4525 Oak St; admission free; 🕑 10am-5pm Wed & Sat, 10am-9pm Thu-Fri, noon-5pm Sun), which has standout European painting, photography and Asian art collections. Its luminescent and cock-free Bloch Building, designed by Steven Holl, has earned rave reviews. The nearby Kemper Museum of Contemporary Art (☎ 816-753-5784; www.kemperart.org; 4420 Warwick Blvd; admission free; 🕑 10am-4pm Tue-Thu, 10am-9pm Fri & Sat, 11am-5pm Sun) is smaller, but edgier. Both museums are near Country Club Plaza.

Festivals & Events

The American Royal Barbecue (www.americanroyal.com) is the world's largest BBQ contest (500 teams); it takes place in the old stockyards the first weekend in October.

Sleeping

Downtown accommodations are costly and not well suited for optimal eats and drinks. Westport and the Plaza are better options. For something cheap, you'll need to head out on the interstate: north on I-35 and I-29 and east on I-70 are good places to look.

Econo Lodge Inn (☎ 816-531-9250, 877-424-6423; www.econolodge.com; 3240 Broadway; r from $60; 🅿 ❄ 📶 🏊) Ideally located and convenient to everything, this basic 52-room motel has inside corridors and a pool big enough for a small family.

Q Hotel (☎ 816-931-0001, 800-942-4233; www.theqhotel.com; 560 Westport Rd; r from $110; 🅿 ☒ ❄ 💻 📶) Formerly called the Quarterage, this environmentally conscious indie hotel is centrally located in Westport. All 125 rooms have a bright, new color scheme that seems as fresh as spring. Free breakfasts include fair-trade coffee.

Southmoreland on the Plaza (☎ 816-531-7979; www.southmoreland.com; 116 E 46th St; r incl breakfast $135-200, ste $250; 🅿 ☒ ❄ 📶) The 13 rooms at this posh B&B are furnished like the home of your rich country club friends. It's a big old mansion between the art museums and the Plaza. Extras include Jacuzzis, decks, sherry, fresh flowers and more.

Eating & Drinking

Westport, 39th St West and Country Club Plaza are your best bets for clusters of atmospheric local food and drink places. Don't leave town without hitting a few barbecue joints (p668).

The glam new Power & Light District (www.powerandlightdistrict.com) is a vast urban development centered on Grand Blvd and W 12th St. It has dozens of mostly upscale chain restaurants and bars plus live performance venues.

Be sure to try a locally brewed Boulevard Beer; bars close between 1:30am and 3am.

our pick City Market (www.thecitymarket.org; W 5th St & Grand Blvd) Everything the Power & Light District is not, City Market is a haven for small local businesses selling an idiosyncratic range of foods and other items. Ethnic groceries abound and there is a farmers market for regional producers on weekends. Little ethnic eateries and greasy spoons do big business from breakfast through dinner.

Westport Coffeehouse (☎ 816-756-3222; 4010 Pennsylvania St; sandwiches $5.50-6.50; 🕑 8am-11pm Mon-Thu, to midnight Fri & Sat, 10am-10pm Sun; ☒ 💻 📶) This laid-back place off the main drag has good coffee and specialty teas. Look for live music, comedy, art films and more at night.

Eden Alley (☎ 816-561-5415; 707 W 47th St; mains $6-12; 🕑 11am-2:30pm Mon & Tue, to 9pm Wed-Sat; ☒ Ⓥ) Healthy eating never tasted better. The 'ultimate grilled cheese sandwich' is a work of art with four cheeses bubbling under an aioli sauce. Other options handle every variation on veggie eating and range from salads to falafel.

Le Fou Frog (☎ 816-474-6060; City Market, 400 E 5th St; mains $15-25; 🕑 5-10pm Tue-Sun) Take a trip to Paris without leaving the prairie at this small bistro that's authentic right down to the at-times brusque service. The food is superb, especially hearty stalwarts like cassoulet. Tables outside are to be cherished.

JJs (☎ 816-561-7136; 910 W 48th St; mains $10-30; 🕑 11am-10pm, from 5pm Sat & Sun) A long-running steak house in the Plaza that stays busy by serving nearly flawless timeless classics like French onion soup and perfectly grilled meats. The bar buzzes with local glitterati,

EATING KANSAS CITY: BBQ

Savoring hickory-smoked brisket, pork, chicken or ribs at one of the BBQ joints around town is a must for any visitor. The local style is pit-smoked and slathered with heavily-seasoned vinegar-based sauces. You may well swoon for 'burnt ends,' the crispy ends of smoked pork or beef brisket. Amazing.

Arthur Bryant's (☎ 816-231-1123; 1727 Brooklyn Ave; 🕑 10am-9:30pm Mon-Thu, 10am-10pm Fri & Sat, 11am-8pm Sun) Not far from the Jazz District, this famous institution serves up piles of superb BBQ in a somewhat slick setting. The sauce is silky and fiery.

LC's (☎ 816-923-4484; 5800 Blue Pkwy; 🕑 11am-8pm) Oddly located and utterly inauspicious, LC's saves its grandeur for its savory beef and pork. Little details are taken into account, like the handcut fries that work as a sauce delivery system.

and the wine list sparkles with hundreds of choices.

Entertainment

The Pitch (www.pitch.com) has the top cultural calendar.

Live music venues are scattered across the city:

Davey's Uptown (☎ 816-753-1909; www.daveysuptown.com; 3402 Main St) Since 1925, local and regional alternative acts have been playing nearly nightly.

Jardine's (☎ 816-561-6480; www.jardines4jazz.com; 4536 Main St) This mannered club near the Plaza has jazz seven nights a week, plus Saturday afternoons.

Mutual Musicians Foundation (☎ 816-471-5212; 1823 Highland Ave) Also at 18th & Vine, this little spot has hosted after-hours jams since 1930. Nowadays they take place on Friday and Saturday nights and don't kick off until about 1am.

Locals are passionate about Major League Baseball's Royals (☎ 816-921-8000; www.kcroyals.com) and the NFL's Chiefs (☎ 816-931-3330; www.kcchiefs.com). Both play at gleaming side-by-side stadiums in the Truman Sports Complex (I-70 exit 9).

Shopping

Historic Country Club Plaza is KC's top shopping destination (its lavish architecture is modeled on Seville, Spain and dates to 1923), though it's mostly upscale national chains. Westport and 39th St West have more eclectic shops. Over 60 galleries call Crossroads Art District home.

Zebedee's (☎ 816-960-6900; www.zebedeesrpm.com; 1208 W 39th St; 🕑 11am-8pm Mon & Wed-Sat, noon-5pm Sun) has a great vinyl collection, including lots of old jazz.

Getting There & Around

KC International Airport (KCI; ☎ 816-243-5237; www.flykci.com) is 16 miles northwest of downtown. A taxi to downtown/Plaza costs about $40/45; call Yellow Cab (☎ 888-471-6050). Or take the cheaper Super Shuttle (☎ 800-258-3826; downtown/Plaza $17/18).

Greyhound (☎ 816-221-2835; www.greyhound.com) sends buses daily to St Louis ($45, 4½ hours) and Denver ($100, 11 hours) while Jefferson Lines (☎ 800-451-5333; www.jeffersonlines.com) heads to Omaha ($45, 3¼ to four hours) and Minneapolis ($85, 9½ to 10 hours). Both use the city's inconveniently located main bus station at 1101 Troost St. Megabus (☎ 877-462-6342; www.megabus.com; 10th & Main Sts) goes to St Louis and Chicago right from downtown for as low as $15.

Amtrak (☎ 816-421-3622; www.amtrak.com), in majestic Union Station, has two daily Missouri River Runner trains to St Louis (from $26, six hours). The Southwest Chief stops here daily on its runs between Chicago and LA.

Local transport is with Metro buses (☎ 816-221-0660; www.kcata.org; adult fare $1.50). A one-/three-day unlimited ride-pass costs $3/10. The convenient MAX express bus runs regularly between City Market and Country Club Plaza.

AROUND KANSAS CITY

Independence

Just east of Kansas City, picture-perfect Independence was the home of Harry S Truman, US president from 1945 to 1953. The Truman Presidential Museum & Library (☎ 800-833-1225; www.trumanlibrary.org; 500 W US 24; adult/child $7/3; 🕑 9am-5pm Mon-Sat, noon-5pm Sun year-round, to 9pm Thu summer) exhibits thousands of objects, including the famous 'The BUCK STOPS here!' sign, from the man who led the US through one of its most tumultuous eras.

See the simple life Harry and Bess lived in the charming Truman Home (www.nps.gov/hstr; 219 N Delaware St; adult/child $4/free), furnished with original belongings. He lived here from 1919 to 1972; it was refurbished in 2009. Tour tickets are sold at the visitor center (☎ 816-254-9929; 223 N Main St; 🕒 8:30am-5pm). Ask for directions to the Truman farm where the future president 'got his common sense'.

The excellent 2.7-mile Truman Historic Walking Trail, starting at the visitor center, leads to dozens of other Truman-related sites, including the courthouse where he began his political career and Clinton's Soda Fountain (☎ 816-833-2046; 100 W Maple Ave; mains $4-8; 🕒 8:30am-6pm Mon-Thu, 8:30am-8pm Fri & Sat; ☒) where he landed his first job.

The National Frontier Trails Museum (☎ 816-325-7575; www.ci.independence.mo.us/nftm; 318 W Pacific St; adult/child $5/3; 🕒 9am-4:30pm Mon-Sat, 12:30-4:30pm Sun) gives a good look at life for the pioneers along the Santa Fe, California and Oregon Trails; many began their journey in Independence.

Stay across from the Truman House at the Higher Ground Hotel (☎ 816-836-0292, 888-342-1112; www.olivebranchinn.us; 200 N Delaware; r from $70; Ⓟ ☒ ✣ 📶), a modern place that looks like a school. The 30 rooms are commodious and comfortable.

St Joseph

The first Pony Express set out, carrying mail from 'St Jo' 2000 miles west to California, in 1860. The service, making the trip in as little as eight days, lasted just 18 months before telegraph lines made the riders redundant. The Pony Express National Museum (☎ 800-530-5930; www.ponyexpress.org; 914 Penn St; adult/child $4/2; 🕒 9am-5pm Mon-Sat, 1-5pm Sun) tells the story of the Express and its riders, who were mostly orphans due to the dangers.

St Jo, 50 miles north of Kansas City, was also home to outlaw Jesse James. He was killed at what is now the Jesse James Home Museum (☎ 816-232-8206; 12th & Penn Sts; adult/child $3/1.50; 🕒 10am-5pm Mon-Sat, 1-5pm Sun, weekends only Nov-Mar). The fateful bullet hole is still in the wall.

Housed in the former 'State Lunatic Asylum No 2,' the Glore Psychiatric Museum (☎ 816-364-1209; 3406 Frederick Ave; adult/child $3/1; 🕒 10am-5pm Mon-Sat, 1-5pm Sun) gives a frightening and fascinating look at lobotomies, the 'bath of surprise' and other discredited treatments. Tickets also include entrance to several other museums.

Get details on the town's many museums at the visitor center (☎ 800-785-0360; www.stjomo.com; 502 N Woodbine Rd; 🕒 9am-4pm Mon-Sat) near I-29 exit 47, where most hotels are located.

IOWA

Instead of two girls for every guy, Iowa has eight pigs for every person. But there's a lot more to do here than roll in the mud. The towering bluffs on the Mississippi River and the soaring Loess Hills lining the Missouri River bookend the state; in between you'll find the writers' town of Iowa City, the commune-dwellers of the Amana Colonies and lots of little towns full of highlights.

In fact, Iowa surprises in many ways. It makes or breaks presidential-hopefuls: the Iowa Caucus opens the national election battle and in 2008 Barrack Obama stunned many pundits with a win here. In 2009 the state shirked its staid image by allowing same-sex marriages.

History

After the 1832 Black Hawk War pushed local Native Americans westward, immigrants flooded into Iowa from all parts of the world and hit the ground farming. Some established experimental communities such as the Germans of the Amana Colonies (p672). Others spread out and kept coaxing the soil (95% of the land is fertile) until Iowa attained its current status as a leading grain producer (bio-fuel has caused a boomlet) and the US leader in hogs and corn (much of the latter ends up as syrup in junk food).

Information

Iowa Bed & Breakfast Guild (☎ 800-743-4692; www.ibbg.com)

IOWA FACTS

Nickname Hawkeye State
Population 3 million
Area 56,275 sq miles
Capital city Des Moines (population 200,000)
Sales Tax 6%
Birthplace of painter Grant Wood (1891–1942), actor John Wayne (1907–79), author Bill Bryson (b 1951)
Home of Madison County's bridges
Famous for Iowa Caucus that opens the presidential election season
Official flower Wild rose
Driving distances Dubuque to Chicago 180 miles, Des Moines to Rapid City 625 miles

Iowa state parks (☎ 515-281-5918; www.iowadnr.com) State parks are free to visit. Half of the park campsites are reservable; fees range from $6 to $20 per night.
Iowa Tourism Office (☎ 888-472-6035; www.travel iowa.com)

DES MOINES

Des Moines, meaning 'of the monks' not 'in the corn' as the surrounding fields might suggest, is Iowa's snoozy capital. The town really is rather dull, but does have one of the nation's best state capitols and state fairs. Pause, but then get out and see the state.

Orientation & Information

The Des Moines River slices through downtown. The Court Ave Entertainment District sits just west, while East Village, at the foot of the capitol, and (yes) east of the river, is home to some up-and-coming art and design galleries, eateries and a few gay bars.

The visitor center (☎ 800-451-2625; www.seedes moines.com; 400 Locust St, Suite 265; ⏰ 8:30am-5pm Mon-Fri) is downtown.

Sights & Activities

The bling-heavy State Capitol (☎ 515-281-5591; E 9th St & Grand Ave; ⏰ 8am-4:30pm Mon-Fri, 9am-3pm Sat) must have been Liberace's favorite government building. Its every detail, from the sparkling gold dome to the spiral staircases and stained glass in the law library, seems to strive to outdo the other. Join a free tour and you can climb halfway up the dome.

The engaging State Historical Museum (☎ 515-281-5111; 600 E Locust St; admission free; ⏰ 9am-4:30pm Mon-Sat, noon-4:30pm Sun), at the foot of the capitol, features first person accounts from people who lived through a particular historical era or event.

Much more than just country music and butter sculpture, the Iowa State Fair (www.iowa statefair.org; adult/child $10/4; 👶) draws a million visitors over its 10-day mid-August run. They enjoy the award-winning farm critters and just about every food imaginable that can be shoved on a stick. It's the setting for the Rogers and Hammerstein musical State Fair and the 1945 film version.

Sleeping

Chains of all flavors congregate on I-80 at exits 121, 124, 131 and 136.

Hotel Fort Des Moines (☎ 515-243-1161, 800-532-1466; www.hotelfortdesmoines.com; 1000 Walnut St; r $90-160; P ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) Everyone from Mae West to JFK has spent the night in this old-world hotel. It retains its 1917 elegance and the 204 rooms spread across 11 floors are well-equipped.

Eating & Drinking

Downtown's Court Ave and East Village (Grand Ave and Locust St) are good for browsing restaurants.

Java Joe's (☎ 515-288-5282; 214 4th St; mains $3-7; ⏰ 7am-11pm Mon-Thu, 7am-midnight Fri & Sat, 9am-10pm Sun; ☒ 📶) The small menu covers a lot of ground: breakfast pastries, sandwiches, Indian dishes (lotsa lentils) and, of course, cupfuls of coffee. There's live local music many nights.

House of Bricks (☎ 515-727-4370; 525 E Grand Ave; meals $10-15; ⏰ 11am-late) A gritty live music legend in the East Village, it serves up tasty, beer-absorbent chow.

MISSOURI: EXTRAS & DETOURS

The state's backbone, I-70 is a congested dud (with a surprising number of porn and sex shops); whenever possible, leave the interstate.

- Hwy 94 Following the Missouri river from Jefferson City east to St Louis, Hwy 94 passes through a beautiful region of wineries and forests. It's a good I-70 detour.
- Sainte Genevieve, Missouri This petite, French-founded Mississippi River town oozes history. Many of the restored 18th- and 19th-century buildings are now B&Bs and gift shops.
- George Washington Carver accomplished a lot more than just experimenting with peanuts. The birthplace (☎ 417-325-4151; Diamond; admission free; ⏰ 9am-5pm) of this African American renaissance man is near Joplin. Take exit 11A off I-44, then follow US 71 4.5 miles south to Hwy V, then go east.

AROUND DES MOINES

Madison County

This scenic county, about 30 miles southwest of the capital, slumbered for half a century until Robert James Waller's block-buster, tear-jerking novel The Bridges of Madison County and its Clint Eastwood–Meryl Streep movie version brought in scores of fans to check out the covered bridges where Robert and Francesca fueled their affair. Pick up (or download) a map to all six bridges and other movie sets at the Chamber of Commerce (☎ 800-298-6119; www.madisoncounty.com; 73 Jefferson St; 🕒 9am-5pm Mon-Fri, 10am-4pm Sat, noon-4pm Sun) in Winterset.

The humble birthplace of John Wayne (☎ 515-462-1044; www.johnwaynebirthplace.org; 216 S 2nd St, Winterset; adult/child $4/1; 🕒 10am-4:30pm), aka Marion Robert Morrison, is now a museum.

Eldon

Grab a 'tool' out of your trunk and make your very own parody of Grant Wood's iconic painting American Gothic (1930) in tiny Eldon, about 90 miles southeast of Des Moines. The original house is at 301 American Gothic St, though it's not open to the public. An interpretive center (☎ 641-652-3352; admission free; 🕒 10am-5pm Tue-Sat, 1-4pm Sun-Mon summer, 10am-4pm Tue-Fri, 1-4pm Sat-Mon rest of year) sits across the street. The actual painting is in the Art Institute of Chicago (p563). Wood spent much of his time in tiny Stone City, a cute little burg 14 miles north of Mt Vernon, off Hwy 1.

ALONG I-80

Most of Iowa's attractions are within an easy drive of bland I-80, which runs east–west across the state's center. Des Moines is midway along the road. Much more interesting alternatives are US 20 (p672) and US 30 (p672).

Quad Cities

Four cities straddle the Mississippi River by I-80: Davenport and Bettendorf in Iowa and Moline and Rock Island in Illinois. See p588 for Illinois-side details. The visitor center (☎ 800-747-7800; www.visitquadcities.com; 102 S Harrison St, Davenport; 🕒 8:30am-5pm year-round, 10am-4pm Sat & Sun summer) have bike rentals ($10 per hour) for a ride along the Big Muddy.

The Iowa 80 Truckstop (☎ 563-284-6961; www.iowa80truckstop.com; I-80 exit 284 in Walcott; 🕒 24hr) is the world's biggest, complete with a trucking museum (🕒 10am-6pm Wed-Sun) displaying actual rigs. The gift shop contains some of the tackiest merchandise imaginable. Stock up.

You can cruise the gorgeous Mississippi on the Victorian-style riverboat Twilight (☎ 800-331-1467; www.riverboattwilight.com; $330 per person double, incl hotel & meals), which runs two-day round-trips to Dubuque from nearby Le Claire.

Motels are found at I-74 exit 2 and I-780 exit 295A.

Iowa City

The youthful, artsy vibe here is courtesy of the University of Iowa campus (www.uiowa.edu), home to good art and natural history museums. It spills across both sides of the Iowa River; to the east it mingles with charming downtown's restaurants and bars. In summer (when the student-to-townie ratio evens out) the city mellows somewhat, but there is always something happening. The visitor center (☎ 800-283-6592; www.iowacitycoralville.org; 900 1st Ave; 🕒 8am-5pm Mon-Fri) is in neighboring Coralville.

The cute gold-domed building at the heart of campus is the Old Capitol (☎ 319-335-0548; admission free; 🕒 10am-3pm Tue-Wed & Fri, 10am-5pm Thu & Sat, 1-5pm Sun). Built in 1840, it was the seat of government until 1857 when Des Moines grabbed the reins. It's now a museum with galleries and furnishings from back in its heyday.

Chain motels line 1st Ave in Coralville (I-80 exit 242) like hogs at the trough. Beer and cheap chow abound downtown.

our pick Alexis Park Inn & Suites (☎ 319-337-8665, 888-925-3947; www.alexisparkinn.com; 1165 S Riverside Dr; r $75-110; 🚭 ❄ 💻 📶), locally owned, is a modest apartment complex that has been converted into an extraordinary motel. The large rooms have kitchens and, reflecting the interests of the owners, each is decorated with an aerospace theme, such as the Apollo room, the Pan Am Clipper room etc (those seeking romance may wish to avoid the Piper Cub room). Four-poster beds and other antiques adorn Mark and Bob's Brown Street Inn (☎ 319-338-0435; www.brownstreetinn.com; 430 Brown St; r $85-165; 🚭 ❄ 💻 📶), a six-room 1913 Dutch Colonial that's an easy walk from downtown.

The hallmark at lovely little bistro Motley Cow Café (☎ 319-688-9177; 160 N Linn St; mains $10-20; 🕒 5-10pm Mon-Sat; 🚭) is organic regional fare on a seasonal menu. Dave's Foxhead Tavern (☎ 319-351-9824; 402 E Market St) is popular with the U of I's revered Iowa Writers' Workshop crowd, who debate gerunds in this tiny boozer (brilliantly satirized in Jane Smiley's Moo; alums include 16 Pulitzer prize winners).

Amana Colonies

These seven villages, just northwest of Iowa City, are stretched along a 17-mile loop. All were established as German religious communes between 1855 and 1861 by inspirationists who, until the Great Depression, lived a Utopian life with no wages paid and all assets communally owned. Unlike the Amish and Mennonite religions, Inspirationists embrace modern technology.

Today the seven well-preserved (and well-organized) villages, completely devoid of chain businesses, offer a glimpse of this unique culture, and there are lots of arts, crafts, cheeses, baked goods and wines to buy. Stop at the grain-elevator-shaped visitor center (☎ 800-579-2294; www.amanacolonies.com; 622 46th Ave, Amana; 🕑 9am-5pm Mon-Sat, 10am-5pm Sun Apr-Oct, 10am-4pm rest of year) for the essential guide-map. It also has audio tours on CD ($10) and bike rental ($15 per day).

Six museums are sprinkled throughout the villages, including the insightful Amana Heritage Museum (☎ 319-622-3567; 4310 220th Trail, Amana; 🕑 9am-5pm Mon-Sat, noon-4pm Sun Apr-Oct, Sat only Mar & Nov-Dec). The others are open summers only. An $8/free adult/child pass gets you into them all. Another popular stop is the privately owned Barn Museum (☎ 319-622-3058; 220th Trl, South Amana; adult $3.50, child $1.25-1.75; 🕑 9am-5pm Apr-Oct), which has miniature versions of buildings found across rural America.

The villages have many good-value B&Bs and historic inns including Zuber's Homestead Hotel (☎ 319-622-3911, 888-623-3911; www.zubershomesteadhotel.com; 2206 44 Ave, Homestead; r $85-110; 🚭 ❄ 📶) with 15 individually decorated rooms in an 1890s brick building.

One of the Amanas' top draws is the hefty-portioned, home-cooked German cuisine dished out at various humble dining spots. Keep an eye out for Millsteam wheat beer, brewed in Amana.

ALONG US 30

Like a clichéd needlepoint come to life, US 30 passes through fertile fields dotted with whitewashed farmhouses and red-hued barns. It parallels I-80 an average of 20 to 30 miles to the north before dropping down to Nebraska near Omaha.

The real attraction here is just enjoying the succession of small towns. Mt Vernon may be only two blocks long but there's a lot here. Most noteworthy is the foodie favorite Lincoln Café (☎ 319-895-4041; 117 1st St; mains $6-15; 🕑 11am-2pm & 5-9pm Tue-Sat, 10am-2pm Sun), which serves amazing versions of local foods (try the burger with Maytag blue cheese.

Ames, 25 miles north of Des Moines, is home to Iowa State University and has lots of good motels and undergrad dives.

ALONG US 20

US 20 stretches from Dubuque on the Mississippi River to Sioux City on the Missouri River. It has offered up charms similar to those on US 30 to generations of travelers seeking new lives, adventure or just a new farm implement.

Dubuque

Dubuque makes a great entry to Iowa from Illinois: 19th-century Victorian homes line its narrow and lively streets between the Mississippi River and seven steep limestone hills. Get information from the visitor center (☎ 800-798-4748; www.traveldubuque.com; 300 Main St; 🕑 9am-5pm Mon-Sat, 9am-3pm Sun summer, 9am-4pm Mon-Sat, 9am-1pm Sun rest of year).

The 4th Street Elevator (☎ 563-582-6496; www.dbq.com; 4th St & Fenelon; adult/child round-trip $2/1; 🕑 8am-10pm Apr-Nov), built in 1882, climbs a steep hill for huge views. Ring the bell to begin the ride. Learn about life (of all sorts) on the Mississippi at the impressive National Mississippi River Museum & Aquarium (☎ 563-557-9545; www.rivermuseum.com; 350 E 3rd St; adult/child $11/8; 🕑 9am-5pm summer, 10am-5pm rest of year). Nearby, the Spirit of Dubuque (☎ 563-583-8093; www.dubuqueriverrides.com; 3rd St, at Ice Harbor; adult/child from $18/12; 🕑 Apr-Oct, call for schedule) offers a variety of Mississippi sightseeing and dining cruises on a mock-paddleboat.

The historic Hotel Julien (☎ 563-556-4200, 800-798-7098; www.hoteljuliendubuque.com; 200 Main St; r $120-200; ❄ 📶) was built in 1914 and was once owned by Al Capone. A recent lavish renovation has turned it upscale and it's a real antidote for chains.

Main St is lined with good eateries grand and humble.

Waterloo & Around

Home to five John Deere tractor factories, Waterloo is the place to get one of those

IOWA: DETOURS & EXTRAS

- Effigy Mounds National Monument (☎ 563-873-3491; www.nps.gov/efmo; admission $3; 🕘 8am-4:30pm) Hundreds of Native American burial mounds sit in the bluffs high above the Mississippi River in far northeast Iowa.
- Hobo Museum (☎ 641-843-9104; www.hobo.com; 51 Main Ave S; 🕘 10am-5pm Mon-Fri summer) The only museum of its kind and located in northcentral Britt; hosts the National Hobo Convention the second weekend in August.
- Loess Hills Scenic Byway, a 220-mile network of roads running along Iowa's western edge, is named for the rare loess, a windblown glacier-ground soil that began piling up about 24,000 years ago. Steep, terraced bluffs are the result today. The most dramatic scenery is between Council Bluffs and Sioux City. Download a detailed map at www.byways.org.
- Great River Road (see also p48) has an Iowa route that hugs the Mississippi and passes through some isolated towns and some verdant, rural scenery. Burlington has an excellent visitor center and is good for a break. Download a detailed map at www.byways.org.
- Fairfield & Vedic City, on US 34 in the southeast, are home to the Maharishi University of Management, founded by the Maharishi Mahesh Yogi (he who taught the Beatles transcendental meditation in India). In hippie-trippy Vedic City all homes face east and have small domes on top.

prized green-and-yellow caps you've seen across middle America. Fun and free tractor-driven Tractor Assembly Tours (☎ 319-292-7668; 3500 E Donald St; 🕘 8am, 10am, 1pm Mon-Fri) and Engine Works Tours (☎ 319-292-5347; 3801 Ridgeway Ave; 🕘 9:30am, 1pm Mon-Fri) show how these vehicles are made. The minimum age is 13 and reservations are required.

NORTH DAKOTA

Magnificent desolation. Buzz Aldrin used it to describe the moon and it applies just as well in North Dakota. Fields of grain – green in the spring and summer, bronze in the fall and white in winter stretch beyond every horizon. Except the rugged 'badlands' of the far west, geographic relief is subtle. More often it is the collapsing remains of a failed homestead that break up the vistas.

Isolated far to the north, North Dakota is the least visited state in the US. But that just means that there's less traffic as you whiz along at the usual legal limit of 75mph. This is a place to get lost on remote two-lane routes and to appreciate the magnificence of raw land.

History

During their epic journey, Lewis and Clark spent more time in what is now North Dakota than any other state, meeting up with Shoshone guide Sacagawea on their way west. In the mid-19th century, smallpox epidemics came up the Missouri River, decimating the Arikara, Mandan and Hidatsa tribes, who affiliated and established the Like-a-Fishhook Village around 1845. When the railroad arrived in North Dakota in the 1870s, thousands of settlers flocked in to take up allotments under the Homestead Act. By 1889 the state population was more than 250,000, half foreign-born (one in eight were from Norway).

Young Theodore Roosevelt came here to ditch his city-slicker image. As president, inspired by his time in North Dakota, he earned the title 'The Father of Conservation' for his work creating national forests and parks.

Despite those seemingly endless summer fields of grain, the state's economy is tied to large oil deposits in the west. During the recent recession, the state was barely affected.

Information

North Dakota Bed & Breakfast Association (☎ 888-271-3380; www.ndbba.com)

North Dakota state parks (☎ 701-328-5357; www.ndparks.com) Vehicle permits cost $5/25 per day/year. Nearly half of the park campsites are reservable; fees range from $8 to $20 per night.

North Dakota Tourism Division (☎ 800-435-5663; www.ndtourism.com)

NORTH DAKOTA FACTS

Nickname Peace Garden State
Population 643,000
Area 70,705 sq miles
Capital city Bismarck (population 63,000)
Sales Tax 5%
Birthplace of Legendary Shoshone woman Sacagawea (1788–1812), cream of wheat (1893), bandleader Lawrence Welk (1903–92), singer-writer of westerns Louis L'Amour (1908–88)
Home of world's largest bison, turtle and Holstein statues
Famous for the movie Fargo
Official fish Northern pike
Driving Distances Fargo to Bismarck 193 miles

ALONG I-94

Arrowing across North Dakota, I-94 provides easy access to most of the state's top attractions although it would not be the road of scenic choice (US 2 is more atmospheric).

Fargo

Named for the Fargo of Wells Fargo Bank, North Dakota's biggest city has been a fur-trading post, a frontier town, a quick-divorce capital and a haven for folks in the Federal Witness Protection Program; not to mention the namesake of the Coen Brothers' film Fargo – though the movie was set across the Red River in Minnesota. Still, expect to hear a lot of accents similar to Frances McDormand's brilliant version in the film.

The grain elevator–shaped visitor center (☎ 800-235-7654; www.fargomoorhead.org; 2001 44th St; 🕒 7:30am-6pm Mon-Fri, 10am-4pm Sat & Sun summer, 8am-5pm Mon-Fri rest of year) is off I-94 exit 348.

The modern, ambitious Plains Art Museum (☎ 701-232-3821; www.plainsart.org; 704 1st Ave N; adult/child $5/free; 🕒 10am-5pm Tue-Sat, 1-5pm Sun, to 8pm Thu) features sophisticated programming in a renovated warehouse. The permanent collection includes contemporary work by Native American artists.

Just across the river in Moorhead, Minnesota, the Heritage Hjemkomst Interpretive Center (☎ 218-299-5511; www.hjemkomst-center.com; 202 1st Ave; adult/child $7/5; 🕒 9am-5pm Mon-Sat, to 8pm Tue, noon-5pm Sun) has a Norwegian stave church and 76ft replica of a 9th-century Viking ship with a heart-warming history.

Chain motels cluster at exits 64 on I-29 and 348 on I-94. A good indie choice is Prairie Rose Inn (☎ 701-235-3141, 800-437-0044; www.fargoponyexpress.com; 1340 21st Ave S; r from $80; ✣ 💻 📶 🏊). Its 116 rooms are on nice grounds and the pool is indoors, away from the blizzards.

Hotel Donaldson (☎ 701-478-1000, 888-478-8768; www.hoteldonaldson.com; 101 Broadway; r from $190; ☒ ✣ 💻 📶) is a stylish and swank revamp of a flophouse. The 17 luxurious suites are each decorated by a local artist. The chic restaurant and rooftop bar are worth stopping in for a dine or a drink.

Widman's Candy Shop (☎ 701-281-8664; 4325 13th Ave S; snacks $1-5; 🕒 9:30am-7pm Mon-Fri, to 5pm Sat) has been run by the same family since 1885. Their unique recipes are legendary and include chocolate-covered potato chips and flax seed.

Bismarck

Like the surrounding plains of wheat, Bismarck, North Dakota's capital, has a quick and bountiful summer. Otherwise, it's a compact place that hunkers down for the long winters where the low averages -4°F (-20°C).

The Bismarck-Mandan Visitor Center (☎ 800-767-3555; www.discoverbismarckmandan.com; 1600 Burnt Boat Dr, Bismarck; 🕒 7:30am-7pm Mon-Fri, 8am-6pm Sat, 10am-5pm Sun summer, 8am-5pm Mon-Fri rest of year) is just off I-94 exit 157.

The stark 1930s State Capitol (☎ 701-328-2480; N 7th St; 🕒 8am-4pm Mon-Fri, tours hourly except noon plus 9am-4pm Sat & 1-4pm Sun summer) is often referred to as the 'skyscraper of the prairie' and looks something like a Stalinist school of dentistry from the outside, but has some art-deco flourishes inside. There's an observation deck on the 18th floor.

Behind the Sacagawea statue, the huge North Dakota Heritage Center (☎ 701-328-2666; www.history.nd.gov; Capitol Hill; admission free; 🕒 8am-5pm Mon-Fri, 10am-5pm Sat & Sun) has details on everything from Norwegian bachelor farmers to the scores of nuclear bombs perched on missiles in silos across the state.

On River Rd, below the I-94 bridge, there's a replica of the 55-foot keelboat Lewis and Clark used on this part of their journey.

Fort Abraham Lincoln State Park (☎ 701-667-6340; $5 per vehicle, plus adult/child $6/4 to tour historical sites), 7 miles south of Mandan on SR 1806, is well worth the detour. Its On-A-Slant Indian Village has five re-created Mandan earth lodges, while the fort, with several replica buildings, is where Custer departed from for the Battle of Little Bighorn.

HOT TOPIC: TOO MUCH WATER

In the winter of 2009 Fargo was hit by record floods that taxed dikes protecting the city from the Red River. Much of the community turned out to fill over 2 million sandbags and while there was destruction a much worse calamity was averted. Downriver, Grand Forks was also threatened and memories of a disastrous flood in 1997 were reawakened.

A plethora of late storms in March, coupled with colder than average conditions that kept the ground frozen and unable to absorb water, meant that these largely flat lands were easily inundated. And these problems are not unique to North Dakota. Floods are becoming more common throughout the Great Plains; eastern Iowa had devastating floods in 2008.

Climate change, which has caused the weather to be colder and wetter, is responsible, as is the predilection of people to settle in historic flood plains. There's a growing sense that it will be impossible to build dikes to keep up with the rising water levels. All the states are busily debating what to do next.

In Bismarck, chain motels congregate around I-94 exit 159. Closer to the center, Best Western Ramkota Hotel (☎ 701-258-7700; www.bismarck.ramkota.com; 800 S Third St; r $80-130; ✣ 📶 🏊) has 306 rooms around an indoor pool with a 150ft slide (whee!).

Locally made candy bars star at Lindy Sue's (☎ 701-663-5311; 316 W Main St, Mandan; snacks $3-5; 🕒 9am-6pm Mon-Sat; 🚭), an authentic soda fountain with fine root beer floats. Little Cottage Cafe (☎ 701-223-4949; 2513 E Main Ave; mains $5-12; 🕒 6am-9pm) is down near the train tracks near the center and is a classic diner with hearty local food (bring on the meatloaf!). Free newspapers lay about and the timeless waitresses (honey!) never let coffee cups empty.

Around Bismarck

North of Bismarck are several worthwhile attractions near the spot where Lewis and Clark wintered with the Mandan in 1804–05. The best is the North Dakota Lewis & Clark Interpretive Center (☎ 701-462-8535; www.fortmandan.com; adult/child $7.50/5; 🕒 9am-5pm daily year-round, from noon Sun in winter), 38 miles away in Washburn, where you can learn about the duo's epic expedition and the Native Americans who helped them. The same ticket gets you into Fort Mandan (CR 17), a replica of the fort built by Lewis and Clark, 2.5 miles west (10 miles downstream from the flooded original site).

West of Bismarck on I-94, stop and see Sue, the World's Largest Holstein Cow at New Salem (exit 127). At exit 72, there's a unique detour south along the Enchanted Hwy (p676). In Dickinson, another hour west, the Dakota Dinosaur Museum (☎ 701-225-3466; www.dakotadino.com; I-94 exit 61; adult/child $7/4; 🕒 9am-5pm May-Sep) has oodles of dinosaur fossils and statues, most found in the state.

Theodore Roosevelt National Park

A tortured land known as the 'badlands' and whose colors seem to change with the moods of nature, Theodore Roosevelt National Park (☎ 701-623-4466; www.nps.gov/thro; 7-day pass per vehicle $10) is the state's natural highlight. Bizarre rock formations, streaked with a rainbow of red, yellow, brown, black and silver minerals, are framed by green prairie. Most visitors opt for the 36-mile scenic drive in the South Unit, near I-94 at Medora. The more rugged North Unit, 68 miles north on US 85, has far fewer visitors and a 14-mile drive to the beautiful Oxbow Overlook. The verdant surrounds are protected as the Little Missouri National Grassland.

The park has three visitor centers, including the Medora visitor center (☎ 701-623-4466; 🕒 8am-6pm Mon-Thu, 8am-8pm Fri-Sun summer, 8am-4:30pm rest of year), with Theodore Roosevelt's old cabin out back. Roosevelt described this area as 'a land of vast, silent spaces, of lonely rivers, and of plains where the wild game stared at the passing horsemen,' and it's hard to describe the place better even today.

Wildlife is still everywhere: mule deer, wild horses, bighorn sheep, elk, bison, around 200 species of bird and, of course, sprawling subterranean prairie dog towns.

Hikers can explore 85 miles of backcountry trails. For a good adventure, hike or cycle the 96-mile Maah Daah Hey Trail between the park units. Driving, continue north on US 85 to Fort Buford (p676).

Accommodations in Medora include several motels. The most fun choice, however,

NORTH DAKOTA: DETOURS & EXTRAS

- International Peace Garden (☎ 888-432-6733; www.peacegarden.com; per vehicle $10) Around 150,000 flowers and several monuments sit symbolically on the North Dakota–Manitoba border on US 281.
- The Enchanted Highway (www.enchantedhighway.net) has huge whimsical metal sculptures of local folks and critters by local artist Gary Greff. It runs for 32 miles straight south to Regent from exit 72 on I-94.
- Knife River Indian Villages (☎ 701-745-3300; www.nps.gov/knri; CR 37; admission free; 🕓 8am-6pm summer, 8am-4:30pm rest of year) feature the sites of three Hidatsa and Mandan villages that were occupied for at least 900 years and a re-created earth lodge. Sacagawea joined Lewis and Clark from here. The sites are just north of Stanton (20 miles west of Washburn) on Hwy 200, which runs through verdant rolling prairie for 110 miles between US 83 and US 85.

is the Rough Riders Hotel (☎ 701-623-4444, 800-633-6721; www.medora.com/rough-riders; 301 3rd Ave; r $90-180; ❄ 📶), which dates back to 1885. Recent renovations made the eight original rooms dude-worthy and 68 more will be ready from 2010. The park itself has two simple campgrounds (campsites $10) and free backcountry camping (permit required).

ALONG US 2

US 2 is the more interesting alternative to I-94. The endless sky vistas stretch even further than the seas of golden grain. Grand Forks is a stolid city, while Devils Lake is one of the top waterfowl hunting destinations in the country. The entire area is subject to the flood-prone Red River (p675).

Amtrak's Empire Builder parallels the road on the legendary Great Northern route.

Rugby

Rugby is about halfway down the highway, but its more notable location identity is as the geographical center of North America. The Prairie Village Museum (☎ 701-776-6414; www.prairievillagemuseum.com; 102 US 2 SE; adult/child $7/1; 🕓 8am-7pm Mon-Sat, 1-7pm Sun May-Sep) recreates Great Plains life through the decades.

Minot

North Dakota's fourth largest city seriously celebrates its Scandinavian roots. Scandinavian Heritage Park (1020 S Broadway) contains northern European icons like a Norwegian stave church and Finnish sauna plus Minot's visitor center (☎ 800-264-2626; www.visitminot.org; 🕓 8am-7pm Mon-Fri, 10am-4pm Sat, noon-4pm Sun summer, 8am-5pm Mon-Fri rest of year; 💻). October's Norsk Høstfest (www.hostfest.com) is promoted as the world's largest Scandinavian festival.

Minot has a full range of modest chain and indie motels along US 2, 52 and 83.

West to Montana

West of Minot the horizon is dotted with forlorn little settlements slipping back into the prairie soil. Twenty-two miles southwest of Williston along SR 1804, Fort Buford (☎ 701-572-9034; adult/child $5/2.50; 🕓 8am-6pm mid-May–mid-Sep) is the bleak Army outpost where Sitting Bull surrendered. The adjacent Missouri-Yellowstone Confluence Interpretive Center (🕓 8am-6pm mid-May–mid-Sep, 9am-4pm Wed-Sun rest of year) includes the fort's visitor center. Swing by the boat landing in May to see anglers reeling in paddlefish.

About 2 miles west, on the Montana–North Dakota border, the more evocative Fort Union Trading Post (☎ 701-572-9083; www.nps.gov/fous; admission free; 🕓 8am-8pm Central Time summer, 9am-5:30pm rest of year) is a reconstruction of the American Fur Company post built in 1828.

SOUTH DAKOTA

Gently rolling prairies through shallow fertile valleys mark much of this endlessly attractive state. But head southwest and hell breaks loose – in a good way. The Badlands are the geologic equivalent of fireworks. The Black Hills are like opera: majestic, challenging, intriguing and even frustrating. Mt Rushmore matches the Statue of Liberty for five-star icon status. Throughout the state are important Native American sites and interesting towns big and small.

History

When the USA acquired South Dakota with the 1803 Louisiana Purchase, the region was the domain of the Sioux and a few fur trappers. It wasn't until the 1850s that the rich Dakota soil attracted the interest of settlers.

The 1868 Fort Laramie Treaty between the USA and the Sioux promised the Sioux a 60-million-acre reservation that stretched from the Missouri River in the east to the Bighorn Mountains in the west. The treaty was broken in 1874 after Lt Col George Custer led an expedition into the Black Hills in search of gold. Unfortunately for the Sioux, he found it.

Miners and settlers soon streamed in illegally and the Sioux retaliated in the biggest of the Indian Wars. The Battle of Little Bighorn in 1876, in which the great Crazy Horse defeated Custer and killed every last soldier, was the Plains Indians' last major victory over the invaders. Faced with overwhelming force, the tribes split up. Sitting Bull fled to Canada, Crazy Horse turned in his gun in 1877, and the railroads and settlers continued the march west. The final decimation of Sioux resistance came at Wounded Knee in 1890 (see p680). Decades later, in 1973, Oglala Sioux loyal to the American Indian Movement and opposed to their tribal leaders occupied Wounded Knee and kept federal officers at bay for 71 days.

Information

Bed & Breakfast Innkeepers of South Dakota (☎ 888-500-4667; www.southdakotabnb.com)

South Dakota Dept of Tourism (☎ 800-732-5682; www.travelsd.com)

South Dakota state parks (☎ 605-773-3391; www.sdgfp.info) Vehicle permits cost $6/28 per day/year. Most park campsites are reservable; fees range from $8 to $25 per night. Cabins start at $35.

SIOUX FALLS

South Dakota's largest city (population 152,000) has some historic buildings and a sculpture walk downtown, but it will always just be a gigantic rest stop for travelers.

The city's namesake splashes along the Big Sioux River at Falls Park off Phillips Ave north of downtown. The park has a visitor center (☎ 605-367-7430; www.siouxfallscvb.com; 🕓 9am-9pm daily Apr-Oct, reduced winter hr) with city-wide information and an observation tower. The huge pink quartzite Old Courthouse Museum (☎ 605-367-4210; www.siouxlandmuseums.com; 200 W 6th St; admission free; 🕓 8am-5pm Mon-Fri, 9am-5pm Sat, noon-5pm Sun, to 9pm Thu), a restored 1890s building, has three floors of changing exhibits on the region.

Sioux Falls has thickets of chain motels at I-29 exits 77 to 83. For hearty fare look for the brilliant sign outside otherwise humble Bob's Cafe (☎ 605-336-7260; 1312 W 12th St; mains $4-9; 🕓 7am-8pm). Inside you'll usually find the real Bob cooking up the best breakfasts, burgers and roast chicken in the region.

AROUND SIOUX FALLS

Dedicated Little House on the Prairie fans should head to Laura Ingalls Wilder's former home, De Smet. You can pick up a free drive-by tour-map of various sites from her and her family's life at the Laura Ingalls Wilder Memorial Society (☎ 800-880-3383; www.discoverlaura.org; 105 Olivet Ave; 🕓 9am-5:30pm Mon-Sat & 10am-5:30pm Sun summer, 9am-4pm Mon-Sat May & Sep, 9am-4pm Mon-Fri Oct-Apr) office and gift shop. The society leads hour-long tours inside two original Wilder homes (adult/child $8/4) – the one where the Wilders spent the first winter and the home Michael Landon, er, 'Pa' built. A melodramatic outdoor play (www.desmetpageant.org; adult/child $8/5) is performed on some July weekends.

ALONG I-90

Easily one of the least interesting stretches of interstate highway, I-90 across South Dakota does have some worthy stops along the way. For driving alternatives such as US 14, see p684.

SOUTH DAKOTA FACTS

Nickname Mt Rushmore State
Population 805,000
Area 77,125 sq miles
Capital city Pierre (population 14,100)
Sales Tax 4%
Birthplace of Sitting Bull (c 1831–90), Crazy Horse (c 1840–77) and Black Elk (c 1863–1950), all of Little Bighorn fame, and genial broadcaster Tom Brokaw (b 1940)
Home of Mt Rushmore, the Sioux
Famous for HBO show Deadwood, Wounded Knee Massacre
Official animal Coyote
Driving distances Sioux Falls to Rapid City 341 miles, Sioux Falls to Des Moines 283 miles

IF YOU HAVE A FEW MORE DAYS

Large swaths of South Dakota are unchanged since the 19th century when the Native Americans and the US Army clashed. See the land as it was then along the Native American Scenic Byway, which begins in Chamberlain (below) on Hwy 50 and meanders 100 crooked miles northwest to Pierre along Hwy 1806, following the Missouri River through rolling, rugged countryside, including the Crow Creek and the Lower Brule Indian reservations. This stretch makes a good detour off I-90. For the full effect follow the entire length by first going west from Pierre on US14 and then meandering north on Hwy 63 through the remote Standing Rock and Cheyenne River Indian reservations. Buttes and grasslands seem to go on forever and you can fully get caught up in their spectre over two or three days and 300 miles.

Mitchell

Every year, half a million people pull off I-90 (exit 332) to see the Taj Mahal of agriculture, the all-time-ultimate roadside attraction, the Corn Palace (☎ 866-273-2676; www.cornpalace.org; 604 N Main St; admission free; 🕓 8am-9pm daily summer, reduced hr rest of year). Close to 300,000 ears of corn are used each year to create a tableaux of murals on the outside of the building. Ponder the scenes and you may find a kernel of truth or just say 'aw shucks.'

At night, thrill to a double feature at the Starlite Drive-In Theatre (☎ 605-996-4511; www.loganmovie.com; 4601 N Main St; adult/child $8/free; 🕓 Apr-Sep), where it still seems to be 1965.

Chamberlain

In a picturesque site where I-90 crosses the Missouri River, Chamberlain (exit 263) is home to the excellent Akta Lakota Museum & Cultural Center (☎ 800-798-3452; www.aktalakota.org; 1301 N Main St; admission free; 🕓 8am-6pm Mon-Sat, 9am-5pm Sun summer, 8am-5pm Mon-Sat rest of year) at St Joseph's Indian School. It has Lakota cultural displays and contemporary art from numerous tribes.

History buffs should pop into the hilltop rest stop, south of town, where the Lewis & Clark Information Center (☎ 605-734-4562; admission free; 🕓 8am-6pm May-Oct) has exhibits on the intrepid band.

Pierre

Pierre (pronounced 'peer') is just too small (population 14,100) and ordinary to feel like a seat of power. Small-town Victorian homes overlook the imposing State Capitol (☎ 605-773-3765; 500 E Capitol Ave; 🕓 8am-10pm) with its black copper dome. The best reason to detour off I-90 here is because it lies along the Native American Scenic Byway and lonely, stark US 14 (see p684).

Exhibits at the ecologically groundbreaking South Dakota Cultural Heritage Center (☎ 605-773-3458; www.sdhistory.org; 900 Governor's Dr; adult/child $4/free; 🕓 9am-6:30pm Mon-Sat, 1-4:30pm Sun summer, closes at 4:30pm rest of year) include a bloody Ghost Dance shirt from Wounded Knee.

At a bend on the Missouri River, Framboise Island has several hiking trails and plentiful wildlife. It's across from where the Lewis and Clark expedition spent four days and was nearly derailed when they inadvertently offended members of the local Brule tribe. The Pierre visitor center (☎ 800-962-2034; www.pierre.org; 800 W Dakota Ave; 🕓 8am-5pm Mon-Fri) is nearby.

Most hotels lie along US 83. The Pierre Inn & Suites (☎ 605-224-5981; www.pierreinnsuites.com; 200 W Pleasant Dr; r from $60; ❄ 📶 🏊) has solid motel-style rooms with fridges and microwaves. It's close to the cute center of Pierre, with shops that include a bookstore.

Minuteman Missile National Historic Site

In the 1960s and 1970s, 450 Minutemen II intercontinental ballistic missiles, always at the ready in underground silos, were just 30 minutes from their targets in the Soviet Union. The missiles have since been retired (more modern ones are still lurking in silos across the northern Great Plains). The first national park dedicated to the Cold War preserves a silo and its underground launch facility (Map p680).

At the small temporary headquarters (☎ 605-433-5552; www.nps.gov/mimi; I-90 exit 131; 🕓 8am-4:30pm Mon-Fri plus Sat in summer), you can take tours (free) of the launch complex where two people stood ready around the clock to turn keys launching missiles from this part of South Dakota. Visits are limited to six people per tour and there are only one or two per day. Call far in advance to secure a place.

The silo (I-90 exit 116; 🕑 8am-4pm) can be viewed without a reservation through a glass cover. Note that from here west, Mountain Time is used, which is one hour earlier.

Wall

Hyped for hundreds of miles, Wall Drug (☎ 605-279-2275; www.walldrug.com; 510 Main St; 🕑 6:30am-6pm, extended summer hr) is a surprisingly worthy stop. They really do have 5¢ coffee, free ice water and enough diversions and come-ons to warm the heart of schlock-lovers everywhere. But amidst the fudge in the faux frontier complex is a superb bookstore with the best selection of regional titles we've seen.

The highly recommended Wounded Knee Museum (☎ 605-279-2573; www.woundedkneemuseum.org; I-90 exit 110; adult/child $5/free; 🕑 8:30am-5:30pm Apr-Oct, extended summer hr) tells the story of the massacre from the Lakota perspective using photos and narratives. It's more insightful than anything at the actual site (see p680).

The namesake town of the drug store is a good place for an overnight pause. It's compact and walkable, there are tasty and cheap cafés and bars, and several good indie motels, including Sunshine Inn (☎ 605-279-2178; www.sunshineinnatwallsd.com; 608 Main St; r 50-80; ❄ 📶), which has a genial owner and 22 sparkling rooms.

Badlands National Park

This otherworldly landscape, oddly softened by its fantastic rainbow hues, is a spectacle of sheer walls and spikes stabbing the dry air. It was understandably named mako sica (badland) by Native Americans. Looking over the bizarre formations from the corrugated walls surrounding the Badlands is like seeing an ocean someone boiled dry.

The park's north unit (Map p680) gets the most visitors; the Hwy 240 loop road is easily reached from I-90 (exits 110 and 131) and you can drive it in an hour if you're in a hurry (and not stuck behind an RV). Lookouts and vistas abound.

Much less visited is the portion west of Hwy 240 along the gravel Sage Creek Rim Rd. There are stops at prairie dog towns and this is where most backcountry hikers and campers go. There is nearly no water or shade here, so don't strike out into the wilderness unprepared. The less-accessible south units are in the Pine Ridge Indian Reservation and see few visitors.

The Ben Reifel Visitor Center (☎ 605-433-5361; www.nps.gov/badl; Hwy 240; 🕑 7am-7pm summer, 8am-5pm Apr-May & Sep-Oct, 8am-4pm rest of year) has good exhibits and advice for ways to ditch your car to appreciate the geologic wonder. The White River Visitor Center (☎ 605-455-2878; Hwy 27; 🕑 10am-4pm summer) is small. A seven-day pass costs $15 for cars and $7 for cyclists.

Neither the developed Cedar Pass Campground (campsites $10) or primitive Sage Creek Campground (campsites free) takes reservations. Hotels can be found on I-90 in Kadoka and Wall, or stay at a cozy cabin inside the park at Cedar Pass Lodge (☎ 605-433-5460; www.cedarpasslodge.com; Hwy 240; cabins $85-110; 🕑 May-Oct). There is a restaurant and shops.

The national park (Map p680), along with the surrounding Buffalo Gap National Grassland, protects the country's largest prairie grasslands, several species of Plains mammal (including bison and black-footed ferret), prairie falcons and lots of snakes. The National Grasslands Visitors Centre (☎ 605-279-2125; www.fs.fed.us/grasslands; 798 Main St; 🕑 8am-4:30pm) in Wall has good displays on this under-appreciated and complex ecosystem. Rangers can map out backroad routes that will let you do looping tours of the Badlands and the grasslands without ever touching I-90. Hwy 44 to Rapid City is also a fine alternative to the interstate.

Pine Ridge Indian Reservation

Home to the Lakota Oglala Sioux, the Pine Ridge reservation south of the Badlands is one of the nation's poorest 'counties,' with over half the population living below the poverty line. Despite being at times a jarring dose of reality, it is also a place welcoming to visitors.

In 1890 the new Ghost Dance religion, which the Lakota followers believed would bring back their ancestors and eliminate the white man, became wildly popular. This struck fear into the area's soldiers and settlers and the frenetic circle dances were outlawed. The 7th US Cavalry rounded up a band of Lakota under Chief Big Foot and brought them to the small village of Wounded Knee. On December 29, as the soldiers began to search for weapons, a shot was fired (nobody knows by who) leading to the massacre of more than 250 men, women and children, most of them unarmed. It's one of the most infamous atrocities in US history. Twenty-five soldiers also died.

Today, the Wounded Knee Massacre Site, 16 miles northeast of Pine Ridge town, is marked by a faded roadside sign and craft vendors. The mass grave, often frequented by young men looking for handouts, sits atop the hill. The nearby visitor center has little to offer: stop at the museum in Wall (p679) instead.

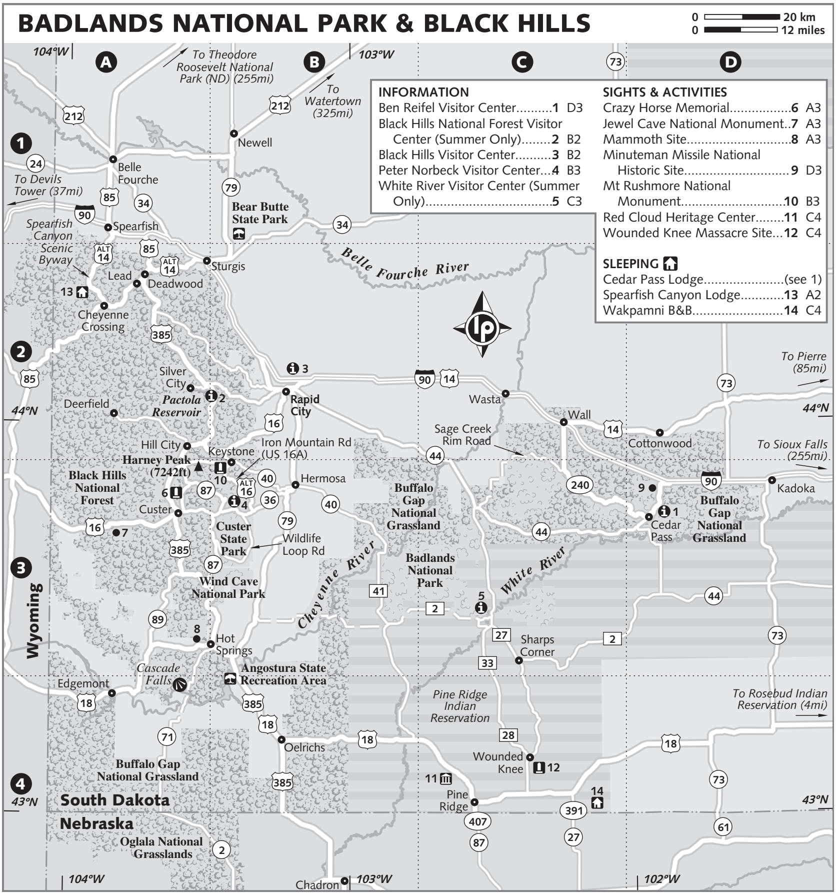
Four miles north of Pine Ridge town at the Red Cloud Indian School is the Red Cloud Heritage Center (☎ 605-867-5491; www.redcloudschool.org; Hwy 18; admission free; 🕒 8am-6pm Mon-Fri, 8am-5pm Sat, 11am-5pm Sun summer, 8am-5pm Mon-Fri rest of year), a well-curated art museum with traditional and contemporary work and a craft shop. You can get here by Hwy 27 from the Badlands.

Tune in to what's happening on KILI (90.1 FM), 'the voice of the Lakota nation,' which broadcasts community events and sometimes plays traditional music.

The farmhouse Wakpamni B&B (☎ 605-288-1800; www.wakpamni.com; r from $60; ⊠ ❄ 📶), 21 miles east of Pine Ridge town off US 18, has regular rooms and tipis. The owners have a superb Lakota craft shop and can arrange horseback riding (from $50), sweat-lodge ceremonies and other cultural activities.

BLACK HILLS

This stunning region on the Wyoming–South Dakota border lures oodles of visitors with its winding canyons and wildly eroded 7000ft peaks. The region's name – the 'Black' comes from the dark Ponderosa pine-covered slopes – was conferred by the Lakota Sioux.



BADLANDS NATIONAL PARK & BLACK HILLS
0 20 km
0 12 miles
104°W
103°W
102°W
44°N
43°N
A
B
C
D
1
2
3
4
To Theodore Roosevelt National Park (ND) (255mi)
To Watertown (325mi)
To Devils Tower (37mi)
To Pierre (85mi)
To Sioux Falls (255mi)
To Rosebud Indian Reservation (4mi)
Newell
Belle Fourche
Spearfish
Spearfish Canyon Scenic Byway
Sturgis
Lead
Deadwood
Cheyenne Crossing
Bear Butte State Park
Belle Fourche River
Silver City
Pactola Reservoir
Rapid City
Deerfield
Hill City
Harney Peak (7242ft)
Keystone
Iron Mountain Rd (US 16A)
Hermosa
Black Hills National Forest
Custer
Custer State Park
Wildlife Loop Rd
Wind Cave National Park
Hot Springs
Cascade Falls
Angostura State Recreation Area
Edgemont
Oelrichs
Buffalo Gap National Grassland
Oglala National Grasslands
Chadron
South Dakota
Nebraska
Wyoming
Wasta
Wall
Sage Creek Rim Road
Cottonwood
Kadoka
Cedar Pass
Badlands National Park
Cheyenne River
White River
Sharps Corner
Pine Ridge Indian Reservation
Wounded Knee
Pine Ridge

INFORMATION
Ben Reifel Visitor Center	1	D3
Black Hills National Forest Visitor Center (Summer Only)	2	B2
Black Hills Visitor Center	3	B2
Peter Norbeck Visitor Center	4	B3
White River Visitor Center (Summer Only)	5	C3

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES
Crazy Horse Memorial	6	A3
Jewel Cave National Monument	7	A3
Mammoth Site	8	A3
Minuteman Missile National Historic Site	9	D3
Mt Rushmore National Monument	10	B3
Red Cloud Heritage Center	11	C4
Wounded Knee Massacre Site	12	C4

SLEEPING
Cedar Pass Lodge	(see 1)
Spearfish Canyon Lodge	13	A2
Wakpamni B&B	14	C4

In the 1868 Fort Laramie Treaty, they were assured that the hills would be theirs for eternity, but the discovery of gold changed that and the Sioux were shoved out to low-value flatlands only six years later. Dances With Wolves covers some of this period.

You'll need several days to explore the area. Throughout are bucolic back-road drives, caves, bison herds, forests, Mt Rushmore and Crazy Horse monuments and outdoor activities (ballooning, cycling, rock climbing, boating, fishing, hiking, downhill skiing, gold-panning etc). Like fool's gold, gaudy tourist traps lurk in corners and keep things lively.

Orientation & Information

I-90 skirts the north of the Black Hills providing access to the gateway towns of Rapid City, Sturgis, Spearfish and Deadwood. US 385 (initially US 85), the Black Hills Pkwy, runs north–south the length of the hills; along with east–west US 16 (and US 16A) out of Rapid City, it provides access to the more scenically situated, but also more touristy and expensive, south Hills towns of Keystone, Hill City and Custer, plus most of the top attractions like Mt Rushmore and Custer State Park. No matter where you stay, nothing is more than a couple of hours away.

There are hundreds of hotels and campgrounds across the hills; still, during the summer, room rates shoot up like geysers and reservations are essential. Avoid visiting during the Sturgis motorcycle rally (p682) when hogs rule the roads and fill the rooms. Much is closed October to April.

Visitor centers and reservations:

Black Hills Central Reservations (☎ 866-601-5103; www.blackhillsvacations.com) Accommodation reservations and last-minute deals.

Black Hills Visitor Center (☎ 605-355-3700; www.blackhillsbadlands.com; I-90 exit 61, Rapid City; 🕘 8am-8pm summer, to 5pm rest of year)

Black Hills National Forest

The majority of the Black Hills lie within this 1875-sq-mile mixture of protected and logged forest, perforated by pockets of private land along most roads. The scenery is fantastic, whether you get deep into it along the 450 miles of hiking trails or just drive the many scenic byways and gravel fire roads. The 111-mile Centennial Trail meanders across the Black Hills linking Sturgis p682) to Wind Cave National Park (p685).

The 109-mile George S Mickelson Trail (www.mickelsontrail.com; daily/annual fee $3/15) cuts through much of the forest, running from Deadwood through Hill City and Custer to Edgemont on an abandoned railway line. There are bike rentals at various trailside towns.

The forest headquarters (☎ 605-673-9200; www.fs.fed.us/bhnf; 25041 US 16; 🕘 7:30am-5pm Mon-Fri) is in Custer and a modern summer-only visitor center (☎ 605-343-8755; US 385, near Hwy 44; 🕘 8:30am-6pm) sits on the Pactola Reservoir between Hill City and Rapid City.

Good camping abounds in the forest. There are 30 basic (no showers or electricity) campgrounds (☎ 877-444-6777; campsites free-$25) and backcountry camping is allowed just about anywhere (free; no open fires). Reservations are recommended during summer.

Rapid City

A worthy capital to the region, 'Rapid' has a beautiful, lively and walkable downtown. Well-preserved brick buildings, filled with quality shopping and dining, makes it a good urban base. Look for life-size statues of presidents throughout the center (Nixon is suitably shifty). The visitor center (☎ 866-727-4324; www.rapidcitycvb.com; 444 Mt Rushmore Rd; 🕘 8am-5pm Mon-Fri) is in the civic center.

SIGHTS

Looking like an ICBM launch site, the Journey Museum (☎ 605-394-6923; www.journeymuseum.org; 222 New York St; adult/child $7/free; 🕘 9am-6pm summer, 10am-5pm Mon-Sat, 1-5pm Sun rest of year) takes you on a trip through 2½ billion years of the history of the Black Hills with lots of space given to the Lakota Sioux and dinosaurs.

You can see more dinosaur bones and some stellar fossils at the Museum of Geology (☎ 605-394-2467; http://sdmines.sdsmt.edu/museum; 501 E St Joseph St, O'Harra Bldg; admission free; 🕘 9am-5pm Mon-Fri, 10am-5pm Sat, noon-5pm Sun summer, 9am-4pm Mon-Fri, 10am-4pm Sat rest of year) at the South Dakota School of Mines & Technology.

Two sure-fire hits with kids are the life-size concrete statues at Dinosaur Park (940 Skyline Dr; admission free; 🕘 6am-10pm; 👶) and the character-filled playground at Storybook Island (off Hwy 44 W; admission free; 🕘 9am-7pm summer; 👶).

SLEEPING & EATING

Indie motels line North St between I-90 and downtown and US16 south of town. Main St has scores of eateries and bars.

Gold Star Motel (☎ 605-341-7051, 800-681-7051; www.blackhillsmotels.com/rapidcity/goldstarmotel.html; 801 E North St; r $50-90; ☒ ❄ 📶) A classic yet clean 26-room motel on a shady site.

our pick Hotel Alex Johnson (☎ 605-342-1210, 800-888-2539; www.alexjohnson.com; 523 6th St; r $70-250; ❄ 💻 📶) The design of this 1927 classic magically blends Germanic Tudor architecture and traditional Lakota Sioux symbols – note the lobby's painted ceiling and the chandelier made of war lances. The 127 rooms are modern and quite comfortable but the real appeal here is that it hasn't been turned into a boutique hotel. Its timeless qualities include a portrait of guest Al Capone near the front desk.

our pick Tally's (☎ 605-342-7621; 530 6th St; meals $4-8; 🕒 7am-3pm Mon-Sat) With prices that don't seem to have changed since Reagan was president (his statue is out front), Tally's is not only a bargain but the food at this timeless coffee shop is superb.

Corn Exchange (☎ 605-343-5070; www.cornexchange.com; 727 Main St; mains $13-21; 🕒 5-9pm Tue-Sat; ☒) Seasonal menus, local and organic produce and a talented kitchen make this small bistro a standout. Dishes use simple preparations that emphasize the inherent flavors of the food. But don't get carried away: desserts are dreamy.

Firehouse Brewing Co (☎ 605-348-1915; 610 Main St; mains $5-12; 🕒 4pm-midnight) Microbrews and plenty of tasty pub grub are served year-round. In summer there's live music in the beer garden.

Sturgis

Fast food, Christian iconography and billboards for glitzy biker bars featuring dolled up models unlikely to ever be found on the back of a hog are just some of the cacophony of images of this tacky small town on I-90 (exits 30 and 32). Things get even louder for the annual Sturgis Motorcycle Rally (☎ 605-720-0800; www.sturgismotorcyclerally.com; 🕒 early Aug), when around 500,000 riders, fans and curious onlookers take over the town. Temporary campsites are set up and motels across the region unmuffle their rates. Check the rally website for vacancies. The chamber of commerce (☎ 605-347-2556; www.sturgis-sd.org; 2040 Junction Ave; 🕒 8am-5pm Mon-Fri) also has info.

The Sturgis Motorcycle Museum (☎ 605-347-2001; www.sturgismuseum.com; 999 Main St; adult/child $5/free; 🕒 9am-5pm Mon-Fri, to 4pm Sat & Sun) houses dozens of bikes, including many classics. A 'freedom fighters' exhibit honors those who have fought for the rights of bikers.

Spearfish

At the start of gorgeous Spearfish Canyon Scenic Byway (US 14A), Spearfish is lined with motels. The chamber of commerce (☎ 800-626-8013; www.spearfishchamber.org; 106 W Kansas; 🕒 8am-5pm Mon-Fri) has a self-guided tour of the byway and hiking trail maps.

Chain hotels cluster around I-90 exit 14 and aging indie motels are downtown. For a rural retreat, the Spearfish Canyon Lodge (☎ 605-584-3435, 877-975-6343; www.spfcanyon.com; US 14A; r from $150; ☒ ❄ 📶) is 13 miles south of Spearfish near trails and streams. The massive lobby fireplace adds charm and the 54 modern piney rooms are cozy.

Deadwood

'No law at all in Deadwood, is that true?' So began the eponymous HBO series. Today things have changed, although the glitzy gambling halls would no doubt put a sly grin on the faces of the hard characters who founded the town.

Settled illegally by eager gold rushers in the 1870s, Deadwood is now a National Historic Landmark. Its atmospheric streets are lined with gold rush-era buildings restored with casino dollars. Its storied past is easy to find (and surprisingly in-line with the TV series). There's eternal devotion to Wild Bill Hickok, who was shot in the back of the head here in 1876 while gambling.

SIGHTS

The splendid Deadwood History & Information Center (☎ 800-999-1876; www.deadwood.org; Pine St; 🕒 8am-7pm summer, 9am-5pm rest of year), in the restored train depot, has tons of info, plus exhibits and photos of the town's history. Ask about tours led by local history buffs. Downtown is walkable, but the fake trolley (per ride $1) can be handy for getting between attractions, hotels and parking lots.

Actors reenact famous shootouts (🕒 4pm & 6pm daily) on Main St during summer. Hickok's murder (🕒 1pm, 3pm, 5pm & 7pm) is acted out in Saloon No 10 (opposite). A trial (🕒 8pm) of the killer takes place in the Masonic Temple (Main St).

The Adams Museum (☎ 605-578-1714; www.adamsmuseumandhouse.org; 54 Sherman St; adult/child $7/2; 🕒 9am-5pm daily summer, 10am-4pm Tue-Sat rest of year) does an excellent job of capturing the town's colorful past.

Calamity Jane (born Martha Canary, 1850–1903) and Hickok (1847–76) rest side by side up on Boot Hill at the very steep Mount Moriah Cemetery (adult/child $1/50¢; ⏲ 8am-8pm summer, 8am-5pm rest of year). Entertaining bus tours ($8) leave hourly from Main St.

SLEEPING & EATING

Casinos offer up buffets with plenty of cheap chow. Wander the streets for better choices. There are scores of places to stay right in the center.

Deadwood Dick's (☎ 605-578-3224, 877-882-4990; www.deadwooddicks.com; 51 Sherman St; r $60-200) These homestyle and idiosyncratic rooms feature furniture from the owner's antique shop and range in size from small doubles to large suites with kitchens.

Bullock Hotel (☎ 605-578-1745, 800-336-1876; www.historicbullock.com; 633 Main St; r from $105; ❄ 📶) Fans of the TV show will recall the conflicted but upstanding sheriff Seth Bullock. This hotel was opened by the real Bullock in 1895. The 28 rooms are modern and comfortable while retaining the period charm of the building.

Saloon No 10 (☎ 605-578-3346; 657 Main St; ⏲ 8am-2am) Dark paneled walls and sawdust on the floor are features of this storied bar. The original, where Hickok literally lost big-time, stood across the street, but the building burned to the ground and the owners brought the bar over here.

Midnight Star (☎ 605-578-1555; 677 Main St) Owned by actor Kevin Costner, this attractive boozer has costumes and photos from his movies. The restaurant serves pricey steaks.

Lead

Just uphill from Deadwood, Lead (pronounced leed) has an unrestored charm and still bears plenty of scars from the mining era. Peek at the 1250ft-deep Homestake gold mine (☎ 605-584-3110; 160 W Main St; admission free; ⏲ 24hr) to see what open-pit mining can do to a mountain. Nearby are the same mine's shafts, which plunge more than 1.5 miles below the surface and are now being used for physics research.

The Main Street Manor Hostel (☎ 605-717-2044; www.mainstreetmanorhostel.com; 515 W Main St; dm $20-25; ⏲ closed Dec-Jan; ⊠ 📶) is a gem in its own right. Guests get use of the kitchen, garden and laundry at this very friendly place.

US 385

The scenic spine of the Black Hills, US 385 runs 90 miles from Deadwood to Hot Springs and beyond. Beautiful meadows and dark stands of conifers are interspersed with roadside attractions that include kangaroos, mistletoe and, of course, Elvis.

Hill City (www.hillcitysd.com) is an attractive old town with a certain dignity not found at places like Keystone. It's a good base in the hills and is the western terminus of the 1880 Train (☎ 866-367-1880; www.1880train.com; 222 Railroad Ave; adult/child round-trip $22/12; ⏲ May-Oct), a classic steam train running through rugged country to Keystone. The Lantern Inn (☎ 605-574-2582, 800-456-0520; www.lanterninn.com; 580 E Main St; r $55-130; ⊠ ❄ 📶 🏊) is an 18-room motel-style place spread over two stories fronting attractive grounds.

Mount Rushmore

Fans of North by Northwest may remember the charmingly piney and low-key visitor center where Cary Grant gets 'plugged.' That was then (1959). Today the public areas around Mt Rushmore seem devilishly designed to rob visitors of any enjoyment from their visit. Yes, the amazing mountainside sculpture is still there. George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Abraham Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt are each in their own 60ft-tall glory. But trying to appreciate one of the most iconic American images is just that: trying.

A bunker-like multilevel parking garage greets visitors followed by bombastic entrances that obscure the memorial. You pass through an over-wrought avenue of all 50 state flags before reaching a terrace, underneath which is the visitor center (☎ 605-574-3198; www.nps.gov/moru; admission free, parking $10; ⏲ 8am-

WHAT THE...?

Only four presidents on Mt Rushmore right? Well, maybe not. Nature may have provided a fifth. Drive 1.5 miles northwest from the Mt Rushmore parking entrance (away from Keystone) on Hwy 244 and look for a sheer rock face that's the backside of Mt Rushmore. Pull over safely and then decide just which president might be honored by the rather lurid shape on the rockface. Which head of state it represents may depend on your politics.

10pm summer, 8am-5pm rest of year). Displays here are aimed at short attention spans and give little feel for the massive physical effort of the team (led by sculptor Gutzon Borglum) who created the memorial between 1927 and 1941.

Fortunately, with a little walking, you can escape the crowds and commercialism and fully appreciate this magnificent work. The Presidential Trail loop leads near the monument for some fine nostril views and past the fascinating sculptors' studio. A nature trail to the right as you face the entrance connects the viewing and parking areas, passing through a pine forest.

Keystone

The nearest lodging and restaurants to Mt Rushmore are in Keystone, a one-time mining town now solely devoted to milking the monument. Gaudy motels vie with fudgeries for your attention.

Crazy Horse Memorial

The world's largest monument, the Crazy Horse Memorial (☎ 605-673-4681; www.crazyhorsememorial.org; US 385; person/carload $10/27; 🕑 7am-dusk summer, 8am-5pm rest of year) is, as author Ian Frazier describes, 'a ruin, only in reverse.' Onlookers at the 563ft-tall work-in-progress can gawk at what will be the Sioux leader astride his horse, pointing to the horizon saying, 'My lands are where my dead lie buried.'

Never photographed or persuaded to sign a meaningless treaty, Crazy Horse was chosen for a monument that Lakota Sioux elders hoped would balance the presidential focus of Mt Rushmore. In 1948 a Boston-born sculptor, the indefatigable Korczak Ziolkowski, started blasting granite. His family continue the work since his death in 1982. (It should also be noted that many Native Americans oppose the monument as desecration of sacred land.)

No one is predicting when the sculpture will be complete (the face was dedicated in 1998). A rather thrilling laser-light show that tells the story of the monument and what it represents is splashed across the rock face on summer evenings.

The huge visitor center includes a Native American museum, a cultural center where you can see artisans at work and Ziolkowski's studio. A bus ($4) takes you to the base of the mountain and during the Volksmarch (first weekend of June) you can climb up to the face.

You can sleep in a tipi in view of Crazy Horse's profile at the hokey but cute Heritage Village (☎ 605-673-5005; www.heritage-village.com; tent/tipi/cabin $16/23/42), 1 mile south.

SOUTH DAKOTA: DETOURS & EXTRAS

- Hwy 14 runs across the middle of the state, crossing I-29 at Brookings (exit 133), then west to Pierre (p678) and on to Wall (p679). It meanders through a sea of grassland under big skies colored by long sunsets stretching across the broad horizon.
- Historic Yankton, a county seat on the Missouri River, has a well-preserved old center with cafés and stores selling second-hand books.

Custer State Park

The only reason 111-sq-mile Custer State Park (☎ 605-255-4515; www.custerstatepark.info; 7-day pass per person/carload $5/12) isn't a national park is that the state grabbed it first. It boasts one of the largest free-roaming bison herds in the world (about 1500), the famous 'begging burros' (donkeys seeking handouts) and more than 200 species of bird. Other wildlife include elk, pronghorns, mountain goats, bighorn sheep, coyotes, prairie dogs, mountain lions and bobcats.

The Peter Norbeck Visitor Center (☎ 605-255-4464; US 16A; 🕑 8am-8pm summer, 9am-5pm rest of year), on the east side of the park, has good exhibits and offers activities like gold-panning demonstrations and guided nature walks. The nearby Black Hills Playhouse (☎ 605-255-4141; www.blackhillsplayhouse.com; tickets $20-25) hosts summer theater.

Meandering over awesome stone bridges and across sublime Alpine meadows, the 18-mile Wildlife Loop Rd and the incredible 14-mile Needles Hwy (SD 87) are two superb drives in the park. The latter links with US 385 at either end.

Hiking through the pine-covered hills and prairie grassland (keep an eye out for rattlesnakes) is a great way to see wildlife and rock formations. The Sylvan Lake Shore, Sunday Gulch, Cathedral Spires and French Creek Natural Area trails are all highly recommended. Another rewarding hike is up the state's tallest mountain, Harney Peak (7242 ft). Swimming, fishing and boating on the park's lakes and climbing on its jagged rock spires are also popular.

You can pitch a tent in eight campgrounds (☎ 800-710-2267; www.campsd.com; campsites $16-22) around the park. At four, you can rent a well-equipped camping cabin for $45 per night. Reservations are vital in summer.

Backcountry camping ($4 per person per night) is allowed in the French Creek Natural Area. The park also has four impressive resorts (☎ 800-658-3530; www.custerresorts.com) with a mix of lodge rooms and cabins starting at $95 and going much higher. Book well ahead. The town of Custer, the main gateway into the park, has plenty of hotels and restaurants.

Wind Cave National Park

This park, protecting 44 sq miles of grassland and forest, sits just south of Custer State Park. The central feature is, of course, the cave, which has 132 miles of mapped passages. The cave's foremost feature is its 'boxwork' calcite formations (95% of all that are known exist here), which look like honeycomb and date back 60 to 100 million years. The strong gusts, felt at the entrance, but not inside, give the cave its name. Call the visitor center (☎ 605-745-4600; www.nps.gov/wica; 🕑 8am-7pm summer, reduced hr rest of year) for details on the variety of tours (adult $7-23, child $3.50-4.50) offered.

Hiking is a popular activity in the park, where you'll find the southern end of the 111-mile Centennial Trail to Sturgis (see p682); the visitor center has good info. The campground (campsites $6-12) rarely fills and backcountry camping (free with permit) is allowed in limited areas.

Jewel Cave National Monument

Another of the Black Hills' many fascinating caves is Jewel Cave, 13 miles west of Custer on US 16, so named because calcite crystals line nearly all of its walls. Currently 145 miles have been surveyed, making it the second longest known cave in the world, but it is presumed to be the longest. Tours (☎ 605-673-8300; adult $4-27, child free-$4) range in length and difficulty; reservations are recommended. Make arrangements at the visitor center (☎ 605-673-2288; www.nps.gov/jeca; 🕑 8am-5:30pm). If you'll only visit one Black Hills cave, this would be a good choice.

Hot Springs

This surprisingly attractive town, south of the main Black Hills circuit, boasts ornate 1890s red sandstone buildings and warm mineral springs feeding the Fall River.

You can fill your waterbottles at Kidney Springs, just south of the visitor center (☎ 800-325-6991; www.hotsprings-sd.com; 630 N River St; 🕑 7am-7pm summer) or swim at Cascade Falls, which is 71°F (22°C) all year, 11 miles south on US 71. The water at Evans Plunge (☎ 605-745-5165; www.evansplunge.com; 1145 N River St; adult/child $11/9; 🕑 10am-9pm summer, reduced hr rest of year), a giant indoor geothermal springs waterpark, is always 87°F (30.5°C).

The remarkable Mammoth Site (☎ 605-745-6017; www.mammothsite.com; 1800 US 18 bypass; adult/child $7.50/5.50; 🕑 8am-8pm May 15-Aug 15, reduced hrs rest of year) is the country's largest left-as-found mammoth fossil display. Hundreds of animals perished in a sinkhole here about 26,000 years ago. In July you can join paleontologists digging for more bones.

Red Rock River Resort (☎ 605-745-4400, 800-306-8921; www.redrockriverresort.com; 603 N River St; r $85-170; ⁘) has cozy and stylish rooms in a beautiful 1891 downtown building plus spa facilities (day passes for nonguests $20).

NEBRASKA

Those who just see Nebraska as 480 miles of blandness along I-80 are missing out on a lot. The Cornhusker state (they do grow a lot of the stuff) has beautiful river valleys and an often stark bleakness that is entrancing. Its links to the past – from vast fields of dinosaur remains to Native American culture to the toils of hardy settlers – provides a dramatic storyline. Dotted with cute little towns, Nebraska's two main cities, Omaha and Lincoln, are vibrant and artful.

The key to enjoying this long stoic stretch of country is to take the little roads, whether it's US 30 instead of I-80, US 20 to the Black Hills or the lonely and magnificent US 2.

History

Lewis and Clark followed the Missouri along Nebraska's eastern fringe and met with Native Americans here in 1804. Some 20 years later, trappers latched onto the Platte River. Then in 1841, the first covered wagon passed through on its way to Oregon. The Platte Valley was soon swarming with hopeful settlers (around

NEBRASKA FACTS

Nickname Cornhusker State
Population 1.8 million
Area 77,360 sq miles
Capital city Lincoln (population 225,600)
Other cities Omaha (population 419,545)
Sales Tax 5.5%
Birthplace of dancer Fred Astaire (1899–1987), actors Marlon Brando (1924–2004) and Hilary Swank (b 1974), civil rights leader Malcolm X (1925–65)
Home of Air Force generals
Famous for only unicameral state legislature, corn
Official beverage milk
Driving distances Omaha to the Wyoming border on I-80 480 miles, Omaha to Kansas City 186 miles 400,000), all looking to start a new life in the mythical West.

Transcontinental railroads such as the Union Pacific made covered wagons irrelevant and the trail ruts succumbed to pasture as more settlers rushed in after the 1862 Homestead Act. The rich soils and abundant grasslands helped Nebraska develop into a productive agricultural state.

Information

Nebraska Association of Bed & Breakfasts (☎ 877-223-6222; www.nabb1.com)

Nebraska state parks (☎ 800-826-7275; www.outdoornebraska.org) Vehicle permits cost $4/21 per day/year. Some campsites at popular parks are reservable; fees overall range from $7 to $25 per night.

Nebraska Travel & Tourism Division (☎ 877-632-7275; www.visitnebraska.org)

OMAHA

Be careful if you're planning a quick pit-stop in Omaha. Home to the vibrant brick-and-cobblestoned Old Market neighborhood downtown, a lively music scene and several quality museums, this town can turn a few hours into a few days. After all, billionaire Warren Buffet lives here and when is he ever wrong?

Omaha grew to prominence as a transport hub. Its location on the Missouri River and proximity to the Platte made it an important stop on the Oregon, California and Mormon Trails, and later the Union Pacific Railroad stretched west from here. These days Omaha is in the nation's top 10 for billionaires and Fortune 500 companies per capita.

Information

City Weekly (www.omahacityweekly.com) Free weekly newspaper with a good entertainment calendar.

Visitor center (☎ 866-937-6624; www.visitomaha.com; 1001 Farnam St; 🕘 9am-6pm Mon-Sat) Has a good coffee bar.

Sights & Activities

It's easy to spend much of your Omaha visit in Old Market on the river edge of downtown. This revitalized warehouse district, full of nightclubs, restaurants and funky shops, easily holds its own when it comes to aesthetics, energy and sophistication. Nearby parks boast fountains and waterside walks.

The much-admired and architecturally imposing Joslyn Art Museum (☎ 402-342-3300; www.joslyn.org; 2200 Dodge St; adult/child $7/4; 🕘 10am-4pm Tue-Sat, noon-4pm Sun) houses a great collection of 19th- and 20th-century European and American art and has a good selection of Western-themed works plus a new sculpture garden.

Another landmark, the art-deco Union Station train depot, is now the Durham Museum (☎ 402-444-5071; www.durhammuseum.org; 801 S 10th St; adult/child $7/5; 🕘 10am-8pm Tue, 10am-5pm Wed-Sat, 1-5pm Sun). It covers local history from the Lewis and Clark expedition to the Omaha stockyards. The soda fountain still serves hot dogs and phosphates.

Across the river in Council Bluffs, Iowa, the Union Pacific Railroad Museum (☎ 712-329-8307; www.uprr.com; 200 Pearl St; admission by donation; 🕘 10am-4pm Tue-Sat) tells the story of the company that rammed the transcontinental railroad west from here in the 1860s and continues today as one of the world's busiest railways.

After WWII Omaha's Offutt Air Force Base was home to the US Air Force Strategic Air Command, the force of nuclear bombers detailed in Stanley Kubrick's Dr Strangelove. This legacy is documented at the cavernous Strategic Air & Space Museum (☎ 402-827-3100; www.strategicairandspace.com; I-80 exit 426, Ashland; adult/child $8.50/4; 🕘 9am-5pm), which boasts a huge collection of bombers, from the B-52 to the B-17. Don't expect exhibits looking at the wider implications of bombing. It's 30 miles southwest of Omaha, well within the kill radius of a 1-megaton bomb.

Sleeping

There is a good mix of midrange and budget hotels along US 275 near 60th St, at I-80 exits 445 and 449 and across the river in Council Bluffs, Iowa at I-29 exit 51.

Omaha Magnolia Hotel (☎ 402-341-2500, 888-915-1110; www.magnoliahotelomaha.com; 1615 Howard St; r $110-200; ✻ 💻 📶) Not far from Old Market, the Magnolia is a new boutique hotel housed in a gorgeous 1923 Italianate highrise. The 145 rooms have a vibrant, modern style. Rates include a full buffet breakfast and bedtime milk and cookies.

Embassy Suites Omaha (☎ 402-346-9000, 800-445-8667; 555 South 10th St; r $120-200; P ✻ 💻 📶 🏊) This large 249-room modern hotel is in the middle of Old Market. The rooms are of the usual large size for this chain and extras include a full breakfast.

Eating & Drinking

The best thing you can do is just wander Old Market and see what you find.

our pick Urban Wine Company (☎ 402-934-0005; 1037 Jones St; small plates $4-9; 🕒 3pm-late Tue-Sat, noon-9pm Sun; 🚭) A real Old Market find. Sample glasses from a vast wine list and enjoy dishes such as a smoked salmon platter and prosciutto lavosh. The sumptuous lobster bisque is $4(!).

Upstream Brewing Company (☎ 402-344-0200; 514 S 11th St; mains $10-30; 🕒 11am-1am; 🚭) In a big old firehouse, the beer here is also big on flavor. The Caesar salads have enough garlic to propel you over the Missouri to Iowa. Steaks are thick and up to local standards. There are sidewalk tables, a rooftop deck and a huge bar.

Mister Toad's (☎ 402-345-4488; 1002 Howard St; 🕒 noon-1am) Sit out front on benches under big trees or nab a corner table inside while you work through the beer and cocktail list. It's woodsy, worn and flirting with dive bar status. There's live jazz Sunday nights.

Getting There & Away

Amtrak's California Zephyr stops in Omaha on its run between Northern California and Chicago.

LINCOLN

Home to the historic Haymarket District and a lively bar scene thanks to the huge downtown campus of the University of Nebraska, Lincoln makes a good overnight stop. Nebraska's capital city is a very livable place and has more parks per capita than any other similarly sized US city.

The visitor center (☎ 800-423-8212; www.lincoln.org; 201 N 7th St, Haymarket; 🕒 9am-8pm Mon-Fri, 8am-2pm Sat, noon-4pm Sun) is inside Lincoln Station, where Amtrak's California Zephyr stops.

Sights & Activities

From the outside, Nebraska's remarkable 1932 400ft-high State Capitol (☎ 402-471-0448; 1445 K St; hourly tours free; 🕒 8am-5pm Mon-Fri, 10am-5pm Sat, 1-5pm Sun) represents the apex of phallic architecture (like many tall buildings in the Plains, it's often called the penis on the prairie), while the symbolically rich interior curiously combines classical and art-deco motifs. A 14th-floor observation deck is open to the public.

The Museum of Nebraska History (☎ 402-471-4754; www.nebraskahistory.org; 131 Centennial Mall N; admission free; 🕒 9am-4:30pm Mon-Fri, 1-4:30pm Sat & Sun) follows the Cornhusker State's story, starting with a large First Nebraskans room.

The University of Nebraska (www.unl.edu) has its main campus right downtown. The campus is as practical as a farmer and lacks real highlights but is an interesting stroll. However, you'll have more excitement than you can handle if you're in town on one of the six fall Saturdays when the Cornhuskers football team plays at home. Passions run high, especially as the team tries to overcome a recent streak of disappointments. The school lends much culture to Lincoln, including the following:

Sheldon Memorial Art Gallery (☎ 402-472-2461; www.sheldon.unl.edu; N 12th & R Sts; admission free; 🕒 10am-8pm Tue, to 5pm Wed-Sat, noon-5pm Sun) Focuses on American art from the 19th century to the present.

State Museum (☎ 402-472-2642; www.museum.unl.edu; N 14th & Vine Sts, Morrill Hall; adult/child $5/3; 🕒 9:30am-4:30pm Mon-Sat, 1:30-4:30pm Sun, to 8pm Thu) Covers natural history and anthropology with many hands-on dinosaur exhibits for children.

Sleeping

Most hotels are near I-80. Those around exit 403 are mostly midrange, while there are budget motels aplenty at exit 399.

Embassy Suites Hotel (☎ 402-474-1111, 800-362-2779; 1040 P St; ste incl breakfast from $129; P ✻ 💻 📶 🏊) This downtown Haymarket-handy hotel has 252 spacious rooms around a nine-story atrium. A full breakfast is included.

Anniversary Mansion B&B (☎ 402-438-4900, 877-907-4900; www.amansion.com; 1149 S 17th St; r $110-180;

Ⓟ ☒ ❄ 📶) One of several elegant B&Bs in old mansions near downtown and the capitol, this one was built in 1902 and has an opulent wood interior and a grand colonnaded exterior. Extras like a 24-hour pantry abound.

Eating & Drinking

Lincoln's Haymarket District, a rejuvenated six-block warehouse area dating from the early 20th century, has numerous cafés, restaurants, coffeehouses and bars. If you're after falafel sandwiches followed by beer and body shots, follow the undergrads down O St to 14th St.

our pick Indigo Bridge (☎ 402-477-7770; 701 P St, Haymarket; meals $0-5; 🕑 8am-10pm; ☒ 📶) Fantastic bookstore with a fine café serving coffees and snacks through the day. At lunch weekdays, enjoy hearty organic soup and bread and pay what you can afford.

Magnolia (☎ 402-477-5888; 301 N 8th St, Haymarket; mains $9-30; 🕑 11:30am-2pm, 5-9pm Mon-Sat; ☒) One of Lincoln's best restaurants features a varied menu of seasonal specials and hearty standards like steaks. There's a long list of veggie options and foods are sourced locally and are often organic. The owner is a gracious charmer.

ALONG I-80

Shortly after Lincoln, I-80 runs an almost razor-straight 83 miles before hugging the Platte River. Several towns along its route to Wyoming make up for its often monotonous stretches. Whenever possible, use US 30 which bounces from one interesting burg to the next (Gothenburg, exit 211 is especially attractive), following the busy Union Pacific (UP) mainline the entire way.

Grand Island

The amazing Stuhr Museum of the Prairie Pioneer (☎ 308-385-5316; www.stuhrmuseum.org; I-80 exit 312; adult/child $8/6; 🕑 9am-5pm Mon-Sat, noon-5pm Sun) combines museum exhibits with a vast outdoor living museum. Note how conditions dramatically improved from the homes in 1860 to 1890 thanks to riches made possible by the railroad.

Upstream of Grand Island, the Platte hosts 500,000 sandhill cranes (80% of the world population) and 15 million waterfowl during the spring migration (mid-February to early April). Wings Over the Platte Visitor Center (☎ 308-382-4400; www.wingsovertheplatte.com; I-80 exit 305; tours $8-30; 🕑 Mar-Apr) is a good place to break out the binoculars.

Kearney

The Great Platte River Road Archway Monument (☎ 877-511-2724; www.archway.org; adult/child $10/3; 🕑 9am-6pm summer, 9am-4pm rest of year) arches unexpectedly over I-80 east of Kearney near exit 272. The multimedia exhibits tell an engaging story of the people who've passed this way, from those riding wagon trains to those zipping down the Interstate.

Like all the I-80 towns, Kearney has no shortage of motels. The compact downtown, near US 30, has good cafés and bars including Platte River Brewery (☎ 308-237-0751; 14 E Railroad St; mains $4-10; 🕑 noon-midnight), which has a beer garden over-looking the busy UP mainline.

North Platte

North Platte, a rail-fan mecca, is home to the Buffalo Bill Ranch State Historical Park (☎ 308-535-8035; www.ngpc.state.ne.us/parks; carload $4; 🕑 9am-5pm daily summer, 9am-4pm Mon-Fri Apr-May & Sep-Oct), 2 miles north of US 30. Once the home of Bill Cody, the father of rodeo and the famed Wild West Show, it's now a fun museum that reflects his colorful life.

Enjoy sweeping views of Union Pacific's Bailey Yard, the world's largest rail classification yard, from the Golden Spike Tower (☎ 308-532-9920; 1249 N Homestead Rd; adult/child $6/4; 🕑 9am-7pm Mon-Sat, from 1pm Sun summer, to 5pm rest of year), an eight-story observation tower with indoor and outdoor decks. From I-80, take exit 177.

ALONG US 20

The further west you go on US 20, the more space you'll see between towns, trees and pickup trucks. The western side of the

SCENIC DRIVE: HIGHWAY 2

Nebraska's Hwy 2 branches northwest from I-80 and Grand Island through Broken Bow 272 miles to Alliance in the panhandle. It crosses the lonely and lovely Sandhills – 19,000 sq miles of sand dunes covered in grass – one of the country's most isolated areas. With the wind whistling in your ears, the distant call of a hawk and the biggest skies imaginable, this is pure iconic Great Plains travel.

NEBRASKA: DETOURS & EXTRAS

- Carhenge (☎ 308-762-1520; www.carhenge.com; Alliance; admission free) is a Stonehenge replica assembled from 38 discarded cars. The faithful reproduction, along with other car-part art, rises out of a field 3 miles north of town along Hwy 87, east of US 385, the road to the Black Hills.
- Scotts Bluff National Monument has been a beacon to travelers for centuries. Rising 800 feet above the flat plains of western Nebraska, it was an important waypoint on the Oregon Trail in the mid-19th century. You can still see wagon ruts today in the park. The visitor center (☎ 308-436-9700; www.nps.gov/scbl; Gering; per vehicle $5; 🕒 8am-7pm summer, to 5pm other times) has displays and can guide you to walks and drives. It's off US 26 south of Scottsbluff town.
- Here's Johnny! Norfolk, a mid-sized town in eastern Nebraska at the junction of US 81 and 275, was home to America's most popular late-night TV entertainer. The Elkhorn Valley Museum (☎ 402-371-3886; www.elkhornvalleymuseum.org; 515 Queen City Blvd; adult/child $6/3; 🕒 10am-5pm Tue-Sat) traces Johnny Carson's career.

road, known as the Bridges to Buttes Byway, is very beautiful.

Royal

Watch paleontologists work at Ashfall Fossil Beds (☎ 402-893-2000; www.ashfall.unl.edu; 86930 517th Ave; adult/child $5/3 plus vehicle permit $4; 🕒 9am-5pm Mon-Sat, 11am-5pm Sun, reduced hr May & Sep–mid-Oct), 8 miles northwest of town. You can see unearthed prehistoric skeletons of hundreds of animals, including rhinoceroses, buried 12 million years ago by ash from a Pompeii-like explosion in what is now Idaho.

Valentine

'America's Heart City' sits on the edge of the Sandhills and is a great base for canoeing, kayaking and inner-tubing the winding canyons of the federally protected Niobrara River (☎ 402-376-1901; www.nps.gov/niob). The river crosses the Fort Niobrara National Wildlife Refuge (☎ 402-376-3789; www.fws.gov/fortniobrara), home to hundreds of bison and elk plus a few waterfalls.

The hearts-and-flowers-themed visitor center (☎ 402-376-2969; www.visitvalentine.com; 253 N Main St; 🕒 9am-7pm Mon-Sat summer, 9am-5pm Mon-Fri rest of year) can steer you to one of many local outfitters for a river adventure.

Twenty miles south of town, the Valentine National Wildlife Refuge (☎ 402-376-1889; Hwy 83) has some superb Sandhills scenery and lots of lakes.

The classic red-brick Trade Winds Motel (☎ 402-376-1600, 888-376-1601; www.tradewindslodge.com; US 20 & 83; r $60-85; ❄ 📶 🏊) has 32 comfy and clean rooms with fridges and microwaves.

Northern Panhandle

Get a feel for the tough lives led by early residents at the Museum of the Fur Trade (☎ 308-432-3843; www.furtrade.org; adult/child $5/free; 🕒 8am-5pm May-Oct), 3 miles east of Chadron, which includes the restored sod-roofed Bordeaux Trading Post, which swapped pelts for guns, blankets and whiskey from 1837 to 1876.

Fort Robinson State Park (☎ 308-665-2900; admission per vehicle $4; 🕒 sunrise-sunset), 4 miles west of Crawford, is where Crazy Horse was killed in 1877 while in captivity.

At Harrison, detour 23 miles south on pastoral Hwy 29 to reach Agate Fossil Beds National Monument (☎ 308-668-2211; www.nps.gov/agfo; person/carload $3/5; 🕒 8am-6pm summer, 8am-4pm rest of year), a rich source of unusual fossils dating back 20 million years. The Native American artifact display is small but excellent.

KANSAS

Wicked witches and yellow-brick roads, hot-air balloons over fields of sunflowers and tornadoes powerful enough to pulverize entire towns are some of the gaudier images of Kansas. But the common image – amber waves of grain from north to south and east to west is closer to reality. But there's much more to the state than 13 billion loaves of bread and strands of spaghetti in the making.

There's a simple beauty to the green rolling hills and limitless horizons. Places such as Chase County beguile those who value

CHASING THE BIG BLOW

Much of the Great Plains is prone to severe weather, including violent thunderstorms, hail the size of softballs, spectacular lightening storms and more. But the real stars of these metrological nightmares are tornados. Far less benign than the cyclones that carried Dorothy off to Oz, tornados cause death and destruction from the Great Plains east across the central US. With winds of 300 mph or more, tornadoes are both awesome and terrifying. Still, each year many people visit the region hoping to spot a funnel cloud, drawn by the sheer spectacle and elemental drama.

Tour companies use gadget-filled vans to chase storms across multiple states, with no guarantee that you'll actually see a storm. Costs average $200 to $400 a day and May to August offer the best spotting. Operators include: Cloud 9 Tours (☎ 405-323-1145; www.cloud9tours.com), Silver Lining Tours (☎ 832-717-4712; www.silverliningtours.com) and Tempest Tours (☎ 817-274-9313; www.tempesttours.com).

For a completely over-hyped look at the world of storm spotters – in the best Hollywood tradition – check out the 1996 movie Twister. Read the recollections of veteran tornado chaser Roger Hill in Hunting Nature's Fury.

understatement. Gems abound, from the amazing space museum in Hutchinson to the indie music clubs of Lawrence. Most importantly, follow the Great Plains credo of ditching the interstate for the two-laners and make your own discoveries. The website, www.kansassampler.org, is a brilliant resource for finding the best the state has to offer.

History

Kansas' history has been pretty tumultuous. The state played a key role in sparking the Civil War when the Kansas–Nebraska Act of 1854 allowed settlers in these territories to vote on whether slavery would exist in each state. Immediately, swarms of settlers on both sides of the question flooded the territories, hoping to swing the vote in their favor. Election fraud was rampant and clashing views led to widespread violence. Known as 'Bleeding Kansas,' this volatile era lasted until January 1861, when Kansas was admitted as a free state. The Civil War began 10 weeks later.

Growing pains continued: early settlers wiped out herds of bison and expelled the Native Americans (even the state's namesake Kansa relocated to Oklahoma in 1873). Before long – partly due to prohibitionist Carrie Nation, who swept through Kansas in 1900 wielding her axe against the evils of drink – the Sunflower State was transformed from rip-roaring open range into some of the world's most productive wheatlands. The children of Mennonites who emigrated from the steppes of Russia during the 1870s brought with them handfuls of the now-famous 'Turkey Red' wheat, which made itself thoroughly at home.

Over the last decade religious fanatics in Kansas have fought to teach creationism in schools instead of evolution. However, for the time being, biology curriculums still only contain science.

Information

Kansas Bed & Breakfast Association (☎ 888-572-2632; www.kbba.com)

Kansas state parks (☎ 620-672-5911; www.kdwp.state.ks.us) Per vehicle per day/year $4.20/24.70. Campsites cost $7.50 to $11.

Kansas Travel & Tourism (☎ 785-296-2009; www.travelks.com)

WICHITA

From its early cowtown days at the head of the Chisholm Trail in the 1870s to its current claim as Air Capital of the World (thanks to about half the world's general aviation aircraft being built here by the likes of Cessna et al.), Kansas' largest city has always been a prosperous place. It's a worthwhile stopover but not at the expense of the rest of the state.

Orientation & Information

Wichita's historic, all-brick Old Town, good for shopping, eating and drinking, is on the east side of downtown while the park-like Museums on the River district fills a triangle of green space between the Big and Little Arkansas Rivers to the west.

The visitor center (☎ 800-288-9424; www.visitwichita.com; 100 S Main; ⌚ 8am-5pm Mon-Fri) is geared towards conventions.

Sights

The Museums on the River district includes the first three places in the following section plus botanical gardens and a science museum aimed at kids.

Guarded by Wichita artist Blackbear Bosin's 44-foot statue 'Keeper of the Plains,' the Mid-America All-Indian Center (☎ 316-262-5221; www.theindiancenter.org; 650 N Seneca St; adult/child $7/3; 🕑 10am-4pm Tue-Sat) has exhibits of Native American art and artifacts and a traditional Wichita-style grass lodge.

The Wichita Art Museum (☎ 316-268-4921; www.wichitaartmuseum.org; 1400 W Museum Blvd; adult/child $5/2, free Sat; 🕑 10am-5pm Tue-Sat, noon-5pm Sun) is home to a good collection of American art, including pieces by Frederick Remington and Mary Cassatt.

Old Cowtown (☎ 316-660-1871; www.oldcowtown.org; 1865 Museum Blvd; adult/child $8/5.50; 🕑 10am-5pm Fri, Sat & Mon, noon-5pm Sun Jun-Oct; 👶) is an open-air museum that recreates the Wild West (as seen on TV…). Pioneer-era buildings, staged gunfights and guides in cowboy costumes thrill kids.

With a complete T-Rex, Egyptian mummies, Greek pottery, Abraham Lincoln's walking cane, military relics, a sports hall of fame and much more, Old Town's Museum of World Treasures (☎ 888-700-1311; www.worldtreasures.org; 835 E 1st St; adult/child $9/7; 🕑 10am-5pm Mon-Sat, noon-5pm Sun) has something for everyone.

Sleeping

Hotbeds for chains include I-135 exit 1AB, I-35 exit 50 and the Hwy 96 Rock Rd and Webb Rd exits. Broadway north of the center offers a mixed bag of indie cheapies.

Cambridge Suites (☎ 316-263-1061, 866-822-6274; www.cambridge-suites.com; 711 S Main St; r $80-140; Ⓟ ❄ 📶 🏊) On the south edge of downtown, suites here range up to two-bedroom in size and have kitchens. It's modern and commodious, perfect for families or quarreling couples.

Hotel at Old Town (☎ 316-267-4800, 877-265-3869; www.hotelatoldtown.com; 830 1st St; r $120-200; Ⓟ ❄ 💻 📶) In the midst of nightlife, this restored 1906 hotel is the pick compared to some nearby upscale chains. All rooms are suites and have kitchenettes.

Eating & Drinking

Wichita is the home of Pizza Hut, but that's far from the pinnacle of the city's dining options. For some real-deal Mexican or Vietnamese, drive north on Broadway and take your pick. Old Town has a fun Farmers Market (🕑 7am-noon Sat May-Oct).

Nu Way Cafe (☎ 316-267-1131; 1416 W Douglas Ave; mains $2-5; 🕑 11am-9pm) Frosty glasses of homemade root beer are among the highlights at this west-of-downtown outlet of a beloved Wichita chain. Old-style Formica is a backdrop for delicate onion rings, loose meat sandwiches and much more.

our pick Doc's Steak House (☎ 316-264-4735; 1515 N Broadway; mains $5-12; 🕑 11am-9pm) Once owned by the brother of the genius that started Wall Drugs (p679), this local institution is home to the wildly addictive garlic salad (trust us, plunge in, order a double). Steaks, chicken-fried steak and pork chops are amazing bargains.

Club Indigo (☎ 316-265-6760; 126 N Mosley; 🕑 4pm-late) A vibey Old Town joint popular with local scenesters (such as they are); the rooftop deck is a fine place for a frilly cocktail on a balmy evening.

ALONG I-70

What it lacks in glamour, Kansas' 420-mile 'Main Street' makes up for in efficiency, quickly shuttling you from Kansas City to the Colorado border. The scenery can be monotonous, but there are many interesting stops along the way. West of Salina, the landscape around I-70 stretches into rolling, wide-open plains, with winds sometimes strong enough to knock over 18-wheelers. US 50 (p694) and US 56 (p694) are intriguing alternatives.

KANSAS FACTS

Nickname Sunflower State

Population 2.8 million

Area 82,282 sq miles

Capital city Topeka (population 122,400)

Other cities Wichita (population 357,698)

Sales Tax 5.3%

Birthplace of aviator Amelia Earhart (1897–1937), temperance crusader Carrie Nation (1846–1911), TV talker Dr Phil (b 1950), Pizza Hut (established 1958), singer-songwriter Melissa Etheridge (b 1961)

Home of Dorothy and Toto (of Wizard of Oz fame)

Famous for wheat

Official state song 'Home on the Range'

Driving distances Wichita to Kansas City 200 miles, Dodge City to Abilene 188 miles

KANSAS: DETOURS & EXTRAS

- Nicodemus is the only surviving town in the west built by emancipated slaves from the south after the Civil War. A national park visitor center (☎ 785-839-4233; www.nps.gov/nico; admission free; 🕑 8:30am-5pm) recounts the town's history and the experience of African Americans in the west. The town is on US 24 about 35 miles north of I-70 via US 183 or US 283.
- Monument Rocks are 80ft-tall pyramid-shaped chalk formations that look like a Jawa hangout in Star Wars. Go 25 miles southeast of Oakley via US 83 off I-70 exit 76.
- Lindsborg flaunts its Swedish roots while brick streets and lots of art galleries boost the appeal. The Old Mill Museum (☎ 785-227-3595; 120 Mill St; adult/child $2/1; 🕑 9am-5pm Mon-Sat, 1-5pm Sun) is inside an 1898 flour mill. Enjoy lots of dishes made with berries in summer. The town is just west of I-135 exit 72.
- Legendary fried chicken is a hallmark of six restaurants in far southeastern Crawford County. Try Chicken Mary's (☎ 620-231-9510; 1133 E 600th Ave, Pittsburg; meals from $6; 🕑 11am-8pm), which isn't far from where Route 66 crosses into Kansas.

Lawrence

Lawrence, 40 miles west of Kansas City, has been an oasis of progressive politics from the start. Founded by abolitionists in 1854 and an important stop on the Underground Railroad, it became a battlefield in the clash between pro- and antislavery factions. In 1863, the Missouri 'Bushwhackers' of William Clarke Quantrill raided Lawrence, killing nearly 200 people and burning much of it to the ground. The city survived, however, and so did its free-thinking spirit, which is fitting for the home of the University of Kansas (KU; www.ku.edu).

The Visitor Information Center (☎ 888-529-5267; www.visitlawrence.com; 402 N 2nd St; 🕑 8:30am-5:30pm Mon-Sat, 1-5pm Sun summer, 9am-5pm Mon-Sat, 1-5pm Sun rest of year) offers self-guided and iPod tours of Lawrence's antislavery heritage and sites.

The walkable downtown, where townies and students merge, centers on Massachusetts Street, one of the most pleasant streets in this part of the country for a stroll. KU's Spencer Museum of Art (☎ 785-864-4710; www.spencerart.ku.edu; 1301 Mississippi St; admission free; 🕑 10am-4pm Tue-Sat, noon-4pm Sun, to 8pm Thu) isn't large, but has a collection encompassing work by Western artist Frederic Remington and many European masters.

SLEEPING & EATING

Lawrence's motels cluster at the junction of US 40 and US 59 south of I-70.

Halcyon House B&B (☎ 785-841-0314, 888-441-0314; www.thehalcyonhouse.com; 1000 Ohio St; r $55-99; P ⊠ ✣ 📶) The nine cute bedrooms (some share bathrooms) have lots of natural light, and there's a landscaped garden and home-made baked goods for breakfast. Downtown is a short walk.

Eldridge Hotel (☎ 785-749-5011, 800-527-0909; www.eldridgehotel.com; 701 Massachusetts St; r from $140; P ⊠ ✣ 💻 📶) The modern two-room suites at this historic 1926 downtown hotel have antique-style furnishings. The bar and restaurant are stylish; the ghost misunderstood (rumors abound).

our pick Local Burger (☎ 785-856-7827; 714 Vermont St; mains $4-8; 🕑 11am-9pm Mon-Sat, 11am-8pm Sun; ⊠) Just like Lawrence meeting Kansas, New Age meets the burger joint here. The veggie burger is amazing and there are scores of healthy and organic options. But you can also chow down on a damn fine bacon cheeseburger.

Free State Brewing (☎ 785-843-4555; 636 Massachusetts St; mains $6-15; 🕑 11am-late) One of many good places en masse downtown, this is the first brewery in Kansas since Carrie Nation got one closed in 1880. A cut above brew-pub standards, the beers are excellent. The food is much-loved as well, leaning towards cheesy thirst-inducing classics.

The music scene is up to college town standards and the Bottleneck (☎ 785-841-5483; www.bottlenecklive.com; 737 New Hampshire) usually has the best of the newest.

Topeka

Kansas and its vital role in America's race relations is symbolized in the otherwise humdrum state capital of Topeka.

It took real guts to challenge the segregationist laws common in the US in the 1950s and the stories of these courageous men and women are told at the Brown vs Board of Education National Historic Site (☎ 785-354-4273; www.nps.gov/brvb; 1515 SE Monroe St; admission free; 🕒 9am-5pm). It's set in Monroe Elementary School, one of Topeka's African American schools at the time of the landmark 1954 Supreme Court decision that banned segregation in US schools. Displays cover the whole Civil Rights movement.

The city's visitor center (☎ 800-235-1030; www.visittopeka.travel; 1275 SW Topeka Blvd; 🕒 8am-5pm Mon-Thu, 8am-4:30pm Fri) can guide you to other sites that include the domed, DC-wannabe State Capitol (☎ 785-296-3966; 300 SW 10th St; 🕒 8am-5pm daily, tours 9am-3pm Mon-Fri). Don't miss the fiery John Steuart Curry mural of abolitionist John Brown.

From a Cheyenne war lance to Carrie Nation's hammer, the engaging Kansas History Center (☎ 785-272-8681; www.kshs.org; 6425 SW 6th Ave; adult/child $5/3; 🕒 9am-5pm Tue-Sat, 1-5pm Sun) is packed with stories of the state.

Abilene

In the late 19th century, Abilene was a rowdy cowtown at the end of the Chisholm Trail. Today its compact core of historic brick buildings and well-preserved residential neighborhoods seems perfectly appropriate for the birthplace of Dwight D Eisenhower (1890–1969), president and WWII general.

The visitor center (☎ 800-569-5915; www.abilenekansas.org; 201 NW 2nd St; 🕒 8am-6pm Mon-Sat, 10am-4pm Sun summer, reduced hr rest of year) has free samples of Mamie Eisenhower's sugar cookies.

The Eisenhower Center (☎ 785-263-6700; www.dwightdeisenhower.com; 200 SE 4th St; museum adult/child $8/1, other sites free; 🕒 8am-5:45pm summer, 9am-4:45pm rest of year) includes Ike's boyhood home, a museum and library, and his and Mamie's graves. Displays will help you put the Eisenhower era (1953–61) and its formative role for modern America in context.

The Brookville Hotel (☎ 785-263-2244; meals $14; 🕒 11am-2pm & 4-7.30pm Wed-Sun) has been serving fried chicken since Ike graduated from West Point (1915). Cream-style corn, fresh biscuits and much more come with every meal.

Lucas

'Outsider art,' meaning works created outside the bounds of traditional culture, has blossomed in tiny Lucas. Samuel Dinsmoor began it all in 1907 by filling his yard with enormous concrete sculptures espousing his eccentric philosophies. His Garden of Eden (☎ 785-525-6395; www.garden-of-eden-lucas-kansas.com; 301 2nd St; adult/child $6/1; 🕒 10am-5pm May-Oct, 1-4pm Mar-Apr, 1-4pm Sat & Sun Nov-Feb) is visible from the sidewalk, but paid admission lets you hear some wonderful stories and see his remains in a glass-topped coffin.

The phenomenal Grassroots Art Center (☎ 785-525-6118; www.grassrootsart.net; 213 S Main St; adult/child $6/2; 🕒 10am-5pm Mon-Sat, 1-5pm Sun May-Sep, 10am-4pm Mon & Thu-Sat, 1-4pm Sun Oct-Apr) has gathered works made of materials such as buttons, barbed wire, pull-tabs and strange machines by self-taught, self-motivated artists from around Kansas.

The best way to reach Lucas is along the Post Rock Scenic Byway, a scenic 18-mile jaunt past Wilson Lake starting at exit 206.

Hays

The town of Hays grew up around its namesake fort, built in the 1860s to protect railroad workers from Native Americans, but most people stop today for a look much further into the past at the domed Sternberg Museum of Natural History (☎ 877-332-1165; www.fhsu.edu/sternberg; 3000 Sternberg Dr; adult/child $8/5; 🕒 9am-7pm

WORTH THE TRIP: HUTCHISON

Possibly the most surprising sight in Kansas, the amazing Cosmosphere & Space Center (☎ 800-397-0330; www.cosmo.org; 1100 N Plum St; all-day pass adult/child $13/10.50, museum only $8/7.50; 🕒 9am-9pm Mon-Sat, noon-9pm Sun summer, closing 6pm Sun-Thu rest of year) captures the race to the moon better than any museum on the planet. Absorbing displays and artifacts like the Apollo 13 command module will enthrall you for hours.

All puns aside, the museum's isolated location in Hutchinson might as well be the Moon, but if you're making a day trip from Witchita or just stopping off in this small city of huge grain elevators, see what flour can do in the homemade tortillas at Anchor Inn (☎ 620-669-0311; 128 S Main St; meals $5-9; 🕒 11am-8pm), a family-run Mexican restaurant that draws people from several counties to its fresh fare.

Tue-Sat, 1-7pm Sun). It houses many unusual fossils, including its famous fish-within-a-fish, and animated dinosaurs.

ALONG US 50

Fabled US 50 splits off from I-35 at Emporia and follows the old Santa Fe mainline west through classic Kansas vistas. Along the way it passes through two places no Kansas visitor should miss.

Chase County

Nearly a perfect square, this is the county William Least Heat-Moon examined mile by mile in his best-selling Prairyerth.

The beautiful Flint Hills roll through here and are home to two-thirds of the nation's remaining tallgrass prairie. The 10,894-acre Tallgrass Prairie National Preserve (☎ 620-273-8494; www.nps.gov/tapr; admission free; 🕑 9am-4:30pm), 2 miles northwest of Strong City and US 50, is a perfect place to hike the prairie and revel in its ever-changing colorful flowers. Rangers offer tours of the preserved ranch and bus tours (adult/child $5/3; 🕑 11am, 1pm & 3pm May-Oct) of the prairie.

The rangers also have maps of some evocative remote drives in the county as well as a tour of sights on Moon's book. Don't miss the show-stopping County Courthouse in Cottonwood Falls, 2 miles south of Strong City. Completed in 1873, it is a fantasy of French Renaissance style.

ALONG US 56

US 56 follows the old Santa Fe Trail to Dodge City through the heart of the heartland. Most sights along here are also easily reached from US 50.

The large Mennonite communities around Hillsboro are descendants of Russian immigrants who brought the 'Turkey Red' strain of wheat to the Plains, where it thrived despite harsh conditions. The Mennonite Settlement Museum (☎ 620-947-3775; www.hillsboro-museums.com; 501 S Ash St; adult/child $3/1; 🕑 10am-noon & 1:30-4pm Tue-Fri, 2-4pm Sat & Sun, closed Jan-Feb) preserves a Russian clay brick house, one-room schoolhouse and replica windmill.

A further 110 miles west in Larned, the Santa Fe Trail Center Museum (☎ 620-285-2054; www.santafetrailcenter.org; 1349 Hwy 156; adult $4, child $1.50-2.50; 🕑 9am-5pm, closed Mon Sep-May) details the vital route linking the US and Mexico for much of the 19th century. Six miles west of town on Hwy 156, Fort Larned National Historic Site (☎ 620-285-6911; www.nps.gov/fols; admission free; 🕑 8:30am-4:30pm) is a remarkably well-preserved Santa Fe Trail fort.

Dodge City

Dodge City, where famous lawmen Bat Masterson and Wyatt Earp tried, sometimes successfully, to keep law and order, had a notorious reputation during the 1870s and 1880s. The long-running TV series Gunsmoke (1955–75) spurred tourism and big crowds have got the heck into Dodge ever since. Geared towards families, historical authenticity here plays a distant second fiddle to fun and frolic.

Tours (adult/child $6/4; 🕑 9:30am, 10:45am, 1:30pm & 3pm summer) on fake trolleys start at the visitor center (☎ 800-653-9378; www.visitdodgecity.org; 400 W Wyatt Earp Blvd; 🕑 8am-6:30pm summer, 8:30am-5pm Mon-Fri Sep-Apr). Expect to hear a lot of well-spun apocryphal yarns. Self-guided audio

ROUTE 66: GET YOUR KICKS IN KANSAS

Only 13 miles of Route 66 pass through the southeast corner of Kansas, but it's a good drive.

The first town you hit after Joplin, Galena, has been in the decline since even before the last of the area's lead and zinc mines closed in the 1970s.

Three miles down the road is Riverton, where you might consider a detour 20 miles north to Pittsburg for some famous fried chicken (p692).

Cross US 400 and stay on old Route 66 to the 1923 Marsh Rainbow Arch Bridge, the last of its kind.

From the bridge, it's less than 3 miles south to Baxter Springs, the site of a Civil War massacre and numerous bank robberies. The multifaceted Baxter Springs Heritage Center (☎ 620-856-2385; www.baxterspringsmuseum.org; 740 East Ave; admission free; 🕑 10am-4:30pm Mon-Sat, 1-4:30pm Sun Apr-Oct, closed Mon-Wed Nov-Mar) has helped restore a 1939 Phillips 66 gas station into the Kansas Route 66 Visitor Center (☎ 620-856-2066; 🕑 10am-5pm Mon-Sat). Military Ave (US 69A) takes you into Oklahoma.

tours and free maps let you visit on your own schedule.

The studio-backlot-like Boot Hill Museum (☎ 620-227-8188; www.boothill.org; adult/child summer $8/7.50, rest of year $7/6.50; ⏰ 8am-8pm summer, 9am-5pm Sep-Apr) includes a cemetery, jail and saloon, where gunslingers re-enact high-noon shootouts while Miss Kitty and her dancing gals do the cancan.

Escape the schmaltz and view surviving Santa Fe Trail wagon-wheel ruts about 9 miles west of town on US 50. The site is well marked.

Chain and indie motels line Business US 50, aka Wyatt Earp Blvd.

OKLAHOMA

Oklahoma gets its name from the Choctaw name for 'Red People.' One look at the state's vividly red earth and you'll wonder if the name is more of a sartorial than an ethnic comment. Still, with 39 tribes located here, it is a place with deep Native American significance. Museums, cultural displays and more abound.

The other side of the Old West coin, cowboys, also figure prominently in the Sooner State. Although pickups have replaced horses, there's still a great sense of the open range, interrupted only by urban Oklahoma City and Tulsa. Oklahoma's share of Route 66 (see p696) links some of the Mother Road's iconic highlights and there are myriad atmospheric old towns. And just when it seems the vistas go on forever, mountains in the south and far west add texture.

History

Early on, Wichita, Arapaho, Comanche and Osage people populated or used this land. By 1834 it (minus the panhandle) had been declared autonomous Indian Territory and tribes from across the nation were relocated here, often at gunpoint. In one of the most dramatic examples, more than 4000 of 15,000 Cherokee perished of cold and hunger while marching the 'Trail of Tears' to the territory in the winter of 1838–39.

In the 1880s, before the US gave the go-ahead to take over Native American lands yet again, eager homesteaders (Sooners) crossed territory lines to stake claims. That's right: the Sooner State is named for lawbreakers. In April 1889, settlement to non–Native Americans was officially opened and towns emerged overnight in the Great Land Rush.

Statehood in 1907 was followed by another boom when oil was discovered in the 1920s, but the Depression and soil erosion hurt the state badly. Thousands of 'Okie' farmers migrated west on Route 66 to find a better life. The state's agricultural industry eventually rebounded, due to greater care for the fragile Plains environment. The oil and gas industries continue to be major employers.

OKLAHOMA FACTS

Nickname Sooner State
Population 3.65 million
Area 69,900 sq miles
Capital city Oklahoma City (population 550,000)
Other cities Tulsa (population 382,872)
Sales Tax 4.5%
Birthplace of humorist Will Rogers (1879–1935), athlete Jim Thorpe (1888–1953), folk musician Woody Guthrie (1912–67), parking meters (invented 1935), actor Brad Pitt (b 1963)
Home of the band Flaming Lips
Famous for 1930s dust bowl, Carrie Underwood
Official state meal okra, chicken fried steak and 10 more dishes
Driving distances Oklahoma City to Tulsa 104 miles, Kansas to Texas following historic Route 66 426 miles

Information

Oklahoma Bed & Breakfast Association (☎ 866-676-5522; www.oklabedandbreakfast.com)
Oklahoma Dept of Tourism (☎ 800-652-6552; www.travelok.com)
Oklahoma state parks (☎ 800-654-8240; www.touroklahoma.com) Most parks are free for day-use; campsites average $10 per night, cabins are more. Campsites cost $10 to $26 per night; some are reservable.

OKLAHOMA CITY

Often abbreviated to OKC, Oklahoma City is nearly dead-center in the state and is the cultural and political capital. It has worked hard over the years to become more than just a cowtown, all without turning its back on its cowboy heritage. It makes a good pause on your Route 66 travels and has numerous attractions plus good restaurants that offer more than just chicken fried steak.

ROUTE 66: GET YOUR KICKS IN OKLAHOMA

Oklahoma's connection with America's Main Street runs deep: the road's chief proponent, Cyrus Avery, came from here; John Steinbeck's Grapes of Wrath told of the plight of Depression-era Okie farmers fleeing west on Route 66; and Oklahoma has more miles of the original alignment than any other state. The Oklahoma Route 66 Association (www.oklahomaroute66.com) puts out an excellent 88-page booklet that you can pick up from most visitor centers along the road or download off the web. It's vital because so many of the brown-and-white Historic Route 66 signs have been stolen for souvenirs and the original road goes by a variety of monikers, including OK 66, US 69, US 270 etc.

Shortly after you enter the state from Kansas on US 69A you'll come to Miami. Continue south through town on Main St and 2.5 miles after crossing the Neosho River turn right at the T-intersection. This will take you to the first of two original and very rough 9ft wide alignments. The second, E 140 Rd (turn west) comes soon after the first, just before I-44.

You'll cross I-44 twice before rolling into Vinita. Clanton's (☎ 918-256-9053; 319 E Illinois Ave; mains $4-10; 🕒 5:30am-8pm Mon-Fri, to 2pm Sat & Sun) dates back to 1927 and is the place for chicken fried steak and calf fries (don't ask).

Thirty miles further on, Foyil is worth a 4-mile detour on Hwy 28A to the massive and colorful concrete sculptures of Totem Pole Park (☎ 918-342-9149; www.rchs1.org; admission free; 🕒 24/7)

Another 10 miles brings you to Claremore (p702), former home of Will Rogers.

Next up at the port city of Catoosa, just before Tulsa, is one of the most photographed Route 66 landmarks, the 80ft-long Blue Whale (2680 N Hwy 66).

East 11th St takes you into and right through art deco–rich Tulsa; be sure to look for the neon wonder of the restored Meadow Gold sign at S Quaker Ave. Southwest Blvd takes you across the river and out of town.

The rural route from Tulsa to Oklahoma City is one of the longest continuous stretches of Mother Road remaining (110 miles), a fine alternative to the I-44 tollway that it snakes around. At Chandler, 60 miles southwest of Tulsa, the Route 66 Interpretive Center (☎ 405-258-1300; 400 E Rte 66; adult/child $5/4; 🕒 10am-5pm Tue-Sat) recreates the experience of driving the road through the decades.

In Arcadia, 23 miles northeast of downtown OKC, stop at the cavernous, red Round Barn (☎ 405-396-0824; www.arcadiaroundbarn.org; admission free; 🕒 10am-5pm daily summer, closed Mon winter); its restoration by volunteers is a good story.

Route 66 follows US 77 into Oklahoma City and beyond that, it's unmarked. Take Kelley Ave south, head over to Lincoln Blvd at 50th St and turn west on NW 23rd St at the capitol. You'll leave OKC by turning north on May Ave and west on NW 39th St where Ann's Chicken Fry House (see p699) and the 66 Bowl (☎ 405-946-3966; 3810 NW 39th St) are fun and photogenic. Beyond this, the route follows Business I-40.

El Reno, 20 miles west of OKC, is home to the fried onion burger (average $3), a road food classic. Among several historic drive-ins and dives, try Jobe's (☎ 405-262-0194; 1220 W Sunset) or Robert's (☎ 405-262-1262; 300 S Bickford Ave). Ground beef is combined with raw onions and then cooked and caramelized on the grill. Both are open 11am to 9pm.

Another 30 miles west, Lucille's, a 1929 gas station fronting the freeway just west of Hydro, was run by the same woman for 59 years.

In Clinton, walk through six decades of history, memorabilia and music at the spiffy Route 66 Museum (☎ 580-323-7866; www.route66.org; 2229 W Gary Blvd; adult/child $3/1; 🕒 9am-7pm Mon-Sat, 1-6pm Sun summer, closed at 5pm rest of year, closed Sun-Mon Dec-Jan). Fuel up at iconic Jiggs Smokehouse (☎ 580-323-5641; meals $5-10; 🕒 11am-7pm Tue-Fri, 11am-5pm Sat), a haven for lovers of smoked meats at the Exit 62 on I-40, 3 miles west of town.

Thirty miles further west in Elk City, the National Route 66 Museum (☎ 580-225-6266; adult/child $5/4; 🕒 9am-7pm Mon-Sat, 1-5pm Sun summer, 9am-5pm Mon-Sat, 2-5pm Sun rest of year) has old cars, photos and is part of a re-created pioneer town and a farm museum.

Route 66 spills into Texas at Texola, which is just a dust devil away from being a ghost town.

The city is forever linked to the 1995 bombing of the Alfred P Murrah Federal Building and the memorials to this tragedy are moving and worthy stops.

History

Oklahoma City literally sprang up overnight after unassigned Indian Territory lands were opened to white settlement on April 22, 1889. More than 10,000 land claimants rushed into the wilderness and staked out their piece of the pie around the Santa Fe railroad station. The city yanked capital honors out from under Guthrie in 1910 and was catapulted into wealth in 1928 when OKC's first gusher erupted above a vast oil field.

Information

Full Circle Bookstore (☎ 405-842-2900; in 50 Penn Pl mall; ⏰ 10am-9pm Mon-Thu, 10am-10pm Fri & Sat, noon-5pm Sun; 📶) Superb independent bookstore that stocks many Route 66 books and has a café.

Oklahoma City Visitors Center (☎ 800-225-5652; www.visitokc.com; 189 W Sheridan Ave; ⏰ 8:30am-5pm Mon-Fri)

Oklahoma Welcome Center (☎ 405-478-4637; www.travelok.com; 1-35 exit 137; ⏰ 8:30am-5pm) Has city info too.

OU Medical Center (☎ 405-271-4700; 700 NE 13th St) Has a 24hr emergency room.

Post office (☎ 405-232-2198; 305 NW 5th St; ⏰ 7am-9pm Mon-Fri, 8am-5pm Sat)

Ronald J Norick Downtown Library (☎ 405-231-8650; 300 Park Ave; ⏰ 9am-9pm Mon-Thu, 9am-6pm Fri, 9am-5pm Sat, 1-6pm Sun; 📶) One-hour free internet with photo ID.

Sights

The story of America's worst incident of domestic terrorism is told at the engrossing Oklahoma City National Memorial Museum (☎ 888-542-4673; www.oklahomacitynationalmemorial.org; 620 N Harvey Ave; adult/student $8/6; ⏰ 9am-6pm Mon-Sat, 1-6pm Sun, box office closes 1hr earlier). The outdoor Symbolic Memorial (N Harvey Ave; admission free; ⏰ 24hr) has 168 empty chair sculptures for each of the people killed in the attack (the 19 small ones are for the children who perished in the day care center). It's next to a reflecting pool in the former building's footprint. People tie simple yet heart-breaking memorials to the fence on Harvey St.

Also downtown, the Oklahoma City Museum of Art (☎ 405-236-3100; www.okcmoa.com; 415 Couch Dr; adult/child $12/10; ⏰ 10am-5pm Tue-Sat, to 9pm Thu, noon-5pm Sun) displays good 20th-century American art.

Only the smells are missing at the National Cowboy & Western Heritage Museum (☎ 405-478-2250; www.nationalcowboymuseum.org; 1700 NE 63rd St; adult/child $10/4.50; ⏰ 9am-5pm), which covers both art and history. Even if you come for just one, you're sure to be enthralled by the other. The excellent collection of Western painting and sculpture features many works by Charles M Russell and Frederic Remington while the historical galleries range from barbed wire to rodeos to cowboy hats.

You'll brush up against real cowboys in Stockyards City (www.stockyardscity.org; Agnew Ave & Exchange Ave), southwest of downtown, either in the shops and restaurants that cater to them or at the Oklahoma National Stockyards (⏰ auctions 9am Mon-Tue), the world's largest stocker and feeder cattle market.

The vast Oklahoma History Center (☎ 405-522-5248; www.okhistorycenter.org; 2401 N Laird Ave; adult/child $5/3; ⏰ 9am-5pm Mon-Sat, noon-5pm Sun) makes people the focus as it tells the story of the Sooner state. It's across the street from the State Capitol (☎ 405-522-0836; 2300 N Lincoln Blvd; ⏰ 7am-7pm Mon-Fri, 9am-4pm Sat & Sun), which was built in 1917, but only got its dome in 2002.

Festivals & Events

Red Earth Native American Cultural Festival (☎ 405-427-5228; www.redearth.org; adult/child from $10/7.50) Native Americans come from across the nation to celebrate and compete in early June.

State Fair Park (☎ 405-948-6704; www.okstatefairpark.com; I-44 & NW 10th St) The fairgrounds host frequent horse- or rodeo-related events. (The state fair itself is a dud.)

Sleeping

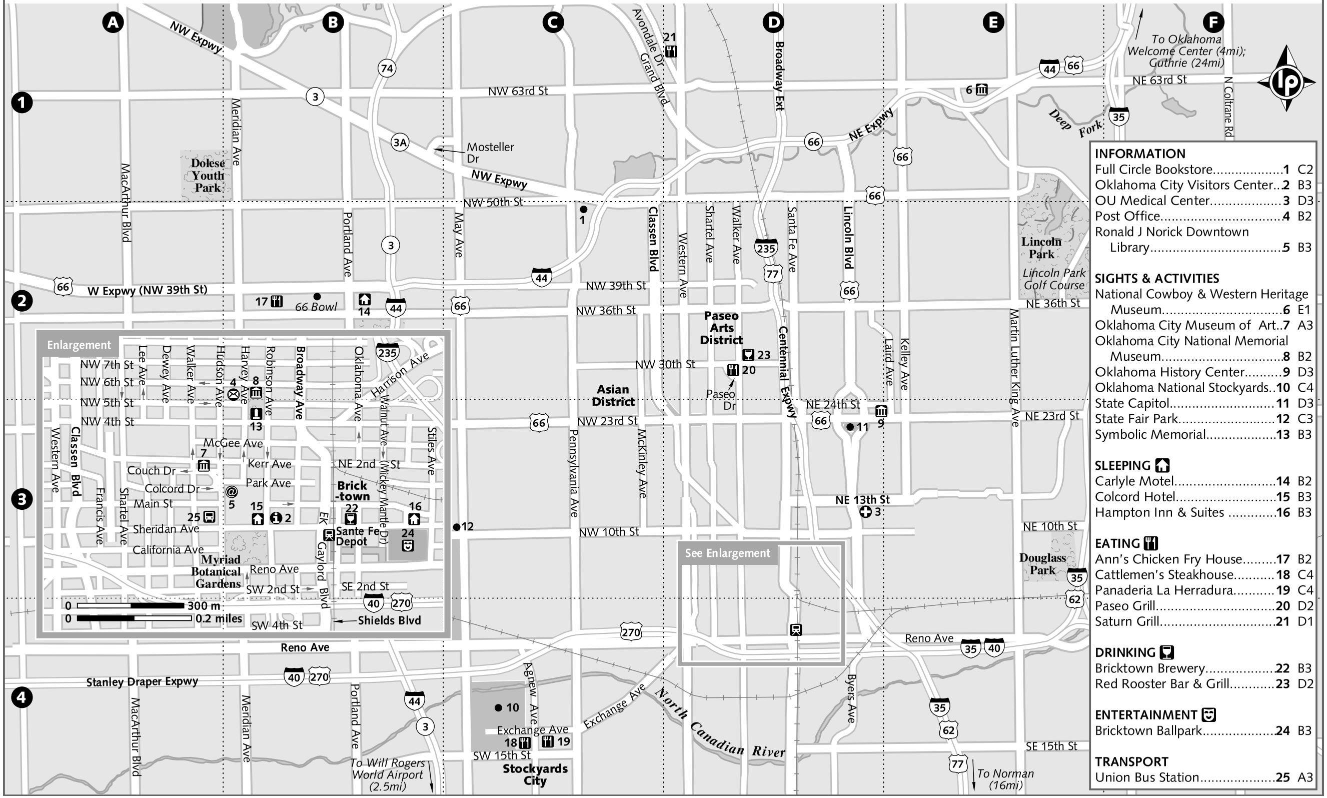
Many older motels line I-35 south of town; newer chain properties stack up along I-44 and the NW Expwy.

Carlyle Motel (☎ 405-946-3355; 3600 NW 39th St; r from $40; P ❄) Little has changed (other than the sheets) since the 1950s at this simple 15-room place, which is popular with Route 66 buffs.

Hampton Inn & Suites (☎ 405-232-3600, 800-426-7866; 300 E Sheridan Ave; r $100-140; P ❄ 📶 🏊) This new 200-room hotel in Bricktown is across from the ballpark. Built in a traditional style, the rooms are very comfortable and modern.

Colcord Hotel (☎ 405-601-4300, 866-781-3800; www.colcordhotel.com; 15 N Robinson Ave; r from $149, ste $279; P ⊠

OKLAHOMA CITY



0 2 km
0 1 mile
A
B
C
D
E
F
1
2
3
4
NW Expwy
NW 63rd St
NE 63rd St
N Coltrane Rd
To Oklahoma Welcome Center (4mi); Guthrie (24mi) Deep Fork
NE Expwy
Mosteller Dr
Dolese Youth Park
MacArthur Blvd
Meridian Ave
Portland Ave
May Ave
NW 50th St
Classen Blvd
Western Ave
Shartel Ave
Walker Ave
Santa Fe Ave
Lincoln Blvd
Avondale Dr
Grand Blvd
Broadway Ext
Lincoln Park
Lincoln Park Golf Course
W Expwy (NW 39th St)
66 Bowl
NW 39th St
NW 36th St
NE 36th St
Paseo Arts District
NW 30th St
Paseo Dr
Centennial Expwy
Laird Ave
Kelley Ave
Martin Luther King Ave
Asian District
NW 23rd St
NE 24th St
NE 23rd St
Pennsylvania Ave
McKinley Ave
NE 13th St
NW 10th St
NE 10th St
Douglass Park
See Enlargement
Reno Ave
Stanley Draper Expwy
Agnew Ave
Exchange Ave
SW 15th St
SE 15th St
Stockyards City
North Canadian River
Byers Ave
To Will Rogers World Airport (2.5mi)
To Norman (16mi)
Enlargement
NW 7th St
NW 6th St
NW 5th St
NW 4th St
Lee Ave
Dewey Ave
Walker Ave
Hudson Ave
Harvey Ave
Robinson Ave
Broadway Ave
Oklahoma Ave
Harrison Ave
Walnut Ave (Mickey Mantle Dr)
Stiles Ave
McGee Ave
Kerr Ave
Park Ave
Couch Dr
Colcord Dr
Main St
Sheridan Ave
California Ave
NE 2nd St
Brick-town
Sante Fe Depot
EK Gaylord Blvd
Myriad Botanical Gardens
Reno Ave
SW 2nd St
SE 2nd St
SW 4th St
Shields Blvd
Western Ave
Classen Blvd
Francis Ave
Shartel Ave
0 300 m
0 0.2 miles
1
2
3
4
5
6
7
8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16
17 18 19 20 21
22
23 24
25 35 40
44
62
66
74
77
235
270
3
3A

INFORMATION

Full Circle Bookstore	1	C2
Oklahoma City Visitors Center	2	B3
OU Medical Center	3	D3
Post Office	4	B2
Ronald J Norick Downtown Library	5	B3

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

National Cowboy & Western Heritage Museum	6	E1
Oklahoma City Museum of Art	7	A3
Oklahoma City National Memorial Museum	8	B2
Oklahoma History Center	9	D3
Oklahoma National Stockyards	10	C4
State Capitol	11	D3
State Fair Park	12	C3
Symbolic Memorial	13	B3

SLEEPING

Carlyle Motel	14	B2
Colcord Hotel	15	B3
Hampton Inn & Suites	16	B3

EATING

Ann's Chicken Fry House	17	B2
Cattlemen's Steakhouse	18	C4
Panaderia La Herradura	19	C4
Paseo Grill	20	D2
Saturn Grill	21	D1

DRINKING

Bricktown Brewery	22	B3
Red Rooster Bar & Grill	23	D2

ENTERTAINMENT

Bricktown Ballpark	24	B3

TRANSPORT

Union Bus Station	25	A3

❄ 💻 📶) OKC's first skyscraper, built in 1910, is now a 12-story boutique hotel. Many original flourishes, like the marble-clad lobby, survive while the 108 rooms have a stylish, contemporary touch. The hotel is walking distance to Bricktown.

Eating

Bunches of eateries cluster in Bricktown, line Western Ave between 41st and 82nd Sts, and anchor the Asian District (around 23rd St and Classen Blvd) with reasonable Vietnamese, Chinese and Thai noodle houses.

Panaderia La Herradura (☎ 405-232-3502; 2235 SW 14th St; snacks $1-5; ⏰ 6am-4pm) A classic Mexican bakery in the heart of the Stockyards District. Grab a pair of tongs and load up your platter with any of 100 different breads and pastries made fresh daily.

Ann's Chicken Fry House (☎ 405-943-8915; 4106 NW 39th St; mains $4-12; ⏰ 11am-8:30pm Tue-Sat; ☒) Part real diner, part tourist attraction, Ann's is a Route 66 veteran known for its – you guessed it – chicken fried steak. Okra and cream gravy also star.

Saturn Grill (☎ 405-843-7114; 6432 Avondale Dr; mains $8-10; ⏰ 11am-9pm Mon-Sat) Locally beloved for its fresh and inventive menu, Saturn has a wide-ranging fusion charm at amazing prices. Lots of vegetarian choices and splendid pizzas, salads and much more.

our pick Cattlemen's Steakhouse (☎ 405-236-0416; 1309 S Agnew Ave; breakfasts $3-7, lunch $4-25, dinners $10-25; ⏰ 6am-10pm Sun-Thu, 6am-midnight Fri & Sat) OKC's most storied restaurant, this Stockyards City institution has been feeding cowpokes and city slickers slabs of beef and lamb's fries (that's a polite way of saying gonads) since 1910. Deals are still cut at the counter and back in the luxe booths.

Paseo Grill (☎ 405-601-1079; 2909 Paseo Dr; mains $12-35; ⏰ 11am-10pm Mon-Sat) On a balmy night (common in OKC) the patio at this southwestern restaurant is the place to be. Blackened steaks and seafood and fresh treats like gazpacho keep people returning again and again.

Drinking & Entertainment

For listings, pick up the free weekly Oklahoma Gazette (www.okgazette.com) or just head to the renovated warehouses in the Bricktown District, which contain many restaurants and bars. To make a complete night of it in the district, watch the Triple A Redhawks play at Bricktown Ballpark (☎ 405-218-1000; www.oklahomaredhawks.com; 2 Mickey Mantle Dr).

The heart of gay Oklahoma is the 39th Street Strip (west of Pennsylvania Ave).

Red Rooster Bar & Grill (☎ 405-525-7631; 3100 N Walker Ave; ⏰ noon-1am) Classic OKC dive bar with a cheap beer-only line-up (and good burgers) and enough cigarette smoke to give nonsmokers the habit.

Bricktown Brewery (☎ 405-232-2739; 1 N Oklahoma Ave; ⏰ 11am-1am) A large microbrewery in Bricktown, with revelers splayed out across large rooms enjoying pool, darts and just being spectators. Always hopping and has a decent food menu.

Shopping

The Paseo Arts District isn't much more than Paseo Dr itself, but there are several art galleries and boutiques in the Spanish colonial buildings. You can buy all forms of Western wear and gear in Stockyards City.

Getting There & Around

Will Rogers World Airport (OKC; ☎ 405-680-3200; www.flyokc.com) is 5 miles southwest of downtown. With Yellow Cab (☎ 405-232-6161) it costs about $20 to get downtown.

The Amtrak Heartland Flyer train goes from OKC's Santa Fe Depot (☎ 800-872-7245; 100 S EK Gaylord Blvd) to Fort Worth ($36, 4¼ hours). Buy your ticket on the train; there's no office here.

Greyhound buses depart daily from the Union Bus Station (☎ 405-235-6425; 427 W Sheridan Ave) for Dallas ($39, five hours), Wichita ($29, 2¾ hours) and Tulsa ($25, two hours, four daily), among other destinations.

Oklahoma Spirit (☎ 405-235-7433; www.gometro.org) fake trolleys connect downtown and Bricktown sights for a quarter per ride. Regular city bus fares are $1.25.

AROUND OKLAHOMA CITY

Guthrie

Brick-and-stone Victorian buildings line street after street of Oklahoma's first capital, 25 miles north of Oklahoma City. The well-preserved downtown contains shops, museums and eateries, and during much of the year the Guthrie Gunfighters (⏰ 1-5pm Sat) stage shootouts hourly at 2nd St and Harrison Ave.

The Guthrie Information Center (☎ 405-282-1947; www.guthrieok.com; 212 W Oklahoma Ave; ⏰ 9am-5pm Mon-Fri) can point out the small museums (banjo, frontier drugstore, art, history and more) in town. Let the Bed & Breakfast Association of Guthrie (www.guthriebb.com) put you in one of a dozen historic inns.

WESTERN OKLAHOMA

West of Oklahoma City toward Texas the land opens into expansive prairie fields; nowhere as beautifully as in the Wichita Mountains, which, along with some Route 66 attractions (see p696) and Native American sites, make this prime road-trip country.

Anadarko

Sixty miles southwest of OKC, Anadarko and the surrounding area are home to 64 Native American tribes. The town hosts powwows and other events almost monthly. Get a schedule from the Anadarko Visitor Center inside the National Hall of Fame for Famous American Indians (☎ 405-247-5555; www.anadarko.org; Hwy 62, east of town; admission free; 🕒 9am-5pm Mon-Sat, 1-5pm Sun), which has a park with 42 bronze busts. Next door is the Southern Plains Indian Museum (☎ 405-247-6221; Hwy 62; admission free; 🕒 9am-5pm Tue-Sat) with crafts from Kiowa, Cheyenne, Wichita and other western Oklahoma tribes.

Take a guided tour of seven typical tribal lodgings (Navajo, Apache, Wichita, Kiowa, Caddo, Pawnee and Pueblo) re-created on a hillside at Indian City USA (☎ 800-433-5661; www.indiancityusa.com; Rte 8, 2 miles south of town). It was closed for renovations at the time of research.

Going north from town, US 281 runs through a beautiful area of multihued sandstone canyons and bluffs.

Fort Sill & Lawton

Established in 1869 as an outpost against Native Americans, Fort Sill remains an active army base and includes relics from 140 years of war. The original stone structures, which were built by buffalo soldiers, are remarkably well preserved and the Fort Sill Museum (☎ 580-442-5123; 437 Quanah Rd; admission free; 🕒 8:30am-5pm Tue-Sat) fills several of them. It includes a barracks furnished as it was in the 1870s and the guardhouse where Geronimo was detained after he had celebrated a little too much in nearby Lawton. Many old weapons are displayed nearby. Ask for a map to Geronimo's grave, which is located a couple of miles away.

The stockaded Red River Trading Post at the Museum of the Great Plains (☎ 580-581-3460; www.museumgreatplains.org; 601 NW Ferris Ave; adult/child $6/2.50; 🕒 10am-5pm Mon-Sat, 1-5pm Sun) in Lawton is a faithful reproduction of those found in the area from the 1830s to 1840s. There's a prairie dog town where you can watch the sociable critters cavort.

Wichita Mountains

Some 600 bison and a herd of longhorns roam the Wichita Mountains Wildlife Refuge (☎ 580-429-3222; http://wichitamountains.fws.gov; visitor center, Hwy 49 & Hwy 115; 🕒 8am-6pm), 15 miles northwest of Lawton along the north side of Fort Sill. The mixed-grass prairie and lake areas are superb for hiking and wildlife spotting. Drive up Mt Scott (2464ft) for great views and listen for coyotes and screech owls while sleeping at the refuge's first-come, first-served campground ($6-16) or in the backcountry (permit required). Hwy 49 runs for a very scenic 20 miles west of I-44.

TULSA

Self-billed as the 'Oil Capital of the World', Tulsa has never dirtied its hands much on the black gold that oozes out elsewhere in the state. Rather, it is the home to scores of energy companies that make their living drilling for oil, selling it or supplying those who do. The steady wealth this provides helped create Tulsa's beautiful art-deco downtown. That said, Tulsa (population 390,000) is not the most charming Great Plains town: suburban sprawl has dispersed its appeal and much life seems to center on the malls and chains gathered at highway interchanges.

The Tulsa Visitor Center (☎ 800-558-3311; www.visittulsa.com; William Center Towers II, 2 W 2nd St; 🕒 8am-5pm Mon-Fri) will help you find the city's elusive charms.

Sights & Activities

Downtown Tulsa has so much art-deco architecture it was once known as the 'Terra-Cotta City.' The Philcade Building (511 S Boston), with its glorious T-shaped lobby, and Boston Avenue United Methodist Church (☎ 918-583-5181; 1301 S Boston; 🕒 8:30am-5pm Mon-Fri, 8am-5pm Sun, guided tour noon Sun), rising at the end of downtown, are two exceptional examples. The Downtown Tulsa Self-Guided Historic Walking Tour map, free from the visitor center, will lead you to dozens more.

Northwest of downtown, off Hwy 64, the superb Gilcrease Museum (☎ 888-655-2278; www

.gilcrease.org; 1400 Gilcrease Museum Rd; adult/child $8/free; 🕐 10am-5pm Tue-Sun) sits on the estate of a Native American who discovered oil on his allotment. The impressive collection of American Western, Native American, and Central and South American fine art and archaeology is surrounded by some fine formal gardens.

South of town, another oil magnate's converted Italianate villa, also ringed by fabulous foliage, houses the eclectic Philbrook Museum of Art (☎ 918-749-7941; www.philbrook.org; 2727 S Rockford Rd, east of Peoria Ave; adult/child $7.50/5.50; 🕐 10am-5pm Tue-Sun, to 8pm Thu). The Native American works stand out; look for Navajo Woman on Horseback by Gerald Nailor.

Greenwood Cultural Center (☎ 918-596-1020; www.greenwoodculturalcenter.com; 322 N Greenwood Ave; admission free; 🕐 9am-5pm Mon-Fri) displays photos of the historic African American Greenwood District, which was the scene of America's worst race riot in 1921 when whites killed scores of African Americans and burned the neighborhood, leaving over 10,000 homeless.

Tulsa's beautiful Union Station has new life as the Oklahoma Jazz Hall of Fame (☎ 918-281-8600; www.okjazz.org; 111 E 1st St; admission free; 🕐 9am-5pm Mon-Fri, call to confirm). For most of the year there are Sunday concerts at 5pm.

With a 200ft UFO-like Prayer Tower (☎ 918-495-6262; 7777 S Lewis Ave; admission free; 🕐 10am-3:30pm Tue-Sat, 12:30-3:30pm Sun) at its heart, the campus of financially troubled Oral Roberts University is as idiosyncratic as its televangelist founder.

Sleeping

Chain motels aplenty line Hwy 244 and I-44, especially at the latter's exits 229 and 232.

our pick Desert Hills Motel (☎ 918-834-3311; www.deserthillstulsa.com; 5220 E 11th St; r from $40; P ❄ 📶) One of several low-cost Route 66 classics on the east side of town, but the neon cactus sign sets this one apart. The 50 spotless rooms have microwaves and fridges.

Inn at Woodward Park (☎ 918-712-9770, 888-712-9770; www.innatwoodwardpark.com; 1521 E 21st St; r $100-140; P ❄ 📶) In a historic neighborhood south of the center, this elegant 1920s B&B has three themed rooms surrounded by lavish gardens. Rooms have DVD players and queen-size beds. The Philbrook Museum is a short walk through a beautiful park.

Hotel Ambassador (☎ 918-587-8200, 888-408-8282; www.hotelambassador-tulsa.com; 1324 S Main St; r from $220; P ☒ ❄ 💻 📶) Look in the hallway for the photos of this 1929 nine-story hotel before the recent opulent renovation. Public spaces are suitably grand; the 55 rooms have a contemporary feel that helps the somewhat close quarters seem a tad larger. It is close to the center.

Eating & Drinking

Look for dining options in the Brookside neighborhood, on Peoria Ave between 31st and 51st Sts; on Historic Cherry St (now 15th St) just east of Peoria Ave; and the artsy Brady District, centered on Brady and Main Sts immediately north of downtown.

Gypsy Coffee House (☎ 918-295-2181; www.gypsycoffee.com; 303 N Cincinnati Ave; meals $3-8; 🕐 noon-midnight Sun-Thu, noon-3am Fri & Sat; ☒ 💻 📶) An all-around great hangout in the Brady District with couches, board games and live music (open mike Tuesdays, bands weekends).

Full Moon Café (☎ 918-583-6666; www.eatfullmoon.com; 1525 E 15th St; meals $6-12; 🕐 11am-midnight Mon-Fri, 9am-2am Sat & Sun; ☒) Quesadillas, burgers and salads line the menu, while dueling rock and roll pianos Thursday through Saturday assault the ears; there's live music other nights too.

Elmer's (☎ 918-742-6702; 4130 S Peoria St; mains $5-10; 🕐 11am-8pm Tue-Sat) A legendary barbecue joint where the star of the menu is the potentially deadly 'Badwich,' a bun-crushing combo of superbly smoked sausages, ham, beef, pork and more. The dining room is bare-bones, as is the service (and the ribs after you're through).

our pick Ri Le's (☎ 918-496-2126; Suite 102, 4932 E 91st St; mains $5-12; 🕐 noon-9pm) Tulsa has a vibrant Vietnamese community that dates back to the 1970s. Among the many fine eateries is this absolute gem. The namesake owner wanders the tables ensuring diners are not just happy but thrilled.

Entertainment

Pick up the free Urban Tulsa Weekly (www.urbantulsa.com) to learn what's going on.

Cain's Ballroom (☎ 918-584-2306; www.cainsballroom.com; 423 N Main St) Rising rockers grace the same boards where Bob Wills played Western swing in the 1930s and the Sex Pistols caused confusion in 1978.

Discoveryland! (☎ 918-245-6552; www.discoverylandusa.com; 19501 W 41st St, Sand Springs; adult/child $20/free; 🕐 7pm Mon-Sat summer) Whether you're a boy or a girl you won't be able to say no to this high energy outdoor production of Oklahoma! A Western musical revue and Native American dancers kick things off, and a pre-show dinner is available. It's 10 miles west of Tulsa.

Getting There & Around

Tulsa International Airport (TUL; ☎ 918-838-5000; www.tulsaairports.com), situated off Hwy 11, is northeast of downtown. Greyhound (☎ 918-584-4428; 317 S Detroit Ave) has daily buses bound for Oklahoma City ($20, two hours) and St Louis ($81, eight hours). Almost all local Tulsa Transit (☎ 918-582-2100; www.tulsatransit.org; one-day pass $3.25) buses originate downtown at 319 S Denver Ave.

GREEN COUNTRY

Subtle forested hills interspersed with iconic red dirt and lakes cover Oklahoma's northeast corner, aka Green Country (www.greencountryok.com), which includes Tulsa. The area has a strong Native American influence as it is where several of the Five Civilized Tribes (Cherokee, Choctaw, Chickasaw, Creek and Seminole) were relocated in the 1820s and '30s.

Don't miss Totem Pole Park and the Blue Whale along Route 66 (see p696).

Bartlesville

Oklahoma's first commercial oil well was dug in Bartlesville, 50 miles north of Tulsa, and soon after in 1905 Frank Phillips, of Phillips 66 fame, arrived to dig more. You can relive these rough and tumble days at the Phillips Petroleum Company Museum (☎ 918-661-8687; 410 S Keeler Ave; admission free; 🕒 10am-4pm Mon-Sat) right in town.

Phillips' vast county estate, Woolaroc (☎ 918-336-0307; www.woolaroc.org; Rte 123, 12 miles southwest of town; adult/child $8/free; 🕒 10am-5pm Wed-Sun, open Tue summer), is now an excellent museum of southwestern art and culture, and a wildlife refuge with buffalo. (Maybe it's us, but Phillips looks like the ultimate city dude in the photos of him in Western wear.)

Thirty miles west of Bartlesville and just north of Pawhuska, some 2500 bison roam across 44,645 acres at the Tallgrass Prairie Preserve (☎ 918-287-4803; www.nature.org) the world's largest patch of protected tallgrass prairie. There are nature trails here.

You can tour the only Frank Lloyd Wright–designed skyscraper ever built, the 1956, 221ft Price Tower Arts Center (☎ 918-336-4949; www.pricetower.org; 510 Dewey Ave; adult/child $4/free, tours $10/5; 🕒 10am-5pm Tue-Sat, noon-5pm Sun, tours 11am & 2pm Tue-Sat plus noon & 1pm Fri & Sat, 2pm Sun). Inside and out it is like Architectural Digest meets the Jetsons. Wright shopped the design around for 30 years before he found clients willing to build it here.

You can stay in one of 19 Wright-inspired rooms in the Inn at Price Tower (☎ 918-336-1000, 877-424-2424; r from $145; ☒ ⌘). The 15th-floor bar, Cooper, has sweeping views of the prairie (fitting for a Wright building).

Much more down to earth, Murphy's Steak House (☎ 918-336-4789; 1625 W Frank Phillips Blvd; mains $6-16; 🕒 11am-8pm) has steaks but the cognoscenti opt for the 'hot hamburger,' a meaty plate of goodness that's best with gravy over all.

Claremore

This was the setting for the 1931 play Green Grow the Lilacs, which went on to become the hugely popular musical Oklahoma!, which chronicles highly fictionalized events in 1906.

Born in a log cabin just north of town in 1879, Will Rogers was a cowboy, a hilarious homespun philosopher, star of radio and movies, and part Cherokee. The hilltop Will Rogers Memorial Museum (☎ 918-341-0719; www.willrogers.com; 1720 W Will Rogers Blvd; admission free; 🕒 8am-5pm), 30 miles northeast of Tulsa off Route 66, is an entertaining tribute to a man good for quotes like this: 'My ancestors didn't come over on the Mayflower, but they met the boat.'

More than 20,000 guns, knives, swords and other tools of mayhem are on display at J M Davis Arms and Historical Museum (☎ 918-341-5707; www.thegunmuseum.com; 333 N Lynn Riggs Blvd; admission free; 🕒 8:30am-5pm Mon-Sat, 10am-5pm Sun). The beer stein collection adds irony.

Tiny Dot's Café (☎ 918-341-9718; 310 W Will Rogers Blvd; breakfasts $4-10; 🕒 7am-2pm Mon-Sat, to 8pm Thu) is a good place to at least hum – if not sing – 'Oh What a Beautiful Mornin'.'

Trail of Tears Country

The area southeast of present-day Tulsa was, and to some degree still is, Creek and Cherokee land. This is an excellent place to learn about Native American culture, especially before the 1800s.

Namesake of Merle Haggard's 1969 hit 'Okie from Muskogee?', Muskogee ('where even squares can have a ball') is 49 miles southeast of Tulsa, and is home to the Five

OKLAHOMA: DETOURS & EXTRAS

Following Route 66 through Oklahoma can seem like one long detour and can offer days of exploration. But there are many more options in various corners of the state.

- Okmulgee, off US 75, 30 miles south of Tulsa, looks like the set of a 1950s film featuring an idealized small town America. It has good Native American museums.
- Washita Battlefield National Historic Site (www.nps.gov/waba; Hwy 47A, 2 miles west of Cheyenne; admission free; ⏰ sunrise-susnet) is where George Custer's troops launched an 1868 attack on the peaceful village of Chief Black Kettle. The visitor center (☎ 580-497-2742; admission free; ⏰ 8am-5pm) has a good museum. There's a self-guiding trail or you can take a free ranger-led tour (⏰ hourly 9am-4pm Jun-Aug). The scenery is both stark and bucolic; much of the area is part of the Black Kettle National Grasslands. It is 25 miles north of Route 66/I-40.
- The Pioneer Woman Museum (☎ 580-765-6108; Ponca City; adult/child $3/2; ⏰ 9am-5pm Mon-Sat, 1-5pm Sun) honors the people who did the real work in the Old West, while the men hung around towns waiting for shoot-outs or getting liquored up in saloons. At least that's how it seems in the movies. It's 15 miles east of I-35 in northern Oklahoma.

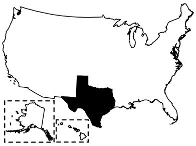
Civilized Tribes Museum (☎ 877-587-4237; www.fivetribes.org; Agency Hill, Honor Heights Dr; adult/student $3/1.50; ⏰ 10am-5pm Mon-Sat, 1-5pm Sun) inside an 1875 Union Indian Agency house. It recalls the cultures of the Native Americans forcibly moved here from America's southeast. Bacone College's Ataloa Lodge Museum (☎ 918-781-7283; www.bacone.edu/ataloa; 2299 Old Bacone Rd; adult/student $3/1.50; ⏰ 8.30am-5.30pm Mon-Sat, 1-5pm Sun), east of town on US 62, is renowned for artifacts that include Hopi and Navajo kachina dolls and pottery.

Twenty miles east on Hwy 62 is Tahlequah (tal-ah-quaw), the Cherokee capital since 1839. The excellent Cherokee Heritage Center (☎ 888-999-6007; www.cherokeeheritage.org; 21192 Keeler Rd, Park Hill; adult/child $8.50/5; ⏰ 10am-5pm Mon-Sat, 1-5pm Sun, closed Jan, last tour 3.30pm) features Native American–led tours through a re-creation of a pre-European contact woodland village. A log cabin town represents Cherokee life during the mid-19th century and the museum focuses on the Trail of Tears.

Scenic Hwy 10 follows the Illinois River north of Tahlequah. Outfitters, including War Eagle Floats (☎ 800-722-3834; www.wareagleresort.com; 13020 N Hwy 10), offer two-hour to two-day trips, campgrounds, cabins and more.

© Lonely Planet. To make it easier for you to use, access to this chapter is not digitally restricted. In return, we think it's fair to ask you to use it for personal, non-commercial purposes only. In other words, please don't upload this chapter to a peer-to-peer site, mass email it to everyone you know, or resell it. See the terms and conditions on our site for a longer way of saying the above - 'Do the right thing with our content.'

Texas



If you thought 'Don't mess with Texas' was the official state motto, not just an antilitter campaign, you'd be forgiven for misunderstandin'. A certain chest-puffin' pride does seem to go with being from the Lone Star State. It probably has as much to do with a leftover independent spirit (locals are mighty proud of Texas having once been its own country) as it does with all that bigness (the state is larger than Germany, England, Scotland, Ireland, Northern Ireland, Belgium and the Netherlands combined). Nevertheless, the Wild West lives on today, for the most part, in attitude alone. If you're thinkin' you'll run into cowboys dusty from the trail just anywhere, you're about as sharp as a heapa mashed potaters. Computer-geek millionaires outnumber rich cattlemen here, and you're as likely to see an uptown fashionista as a good ol' gal in her tight-fittin' jeans.

Sure you can (and might oughta) do some two-steppin' in a 100-year-old dance hall, but you should also rock out at the hundreds of live-music venues in Austin and pulse to a mariachi beat in ol' San Antone. If what you really want to do is some ropin' and ridin', mosey on over to Fort Worth's historic stockyards or get your giddy-up on at Bandera's dude ranches. But don't forget about the bright lights of them big cities Dallas and Houston.

Nature-lovers should know that Texas ain't all just tumblin' tumbleweeds. Here you can also explore the tall pine forests of east Texas, walk along miles of undeveloped southern Gulf Coast beach or catch sight of winter snow in the 8000ft-plus Guadalupe Mountains. Wherever you do go, most folks are just as friendly as pie. Can you blame 'em? They're from Texas.

HIGHLIGHTS

- Sinking your teeth into smoked brisket at a central Texas BBQ joint, like Luling's City Market (p718)
- Grooving live-music clubs in the state's incredibly cool capital, Austin (p715)
- Floating down Santa Elena Canyon in Big Bend National Park (p746)
- Going country at the National Cowgirl Museum by day and the rodeo by night in Fort Worth (p742)
- Trying a tripas (tripe) taco while listening to a Tejano band during Fiesta San Antonio (p723)
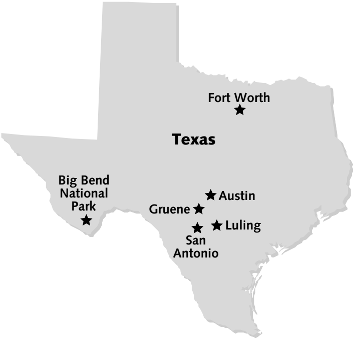
- Boot-scootin' at Gruene Hall (p717), reputedly the oldest dance hall in Texas



TEXAS FACTS

Nickname Lone Star State
Population 24.3 million
Area 261,797 sq miles
Capital city Austin (population 743,000)
Other cities San Antonio (population 1,351,305), Houston (population 2,242,193), Dallas (population 1,279,910), El Paso (population 613,190)
Sales tax 6.25%
Birthplace of Singer Buddy Holly (1936–59), entrepreneur Howard Hughes (1905–76), rocker Janis Joplin (1943–70), country singer George Strait (b 1952), actor Matthew McConaughey (b 1969)
Home of Dr Pepper, corny dogs and two President Bushes
Famous for Cowboys and The Cowboys (football), great BBQ
Best souvenir 'Don't mess with Texas' toilet paper
Driving distances Austin to San Antonio 78 miles, Houston to Dallas 237 miles, Dallas to El Paso 622 miles, Brownsville to Houston 350 miles

HISTORY

Given that the conquerors' diseases wiped out much of the indigenous population, it seems a bit ironic that the Spaniards named the territory Tejas (tay-has) – a corruption of the Caddo word for 'friend.' Caddo, Apache and Karankawa were among the tribes that Spanish explorers encountered when they arrived to map the Gulf coast in 1519.

Spain's rule of the territory continued until Mexico won its independence in 1821. That same year, Mexican general Antonio López de Santa Anna eliminated the state federation system, outlawed slavery and curtailed immigration. None of this sat well with independent-minded 'Texians' (US- and Mexico-born Texans) who had been given cheap land grants and Mexican citizenship. Clashes escalated into the Texas War for Independence (1835–36). A month after Santa Anna's forces massacred survivors of the siege in San Antonio, Sam Houston's rebels routed the Mexican troops at San Jacinto with the cry – let's all say it – 'Remember the Alamo!' (see boxed text, p722). And thus the Republic of Texas was born. The nation's short life ended nine years later when, by treaty, Texas opted to become the 28th state of the Union.

The last battle of the Civil War (Texas was on the Confederate side) was reputedly fought near Brownsville in May of 1865 – one month after the war had ended. Cattle-ranching formed the core of Texas' postwar economy, but it was the black gold that spewed up from Spindletop in 1910 that really changed everything. From then on, for better or worse, the state's economy has run on oil. Texans – who were the biggest domestic oil supplier and had many of the nation's largest refineries – laughed all the way to the bank during the energy crisis of the 1970s when gasoline prices quadrupled. Boom time was big, but the bust in the 1980s was just as spectacular. A worldwide glut devastated the oil industry and towns in Texas were deserted overnight.

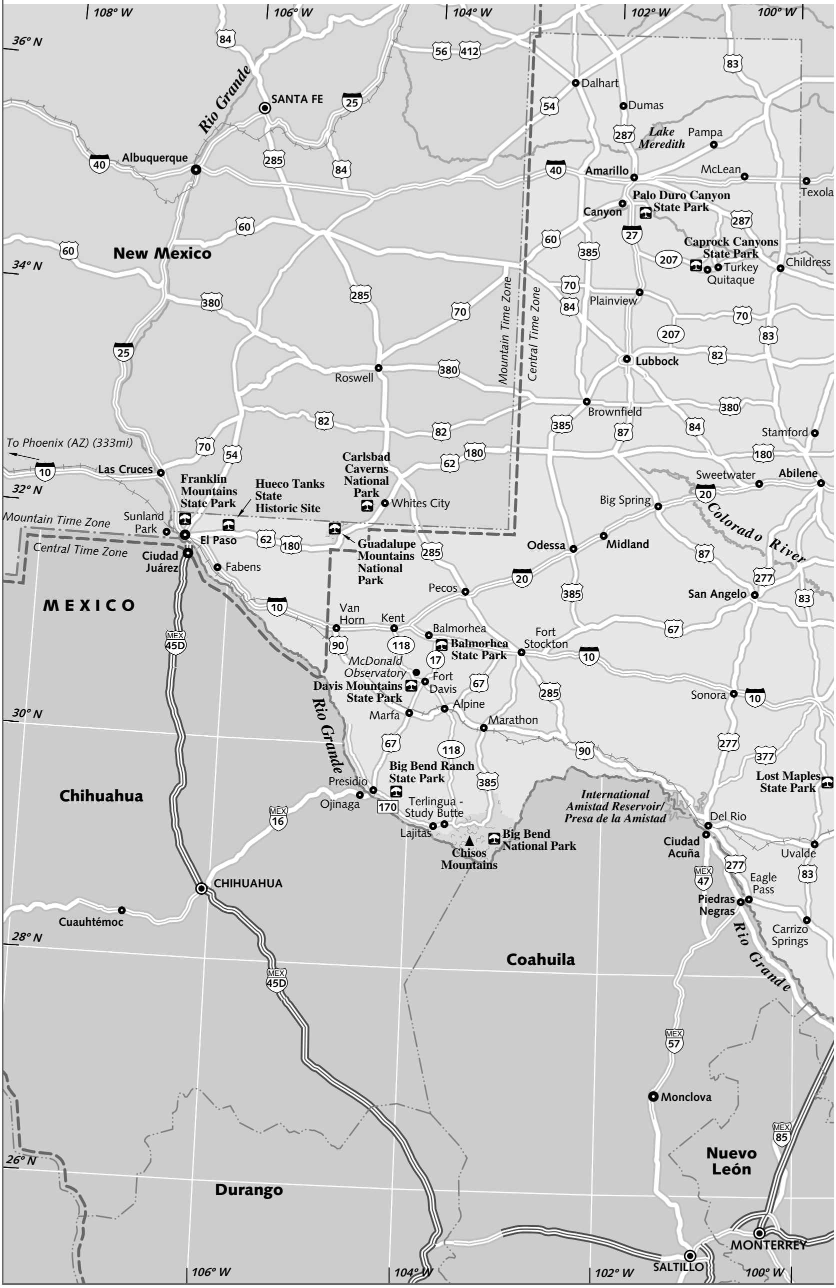
Diversification became the buzzword in the 1990s. South-central Texas established itself as a high-tech corridor, Houston invested in the space and medical industries, and the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) encouraged trade with neighboring Mexico from across the state. Former Texas governor George W Bush was elected to two terms as 43rd president of the United States (2001–2009), which must have made his father, George Bush Sr (the 41st US president), mighty proud. Those still involved in the oil industries had long joked: 'Lord, give me just one more boom and I promise I won't piss it away.'

Crude oil prices rose dramatically in the early 2000s, and it looked like their dreams just may have come true – until the global economic crisis began in 2008. Texas took a hit, but the state economy remained one of only 10 outperforming the country as a whole, according to an April 2009 study by the Nelson A Rockefeller Institute of Government. Maybe those oil revenues helped out some after all.

LOCAL CULTURE

Trying to typify Texas culture is like tryin' to wrestle a pig in mud – it's awful slippery. In vast generalization, Austin is alternative Texas,

TEXAS



108° W
106° W
104° W
102° W
100° W
36° N
34° N
32° N
30° N
28° N
26° N
Rio Grande
SANTA FE
Albuquerque
New Mexico
Roswell
Las Cruces
To Phoenix (AZ) (333mi)
Sunland Park
El Paso
Ciudad Juárez
Fabens
Franklin Mountains State Park
Hueco Tanks State Historic Site
Carlsbad Caverns National Park
Whites City
Guadalupe Mountains National Park
Mountain Time Zone
Central Time Zone
MEXICO
Chihuahua CHIHUAHUA
Cuauhtémoc
Durango
Coahuila
Nuevo León
Monclova
SALTILLO MONTERREY
Dalhart
Dumas
Lake Meredith
Pampa
Amarillo
McLean
Texola
Canyon
Palo Duro Canyon State Park
Caprock Canyons State Park
Turkey
Quitaque
Childress
Plainview
Lubbock
Brownfield
Stamford
Sweetwater
Abilene
Big Spring
Colorado River
Odessa
Midland
Pecos
San Angelo
Van Horn
Kent Balmorhea
Balmorhea State Park
Fort Stockton
McDonald Observatory
Davis Mountains State Park
Fort Davis
Alpine
Marfa
Marathon
Sonora
Lost Maples State Park
Presidio
Ojinaga
Big Bend Ranch State Park
Terlingua - Study Butte
Lajitas
Chisos Mountains
Big Bend National Park
International Amistad Reservoir/ Presa de la Amistad
Del Rio
Ciudad Acuña
Uvalde
Eagle Pass
Piedras Negras
Carrizo Springs
84
56 412
25
285 40 60
380
70
82
54
62
180
10
45D
MEX
16
90
118
17
67 170
385 20
87
277
83
207 27 287
377
47 57
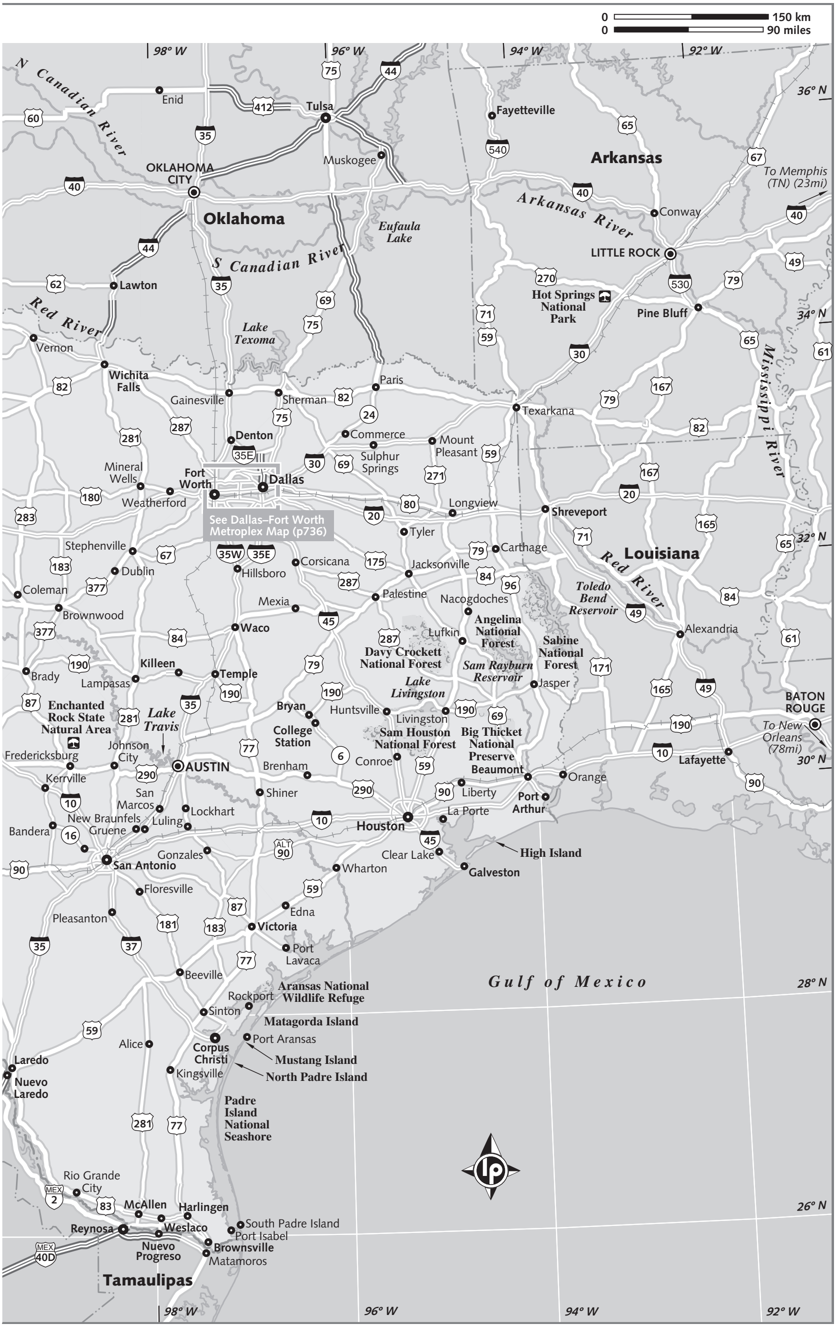
85



0 150 km
0 90 miles
98° W
96° W
94° W
92° W
36° N
34° N
32° N
30° N
28° N
26° N
N Canadian River
S Canadian River
Red River
Arkansas River
Mississippi River
Oklahoma
Arkansas
Louisiana
Tamaulipas
Enid
Tulsa
Muskogee
OKLAHOMA CITY
Lawton
Vernon
Wichita Falls
Fayetteville
Conway
LITTLE ROCK
Hot Springs National Park
Pine Bluff
To Memphis (TN) (23mi)
Eufaula Lake
Lake Texoma
Paris
Gainesville
Sherman
Denton Commerce
Sulphur Springs
Mount Pleasant
Texarkana
Mineral Wells
Fort Worth
Dallas
Weatherford
See Dallas–Fort Worth Metroplex Map (p736)
Longview
Tyler
Shreveport
Carthage
Jacksonville
Stephenville
Dublin
Hillsboro
Corsicana
Coleman
Brownwood
Mexia Palestine
Nacogdoches
Waco
Angelina National Forest
Lufkin
Toledo Bend Reservoir
Sabine National Forest
Davy Crockett National Forest
Sam Rayburn Reservoir
Jasper
Alexandria
Brady
Lampasas
Killeen Temple
Lake Livingston
Enchanted Rock State Natural Area
Lake Travis
Bryan
College Station Huntsville
Livingston
Sam Houston National Forest
Big Thicket National Preserve
Fredericksburg
Johnson City
AUSTIN
Brenham Conroe
Beaumont
Orange
Lafayette
BATON ROUGE
To New Orleans (78mi)
Kerrville
San Marcos
Lockhart
Shiner Liberty
Port Arthur
La Porte
Houston
New Braunfels
Gruene
Luling
Bandera
Gonzales
Clear Lake
High Island
Galveston
San Antonio
Wharton Floresville
Edna Pleasanton
Victoria
Port Lavaca
Beeville
Gulf of Mexico
Aransas National Wildlife Refuge
Rockport
Sinton
Matagorda Island
Port Aransas
Alice Corpus Christi
Mustang Island
North Padre Island Kingsville
Laredo
Nuevo Laredo
Padre Island National Seashore
Rio Grande City
McAllen
Harlingen
Reynosa
Weslaco
South Padre Island
Port Isabel
Nuevo Progreso
Brownsville
Matamoros
75 44 60 412 35
65
540
67 40
44
62
270
530
49
79 69
71
59 30 61 82
24
287
281
35E
30
69
271
59
167 20
180
80
283 20
71
165
65
67
35W
35E
79
183
175
84
96
377
287
84
49
45
377
84
287 61
190
79 171
165
49
87 281 35
190
190
69
190
77
6 59
10
290
90
90 10
290
10 16
ALT 90
45 90
59
87 181
183 35 37
77
59
281
77
MEX 2
83
MEX 40D

TEXAS…

In Five Days

Spend a day and a night enjoying San Antonio, sipping margaritas in the cafés along the Riverwalk (p720) and bargain-hunting for Mexico-made trinkets in Market Square (p722). Then head 80 miles north: book two nights at the funky Austin Motel (p713) and arrange to listen to as much live music in the capital as you can, maybe catching an acoustic set under the trees at Jo's (p715) outdoor coffee shop. On days four and five, stop long enough to shop in Dallas (p740) before moving on to see the western art and sights in Cowtown, Fort Worth (p741).

In 10 Days

Follow the five-day itinerary in reverse and then drive west from San Antonio to Big Bend National Park (p746) and around (approximately 440 miles, 6½ hours). Stay a night at the Old West–era Gage Hotel (p750) before heading south to hike or raft among deep canyons and craggy mountains. You might also stop to see some stunning avant-garde art in Marfa (p749), stargaze at the McDonald Observatory (p749) in Fort Davis, or go for a dip in the spring-fed swimming hole at Balmorhea State Park (see the boxed text, p750).

where environmental integrity and quality of life are avidly discussed. Dallasites are the shoppers and society trendsetters; more is spent on silicone implants there than anywhere else in the US besides LA. In conservative, casual Houston, oil-and-gas industrialists dine at clubby steakhouses. And San Antonio is the most Tex-Mexican of the bunch – a showplace of Hispanic culture. All across the state, two things seem to be true: football is sacred and, for boys and men, peeing outdoors is a God-given right and privilege.

LAND & CLIMATE

What ecosystem doesn't Texas have? The Rio Grande forms the southern border with Mexico in the region known as the Valley; there palm trees, citrus and vegetables grow in the tropical heat. The Gulf of Mexico's coastal climate and sugar-sand beaches typify the semi-arid southeast. Verdant hills and meandering rivers make up central Hill Country. There are pine forests and swamps in the northeast, and wide, flat desert valleys alternate with mountain ranges (Guadalupe Peak, at 8749ft, is the highest) in the way-far west.

As the saying goes, Texas has four seasons: heat, drought, hurricane and flood. From July to September, Texas is hotter 'n nine kinds of hell: temperatures reach at least into the 90s statewide. West Texas and Big Bend – 102°F average (39°C) – are best avoided, even if you stay in the mountains, where it's 10 degrees cooler. Winter is mild in the south – Corpus Christi rarely gets below 40°F (4°C), though there was that freak Christmas Eve snowstorm back in 2004. Ice and snow are more common in the Panhandle Plains, the Dallas–Fort Worth area and up in the Guadalupe Mountains. By far the best time to visit statewide is spring (late February to April), when the humidity is low and wildflowers are in bloom.

PARKS & WILDLIFE

Texas has two national parks in West Texas – Big Bend National Park (p746) and Guadalupe Mountains National Park (p753) – as well as the Padre Island National Seashore (p733) on the Gulf Coast. For more on Texas state parks, see p710.

Bird-watching is quite the draw in the Valley during the spring (March to April) and fall (September to October) migrations. The endangered whooping crane winters (November to March) in Aransas National Wildlife Refuge (p733).

INFORMATION

Local taxes usually add 2% on top of the state sales tax. Hotel taxes in Texas rack up 14% to 17%. Every lodging (and bar, and restaurant, and…) listed has air-conditioning; you'd melt in summer otherwise. Parking is available everywhere. In San Antonio, Dallas and Houston, if you see the 'Ⓟ' in a review, hotel parking is free; otherwise it's $15 to $30 a night. For attractions, except where noted, a child's admission price in Texas is for ages four to 12, and there's no charge for three and under.

In Houston and Dallas, you must dial all 10 digits in a telephone number, even for local calls. Otherwise, you can drop the area code if you're calling locally.

Request the free, booklike annual Texas State Travel Guide from Texas Tourism (☎ 800-888-8839; www.traveltex.com), or get it at one of its 12 Texas Travel Information Centers. The extensive website has lodging listings also.

Read more about the state in the following glossy mags:

Best in Texas Music Magazine (www.bestintexasonline.com) Monthly home-grown concert listings.
Texas Highways (www.texashighways.com) Road-trip through the state's landscape, history and culture.
Texas Monthly (www.texasmonthly.com) In-depth features on personalities, food and current events.
Texas Music Magazine (www.txmusic.com) Follow the latest up-and-coming musicians.
Texas Parks & Wildlife Magazine (www.tpwmagazine.com) All things outdoorsy.
This Week in Texas (www.thisweekintexas.com) Gay and lesbian news and entertainment.

GETTING THERE & AROUND

The main international gateways to the state are Houston's George Bush Intercontinental Airport (IAH), Dallas–Fort Worth International Airport (DFW) and San Antonio International Airport (SAT). Austin and El Paso also have major airports.

Amtrak (p1166) runs the Sunset Limited train between Orlando, Florida and Los Angeles three times a week, with stops including Houston, San Antonio and El Paso. The Texas Eagle runs between Chicago and San Antonio daily, with stops in Dallas–Fort Worth and Austin. Note that trains often have late-night arrivals or departures in Texas.

Greyhound (p1160) and its partner Kerrville Bus Lines (☎ 800-231-2222; www.iridekbc.com) serve all but the tiniest towns, though it may take several transfers and twice as long as by car.

Given the distances, traveling by car is all but necessary in Texas – if you're hiring, make sure you opt for unlimited rental mileage. To avoid one-way drop-off fees, you could catch a cheap intra-Texas flight between cities, from where it's easy to rent a car. Cut-rate carrier Southwest Airlines serves Houston, Dallas, San Antonio, Austin, El Paso, Midland–Odessa, Lubbock, Corpus Christi and Harlingen (South Padre Island). In-Texas hops can cost as little as $49 to $99 one way if you book ahead. Houston-based Continental and Dallas-based American Airlines often match Southwest's sales. For airline contact details, see p1159.

Note that passports are required for all people (US citizens included) crossing in from the border with Mexico. For more details see p1152.

SOUTH-CENTRAL TEXAS

So what if the hills are more mole-size than mountainous; they – and the rivers that flow through them – still define south-central Texas. To the north is the state capital of Austin, where music, music and more music are on the schedule, day or night. Eighty miles south, the major metropolitan centre of San Antonio is home to the Alamo (p720) and the festive Riverwalk (p720) bars and restaurants. Between and to the west of the two towns is the Hill Country (p717). Here you can eat great BBQ, dance across an old wooden floor, or spend a lazy day floating on the river in small Texas-y towns that show the influence of early German and Czech settlers. If you want to get to the heart of Texas in a short time, south-central Texas is the way to go.

AUSTIN

On show is an eclectic pick-a-mix of retro-funk and New Age entrepreneurial spirit. In Austin, a musician resembling a punked-out Lucille Ball might live side by side with an internet millionaire. Heck, they may even be the same person. This mystic soup of social consciousness and capitalist development has fostered quite the city-supported active lifestyle. Buttoned-down businessmen take off to jog along Lady Bird Lake trails or bike through town on cycle-only lanes. And every night at one of 200-plus venues, they (and you) can listen to live indie rock, jazz-funk, Tejano trumpets, techno pop, alt-country, punk ska, acoustic rhythms, Latin sambas, world beat drums…shall we go on? Just don't think that all this coolness has gone unnoticed. Residents are rightly concerned about 'Keeping Austin Weird' as more people migrate in. The restaurant selection has noticeably improved; but not to worry, for now Austin is still the kind of place you'll see 'Jesus is Coming' painted on a rear windshield above a 'Marijuana is king' bumper sticker, or you'll run into someone

DID YOU KNOW?

Texas has more than 125 state parks, historic sites and natural areas. Highlights are listed in this chapter, but there's so much more to explore. You could seek out the unique ecosystem at swampy Caddo Lake, watch bats fly out of Devil's Sinkhole, or see where the Texas Declaration of Independence was signed (in 1836; Texas hasn't seceded – yet). Some parks are remote and rustic; others are downright fancy. Bastrop State Park, in Hill Country, has a swimming pool and golf course to go with its well-equipped cabins. Campsites cost between $3 and $20 per night depending on the facilities, cabins from $40 to $120 for two people. Peruse the free guide, in print and online, put out by Texas Parks & Wildlife (☎ 800-792-1112, central reservations 512-389-8900; www.tpwd.state.tx.us) to start creating your own adventure.

leaving their motel room in the morning with giant sparkly-striped Hula-hoops. Really, we swear, it happened.

History

The second president of the Republic of Texas, Mirabeau Lamar, chose the bend in the Colorado River (which would become Austin) to be the capital in 1839. The city in large part took shape because of the University of Texas (UT), founded here in 1883. (All those longhorn tattoos and car-window stickers you see? Those are Bevo, the UT mascot – 'Hook 'em horns!') Musically speaking, the 1960s and '70s were big locally. Beer joints launched the likes of rock diva Janis Joplin and cosmic cowboy Willie Nelson. Though folk, country and rockabilly roots run deep, there are just as many local artists and venues pounding out punk and indie rock these days.

Orientation

Downtown centers on north–south Congress Ave, below Martin Luther King Jr Blvd. E 6th St, between Congress Ave and I-35, is notorious for nighttime entertainment. Lady Bird Lake, which is really a dammed stretch of the Colorado River, is the southern edge of downtown and the northern boundary of South Austin. Quirky stores, cool restaurants and hip hotels line S Congress Ave (SoCo). North of downtown is UT; Guadalupe St ('the Drag'), with its cheap eats, bars and bookstores, parallels Congress Ave alongside the university. Mopac Expwy (Loop 1) is west of downtown; roads to other area lakes lead off that.

DON'T MISS

- Continental Club – live music, sometimes twice, nightly (p715)
- SoCo boutiques – 'Hey Cupcake,' Allen Boots and lots of quirky shopping (p716)
- Barton Springs Pool – dip in a real cool pool (p712)
- Amy's Ice Cream – Austin's original scoop since 1984 (p715)

Information

Austin indoors is nonsmoking, period (bars, too). A vast wi-fi network blankets downtown. For other hot spots check out www.austinwirelesscity.org. City of Austin libraries (www.ci.austin.tx.us) have free internet.

Austin American-Statesman (www.statesman.com) Daily newspaper.

Austin Visitor Information Center (☎ 512-478-0098; www.austintexas.org; 209 E 6th St; 🕘 9am-5pm Mon-Fri, to 6pm Sat & Sun) Tour and performance tickets sold; general info on hand.

Birds Barbershop (☎ 512-442-8800; 2110 S Lamar Blvd; 🕘 9am-11pm) Hippest haircut in town; mohawks $15.

Book People Inc (☎ 512-472-5050; 603 N Lamar Blvd; 🕘 9am-11pm) A bookstore as independent as Austin.

FedEx Office (☎ 512-472-4448; 327 Congress Ave; 🕘 7am-11pm Mon-Fri, 10am-7pm Sat & Sun) Internet access 30¢ a minute.

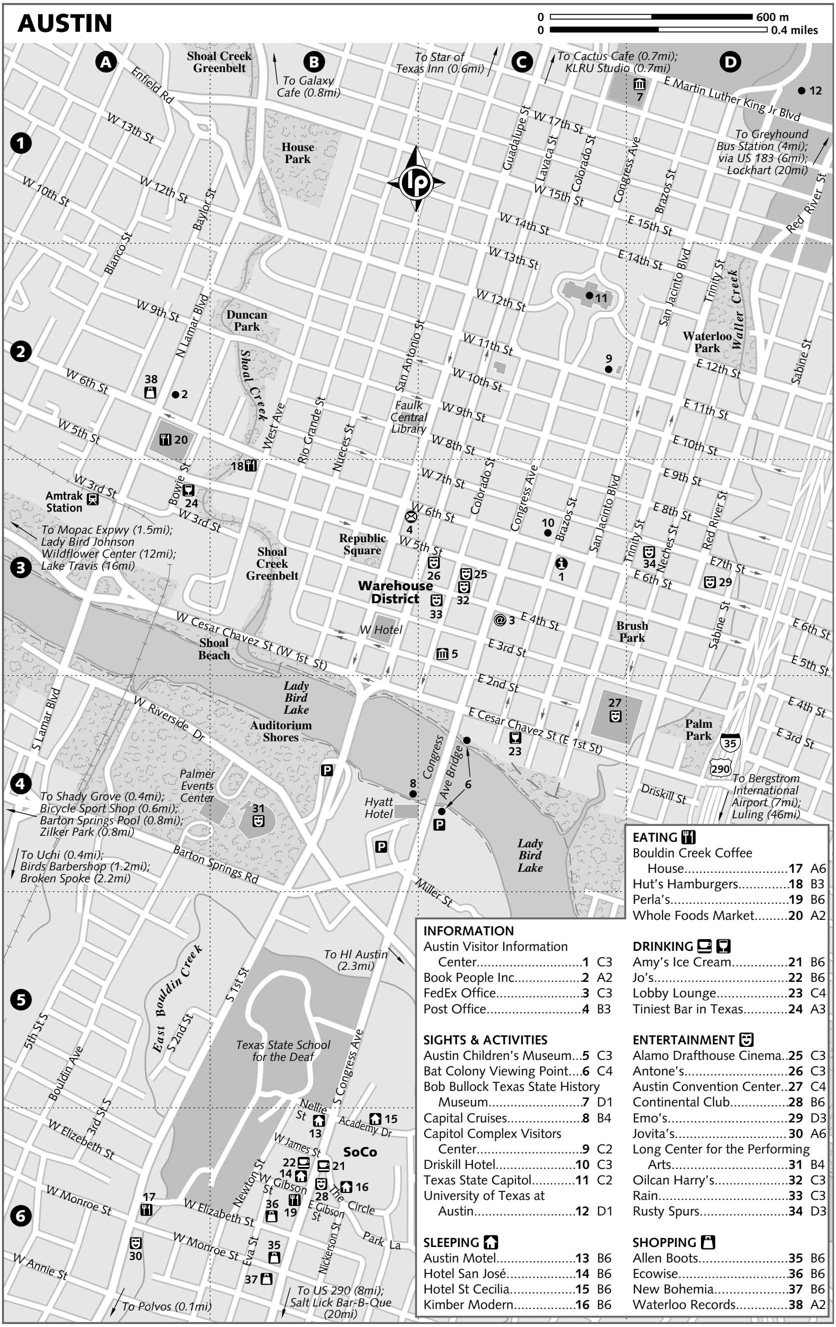
KLRU TV (www.klru.org) PBS affiliate with local programming that includes the popular music show Austin City Limits at 9:30pm Friday.

Post office (☎ 512-494-2206; 510 Guadalupe St)

Sights

Don't limit yourself to the sights; Austin is about the experience. Bars, restaurants, even grocery stores and the airport have live music. And there are outdoor activities galore. A full day might also include shopping for some groovy vintage clothes and getting a J-Bird haircut with a pink highlight.

AUSTIN



0 600 m
0 0.4 miles
A
B
C
D
1
2
3
4
5
6
Shoal Creek Greenbelt
To Galaxy Cafe (0.8mi)
To Star of Texas Inn (0.6mi)
To Cactus Cafe (0.7mi); KLRU Studio (0.7mi)
E Martin Luther King Jr Blvd
To Greyhound Bus Station (4mi); via US 183 (6mi); Lockhart (20mi)
Enfield Rd
W 13th St
W 12th St
W 10th St
House Park
Baylor St
Blanco St
W 17th St
Guadalupe St
Lavaca St
Colorado St
Congress Ave
Brazos St
W 15th St
E 15th St
W 14th St
E 14th St
W 13th St
W 12th St
Red River St
San Jacinto Blvd
Trinity St
Waller Creek
Waterloo Park
Sabine St
E 12th St
W 9th St
N Lamar Blvd
Duncan Park
Shoal Creek
W 11th St
W 10th St
W 9th St
W 8th St
W 7th St
W 6th St
W 5th St
W 3rd St
W 6th St
W 5th St
W 3rd St
San Antonio St
Faulk Central Library
West Ave
Rio Grande St
Nueces St
Bowie St
Amtrak Station
To Mopac Expwy (1.5mi); Lady Bird Johnson Wildflower Center (12mi); Lake Travis (16mi)
Shoal Creek Greenbelt
Republic Square
Warehouse District
W Hotel
Colorado St
Congress Ave
Brazos St
San Jacinto Blvd
Neches St
Trinity St
Red River St
E 11th St
E 10th St
E 9th St
E 8th St
E7th St
E 6th St
E 4th St
E 3rd St
E 2nd St
Brush Park
Sabine St
E 6th St
E 5th St
E 4th St
E 3rd St
W Cesar Chavez St (W 1st St)
E Cesar Chavez St (E 1st St)
Shoal Beach
Lady Bird Lake Auditorium Shores
W Riverside Dr
S Lamar Blvd
Palmer Events Center
Congress Ave Bridge
Hyatt Hotel
Lady Bird Lake
Driskill St
Palm Park 35
290
To Bergstrom International Airport (7mi); Luling (46mi)
To Shady Grove (0.4mi); Bicycle Sport Shop (0.6mi); Barton Springs Pool (0.8mi); Zilker Park (0.8mi)
Barton Springs Rd
To Uchi (0.4mi); Birds Barbershop (1.2mi); Broken Spoke (2.2mi)
Miller St
To HI Austin (2.3mi)
East Bouldin Creek
S 1st St
S 2nd St
5th St S
Bouldin Ave
3rd St S
Texas State School for the Deaf
S Congress Ave
Nellie St
Academy Dr
W James St
SoCo
W Gibson St
E Gibson St
The Circle
Newton St
W Elizabeth St
W Elizabeth St
W Monroe St
W Monroe St
Eva St
Nickerson St
Park La
W Annie St
To Polvos (0.1mi)
To US 290 (8mi); Salt Lick Bar-B-Que (20mi)
P
1
2
3
4
5
6
7
8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16
17 18 19 20 21
22
23 24
25 26 27
28 29 30 31 32 33 34 35
36 37
38

EATING

Bouldin Creek Coffee House	17	A6
Hut's Hamburgers	18	B3
Perla's	19	B6
Whole Foods Market	20	A2

INFORMATION

Austin Visitor Information Center	1	C3
Book People Inc.	2	A2
FedEx Office	3	C3
Post Office	4	B3

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

Austin Children's Museum	5	C3
Bat Colony Viewing Point	6	C4
Bob Bullock Texas State History Museum	7	D1
Capital Cruises	8	B4
Capitol Complex Visitors Center	9	C2
Driskill Hotel	10	C3
Texas State Capitol	11	C2
University of Texas at Austin	12	D1

SLEEPING

Austin Motel	13	B6
Hotel San José	14	B6
Hotel St Cecilia	15	B6
Kimber Modern	16	B6

DRINKING

Amy's Ice Cream	21	B6
Jo's	22	B6
Lobby Lounge	23	C4
Tiniest Bar in Texas	24	A3

ENTERTAINMENT

Alamo Drafthouse Cinema	25	C3
Antone's	26	C3
Austin Convention Center	27	C4
Continental Club	28	B6
Emo's	29	D3
Jovita's	30	A6
Long Center for the Performing Arts	31	B4
Oilcan Harry's	32	C3
Rain	33	C3
Rusty Spurs	34	D3

SHOPPING

Allen Boots	35	B6
Ecowise	36	B6
New Bohemia	37	B6
Waterloo Records	38	A2

GOING BATTY

From late March to early November, up to 1.5 million Mexican free-tailed bats swarm out nightly from their roost on a platform beneath the Congress Avenue Bridge. It's become an Austin tradition to watch around sunset as the little critters head out to dinner (mothers and babies only – this is a mating colony). The battiest views are to be had from the lawns on the riverbanks to the east of the bridge, though we think watching from the balcony of the Four Seasons Hotel's Lobby Lounge (☎ 512-478-4500; 98 San Jacinto Blvd; 🕒 noon-midnight) – while drinking a 'batini' – has its own appeal. Capital Cruises (☎ 512-480-9264; www.capitalcruises.com; 208 Barton Springs Rd; adult/child $8/6) runs bat-watching cruises, departing 30 minutes before sunset; reservations are required. For more on the nocturnal mammal, contact Bat Conservation International (☎ 512-416-5700, category 3636; www.batcon.org).

DOWNTOWN

At dusk bazillions of bats fly out from under Congress Avenue Bridge – it's quite a spectacle (for more, see boxed text, above).

Wander along the hoof-marked ground of a cattle drive, look through a rough-hewn slave cabin or duck into a 1930s-era movie. High-tech interactive exhibits and fun theatrics characterize the superb (and superbly humongous) Bob Bullock Texas State History Museum (☎ 512-936-8746; www.thestoryoftexas.com; 1800 Congress Ave; adult/child $7/4, Texas Spirit film $5/4; 🕒 9am-6pm Mon-Sat, noon-6pm Sun). While you're downtown, you should wander by Austin's own piece of living history: the 1886 Driskill Hotel (☎ 512-474-5911; www.driskillhotel.com; 604 Brazos St). Politicians and presidents have long done business within these wood-paneled walls; Lyndon B Johnson even took his wife, Lady Bird, on their first date here.

And, yes, the 1888, stunning, pink-granite Texas State Capitol (☎ 512-463-0063; cnr 11th St & Congress Ave; admission free; 🕒 7am-10pm Mon-Fri, 9am-8pm Sat & Sun) is really 15ft taller than the US Capitol in Washington, DC. (Everything's bigger in Texas, remember?) Nearby, the Capitol Complex Visitors Center (☎ 512-305-8400; www.texascapitolvisitorscenter.com; 112 E 11th St; 🕒 9am-5pm Mon-Sat, noon-5pm Sun) is the place to book capital tours and see how the building was built.

Kids can build skyscrapers and explore cross-cultural traditions at the colorful Austin Children's Museum (☎ 512-472-2499; www.austinkids.org; 210 Colorado St; admission $6.50; 🕒 10am-5pm Tue-Sat, noon-5pm Sun).

UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS AT AUSTIN

At the time of writing, the local PBS affiliate KLRU Studio (☎ 512-475-9077; www.pbs.org/klru/austin; Communications Bldg B, cnr 26th & Guadalupe Sts, 6th fl) records the supercool Austin City Limits, a Texas music-TV program on the UT campus. You can tour the studio every Friday at 10:30am for free. Tickets for tapings are also free; however, they're hard to come by since they're given away at radio-announced locations and run out fast. Call the hotline (☎ 512-475-9077) for schedule information. In late 2010 or early 2011, the studio is scheduled to move to a new location in the 2nd St entertainment district. Check online for updates at www.2ndstreetdistrict.com.

SOUTH AUSTIN

Go Kodak crazy in the gardens and along the nature trails of Lady Bird Johnson Wildflower Center (☎ 512-292-4200; www.wildflower.org; 4801 La Crosse Ave; adult/child $7/3; 🕒 9am-5:30pm Tue-Sat, noon-5:30pm Sun), 12 miles south on the Mopac Expwy. April is bluebonnet season.

Activities

To the west of downtown, you can dive into the spring-fed, sparkly clear waters of Barton Springs Pool (☎ 512-476-9044; 2201 Barton Springs Rd; adult/child $3/2; 🕒 9am-8pm mid-Apr–Sep) – it seems like everyone else in Austin does. The banks of the dammed river are left pretty natural, so don't mind the turtles.

Barton Springs forms the centerpiece of 351-acre Zilker Park (☎ 512-472-4914; www.ci.austin.tx.us/zilker; 2201 Barton Springs Rd), which has trails, a nature center and botanical gardens. Creekside just north of the pool, you can rent kayaks from Zilker Park Boat Rentals (☎ 512-478-3852; www.zilkerboats.com; Zilker Park; per hr/day $10/40; 🕒 10am-dark daily May-Oct).

Lady Bird Lake hike and bike trail runs along the northern and southern waterfront through downtown and beyond. As of 2009, Lance Armstrong–named bike lanes connect through downtown to the lakeside paths. Park near the Congress Avenue Bridge and take a walk; or reserve ahead and rent a bike (from $22 a day) at Bicycle Sport Shop (☎ 512-477-3472; http://bicyclesportshop.com; 517 S Lamar Blvd; 🕑 10am-8pm Mon-Fri, 9am-6pm Sat, 11am-5pm Sun). A free PDF map brochure of all bicycle routes in Austin is available online at www.cityofaustin.org/bicycle.

Festivals & Events

South by Southwest (SXSW; ☎ 512-467-7979; www.sxsw.com) One of the American music industry's biggest gatherings, held in mid-March (see the boxed text, p715).

Austin City Limits Music Festival (☎ 512-389-0315; www.aclfestival.com; 3-day pass $185) The locals' favorite: more than 130 bands play on eight stages for three days in September.

Sleeping

SoCo has some quirky and cool digs. Hotels downtown are high-rent, but you don't have to go far to find reasonable motels.

BUDGET

Chain motels line up all along I-35; south of town, a whole slew of them congregate near the Oltorf St intersection (including a Howard Johnson, Days Inn and a Red Roof Inn).

HI Austin (☎ 512-444-2294; www.hiaustin.org; 2200 S Lakeshore Blvd; dm members/nonmembers $19/22; ⊠ ✤ 💻 📶) Two-story views of the lake from the sunny great room – complete with fish tank, guitar and comfy couches – might make even nonhostelers consider a stay. Bus it or rent a bike ($10 a day) for the 2.5-mile trek to downtown. Power at this green-friendly hostelry comes from solar collectors. Cat on-site.

our pick Austin Motel (☎ 512-441-1157; www.austinmotel.com; 1220 S Congress Ave; r $69-110; Ⓟ ✤ 📶 🏊) Decorated with a waterfall mural or retro polka dots, each room is individually fun or funky. Random, savvy-thrift-shopper furniture makes this old motor-court motel oddly appealing. The least expensive rooms are shoeboxes; the poolside pads are palatial.

MIDRANGE

Note that at the time of writing, a shiny new W Hotel (www.whotels.com) was under construction on 2nd St in downtown.

Star of Texas Inn (☎ 512-472-6700; www.staroftexasinn.com; 611 W 22nd St; r incl breakfast $95-200; ⊠ ✤ 💻 📶) Make yourself at home in a rambling-old-house B&B near UT. The hip young owners (and dog and cats) couldn't be friendlier.

Hotel San José (☎ 512-444-7322; www.sanjosehotel.com; 1316 S Congress Ave; r with shared bath $105, with bath $160-240; Ⓟ ⊠ ✤ 📶 🏊) Cherry platform beds float beneath pendant lights, and meditation nooks punctuate native Texas gardens – Hotel San José just oozes sleek and simple sophistication. The courtyard bar is known for its celebrity-spotting potential.

TOP END

Kimber Modern (☎ 512-912-1046; www.kimbermodern.com; 110 The Circle; r incl breakfast $250-350; Ⓟ ⊠ ✤ 📶) Staying in one of the five rooms at the architecturally adept Kimber does indeed seem like sleeping in a minimalist art museum – one with a Frake espresso machine and Egyptian cotton linens.

Hotel St Cecilia (☎ 512-852-2400; www.hotelstcecilia.com; 112 Academy Dr; r $300-500; Ⓟ ⊠ ✤ 💻 📶 🏊) Named in honor of the patron saint of music, here you can check out a record from the lobby's vinyl collection to play on your room's turntable. Studios, in an old Austin arts-and-crafts house, are classic in style; the sleek poolside bungalows are all mod and moody.

Eating

The hip-and-trendy but fun S Congress Ave eateries (south of Nellie St/Academy Dr) have been discovered. Those in the know go instead to S 1st St (1400 to 2100 blocks), where Mexican herbalists and tattoo parlors alternate with trailer-park food courts and organic cafés. Barton Springs Rd (east of Lamar Blvd) also has a number of interesting eateries, and Guadalupe St by UT is the place to look for cheap eats. Some great meat-market BBQ is available in nearby central Texas; see the boxed text, p718.

DOWNTOWN

Hut's Hamburgers (☎ 512-472-3050; 807 W 6th St; meals $5-9; 🕑 11am-10pm) Choose from regular beef, natural grass-fed cattle or buffalo meat for your burger at this Austin roadhouse (it was opened in 1939). Southern mains, like chicken-fried steak, are pretty good too.

Whole Foods Market (☎ 512-476-1206; www.wholefoods.com; 525 N Lamar Blvd; sandwiches $6-9, mains $6-15; 🕑 8am-10pm; 📶) The flagship of the Austin-founded Whole Foods Market is a gourmet grocery and café with restaurant counters and a staggering takeaway buffet, including

TASTES BORN IN TEXAS

- Corny dogs – cornbread-batter-dipped hot dogs on a stick were created in 1948 by Neil Fletcher for the State Fair of Texas (p737); Fletcher's still sells 'em there; now available with jalapeño cornbread too.
- Shiner Bock – the state's favorite amber ale came to be when Kosmos Spoetzl brought Bavarian brewing to Shiner, Texas, in 1914. Available countrywide, it's still brewed at Spoetzl Brewery (☎ 361-594-3383; www.shiner.com; 603 E Brewery St, Shiner; admission free; 🕑 gift shop 9am-5pm Mon-Fri, 10am-3pm Sat, tours 11am & 1:30pm).
- Chicken-fried bacon – you've heard of steak coated and deep-fried like chicken, but the taste (and heart-attack factor) was taken to new heights when Sodolak's (☎ 979-272-6002; 9711 Fm 60 E, Snook; mains $6-15; 🕑 11am-10pm), near Bryan-College Station, started cooking bacon the same way in the early 1990s.
- Dr Pepper – a pharmacist in a Waco drugstore–soda shop invented this aromatic cola in the 1880s. Taste the original sugarcane formula at the first bottling plant, Dublin Dr Pepper (☎ 888-398-1024; www.olddocs.com; 105 E Elm St, Dublin; museum free, tours adult/child $2.50/2; 🕑 10am-5pm). Don't forget to pick up some Dr Pepper cake mix at the gift-and-ice-cream shop.

self-made salads, global mains, deli sandwiches and more.

SOUTH AUSTIN

The latest food trend in Austin is the Airstream-trailer food court. In several south Austin lots, vendors have arranged their Silver Bullets aside one another, selling crepes, tacos, pizza – whatever ('Hey Cupcake' is a favorite). They're open roughly noon to 8pm, from Tuesday to Sunday. Two of the best locations are in the 1600 block of S Congress Ave and the 1300 block of S 1st St; the latter has shade and tables.

Bouldin Creek Coffee House (☎ 512-416-1601; 1501 S 1st St; meals $5-7; 🕑 7am-midnight Mon-Fri, 9am-midnight Sat & Sun; 📶 Ⓥ) You can get your veggie chorizo scrambler or organic oatmeal with apples all day long at this eclectic vegan/vegetarian eatery. Dishes like Italian fajitas (with portobello and zucchini strips) are quite hearty.

Polvos (☎ 512-441-5446; 2004 S 1st St; breakfast $5-8, mains $9-16; 🕑 8am-11pm) Fun, festive and just a little divey, Polvos serves central-Mexican food that always packs in a crowd. Try some of the dozen or so salsa varieties with one of the fierce margaritas.

Uchi (☎ 512-916-4808; 801 S Lamar Blvd; small plates $9-16; 🕑 5:30-10pm Sun-Thu, to 11pm Fri & Sat) Artisanal Japanese-fusion food and slap-your-face fresh sushi at this modern Asian restaurant rival that of New York's finest. Book well ahead if you hope to experience the wonder.

Perla's (☎ 512-291-7300; 1400 S Congress Ave; lunch $11-15, dinner mains $18-26; 🕑 11:30am-3pm & 5-10pm) Beautiful people lounge about the outdoor sofas and tables at this see-and-be-seen fish house on the SoCo strip. Reservations are essential.

AROUND TOWN

Galaxy Cafe (☎ 512-478-3434; 1000 W Lynn St; breakfasts & sandwiches $6-9, dinner specials $11; 🕑 7am-10pm) Oh, that flourless chocolate cake! Or is it the sweet-potato french fries with the blue-cheesey burger? Or maybe it's the retro self-serve diner decor (in a former laundromat) that keeps 'em coming back.

Salt Lick Bar-B-Que (☎ 512-894-3117; www.saltlickbbq.com; 18300 FM 1826, Driftwood; mains $10-16; 🕑 11am-10pm) It's worth the 20-mile drive just to see the massive outdoor barbecue pits at this park-like place off US 290. It's a bit of a tourist fave, but the crowd-filled experience still gets our nod. BYOB.

Drinking

The frat-boy brawl that is E 6th St gets started evenings when middle-aged tourists fill the dozens of similarly pubby bars. As the night progresses, the crowd gets younger and rowdier than a pig in heat. It's not necessarily the best Austin has to offer, but it is something to see. Start at Congress Ave and crawl your way east or west.

The lounges around the Warehouse District (near the intersection of W 4th and Colorado Sts) are a bit more upscale and attract a more sophisticated crowd. Far W 6th St (from Lamar Blvd to Congress Ave) is the newest eat-and-drink destination: the fun-loving Tiniest Bar in Texas (☎ 512-391-6222; 817 W 5th St; 🕑 2pm-2am) has a Wii game inside and a huge patio outside.

SoCo caters to the more offbeat in eclectic Austin. Grab a homemade shake at the Austin-original Amy's Ice Cream (☎ 512-440-7488; 1301 S Congress Ave; 🕑 11am-10pm) or a table and coffee across the street at Jo's (☎ 512-444-3800; 1300 S Congress Ave; 🕑 7am-10pm; 📶), an outdoor-only café, and then watch as the local tattoo art walks by.

Entertainment

LIVE MUSIC

Now you're talking – music is the reason to come to Austin. More than a hundred clubs host jam sessions throughout the week, and that doesn't include the restaurants, grocery stores (like Whole Foods), record shops and city hall that also have live music. The free weekly Austin Chronicle (www.austinchronicle.com) and the 360 entertainment section in Thursday's Austin American-Statesman (www.austin360.com) newspaper both have listings. Remember, even clubs are nonsmoking. The most concentrated of the music 'hoods is Red River St, a pretty hard-core scene in which indie, ska and metal prevail. Otherwise clubs are spread through the drinking districts (listed above) and beyond.

Continental Club (☎ 512-441-2444; www.continentalclub.com; 1315 S Congress Ave) Beret-wearing beatniks, suburban housewives and backpack-toting tourists come together at this granddaddy of all Austin clubs. The two nightly shows might be any kind of music.

Broken Spoke (☎ 512-442-6189; www.brokenspokeaustintx.com; 3201 S Lamar Blvd; 🕑 11am-midnight Tue-Thu, to 2am Fri & Sat) With sand-covered wood floors and wagon-wheel chandeliers that George Strait once hung from, Broken Spoke is a true Texas honky-tonk. Look for local country acts like Dale Watson and Gary Nunn.

Cactus Cafe (☎ 512-475-6599; www.myspace.com/cactuscafeaustin; Texas Union, cnr 24th & Guadalupe Sts; 🕑 3pm-midnight Mon-Thu, to 1am Fri & Sat) Listen to acoustic up close and personal at this intimate club on the UT campus.

Antone's (☎ 512-320-8424; www.antones.net; 213 W 5th St) This is the blues greats' swanky first choice when they stop in Austin. If Texas-native Marcia Ball is playing – go.

Emo's (☎ 512-477-3666; www.emosaustin.com; 603 Red River St) Emo's leads the pack in the punk and indie scene along Red River St.

Jovita's (☎ 512-447-7825; www.jovitas.com; 1619 S 1st St; 🕑 11am-11pm Tue-Sun) Shows start at 6pm or 8pm at Jovita's restaurant, which has a huge stage for live Tex-Mex music.

THEATER & CINEMA

Long Center for the Performing Arts (☎ 512-457-5100; www.longcenter.org; 701 W Riverside Dr) This state-of-the-art theater opened in late 2008 as part

THE MUSIC FESTIVAL TO END ALL MUSIC FESTIVALS

Nearly 10,000 musicians and fans converge on Austin for five days in mid-March for South by Southwest (SXSW; ☎ 512-467-7979; http://sxsw.com), the mecca of music festivals. The roughly 1700 acts that play around town represent every genre of music – metal funk, indie ska, baseline jazz, rock, acoustic… And there are scads more unofficial bands playing at unofficial venues. Then there are the parties, both private and public (some are listed at www.austinist.com). This is the best (for indie music-lovers) or worst (for crowd-haters) time to be in Austin. Hotels are often booked a year in advance.

Buying a Platinum Badge ($850 to $1145, depending how far ahead you buy) allows access to all three trade shows (music, film and internet), conferences, talks, film screenings, clubs and VIP lounges. A Music Badge ($550 to $695) gains entry to the music conference, trade show and nightly gigs (both badges are sold online starting in September). The cheapest way to get into the clubs, however, is to buy a wristband ($180). The surprise sale date – usually in late February or early March – is announced by same-day text message. For details, check online at http://wristbands.sxsw.com. Note that those with badges gain entry before those with wristbands; and capacity controls are strictly enforced, which means that everyone may not get in. If your heart's set on seeing a certain group, go early and wait through a couple of acts. Research pays: the same showcase bands that sell out nights also play day parties and in-store gigs. Check the Austin Chronicle (www.austinchronicle.com) for SXSW event listings.

GAY & LESBIAN AUSTIN

The Austin Gay & Lesbian Chamber of Commerce (☎ 512-472-4422; www.aglcc.org) sponsors the Pride Parade in June, as well as smaller events throughout the year. The Austin Chronicle (www.austinchronicle.com) runs a gay event column among the weekly listings, and the glossy L Style/G Style (www.lstylegstyle.com) magazine has a dual gal/guy focus.

A relative newcomer to the GLBT scene, Rusty Spurs (☎ 512-482-9002; www.rustyspurs.com; 405 E 7th St) is part country-and-western dance club, part patio bar and part cabaret. A few doors apart in the Warehouse District are two popular gay dance clubs: Oilcan Harry's (☎ 512-320-8823; www.oilcanharrys.com; 211 W 4th St) raves on with loud house music and a raucous crowd; and Rain (☎ 513-494-1190; www.rainon4th.com; 217 W 4th St) is a bit more laid-back, with a pool table and patio in addition to a dancefloor.

Outside town, at Lake Travis, Hippie Hollow (opposite) is a clothing-optional, gay-friendly beach. First Splash and Last Splash parties (the first Sunday in May and September, respectively) draw big crowds.

of a waterfront redevelopment along Lady Bird Lake. The multistage venue hosts drama, dance, concerts and comedians.

Alamo Drafthouse Cinema (☎ 512-867-1839; www.originalalamo.com; 409 Colorado St; admission $7) Eat dinner, down a brewski, and watch cult classics and independent films at a downtown theater. The quote-along Princess Bride showings are pretty hilarious.

Sports

Get ready to rumble – it's roller-derby night and the Hellcat women skaters are expected to kick some Cherry Bomb ass. No matter who wins, the TXRD Lonestar Rollergirls (www.txrd.com) league always puts on a good show, usually at the Austin Convention Center (☎ 512-404-4000; www.austinconventioncenter.com; 500 E Cesar Chavez St).

Shopping

Find something fun at all the kitsch candy and costume shops, vintage-clothing stores and cool boutiques on S Congress Ave. On the first Thursday of every month, stores stay open late and restaurants host bands on the patios.

Allen Boots (☎ 512-447-1413; 1522 S Congress Ave) Need new fire-red lizard boots with orange flames licking up the side? Allen Boots stocks thousands of the best pairs of attention-grabbing boots – just ask local celebrity Sandra Bullock.

Waterloo Records (☎ 512-474-2500; www.waterloorecords.com; 600 N Lamar Blvd; ⏰ 9am-10pm) Austin's one-stop music central shop hosts concerts, sells tickets and generally acts as the source for local music info – in addition to selling CDs.

New Bohemia (☎ 512-326-1238; 1606 S Congress Ave; ⏰ noon-10pm) When it comes to retro thrift shops, New Bohemia is the place to look for vintage jewelry and clothing.

Ecowise (☎ 512-326-4474; 1110 W Elizabeth St) Earth-friendly gifts, toys and housewares are for sale off SoCo.

Getting There & Around

Austin-Bergstrom International Airport (AUS; ☎ 512-530-2242; www.ci.austin.tx.us/austinairport) is off Hwy 71, southeast of downtown. The Airport Flyer (bus 100, $1.50) runs to downtown (7th St and Congress Ave) and UT (Congress Ave and 18th St) every 40 minutes or so. SuperShuttle (☎ 512-258-3826; www.supershuttle.com) charges $16 from the airport to downtown. A taxi between the airport and downtown costs from $20 to $25. Most of the national rental-car companies are represented at the airport.

The Greyhound Bus Station (☎ 512-458-4463; www.greyhound.com; 916 E Koenig Lane) is located on the north side of town off I-35; take bus 7 (Duval; $1.50) to downtown. More than 10 buses a day leave for San Antonio (from $16, 1½ hours).

The Texas Eagle, heading from San Antonio to Chicago, stops at Austin's Amtrak Station (☎ 512-476-5684; www.amtrak.com; 250 N Lamar Blvd).

Capital Metro (☎ 512-474-1200; www.capmetro.org) runs a citywide service, including the tourist-oriented Dillo trolleybus (50¢ per ride). The Congress Dillo line runs north–south on the namesake avenue, connecting the capitol with 6th St. The 6th St Dillo runs west through town on 6th and back east on 5th St.

AROUND AUSTIN

Northwest of Austin along the Colorado River are the six Highland Lakes. Though recent years have seen serious droughts, one of the most popular lakes for recreation – when there's water – is the 19,000-sq-acre Lake Travis. Rent boats and jet skis at the associated marina, or overnight in the posh digs at Lakeway Resort and Spa (☎ 512-261-6600; www.dolce-lakeway-hotel.com; 101 Lakeway Dr; r from $169; ❄ 💻 📶 🏊), off Hwy 71. Lake Austin Spa Resort (☎ 512-372-7300; www.lakeaustin.com; 1705 S Quinlan Park Rd, off FM 2222; 3-night packages from $1600; ⊠ ❄ 💻 🏊) is the premier place to be pampered in the state. And Lake Travis has Texas' only official nude beach. Hippie Hollow (www.hippiehollow.com; day pass $10; 🕒 9am-dusk Sep-May, 8am-dusk Jun-Aug) is a popular gay hangout with regular events – naked yoga, anyone? To get there from FM 2222, take Rte 620 south 1.5 miles to Comanche Trail and turn right. The entrance is 2 miles ahead on the left.

HILL COUNTRY

Detour down dirt roads in search of fields of wildflowers, check into a dude ranch to live the cowboy life, float along the Guadalupe River on a lazy day or twirl around an old dance-hall floor. Most of the small towns in the rolling hills and valleys to the west and between Austin and San Antonio are easy day trips – from either city. More than a century ago, German and Czech immigrants settled these towns; look for their influence in the local names and food offerings.

Gruene

False-front wood buildings and old German homes make this the quintessential rustic Texas town. All of Gruene (pronounced green) is on the National Historic Register – and boy, do day-trippers know it. You won't be alone wandering among the arts-and-crafts and knickknack shops in search of the perfect straw cowboy hat. However, dancing at the place that stakes claim to being Texas' oldest dance hall (c 1878), Gruene Hall (☎ 830-606-1281; www.gruenehall.com; 1280 Gruene Rd; 🕒 11am-9pm Mon-Wed, 10am-midnight Thu & Fri, 10am-1am Sat, 10am-9pm Sun), makes it all worthwhile. Country, Cajun or folk-rock bands play nightly in summer, and at least three nights a week the rest of the year. If you go in on a weekend afternoon, you don't have to pay a cover.

Lonestar Music Store (☎ 830-627-1992; 1243 Gruene Rd; 🕒 10am-7pm Sun-Thu, to 9pm Sat & Sun) has a great Texas-music selection and also hosts concerts some Sunday afternoons.

Launch in Gruene to float lazily downriver in an inner tube, which is a Texas summer tradition. Rent what you need at Rockin' R River Rides (☎ 830-629-9999; www.rockinr.com; 1405 Gruene

AUSTIN LOUNGE LIZARDS

For more than 20 years the Austin Lounge Lizards (www.austinloungelizards.com) have been playing Texas clubs and poking some serious fun at subjects from passion to politics in a bevy of musical genres, including folk, country, bluegrass and surfers' rock. Founding member, and native Texan, Conrad Deisler plays guitar and contributes to the wacky, wordsmithy lyrics. He answered some of our questions.

A lot of your songs, such as the repetitively redundant ballad 'Big Rio Grande River,' deal with Texas topics…Texas is so rife with outrages both legendary and banal that a whole raft of songwriters could mine its veins for decades without bumping into each other.

What do you consider best/worst about the state? Does your 'Stupid Texas Song' ('Our accents are the drawliest, our howdies are the y'alliest, our Lone Star flag's the waviest, our fried steak's the cream-graviest…') have anything to do with it? If you spend a little time here, you'll quickly learn to place the hype in proper perspective. It's almost like an inside joke – everybody knows that Texas is huge, hot, flat and prone to natural disasters and venomous snakes, but come on down and we will show you a good time!

Immigration is always a hot topic – thoughts? Our song 'Teenage Immigrant Welfare Mothers on Drugs' gets timelier by the moment. We didn't write it, but we enhanced it with Lee Goland's permission. After one show, a Mexican immigrant approached me – his wife and friend were quite upset. He said he'd been in this country for seven years and thought he understood the song as satire. I told him that, indeed, we were depicting those who express bitter opposition to the influx of foreign workers while profiting from their labor. He seemed relieved. We shook hands.

THE BEST BBQ

People take their BBQ pretty personally in Texas. Every few years Texas Monthly stirs the pot by publishing its picks for the best 'Q (most recently in 2008). Central Texas has a strong meat-market tradition that dates back to German and Czech settlers' influence.

Arguably the BBQ capital of Texas, Lockhart (20 miles southeast of Austin on US 183) has four places to get your fix. The two most frequented are barnlike Kreuz Market (☎ 512-398-2361; 619 N Colorado St; 🕒 10:30am-8pm Mon-Sat), where the ribs taste like peppery jerky on the outside and juicy tenderloin inside – ham, beans and such are also served. Smitty's (☎ 512-398-9344; 208 S Commerce St; 🕒 7am-6pm Mon-Sat, 9am-3pm Sun) is the real deal: the blackened pit room and homely dining room are all original (knives used to be chained to the tables). Ask them to trim off the fat on the brisket if you're particular about that.

But judging from our unscientific but extensive tasting, it's nearby Luling's City Market (☎ 830-875-9019; 633 E Davis; 🕒 7am-6pm Mon-Sat) that wins all-round best BBQ in the state. Years of smoke blacken the pit room, the brisket is always succulent, the sausage is made on-site and a tart-and-tangy sauce adds a lot. Besides, everybody knows everybody here – it's a real slice of small-town life. Don't ask for utensils or plates: there haven't been any since it opened in the 1930s. Why fix what ain't broke? Your hands and butcher paper will do just fine.

For more tasty bits, check out Robb Walsh's Legends of Texas Barbecue Cookbook and Follow the Smoke: 14,783 Miles of Great Texas Barbecue by John DeMers.

Rd; tubes per day $17; 🕒 8am-2:30pm). The outfitter buses you up the Guadalupe and you float the three to four hours back to base. Put a plastic (not Styrofoam) cooler full of adult beverages (cans, no bottles) in a bottom-fortified tube next to you and you have a day.

If you can still stand afterwards, you could dine out on the decks overlooking the river at Gristmill Restaurant (☎ 830-625-0684; 1287 Gruene Rd; mains $15-22; 🕒 11am-11pm), an open-air place sort of contained in an old mill ruin.

What with all the BBQ pits, volleyball nets, tube rental and grassy riverfront lawn, the rustic, removed Gruene Outpost River Lodge (☎ 830-625-7772; www.grueneoutpostlodge.com; 1273 River Tce; r $85-125; ⊠ ❄ 🏊) feels a bit like summer camp. The more central, innlike Gruene Apple Bed & Breakfast (☎ 830-643-1234; www.grueneapple.com; 1235 Gruene Rd; r incl breakfast $195-235; ⊠ ❄ 📶) is a bit more swish – with a movie-screening room, individually decorated guest quarters and elaborate breakfasts.

Gruene is just off I-10 and Rte 46, 45 miles south of Austin and 25 miles northeast of San Antonio.

Fredericksburg

Victorian town houses filled with boutiques line the main street of the region's largest old German-settled town (c 1870). This extremely busy street is the six-lane US 290, which detracts from the town's quaintness. However, it doesn't seem to deter the parade of retirees who come to shop here. So if you like precious B&Bs and cute crafts, you've found your spot – just ask the Fredericksburg Convention & Visitors Bureau (☎ 830-997-6523; www.fredericksburg-texas.com; 302 E Austin St; 🕒 9am-5pm Mon-Sat, noon-5pm Sun). Be aware that not much German is spoken (or food cooked well) here anymore.

WWII Pacific fleet commander Admiral Chester Nimitz grew up in Fredericksburg. His family's old hotel contains part of the well-detailed National Museum of the Pacific War (☎ 830-997-4379; www.nimitz-museum.org; 100 Legacy Dr; adult/child $7/4; 🕒 9am-5pm), which has some larger artillery and tons of soldiers' mementos.

In and around the area are 15 wineries. Pick up a wine-trail map (www.texaswinetrail.com) at the visitor center or stop at Fredericksburg Winery (☎ 830-990-8747; www.fbgwinery.com; 247 W Main St; 🕒 10am-5:30pm Mon-Thu, to 7:30pm Fri & Sat, noon-5:30pm Sun) for an in-town tasting.

Eighteen miles north of Fredericksburg, Enchanted Rock State Natural Area (☎ 325-247-3903; www.tpwd.state.tx.us; Rte 965; adult/child $6/free; 🕒 8am-10pm) is a 425ft-high, big pink rock that sure looks out of place. If you want to climb it, go early; gates close when the daily attendance quota is reached.

Nearly 300 B&Bs do business in this county; Gastehaus Schmidt Reservation Service (☎ 830-997-5612; www.fbglodging.com) helps sort them out. National newsman Dan Rather came from Fredericksburg; his star-chef daughter Rebecca runs Rather Sweet Bakery & Café (☎ 830-990-0498; 249 E Main St; sweets $2-5, sandwiches $6-9; 🕗 8am-5pm Mon-Sat).

Fredericksburg is 78 miles west of Austin on Hwy 281, and 70 miles north of San Antonio (via I-10 and US 87). Kerrville Bus Co (☎ 800-231-2222; www.iridekbc.com; Golden Convenience Store, 1001 S Adams St) sends two daily buses to and from San Antonio (from $27, two hours); none to Austin.

Luckenbach

Calling Luckenbach a town is a bit of an exaggeration. The handful of creaky wooden buildings here includes a dance hall, a concession stand, a hat shop and the General Store & Luckenbach Bar (☎ 830-997-3224; www.luckenbachtexas.com; 🕗 9am-10pm Mon-Sat, noon-10pm Sun). Part fun Western mercantile, part post office and part beer joint, this oddball place has been a country-music shrine ever since Hondo Crouch bought the 'town' in 1970 and invited friends like Waylon and Willie to hang out. Pickers and singers still play most afternoons (1pm), either inside the store or out under the oak trees. Check online for events; frequent festivals take over the place. From Fredericksburg, follow US 290 east to FM 1376 and turn south about 3 miles.

Bandera

Cowboy up! Bandera's worked hard to keep its Old West character – no McDonald's are allowed in this town, pardner. Here you see horses regularly tied up on the main street, and numerous local saloons are goin' strong. From the false-front buildings, stores sell Western duds or rustic antiques, and a few cafés serve up hearty grub. There's always something doin': strolling minstrels and cowboy demonstrations entertain on the main street from 1pm to 4pm each Saturday, April though November; cowboy Christmas events take over after that.

But the main reason why wannabe cowpokes come is to saddle up at the dozen or so outlying dude ranches. The friendly folks at Bandera County Visitors Bureau (☎ 800-364-3833; www.banderacowboycapital.com; 1206 Hackberry St; 🕗 9am-5pm Mon-Fri, 10am-4pm Sat) will gladly help figure out which dude ranch suits you. At most, lodging (cabins or rooms), meals (cookouts or buffets) and at least a one-hour horseback ride per day are included for an average of $95 to $150 per person, per night. There may also be hay rides, kids' programs, ropin' lessons, swimming and such, depending on the place.

At Silver Spur Guest Ranch (☎ 830-796-3037; www.ssranch.com; 9266 Bandera Creek Rd), in addition to overnightin', you can do nonguest day rides – one hour on horseback plus a campfire-cooked breakfast costs about $50. Twin Elm Ranch (☎ 830-796-3628; www.twinelmranch.com; cnr Rte 470 & Hwy 16; rodeo nonguests/guests $6/free; 🕗 8pm Fri May-Aug) has lots of family-friendly activities, including river tubing, and hosts open-to-the-public rodeos on Fridays in season. Serious riders should check into Hill Country Equestrian Lodge (☎ 830-796-7950; www.hillcountryequestlodge.com; 1580 Hay Hollar Rd), a smaller (pricier) operation that dotes on its horses, won't take more than five people out on a ride at a time and only offers breakfast.

Digging into a big steak-and-eggs breakfast at OST Restaurant (☎ 830-796-3836; 305 Main St; breakfast $4-7, mains $7-14; 🕗 6am-10pm) before a ride just seems right. For entertainment after the sun goes down, mosey over to the patio at 11th Street Cowboy Bar (☎ 830-796-4849; 307 11th St; 🕗 10am-midnight Mon-Fri, to 1am Sat, noon-midnight

SCENIC DRIVE: WILDFLOWER TRAILS

You know spring has arrived in Texas when you see cars pulling up roadside and families climbing out to take the requisite picture of their kids surrounded by bluebonnets – the state flower. From March to April in Hill Country, orange Indian paintbrushes, deep-purple winecups and white-to-blue bluebonnets are at their peak. To see vast cultivated fields of color, there's Wildseed Farms (☎ 800-848-0078; www.wildseedfarms.com; 100 Legacy Dr; general admission free, botanical garden $5; 🕗 9am-6:30pm), which is 7 miles east of Fredericksburg on US 290. Or for a more do-it-yourself experience, check with TXDOT's Wildflower Hotline (☎ 800-452-9292) to find out what's blooming where. Taking Rte 16 and FM 1323, north from Fredericksburg and east to Willow City, is usually a good route. Then again you might just set to wandering – most backroads host their own shows daily.

Sun). Hank Williams Sr used to play at Arky Blue's Silver Dollar Saloon (☎ 830-796-8826; 308 Main St; 🕓 10am-2am); look for the table into which he carved his name. Both bars have live country crooners from Friday to Sunday.

From Austin, Bandera is about 100 miles (via I-35 and Rte 46); it's 27 miles northwest of San Antonio's outskirts on Rte 16 (or Bandera Rd).

SAN ANTONIO

More than 2.5 million tourists a year cry 'Remember the Alamo!' as they stampede ol' San Antone's central mission, the site of the infamous battle/massacre. Crowds come for the history, and to party along the tree-shaded Riverwalk – which has more cafés and clubs than a dog has fleas. The volume of visitors is daunting (as is the amount of commercial crap that's developed around the Alamo – Davy Crockett's wild amusement ride?), but the lively Tex-Mex culture (about 60% of the 1.35 million residents have Hispanic heritage) is worth experiencing. Sure, see the Alamo and the Riverwalk, but go beyond them. Drink an agua fresca (fruit-infused water) at the mercado (marketplace) and then hear country music at an old country store – here you can fiesta one day and rodeo the next.

History

In the 18th century the Spanish established a string of missions in the area for territorial defense and the religious conversion of the indigenous people. By 1724 the Mission San Antonio de Valero (now known as the Alamo) had been moved to the current site. The town became the seat of the Tejas state government in an independent Mexico. A few years later, a large influx of German immigrants arrived post–US statehood. The city's growth in the 20th century was due in large part to local military bases – and tourist dollars.

Orientation

The intersection of Commerce and Losoya Sts is the very heart of downtown and the Riverwalk, which runs in a U shape below street level. Signs point out access stairways, but a 3-D map bought at the info center is the best way to get oriented. Southtown and the King William Historic District lie south along the river.

Information

Visitor center 'amigos' (in turquoise shirts and straw hats) roam the downtown core offering direction.

Alamo Bookstore (☎ 210-225-1391; www.thealamo.org; Alamo, 300 Alamo Plaza; 🕓 9am-5:30pm Mon-Sat, 10am-5:30pm Sun, to 7pm daily Jun-Aug) Amazing array of area history books.

Good Bytes Café (☎ 210-444-2233; www.goodbytescafe.org; 418 W Commerce St; 🕓 7am-7pm Mon-Fri, 11am-5pm Sat) Free internet for a cause (proceeds from food sales go to Goodwill and local job training).

Out in San Antonio (www.outinsanantonio.com) Local gay and lesbian info online.

Post office (☎ 210-220-5331; 100 W Houston St)

San Antonio Express-News (www.mysa.com) Daily news and travel info on web.

San Antonio Public Library (www.mysapl.org) Branch locations provide free internet access across the city.

Visitor Information Center (☎ 210-207-6748; www.sanantoniovisit.com; 317 Alamo Plaza; 🕓 9am-5pm) Free coupon booklets and souvenirs for sale, but don't expect restaurant recommendations – they aren't allowed to make 'em.

Sights & Activities

In addition to what's listed here, there are flashy diversions downtown (rides, laser-tag mazes, believe-it-or-not freak shows…) and two amusement parks (Fiesta Texas and SeaWorld) on Loop 1604.

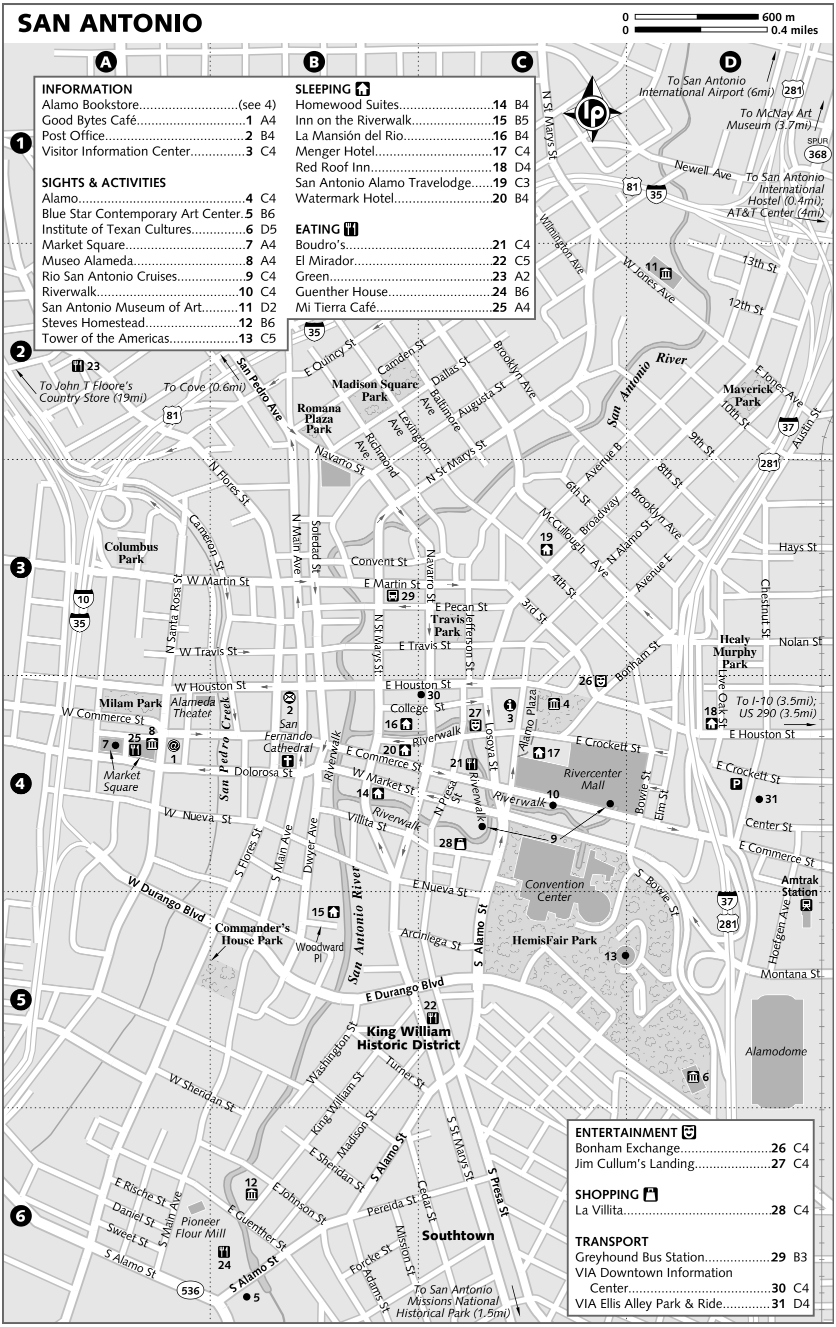
THE ALAMO

A 17-minute film and exhibits in the Long Barrack Museum at the Alamo (☎ 210-225-1391; www.thealamo.org; 300 Alamo Plaza; admission free; 🕓 9am-5:30pm Mon-Sat, 10am-5:30pm Sun, to 7pm daily Jun-Aug) tell the full story of the 13 days in 1836 when Mexican general Santa Anna laid siege to this occupied garrison. A few wall fragments and the mission church (its iconic facade dates from 1846) are all that remain of the original structure. The contemporary appellation of the mission is probably derived from the name of one of the early troops stationed there: the Compañia de Alamo de Parras. For more on the history of the siege, see the boxed text, p722.

RIVERWALK

Stroll past landscaped hotel gardens, eat at riverside cafés, stop into souvenir shops and cruise the waterway: the Riverwalk is an essential part of the San Antonio experience. Restaurant after restaurant, and bar after bar,

SAN ANTONIO



0 600 m
0 0.4 miles
A
B
C
D
1
2
3
4
5
6
To San Antonio International Airport (6mi)
281
To McNay Art Museum (3.7mi)
SPUR 368
Newell Ave
To San Antonio International Hostel (0.4mi); AT&T Center (4mi) 81
35
N St Marys St
Wilmington Ave
W Jones Ave
13th St
12th St
San Antonio River
E Jones Ave
Maverick Park
10th St
37
Austin St
9th St
281
8th St
Brooklyn Ave
Avenue B
6th St
Broadway
McCullough Ave
N Alamo St
Avenue E
4th St
3rd St
Hays St
Chestnut St
Nolan St
Healy Murphy Park
Live Oak St
Bonham St
To I-10 (3.5mi); US 290 (3.5mi)
E Houston St
E Crockett St
Center St
E Commerce St
Amtrak Station
Hoefgen Ave
Montana St
Alamodome
23
To John T Floore's Country Store (19mi)
To Cove (0.6mi)
81
35
San Pedro Ave
E Quincy St
Camden St
Madison Square Park
Romana Plaza Park
Dallas St
Baltimore Ave
Augusta St
Brooklyn Ave
Lexington Ave
Richmond Ave
Navarro St
N St Marys St
N Flores St
Cameron St
Columbus Park
N Main Ave
Soledad St
Convent St
Navarro St
W Martin St
E Martin St
29
E Pecan St
Travis Park
Jefferson St
10 35
N Santa Rosa St
W Travis St
E Travis St
N St Marys St
W Houston St
E Houston St
30
College St
27
3
4 26
19
Milam Park
Alameda Theater
W Commerce St
San Pedro Creek
2
San Fernando Cathedral
16
Losoya St
Alamo Plaza
8 25
7
1
Market Square
Dolorosa St
Riverwalk
20
E Commerce St
21
17 Rivercenter Mall
Bowie St
Elm St
14
W Market St
N Presa St
Riverwalk
10 18 31
W Nueva St
Villita St
9 28
S Flores St
S Main Ave
Dwyer Ave
E Nueva St
Convention Center
S Bowie St
37
281
W Durango Blvd
Commander's House Park
15
Woodward Pl
San Antonio River
Arciniega St
S Alamo St
HemisFair Park
13
E Durango Blvd
22
King William Historic District
Washington St
Turner St
W Sheridan St
King William St
Madison St
6
E Sheridan St
S Alamo St
S St Marys St
S Presa St
12
E Johnson St
Pereida St
Cedar St
E Rische St
Daniel St
Sweet St
S Main Ave
Pioneer Flour Mill
E Guenther St
24
S Alamo St
536
5
Forcke St
Adams St
Mission St
Southtown
To San Antonio Missions National Historical Park (1.5mi)

INFORMATION

Alamo Bookstore	(see 4)
Good Bytes Café	1	A4
Post Office	2	B4
Visitor Information Center	3	C4

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

Alamo	4	C4
Blue Star Contemporary Art Center	5	B6
Institute of Texan Cultures	6	D5
Market Square	7	A4
Museo Alameda	8	A4
Rio San Antonio Cruises	9	C4
Riverwalk	10	C4
San Antonio Museum of Art	11	D2
Steves Homestead	12	B6
Tower of the Americas	13	C5

SLEEPING ⌂

Homewood Suites	14	B4
Inn on the Riverwalk	15	B5
La Mansión del Rio	16	B4
Menger Hotel	17	C4
Red Roof Inn	18	D4
San Antonio Alamo Travelodge	19	C3
Watermark Hotel	20	B4

EATING

Boudro's	21	C4
El Mirador	22	C5
Green	23	A2
Guenther House	24	B6
Mi Tierra Café	25	A4

ENTERTAINMENT

Bonham Exchange	26	C4
Jim Cullum's Landing	27	C4

SHOPPING

La Villita	28	C4

TRANSPORT

Greyhound Bus Station	29	B3
VIA Downtown Information Center	30	C4
VIA Ellis Alley Park & Ride	31	D4

REMEMBERING THE REAL ALAMO

Frontiersman Davy Crockett stands atop the rock wall swinging his empty rifle as he fights to his dying breath…at least, that's how it happened in the 1955 Disney movie version of the battle of the Alamo. The problem with this is that there are at least two translated eyewitness accounts that place Crockett among the surrendered prisoners who were executed. Given the pervasive movie myths and sketchy survivor accounts, sorting out what's fact and what's fiction can be a challenge.

Some of what we know for sure: after 12 days of continual artillery bombardment, Mexican general Santa Anna quieted his guns so that Texian forces could get some sleep (and he could attack). The battle lasted only an hour and a half, starting at 5am on the morning of March 3, 1836. Among the Alamo defenders were Tejanos (Texans of Mexican birth), Anglo-Texan settlers, Europeans, recently arrived US land-grabbers and two slaves (Sam and Joe, who were the only fighters confirmed to have survived).

Despite the eloquent 'Victory or Death' signatures, the dispatches that 26-year-old commander William Travis sent contained letters that pleaded for help (only 30 reinforcements ever arrived). There's no historical evidence that he ever drew a line in the sand and asked those who crossed to 'die with him.' Alamo defender James Bowie, who was a US-born Mexican citizen married to the vice-governor's daughter (and had a nasty-looking knife named after him), was actually in bed with tuberculosis and may not have fired a shot.

Although only 189 remains have been identified, about 250 Texian rebels (and from 120 to 500 Mexican troops out of 1500-plus) died that day, according to historians' estimates. Gregorio Esparza was the only Texas fighter to be buried (his brother was battling across the wall as a Mexican soldier); the rest of the bodies were burned – an abomination at the time. Santa Anna spared the dozen or so women and children who had taken refuge behind the fortified walls, and sent Sam and Joe out to tell the tale. The general may have won the battle, but he provided the enemy, with this and another massacre at Goliad, a strong motivation to win the war.

vie for your tourist buck along the sides of a canal that was created for flood control in the 1920s and '30s, but developed for entertainment in the 1940s and '50s. Crowds are common, especially on weekends. The $259-million project to expand the Riverwalk to a total of 14 miles will be completed by 2014. In mid-2009 the first additional 2-mile segment opened, connecting the commercial core with peaceful paths that lead to the Art Museum and the developing Pearl Brewery shopping complex to the north.

Narrated Rio San Antonio Cruises (☎ 210-244-5700; www.riosanantonio.com; adult/child under 5yr $8.50/2; ⏰ 9am-9pm) ply the entire extended river length daily. Buy tickets waterfront at the Rivercenter Mall (corner Commerce and S Alamo Sts) or across the water from the Hilton (near Market and S Alamo Sts).

MARKET SQUARE

A visit to Market Square (☎ 210-207-8600; www.marketsquaresa.com; 514 W Commerce St; ⏰ 10am-8pm Jun-Aug, to 6pm Sep-May) is a fair approximation of a trip to Mexico. Booths at this mercado sell all the handicrafts and foods you could find in a border town: Talavera pottery, paper flowers, authentic Mexican vanilla, etc. Buy a Tecate beer or a pineapple aguas frescas and be prepared to bargain.

Don't miss the Museo Alameda (☎ 210-207-8600; www.thealameda.org; 101 S Santa Rosa St; adult/child $8/3; ⏰ 10am-6pm Tue-Sat, noon-6pm Sun), the one-and-only Smithsonian Institution affiliate outside of Washington, DC. Latino-related exhibits draw from the collections of the Air & Space, American History and Natural History Museums from the Institution's collections. To get here without hoofing it, take the tourist trolley purple line.

MISSION TRAIL

Spain's missionary presence can best be felt at the ruins of the four missions south of town. Together, Missions Concepción (1731), San José (1720), San Juan (1731) and Espada (1745–56) make up San Antonio Missions National Historical Park (☎ 210-932-1001; www.nps.gov/saan; Mission San José, 6701 San José Dr; admission free; ⏰ 9am-5pm). Stop first at San José, which is the most beautiful, and host to the national park visitor center, where you can learn what life was like here from an informative film and a few exhibits. Free tours are offered at each mission. From the Alamo, take S St Marys St to Mission Rd. Bus 42 serves some of the Mission Trail from downtown (Navarro and Villita Sts).

AROUND DOWNTOWN

Thirty cultures, including Native American and Mexican, have made Texas what it is; explore them at the museum of the Institute of Texan Cultures (☎ 210-458-2300; www.texancultures.utsa.edu; 801 S Bowie St; adult/child $7/4; 🕒 10am-6pm Tue-Sat, noon-5pm Sun). Afterwards you can ride up to the observation deck of the 750ft Tower of the Americas (☎ 210-223-3101; www.toweroftheamericas.com; HemisFair Park; adult/child $11/9; 🕒 9am-10pm Sun-Thu, to 11pm Fri & Sat). Admission includes a glitzy, Texas-themed 3-D theater ride.

Late 19th- to early-20th-century colonial-revival mansions and Queen Anne cottages inhabit the King William Historic District (www.saconservation.org) near E Durango Blvd and S St Mary St. The only home regularly open to the public is the Steves Homestead (☎ 210-225-5924; 509 King William St; adult/child $6/free; 🕒 10am-3:30pm).

Across S Alamo St to the east is Southtown (www.southtown.net), a small arts district. On the first Friday of every month, galleries stay open late and restaurants host entertainment. A 1920s warehouse contains the Blue Star Contemporary Art Center (☎ 210-227-6960; www.bluestarartspace.org; 116 Blue Star; admission free; 🕒 noon-6pm Wed-Sun) and its fiber arts, photography and contemporary studio spaces.

Way more traditional is the San Antonio Museum of Art (SAMA; ☎ 210-978-8100; www.samuseum.org; 200 W Jones Ave; adult/child $8/3; 🕒 10am-5pm Tue-Sat, noon-6pm Sun), which has a good collection of Spanish Colonial, folk-Mexican and pre-Columbian works. In late 2008 the McNay Art Museum (☎ 210-824-5368; www.mcnayart.org; 600 N New Braunfels Ave; adult/child $8/free; 🕒 10am-5pm Tue-Sat, noon-5pm Sun) opened a 45,000-sq-ft addition to its original mansion home, set on 23 acres.

Festivals & Events

San Antonio Stock Show & Rodeo (☎ 210-225-5851; www.sarodeo.com) Big-name concerts follow each night's rodeo; 16 days in mid-February.

Fiesta San Antonio (☎ 210-227-5191; www.fiesta-sa.org) Over 10 days in mid-April there are river parades, carnivals, Tejano music, dancing and tons of food in a mammoth, citywide party.

Sleeping

San Antonio has at least 10 gazillion-trillion hotel rooms, so you have plenty of choices right downtown. Unlike more business-oriented Texas towns, high rates here are on weekends, not weekdays.

BUDGET

San Antonio International Hostel (☎ 210-223-9426; 621 Pierce St; dm $18, r incl breakfast $59-89; 🅿 💻 🏊) With stuffy barrackslike bunk rooms, this place wouldn't be much worth mentioning – except it's the only hostel in town and there is a pool. The associated B&B rooms occupy an antique-filled house. Pierce St is off Grason St, northeast of downtown.

Several standard chain motels have outlets just a few blocks from Rivercenter Mall, including the exterior-access San Antonio Alamo Travelodge (☎ 210-222-1000; www.travelodge.com; 405 Broadway; r $59-99; 🅿 ❄ 📶 🏊) and the high-rise Red Roof Inn (☎ 210-229-9973; www.redroof.com; 1011 E Houston St; r $65-99; 🅿 ❄ 💻 📶 🏊). Free parking at both is a real plus.

MIDRANGE

Menger Hotel (☎ 210-223-4361; www.historicmenger.com; 204 Alamo Plaza; r $129-179; ❄ 📶 🏊) President Teddy Roosevelt once gathered his Rough Riders in the bar, and Confederate general Robert E Lee rode his horse into the lobby. This living-museum-cum-luxury-hotel is so welcoming that several spirits never left.

Inn on the Riverwalk (☎ 210-225-6333; www.innonriver.com; 129 Woodward Pl; r incl breakfast $129-239; 🅿 🚭 ❄ 📶) Cottage rooms with Jacuzzi tubs, riverview rooms, multiroom rooms: all 16 decorator-designed digs are different, spread among three old houses-turned-B&B. This peaceful stretch of the river is just an eight-minute walk from the party.

Homewood Suites (☎ 210-222-1515; www.homewoodsuites.com; 432 W Market St; r $169-219; 🚭 ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) Free breakfast and light happy-hour meals with drinks (Monday to Thursday) come standard at this all-suite property. The two-story gathering-room windows frame the Riverwalk nicely.

TOP END

La Mansión del Rio (☎ 210-518-1000; www.lamansion.com; 112 College St; r $199-249; ❄ 💻 🏊) Rustic beams adorn ceilings, dark-wood French doors open to riverfront patios and balconies;

Spanish-colonial élan drips from every terracotta fountain here.

Watermark Hotel (☎ 210-396-5800; www.watermarkhotel.com; 212 W Crockett St; r $299-379; ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) The Watermark is like a sigh: deeply serene and timeless. Neutral neoclassical designs include cool marble beneath your feet – in the lobby, in the bathrooms, but best yet, in parts of the rooftop spa.

Eating & Drinking

Trip on the Riverwalk and you'll bump into a bar-restaurant (or fall in the water). S St Marys and S Alamo Sts in the Southtown–King William districts also host a good number of eateries. Look for hole-in-the-wall Mexican joints scattered the length of N Flores St.

Green (☎ 210-320-5865; 1017 N Flores St; meals $6-9; 🕒 9am-9pm Sun-Fri; ⊠ ❄ Ⓥ) San Antonio's only 100% vegetarian restaurant (think eggplant enchiladas) is solar powered and community oriented; there's a farmers market here two Sundays a month.

El Mirador (☎ 210-225-4444; 722 S St Marys St; mains $6-11; 🕒 6am-3pm Mon, 6am-10pm Tue-Sat, 9am-2pm Sun) Impossibly tender carne asada (marinated, grilled flank steak) is always on the menu at this traditional Mexican haunt, but changing soups like caldo de rez (beef and cabbage) are the specialty.

Guenther House (☎ 210-227-1061; 205 E Guenther St; meals $7-9; 🕒 7am-3pm) Enjoy some of the sweetest, light waffles ever at the café in the historic home to former owners of Pioneer Flour Mill (next door).

Mi Tierra Café (☎ 210-225-1262; 218 Produce Row, Market Sq; breakfast $7-10, mains $7-15; 🕒 24hr) Red-velvet booths, colorful streamers, guitar-playing troubadours, a colorful pan dulce (sweet pastry) counter – this Market Sq veteran is touristed, but tops for pageantry à la Mexicana.

WORTH THE TRIP: FLOORE'S COUNTRY STORE

This terrific old bar and dance hall first opened in 1942 as a store run by a friend of Willie Nelson. (Willie used to play here nightly; the sign still says so.) Today at John T Floore's Country Store (☎ 210-695-8827; www.liveatfloores.com; 14492 Bandera Rd, Helotes; tickets $10-30; 🕒 11am-9pm Sun & Tue-Thu, to 12:30am Fri & Sat), whether in the outdoor stage yard or by the fire in the rustic building, this is the true way to hear Texas country music on a Friday or Saturday night. Bandera Rd is off Hwy 16.

Boudro's (☎ 210-224-8484; 421 E Commerce St; lunch $7-14, dinner mains $22-32; 🕒 11am-11pm) Boudro's is the locals' riverside favorite for upscale Texas tastes. Try the quail stuffed with poblano peppers, apricots and corn.

Entertainment

For listings of local music and cultural events, pick up the free weekly San Antonio Current (www.sacurrent.com).

LIVE MUSIC & NIGHTCLUBS

Dick's Last–Ugly–Hard Rock – the Riverwalk's many chain clubs blur together even before you've started drinking. Perhaps the best thing to do is take a margarita taste-test tour (if you're walking); or can you find the place that has the 42oz gulper, or the 'horni'est on the walk?

Cove (☎ 210-227-2683; 606 W Cypress St; 🕒 11am-11pm Tue-Thu, to midnight Fri, to 1am Sat; 👶) Jazz, bluegrass, roots and rock – they play it all. The Cove is an incredibly unique combo of food stand/café/laundromat/car wash, with a kiddie playground (you read right).

Jim Cullum's Landing (☎ 210-223-7266; www.landing.com; 123 Losoya St) Listen to area jazz legends here and everyone will think you're a local.

Bonham Exchange (☎ 210-271-3811; www.bonhamexchange.com; 411 Bonham St) A stalwart brick building conceals San Antonio's premier, multifloor gay dance club.

SPORTS

Four-time NBA champions the San Antonio Spurs (☎ 210-554-7787; www.nba.com/spurs) shoot hoops at the AT&T Center (☎ 210-444-5000; 1 AT&T Center Pkwy & Walters St), off I-35. Purchase tickets through Ticketmaster (☎ 210-224-9600; www.ticketmaster.com).

Shopping

A few artisan craft shops exist among the tourist-T-shirt-filled Riverwalk. The old buildings of the city's first neighborhood, La Villita (www.lavillita.com; La Villita St), house the largest concentration of galleries and boutiques.

Getting There & Away

You can reach 28 US and Mexican cities nonstop from San Antonio International Airport (SAT; ☎ 210-207-3411; www.sanantonio.gov/airport), 8 miles north of the Riverwalk off I-410, east of Hwy 281. VIA city bus 5 ($1) runs from the airport to downtown about every 30 minutes, or you can take a SATrans (☎ 210-281-9900; www.saairportshuttle.com) shuttle bus for $17. A taxicab ride will cost about $25. Major car-rental agencies all have offices at the airport.

From the Greyhound Bus Station (☎ 210-270-5824; www.greyhound.com; 500 N St Marys St), you can get to all the big cities in the state (and lots of the small ones). For example, Houston is 3½ hours (from $24) away.

The Sunset Limited (Florida–California) and Texas Eagle (San Antonio–Chicago) trains stop a few days a week (usually late at night) at the Amtrak Station (☎ 210-223-3226; www.amtrak.com; 350 Hoefgen Ave).

Getting Around

The extremely tourist-friendly downtown trolleybus routes ($1.10 one way) are the best way to cover any distance around downtown. Buy a day pass ($4) at VIA Downtown Information Center (☎ 210-362-2020; www.viainfo.net; 260 E Houston St; 🕒 9am-6pm Mon-Fri, to 2pm Sat).

Parking-garage fees in San Antonio really add up. You can park free at the VIA Ellis Alley Park & Ride (☎ 210-362-2020; btwn E Crockett & Center Sts; 🕒 ticket office 7am-6pm Mon-Fri, 9am-2pm Sat), a quick two stops from the Alamo. Ask for a parking transfer on the bus and put it in the slot to 'pay' when you exit.

HOUSTON

Concrete superhighways may blind you to Houston's good points when you first zoom into the sprawling town. But, look around. The nation's fourth-largest city (2.2 million in the city proper, 5.8 million in the metro area) is really a multicultural, zoning-free hodgepodge in which you see both world-class paintings and funky folk art. In one strip mall there might be a Vietnamese grocery, a Venezuelan empanada stand and a high-priced Texas meat market. And outside of town are Space Center Houston (p731) and the Gulf of Mexico beaches on Galveston Island (p731). The interest's here; you just have to drive a little to get to it.

Houston absorbed hundreds of thousands of new residents when Hurricane Katrina pummeled neighboring Louisiana. Three years later in 2008, Galveston and Houston took a direct hit from Hurricane Ike. Inland areas did fairly well compared with the island, where recovery continues.

DON'T MISS

- Menil Collection – exceptional contemporary art and a 13th-century Cypriot fresco chapel (p726)
- Orange Show Center for Visionary Art – funky folk-art orange and beer-can houses (p728)
- Space Center Houston – Apollo rockets and interactive spaceman fun (p731)
- Breakfast Klub – dig into wings-and-waffles or catfish 'n' grits (p729)

Orientation

Where I-45 (northwest–southeast), I-59 (southwest–northeast) and I-10 (east–west) meet forms downtown Houston. The light-rail system line starts along Main St downtown and zooms south to the Museum District, Hermann Park, the Texas Medical Center and on to the behemoth Reliant Stadium. Mid-town begins immediately southwest of downtown. The eclectic Montrose neighborhood is a little further west of the center. Westheimer (local street names don't always have modifiers like Rd or Dr) runs from it to wealthy River Oaks and out to the Galleria at I-610.

Information

Brazos Bookstore (Map p727; ☎ 713-523-0701; 2421 Bissonnet St) Independent bookseller, author events.

Chase Bank (Map p728; ☎ 713-216-4865; 712 Main St) Currency exchange and ATM.

Greater Houston Convention & Visitors Bureau (Map p728; ☎ 713-437-5200; www.visithoustontexas.com; cnr Walker & Bagby Sts; 🕒 9am-4pm Mon-Sat, 11am-4pm Sun) Free parking on Walker St.

Houston Public Library (Map p728; ☎ 713-236-1313; www.hpl.lib.tx.us; 500 McKinney St; 🕒 9am-9pm Mon-Thu, 9am-6pm Fri & Sat, 1-5pm Sun) Free internet computers and wi-fi.

KUHT 88.7 Classical music and NPR (National Public Radio) from the University of Houston.

Memorial Hermann Hospital (Map p727; ☎ 713-704-4000; 6411 Fannin St) Part of the Texas Medical Center megacomplex.

Police station (Map p727; ☎ 713-529-3100; 802 Westheimer; 🕒 24hr)

Post office (Map p728; ☎ 713-226-3161; 401 Franklin St)

Sights & Activities

In addition to the sights listed below, there are small museums on the Holocaust, printing history, funerary tradition and firefighters. Don't miss the day trips (see p731).

Local philanthropists John and Dominique de Menil's 15,000 artworks form the core of the impressive Menil Collection (Map p727; ☎ 713-525-9400; www.menil.org; 1515 Sul Ross St; admission free; 🕐 11am-7pm Wed-Sun). The couple's taste ran from the medieval to the surreal – several rooms in the main building are devoted to the likes of René Magritte and Max Ernst. The Cy Twombly Gallery (Map p727; ☎ 713-525-9450; 1501 Branard St; admission free; 🕐 11am-7pm Wed-Sun) annex contains very abstract art. And Menil's importation of a complete 13th-century Cypriot fresco almost caused an international incident. But in the end Dominique custom-built the stunning Byzantine Fresco Chapel Museum (Map p727; ☎ 713-521-3990; 4011 Yupon Dr; admission free; 🕐 11am-6pm Fri-Sun) to fit the ceiling art, which is to be held in trust for 99 years. Fourteen large abstract–expressionist Mark Rothko paintings anchor the much more modern sanctuary, Rothko Chapel (Map p727; ☎ 713-524-9839; www.rothkochapel.org; 3900 Yupon Dr; admission free; 🕐 10am-6pm).

French-Impressionism and post-1945 European and American painting are particularly well represented at the wide-ranging Museum of Fine Arts, Houston (Map p727; ☎ 713-639-7300; www.mfah.org; 1001 Bissonnet St; adult/child $7/3.50, free Thu; 🕐 10am-5pm Tue & Wed, 10am-9pm Thu, 10am-7pm Fri & Sat, 12:15-7pm Sun). Across the street, admire the talents of luminaries like Rodin and Matisse in the Cullen Sculpture Garden (Map p727; cnr Montrose Blvd & Bissonnet St; admission free).

Delve into excellent traveling shows, often with shiny themes like Treasures of Ancient Afghanistan etc, at the Houston Museum of Natural Science (Map p727; ☎ 713-639-4629; www.hmns.org; 1 Hermann Circle; adult/child $15/10; 🕐 9am-5pm Mon-Sat, 11am-9pm Sun). Dinosaurs, fossils, gems and mineral exhibits – plus an IMAX, a planetarium and a tropical-butterfly conservatory – are permanent exhibits. The museum is celebrating a 100-year history by making expansion plans.

And now for something funky: the warehouselike Art Car Museum (off Map p727; ☎ 713-861-5526; www.artcarmuseum.com; 140 Heights Blvd; admission free; 🕐 11am-6pm Wed-Sun) contains more than 15 vehicles that have been tricked out and turned into things like psychedelic, buglike and Mad Max–esque wonders. All have taken part in the 250-car-strong annual spring Art Car Parade. Rotating exhibits are also offbeat: they've included subjects like road refuse and bone art. This is one of several quirky local collections (see also boxed text, p728).

Houston for Children

Young 'uns gettin' restless? Since mid-2008, there's been a new place to play – right downtown. The 10-acre Discovery Green (Map p728; www.discoverygreen.com; Avenida de las Americas; 👪) park has a lake, playground, play fountains, art, restaurants and an outdoor performance space. The entire park was constructed to strict Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design (LEED) 'gold level' standards.

In the museum district, Hermann Park (Map p727; www.hermannpark.org; 600 Fannin St; 👪) is home to playgrounds, a lake with paddleboats, the Hermann Park Miniature Train (Map p727; ☎ 713-529-5216; per ride $2.75; 🕐 10am-6pm; 👪) and the Houston Zoo (Map p727; ☎ 713-533-6500; www.houstonzoo.org; 1513 N MacGregor Dr; adult/child $10/6; 🕐 9am-5pm, to 6pm Jun-Aug; 👪).

Walking distance from the park is the activity-filled Children's Museum of Houston (Map p727; ☎ 713-522-1138; www.cmhouston.org; 1500 Binz St; admission $7; 🕐 9am-5pm Tue-Sat, to 8pm Thu, noon-5pm Sun; 👪), where little ones can make tortillas in a Mexican village or draw in an open-air art studio.

Festivals & Events

Houston Livestock Show & Rodeo (☎ 832-667-1000; www.hlsr.com) Twenty days in March of midway rides, prize bulls and a nightly rodeo, followed by a concert.

Art Car Parade & Festival (www.orangeshow.org; Allen Parkway) Wacky arted-out automobiles roll on by on the second Sunday in May.

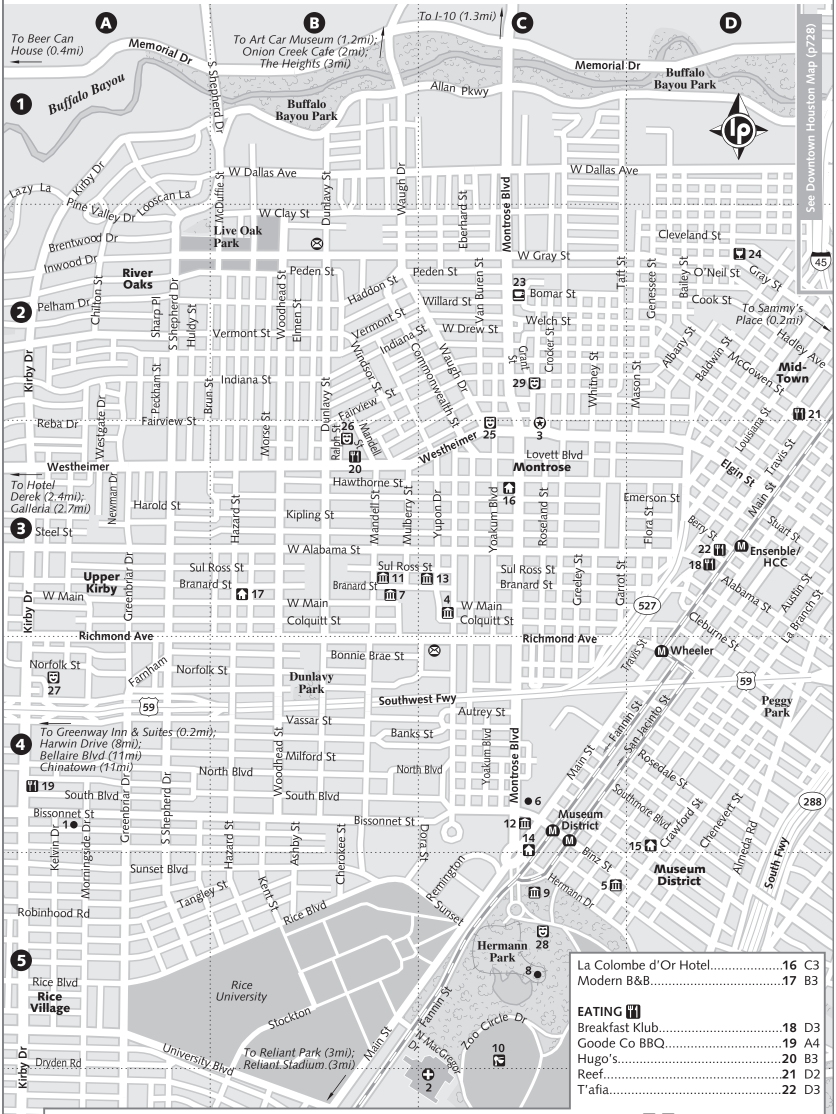
Sleeping

Chain motels line all the major freeways. If you are visiting the Space Center and Galveston, consider staying on I-45 south.

BUDGET

Houston International Hostel (Map p727; ☎ 713-523-1009; www.houstonhostel.com; 5302 Crawford St; dm $18; 🅿 ❄ 💻 📶) Semipermanent residents and

CENTRAL HOUSTON



0 1 km
0 0.5 miles
A
B
C
D
1
2
3
4
5
6
To Beer Can House (0.4mi)
To Art Car Museum (1.2mi); Onion Creek Cafe (2mi); The Heights (3mi)
To I-10 (1.3mi)
See Downtown Houston Map (p728)
Memorial Dr
Buffalo Bayou
Buffalo Bayou Park
Allan Pkwy
S Shepherd Dr
W Dallas Ave
McDuffie St
Dunlavy St
Waugh Dr
Eberhard St
Montrose Blvd
Kirby Dr
Lazy La
Pine Valley Dr
Looscan La
W Clay St
Live Oak Park
Brentwood Dr
Inwood Dr
River Oaks
Pelham Dr
Chilton St
Sharp Pl
Huldy St
Vermont St
Woodhead St
Elmen St
Peden St
Haddon St
Willard St
Van Buren St
W Gray St
Bomar St
Welch St
W Drew St
Grant St
Crocker St
Whitney St
Mason St
Taft St
Genessee St
Bailey St
Cleveland St
O'Neil St
Gray St
Cook St
To Sammy's Place (0.2mi)
Hadley Ave
Albany St
Baldwin St
McGowen St
Mid-Town
Indiana St
Windsor St
Commonwealth St
Peckham St
Brun St
Westgate Dr
Reba Dr
Fairview St
Morse St
Ralph St
Mandell St
Westheimer
Lovett Blvd
Montrose
Louisiana St
Travis St
Elgin St
Main St
To Hotel Derek (2.4mi); Galleria (2.7mi)
Newman Dr
Harold St
Hazard St
Hawthorne St
Kipling St
Mulberry St
Yupon Dr
Yoakum Blvd
Roseland St
Emerson St
Flora St
Berry St
Stuart St
Ensemble/HCC
Steel St
W Alabama St
Sul Ross St
Branard St
Upper Kirby
Greenbriar Dr
W Main
Colquitt St
Greeley St
Garrot St
527
Alabama St
Austin St
La Branch St
Cleburne St
Richmond Ave
Wheeler
Norfolk St
Farnham
Bonnie Brae St
Dunlavy Park Southwest Fwy
59
Peggy Park
Autrey St
Vassar St
Banks St
Fannin St
San Jacinto St
Rosedale St
To Greenway Inn & Suites (0.2mi); Harwin Drive (8mi); Bellaire Blvd (11mi) Chinatown (11mi)
Milford St
North Blvd
South Blvd
Bissonnet St
Southmore Blvd
Crawford St
Chenevert St
Almeda Rd
288
Museum District
Kelvin Dr
Morningside Dr
Ashby St
Cherokee St
Dora St
Binz St
South Fwy
Sunset Blvd
Tangley St
Kent St
Remington
Sunset
Hermann Dr
Robinhood Rd
Rice Blvd
Hermann Park
Rice Village
Rice University
Stockton
Zoo Circle Dr
N MacGregor Dr
Dryden Rd
University Blvd
To Reliant Park (3mi); Reliant Stadium (3mi)
45

La Colombe d'Or Hotel	16	C3
Modern B&B	17	B3

EATING 🍴

Breakfast Klub	18	D3
Goode Co BBQ	19	A4
Hugo's	20	B3
Reef	21	D2
T'afia	22	D3

INFORMATION

Brazos Bookstore	1	A4
Memorial Hermann Hospital	2	C6
Police Station	3	C3

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

Byzantine Fresco Chapel Museum	4	C3
Children's Museum of Houston	5	C5
Cullen Sculpture Garden	6	C4
Cy Twombly Gallery	7	B3
Hermann Park Miniature Train	8	C5
Houston Museum of Natural Science	9	C5
Houston Zoo	10	C5
Menil Collection	11	B3
Museum of Fine Arts, Houston	12	C4
Rothko Chapel	13	C3

SLEEPING ⌂

Hotel Za Za	14	C4
Houston International Hostel	15	D4

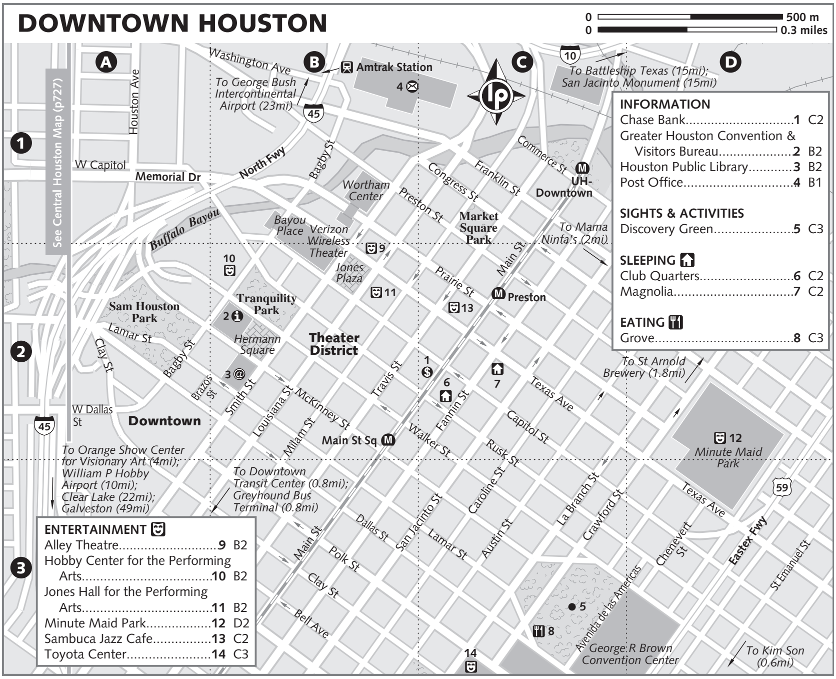
DRINKING ☕ 🍷

Inversion Coffee House	23	C2
Tasting Room Lounge	24	D2

ENTERTAINMENT ☺

Chances	25	C3
EJ's Bar	26	B3
McGonigel's Mucky Duck	27	A4
Miller Outdoor Theatre	28	C5
South Beach	29	C2

DOWNTOWN HOUSTON



0 500 m
0 0.3 miles
A
B
C
D
1
2
3
See Central Houston Map (p727)
Washington Ave
Amtrak Station
To George Bush Intercontinental Airport (23mi)
To Battleship Texas (15mi); San Jacinto Monument (15mi)
Houston Ave
W Capitol
Memorial Dr
North Fwy
Bagby St
Wortham Center
Congress St
Franklin St
Commerce St
UH-Downtown
Preston St
Market Square Park
Buffalo Bayou
Bayou Place
Verizon Wireless Theater
Jones Plaza
To Mama Ninfa's (2mi)
Main St
Prairie St
Preston Tranquility Park
Sam Houston Park
Lamar St
Hermann Square
Theater District
Clay St
Brazos St
Smith St
Louisiana St
McKinney St
Travis St
Fannin St
Texas Ave
To St Arnold Brewery (1.8mi)
W Dallas St
Downtown
Milam St
Main St Sq
Walker St
Rusk St
Capitol St
Minute Maid Park
To Orange Show Center for Visionary Art (4mi); William P Hobby Airport (10mi); Clear Lake (22mi); Galveston (49mi)
To Downtown Transit Center (0.8mi); Greyhound Bus Terminal (0.8mi)
San Jacinto St
Caroline St
La Branch St
Crawford St
Texas Ave
Dallas St
Lamar St
Austin St
Chenevert St
Eastex Fwy
St Emanuel St
Polk St
Clay St
Bell Ave
Avenida de las Americas
George R Brown Convention Center
To Kim Son (0.6mi)
10
45
59

INFORMATION

Chase Bank	1	C2
Greater Houston Convention & Visitors Bureau	2	B2
Houston Public Library	3	B2
Post Office	4	B1

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

Discovery Green	5	C3

SLEEPING

Club Quarters	6	C2
Magnolia	7	C2

EATING

Grove	8	C3

ENTERTAINMENT

Alley Theatre	9	B2
Hobby Center for the Performing Arts	10	B2
Jones Hall for the Performing Arts	11	B2
Minute Maid Park	12	D2
Sambuca Jazz Cafe	13	C2
Toyota Center	14	C3

eccentric staff give this shabby-house hostel an interesting vibe. But you can't beat being walking distance from museums and the light-rail (seven blocks) for this price. Dorm rooms are off-limits from 10am to 5pm.

Also recommended:

Greenway Inn & Suites (off Map p727; ☎ 713-523-1009; www.greenwayinnsuites.com; 2929 I-59 S; r $73-100; P ❄ 📶 🏊) Basic bed-and-desk motel, not far from Montrose.

Club Quarters (Map p728; ☎ 713-224-6400; www.clubquarters.com; 720 Fannin St; r from $89; ❄ 💻 📶) Business rooms at a bargain price (when club members don't fill them).

MIDRANGE

Modern B&B (Map p727; ☎ 832-279-6367; http://modernbb.com; 4003 Hazard St; r incl breakfast $100-200; P ⊠ ❄ 💻 📶) With eight minimalist rooms ensconced in corrugated metal, you'd hardly think this was a traditional B&B. But solar power and organic breakfasts confirm it.

Hotel Derek (off Map p727; ☎ 713-961-3000; www.hotelderek.com; 2525 West Loop S; s $139, d $179-199; ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) After shopping at the Galleria, you can lay your head fashionably thanks to a $2 million, 2009 Hotel Derek renovation. Frequent guests Faith Hill and Tim McGraw seem to like it.

WHAT THE...?

Beer-can houses, giant welded-steel oranges and plastic flower art? Conservative Houston has a wacky creative streak. The late Jeff McKissack molded his Orange House into a mazelike junk-art tribute to his favorite citrus fruit until his passing; today the whole madcap mess is the Orange Show Center for Visionary Art (off Map p728; ☎ 713-926-6368; www.orangeshow.org; 2402 Munger St; adult/child $1/free; 🕒 9am-1pm Wed-Fri, noon-5pm Sat & Sun Jun-Aug, noon-5pm Sat & Sun rest of year). The center fosters the folk-art vision by offering children's art education and keeping up the 50,000-strong Beer Can House (off Map p727; 222 Malone St; tour $5; 🕒 noon-5pm), off Memorial Dr. The Orange Show also offers occasional themed city tours that look at Houston from interesting angles.

IF YOU HAVE A FEW MORE DAYS

History-lovers, drive 15 miles west of downtown to see where Texas nationhood was won on April 21, 1836. The 570ft San Jacinto Monument (off Map p728; ☎ 281-479-2421; www.tpwd.state.tx.us; 3523 Hwy 134, La Porte; adult/child $12/8; ⏰ 9am-6pm) looks like the Washington Monument but has a cement star on top (which makes it 12ft taller). Tour the museum, watch the movie and then ride up to the observation deck to look over the 1000-acre battlefield, where Texan forces under General Sam Houston shouted ‘Remember the Alamo’ while whooping Mexican general Santa Anna’s forces. You can tour the still-afloat 1912 Battleship Texas (off Map p728; adult/child $10/5; ⏰ 10am-5pm), also part of the park.

Magnolia (Map p728; ☎ 713-221-0011; www.magnoliahotelhouston.com; 1100 Texas Ave; r $141-225; ❄ 💻 📶 🐕) Dressed in deep woods and modern neutrals, rooms at this downtown hotel are both stylish and comfortable.

TOP END

Hotel Za Za (Map p727; ☎ 713-526-1991; www.hotelzaza.com; 5701 Main St; r $205-270; ❄ 💻 📶 🐕)It’s see-and-be-seen at this flamboyantly hip Museum District hotel. Imagine silk brocade, plus animal prints and leather.

La Colombe d’Or Hotel (Map p727; ☎ 713-524-7999; www.lacolombedor.com; 3410 Montrose Blvd; r $225-525; ☒ ❄) Sotheby-quality antiques and rare oil paintings fill six suitelike rooms in a 1923 Montrose mansion.

Eating

Montrose and Upper Kirby are two of the principal eating enclaves, but the downtown is improving; check out the restaurants clustered around Main and McKinney Sts and the new-in-2009 Pavillions complex at Fannin & Dallas Sts. Steak is huge in Houston; most all of the national heavy hitters – Ruth’s Chris, the Palm etc – are on Westheimer near the Galleria.

DOWNTOWN

Kim Son (Map p728; ☎ 713-222-2461; 2001 Jefferson St; lunch specials $6-10, mains $10-18; ⏰ 11am-11pm) For more than 25 years, Kim Son has been a local legend with a booklike Vietnamese menu (300-plus items).

Grove (Map p728; ☎ 713-337-7321; 1611 Lamar St; sandwiches $7-19, mains $12-27; ⏰ 11am-10pm) Free-range chicken potpie, rosemary french fries…the American classics get a modern metropolitan update at the Grove.

MID-TOWN

ourpick Breakfast Klub (Map p727; ☎ 713-528-8561; www.thebreakfastklub.com; 3711 Travis St; mains $4-10; ⏰ 7am-2pm Mon-Fri, 8am-2pm Sat) Down-home cookin’ with soul. Whether it’s wings ‘n’ waffles for breakfast or red beans and rice for lunch, expect a wait at this funky coffeehouselike place.

Reef (Map p727; ☎ 713-526-8282; 2600 Travis St; lunch $11-19, dinner mains $19-29; ⏰ 11am-10pm Mon-Fri, 5-11pm Sat) Gulf Coast seafood is served in a sleek and sophisticated dining room with a skyline-view raw bar. The chef has won oodles of awards.

T’afia (Map p727; ☎ 713-524-6922; 3701 Travis St; mains $15-22; ⏰ 5:30-10pm Tue-Thu, to 10:30pm Fri & Sat) Chef Monica Pope is committed to using top-quality local and organic ingredients in her new American cuisine. A farmers market is held here 8am to noon each Saturday.

MONTROSE & UPPER KIRBY

Goode Co BBQ (Map p727; ☎ 713-522-2530; 5109 Kirby Dr; mains $7-10; ⏰ 11am-10pm) Belly up to piles of beef brisket, jalapeño sausages and smoked duck in a big ol’ barn or out back on picnic tables.

Hugo’s (Map p727; ☎ 713-524-7744; 1600 Westheimer; lunch $14-19, dinner mains $18-28; ⏰ 11am-10pm Sun-Thu, to 11pm Fri & Sat) Chef Hugo Ortega is known for his inspired interior-Mexican regional cuisine, like squash-blossom crepes and Veracruz snapper with olives and capers.

Drinking

For eclectic (and expensive) cocktails with downtown views, head to the patio bar at the Grove (left). Market Square Park, downtown at Congress and Milam Sts, has a good dive bar or two.

Tasting Room Lounge (Map p727; ☎ 713-528-6402; 114 Gray St) More than 100 wines are available by the glass. Bring your dog for ‘yappy’ hour on the patio.

St Arnold Brewery (off Map p728; ☎ 713-686-9494; 2000 Lyons Ave; tours $5; ⏰ 1pm Sat) If you take the 40-minute tour, you’re invited for free

GAY & LESBIAN HOUSTON

Montrose has been the town's gathering place for gay men and women for decades. That's not to say the town isn't conservative: public displays of affection will probably turn heads. Every June, the Pride Committee of Houston (☎ 713-529-6979; www.pridehouston.org) sponsors a huge gay-pride parade; related events and festivals take place all month. KPFT 90.1 FM is the home of Queer Voices radio. The Houston Voice (www.houstonvoice.com) is the gay and lesbian newspaper, and Out Smart Magazine (www.outsmartmagazine.com) has loads of local info.

Enjoy a tasty cup o' Joe with the boys at Inversion Coffee House (Map p727; ☎ 713-523-4866; 1953 Montrose Blvd; 🕑 6:30am-midnight Mon-Sat, 7:30am-10:30pm Sun; 📶). Several clubs line Pacific St; the high-tech sound and dancefloor lights help make South Beach (Map p727; ☎ 713-529-7623; www.southbeachthenightclub.com; 810 Pacific St) the busiest and best. EJ's Bar (Map p727; ☎ 713-527-9071; www.ejsbar.com; 2517 Ralph St) puts some hunky eye candy on display during regular amateur strip shows.

You have three different stages and styles to choose from at the popular lesbian dance bar Chances (Map p727; ☎ 713-523-7217; www.chancesbar.com; 1100 Westheimer) – country and western, dance or live chick-band music. Note that parking is limited (avoid Hollywood Video's lot: they tow).

tasting of Texas-only microbrews in the beer garden until 3pm. Bringing bag lunches is encouraged.

The corner of White Oak and Studemont in the Heights has a few funky little bars, including a roadhouse, a tiki bar and a live music club in an old house. A few blocks further, Onion Creek Cafe (off Map p727; ☎ 713-880-0768; 3106 White Oak; 🕑 7am-2am) is a great neighborhood hangout with a big patio; open from early-morning coffee to late-night cocktails.

Entertainment

There's a fair bit of nightlife around the Preston and Main Street Square stops downtown. Montrose and Mid-town have clubs, but they're spread around. Look for listings in the independent weekly Houston Press (www.houstonpress.com) and in the Thursday edition of the Houston Chronicle (www.chron.com).

NIGHTCLUBS & LIVE MUSIC

McGonigel's Mucky Duck (Map p727; ☎ 713-528-5999; www.mcgonigels.com; 2425 Norfolk St) Listen nightly to live acoustic, Irish, folk and country performers in pubby surrounds.

Sammy's Place (Map p727; ☎ 713-751-3101; www.sammysat2016main.com; 2016 Main St) Live your rock-star dream, karaoke-ing on nights there's a live band accompanying. Other evenings may be Motown music, '80s cover bands or a DJ.

Sambuca Jazz Cafe (Map p728; ☎ 713-224-5299; www.sambucarestaurant.com; 900 Texas Ave) A swanky supper club, Sambuca serves live jazz accompanied by an eclectic menu.

THEATER & PERFORMING ARTS

The Houston Grand Opera, the Society of the Performing Arts, Houston Ballet, Da Camera chamber orchestra and the Houston Symphony all perform downtown in the Theater District (www.houstontheaterdistrict.org). From the district's website, you can purchase tickets and view all schedules. Venues include the following:

Alley Theatre (Map p728; ☎ 713-228-8421; 615 Texas Ave)

Hobby Center for the Performing Arts (Map p728; ☎ 713-315-2525; 800 Bagby St)

Jones Hall for the Performing Arts (Map p728; ☎ 713-227-3974; 615 Louisiana St)

Miller Outdoor Theatre (Map p727; ☎ 281-373-3386; www.milleroutdoortheatre.com; 100 Concert Dr) Hermann Park's outdoor theater is a great place to lay out a blanket on a summer night and enjoy a free play, musical or concert.

SPORTS

Reliant Stadium (off Map p727; ☎ 832-667-1400; www.reliantpark.com; 1 Reliant Park) is home to the Houston Texans (☎ 877-635-2002; www.houstontexans.com) football team. The Houston Astros (☎ 713-259-8000; www.astros.com) play pro baseball downtown at Minute Maid Park (Map p728; 501 Crawford St). The Toyota Center (Map p728; ☎ 713-758-7200; www.houstontoyotacenter.com; 1510 Polk St) is home to the Houston Rockets (☎ 713-627-3865; www.houstonrockets.com) NBA basketball team.

Shopping

A huge conglomeration of shops collides in and near the mazelike Galleria (off Map p727; ☎ 713-622-0663; www.simon.com; 5075 Westheimer), which is off I-610. Macy's, Foley's and Nordstrom anchor nearly 400 mall stores.

Along 19th St (between Yale and Shepherd) in the Heights (www.heightsfirstsaturday.com), Houston's first neighborhood, you'll find unique antiques, clever crafts, artsy furniture stores and cafés. On the first Saturday of every month, the street takes on a carnival-like air with outdoor booths and entertainment. North of I-10, Waugh Dr turns into Heights Blvd.

If you're looking for a sari, head to the Little India shops along Harwin Drive (Southwest Fwy), southwest of town off I-59; Houston's Chinatown (www.chinatownmap.com), and its scattered shops and restaurants, surround Bellaire Blvd at Beltway 8.

Getting There & Around

Houston Airport System (www.fly2houston.com) has two airports. Twenty-two miles north of the city center, George Bush Intercontinental (IAH; off Map p728; ☎ 281-230-3100; btwn I-45 & I-59 N), home base for Continental Airlines, serves cities worldwide through many carriers – one of the newest nonstop connections is Dohar, Qatar. Twelve miles southeast of town, William P Hobby Airport (HOU; off Map p728; ☎ 713-640-3000), off I-45 S, is a major hub for Southwest Airlines and domestic travel. Read your ticket closely: some airlines, like Delta, fly out of both airports. Wi-fi is available at both facilities.

The Hobby airport bus (88) connects to downtown (and to the Downtown Transit Center light-rail stop) from Monday to Saturday, 6am to 11pm ($1.25). The Airport Direct nonstop bus runs between the Downtown Transit Center and Bush Intercontinental ($15) daily from 5:30am to 8:30pm. SuperShuttle (☎ 800-258-3826; www.supershuttle.com) provides service from both Bush ($23) and Hobby ($19) airports. A taxi to IAH/HOU airports from downtown is about $40/25.

Long-distance buses arrive at the Greyhound Bus Terminal (off Map p728; ☎ 713-759-6565; www.greyhound.com; 2121 Main St), which is located between downtown and the Museum District, and two blocks from the Downtown Transit Center light-rail stop.

The Sunset Limited train stops at the Amtrak Station (Map p728; ☎ 713-224-1577; www.amtrak.com; 902 Washington Ave) three times a week.

Houston's Metropolitan Transit Authority (Metro; ☎ 713-635-4000; www.ridemetro.org) runs the convenient light-rail system; $1.25 gets you a one-way ride. Most of the in-town sights are along the Downtown–Museum District–Reliant Park light-rail corridor. If you want to venture further, you'll need to rent a car; the bus system is mostly inefficient for visitors' needs. Every major national car-rental agency can be found at either airport.

AROUND HOUSTON

Clear Lake Area

Dream of a landing on the moon? You can't get any closer (without years of training) than at Space Center Houston (☎ 281-244-2100; www.spacecenter.org; 1601 NASA Rd 1, Clear Lake; adult/child $20/16; 🕐 10am-5pm Mon-Fri, 10am-7pm Sat & Sun), off I-45 S, the official visitor center and museum of NASA's Johnson Space Center. Interactive exhibits let you try your hand at picking up an object in space or landing the shuttle. Be sure to enter the short theater films, because you exit past Apollo capsules and history exhibits. The free tram tour covers the center at work – shuttle training facilities, zero-gravity labs and the original mission control ('Houston, we have a problem').

Clear Lake's marinas, 22 miles from downtown, are Houston's recreational boating port of call. Bay Area Houston Convention & Visitors Bureau (☎ 281-338-0333; www.visitbayareahouston.com; 20710 I-45, Webster; 🕐 9am-5pm Mon-Fri) lists water-sports operators on its website. East on Galveston Bay, the Kemah Boardwalk (☎ 877-285-3624; www.kemah.com; cnr Bradford & 2nd Sts, Kemah; 👶) took a beating in Hurricane Ike; however, the kid-savvy waterfront entertainment complex, with theme restaurants, shops, amusement rides, carnival games and a jet-boat ride, is up and running.

Galveston

Part genteel Southern lady, part sunburned beach bunny, Galveston Island is Houston's favorite playmate. In 2008 the old gal was ravaged by a direct hit from Hurricane Ike. The islandwide cleanup has continued for years and will go on, but many of the gingerbread-covered Victorian homes in the historic districts have been restored. Parts of waterfront 61st St may still be boarded up; nevertheless, shops are once again filling the old brick buildings on the Strand. At the time of writing, an ambitious beach restoration project was underway – refurbishing the depleted sands along the Gulf of Mexico.

The island (at the southeastern end of I-45, 49 miles from Houston) is 30 miles long but no more than 3 miles wide. From the highway, 61st St leads to Seawall Blvd along the Gulf. The Mechanic and 22nd Sts intersection centers the historic shopping district, the Strand. Ask at Galveston Island Visitors Center (☎ 409-763-4311; www.galveston.com; Ashton Villa, 2328 Broadway; 🕒 9am-5pm) for loads more dining and activity info.

Ike doesn't hold a candle to the killer hurricane that hit Galveston in 1921, submerging the island and claiming an estimated 8000 victims – still the country's worst natural disaster in terms of lives lost. Experience the Great Storm, narrated with entries from survivors' diaries, in the multimedia presentation at Pier 21 Theatre (☎ 409-763-8808; www.galveston.com/pier21theatre; cnr Pier 21 & Harborside Dr; adult/child $5/4; 🕒 11am-6pm Sun-Thu, to 8pm Fri & Sat). Next door, you can tour the Elissa, a beautiful 1877 Scottish tall ship, and investigate the town's 19th-century shipping heyday at the Texas Seaport Museum (☎ 409-763-1877; www.tsm-elissa.org; cnr Harborside Dr & 21st St; adult/child $7/5; 🕒 10am-5pm).

Small, free beaches lie between the Gulf and Seawall Blvd; follow that road to organized beach parks at the northeastern end of the island. At the time of writing, Galveston Island State Park (☎ 409-737-1222; www.tpwd.state.tx.us; cnr FM 3005 & 13 Mile Rd; admission free; 🕒 9am-5pm Sat & Sun), on the quieter southwestern end, has limited access.

Kids seem to love all the activity stuffed in and around the pastel glass pyramids of Moody Gardens (☎ 409-744-4673; www.moodygardens.com; 1 Hope Blvd; adult/child under 3yr $47/free; 🕒 10am-6pm; 👪) – aquariums, a penguin encounter, a butterfly rain forest, swimming beach, theater rides…The ginormous, indoor–outdoor Schlitterbahn Waterpark (2026 Lockheed St; www.schlitterbahn.com; day pass adult/child $38/30; 🕒 10am-8pm Jun–mid-Aug; 👪) further adds to the island's amusements; off-season hours vary.

It's easy to make Galveston a day trip from Houston. If you decide to stay over, the Beachcomber Inn (☎ 409-744-7133; www.galvestoninn.com; 2825 61st St; r $59-80; ❄ 📶 🏊), a block from the beach, is a neat and clean bargain. Or you can bask in palm-fringed Spanish-colonial luxury in the historic Hotel Galvez (☎ 409-765-7721; www.galveston.com/galvez; 2024 Seawall Blvd; r $161-259; ❄ 📶 🏊), where the pool deck has a lovely Gulf view and the full-service spa came back online mid-2009.

So close to the Gulf, it's no surprise that sea is the primary food source in Galveston; fish restaurants (mostly chains) line the bayside piers near the Strand. At the laid-back Shrimp N Stuff (☎ 409-763-2805; cnr 39th Blvd & Ave O; mains $7-12; 🕒 11am-10pm), the fried shrimp are hand-breaded and sauces are homemade. A local boy made good by buying and running the Spot (☎ 409-621-5237; 3204 Seawall Blvd; mains $10-19; 🕒 11am-10pm Sun-Thu, to 11pm Sat & Sun); the three old houses containing the restaurant–tiki bar–ice-cream parlor are a favorite local hangout, with a great Gulf-view patio.

Kerrville Bus Company (☎ 800-231-2222; www.iridekbc.com; 3825 Broadway) runs a morning bus and an evening bus (from $20, one hour) to Houston. Ike knocked the around-town Galveston Island Rail Trolley (www.islandtransit.net) clear off its tracks; when (if?) it will be running again is uncertain.

Piney Woods

In Piney Woods, northeast Texas, 100ft-plus-tall trees outnumber people. Nature is the attraction, but don't expect breathtaking vistas; here you'll find quiet trails and varied ecosystems. At Big Thicket National Preserve (☎ 409-246-2337; www.nps.gov/bith; cnr US 69 & Rte 420; admission free; 🕒 visitor center 9am-5pm), coastal plains meet desert sand dunes, and cypress swamps stand next to pine and hardwood forests. If you're lucky, you may run across one of 20 species of small wild orchids while hiking the 45 miles of trail. The eight disparate park units are 100 miles northwest of Houston.

SOUTHERN GULF COAST

Sparkling bays, small harbors filled with shrimp boats and more than 60 miles of protected beaches, a trip to the Southern Gulf Coast can't help but focus on the water – you'll want to anyway, because the scrubby mesquite trees and prickly-pear cactus inland don't make for the prettiest of landscapes. From the region's largest town, Corpus Christi, you can tour a huge aircraft carrier and visit a national seashore. Further south, the climate becomes a bit more tropical. Once you're in the Valley, you're just about to Mexico.

ARANSAS NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGE

Back in 1951 only 31 whooping cranes remained in the world; today there are more than 500, thanks in large part to the preservation efforts at their wintering ground, the 70,504-acre Aransas National Wildlife Refuge (☎ 361-286-3559; www.fws.gov/southwest/refuges/texas/aransas.html; FM 744; per car $5; ⏰ park sunrise-sunset, visitor center 8:30am-4:30pm), off Hwy 35. These giant white birds can stand 5ft tall (with a 7ft wingspan); from the observation tower you can usually spot one or two. Otherwise, to see the cranes you have to board a boat tour 35 miles south of the refuge in the town of Rockport (www.rockport-fulton.org). Captain Tommy with Rockport Birding & Kayak Adventures (☎ 877-892-4737; www.whoopingcranetours.com; tours $35; ⏰ 7:30am & 1pm Mar-Nov) has a relatively small, shallow-drafting boat, and so can get you into back bays that larger charters can't reach.

CORPUS CHRISTI & AROUND

The salt breezes and palm tree–lined bay are quite pleasant in this 'city by the sea,' whose population numbers 285,000. Downtown has a waterfront promenade and a few museums, but there's not too much in town to entice visitors – and the city council seems to like it that way. Trip out to Padre Island and the National Seashore for a beachy break, though don't expect the windblown surf to be azure blue. To the north, Port Aransas is a bustling little fishing town with tons of restaurants and boat charters.

Shoreline Dr, in downtown Corpus, has a small beach; the street continues south as Ocean Dr, which has bayfront playgrounds and parks, as well as some serious mansions lining it. Corpus Christi Convention & Visitors Bureau (☎ 800-766-2322; www.corpuschristi-tx-cvb.org; 1823 N Chaparral; ⏰ 9am-5pm Tue-Sat) has helpful coupons online.

Across the harbor bridge from downtown, by Corpus Christi Beach, see the foldable-winged airplanes that still cover the deck of the 900ft aircraft carrier USS Lexington Museum (☎ 361-888-4873; www.usslexington.com; 2914 N Shoreline Blvd; adult/child $13/8; ⏰ 9am-6pm Jun-Aug, to 5pm rest of year). Next-door, exhibits at the Texas State Aquarium (☎ 361-881-1200; www.texasstateaquarium.org; 2710 N Shoreline Blvd; adult/child $15.50/10.50; ⏰ 9am-6pm) focus on the Gulf of Mexico aquatic life and more.

Twenty miles east of downtown, off Hwy 358 (SPID), the sugar-sand beaches of Padre Island beckon. (Technically, this is 'North' Padre Island, but locals just call it 'the island.') Public access is easy – you can drive (15mph) and park on the packed sand at the water's edge (not on the dunes behind). No environmental groups seem to be protesting, but there is also a parking lot at Bob Hall Pier (15820 Park Rd 22) that you can use instead.

Downtown, there are several waterfront hotels; Bayfront Inn (☎ 361-883-7271; www.bayfrontinncc.com; 601 N Shoreline Blvd; r $60-110; 🏊) has the best basic-motel deals with a view of the bay. Numerous condos are for short-term rent on the island (see the visitors bureau website), and Holiday Inn Sunspree Resort (☎ 361-949-8041; www.ichotelsgroup.com; 15202 Windward Dr; r from $85; ❄ 💻 📶 🏊 👶) sits right on the sand; plus it has a complimentary kids' club from Memorial Day through to Labor Day.

Bars and restaurants cluster on the streets surrounding Chaparral and Water Sts downtown – there are few restaurants on the island. Eat a fried-shrimp wrap from a surfboard table at longtime fave Executive Surf Club (☎ 361-884-7873; www.executivesurfclub.com; 309 N Water St; mains $6-10; ⏰ 11am-11pm Sun-Wed, to midnight Thu-Sat). Brewster St Icehouse (☎ 361-884-2739; 1724 N Tancahua St; mains $7-16; ⏰ 11am-2am; 👶) has country-fried everything, cold brews, live country music (Thursday to Saturday nights) – and a playground for the kiddies.

Padre Island National Seashore

The 60 southern miles of 'North' Padre Island that lie outside Corpus Christi city limits are all a protected part of the Padre Island National Seashore (☎ 361-949-8068; www.nps.gov/pais; Park Rd 22; per car $10; ⏰ visitor center 8:30am-4:30pm, to 6pm Jun-Aug). Four-wheel drive is necessary to see the extent of the park, but if you hike even a short distance from the visitor center, you'll be free of the crowds. The constant wind not only creates and moves dunes, it also attracts kite- and windsurfers to the inland-side Bird Island Basin area. Watch for the endangered Kemp Ridley sea turtles that nest in the park, and are closely protected. If you're visiting in late summer, you might be able to take part in a turtle release; call the Hatchling Hotline (☎ 361-949-7163) for information. Camping is available at the semideveloped, paved Malaquite campground ($8), or go primitive – beach camping is free with a permit.

WORTH THE TRIP: PORT ARANSAS

Driving north, Padre Island morphs imperceptibly into Mustang Island, at the tip of which (20 miles along) is Port Aransas (www.portaransas.org). This bustling little fishing and vacation village is worth a stop. From divey to divine, there are lots of places to eat seafood – look for names like Fin's, Hook's, Trout Street. Gulf fishing charters depart from here; Fisherman's Wharf (☎ 361-749-5448; www.wharfcat.com; 900 N Tarpon St; 5hr trip adult/child $60/30) has regular deep-sea excursions and runs jetty boats to outer islands (adult/child $12/6).

SOUTH PADRE ISLAND

Want to parasail, bungee jump and drink yourself silly? This condo-crammed island has beach activities and bars galore. South Padre Island Visitor Center (☎ 956-761-6433; www.sopadre.com; 600 Padre Blvd; 🕘 9am-5pm) website has a comprehensive list of mini-golf courses, rowdy restaurants, condo rentals and beachfront hotels. The tours and feeding presentations every 30 minutes at Sea Turtle Inc (☎ 956-761-4511; www.seaturtleinc.com; 6617 Padre Blvd; adult/child $3/1; 🕘 10am-4pm Tue-Sun) rescue facility are refreshingly educational entertainment.

If you want to experience a hard-core fisherman's life, stop in Port Isabel (before you cross the bridge) to eat or stay at Marchan's White Sands Motel, Marina & Restaurant (☎ 956-943-2414; www.the-white-sands.com; 418 W Hwy 100; breakfast $4-8, mains $7-16, r $69-109; 🕘 6am-9pm Tue-Sat, to 2pm Mon; ❄ 🏊).

THE VALLEY

Way down here in the Rio Grande Valley (known simply as 'the Valley'), you're spittin' distance from Mexico. Citrus tree plantations are gradually giving way to new subdivisions, but there are enough remaining to supply the roadside stands at which you can pick up fresh local grapefruits and oranges (harvested November through May).

Nuevo Progreso (www.shop-progreso.com), Mexico, is probably the border shopping town least affected by drug-cartel violence. We have friends who still visit regularly; nonetheless, we're urging caution. See boxed text, p752.

Weslaco (www.weslaco.com), 58 miles west of South Padre Island, is a farming community known for its sweet onions. It is the closest US town with services to the crossing. Both the Best Western Palm Aire (☎ 956-969-2411; www.bestwesternpalmaire.com; 415 Rte 1015, Weslaco; r $59-72; 💻 📶 🏊), with a tropical pool and hot tub, and the Blue Onion (☎ 956-447-0067; 423 Rte 1015, Weslaco; mains $5-11; 🕘 11am-9pm), with locally loved homemade meals and flatbread, are on the road to Mexico.

Birders flock to the Valley's parks associated with the World Birding Center (www.worldbirdingcenter.org). Migrating avian masses, including thousands of hawks, pass through this natural corridor along the main North–South American fly route from March to April and September to October. Twenty miles or so west of Weslaco, the visitor and educational center at Bentsen-Rio Grande Valley State Park (☎ 956-585-1107; 2800 FM 2062, Mission; adult/child $5/free; 🕘 park 7am-10pm, center 8am-5pm) is a model of sustainable, green-driven architecture, including rainwater collection. Rent a bike (from $5 a day) or take the tram the 2 miles into the park. There, alligators and birds roam the wetlands, and you may spot a javelina (wild pig) or a horny toad on your way to the hawk-observation tower.

Twenty-seven miles southwest of South Padre in Brownsville (www.brownsville.org), the southernmost town in Texas, Gladys Porter Zoo (☎ 956-546-2177; www.gpz.org; 500 Ringgold St; adult/child $9/6; 🕘 9am-dusk; 👶) is a lush tropical botanical garden with a conservation bent. It specializes in breeding endangered animals like Komodo dragons and Philippine crocodiles.

Both Brownsville and Harlingen (30 miles east of Weslaco, 50 miles northwest of South Padre) have regional airports and national car rental.

DALLAS–FORT WORTH

Dallas and Fort Worth are as different as a Beemer-driving yuppie and a rancher in a Dodge dually pickup truck – the proverbial city slicker and his country cousin. Just 30 miles apart, the two towns anchor a giant megalopolis of six million people known as the Metroplex. Go see the excesses of the Big D and then day-trip to Fort Worth – the cowboy and Western sights and museums there might be the state's best-kept secret.

DALLAS

Big hair, big egos and big guns – flashy TV-show millionaires and heroic/criminal Cowboy football players are what outsiders think of Dallas. The reality is not unrelated. Hairstyles may have tamed, but the city is still highly image-conscious. An upscale ethos in this town of 1.3 million makes for an amazing dining scene (you can tell which place is hot by the caliber of cars the valet leaves out front) and the shopping is world-class. There is also a handful of interesting museums – history buffs should not miss the memorials of President John F Kennedy's assassination. Add to that the emerging performing-arts district, and it's plenty to keep you entertained for a couple of days. Though don't try to scratch the surface too deep – you may be disappointed.

Orientation

Downtown Dallas is east of the junction of I-30 and I-35 E; take the Commerce St exit off I-35. Uptown – with smart, trendy bars, restaurants and hotels – is north of downtown; follow Harwood St (or St Paul St, if you're taking the trolley) to McKinney Ave. Bars line Greenville Ave, northeast of downtown off Ross Ave. Deep Ellum, at the eastern end of Elm St, is a bit gritty, but it's the nucleus of Dallas' small live-music scene. The Bishop Arts District is just west of downtown, south of I-20, which connects to Fort Worth, 30 miles to the west.

Information

Bank of America (Map p738; ☎ 214-508-6881; 1401 Elm St) Foreign currency exchange.

Borders Books (Map p738; ☎ 214-219-0512; 3600 McKinney Ave; 🕑 10am-10pm)

Central Library (Map p738; ☎ 214-670-1700; 1515 Young St; 🕑 9am-9pm Mon-Thu, to 5pm Fri & Sat, noon-5pm Sun) Get a free internet card at the desk.

Dallas CVB Visitor Center (Map p738; ☎ 214-571-1300; www.visitdallas.com; Old Red Courthouse, 100 S Houston St; 🕑 8am-5pm Mon-Fri, 9am-5pm Sat & Sun) Free 20-minute internet access.

Dallas Morning News (www.dallasnews.com) The city's daily newspaper.

Parkland Memorial Hospital (Map p736; ☎ 214-590-8000; 5201 Harry Hines Blvd)

Police station (off Map p738; ☎ 214-670-4413; 334 S Hall St)

Post office (Map p738; ☎ 214-468-8270; 400 N Ervay St)

Sights

DOWNTOWN

President John F Kennedy's downtown assassination sent the city reeling in November 1963. The shooting was followed by a chaotic manhunt and gunman Lee Harvey Oswald's eventual assassination. The fascinating and highly audiovisual Sixth Floor Museum (Map p738; ☎ 214-747-6660; www.jfk.org; Book Depository, 411 Elm St; adult/child under 5yr $13.50/free; 🕑 10am-6pm Tue-Sun, noon-6pm Mon) narrates in minute-by-minute detail what happened where. Eyewitness photos and actual video and audio clips add depth to the experience. Even the myriad twisted assassin conspiracy theories are succinctly summarized. From Dealey Plaza, walk along Elm St beside the infamous grassy knoll, and look for the white 'X' in the road that marks the exact spot where the president was shot. Turn around and look up at the top floor of the Texas School Book Depository – now the museum – where Oswald pulled the trigger. Across N Market St is the Kennedy Memorial (Map p738), a simple but profound sculpture by architect Phillip Johnson.

The 1892 Old Red Courthouse that houses the Old Red Museum (Map p738; ☎ 214-757-1949; www.oldred.org; 100 S Houston St; adult/child $8/6; 🕑 9am-5pm) is almost as interesting as the museum's interactive exhibits on Dallas county history. Entry includes the free building tour (2pm daily).

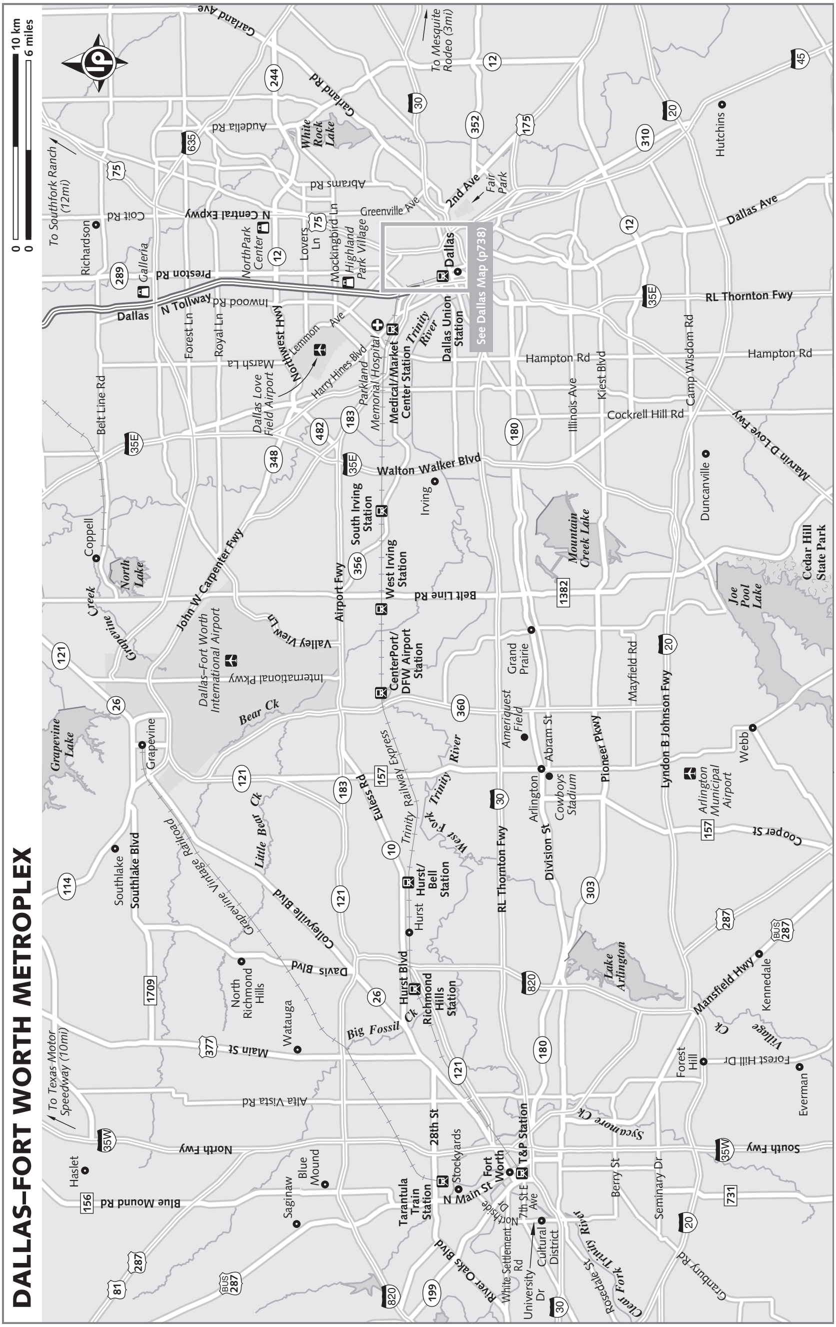
Modern-art installations shine both outside and in at the fabulous glass-and-steel Nasher Sculpture Center (Map p738; ☎ 214-242-5100; www.nashersculpturecenter.org; 2001 Flora St; adult/child $10/free; 🕑 11am-5pm Tue-Sun). The Dallas Museum of Art (Map p738; ☎ 214-922-1200; www.dallasmuseumofart.org; 1717 N Harwood St; adult/child $10/free; 🕑 11am-5pm Tue-Sun) is a high-caliber world tour of decorative and fine art befitting a big city. Both are set amid numerous theaters, part of the developing Arts District, and are open free to the public 5pm to 9pm on Thursday.

Among the flora and fauna of 14 countries, you can explore the watery Mayan world of a Central American jungle at the Dallas World Aquarium (Map p738; ☎ 214-720-2224; 1801 N Griffin St; www.dwazoo.com; adult/child $19/11; 🕑 10am-5pm; 👶).

SOUTHFORK RANCH

Who shot JR? Locals certainly no longer care (the TV drama Dallas was cancelled in 1992), but that doesn't stop interstate and international visitors from driving 20 miles north from Dallas to Southfork Ranch (off Map p738; ☎ 972-442-7800; www.southfork.com; 3700 Hogge Rd/FM 2551, Plano; adult/child $9.50/7; 🕑 9am-5pm). If you are expecting to see Miss Ellie's kitchen

DALLAS–FORT WORTH METROPLEX



0 10 km
0 6 miles
To Southfork Ranch (12mi)
To Mesquite Rodeo (3mi)
To Texas Motor Speedway (10mi) Richardson
Galleria
Dallas
N Tollway
Preston Rd
Coit Rd
N Central Expwy
NorthPark Center
Lovers Ln
Mockingbird Ln
Highland Park Village
Greenville Ave
Audelia Rd
Abrams Rd
Garland Rd
Garland Ave
White Rock Lake
2nd Ave
Fair Park
Dallas Ave
Hutchins
Inwood Rd
Forest Ln
Royal Ln
Marsh La
Lemmon Ave
Northwest Hwy
Dallas Love Field Airport
Harry Hines Blvd
Parkland Memorial Hospital
Medical/Market Center Station
Trinity River
Dallas Union Station
See Dallas Map (p738)
RL Thornton Fwy
Hampton Rd
Illinois Ave
Kiest Blvd
Camp Wisdom Rd
Cockrell Hill Rd
Marvin D Love Fwy
Duncanville
Cedar Hill State Park
Joe Pool Lake
Mountain Creek Lake
Belt Line Rd
Walton Walker Blvd
Irving
South Irving Station
West Irving Station
Airport Fwy
John W Carpenter Fwy
Coppell
North Lake
Grapevine Creek Valley View Ln
Dallas–Fort Worth International Airport
International Pkwy
Bear Ck
CenterPort/DFW Airport Station
Grand Prairie
Ameriquest Field
Arlington
Abram St
Cowboys Stadium
Division St
Pioneer Pkwy
Mayfield Rd
Lyndon B Johnson Fwy
Arlington Municipal Airport
Webb
Cooper St
Grapevine Lake
Grapevine
Southlake
Southlake Blvd
Grapevine Vintage Railroad
Little Bear Ck
Colleyville Blvd
Euless Rd
Trinity Railway Express
West Fork Trinity River Hurst
Hurst/Bell Station
RL Thornton Fwy
North Richmond Hills
Davis Blvd
Hurst Blvd
Richmond Hills Station
Big Fossil Ck
Watauga
Main St
Alta Vista Rd
Lake Arlington
Mansfield Hwy
Kennedale Village Ck
Forest Hill
Forest Hill Dr
Everman
Sycamore Ck
Haslet
North Fwy
Blue Mound
Blue Mound Rd
Saginaw
28th St
Stockyards
Tarantula Train Station
N Main St
Fort Worth
T&P Station
Northside Dr
7th St E
Ave
Cultural District
White Settlement Rd
University Dr
River Oaks Blvd
Rosedale St
Clear Fork Trinity River
Berry St
Seminary Dr
South Fwy
Granbury Rd
635
75 244 30 12
352
175 20 45
310
289
35E
183
482 348
180
356 1382
121
26
360
157 10
114
1709
377
820
303
287
BUS 287
35W
156
81
199
731

DON'T MISS

- Sixth Floor Museum – relive JFK's fateful assassination in multimedia surround sound (p735)
- Uptown eats – a chichi neighborhood chockablock with tasty eateries (p739)
- Arts District – museums, theaters, restaurants and some stunning modern architecture (p735)
- NorthPark Center mall – a massive monument to conspicuous consumption (p740) or JR's bedroom, don't. The ranch was used for exterior filming only; interior shots were filmed on a Hollywood set. The family who owned the ranch during the TV-show era lived there fulltime – until the show became so popular that they woke up to fans camped around their pool. The house is now an event center. You have to take a tour to see it and the tiny museum, including props like Lucy's wedding dress.

FAIR PARK

The art-deco buildings of Fair Park (off Map p738; ☎ 214-421-9600; www.fairpark.org; 1300 Cullum Blvd; adult/child passport $24/14), which were created for the 1936 Texas Centennial Exposition, today contain seven museums that focus on science, railroads, African American and women's history. The neighborhood is not the best, but it's perfectly safe.

Tours

Dramatic and committed conspiracy theorist–historian John Nagle (☎ 214-674-6295; www.jfktours.com; tours $20; 🕑 by appointment Sat & Sun) guides 1¼-hour walking tours of JFK assassination sights.

Festivals & Events

The 52ft Big Tex statue towers – and talks – over Fair Park from late September to October, during the State Fair of Texas (☎ 214-565-9931; www.bigtex.com; Fair Park, 1300 Cullum Blvd). Come ride one of the tallest Ferris wheels in North America, eat corny dogs (this is where they were invented), and browse among the prize-winning cows, sheep and quilts.

Sleeping

Staying uptown, you're closest to restaurants and nightlife, but hotels there can get pricey. The further you get from the center, the cheaper the highway chain motels get.

BUDGET

Dallas Irving Backpackers Stop (off Map p738; ☎ 214-682-9636; 214 W 6th St, Irving; dm $20; 🅿 ⊠ ✣ 💻 📶) This big, clean, family-run house is a pleasant place to stay – big kitchen, living room, four-bed rooms, super owners. But it is way out in a dry town (no alcohol sold), and the bus (20 minutes or less to Dallas) is a 10-minute walk away.

Best Western City Place Inn (off Map p738; ☎ 214-827-6080; www.bestwestern.com; 4150 N Central Expwy; r $69-99; 🅿 💻 📶 🏊) A funky 24-hour diner on-site gives soul to this otherwise standard motel. You can't beat the value-to-uptown-proximity ratio; the McKinney Ave trolley is just a 15-minute walk away.

MIDRANGE

Hotel Lawrence (Map p738; ☎ 214-761-9090; www.hotellawrencedallas.com; 302 S Houston St; r $89-169; 💻) Neoclassical earth-tone designs don't make the 1900s downtown hotel rooms seem bigger – asking for a corner room does. Check online: packages and internet specials make rates exceptionally reasonable.

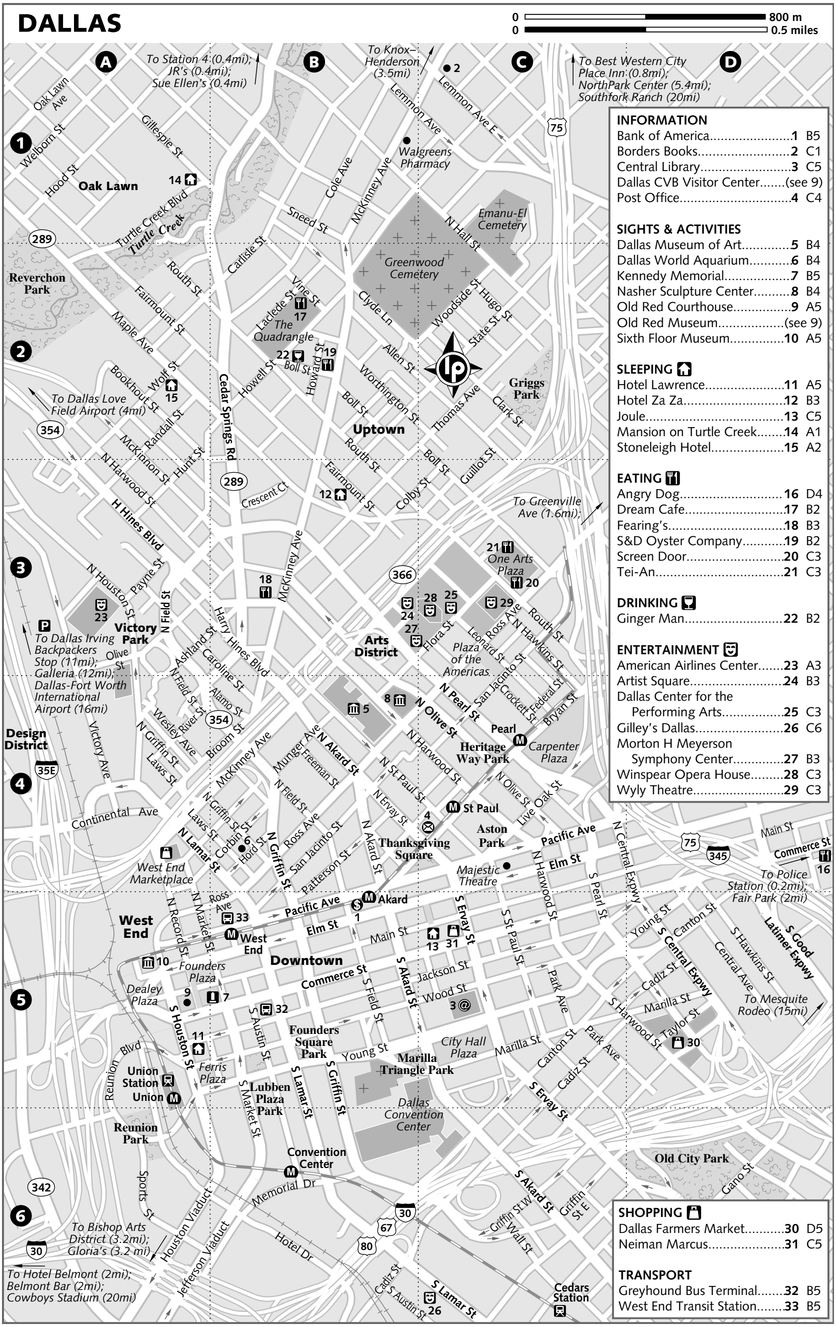
our pick Hotel Belmont (off Map p738; ☎ 866-870-8010; www.belmontdallas.com; 901 Fort Worth Ave; r $109-179; ⊠ ✣ 💻 📶 🏊) You could just imagine Marlene Dietrich walking down the terra-cotta stairs in this stylish 1940s bungalow hotel. The garden rooms – with soaking tubs, Moroccan-blue tile work, kilim rugs and some city views – are tops.

Joule (Map p738; ☎ 214-748-1300; www.starwoodhotels.com; 1530 Main St; r from $149; 💻 📶 🏊) A ceiling-height, moving, cog-and-wheel construction in the stylish lobby hints at the building's industrial-revolution-era beginnings. Urbane elegance continues throughout. The rooftop pool – cantilevered over Main St – had everyone talking when this place opened in 2009.

TOP END

Mansion on Turtle Creek (Map p738; ☎ 214-559-2100; www.rosewoodhotels.com; 2821 Turtle Creek Blvd; r $200-490; 💻 📶 🏊) Step into a life of ease, where for every two guests there's one staff member attending. Fresh flowers sit atop hand-carved

DALLAS



0 800 m
0 0.5 miles
A
B
C
D
1
2
3
4
5
6
To Station 4 (0.4mi); JR's (0.4mi); Sue Ellen's (0.4mi)
To Knox–Henderson (3.5mi)
To Best Western City Place Inn (0.8mi); NorthPark Center (5.4mi); Southfork Ranch (20mi)
To Dallas Love Field Airport (4mi)
To Greenville Ave (1.6mi)
To Dallas Irving Backpackers Stop (11mi); Galleria (12mi); Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport (16mi)
To Police Station (0.2mi); Fair Park (2mi)
To Mesquite Rodeo (15mi)
To Bishop Arts District (3.2mi); Gloria's (3.2 mi)
To Hotel Belmont (2mi); Belmont Bar (2mi); Cowboys Stadium (20mi)
Oak Lawn
Reverchon Park
Turtle Creek
Uptown
The Quadrangle
Greenwood Cemetery
Emanu-El Cemetery
Griggs Park
Walgreens Pharmacy Victory Park
Design District
Arts District
One Arts Plaza
Plaza of the Americas
Heritage Way Park
Carpenter Plaza
Thanksgiving Square
Aston Park
Majestic Theatre
West End Marketplace
West End
Downtown
Founders Plaza
Dealey Plaza
Founders Square Park
City Hall Plaza
Marilla Triangle Park
Ferris Plaza
Union Station
Reunion Park
Lubben Plaza Park
Dallas Convention Center
Convention Center
Old City Park
Cedars Station
Pearl
St Paul Akard
West End
Union
Oak Lawn Ave
Welborn St
Hood St
Gillespie St
Turtle Creek Blvd
Routh St
Fairmount St
Maple Ave
Wolf St
Bookhout St
Randall St
McKinnon St
Hunt St
N Harwood St
H Hines Blvd
Cedar Springs Rd
Carlisle St
Cole Ave
McKinney Ave
Sneed St
Lemmon Ave
Lemmon Ave E
N Hall St
Vine St
Laclede St
Howell St
Boll St
Howard St
Clyde Ln
Allen St
Worthington St
Woodside St
Hugo St
State St
Thomas Ave
Clark St
Colby St
Guillot St
Crescent Ct
N Houston St
Payne St
N Field St
Olive St
Ashland St
Harry Hines Blvd
Caroline St
Alamo St
River St
Wesley Ave
N Griffin St
Laws St
Broom St
Victory Ave
Continental Ave
Munger Ave
Freeman St
N Akard St
N St Paul St
N Ervay St
N Olive St
N Pearl St
Flora St
Leonard St
Ross Ave
N Hawkins St
San Jacinto St
Crockett St
Federal St
Bryan St
Live Oak St
N Lamar St
Corbin St
Hord St
Patterson St
Pacific Ave
Elm St
Main St
Commerce St
Jackson St
Wood St
Young St
Marilla St
Canton St
Cadiz St
Park Ave
N Central Expwy
S Central Expwy
Central Ave
S Hawkins St
Latimer Expwy
S Good Latimer Expwy
Taylor St
S Harwood St
N Record St
N Market St
S Houston St
S Austin St
S Field St
S Akard St
S Ervay St
S St Paul St
S Pearl St
S Market St
S Lamar St
S Griffin St
Reunion Blvd
Sports St
Houston Viaduct
Jefferson Viaduct
Memorial Dr
Hotel Dr
Griffin St W
Griffin St E
Wall St
Cadiz St
S Austin St
Gano St
289 354
366
342
35E
75
345 30 67
80
1
2
3
4
5
6
7
8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16
17 18 19 20 21
22
23 24
25 26 27
28 29 30 31 32 33 lp

INFORMATION
Bank of America	1	B5
Borders Books	2	C1
Central Library	3	C5
Dallas CVB Visitor Center	(see 9)
Post Office	4	C4

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES
Dallas Museum of Art	5	B4
Dallas World Aquarium	6	B4
Kennedy Memorial	7	B5
Nasher Sculpture Center	8	B4
Old Red Courthouse	9	A5
Old Red Museum	(see 9)
Sixth Floor Museum	10	A5

SLEEPING
Hotel Lawrence	11	A5
Hotel Za Za	12	B3
Joule	13	C5
Mansion on Turtle Creek	14	A1
Stoneleigh Hotel	15	A2

EATING
Angry Dog	16	D4
Dream Cafe	17	B2
Fearing's	18	B3
S&D Oyster Company	19	B2
Screen Door	20	C3
Tei-An	21	C3

DRINKING
Ginger Man	22	B2

ENTERTAINMENT
American Airlines Center	23	A3
Artist Square	24	B3
Dallas Center for the Performing Arts	25	C3
Gilley's Dallas	26	C6
Morton H Meyerson Symphony Center	27	B3
Winspear Opera House	28	C3
Wyly Theatre	29	C3

SHOPPING
Dallas Farmers Market	30	D5
Neiman Marcus	31	C5

TRANSPORT
Greyhound Bus Terminal	32	B5
West End Transit Station	33	B5

European guest-room furnishings, and dinner is served in the original, 1925 marble-clad Italianate villa.

More options:

Stoneleigh Hotel (Map p738; ☎ 800-921-8498; www.stoneleighhotel.com; 2927 Maple Ave; r $200-450; 📶) A $36 million makeover in 2008 upped the art-deco quotient.

Hotel Za Za (Map p738; ☎ 214-468-8399; www.hotelzaza.com; 2332 Leonard St; r $229-395; ⊠ ✣ 💻 📶 🏊) Hip, over-the-top eclectic rooms.

Eating

The stretch of Main near Akard St has some interesting food options, but downtown in general is pretty quiet. For those living in uptown (www.uptowndallas.net), dining out nightly is de rigueur, so there are plenty of options. You'll also do well eating just about anywhere along Knox–Henderson Sts, to the north.

UPTOWN & KNOX–HENDERSON

Dream Cafe (Map p738; ☎ 214-954-0486; 2800 Routh St; mains $6-15; 🕒 7am-9pm Sun-Thu, to 10pm Fri & Sat; 👶) Imagine a healthy, organic diner – one with quirky decor, a huge patio and a playground for kids – and you've got the picture.

S&D Oyster Company (Map p738; ☎ 214-880-0111; 2701 McKinney Ave; mains $12-20; 🕒 11am-10pm) An uptown staple for ages – the no-frills decor and great fried seafood keep 'em coming back. Try the BBQ shrimp.

our pick Fearing's (Map p738; ☎ 214-922-4848; Ritz-Carlton Hotel, 2121 McKinney Ave; lunch mains $16-24, dinner mains $30-50; 🕒 11am-2:30pm & 6-10:30pm Mon-Sat, 11:15am-3pm & 6-10pm Sun) Press accolades have poured in for chef Dean Fearing's four-star, four–dining room restaurant in the Ritz-Carlton. No need to dress up to enjoy the upscale Texas cuisine. Choose to sup in the lively open-kitchen room, a glass-enclosed conservatory, a tropical courtyard or the white-tableclothed 'gallery.'

BISHOP ARTS DISTRICT

Gloria's (off Map p738; ☎ 214-948-3672; 600 W Davis St; lunch specials $7-9, mains $9-15; 🕒 11:30am-10pm) Plantains, black beans and yucca are big players on the El Salvadorian Mexican menu. Gloria's has done so well that it's expanded to several local venues.

DOWNTOWN & DEEP ELLUM

Angry Dog (Map p738; ☎ 214-741-4406; 2726 Commerce St; mains $5-9; 🕒 11am-midnight Sun-Thu, to 2am Fri & Sat) Workers crowd in at lunchtime for the unbeatable burgers at this saloon.

One Arts Plaza, at 1722 Routh St, hosts five restaurants (Italian, Southern, Japanese and wine bars); Tei-An (Map p738; ☎ 214-220-2828; mains $11-20; 🕒 11am-2pm & 5:30-10pm) is most interesting because it specializes in laboriously handmade Japanese soba noodle dishes. Screen Door (Map p738; ☎ 214-720-9111; lunch $17-22, dinner mains $22-36; 🕒 11am-2pm & 5-10pm Mon-Fri, 5-11pm Sat, 10:30am-2pm Sun) serves an artistic interpretation of Southern mainstays.

Drinking

Numerous pubs with outdoor patios are to be found in uptown along not only McKinney Ave (in the 2500 to 2800 blocks especially), but also Knox St near Willis Ave. Note that bars and clubs in Dallas (at least mostly) have succumbed to the indoor smoking ban.

Belmont Bar (off Map p738; ☎ 866-870-8010; www.belmontdallas.com; Hotel Belmont, 901 Fort Worth Ave) Sip your adult beverage on a stylish terrace overlooking the city. Sometimes the bar screens B-grade flicks on the white stucco wall in the garden.

Ginger Man (Map p738; ☎ 214-754-8771; 2718 Boll St; 🕒 11am-2am Wed-Fri, 1pm-2am Sat-Tue) An appropriately spice-colored house is home to this always-busy neighborhood pub. The bar has multilevel patios and porches, out front and back.

Entertainment

For entertainment listings, check the weekly alternative newspaper Dallas Observer (www.dallasobserver.com) or Guide Live (www.guidelive.com), which appears in Friday's Dallas Morning News.

LIVE MUSIC & NIGHTCLUBS

During lunch hour, office workers crowd into the bars and restaurants of downtown's Deep Ellum (www.deepellumtexas). The scene at night is definitely grittier, almost scary, but this is still live-music central. Most of the clubs are hard-core, but you'll occasionally find country or jazz. The bars and clubs of Lower Greenville Ave (1500 to 2200 blocks) cater to a crowd temperament somewhere between the uptown yuppies and downtown grunge set. Victory Park, near American Airlines Center (Map p738), has yet to really take off as an entertainment neighborhood,

GAY & LESBIAN DALLAS

Dallas' gay and lesbian scene centers on Cedar Springs Rd and Oak Lawn Ave, north of uptown. The Dallas Gay & Lesbian Alliance's Resource Center of Dallas (☎ 214-528-9254; www.resourcecenterdallas.org) can refer you to points of interest and gay-owned businesses in town, and many more business listings can be found at the website of the Cedar Springs Merchant Association (http://dallascrossroads.com). The Dallas Voice newspaper (www.dallasvoice.com) is the town's gay and lesbian advocate.

A number of the hottest clubs are within a few steps of each other: Station 4 (off Map p738; ☎ 214-559-0650; 3911 Cedar Springs Rd) dance club hosts the Rose Room drag show on Friday and Saturday nights at 11pm. JR's (off Map p738; ☎ 214-528-1004; 3923 Cedar Springs Rd; 🕓 11am-2am) is a fun boys' bar with darts and pool, food and wi-fi. And Sue Ellen's (off Map p738; ☎ 214-559-0650; 3903 Cedar Springs Rd) is Dallas' biggest lesbian club.

but there are a number of chain bars and clubs (think Hard Rock, House of Blues).

Gilley's Dallas (☎ 214-421-2021; www.gilleysdallas.com; 1135 S Lamar St; 🕓 8pm-2am Fri & Sat) Boot-scoot around the floor or ride the mechanical bull from the movie Urban Cowboy at this longtime country-and-western fave.

SPORTS

Mesquite Rodeo (off Map p738; ☎ 972-285-8777; www.mesquiterodeo.com; 1818 Rodeo Dr; tickets $15-30; 🕓 8pm Fri & Sat May-Sep) Bronc-bustin', bull-ridin' cowboys square off at weekend rodeos broadcast nationwide. Take I-30 15 miles east to Hwy 80.

The Dallas Cowboys (www.dallascowboys.com) got the nickname 'America's Team' after they won three US football championships in the 1990s. Their snazzy new, retractable-roof home, Cowboys Stadium (Map p736; ☎ 817-892-8687; http://stadium.dallascowboys.com; 925 N Collins St, Arlington; stadium tours adult/child $15/12; 🕓 9am-6pm Mon-Sat, 11am-6pm Sun), opened in mid-2009.

The American Airlines Center (Map p738; ☎ 214-222-3687; www.americanairlinescenter.com; 2500 Victory Ave) in Victory Park hosts megaconcerts and is home to the Dallas Stars (☎ 214-467-8277; www.dallasstars.com) ice-hockey team and the Dallas Mavericks (☎ 214-747-6287; www.dallasmavericks.com) pro basketball team.

THEATER & CULTURE

With the opening of the multibillion-dollar Dallas Center for the Performing Arts (Map p738; ☎ 214-880-0202; www.dallasperformingarts.org; 2403 Flora St) in October 2009, Dallas now has four new, architecturally noteworthy performance venues: 2000-seat Winspear Opera House (Map p738), 1500-seat Wyly Theatre (Map p738) and an open-air stage, Artist Square (Map p738). Classical concerts will continue to be held at the Morton H Meyerson Symphony Center (Map p738; ☎ 214-670-3600; www.meyersonsymphonycenter.com; 2301 Flora St), which is also in the Arts District.

Shopping

You can find some interesting gifts of arty housewares, like vintage Fiestaware plates, in the quirky, but small, Bishop Arts District (www.bishopartsdistrict.com). On the northern end of uptown (at Lemmon and McKinney Aves), the West Village (www.westvil.com) neighborhood has a collection of chain stores and individual boutiques, like 'Cowboy Cool.'

Dallas Farmers Market (Map p738; ☎ 214-670-5880; www.dallasfarmersmarket.org; cnr Marilla Blvd & S Harwood St; 🕓 7am-6pm) Buy produce directly from the growers, or shop for flowers and antiques at this multibarn market.

Neiman Marcus (Map p738; ☎ 214-741-6911; www.neimanmarcus.com; 1618 Main St) A downtown landmark, this six-story behemoth was the first Neiman Marcus store in the country.

NorthPark Center (Map p736; ☎ 214-361-6345; www.northparkcenter.com; 1030 NorthPark Center, Northwest Hwy at US 75) Almost 2 million sq ft of retail space, Northpark is shopping nirvana for Dallasites.

Galleria (Map p736; ☎ 972-702-7100; www.galleriadallas.com; 13355 Noel Rd) The Galleria is another mega shopping mall, a favorite with out-of-towners – maybe it's the ice-skating rink in the center?

Getting There & Away

American Airlines' home port is Dallas–Fort Worth International Airport (DFW; Map p736; ☎ 972-973-8888; www.dfwairport.com), 16 miles northwest of the city via I-35 E. Great Britain and Mexico are among the nonstop international destinations. Southwest Airlines uses smaller Dallas Love Field Airport (DAL; Map p736; ☎ 214-670-6073; www.dallas-lovefield.com), just northwest of downtown; take Inwood Rd northeast from Harry Hines Blvd and turn left on Cedar Springs.

Greyhound buses make runs all over the country from the Greyhound Bus Terminal (Map p738; ☎ 214-655-7085; www.greyhound.com; 205 S Lamar St). Direct Greyhound buses connect Dallas with cities such as Austin ($32, 3½ hours) and Houston ($37, 4½ hours).

Amtrak's San Antonio–Chicago Texas Eagle stops at downtown's Union Station (Map p738; ☎ 214-653-1101; www.amtrak.com; 401 S Houston St).

Getting Around

TO/FROM THE AIRPORT

From Monday to Saturday you can ride the Trinity Railway Express (www.trinityrailwayexpress.org) between downtown's Union Station and the Center Port/DFW Airport stop ($2.50 one way), which is actually in a parking lot; free shuttle buses take you to the terminals. Daily, DART bus 39 ($1.50) travels between downtown's West End Transit Station (Map p738; 800 Pacific Ave) and Dallas Love Field, but service is limited on weekends.

It's often easiest to take a shared-ride shuttle: Yellow Checker Shuttle (☎ 817-267-5150; www.yellowcheckershuttle.com) and SuperShuttle (☎ 817-329-2000; www.supershuttle.com) both run from DFW or Dallas Love Field to downtown for $19. A taxi between either airport and central Dallas should cost about $40 to $50.

Every major rental-car company has an office at DFW, and many are at Dallas Love Field too.

BUS & LIGHT RAIL

Dallas Area Rapid Transit (DART; ☎ 214-979-1111; www.dart.org) operates buses and an extensive light-rail system that connects Union Station and other stops downtown with outlying areas (single trip $2.50). Day passes ($5) are available from the store at the Akard Station (Map p738; 1401 Pacific Ave; 🕓 7:30am-5:30pm Mon-Fri). Travel to uptown from downtown on the free McKinney Ave Trolley (☎ 214-855-0006; www.mata.org; 🕓 7am-10pm Mon-Thu, to midnight Friday, 10am-midnight Sat, to 10pm Sun), which runs from the corner of Ross Ave and St Paul St, near the Dallas Museum of Art, and up McKinney Ave to Hall St.

CAR & MOTORCYCLE

If you do rent a car, be warned that rush-hour freeway traffic is bad and there's little free parking downtown. Public garages cost from $12 per day.

AROUND DALLAS

Northeast Texas is full of small towns organized around courthouse squares, where spring and fall festivals and rodeos are big doggone deals. Check the Texas Highways (www.texashighways.com) listings to find one that suits you. For example, Tyler (www.tylertexas.com; cnr I-20 & US 69), 100 miles east of Dallas, is known for its October Rose Festival and the 14-acre municipal garden (in bloom April to November).

FORT WORTH

Yee-haw, Fort Worth is one Texas town that still has its twang. The place first became famous during the great open-range cattle drives of the late 19th century, when more than 10 million head of cattle tramped through the city on the Chisholm Trail. Today you can see a mini–cattle drive in the morning and a rodeo on Saturday night. Don't forget to go honky-tonkin' at Billy Bob's after all that ropin' and ridin'. Down in the Cultural District, tour the Cowgirl Museum and others, including three amazing art collections. Then, after you've meditated on minimalism, Sundance Square's restaurants and bars call you downtown. With a population of 702,000, the town is a more user-friendly size than Dallas, not to mention greener and cleaner. There's a lot to do here, without a whole lotta pretense.

Orientation & Information

Fort Worth is fairly compact and easy to drive around: I-30 runs east–west through downtown, and I-35 W runs to the south. Downtown, the Cultural District and the Stockyards form a lopsided triangle. North Main St runs between downtown and the Stockyards, 7th St E Ave connects downtown to the Cultural District, and University and Northside Drs connect the Cultural District to North Main St near the Stockyards.

Central Library (☎ 817-871-7701; 500 W 3rd St; 🕓 10am-6pm Mon, Wed, Fri & Sat, noon-8pm Tue & Thu, 1-5pm Sun) Free internet access.

Fort Worth Convention & Visitors Bureau (www.fortworth.com) Cultural District (☎ 817-882-8588; 3401 W Lancaster Ave; 🕓 10am-5pm Mon-Sat); Downtown (☎ 817-698-3300; 501 N Main St; 🕓 10am-6pm

DON'T MISS

- Billy Bob's Texas – live bull-riding and Texas two-stepping (p744)
- National Cowgirl Museum – ride 'em, cowgirl (right)!
- Amon Carter Museum – wild western art (right)
- Love Shack – Food Network star chef; low, low prices (opposite)

Mon-Sat); Stockyards (☎ 817-624-4741; 130 E Exchange Ave; 🕗 9am-6pm Mon-Sat, noon-5pm Sun) The most together tourist board in the state; ask for the spiffy free 3-D maps.

Sights & Activities

The Stockyards are cowboy central; most area museums call the leafy Cultural District home.

STOCKYARDS NATIONAL HISTORIC DISTRICT

Westernwear stores and knickknack shops, saloons and steakhouses occupy the Old West–era buildings of the Stockyards (www.fortworthstockyards.org; Exchange Ave). What used to be a livestock industry center has turned tourist trade. City-paid cowboys on horseback roam the district, answering questions and posing for photos. Twice a day, at 11:30am and 4pm, they drive a small herd (16 to 20 beasts) of Texas longhorns down the block in front of the visitor center. It's a goll-dang Kodak moment, pardner. See a real live rodeo at Cowtown Coliseum (☎ 817-625-1025; www.stockyardsrodeo.com; 121 E Exchange Ave; adult/child rodeo $15/10, Wild West Show $12/8) at 8pm on Friday and Saturday nights year-round. From June to August, horses and riders show off at Pawnee Bill's Wild West Show (2:30pm and 4:30pm on Saturday and Sunday).

In addition to all the shops here, there and yonder, the former sheep and hog pens of Stockyards Station (140 E Exchange Ave; www.stockyardsstation.com) house a mall of sorts. It's also the depot of the Grapevine Vintage Railroad (☎ 817-625-7245; www.tarantulatrain.com; adult/child $10/6; 🕗 3:30pm Thu-Sat), from where you can catch an hour-long 'Trinity River' tourist train ride, but the scenery's dismal. It's more fun – and free – to gather with the others by the roundhouse a few minutes before scheduled departure, put your penny on the track and pick it up after you watch the steam locomotive smash it.

CULTURAL DISTRICT

Five major museums and the Will Rogers Memorial Center are part of the parklike Cultural District (www.fwculture.com). At the Amon Carter Museum (☎ 817-738-1933; www.cartermuseum.org; 3501 Camp Bowie Blvd; admission free; 🕗 10am-5pm Tue-Sat, noon-5pm Sun), you can see displays of pre-1945 American art, including one of the country's best compilations of work by western artists Frederic Remington and Charles M Russell. There's also an extensive photography collection.

At the Modern Art Museum of Fort Worth (☎ 817-738-9215; www.themodern.org; 3200 Darnell St; adult/child $10/free; 🕗 10am-5pm Tue-Sat, 11am-5pm Sun) you round a corner from womblike, concrete galleries to be confronted by a two-story wall of glass looking out at the city skyline. Noteworthy art in the collection includes work by Picasso and Mark Rothko. European, pre-Colombian and other international art are in focus at the Kimbell Art Museum (☎ 817-332-8451; www.kimbellart.org; 3333 Camp Bowie Blvd; general admission free; 🕗 10am-5pm Tue-Thu & Sat, noon-8pm Fri, noon-5pm Sun).

The National Cowgirl Museum (☎ 817-336-3375; www.cowgirl.net; 1721 Gendy St; adult/child $8/7; 🕗 9am-5:30pm Mon-Thu, to 8pm Fri & Sat, 11:30am-5:30pm Sun) rides high with state-of-the-art exhibits. Mount a slow-mo electronic bucking bronc and video magic makes it look like you're in a fast-action rodeo. Four small theaters focus on different personalities – one is about Jessie in Pixar's Toy Story – but the museum overall is more rugged-frontiers-woman than about anything 'girly.'

Your Cowgirl ticket also gets you into the Museum of Science & History (☎ 817-255-9300; www.fwmuseum.org; 1501 Montgomery St; adult/child $8/7; 🕗 9am-5pm Mon-Thu, to 8pm Fri & Sat, 11:45am-5pm Sun; 👶), which brims with fossils, dinosaurs and kid-friendly stuff to do – like the planetarium and an Omni IMAX theater. A huge expansion, completed in late 2009, immerses you in today's cattle-breeding and cowboy industry.

DOWNTOWN

Colorful architecture, an art gallery or two, and a host of shops, bars, restaurants and hotels make the 14-block Sundance Square (www.sundancesquare.com), near Main and 3rd Sts, supremely strollable. The area is more than safe:

IF YOU HAVE A FEW MORE DAYS

Have yourself a NASCAR experience at Texas Motor Speedway (☎ 817-215-8500; www.texasmotorspeedway.com; cnr Hwy 114 & I-35). The annual stock-car race is in November, but year-round you can ride along at more than 150mph (four laps $125) or go to driving school (10 laps $345) with Team Texas (☎ 940-648-1043; www.teamtexas.com). The speedway is 20 miles north of downtown, on I-35 W. Four miles away Babe's Fried Chicken House (☎ 817-491-2900; 104 North Oak St, Roanoke; meals $11; 🕑 11am-2pm & 5-10pm Mon-Fri, 11am-10pm Sat & Sun), where all the down-home dishes and sides are served family-style, makes an excellent pit stop on the way to or from the park.

it's downright friendly, day or night. Parking garages are free after 5pm and on weekends.

All the works at the Sid Richardson Collection of Western Art (☎ 817-332-6554; www.sidrichardsonmuseum.org; 309 Main St; admission free; 🕑 9am-5pm Mon-Sat, noon-5pm Sun) were once privately held.

Festivals & Events

The town's biggest event is the Fort Worth Stock Show & Rodeo (☎ 817-877-2400; www.fwstockshowrodeo.com), which is held in late January or early February each year at Will Rogers Coliseum (1 Amon Carter Sq) in the Cultural District.

Sleeping

It's also easy to do a day trip to Fort Worth from Dallas…

Holiday Inn Express – Fort Worth Downtown (☎ 817-698-9595; www.hiexpress.com; 1111 W Lancaster Ave; r $99-150; ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) A retro vibe pervades the newish (opened late 2008) HI Express, 1 mile southwest of downtown. What surprising stylishness from a chain.

Hyatt Place Stockyards (☎ 817-626-6000; http://stockyards.place.hyatt.com; 132 E Exchange Ave; r $135-179; ☒ ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) Upscale granite and neutral color schemes keep things businessy, but staying here you're stumblin' distance to the fun of the Stockyards' bars and attractions.

Stockyards Hotel (☎ 817-625-6427; www.stockyardshotel.com; 109 E Exchange Pl; r $189-229; ☒ ❄ 📶) First opened in 1907, this place clings to its cowboy past with Western-themed art, individual cowboyed-out rooms with lots of leather and a steakhouse on-site.

Yet more options:

Texas White House B&B (☎ 817-923-3597; www.texaswhitehouse.com; 1417 Eighth St; r incl breakfast $125-235; ☒ ❄ 📶) Large historic home, contemporary Texas style – near downtown.

Ashton Hotel (☎ 866-327-4866; www.theashtonhotel.com; 610 Main St; r $208-290; ☒ ❄ 📶) A 39-room boutique hotel in an 1890 and a 1915 building off Sundance Square.

Eating

Put on the feed bag at the numerous cafés and restaurants in Sundance Square and in the Stockyards (the latter is a tad touristy, but all good fun). Note that steak prices around town are weighty, but then so is the portion of beef.

our pick Love Shack (☎ 817-740-8812; 110 E Exchange Ave; burgers $4-6; 🕑 11:30am-8pm Sun-Wed, to 11pm Thu, to 1am Fri & Sat) Native son and Food Network iron chef Tim Love (www.cheftimlove.com) has almost as many restaurants in town as he does accolades. The best bargain is his tenderloin-and-brisket burgers, some topped with a quail egg, here at Love Shack. Don't miss the home-cut fries or Parmesan chips – oh, and those double-thick milk shakes…yum. Live local music plays on Saturdays at 8pm.

Angelo's Barbecue (☎ 817-332-0357; 2533 White Settlement Rd; plates $6-12; 🕑 10am-10pm Mon-Sat) They've been smokin' brisket, ribs and sausage at this BBQ joint north of the Cultural District since 1958.

Joe T Garcia's (☎ 817-626-4356; 2201 N Commerce St; lunch & brunch mains $6-12, dinner mains $12-14; 🕑 11am-10pm Mon-Thu, to 11pm Fri & Sat, 10am-10pm Sun) Eat inside, or outdoors in the walled courtyard, where Mexican-tile fountains bubble among the tropical foliage. Lunch is à la carte, but for dinner you choose between chicken or beef enchiladas and fajitas served family-style. On weekends the line to get in here (they don't take reservations) often stretches around the block.

8.0 Restaurant & Bar (☎ 817-336-0880; 111 E 3rd St, Sundance Sq; mains $8-15; 🕑 11am-11pm Tue-Sat, 3-10pm Sun) 'Mom's Meatloaf' and Mexican enchiladas are both on the mixed-up but lovable menu. A large patio under the trees with live music on Wednesdays and DJs on weekends (from Memorial Day to Labor Day) makes this a favorite place to kick back.

Taverna (☎ 817-885-7502; 450 Throckmorton St; lunch $9-10, dinner mains $12-19; 🕒 11am-10pm) Young professionals rave about the quality pasta here. But frequent specials, such as half-price hand-tossed pizza in the bar (3:30pm to 7pm daily), are even more praise-worthy.

Reata (☎ 817-336-1009; 310 Houston St; lunch $9-18, dinner mains $16-39; 🕒 11am-10pm) The proprietors also own their own cattle ranch, so the sizable steaks are worth their weight. But you might also try the Texas specialties such as tenderloin tamales and jalapeño-cheddar grits.

Drinking

Rahr & Sons Brewing Co (☎ 817-810-9266; www.rahrbrewing.com; 701 Galveston Ave, at S Main St; admission $5) While out on the town, ask for local microbrews from Rahr & Sons, or take a tour of the place from 1pm to 3pm on Saturdays – tasting and live music included.

All the restaurants in and around Sundance Square have popular bars attached, and then there are the stand-alone favorites like Flying Saucer Emporium (☎ 817-336-7470; 111 E 4th St; 🕒 11am-1am Mon-Wed, to 2am Thu-Sat, noon-midnight Sun), which is made for craft beer–lovers (77 brews on tap). You definitely won't go thirsty 'round here.

Entertainment

On weekend evenings, country music becomes common in the Stockyards District, and a variety of live bands play in and around Sundance Square. Look for listings in Fort Worth Weekly (www.fwweekly.com).

LIVE MUSIC

our pick Billy Bob's Texas (☎ 817-624-7117; www.billybobstexas.com; 2520 Rodeo Plaza, Stockyards; 🕒 11am-2am Mon-Sat, noon-2am Sun) Top country-and-western stars, house bands and country DJs play on two stages at Texas' largest honky-tonk. Just having a mechanical bull isn't good enough here – on Friday and Saturday night a live bull-riding competition takes place at an indoor arena. Pool tables and games help make this a family place; under 18s are welcome with a parent.

White Elephant Saloon (☎ 817-624-1887; www.whiteelephantsaloon.com; 106 E Exchange Ave; 🕒 2pm-midnight Mon-Thu, to 2am Fri, noon-2am Sat, noon-midnight Sun) Stockyards cowboys have been bellying up to this bar since 1887 (now Tim Love owns it too). Local singers and songwriters are showcased nightly.

THEATER & PERFORMING ARTS

Bass Performance Hall (☎ 817-212-4325; www.basshall.com; 555 Commerce St) The glittery Bass Hall's theaters host everything from Mingo Fishtrap to the Will Rogers Follies. The symphony, ballet and opera also make their home here.

Getting There & Around

From Monday to Saturday you can ride the Trinity Railway Express (www.trinityrailwayexpress.org) between Fort Worth's T&P Station (☎ 817-215-8654; 221 W Lancaster Ave) and the Center Port/DFW Airport stop ($1.50 one way); free shuttle buses take you from the train parking lot to the terminals. If you're coming into Dallas Love Field, you'll have to transfer through in downtown Dallas.

Eleven buses a day make the one-hour trip (from $6.60) from the downtown Fort Worth Greyhound Bus Terminal (☎ 817-429-3089; www.greyhound.com; 901 Commerce St) to Dallas.

The Fort Worth Transit Authority (The T; ☎ 817-215-8600; www.the-t.com) runs bus 1 to the Stockyards and bus 2W to the Cultural District, departing from the ITC Transfer Center at Jones and 9th Sts. The single fare is $1.50.

The Texas Eagle stops at the Amtrak Station (☎ 817-332-2931; www.amtrak.com; 1001 Jones St) en route to San Antonio or Chicago. Monday to Saturday the Trinity Railway Express (TRE; ☎ 817-215-8600; www.trinityrailwayexpress.com; T&P Station, 1600 Throckmorton St) connects downtown Fort Worth with downtown Dallas ($2.50, 1¼ hours).

PANHANDLE PLAINS

Angry black clouds gather on the horizon, and seemingly seconds later hail, thunder and lightning are flashing down in a darn-good imitation of judgment day. The endlessly flat landscape, punctuated only by utility poles and windmills, produces some phenomenal weather, oil and not a whole lot else. The little bit that's left of old Route 66 scoots through Amarillo on its way west.

AMARILLO

Little remains of this once-fabled stop on Route 66, but there are a few quirky sights and the Big Texan Steak Ranch is as kitsch as they come. The town is a convenient overnight stop for those driving across the US. To the south, Palo Duro Canyon seems awfully surprising in this flat land. Remember that this is cattle country: if the wind is blowing just right, that's the stockyards you smell.

There are a few small Western museums in town; get oriented at the Visitor Information Center (☎ 806-374-8474; www.visitamarillotx.com; 401 S Buchanan St; 🕘 9am-6pm Mon-Fri, 10am-4pm Sat & Sun). Old Route 66 here is most character-filled along W 6th Ave, also known as the San Jacinto District. Shopfronts from the 1920s sell everything from burgers and beer to books, hardware and antiques.

On Rte 1541, 25 miles south of downtown Amarillo, nature really shows off at Palo Duro Canyon State Park (☎ 806-488-2227; www.paloduro canyon.com; Hwy 217; adult/child $5/free). A fork of the Red River carved its way through multicolor caprock to create the second-largest canyon in the US. A good paved road leads down to the floor and around the scenic 16-mile loop with hiking trails. An amphitheater carved into the canyon is the site of the Texas Show (☎ 806-655-2181; www.texas-show.com; tickets $10-30, dinner adult/child $17/13; 🕘 8:30pm Tue-Sun Jun–mid-Aug), a cowboy-pioneer, singing-dancing-acting musical extravaganza; a cowboy camp meal is served.

our pick Big Texan Steak Ranch & Motel (☎ 800-657-7177; www.bigtexan.com; 7700 I-40 E, exit 74; mains $15-35; ❄ 🏊), along I-40 Amarillo has every chain hotel and restaurant you can think of, and then some (those west of town are newest). And in contrast, stretch-Cadillac limos with steer-horn hood ornaments wait out front, marquee lights blink above, a shooting arcade pings inside the saloon, and a big, tall Tex road sign welcomes you to the Big Texan Steak Ranch & Motel. This cheesy roadside attraction built on historic Route 66 is a love-it-or-hate-it kinda place. A Texas-shaped cement pond (aka swimming pool) completes the over-the-top Old West theme at the motel (singles $60, doubles $70 to $80). Billboards start advertising the 'free 72oz steak' in Oklahoma; however, be warned: if you take the challenge and can't eat all the steak – and all the side dishes – in an hour, that 'free' steak costs $72. For such a kitschy place, the beef is surprisingly good and tender. And who doesn't want cowboy troubadours serenading you while you eat?

Greasy-spoon Golden Light Café (☎ 806-374-0097; 2908 W 6th Ave; sandwiches $3-7; 🕘 11am-10pm Mon-Wed, to 11pm Thu-Sat) has been serving burgers, home-cut fries and cold beer to travelers on Route 66 from this same spot since 1946.

Amarillo is a long way from most anywhere in Texas, but coaches leave from the Greyhound Bus Terminal (☎ 806-374-5371; www.greyhound.com; 700 S Tyler St) for places like Dallas (from $82, six hours). Southwest and Continental Airlines fly into Amarillo International Airport, located on the eastern edge of town north of I-40 via exit 76.

WEST TEXAS

Tumbleweeds roll across dusty ground, cacti bloom in desert sands, endless skies contain shimmering heat: West Texas is the stuff of Hollywood screen-maker dreams. Drive west along I-10 and there's a whole lotta nothin' to see. Turn south off the interstate and it's a different story. Big Bend National Park

ROUTE 66: GET YOUR KICKS IN TEXAS

The Mother Road crosses Texas for a mere 178 miles, most of which is paved under I-40. The state's claim to Route 66 fame is that it contains the road's center point. We figure it probably also has the greatest number of cars stuck in the dirt as art.

Once you pass into Texas from Oklahoma, McLean is about 35 miles west of Texola. There the Devil's Rope Museum (☎ 806-779-2225; www.barbwiremuseum.com; 100 Kingsley St, McLean; admission free; 🕘 10am-4pm Tue-Sat) has a Route 66 – and barbed-wire – museum (it has an excellent Texas Route 66 map online).

Forty-five miles west of McLean, stop in Conway to spray-paint your name on one of the VW Beetles planted nose down at Bug Ranch (see boxed text, p746). As you approach Amarillo, 18 miles later, it's hard to miss the giant cowboy waving from the Big Texan Steak Ranch & Motel (above). Downtown's W 6th St is a short, but entirely original, Mother Road segment. And just outside of town to the west, more car art is buried nose-deep at Cadillac Ranch (see the boxed text, p746).

Though nearby Vega contests this, when you reach Adrian, 50 miles west of Amarillo on I-40, you're halfway between Chicago and Los Angeles.

WHAT THE...?

In 1974 the late, local eccentric millionaire Stanley Marsh planted 10 Cadillacs (vintage 1949 to 1963) headlights down in a deserted stretch of dirt outside Amarillo – and then moved them further out in 1997 because of town encroachment. The reason? He said he constructed what has come to be known as Cadillac Ranch (I-40, btwn exits 60 & 62) in a salute to Route 66, using cars he considered to represent the golden age of car travel. The accepted practice today is to leave your own mark on the art by drawing on the cars. Bring spray paint in case other visitors haven't left any around. Occasionally the cars get a makeover, like when they were all painted pink in honor of breast-cancer awareness. To get here, park along the south feeder road, a couple of miles west of Loop 335, and walk the well-worn path. As cool as it sounds, there's a sort of forlorn feel to the place.

The ground around here seems to be fertile for growing cars – 18 miles east of Amarillo in Conway, there are five stripped-down VW bugs sprouting on Bug Ranch (Hwy 207 access road). The story goes that in 2002 the owners of a now-defunct convenience-souvenir store at the highway interchange wanted to attract customers and so built the roadside attraction in parody of the classic Cadillac Ranch. It didn't save the store, and the family has moved off, but the slug bugs in the dirt do attract attention. Again, feel free to leave your spray-painted signature. Both sights are visible from 1-40 and accessible 24/7.

(right) is a moonscape of desert mountains and deep arroyos on the Mexican border – a river-running, mountain-hiking paradise. Around the park, more mountains and small-town surprises await, like cutting-edge art installations and historic hotels. North of I-10, the state's tallest peaks rise from Guadalupe Mountains National Park (p753), near Carlsbad, NM. And way far west, El Paso is a town in a whole different time zone from the rest of Texas.

BIG BEND

Look at a Texas map. See the western elbow of land poking into Mexico? That's the Big Bend area following the curve of the Rio Grande, and the border. You can tell you're in the middle of nowhere – gasoline is extra expensive, cell-phone coverage is virtually nonexistent and internet connections are rare. What you come across instead is a national and state park filled with the interesting vegetation of Chihuahuan desert and limestone canyons. An hour and a half north of the parks are several more state parks with great old Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) lodgings, towns with thriving art colonies, eclectic hotels and an astronomical observatory.

The Big Bend region has been likened to the 'devil's playground' in summer – 102°F (39°C) average temperature in July – but winter in the mountains can see snow. The best times to visit are February to April and October to November. Midland–Odessa (150 miles northeast of Alpine) and El Paso (220 miles northwest) are the closest major airports. Alpine, 95 miles north of the Big Bend National Park entrance, is the main base for gas and groceries. For more info, check out Visit Big Bend (www.visitbigbend.com).

Big Bend National Park

The Chisos Mountains rise up at the center of Big Bend National Park (☎ 432-477-2251; www.nps.gov/bibe; 7-day pass per vehicle $20; 🕓 24hr). To the west, the dramatic mesas and rock formations are the result of ancient volcanic activity. To the east of the mountains stretches desert habitat. The diverse geography in the park's 800,000 acres supports mountain lions and black bears, though you're more likely to see some of the 56 species of reptiles and 100 bird types. The park runs along the Rio Grande, but there's no legal access to Mexico here. River-rafting and other outdoor outfitters are based outside the park (see boxed text, p748). The Panther Junction Visitors Center (☎ 915-477-2251; 🕓 8am-6pm) is along the main park road, 29 miles from the Persimmon Gap entrance gate, south of Marathon, and 26 miles from the Maverick entrance at Study Butte. Gasoline is sold nearby.

The park puts out pamphlets, but the best trail resource is Hiking Big Bend by Laurence Parent. Most of the 150-plus miles of hiking paths are in the Chisos Mountains, where the 14-mile Rim Trail has some challenging ascents, rewarded by mountain panoramas. Ten to 20°F hotter down on the desert floor, the 1.5-mile Santa Elena Canyon Trail (40 miles southwest of Panther Junction) is one of the most popular treks because of the stunning rock and river views. It's rated easy, but you have to wade through a stream and climb stairs in the canyon wall. The adventurous (and ecoconscious) might convince the rangers to direct them to the trail that's left off maps. Hint: there are falls and abundant vegetation for a desert. Twenty miles southeast of the main visitor center, you can hike around old bathhouse buildings, along the river to the hot springs (0.75 miles from the parking lot). The waters are channeled into an old building foundation that forms a kind of hot tub above the riverbanks.

Stone-and-wooden-beam cottages at Chisos Mountains Lodge (☎ 877-386-4383; http://chisosmountainslodge.com; lodge & motel r $116-120, cottages $150) are the most secluded of several lodging options (cottage 103 has the best view). The alltogether standard motel rooms have thin walls. Restaurant food here is so-so; better to pack a cooler ahead of time. The complex has a visitor center (🕘 9am-4:30pm) and a camp store (🕘 9am-9pm) with basic supplies. The mountain climate at Chisos Basin Campground (☎ 877-444-6777; www.recreation.gov; campsites $14) attracts the most campers in the park.

The abundant cottonwood trees shading the desert Rio Grande Village Campground (☎ 877-444-6777; www.recreation.gov; campsites $14) are quite unexpected – unless you know that this was once part of a pioneer's farm and the irrigation canals are still in use. Continue past the turnoff for the hot springs to the village.

Terlingua–Study Butte

Three miles east of the park boundary, two dusty little towns run together at the junction of Hwy 118 and Route 170. Outfitters, a couple of motels and a few restaurants lie along both routes.

DON'T MISS

- Hot Springs Trail, Big Bend National Park – hike along the Rio Grande to a natural hot tub (left)
- McDonald Observatory, Fort Davis – an evening party among the stars (p749)
- Marfa – engaging modern art, and aliens (p749)
- Wyler Aerial Tramway, El Paso – an almost 6000ft-high overview of Texas, NM, and Mexico (p751)
- Gage Hotel, Marathon – right out of a dime-store Old West novel (p750)

In the Terlingua Ghost Town (www.historic-terlingua.com; Rte 170 W), hippies and hard-core desert dwellers have turned the clay brick–built former mining shanties into minihomes. Terlingua Trading Company (☎ 432-371-2234; Ivey St) sells a walking-tour map of the few old buildings, local arts and crafts, and books on sustainable living (most residents don't have electricity or running water). Buy a beer inside the store and hang out on the porch with locals at sunset; it's the thing to do. (Though there are two bars nearby.)

We'd stay in a park, a town to the north or Lajitas instead, but the bare-bones-basic Chisos Mining Company Motel (☎ 432-371-2554; www.cmcm.cc; Rte 170; s $57, d $75-95) is the cheapest sleeping in Terlingua–Study Butte.

Next to the store, Starlight Theatre (☎ 432-371-2326; Ivey St; mains $15-20; 🕘 5-10pm) has been resurrected as an event as much as a restaurant – complete with twinkly lights, mural-covered walls, live music playing and chicken-fried antelope. Part food stand, part roadside attraction, Kathy's Kosmic Kowgirl Kafe (☎ 432-371-2164; Rte 170; BBQ & sandwiches $4-9; 🕘 6:30am-3pm Thu-Sun) is a hot-pink trailer

DETOUR: BUDDY HOLLY CENTER

You're a big fan of rock and roll? Buddy Holly's birth (and burial) place, Lubbock, is 125 miles south of Amarillo. The Buddy Holly Center (☎ 806-767-2686; www.buddyhollycenter.org; 1801 Ave G; adult/child $5/2; 🕘 10am-5pm Tue-Sat, 1-5pm Sun) highlights the career of not only the rocker, whose plane went down in an Iowa snowstorm in 1959, but also his contemporaries. Fans leave guitar picks at Buddy Holly's grave (Lubbock City Cemetery, cnr 31st St & Teak Ave). Take a right when you get into the cemetery; the modest headstone is on the left by the side of the road.

Otherwise, maybe Mac Davis had it right when he sang, 'Happiness is Lubbock in my rearview mirror…'

OUTDOOR ACCESS

Most people see Big Bend from a road or a trail, but there are some captivating perspectives you can only get with an outfitter's help. Several companies based in Terlingua–Study Butte lead multihour to multiday, multisport trips in the region. River-rafting (in high enough water) or canoeing through the canyons are the most popular options. (The river flows principally in fall and winter; in the summer it can be just a trickle.) For a short trip, float through Santa Elena Canyon (half-day from $140). If you have four days, the remote, 33-mile Bouquillas Canyon trip (from $685 with meals and tents) is a guider's favorite – no other people, just great rock formations and hiking.

The guides at Big Bend River Tours (☎ 432-371-3033; www.bigbendrivertours.com; Rte 170), just west of Hwy 118, have run the river more than a time or two themselves. They also combine rafting with horseback-riding expeditions. Active, do-it-yourself types should check out Desert Sports (☎ 432-371-2727; www.desertsportstx.com; Rte 170), 5 miles west of Hwy 118; the dedicated staff rents canoes ($50 per day), bikes ($35) and inflatable kayaks ($40) and will shuttle you in your car or theirs to river-launch and pick-up points ($25 to $105). Hike, bike and float tours are also available. Far Flung Outdoor Center (☎ 432-371-2633; www.farflungoutdoorcenter.com; Rte 170 at Hwy 118) is a bit more motor-oriented. Three-hour Jeep (from $65) and ATV (from $125) tours are on offer, in addition to the requisite rafting trips.

about a mile west of Hwy 118. It sometimes shows movies and has campfires at night.

On the Thursday through Sunday surrounding the first Saturday in November, the whole place goes crazy with the Terlingua International Chili Cook-Off (www.abowlofred.com; admission $30). Nightly entertainment, ugly-hat contests and, of course, tastings are all part of the spicy fun held annually for more than 40 years.

Lajitas to Presidio

Leaving Terlingua to the west, you come to Lajitas (☎ 877-525-4827; www.lajitas.com; r $195-330; 🚭 ❄ 🏊), which looks like a town but is actually all one resort. On-site outfitters arrange adventures – overnight horse riding/posh camping trips, Colt 45 target shooting, etc. Afterwards you can rejuvenate at the spa, dine on upscale Tex-Mex and listen to live music on weekends at the Thirsty Goat. A new golf course is scheduled to open in mid-2010.

Lajitas Stables (☎ 432-371-2212; www.lajitasstables.com; Rte 170; 2hr rides $60), 3 miles west of the resort, guides riders along mesas and mountains outside area parks.

Big Bend Ranch State Park (☎ 432-229-3416; www.tpwd.state.tx.us; off Rte 170; day use $3) is much less explored than its big brother, but the easily accessed turnouts for hiking or picnicking along the river road shouldn't be ignored. Make the easy 0.7-mile trek into narrow Closed Canyon, where the cliffs rise above you, blocking out the sun. Camping is off Casa Piedra Rd, but you have to register at the Fort Leaton State Historic Site (☎ 432-229-3613; www.tpwd.state.tx.us; Rte 170; camping $3, fort admission $2; 🕐 8:30am-4:30pm), which is past the park.

Alpine

Primarily a pit stop, this university town has no real attractions of note. But it is the most sizable population (5700) in Big Bend – and the only place with big-name chain motels, numerous restaurants, grocery stores, more than one gas station and public transportation. From here, the national park is 90 miles south, Marfa is 20 miles west, Marathon is 18 miles east and Fort Davis is 17 miles northwest. People do visit to hear tall tales told at Sul Ross State University's annual Cowboy Poetry Gathering (☎ 432-364-2490; www.cowboy-poetry.org) in February. You can get regionwide information at the Alpine Chamber of Commerce (☎ 432-837-2326; www.alpinetexas.com; 106 N 3rd St; 🕐 9am-5pm Mon-Fri, 10am-2pm Sun).

Antelope Lodge (☎ 432-837-2451; www.antelopelodge.com; 2310 W Hwy 90; s $49-54, d $54-59; 📶) may just be the best deal in Big Bend. Compact rooms in white-stucco-and-red-tile cottages circle around a grassy lawn in true (renovated) 1930s motor-court style. Maverick Inn (☎ 432-837-0628; www.themaverickinn.com; 1200 E Holland Ave; r $85-145; 📶), also an old adobe motor court, is definitely more upscale, with rooms dressed in rustic Southwestern style.

Look for grocery stores along Holland Ave and Ave E in the town center. You can dig into superfresh pizzas and pastas, or just order an espresso or michelada (margarita-tasting beer) and use the wi-fi at the friendly La Trattoria (☎ 432-837-2200; 202 W Holland Ave; breakfasts $4-8, mains $8-16; 🕒 8:30am-3pm & 5-10pm Tue-Sun; 📶).

The town has a limited Greyhound (☎ 800-231-2222; www.greyhound.com; Quick Stop, 2305 E Hwy 90) bus service. The Florida–California Sunset Limited stops at the Amtrak Station (☎ 800-872-7245; www.amtrak.com; 102 W Holland St). Buy tickets on board; there's no ticket office. Arrivals are often delayed by freight traffic until the middle of the night. If you want to rent a car, you're stuck with Alpine Auto Rental (☎ 432-837-3463; www.alpineautorental.com; 414 E Holland Ave; per day from $35).

Marfa

The unlikely home to art and aliens (maybe), Marfa was named by a pioneer settler after a character in the book she was reading, Fyodor Dostoevsky's Brothers Karamazov, when she arrived. The town's fame first emerged when James Dean, Elizabeth Taylor and Rock Hudson filmed Giant, a Texas movie classic, here in 1955. The cast and crew stayed at the 1930s-era Hotel Paisano (☎ 866-729-3669; www.hotelpaisano.com; 207 N Highland Ave). Look for the movie memorabilia in a room off the lobby, near the shops. James Dean's room was pretty standard; Rock Hudson's was a suite (yes, you can book them for $99 to $249). Also off the lobby, the Marfa Chamber of Commerce (☎ 432-729-4942; www.marfacc.com; 🕒 9am-5pm) has more info on the movie and the town.

New York–born artist Donald Judd created a modern-art mecca when he constructed the sprawling Chinati Foundation (☎ 432-729-4362; www.chinati.org; off Hwy 67; adult/child $10/5; 🕒 tours 10am & 2pm Wed-Sat) complex a mile south of town in 1986. Different sections are shown morning and afternoon; Judd's original 'boxes' and building are on the 10am tour.

The Chamber of Commerce keeps tabs on art openings and has a list of all the small galleries in town, but the majority are on San Antonio St (W and E). Then there are those alien lights so many have claimed to see off US 90, complete with a viewing platform from which to watch for them (see also boxed text, p750).

If mod is your mode, you'll want to stay at the Thunderbird (☎ 432-729-1984; www.thunderbirdmarfa.com; US 90 W; r $130-175; 🚭 ❄ 🏊), a 'cowboy Zen' motel – think platform beds and faux-cowskin rugs. The Cochineal (☎ 432-729-3300; 107 W San Antonio St; breakfasts $5-11, mains $22-34; 🕒 6-10pm Wed & Thu, 8am-noon & 6-10pm Fri-Tue) restaurant is also appropriately minimalist for a town that art built – with surprisingly sublime food for the middle of nowhere. Owners Tom and Toshi call it 'global home cooking.'

Padre's (☎ 432-729-4425; 209 W El Paso St; sandwiches $5-10; 🕒 11:30am-midnight Wed & Thu, 11:30am-1am Fri & Sat) sells burgers and dogs, but mostly it's a cool bar with live music on weekends. Pinball machines and pool tables are in the game room on the way to the patio.

Pop into Marfa Book Company (☎ 429-729-2906; 105 S Highland Ave; 🕒 9am-9pm) to have a coffee and look for local titles.

Fort Davis

False-front wooden buildings, an old fort and a stellar observatory make Texas' tallest town (elevation 5000ft) a Big Bend must-see. The temperature can be a delightful 10°F to 20°F (6°C to 12°C) cooler here than in the national park, 120 miles to the south.

Atop Mt Locke (6791ft), McDonald Observatory (☎ 432-426-3640; www.mcdonaldobservatory.org;

SCENIC DRIVE: ROUTE 170

West of Lajitas, Rte 170 hugs the Rio Grande through some of the most spectacular and remote scenery in Big Bend country. This river road takes you up and down through a rugged landscape of low desert arroyos, sweeping vistas and stony mountains – at one point there's a 15% grade, the maximum allowable. Keep going past Presidio (50 miles, 1½ hours) and 35 miles west, just past Ruidoso, and you'll come to the turnoff for Chinati Hot Springs (☎ 432-229-4165; www.chinatihotsprings.com; Hot Springs Rd; baths $12.50; 🕒 sunrise-sunset). Locals love the isolation of the outdoor tubs, campgrounds (campsites $15, bathing included) and cabins ($75 to $115).

Turn north at Presidio, and Marfa is 60 miles up US 67. If you plan to go back the way you came, at least travel as far as Colorado Canyon (20 miles from Lajitas) for the best scenery.

WHAT THE…?

It's a bird! It's a plane! It's a super alien! No one really knows what the famous Marfa lights are (or aren't, for that matter). The mysterious glowballs in the sky appear occasionally to dance in the distance. The first sighting was recorded in 1883 (before car headlights), and scientists have been tracking the phenomenon to no avail ever since. Attempt to check it out at the freely accessible Marfa Lights Viewing Site, 8 miles east of town on US 90. Be prepared to wait all night: there's no schedule (the balls have been spotted anytime between susnet and sunrise) and no guarantees. Buying alien knickknacks and watching a 'famous Marfa lights' film at a local gift shop may have to do.

Hwy 118; adult/child $8/7; ⏰ 10am-5:30pm) has a perfect vantage point for seeing stars. The daytime tour and solar viewing are nothing compared with the evening star party (adult/child $10/8; ⏰ 7:30pm Tue, Fri & Sat Apr-Aug, 9:30pm Nov-Mar), where constellations are laser-pointed out from an amphitheater and you can gaze at celestial objects through as many as eight huge telescopes. The observatory is 16 steep miles northwest of town. On the way, 2 miles west of town, 24 intact buildings from the 1880s make up Fort Davis National Historic Site (☎ 432-426-3224; www.nps.gov/foda; Hwy 118; 7-day pass $3; ⏰ 8am-5pm).

You can hike (or drive) the 3 miles further west from there to Davis Mountains State Park (☎ 432-426-3337; www.tpwd.state.tx.us; Hwy 118; day pass adult/child $5/free, campsites $10-20). Here the 1930s adobe buildings at Indian Lodge (☎ 432-426-3254; www.tpwd.state.tx.us; Hwy 118; r $75-90; ☒ ❄ 🏊) were built as part of a Depression-era CCC project. Rooms have been renovated, with pine-log ceilings complementing burgundy and green Southwestern hues.

A few shops line the main street in town, and Hotel Limpia (☎ 432-426-3237; www.hotellimpia.com; Town Sq, Hwy 118; r $89-180; ☒ ❄ 📶 🏊) sprawls across several of the buildings. Across from the courthouse, Murphy's Pizzeria & Cafe (☎ 432-426-2020; Hwy 118; mains $5-10; ⏰ 11am-9pm Mon-Sat) serves light meals and good thin-crust pizzas.

Marathon

The tiny town of Marathon (population 400) isn't much more than a main street with a few cafés and a historic hotel, 58 miles north of Big Bend National Park.

our pick Gage Hotel (☎ 432-386-4205; www.gagehotel.com; 101 US 90, Marathon; r $115-260; ☒ ❄ 🏊), built in 1902, seems straight out of Old West pulp fiction. Wide wooden blinds cover the windows, and saddle blankets drape across the raised log beds in the historic building rooms. There are earplugs for the few 1st-floor, shared-bathroom rooms ($97, no TV or phone) for a reason. Old wood floors reverberate, and the rich and ranchlike lobby in which guests congregate is just down the hall. Adjacent adobe suites – with Saltillo-tile floors, kiva fireplaces and latilla (branch-and-beam) ceilings – ring a lush Mexican-style courtyard with flowers and fountain. The associated Café Cenzio (mains $20-30; ⏰ 6-10pm) whips up gourmet renditions of Texas faves well worth traveling for – chicken-fried venison with jalapeño cream sauce, anyone?

The Famous Burro (☎ 432-386-4100; cnr Hwy 90 & Post St; mains $12-22; ⏰ restaurant 6-10pm Wed-Sun, bar 5pm-midnight Wed-Sat), a bar-restaurant in a funky old filling station, changes its upscale comfort food menu weekly. Sometimes there's live music; sometimes it's movie night.

There are a number of authors from the region; pick up their works at Front Street Books (☎ 915-386-4249; 145 US 90), where you can also procure some of those old Western novels.

DETOUR: BALMORHEA STATE PARK

Native Americans have known about the springs at modern-day Balmorhea State Park (☎ 432-375-2370; Hwy 17, off I-10; www.tpwd.state.tx.us; day pass $7; ☒ ❄ 📶 🏊), 37 miles north of Fort Davis, since ancient times. In the 1930s the CCC came along and created a mighty-fine swimming hole by walling off some of the flow to make a 72°F to 76°F (22°C to 24°C) pool. What a perfect temperature for a summer-day dip. The CCC also built an adobe motel (rooms $60 to $80) that is still in operation. At the time of writing a new wetland area was under construction, expanding on the one that was built at the park's inception.

EL PASO

Well, you've made it. You're just about as far west in Texas as you can go. Here you're closer to Santa Fe than Austin. Mexico – New and old – holds more sway than that Texas capital anyhow. For centuries the mountain pass for which the city is named has been a key route across the Americas. (Mexican revolutionary Pancho Villa holed up here for a time.) There's still a fair bit of commerce: just over the Rio Grande from this town of 613,190 (82% Hispanic), 1.6 million more people live in sister city Ciudad Juárez, Mexico.

Escalating gang- and drug-related violence across the border has kept gringo tourists on the Texas side in recent years (for more, see boxed text, p752). But there are still shops to haunt and sights to see even if you don't day-trip into Mexico. The Franklin Mountains are always dramatic, rising from the desert flatlands, and developers have spiffed up areas of downtown near museums. So ride the gondola to a mountain peak, buy handcrafted boots, visit an exhibit and, by all means, eat some of the city's famous red enchiladas – bicultural El Paso awaits.

Orientation & Information

The Franklin Mountains pin the downtown area against the border and cleave the rest of the city along I-10 into the eastern, airport area and the western side near the University of Texas at El Paso (UTEP) and New Mexico. Note that El Paso is in the mountain time zone, one hour behind the rest of the state. Downtown, El Paso Public Library (☎ 915-544-6772; 501 N Oregon; ⏰ 9am-8pm Mon-Thu, to 6pm Fri & Sat, 1-5pm Sun) has free internet access. The El Paso Visitors Center (☎ 915-534-0601; www.visitelpaso.com; 1 Civic Center Plaza; ⏰ 8am-5pm Mon-Sat) stocks racks and racks of brochures, and the staff is quite helpful.

Sights & Activities

The soul of El Paso is downtown by the border. Streets surrounding San Jacinto Plaza are crowded with discount clothing stores and people waiting for buses. And the Plaza Theatre is once again beating as the city's cultural heart. Check out the still-expanding El Paso Museum of History (☎ 915-351-4345; www.elpasotexas.gov/history; 510 N Santa Fe St; admission free; ⏰ 10am-5pm Tue-Sat, noon-5pm Sun) for a long-range outlook on the area's development.

You'll get an entirely different kind of overview if you ride the Wyler Aerial Tramway (☎ 915-566-6622; www.tpwd.state.tx.us; 1700 McKinley Ave; adult/child $7/4; ⏰ noon-6pm Mon, Thu & Sun, to 8pm Fri & Sat) up 5632ft-tall Ranger Peak. At the top, a panorama of sprawling Juárez, the Franklin Mountains and New Mexico lays out before you. It's part of Franklin Mountains State Park (☎ 915-566-6441; www.tpwd.state.tx.us; Transmountain Rd; day pass $3; ⏰ 8am-5pm Mon-Fri, to 8pm Sat & Sun Apr-Oct), which also has 118 miles of hiking trails threading through the desert hills.

It's not so set up for tourists, but history buffs might enjoy the lower valley's Mission Trail. The driving route southeast of town connects three churches of early Spanish missions. Start at the Tigua Indian Cultural Center (☎ 915-859-7700; www.ysletadelsurpueblo.org; 305 Yaya Ln; admission by donation; ⏰ 10am-4pm Wed-Sat), where there's a small museum. Call ahead; some Saturdays it has native dance or bread-baking demonstrations.

Sleeping

Most of El Paso's lodging is in characterless chain motels found along I-10; choose your desired location first – the places are pretty much the same.

La Hacienda Travelodge (☎ 915-772-4231; www.travelodge.com; 6400 Montana Ave; r $47-85; ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) Barrel-tile roofs, courtyard greenery and wooden-plank doors provide loads of Spanish character at this motel. Street noise leaks into some rooms; all have microwaves and mini-fridges.

Hilton Garden Inn (☎ 915-351-2121; www.hiltongardeninn.com; 111 W University Ave; r $80-109; ⊠ ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) Opened at the edge of UTEP, the Garden Inn was built to blend with campus architecture. So, of course, it resembles a Bhutanese dzong, or religious fortress – what else? (Architects thought the style fit the desert mountain landscape.) The interior is more nice-chain-hotel than exotic monastery.

Eating & Drinking

Clearly, Mexican is the food of choice in El Paso: the town's known for a special bright-red chili-and-tomato sauce used on enchiladas.

H&H Car Wash (☎ 915-533-1144; 701 E Yandell Ave; mains $3-7; ⏰ 7am-3pm) This tiny hole-in-the-wall Mexican diner is attached to a hand car wash. Go for the breakfast tacos; stay to get your car cleaned.

L&J Café & Bar (☎ 915-566-8418; 3622 E Missouri; mains $5-12; ⏰ kitchen 10am-8pm, bar to 2am) The town's best salsa and fresh chips start you off, but everything served at this friendly Tex-Mex bar is tasty.

2900 (☎ 915-772-0066; 2900 N Mesa St; lunch $9-16, dinner mains $16-26; 🕑 11am-4pm & 5-10pm Tue-Sat) Hot and hip, chefs here use the seasonally changing menu to highlight ingredients, like hormone-free beefsteak, and to invent new-American dishes such as fried chicken-and-waffle sandwiches (with maple sauce).

Outside the city:

Ardovino's Desert Crossing (☎ 505-589-0653; 1 Ardovino Dr, Sunland Park, NM; mains $10-20; 🕑 5-10:30pm Wed-Fri, 11am-3pm & 5-10:30pm Sat, 3-9pm Sun) Vintage landmark restaurant (and bar, live-music venue and farmers market) across the other (New Mexico) border.

Cattleman's Steakhouse (☎ 915-544-3200; Indian Cliffs Ranch, I-10 E, exit 49, Fabens; mains $15-30; 🕑 5-10pm Mon-Fri, 12:30-10pm Sat & Sun) On a ranch that's used as an Old West movie set.

Entertainment

El Paso's mini–entertainment district is two blocks of restaurants and bars around Cincinnati St, between Mesa and Stanton, not far from UTEP. For cultural and music listings, pick up the free weekly El Paso Scene (www.epscene.com) or the Friday 'Tiempo' supplement to the El Paso Times (www.elpasotimes.com).

Garage Tequila Bar (☎ 915-328-4445; 4025 N Mesa St) More than 100 tequilas are on the menu at this fun and casual drinkery. Live music plays Thursday through Sunday.

Plaza Theatre (☎ 915-534-0600; www.theplazatheatre.org; 125 Pioneer Plaza) This elaborate theater under the stars is all indoors: pinpoint lights replicate stars, and vines cling to faux Spanish courtyard walls. Plays, concerts and shows are staged at this 1930 downtown landmark.

Shopping

On I-10 east of town, several warehouse-like shops sell all the goodies you can find in Mexico – pottery, blankets, silver – at similar prices. And then there are all those boots to buy (see boxed text, opposite)…

Getting There & Around

El Paso International Airport (☎ 915-780-4749; www.elpasointernationalairport.com), 8 miles northeast of downtown off I-10, services 16 US and two Mexican cities. Numerous chain rental-car companies are on-site (you really need a car here).

Amtrak's Florida–California Sunset Limited stops at Union Depot (☎ 915-545-2247; www.amtrak.com; 700 San Francisco Ave). The Greyhound Bus Station (☎ 915-532-2365; www.greyhound.com; 200 W San Antonio St) sends coaches to Albuquerque, NM, (from $38, 4½ hours) several times daily.

HUECO TANKS STATE HISTORIC SITE

About 32 miles east of El Paso off US 62/180, the Hueco Tanks (pronounced wey-co) have attracted humans for as many as 10,000 years – as evidenced by area pictographs. Three small granite mountains are pocked with depressions (hueco is Spanish for 'hollow') that hold rainwater, creating an oasis in the barren desert. Today the 860-acre park is a magnet for rock climbers. Park Headquarters (☎ 915-849-6684, central reservations 512-389-8900; www.tpwd.state.tx.us; Rte 2775; day pass $5, campsites $12-16; 🕑 8am-6pm) has a small gift shop, a nearby interpretive center and 20 campsites (17 with electricity and water). To minimize human impact, a daily visitor quota is enforced; make reservations 24 hours in advance to gain entry. You can explore the North Mountain area by yourself, but to hike deeper into the park – where the more interesting pictographs are –

HOT TOPIC: BORDERLANDS

Que paso? Nada, man. All across the state, Tex mixes with Mex and gringos readily use Mexican phrases. Locals continue to casually cross into Mexico proper. But according to US State Department reports, more than 1800 people were killed in Ciudad Juárez from January 2008 to February 2009 (and there were 17,000 car thefts). In March 2009, Mexican president Filipe Calderon sent troops into that city to quell drug-cartel-related violence. The state department urges caution when visiting all border towns in Mexico – as do we. Crime continues in border towns like Nuevo Laredo as well. Ciudad Juárez was not a stranger to violence before President Calderon started trying to clean up the cartels. An earlier wave of murders involved Mexican women disappearing (The Daughters of Juarez, by Teresa Rodriguez, is a provocative read), but didn't affect travelers.

GIVE 'EM THE BOOT

Savvy shoppers from around the globe – not to mention Julia Roberts and Dwight Yoakam – fly in to El Paso to get their feet custom-measured for some fine-fittin' leather. You may not be able to round up the $800 to $3000 a custom pair costs, but make an appointment to visit Rocketbuster Boots (☎ 915-541-1300; www.rocketbuster.com; 115 S Antony St; 🕑 by appointment) and you'll see what all the fuss is about. The creative concordance of vintage-inspired art – '50s-era pin-up cowgirls, smiling Day of the Dead skeletons – with hand-worked leather is stunning. This is no shop: it's a museum of Americana (with the record-holding 'World's Biggest Boots' on display). Owner–designer Nevena Christi will gladly show you around. You can pick up leather pillows and boot-shaped Christmas stockings for just $75 to $300.

Numerous other custom boot-makers work around town, including Caboots (☎ 915-544-1855; www.caboots.com; 501 S Cotton St; 🕑 9am-5pm Mon-Fri), which also sells a few pre-made pairs (about $300). Bargain shopping? Check out the local outlet centers along I-10, such as Justin Boots (☎ 915-779-5465; I-10 E, at Hawkins) and Cowtown Boots (☎ 915-593-2929; 11401 Gateway W).

you have to reserve and join one of the free pictograph or bouldering/hiking tours (🕑 tours 9am & 11am Wed-Sun May-Sep, 10:30am & 2pm daily Oct-Apr).

GUADALUPE MOUNTAINS NATIONAL PARK

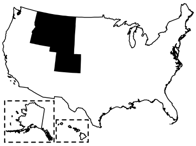
At 8749ft, remote Guadalupe Peak is the highest point in Texas. McKittrick Canyon has the state's best autumn foliage, and impressive spring wildflower displays in April. Winter vistas of snow-covered succulents seem incongruous and amazing. Though beautiful, this is one of the nation's least-visited national parks – it's not so easy to reach from Texas, and there aren't many services. You'll find the closest motels in Whites City, about 35 miles to the north in New Mexico, near Carlsbad Caverns National Park (p908). El Paso is 120 miles to the west.

The Headquarters Visitors Center (☎ 915-828-3251; www.nps.gov/gumo; 7-day pass $5, campsites $8; 🕑 8am-6pm Jun-Aug, to 4:30pm rest of year), off US 62/180 at Pine Springs, also has camping. Of the 80 miles of trails, the most rewarding trek is strenuous – from the visitor-center parking lot to Guadalupe Peak, it's an 8.5-mile round-trip that gains 3000ft in elevation. A fairly easy day hike is McKittrick Canyon Trail (🕑 8am-4:30pm), a 6.8-mile round-trip. The trailhead is off US 62/180, 11 miles northeast of the visitor center.

To get to the park's even more remote northern segment, Dog Canyon, you have to take Hwy 137 into New Mexico. Ten backcountry campsites (permit required) dot the section. No water is available in the backcountry. No gasoline, food or beverages are sold anywhere in the park.

© Lonely Planet. To make it easier for you to use, access to this chapter is not digitally restricted. In return, we think it's fair to ask you to use it for personal, non-commercial purposes only. In other words, please don't upload this chapter to a peer-to-peer site, mass email it to everyone you know, or resell it. See the terms and conditions on our site for a longer way of saying the above - 'Do the right thing with our content.'

Rocky Mountains



One hundred years ago a vacation in the Rocky Mountains was the doctor's first-choice tonic for curing everything from tuberculosis to fatigue and mental illness. Perhaps today's practitioners should take a lesson from their predecessors and start writing prescriptions to 'Go West' for dealing with stress.

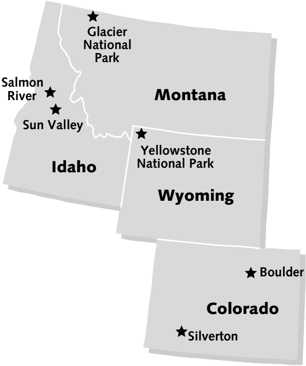
The states in this region are such amazing natural healers it only takes a few blissful days road-tripping around them before your worries are lost in a babbling brook; your stress swept away in a cloudless blue sky. For how can one stay depressed in a place where the sun is always shining? Where the snowcapped peaks, wildflower meadows and misty ponderosa forests are so beautiful, they inspire artists to paint masterpieces and songwriters to pen classic tunes?

Everything about the Rockies – from the bears to the beers to the fried bull's testicles – feels big, larger than life. Nature-lovers will dig big national parks like Yellowstone, Grand Teton, Rocky Mountain and Glacier, where America's 'Big Five' (grizzly, moose, buffalo, mountain lion and wolf) still roam. Adrenaline junkies get their fix off a supersized big-thrill menu – heli-skiing steep powder chutes in Telluride's backcountry, paddling the Middle Fork's wild rapids, spending a week camping under the stars 100 miles from anywhere.

Wherever you go, you're in for a hell of a good trip. Climb a mountain, ski a glacier, get buzzed on local brews and savor your first chewy bite of seasoned bull balls. It doesn't take long; you'll slip right into that sweet, pine-scented nirvana they call the Rocky Mountain high.

HIGHLIGHTS

- Scouting for geysers and grizzlies in Yellowstone National Park (p793), one of America's greatest natural treasures
- Shredding powder with rock stars in Sun Valley (p812), the Rocky Mountains' least pretentious wealthy winter playground
- Rafting wild white water and camping under the stars on a week-long Middle Fork of the Salmon (p815) rafting adventure
- Slurping down happy-hour margaritas at a sidewalk café in neo-hippie, utopian Boulder (p770), a college town where growing up doesn't seem mandatory
- Discovering Silverton (p786), a true Wild West town with unpaved streets and stupendous 4WDing
- Hiking past frozen blue lakes and snowfields in Glacier National Park (p808) while you still can – at the moment the park's glaciers are losing the global warming battle



HOT TOPIC: DENVER'S MOMENT IN HISTORY

Serving as the stage for the history-making 2008 Democratic National Convention, Denver is proud of the role she played in electing America's first African American president. On a surprisingly sweltering August 28, 2008, at the city's famous INVESCO Field at Mile High football stadium, history was made when Barack Obama became the first African American to accept his party's nomination to run for President. He accepted the nomination in front of a cheering, celebrity-heavy crowd of 70,000+ after a day of star-studded build up. Coincidentally, the event took place exactly 45 years after Martin Luther King Jr made his own history belting out 'I Have a Dream' on the National Mall in Washington, DC; even though the convention was planned long before an African American man had swept the Democratic primaries.

HISTORY

Before the late 18th century when French trappers and Spaniards stepped in, the Rocky Mountain area was a land of many tribes, including the Nez Percé, the Shoshone, the Crow, the Lakota and the Ute.

Meriwether Lewis and William Clark claimed their enduring fame after the USA bought almost all of present-day Montana, Wyoming and eastern Colorado in the Louisiana Purchase in 1803. The two explorers set out to survey the land, covering 8000 miles in three years. Their success urged on other adventurers, and soon the migration was in motion. Wagon trains voyaged to the mountainous lands right into the 20th century, only temporarily slowed by the completion of the Transcontinental Railroad across southern Wyoming in the late 1860s.

To accommodate settlers, the USA purged the western frontier of the Spanish, British and, in a truly shameful era, most of the Native American population. The government signed endless treaties to defuse Native American objections to increasing settlement, but always reneged and shunted tribes onto smaller reservations. Gold-miners' incursions into Native American territory in Montana and the building of US Army forts along the Bozeman Trail ignited a series of wars with the Lakota, Cheyenne, Arapaho and others.

Gold and silver mania preceded Colorado's entry to statehood in 1876. Statehood soon followed for Montana (1889), Wyoming (1890) and Idaho (1890). Along with miners, white farmers and ranchers were the people with power in the late 19th century.

Mining, grazing and timber played major roles in the area's economic development, sparking the growth of cities and towns to provide financial and industrial support. They also subjected the region to boom-and-bust cycles by unsustainable use of resources and left a legacy of environmental disruption.

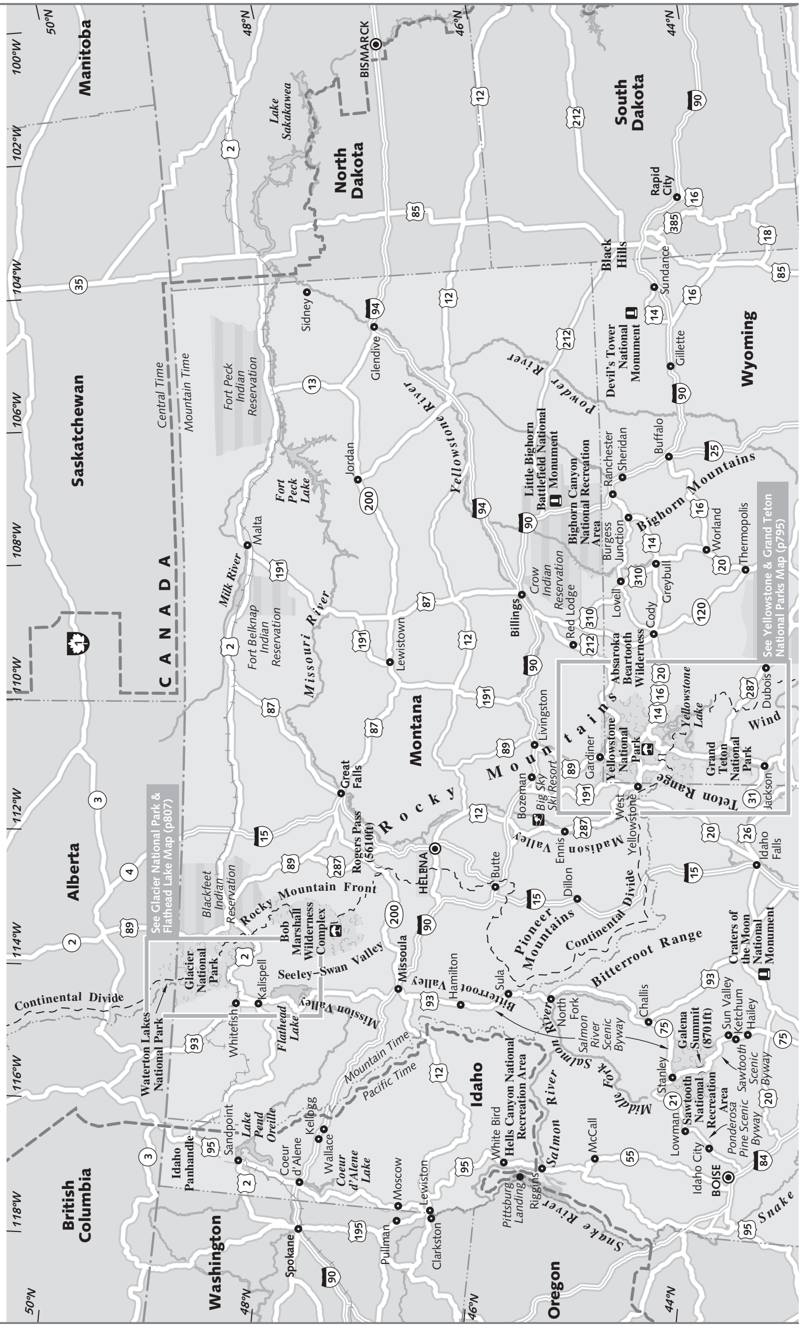
After the economy boomed post-WWII, the national parks started attracting vacationers. Tourism is now a leading industry in all four states, with the military placing a close second – there is a major presence in Colorado especially.

LOCAL CULTURE

The Rocky Mountain states are the kind of places where red-blooded, pistol-toting libertarians can sit down and have a few pints with stoned-out trustafarians, and no one gets hurt. The clientele in Montana and Wyoming's Wild West saloons is a mix of leathery old cowboys and New Agers – heavy on the crystal pendants and karmic evolutionary talks. Coloradoans are split on whether they vote red or blue, but nearly all believe the government shouldn't tell them what to do. Residents proved this in 2000, when voters legalized marijuana to treat certain chronic medical conditions, and did so not just with a law, but with a constitutional amendment. In 2009 Colorado remained the only state in the nation to have a marijuana law written directly into its constitution.

In trendy après-ski boozing holes you'll still find plenty of rich kids decked out in Burton's latest snow gear, toting Chanel and Vuitton on their gym-toned shoulders, sipping microbrews and swapping ski stories, but even the wealthiest Rocky Mountain towns, like Aspen, Vail, Jackson and Ketchum took a big hit when the financial system collapsed at the end of 2008. Only Boulder seems to have escaped the economic crisis unscathed. While boarded-up buildings and 'for sale' signs are prominent realities in nearly every other Rocky Mountain town these days, in Boulder the bubble has yet to burst. Restaurants remain packed on

ROCKY MOUNTAINS



0 150 km
0 90 miles
50°N
48°N
46°N
44°N
118°W
116°W
114°W
112°W
110°W
108°W
106°W
104°W
102°W
100°W
British Columbia
Alberta Saskatchewan
Manitoba
CANADA
Washington
Oregon
Idaho
Montana
North Dakota
South Dakota
Wyoming
Central Time
Mountain Time
Pacific Time
Continental Divide
See Glacier National Park & Flathead Lake Map (p807)
See Yellowstone & Grand Teton National Parks Map (p795)
Waterton Lakes National Park
Glacier National Park
Blackfeet Indian Reservation
Fort Belknap Indian Reservation
Fort Peck Indian Reservation
Crow Indian Reservation
Bob Marshall Wilderness Complex
Rocky Mountain Front
Rogers Pass (5610ft)
Seeley–Swan Valley
Mission Valley
Bitterroot Valley
Madison Valley
Pioneer Mountains
Bitterroot Range
Rocky Mountains
Absaroka Beartooth Wilderness
Yellowstone National Park
Yellowstone Lake
Grand Teton National Park
Teton Range Wind
Bighorn Mountains
Bighorn Canyon National Recreation Area
Little Bighorn Battlefield National Monument
Devil's Tower National Monument
Black Hills
Craters of the Moon National Monument
Sawtooth National Recreation Area
Hells Canyon National Recreation Area
Galena Summit (8701ft)
Salmon River Scenic Byway
Ponderosa Pine Scenic Byway
Sawtooth Scenic Byway
Idaho Panhandle
Lake Pend Oreille
Coeur d'Alene Lake
Flathead Lake
Fort Peck Lake
Lake Sakakawea
Milk River
Missouri River
Yellowstone River
Powder River
Salmon River
Middle Fork Salmon River
Snake River
Spokane
Pullman
Clarkston
Lewiston
Moscow
Coeur d'Alene
Wallace
Kellogg
Sandpoint
Whitefish Kalispell
Missoula
Hamilton
Sula
North Fork
Challis
Stanley
Lowman
Idaho City
BOISE
Ketchum
Sun Valley
Halley
McCall
Riggins
White Bird
Pittsburg Landing
Idaho Falls
Helena
Butte
Dillon
Ennis
Bozeman
Big Sky Ski Resort
Livingston
Gardiner
West Yellowstone
Jackson
Dubois
Great Falls
Lewistown
Malta
Jordan
Glendive
Sidney
Billings
Red Lodge
Lovell
Cody
Greybull
Burgess Junction
Worland
Thermopolis
Ranchester
Sheridan
Buffalo
Gillette
Sundance
Rapid City BISMARCK
2
3
4 12 13 14 15 16 18 20 21
25 26 31 35
55
75
84
85
87 89 90
93
94
95
191
195 200
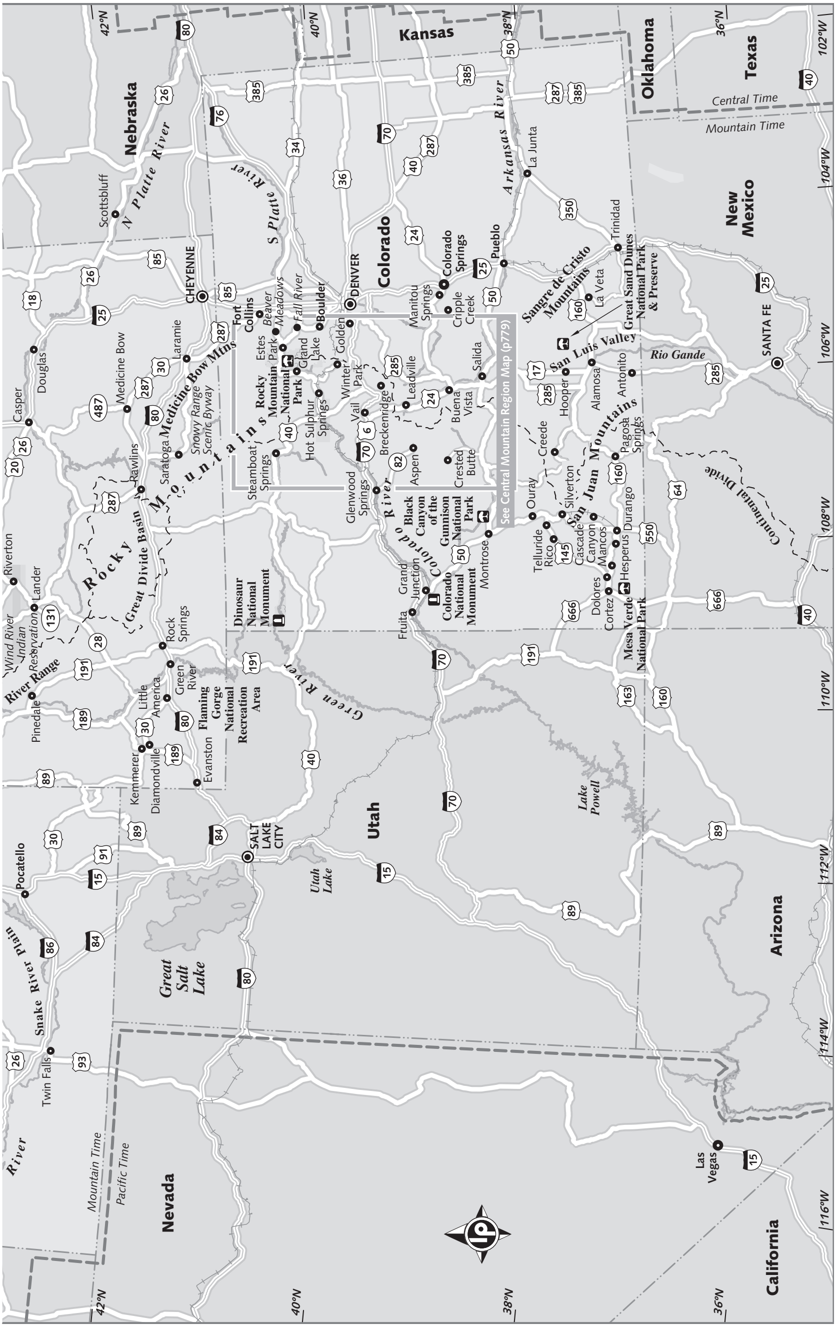
212
287
310
385
120



Nebraska
Kansas
Oklahoma
Texas
Colorado
New Mexico
Utah
Arizona
Nevada
California
Central Time
Mountain Time
Pacific Time
42°N
40°N
38°N
36°N
102°W
104°W
106°W
108°W
110°W
112°W
114°W
116°W CHEYENNE DENVER
SALT LAKE CITY
SANTA FE
Scottsbluff
Casper
Douglas Medicine Bow
Laramie
Riverton
Lander
Pinedale
Rawlins
Saratoga
Rock Springs
Green River
Little America
Kemmerer
Diamondville
Evanston
Pocatello
Twin Falls
Fort Collins
Beaver Meadows
Fall River
Estes Park
Boulder
Golden
Grand Lake
Winter Park
Hot Sulphur Springs
Steamboat Springs
Vail
Breckenridge
Leadville
Glenwood Springs
Aspen
Crested Butte
Buena Vista
Salida
Manitou Springs
Colorado Springs
Cripple Creek
Pueblo
La Junta
Trinidad
La Veta
Alamosa
Hooper
Antonito
Creede
Pagosa Springs
Ouray
Silverton
Telluride Rico
Cascade Canyon
Mancos
Hesperus
Durango
Dolores Cortez
Montrose
Grand Junction
Fruita
Las Vegas
Rocky Mountains
Great Divide Basin
Medicine Bow Mtns
Snowy Range Scenic Byway
Wind River Range
Wind River Indian Reservation
Rocky Mountain National Park
Black Canyon of the Gunnison National Park
Colorado National Monument
Dinosaur National Monument
Flaming Gorge National Recreation Area
Mesa Verde National Park
Great Sand Dunes National Park & Preserve
Sangre de Cristo Mountains
San Luis Valley
San Juan Mountains
Continental Divide
Rio Gande
Arkansas River
S Platte River
N Platte River
Colorado River
Green River
Snake River Plain River
Great Salt Lake
Utah Lake
Lake Powell
See Central Mountain Region Map (p779)
80
26
76
385
34 36 70 40
287
24 350
50
385
287
25
85
18 20 30 487
82
6
17
160
285
145
550
64
666
191
163
189
89 84
91
15
86 93
131
28

Tuesday nights and empty storefronts are few and far between. In blue-collar Billings and patriotic Colorado Springs and every other Rocky Mountain town where military families make up the majority population, the number-one concern is the human cost of the wars in Iraq and Afghanistan. For families who have lost a mother, father, son or daughter fighting in what are now almost universally unpopular wars, the recession is just a double whammy.

LAND & CLIMATE

While complex, the physical geography of the region divides conveniently into two principal features: the Rocky Mountains proper and the Great Plains (see p651). Extending from Alaska's Brooks Range and Canada's Yukon Territory all the way to Mexico, the Rockies sprawl northwest to southeast, from the steep escarpment of Colorado's Front Range westward to Nevada's Great Basin. Their towering peaks and ridges form the Continental Divide: to the west, waters flow to the Pacific; to the east, toward the Atlantic and the Gulf of Mexico.

For many travelers, the Rockies are a summer destination, and it starts to feel summery around June. The warm weather generally lasts until about mid-September. The winter, which brings in packs of powder hounds, doesn't usually hit until late November, though snowstorms can start in the mountains as early as September. Winter usually lasts until March or early April. In the mountains, the weather is constantly changing (snow in summer is not uncommon), so always be prepared. Fall, when the aspens flaunt their fall gold, and spring, when wildflowers bloom, are wonderful times to visit.

PARKS & WILDLIFE

The region is home to some of the USA's biggest national parks. In Colorado there is Rocky Mountain National Park (p774), offering awesome hiking through alpine forests and tundra, and Mesa Verde National Park (p789), primarily an archaeological preserve with elaborate cliffside dwellings.

Wyoming has Grand Teton National Park (p798), with dramatic granite spires, and Yellowstone National Park (p793), the USA's first national park, where you'll find a wonderland of volcanic geysers, hot springs and forested mountains. In Montana you'll find Glacier National Park (p808), with its high sedimentary peaks, small glaciers and lots of wildlife, including grizzly bears. Idaho is home to Hells Canyon National Recreation Area (p815), where the Snake River carves the deepest canyon in North America.

The National Park Service (NPS; ☎ 303-969-2500; www.nps.gov) has a comprehensive website with state-by-state listings of national parks, monuments, recreation areas and historic trails. For details about camping on all federal recreational lands, see p1132. Look to the Information section under each state for details on the state parks in this region.

The Rockies are home to all the USA's big animals – grizzly, black bear, mountain lion, buffalo and even the elusive wolf and lynx all roam the mountains. You will also find bighorn sheep, mountain goats and plenty of deer. The larger animals tend to stick to the parks and wild areas, but with the rapid human encroachment into their homeland, more and more hungry bears and even mountain lions are showing up in urban backyards, poaching from suburban dumpsters.

GETTING THERE & AROUND

Covering a massive amount of sparsely developed land – we're talking thousands of miles here – driving around Colorado, Wyoming, Montana and Idaho takes longer than it looks. Attractions are spread across long distances, and roads don't necessarily go in a straight line between point A and point B. If there's a wilderness area or park or even just a really long, deep canyon in between, you'll have to go around, which can add hundreds of miles onto what looked like a connect-the-dots drive on the map.

Public transport is limited, and since road-tripping is one of the reasons to explore the Rockies, touring in a private vehicle is best. In rural areas services are few and far between – I-80 across Wyoming is a notorious offender. It's not unusual to go more than 100 miles between gas stations. When in doubt, fill up. Our rule? If the tank is half-empty, we pull over and pump petrol (plus take advantage of a real toilet and grab sodas for the road) at the next service station we see.

Denver International Airport (DIA; www.flydenver.com) is the region's main hub, although if you are coming on a domestic flight, check out Colorado Springs Airport (COS; www.springsgov.com/airportindex.aspx) as well. Fares are often lower, it's quicker to navigate than DIA, and nearly as convenient. Both Denver and Colorado

ROCKY MOUNTAINS…

In Two Weeks

Start your Rocky Mountain odyssey in the Denver (p760) area. Go tubing, vintage-clothes shopping or biking in outdoor-mad, totally boho Boulder (p770), then sit outside, at a sidewalk café and soak up the ultra-liberal atmosphere. Enjoy the vistas of the Rocky Mountain National Park (p774) before heading west on I-70 to play in the mountains around Breckenridge (p778), which also has the best beginner slopes in Colorado. Go to Steamboat Springs (p777) before crossing the border into Wyoming.

Your first stop in the state should be Lander (p793) – rock-climbing destination extraordinaire. Continue north to chic Jackson (p799) and fabulous Grand Teton National Park (p798) before hitting Yellowstone National Park (p793). Save at least three days for exploring this geyser-packed wonderland.

Cross the state line into 'big sky country' and slowly make your way northwest through Montana, stopping in funky Bozeman (p801) and lively Missoula (p805) before visiting Flathead Lake (p806). Wind up your trip in Idaho. Get your outdoor fix in Hells Canyon National Recreation Area (p815) before continuing to up-and-coming Boise (p810). End your trip with a few days skiing Sun Valley and partying in Ketchum (p812). The town and ski resort, despite being the winter playground du jour for today's Hollywood set, are refreshingly unpretentious and affordable.

In One Month

With a month on your hands, you can really delve into the region's off-the-beaten-path treasures. Follow the itinerary above for two weeks, but dip southwest in Colorado – an up-and-coming wine region – before visiting Wyoming. Ride the 4WD trails around Ouray (p786). Be sure to visit Mesa Verde National Park (p789) while in this area.

In Montana, you'll want to get lost backpacking in the Bob Marshall Wilderness Complex (p806) and visit Glacier National Park (p808) before the glaciers disappear altogether. In Idaho, spend more time playing in Sun Valley (p812) and make sure to explore the shops, pubs and yummy organic restaurants in delightful little Ketchum (p812). With a one-month trip, you also have time to drive along a few of Idaho's fantastically remote scenic byways. Make sure you cruise Hwy 75 from Sun Valley north to Stanley (p813). Situated on the wide banks of the Salmon River, this stunning mountain hamlet is completely surrounded by national forest land and wilderness areas and is the only spot in America where three scenic byways collide. Wild good looks withstanding, Stanley is also blessed with world-class trout fishing and mild to wild rafting. Take Highway 21 from Stanley to Boise (p814). This scenic drive takes you through miles of dense ponderosa forests, and past some excellent, solitary riverside camping spots – some of which come with their own natural hot-springs pools.

For Powder Hounds

Where to start? Well, we suppose in Colorado. Head to Summit County, where you can sleep in Breckenridge (p778) – the liveliest town of the bunch – and still ski at four different resorts on just one combo lift ticket. The pass includes Vail (p780), one of America's most famous resorts (and our favorite powder bowls), Arapahoe Basin Ski Area (p778), which, at more than 13,000ft, has a totally different, very local and laid-back vibe and stays open into June! The other ski area included in the pass is Keystone Ski Resort, across from Arapahoe Inn (p778).

From this region you can head south and ski the slopes at Telluride (p788) or Aspen (p781). Both are true old gold towns, and have a bit more attitude than Vail. Be sure to devote at least a few hours to exploring Aspen's glitzy shops and Telluride's down-to-earth bars for a real local vibe in a historic Wild West setting.

From Aspen catch a local flight up to Jackson Hole Mountain Resort (p800) to do some real vertical powder riding in the Grand Tetons.

Springs offer flights on smaller planes to major small towns around the region – Jackson, WY, Boise, ID, Bozeman, MT, and Aspen, CO, are just a few options. Salt Lake City (p873) also has connections with destinations in all four states.

For public transport, Greyhound (☎ 800-231-2222; www.greyhound.com) has fixed routes throughout the Rockies, and offers the most comprehensive bus service. The following Amtrak (☎ 800-872-7245; www.amtrak.com) services run to and around the region:

California Zephyr Daily between Emeryville, CA (in San Francisco Bay Area), and Chicago, IL, with six stops in Colorado, including Denver, Fraser-Winter Park, Glenwood Springs and Grand Junction.

Empire Builder Runs daily from Seattle, WA, or Portland, OR, to Chicago, IL, with 12 stops in Montana (including Whitefish and East and West Glacier) and one stop in Idaho at Sandpoint.

COLORADO

Colorado was cool with the college crowd long before MTV's cameras caught on. Neither the seven strangers on the reality-TV show The Real World Denver nor Heidi Montag and Spencer Pratt on MTV's even bigger hit, The Hills, were the first to dig this funky Rocky Mountain high.

Their contemporaries have been flocking to the Centennial State for decades to participate in a uniquely Colorado coming-of-age ritual: the act of ski-bumming (definition: living in a mountain ski-resort town such as Breckenridge, working in the service industry and riding as much fresh powder as possible in between). And it's not just the college crowd. Colorado has been catching Californians, New Yorkers and Washingtonians faster than a fly-fisher can snare a cutthroat trout on the Platte River.

Simply said, Colorado is a great place to live and play, and common knowledge among the locals is that once you taste that 'Rocky Mountain High' John Denver used to croon about, you'll get so addicted to the atmosphere, altitude and attitude you'll never leave. Where else can you spend the morning in an office, the afternoon on the mountain bike and the evening sipping a hopped-up, local beer at a brewpub with friends?

Information

Colorado Road Conditions (☎ 877-315-7623; www.state.co.us) Highway advisories.

Colorado State Parks (☎ 303-470-1144, 800-678-2267; www.parks.state.co.us) Tent sites cost from $8 to $18 per night, depending on facilities, while RV hook-ups are $22 per night. Advance reservations for specific campsites are taken, but subject to an $8 nonrefundable booking fee. At the time this book went to print, the Colorado State Parks Board was considering increasing park fees – including reservation charges – by $2 across the board, so check the prices when booking.

Colorado Travel & Tourism Authority (☎ 800-265-6723; www.colorado.com) State-wide tourism information.

Denver Post (www.denverpost.com) Denver's major daily newspaper.

DENVER

Where in the country does the city's mayor also own some of the state's most popular microbreweries? Why, Denver, of course. Mayor John Hickenlooper was famous for

COLORADO FACTS

Nickname Centennial State
Population 4.9 million
Area 104,247 sq miles
Capital city Denver (population 566, 974)
Other cities Boulder (population 103,100), Colorado Springs (population 402,417)
Sales tax 2.9% state tax, plus individual city taxes
Birthplace of Florence Sabin (1871–1953), one of the first prominent female scientists; silent-film star Douglas Fairbanks (1883–1939); 'King of Jazz' Paul Whiteman (1890–1967)
Home of Ski slopes, hot springs, bighorn sheep, family of Heidi Montag from The Hills
Famous for Hosting the 2008 Democratic National Convention nominating Barack Obama, MTV's The Real World Denver, skiing
Weird food Rocky Mountain oysters (fried bull's testicles)
Driving distances Denver to Telluride 331 miles, Boulder to Colorado Springs 95 miles

WHAT THE…?

So you just get into Denver and you have a few beers at the pub and suddenly your head is swirling. What the heck is going on? You're not that much of a lightweight, right? Wrong. In the Rocky Mountains, where the elevation is usually at least a mile high, your body takes in less oxygen. This means that until you get adjusted, you will get drunk much quicker! This may be a good thing, especially if you come from a country with a weaker currency… But locals sure do like to laugh at those not smart enough to heed our warning.

owning Front Range brewpubs (including the city's beloved Wynkoop) long before he got into politics. This trivia is just one of Denver's many eccentric quirks. Whether it's making pop culture (hosting the 18th season of the USA's first and longest-running reality-TV show, MTV's The Real World) or textbook-worthy history (hosting the 2008 Democratic National Convention nominating America's first African American president), Denver is quite the newsmaker.

Sitting at exactly 5280ft or 1 mile high (hence the nickname 'Mile High City'), this one-time Wild West railway town is a cool place to acclimatize. Low on humidity and high on sunshine, the city is compact and friendly. Take a stroll down the pedestrian-only 16th St Mall or plop down at a chic sidewalk café in the trendy LoDo neighborhood, which dates back to its 1865 beginnings, to soak up the effortless blend of cosmopolitan and Old West vibe.

Orientation

Most of Denver's sights are in the downtown district, which comprises a square defined to the south and east by Colfax Ave and Broadway. The 16th St Mall is the focus of most retail activity, while Lower Downtown (LoDo), which includes historic Larimer Sq, is the heart of Denver's nightlife scene. To access LoDo and the 16th St Mall, exit I-25 at Speer Blvd.

If you're arriving in Denver by bus, you'll be dropped off at Denver Bus Station on 19th St. From here it's an easy walk to the 16th St Mall. Turn right on Curtis St and follow it to 16th St.

Information

BOOKSTORES

For the beloved Tattered Cover Bookstore, see p766.

EMERGENCY & MEDICAL SERVICES

In the event of a citywide emergency, radio station KOA (850 AM) is a designated point of information.

Police Headquarters (☎ 720-913-2000; 1331 Cherokee St) For life-threatening emergencies, call ☎ 911.

University Hospital (☎ 303-399-1211; 4200 E 9th Ave; 🕑 24hr) Emergency services.

MEDIA

The mainstream newspaper is the Denver Post (www.denverpost.com). The best source for local events is the free weekly Westword (www.westword.com). Monthly glossy mag 5280 has a comprehensive dining guide.

POST

Post office (☎ 303-296-4692; 951 20th St; 🕑 8am-6:30pm Mon-Fri, 9am-6:30pm Sat) Main branch.

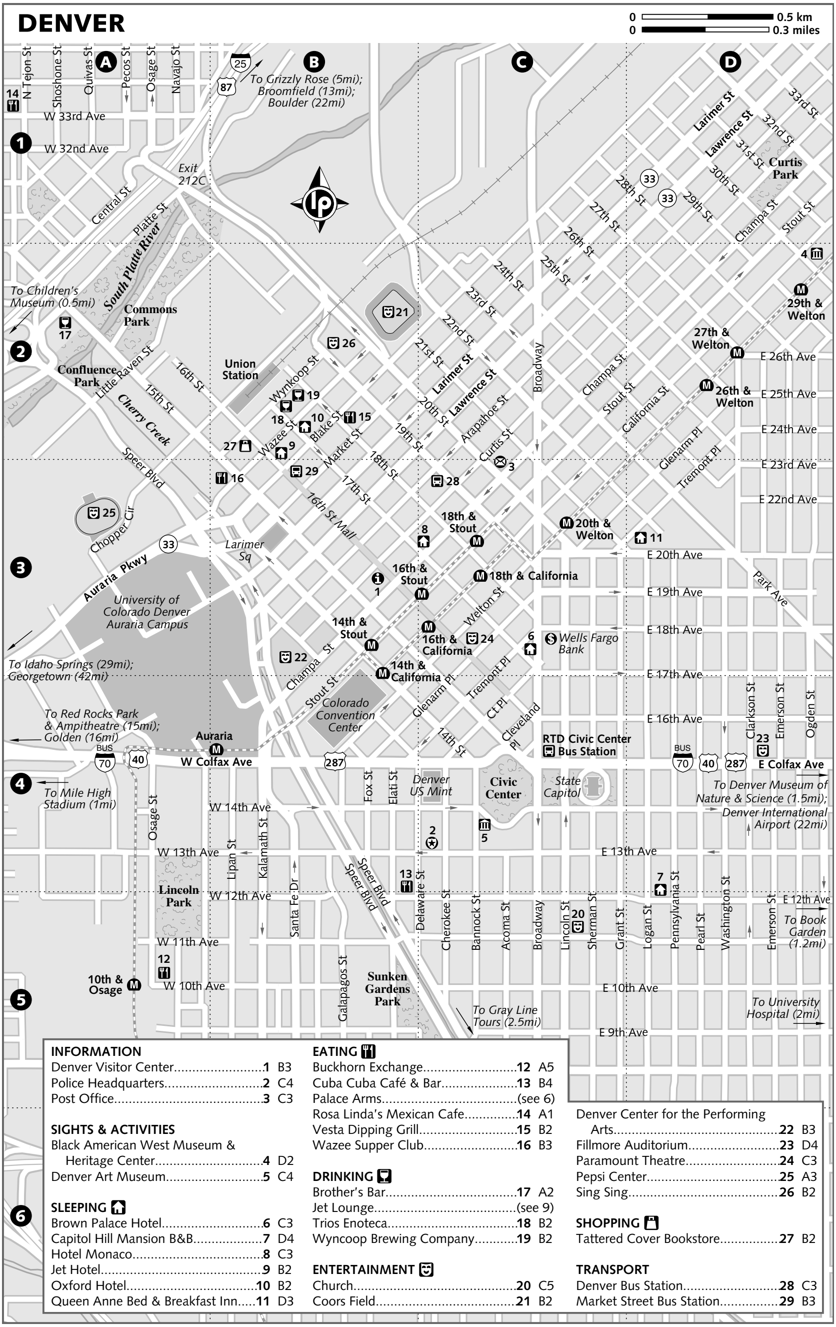
TOURIST INFORMATION

Denver Visitor Center (☎ 303-892-1505, 800-233-6837; www.denver.org; 918 16th St; 🕑 9am-5pm Mon-Fri)

Sights & Activities

The 16th Street Mall, a pedestrian-only strip of downtown, is lined with shops, restaurants and bars, and is a great place to stretch your legs or people-watch from an outdoor café. Another not-to-be-missed area is funky LoDo, around Larimer Sq. This is the place to have a drink or browse the boutiques.

The $110-million Frederic C Hamilton wing at the Denver Art Museum (☎ 720-865-5000; www.denverartmuseum.org; 100 W 14th Ave; adult/student $13/10; 🕑 10am-5pm Tue & Thu-Sat, 10am-9pm Wed, noon-5pm Sun), designed by Daniel Libeskind, is a strange, angular, fan-like edifice, which resembles the Sydney Opera House on speed. It's mesmerizing, but slightly torturous on the eyes. If you think the place looks weird from the outside, look inside: here shapes shift with each turn thanks to a combination of design and uncanny natural-light tricks. The museum is home to one of the largest Native American art collections in the USA, and puts on special avant-garde multimedia exhibits. The latest, entitled 'The Psychedelic Experience,' was a sensory extravaganza using music, video, lights and even activities designed to transport



DENVER
0 0.5 km
0 0.3 miles
A
B
C
D
1
2
3
4
5
6
N Tejon St
Shoshone St
Quivas St
Pecos St
Osage St
Navajo St
W 33rd Ave
W 32nd Ave
To Grizzly Rose (5mi); Broomfield (13mi); Boulder (22mi)
Exit 212C
Central St
Platte St
South Platte River
To Children's Museum (0.5mi)
Commons Park
Confluence Park
Little Raven St
Cherry Creek
16th St
15th St
Speer Blvd
Union Station
Wynkoop St
Wazee St
Blake St
Market St
Chopper Cir
Auraria Pkwy
Larimer Sq
University of Colorado Denver Auraria Campus
To Idaho Springs (29mi); Georgetown (42mi)
To Red Rocks Park & Ampitheatre (15mi); Golden (16mi)
Auraria
W Colfax Ave
To Mile High Stadium (1mi)
W 14th Ave
W 13th Ave
W 12th Ave
W 11th Ave
W 10th Ave
Lincoln Park
Lipan St
Kalamath St
Santa Fe Dr
Galapagos St
10th & Osage
Sunken Gardens Park
To Gray Line Tours (2.5mi)
Fox St
Elati St
Denver US Mint
Civic Center
State Capitol
Delaware St
Cherokee St
Bannock St
Acoma St
Broadway
Lincoln St
Sherman St
Grant St
Logan St
Pennsylvania St
Pearl St
Washington St
Emerson St
Clarkson St
Ogden St
E Colfax Ave
To Denver Museum of Nature & Science (1.5mi); Denver International Airport (22mi)
E 13th Ave
E 12th Ave
To Book Garden (1.2mi)
E 10th Ave
E 9th Ave
To University Hospital (2mi)
RTD Civic Center Bus Station
Wells Fargo Bank
Colorado Convention Center
14th & Stout
14th & California
16th & Stout
16th & California
18th & Stout
18th & California
20th & Welton
27th & Welton
26th & Welton
29th & Welton
17th St
18th St
19th St
20th St
21st St
22nd St
23rd St
24th St
25th St
26th St
27th St
28th St
29th St
30th St
31st St
32nd St
33rd St
16th St Mall
Larimer St
Lawrence St
Arapahoe St
Curtis St
Champa St
Stout St
California St
Welton St
Glenarm Pl
Tremont Pl
Ct Pl
Cleveland Pl
14th St
Park Ave
Curtis Park
E 26th Ave
E 25th Ave
E 24th Ave
E 23rd Ave
E 22nd Ave
E 20th Ave
E 19th Ave
E 18th Ave
E 17th Ave
E 16th Ave
25
87 33
70 40
287
BUS

INFORMATION

Denver Visitor Center	1	B3
Police Headquarters	2	C4
Post Office	3	C3

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

Black American West Museum & Heritage Center	4	D2
Denver Art Museum	5	C4

SLEEPING

Brown Palace Hotel	6	C3
Capitol Hill Mansion B&B	7	D4
Hotel Monaco	8	C3
Jet Hotel	9	B2
Oxford Hotel	10	B2
Queen Anne Bed & Breakfast Inn	11	D3

EATING

Buckhorn Exchange	12	A5
Cuba Cuba Café & Bar	13	B4
Palace Arms	(see 6)
Rosa Linda's Mexican Cafe	14	A1
Vesta Dipping Grill	15	B2
Wazee Supper Club	16	B3

DRINKING

Brother's Bar	17	A2
Jet Lounge	(see 9)
Trios Enoteca	18	B2
Wyncoop Brewing Company	19	B2

ENTERTAINMENT

Church	20	C5
Coors Field	21	B2
Denver Center for the Performing Arts	22	B3
Fillmore Auditorium	23	D4
Paramount Theatre	24	C3
Pepsi Center	25	A3
Sing Sing	26	B2

SHOPPING

Tattered Cover Bookstore	27	B2

TRANSPORT

Denver Bus Station	28	C3
Market Street Bus Station	29	B3

observers to the time of swingin' 1960s San Francisco. Admission to the museum is free on the first Saturday of each month.

Denver is also home to the excellent Black American West Museum & Heritage Center (☎ 303-482-2242; www.blackamericanwestmuseum.com; 3091 California St; adult/child $8/6; 🕒 10am-2pm Mon-Fri, 10am-5pm Sat & Sun, closed Mon & Tue winter), dedicated to 'telling history how it was.' It provides an intriguing look at the contributions of African Americans (from cowboys to rodeo riders) during the pioneer era – according to museum statistics, one in three Colorado cowboys were African American.

Red Rocks Park & Amphitheatre (☎ 303-640-2637; www.redrocksonline.com; 16352 County Rd 93; park admission free; 🕒 5am-11pm) is set between 400ft-high red sandstone rocks 15 miles southwest of Denver. Acoustics are so good many artists record live albums here. The 9000-seat theater offers stunning views and draws big-name bands all summer.

If you've got the kids, check out the Children's Museum (☎ 303-433-7444; www.mychildsmuseum.org; 2121 Children's Museum Dr; admission $7.50; 🕒 9am-4pm Mon-Fri, 10am-5pm Sat & Sun; 👶), which is full of excellent interactive exhibits. A particularly well-regarded section is the kid-size grocery store, where your little consumerists can push a shopping cart of their very own while learning about food and health. In the 'Arts à la carte' section kids can get creative with crafts that they can take home – all use recycled materials.

The Denver Museum of Nature & Science (☎ 303-322-7009; www.dmns.org; 2001 Colorado Blvd; museum adult/child $11/6, museum & IMAX $16/10; 🕒 9am-5pm; 👶), 3.5 miles east of downtown, has an IMAX theater and absorbing exhibits for all ages.

Festivals & Events

These are just a few highlights of Denver's festival-laden year. Ask the visitor center for a complete schedule.

Cinco de Mayo (☎ 303-534-8342; http://cincodemayodenver.com) Salsa music and margaritas at one of the country's biggest Cinco de Mayo celebrations; first weekend in May.

Great American Beer Festival (☎ 303-447-0816; www.beertown.org) A whole gamut of brews served in early September.

Taste of Colorado (☎ 303-295-6330; www.atasteofcolorado.com; 👶) More than 50 restaurants cook up their specialties at food stalls; there's also booze, live music, and arts-and crafts-vendors at this Labor Day festival.

Sleeping

Besides the places mentioned here, there are chain and independent motels throughout the city, with rooms starting at $50. Check out Lonely Planet Hotels & Hostels (www.lonelyplanet.com/hotels), with a range of sleeping options in the Denver 'burbs. Those on a budget should consider the very clean Boulder International Youth Hostel (p771) in nearby Boulder, as both Denver's hostels were catering more to transients than backpackers when we dropped by.

Jet Hotel (☎ 303-572-3300; www.thejethotel.com; 1612 Wazee St; r $99-169; Ⓟ ✖ 💻 📶) Priced for partying, this slick minimalist boutique in the heart of LoDo is all about fun, especially on weekends. That's when Denver's beautiful people come for the slumber-party-with-bottle-service experience – you can dance all night in the swank first floor lounge, then stumble up to your Zen quarters, burrow under the thick white comforters and sleep until brunch. Stay

EATING COLORADO: ROCKY MOUNTAIN OYSTERS

When it comes to Colorado lingo, there is one definition you really should know: Rocky Mountain Oyster. It's not likely to be what you think. These regional delicacies don't come on a half-shell garnished with lemon; they are served deep-fried. And although the chewiness is similar to that of an oyster, the breaded ball in the wax-paper basket is made from 100% beef. So what is a Rocky Mountain Oyster exactly? Good old-fashioned bull testicles, seasoned and deep-fried. It's a Western ranching specialty that never died. Hey, if you believe in reusing everything, think of eating these seasoned balls as another form of recycling – to some the taste is similar to that of overcooked calamari, while others equate them with lean fried chicken. We'll even go as far as to give you props for going green. If you dare to try the testicles, the Buckhorn Exchange (☎ 303-534-9505; 1000 Osage St; testicles $8.75; 🕒 11am-2pm & 5:30pm-9:30pm) serves them as the house special. The restaurant does a mean basket of crispy fried bulls balls, which is exactly what one should expect from Denver's oldest steakhouse. In operation since 1893, it's had more than a century to perfect the art of testicle frying.

on a weekday if you want a posh central hotel room without the boozy party scene and accompanying noise. When we stopped by, Jet was set to open a new lobby restaurant, XO, featuring a healthy Asian fusion menu (perfect for kicking last night's hangover).

Capitol Hill Mansion B&B (☎ 303-839-5221, 800-839-9329; www.capitolhillmansion.com; 1207 Pennsylvania St; r incl breakfast $115-200; Ⓟ ⊠ ❄ 💻 📶) Stained-glass windows, original 1890s woodwork and turrets make this gorgeous, gay- and family-friendly Romanesque mansion a special place to stay. Rooms are elegant, uniquely decorated and come with different special features – one has a solarium, another boasts Jacuzzi tubs.

our pick Queen Anne Bed & Breakfast Inn (☎ 303-296-6666; www.queenannebnb.com; 2147 Tremont Pl; r incl breakfast $165-215; Ⓟ ⊠ ❄) Soft chamber music wafting through public areas, fresh flowers, manicured gardens and evening wine tastings create a romantic ambience at this eco-conscious B&B in two late-1800s Victorian homes. Featuring period antiques, private hot tubs and exquisite hand-painted murals, each room has its own personality, but all are green. Mattresses are made from recycled coils and green-tea insulation, fabrics are organic (and so is the delicious full breakfast) and products and produce are purchased from local merchants when possible. It even encourages you to take the house bikes out rather than your car. Check online for special rates.

Hotel Monaco (☎ 303-296-1717, 800-990-1303; www.monaco-denver.com; 1717 Champa St; r from $169; Ⓟ ❄ 💻 📶) An ultrastylish boutique joint that's a favorite with the celebrity set. Modern rooms blend French and art-deco styles – think bold colors and those fabulous European-style feather beds. Don't miss the evening 'Altitude Adjustment Hour,' when guests enjoy free wine and five-minute massages. The place is 100% pet-friendly; staff will even deliver a named goldfish to your room upon request. Discounts are routinely offered online.

Oxford Hotel (☎ 303-628-5400, 800-228-5838; www.theoxfordhotel.com; 1600 17th St; r from $180; Ⓟ ⊠ ❄ 💻 📶) Marble walls, stained-glass windows, frescoes and sparkling chandeliers adorn the public spaces of this classy hotel in a red sandstone building. Rooms are large and decked out with imported English and French antiques. The art-deco Cruise Room Bar is one of Denver's swankiest cocktail lounges. Rates vary dramatically based on season and demand; check the website for the best rates and packages.

Brown Palace Hotel (☎ 303-297-3111, 800-321-2599; www.brownpalace.com; 321 17th St; r from $199; Ⓟ ❄) This distinguished historic landmark is the place to stay in Denver. Within walking distance of restaurants and nightlife, the Brown Palace is elegantly decorated and provides old-world atmosphere and excellent service. It has hosted everyone over the years, from the Beatles to Winston Churchill. Have afternoon tea in the lobby.

Eating

Cheap street meals are found on the 16th St Mall. The pedestrian mall and LoDo are full of restaurants catering to all budgets and continents, and many of them have great sidewalk seating in the summer months.

our pick Rosa Linda's Mexican Cafe (☎ 303-455-0608; 2005 W 33rd Ave; mains $6-12; 🕒 11:30am-10pm; 👪) For more than 20 years the Aguirre family has been serving Denver reasonably priced authentic Mexican comfort fare with a side of old-fashioned hospitality. Winner of numerous awards – including Top 15 nachos in the nation by the Wall Street Journal – Rosa Linda's also does excellent chiles rellenos and mole. The menu includes plenty of vegetarian and health-conscious choices (check out the wholewheat grilled-cactus burrito).

Wazee Supper Club (☎ 303-623-9518; 1600 15th St; mains $6-9, pizzas $10-18; 🕒 11am-1am Mon-Sat) Once you step into Wazee, on Denver's most historic street, there's little chance you'll turn around – it smells so delicious. Known for some of the best pizza and stromboli in the city, this longtime local favorite is a buzzing place day and night, with the kitchen open until 1am.

Cuba Cuba Café & Bar (☎ 303-605-2882; 1173 Delaware St; mains $10-22; 🕒 11am-11pm) We get dreamy just thinking about the mango mojito (rum-based cocktail) at this swanky Cuban joint serving finger-lickin' BBQ spareribs, flavor-packed fried yucca and a sumptuous coconut-crusted tuna. The back patio offers fantastic sunset city views; the bright blue-walled environs emit an island vibe.

Vesta Dipping Grill (☎ 303-296-1970; 1822 Blake St; mains $15-25; 🕒 5-10:30pm) Pick a type of meat, then choose from 30 different sauces to dip it into. It's a simple concept that works exceedingly well. The melt-in-your mouth quality of the creative dishes – many Asian inspired – makes Vesta one of Denver's favorite restaurants. The atmosphere is relaxed and funky.

Palace Arms (☎ 303-297-3111; Brown Palace Hotel, 321 17th St; mains from $20; ⏰ 5:30pm-late) The patriotic pioneer decor inside the Brown Palace's award-winning restaurant dates back to the 1700s – check out the silver centerpiece the British royal family commissioned. The food is as impressive as the old-world ambience, and the wine list features 900 bottles. Signature dishes include Kobe rib-eye steak and seared bison tenderloin.

Drinking

Most bars and nightspots are in LoDo and around Coors Field. The biweekly gay newspaper Out Front, found in coffee shops and bars, has entertainment listings. Many of the venues listed under Eating (opposite) are also bars.

Wynkoop Brewing Company (☎ 303-297-2700; 1634 18th St) Mayor Hickenlooper's brewery is a good place to come for a pint and a game of pool. Big and breezy, with more than 20 billiard tables, Wynkoop is arguably the city's most rocking pub. It serves juicy burgers to soak up its award-winning microbrews.

Jet Lounge (☎ 303-572-3300; Jet Hotel, 1612 Wazee St) Designed to blend into the Jet Hotel's lobby, this lounge is the place to see and be seen in Denver. There is a bedroom-meets-house-party vibe – candles, cozy couches, a weekend DJ and lots and lots of beautiful people. Jet Lounge was a favorite with the Real World Denver housemates. Order bottle service, sit back and melt into the party.

Trios Enoteca (☎ 303-293-2887; 1730 Wynkoop St) Art-glass lampshades, bare brick walls and old pinups from the 1920s create the speakeasy atmosphere in this sleek LoDo wine bar with excellent live jazz. If you are hungry order a wood-oven pizza from the varied bar menu. The kitchen stays open late.

Brother's Bar (☎ 303-445-9991; 2376 15th St) Classic rock and roll, lacquered booths and tables made from old wood barrels greet you inside Denver's oldest bar. Grab a seat on the leafy patio if it's nice outside. The bar is on a popular cycle path, and has been a local institution since it opened.

Entertainment

To find out what's happening with music, theater and other performing arts, pick up a free copy of Westword.

our pick Grizzly Rose (☎ 303-295-1330; 5450 N Valley Hwy; cover $5-10) This is one kick-ass honky-tonk, attracting real cowboys from as far as Cheyenne – the Country Music Association (CMA) has called it the best country bar in America. If you've never experienced line dancing, there's no better place to put on the boots, grab the Stetson and let loose. Just north of the city limits off I-25 (you'll have to drive or cab it), the Grizzly is famous for bringing in huge industry stars – Willie Nelson, Lee Ann Rimes – and only charging $10 per ticket.

Church (☎ 303-832-3538; 1160 Lincoln St; cover $10) There's nothing like ordering a stiff drink inside an old cathedral. Yes, this club, which draws a large and diverse crowd, is in a former house of the Lord. Lit by hundreds of altar candles and flashing blue strobe lights, the Church has three dancefloors, a couple of lounges and even a sushi bar! Arrive before 10pm Friday through Sunday to avoid the cover charge.

Sing Sing (☎ 303-291-0880; 1735 19th St; cover $7) This lively dueling piano bar is very popular with bachelorette parties. Sing Sing fills quickly; arrive around 6:30pm to score a table near the pianos. It's pretty noisy (don't expect much talking) but the atmosphere is really fun. Song requests are taken (and usually accompanied by $5), but many folks request the same songs, so you could just sit back, sip from the famous Long Island iced-tea buckets and listen. Beware when drunken brides-to-be get up on stage to dance.

Denver Center for the Performing Arts (☎ 303-893-4100; www.denvercenter.org; 1245 Champa St) Covering four city blocks, this complex is the world's second-largest performing-arts center. It hosts resident Colorado Symphony Orchestra, Opera Colorado, Denver Center Theater Company, Colorado Ballet and touring Broadway shows.

In town, the main music venues for national acts are the Paramount Theatre (☎ 303-534-8336; www.denverparamount.com; 1621 Glenarm Pl) and Fillmore Auditorium (☎ 303-837-0360; 1510 Clarkson St).

Denver is a city known for manic sports fans, and boasts five pro teams. The Colorado Rockies (☎ 303-762-5437; http://colorado.rockies.mlb.com) play baseball at the highly rated Coors Field (2001 Blake St). The Pepsi Center (☎ 303-405-1111; www.pepsicenter.com; 1000 Chopper Circle) hosts the Denver Nuggets basketball team and the Colorado Avalanche hockey team. The much-lauded Denver Broncos football team (☎ 720-258-3333; www.denverbroncos.com) and the Colorado Rapids soccer team (☎ 303-299-1599; www.coloradorapids.com) play at Mile High Stadium (☎ 720-258-3000; www.invescofieldatmilehigh.com; 1805 S Bryant St), 1 mile west of downtown. Public Regional Transit District (RTD; ☎ 303-299-6000; www.rtd-denver.com) buses run from points around Denver and Boulder directly to the sports stadiums and back on game nights. The cost is $3 one way. Check RTD's website for details.

Shopping

The pedestrian-only 16th St Mall and the boutiques of LoDo are the city's main downtown shopping areas.

our pick Tattered Cover Bookstore (☎ 303-436-1070; 1628 16th St; 🕒 6:30am-9pm Mon-Fri, 9am-9pm Sat, 10am-6pm Sun) Denver's most loved bookstore is in this main shopping area. By far the coolest shop in Denver, it's massive and bursting with books. The armchair-travel section is wonderful – curl into the comfy chairs scattered around the shop and read about Kathmandu. And if you need a new writing journal, well this is where we come to stock up before our research trips. The selection is fabulous!

Getting There & Away

Denver International Airport (DIA; www.flydenver.com; 8500 Peña Blvd) is served by around 20 airlines and offers flights to nearly every major US city. Located 24 miles east of downtown, DIA is connected with I-70 exit 238 by 12-mile-long Peña Blvd.

Tourist and airport information is available at a booth (☎ 303-342-2000) in the terminal's central hall.

Greyhound buses stop at Denver Bus Station (☎ 303-293-6555; 1055 19th St), which runs services to Boise (from $140, 18 hours), Billings (from $105, 14 hours) and Los Angeles (from $150, 20 hours).

Amtrak's California Zephyr runs daily between Chicago and San Francisco via Denver. Trains arrive and depart from Union Station (☎ 303-825-2583; cnr 17th & Wynkoop Sts). For recorded information on arrival and departure times, call ☎ 303-534-2812. Amtrak (☎ 800-872-7245; www.amtrak.com) can also provide schedule information and train reservations.

Getting Around

TO/FROM THE AIRPORT

All transportation companies have booths near the baggage-claim area. Public Regional Transit District (RTD; ☎ 303-299-6000; www.rtd-denver.com) runs a SkyRide service to the airport from downtown Denver hourly ($10, one hour). RTD also goes to Boulder ($12, 1½ hours) from the Market Street Bus Station (cnr 16th & Market Sts). Taxis to downtown Denver charge a flat $45, excluding tip. SuperShuttle (☎ 303-370-1300, 800-258-3826) offers van services (from $22) between the Denver area and the airport.

CAR & MOTORCYCLE

Street parking can be a pain, but there are slews of pay garages in downtown and LoDo. Nearly all the major car-rental agencies have counters at DIA, though only a few have offices in downtown Denver.

PUBLIC TRANSPORTATION

RTD provides public transportation throughout the Denver and Boulder area. Local buses cost $1.15 for local services, $2.50 for express services. Useful free shuttle buses run along the 16th St Mall.

RTD also operates a light-rail line serving 16 stations on a 12-mile route through downtown. Fares are the same as for local buses.

TAXI

For 24-hour cab service, call:

Freedom Cab (☎ 303-292-8900)
Metro Taxi (☎ 303-333-3333)
Yellow Cab (☎ 303-777-7777)

FRONT RANGE

Home to Colorado Springs, Boulder and fabulous Rocky Mountain National Park (as well as Denver, the hub city), the Front Range is Colorado's most populated region and where most people's Rocky Mountain odyssey begins. I-25 is the north–south artery along the Front Range (which is just a name for this part of the Rocky Mountains), with Colorado Springs and Denver, 65 miles apart, both sitting on this highway.

Northwest of Denver, accessed via US 36, is Mork and Mindy's hometown, Boulder. It's a hippie utopia where the word 'recession' does not appear to exist. Continuing north on Hwy 36 from Boulder takes you to Estes Park, one of the Rocky Mountain National Park's two gateway towns. Grand Lake, 100 miles from Denver, is the other. It's accessed from Denver via I-70 to I-40, where you'll also find two favorite local ski resorts – Winter Park and Steamboat Springs.

A GOOD PLACE TO BE A DOG

If you're traveling with pooch, he or she will wag a tail over a visit to Colorado Springs. Home to 402,417 people and 87,055 canines – that's one dog for every two households – it's possibly the nation's most canine-friendly city. Whether they are playing catch in one of the five city dog parks, hitting the trails with their guardians in Garden of the Gods, one of many off-leash hiking havens, or accompanying their humans on a shopping trip to Pottery Barn or Banana Republic at the pro-dog Promenade Shops at Briargate (in the northwest corner of town), Colorado Springs is a good place to be a canine. Dogs can even take in a minor-league ballgame at pet-friendly SkySox stadium! If you're visiting, the five-star posh and historic Broadmoor hotel (see p768) caters to your furry best friend with in-room beds and doggie room service).

Colorado Springs

In a picture-perfect location below famous Pikes Peak, Colorado Springs offers a runaway train of listed attractions: hike through Garden of the Gods' strange red rock formations, take a ride on the cog railway or stroll down the Tejon Strip.

Evangelical conservatives, libertarians, tourists and military installations comprise the bizarre demographics of Colorado's second-largest city. It's home to a large military base, the US Air Force Academy and the North American Radar Air Defense (the command center monitoring US and Canadian airspace in a hollowed-out mountain, it's where the president would weather a nuclear-missile strike). But it's also the place where evangelical megachurch pastor Ted Haggard's headline-making sex and drugs scandal played out. And where this century's most notorious band of fugitive outlaws – the Texas 7 – were captured.

ORIENTATION & INFORMATION

I-25 bisects the sprawling metropolitan area. To the east is the main 'downtown' business district, centered on Tejon St between Kiowa St to the north and Colorado Ave to the south. Here you will find restaurants, bars, clubs and shops. To the west of the I-25 are Old Colorado City, Garden of the Gods and Manitou Springs.

The Colorado Springs Visitor Center (☎ 719-635-7506; www.coloradosprings-travel.com; 515 S Cascade Ave; 🕓 8:30am-5pm) has all the usual tourist information.

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

The bewitching red sandstone formations at Garden of the Gods (the rocks are smack in the middle of town and seem so out of place you won't quite believe your eyes) draw around two million visitors each year to see highlights such as Balanced Rock, High Point and Central Garden. Soak up the beauty on one of the park hiking trails.

Travelers have been making the trip on the Pikes Peak Cog Railway to the summit of Pikes Peak (14,110ft) since 1891. Katherine Lee Bates was so impressed by her 1893 trip to the summit that she was inspired to write 'America the Beautiful.' Swiss-built trains smoothly make the round-trip in 3¼ hours, which includes 40 minutes at the top. Trains depart from the Manitou Springs depot (☎ 719-685-5401; www.cograilway.com; 515 Ruxton Ave, Manitou Springs; round-trip $33; 🕓 Apr-Jan; 👪), 6 miles west of Colorado Springs on US 24 in eccentric little Manitou Springs.

You can also reach the summit on foot, via the tough 12.5-mile Barr Trail. From the trailhead, just above the Manitou Springs depot, the path climbs 7300ft. Fit hikers should reach the top in about eight hours. Leave in the early morning, as afternoon thunderstorms can prove deadly. Make sure your body is acclimatized to the altitude before setting out. It's easy to hitch a ride down the mountain once you reach the top.

Practically falling into a crumbly red rock canyon, Manitou Springs is one of the nation's quirkiest small towns, hosting a slew of unusual festivals. Don't miss the famous fruitcake toss around Christmas, when locals make homemade slingshots to catapult the suckers (the cake that goes furthest wins). The costumed coffin races down the main street at Halloween are another beloved tradition. The games still work at the historic penny arcade in the heart of downtown. The old-fashioned emporium is truly worth a wander, no matter your age, for the goose-bumps-inducing nostalgia.

From the town of Divide, west of Manitou Springs on US 24, you can drive the Pikes Peak

Toll Road (per person/car $10/35; 🕐 9am-3pm winter, 7am-7pm summer) to the summit. It's sometimes closed in winter due to bad weather. If it's open, and you have a set of skis or a snowboard and at least three people – one driver and two riders – there is some great (free, after you pay the toll) backcountry powder skiing with easy drop-in and pick-up points along the serpentine road. The locals would kill us for listing mile-markers, so you'll have to drive the highway and look for tracks.

SLEEPING

There are cheap 1950s-style independent motels on Nevada Ave about 1 mile north and 1 mile south of the central business district. For the more upscale chains, like Holiday Inn and Best Western, try the Fillmore, Garden of the Gods and Circle Ave exits off I-25.

Garden of the Gods Campground (☎ 719-475-9450; www.coloradocampground.com; 3704 W Colorado Ave; campsites $33, cabins/r from $45/60; 🏊) For camping close to town you could do worse than here. There are only a few trees, and most of the area is paved, but the pool is refreshing and the basic cabins and bunkhouse rooms are quite good value.

El Colorado Lodge (☎ 719-685-5485; www.pikes-peak.com/elcolorado; 23 Manitou Ave; cabins $50-100; ❄) On the outskirts of Manitou Springs, El Colorado is a pink Southwestern-style lodge c 1926. Accommodations are in comfortable adobe cabins set among blue spruce and pine trees. Most come with fireplaces and cute little decks equipped with picnic tables.

Avenue Hotel (☎ 719-685-1277; www.avenuehotelbandb.com; 711 Manitou Ave; r incl breakfast $80-130; 👪) This Victorian mansion on a hill in downtown Manitou Springs began as a boarding house in 1886. One hundred years later, it reopened as the city's first B&B. Decorated in warm colors, the seven rooms have claw-foot tubs, lush fabrics and canopy-topped wrought-iron beds. They are reached via a fantastic three-floor, open turned staircase. Families should ask about the bigger Carriage House, which has a private kitchen.

Broadmoor (☎ 719-634-7711; www.broadmoor.com; 1 Lake Ave; r from $250; ❄ 📶 🏊) One of the top five-star resorts in the USA, the Broadmoor sits in a picture-perfect location against the blue-green slopes of Cheyenne Mountain. Everything about the property is exquisite: acres of lush grounds and a shimmering lake to stroll past, world-class golf, ornately decorated grandiose public spaces, myriad bars and restaurants, a fantastic spa and uber-comfortable European-style guest rooms.

EATING

The Tejon Strip downtown is the place to eat.

Pike's Perk Coffee & Teahouse (☎ 719-635-1600; 14 S Tejon St; espressos & snacks from $2; 🕐 6am-10pm Mon-Thu, to 11pm Fri, 7am-11pm Sat, to 8pm Sun) With a fantastic rooftop boasting unobstructed views of Colorado Springs' signature mountain, Pikes Perk is our all-time-favorite regional coffee shop. Read a magazine, write a novel or just a chat with friends in the cozy 2nd floor lounge or on the aforementioned deck when the weather's nice. Pike's Perk serves the usual range of espresso drinks, all excellent quality, as well as a range of pastries, bagels, breakfast burritos and other light meals.

Western Omelette (☎ 719-636-2286; 16 S Walnut St; mains $4-8; 🕐 7am-2pm; 👪) If you're hung over after a big night, do as the locals do and head here for a green chili cure. The Mexican breakfast dishes, such as huevos rancheros (with green chili, of course), are greasy-spoon fare. It's a big place completely lacking in character, which oddly gives it its charm.

Trinity Brewing Co (☎ 719-634-0029; www.trinitybrew.com; 1466 Garden of the Gods Rd; mains $5-8; 🕐 11am-midnight Thu-Sat, 11am-10pm Sun-Wed) Inspired by Belgium's beer cafés, the ecofriendly Trinity Brewing Co is an extremely cool addition to the Colorado Springs pub scene. Owned by two self-admitted beer geeks, it serves 'artisanal beers' (made from rare ingredients and potent amounts of alcohol) and has a menu focused on creating a 'Slow Food dining experience based on…environmental sustainability.' The vegan BBQ sandwich, spicy Thai curry soup, vegetarian 'chicken wings' and other healthy, organic choices are definitely a departure from usual pub fare. But don't fret, carnivores: there is some meat on offer. If you're still hungry after dinner, wash your tofu down with a beer float. A 10% discount is given for arriving on foot or bike. Look for the brewery in a strip mall one block west of Centennial Blvd. It's about a 15-minute bike ride northwest of downtown.

Phantom Canyon Brewing Co (☎ 719-635-2800; 2 E Pikes Peak Ave; mains $7-18; 🕐 11am-late; 👪) In an old exposed warehouse building, this local brewery serves a variety of pints and American cuisine in a casual atmosphere. The appetizers can be large enough for a meal, and the

DON'T MISS

A Colorado Springs institution for decades now, Poor Richard's (320-324 N Tejon St; 🕑 9am-9pm Sun-Thu, to midnight Fri & Sat; 📶), owned by local politico Richard Skorman, is a unique one-stop combo shopping experience, with four very different businesses under one roof.

Got a hankering to get lost in an aisle of old books? No problem. Poor Richard's Bookstore (☎ 719-578-0012) is the city's most revered secondhand bookseller. Traveling with family? The attached Little Richard's Toy Store (☎ 719-578-3072; 👶) mesmerizes kids with a large collection of toys. Parents can be stoked too, because toys sold here are specifically designed to foster imagination, creativity and cognitive development in children. Ringing ahead to speak with a trained shopkeeper about your child's specific needs is encouraged.

When you've finished shopping, hit up Poor Richard's Restaurant (☎ 719-632-7721; mains $5-10, pizza slices/pies from $3.65/14.50; 👶) for an additive-free meal. The casual restaurant is well-known for its delicious, hand-tossed, New York–style pizzas made from crispy white, wheat or spelt crust ,as well as fresh build-your-own salads with more than 30 ingredient choices. Kids will dig the indoor playground in the back.

Between the restaurant and the toy store, Rico's Coffee, Chocolate & Wine Bar @ Poor Richard's (☎ 719-630-7723) serves a European café menu of the ham-and-cheese croissant and fresh pastry variety, but really people come here for the espresso, chocolate (served hot and cold) and wine (more than 20 by-the-glass choices). Oh, and there's live jazz many nights.

downstairs dining room is family-friendly. Locals flock to the upstairs bar for pool and socializing at night.

Blue Star (☎ 719-632-1086; 1645 S Tejon St; mains $10-25; 🕑 5:30-9pm Sun-Thu, to 10pm Fri & Sat) One of Colorado Springs' most popular gourmet eateries, the Blue Star is in a quiet neighborhood just south of downtown. The menu at this landmark spot changes regularly, but always involves fresh fish, top-cut steak and inventive chicken dishes, flavored with Mediterranean and Pacific Rim rubs and spices. The colorful bar area, with metal and sleek wood decor and booth or high-top tables, is more social than the open-kitchen dining room in the back. There's live jazz on Mondays and dancing on weekends, and the menu is slightly less expensive. There is an impressive 8500-bottle wine cellar here that includes organic varietals.

DRINKING & ENTERTAINMENT

The Tejon Strip, between Platte and Colorado Sts, is where most of the after-dark action happens. Also check out the burgeoning SoDo (South Downtown). For now it's just a block-long strip of S Tejon St between E Cimarron St and E Moreno St, but crammed into this recently gentrified small space is the city's dance club du jour, SoDo.

Hotel Bar (☎ 719-577-5733; Broadmoor Hotel, 1 Lake Ave) On a warm summer afternoon there's no better spot for a drink with a view than this bar overlooking a private lake. Order a chilled glass of wine and a cigar, and sit back and watch the ducks pass by. When the weather turns cool the outdoor stone fireplaces are lit.

Cowboys Nightclub (☎ 719-596-1212; www.worldfamouscowboys.com; 25 N Tejon St; cover $3-8; 🕑 5pm-2am Wed-Thu, 4pm-2am Fri-Sun) Voted the best nightclub in the city by the readers of its daily newspaper, Cowboys is loud, brash and 100% country and western. In the heart of the Tejon Strip, it's a great place to just cut loose and dance. From karaoke to two-step lessons to live concerts, this club is always packed and always buzzing. There are plans to open a bowling alley upstairs. Across the street from Cowboys – and owned by the same people – is the city's other megahot nightlife venue, Rum Bay, with eight clubs in one.

GETTING THERE & AROUND

Colorado Springs Municipal Airport (COS; ☎ 719-550-1900; 7770 Drennan Rd) offers a viable alternative to Denver International Airport. The Yellow Cab (☎ 719-634-5000) fare from the airport to the city center is between $25 and $30.

Greyhound buses between Cheyenne, WY, and Pueblo, CO, stop daily at the depot (☎ 719-635-1505; 120 Weber St). The transportation center (☎ 719-385-7433; 127 E Kiowa St; 🕑 8am-5pm Mon-Fri) offers schedule information and route maps for all local buses.

WORTH THE TRIP: GOING DOWN TO CRIPPLE CREEK

Just an hour from Colorado Springs, yet worlds away, a visit to Cripple Creek is like stepping back into the Wild West of lore. The booze still flows and gambling still thrives, but yesteryear's saloons and brothels have been converted into tasteful casinos. Despite the flashing neon signs, Cripple Creek manages to retain a lot of its old charm, with most casinos tucked inside original century-old buildings.

At the beginning of the 20th century, the city was one of the most important in the state – producing $340 million worth of gold between 1891 and 1916, and a staggering $413 million worth by 1952.

These days, Cripple Creek is a wonderful day trip from Colorado Springs. The road climbs quickly as you head west into the mountains and the last 18 miles, especially in the fall when the trees turn golden, are quite breathtaking.

Cripple Creek is 50 miles southwest of Colorado Springs on Hwy 67. Catch the Ramblin' Express (☎ 719-590-8687; www.ramblinexpress.com; tickets $22-25) from Colorado Springs. The bus departs hourly between 7am and 10pm from the 8th St Depot and leaves from JP McGills casino hourly between 8:30am and 2:10am.

Boulder

A model example of a functioning utopian society, the People's Republic of Boulder (as the locals say) is a liberal university town with a yuppie crunch attitude and a mad crush on the outdoors – in 1967 Boulder became the first US city to tax itself specifically to preserve open space. Packs of cyclists whip up and down the main streets, and the endless city parks those taxpayer dollars purchased bustle with happy hikers and their dogs. The pedestrian-only Pearl St Mall, bursting with shops, sidewalk cafés and street performers, is lively, clean and perfect for strolling. At night, head to the Hill, home of the 30,000-student University of Colorado, a legendary American party school.

In many ways it is Boulder, not Denver, that is the region's tourist hub. The city is about the same distance from Denver International Airport, and staying in Boulder puts you 45 minutes closer to the big ski resorts west on I-70 and Rocky Mountain National Park. Plus the locale, up against the strange jagged rock formations called the Flatirons, is picture-perfect.

ORIENTATION

Boulder's two areas to see and be seen are the downtown Pearl St Mall and the University Hill district (next to campus), both off Broadway. Overlooking the city from the west are the Flatirons, an eye-catching rock formation. Boulder is north of Denver. From I-25 exit at Hwy 36 (it's a left-hand exit); follow this road for about 20 miles into town.

INFORMATION

Boulder Bookstore (☎ 303-447-2074; 1107 Pearl St) Boulder's favorite indie bookstore has a huge travel section downstairs, along with all the hottest new fiction and nonfiction.

Boulder Visitor Center (☎ 303-442-2911, 800-444-0447; www.bouldercoloradousa.com; 2440 Pearl St; 🕒 8:30am-5pm Mon-Thu, 8:30am-4pm Fri) Offers information and internet access.

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

The main feature of downtown Boulder is the Pearl Street Mall, a vibrant pedestrian zone filled with bars, galleries and restaurants. However, Boulder's most famous feature is the striking iron-like mountains along the southwest flank.

Hiking and mountain biking are both huge in Boulder, and luckily there's plenty of space for everyone to practice both (the city has dedicated huge chunks of land to public open space).

From the popular Chautauqua Park, at the west end of Baseline Rd, hiking trails head in many directions, including up to the Flatirons. Locals and their canine companions dig the 3.2-mile (round-trip) calf-buster up Mt Sanitas. Rocky outcroppings grace the summit and make great focal points for pictures. The views across Boulder and onto the plains to the east are stupendous. To reach the trailhead, take Broadway Ave to Mapleton Ave and head west toward the mountains for about five blocks. You can park just past the hospital in a lot on the north side where the trail begins.

The 16-mile Boulder Creek Trail is the main bicycling route in town and leads west on an unpaved streamside path to Four Mile Canyon. Challenge-seekers can also ride 4 miles up Flagstaff Rd to the top of Flagstaff Mountain. Bike rentals, maps and information are available from University Bicycles (☎ 303-444-4196; 839 Pearl St) and Full Cycle (☎ 303-440-7771; 1211 13th St).

Eldorado Canyon State Park (☎ 303-494-3943; ⏰ visitor center 9am-5pm) is one of the country's most favored rock-climbing areas, offering Class 5.5 to 5.12 climbs. The park entrance is on Eldorado Springs Dr, west of Hwy 93. Information is available from Boulder Rock Club (☎ 303-447-2804; www.totalclimbing.com; 2829 Mapleton Ave).

During winter, city buses leave from the corner of 14th and Walnut Sts (round-trip $11) and take you to Eldora Mountain Resort (☎ 303-440-8700; www.eldora.com; Hwy 130; lift ticket adult/child $62/37), where you can spend the day skiing and snowboarding on decent terrain.

On hot summer days, cool off like the locals do – riding an inner tube down the Boulder Creek's white water at the west end of town. It just might be the best urban do-it-yourself tubing trip in the country! Rapids range from mild to slightly wild, depending on water levels. There are a few waterfalls sure to flip your tube, plus some good swimming holes to relax in after they do.

Most people start their run north of the parking lot at Eben G Fine Park between Arapahoe and Canyon Aves – head west on Canyon until you see the pull-off. There are usually vendors renting out tubes for about $8 here, but if you want to purchase your own rubber, visit the Conoco Gas Station (☎ 303-442-6293; 1201 Arapahoe Ave; tubes $15; ⏰ 9am-5pm). If the water feels too rough, the creek gets milder further south; try riding from the picnic tables in Eben G Fine down to the library.

If you'd rather paddle, the stretch of creek running parallel to the bike path and Canyon Rd (just north of the park) doubles as one of Colorado's holiest of white-water kayak parks. Built by a local, Gary Lacy, who has made quite a name for himself in the quickly growing white-water kayaking industry, the highlight is a steep drop below the last bridge before you hit Eben G Fine – it leads into a sticky hydraulic. The park is perfect for kayakers looking to practice eddy turns and cartwheels.

SLEEPING

Boulder has dozens more hotels than we have space to list – drive down Broadway or Hwy 36 to take your pick. Booking online usually scores the best discounts. Check the hotel websites for special packages, which can include everything from spa treatments to meal coupons or champagne.

Boulder Mountain Lodge (☎ 303-444-0882; www.bouldermountainlodge.com; 91 Four Mile Canyon Rd; campsites $24, r from $94; ❄ 🅿 👪) Set in a shady canyon 4 miles west of Boulder off Hwy 119, this family-owned and -operated lodge in the mountains is gorgeously placed amid pines and cottonwood trees. It offers shady camping, as well as clean, motel-style rooms with kitchenettes. The kids' fishing pond is a plus.

Boulder International Youth Hostel (☎ 303-442-0522; www.boulderhostel.com; 1107 12th St; dm $27, r with shared bath from $55; 💻 📶) Located amid the fraternity houses on hip University Hill, this hostel has been meeting the needs of travelers for nearly half a century (it opened in 1961). Dorms and private rooms are clean and warm, and the facilities are infinitely better than those in Denver's hostels. Bring bedding or rent linen for $7 per stay.

Boulder Outlook Hotel & Suites (☎ 303-443-3322; www.boulderoutlook.com; 800 28th St; r from $99; ❄ 💻 📶 🅿 👪) Calling itself the 'cure for the common hotel,' the totally green (zero-waste) Boulder Outlook is colorful and energetic, and includes amenities like an indoor 11ft-high rock-climbing boulder (and a mini one for kids), a heated chlorine-free pool and live music in the bar overlooking it all. Traveling with a dog? No problem. Call ahead to book one of the 'Fido rooms.'

Hotel Boulderado (☎ 303-442-4344, 800-433-4344; www.boulderado.com; 2115 13th St; r from $150; ❄ 💻 📶) Celebrating a century of service in 2009, the charming Boulderado is a National Register landmark and a wonderfully romantic place to spend the night. Full of Victorian elegance and wonderful public spaces, each antique-filled room is uniquely decorated and boasts luxurious amenities.

EATING

Lucille's Creole Cafe (☎ 303-442-4743; 2142 14th St; mains $4-8; ⏰ 8am-2pm) Lines form early at Boulder's favorite wake-up joint, but the wait is worth it. This New Orleans diner has perfected breakfast, and the Creole egg dishes (served over a bed of creamy spinach, alongside cheesy grits or next to perfectly blackened trout) are what to order. Start with a steaming mug of chai or chicory coffee and an order of beignets. The powder-sugar-drenched French Cajun doughnuts are the house specialty.

DON'T MISS

If you're on a budget in Boulder you are in luck – this is one of the best cities in the country for happy-hour hopping. Between 3:30pm and 6:30pm nearly every restaurant in the city features some kind of amazing food and drink specials. And since Boulder is jam-packed with some of Colorado's top restaurants, this means you can eat like a king even if your wallet says you are a pauper. We're talking a full meal's worth of gourmet appetizers and a couple of top-shelf martinis for less than $20, folks. Best of all, since no one in Boulder appears to work in an office, happy hours here are as crowded as dinner, which means you get to experience the ambience at bargain-basement prices too. Don't miss it.

Sink (☎ 303-444-7465; 1165 13th St; mains $5-10; 🕒 11:30am-10:30pm) The Sink is a Hill classic that's been satisfyingly feeding hungry college kids and their professors since it opened in 1923. A pizza and burger dive with the most amazing graffiti art all over its dim-lit cavernous interior, it's almost worth visiting just to read the writing on the walls. We said almost. Once you've sunk your teeth into the legendary Sink burger and swallowed it with a slug of a deliciously hoppy Colorado microbrew, you'll be glad you stuck around. Live music on select nights.

Rio Grande Cafe (☎ 303-444-3690; 1101 Walnut St; dishes $8-15; 🕒 11am-11pm; 👶) Always packed, this Tex-Mex institution consistently delivers potent margaritas, sumptuous beef fajitas and the most addictive queso dip. Loud and chaotic, with a buzzing bar scene and kid-friendly restaurant, the Rio appeals to first-date couples and families alike. Visit the awesome uncovered rooftop patio in summer.

our pick Boulder Dushanbe Teahouse (☎ 303-442-4993; 1770 13th St; mains $8-20; 🕒 8am-10pm) No visit to Boulder is complete without a meal at this incredible Tajik work of art. A gift from Boulder's sister city (Dushanbe, Tajikistan), incredible craftsmanship and meticulous painting envelop the vibrant multicolored interior. The international fare ranges from Amazonian to Mediterranean to, of course, Tajik. Outside, in the quiet gardens, is a lovely, shaded full-service patio. It's an intimate place to grab cocktails or dinner with friends on a warm summer day.

Zolo Southwestern Grill (☎ 303-449-0444; 2525 Arapahoe Ave; mains $8-20; 🕒 11am-late; 🅿) Zolo has been delighting residents with award-winning Southwestern fare and easy parking (it has its own lot) for 15 years now. The menu is a Colorado take on classic Mexican. Perennial favorites include fundido (warm goat Oaxaca cheese fondue with red pepper jam, roasted garlic, flour tortillas), chicken enchiladas and the tortilla-crusted ahi tuna. Whatever you do, don't skip the tequila. There are more than 150 choices, which can be served neat or blended into what many argue are Boulder's best margaritas. Look for Zolo about 11 blocks southeast of the Pearl St Mall, tucked into a quiet shopping center.

Boulder Cafe (☎ 303-444-4884; 1247 Pearl St; mains $8-25; 🕒 11:30am-10:30pm) Score a sidewalk table and check out the street performers on the Pearl St Mall while waiting for your oysters and ice-cold beer. The perennially popular Boulder Cafe does a great raw bar, along with a host of eclectic appetizers such as classic Swiss fondue. Mains include pastas, steaks, sandwiches and salads. From 3pm to 6pm, all appetizers (including the raw bar) and drinks are half-price. It's the best deal in town.

Kitchen (☎ 303-544-5973; 1039 Pearl St; mains $10-30; 🕒 8am-2pm & 5:30pm-late Mon-Fri, 9am-2pm & 5:30pm-late Sat & Sun) It's gourmet, green and has a 750-bottle-strong wine list. Do you need to hear more? OK. This relative newbie on the national foodie circuit is also a contender for greenest restaurant in the West. Electricity is generated by wind-power and almost all waste is either reused or recycled. The mouth watering fare is nouveau American meets French bistro with a flavor of Italy, and it evolves with the seasons. There are two dining rooms. The one on the 2nd floor is bright and modern, and attracts a chic crowd. Don't miss the nightly tasting hour, between 5:30pm and 6:30pm, when there are excellent small-plate and drink specials.

BOULDER'S TOP FIVE ROOFTOP BARS

Rooftop watering holes define Boulder's bar scene in the warmer months. The city is home to dozens of these wonderful, breezy establishments, and bar-hopping between them is a cherished summer ritual. Usually part of the restaurant downstairs, some rooftops are covered by awnings, others open to the night sky, but all come with heat lamps for those chilly mountain nights and most come with fantastic views of the Flatirons.

The following are our top five picks, but we're just giving you the basics. You'll have to visit to find out why.

- West End Tavern (☎ 303-444-3535; 926 Pearl St)
- Bacaro Venetian Taverna (☎ 303-444-4888; 921 Pearl St)
- Foundry (☎ 303-447-1803; 1109 Walnut St)
- K's China (☎ 303-413-0000; 1325 Broadway)
- Lazy Dog Sports Bar & Grill (☎ 303-440-3355; 1346 Pearl St)

DRINKING & ENTERTAINMENT

The blocks around the Pearl St Mall and the Hill are party central, with many restaurants doubling as bars or turning into all-out dance clubs come 10pm – see Eating (p771) for even more choices.

Mountain Sun Pub & Brewery (☎ 303-546-0886; 1535 Pearl St) Boulder's favorite brewery serves a rainbow of brews from chocolaty to fruity, and packs in an eclectic crowd of yuppies, hippies and everyone in between. Walls are lined with tapestries, there are board games to amuse you and the pub grub (especially the burgers) is delicious. There's usually live music of the bluegrass and jam-band variety at night.

Pearl Street Pub (☎ 303-939-9900; 1108 Pearl St) Sorrows are drowned with multiple pints at the scarred wooden bar upstairs, where the vibe is shabby chic meets Old West. Downstairs, 20-something locals pound shots by the pool tables, soaking up the beer-drenched atmosphere at this town's favorite trendy dive. Come for Friday-night happy hour, when there is often live music at the packed upstairs bar.

Catacombs Bar (☎ 303-443-0486; 2115 13th St) A cavernous pool and beer joint underneath the Boulderado Hotel, Catacombs lures a young and rowdy crowd with ultracheap drink specials. The dimly lit rooms are perfect for mingling, and the place has a good singles bar reputation.

'Round Midnight (☎ 303-442-2176; 1005 Pearl St) One of Boulder's hottest dance clubs, it spins underground dub, dance-hall and hip-hop late in a basement space right on the Pearl St Mall. There's free pool during happy hour.

SHOPPING

Boulder has the most varied shopping in the region, in the prettiest environs. Shops are either on the Pearl St Mall or surrounding streets or on the brand-new 29th St Mall, just off 28th St between Canyon and Pearl St about a mile east of the Pearl St Mall. It is a similar al fresco shopping experience, but looks decidedly generic and planned (which it was). There's also a big Cineplex theater here, and a couple of restaurants.

Momentum (☎ 303-440-7744; www.ourmomentum.com; 1625 Pearl St; 🕐 10am-6pm Tue-Sat, 11am-5pm Sun) Owned by Kevin and Jenny Napatow, an enthusiastic young couple committed to socially responsible and environmentally friendly business practices, Momentum is one of those shops that makes you feel good about spending money. It sells the kitchen sink of unique global gifts – from recycled bottlecap earrings to embroidered aprons and intricate sari blankets – all handcrafted and purchased at fair value from disadvantaged artisans all over the world. Every item purchased provides a direct economic lifeline to the artists.

Common Threads (☎ 303-449-5431; www.commonthreadsboulder.com; 2707 Spruce St) Vintage shopping at its most haute couture, this fun place is where to go for secondhand Choo's and Prada purses. Prices are higher than your run-of-the-mill shop, but clothes, shoes and bags are always in good condition, and the designer clothing is guaranteed authentic. The consignment shop itself is a pleasure to browse, with clothing organized by color and type on visually aesthetic racks, just like a big-city boutique.

GETTING THERE & AROUND

Boulder has fabulous public transportation, with services extending as far away as Denver and its airport. Ecofriendly buses are run by RTD (☎ 303-299-6000; www.rtd-denver.com) and cost $1.25 per ride. Maps are available at Boulder Station (cnr 14th & Walnut Sts). RTD buses (route B) operate between Boulder Station and Denver's Market St Bus Station ($3.50, one hour). RTD's SkyRide bus (route AB) heads to Denver International Airport ($12, 1½ hours, hourly). SuperShuttle (☎ 303-444-0808) provides hotel ($22) and door-to-door ($28) shuttle service from the airport.

Rocky Mountain National Park

Rocky Mountain National Park is a must-visit, boasting all the classic Colorado scenery that people croon over – serene blue mountain lakes and jagged snowcapped peaks, wildflowers, alpine tundra and aspen glades. It's so alluring, in fact, that more than three million visitors mosey in annually. Breathe in crisp mountain air, hike through grassy meadows, gasp at snowcapped peaks and keep an eye out for elk, bighorn sheep, moose, marmots and bear. Most visitors stay near Trail Ridge Rd (open from the last Monday in May to mid-October), which winds through spectacular alpine tundra environments. Those who prefer communing with nonhuman nature should venture on foot away from the road corridor; the reward is quiet, superlative scenery.

ORIENTATION & INFORMATION

Trail Ridge Rd (US 34) is the only east–west route through the park; the US 34 eastern approach from I-25 and Loveland follows the Big Thompson River Canyon. From Boulder, the most direct route follows US 36 through Lyons to the east entrances. Another approach from the south, mountainous Hwy 7, provides access to campsites and trailheads (including Longs Peak) on the east side of the Continental Divide. Winter closure of US 34 through the park makes access to the west side dependent on US 40 at Granby.

Two entrance stations are on the east side: at Fall River (US 36) and Beaver Meadows (US 34). The Grand Lake station (US 34) is the sole entry on the west side.

There are five visitor centers associated with Rocky Mountain National Park, although only two are actually inside the park's boundaries. All are well sign-posted. You'll find the headquarters at the Beaver Meadows Visitor Center (☎ 970-586-1206; www.nps.gov/romo; US 36; 🕒 8am-6pm Jun-Aug, 8am-5pm rest of year), on US 36 just east of the entrance.

Entry to the park (vehicles $25, hikers and cyclists $15) is valid for seven days. Backcountry permits ($25) are required for overnight trips.

ACTIVITIES

The bustling Bear Lake Trailhead offers easy hikes to several lakes and beyond. Another busy area is Glacier Gorge Junction Trailhead. The free Glacier Basin–Bear Lake shuttle services both.

Forested Fern Lake, 4 miles from the Moraine Park Trailhead, is dominated by craggy Notchtop Peak. You can complete a loop to the Bear Lake shuttle stop in about 8.5 miles for a rewarding day hike. The strenuous Flattop Mountain Trail is the only cross-park trail, linking Bear Creek on the east side with either Tonahutu Creek Trail or the North Inlet Trail on the west side.

Families might consider the moderate hikes to Calypso Cascades in the Wild Basin or to Gem Lake in the Lumpy Ridge area.

Trail Ridge Rd crosses the Continental Divide at Milner Pass (10,759ft), where trails head 4 miles (and up 2000ft!) southeast to Mt Ida, which offers fantastic views.

WORTH THE TRIP: NEW BELGIUM BREWING CO

It's worth driving 30 miles north of Boulder on I-25 – especially if you're heading to Wyoming anyway – to pay a visit to the famous New Belgium Brewing Co (☎ 800-622-4044; 500 Lined St; 🕒 guided tours 2pm & 4pm Mon-Fri, 11am-4pm Sat) in the college town of Fort Collins (home to another party-hearty college, Colorado State University). Here you can choose your own destiny with a self-guided tour and complimentary tasting of the flagship and specialty brews. Recognized as one of the world's most environmentally conscious breweries, New Belgium was the first totally wind-powered operation thanks to a 100,000-kilowatt turbine. It's best known for the Fat Tire Amber Ale, but other good brews to try are the Loft, Trippell or Sunshine Wheat.

SUMMIT THIS!

Colorado has 52 fourteeners (mountains over 14,000ft), and many residents make it a mission to summit all of them. We don't expect you to be quite so fierce, but climbing to the top of at least one should earn you some major bragging rights back home.

Longs Peak, in Rocky Mountain National Park, stands at 14,255ft and is one of Colorado's most popular climbs. There is only one nontechnical (meaning you don't need ropes and climbing experience) route to the summit, the Keyhole Route, and it usually doesn't open until July. You'll want to begin your hike around 3am so you can get off the summit by 10am, which should allow enough time to reach the bottom before afternoon thunderstorms roll in. The trailhead begins at the Longs Peak ranger station. The first 6 miles aren't difficult, but save some reserves for the final 1½ miles, which is an intense 4850ft scramble through a field of small boulders to the summit.

Do not attempt this hike if you are not used to the altitude, don't have enough water or have little hiking experience – the terrain is harsh, and you can expect sudden snowstorms in any month. That said, when it comes to trying your first fourteener, Longs Peak is a good starter mountain (it's in a national park, which means you can register with the rangers before setting out, and if you get into trouble, help comes a lot faster).

Trails on the west side of the park are quieter and less trodden than those on the east side. Try the short and easy East Inlet Trail to Adams Falls (0.3 miles) or the more moderate 3.7-mile Colorado River Trail to the Lulu City site.

Before July, many of the trails are snowbound, and high water runoff makes passage difficult. On the east side, the Bear Lake and Glacier Gorge Junction Trailheads offer good routes for cross-country skiing and snowshoeing. Backcountry skiing is also possible; check with the visitor centers.

SLEEPING & EATING

The only overnight accommodations in the park are at campgrounds; the majority of motel or hotel accommodations are around Estes Park (right) or Grand Lake (p776).

The park has five formal campgrounds. All have a seven-day limit during summer and all but Longs Peak take RVs (no hookups). Fees are $20 per site per night.

Aspenglen (54 sites) Five miles west of Estes Park on US 34.
Glacier Basin (150 sites) Seven miles west of Beaver Meadows Visitor Center.
Longs Peak (26 sites) Twelve miles south of Estes Park on Hwy 7; provides Longs Peak hikers with an early trail start.
Moraine Park (247 sites) Two-and-a-half miles from Beaver Meadows Visitor Center.
Timber Creek (100 sites) Seven miles north of Grand Lake.

When it comes time for eating, you'll need to head to Estes Park (p776) or Grand Lake (p776).

GETTING AROUND

A free shuttle bus provides frequent summer service from the Glacier Basin parking area to Bear Lake. Another shuttle operates between Moraine Park campground and the Glacier Basin parking area. Shuttles run daily from mid-June to early September, and thereafter at weekends only until mid-October.

Estes Park

The primary gateway to Rocky Mountain National Park, Estes Park has enough cheesy T-shirt shops and ice-cream parlors to prove it. In the summer season the population skyrockets, and the place is filled with camera-toting tourists and meandering elk (yes, they do just wander down the street sometimes).

Try the Estes Park Visitor Center (☎ 970-577-9900, 800-443-7837; www.estesparkresortcvb.com; 500 Big Thompson Ave; ⏰ 9am-8pm Jun-Aug, 8am-5pm Mon-Fri, 9am-5pm Sat, 10am-4pm Sun Sep-May), just east of the US 36 junction, for help with lodging; note that many places close in winter.

SLEEPING

Estes Park has dozens of hotels; we have space for only a special few. Most of the budget and midrange motels are east of town along US 34 or Hwy 7.

YMCA of the Rockies Estes Park Center (☎ 970-586-3341; www.ymcarockies.org; 2515 Tunnel Rd; r & cabins $99-229; 💻 👪) On a peaceful 860-acre plot just outside town, this is a great family choice. Accommodations are in lodge rooms sleeping up to six, or rustic multibedroom cabins (online reservations are essential for both). It also runs quality, wholesome weekend or week-long outdoor camps for families who want to teach conservation in a fun way. Check the website for specific info.

our pick Mary's Lake Lodge (☎ 970-577-9495; www.maryslakelodge.com; 2625 Marys Lake Rd; r & cabins from $140) This atmospheric old wooden lodge, perched on a ridge looking over its namesake lake, is an utterly romantic place to slumber. Built from polished pine logs, it reeks of Wild West ambience and has an amazing covered front porch with panoramic Rocky Mountain views. The rooms and cabins are a blend of modern and historic, and many of the latter have private hot tubs. Both the saloon-style Tavern (mains $7 to $20; open 11am to 11pm) and fine-dining Chalet Room (mains $12 to $20; open 5pm to 10pm) serve delicious fresh lake fish (and flown-in seafood), and have seating on the heated porch. A big hot tub under the stars, fire pit and live music five nights per week round out amenities, while an on-site spa takes care of gritty hiking feet and sore muscles. Mary's is 3 miles south of Estes Park off Hwy 7.

Stanley Hotel (☎ 970-586-4964; www.stanleyhotel.com; 333 Wonderview Ave; r from $159; ❄ 🏊) Stephen King was inspired to write The Shining after staying at this glittering-white, supposedly haunted monolith on a hill overlooking Estes. The grand dame of northern Colorado historic resort hotels, its rooms are posh modern with 42in flat-screen TVs, neutral colors and plush duvets. It also boasts mountain views, splendid dining and after-dark building ghost tours ($13). Book room 401 to increase your chances of spotting a ghost – staff consider it the 'most haunted.'

EATING

Estes Park Brewery (☎ 970-586-6409; 2470 Colorado 66; mains $7-16; 🕑 11am-late) The town's brewpub serves pizza, burgers and wings, and at least eight different house beers, in a big, boxy room, resembling a cross between a classroom and a country kitchen. Pool tables and outdoor seating keep the place rocking late into the night.

Ed's Cantina & Grill (☎ 970-586-2919; 390 E Elkhorn Ave; mains $10-25; 🕑 11am-late daily, from 8am Sat & Sun) With an outdoor patio right on the river, Ed's is a great place to kick back with a margarita and one of the daily $3 blue plate specials (think flautas with shredded pork and guacamole). Serving Mexican and American staples, the restaurant is in a retro mod space with leather booth seating and a bold primary-color scheme. The bar is in a separate room with light-wood stools featuring comfortable high backs.

GETTING THERE & AWAY

From Denver International Airport, Estes Park Shuttle (☎ 970-586-5151; www.estesparkshuttle.com) runs four times daily to Estes Park ($45, 1¾ hours).

Grand Lake

The other gateway to Rocky Mountain National Park, Grand Lake, 102 miles northwest of Denver and 33 miles from Boulder, is less chaotic than Estes Park, although it still rakes in summer tourists by the thousands. The downtown is pleasant, the namesake lake handsome. The Grand Lake Visitor Center (☎ 970-627-3402, 800-531-1019; www.grandlakechamber.com; 🕑 9am-5pm) is at the junction of US 34 and W Portal Rd.

The Arapaho National Forest, to the west of town, has some good mountain-biking trails; get a map from the Grand Lake Metro Recreation District (☎ 970-627-8328; 928 Grand Ave, Suite 204; 🕑 8am-5pm Mon-Fri). Rocky Mountain Sports (☎ 970-627-8124; 900 Grand Av) rents and sells outdoor equipment. Several Rocky Mountain National Park hiking trailheads are just outside the town limits, including those to the Tonahutu Creek Trail and the Cascade Falls/North Inlet Trail, both near Shadowcliff Lodge.

Overlooking Grand Lake, the nonprofit HI Shadowcliff Lodge (☎ 970-627-9220; www.shadowcliff.org; 405 Summerland Park Rd; dm/d/cabin $23/60/125; 🕑 25 May–30 Sep) is an ecofriendly mountain resort in a beautiful setting. Rooms and dorms are simple, but clean. Reservations are essential. A two-night minimum stay is required for rooms.

EG's Garden Grill (☎ 970-627-8404; 1000 Grand Ave; dishes $10-20; 🕑 11:30am-10pm) serves good grub from salads to seafood; its fish tacos make a very satisfying lunch.

Grand Lake is 102 miles northwest of Denver via I-70 west to I-40 west. Be careful crossing Berthoud Pass. The town is 35 miles north of Winter Park (opposite), a popular ski destination. If you don't have your own wheels, Home James Transportation Services (☎ 970-726-5060; www.homejamestransportation.com) runs door-to-door shuttles to Denver International Airport ($85, 2½ hours). Reservations are required.

Winter Park

Located less than two hours from Denver, unpretentious Winter Park is a favorite ski resort with Front Rangers, who flock here from as far as Colorado Springs to ski fresh tracks each weekend. Beginners can frolic on miles of powdery groomers while experts test their skills on Mary Jane's world-class bumps. The congenial town is a wonderful base for year-round romping. Most services are along US 40 (the main drag), including the visitor center (☎ 970-726-4118, 800-903-7275; www.winterpark-info.com; 78841 Hwy 40; 🕑 8am-5pm Mon-Fri, 9am-5pm Sat & Sun).

South of town, Winter Park Resort (☎ 970-726-5514; www.skiwinterpark.com; lift ticket adult/child $92/48) covers four mountains and has a vertical drop of more than 2600ft. It also has 45 miles of lift-accessible mountain-biking trails connecting to a 600-mile trail system running through the valley. Other fine rides in the area include the road up to Rollins Pass.

The Vintage Resort & Conference Center (☎ 970-726-8801; www.vintagehotel.com; 100 Winter Park Dr; r from $120; 🚭 ✣ 🏊) is right at the base of the mountain. Standard rooms are smallish, but have high ceilings, big windows and comfortable decor. The on-site restaurant and bar serves decent food. Service is efficient and very friendly.

Locals park their dogs out front of the funky Base Camp Bakery (☎ 970-726-5530; 78437 Hwy 40; mains $5-12), then head inside the packed little joint for delicious breakfast sandwiches, rich, creamy lattes, and healthy bison burgers or veggie sandwiches on home-baked bread. Paintings by resident artists grace the cozy stonewashed walls, and seating is at tables with benches.

Steamboat Springs

Steamboat has always been, and remains, a ranchers' town at heart. Its historic area features restaurants serving tasty, down-home American cooking, and plenty of old mountain bars where the twang of live rockabilly rattles old wood dancefloors well into the night. It doesn't have the looks of Aspen or the soul of Telluride, but what Steamboat lacks in Wild West charm, it more than compensates for in snow – and lots of it.

Steamboat Springs' two major areas are Old Town and, 5 miles south, the curving streets at Steamboat Village, centered on the ski resort. Through town, US 40 is called Lincoln Ave.

Visit the Steamboat Springs Visitor Center (☎ 970-879-0880, 877-754-2269; www.steamboat-chamber.com; 1255 S Lincoln Ave; 🕑 8am-5pm Mon-Fri, 10am-3pm Sat) to get oriented.

Steamboat is known for skiing and hot springs. To check out the town's consistently rocking powder, head to the Steamboat Ski Area (☎ 970-879-6111; www.steamboat.com; lift ticket adult/child $91/56). With a 3600ft vertical drop, it offers trails for all levels.

For something a bit warmer, try the Old Town Hot Springs (☎ 970-879-1828; www.steamboathotsprings.org; cnr 3rd St & Lincoln Ave; adult/child from $10/6.50; 🕑 5:30am-9.45pm Mon-Fri, 7am-8.45pm Sat, 8am-8.45pm Sun) smack in the center of town. Known by the Ute Indians as the 'medicine springs,' the mineral waters here are said to have special healing powers. The springs recently underwent a $5-million renovation that built a new pool, a pair of 230ft-long waterslides and, perhaps coolest of all, an aquatic climbing wall!

Steamboat's favorite hot springs are actually outside city limits. The Strawberry Park Hot Springs (☎ 970-879-0342; www.strawberryhotsprings.com; 44200 County Rd; campsites/cabins/covered wagons/cabooses $50/55/65/110; 🏊) offer great back-to-basics relaxation. Choose from covered wagons with a double mattress on the floor (quite unique) or rustic cabins. There's no electricity – but you do get gas lanterns – and you'll need your own linens. Be sure to reserve. Weekend reservations require a two-night stay.

The emphasis at Strawberry Park is really on the hot pools (admission included if you stay overnight, even for campers). There is a cool creek, waterfalls and massage therapists to tend to your whims. The sandy-bottomed, rock-lined soaking pools are fantastic on moonlit evenings; clothing is optional after dark. If you just want to soak, the springs are open daily from 10am to 10:30pm; admission is $10 for adults, $5 for children. Vehicles without 4WD are required to use chains from November to April for the 3-mile steep road up to the resort. Credit cards are not accepted for the pools; bring cash.

There are plenty of places to sleep in Steamboat itself. The elegant Hotel Bristol (☎ 970-879-3083; www.steamboathotelbristol.com; 917 Lincoln Ave; r from $89-199; 💻) has small but sophisticated Western digs, with dark-wood and brass furnishings and Pendleton wool blankets on the beds. There's a ski shuttle, a six-person indoor Jacuzzi and a cozy restaurant.

Locals flock to the Old Town Pub & Restaurant (☎ 970-879-2101; cnr 6th St & Lincoln Ave; mains $9-16; ⏰ 11am-late) for dinner and dancing. The Wild West pub – check out the bullet holes in the phone booth in the bar area – serves tasty gourmet pub fare including lots of pasta selections. It hosts live bands most weekends. Arrive after 9pm and the old wood floors will be rocking. Order a margarita; they're delish!

Harwigs/L'Apogee at 911 Lincoln Ave (☎ 970-879-1919; 911 Lincoln Ave; mains from $25; ⏰ 5-10pm) is the town's best fine-dining option, serving Asian-influenced French fare in elegant, candlelit environs.

Greyhound's US 40 service between Denver and Salt Lake City stops at the Stockbridge Center (☎ 970-870-0504; 1505 Lincoln Ave), about half a mile west of town. Steamboat Springs Transit (☎ 970-879-3717) runs free buses between Old Town and the ski resort year-round. Steamboat is 166 miles northwest of Denver via US 40.

CENTRAL MOUNTAIN REGION

Colorado's central and northern mountains are well known for their plethora of ski resorts – including world-famous Aspen and Vail, family-friendly Breckenridge and never-summer A-Basin.

Breckenridge & Around

With its 19th-century mining vibe, it is hard to resist fun-loving 'Breck' – a town as appealing to family vacationers as it is to college grads partaking in that great Colorado coming-of-age ritual affectionately called 'ski-bumming.' Breck has a reputation for partying, but boozing aside, it also makes a great base for regional explorations. Four of Colorado's best ski resorts are less than an hour's drive away.

The visitor center (☎ 970-453-6018, 888-251-2417; www.gobreck.com; 309 N Main St; ⏰ 9am-5pm) has information on accommodations.

ACTIVITIES

In winter, it's all about the snow. Breckenridge Ski Area (☎ 800-789-7669; www.breckenridge.snow.com; lift ticket adult/child $92/49) spans four mountains and features some of the best beginner and intermediate terrain in the state (the green runs are flatter than most in Colorado), as well as killer steeps and chutes for experts, and a renowned snowboard park.

North America's highest resort, Arapahoe Basin Ski Area (☎ 970-468-0718; www.arapahoebasin.com; lift ticket adult/child $65/39), about 12 miles from Breck, is smaller, less commercial and usually open until at least mid-June! Full of steeps, walls and backcountry terrain, it's a local favorite because it doesn't draw herds of package tourists. The outdoor bar is a great place to kick back with a cold microbrew, and people are always grilling burgers and socializing at impromptu tailgate parties in the parking lot (known as 'the beach').

Just because the snow melts, it doesn't mean the mountain closes. In summer the Peak 8 Fun Park (half-/full-day pass $50/65; ⏰ 9am-5pm) opens with a laundry list of made-for-thrills activities, including a big-air trampoline, climbing wall, mountain-bike park and the resort's most celebrated warm weather attraction, the SuperSlide (per ride adult/child $12/10). Here you slide down a luge-like course on a sled at exhilaration-inducing speeds. Experienced riders should try the giant slalom track. It has multiple dips built into it, allowing your sled to catch some serious big air and your stomach to seriously drop. The adrenaline rush is well worth the $12 ticket.

If you'd rather be pedaling, take the chairlift (per ride/day $15/30) to the 11,059ft summit and cruise (or fly, depending on the run) down one of the designated cycle trails. To practice tricks and catch air, stop at the mountain-bike park on the way down. Breckenridge Sports (☎ 970-496-7546; bike rental $31-51), at the bottom of Peak 8, hooks you up with full-suspension bike rentals. It also has the scoop on 200 miles of off-road trails in the area.

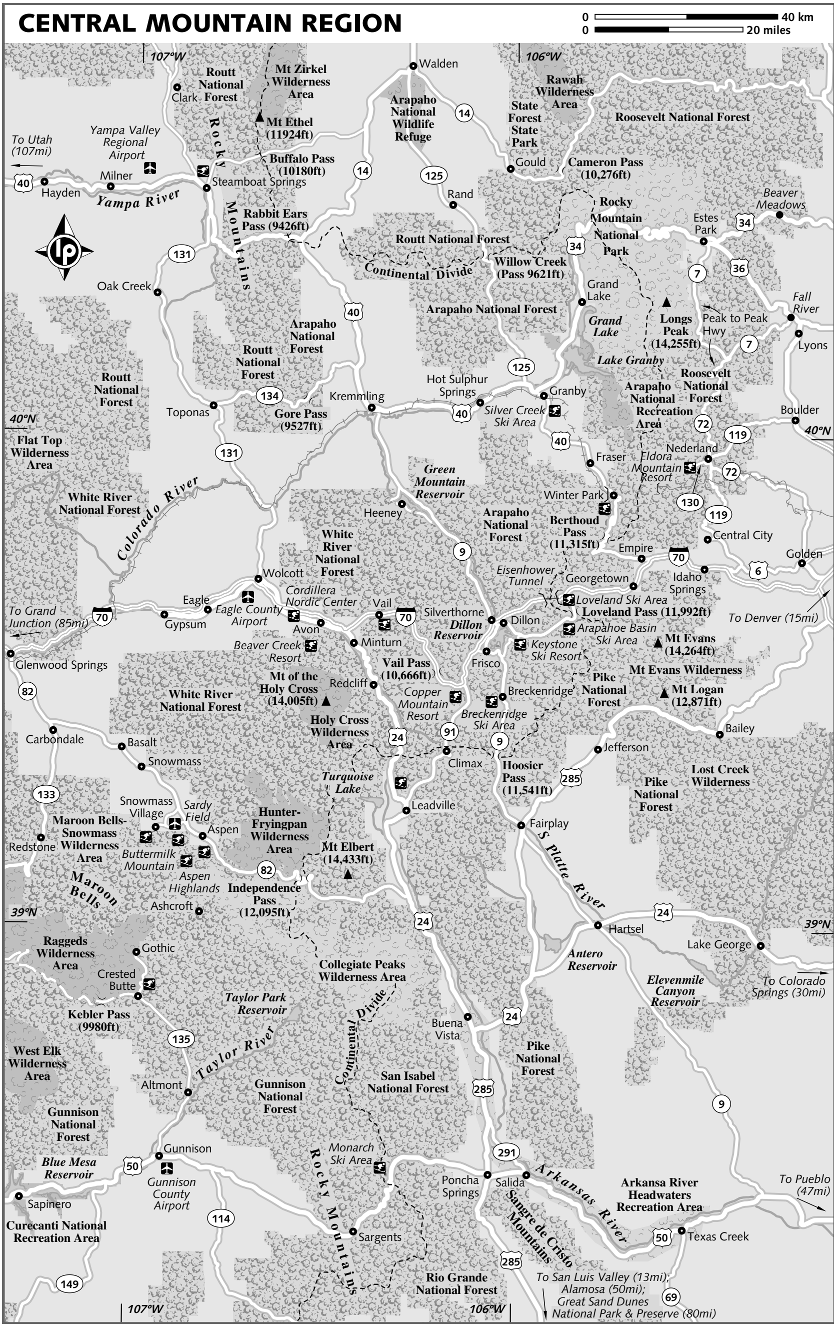
SLEEPING

Rates skyrocket the week between Christmas and New Year. Expect to pay about 25% more than what's quoted here. That's if you can get a room. Most places book out months in advance.

Fireside Inn B&B & Hostel (☎ 970-453-6456; www.firesideinn.com; 114 N French St; dm $28-38, r incl breakfast $88-160; 💻) One of the best-value places in town, this is a clean, welcoming hostel and B&B with friendly staff and a hot tub for après-ski (or slide) soaks.

Arapahoe Inn (☎ 970-513-9009; www.arapahoeinn.com; 22859 Hwy 6; r $90-150; ☒ 📶) This hotel across from Keystone Ski Resort, 10 miles north of Breck via Hwy 9, is a dependable, pet-friendly

CENTRAL MOUNTAIN REGION



0 40 km
0 20 miles
107°W
106°W
40°N
39°N
Walden
Routt National Forest
Clark
Mt Zirkel Wilderness Area
Mt Ethel (11924ft)
Arapaho National Wildlife Refuge
Rawah Wilderness Area
State Forest State Park
Roosevelt National Forest
Gould
Cameron Pass (10,276ft)
To Utah (107mi)
Yampa Valley Regional Airport
Buffalo Pass (10180ft)
Rocky Mountains
Milner
Hayden
Steamboat Springs
Yampa River
Rand
Rabbit Ears Pass (9426ft)
Rocky Mountain National Park
Beaver Meadows
Estes Park
Routt National Forest
Continental Divide
Willow Creek (Pass 9621ft)
Oak Creek
Grand Lake
Arapaho National Forest
Longs Peak (14,255ft)
Peak to Peak Hwy
Fall River
Lyons
Arapaho National Forest
Routt National Forest
Grand Lake
Lake Granby
Roosevelt National Forest
Routt National Forest
Hot Sulphur Springs
Granby
Arapaho National Recreation Area
Toponas
Kremmling
Gore Pass (9527ft)
Silver Creek Ski Area
Boulder
Flat Top Wilderness Area
Fraser
Nederland
Eldora Mountain Resort
Green Mountain Reservoir
Winter Park
White River National Forest
Colorado River
Heeney
Arapaho National Forest
Berthoud Pass (11,315ft)
Central City
White River National Forest
Empire
Golden Wolcott
Eisenhower Tunnel
Georgetown
Idaho Springs
Eagle
Cordillera Nordic Center
Vail
Loveland Ski Area
Loveland Pass (11,992ft)
To Grand Junction (85mi)
Gypsum
Eagle County Airport
Avon
Silverthorne
Dillon Reservoir
Dillon
To Denver (15mi)
Arapahoe Basin Ski Area
Beaver Creek Resort Minturn
Keystone Ski Resort
Mt Evans (14,264ft)
Glenwood Springs
Vail Pass (10,666ft)
Frisco
Mt Evans Wilderness
Mt of the Holy Cross (14,005ft)
Redcliff
Pike National Forest
White River National Forest
Copper Mountain Resort
Breckenridge
Mt Logan (12,871ft)
Breckenridge Ski Area
Holy Cross Wilderness Area
Bailey
Carbondale
Basalt Climax
Jefferson Snowmass
Hoosier Pass (11,541ft)
Turquoise Lake
Lost Creek Wilderness
Pike National Forest
Snowmass Village
Sardy Field
Leadville
Hunter-Fryingpan Wilderness Area
Maroon Bells-Snowmass Wilderness Area
Aspen
Fairplay
Redstone
Buttermilk Mountain
Mt Elbert (14,433ft)
S Platte River
Aspen Highlands
Maroon Bells
Independence Pass (12,095ft)
Ashcroft
Hartsel
Lake George
Raggeds Wilderness Area Gothic
Antero Reservoir
Collegiate Peaks Wilderness Area
Crested Butte
To Colorado Springs (30mi)
Elevenmile Canyon Reservoir
Taylor Park Reservoir
Kebler Pass (9980ft)
Buena Vista
Continental Divide
Taylor River
West Elk Wilderness Area
Pike National Forest
Altmont
Gunnison National Forest
San Isabel National Forest
Gunnison National Forest
Gunnison
Monarch Ski Area
Blue Mesa Reservoir
Gunnison County Airport
Poncha Springs
Salida
Arkansas River
Arkansa River Headwaters Recreation Area
To Pueblo (47mi)
Sapinero
Curecanti National Recreation Area
Sargents
Rocky Mountains
Sangre de Cristo Mountains
Texas Creek
Rio Grande National Forest
To San Luis Valley (13mi); Alamosa (50mi); Great Sand Dunes National Park & Preserve (80mi) 40
14
125 34 36
7
131 40
125
134 72
119
131 40
72
130
119
9 70
6 70
70
82
91 24
9
285
133
82
24
24
135
285
50 291
114
50
285
149
69
9

option. It's especially appealing if you're interested in night skiing: Keystone has it, Breck doesn't. Your lift ticket is good at both (and there's a free bus between resorts). Rooms are generic motel no-frills affairs, but come with fridges and microwaves. Plus there's a hot tub and sauna.

EATING & DRINKING

our pick Downstairs at Eric's (☎ 970-453-1401; 111 S Main St; mains from $6; 🕒 11am-10:30pm; 👶) Eric's is a Breckenridge institution. And locals flock to this basement joint with a game room for pitchers of microbrews, juicy burgers and delicious mashed potato. There are more than 120 beers to choose from.

Fatty's (☎ 970-453-9802; 106 S Ridge Rd; pizzas from $7.50; 🕒 11am-10pm) Fatty's is true to its moniker: even the 10in pizza can feed two. Known for the best pizzas in town, including one with a Sicilian-style crust, it is a local dive with a bar that gets rowdy come dark. In summer sit outside on the patio and people-watch.

Cecilia's (☎ 970-453-2243; 520 S Main St) Ski bums love to rag on Cecilia's, but that doesn't stop them from flocking to this long-established party spot nightly. There's a large dancefloor with mostly DJ-spun grooves (and occasional live acts), lots of martini choices, pool tables and even a corner couch for some quiet kissing.

GETTING THERE & AROUND

Breckenridge is 9 miles south of I-70 on Hwy 9 and about 100 miles from Denver or Colorado Springs, although the drive from the latter is infinitely more pleasurable. Following secondary highways, US 24 and Hwy 9, covers the best classic Colorado scenery. This drive takes less than two hours, and is particularly remarkable in fall (usually the last week of September to mid-October), when the aspens glow golden against mountains garnished with the season's first snow.

Colorado Mountain Express (☎ 970-926-9800; www.ridecme.com) runs shuttles between Breckenridge and Denver International Airport ($90, two hours, multiple trips daily). To get between Breckenridge, Keystone or Vail, hop on the free Summit Stages (☎ 970-668-0999) bus. It's easy to hitchhike during the ski season. While this is never entirely safe, and we can't recommend it (see p1165), most people don't have problems here.

Vail

Synonymous with swank, Vail is where the movie stars ski. A favorite winter playground for the world's rich and famous, it's not odd to see Texans in ten-gallon hats and ladies in mink coats zipping down the slopes. The glitz factor is certainly up there, but the place is more laid-back and less pretentious than Colorado's other high-octane resort, Aspen.

ORIENTATION & INFORMATION

Compact Vail Village, filled with upscale restaurants, bars and boutiques, is traffic free. Motorists must park at the Vail Transportation Center & Public Parking garage before entering the pedestrian mall area near the chairlifts. Here you will also find the Vail Visitor Center (☎ 970-479-1385; www.visitvailvalley.com; Transportation Center; 🕒 9am-5pm). Lionshead is a secondary parking lot about half a mile to the west. It has direct lift access and is usually less crowded.

ACTIVITIES

For terrain, Vail Mountain (☎ 970-476-9090; vail.snow.com; lift ticket adult/child $97/58) is our favorite in the state, with more than 5200 skiable acres, 193 trails and the highest lift-ticket prices in the country (OK, so they only out-price Aspen by $1, but still, it's the principle that counts). If you're a Colorado ski virgin, it's worth paying the extra bucks to pop your cherry here. Especially on a sunny, blue, fresh powder day. (Hint: check the parking lots to see if anyone needs a buddy to split their 2-for-1 lift ticket coupon before paying top dollar at the ticket window. You can also try King Soopers and City Market grocery stores, which often sell reduced-price tickets). Experts will go gaga over Vail's shoots, tree glades and wide-open, powdery fresh back bowls. The mountaintop Adventure Ridge (☎ 970-476-9090; 👶) has child-friendly winter and summer sports including laser tag.

The Holy Cross Wilderness Area is rich with hiking opportunities. Try the strenuous Notch Mountain Trail, which affords great views of Mt of the Holy Cross. The Half Moon Pass Trail leads up Mt of the Holy Cross.

On the south side of I-70, a paved bicycling route extends through town to the east, where it links with the 10 Mile Canyon Trail, which takes you over Vail Pass and into Frisco, the hub of Summit County bike trails. For a more challenging ride on singletrack, head up the Two Elk trail and down towards the town of Minturn. Look for the trailhead east of town near the Gore Creek Campground (see Sleeping, below).

SLEEPING

Budget is not a word in Vail's vocabulary, but visit during the off-season and you can expect rates to drop exponentially. Avoid the week between Christmas and New Year, when rooms book out months in advance and prices rise by at least 25%.

Gore Creek Campground (☎ 970-945-2521; Bighorn Rd; campsites $12; 🕒 Memorial Day–Labor Day) This primitive campground at the end of Bighorn Rd has 25 first-come, first-served tent sites with picnic tables and fire grates nestled in the woods by Gore Creek. There is excellent fishing near here. Try the Slate Creek or Deluge Lake trails; the latter leads to a fish-packed lake. The campground is 6 miles east of Vail Village via the East Vail exit off I-70.

Tivoli Lodge (☎ 970-476-5615; www.tivolilodge.com; 386 Hanson Rd; r $140-600; ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) Resembling a Swiss or Austrian castle, it's a palatial place that caters to the Euro crowd. Rooms are understated, but incredibly posh with luxurious rich-colored duvets and white walls trimmed in deep-brown wood. Visit in the off-season, when even the walk-in rate is a steal.

Vail Cascade Resort & Spa (☎ 970-476-7111; www.vailcascade.com; 1300 Westhaven Dr; r from $260; ❄ 📶 🏊 👶) An award-winning swanky property, this is the place to go for luxurious pampering. Rooms feature lots of cherrywood furnishings and marble vanities. Two movie theaters show first-run films, and a restaurant, athletics club and full spa complete the package. Rates drop dramatically in summer.

EATING & DRINKING

Joe's Famous Deli (☎ 970-479-7580; 288 Bridge St; dishes $5-8; 🕒 8am-9:30pm) A casual, counter-service joint, Joe's does a great sandwich – if you don't like one of the 20 grilled and cold varieties, create your own. Kids will delight in the ice-cream possibilities.

Sweet Basil (☎ 970-476-0125; 193 E Gore Creek Dr; lunch mains $15, dinner mains $30; 🕒 11:30am-2:30pm & 5:30pm-close) Sweet Basil is still churning out what many critics argue is the best food in the state. The menu changes seasonally, but the eclectic American fare, which usually includes favorites such as Colorado leg of lamb with white bean ratatouille, is consistently good. The ambience is also fantastic.

Tap Room & Sanctuary (☎ 970-479-0500; 333 Bridge St) A favorite stop with hipsters on the bar-hopping circuit, the Tap Room has a giant selection of beers, fabulous margaritas and a cigar lounge. Upstairs, the Sanctuary is a hot club that's popular with a fashionable, younger crowd.

GETTING THERE & AROUND

From December to early April only, the Eagle County Airport (EGE; ☎ 970-524-9490), 35 miles west of Vail, has direct jet services to destinations across the country.

Colorado Mountain Express (☎ 970-926-9800; www.cmex.com) shuttles to/from Denver International Airport ($100, three hours). Greyhound buses stop at the Vail Transportation Center (☎ 970-476-5137; 241 S Frontage Rd) en route to Denver ($30, 2¼ hours) or Grand Junction ($25, 3¼ hours).

Vail's free buses (☎ 970-477-3456; http://vailgov.com/transit) stop in West Vail, East Vail and Sandstone; most have bike racks.

Aspen

Immodestly posh Aspen is Colorado's glitziest high-octane resort, playing host to some of the wealthiest skiers in the world. The handsome, historic red-brick downtown is as alluring as the glistening slopes, but Aspen's greatest asset is its magnificent scenery. The stunning alpine environment – especially during late September and October, when the aspen trees put on a spectacular display – just adds extra sugar to an already sweet cake.

Aspen Visitor Center (☎ 970-925-1940, 800-670-0792; www.aspenchamber.org; 425 Rio Grande Pl; 🕒 8am-5pm Mon-Fri) has all the usual information.

ACTIVITIES

OK, the top winter activity is pretty much a given: snow riding, and lots of it. The Aspen Skiing Company (☎ 970-925-1220; www.aspensnowmass.com; lift ticket adult/child $96/57) operates the area's four ski resorts. Aspen (or Ajax) is an athlete's mountain, offering more than 3000ft of steep vertical drop. Aspen Highlands has outstanding extreme skiing and breathtaking views. Buttermilk Mountain provides gentle slopes for beginners and intermediate skiers. Snowmass offers mixed terrain and boasts the longest vertical drop in the USA (4400ft).

The best cross-country skiing in the area is at Ashcroft (☎ 970-925-1971), in the beautiful Castle Creek Valley, with 20 miles of groomed trails passing through a ghost town.

When the snow melts, hit the hiking trail. The fall is especially stunning for walking, when the yellow leaves of the aspen trees provide a fantastic contrast to the purple hue of the Maroon Bells mountain range. The Hunter Valley Trail leads through wildflower meadows and into the Hunter-Fryingpan Wilderness Area. Hot springs are the reward after 8.5 miles of moderate climbing on the Conundrum Creek Trail. The stunningly beautiful Maroon Bells–Snowmass Wilderness Area is another awesome area to hike.

Mountain biking is also popular, with loads of routes plying Aspen and Smuggler Mountains. The Montezuma Basin and Pearl Pass rides offer extreme bicycling experiences, well above the timberline, south of town from Castle Creek Rd. The Hub (☎ 970-925-7970; 315 E Hyman Ave) rents out bikes.

SLEEPING

Book through an online consolidator for the best deals. Avoid the week between Christmas and New Year when prices skyrocket. The USFS White River National Forest's Aspen Ranger District (☎ 970-925-3445; 806 W Hallam; 🕑 8am-4:30pm Mon-Fri winter, plus 8am-4:30pm Sat summer) operates nine campgrounds (campsites $12).

St Moritz Lodge (☎ 970-925-3220; www.stmoritzlodge.com; 334 W Hyman Ave; dm $36-43, r incl breakfast $80-182; 💻 🏊) Yes, it's a lot of cash to pay for a dorm room, but then again it's Aspen, and everything is inflated here. That understood, St Moritz is the best no-frills deal in town. The European-style lodge offers a wide variety of options, from quiet dorms to two-bedroom condos. A continental breakfast is included, and the pool and steam-room are open to all guests. The cheapest rooms share baths.

our pick Annabelle Inn (☎ 970-925-3822; www.annabelleinn.com; 232 W Main St; r incl breakfast from $210; 💻 📶) Personable and unpretentious, the newly renovated Annabelle Inn resembles an old-school European-style ski lodge in a central location. Rooms are cozy without being too cute and come with flat-screen TVs and warm duvets. We dug the after-dark ski video screenings from the upper-deck hot tub (one of two on the property).

Little Nell (☎ 970-920-4200; www.thelittlenell.com; 675 E Durant Ave; r from $285; 🐾 🏊) Beautiful and relaxing, Little Nell exudes elegant European ambience. Gas-burning fireplaces, high-thread-count linens and rich color schemes make up the bedroom decor. The Greenhouse Bar is perfect for some après-ski unwinding.

EATING & DRINKING

Main St Bakery (☎ 970-925-6446; 201 E Main St; mains $6-10; 🕑 7am-3pm) It's a hit, especially at breakfast time, for its gamut of sweet and savory goods – from granola and pancakes to chicken pot pie – in its convivial room and outdoor patio.

J-Bar (☎ 877-412-7725; 330 E Main St; mains $8-15; 🕑 11:30am-1am) Aspen's premier saloon since 1889, the J-Bar, inside the Jerome Hotel, is full of historic charm and packed with everyone from local shopkeepers to Hollywood stars. Order the signature cocktail, the Aspen Crud, if you're in the mood for something sweet. It's a delicious blend of bourbon and ice cream! The tarter J-Rita is equally delicious. The menu features gourmet American pub fare that's nearly as tasty as the drinks.

Woody Creek Tavern (☎ 970-923-4285; 2 Woody Creek Plaza; mains $11-20; 🕑 5-11pm) Enjoying a 100% agave tequila and fresh-lime margarita at the late, great gonzo journalist Hunter S Thompson's favorite watering hole is well worth the 8-mile trek from Aspen. The walls at this rustic funky tavern, a local haunt for decades now, are plastered with newspaper clippings and paraphernalia (mostly dedicated to Thompson). The menu features organic salads, low-fat but still juicy burgers and plenty of alcohol.

our pick Jimmy's (☎ 970-925-6020; 205 S Mill St; mains $15-50; 🕑 11:30am-10pm) Jimmy's is a tequila-, crab- and steakhouse with attitude that attracts a very A-list crowd. Settle into a booth and check out the writing on the wall in the main dining room. No, we're not being cryptic: Jimmy's idea of decorating is covering the walls with guest graffiti. Bring a pen. You're paying a king's ransom to dine with the rich and famous, so you may as well leave your mark! A cheaper menu and 105 types of tequila and mescal are served in the perpetually packed bar. Thursday nights are devoted to the crab – with king crab legs going for just $12.50.

Double Diamond (☎ 970-920-6905; 450 S Galena St; admission from $5) When live-music acts – from rock and blues to salsa and reggae – come to town, they rock this spacious club. It's seen George Clinton, G-Love and many others. Shows get started around 10pm.

GETTING THERE & AROUND

Four miles north of Aspen on Hwy 82, Sardy Field (ASE; ☎ 970-920-5380) has commuter flights from Denver, and nonstops to Phoenix, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Minneapolis and Memphis. Colorado Mountain Express (☎ 970-947-0506; www.cmex.com) runs frequent shuttles to/from Denver International Airport ($100, three hours).

Roaring Fork Transit Agency (☎ 970-920-1905; www.rfta.com) buses connect Aspen with the ski areas.

Buena Vista & Salida

Buena Vista and Salida won't stick in your mind after you leave, but shooting the Arkansas River's rapids or soaking in hot springs under the stars sure will.

For rafting, stop by Wilderness Aware Rafting (☎ 719-395-2112; www.inaraft.com; trips $50-115). You'll want to run Brown's Canyon (Class III to IV), the Narrows (III to IV) or the Numbers (IV to V), and the earlier in the season the better (try for late April or early May, when the river is bloated with snow runoff and the rapids are much more intense). The company is located at the junction of Hwys 285 and 24 at Johnson Village, 2 miles south of Buena Vista.

After a day on the river, forget the soreness with a soak at Cottonwood Hot Springs Inn & Spa (☎ 719-395-6434; www.cottonwood-hot-springs.com; 18999 County Rd 306; admission $1). The five pools are rustic with fantastic views (the stars can be amazing). The hot springs are about 6 miles south of Buena Vista. You can spend the night in one of the simple dorms ($35), rooms (from $97) or cabins (from $165) – the latter come with a private soaking pool. Even campsite rates ($35) include use of the public pools. The cabins are pet-friendly for an extra $10 to $15 per night, depending on dog size.

You'll need a car to get to this area south of Leadville on US 24.

Crested Butte

Remote and beautiful, Crested Butte feels real. Despite being one of Colorado's best ski resorts (some say the best), it doesn't put on airs. There's nothing haughty, or even glossy, about the town – just lovely fresh mountain air, a laid-back attitude and friendly folk.

Most everything in town is on Elk Ave, including the visitor center (☎ 970-349-6438; www.crestedbuttechamber.com; 601 Elk Ave; 🕘 9am-5pm).

Crested Butte Mountain Resort (☎ 970-349-2222; www.skicb.com; lift ticket adult/child $82/41) sits 2 miles north of the town at the base of the impressive mountain of the same name. Surrounded by forests, rugged mountain peaks, and the West Elk, Raggeds and Maroon Bells–Snowmass Wilderness Areas, the scenery is wet-your-pants beautiful. It caters mostly to intermediate and expert riders.

Crested Butte is also a mountain-biking mecca, full of excellent high-altitude singletrack trails. For maps, information and mountain-bike rentals, visit the Alpineer (☎ 970-349-5210; 419 6th St).

If you are looking for the privacy of a hotel with the lively ambience of a hostel, then grab a room at the newly renovated Crested Butte International Hostel (☎ 970-349-0588; www.crestedbuttehostel.com; 615 Teocalli Ave; dm $25-31, r $65-99; 💻), one of Colorado's nicest. The best private rooms have their own baths. Dorm bunks come with reading lamps and lockable drawers. The communal area is mountain rustic with a stone fireplace and comfortable couches. Rates vary dramatically by season, with fall being cheapest.

The Timberline Restaurant (☎ 970-349-9831; cnr Second St & Elk Ave; pizzas $12-25; 🕘 5:30-10pm; 👪) was popular in the Butte before Heidi Montag and MTV's cameras made it famous. Owned and run by Montag's mother and stepfather, the family bistro serves a seasonal mostly American and Italian menu – think double-cut pork chops and BBQ frites or shrimp, basil pesto and tomato linguini.

Crested Butte has an interesting music scene year-round. Check out the lively Eldo (☎ 970-349-6125; 215 Elk Ave), one of the town's most popular microbreweries, which doubles as the club where most out-of-town bands play. Check out the great outdoor deck.

Crested Butte's air link to the outside world is Gunnison County Airport (☎ 970-641-2304), 28 miles south of the town. Alpine Express (☎ 970-641-5074) meets all commercial flights in winter, but requires reservations in summer. The fare to Crested Butte is $25.

The free Mountain Express (☎ 970-349-7318) connects Crested Butte with Mt Crested Butte every 15 minutes in winter, less often in other seasons; check times at bus stops.

SOUTHERN COLORADO

Home to the dramatic San Juan and Sangre de Cristo mountain ranges, Colorado's bottom half is just as pretty as her top and is filled with stuff to see and do.

Great Sand Dunes National Park

Landscapes collide in a shifting sea of sand at Great Sand Dunes National Park (☎ 719-378-2312; www.nps.gov/grsa; 11999 Hwy 150; admission $3; 🕑 visitor center 9am-5pm), making you wonder whether a spaceship has whisked you to another planet. The 30-sq-mile dune park – the tallest sand peak rises 700ft above the valley floor – is squeezed between the jagged 14,000ft peaks of the Sangre de Cristo and San Juan Mountains and flat, arid scrub-brush of the San Luis Valley.

Plan a visit to this excellent-value national park (at just $3, admission is a steal) around a full moon. Stock up on supplies, stop by the visitor center for your free backcountry camping permit and hike into the surreal landscape to set up camp in the middle of nowhere. You won't be disappointed.

There are numerous hiking trails, or the more adventuresome can try sandboarding (where you ride a snowboard down the dunes). You'll need your own equipment, but Colorado is jam-packed with snowboard rental shops. Spring is the best time for boarding, when the dunes are at their most moist. For the slickest boarding, arrive a few hours after it rains – when the dunes are wet underneath, but dry on top. Try riding down Star Dune, roughly 750ft high. It's a strenuous 3-mile hike from the Dunes parking lot. The High Dune, about 650ft tall, is another option. Be sure to bring lots of water. Walking in loose sand is difficult, and summer temperatures on the dunes can exceed 130°F (54°C).

There is a campground (campsites $12) in the preserve. Otherwise, just south of the entrance you'll find tent and RV sites at the Great Sand Dunes Oasis (☎ 719-378-2222; 5400 Hwy 150; tent/RV sites $18/28, cabin r $50, motel r $90; 🕑 May-Oct) along with super rustic camper cabins and slightly more upscale motel rooms with queen beds and cable TV. A restaurant and grocery store are also on-site. Horseback riding can be arranged.

The national park is about 35 miles northeast of Alamosa and 250 miles south of Denver. From Denver, take I-25 south to Hwy 160 west and turn onto Hwy 150 north. There is no public transportation.

Durango

The darling of this region, Durango is nothing short of delightful. It's an archetypal old mining town, filled with graceful hotels, Victorian-era saloons and mountains dominating the periphery as far as the eye can see. As you walk aroundit , Durango seems frozen in the century before last – just look at the waitress, dressed straight out of the late 1800s, slinging drinks at the scarred old saloon, or the musician pounding ragtime on worn ivory at an antique-laden Wild West inn with swinging wood doors.

If the town's yesteryear charm doesn't whet your appetite, dipping into Durango's goody bag of adventures is guaranteed to get the glands salivating. Meander through the historic district and listen for a shrill whistle, then watch the steam billow as the old train pulls in. Rent a bicycle and explore the trails, or get out the skis and head up the road for mile upon mile of powdery white bowls and tree-lined glades.

ORIENTATION & INFORMATION

Most visitor facilities are along Main Ave, including the 1882 Durango & Silverton Narrow Gauge Railroad Depot (at the south end of town). Motels are mostly north of the town center.

The visitor center (☎ 800-525-8855; www.durango.org; 111 S Camino del Rio) is south of town at the Santa Rita exit from US 550.

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

Riding the steam-drive choo-choo down the Durango & Silverton Narrow Gauge Railroad (☎ 970-247-2733, 888-872-4607; www.durangotrain.com; adult/child $75/45; 🚸) is a Durango must. These vintage locomotives have been making the scenic 45-mile trip north to Silverton (3½ hours each way) for more than 125 years. The dazzling journey allows two hours for exploring Silverton. This trip operates only from May through October. Check online for different winter options.

Durango Mountain Resort (☎ 970-247-9000; www.durangomountainresort.com; lift ticket adult/child$72/44), 25 miles north on US 550, is Durango's winter highlight. The resort, also known as Purgatory, offers 1200 skiable acres of varying difficulty and boasts 260in of snow per year. Two terrain parks offer plenty of opportunities for snowboarders to catch big air. Check local grocery stores and newspapers for promotions and 2-for-1 lift tickets and other promotional ski season specials before purchasing directly from the ticket window.

If winter is about the snow, summer is all about the bikes. From steep single-track to scenic road rides, Durango has hundreds of exhilarating mountain biking trails to choose from. Some are well advertised, others locals like to keep secret (much in the manner of surf spots), and you'll have to do a bit of snooping if you want to hit pay dirt. For an easy ride try the Old Railroad Grade Trail, a 12.2-mile loop that uses both US Hwy 160 and a dirt road following the old railway tracks. From Durango take Hwy 160 west through the town of Hesperus. Turn right into the Cherry Creek Picnic Area, where the trail starts. For something a bit more technical, try Dry Fork Loop, accessible from Lightner Creek just west of town. It has some great drops, blind corners and vegetation. There are quite a few sports shops on Main Ave that rent out mountain bikes.

SLEEPING

Durango's best sleeping deals are found at the independent motels just north of town on Hwy 550 (Main Ave), with the greatest concentration between 18th and 32nd Sts. Rooms go for around $40 in winter, and $65 in summer.

Day's End (☎ 970-259-3311; www.daysenddurango.com; 2202 N Main Ave; r from $42; 📶 🐾) The best budget bet, it's on a small creek just north of town. Rooms are well maintained and many have king-size beds. In winter, it offers discounts for skiing at Purgatory. There's an indoor hot tub and BBQ grill by the creek. Pets are welcome.

General Palmer Hotel (☎ 970-247-4747; www.generalpalmer.com; 567 Main Ave; r from $110; ⁙) A Victorian landmark from 1898, the hotel features pewter four-poster beds, quality linens and even a teddy bear for snuggling. Rooms are small but elegant, and if you tire of TV there's a collection of board games at the front desk. Check out the cozy library or the relaxing solarium.

Rochester House (☎ 970-385-1920; www.rochesterhotel.com; 721 E 2nd Ave; r $120-180; ⁙ 📶) Influenced by old Westerns (movie posters and marquee lights adorn the hallways), the Rochester is a little bit of old Hollywood in the New West. Rooms are spacious with high ceilings. Two formal sitting rooms where you're served cookies, and a breakfast room in an old train car are other perks at this pet-friendly establishment.

our pick Strater Hotel (☎ 970-247-4431; www.strater.com; 699 Main St; r $200; ⁙) The interior of this lovely, old-world hotel is museum worthy – check out the Stradivarius violin or the gold-plated commemorative Winchester in the lobby. Romantic rooms feature antiques, crystal and lace. Beds are heavenly and comfortable with impeccable linens. The hot tub is a major romantic plus – it can be reserved by the hour – as is the summertime melodrama (theater) the hotel runs. In winter, rates drop by more than 50%, making it a virtual steal. Look online.

EATING & DRINKING

From the budget diner to the top-end steakhouse to mouthwatering microbreweries, Durango offers a surprisingly diverse collection of restaurants for a town its size.

Steamworks (☎ 970-259-9200; 801 E 2nd Ave; mains $10-15; 🕒 11am-late) Industrial meets ski lodge at this popular microbrewery, with high sloping rafters and metal pipes. There's a large bar area, as well as a separate dining room with a Cajun-influenced menu. At night there are DJs and live bands.

Ore House (☎ 970-247-5707; 147 E College Dr; dishes $20-30; 🕒 5-10pm; ☒) The best steakhouse in town, with food served in casual and rustic environs. Order a hand-cut aged steak, or try the steak, crab leg and lobster combo known as the Ore House Grubsteak ($40). It's easily big enough for two people. There's also a large wine cellar.

Ska Brewing Company (☎ 970-247-5792; 545 Turner Dr) Big on flavor and variety, these are the best beers in town. Although the small, friendly tasting-room bar was once mainly a production facility, over the years it's steadily climbed in the popularity charts. Today it is usually jam-packed with friends meeting for an after-work beer. Despite the hype, the place remains surprisingly laid-back and relaxed. Ska does weekly BBQs with live music and free food. Call for dates – they are never fixed.

Diamond Belle Saloon (☎ 970-376-7150; 699 Main Ave) An elegant and cozy period place right down to the waitress dressed in Victorian-era fishnets and garter with a feather in her hair.

The piano player pumps out ragtime tunes and takes requests. There are half-price appetizers and drink specials from 4pm to 6pm.

Lady Falconburgh's (☎ 970-582-9664; 640 Main Ave) With the largest selection of microbrews and imports in the Four Corners region, it's no secret that this place is popular. There's a brick and brass theme with original murals on the walls and more than 100 beers on offer – 38 of which are on tap.

GETTING THERE & AROUND

Durango–La Plata County Airport (DRO; ☎ 970-247-8143) is 18 miles southwest of Durango via US 160 and Hwy 172. Greyhound buses run daily from the Durango Bus Center (☎ 970-259-2755; 275 E 8th Ave), north to Grand Junction and south to Albuquerque, NM.

Durango is at the junction of US 160 and US 550, 42 miles east of Cortez, 49 miles west of Pagosa Springs and 190 miles north of Albuquerque.

Silverton

A dozen odd years ago, when the last mine shut down, it seemed that Silverton was destined to fade into historical obscurity. And for a while it did: tourists riding the Durango & Silverton Narrow Gauge Railroad were greeted with long-abandoned storefronts and shabby restaurants. You'd hardly believe that ghost town is the Silverton of today. Whether you're into snowmobiling, mountain biking, fly-fishing or just basking in sunshine, this boom-bust-boom town produces.

Silverton is a two-street city, and only one, Greene St, is paved. On it you'll find most of the town's businesses. Unpaved Blair St runs parallel to Greene and is a blast from the past. During the silver rush, Blair St was considered 'notorious' and home to thriving brothel and boozing establishments.

In summer most people rent jeeps to explore the fabulous 4WD trails in the region (see the boxed text, opposite). Try the Red Mountain Motel & RV Park (☎ 970-382-5512; www.redmtnmotelrvpk.com; 664 Greene St; cabins from $65, r $75), which rents out jeeps for $140 per day. This pet-friendly place stays open year-round, and runs snowmobile tours in the winter. The micro log cabins (they really are tiny, especially if you try to sleep four) stay warm and cozy and make good use of their limited space – ours came with a double bed, a bunk, tiny TV with HBO and even a fully outfitted little kitchenette. The river, with good fishing, is just a few minutes' walk away.

To start the day with a morning latte and a breakfast burrito, visit Mobius Cycles & Café (☎ 970-387-0770; 1321 Greene St; coffees & mains $3-5; ⏰ 8am-5pm; 📶), which does the best espresso drinks in town– try the frozen ones. Ask the proprietor, a young man named Winston Churchill, about the best mountain biking in the area. He also does bicycle repairs.

Right next door to Mobius Cycles & Café, the Pride of the West (☎ 970-387-5150; 1323 Greene St) is Silverton's best bar. A gigantic creaking no-frills place, it is the kind of spot where locals gather late into the night, shooting the shit at the long bar, or playing a game of pool upstairs.

Silverton is 50 miles north of Durango and 24 miles south of Ouray off US 550.

Ouray

No matter how many times you visit, Ouray's views slam you in the face every time. Sandwiched between imposing peaks, tiny Ouray just might be that little bit of paradise John Denver waxes lyrical about in 'Rocky Mountain High.' Here the mountains don't just tower over you, they actually embrace you – the peaks leave barely quarter of a mile of valley floor in town!

The visitor center (☎ 970-325-4746, 800-228-1876; www.ouraycolorado.com; 1220 Main St; ⏰ 9am-5pm) is at the hot-springs pool.

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

Ouray's stunning scenery isn't the only ace up the town's sleeve. For a healing soak, try the Ouray Hot Springs (☎ 970-325-4638; 1220 Main St; admission $9; ⏰ 10am-10pm Jun-Aug, call for hours rest of year). The crystal-clear natural springwater is free of the sulphur smells plaguing other hot springs around here, and the giant pool features a variety of soaking areas at temperatures from 96°F (36°C) to 106°F (41°C). It is definitely one of the nicest public mineral springs that you will find in the region.

Climbing the face of a frozen waterfall can be a sublime experience. Head to the Ouray Ice Park (☎ 970-325-4061; www.ourayicepark.com; admission free; ⏰ 7am-5pm mid-Dec–Mar) to try it yourself. This park spans a 2-mile stretch of the Uncompagre Gorge that has been dedicated to public ice climbing. The park is the world's first, and draws enthusiasts from around the globe to try their hand on climbs for all skill

SCENIC DRIVE: THE MILLION DOLLAR HIGHWAY & OVERTON PASS 4WD DRIVE ROUTE

To really get a feel for the rugged majesty of this region – we would argue it's one of the state's most dramatic areas – take a drive from Ouray to Telluride. Fall, when the aspen trees turn the mountainsides into yellow seas, is particularly brilliant.

The following drive starts in Ouray, loops through Silverton and ends in Telluride. If you have at least a Subaru (keep reading and you'll understand) you can make the entire journey in summer, but know that Overton Pass is not paved and is considered a 4WD route.

If you don't feel comfortable, or don't have the right vehicle, it is still worth driving the Million Dollar Hwy (US 550) between Ouray and Silverton (the pass is paved and open all year). This 24-mile stretch of pavement gets its name because the roadbed fill contains valuable ore.

The road is only a silver lining in this golden cloud. This is easily one of the most spectacular drives in America, and would qualify as heaven in John Denver's book. The road clings to the side of the crumbly mountains, passing old minehead frames and big alpine scenery. At some points, in fact, the jagged peaks seem close enough to snatch you.

Five miles south of Ouray town limits, on the way to Silverton, you'll pass the Alpine Loop Backcountry Byway (www.co.blm.gov/gra). If you have a properly equipped vehicle, it's definitely worth detouring to ride at least a portion of this classic 4WD trail. The path leads through ghost towns such as Animas Forks, forgotten stagecoach stops and trails to five fourteeners. It's worth stopping at the trailhead, regardless of your vehicle, to snap a picture. Canyons are juxtaposed against mountains that remain snowcapped even in July.

Spend a night in Silverton and then get an early start on Overton Pass to Telluride. Silverton local Doug Wall says they call it 'Subaru Pass' because 'going from Silverton to Ouray in the summer you can get by in a Subaru. Coming back's a bit more technical, but it's a beautiful drive.'

It sure is. If you're into exhilarating 4WD tracks, this is arguably one of the best (and certainly the most famous) in the state. It's especially appealing because it doesn't require super expertise, and relative beginners can conquer it when starting in Silverton.

The pass is open in summer only.

levels. For information on its festival, see below. San Juan Mountain Guides (☎ 970-325-4925; www.ourayclimbing.com; 2-day courses from $320) offers a weekend two-day introduction course. All equipment is included, but check out the website for dates.

FESTIVALS & EVENTS

The Ouray Ice Festival (☎ 970-325-4288; www.ourayicefestival.com) features four days of climbing competitions, dinners, slide shows and clinics in January. You can watch the competitions for free, but to check out the various evening events you will need to make a $15 donation to the ice park. Once inside you'll get free brews from popular Colorado microbrewer New Belgium.

SLEEPING & EATING

Some of Ouray's lodges are destinations in themselves.

Box Canyon Lodge & Hot Springs (☎ 970-325-4981; www.boxcanyonouray.com; 45 3rd Ave; r from $80) Spacious and accommodating geothermal-heated rooms. The real treat here is four wooden springs-fed hot tubs perfect for a romantic stargazing soak.

Beaumont Hotel (☎ 970-325-7000; www.beaumonthotel.com; 505 Main St; r $180-350) Ouray's classiest lodging option, this small hotel offers 12 rooms elegantly appointed with period furnishings. Established in 1886, the hotel was closed for more than 30 years before undergoing extensive renovations and reopening in 2002. It also boasts a spa and three unique boutiques.

Silver Nugget Café (☎ 970-325-4100; 746 Main St; dishes $7-20; 🕓 8am-9pm) A busy, contemporary eatery in a historic building, Silver Nugget features a very large breakfast menu as well as deli-style sandwiches at lunch. Dinner offerings include deep-fried Rocky Mountain rainbow trout, and liver and onions.

Tundra Restaurant at the Beaumont (☎ 970-325-7040; 505 Main St; dishes from $20; 🕓 5-10pm) This elegant restaurant has won several awards for its wine cellar and does Thursday-evening tastings. Billing itself as serving 'High Altitude' cuisine, it focuses on regional specialties with great results.

GETTING THERE & AROUND

Ouray is 24 miles north of Silverton along US 550 and best reached by private vehicle.

Telluride

It's hard not to dig Telluride. Once an old Ute hunting ground and then a saloon-swinging mining town, Telluride offers great skiing, mountain biking and festivals. She's a good-looking babe – an archetypical Wild West mountain village with a well-preserved Victorian downtown, laid-back residents and fabulous mountain views.

Colorado Ave, also known as Main St, is where you'll find most businesses. From downtown you can reach the ski mountain via two lifts and the gondola. The latter also links Telluride with Mountain Village, the true base for the Telluride Ski Area. Located 7 miles from town along Hwy 145, Mountain Village is a 20-minute drive east, but only 12 minutes away by gondola (free for foot passengers). Check with the visitor center (☎ 970-728-3041, 888-353-5473; www.telluride.com; 398 W Colorado Ave; 🕑 9am-5pm) for area info.

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

Covering three distinct areas, Telluride Ski Resort (☎ 970-728-6900; www.tellurideskiresort.com; lift ticket adult/child$76/43) is served by 16 lifts. Much of the terrain is for advanced and intermediate skiers, but there's still ample choice for beginners.

Experienced cross-country skiers will appreciate the San Juan Hut Systems' (☎ 970-626-3033; www.sanjuanhuts.com; huts per night $25) series of crude huts along a 206-mile route stretching from Telluride west to Moab, UT. In summer these huts, equipped with bunks and cooking facilities, are popular with mountain bikers. Book well in advance, as huts fill quickly.

While on the subject, mountain biking is big news in Telluride. The surrounding peaks offer awesome single-track routes and, of course, stupendous scenery. Beginners should try the easy and smooth gravel River Trail that connects Town Park with Hwy 145 for a total trail distance of about 2 miles. If you want a bit more of a workout, continue up Mill Creek Trail, west of the Texaco gas station near where the River Trail ends. After the initial climb, the trail follows the contour of the mountain and ends at the Jud Wiebe Trail (hikers only), where you'll have to turn back. To rent some gear, visit Easy Rider Mountain Sports (☎ 970-728-4734; 101 W Colorado Ave), which has a variety of bikes to choose from, as well as maps and information.

Hiking is also popular. The Bear Creek Trail is slightly more than 2 miles and ascends 1040ft to a beautiful cascading waterfall. From here you can access the strenuous Wasatch Trail, a 12-mile loop that heads west across the mountains to Bridal Veil Falls – Telluride's most impressive waterfalls. The Bear Creek trailhead is at the south end of Pine St, across the San Miguel River.

FESTIVALS & EVENTS

Telluride has two giant festivals each year:

Telluride Bluegrass Festival (☎ 800-624-2422; www.planetbluegrass.com; 4-day pass $175) Held in late June, this festival attracts thousands for a weekend of top-notch rollicking alfresco bluegrass. Stalls sell all sorts of food and local microbrews to keep you happy, and acts continue well into the night. Camping out for the four-day festival is very popular. Check out the website for info on sites, shuttle service and combo ticket-and-camping packages – it's all very organized!

Telluride Film Festival (☎ 603-433-9202; www.telluridefilmfestival.com; admission $20-650) Held in early September. National and international films are premiered throughout town, and the event attracts big-name stars. For more information on the relatively complicated pricing scheme, visit the film festival website.

SLEEPING

Telluride's lodgings can fill quickly, and for the best rates it's best to book online. Unless you're planning to camp, however, don't expect much in the budget category. Telluride's activities and festivals keep it busy year-round.

Telluride Town Park Campground (☎ 970-728-2173; 500 W Colorado Ave; campsites $10; 🕑 mid-May–mid-Sep) Right in the center of town, it has 20 sites with shower access ($1.50 for a hot shower). It fills up quickly in the high season. There are many other campgrounds within 10 miles of town; check with the visitor center for more info.

Victorian Inn (☎ 970-728-6601; www.tellurideinn.com; 401 W Pacific Ave; r from $99; 📶 👪) One of Telluride's better deals, it offers comfortable rooms (some with kitchenettes) and a hot tub and dry sauna, and best off all, fantastic lift ticket deals for guests. Kids 12 and under stay free, and you can't beat the downtown location.

Hotel Columbia (☎ 970-728-0660; www.columbiatelluride.com; 300 San Juan Ave; r from $145; ❄) Each room at this charismatic place has a balcony, fireplace and a mountain view. Baths are larger than average, and breakfast is included. Other highlights include a rooftop hot tub and fitness room. The hotel is right across the street from the gondola and it's pet-friendly.

EATING & DRINKING

Telluride's main street (Colorado Ave) is packed with bars and eateries.

Baked in Telluride (☎ 970-728-4775; 127 S Fir St; mains $6-10; 🕒 5:30am-10pm) It has become a Telluride institution over the last 25 years, and this is where everyone now heads for a fill-up on pizza, sandwiches, salads and calzones. The front deck is where to sit if you're looking to see or be seen; the atmosphere is more than casual.

Excelsior Cafe (☎ 970-728-4250; 200 W Colorado Ave; mains $16-40; 🕒 5-10pm) One of Telluride's hottest restaurants, Excelsior gets rave reviews for its Parisian café meets jazzy wine bar vibe. The menu features a little bit of everything, from Moroccan lamb chops to Montana buffalo short ribs. If you are short on cash, order from the less expensive, but equally tantalizing, bar menu.

Cosmopolitan (☎ 970-728-0660; www.columbiatelluride.com; 300 San Juan Ave; mains from $20) The on-site restaurant at the Hotel Columbia is one of Telluride's most respected for fine modern dining with a twist – can you resist Himalayan yak rib-eye or lobster corn dogs?

Smugglers Brewpub & Grille (☎ 970-728-0919; 225 South Pine St; 🕒 11am-late) Beer-lovers will feel right at home at casual Smugglers, a great place to hang out in any season. With at least seven beers on tap, this brewpub is big on variety. Try the chocolaty Two Plank Porter or the Smugglers' Scottish Strong Ale. The menu of American pub fare (mains $5 to $10) features burgers, fries, salads and sandwiches.

Fly Me to the Moon Saloon (☎ 970-728-6666; 132 E Colorado Ave) Let your hair down and kick up your heels to the tunes of live bands at this saloon, the best place in Telluride to groove.

GETTING THERE & AROUND

Commuter aircraft serve the mesa-top Telluride Airport (TEX; ☎ 970-778-5051; www.tellurideairport.com), 5 miles east of town – weather permitting. At other times, planes fly into Montrose, 65 miles north. Telluride Express (☎ 970-728-6000; www.tellurideexpress.com) runs shuttles to Montrose airport (adult/child $42/20); call to arrange pickup.

Mesa Verde National Park

Shrouded in mystery, Mesa Verde is a fascinating, if slightly eerie, national park to explore. It is here that a civilization of Ancestral Pueblo Indians appears to have vanished in AD 1300, leaving behind a complex civilization of cliff dwellings. Mesa Verde is unique among parks for its focus on preserving this civilization's cultural relics so that future generations may continue to interpret the puzzling settlement, and subsequent abandonment, of the area.

Mesa Verde rewards travelers who set aside a day or more to take the ranger-led tours of Cliff Palace and Balcony House, explore Wetherill Mesa or participate in one of the campfire programs. But if you only have time for a short visit, check out the Chapin Mesa Museum and walk through the Spruce Tree House, where you can climb down a wooden ladder into the cool chamber of a kiva.

The park entrance is off US 160, midway between Cortez and Mancos. From the entrance it is 21 miles to the park headquarters (☎ 970-529-4461; www.nps.gov/meve; 7-day park entry per vehicle $10, bicyclists, hikers & motorcyclists $5), which has road information and the word on park closures (many areas are closed in winter).

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

The Chapin Mesa Museum (☎ 970-529-4631; admission free; 🕒 8am-6:30pm, 8am-5pm winter) is near the park headquarters. Along the way are panoramic Park Point (10 miles from the entrance) and the Far View Visitor Center (☎ 970-529-5034; 🕒 8am-5pm), 15 miles from the entrance, where visitors must buy tickets ($2.50) for tours of the magnificent Cliff Palace or Balcony House.

The largest concentration of Ancestral Puebloan sites is at Chapin Mesa, where you'll see the densely clustered Far View Site and the large Spruce Tree House. At Wetherill Mesa, the second-largest concentration, visitors may enter stabilized surface sites and two cliff dwellings, including the Long House, open from late May through August. South from Park Headquarters, the 6-mile Mesa Top Road connects excavated mesa-top sites, accessible cliff dwellings and vantages of inaccessible dwellings from the mesa rim.

The park concessionaire, Aramark Mesa Verde (☎ 970-529-4421; www.visitmesaverde.com; adult/child from $36/25), offers guided tours to excavated pit homes, cliff dwellings and the Spruce Tree House daily from May to mid-October.

SLEEPING & EATING

The nearby towns of Cortez and Mancos have plenty of midrange places to stay; inside the park there's camping and a lodge.

Morefield Campground (☎ 970-529-4421; campsites $20, canvas tents from $40; ⏰ May–mid-Oct; 👪) Gourmet campers will dig the big canvas tents kitted out with two cots and a lantern here. The park's camping option, located 4 miles from the entrance gate, also has 445 regular tent sites on grassy grounds conveniently located near Morefield Village, which has a general store, gas station, restaurant, showers and laundry. Free evening campfire programs take place nightly from Memorial Day (May) to Labor Day (September) at the Morefield Campground Amphitheater.

Far View Lodge (☎ 970-529-4421; r $100; ⏰ mid-Apr–Oct; ☒) Perched on a mesa-top 15 miles inside the park entrance, this tasteful Pueblo-style lodge has 150 Southwestern rooms, some with kiva fireplaces. Don't miss sunset over the mesa from your private balcony. You can even bring Fido for an extra $10 per night.

Metate Room (☎ 970-529-4421; Far View Lodge; mains $15-25; ⏰ 5-10pm) This restaurant has an innovative menu inspired by Native American food and flavors. Palates are titillated by oven-roasted chicken breast with green chili stuffing and buffalo fajitas.

WYOMING

Galloping with rodeos and pageants, the pioneer past is alive and kicking in the 'Cowboy State.' With much of its beauty derived from its romantic emptiness, sparsely populated Wyoming is the kind of place you'd expect to find that lonesome cowboy riding the range, whistling a melancholy tune and embracing the solitude.

Wyoming's greatest bounty lies in its northwestern corner, which is home to two of the USA's most magnificent national parks: geyser-packed Yellowstone and the majestic Grand Tetons. Gateway towns, such as chic Jackson and progressive Lander, are ideal launchpads for epic hiking, camping, climbing and skiing adventures in the region. To really get off the beaten path, spend a few days wandering through Wyoming's less touristy towns and windswept prairies – places such as Laramie and Cheyenne are hardly on many travelers' radar, but do give a taste of modern Wyoming reality. Be warned: it can feel a bit isolated and depressing.

Information

You haven't experienced wind until you've driven across the plains of Wyoming. Distances are long, with gas stations few and far between. Other driving hazards include frequent high gusty winds and fast-moving snow squalls that can create whiteout blizzard conditions in a matter of minutes. Don't worry: when the weather gets too rough, the

BARGAIN BASEMENT HELI-SKIING

Heli-skiing is no longer reserved solely for the Richard Bransons of the adventure world. Thanks to a trip by Telluride Helitrax (☎ 970-728-8377; www.helitrax.net; guided trips $285; ⏰ Jan-May), even backpackers can afford the thrill of riding virgin powder above the tree line. Called the Bear Creek Descent, this guided trip is more affordable – heli-skiing can cost into the thousands for a single day – because it makes use of a remote yet easily accessible area right outside town. Plus, the trip only includes a single lift in the chopper.

One's all you need. After the bird leaves you hovering at 13,200ft on a ridge of Silver Mountain, take a few minutes to admire the views around you – you'll be able to see nine fourteeners in Colorado and mountains as far away as Utah. Then it's time to take the plunge. The guided 4300-vertical-foot descent takes you on an exhilarating ride – this is an expert-only trip – that flies into an alpine bowl, over a sheer face, down two couloirs and through the glades before dropping you directly into downtown Telluride. Rates include the rental of extra-fat skis, which allow you to cut through waist-high powder with ease. Snowboarders will need their own gear – you'll definitely want to bring a wide powder board or you'll be sure to get stuck. The best snow is usually found in April – strange we know, but typical of Colorado. Helitrax usually begins trips in January, but this varies depending on snow levels and avalanche danger, so check the website.

WYOMING FACTS

Nicknames Equality State, Cowboy State
Population 532,688
Area 97,100 sq miles
Capital city Cheyenne (population 55,314)
State tax 7%
Birthplace of Abstract expressionist artist Jackson Pollock (1912–56)
Home of Former Vice President Dick Cheney
Famous for Yellowstone, homes where buffalo roam, agriculture, dude ranches
Best souvenir A piece of coal – the state is the USA's biggest producer Driving distances Cheyenne to Jackson 440 miles, Cheyenne to Denver 100 miles highway patrol will shut the entire interstate until it clears.

Wyoming Road Conditions (☎ 307-772-0824, 888-996-7623)

Wyoming State Parks & Historic Sites (☎ 877-996-7275; www.wyo-park.com) Wyoming has 12 state parks. There is a daily admission fee of $6 per person. If you wish to spend the night in a campground, the fee is $17 per person, inclusive of the tent site and daily use fee. Reservations are taken online or over the phone through September 15.

Wyoming Travel & Tourism (☎ 800-225-5996; www.wyomingtourism.org; cnr I-25 & College Dr, Cheyenne)

CHEYENNE

Many a country tune has been penned about the cowboy town of Cheyenne, which doubles as Wyoming's state capital and largest city. With the exception of July's Frontier Days festival, this town on the edge of the prairie doesn't offer much for visitors (it's the kind of place people live in, rather than travel to). But its location at the junction of I-25 and I-80 makes it an obvious pit stop.

The Cheyenne Visitor Center (☎ 307-778-3133, 800-426-5009; www.cheyenne.org; 1 Depot Sq; 🕒 8am-5pm Mon-Fri, 9am-5pm Sat, 11am-5pm Sun, closed Sat & Sun winter) is a great resource.

Sights & Activities

The Cheyenne Gunslingers (☎ 307-635-1028; cnr Lincolnway & Carey Ave; admission free; 🕒 Jun & Jul) is a nonprofit group of actors who puts on a lively, if not exactly accurate Old West show – from near hangings to slippery jailbreaks. Stars include corrupt judges, smiling good guys and, of course, the bad-ass villains. Show times are 6pm daily as well as noon on Saturdays.

For a peek into the pioneer past, visit the lively Frontier Days Old West Museum (☎ 307-778-7290; 4601 N Carey Ave; adult/child $7/free; 🕒 8am-6pm Mon-Fri, 9am-5pm Sat & Sun summer, 9am-5pm Mon-Fri, 10am-5pm Sat & Sun winter) at I-25 exit 12. It is chock-full of rodeo memorabilia – from saddles to trophies.

Festivals & Events

Beginning in late July, the city stages Wyoming's largest celebration, Cheyenne Frontier Days (☎ 307-778-7222; 4501 N Carey Ave; admission varies). It is 10 days of rodeos, concerts, dances, air shows, chili cook-offs and other shindigs that draw big crowds from across the Rockies.

Sleeping & Eating

Reservations are a must during Frontier Days, when rates double and everything within 50 miles is booked. A string of cheap motels line noisy Lincolnway (I-25 exit 9).

Lincoln Court (☎ 307-638-3302; 1720 W Lincolnway; r from $50; ✣ 📶 🐾) With decent rooms, this is the best-value motel in summer, when it shares facilities with the pricier Best Western next door, including an indoor pool, fitness room and Jacuzzi.

Nagle Warren Mansion Bed & Breakfast (☎ 307-637-3333; www.naglewarrenmansion.com; 222 E 17th St; r from $125; ✣) This lavish spread is a fabulous find. In a quickly-going-hip neighborhood, it offers very luxurious abodes decked out with late-19th-century regional antiques. Spacious and elegant, the mansion also boasts a small health club, Jacuzzi and massage treatments. Considering the glitz factor, it's a great deal.

HOT TOPIC: STAYING LOCAL

Today Wyoming remains a rural state where most folk either work on the family ranch or have jobs in the energy agency. One of the hottest issues in the state pertains to trying to keep the younger generation from moving away following university – indeed, recent census numbers show Wyoming's under-50-year-old population is quickly declining. To entice people to stay, or to interest other 20-somethings to move to the state, politicians are offering cheap plots of land if residents agree to live and work in small towns for a set number of years. The state is also concentrating on boosting tourism revenues.

It also does mystery dinner packages – check the website.

Sanford's Grub & Pub (☎ 307-634-3381; 115 E 17th St; mains $8-16; ⏰ 11am-10pm) The walls are aflutter with sports bric-a-brac and road signs, and this fun place gets consistently good reviews for its novella-length menu of tasty eats, including burgers, chicken and even a range of 'porker' dishes. Beer is served in ice-cold glasses.

Getting There & Around

Cheyenne Airport (CYS; ☎ 307-634-7071; www.cheyenneairport.com; 200 E 8th Ave) has daily flights to Denver. Greyhound and Powder River buses depart from the bus depot (☎ 307-634-7744; 222 E Deming Dr) daily for Billings, MT ($90, 11 hours), and Denver, CO ($29, three hours), among other destinations.

On weekdays, the Cheyenne Transit Program (CTP; ☎ 307-637-6253; ⏰ 8am-5pm Mon-Fri) operates six local bus routes ($1).

LARAMIE

Home to the state's only four-year university, Laramie radiates a kind of boisterous vibe missing from most Wyoming prairie towns. The small historic downtown is a lively five-block grid of attractive two-story brick buildings with hand-painted signs and murals pushed up against the railroad tracks. Beware of the legendary blustery winds that always seem to blow here; they're strong enough to nearly sweep you off your feet.

For an infusion of culture, check out one of the museums on the University of Wyoming (UW; ☎ 307-766-4075) campus. If you're traveling with the kids (or just feel like one), stop by the Wyoming Territorial Prison & Old West Park (☎ 307-745-616; www.wyoprisonpark.org; 975 Snowy Range Rd; adult/child $11/free; ⏰ 9am-6pm May-Oct, 10am-5pm Sat & Sun Nov-Mar, closed Apr; 👪); it's a curious restoration of an early prison and frontier town.

There are numerous cheap sleeps off I-80 at exit 313. In town, the Gas Lite Motel (☎ 307-742-6616; 960 N 3rd St; r $70; ❄ 📶 🏊) relies on an outrageous kitsch setup to sell its well-priced digs. Plastic horses keep watch over the lawn, while plastic roosters languish on the roof. A greenhouse encloses a swimming pool adorned with cowboy murals. The spick-and-span rooms in a U-shaped log-cabin-style building are pet-friendly and dressed with playful Wild West touches.

Everyone eats at Jeffrey's Bistro (☎ 307-742-7046; 123 Ivinson Ave; mains $8-20; ⏰ 11am-8pm Mon-Wed, 11am-9pm Thu-Sat; 👪), a long-established downtown spot with a zesty menu of fresh and innovative salads, sandwiches and pasta dishes. Check out the cheap cocktails – martinis and margaritas are just $3.75.

For live country music and beers, you'll want to head to the Old Buckhorn Bar (☎ 307-742-3554; 114 Ivinson St). Established in 1900, it's Laramie's oldest standing bar and a fantastic example of what a good Wild West saloon should look like in this century – check out the hand-scratched graffiti and half-century-old condom dispenser in the bathroom. The Buckhorn is smoker-friendly, but boxy and ventilated enough to not smell too bad.

Located 4 miles west of town via I-80 exit 311, Laramie Regional Airport (☎ 307-742-4164) has daily flights to Denver. Greyhound (☎ 307-742-5188) buses stop at the Tumbleweed Express gas station (4700 Bluebird Lane) at the east end of town (I-80 exit 316). Fill up your tank (and tummy) in Laramie; heading west on I-80, the next services aren't for 75 miles.

CODY

Raucous Cody capitalizes on its Wild West image (it's named after legendary William F 'Buffalo Bill' Cody). With a streak of yee-haw, the town happily relays yarns (not always the whole story, mind you) about its past. Summer is high season, and Cody puts on quite an Old West show for the throngs of visitors making their way to Yellowstone National Park, 52 miles to the west. From Cody, the approach to geyserland is dramatic to say the least. President Teddy Roosevelt once said this stretch of pavement was 'the most scenic 50 miles in the world.'

The visitor center (☎ 307-587-2777; www.codychamber.org; 836 Sheridan Ave; ⏰ 8am-6pm Mon-Sat, 10am-3pm Sun Jun-Aug, 8am-5pm Mon-Fri Sep-May) is the logical starting point.

Cody's major tourist attraction is the superb Buffalo Bill Historical Center (☎ 307-587-4771; www.bbhc.org; 720 Sheridan Ave; adult/child $15/6; ⏰ 7am-8pm Jun-Aug, 10am-3pm Tue-Sun Sep-May). A sprawling complex of five museums, it showcases everything Western: from posters, grainy films and other lore pertaining to Buffalo Bill's world-famous Wild West shows, to galleries showcasing frontier-oriented artwork to museums dedicated to Native Americans. Its Draper Museum of Natural History explores

PIT STOP: COAL CREEK COFFEE CO

If you're craving a pick-me-up espresso to get you through the windy long-haul drive across Wyoming's endless plains, you'd do well to get off I-80 in Laramie and pay ecofriendly Coal Creek Coffee Co (☎ 307-745-7737; 110 E Grand Ave; mains $3-6; 🕒 6am-10pm; 📶) a visit. Serving a fair-trade caffeine buzz, Coal Creek makes a mean iced vanilla latte. The organic sandwiches are healthy and equally delicious. We thought the blue cheese and portobello panini was the best we'd tasted – it came out tangy, fresh and crisped just right. If you need to just chill, there are a number of tables good for lounging and it stays open late. Talk about an awesome pit stop. Look for Coal Creek off Grand Ave by the University of Wyoming campus next to the Hilton Garden Inn.

the Yellowstone region's ecosystem with excellent results. Also popular is the Cody Nite Rodeo (☎ 307-587-2992; Stampede Park, 421 W Yellowstone Ave; adult/child from $12/6), which giddy-ups nightly from June to August.

Built by ol' Mr Bill in 1902, Irma Hotel (☎ 307-587-4221; www.irmahotel.com; 1192 Sheridan Ave; r from $99; ❄) offers historic rooms in the main building or more modern, less expensive motel-style rooms. Don't miss the on-site Silver Saddle Saloon; the ornate cherrywood bar was a gift from Queen Victoria. Gunfights break out nightly at 6pm in front of the hotel from June through September.

The Silver Dollar Bar (☎ 307-527-7666; 1313 Sheridan Ave; mains $5-12) is a historic watering hole with lots of TV screens and live music nightly. It serves yummy burgers and has pool tables. Thursdays are 25¢ beer nights, and there's a daily special served on the deck.

Yellowstone Regional Airport (COD; ☎ 307-587-5096; www.flyyra.com) is 1 mile east of Cody and runs daily flights to Salt Lake City and Denver.

LANDER

Lander just might be the coolest little one-street town in Wyoming. Just a stone's throw from the Wind River Indian Reservation, it's a rock-climbing and mountaineering mecca attracting folks the region over.

Despite its growing popularity, Lander remains refreshingly unpretentious. Playing in the outdoors is of paramount importance to locals, and when the day's climbing activities finish, impromptu celebrations take place over brews at the town's only bar.

The Lander Visitor Center (☎ 307-332-3892, 800-433-0662; www.landerchamber.org; 160 N 1st St; 🕒 9am-5pm Mon-Fri) is a good source of general information. If you've come to hike, camp or climb, you're best popping into Wild Iris Mountain Sports (☎ 307-332-4541; 333 Main St). The shop has the inside scoop on Lander's best spots for all three. If you want to check out the singletrack trails outside town, head down the street to Freewheel Ski & Cycle (☎ 307-332-6616; 378 W Main St).

Sinks Canyon State Park, 6 miles south of Lander on Sinks Canyon Rd (Hwy 131), is a beautiful park with perplexing natural features. The Middle Fork of the Popo Agie River flows through the narrow canyon and disappears into the soluble Madison limestone called the Sinks, and pops up faster and warmer a quarter of a mile downstream in a pool called the Rise. The summer-only visitor center (☎ 307-332-3077; 3079 Sinks Canyon Rd; 🕒 9am-6pm Jun-Aug) is near two scenic campgrounds (campsites $8), which come highly recommended by locals.

For lodging, one of the better returns for your money is Pronghorn Lodge (☎ 307-332-3940; www.pronghornlodge.com; 150 Main St; r incl breakfast from $65; ❄ 📶), which has faultless spacious rooms, plus a hot tub one block from downtown.

Pizza, sandwiches and salads go down well on the outdoor deck or inside the big wooden barnlike place called the Lander Bar (☎ 307-332-8228; 126 Main St; mains $6-9; 🕒 11am-late). A Lander institution, it not only serves filling fare (although ask for your sandwiches with the dressing on the side), it's also the place to go for climbing and mountain-biking gossip. There's live music many nights.

Wind River Transportation Authority (☎ 307-856-7118; www.wrtabuslines.com) provides scheduled Monday-to-Friday service between Lander, Riverton, Dubois, Rock Springs and Riverton Regional Airport ($20).

YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK

They grow their mammals and geysers big up in Yellowstone, America's first national park and Wyoming's flagship attraction. From shaggy grizzlies to giant moose, this park boasts the lower 48's most motley concentration of wildlife. Plus, it is home to half the world's geysers. And when you factor in the plethora of alpine lakes, rivers and waterfalls you'll quickly realize you've stumbled across one of Mother Nature's most fabulous creations. This natural cornucopia attracts up to 30,000 visitors daily in summer and three million gatecrashers annually. To escape the crowds, take a hike.

When John Colter became the first white man to visit the area in 1807, the only inhabitants were Tukadikas, a Shoshone Bannock people who hunted bighorn sheep. Colter's reports of the soaring geysers and boiling mudholes (at first dismissed as tall tales) brought in expeditions and tourism interest. The park was established in 1872 to preserve Yellowstone's spectacular geography: the geothermal phenomena, the fossil forests and Yellowstone Lake.

Orientation

The 3472-sq-mile park is divided into five distinct regions (clockwise from the north): Mammoth, Roosevelt, Canyon, Lake and Geyser Countries.

Of the park's five entrance stations, only the North Entrance, near Gardiner, MT, is open year-round. The others, typically open May to October, are the Northeast Entrance (Cooke City, MT), the East Entrance (Cody), the South Entrance (north of Grand Teton National Park) and the West Entrance (West Yellowstone, MT). The park's main road is the 142-mile Grand Loop Rd scenic drive.

Information

The park is open year-round, but most roads close during winter. Park entrance permits (hiker/vehicle $12/25) are valid for seven days for entry into both Yellowstone and Grand Teton National Parks. Summer-only visitor centers are evenly spaced every 20 to 30 miles along Grand Loop Rd. The Albright Visitors Center & Park Headquarters (☎ 307-344-2263; www.nps.gov/yell; Mammoth; 🕐 8am-7pm Jun-Aug, 9am-5pm Sep-May) serves as park headquarters.

Sights & Activities

Just sitting on the porch of the Old Faithful Lodge with a cocktail in one hand and a book in the other waiting for the geyser to erupt could be considered an activity by itself. While it's perfectly acceptable – and really quite encouraged – this better not be the only thing you do in this fabulous national park. No, get your butt off the bench and go for a hike.

Yellowstone is split into five regions, representing the five distinct ecosystems found inside the park's boundaries. And we encourage you to explore them all. You'll be given a map upon entering the national park (and your admission to Grand Teton is good here, so you can go back and forth at leisure without paying twice), and all the lodges have helpful information desks. Don't be scared to ask a park ranger for a trail recommendation; many will go out of their way to help you tailor a hike to your tastes, from great photo spots to best chance at spotting bear.

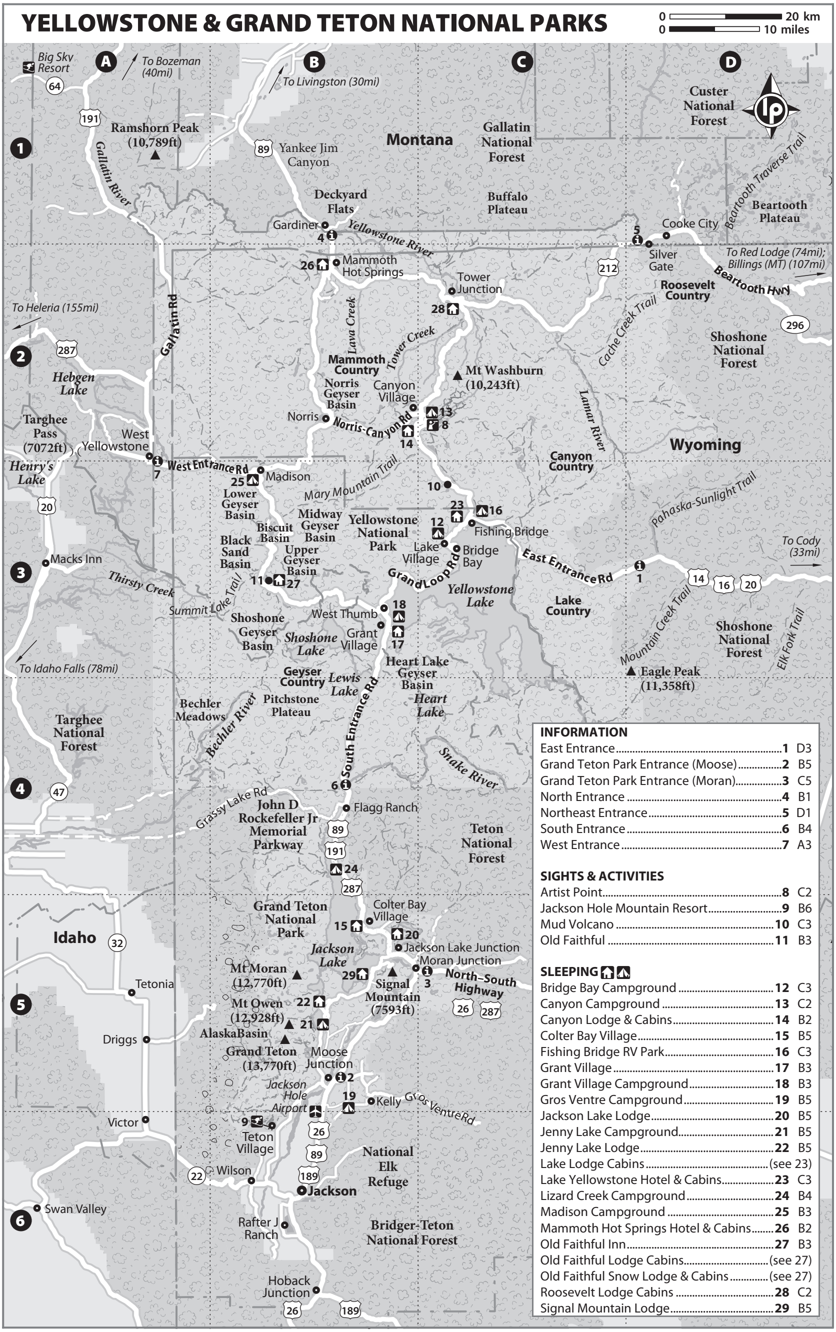
Geyser Country has the most geothermal features in the park. Upper Geyser Basin contains 180 of the park's 200 to 250 geysers. The most famous is Old Faithful, which spews from 3700 to 8400 gallons of water 100ft to 180ft into the air every 1½ hours or so. The Firehole and Madison Rivers offer superb fishing and wildlife viewing. For an easy walk, check out the well-marked, very easy gravel and paved walking trail around Old Faithful and other smaller geysers; it begins just outside Old Faithful Lodge.

Known for its fossil forests and geothermal areas at Mammoth Hot Springs and Norris Geyser Basin, Mammoth Country is North America's most volatile and oldest-known continuously active (115,000 years) thermal area. The peaks of the Gallatin Range rise to the northwest, towering above the area's lakes, creeks and numerous hiking trails.

Fossil forests, the commanding Lamar River Valley and its tributary trout streams, Tower Falls and the Absaroka Mountains' craggy peaks are the highlights of Roosevelt Country, the park's most remote, scenic and undeveloped region. Several good hikes begin near Tower Junction.

A series of scenic overlooks and a network of the Grand Canyon of the Yellowstone rim trails highlight the beauty of Canyon Country. South Rim Dr leads to the canyon's most spectacular overlook, at Artist Point. Mud Volcano is Canyon Country's primary geothermal area. Yellowstone Lake, the centerpiece of Lake Country and one of the world's largest alpine lakes, is also home to the country's largest inland population of cutthroat trout. Rising east and southeast of the lakes, the oft snowcapped Absaroka Mountains make for a dramatic

YELLOWSTONE & GRAND TETON NATIONAL PARKS



0 20 km
0 10 miles
A
B
C
D
1
2
3
4
5
6
Big Sky Resort
To Bozeman (40mi)
To Livingston (30mi)
64
191
Ramshorn Peak (10,789ft)
Gallatin River
89 Yankee Jim Canyon
Montana
Gallatin National Forest
Custer National Forest
Deckyard Flats
Buffalo Plateau
Beartooth Traverse Trail
Beartooth Plateau
Gardiner
Yellowstone River
Cooke City
Silver Gate
To Red Lodge (74mi); Billings (MT) (107mi)
Beartooth Hwy
212 Mammoth Hot Springs
Tower Junction
Roosevelt Country
To Heleria (155mi)
Gallatin Rd
Lava Creek
Tower Creek
Cache Creek Trail
296 Shoshone National Forest 287 Hebgen Lake
Mammoth Country
Mt Washburn (10,243ft)
Norris Geyser Basin
Canyon Village
Norris
Norris-Canyon Rd
Lamar River
Targhee Pass (7072ft)
West Yellowstone
Wyoming
Henry's Lake
West Entrance Rd
Madison
Canyon Country
Lower Geyser Basin
Mary Mountain Trail 20
Midway Geyser Basin
Yellowstone National Park
Pahaska-Sunlight Trail Fishing Bridge
Black Sand Basin
Biscuit Basin
Upper Geyser Basin
Lake Village
Bridge Bay
To Cody (33mi)
East Entrance Rd
Macks Inn
Grand Loop Rd
Yellowstone Lake
14 16
Thirsty Creek
Summit Lake Trail
Lake Country
West Thumb
Shoshone Geyser Basin
Shoshone Lake
Grant Village
Mountain Creek Trail
Elk Fork Trail
To Idaho Falls (78mi)
Heart Lake Geyser Basin
Eagle Peak (11,358ft)
Geyser Country
Lewis Lake
South Entrance Rd
Bechler Meadows
Pitchstone Plateau Heart Lake
Targhee National Forest
Bechler River
Snake River
47
Grassy Lake Rd
Flagg Ranch
John D Rockefeller Jr Memorial Parkway
Teton National Forest
Grand Teton National Park
Colter Bay Village
Idaho
32
Jackson Lake
Jackson Lake Junction
Moran Junction
Mt Moran (12,770ft)
Tetonia
Signal Mountain (7593ft)
North-South Highway 26
Mt Owen (12,928ft)
AlaskaBasin
Driggs
Grand Teton (13,770ft)
Moose Junction
Jackson Hole Airport
Kelly
Gros Ventre Rd
Victor
Teton Village
National Elk Refuge
22 Wilson
189
Jackson
Swan Valley
Rafter J Ranch
Bridger-Teton National Forest
Hoback Junction

INFORMATION

East Entrance	1	D3
Grand Teton Park Entrance (Moose)	2	B5
Grand Teton Park Entrance (Moran)	3	C5
North Entrance	4	B1
Northeast Entrance	5	D1
South Entrance	6	B4
West Entrance	7	A3

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

Artist Point	8	C2
Jackson Hole Mountain Resort	9	B6
Mud Volcano	10	C3
Old Faithful	11	B3

SLEEPING

Bridge Bay Campground	12	C3
Canyon Campground	13	C2
Canyon Lodge & Cabins	14	B2
Colter Bay Village	15	B5
Fishing Bridge RV Park	16	C3
Grant Village	17	B3
Grant Village Campground	18	B3
Gros Ventre Campground	19	B5
Jackson Lake Lodge	20	B5
Jenny Lake Campground	21	B5
Jenny Lake Lodge	22	B5
Lake Lodge Cabins	(see 23)
Lake Yellowstone Hotel & Cabins	23	C3
Lizard Creek Campground	24	B4
Madison Campground	25	B3
Mammoth Hot Springs Hotel & Cabins	26	B2
Old Faithful Inn	27	B3
Old Faithful Lodge Cabins	(see 27)
Old Faithful Snow Lodge & Cabins	(see 27)
Roosevelt Lodge Cabins	28	C2
Signal Mountain Lodge	29	B5

picture – capture their reflection in the water at sunrise for something really unique.

Hikers can explore Yellowstone's backcountry from more than 85 trailheads that give access to 1200 miles of hiking trails. A free backcountry-use permit, available at visitor centers and ranger stations, is required for overnight trips. Backcountry camping is allowed in 300 designated sites, 60% of which can be reserved in advance by mail; a $20 fee applies regardless of the number of nights.

One of the best family hikes (and also a great mountain-bike ride) in the park, the Lone Star Geyser Trail is an easy 5-mile round-trip jaunt to the geyser of the same name, which pleases kids and adults alike with its watery burps every three hours. The trail is mostly flat and follows an old service road along the Firehole River through lodgepole pine forests. Look for the easily accessible trailhead 3.5 miles south east of the Old Faithful Inn at the Keplar Cascades parking area. If you've got a bike, the trail can be ridden – although you'll have to walk the very last bit to the geyser itself.

In Yellowstone's famed Canyon Country, check out the trail network off South Rim Road. The spidery web of interconnected trails winds like fingers through the spectacular, remote and wild canyon country. The Mary Mountain Trail is 21 miles each way and can be hiked in one strenuous day hike (you'll have to arrange transport from the end back to the start) from either direction, or as is more usual, in shorter stints (hike in three or four miles and hike back out the same way; the views are so stupendous, so seeing them twice is far from a bad thing). The trail climbs gradually up and over Mary Mountain and the park's central Nez Percé plateau. Please be aware that Mary Mountain trail crosses through grizzly territory – keep an eye-out for posted bear activity signs. The western trailhead is a few hundred feet north of the Nez Percé turnoff, the eastern start is 4 miles south of Canyon Junction north of Alum Creek. Other notable trails include the Seven Mile Hole Trail, which descends from the north rim into the canyon and tracks up Mt Washburn (10,243ft), the park's second-highest peak. Eagle Peak (11,358ft), just scraping by inside the park boundaries, is the highest mountain in Yellowstone.

Bicycling is best from April to October, when the roads are usually snow-free. Cyclists can ride on public roads and a few designated service roads, but not on the backcountry trails.

Most park trails are not groomed, but unplowed roads and trails are open for cross-country skiing. There is exhilarating white water through Yankee Jim Canyon on the Yellowstone River just north of the park boundary in Montana. Yellowstone Raft Company (☎ 800-858-7781; www.yellowstoneraft.com) offers a range of guided adventures out of Gardiner starting in late May.

Sleeping

NPS and private campgrounds, along with cabins, lodges and hotels, are all available in the park. Reservations are essential in summer. Contact the park concessionaire Xanterra (☎ 307-344-7311; www.travelyellowstone.com) to reserve a spot at its campsites, cabins or lodges.

Plentiful accommodations can also be found in the gateway towns of Cody (p792), Gardiner and West Yellowstone.

CAMPING

The best budget options are the seven NPS-run campgrounds (campsites $14) in Mammoth (open year-round), Roosevelt and Geyser Countries, which are first-come, first-served. Xanterra runs five campgrounds (reservations accepted, per night $18.50), all with cold-water bathrooms, flush toilets and drinking water. RV sites are also available.

Bridge Bay Campground (Lake Country) Near the west shore of Yellowstone Lake. There are 425 sites.

Canyon Campground (Canyon Country) Centrally located, with pay showers and coin laundry nearby. There are 250 sites.

Fishing Bridge RV Park (Lake Country) Full hook-ups for hard-shell RVs only ($35). Pay showers and coin laundry. There are 325 sites.

Grant Village Campground (Lake Country) On Yellowstone Lake's southwest shore. Pay showers and coin laundry nearby. There are 400 sites.

Madison Campground (Geyser Country) Generator-free, tent-only area. There are 250 sites.

CABINS & LODGES

Xanterra-run cabins, hotels and lodges are spread around the park and open from May or June to October. Mammoth Hot Springs Hotel and Old Faithful Snow Lodge are the exceptions; these lodges are also open mid-December through March. All places are nonsmoking and none have air con, TV or internet hookups.

WHERE THE BIG BEARS & BISON ROAM…

Along with the big mammals – grizzly, black bear, moose and lynx – Yellowstone is home to elk, pronghorn antelope and bighorn sheep. Despite some grumblings from worried farmers just outside park boundaries, wolves (see p124) and bison have been reintroduced into the national park with great success. Both species are native to the area, but by the end of the last century hunting and human habitation had sent their populations spiraling toward extinction. In the last decade, the numbers have once again risen, which has ecologists and rangers alike excited.

Hayden Valley, in Yellowstone's heart, is your best all-round bet for wildlife viewing. Check along the Yellowstone River between Yellowstone Lake and Canyon Village. For the best chances of seeing wildlife, get up early or stay out late (dawn and dusk are the best times to see the furry creatures). You can pull over anywhere off Grand Loop Rd and stage a stakeout. Have enough patience (and a pair of binoculars handy) and a bear just might wander into your viewfinder, or perhaps you'll spy a rutting elk or hear the bugle of a solitary moose before it dips its mighty head into the river for a drink.

Lamar Valley, in the north of the park, is ground zero for spotting wolves – it's where these magnificent beasts are being reintroduced. Ask rangers where the action is at the moment; at the time of research, wolves were often seen between Tower Junction and Yellowstone's northeast entrance. Catching even a fleeting glimpse of these wild and shaggy giant dogs, once almost gone forever, is a refreshing and magical experience that reminds us there are parks in the USA wild enough to just get lost looking for wolves and to take a poop with the bear in the wilderness.

Roosevelt Lodge Cabins (Roosevelt Country; cabins $68-113) These cabins are good for families. With a cowboy vibe, the place offers nightly 'Old West dinner cookouts.' Guests travel by horse or wagon to a large meadow 3 miles from the lodge for open-air buffets.

Lake Lodge Cabins (Lake Country; cabins $70-160) The main lodge boasts a large front porch with lakeside mountain views and a cozy great room with two fireplaces. Choose from rustic 1920s wooden cabins or more modern motel-style modules.

Old Faithful Snow Lodge & Cabins (Geyser Country; r $99-201) The newest sleeping option in the park is built to resemble a great Old Western lodge (think lots of timber). Wildlife-themed, the place tries to incorporate classic park motifs. Rooms are stylish and modern.

our pick Old Faithful Inn (Geyser Country; r $100-240) Built right next to the signature geyser, it's little surprise Old Faithful is the most requested lodging in the park. A national historic landmark, it embodies everything a national park lodge should. The immense timber lobby, with its huge stone fireplaces and sky-high knotted-pine ceilings, is the sort of place you'd imagine Teddy Roosevelt lingering. Rooms come in all price ranges, and the cheapest share baths (hint: stay two nights, enjoy the atmosphere and get your money's worth). Even if you're in one of the lovely 'premium rooms,' don't count on spending much time in it – the public areas are alluring enough that cabin fever is not an option!

Lake Yellowstone Hotel & Cabins (Lake Country; cabins $135, r $151-227) Oozing grand 1920s Western ambience, this historic hotel is a classy option. It has Yellowstone's most divine lounge, which was made for daydreaming; it offers big picture windows with lake views, lots of natural light and a live string quartet serenading in the background. Rooms are well appointed, cabins more rustic.

Grant Village (Lake Country; r $145-151) Near the southern edge of the park, it offers attractive motel-style rooms. Two nearby restaurants have fabulous lake views and provide easy access to sustenance.

Also recommended:

Old Faithful Lodge Cabins (Geyser Country; cabins $69-113) Views of Old Faithful; simple, rustic cabins.
Canyon Lodge & Cabins (Canyon Country; cabins $74-157, r $173) Clean and tidy in a central locale.
Mammoth Hot Springs Hotel & Cabins (Mammoth Country; cabins $79-222, r $90-450) Wide variety of sleeping options; elk are often seen grazing on the front lawn.

Eating

Snack bars, delis, burger counters and grocery stores are scattered around the park. In addition, most of the lodges offer breakfast buffets, salad bars, and lunches and dinners in formal dining rooms. Food, while not always exceptional, is quite good considering how many people the chef is cooking for, and not too overpriced for the exceptional views. The Old Faithful Inn (☎ 307-545-4999; lunch mains $7-10, dinner mains $17-30; ⏰ 11:30am-2:30pm & 5-10pm) is our favorite restaurant. It has a more innovative menu, serving a selection of nouveau American West cuisine – think seasoned game meat paired with eclectic sauces.

Getting There & Away

The closest year-round airports are: Yellowstone Regional Airport (COD) in Cody (52 miles); Jackson Hole Airport (JAC) in Jackson (56 miles); Gallatin Field Airport (BZN) in Bozeman, MT (65 miles); and Idaho Falls Regional Airport (IDA) in Idaho Falls, ID (107 miles). The airport (WYS) in West Yellowstone, MT, is usually open June to September. It's often more affordable to fly into Salt Lake City, UT (390 miles), or Denver, CO (563 miles), then rent a car.

No public transportation exists to or within Yellowstone National Park.

GRAND TETON NATIONAL PARK

It's hard to stop gawking at the jagged granite spires of the Teton Range, the centerpiece of spectacular Grand Teton National Park, sitting directly south of Yellowstone. Twelve glacier-carved summits rise above 12,000ft, crowned by the singular Grand Teton (13,770ft). Less crowded than Yellowstone, Grand Teton has plenty of places to get lost in the tranquility of the mountains. Soak up the solitude and beauty on hiking trails winding through alpine meadows, past roaring streams and ending at a mirror lake, where the translucent water perfectly reflects the toothy smile of the jagged granite peaks above. Bear, elk and moose roam this 40-mile-long range; the chance of spotting wildlife is good.

Orientation

The park has two entrance stations: Moose (south), on Teton Park Rd west of Moose Junction; and Moran (east), on US 89/191/287 north of Moran Junction. The park is open year-round, although some roads and entrances close from around November to May 1, including part of Moose-Wilson Rd, restricting access to the park from Teton Village.

Information

Park entrance permits (hiker/vehicle $12/25) are valid for seven days for entry into both Yellowstone and Grand Teton National Parks. It's easy to stay in one park and explore the other in the same day.

Park Headquarters (☎ 307-739-3600; www.nps.gov/grte; ⏰ 8am-7pm Jun-Aug, 8am-5pm rest of year) shares a building with Moose Visitor Center (☎ 307-739-3399, for backcountry permits 307-739-3309; Teton Park Rd; ⏰ 8am-7pm Jun-Aug, 8am-5pm rest of year), half a mile west of Moose Junction.

Activities

First up: there's 200 miles of hiking trails here, and you can't really go wrong with any of them. So pick up a map at the visitor center, and take a hike. A free backcountry-use permit, also available at visitor centers, is required for overnight trips. If that's not your style, fine. Climb a mountain instead. The Tetons are known for excellent short-route rock climbs as well as classic longer routes to summits like Grant Teton, Mt Moran and Mt Owen. The Jenny Lake Ranger Station (☎ 307-739-3343; ⏰ 8am-6pm Jun-Aug) is ground zero for climbing information. For instruction and guided climbs, contact Exum Mountain Guides (☎ 307-733-2297; www.exumguides.com).

Fishing is another draw. Several species of whitefish and cutthroat, lake and brown trout thrive in local rivers and lakes. Get a license at the Moose Village store, Signal Mountain Lodge or Colter Bay Marina.

Cross-country skiing and snowshoeing are the best ways to take advantage of park winters. Pick up a brochure detailing routes at Moose Visitor Center.

Sleeping

CAMPING

The NPS (☎ 800-628-9988) operates the park's five campgrounds (Bridge Bay, Canyon, Grant Village, Madison & Fishing Bridge RV Park; camp sites $12), all first-come, first-served. Demand for sites is high from early July to Labor Day. Most campgrounds fill by 11am (Jenny Lake fills much earlier; Gros Ventre rarely fills up). Colter Bay and Jenny Lake have tent-only sites reserved for backpackers and cyclists.

CABINS & LODGES

Most of the park's private lodges and cabins are run by ecofriendly Grand Teton Lodge Company (☎ 307-543-3100; www.gtlc.com). The park concessionaire pushes sustainable energy, water conservation and recycling – you'll see bins around the park. It's best to reserve ahead, as nearly everything is completely booked by early June. It's worth calling about last-minute cancellations, however. Each lodge features an activity desk.

Colter Bay Village (☎ 307-543-3100; www.gtlc.com; tent sites per person $7, cabins with shared bath $55, cabins $100-200; 🕒 Jun-Sep; 👪) A good family option with rustic one- and- two-bedroom cabins on the shores of Jackson Lake. Two restaurants, a marina and a grocery store complete the picture.

Signal Mountain Lodge (☎ 307-543-2831; www.signalmtnlodge.com; r $160-230, cabins $181-273; 🕒 May–mid-Oct) At the edge of Jackson Lake, this spectacularly located place offers cozy well-appointed cabins and rather posh rooms with stunning lake and mountain views.

Jackson Lake Lodge (☎ 307-543-3100; www.gtlc.com; r & cabins $210-320; 🕒 Jun-Sep; 📶 🏊) With its sky-high ceilings and 60ft picture windows showcasing perfect Teton views, the grand lobby is the centerpiece of this full-service resort featuring 365 cottage-style rooms perched on a bluff overlooking Jackson Lake. This is the most popular lodge in the park, and fills quickly; definitely reserve.

Jenny Lake Lodge (☎ 307-543-3100; www.gtlc.com; cabins incl full board $585; 🕒 Jun-Sep) In a gorgeous wooded locale, Jenny Lake Lodge is the Grand Teton's most exclusive lodging option. Digs are in 37 historic Western-styled cabins. Each is beautifully decorated with thick down comforters and handmade quilts. Rates include breakfast, a five-course dinner, horseback riding and mountain biking.

Eating

Several reasonably priced restaurants are in and around Colter Bay Village, Jackson Lake Lodge and Moose Junction. The lodges all have restaurants of some sort.

Pioneer Grill (☎ 307-543-1911; Jackson Lake Lodge; mains $7-15; 🕒 7am-9pm; 👪) This 1950s-style soda fountain offers service at countertops that snake around the room in a serpentine. The food is nothing special – burgers and grilled cheese – but reasonably priced. Kids will love the ice-cream sundaes ($6).

Mural Room (☎ 307-543-1911; Jackson Lake Lodge; mains $15-40; 🕒 7am-9pm) The butter comes shaped like a moose and the in-your-face Teton views justify the buffalo tenderloin's $36 price tag at the Jackson Lake Lodge's most upscale dining choice. The wine list is moderately priced; service is stellar.

Jenny Lake Lodge Dining Room (☎ 307-543-3352; breakfast dishes $19, lunch mains $10-30, dinner mains $60; 🕒 7am-9pm) Dinner is an intimate five-course experience served in a quaint room. Breakfast is also a fixed-price affair – you can choose up to 10 items from the menu. The à la carte lunch is the best value (especially if you're mainly coming for the views). Dinner and breakfast reservations are required; jackets are suggested for men at dinner. The porch is perfect for cocktails. All these meals are included if you stay at this lodge (see Sleeping, left).

JACKSON

Jackson is as jet-setting as Wyoming gets. The handsome town – which many people incorrectly call Jackson Hole (the 'Hole' actually refers to the entire valley) – is set against a stellar Teton backdrop. It's the kind of place where cowboy meets couture, where moose, elk and bison cruise the valley floor and powder hounds swish down world-class ski slopes. The vibe is playful and slightly glam, but never pretentious. Wander into the Mangy Moose Saloon, packed with ski bums, tourists, hipsters, ranchers and even the occasional movie star, and you'll get the idea. Jackson buzzes year-round, and summer visitors can hike, bike, raft and roam to their heart's content.

Orientation & Information

Most of the area's amenities are concentrated in the town of Jackson. Teton Village, 12 miles northwest of Jackson, is home to the wintertime mecca of Jackson Hole Mountain Resort.

Jackson Hole Wyoming (www.jacksonholenet.com) A good website for information on the area.

Valley Bookstore (☎ 307-733-4533; 125 N Cache St) Superb selection of books and regional maps.

Visitor center (☎ 307-733-3316; www.jacksonholechamber.com; 532 N Cache Dr; 🕒 9am-5pm)

Sights

Downtown Jackson has a handful of historic buildings and, in summer, the town square shoot-out (admission free; 👪), which is a hokey tourist draw that takes place at 6:15pm Monday to Saturday. For more substance, visit the National Elk Refuge (☎ 307-733-9212; www.nationalelkrefuge.fws.gov; Hwy 89; admission free; 🕒 8am-5pm Sep-May, 8am-7pm Jun-Aug), about 2 miles northeast of town via Elk Refuge Rd. It protects thousands of wapiti from November to March. A 45-minute horse-drawn sleigh ride (adult/child $18/14; 🕒 10am-4pm mid-Dec–Mar) is a highlight of a winter visit to the refuge. The magical rides take you across sparkling-white frozen fields strewn with elk, and the photo opportunities are awesome.

Activities

One of the USA's top ski destinations, Jackson Hole Mountain Resort (☎ 307-733-2292; www.jacksonhole.com; lift ticket adult/child from $59/32), known as 'the Village,' boasts the USA's greatest continuous vertical rise – from the 6311ft base at Teton Village to the 10,450ft summit of Rendezvous Mountain. The terrain is mostly advanced, boasting lots of fluffy powder and rocky ledges made for jumping. When the snowmelts, the resort runs a plethora of summertime activities; check the website.

Sleeping

Jackson has plenty of lodging options, both in town and around the ski hill. Reservations are essential in summer and winter, when the place fills quickly.

Anvil Motel (☎ 307-733-3668; www.anvilmotel.com; 215 N Cache Dr; r $55-125; ⊠ ✤) Easily the best value in town, the Anvil offers queen rooms done up with a Western motif and equipped with fridges and microwaves in a super central location. The best perk is the available passes to the nearby rec center, which has an indoor pool, waterslide, hot tub, workout room and our personal favorite – the dry sauna.

Virginian Lodge (☎ 307-733-2792; www.virginianlodge.com; 750 W Broadway; winter/summer r from $120/200; ✤ 🏊) This cheerful place is another good-value motel. In winter, including ski season, rates drop dramatically.

Snake River Lodge (☎ 307-732-6000; www.snakeriverlodge.com; 7710 Granite Loop Rd; r $175-450; ✤ 🏊) In a gorgeous spot at the bottom of Jackson Hole Mountain Resort, Snake River has a beautiful pool, spa facilities and a fitness room with a view. Wooden walls, stone slab floors and big fireplaces create the vibe. Rooms are well stocked with down comforters, exposed wood-beamed ceilings and lots of other luxury trappings.

Eating & Drinking

Jackson is home to Wyoming's most sophisticated food. Many of our favorite restaurants here double as bars.

Bubba's Bar-B-Que (☎ 307-733-2288; 515 W Broadway Ave; mains $5-15; 🕒 7am-10pm) Get the biggest, fluffiest breakfast biscuits for miles at this friendly and energetic bring-your-own-bottle (BYOB) eatery. Later on, it's got a decent salad bar, and serves up a ranch of ribs and racks.

Snake River Brewing Co (☎ 307-739-2337; 265 S Millward St; mains $6-15; 🕒 11:30am-midnight; ⊠) Popular with the local ski crowd, Snake River's pub grub (think wood-fired pizza and juicy burgers) stands up well to the smooth homemade microbrews.

Rendezvous Bistro (☎ 307-739-1100; 380 S Broadway; mains $15-30; 🕒 5:30-10pm Mon-Sat) Locals love this bustling, unpretentious bistro that serves the best-value top-end food in town – from steak to lobster. Environs are intimate and smart, and the service excellent.

Mangy Moose Saloon (☎ 307-733-9779; Teton Village) This lively Jackson institution hosts a wide variety of live shows, from free local bands to big-name artists. A favorite après-ski spot, it attracts hordes of locals and tourists. It's an intimate venue where the stage is visible from two levels.

Million Dollar Cowboy Bar (☎ 307-733-2207; 25 N Cache Dr) There's no way you can miss the entrance to this town landmark – the neon sign is too big. It's kitschy West all right, but it is also pretty entertaining.

Getting There & Around

Jackson Hole Airport (JAC; ☎ 307-733-7682) is 7 miles north of Jackson off US 26/89/189/191 within Grand Teton National Park. Daily flights serve Denver, Salt Lake City, Dallas and Houston, while weekend flights connect Jackson with Chicago.

Alltrans' Jackson Hole Express (☎ 307-733-1719; www.jacksonholebus.com) buses depart at 6:30am daily from Jackson's Exxon Station (cnr Hwy 89 S and S Park Loop Rd) for Salt Lake City (around $65, 5½ hours).

MONTANA

Warning: Montana is addictive. There's nothing quite like that first Montana soul-soothing experience that words can't explain. Maybe it's the sky, which seems bigger and bluer here than anywhere else. Maybe it's the air, intoxicatingly crisp, fresh and scented with pine. Maybe it's the way the mountains melt into undulating grasslands, or the sight of a shaggy grizzly sipping from an ice-blue glacier lake.

Maybe it's the frontier spirit, wild and free and oh-so-wonderfully American, that earned Montana its 'live and let live' state motto. Whatever the cause, Montana's the kind of place that remains with you long after you've left its beautiful wilds behind.

Information

Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks (☎ 406-444-2535; www.fwp.state.mt.us) Camping in Montana's 24 state parks costs between $12 and $15 per night, while RV hookup sites (where available) cost an additional $5. Reservations are not taken; all camping is first come, first served.

Montana Road Conditions (☎ 800-226-7623, within Montana 511; www.mdt.state.mt.us)

Travel Montana (☎ 800-847-4868; www.visitmt.com)

BOZEMAN

In a gorgeous locale, surrounded by rolling green hills and pine forests and framed by snowcapped peaks, dog-friendly Bozeman is the coolest town in Montana. The historic Main St district is retro cowboy funky with low brick buildings housing trendy boutiques, Bohemian wine bars and bustling sidewalk cafés serving global fare. The location, up against the Bridger Mountains, means there's plenty of outdoor activities to keep you busy. Bumped up against the Bridger Mountains, Bozeman is also blessed with plenty of outdoor adventure opportunities.

The visitor center (☎ 406-586-5421; www.bozemanchamber.com; 1003 N 7th Ave; 🕑 8am-5pm Mon-Fri) can provide information on lodging and attractions in the area.

Montana State University's Museum of the Rockies (☎ 406-994-2251; www.museumoftherockies.org; 600 W Kagy Blvd; adult/child $10/7; 🕑 8am-8pm; 👪) is the most entertaining natural history museum in Montana, with dinosaur exhibits, early Native American art and laser shows.

Only in Montana would you find a nonprofit ski resort. But the excellent community-owned Bridger Bowl Ski Area (☎ 406-587-2111; www.bridgerbowl.com; 15795 Bridger Canyon Rd; day lift ticket adult/child under 12yr $45/16), 16 miles north of Bozeman, is just that. It's known for its fluffy, light powder and unbeatable prices – especially for children under 12.

Located in the same geothermal ecosystem as Yellowstone, the area around Bozeman is home to around a dozen of Montana's 61 hot springs. Soak away your aches and pains in the pools, sauna and steam-room at Bozeman Hot Springs (☎ 406-586-6492; admission $5; 🕑 8am-1pm Sun-Thu, 8am-midnight Fri & Sat), 8 miles west of town off US 191.

Sleeping

The full gamut of chain motels lies north of downtown on 7th Ave, near I-90. There are more options east of downtown on Main St. Depending on the season, rooms cost

IF YOU HAVE A FEW MORE DAYS

Wyoming is full of great places to get lost, sadly too many for us to elaborate on in this guide, but we'll prime you with a taster.

- Bighorn Mountains With vast grassy meadows, seas of wildflowers and peaceful conifer forests, the Bighorn Mountains in north-central Wyoming are truly awe-inspiring. Factor in gushing waterfalls and abundant wildlife and you've got a stupendous natural playground with hundreds of miles of marked trails.
- Devil's Tower National Monument Rising a dramatic 1267ft above the Belle Fourche River, this nearly vertical monolith is an awesome site. Known as Bears Lodge by some of the 20-plus Native American tribes who consider it sacred, it's a must-see if you are traveling between the Black Hills (on the Wyoming–South Dakota border) and the Tetons and Yellowstone.
- Medicine Bow Mountains & Snowy Range West of Laramie, the lofty national forest stretching across both mountain ranges is a wild and rugged place, perfect for multinight hiking and camping trips.
- Sheridan Nestled in the shadow of the Bighorn Mountains, Sheridan boasts century-old buildings, once home to Wyoming cattle barons, and is popular with adventure fanatics who come to play in the Bighorns.

between $35 and $65; some places have pools, others take pets.

Bear Canyon Campground (☎ 800-438-1575; www.bearcanyoncampground.com; tent/RV sites $21/29; ⏰ May-Oct; 🏊) Three miles east of Bozeman off I-90 exit 313, Bear Canyon Campground is on top of a hill with great views of the surrounding valley. There's even a pool.

Bozeman Backpackers Hostel (☎ 406-586-4659; www.bozemanbackpackershostel.com; 405 W Olive St; dm/d $20/42) In a beautiful yellow-painted Victorian house built in 1890 (trivia: it was once home to actor Gary Cooper when he attended school in town), this independent hostel's casual approach means a relaxed vibe, friendly folk and no lockout. It's the place to rendezvous with active globe-stompers.

Lewis & Clark Motel (☎ 406-586-3341; www.lewisandclarkmotel.net; 824 W Main St; r $75; ❄ 📶 🏊) For a drop of Vegas in your Montana, stay at this flashy motel with casino games and cold beers in the lobby. The large rooms have floor-to-ceiling front windows, and there's a 60ft-long indoor heated swimming pool, Jacuzzi and on-site sauna.

Eating & Drinking

As a college town, Bozeman has no shortage of student-oriented cheap eats and enough watering holes to quench an army's thirst. Nearly everything is located on Main St.

La Tinga (☎ 406-586-3341; 12 E Main St; mains $1.50-8; ⏰ 11am-close) Simple and cheap, La Tinga is no-frills dining at its tastiest. The tiny order-at-the-counter taco joint makes a delicious version of the Mexican pork dish it is named after, and lots of freshly made tacos starting at just $1.50 (there's also a lunch combo deal for less than $7). No wonder one of Bozeman's newer restaurants is packed all the time.

MONTANA FACTS

Nickname Treasure State
Population 967,440
Area 145,552 sq miles
Capital city Helena (population 30,000)
Other cities Billings (population 89,850), Missoula (100,000)
Sales tax Montana has no state sales tax
Birthplace of Hollywood movie star Gary Cooper (1901–61), legendary motorcycle daredevil Evel Knievel (1938–2007)
Famous for Big sky, fly-fishable rivers, snow, rodeos, bears
Random fact Some Montana highways didn't have a set speed limit until the 1990s!
Driving distances Bozeman to Denver 695 miles, Missoula to Whitefish 136 miles

Burger Bob's (☎ 406-585-0800; 39 W Main St; mains $5-10; ⏰ 11:30am-9pm, to 10pm Fri & Sat) This Old West greasy spoon has been serving cold beer and loaded burgers long enough to be considered a Bozeman institution. The menu features dozens of burgers topped with pretty much everything, other sandwich staples and a mixture of domestic and small-batch beer on draft.

Plonk (☎ 406-587-2170; 29 E Main St; mains $10-30; ⏰ 11:30am-10pm) Where to go for a drawn-out three-martini, gossipy lunch, Plonk serves an innovative nouveau American meets French bistro menu. Dishes look and taste great, and are made from local organic products when possible. In summer the entire front opens up, letting light and cool breezes enter the long building, which also has a shotgun bar and pressed-tin ceilings. The sidewalk seating in the sun is equally lovely.

John Bozeman's Bistro (☎ 406-388-1100; Belgrande, 27 E Main St; mains $10-30; ⏰ 5-10pm) This local landmark with a fabulous wine list offers more sophistication than a typical Montana roadhouse. Located 8 miles west of town, the menu is meat-oriented with juicy steaks featured prominently. Sleek booths, old cowboy photos and a mounted longhorn head create the ambience. Those on a budget will appreciate the cheaper bar menu; vegetarians can chow down on a daily meatless plate.

Molly Brown (☎ 406-586-9903; S 8th St) Popular with students, this noisy dive bar offers 20 beers on tap and eight pool tables for getting your game on.

Zebra Cocktail Lounge (☎ 406-585-8851; 15 N Rouse St) Inside the Bozeman Hotel, this place is the epicenter of the local live music scene.

Getting There & Away

Gallatin Field Airport (BZN; ☎ 406-388-6632) is 8 miles northwest of downtown. Karst Stage (☎ 406-388-2293; www.karststage.com) runs buses daily, December to April, from the airport to Big Sky (around $35, one hour) and West Yellowstone (around $50, two hours); summer service is by reservation only.

Greyhound buses depart from the bus depot (☎ 406-587-3110; 1205 E Main St), half a mile from downtown, and service all Montana towns along I-90.

TROUT FISHING IN MONTANA

Ever since Robert Redford and Brad Pitt made it look sexy in the 1992 classic, A River Runs through It, Montana's visitors have had a love affair with fly-fishing. For good reason. Montana has more miles of wild trout rivers than any other state in the lower 48. Whether you are just learning or a world-class trout wrangler, this land of big skies and wide, fast rivers is always spectacularly beautiful and filled with fish. FYI movie buffs: although the film – and book it is based on – is set in Missoula and the nearby Blackfoot River, the movie was actually shot around Bozeman and the fishing scenes filmed mostly on the Yellowstone and Gallatin Rivers. Which is the area we focus on here.

For DIY trout fishing, the Gallatin River, 8 miles west of Bozeman along Hwy 191, has the most accessible, consistent angling spots. Novices will have a field day on this river, as there are lots of wild rainbow and brown trout waiting to bite. The Yellowstone River, 25 miles east of Bozeman, is also full of trout, and truly is one of Montana's most beautiful fishing spots.

For the scoop on everything trout – as well as flies, rods and a Montana fishing license – visit the Bozeman Angler (☎ 406-587-9111; 23 E Main St; 🕘 9:30am-5:30pm Mon-Sat, 10am-3pm Sun). Owned by a local couple for more than a decade, the downtown shop runs a great introduction-to-fishing class. The day-long adventure teaches you the casting, lures and fish basics, feeds you, then sets you loose on the river (with a guide of course) to practice your newly minted skills. If you know what you're doing, but don't know where the best fishing holes are, contact the shop about a guided trip, which they'll customize to your experience and interest.

GALLATIN & PARADISE VALLEYS

Outdoor enthusiasts can explore the expansive beauty around the Gallatin River, running through the Gallatin and Paradise Valleys, for days. Big Sky Resort (☎ 800-548-4486; www.bigskyresort.com; lift ticket adult $78), with multiple mountains, 400in of annual powder and Montana's longest vertical drop (4350ft), is the valley's foremost destination for skiing. Lift tickets cost less here than at many Rocky Mountain resorts, and if you are traveling with kids then Big Sky is too good a deal to pass up – children under 10 ski free, while even your teenager saves $20 off the adult ticket price. In summer it offers gondola-served hiking and mountain biking. For backpacking and backcountry skiing, head to the Lee Metcalf Wilderness Complex. It covers 389 sq miles of Gallatin and Beaverhead National Forest land west of US 191. Numerous scenic USFS campgrounds snuggle up to the Gallatin Range on the east side of US 191.

Twenty miles south of Livingston, off US 89 en route to Yellowstone, unpretentious Chico Hot Springs (☎ 406-333-4933; www.chicohotsprings.com; r from $50-355; 🕘 8am-midnight; 📶) has garnered quite a following in the last few years – now attracting celebrity guests from Hollywood. They, along with many regular folks, come to this relaxed place to soak in the two suave open-air mineral pools (admission for nonguests $8.50). The larger pool is the perfect temperature for floating (93°F or 34°C); the smaller pool is hotter (103°F or 54°C), but still not too hot to stay in long enough for wrinkles. The lively bar hosts swinging country-and-western dance bands on weekends. The on-site restaurant (mains $20 to $30) is known for fine steak and seafood.

ABSAROKA BEARTOOTH WILDERNESS

The fabulous, vista-packed Absaroka Beartooth Wilderness covers more than 943,377 acres and is perfect for a solitary adventure. Thick forests, jagged peaks and marvelous, empty stretches of alpine tundra are all found in this wilderness, saddled between Paradise Valley in the west and Yellowstone National Park in the south. The thickly forested Absaroka Range dominates the area's west half and is most easily reached from Paradise Valley or the Boulder River Corridor. The Beartooth Range's jagged peaks are best reached from Hwy 78 and US 212 near Red Lodge. Because of its proximity to Yellowstone, the Beartooth portion gets two-thirds of the area's traffic.

A picturesque old mining town with fun bars and restaurants and a good range of places to stay, Red Lodge offers great day hikes, backpacking and, in winter, skiing right near town. The Red Lodge Visitor Center (☎ 406-446-1718; 601 N Broadway Ave; 🕘 9am-5pm Jun-Aug,

WORTH THE TRIP: LITTLE BIGHORN BATTLEFIELD

Ensconced within the boundless prairies and pine-covered hills of Montana's southwest plains, the Crow Indian Reservation is home to the Little Bighorn Battlefield National Monument (☎ 406-638-3224; admission per car $12; 🕓 8am-6pm). One of the USA's best-known Native American battlefields, this is where General George Custer made his famous 'last stand.' Custer, and 272 soldiers, messed one too many times with Native Americans (including Crazy Horse of the Lakota Sioux), who overwhelmed the force in a frequently painted massacre. A visitor center tells the tale. The entrance is a mile east of I-90 on US 212.

9:30am-4:30pm Mon-Fri Sep-May) has accommodation information.

The awesome Beartooth Highway (US 212; 🕓 Jun–mid-Oct) connects Red Lodge to Cooke City and Yellowstone's north entrance by an incredible 68-mile journey that passes soaring peaks and wildflower-sprinkled tundra. There are five USFS campgrounds (reservations accepted) along the highway, within 12 miles of Red Lodge.

BILLINGS

It's hard to believe laid-back little Billings is Montana's largest city. The friendly oil and ranching center is not a must-see, but makes for a good overnight pit stop. The historic downtown, with squat brown buildings, wide streets, cozy cafés and interesting little knickknack shops, is hardly cosmopolitan, but emits a certain endearing charm.

Road-weary travelers will appreciate the convenient Billings Hotel & Convention Center (☎ 800-537-7286; www.billingshotel.net; 1223 Mullowney Lane; r from $85; ❄ 💻 📶 🏊 👶). It has comfortable rooms, a restaurant and bar on the premises and best of all – especially if you're road-tripping with the little ones – two huge waterslides at the indoor pool!

Fuel up at the chipper McCormick Cafe (☎ 406-255-9555; 2419 Montana Ave; meals $4-7; 🕓 7am-4pm Mon-Fri, 8am-3pm Sat; 💻 👶), where you can get a steaming cup of coffee and heaped plates of bacon and eggs. Soups, salads and pizza are served at lunch. It's a down-home no-frills dining experience.

Logan International Airport (BIL; ☎ 406-238-3420), 2 miles north of downtown, has direct flights to Salt Lake City, Denver, Minneapolis, Seattle, Phoenix and destinations within Montana. The bus depot (☎ 406-245-5116; 2502 1st Ave N; 🕓 24hr) has services to Bozeman ($35, three hours) and Missoula ($60, eight hours).

HELENA

Luring politicians, outdoor enthusiasts and artists, Montana's state capital is an agreeable city at the foot of the Rockies with trendy galleries and interesting restaurants. During the week it's a bustling place where politicos and lobbyists pound out legislation. At weekends it becomes a veritable ghost town, as almost everyone seems to take to the mountains for a little playtime.

For information, visit the Helena Visitor Center (☎ 406-442-4120, 800-743-5362; www.helenachamber.com; 225 Cruse Ave; 🕓 8am-5pm Mon-Fri).

Many of Helena's sites are free, including the neoclassical state capitol (☎ 406-444-4789; cnr Montana Ave & 6th St; 🕓 8am-6pm Mon-Fri); the elegant old buildings along Last Chance Gulch (Helena's pedestrian shopping district); and the Holter Museum of Art (☎ 406-442-6400; www.holtermuseum.org; 12 E Lawrence St; 🕓 10am-5pm Mon-Sat Jun-Aug, 11:30am-5pm Tue-Fri, noon-5pm Sat & Sun Sep-May), which exhibits modern pieces by Montana artists.

Nine hiking and mountain-biking trails wind through Mt Helena City Park, including one that takes you to the 5460ft-high summit of Mt Helena.

East of downtown near I-15 is a string of chain motels. Most rooms are $60 to $85, and come with free continental breakfast, pool and Jacuzzi.

The Sanders (☎ 406-442-3309; www.sandersbb.com; 328 N Ewing St; r incl/breakfast $130; ❄) is an historic B&B with seven elegant guest rooms, a wonderful old parlor and a breezy front porch. Each bedroom is unique and thoughtfully decorated.

Fire Tower Coffee House (☎ 406-495-8840; 422 Last Chance Gulch; mains $7; 🕓 7am-late; 💻) is where to go for coffee, light meals and live music on Friday evening. The breakfast menu features a couple of different types of egg-based burritos, while lunch has a wholesome and interesting sandwich selection.

Two miles north of downtown, Helena Regional Airport (HNL; ☎ 406-442-2821; www.helenaairport.com) operates flights to most other airports in Montana, as well as to Salt Lake City, Spokane and Minneapolis. Rimrock Stages leave from Helena's bus depot (☎ 406-442-5860; 3100 E Hwy 12), 7 miles east of town on US 12, where at least daily buses go to Missoula ($25, 2¼ hours), Billings ($42, 4¾ hours) and Bozeman ($22, two hours).

MISSOULA

Missoula is the kind of place where you can hike through a wilderness area, fly-fish a blue-ribbon stream and attend the symphony in a day. Montana's most culturally diverse city is an urban oasis in a pastoral wilderness. Sitting at the convergence of five valleys on the banks of the Clark River, there are seven different wilderness areas within 100 miles of here. Plus it's spittin' distance from three major rivers, it's filled with sophisticated restaurants and galleries and just down the road from a ski area with one of the country's steepest vertical drops. It's no wonder folks passionate about play are racing to relocate here. Home to the University of Montana, Missoula is also a college town, and the dreadlocked students, global import shops and dive bars around the university add extra buzz.

Information

Trail Head (☎ 406-543-6966; www.trailheadmontana.net; 110 E Pine St; 🕑 9:30am-8pm Mon-Fri, 9am-6pm Sat, 11am-6pm Sun) Maps, abundant advice, camping and kayaking rental gear.

Visitor center (☎ 406-532-3250, 800-526-3465; www.missoulacvb.org; 1121 E Broadway; 🕑 8am-5pm Mon-Fri)

Sights & Activities

Seven miles west of downtown, the Smokejumper Visitor Center (☎ 406-329-4900; W Broadway; admission free; 🕑 10am-4pm Jun-Aug) is the active base for the heroic men and women who parachute into forests to combat raging wildfires. Its visitor center has thought-provoking audio and visual displays that do a great job illustrating the life of the Western firefighter.

One of the area's most accessible hikes is along the south side of Clark Fork from McCormick Park (west of the Orange St bridge) into Hellgate Canyon. At sunset join the steep pilgrimage from the football stadium to the 'M' on 5158ft Mt Sentinel for spectacular views.

Advanced skiers love Snowbowl Ski Area (☎ 406-549-9777; www.montanasnowbowl.com; lift ticket $35), 17 miles north of Missoula, for its 2600ft vertical drop – one of the steepest in the USA.

Montana and fly-fishing go together like peanut butter and jelly – this is where Montana's most famous movie, A River Runs Through It, was set (although it was filmed outside Bozeman, see p803) and the area around Missoula has some of the best angling in the state. Rock Creek, 21 miles east of Missoula, is a designated blue-ribbon trout stream and the area's best year-round fishing spot. Fishing with the kids? Try the child-friendly Beavertail Hill Pond east of Missoula on I-90 (take the Beavertail exit).

Sleeping & Eating

Most lodging is on Broadway between Van Buren and Orange Sts, within walking distance of the campus and downtown.

Campus Inn (☎ 406-549-5134; www.campusinnmissoula.com; 744 E Broadway; r from $85; ❄ 📶 🏊) This solid-value place has spacious rooms with ample amenities. Some rooms are inside the main building; others are motel-style. There are two hot tubs.

Goldsmith's Bed & Breakfast (☎ 406-728-1585; www.goldsmithsinn.com; 809 E Front St; r from $130; ❄ 💻) This delightful B&B, with comfy rooms, is a pebble's toss from the river. The outdoor deck overlooking the water is the perfect place to kick back with a good novel. Rooms are attractive, featuring Victorian furniture. Some come with private sitting rooms, fireplaces and reading nooks.

Bernice's Bakery (☎ 406-728-1358; 190 S 3rd St; mains $3-6; 🕑 7am-midnight) Fabulous organic coffee and tea, sink-your-teeth-into-'em sweets and yummy breakfasts are all staples at this revered Missoula institution. Don't miss the homemade granola.

Depot (☎ 406-728-7007; 201 W Railroad Ave; mains $13-35; 🕑 11:30am-9pm) The Depot has a reputation for consistently good steaks served in upscale cowboy contemporary environs. Grab a seat at the welcoming brick bar looking out onto the active rail line. The beef menu is almost as long as the wine list, but there are other options. For something cheesy and creamy, try the scallop-and-mushroom casserole, a house specialty.

Iron Horse Brewpub (☎ 406-728-8866; 501 N Higgins St; 🕑 11:30am-late) It's undergone a multimillion-dollar expansion, and now includes a swank, smoke-free upstairs bar known as 501 (yes, you can still smoke in Montana bars), complete with a saltwater aquarium. Students flock to the outdoor patio to sip microbrews and chow down on American pub food.

Getting There & Around

Missoula County International Airport (MSO; ☎ 406-728-4381) is 5 miles west of Missoula on US 12 W.

Greyhound buses serve most of the state, and stop at the depot (☎ 406-549-2339; 1660 W Broadway), 1 mile west of town.

FLATHEAD LAKE

Thanks to picture-pretty bays and 128 miles of wooded shoreline, fish-filled Flathead Lake is one of Montana's most favored attractions. The Flathead Lake Marine Trail makes paddling from one access point to another a fun way to travel; two marine campsites (☎ 406-751-4577; tent sites from $10) are available. You can easily drive around the lake in four hours. Be sure to spend time lingering along the shores and stopping at roadside fruit stands.

On the Indian Reservation at the lake's south end, Polson (☎ visitor center 406-883-5969; www.polsonchamber.com; 4 2nd Ave E; 🕒 8am-4pm Mon-Fri, 9am-4pm Sat, 10am-3pm Sun Jun-Aug, 10am-2pm Sep-May Mon-Fri) is the region's biggest service center, with several gas stations, fast-food restaurants and motels.

The mind-boggling Miracle of America Museum (☎ 406-883- 6804; 58176 Hwy 93; adult/child $3/1; 🕒 8am-8pm Jun-Aug, 8:30am-5pm Mon-Sat, 1:30-5pm Sun Sep-May), located just 2 miles south of Polson, is worth seeing. At turns random and fascinating, it consists of 5 acres cluttered with the leftovers of American history. Wander past weird artifacts including the biggest buffalo (now stuffed) ever recorded in Montana.

At the opposite end of the lake, Bigfork (☎ visitor center 406-837-5888; www.bigfork.org; 8155 Hwy 35; 🕒 9am-5pm Jun-Aug, 10am-2pm Mon-Fri Sep-May) is an artsy village with good grub and funky shops.

Between Polson and Bigfork are lakefront campgrounds, summer camp–style resorts and, on the lake's east side, orchards festooned with plump cherries. In either town you can join a boat tour to visit Wild Horse Island, where wild mares and steeds roam. Watch for Flathead Nessie, who has been lurking around since the 1930s and is said to be a distant cousin of Scotland's Loch Ness Monster.

BOB MARSHALL WILDERNESS COMPLEX

Let's just say, if the state had a perfume, its essence would be bottled from the wilds around Bob Marshall. Running roughly from the southern boundary of Glacier National Park in the north to Rogers Pass (on Hwy 200) in the south, there are three designated wilderness areas within the complex. A medley of geology, plants and wildlife, Great Bear, Bob Marshall and Scapegoat are scintillating. National-forest lands girding the complex offer campgrounds, road access to trailheads and quieter country when 'the Bob' hosts hunters in fall. The core lands encompass 2344 sq miles, with 3200 miles of trails and sections that are a 40-mile slog from the nearest road.

Accessing the Bob Hwy 200 in the south just got a heck of a lot easier, thanks to a four-year renovation; the park service has opened rustic Monture Guard Station Cabin (cabins $60), on the Bob's perimeter, to the public. To reach it you'll need to drive 7 miles north of Ovando and snowshoe or hike the last mile to your private abodes at the edge of the gorgeous Lewis and Clark Range. Contact the forest service about reservations.

Other Bob access points include the Seeley-Swan Valley in the west, Hungry Horse Reservoir in the north and the Rocky Mountain Front in the east. The easiest (and busiest) access routes are from the Benchmark and Gibson Reservoir trailheads in the Rocky Mountain Front.

Trails generally start steep, reaching the wilderness boundary after around 7 miles. It takes another 10 miles or so to really get into the Bob's heart. Good day hikes run from all sides. Two USFS districts tend to the Bob:

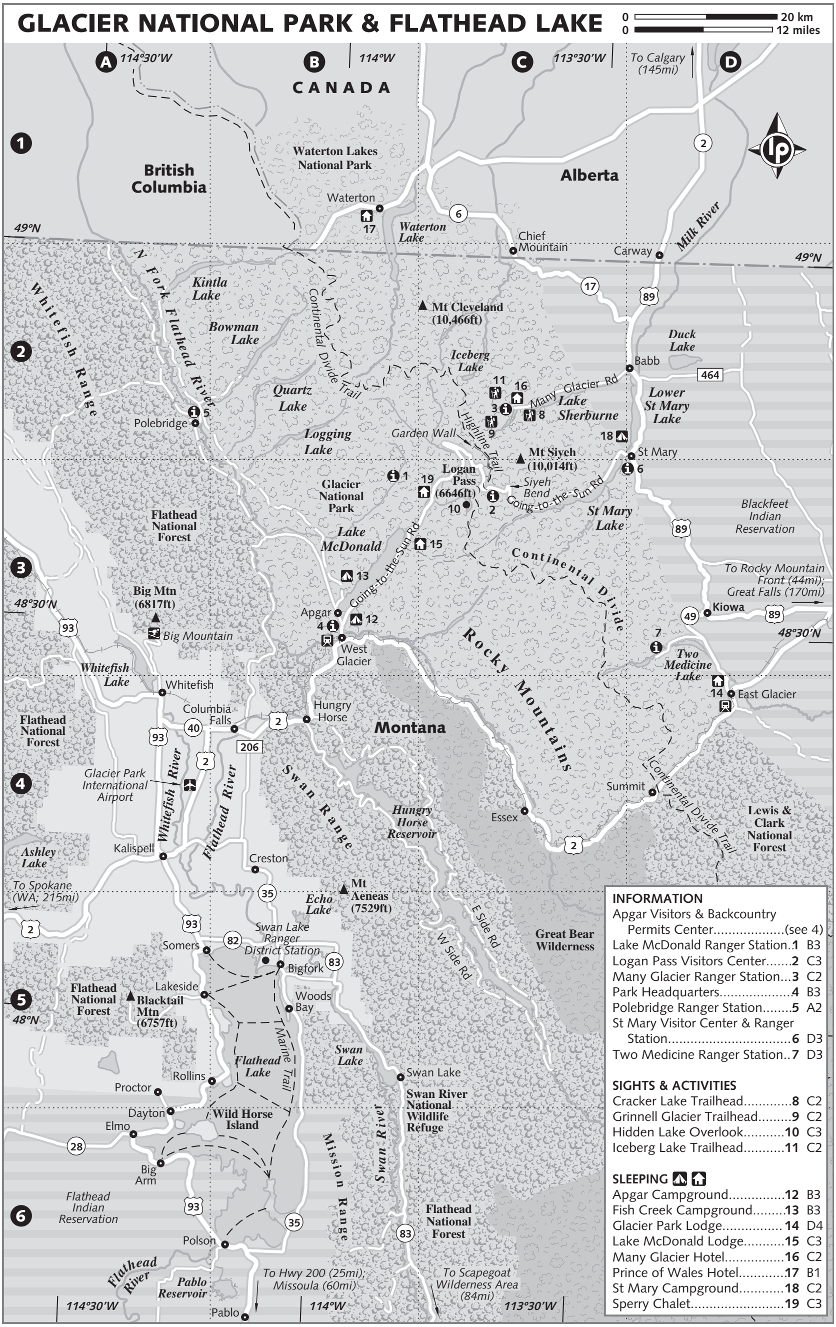
Flathead National Forest Headquarters (☎ 406-758-5204; www.fs.fed.us/r1/flathead; 1935 3rd Ave E, Kalispell; 🕒 8am-4:30pm Mon-Fri)

Lewis & Clark National Forest Supervisors (☎ 406-791-7700; www.fs.fed.us/r1/lewisclark; 1101 15th St N, Great Falls; 🕒 8am-4:30pm Mon-Fri)

WHITEFISH

If you just think of Whitefish as the main gateway to Glacier National Park, you'll be missing out. This hip New West town – filled with cool boutiques and tasty restaurants, and sitting in the shadow of a great, largely undiscovered ski resort – is a destination in itself. The resort formerly known as Big Mountain, Whitefish Mountain Resort (☎ 406-862-2900;

GLACIER NATIONAL PARK & FLATHEAD LAKE



0 20 km
0 12 miles
A
B
C
D
1
2
3
4
5
6
114°30'W
114°W
113°30'W
49°N
48°30'N
48°N
To Calgary (145mi)
CANADA
British Columbia
Alberta
Waterton Lakes National Park
Waterton
Waterton Lake
Chief Mountain
Carway
Milk River
Kintla Lake
Bowman Lake
Quartz Lake
Logging Lake
N Fork Flathead River
Whitefish Range
Polebridge
Continental Divide Trail
Mt Cleveland (10,466ft)
Iceberg Lake
Many Glacier Rd
Lake Sherburne
Duck Lake
Babb
Lower St Mary Lake
St Mary Garden Wall
Highline Trail
Mt Siyeh (10,014ft)
Siyeh Bend
Logan Pass (6646ft)
Going-to-the-Sun Rd
St Mary Lake
Glacier National Park
Lake McDonald
Blackfeet Indian Reservation
To Rocky Mountain Front (44mi); Great Falls (170mi)
Kiowa
Continental Divide
Flathead National Forest
Big Mtn (6817ft)
Big Mountain
Apgar
West Glacier
Two Medicine Lake
East Glacier
Whitefish Lake
Whitefish
Columbia Falls Hungry Horse
Montana
Rocky Mountains
Swan Range
Glacier Park International Airport
Whitefish River
Flathead River
Hungry Horse Reservoir Summit
Essex
Lewis & Clark National Forest
Ashley Lake
Kalispell
Creston
To Spokane (WA; 215mi)
Echo Lake
Mt Aeneas (7529ft)
E Side Rd
W Side Rd
Great Bear Wilderness
Swan Lake Ranger District Station
Somers
Bigfork
Lakeside
Woods Bay
Blacktail Mtn (6757ft)
Marine Trail
Flathead Lake
Swan Lake
Rollins
Proctor
Dayton
Elmo
Wild Horse Island
Swan River National Wildlife Refuge Mission Range
Swan River
Big Arm
Flathead Indian Reservation
Flathead National Forest
Polson
Flathead River
Pablo Reservoir
Pablo
To Hwy 200 (25mi); Missoula (60mi)
To Scapegoat Wilderness Area (84mi)
2
6
17 89
464
49
93
40
206 35
82 83
28

INFORMATION

Apgar Visitors & Backcountry Permits Center	(see 4)
Lake McDonald Ranger Station	1	B3
Logan Pass Visitors Center	2	C3
Many Glacier Ranger Station	3	C2
Park Headquarters	4	B3
Polebridge Ranger Station	5	A2
St Mary Visitor Center & Ranger Station	6	D3
Two Medicine Ranger Station	7	D3

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

Cracker Lake Trailhead	8	C2
Grinnell Glacier Trailhead	9	C2
Hidden Lake Overlook	10	C3
Iceberg Lake Trailhead	11	C2

SLEEPING

Apgar Campground	12	B3
Fish Creek Campground	13	B3
Glacier Park Lodge	14	D4
Lake McDonald Lodge	15	C3
Many Glacier Hotel	16	C2
Prince of Wales Hotel	17	B1
St Mary Campground	18	C2
Sperry Chalet	19	C3

www.bigmtn.com; lift ticket adult/child $56/27) boasts 3000 acres of terrain for all levels. There's even night skiing.

Check with the Whitefish Visitor Center (☎ 406-862-3390; www.whitefishvisit.com; 343 Central Ave; 🕑 9am-5:30pm Mon-Sat Jun-Aug, 9am-5pm Mon-Fri Sep-May) for more info on activities.

A string of chain motels lines US 93 south of Whitefish. The cheerful Chalet Motel (☎ 406-862-5581; www.whitefishlodging.com; 6430 Hwy 93 S; r $85; ❄ 💻 🏊), about a mile from town, is the best sleeping option. It offers spacious rooms with resort views, and has a hot tub and indoor pool.

Amtrak stops at Whitefish's railroad depot (☎ 406-862-2268; 500 Depot St) en route to West Glacier ($16) and East Glacier ($32).

GLACIER NATIONAL PARK

Glacier National Park is about to turn 100 years old, and no one is planning a party. That's because unless climate patterns change drastically, the park could be reaching an even bigger milestone by 2030: extinction. Alarmingly – and sadly without a lot of publicity – Montana's most beautiful and revered attraction has become another victim of global warming. Glacier's signature ice fields are disappearing so rapidly the park may need to change its name by 2030. Home to 150 glaciers in 1850, today the park only has 26 named icefields left. Those that remain are shells of their former selves, and melting fast.

Visit while you still can. For now at least, the park's beauty still supersedes its seemingly doomed future. Dramatic, rugged and desolate alpine terrain is filled with lush valleys, crystal-clear lakes and rushing waterfalls. Wildlife enthusiasts will have a field day in Glacier. Spotting animals, from cougars and grizzlies to black bear and elk, is common. Most visitors tend to stick to developed areas and short hiking trails, which is a shame. This is one park where you should definitely explore off the beaten path.

Created in 1910, the park boasts a spectacular landscape that continues uninterrupted north into Canada, where it is protected in less crowded Waterton Lakes National Park. Together the two parks comprise Waterton-Glacier International Peace Park. In 1995 the parks were declared a World Heritage site for their vast cross section of plant and animal species. Although the name evokes images of binational harmony, in reality each park is operated separately, and entry to one does not entitle you to entry to the other.

Glacier remains open year-round; however, most services are open only from mid-May to September.

Orientation

Glacier's 1562 sq miles are divided into five regions, each centered on a ranger station: Polebridge (northwest); Lake McDonald (southwest), including the West Entrance and Apgar village; Two Medicine (southeast); St Mary (east); and Many Glacier (northeast). The 50-mile Going-to-the-Sun Rd is the only paved road that traverses the park.

Information

Visitor centers and ranger stations in the park sell field guides and hand out hiking maps. Those at Apgar and St Mary are open daily May to October; the visitor center at Logan Pass is open when Going-to-the-Sun Rd is open. The Many Glacier, Two Medicine and Polebridge Ranger Stations close at the end of September. Park headquarters (☎ 406-888-7800; www.nps.gov/glac; 🕑 8am-4:30pm Mon-Fri), in West Glacier between US 2 and Apgar, is open year-round.

Entry to the park (hiker/vehicle $12/25) is valid for seven days. Day-hikers don't need permits, but overnight backpackers do (May to October only). Half of the permits (per person per day $4) are available on a first-come, first-served basis from the Apgar Backcountry Permit Center (which is open May 1 to October 31), St Mary Visitor Center, and the Many Glacier, Two Medicine and Polebridge Ranger Stations.

The other half can be reserved at the Apgar Backcountry Permit Center, St Mary and Many Glacier Visitor Centers and Two Medicine and Polebridge Ranger Stations.

Sights & Activities

Starting at Apgar, the phenomenal Going-to-the-Sun Road skirts shimmering Lake McDonald before angling sharply to the Garden Wall – the main dividing line between the west and east sides of the park. At Logan Pass you can stroll 1.5 miles to Hidden Lake Overlook; heartier hikers can try the 7.5-mile Highline Trail. About halfway between the pass and St Mary Lake, the Continental Divide

WORTH THE TREK: ICEBERG LAKE HIKE

Considering the rate at which Glacier is losing its glaciers, it's now more important than ever to undertake the five- to six-hour 9-mile day Iceberg Lake hike, a classic favorite.

Enclosed by stunning 3000ft vertical headwalls on three sides, it's one of the most impressive glacial lakes in North America. The 1200ft ascent is gentle and the approach is mostly at or above the tree line, affording awesome views. Wildflower fiends will delight in the meadows around the lake.

Iceberg Lake was named in 1905 by George Grinnell, who saw icebergs calving from the glacier at the foot of the headwalls. The glacier is no longer active, but surface ice and avalanche debris still provide sizable flotillas of bergs as the lake melts in early summer. Scientists predict that if global climate-warming trends continue, all of the park's 50-some moving ice masses will be completely melted by 2030, so there's no better time than the present to see this ancient ice. The hike begins and ends at Iceberg Lake trailhead near the Many Glacier Ranger Station.

Trail crosses the road at Siyeh Bend, a good starting point for multiday hikes.

Busier routes include the 5-mile Grinnell Glacier Trail, which climbs 1600ft to the base of the park's most visible glacier, and the 6-mile Cracker Lake Trail, a 1400ft climb to some of the park's most dramatic scenery. For more solitude, try trails in the North Fork or Two Medicine areas. North of the Canadian border, the approaches to spectacular hikes are much shorter.

Glacier Park Boat Co (☎ 406-257-2426; www.glacierparkboats.com) rents out kayaks and canoes, and runs popular guided tours (adult/child $22/11) from five locations in Glacier National Park.

Sleeping

There are 13 NPS campgrounds (☎ 406-888-7800; http://reservations.nps.gov; camp sites $15) and seven historic lodges in the park, which operate between mid-May and the end of September. Of the sites, only Fish Creek and St Mary can be reserved in advance (up to five months). Sites fill by midmorning, particularly in July and August.

Glacier also has seven historic lodges from the early 1800s.

Lake McDonald Lodge (☎ 406-888-5431; www.lakemcdonaldlodge.com; Lake McDonald Valley; r from $120; 🕒 Jun-Sep; ☒) Built in 1913, this old hunting lodge is adorned with stuffed-animal trophies and exudes relaxed ambience. The 100 rooms are in lodge-, chalet- or motel-style digs. Nightly park ranger talks and lake cruises are popular activities. There's an on-site restaurant and pizzeria.

Glacier Park Lodge (☎ 406-226-5600; www.glacierparkinc.com; East Glacier; r from $140; 🕒 late May–Sep; ☒) The park's flagship lodge is a graceful, elegant place featuring interior balconies supported by Douglas fir timbers and a massive stone fireplace in the lobby. It's an aesthetically appealing, historically charming and very comfortable place to stay. Pluses include nine holes of golf and cozy reading nooks.

Many Glacier Hotel (☎ 406-732-4411; www.manyglacierhotel.com; Many Glacier Valley; r from $145; 🕒 mid-Jun–mid-Sep; ☒) Modeled after a Swiss chalet, this national historic landmark on Swiftcurrent Lake is the park's largest hotel, with 208 rooms featuring panoramic views. Evening entertainment, a lounge and fine-dining restaurant specializing in fondue all add to the appeal.

Prince of Wales Hotel (☎ 403-859-2231; www.princeofwaleswaterton.com; Prince of Wales Rd, Waterton townsite, Waterton Lakes National Park; r from C$350; 🕒 mid-May–Sep; ☒) On the Canadian side, the venerable Prince of Wales Hotel is a national historic site perched on a rise overlooking the lake. Though photogenic from a distance (we're talking cover-model material), up close the hotel looks smaller and much more genteel. Nevertheless, the views alone are worth the price.

Eating

In summer there are grocery stores with limited camping supplies in Apgar, Lake McDonald Lodge, Rising Sun and at the Swiftcurrent Motor Inn. Most lodges have on-site restaurants, although the quality of food varies.

Dining options in East or West Glacier are unexciting. If you can, head to Whitefish.

Getting There & Around

Amtrak's Empire Builder stops at East Glacier (Glacier Park Station) and West Glacier (Belton Station). Glacier Park, Inc (☎ 406-892-2525) runs shuttles over Going-to-the-Sun Rd, including the unreservable Hiker's Shuttle ($12 to $26), which originates in West Glacier or Many Glacier.

IDAHO

Once could argue that with more protected wilderness areas and national forest than any state except Alaska, the beguiling blue-green backcountry wonderland that is Idaho is the lower 48's last great wild place. Wedged into the space where the Pacific Northwest's lush, green curves and the Rocky Mountain's craggy glacier-capped peaks meet at the far western edge of the Mountain time zone, sunsets here seemingly last forever. Summer twilight stretches on toward 11pm, and even in winter Boise gets dark a full hour later than Denver.

Yet despite all the blue-ribbon trout fishing, extreme white-water rafting, first-class skiing (with a ritzy movie-star crowd to boot) and scenic drives galore, Idaho is left off most conventional Rocky Mountain road-trip itineraries. In fact, one could argue that this state, which gets more press for its potatoes, neo-Nazi groups and Bruce Willis ties than it does for ravishing natural beauty and boundless outdoor adventure options, is America's best-kept secret backcountry playground.

Information

Idaho Road Conditions (☎ 208-336-6600, within Idaho 888-432-7623)

Idaho State Parks & Recreation (☎ 208-334-4199; www.idahoparks.org) Camping in Idaho state parks costs between $9 (for a primitive, no facilities, tent site) and $22 (full-service campground with RV hookups). There are also cabins and yurts available for rent in some parks. Reservations for campsites, cabins and yurts in all parks can be made online or over the phone (☎ 888-922-6743).

Idaho Tourist Information (☎ 800-635-7820; www.visitid.org)

IDAHO FACTS

Nickname Gem State

Population 1.5 million

Area 82,747 sq miles

Capital city Boise (population 198,650)

Sales tax 6%, plus up to 3% city tax

Birthplace of Sacagawea (1787–1812), Shoshone woman who guided the Lewis and Clark expedition; Gutzon Borglum (1867–1941), sculptor of Mt Rushmore; Picabo Street (b 1971), Olympic skiing medalist

Home of Bruce Willis, Demi Moore, Ashton Kutcher

Famous for Spuds (potatoes), wilderness, white water, hunting

Movie trivia The smash indie flick Napoleon Dynamite was set and filmed in eastern Idaho

Driving distances Boise to Boulder 890 miles, Sun Valley to Los Angeles 981 miles

BOISE

Boise is positively buzzing these days. Not only is it Idaho's largest city and capital, it's also young, hip and fun. With an outdoors slant and hippie-trendy vibe, this city boasts a mixture of Basque and Western architecture where the desert meets the mountains. It's a lively town, where cafés and restaurants stay open late, and crowds from nightspots spill onto the streets on hot summer nights. Locals consider Boise a gay-friendly city, and it has an active gay and lesbian community. And in recent years more than a few magazines have named it as one of America's top places to live.

Orientation & Information

Delve into the main business district, bounded by State, Grove, 4th and 9th Sts. Restaurants and nightspots are found downtown in the brick-lined pedestrian plaza of the Grove, the gentrified former warehouse district between 8th St and Idaho Ave.

WORTH THE TREK: SPERRY CHALET

It's worth trekking nearly 7 miles one way to sleep at the 17-room Sperry Chalet (☎ 888-345-2649; www.sperrychalet.com; s/d incl meals $170/285; 🕒 Jul 7–Sep 8) for the views alone. This is the heart of the high country, where wildflower-strewn meadows, jagged peaks and babbling brooks make the place feel like nirvana. Factor in a chance to sleep away from it all in a rustic Swiss-style chalet (which just happens to serve hot meals) on the edge of a ridge staring down at Lake McDonald, and the deal gets even sweeter. Rates include meals, and you can hire a mule to carry your gear for an extra $130 – check out www.mule-shoe.com for reservations.

Stop by the visitor center (☎ 208-344-5338, 800-635-5240; www.boise.org; 850 Front St; 🕐 10am-5pm Mon-Fri, 10am-2pm Sat Jun-Aug, 9am-4pm Mon-Fri Sep-May).

Sights & Activities

Boise has the largest population of Basque descendants outside Europe's Basque country. Along Grove St between 6th St and Capitol Blvd, the Basque Block has sites commemorating early Basque pioneers.

Boise is bursting with outdoor adventures, from hiking to skiing to swimming. In the foothills above town, hit the Ridge to Rivers Trail System (www.ridgetorivers.org), offering 75 miles of scenic to strenuous hiking and mountain-biking routes.

In summer everyone loves to float down the Boise River. Rent tubes or rafts at Barber Park (☎ 208-343-6564; Warm Spring Rd; tube rental $8) and float 5 miles downstream. A shuttle bus ($5) runs from the take-out point.

Festivals & Events

Boise River Festival (☎ 208-338-8887; www.boiseriverfestival.org) Parades, sporty fun and lots for kids; held the last weekend in June.

Snake River Stampede (☎ 208-466-8497; www.snakeriverstampede.com) Action-packed pro rodeo in Nampa; held late July.

Art in the Park (☎ 208-345-8330) Outdoor art fest held the weekend after Labor Day.

Sleeping

Hostel Boise (☎ 208-467-6858; 17322 Canada Rd, Nampa; www.hostelboise.com; dm/s/d $20/35/45; 💻 📶 👪) This country hostel just outside town has dorms with a maximum of four beds, as well as private rooms. There's a BBQ on the back patio, and lots of yard space for lying around and digesting after grilling up those tasty Boca Burgers. Lifts from the airport cost $10 each way, and advance notice is required.

Hotel 43 (☎ 800-243-4622; www.hotel43.com; 981 Grove St; r $85-270; ❄ 📶) Named after the latitude (Boise sits on the 43rd parallel) and in honor of Idaho being the 43rd state, this is an urban cozy boutique hotel in the heart of downtown. The 112 rooms and suites are artfully laid out and feature views of the state capitol and surrounding foothills. The swanky on-site Chandlers Restaurant and Martini Bar (mains from $15) is one of Boise's most popular watering and eating holes.

Grove Hotel (☎ 208-333-8000; www.grovehotelboise.com; 245 S Capital Blvd; r from $125; ❄ 📶 🏊) Its outside looks bland, but Boise's only four-star hotel feels more than classy inside. The European-influenced decor features cherry-paneled walls, warm tones and neoclassical chandeliers. With cocktail lounges, restaurants and cozy public areas, this is one of Boise's best bets for upscale accommodations.

Eating & Drinking

Eat your way around the globe on one block. Most of Boise's bars and restaurants are found along N 8th St between Idaho and Grove Sts. Offerings include everything from French to Greek and Mexican. Have a wander. There are many more good options than we have room to print.

Piehole (☎ 208-344-7783; 205 N 8th St; pizza slices from $1.85; 🕐 11am-late; 📶) For cheap pizza by the slice and an ice-cold Pabst, you can't beat this Boise dive. There are four loaded pizza slice specials each day (along with the usual assortment of made-to-order pies). These rotate, but always include unique topping combos.

Bittercreek Ale House & Red Feather Lounge (☎ 208-345-1813; 246 N 8th St; mains $7-15; 🕐 11:30am-late) These adjoining restaurants (owned by the same people) have lively sidewalk patios, intimate environs and lots of personality. They also serve wholesome, usually locally produced food with an emphasis on sustainable growth. The nouveau American menu at Bittercreek features a good selection of vegetarian options (it does organic Idaho black bean burgers on request). Order one of the whiskey cocktails made using an old-fashioned preprohibition-era recipe. Try the bourbon sour with lemon, whiskey, egg whites and sugar (c 1860). The Red Feather is slightly more upscale, and does delicious wood-oven pizza and a set three-course menu for two (per person $23).

our pick 8th Street Wine Co (☎ 208-426-9463; 405 S 8th St; mains $8-15; 🕐 11am-11pm) This trendy BoDo warehouse wine bar is gaining national attention – Food & Wine Magazine recently called it one of America's best wine experiences. There are more than 1000 bottles to choose from, including 50 by the glass. Along with wine, there are microbrews, sweet cocktails and delicious food in light and airy environs.

Bardenay (☎ 208-426-0538; 610 Grove St) One of Boise's most unique watering holes, Bardenay was the USA's very first 'distillery-pub,' and remains a one-of-a-kind. Today it serves its own home-brewed vodka, rum and gin in casual, airy environs. It gets consistently good reviews.

Getting There & Around

Boise Municipal Airport (BOI; ☎ 208-383-3110; I-84 exit 53) has daily flights to Denver, Las Vegas, Phoenix, Portland, Salt Lake City, Seattle and Spokane. Greyhound services depart from the bus station (☎ 208-343-3681; 1212 W Bannock St). Boise Urban Stages (BUS; ☎ 208-336-1010) operates local buses, including an airport route (bus 13).

KETCHUM & SUN VALLEY

In one of Idaho's most stunning natural locations, Ketchum sits inside a volcanic crater surrounded by igneous rocks resembling ashy rippled potato chips that stick straight up from the valley floor. The town's stunning scenery is only the icing on the cake. Thanks to the highly rated Sun Valley ski resort just 1 mile away, little Ketchum is also Idaho's most popular destination. A longtime favorite with high rollers, Sun Valley frequently takes top honors as one of the best ski resorts in the USA. Trophy homes of the truly rich and famous dot the hilltops, and it's not uncommon to see a shining Hollywood face cruising down a slope.

Despite the swank appeal, Ketchum feels polished rather than pretentious. Easy on the eyes and heart, it's more like the au naturel girl next door than the perfectly coiffed, big-city diva. The quaint downtown is meticulously maintained, and a delightful place to stroll – filled with organic juice shops, wonderful bookstores and unique shops.

Orientation & Information

Main St between 1st and 5th Sts is where you'll find nearly all the businesses. The turnoff for Sun Valley is at the north end of town. Twelve miles south of Ketchum, also on Hwy 75, is Hailey, another small town. This is where most of the seasonal workers and many locals live. It has a lively bar scene.

For info, try the Sun Valley/Ketchum Visitors Center (☎ 208-726-3423, 866-305-0408; www.visitsunvalley.com; 411 Main St; 🕘 9am-6pm).

Activities

Famous for its light, fluffy powder and celebrity guests, Sun Valley Resort (☎ 800-786-8259; www.sunvalley.com) is comprised of advanced-terrain Bald Mountain (lift ticket $55-80) and easier-on-the-nerves Dollar Mountain (lift ticket adult $32-38, child $16-30). The USA's first destination ski resort, built by Averell Horriman, chairman of the Union Pacific railroad, Sun Valley has been a success from the day it opened in 1936. Dollar Mountain also has a tubing hill (adult/child $10/5). In summer, take the chairlift to the top of either mountain, and hike or cycle down. There are numerous other hiking and mountain biking trails around Ketchum and Sun Valley, as well as excellent fishing spots.

STARS IN YOUR EYES

Nobel Prize–winning author (and avid sportsman) Ernest Hemingway (1899–1961) was a frequent visitor to Sun Valley, and spent his last years in Ketchum, where he's buried. Nearby Hailey is half-owned, and partially lived in, by Bruce Willis and assorted family members.

Sleeping

Lift Tower Lodge (☎ 208-726-5163; 703 S Main St; r $65-100) This friendly small motel in downtown Ketchum offers free continental breakfasts and a hot tub. It sits next to a landmark exhibition chairlift c 1939 and is the best budget bet in town.

Tamarack Lodge (☎ 208-726-3344; www.tamaracksunvalley.com; 500 E Sun Valley Rd; r $120; ❄ 📶 🏊) Tasteful rooms complete with fireplace, balcony and many amenities are offered at this well-maintained lodge. The Jacuzzi and indoor pool are definite assets. Discounts are often available midweek and off-season.

Sun Valley Lodge (☎ 208-622-2001; 1 Sun Valley Rd; r from $150; ☒ ❄ 💻 📶 🏊 👪) Hemingway completed For Whom the Bell Tolls here, and although the place is fading slightly from its original luxurious sheen, it still remains one of the most popular top-end hotels, getting good marks for its old-fashioned elegance. Rooms are comfortable, although some are a tad cramped. Amenities include a fitness facility, game room, bowling alley and sauna. It runs a ski shuttle and has a children's program.

Eating & Drinking

Rickshaw (☎ 208-726-8481; 460 Washington Ave N; small plates & mains $5-12; 🕘 5:30-10pm Tue-Sat, 11:30am-2pm Fri) This supercool painted shack just off Main St does delicious tapas. The menu is Asian fusion – creative, fresh small plates inspired by the cuisine of Vietnam, Thailand, China and Indonesia, which the chef refers to as 'Asian street food.' Be careful how much you order. Most portions are small, and it's easy to spend a fortune before you feel stuffed. The exception is the special Friday lunch menu, when full meals cost less than $10.

Desperado's (☎ 208-726-3068; 211 4th St; mains $7-10; ⏲ 11:30am-10pm Mon-Sat) Despo's is a bright, busy and colorful eatery specializing in reasonably priced Mexican food. Fill up on burritos, chimichangas and tacos; wash them down with a margarita.

Ketchum Grill (☎ 208-726-4660; 520 East Ave; mains $10-20; ⏲ 5:30pm-close) A local favorite, Ketchum Grill boasts a creative menu bursting with fresh fare. The elegant offerings include lots of seafood, along with plenty of veggie options.

Whiskey Jacques (☎ 208-726-5297; 251 Main St; cover up to $5; ⏲ 4pm-2am) Sun Valley's top nightspot is purported to have been one of Ernest Hemingway's favorite watering holes. A rustic, Old West saloon-style spot, it's where to go for smooth cocktails, a game of pool, dancing and live music.

Getting There & Around

The region's airport Friedman Memorial Airport (☎ 208-788-4956) in Hailey, 12 miles south of Ketchum. A-1 Taxi (☎ 208-726-9351) offers rides to the airport from Ketchum ($22).

Ketchum Area Rapid Transit (KART; ☎ 208-726-7576; ⏲ 8am-6pm Mon-Fri) operates free daily bus service between Ketchum and Sun Valley.

HWY 75: KETCHUM TO STANLEY

Following the Salmon River, Hwy 75 north from Ketchum to Stanley is part of the nationally designated Sawtooth Scenic Byway. The 60-mile drive is gorgeous, winding through a misty, thick ponderosa pine forest – where the air is crisp and fresh and smells like rain and nuts – before ascending the 8701ft Galena Summit. From the overlook at the top, there are views of the glacially carved Sawtooth Mountains, part of the 1180-sq-mile Sawtooth National Recreation Area (☎ 208-727-5000; Hwy 75; ⏲ 8am-4:30pm Sep-May, to 5pm Jun-Aug). It is home to 40 peaks over 10,000ft, over 300 high-alpine lakes, 100 miles of streams and 750 miles of trails.

STANLEY

Tiny Stanley (population 100) just might be the most scenic small town in America. Surrounded entirely by protected wilderness and national-forest land, the remote outpost is nestled into the crook of Salmon River, miles from anywhere. It's the kind of place where peaceful high summer twilight stretches on past 10pm, and you fall asleep to the river's melodic roar.

The US Department of Transportation thinks as highly of Stanley's beauty too. When deciding which of the country's two-lane highways were worthy of earning national scenic byway status, all three roads into Stanley made the cut (it's the only place in the USA where this happens). Considering there are only 125 such roads in the country, it means 2.4% of American's prettiest pavement runs through bucolic Stanley.

Activities

There is epic trout fishing on the Salmon and in surrounding mountain lakes from March until November, with late June to early October the best time for dry-fly fishing. Sawtooth Fishing Guides (☎ 208-774-TROUT; www.sawtoothfishingguides.com) does custom trips to remote river spots only accessible via drift

SOMETHING DIFFERENT – GETTING JUICED ON BOOKS

For something different, pay a visit to Chapter One Bookstore (☎ 208-726-5425; 160 N Main St), which has been delighting locals and tourists with its wide selection of books – including out-of-print titles – for more than 30 years. Check out the special fiction section dedicated to books about or by authors from Idaho and the Pacific Northwest. It also features lots of spirituality and wellness titles. When you've finished browsing, head to Ashaka Organics, the old-school hippie juice bar in the back of the store, for a revitalizing smoothie. The fruit, root and spice concoctions are delightfully refreshing and meant to fuel everything from mental awareness to immunity. Ask for a potion that fits how you feel – we loved the citrus blast ($6.50, and worth every penny). The small café, stocked with herbs and tinctures, also does a limited menu of organic veggie sandwiches, pizza and something called an 'energy ball.' The latter tastes like a fibrous, coconut-flavored doughnut hole, but is surprisingly delicious and provided the promised energy boost.

boat or float tube. There are no less than eight species of trout in these waters, including the mythical Steelhead. Measuring up to 40in, these fish swim east about 900 miles from the Pacific Ocean at the end of winter, arriving near Stanley in March and April.

Stanley is the jumping-off point for rafting the legendary Middle Fork of the Salmon (see the boxed text, opposite). For more affordable, albeit slightly less dramatic, whitewater action, do a DIY float trip down the Main Fork of the Salmon. There's 8 miles of quiet water starting in Stanley, with views of the Sawtooth Mountains you can't see from the road. Bring fishing gear. Float trips in inflatable kayaks (from $25) or inner tubes ($7) can be arranged through the Riverside Motel (see below), which also runs a shuttle service from the take-out ($20 per load).

Sleeping & Eating

There are about half a dozen hotels in Stanley, all done in traditional pioneer log-cabin style. During the short summer season (June to September) a couple of restaurants open up. There is a grocery and liquor store at the junction of Hwys 75 and 21.

our pick Riverside Motel (☎ 208-774-3409; www.riversidemotel.biz; Hwy 75; r & cabins $95-145; ☒ ❄ 📶) Oh the views… Perfectly perched above the Salmon, this family-run log cabin motel features well-appointed rooms with kitchenettes; pay extra for one of the eight with a river view. These have awesome private decks overlooking the rushing Salmon – grab a couple of cold beers and sit on yours long enough, and you'll surely reach a hypnotic state. The stripped-pine beds are ultra comfy, kitted out with nonscratchy linens and a big stuffed animal of some species for lights-out cuddles.

Bridge St Grill (☎ 208-774-2208; Hwy 75, Lower Stanley; 🕓 11:30am-close Jun-Aug) Right on the river, this is one of only a very few dining options in Stanley, and locals swear it's the best. Only open during the summer, Bridge St manages to serve tasty steaks, seafood, burgers and cold beer to a packed house nightly. Don't expect fast service. It's not that kind of place. Look for it about 1 mile north of Stanley proper.

HWY 21: STANLEY TO BOISE

The Ponderosa Pine Scenic Byway (Hwy 21) between Stanley and Boise is so beautiful, it's hard to reach your destination – you'll want to stop so much. From Stanley, the trees increase in density, until you find yourself enveloped in a sweetly scented cloak of pine. The look is different from the rest of the region, more Pacific Northwest than classic Rockies. Blue skies and wide open spaces are replaced with opaque grey skies. Fast-moving clouds bring frequent bursts of rain and the roadway can feel dangerous, its sides strewn with near-missed fallen boulders and giant logs. Mountains peak out of the thick fog cloak, and even in late May the snowfields stretch right down to the highway.

There are a number of designated camping areas along this byway. The primitive Kikham Creek Hot Springs (self-pay campsites $16), 6 miles east of Lowman, is our favorite. It's set by one of this geothermal region's natural hot springs, this one boiling out of the creek. Seeing the hot springs through a veil of summer rain, when the mist rises off the silver water, is magical. Stepping into the soothing heat is even better.

The Southfork Lodge (☎ 208-259-3871; www.southforklodge.biz; 7236 Hwy 21; r & cabins $89-125; 📶 👪) on Lowman's western edge is a good choice if you want to sleep near the hot springs, but aren't game to sacrifice the comforts of pillowtop mattress slumber. The nine rooms are spotless and quiet. Horseback riding can be arranged, and nearby Clear Creek has excellent fly-fishing. The restaurant (mains $6 to $25) has riverside patio seating, and kids will dig the ice-cream shop. Pets can stay for $10.

From Lowman the road follows a series of switchbacks up and over Mores Creek Pass before sliding into Idaho City. Once a rip-roaring 1860s gold-mining town, today

DON'T MISS

A one-hour drive southeast of Ketchum, Craters of the Moon National Monument (☎ 208-527-3257; vehicle/hiker or cyclist $4/2, 🕓 8am-4:30pm Sep-May, to 6pm Jun-Aug) is an 83-sq-mile volcanic showcase. Lava flows and tubes and cinder cones are found along the 7-mile Crater Loop Rd, accessible by car or bicycle from April to November. In winter it's popular with skiers and snowshoers. Short trails lead from Crater Loop Rd to crater edges, onto cinder cones and into tunnels and lava caves. A surreal campground (campsites $10) near the entrance station has running water only in summer.

FEEL THE RUSH: RAFTING THE MIDDLE FORK OF THE SALMON

From the first stomach-churning drop, a trip down the Salmon's Middle Fork is a river rat's wet dream. Averaging a 28ft descent per mile, the Middle Fork is considered one of the world's most exhilarating white-water trips (billed the 'last wild river,' it is part of the longest undammed river system outside Alaska). The 106-mile canyon boasts 300 rapids (from mild Class II rollers to raging Class IV+ waterfalls) and a 3000ft vertical descent. The action starts at the Boundary Creek put-in, just north of Stanley. From here, the Middle Fork worms through a deep canyon into the primeval heart of the majestic 2.4-million-acre Frank Church/River of No Return Wilderness Area. By the time you are a day into the journey, you'll be deep in a canyon, more than 100 miles from any type of road. Life stays this way until the river empties into the Main Fork of the Salmon at the end of the six-day adventure.

Trips aren't just about white water. Hikes to well-preserved art sites, fishing for native cutthroat and rainbow trout in gin-clear riffles, and just sitting back and soaking a white-water pummeled body in a bubbling riverside hot spring, are all part of the experience. Camping in a canyon a hundred miles from anywhere can prove nearly as thrilling as running the roller-coaster rapids. Even if you're not used to roughing it, there's something alluring about falling asleep to the roar of the river under a blanket of bright stars.

The Middle Fork is run between June and September. Early season (early to mid-June) features peak snowmelt and the season's most thrilling (though chilly) white water. Solitaire River Trips (☎ 800-396-1776; www.rivertrips.com; Mountain Village Lodge, Hwy 21, Stanley), owned by Al and Jeana Burkowsky (one or both always accompany all guests on trips), is one established outlet running trips down the Middle Fork. It gets consistently good reviews. Trips start and end at the Mountain Village Lodge, at the junction of Hwys 21 and 75, in Stanley. All-inclusive rates (including transport) start at around $1800 per person (six days).

If you know how to run rivers, the cheaper way to raft the Middle Fork is to do it yourself. You'll need to arrange the necessary river permit, but you need not worry about having gear. The Riverside Motel (see Sleeping & Eating, opposite) in Stanley rents out 13ft self-bailer rafts, including life jackets, oars, repair kit, dry bags, rope and even a cooler, for $425 per week.

it's less rowdy, but still a trip to visit. Pause for a photo in front of the pest house and county jail. In 1867 they were housed in the same dark timber and corrugated-tin roof building. Around the block is the most insane piece of Americana property we've ever laid eyes on. Covered from top to bottom with old signs, toilet seats and other random junk, the private residence can be viewed from the outside only, but should not be missed. To truly understand, we challenge you to visit.

The Idaho City Visitor Center (☎ 208-392-4159; www.idahocitychamber.com) has the scoop on the half-dozen restaurants and saloons in town. From Idaho City the pine slopes gently ease into rolling green hills covered in sage. From here it's less than 40 miles to Boise (p810).

HELLS CANYON NATIONAL RECREATION AREA

Plunging down 8913ft from Mt Oore's He Devil Peak on the east rim to the Snake River at Granite Creek, awe-inspiring Hells Canyon is North America's deepest gorge – thousands of feet deeper than the Grand Canyon. The remote 652,488-acre Hells Canyon National Recreation Area is one of the state's premier natural attractions, a must-see on any Idaho itinerary. Fishing, swimming, camping and dramatic views of the gorge and surrounding mountains are just a few of the highlights. The Snake National Wild & Scenic River winds through the canyon and is a favorite spot for rafting and jet boat trips. Nearly 900 miles of hiking trails traipse by riverbanks, past mountain peaks and along canyon walls decorated with ancient petroglyphs. Wildflowers color area meadows, and much wildlife resides here.

The Hells Canyon NRA spans the Idaho–Oregon state line, but the Oregon section is not readily accessible from Idaho. US 95 parallels its eastern boundary; a few unpaved roads lead from US 95 between the tiny towns of Riggins (a big rafting center) and White Bird into the NRA. Only one road leads from US 95 to the Snake River itself, at Pittsburg Landing.

Hells Canyon NRA Riggins (☎ 208-628-3916; 🕑 8am-5pm Mon-Fri) has maps and information on campgrounds, roads, trails and fishing.

Travelers with time (and high-clearance vehicles) can drive to the canyon rim on unpaved roads for dramatic views: USFS Rd 517 (open July to October), a quarter-mile south of the Hells Canyon Riggins office on US 95, climbs 17 miles to the rim and ends 2 miles later at the breathtaking Heaven's Gate Lookout.

IDAHO PANHANDLE

The long skinny spoon handle tipping north toward Canada was never supposed to belong to Idaho, but a land dispute with Montana ended with the state claiming the Panhandle. Still, in both looks and attitude this area differs from the rest of Idaho. An alluring region of seemingly impenetrable deep-green forests, rolling byways, rain and mist, it feels more like the Pacific Northwest than the Rockies.

Although it's specked with some pleasant resorts, lots and lots of lakes (and the accompanying water sports), the Panhandle is more of a local holiday spot than the kind of place one needs to go out of the way to see. But should you be driving across its narrow body anyway, there are a few places worth visiting. The Panhandle has a reputation – often inflated by the media – as a base for neo-Nazi, white-supremacist groups. However, you're far more likely to meet wildlife than wildly irrational people.

The Coeur d'Alene Visitors Center (☎ 208-665-2350; 115 Northwest Blvd; 🕑 10am-3pm Tue-Sat, to 5pm Jun-Aug) is a good regional info starting point.

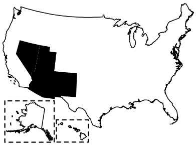
Sandpoint, in a gorgeous wilderness locale surrounded by mountains, is the nicest of the Panhandle's towns. Coeur d'Alene, on the Washington border, is the largest town, but is overdeveloped with a rather tacky boardwalk waterfront. It's not really worth stopping here unless it's late and you need to sleep, in which case go straight to the darling pink-doored Flamingo Motel (☎ 208-664-2159; 718 Sherman Ave; r $80-100; ☒ ❄), a retro 1950s throwback.

Further north in Sandpoint, the waterfront Lakeside Inn (☎ 208-263-3717; lakeside@televar.com; 106 Bridge St; r $65-95; ❄), featuring comfortable rooms and a Jacuzzi, is a solid option.

The old silver-mining town of Wallace exudes preserved Western flavor, and is a Panhandle attraction worth pausing for. The 60 lakes within 60 miles of Coeur d'Alene, including Hayden, Priest and Pend Oreille, all surrounded by campgrounds, are also good places to get lost.

© Lonely Planet. To make it easier for you to use, access to this chapter is not digitally restricted. In return, we think it's fair to ask you to use it for personal, non-commercial purposes only. In other words, please don't upload this chapter to a peer-to-peer site, mass email it to everyone you know, or resell it. See the terms and conditions on our site for a longer way of saying the above - 'Do the right thing with our content.'

Southwest



The Southwest is an awe-inspiring place, earning its reputation as the USA's land of adventure with plunging canyons, colossal buttes and towering mountains that beg to be explored. Slick brochures and adventure mags add to the allure, urging you to set out for the wild, test your limits, ponder the big picture or even bet the mortgage while living like a king. But really, much of the Southwest's charm comes from its 'do-able' adventures: slurping that first spoonful of green chili stew, riding a steam train to the Grand Canyon's rim, catching a new flick at the Sundance Film Festival or sliding down a sand dune on a big plastic disc.

The best part is, most of these adventures require a road trip, and if you're going to be traveling by car there's no better place than here. Two-lane roads and a handful of interstate highways connect a diverse range of forests and parks stretching from Utah's Wasatch Mountains to Monument Valley, the Grand Canyon and south to Carlsbad Caverns. Others loop lazily to nowhere, unfurling between quirky museums, remote gourmet restaurants and hideouts of Billy the Kid. The human population has the same variety, with Anglo, Native American and Hispanic residents forming a unique tricultural mix.

What more can we say? Find your keys, hop in the car and grab your piece of adventure – no matter how big or how small.

HIGHLIGHTS

- Hiking to panoramic views at the Grand Canyon (p851) and Canyonlands (p880)
- Gaping at monolithic red buttes from your balcony in Monument Valley Navajo Tribal Park (p858)
- Living the high life on the Las Vegas Strip (p822)
- Sledding the dunes at White Sands (p905)
- Slicing down the slopes of Park City (p874)
- Marveling at the Big Room inside Carlsbad Caverns (p908)
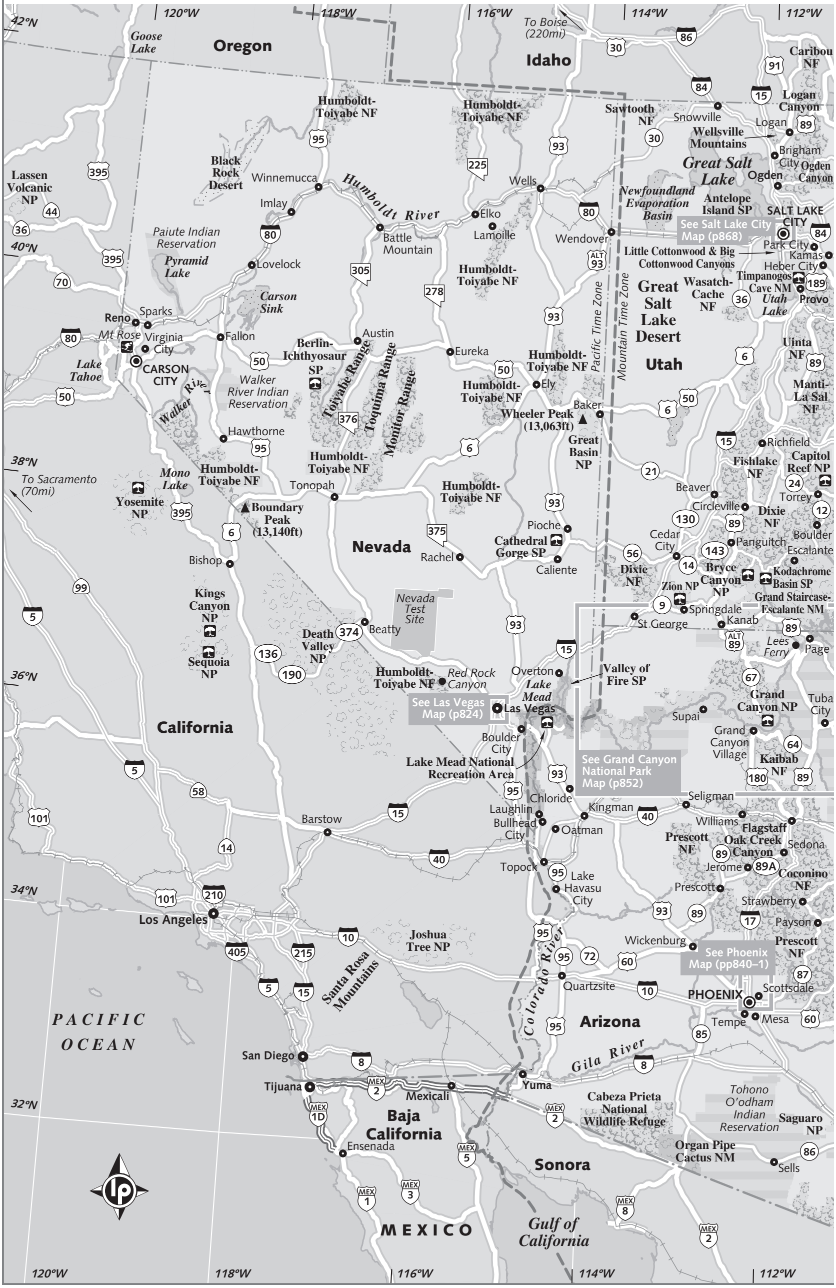
- Sliding and splashing over red rocks at Oak Creek Canyon (p849)
- Climbing into mysterious cliffside abodes at Bandelier (p898) or Gila Cliff Dwellings (p905)
- Enjoying a family-friendly float on the San Juan River in Bluff (p880) or on the Rio Grande outside Santa Fe (p900)
- Becoming a citizen of Black Rock City during the Burning Man (p835) festival

SOUTHWEST



120°W
118°W
116°W
114°W
112°W
42°N
40°N
38°N
36°N
34°N
32°N
Oregon
Idaho
Nevada
Utah
California
Arizona
Baja California
Sonora
MEXICO
PACIFIC OCEAN
Gulf of California
To Boise (220mi)
To Sacramento (70mi)
Goose Lake
Lassen Volcanic NP
Black Rock Desert
Paiute Indian Reservation
Pyramid Lake
Humboldt-Toiyabe NF
Humboldt River
Winnemucca
Imlay
Lovelock
Battle Mountain
Elko
Lamoille
Wells
Wendover
Sawtooth NF
Snowville
Logan
Logan Canyon
Caribou NF
Wellsville Mountains
Brigham City
Ogden
Ogden Canyon
Great Salt Lake
Newfoundland Evaporation Basin
Antelope Island SP
SALT LAKE CITY
See Salt Lake City Map (p868)
Park City
Kamas
Heber City
Little Cottonwood & Big Cottonwood Canyons
Wasatch-Cache NF
Timpanogos Cave NM
Utah Lake
Provo
Great Salt Lake Desert
Uinta NF
Manti-La Sal NF
Pacific Time Zone
Mountain Time Zone
Carson Sink
Reno
Sparks
Mt Rose
Virginia City
CARSON CITY
Lake Tahoe
Fallon
Walker River
Walker River Indian Reservation
Berlin-Ichthyosaur SP
Austin
Toiyabe Range
Toquima Range
Monitor Range
Eureka
Ely
Wheeler Peak (13,063ft)
Baker
Great Basin NP
Hawthorne
Mono Lake
Yosemite NP
Boundary Peak (13,140ft)
Tonopah
Bishop
Richfield
Fishlake NF
Capitol Reef NP
Torrey
Beaver Circleville
Dixie NF
Boulder
Cedar City
Panguitch
Escalante
Kodachrome Basin SP
Bryce Canyon NP
Zion NP
Springdale
Grand Staircase-Escalante NM
Kanab
St George
Pioche
Cathedral Gorge SP
Caliente
Rachel
Nevada Test Site
Kings Canyon NP
Sequoia NP
Death Valley NP
Beatty
Red Rock Canyon
Overton
Valley of Fire SP
Lake Mead
See Las Vegas Map (p824)
Las Vegas
Boulder City
Lake Mead National Recreation Area
Lees Ferry
Page
Supai
Grand Canyon NP
Tuba City
Grand Canyon Village
Kaibab NF
See Grand Canyon National Park Map (p852)
Chloride
Seligman
Kingman
Laughlin
Bullhead City
Oatman
Williams
Flagstaff
Prescott NF
Oak Creek Canyon
Sedona
Jerome
Coconino NF
Prescott
Strawberry
Payson
Barstow
Topock
Lake Havasu City
Los Angeles
Joshua Tree NP
Santa Rosa Mountains
Colorado River
Wickenburg
See Phoenix Map (pp840–1)
Prescott NF
Quartzsite
PHOENIX
Scottsdale
Tempe
Mesa
San Diego
Tijuana
Mexicali
Yuma
Gila River
Cabeza Prieta National Wildlife Refuge
Tohono O'odham Indian Reservation
Saguaro NP
Organ Pipe Cactus NM
Sells Ensenada
5
99
101
58
14
210
405
215 10 15
8 40
395
36 44
70 80 50
95
6
376
374
136
190
305
278
225
93
30
84
86 91
89 189
21 24 12
130 143
56
9
375
ALT 93
ALT 89
67
64
180
89A
17 87 60
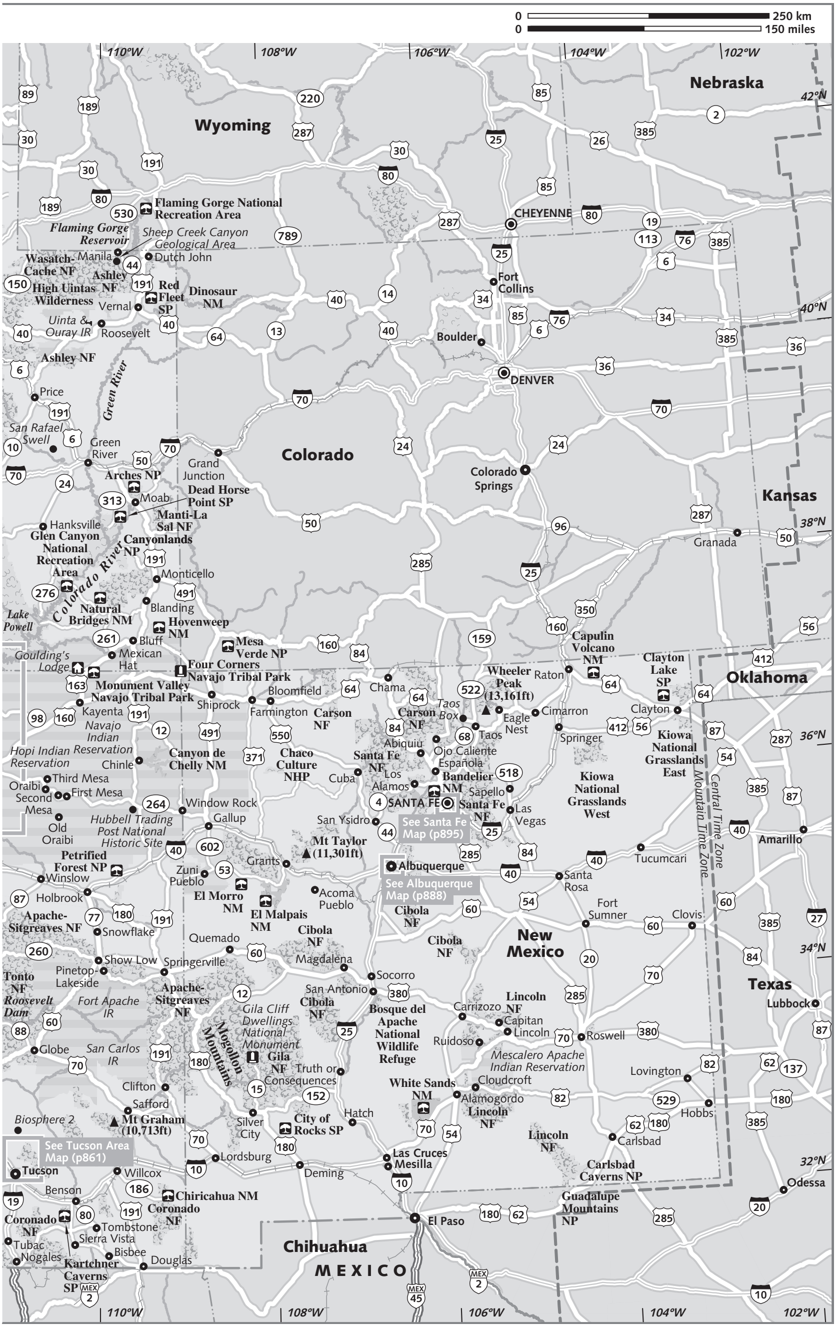
85
72
MEX 1
MEX 1D
MEX 2
MEX 3
MEX 5
MEX 8



0 250 km
0 150 miles
110°W
108°W
106°W
104°W
102°W
42°N
40°N
38°N
36°N
34°N
32°N
Wyoming
Nebraska
Colorado
Kansas
Oklahoma
New Mexico
Texas
Chihuahua
MEXICO
CHEYENNE DENVER
SANTA FE Albuquerque
El Paso
Flaming Gorge National Recreation Area
Flaming Gorge Reservoir
Sheep Creek Canyon Geological Area
Manila
Dutch John
Wasatch-Cache NF
Ashley NF
High Uintas Wilderness
Red Fleet SP
Dinosaur NM
Vernal
Uinta & Ouray IR Roosevelt
Ashley NF
Green River
Price
San Rafael Swell
Green River
Grand Junction
Arches NP
Moab
Dead Horse Point SP
Manti-La Sal NF
Hanksville
Glen Canyon National Recreation Area
Canyonlands NP
Colorado River
Monticello
Lake Powell
Natural Bridges NM
Blanding
Hovenweep NM Bluff
Mexican Hat
Goulding's Lodge
Mesa Verde NP
Four Corners Navajo Tribal Park
Monument Valley Navajo Tribal Park
Kayenta
Shiprock
Bloomfield Farmington
Carson NF
Chama
Navajo Indian Reservation
Hopi Indian Reservation
Chinle
Canyon de Chelly NM
Chaco Culture NHP
Third Mesa
Oraibi
Second Mesa
First Mesa
Old Oraibi
Window Rock
Hubbell Trading Post National Historic Site
Gallup
Petrified Forest NP
Winslow
Holbrook
Zuni Pueblo
El Morro NM
El Malpais NM Grants
Acoma Pueblo
Mt Taylor (11,301ft)
San Ysidro
Cuba
Santa Fe NF
Los Alamos
Abiquiu
Ojo Caliente
Española
Bandelier NM
Carson NF
Taos Box
Taos
Wheeler Peak (13,161ft)
Eagle Nest
Cimarron
Raton
Capulin Volcano NM
Clayton Lake SP
Clayton
Springer
Kiowa National Grasslands East
Kiowa National Grasslands West
Sapello
Santa Fe NF
Las Vegas
See Santa Fe Map (p895)
See Albuquerque Map (p888)
Cibola NF
Cibola NF
Santa Rosa
Tucumcari
Fort Sumner Clovis
Amarillo
Central Time Zone
Mountain Time Zone
Colorado Springs
Boulder
Fort Collins
Granada
Apache-Sitgreaves NF
Snowflake
Quemado
Cibola NF
Magdalena
Show Low
Springerville
Pinetop-Lakeside
Socorro
San Antonio
Tonto NF
Roosevelt Dam
Fort Apache IR
Apache-Sitgreaves NF
Gila Cliff Dwellings National Monument
Mogollon Mountains
Gila NF
Cibola NF
Bosque del Apache National Wildlife Refuge
Carrizozo
Lincoln NF
Capitan
Lincoln
Roswell
Ruidoso
Mescalero Apache Indian Reservation
Cloudcroft
Alamogordo
Lincoln NF
White Sands NM
Lincoln NF
Globe
San Carlos IR Clifton
Safford
Mt Graham (10,713ft)
Truth or Consequences
Silver City
City of Rocks SP
Hatch
Biosphere 2
See Tucson Area Map (p861)
Tucson
Willcox
Lordsburg
Deming
Las Cruces
Mesilla
Benson
Chiricahua NM
Coronado NF
Coronado NF
Tombstone
Sierra Vista Tubac
Bisbee
Nogales
Kartchner Caverns SP
Douglas
Lubbock
Lovington
Hobbs
Carlsbad
Carlsbad Caverns NP
Guadalupe Mountains NP
Odessa

HISTORY

The history of human habitation in the Southwest dates back 12,500 years. But by AD 100, three dominant and fascinating cultures had emerged: the Hohokam, the Mogollon and the Ancestral Puebloans (formerly known as the Anasazi).

The Hohokam lived in the Arizona deserts from 300 BC to AD 1450, and created an incredible canal irrigation system, earthen pyramids and a rich heritage of pottery. Archaeological studies suggest that a cataclysmic event in the mid-15th century caused a dramatic decrease in the Hohokam's population, most notably in larger villages. Though it's not entirely clear what happened or where the villagers went, the oral traditions of local tribes suggest that some Hohokam remained in the area and that members of these local tribes are their descendants. From 200 BC to AD 1450 the Mogollon people lived in the central mountains and valleys of the Southwest, and left behind what are now called the Gila Cliff Dwellings (p905).

The Ancestral Puebloans left the richest heritage of archaeological sites, like that at Chaco Culture National Historic Park (p902). Today descendants of the Ancestral Puebloans are found in the Pueblo groups throughout New Mexico. The Hopi are descendants, too, and their village Old Oraibi (p858) may be the oldest continuously inhabited settlement in North America.

In 1540 Francisco Vásquez de Coronado led an expedition from Mexico City to the Southwest. Instead of riches, his party found Native Americans, many of whom were then killed or displaced. More than 50 years later, Juan de Oñate established the first capital of New Mexico at San Gabriel. Great bloodshed resulted from Oñate's attempts to control Native American pueblos, and he left in failure in 1608. Santa Fe (p892) was established as a new capital the following year.

Development in the Southwest expanded rapidly during the 19th century, mainly due to railroad and geological surveys. As the US pushed west, the army forcibly removed whole tribes of Native Americans in often horrifyingly brutal Indian Wars. Gold and silver mines drew fortune seekers, and practically overnight the lawless mining towns of the Wild West mushroomed. Capitalizing on the development, the Santa Fe Railroad lured an ocean of tourists fascinated by the West's rugged beauty and Native American culture.

Modern settlement is closely linked to water use. Following the Reclamation Act of 1902, huge federally funded dams were built to control rivers, irrigate the desert and encourage development. Rancorous debates and disagreements over water rights continue today, especially with the phenomenal boom in residential development.

LOCAL CULTURE

More than just a pretty face, the Southwest is one of the most multicultural regions of the country, encompassing a rich mix of Native American, Hispanic and Anglo populations. These groups have all had a hand in influencing the area's cuisine, architecture and arts, but the Southwest's vast Native American reservations offer exceptional opportunities to learn about Native American culture and history. Visual arts are a strong force as well, from the art colonies dotting New Mexico to the roadside kitsch on view in small towns everywhere.

LAND & CLIMATE

The Southwest is jam-packed with one of the world's greatest concentrations of remarkable rock formations. Thanks to the area's soft and widespread sedimentary layers, rain and erosion readily carve them into fantastic shapes. The rich colors that imbue the landscape come from the unique mineral compositions of each rock type.

Although the Colorado Plateau encompasses a series of plateaus of between 5000ft and 8000ft in elevation and separated by deep canyons, the greatest among them is the Grand Canyon (p851).

While mountains are snowcapped in winter, most of the Southwest receives little annual rainfall. During summer, temperatures can soar to over 90°F (32°C); although it's dry heat, it's still uncomfortable. Nights are cooler, and spring and fall can be pleasant.

Southwestern summer rainstorms, often accompanied by lightning, can come out of nowhere, and flash floods occur regularly, sometimes from a storm many miles away. A dry riverbed or wash can become a raging torrent within minutes. Never camp in washes, and always inquire about conditions before entering canyons.

PARKS

The Southwest has the most fabulous concentration of national parks and monuments in North America. But keep in mind that a number of less crowded state parks are worth visiting.

One of the national park system's most deservedly popular destinations is the Grand Canyon National Park (p851) in Arizona. Other Arizona parks include Monument Valley Navajo Tribal Park (p858), a desert basin with towering sandstone pillars and buttes; Canyon de Chelly National Monument (p858), with ancient cliff dwellings; Petrified Forest National Park (p859), with its odd mix of Painted Desert and fossilized logs; and Saguaro National Park (p862), with pristine desert and giant cacti.

The southern red-rock Canyon Country in Utah includes five national parks: Arches (p879), Canyonlands (p880), Zion (p884), Bryce (p883) and Capitol Reef (p881), which offers exceptional wilderness solitude. Grand Staircase-Escalante National Monument (p882) is a mighty region of undeveloped desert.

New Mexico boasts both Carlsbad Caverns National Park (p908) and the mysterious Chaco Culture National Historic Park (p902). Nevada's only national park is Great Basin (p837), a rugged and remote mountain oasis.

For further information, check out the National Park Service (NPS; www.nps.gov) website. For information on the region's state parks, see p822 for Nevada, p839 for Arizona, p867 for Utah and p886 for New Mexico.

INFORMATION

American Southwest (www.americansouthwest.net) Arguably the most comprehensive site for national parks and natural landscapes of the Southwest.

American West Travelogue (www.amwest-travel.com) A selective reading list, photographs and more.

Notes from the Road (www.notesfromtheroad.com) Click on 'Desert Southwest' for travel writing on the region.

GETTING THERE & AROUND

Phoenix' Sky Harbor International Airport (p846) and Las Vegas' McCarran International Airport (p833) are the region's busiest airports, followed by the airports serving Salt Lake City, Albuquerque and Tucson. For domestic airlines, see p1159.

Long-distance buses (p1160), including Greyhound, can get you to major points within the region but don't serve all national parks or important, off-track tourist towns such as Moab. Be aware that bus terminals can be in less safe areas of town.

Private vehicles are often the only means to reach out-of-the-way towns, trailheads and swimming spots. For information on renting a car, see p1164.

Train service with Amtrak (p1166) is much more limited than the bus system, although it does link many major Southwestern towns and offers bus connections to other towns (including Santa Fe and Phoenix). The California Zephyr traverses Utah and Nevada; the Southwest Chief stops in Arizona and New Mexico; and the Sunset Limited cuts through southern Arizona and New Mexico.

NEVADA

A vast and mostly empty stretch of desert, a few former mining towns that have traded pickaxes for the levers of slot machines, and the mother lode, Las Vegas – this is where people still catch gold fever.

The first state to legalize gambling, Nevada is loud with the chime of slot machines singing out from gas stations, supermarkets and hotel lobbies. Pockets of licensed brothels dot the landscape. There's no legally mandated closing time for bars, so get ready to see grandmas in the casino, beers in hand, at 2am. Nevada banks on what people really want.

At the fringes of this grown-up play land, artists in search of cheap digs and lots of space have been staking their claim. Witness the peaceful riot of self-expression at Burning Man or spend time exploring Reno's thriving art scene, and the state never feels quite the same.

History

Nevada's first inhabitants were the Paiute and Ancestral Puebloan people. Though claimed by Spain, Nevada was scarcely touched by Europeans until the 1820s, when trappers ventured into the Humboldt River Valley. Most 19th-century emigrants passed straight through Nevada to the California goldfields. But in 1859 the Comstock Lode – the largest silver deposit ever mined – was discovered south of Reno.

THE SOUTHWEST…

In One Week

Swoop down on Phoenix (p839) to check out the burgeoning arts scene then cruise over to Scottsdale (p842) for top-notch shopping and gallery-hopping in the Old Town district. Next up is Sedona (p849) for spiritual recharging before pondering the immensity of the Grand Canyon (p851). Detour onto the largest surviving stretch of Route 66 (p860), then brave the jarring road to the Hualapai Nation's spectacular Grand Canyon Skywalk (p856). For your last few days, indulge your fantasies in Las Vegas (below) or earmark one day for the high life and spend the rest on an out-and-back visit to Zion National Park (p884).

In Two Weeks

Try your luck in Las Vegas (below) before kicking back in funky Flagstaff (p847) and peering into the abyss at Grand Canyon National Park (p851). Check out collegiate Tucson (p860) or frolic among the cacti at Saguaro National Park (p862). Watch the high-noon gunslinging in Tombstone (p865) before settling into Victorian Bisbee (p865).

Head east to the blinding dunes of White Sands National Monument (p905), then sink into Santa Fe (p892), a magnet for art-lovers. Explore a pueblo in Taos (p899) and watch the sunrise at awesome Monument Valley Navajo Tribal Park (p858). Head into Utah for the red-rock national parks, Canyonlands (p880) and Arches (p879). Savor a fresh fruit pie at Capitol Reef (p881) and do the hoodoos at Bryce Canyon (p883). Pay your respects at glorious Zion (p884), before returning to Las Vegas.

As the Comstock Lode was mined out, the population of Nevada declined. In the early 20th century, new mineral discoveries temporarily revived the state's fortunes, but the Great Depression brought an end to those dreams. So in 1931 the state government legalized gambling and created agencies to tax it, turning an illegal activity into a revenue source and tourist attraction. Today the state thrives on tourism, with most revenues coming from the ubiquitous casinos.

Information

Prostitution is illegal in Clark County (which includes Las Vegas) and Washoe County (which includes Reno), although there are legal brothels in many of the smaller counties.

TOP FIVE PARKS IN THE SOUTHWEST

- Grand Canyon National Park (p851)
- Monument Valley Navajo Tribal Park (p858)
- Arches National Park (p879)
- Zion National Park (p884)
- Carlsbad Caverns National Park (p908)

Nevada is on Pacific Standard Time and has two areas codes: Las Vegas and vicinity is ☎ 702, while the rest of the state is ☎ 775.

Nevada Commission on Tourism (☎ 775-687-4322; www.travelnevada.com; 401 N Carson St, Carson City) Sends free books, maps and information on accommodations, campgrounds and events.

Nevada Department of Transportation (☎ 877-687-6237; www.nvroads.com) For up-to-date road conditions.

Nevada Division of State Parks (☎ 775-684-2770; www.parks.nv.gov; 901 S Stewart St, 5th fl, Carson City) Camping in state parks ($10 to $15 per night) is first-come, first-served.

LAS VEGAS

The only place in the world you can see ancient hieroglyphics, the Eiffel Tower, Brooklyn Bridge and the canals of Venice in a few short hours. Sure, they're all reproductions, but in a slice of desert that's transformed itself into one of the most lavish places on earth, you can bet that the fakery is slicker than a card shark dealing from the bottom of the deck. Nothing is halfway here, even the illusions.

A neon-clad metropolis catering to the unruffled high roller, college kids in search of cheap debauchery and easy hookups, and everyone in between, Sin City aims to infatuate, and its reaches are all-inclusive. Hollywood bigwigs gyrate at A-list ultralounges, while grandparents whoop it up at the penny slots. You can sip designer martinis as you sample the apex of world-class cuisine or wander the casino floor with a 3ft-high cocktail tied around your neck.

If that sounds more like hell than heaven, Las Vegas has its share of resorts that somehow manage to marry the glamour and excitement of gaming with the beauty of Nevada's great outdoors. If you can dream up the kind of vacation you want, it's already a reality here.

Vegas is Hollywood for the everyman, where you play the role instead of watching it – welcome to the dream factory.

History

Contrary to Hollywood legend, there was much more at the dusty crossroads than a gambling parlor and some tumbleweeds the day mobster Ben 'Bugsy' Siegel rolled in and erected a glamorous tropical-themed casino, the Flamingo, under the searing sun.

Speared into the modern era by the completion of a railroad that linked up Salt Lake City to Los Angeles in 1902, Las Vegas boomed in the 1920s thanks to federally sponsored construction projects. The legalization of gambling in 1931 then carried Vegas through the Great Depression. WWII brought a huge air-force base and big aerospace bucks, plus a paved highway to Los Angeles. Soon after, the Cold War justified the Nevada Test Site. It proved to be a textbook case of 'any publicity is good publicity': monthly above-ground atomic blasts shattered casino windows downtown, while the city's official Miss Mushroom Cloud mascot promoted atomic everything in tourism campaigns.

A building spree sparked by the Flamingo in 1946 led to mob-backed tycoons upping the glitz ante at every turn. Big-name entertainers, like Frank Sinatra, Liberace and Sammy Davis Jr, arrived on stage at the same time as topless French showgirls.

The high-profile purchase of the Desert Inn in 1966 by eccentric billionaire Howard Hughes gave the gambling industry a much-needed patina of legitimacy. The debut of the MGM Grand in 1993 signaled the dawn of the era of the corporate megaresort.

An oasis in the middle of a final frontier, Sin City continues to exist chiefly to satisfy the desires of visitors. Hosting 37.5 million people a year, until recently Las Vegas was the engine of North America's fastest-growing metropolitan area. The housing crisis hit residents here especially hard, but if history is any judge, the city will double-down and resume its winning streak in no time.

NEVADA FACTS

Nicknames Silver State, Sagebrush State
Population 2.6 million
Area 109,826 sq miles
Capital city Carson City (population 55,000)
Other cities Las Vegas (population 552,539), Reno (population 210,255)
Sales tax 6.5%
Birthplace of First Lady Thelma 'Pat' Nixon (1912–93), tennis pro Andre Agassi (b 1970)
Home of Nevada Test Site, Burning Man festival
Famous for Las Vegas, the Comstock Lode near Virginia City, legal prostitution Best souvenir Life-size cardboard likeness of Liberace at Liberace Museum, Las Vegas Driving distances Las Vegas to Boulder City (Hoover Dam) 32 miles, Las Vegas to Reno 500 miles

Orientation

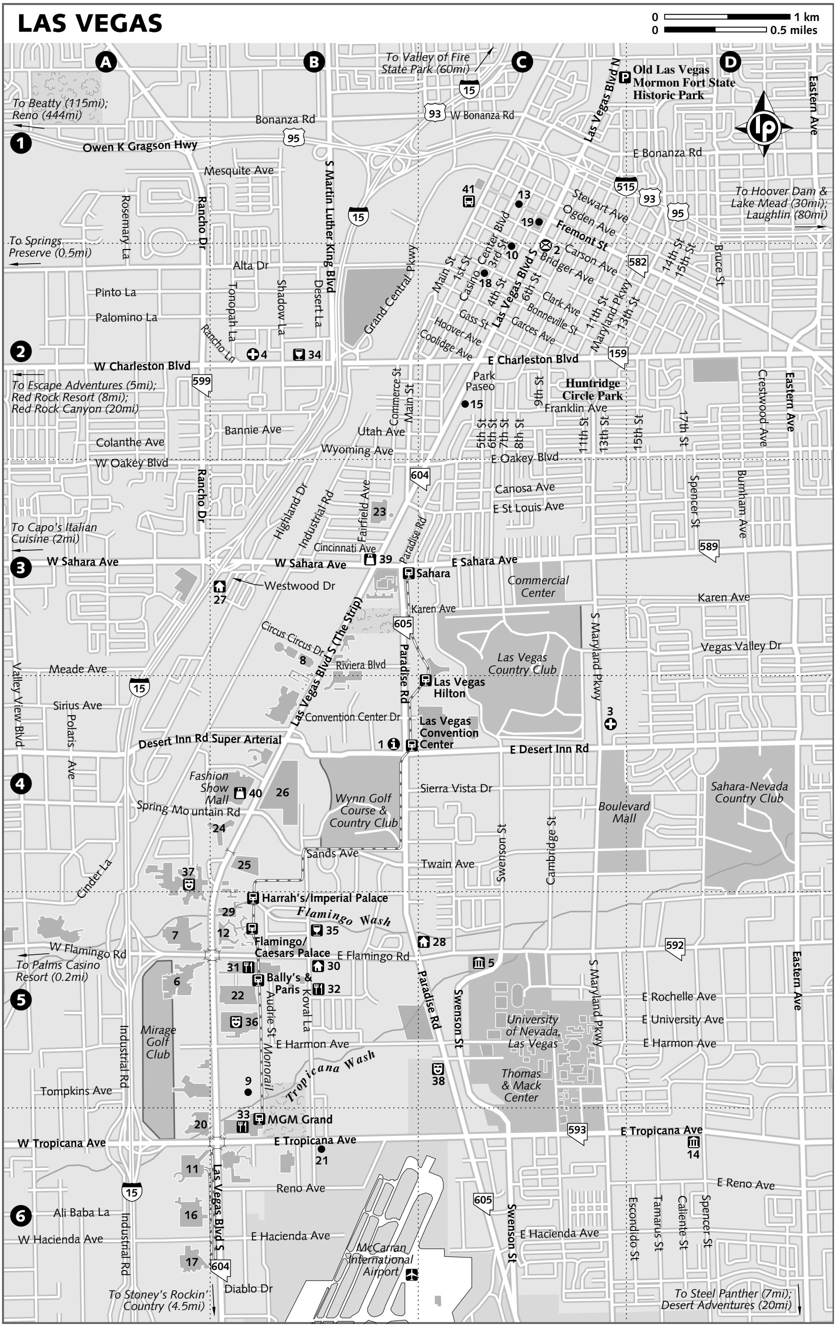
The Strip, aka Las Vegas Blvd, is the center of gravity in Sin City. Roughly four miles long, this is where you'll find most of the massive (2000 sleeping rooms on the small end) hotel-casinos and all of the big stage shows. Circus Circus Las Vegas caps the north end of the Strip and Mandalay Bay is on the south end near the airport. It can take more than 15 minutes to drive from one end to the other, and even longer in traffic, which is atrocious most of the time.

Distances are deceiving, and a walk to what looks like a nearby casino usually takes longer than expected. Walking is a crowded, sometimes hot affair, and the always-under-construction Strip has plenty of pedestrian bottlenecks.

Downtown Las Vegas is the original town center and home to the city's oldest hotels and casinos. Its main drag is Fremont St, four blocks of which are a covered pedestrian mall that runs a groovy light show every night.

More casinos are found east of the Strip along Paradise Rd, and just west of I-15 near the intersection of Flamingo Rd and Valley View Blvd. The Chinatown district is west of the Strip on Spring Mountain Rd.

LAS VEGAS



0 1 km
0 0.5 miles
A
B
C
D
1
2
3
4
5
6
To Beatty (115mi); Reno (444mi)
To Valley of Fire State Park (60mi)
Old Las Vegas Mormon Fort State Historic Park
Eastern Ave
Bonanza Rd
W Bonanza Rd
E Bonanza Rd
Owen K Gragson Hwy
Mesquite Ave
Las Vegas Blvd N
To Hoover Dam & Lake Mead (30mi); Laughlin (80mi)
Stewart Ave
Ogden Ave
Fremont St
Carson Ave
Bridger Ave
Clark Ave
Bonneville St
Garces Ave
Gass St
Hoover Ave
Coolidge Ave
Rosemary La
Rancho Dr
S Martin Luther King Blvd
To Springs Preserve (0.5mi)
Alta Dr
Pinto La
Palomino La
Tonopah La
Shadow La Desert La
Rancho Ln
Grand Central Pkwy
Main St
1st St
Casino Center Blvd
3rd St
4th St
Las Vegas Blvd S
6th St
11th St
Maryland Pkwy
13th St
14th St
15th St
Bruce St
W Charleston Blvd
E Charleston Blvd
To Escape Adventures (5mi); Red Rock Resort (8mi); Red Rock Canyon (20mi) Commerce St
Main St
Park Paseo
9th St
Huntridge Circle Park
Franklin Ave
Crestwood Ave
Eastern Ave
Bannie Ave
Utah Ave
Colanthe Ave
Wyoming Ave
5th St
6th St
7th St
8th St
11th St
13th St
15th St
17th St
W Oakey Blvd
E Oakey Blvd
Canosa Ave
E St Louis Ave
Spencer St
Burnham Ave
Highland Dr
Industrial Rd
Fairfield Ave
Paradise Rd
Cincinnati Ave
To Capo's Italian Cuisine (2mi)
W Sahara Ave
W Sahara Ave
E Sahara Ave
Sahara
Westwood Dr
Commercial Center
Karen Ave
Karen Ave
Circus Circus Dr
Las Vegas Blvd S (The Strip)
Riviera Blvd
Paradise Rd
Las Vegas Country Club
S Maryland Pkwy
Vegas Valley Dr
Meade Ave
Valley View Blvd
Sirius Ave
Polaris Ave
Las Vegas Hilton Convention Center Dr
Las Vegas Convention Center
Desert Inn Rd Super Arterial
E Desert Inn Rd
Fashion Show Mall
Wynn Golf Course & Country Club
Sierra Vista Dr
Boulevard Mall
Sahara-Nevada Country Club
Spring Mountain Rd
Sands Ave
Twain Ave
Swenson St
Cambridge St
Cinder La
Harrah's/Imperial Palace
Flamingo Wash
Flamingo/ Caesars Palace
E Flamingo Rd
W Flamingo Rd
To Palms Casino Resort (0.2mi)
Bally's & Paris
Audrie St
Koval La
Paradise Rd
Swenson St
S Maryland Pkwy
Mirage Golf Club
Industrial Rd
E Harmon Ave
Monorail
Tropicana Wash
University of Nevada, Las Vegas
Thomas & Mack Center
E Rochelle Ave
E University Ave
E Harmon Ave
Eastern Ave
Tompkins Ave
MGM Grand
W Tropicana Ave
E Tropicana Ave
E Tropicana Ave
Reno Ave
E Reno Ave
Ali Baba La
W Hacienda Ave
E Hacienda Ave
E Hacienda Ave
Industrial Rd
Las Vegas Blvd S
Swenson St
Escondido St
Tamarus St
Caliente St
Spencer St
McCarran International Airport
Diablo Dr
To Stoney's Rockin' Country (4.5mi)
To Steel Panther (7mi); Desert Adventures (20mi) 15
93
95 515
582
159
599
604
605
589
592
593
1
2
3
4
5
6
7
8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16
17 18 19 20 21
22
23 24
25 26 27
28 29 30 31 32 33 34 35
36 37
38 39 40
41

INFORMATION
American Express.....(see 40)
Borders Express.....(see 40)
Las Vegas Visitor Information Center.....1 B4
Post Office.....2 C2
Sunrise Hospital & Medical Center.....3 C4
University Medical Center.....4 B2

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES
Adventuredome.....(see 8)
Atomic Testing Museum.....5 C5
Bellagio.....6 A5
Bellagio Conservatory & Botanical Gardens.....(see 6)
Bellagio Gallery of Fine Art.....(see 6)
Bodies…The Exhibition.....(see 16)
Caesars Palace.....7 A5
Circus Circus.....8 B3
CityCenter.....9 B5
Commisioner of Civil Marriages.....10 C2
Dick's Last Resort.....(see 11)
Encore.....(see 26)
Excalibur.....11 A6
Flamingo.....12 B5
Fremont Street Experience.....13 C1
Liberace Museum.....14 D6
Little White Wedding Chapel.....15 C2
Luxor.....16 A6
Madame Tussauds.....(see 25)
Mandalay Bay.....17 A6
Mandalay Bay Wedding Chapel.....(see 17)
Manhattan Express Rollercoaster.....(see 20)
Marriage Bureau.....18 C2
Midway.....(see 8)
Minus 5 Ice Lounge.....(see 17)
Neon Museum.....19 C1
Neonopolis.....(see 19)
New York-New York.....20 A6
New York-New York.....(see 20)
Papillon Helicopter Tours.....21 B6
Paris-Las Vegas.....22 B5
Shark Reef.....(see 17)
Sirens of Treasure Island.....(see 24)
Stratosphere.....23 B3
Stratosphere Tower.....(see 23)
Titanic: The Artifact Exhibition.....(see 16)
Treasure Island.....24 B4
Venetian.....25 B4
Wildlife Habitat.....(see 12)
Wynn Las Vegas.....26 B4

SLEEPING
Bill's Gamblin' Hall & Saloon.....(see 12)
Blue Moon Resort.....27 B3
Caesars Palace.....(see 7)
Candlewood Suites Extended Stay.....28 C5
Encore.....(see 26)
Flamingo.....(see 12)
Imperial Palace.....29 B5
Luxor.....(see 16)
Mandalay Bay.....(see 17)
Paris-Las Vegas.....(see 22)
Platinum Hotel.....30 B5
THEhotel.....(see 17)

EATING
Bally's Steakhouse.....31 B5
Border Grill.....(see 17)
Cypress Street Marketplace.....(see 7)
Ellis Island Casino & Brewery.....32 B5
Fammia.....(see 33)
House of Blues.....(see 17)
Joël Robuchon.....(see 33)
L'Atelier de Joël Robuchon.....(see 33)
Red Square.....(see 17)
Society Café.....(see 26)
Victorian Room.....(see 12)
'wichcraft.....33 B6

DRINKING
Frankie's Tiki Room.....34 B2
O'Sheas.....35 B5

ENTERTAINMENT
Bank.....(see 6)
CatHouse.....(see 16)
Criss Angel Believe.....(see 16)
Ka.....(see 33)
Krave.....36 B5
LAX.....(see 16)
LOVE.....37 A4
Mystère.....(see 24)
O.....(see 6)
Piranha.....38 C5
Tix 4 Tonight.....(see 12)
Zumanity.....(see 20)

SHOPPING
Bonanza Gifts.....39 B3
Fashion Show Mall.....40 B4
Forum Shops.....(see 7)
Grand Canal Shoppes.....(see 25)
Mandalay Place.....(see 17)
Miracle Mile Shops.....(see 36)
Wynn Esplanade.....(see 26)

TRANSPORT
Greyhound.....41 C1

Major tourist areas are safe. However, Las Vegas Blvd between downtown and the Strip gets shabby, and Fremont St east of downtown is rather unsavory.

Information

BOOKSTORES

Borders Express (☎ 702-733-1049; 3200 Las Vegas Blvd S) Inside the Fashion Show Mall.

EMERGENCY & MEDICAL SERVICES

Gamblers Anonymous (☎ 702-385-7732) Assistance with gambling concerns.
Police (☎ 702-828-3111)
Sunrise Hospital & Medical Center (☎ 702-731-8000; 3186 S Maryland Pkwy)
University Medical Center (☎ 702-383-2000; 1800 W Charleston Blvd)

INTERNET ACCESS

Wi-fi is available in most hotel rooms ($13 to $17 per day) and there are internet kiosks with attached printers in most hotel lobbies ($5 per five minutes).

INTERNET RESOURCES & MEDIA

Las Vegas Review-Journal (www.lvrj.com) Daily paper with a weekend guide, Neon, on Friday.
Las Vegas Tourism (www.onlyinvegas.com) Official tourism website.
Las Vegas Weekly (www.lasvegasweekly.com) Free weekly with good entertainment and restaurant listings.
Las Vegas.com (www.lasvegas.com) Travel services.
Lasvegaskids.net (www.lasvegaskids.net) The lowdown on what's up for the wee ones.
Vegas.com (www.vegas.com) Travel information with booking service.

MONEY

Every hotel-casino and bank and most convenience stores have an ATM. The ATM fee at most casinos is around $5. Best to stop at off-Strip banks if possible.

American Express (☎ 702-739-8474; Fashion Show Mall, 3200 Las Vegas Blvd S; ⏰ 10am-9pm Mon-Fri, 10am-8pm Sat, noon-6pm Sun) Changes currencies at competitive rates.

POST

Post office (☎ 702-382-5779; 201 Las Vegas Blvd S) Downtown.

DON'T MISS

- Bellagio fountains – dancing spurt and spray in the evening (below)
- Stoney's Rockin' Country – friendliness in the Wild West (p832)
- Fremont Street Experience – street canopy of sound and art (opposite)
- Cirque du Soleil – artsy acrobatic circus (p832)
- Liberace Museum – king of bling (p828)
- Joël Robuchon – ultimate gourmet experience (p831)
- CatHouse – sassy, sultry, sexy…meow (p832)

TOURIST INFORMATION

Las Vegas Visitor Information Center (☎ 702-892-7575; www.visitlasvegas.com; 3150 Paradise Rd; 🕒 8am-5pm) Free local calls, internet access and maps galore.

Sights

CASINOS

A slice of the French Riviera in Las Vegas – and classy enough to entice any of the Riviera's regulars – Steve Wynn has upped the wow factor, and the skyline, yet again with the late-2008 opening of Encore (☎ 702-770-8000; www.encorelasvegas.com; 3121 Las Vegas Blvd S). Filled with indoor flower gardens and a definite butterfly motif, it's an oasis of bright beauty. Botero, the restaurant headed by Mark LoRusso, is centered on a large sculpture by Fernando Botero himself. Encore is attached to its sister property, the $2.7-billion Wynn Las Vegas (☎ 702-770-7100; www.wynnlasvegas.com; 3131 Las Vegas Blvd S). The entrance is obscured from the Strip by a $130-million artificial mountain, which rises seven stories tall in some places. Inside, the Wynn resembles a natural paradise – with mountain views, tumbling waterfalls, fountains and other special effects.

The Bellagio (☎ 702-693-7111, 888-987-6667; www.bellagio.com; 3600 Las Vegas Blvd S) dazzles with Tuscan architecture and an 8-acre artificial lake, complete with choreographed dancing fountains (3pm to midnight weekdays, noon to midnight weekends; on the half-hour until 8pm and then every 15 minutes). The lobby features an 18ft ceiling adorned with a back-lit glass sculpture composed of 2000 hand-blown flowers. The Bellagio Gallery of Fine Art (☎ 702-693-7871; admission $15; 🕒 10am-6pm Sun-Thu, 10am-7pm Fri & Sat) showcases temporary exhibits by top-notch artists. The Bellagio Conservatory & Botanical Gardens (admission free; 🕒 daily) has changing exhibits throughout the year.

Quintessentially Las Vegas, Caesars Palace (☎ 702-731-7110; www.caesarspalace.com; 3570 Las Vegas Blvd S) is a Greco-Roman fantasyland featuring marble reproductions of classical statuary, including a not-to-be-missed 4-ton Brahma shrine near the front entrance. Towering fountains, goddess-costumed cocktail waitresses and the swanky haute-couture Forum Shops (p833) all ante up the glitz.

Another quintessentially Vegas hotel is the Flamingo (☎ 702-733-3111; www.flamingolasvegas.com; 3555 Las Vegas Blvd S). Weave through the slot machines to the Wildlife Habitat (admission free; 🕒 daily) to see the flock of Chilean flamingos that call these 15 tropical acres home. Check out the shrub maze near the wedding chapel to see the plaque that commemorates the exploits of the Flamingo's founder, Bugsy Siegel – it's one of the rare nods to the past in this city.

Hand-painted ceiling frescoes, roaming mimes and full-scale reproductions of famous Venice landmarks are found at the romantic Venetian (☎ 702-414-1000; www.venetian.com; 3355 Las Vegas Blvd S; gondola rides adult/private $16/64). To do some hobnobbing with wax likenesses of celebrities, stop by Madame Tussauds (☎ 702-862-7800; www.madametussauds.com; adult/child/child under 6 $25/15/free; 🕒 10am-9pm) and snap pics of Hugh Hefner or Zac Efron. The complex also has an on-site wedding chapel.

Not trying to be any one fantasy, the tropically themed Mandalay Bay (M-Bay; ☎ 702-632-7777; www.mandalaybay.com; 3950 Las Vegas Blvd S) is worth a walkthrough. Standout attractions include the multilevel Shark Reef (☎ 702-632-4555; www.sharkreef.com; adult/child $17/11; 🕒 10am-11pm; 👪), an aquarium home to thousands of submarine beasties with a shallow pool where you can pet pint-sized sharks. Certified Scuba divers can take the half-day Dive with Sharks Experience (per diver/pair $650/$1000) in a 1.3 million gallon tank.

Though traces of the original swashbuckling skull-and-crossbones theme linger at Treasure Island (TI; ☎ 702-894-7111; www.treasureisland.com; 3300 Las Vegas Blvd S), the resort now strives for a sassy adults-only Caribbean feel. The spiced-up Sirens of Treasure Island (admission free; 🕒 daily) is a mock sea battle featuring salty lasses fighting bare-chested swashbucklers for their share of

GOING TO THE CHAPEL, GOING TO GET MARRIED

More than 122,000 couples say their vows in Las Vegas each year. Whether it's a planned affair or a spur-of-the-moment decision, there are loads of places to tie the knot. You just have to be at least 18 years old and show up at the Marriage Bureau (☎ 702-671-0600; 201 E Clark Ave; license $60; 🕓 8am-midnight). Once you have the certificate, it's off to the chapel, and there are plenty of touts with chapel brochures waiting outside the marriage bureau.

If all you want is a civil ceremony, walk three blocks to the Commissioner of Civil Marriages (☎ 702-671-0600; Regional Justice Center, 309 S 3rd St; ceremony $50; 🕓 8am-10pm). The bride and groom take their vows under a small white gazebo with fake leaves, but it looks OK in pictures. Cash (exact change) and a witness are required; it's possible to pinch the latter from the waiting room.

One of the classiest places to get hitched is at the Mandalay Bay Wedding Chapel (☎ 702-632-7490; www.mandalaybay.com; 3950 Las Vegas Blvd S; packages $1100-8450; 🕓 11am-4pm Sun-Thu, 11am-6pm Fri, 11am-8pm Sat).

The Little White Wedding Chapel (☎ 702-382-5943; www.littlewhitechapel.com; 1301 Las Vegas Blvd S; 🕓 24hr) has welcomed thousands of couples since opening in 1946 and is a favorite spot for celebs (Bruce Willis and Demi Moore, Frank Sinatra and Mia Farrow) to tie the knot. Drive-through rates start at $40 and à la carte weddings in the chapel start at $55.

booty. You can see it every 90 minutes from 7pm to 11:30pm.

Evoking the gaiety of the City of Light, Paris-Las Vegas (☎ 702-946-7000; www.parislasvegas.com; 3655 Las Vegas Blvd S) strives to capture the essence of the grand dame by recreating her landmarks. Fine likenesses of the Opéra, the Arc de Triomphe, the Champs-Élysées and even the Seine frame the property. The signature attraction is the ersatz Eiffel Tower.

New York-New York (☎ 800-689-1797; www.nynyhotelcasino.com; 3790 Las Vegas Blvd S) is a mini metropolis featuring scaled-down replicas of the Empire State Building (47 stories or 529ft), the Statue of Liberty, ringed by a September 11 memorial, and the Brooklyn Bridge.

The focus at Luxor (☎ 702-262-4444; www.luxor.com; 3900 Las Vegas Blvd S) is its 30-story pyramid cloaked in black glass from base to apex. The exterior still has realistic copies of hieroglyphics but a few years ago the new owners gave the public spaces a massive remodel and lost much of the Egypt theme; hard to do when living in a pyramid and all. It's gotten a touch classier and is still worth a visit because of two long-term exhibits: Bodies…The Exhibition (☎ 702-262-4400; adult/child $31/23; 🕓 10am-10pm) features stunning specimens of the human body sliced up and filled with dyes of various colors to show how the whole bag of bones works, and Titanic: The Artifact Exhibition (☎ 702-262-4400; adult/child $27/20; 🕓 10am-10pm) is a spooky and cool experience that's surprisingly moving.

At 1149ft, the white, three-legged $550-million Stratosphere (☎ 702-380-7777; www.stratospherehotel.com; 2000 Las Vegas Blvd S) is capped with indoor and outdoor viewing decks with spectacular 360-degree panoramas.

OTHER ATTRACTIONS

At the Atomic Testing Museum (☎ 702-794-5161; www.atomictestingmuseum.org; 755 E Flamingo Rd; adult/child $12/9; 🕓 9am-5pm Mon-Sat, 1-5pm Sun), the quality is what you'd expect of a Smithsonian Institution affiliate. The Atomic Age exhibit has a neat timeline that shows how popular culture (in the form of lunchboxes, toys, movies) reacted to the nuclear arms race. Don't skip the deafening Ground Zero Theater, which mimics a concrete test bunker.

A four-block pedestrian mall topped by an arched steel canopy and filled with computer-controlled lights, the Fremont Street Experience (www.vegasexperience.com; Fremont St; 🕓 hourly 7pm-midnight), between Main St and Las Vegas Blvd, has brought life back to downtown. Every evening, the canopy is transformed into a six-minute light-and-sound show enhanced by 550,000 watts of wraparound sound. It doesn't hurt that the table limits are lower in this part of town and the free drinks seem to appear a little faster.

The Neon Museum (☎ 702-387-6366; www.neonmuseum.org; cnr Fremont & 4th Sts; displays free, guided tours $15; 🕓 displays 24hr, guided tours noon & 2pm Tue-Sat) isn't really a museum at all, but a walking tour that begins at the Neonopolis shopping center at Las Vegas Blvd and extends to the 3rd St cul-de-sac adjacent to the Fremont Street Experience. Contact them for appointment-only tours ($15) of the 'Neon boneyard,' where old signs go to die.

Site of the spring where early Native Americans got their water, the Springs Preserve (☎ 702-822-7700; www.springspreserve.org; 333 S Valley View Blvd; adult/child $19/11; 🕑 10am-5pm; 👪) is about 5 miles north of the Center Strip. The 180-acre space is dedicated to the original people, and landscape, of Las Vegas. Indoor and outdoor exhibits include a cool ecodwelling called the Desert Living Center and a (free) 1.8-mile walking trail through the desert.

Activities

For Las Vegas at high altitude and nearby natural wonders, float like a butterfly over to Papillon Helicopter Tours (☎ 702-736-7243; www.papillon.com; 275 E Tropicana Ave; tours from $245). Helicopter trips to the Grand Canyon range from flyovers to a champagne toast at the bottom of the canyon with some time for exploration.

With Lake Mead and Hoover Dam just a few hours' drive away, would-be river rats should check out Desert Adventures (☎ 702-293-5026; www.kayaklasvegas.com; 1647 Nevada Hwy, Suite A, Boulder City; trips from $120) for lots of half-, full- and multiday kayaking adventures. Hiking trips, too.

Escape Adventures (☎ 702-596-2953; www.escapeadventures.com; 8221 W Charleston Blvd; trips incl bike from $120) is the source for guided mountain-bike tours of Red Rock Canyon State Park (p833). Rentals, too.

A small taste of the New York of old, when your life would flash before your eyes on a regular basis, the Manhattan Express Rollercoaster (☎ 800-689-1797; www.nynyhotelcasino.com; New York-New York, 3790 Las Vegas Blvd S; admission $14, re-ride $7; 🕑 11am-11pm Sun-Thu, 10:30am-midnight Fri & Sat; 👪) is twisty fun.

At the Stratosphere Tower (☎ 702-380-7777; www.stratospherehotel.com; Stratosphere, 2000 Las Vegas Blvd S; elevator adult/child $14/10, per ride $13; 🕑 10am-1am Sun-Thu, 10am-2am Fri & Sat; 👪), the Big Shot shoots passengers straight up 160ft until they are 1081ft above the Strip and the X-Scream and Insanity rides both spin riders over the edge of the tower, 866ft above the ground.

Las Vegas for Children

Few places in Vegas bill themselves as family-friendly. State law prohibits people under 21 from loitering in gaming areas.

The Circus Circus (☎ 702-734-0410; www.circuscircus.com; 2880 Las Vegas Blvd S; 👪) hotel complex is all about the kids, and its Adventuredome (☎ 702-794-3939; adult/child $25/15; 🕑 10am-7pm Sun-Thu, 10am-midnight Fri & Sat; 👪) is a 5-acre indoor theme park with fun ranging from laser tag to bumper cars and a roller coaster. The Midway (admission free; 🕑 11am-midnight; 👪) features animals, acrobats and magicians performing on center stage; shows are held every 30 minutes.

Excalibur (☎ 702-597-7777; www.excalibur.com; 3050 Las Vegas Blvd S; 👪) weighs in as well, with a video arcade and shopping at themed stores like Dragon's Lair, for all your dragon and wizard sculpture needs.

Quirky Las Vegas

Check out artifacts from the original king of bling at the Liberace Museum (☎ 702-798-5595; www.liberace.org; 1775 E Tropicana Ave; adult/child over 10 $12.50/8.50; 🕑 10am-5pm Tue-Sat, noon-4pm Sun). The home of 'Mr Showmanship' houses the flamboyant art cars, ornate pianos and the most outrageous costumes concocted outside a Halloween parade.

Cool your heels at Minus 5 Ice Lounge (☎ 702-632-7777; www.mandalaybay.com; Mandalay Bay, 3950 Las Vegas Blvd S; admission & 1 drink before/after 6pm $30/40; 🕑 10am-3am), a bar where the entire room, including tables and chairs, is made completely of ice – you even sip cocktails out of one-use ice goblets. A warm coat and gloves come with admission.

For an adults-only, off-color good time, Dick's Last Resort (☎ 702-597-7991; www.dickslastresort.com; Excalibur, 3050 Las Vegas Blvd S) is an eating and drinking place where staff dish out a heaping helping of verbal abuse. It's not for the faint of heart: diners have to wear dunce caps with personalized, obscene insults. When we say adults-only, we mean it.

Sleeping

There's something for everyone's budget or credit-card-bruising splurge. Rates rise and fall dramatically depending on demand, with weekends and convention traffic driving up rates. Downtown hotels are generally less expensive than those on the Strip. Most hotel websites have handy calendars with day-by-day room rates listed. Options are categorized here by lowest possible standard room rates, but prices can easily be double that.

BUDGET

Imperial Palace (☎ 702-731-3311, 800-351-7400; www.imperialpalace.com; 3535 Las Vegas Blvd S; r from $45; ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) As affordable as they come for such a central location, but more for those looking for a place to sleep than a fine hotel experience. The celebrity-impersonator 'Dealertainers' make it more fun than usual to negotiate the casino floor.

Candlewood Suites Extended Stay (☎ 888-299-2208; 4034 Paradise Rd; r $65-120; ❄ 💻 📶) Set just a mile from the Strip. The free wi-fi, free laundry machines and a kitchenette in every room to save on food costs more than makes up for the occasional taxi ride for big nights out. With lots of business travelers calling this place home, count on quiet nights.

Bill's Gamblin' Hall & Saloon (☎ 702-737-2100, 866-245-5745; www.billslasvegas.com; 3595 Las Vegas Blvd S; r $65-150; ❄ 💻 📶) Set smack bang mid-Strip with affordable rooms nice enough to sport plasma TVs, Bill's is great value, so book far ahead. Rooms feature Victorian-themed decor, and guests can use the pool next door at the Flamingo without charge.

Luxor (☎ 702-262-4444, 877-386-4658; www.luxor.com; 3900 Las Vegas Blvd S; r from $65-190; ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) It's a bit jarring to leave the shiny Luxor lobby and discover a rather tatty Pyramid room; those who don't like loud music pulsing in the lobby until late at night should try to get a tower room. It houses a few of the hottest nightspots in Las Vegas, including CatHouse (p832) and LAX (p832), and has indoor walkways to the classy Mandalay Bay and the downmarket but lots of fun Excalibur.

New York-New York (☎ 866-815-4365; www.nynyhotelcasino.com; 3790 Las Vegas Blvd S; r from $75; ❄ 💻 🏊) The rooms are a nice surprise, especially for the price. Basic but not ratty, and relatively quiet considering how close you feel to the casino floor. A definite rock-and-roll, unpretentious vibe at the clubs and bars here.

MIDRANGE

Flamingo (☎ 702-733-3111; www.flamingolasvegas.com; 3555 Las Vegas Blvd S; r from $90; ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) Try to get one of the newly outfitted GO rooms, a sleek homage to the hotel's glory days that feel like luxury accommodations at midrange prices. At the epicenter of all the action; the location is second to none.

Paris-Las Vegas (☎ 702-946-7000, 877-603-4386; www.parislasvegas.com; 3655 Las Vegas Blvd S; r from $90; ❄ 💻 🏊) Nice rooms with a nod to classic French design; the newer Red Rooms are a study in sumptuous class. The more expensive rooms with a view of the faux Eiffel Tower are good for special occasions.

Caesars Palace (☎ 866-227-5938; www.caesarspalace.com; 3570 Las Vegas Blvd S; r from $90; ❄ 💻 🏊) Send away the centurions and decamp in style – Caesars' standard rooms are some of the most luxurious you will find in town. The menu of dining, shopping and amenities is a mile long, with the complex sometimes feeling as large as Rome itself.

Mandalay Bay (☎ 702-632-7777, 877-632-7800; www.mandalaybay.com; 3950 Las Vegas Blvd S; r from $130; ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) The ornately appointed rooms have a South Seas theme, and amenities include floor-to-ceiling windows and luxurious bathrooms. Swimmers will swoon over the sprawling pool complex, with a sand-and-surf beach and wave machine and the adults-only Moorea Beach Club.

our pick Platinum Hotel (☎ 702-365-5000, 877-211-9211; www.theplatinumhotel.com; 211 E Flamingo Rd; r from $130; ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) A favorite of business travelers and locals who want to be near the Strip but not on it. The coolly modern rooms at this spiffy, relatively new property are comfortable and full of nice touches – many have fireplaces and they all have kitchens and Jacuzzi tubs. There is no gaming here.

TOP END

Luxury comes cheaper here than almost anywhere else in the world, and sometimes internet-only specials can knock up to 50% off the prices listed following. If you rain fistfuls of cash around the casino, expect to be comped a sumptuous suite.

THEhotel (☎ 702-632-7777, 877-632-7800; www.thehotelatmandalaybay.com; Mandalay Bay, 3950 Las Vegas Blvd S; ste $130-500; ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) The service and style at this all-suites boutique hotel with a contemporary NYC vibe make people want to live here. The spacious rooms come tricked out with wet bars and large plasma TVs.

Palms Casino Resort (☎ 702-942-7777, 866-942-7777; www.palms.com; 4321 W Flamingo Rd; r $149-500; ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) Off-Strip and originally aimed at young locals, the post–Real World Palms now attracts a flashier, MTV-influenced crowd and is a favorite with celebrity partiers like Paris Hilton and Britney Spears. Standard rooms are generous, and upper floors have a Strip view. The pool here is the place to see

CITYCENTER: MODERN VEGAS, LIKE IT OR NOT

Despite shaky finances and a rash of on-site construction deaths, the newest big gamble in Vegas was set to open in phases beginning in late 2009. The future of the project is greatly in flux and things may shut down completely, so take the following as a best-case scenario. CityCenter (www.citycenter.com) is an $11-billion city-within-a-city of hotels, residences, the 4000-room ARIA casino-resort, restaurants and retail shops that takes up a city block (67 acres) on the Strip across from the MGM Grand. Some say it brings an urban core to Las Vegas that puts it on par with other global centers of tourism. Others say that despite the kitsch factor of the many themed hotels here, you at least know you're in Vegas. Critics also say that with plummeting room rates, more inventory will only hurt other hotels. CityCenter was designed by A-list architects, but it's the Veer Towers – ultramodern skyscrapers that lean in opposite directions – that promise to become the visual shorthand of modern Las Vegas. One of the towers houses a Mandarin Oriental hotel – white-glove luxury in the heart of the Strip.

and be seen, and the on-site recording studio lets anyone live the diva dream.

Red Rock Resort (☎ 702-797-7878; www.redrocklasvegas.com; 11011 W Charleston Blvd; r $200-625; ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) Red Rock touts itself as the first off-Strip billion-dollar gaming resort, and most people who stay here eschew the Strip forever more. There's free transportation between the Strip, and hiking and biking outings to the nearby Red Rocks State Park and beyond. Rooms are well appointed and comfy.

Encore (☎ 702-770-8000; www.encorelasvegas.com; 3121 Las Vegas Blvd S; r $250-850; ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) Classy and playful more than overblown and opulent – even people cheering at the roulette table clap with a little more elegance. There's a definite French Riviera colorful theme in the public spaces, but the rooms themselves are studies in subdued luxury.

Eating

Sin City is an unmatched eating adventure. Since Wolfgang Puck brought Spago to Caesars in 1992, celebrity chefs have taken up residence in nearly every megaresort. Cheap buffets and loss-leader meal deals still exist, mostly downtown, but the gourmet quotient is high, with prices to match. Reservations are a must for fancier restaurants; book far in advance. Every major casino has a 24-hour café and at least a couple of restaurants.

BUDGET

Just west of the Strip, the Asian restaurants on Spring Mountain Rd in Chinatown are also good budget options, with lots of vegetarian choices. On the Strip itself, cheap eats beyond fast-food joints are hard to find.

Cypress Street Marketplace (☎ 702-893-4800; Caesars Palace, 3500 Las Vegas Blvd S; mains $5-10; 🕒 11am-11pm) In the Forum Shops connected to Caesars Palace, this glorified food court has a wide variety of decent food at good prices.

'wichcraft (☎ 702-891-3199; MGM Grand, 3799 Las Vegas Blvd S; sandwiches $7-9; 🕒 10am-5pm) Conveniently located beside the monorail entrance, this designy little sandwich shop can set you up with a breakfast or lunch bite on the fly. Brainchild of celebrity chef Tom Colicchio, this is the best place to taste gourmet on a budget.

Ellis Island Casino & Brewery (☎ 702-733-8901; 4178 Koval Lane; mains $7-14; 🕒 24hr) Get steamed clams, pasta dishes and sandwiches in the restaurant any time, but if it's between 4pm and 10pm hit the nightly barbecue on the brewery patio for a full rack of baby back ribs ($12) and wash it down with one of the tasty and cheap ($1.50) beers made in those big vats you can see from the casino floor. Slices at the on-site pizza parlor start at $2.50.

Victorian Room (☎ 702-737-2100; Bill's Gamblin' Hall & Saloon, 3595 Las Vegas Blvd S; mains $8-20; 🕒 24hr) A hokey old-fashioned San Francisco theme belies one of the best deals in sit-down restaurants in Las Vegas. The prime rib or New York steak specials ($14.95) are delicious around the clock.

MIDRANGE

House of Blues (☎ 702-632-7600; Mandalay Bay, 3950 Las Vegas Blvd S; dishes $13-20; 🕒 7:30am-midnight Sun-Thu, 7:30am-1am Fri & Sat) The BBQ, burgers and salads at this Southern juke joint are enhanced by funky folk art and free live music on nights a ticketed concert isn't playing. The reservations-only Sunday Gospel Brunch ($20 to $50; at 10am and 1pm) has buffets of biscuits, Creole chicken and shrimp jambalaya – a spiritual experience.

Society Café (☎ 702-248-3463, 888-352-3463; Encore, 3121 Las Vegas Blvd S; mains $14-30; 🕑 7am-midnight Sun-Thu, 7am-3am Fri & Sat) A slice of reasonably priced culinary heaven in the midst of Encore's loveliness. The basic café here is equal to fine dining at other joints. The sliders are a good appetizer or light meal, and the lobster roll club sandwich makes eating with your hands classy again.

Border Grill (☎ 702-632-7403; Mandalay Bay, 3950 Las Vegas Blvd S; mains $17-30; 🕑 11:30am-10pm Mon-Thu, 11:30am-11pm Fri, 11am-11pm Sat, 11am-10pm Sun) With Mexican food at its best, an outdoor patio that's nice for people-watching and margarita-sipping during the day, and dishes like green chicken poblano enchiladas, made by the women known as the 'too hot tamales' on the Food Network, it's worth making a trip here for dinner.

Capo's Italian Cuisine (☎ 702-364-2276; 5675 W Sahara Ave; mains $17-40; 🕑 5pm-midnight) The gangster theme starts when you enter through the rear and someone peeks through a peephole to let you in. It's a shtick, for sure, but it's not overdone and just makes the meal – fit for Don Corleone himself – more fun. Psst, here's a tip: any of the house specialties is good, but the Maker's Mark New York steak is worth bustin' outta' jail for.

TOP END

Depending on the state of the economy, chances are many of the top-end restaurants will have prix-fixe tasting menus that give a 30% to 40% discount over ordering à la carte.

Bally's Steakhouse (☎ 702-967-7999; Bally's, 3645 Las Vegas Blvd S; dishes $25-40; 🕑 9:30am-2:30pm Sun, 5:30-10:30pm daily) Indulge in the best – and most expensive – Sunday brunch ($85) in town. Ice sculptures and lavish flower arrangements abound at the Sterling Brunch, as do food stations featuring roast duckling, beef tenderloin and fresh sushi.

Red Square (☎ 702-632-7407; Mandalay Bay, 3950 Las Vegas Blvd S; dishes $30-45; 🕑 restaurant 5-10:30pm, bar 5pm-2am Sun-Thu, 4pm-4am Fri & Sat) A headless Lenin invites you to join your comrades to live like czars behind the red curtain in this postmodern Russian restaurant. Imbibers here have got rubles to spare for exquisite stroganoff, salmon kulebyaka or clams topped with caviar. Don a Russian army coat to sip vodka in the subzero vault.

Fammia (☎ 702-891-7600; MGM Grand, 3799 Las Vegas Blvd S; meals $50–60; 🕑 5:30pm-10pm Sun-Thu, 5:30pm-11pm Fri & Sat) Fammia is set in a row of outstanding restaurants at MGM Grand, but what sets it apart is that it's a top-tier dining experience you won't be paying off for the next decade. You haven't had spaghetti until you've had Fammia's take on it, made with Kobe beef meatballs.

our pick Joël Robuchon (☎ 702-891-7925; MGM Grand, 3799 Las Vegas Blvd S; menu per person $250-385; 🕑 5:30-10pm Sun-Thu, to 10:30pm Fri & Sat) A once-in-a-lifetime culinary experience; block off a solid three hours and get ready to eat your way through the six- or 16-course seasonal menu of traditional French fare (garlic-roasted lobster, frog's legs, foie gras). This intimate little restaurant has garnered a veritable constellation of stars from foodie organizations, and many a celeb has called this red and gold palace of opulence home for an evening. L'Atelier de Joël Robuchon, next door, is where you can belly up to the counter for a slightly more economical but still delicious meal.

Drinking

For those who want to mingle with the locals and drink for free, check out SpyOnVegas (www.spyonvegas.com). It arranges an open bar at a different venue every weeknight.

ghostbar (☎ 702-942-6832; Palms Casino Resort, 4321 W Flamingo Rd; admission $10-25; 🕑 8pm-late) Think sleek, space age and saucy. The 55th-floor aerie casts an otherworldly glow, with industrial chain-mail drapes and radiant purple-tinted banquettes. Mix it up with the bold-face names and admire the drop-dead views from the outdoor patio prow.

O'Sheas (☎ 702-697-2711; www.osheaslasvegas.com; 3555 Las Vegas Blvd S; drinks from $2; 🕑 24hr) Right in the heart of the action. Luckily for the thirsty among us, O'Sheas has a 24-hour happy hour and 'bottle service' that gets you a bottle of Jack Daniel's or Smirnoff vodka and a mixer for $45.

Frankie's Tiki Room (☎ 702-385-3110; www.frankiestikiroom.com; 1712 W Charleston Blvd; all drinks $8; 🕑 24hr) At the only round-the-clock tiki bar in the US, the drinks are rated in strength by skulls and the top tiki sculptors and painters in the world have their work on display.

Entertainment

Las Vegas has no shortage of entertainment on any given night, and Ticketmaster (☎ 702-474-4000; www.ticketmaster.com) sells tickets for pretty much everything.

Tix 4 Tonight (☎ 877-849-4868; www.tix4tonight.com; Bill's Gamblin' Hall & Saloon, 3595 Las Vegas Blvd S; 🕑 10am-8pm) offers half-price tix for a limited lineup of same-day shows and small discounts on 'always sold-out' shows. Of its six locations in Las Vegas, Bill's Gamblin' Hall is the most central. It also does half-price dinner at select restaurants.

NIGHTCLUBS & LIVE MUSIC

Admission prices to nightclubs vary wildly based on the mood of doorstaff, male to female ratio, and how crowded the club is that night.

Stoney's Rockin' Country (☎ 702-435-2855; www.stoneysrockincountry.com; 9151 Las Vegas Blvd S; cover local/out-of-state $5/10; 🕑 7pm-late Thu-Sun) An off-Strip place worth the trip. Friday and Saturday has $20 all-you-can-drink draft beer and free line dancing lessons from 7:30pm to 8:30pm. The mechanical bull is a blast.

Bank (☎ 702-693-8300; Bellagio, 3600 Las Vegas Blvd S; cover men from $30, women free-$30; 🕑 10:30pm-4:30am) Service and an upscale vibe are what sets this place apart. Spring for VIP treatment (starting at $475) and you will be treated like a celebrity.

CatHouse (☎ 702-262-4228; www.cathouselv.com; Luxor, 3900 Las Vegas Blvd S; cover Fri & Sat men/women $30/20, less other days; 🕑 10:30pm-4am Mon & Thu-Sun, 1am-4am Wed) An ultralounge that looks like a 19th-century French bordello where people get up and dance, or not; a sexy place and good vibe that's loads of fun. Good dinner before the club opens, we hear.

LAX (☎ 702-262-4529; www.laxthenightclub.com; Luxor, 3900 Las Vegas Blvd S; cover men from $40, women free-$40; 🕑 10pm-4am Wed-Sat) With celebrity investors like Christina Aguilera and a stream of hard-partying stars who host events there, it's probably the hottest club in Vegas and the near-riot outside its front doors every night proves it.

Moon (☎ 702-942-7000; www.n9negroup.com; Palms Casino Resort, 4321 W Flamingo Rd; cover weekday/weekend $20/$40; 🕑 10:30pm-4am Tue & Thu-Sun) A rooftop spot stylishly outfitted like a nightclub in outer space. Admission includes entry to the only Playboy Club in the world, attached to Moon via escalator. When the retractable roof opens, there's nothing like dancing to pulsating beats under the stars.

PRODUCTION SHOWS

There are hundreds of shows to choose from in Vegas.

LOVE (☎ 702-792-7777; tickets $99-150) at the Mirage is a popular addition to the Cirque du Soleil lineup and locals who have seen many a Cirque production come and go say it's the best one yet. Still a favorite is Cirque du Soleil's aquatic show, O (☎ 702-796-9999; tickets $99-150), performed at the Bellagio. Cirque du Soleil also presents Mystère (☎ 702-796-9999; tickets $60-110) at Treasure Island (aka TI), the adult-themed Zumanity (☎ 702-740-6815; tickets $69-129) at New York-New York, and Ka (☎ 702-796-9999; tickets $69-150) at MGM Grand. Love him or hate him, the eponymous front man at Criss Angel Believe (☎ 702-262-4400; tickets $59-160) puts on a trippy, dark (probably disturbing for kids) Cirque show at Luxor.

GAY & LESBIAN NIGHTS OUT: LAS VEGAS

Fabrice Marino, an Italian journalist who knows where the boys and girls are in Las Vegas, says that it's a great city for gay travelers if you know where to look. His starter-kit recommendations:

Krave (☎ 702-836-0830; www.kravelasvegas.com; 3663 Las Vegas Blvd S; cover $5-20; 🕑 10pm-late Sun-Thu, 11pm-late Fri & Sat) A super-happening gay club especially good for after-hours partying. Crowded during special events and can be very touristy. Every Saturday night is CandyBar, the biggest and best party of the week for Sin City's lesbian set. Enter off Harmon Ave outside Desert Passage.

Piranha (☎ 702-791-0100; www.piranhavegas.com; 4633 Paradise Rd; cover $5-10; 🕑 midnight-late) Where the locals go, it's packed, in a good way, Thursday to Sunday night and is the best place for meetups. Ask a regular about the handful of nearby gay spots.

Blue Moon Resort (☎ 702-784-4500; www.bluemoonlv.com; 2651 Westwood Dr; r incl breakfast $126-80; ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) Owned by gay men and catering exclusively to gay men, Blue Moon has 45 stylish rooms appointed in chic dark leather and wood. The pool area is the place to be, with a 10-man Jacuzzi and loads of special events. It adds up to men men men and fun fun fun.

Steel Panther (☎ 702-617-7777; www.greenvalleyranchresort.com; Green Valley Resort, 2300 Paseo Verde Pkwy, Henderson; admission free; 🕒 11pm-late Fri), a hair-metal tribute band, makes fun of the audience, themselves and the 1980s with sight gags, one-liners and many a drug and sex reference. At their Los Angeles shows they've gotten celebs like Pink and Billy Ray Cyrus on stage to belt out tunes.

Shopping

Bonanza Gifts (☎ 702-385-7359; 2440 Las Vegas Blvd S) The best place for only-in-Vegas kitsch souvenirs.
Fashion Show Mall (☎ 702-369-0704; 3200 Las Vegas Blvd S) Nevada's biggest and flashiest mall.
Forum Shops (☎ 702-893-4800; Caesars Palace, 3500 Las Vegas Blvd S) From Abercrombie & Fitch to Versace, it's got it all.
Grand Canal Shoppes (☎ 702-414-4500; Venetian, 3355 Las Vegas Blvd S) Italianate indoor luxury mall with gondolas.
Mandalay Place (☎ 702-632-9333; 3930 Las Vegas Blvd S) On the sky bridge between the Mandalay Bay and the Luxor. An airy promenade with unique, fashion-forward boutiques.
Miracle Mile Shops (☎ 702-866-0710; Planet Hollywood, 3663 Las Vegas Blvd S) A staggering 1.5 miles long; get a tattoo, drink and duds.
Wynn Esplanade (☎ 702-770-7000; Wynn Las Vegas, 3131 Las Vegas Blvd S) A 75,000-sq-ft showcase of upscale consumer bliss.

Getting There & Around

Just south of the major Strip casinos and easily accessible from I-15, McCarran International Airport (LAS; ☎ 702-261-4636; www.mccarran.com) has direct flights from most US cities, and some from Canada and Europe. Bell Trans (☎ 702-739-7990; www.bell-trans.com) offers a shuttle service ($6.50) between the airport and the Strip. Fares to downtown destinations are slightly higher. At the airport, exit door 9 near baggage claim to find the Bell Trans booth.

The Greyhound bus station (☎ 702-383-9792; www.greyhound.com; 200 S Main St), downtown, has regular buses to and from Los Angeles ($40 to $57, six hours), San Diego ($47 to $62, nine hours) and San Francisco ($60 to $93, 15 hours). Amtrak (☎ 800-872-7245; www.amtrak.com) does not run trains to Las Vegas, although it does offer a connecting bus service from Los Angeles ($50, six hours).

All of the attractions in Vegas have free self-parking and valet parking available (tip $2). Fast, fun and fully wheelchair accessible, the monorail (☎ 702-699-8299; www.lvmonorail.com) connects the Sahara to the MGM Grand, stopping at major Strip megaresorts along the way, and operating from 7am to 2am Monday to Thursday and until 3am Friday through Sunday. A single ride is $5, a 24-hour pass is $12, and a three-day pass is $28. The Deuce (☎ 702-228-7433; www.rtcsouthernnevada.com), a local double-decker bus, runs frequently 24 hours daily between the Strip and downtown (one ride/24-hour pass $3/7).

AROUND LAS VEGAS

Red Rock Canyon

This dramatic park (☎ 702-515-5350; www.redrockcanyonlv.org; entry $5; 🕒 6am-dusk) is the perfect anecdote to Vegas' artificial brightness. A 20-mile drive west of the Strip, the canyon is actually more like a valley, with the steep, rugged red-rock escarpment rising 3000ft on its western edge. There's a 13-mile scenic loop with access to hiking trails and first-come, first-served camping (campsites $10) 2 miles east of the visitor center.

Lake Mead & Hoover Dam

Lake Mead and Hoover Dam are the most-visited sites within the Lake Mead National Recreation Area (☎ 702-293-8906; www.nps.gov/lame), which encompasses 110-mile-long Lake Mead, 67-mile-long Lake Mohave and many miles of desert around the lakes. The excellent Alan Bible Visitors Center (☎ 702-293-8990; 🕒 8:30am-4:30pm), on Hwy 93 halfway between Boulder City and Hoover Dam, has information on recreation and desert life. From there, North Shore Rd winds around the lake and makes a great scenic drive.

Straddling the Arizona–Nevada border, the graceful curve and art-deco style of the 726ft Hoover Dam (www.usbr.gov/lc/hooverdam) contrasts superbly with the stark landscape. Visitors can either take the 30-minute power plant tour (adult/child $11/6; 🕒 9:15am-5:15pm, to 4:15pm winter) or the more in-depth, one-hour Hoover Dam tour (no children under 8, tour $30).

Tickets for both tours are sold at the visitor center (☎ 702-494-2517, 866-730-9097; 🕒 9am-6pm; exhibits adult/child $8/free). Tickets for the power plant tour only can be purchased online. Note that commercial trucks and buses are not allowed to cross the dam, and pedestrians cannot walk on the dam after dark. All vehicles crossing the dam are subject to search. A highway that will bypass the dam traffic choke point is in the works, with a scheduled opening date of June 2010.

Valley of Fire State Park

A masterpiece of desert scenery filled with psychedelically shaped sandstone outcroppings, this park (www.parks.nv.gov/vf.htm; admission $6) is a great escape 55 miles from Vegas. Hwy 169 runs right past the visitor center (☎ 702-397-2088; 🕒 8:30am-4:30pm), which has hiking and camping (campsites $14) information and excellent desert-life exhibits.

Laughlin

On the banks of the Colorado River, Laughlin is the poor man's Vegas. The casinos lining the strip sport familiar names – Flamingo, Harrah's – but the look is more blue jeans than bling. Laughlin's a down-home gambling type of place – think burgers, Budweiser and penny slots. It attracts an older, more sedate crowd.

One reason Laughlin has become so popular is that it boasts some of the cheapest hotel rates in the West – and while rooms are fairly bland, these are no fleapits. Try the Tropicana Express (☎ 702-298-4200, 800-243-6846; www.tropicanax.com; 2121 S Casino Dr; r from $22; ❄ 💻 🏊); the recently renovated rooms draw rave reviews from travelers. And, for rail fans, there's a working locomotive that chugs around the 27-acre resort. Right on the river, the Golden Nugget (☎ 702-385-7111, 800-846-5336; www.goldennugget.com; 2300 S Casino Dr; r $25-60; ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) has nice rooms with a tropical theme. Riverview rooms show Laughlin at its prettiest right around sunset.

WESTERN NEVADA

A vast and mostly undeveloped sagebrush steppe, the western corner of the state is carved by mountain ranges and parched valleys. The place where modern Nevada began with the discovery of the famous Comstock silver lode in and around Virginia City, these days this part of the state lures visitors with outdoor adventure in the form of hiking, biking, and skiing on the many mountains; quaint historic towns full of grand homes built by silver barons; and, of course, the gambling mecca of Reno. For information about the Nevada side of Lake Tahoe, see p1004.

Reno

Those who don't judge a book by its cover often leave 'The Biggest Little City in the World' thoroughly charmed. A walkable downtown at the edge of the Sierra Nevada mountain range, a thriving arts scene, a year-round white-water kayaking park in the center of the city and nearby outdoor adventure add up to a jackpot of good times.

Reno's downtown is north of the Truckee River and south of I-80. Most of the casino action is along N Virginia St, between 1st and 6th Sts. The River Walk district along W 1st St is the best place for noncasino entertainment and food.

South of downtown, you'll find a visitor center (☎ 775-827-7600, 800-367-7366; www.visitrenotahoe.com; Reno Town Mall, 4001 S Virginia St; 🕒 8am-5pm Mon-Fri).

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

Casinos

Few of Reno's casinos have the flash of Vegas, though some do try.

Eldorado (☎ 775-786-5700; www.eldoradoreno.com; 345 N Virginia St) This hotel-casino complex is a small city under one roof.

Grand Sierra Resort (☎ 775-789-2000; www.grandsierraresort.com; 2500 E 2nd St) A champagne lounge, concerts and a small theme park packed with thrill rides.

Peppermill (☎ 775-826-2121; www.peppermillreno.com; 2707 S Virginia St) A snazzy Vegas-quality place. November 2008 saw the opening of a muscle-melting 30,000-sq-ft spa.

Siena (☎ 775- 327-4362; www.sienareno.com; 1 S Lake St) Right on the Truckee River, it's an upscale, friendly place to game or spa.

Silver Legacy (☎ 775-329-4777; 407 N Virginia St) A 19th-century streetscape plus sound-and-light shows inside a 120ft dome. Lots of antiques displays from the silver-mining days.

Other Attractions

The Truckee River Whitewater Park (☎ 775-334-2262; cnr Sierra & 1st Sts) injects action into the middle of downtown with year-round kayaking. There's a mellow beginner's area, but most of the park is Class II or III rapids. Located on the valet level of Silver Legacy, Wild Sierra Adventures (☎ 866-323-8928; www.wildsierra.com; 407 N Virginia St), run by the affable Jim Bell, offers tons of adventure: kayaking, tubing, mountain biking, skiing, horseback riding and snowmobiling.

In winter, Lake Tahoe (p1004) ski resorts are close by, and Mt Rose (☎ 775-849-0704; www.mtrose.com; lift ticket adult/child $64/17) is a mere 25 minutes away.

The National Automobile Museum (☎ 775-333-9300; www.automuseum.org; 10 S Lake St; adult/child $10/4; 🕒 9:30am-5:30pm Mon-Sat, 10am-4pm Sun; 🅿) has an impressive collection of one-of-a-kind vehicles, like a 24-karat gold-plated DeLorean, and some cool celebrity rides like Elvis' 1973 Cadillac.

GREAT BALLS OF FIRE!

For the week straddling the end of August and the beginning of September, Burning Man (www.burningman.com; admission $195-280) explodes onto the sunbaked Black Rock Desert and Nevada sprouts a third major population center – Black Rock City. It's an experiential art party (and alternative universe) that climaxes in the immolation of a towering stick figure.

The Nevada Museum of Art (☎ 775-329-3333; www.nevadaart.org; 160 W Liberty St; adult/child $10/1; ⏰ 10am-5pm Wed-Sun, to 8pm Thu) has striking sculptures on the outside and permanent collections inside that include more than 600 photographs of landscapes, paintings from regional artists, and a good sampling of contemporary and pop art.

Run by the Historic Reno Preservation Society, most historic walking tours (☎ 775-747-4478; www.historicreno.org; tours $10; ⏰ tours 6pm Tue, 10am Sat) begin at the Riverside Artist Lofts on the corner of the Truckee River and Virginia St.

SLEEPING

Wildflower Village (☎ 775-747-8848; 4395 W 4th St; www.wildflowervillage.com; r from $50; 💻) This artists colony on the edge of town has a tumbledown yet creative vibe. Individual murals decorate the facade of each room, and you can hear the freight trains rumble on by.

Silver Legacy (☎ 775-325-7401, 800-687-8733; www.silverlegacyreno.com; 407 N Virginia St; r $50-100; ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) All pretty in leather and lace, this large, central hotel-casino has Victorian-themed rooms that are surprisingly classy and comfortable. Topped by a huge dome (a faux silver mine and restaurants are underneath), the place is a local landmark.

Siena Hotel Spa Casino (☎ 775-327-4362, 877-743-6233; www.sienareno.com; 1 S Lake St; r from $90-170; 🚭 ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) This boutique hotel is one of Reno's most luxurious addresses, with cozy, nicely appointed riverside rooms. All rooms are nonsmoking.

EATING

Jungle Java & Jungle Vino (☎ 775-329-4484; www.javajunglevino.com; 246 W 1st St; sandwiches $6; ⏰ 6am-midnight; 📶) A side-by-side coffee shop and wine bar with a cool mosaic floor, an internet café and free wi-fi all rolled into one.

Golden Flower (☎ 775-323-1628; 205 W 4th St; meals $6-9; ⏰ 10am-9pm) Walk in on a Sunday to see the place packed with Vietnamese families – a positive omen. Everything is good, but the pho and fresh spring rolls are especially fresh and tasty.

Peg's Glorified Ham & Eggs (☎ 775-329-2600; 420 S Sierra St; dishes $7-10; ⏰ 6:30am-2pm) Widely cited as the best breakfast place in the city, if not the state, Peg's offers tasty grill food that's not too greasy. It's the perfect place to sit outside and read the Sunday paper while munching on an overstuffed omelet. Kid-friendly.

Louis' Basque Corner (☎ 775-323-7203; 301 E 4th St; lunch menu adult/child $12/7, dinner menu adult/child $24/12; ⏰ 11:30am-2:30pm Tue-Sat, 5-9:30pm daily) Get ready to dine on lamb, rabbit, sweet breads and more lamb at a big table full of people you've never met before. A different set-course menu is offered every day, posted in the window.

Wild River Grille (☎ 775-284-7455; www.wildrivergrille.com; 17 S Virginia St; lunch mains $12, dinner mains $30; ⏰ 11am-11pm Sun-Thu, 11am-midnight Fri & Sat) Chic ambience and good eats right on the river. The crab and salmon cakes ($9.50) are divine, and on weekend nights you may be lucky enough to be serenaded by local chanteuse Kate Cotter.

DRINKING & ENTERTAINMENT

210 North (☎ 775-786-6210; www.210north.com; 210 N Sierra St; free before 10pm, cover $10-20; ⏰ Thu-Sat) When Reno folk want to flaunt it, they end up here. A pulsing-hot dance club and downtempo lounge that would feel right at home in Vegas.

Davidson's Distillery (☎ 775-324-1917; 219 E 4th St; ⏰ noon-late) Yes, that's a vending machine with cigarettes and spare parts for Harley-Davidson motorcycles. As long as you come in with a live-and-let-live attitude you'll have a blast at this rocking locals bar with a heavy biker contingent. A tattoo and a Harley shop share the building, if you get inspired.

Shooter's (☎ 775-329-9646; 434 N Virginia St; ⏰ noon-late) It ain't easy being sleazy and this dark bar right across from the big casinos on Virginia St does it oh so well. No gambling and a heavy-metal jukebox seal the deal.

GETTING THERE & AROUND

Reno-Tahoe International Airport (RNO; ☎ 775-328-6400; www.renoairport.com; 📶) is a few miles southeast of downtown and has free wi-fi. Greyhound (☎ 775-322-2970; www.greyhound.com; 155 Stevenson St; 🕒 5am-10pm) has frequent buses to San Francisco ($39, six hours) and Los Angeles ($66 to $93, 10½ to 15 hours), and two daily to Las Vegas ($63 to $105, 18 to 20 hours). Amtrak (☎ 775-329-8638; www.amtrak.com; 280 N Center St; 🕒 7:45am-5pm) has one daily run to Sacramento at 9:36am ($42, five hours); note that this route often has major delays and uses buses. One train leaves eastbound daily at 4:06pm with stops in Salt Lake City, UT ($58, 13 hours), and Denver, CO ($96, 29 hours).

Many hotels offer free shuttles to and from the airport. Local bus system Citifare (☎ 775-348-7433) covers the metropolitan area (adult/child $2/1.25); the main transfer station is at E 4th and Center Sts. The free yellow Sierra Spirit bus (called the pinwheel bus by locals) plies Virginia St from the University of Nevada to the river from 7am to 7pm and is a roving wi-fi hot spot.

Pyramid Lake

A piercingly blue expanse in an otherwise barren landscape 25 miles north of Reno on the Paiute Indian Reservation, Pyramid Lake is popular for recreation and fishing. Permits for camping (primitive campsites per vehicle per night $9) and fishing (per person $9) are available at area gas stations, at outdoor suppliers and the Long's Drug Store locations in Reno, and at the ranger station (☎ 775-476-1155; www.plpt.nsn.us; 🕒 8am-6pm Mon-Thu) on Hwy 446 in Sutcliffe.

Carson City

It's easy to enjoy a quick stop at this quiet, old-fashioned place where pretty historic buildings and pleasant tree-lined streets offer a refreshing change of pace. The casinos are sedate and there are a few worthwhile historical museums to discover.

Hwy 395/Carson St is the main drag. The visitor center (☎ 775-687-7410; www.visitcarsoncity.com; 1900 S Carson St; 🕒 9am-5pm Mon-Fri, gift store only 10am-3pm Sat), a mile south of downtown, gives out a local map with interesting historical walking and driving tours. For hiking and camping information, stop by the United States Forest Service (USFS) Carson Ranger District Office (☎ 775-882-2766; 1536 S Carson St; 🕒 8am-4:30pm Mon-Fri).

Train buffs shouldn't miss the Nevada State Railroad Museum (☎ 775-687-6953; 2180 S Carson St; admission $4; 🕒 8:30am-4:30pm), which displays some 30 train cars and engines from the 1800s to the early 1900s.

There is a handful of casino properties in town, but for a taste of the old Carson City check into the restored 1914 Bliss Bungalow (☎ 775-883-6129; www.blissbungalow.com; 408 W Robinson St; r incl breakfast from $85; ✲ 📶) in the leafy historic district and call out 'howdy neighbor' to passers-by as you sit a spell on the spacious front porch. Each of the five rooms oozes charm.

RTC Intercity (☎ 775-348-7433; www.rtcwashoe.com) has a weekday commuter service between Carson City and Reno ($4, one hour). The buses have free wi-fi.

Virginia City

During the 1860s gold rush, Virginia City was a high-flying, rip-roaring Wild West boomtown. Newspaperman Samuel Clemens, alias Mark Twain, spent some time in this raucous place during its heyday; years later his eyewitness descriptions of mining life were published in a book called Roughing It.

The high-elevation town is a National Historic Landmark, with a main street of Victorian buildings, wooden sidewalks and some hokey but fun museums. The main drag is C St; check out the visitor center (☎ 775-847-4386; www.virginiacity-nv.org; 86 S C St; 🕒 10am-4pm).

The Virginia City International Camel Races celebrated 50 years of camels battling toward the finish line in 2009. Expect enormous crowds for this popular September event – emus and ostriches race here too. Contact the visitor center for dates.

One of the town's star attractions is the quirky Way It Was Museum (☎ 775-847-0766; 113 N C St; admission $3; 🕒 10am-6pm). It's a fun, old-fashioned place offering good background information on mining the lode. To see how the mining elite lived, stop by the Mackay Mansion (D St) and the Castle (B St).

Virginia City has a number of places to sleep, including a large RV park. A more luxurious choice, the historic Chollar Mansion B&B (☎ 775-847-9777, 877-246-5527; www.chollarmansion.com; 565 S D St; r incl breakfast $135; ☒) used to be the town mine office. The best food in Virginia City is probably at Cafe del Rio (☎ 775-847-5151; 394 S C St; meals from $12; 🕒 11am-8pm Wed-Sat, 10am-8pm Sun), serving a nice blend of nuevo Mexican and good café food, including breakfast.

NEVADA GREAT BASIN

A trip across Nevada's Great Basin is a serene, almost haunting experience. But those on the quest for the 'Great American Road Trip' will relish the fascinating historic towns and quirky diversions tucked away along lonely desert highways.

Along I-80

Heading east from Reno, Winnemucca, 150 miles to the northeast, is the first worthwhile stop. It boasts a vintage downtown, shops and numerous motels and restaurants. There's a number of Basque restaurants here, and the city has a yearly Basque festival. For information, stop by the chamber of commerce (☎ 775-623-2225; 30 W Winnemucca Blvd; 🕒 8:30am-5pm Mon-Fri, 9am-4pm Sat, 11am-4pm Sun June 1–mid-Sept). Plan to spend some time checking out the displays here: a buckaroo (cowboy) and big-game museum call the visitor center home.

The culture of the American West is most diligently cultivated in Elko. Aspiring cowboys and cowgirls should visit the Western Folklife Center (☎ 775-738-7508; www.westernfolklife.org; 501 Railroad St; exhibit admission adult/child $5/1; 🕒 10am-5:30pm Mon & Wed-Fri, 10:30am-5:30pm Tue, 10am-5pm Sat), which offers art and history exhibits and also hosts the popular Cowboy Poetry Gathering each January. There's also a National Basque Festival, held every 4th of July, with games, traditional dancing and a 'Running of the Bulls' event. At the town center, Stockmen's Casino & Hotel (☎ 775-738-5141, 800-648-2345; www.stockmenscasinos.com; 340 Commercial St; r/ste from $45/80; ❄ 🏊) is a good place to stay, with clean rooms.

Along Highway 50

Towns are few and far between, the only sounds the hum of the engine or the whisper of wind. Once part of the Lincoln Hwy, lonesome Hwy 50 follows the route of the Overland Stagecoach, the Pony Express and the first transcontinental telegraph line.

Fallon, 60 miles east of Reno, is an agricultural and military town, and home to a naval air base. If you're heading east this is your last chance to get gas for 110 miles. Fallon Lodge (☎ 775-423-4648; www.fallonlodge.com; 390 W Williams Ave; r from $35; 🏊) has clean, simple rooms with kitchenettes.

Heading east, the next substantial town is Austin, smack-dab in the middle of Nevada. It's become run-down since its 1880s heyday but is still interesting. The mountainous area around it is lovely, and Austin's USFS office (☎ 775-964-2671; 100 Midas Rd; 🕒 7:30am-4:30pm Mon-Fri), just off Hwy 50, can recommend hikes and driving loops. Mountain biking is phenomenal here; the website of the chamber of commerce (☎ 775-964-2200; www.austinnevada.com) lists good bike routes.

During the late 19th century, $40 million worth of silver was extracted from the hills near Eureka. The town is now fairly well preserved, possessing a handsome courthouse, the interesting Eureka Sentinel Museum (☎ 775-237-5010; 10 S Bateman St; admission free; 🕒 10am-6pm daily May-Oct, 10am-6pm Tue-Sat Nov-Apr), a beautifully restored 1880 opera house and a few well-kept motels.

Near the Nevada–Utah border is the awesome, uncrowded Great Basin National Park. It encompasses 13,063ft Wheeler Peak, rising abruptly from the desert. Hiking trails near the summit take in superb country with glacial lakes, ancient bristlecone pines and even a permanent ice field. Admission is free; the park visitor center (☎ 775-234-7331; www.nps.gov/grba; 🕒 8am-5:30pm), just north of the town of Baker, is the place to get oriented on everything the park has to offer.

For a 60- or 90-minute guided tour of the caves here that are richly decorated with rare limestone formations, head to the Lehman Caves (☎ 775-234-7331; www.nps.gov/grba; admission $8-10; 🕒 8:30am-4pm) five miles outside of Baker. There are first-come, first-served developed campgrounds (campsites $12) in the park.

Along Highway 95

Hwy 95 runs roughly north–south through the western part of the state; the southern section is starkly scenic as it passes the Nevada Test Site (where more than 720 nuclear weapons were exploded in the 1950s). Five miles north of Beatty, Bailey's Hot Springs & RV Park (☎ 775-553-2395; tent/RV sites $18/21), a 1906 former railroad depot, has three private hot springs in antique bathhouses, open from 8am to 8pm daily. Overnight guests get complimentary usage, and day-trippers pay $5 per person for a 30-minute soak.

Off Hwy 374, a few miles southwest of Beatty, the Goldwell Open Air Museum (☎ 702-870-9946; www.goldwellmuseum.org; admission free; 🕒 24hr) is a rather mysterious 8-acre outdoor sculpture site surrounded by desert.

Along Highways 375 & 93

Hwy 375 is dubbed the 'Extraterrestrial Hwy' because of the huge amount of UFO sightings along this stretch of concrete and because it intersects Hwy 93 near top-secret Area 51, part of Nellis Air Force Base and a supposed holding area for captured UFOs. In the tiny town of Rachel, on Hwy 375, Little A'Le'Inn (☎ 775-729-2515; www.aleinn.com; r from $45) accommodates earthlings and aliens alike, and sells extraterrestrial souvenirs. Probings not included.

Continuing east, Hwy 93 passes through a gorgeous Joshua-tree grove before arriving in Caliente, a former railroad town with a 1923 Mission-style depot. Area attractions include Cathedral Gorge State Park, with first-come, first-served campsites ($14) set amid badlands-style cliffs. Twenty miles north, Pioche is an attractive mining town overlooking beautiful Lake Valley.

ARIZONA

Every state tourism brochure claims a huge amount of diversity, but Arizona has the bona fides. You can visit ancient cities hewn into high cliffs and a self-sufficient city of the future in one half-day outing, and in winter you can ski in the morning and go hiking in shorts in the afternoon. Mostly, though, it's the landscape that gets people, and the space. Armies of saguaro cactus stand at attention along nearly every roadway. Bushes, trees and cacti in all sorts of gnarly shapes and colors spread out on rolling sandy hills for as far as the eye can see.

In the heart of Arizona is Phoenix and its suburbs, the aptly named Valley of the Sun. This is one of the biggest metro areas in the Southwest and has the eating, sights and glorious spas you'd expect in a spot that stakes its claim on rest and renewal. Tucson is the funky, artsy gateway to southern Arizona's astronomical and historical sights, and the last major stop until Nogales, a city that straddles the Mexican border.

Up north is Flagstaff, a cool mountain town where locals seek relief from the searing summer heat and people come to play on the nearby San Francisco Peaks all year long. Lying on the northern edge of the state like the crown that it is, the Grand Canyon is Arizona's star attraction. Carved over eons by the mighty Colorado River, the greatest hole on earth draws visitors from around the world.

ARIZONA FACTS

Nickname Grand Canyon State
Population 6.5 million
Area 113,637 sq miles
Capital city Phoenix (population 1.5 million)
Other cities Tucson (population 519,000), Flagstaff (population 60,000), Sedona (population 11,400)
Sales tax 5.6%
Birthplace of Apache chief Geronimo (1829–1909), political activist Cesar Chavez (1927–93), singer Linda Ronstadt (b 1946)
Home of Sedona New Age movement, mining towns turned art colonies
Famous for Grand Canyon, saguaro cacti
Best souvenir Pink cactus-shaped neon lamp from roadside stall
Driving distances Tucson to Sedona 230 miles, Phoenix to Grand Canyon Village 235 miles

History

The Pueblo, Mogollon and Hohokam tribes inhabited Arizona for centuries before Spanish explorer Francisco Vasquez de Coronado launched a Southwest expedition here from Mexico City in 1540. Settlers and missionaries followed in his wake, and by the mid-19th century the US controlled Arizona. The Indian Wars, in which the US Army battled Native Americans to 'protect' settlers and claim land for the government, officially ended in 1886 with the surrender of Apache warrior Geronimo.

Railroad and mining expansion grew. In 1912 President Theodore Roosevelt's support for damming the territory's rivers led to Arizona becoming the 48th state.

Today Arizona is in transition. Fifty years of rapid growth have taken a toll on the state's limited natural resources. Scarcity of water remains among the foremost issues for Arizona lawmakers, who continue the desperate search for the water needed to supply the burgeoning cities. An influx of new residents, many from places with a more liberal and less libertarian bent, are slowly changing the political makeup of the place.

Information

Arizona is on Mountain Standard Time but is the only western state that does not observe daylight saving time from spring to early fall. The exception is the Navajo Reservation, which does observe daylight saving time.

Generally speaking, lodging rates in southern Arizona (including Phoenix, Tucson and Yuma) are much higher in winter and spring, which are considered the state's 'high season.' Great deals are to be had in the hot areas in the height of summer.

Arizona Office of Tourism (☎ 602-364-3700, 866-891-3640; www.arizonaguide.com; 1110 W Washington, Suite 155, Phoenix) Free state information.

Arizona Public Lands Information Center (☎ 602-417-9300; www.publiclands.org; 1 N Central Ave, Suite 102, Phoenix) Information about USFS, NPS, Bureau of Land Management (BLM) and state lands and parks.

Arizona State Parks (☎ 602-542-4174; www.azstateparks.com; 1300 W Washington St, Phoenix) Camping ($10 to $30 per vehicle per night) is first-come, first-served at all but two state parks, Buckskin Mountain and Roper Lake.

PHOENIX

Covering almost 2000 sq miles, Phoenix is easily the largest metropolis in the Southwest. At first glance it can seem like a limitless sprawl of beige and strip malls, but look a little harder and there's an interesting mix of upscale pampering and sunbaked weirdness.

In the midst of a revitalization, downtown Phoenix has signs of life at night now, with the up-and-coming Roosevelt District finally bringing together what were lonely pockets of arts and culture before. Add to this the spiffy new light-rail system that runs past some of the best museums and eateries in the state, and a reborn Phoenix is more than marketing hype.

Phoenix is the center of gravity for a family of interconnected cities in the Valley of the Sun. Think of Scottsdale as the always stylish big sister who married up, Tempe like the good-natured but occasionally rowdy college kid, and Mesa like the brother who wanted nothing more than a quiet life in the suburbs.

Reveling in more than 300 days of sunshine a year, Phoenix is crazy-hot in summer – above 110°F (43°C) – but pleasant days prevail in winter.

The city is a major transportation hub, and is often used as a jumping-off point for further-flung adventures.

Orientation

Most of the valley sits approximately 1100ft above sea level, though it's ringed by mountains that range from 2500ft to more than 7000ft in elevation. Central Ave runs north–south through Phoenix, dividing west addresses from east addresses; Washington St runs west–east, dividing north addresses from south addresses.

Scottsdale, Tempe and Mesa are east of the airport. Scottsdale Rd runs north–south between Scottsdale and Tempe. The airport is 3 miles southeast of downtown.

Avoid the grungy stretch of Van Buren St between downtown and the airport; motels here are run-down and popular with prostitutes.

Information

BOOKSTORES

Bookman's (☎ 602-433-0255; www.bookmans.com; 8034 N 19th Ave; 📶) Aisle after aisle of used books; free in-store wi-fi.

Wide World of Maps (☎ 602-279-2323; 2626 W Indian School Rd; 🕒 9am-6pm Mon-Fri, to 5pm Sat) Dedicated to maps and guidebooks.

EMERGENCY & MEDICAL SERVICES

Banner Good Samaritan Medical Center (☎ 602-239-2000; 1111 E McDowell Rd; 🕒 24hr emergency)

Police (☎ 602-262-7626; 620 W Washington St)

INTERNET ACCESS

Burton Barr Central Library (☎ 602-262-4636; www.phoenixpubliclibrary.org; 1221 N Central Ave; 🕒 11am-7pm Mon, Wed & Fri, 9am-5pm Tue, Thu & Sat, 1-5pm Sun) Free internet access.

INTERNET RESOURCES & MEDIA

Arizona Republic (www.azcentral.com) Arizona's largest newspaper; publishes a free entertainment guide, Calendar, every Thursday.

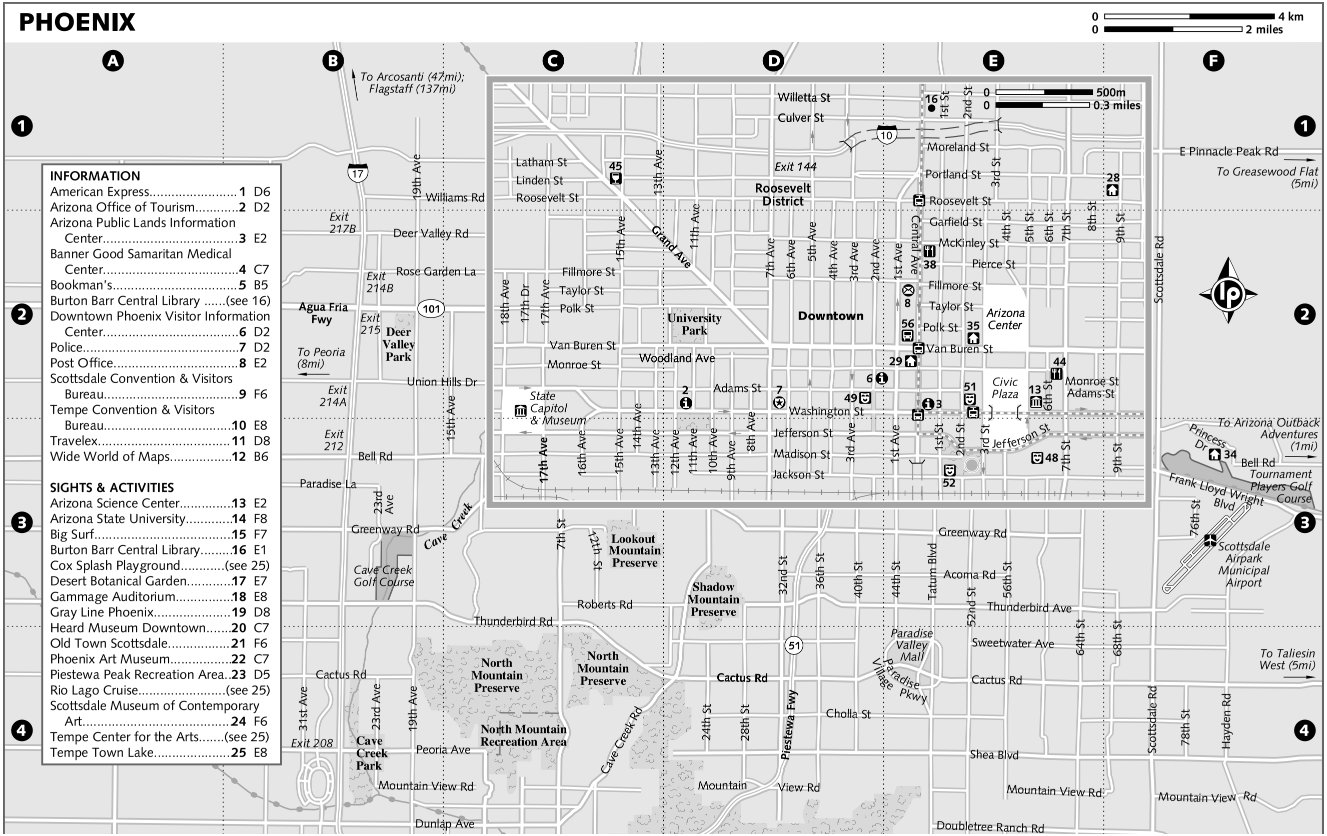
craigslist (http://phoenix.craigslist.org) The active local branch of the popular bulletin board, with info on ride shares, events etc.

Phoenix New Times (www.phoenixnewtimes.com) The major free weekly; lots of event and restaurant listings.

MONEY

Foreign exchange is available at the airport and major bank branches.

PHOENIX



0 4 km
0 2 miles
A
B
C
D
E
F
1
2
3
4
To Arcosanti (47mi); Flagstaff (137mi)
To Greasewood Flat (5mi)
To Arizona Outback Adventures (1mi)
To Taliesin West (5mi)
To Peoria (8mi)
E Pinnacle Peak Rd
Williams Rd
Deer Valley Rd
Rose Garden La
Agua Fria Fwy
Deer Valley Park
Union Hills Dr
Bell Rd
Paradise La
Greenway Rd
Cave Creek
Cave Creek Golf Course
Thunderbird Rd
Cactus Rd
Peoria Ave
Mountain View Rd
Dunlap Ave
Cave Creek Park
North Mountain Preserve
North Mountain Recreation Area
Lookout Mountain Preserve Shadow Mountain Preserve
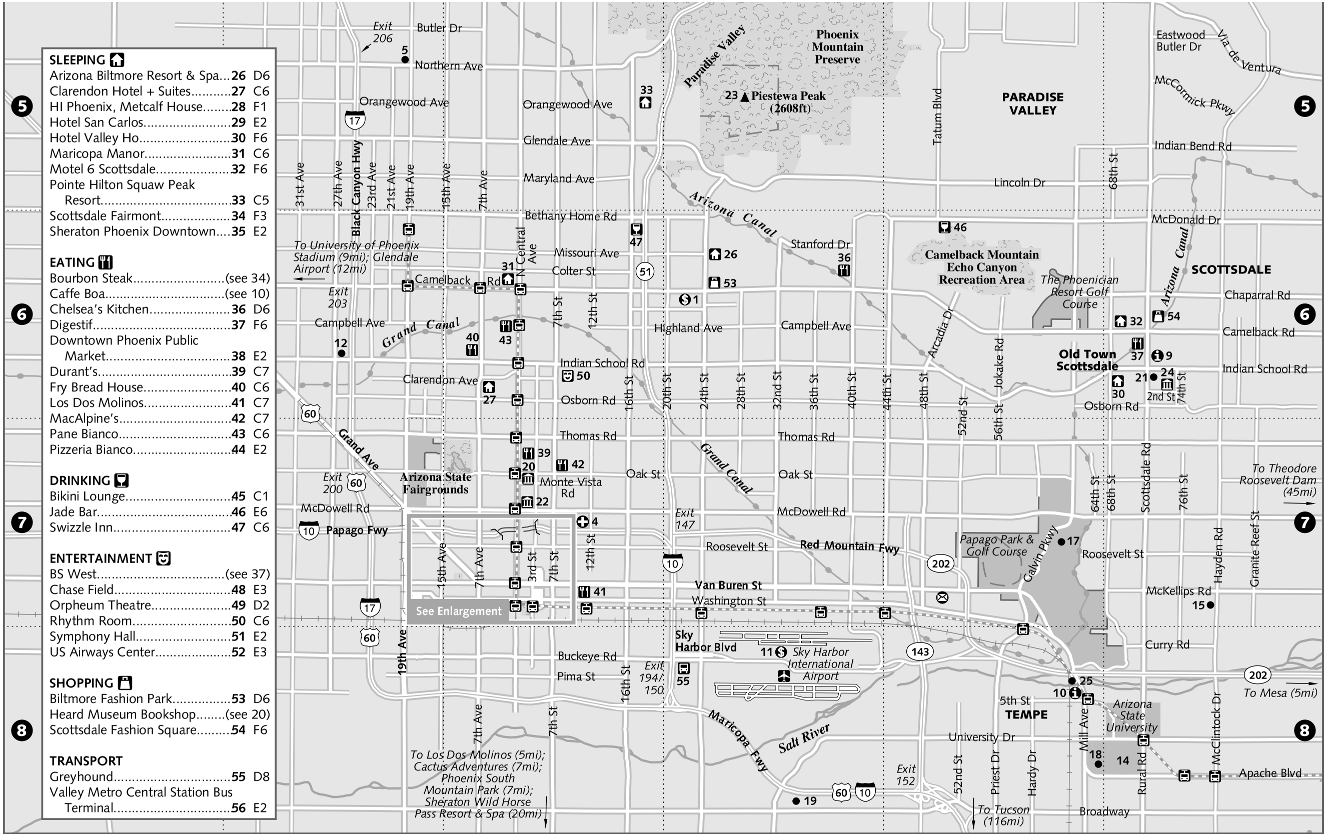
Roberts Rd
Cave Creek Rd
Piestewa Fwy
Cholla St
Paradise Valley Mall
Paradise Village Pkwy
Acoma Rd
Thunderbird Ave
Sweetwater Ave
Shea Blvd
Doubletree Ranch Rd
Tatum Blvd
Scottsdale Rd
Hayden Rd
Princess Dr
Frank Lloyd Wright Blvd
Tournament Players Golf Course
Scottsdale Airpark Municipal Airport
Exit 217B
Exit 214B
Exit 215
Exit 214A
Exit 212
Exit 208
Exit 144
0 500m
0 0.3 miles
Roosevelt District
Downtown
University Park
Arizona Center
Civic Plaza
State Capitol & Museum
Grand Ave
Central Ave
Van Buren St
Washington St
Jefferson St
Roosevelt St
Woodland Ave

INFORMATION

American Express	1	D6
Arizona Office of Tourism	2	D2
Arizona Public Lands Information Center	3	E2
Banner Good Samaritan Medical Center	4	C7
Bookman's	5	B5
Burton Barr Central Library	(see 16)
Downtown Phoenix Visitor Information Center	6	D2
Police	7	D2
Post Office	8	E2
Scottsdale Convention & Visitors Bureau	9	F6
Tempe Convention & Visitors Bureau	10	E8
Travelex	11	D8
Wide World of Maps	12	B6

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

Arizona Science Center	13	E2
Arizona State University	14	F8
Big Surf	15	F7
Burton Barr Central Library	16	E1
Cox Splash Playground	(see 25)
Desert Botanical Garden	17	E7
Gammage Auditorium	18	E8
Gray Line Phoenix	19	D8
Heard Museum Downtown	20	C7
Old Town Scottsdale	21	F6
Phoenix Art Museum	22	C7
Piestewa Peak Recreation Area	23	D5
Rio Lago Cruise	(see 25)
Scottsdale Museum of Contemporary Art	24	F6
Tempe Center for the Arts	(see 25)
Tempe Town Lake	25	E8



5
6
7
8
Exit 206
Butler Dr
Northern Ave
Orangewood Ave
17
Glendale Ave
Maryland Ave
Bethany Home Rd
31st Ave
27th Ave
Black Canyon Hwy
23rd Ave
21st Ave
19th Ave
15th Ave
7th Ave
N Central Ave
To University of Phoenix Stadium (9mi); Glendale Airport (12mi)
Exit 203
Camelback Rd
Campbell Ave
Grand Canal
Clarendon Ave
Indian School Rd
Osborn Rd
Thomas Rd
Grand Ave
60
Exit 200
McDowell Rd
Arizona State Fairgrounds
Monte Vista Rd
Papago Fwy
10
See Enlargement
3rd St
7th St
12th St
19th Ave
Buckeye Rd
Pima St
To Los Dos Molinos (5mi); Cactus Adventures (7mi); Phoenix South Mountain Park (7mi); Sheraton Wild Horse Pass Resort & Spa (20mi)
Missouri Ave
Colter St
51
16th St
20th St
24th St
28th St
32nd St
36th St
40th St
44th St
48th St
52nd St
56th St
Highland Ave
Oak St
Exit 147
Roosevelt St
Van Buren St
Washington St
Sky Harbor Blvd
Exit 194/150
Sky Harbor International Airport
Maricopa Fwy
Salt River
Exit 152
Paradise Valley
Phoenix Mountain Preserve
Piestewa Peak (2608ft)
Arizona Canal
Stanford Dr
Tatum Blvd
PARADISE VALLEY
Lincoln Dr
Camelback Mountain Echo Canyon Recreation Area
Arcadia Dr
Jokake Rd
The Phoenician Resort Golf Course
Old Town Scottsdale
Red Mountain Fwy
202
143
Papago Park & Golf Course
Galvin Pkwy
64th St
68th St
Scottsdale Rd
76th St
Hayden Rd
Granite Reef St
McKellips Rd
Curry Rd
To Theodore Roosevelt Dam (45mi)
To Mesa (5mi)
5th St
TEMPE
University Dr
Priest Dr
Hardy Dr
Mill Ave
Arizona State University
Rural Rd
McClintock Dr
Apache Blvd
Broadway
To Tucson (116mi)
Eastwood Butler Dr
Via de Ventura
McCormick Pkwy
Indian Bend Rd
McDonald Dr
SCOTTSDALE
Chaparral Rd
Camelback Rd
Indian School Rd
Osborn Rd
2nd St
74th St
1
4
5
9 10 11 12
14 15
17 18 19 20 21
22
23 24
25 26 27 30 31 32 33 36 37
39 40
41 42
43
46 47
50 53
54
55

SLEEPING 🏠

Arizona Biltmore Resort & Spa	26	D6
Clarendon Hotel + Suites	27	C6
HI Phoenix, Metcalf House	28	F1
Hotel San Carlos	29	E2
Hotel Valley Ho	30	F6
Maricopa Manor	31	C6
Motel 6 Scottsdale	32	F6
Pointe Hilton Squaw Peak Resort	33	C5
Scottsdale Fairmont	34	F3
Sheraton Phoenix Downtown	35	E2

EATING

Bourbon Steak	(see 34)
Caffe Boa	(see 10)
Chelsea's Kitchen	36	D6
Digestif	37	F6
Downtown Phoenix Public Market	38	E2
Durant's	39	C7
Fry Bread House	40	C6
Los Dos Molinos	41	C7
MacAlpine's	42	C7
Pane Bianco	43	C6
Pizzeria Bianco	44	E2

DRINKING

Bikini Lounge	45	C1
Jade Bar	46	E6
Swizzle Inn	47	C6

ENTERTAINMENT

BS West	(see 37)
Chase Field	48	E3
Orpheum Theatre	49	D2
Rhythm Room	50	C6
Symphony Hall	51	E2
US Airways Center	52	E3

SHOPPING

Biltmore Fashion Park	53	D6
Heard Museum Bookshop	(see 20)
Scottsdale Fashion Square	54	F6

TRANSPORT

Greyhound	55	D8
Valley Metro Central Station Bus Terminal	56	E2

DON'T MISS

- Heard Museum Downtown – Native American exhibits (below)
- Taliesin West – Frank Lloyd Wright legacy (right)
- Desert Botanical Garden – prickly but perfect stroll (right)
- Roosevelt District – art, drinks and eats (p839)
- Piestewa Peak Recreation Area – Pristine desert hiking in the center of the city (opposite)

American Express (☎ 602-468-1199; www.americanexpress.com; 2201 E Camelback Rd; ⏰ 10am-6pm Mon-Fri, to 4pm Sat) Also offers help with travel planning.

Travelex (☎ 602-275-8767; www.travelex.com; Sky Harbor International Airport, 3800 Sky Harbor Blvd, Terminal 4, Phoenix; ⏰ 8am-8pm) A good bet.

POST

Post office (☎ 602-253-9648; 522 N Central Ave)

TOURIST INFORMATION

Downtown Phoenix Visitor Information Center (☎ 602-254-6500, 877-225-5749; www.visitphoenix.com; 125 N 2nd St, Suite 120; ⏰ 8am-5pm Mon-Fri) Main tourist office of the Greater Phoenix Convention & Visitors Bureau.

Tempe Convention & Visitors Bureau (☎ 480-894-8158, 866-914-1052; www.tempecvb.com; 51 W 3rd St, Suite 105; ⏰ 8:30am-5pm Mon-Fri)

Scottsdale Convention & Visitors Bureau (☎ 480-421-1004, 800-712-1117; www.scottsdalecvb.com; Galleria Corporate Centre, 4343 N Scottsdale Rd, Suite 170; ⏰ 8am-5:30pm Mon-Fri)

Sights

PHOENIX

The Heard Museum Downtown (☎ 602-252-8848; www.heard.org; 2301 N Central Ave; adult/child $10/3; ⏰ 9:30am-5pm Mon-Sat, 11am-5pm Sun) is set in a sun-bleached Spanish Colonial–style building that houses one of the best Native American museums in the entire world. Check out the kachina collection and the room of large murals depicting Native American legends.

Next door is the 18,000-piece Phoenix Art Museum (☎ 602-257-1222; www.phxart.org; 1625 N Central Ave; adult/child $10/4; ⏰ 10am-9pm Wed, 10am-5pm Thu-Sat, noon-5pm Sun, 6-10pm 1st Fri of month). Southwestern and Latin American art are the main attractions, but there's a huge range, so spend some time inside the spaciously cool and modern building.

Only a few more blocks to the south, the Burton Barr Central Library (☎ 602-262-4636; www.phoenixpubliclibrary.org; 1221 N Central Ave; ⏰ 11am-7pm Mon, Wed & Fri, 9am-5pm Tue, Thu & Sat, 1-5pm Sun) never fails to impress. Be sure to head to the top floor at sunset to watch downtown disappear into a wistful golden color reflected from mirrored-glass buildings.

Stroll among the succulents and a crazy forest of cacti at the Desert Botanical Garden (☎ 480-941-1225; www.dbg.org; 1201 N Galvin Pkwy; adult/child $15/5; ⏰ 8am-8pm Oct-May, 7am-8pm Jun-Sep; 👶). Check for seasonal special events like solstice celebrations and candlelit night visits around the Christmas holiday.

SCOTTSDALE

Scottsdale's main draw is its popular shopping district, known as Old Town for its early 20th-century buildings (and others built to look old) stuffed chockablock with art galleries, clothing stores for the modern cowgirl, and some of the best eating and drinking in the Valley of the Sun.

Taliesin West (☎ 480-860-2700; www.franklloydwright.org; 12621 Frank Lloyd Wright Blvd; tours $27-60; ⏰ hours variable) is the still-functioning architecture school built by Frank Lloyd Wright (he also taught and lived here) in the mid-20th century. The public can tour the environmentally organic buildings spread over 600 acres of pristine desert.

The Scottsdale Museum of Contemporary Art (☎ 480-874-4666; www.smoca.org; 7374 E 2nd St; adult/child $7/free, free Thu; ⏰ 10am-5pm Tue-Wed, Fri & Sat, 10am-8pm Thu, noon-5pm Sun) is another beautiful Arizona building, and the art within is like the cherry inside a chocolate. Best of all, the museum anchors an area sprinkled with public art and eateries.

TEMPE

Founded in 1885 and home to some 46,000 students, Arizona State University (ASU) is the heart and soul of Tempe. The Gammage Auditorium (cnr Mill Ave & Apache Blvd) was Frank Lloyd Wright's last major building.

Easily accessible by light-rail from downtown Phoenix, Mill Avenue, Tempe's main drag, is packed with chain restaurants, themed bars and other collegiate hangouts. It's worth checking out while visiting Tempe Town Lake, an artifical lake with boat rides and paths perfect for strolling or biking its fringes.

The Tempe Center for the Arts (☎ 480-350-2829; www.tempe.gov/tca; 700 W Rio Salado Pkwy; admission free; 🕘 10am-6pm Tue-Fri, 11am-6pm Sat), set right on the lake, has a sculpture garden and infinity pool outside of the curved-steel building. Inside, there's a theater for the performing arts and a 3500-sq-ft gallery.

Activities

Phoenix South Mountain Park (☎ 602-495-0222; www.phoenix.gov/parks/hikesoth.html; 10919 S Central Ave) offers more than 40 miles of trails to hike or bike, where civilization feels thousands of miles away, as well as dozens of Native American petroglyph sites. Drive to the top along small crazy-curving roads and you're rewarded with a view of the valley below. Horseback riding is also available.

Just a quick quarter-mile pedal from South Mountain Park is Cactus Adventures (☎ 480-940-7433; www.cactusadventures.com; 4747 Elliot Rd, Suite 21; half-day rental from $30; 🕘 9am-7pm Mon-Sat, 9am-5pm Sun), for mountain-bike rental. It also rents road bikes and beach cruisers.

For fabulous desert views, especially at sunset, head to Piestewa Peak Recreation Area (☎ 602-262-7901; Piestewa Peak Dr). The trek to the 2608ft summit of Piestewa Peak is one of Phoenix' most popular outdoor endeavors. The easier circumference trail begins at the very last parking lot and offers a more Zen experience.

Stop by Rio Lago Cruise (☎ 480-517-4050; www.riolagocruise.com; boat rental per hr from $10; 🕘 9am-noon & 6-9pm Tue-Sun May-Sep, 11am-7pm Tue-Sun Oct-Apr) at Tempe Town Lake to rent your own pedal-powered or motorboat.

Phoenix for Children

If the kiddies are wilting in the heat, visit Tempe's Big Surf (☎ 480-947-2477; 1500 N McClintock Rd; adult/child under 2/child $26/3/19.50; 🕘 11am-6pm Sat & Sun, May-Sep; 👪), with two wave pools, many a twisty waterslide and a mellow cove for toddlers.

For a quick few hours of slippery fun, visit Tempe Beach Park's Cox Splash Playground (🕘 10am-7pm April-Sep; 👪), where kids can frolic in their bathing suits in all sorts of oversized sprinkler fun.

At the popular Arizona Science Center (☎ 602-716-2000; www.azscience.org; 600 E Washington St; adult/child $12/10; 🕘 10am-5pm; 👪), play with 300-odd hands-on exhibits, watch live demonstrations or take in the mysteries of the universe at the planetarium.

ART SMART

Every Thursday evening more than 100 of Scottsdale's galleries keep their doors open until 9pm for Art Walk (www.scottsdalegalleries.com), centered on Marshall Way and Main St. On the first Friday evening of every month, downtown Phoenix kicks up the gritty and fun factor a few notches for First Fridays (www.artlinkphoenix.com), and the happening Roosevelt District is packed with bicyclists and pedestrians moseying between galleries and bars.

Tours

Arizona Detours (☎ 866-438-6877; www.detoursaz.com) Offers day tours to far-flung locations like Tombstone (adult/child $140/70) and the Grand Canyon (adult/child $145/80), and five-hour city tours (adult/child $75/40).

Arizona Outback Adventures (☎ 480-945-2881; www.aoa-adventures.com; 16447 N 91st St, Scottsdale) Offers day trips for hiking ($55, minimum two people), biking ($75, minimum two people), and other active outings.

Gray Line Phoenix (☎ 602-437-3484; www.graylinephoenix.com; 4001 S 34th St) Offers four-hour city tours (adult/child $52/27.50), as well as a 10-hour Sedona tour (adult/child $95/50.50).

Festivals & Events

Phoenix' most popular event is the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl football game (☎ 480-350-0911; www.fiestabowl.com), held in the first days of January at the University of Phoenix Stadium in Glendale. It's preceded by massive celebrations and parades.

Sleeping

From basic motels to ritzy resorts, the valley's hundreds of places to stay have one thing in common: prices plummet in summer when the mercury rises. Peak-season rates are quoted here.

BUDGET

Chain hotels clustered around the airport and in the West Valley city of Peoria often have great deals, especially on weekends when business travelers leave.

HI Phoenix, Metcalf House (☎ 602-254-9803; www.home.earthlink.net/~phxhostel; 1026 N 9th St, Phoenix; dm $18-25, r $30-45; 🕒 5-10pm check-in; ☒ ❄ 📶) Chalked thank-you notes grace the facade of this homey hostel in a residential neighborhood. Kitchen and common areas close during the day, and the whole place shuts down for July and August.

Motel 6 Scottsdale (☎ 480-946-2280; www.motel6.com; 6848 E Camelback Rd, Scottsdale; s/d $38/56; ❄ 🏊) Yes, it's a standard chain, but this motel is conveniently located smack-dab in the middle of upscale Scottsdale, only a quick drive from the Old Town.

MIDRANGE

Hotel San Carlos (☎ 602-253-4121; www.hotelsancarlos.com; 202 N Central Ave, Phoenix; r $83-110; ☒ ❄ 🏊) A historic property in the heart of downtown Phoenix, this 1928 gem sports smallish but clean rooms, friendly staff and lots of old-school charm. It's set across the street from a light-rail station.

Hotel Valley Ho (☎ 480-248-2000; www.hotelvalleyho.com; 6850 E Main St, Scottsdale; r $99-600) A stylish Rat Pack–era hotel that reopened just a few years ago, this property is near the gourmet food and drink action of Scottsdale's Southbridge area. The rooms are groovy paeans to mid-Century Modern style and have modern comforts like huge flat-screen and luscious beds. You can get your tiki-style bowl of rum drink at the on-site Trader Vic's. Check it out, hep cat.

our pick Clarendon Hotel + Suites (☎ 602-252-7363; www.theclarendon.net; 401 W Clarendon Ave, Phoenix; r/ste incl breakfast $110/200; ☒ ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) Modern yet lusciously retro, this blue pin-striped boutique hotel features cool contemporary art and groovy touches like painted sliding window blinds. Throw in complimentary phone use (including long distance), wi-fi and a superhip rooftop bar, and you're living large.

Maricopa Manor (☎ 602-274-6302, 800-292-6403; www.maricopamanor.com; 15 W Pasadena Ave, Phoenix; r incl breakfast from $150; ☒ ❄ 📶 🏊) This small, elegant place right near tree-lined Central Ave has seven beautiful suites, many with French doors onto a deck overlooking the pool, garden and fountain areas. Although it's a B&B, privacy is paramount.

Sheraton Phoenix Downtown (☎ 602-262-2500, 800-323-3535; www.sheratonphoenixdowntown.com; 340 N 3rd St, Phoenix; r from $170; ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) One of the newest additions to downtown Phoenix properties. The hotel's facade, designed to keep cooling costs down, belies an especially attractive interior full of pieces from regional artists. It's mainly a business hotel during the week, but on First Friday and on weekends the hotel's bar and restaurant is a popular hangout chock-full of local art and art-lovers. Rooms are modern and comfy, and the rooftop pool has great views.

TOP END

The resorts are the most elegant and expensive places to stay. Not just places to sleep, they are destinations within themselves, and some make an entire vacation out of it.

Pointe Hilton Squaw Peak Resort (☎ 602-997-2626, 800-947-9784; www.pointehilton.com; 7677 N 16th St, Phoenix; r from $180; ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) With plenty of pools, water slides, a tubing 'river' and a kids' camp – as well as a concierge for kids' activities – this all-suite resort is the most family-friendly spot in town.

Scottsdale Fairmont (☎ 480-585-4848, 866-540-4495; www.fairmont.com/scottsdale; 7575 E Princess Dr, Scottsdale; r from $240; ☒ ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) Beautiful, well-appointed rooms, excellent service and dining that's basically par for the course at Arizona's luxury resorts. But, in the quest for the best spa, this is the winner.

Sheraton Wild Horse Pass Resort & Spa (☎ 602-225-0100, 888-625-5144; www.wildhorsepassresort.com; 5594 W Wild Horse Pass Blvd, Chandler; r from $273; ☒ ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) Designed by the Gila River tribe as a luxurious place to soak up the best of Native American healing and wisdom, this place has comfortable rooms, spacious common areas, fine dining and plenty of programs to educate the well-cared-for guests.

Arizona Biltmore Resort & Spa (☎ 602-955-6600, 800-950-0086; www.arizonabiltmore.com; 2400 E Missouri Ave, Phoenix; r from $380; 🅿 ☒ ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) At the Biltmore, built in 1929 as one of Arizona's first super-luxe resorts, the class and history nearly oozes from the deco walls. It's close to the upscale Camelback Corridor, but with an on-site golf course, a spa, tennis courts, bike rentals and property tours, it's hard to leave.

Eating

The Phoenix-Scottsdale area has the largest selection of restaurants in the Southwest.

UNDER THE STARS, STAR WARS–STYLE

The brainchild of groundbreaking architect and urban planner Paolo Soleri, Arcosanti (☎ 928-632-7135; www.arcosanti.org; Cordes Junction; s/d from $30/40, Sky Suite incl breakfast $100) is a desert outpost based on 'acrology': architecture meets ecology. This cross between a kibbutz and design school 65 miles north of Phoenix looks like a village on Luke Skywalker's home planet. Radical when conceived in the 1960s, Soleri's ideas now seem cutting-edge in this age of urban sprawl and global warming. Arcosanti is good for a day trip or a long stay – there are week- and month-long seminars, a café, one-hour tours, concerts and other events. Basic accommodation is available, and the Sky Suite is designed for great views of a dark desert night.

BUDGET

Downtown Phoenix Public Market (www.phoenixpublicmarket.com; 721 N Central Ave, Phoenix; ⏲ 4-8pm Wed, 8am-noon Sat) It's hard to beat this farmers market for quality and price. Specialty gourmet foods and local bands are just one more reason to stop by. Market happens rain or shine.

Fry Bread House (☎ 602-351-2345; 4140 N 7th Ave, Phoenix; mains $4-7; ⏲ 10am-7pm Mon-Sat) The Native American treat known as an elephant ear or Navajo taco is a flat piece of fried dough topped with meat, beans and veggies, or, for dessert, smeared with honey. This small place gets packed to the gills with nearby office workers at lunchtime, so try to avoid the rush.

MacAlpine's (☎ 602-252-5545; 2303 N 7th St, Phoenix; dishes from $5; ⏲ 11am-7pm Sun-Thu, 11am-8pm Fri & Sat) The oldest diner in Phoenix serves basic salads and sandwiches, but it's the old-timey soda fountain that's the real attraction – nothing like a malted milk to chase those blues away. There's an attached antique store.

Pane Bianco (☎ 602-234-2100; 4404 N Central Ave, Phoenix; sandwiches $8; ⏲ 11am-3pm Tue-Sat) A café from the Pizzeria Bianco group, here you taste the same goodness being served at the flagship location for a fraction of the price. Savor the flavor with a salad or sandwich, or just nibble on pastries while sipping java.

MIDRANGE

Los Dos Molinos (☎ 602-243-9113; 8646 S Central Ave, Phoenix; mains from $8-15; ⏲ 11am-2:30pm & 5-9pm Tue-Fri, 11am-9pm Sat) Near the foot of South Mountain in a Spanish Mission–style house, this is the mecca of New Mexican cuisine in Phoenix. The menu sticks to the basics – tacos, enchiladas, fajitas – with plenty of green chili. There's also a location downtown (1010 E Washington St; same menu and hours).

Pizzeria Bianco (☎ 602-258-8300; 623 E Adams St, Phoenix; pizzas $11-14; ⏲ 5-10pm Tue-Sat) James Beard Award–winner Chris Bianco makes the best pizza in town and maybe even in all of America. A hopping spot – be prepared to wait on the patio, drink in hand.

Chelsea's Kitchen (☎ 602-957-2555; 5040 N 40th St, Phoenix; dishes $12-25; ⏲ 11am-10pm Mon-Wed, 11am-11pm Thu, 11am-midnight Fri & Sat, 10am-9pm Sun) Set in a converted mid-Century Modern home alongside a canal in Phoenix' quietly upscale Arcadia district. Get a platter of tacos or some ribs and you won't be disappointed; it's comfort food (yes, in the Southwest tacos are comfort food) gone gourmet.

Caffe Boa (☎ 480-968-9112; 398 S Mill Ave, Tempe; mains $16-22; ⏲ 11am-10pm Mon-Wed, 11am-11pm Thu-Sat, noon-10pm Sun) Caffe Boa was serving bistro-style food with fresh ingredients long before that became the hip thing to do; the wine menu and jazz nights cement its status as an oasis of cool on Tempe's Mill Ave.

TOP END

Digestif (☎ 480-425-9463; 7114 E Stetson Dr, Scottsdale; dinner mains $18-28; ⏲ 11am-midnight) A blend of Italian and California cuisine in the happening Southbridge area of Scottsdale – think freshly made ravioli stuffed with farm-fresh pureed pumpkin. Grab a porch seat to people-watch and be sure to check out the listening booth stocked with local bands, near the restroom.

Durant's (☎ 602-264-5967; 2611 N Central Ave, Phoenix; mains from $20; ⏲ 11am-10pm Mon-Thu, 11am-11pm Fri & Sat, 4:30-10pm Sun) If the vibe of the red leather dining room is more Rat Pack Vegas than downtown Phoenix, that's because the original owner was friends with mobsters who made their fame and fortune in the Nevada gambling mecca. The martinis and steaks here are heaven.

Bourbon Steak (☎ 480-513-6002; Scottsdale Fairmont, 7575 E Princess Dr, Scottsdale; mains $30-70; ⏲ 5:30-11pm) Along came celebrity chef Michael Mina to raise the culinary bar in Scottsdale even further with the 2008 opening of this aptly named steak and bourbon joint. The meat is prepared in more delicious ways than an avid carnivore stuck on a meat-free deserted island could ever dream of.

Kai (☎ 602-385-5726; Sheraton Wild Horse Pass Resort & Spa, 5594 W Wild Horse Pass Blvd, Chandler; mains $40-50, 8-course tasting menu with wine pairings $280; 🕑 6-10pm Tue-Sat) One of the most highly rated restaurants in Arizona, where simple ingredients from mainly Native American farms and ranches are turned into something extraordinary. The grilled buffalo from the Cheyenne River tribe is a must-try. The restaurant closes for one month from early August.

Drinking

Scottsdale has the greatest concentration of trendy bars and clubs; Tempe attracts the student crowd; and Phoenix has a slew of long-standing dive bars that are in again.

Bikini Lounge (☎ 602-252-0427; 1502 Grand Ave, Phoenix; 🕑 6pm-late) There are a few good places to drink in the artsy Roosevelt District but the Lounge is the king of divey-cool. Rusty pickups and BMWs share the small parking lot, and inside, bamboo and carved tiki totems rule the roost.

Greasewood Flat (☎ 480-585-9430; www.greasewoodflat.net; 27375 N Alma School Pkwy, Scottsdale; 🕑 11am-1am) This outdoor drinking place is a cash-only affair and at night the stars really are big and bright. On cold nights the fire pits are blazed up and on weekends you can count on a country band and plenty of whooping it up on the dancefloor. Burgers and other greasy goodness available.

Jade Bar (☎ 480-948-2100; Sanctuary on Camelback Mountain, 5700 E McDonald Dr, Paradise Valley) A swanky hotel bar on the side of Camelback Mountain, it's shaped like a long patio so that as many people as possible can marvel at the fiery red sky as the sun sinks low on the horizon.

Swizzle Inn (☎ 602-277-7775; 5835 N 16th St, Phoenix; 🕑 5pm-late) Swizzle in…stagger out, or so proclaims a sign on the door. The best dive bar in the state, it's set in a strip mall and used to cater to sisters of Sappho. Now, all types – from hipster to oldster – call it theirs until closing time.

Entertainment

BS West (☎ 480-945-9028; www.bswest.com; 7125 E 5th Ave, Scottsdale; 🕑 2pm-2am) This gay bar and dance club in the Old Town has pool tables, a small dancefloor, Rock Band video gaming on Monday nights and karaoke some nights.

Rhythm Room (☎ 602-265-4842; www.rhythmroom.com; 1019 E Indian School Rd, Phoenix; cover $4-30; 🕑 Tue-Sun) Lots of R & B, jazz and rocky funk fuel the boogie at the rib shack in the parking lot. It attracts an eclectic crowd looking for a good time.

Orpheum Theatre (☎ 602-262-7272; 203 W Adams St, Phoenix; tickets from $50) A splendid, restored movie house downtown used by highbrow touring shows and the symphony. It's chock-full of history; in the days when movie stars toured the cities their movies were playing in they'd often grab a soda in the now-defunct café (owned by this writer's grandparents).

Both the Arizona Opera (☎ 602-266-7464; www.azopera.com; tickets $30-130) and the Phoenix Symphony Orchestra (☎ 602-495-1999; tickets $20-70) perform at Symphony Hall (☎ 602-262-7272; 75 N 2nd Ave, Phoenix).

The men's basketball team, the Phoenix Suns (☎ 602-379-7867; www.nba.com/suns), and the women's team, the Phoenix Mercury (☎ 602-252-9622; www.wnba.com/mercury), play at the US Airways Center. The Arizona Cardinals (☎ 602-379-0101; www.azcardinals.com) football team plays at the new University of Phoenix Stadium in Glendale. The Arizona Diamondbacks (☎ 602-462-6500; http://arizona.diamondbacks.mlb.com) play baseball at Chase Field.

Shopping

The Heard Museum Bookshop (☎ 602-252-8344; www.heard.org; 2301 N Central Ave, Phoenix) has the best range of books about Native Americans, and the most reliable and expansive selection of Native American arts and crafts.

The valley has several notable shopping malls. For more upscale shopping, visit the Scottsdale Fashion Square (cnr Camelback & Scottsdale Rds) and the even more exclusive Biltmore Fashion Park (cnr Camelback Rd & 24th St).

Getting There & Around

Phoenix' Sky Harbor International Airport (PHX; ☎ 602-273-3300; http://phoenix.gov/aviation) is 3 miles southeast of downtown. There is a free bus that runs between the light-rail station on the southwest corner of 44th and Washington Sts and the airport during normal light-rail operating hours.

Greyhound (☎ 602-389-4200; www.greyhound.com; 2115 E Buckeye Rd, Phoenix) runs regular buses to Tucson ($23, two hours), Flagstaff ($25, three hours), Los Angeles ($54, eight hours) and other destinations.

Parking is plentiful nearly everywhere in Phoenix, save for days of special events.

SOUTHWEST

The light-rail system (☎ 602-253-5000; www.metrolightrail.org; fares $1.25, 3-day pass $7.50) started running in late 2008 and links the Central Ave corridor, downtown Phoenix and the eastern suburbs of Tempe and Mesa. For the first time, it's possible to see much of what the valley has to offer without needing to rent a car.

Valley Metro (☎ 602-253-5000; www.valleymetro.org) operates buses ($1.25) all over the valley. On weekdays it also runs the free Flash service around the ASU area and the free Dash service around downtown Phoenix. The free and frequent Scottsdale Trolley (☎ 480-421-1004; www.scottsdaletrolley.com) covers the Old Town area and runs to a number of good shopping areas. Catch it from 11am to 9pm.

CENTRAL ARIZONA

This part of Arizona draws people year-round for outdoor fun and is an oasis for summer visitors searching for cooler climes. After Phoenix, the land gains elevation, turning from high rolling desert to jagged hills covered in scrubby trees. Farther north still, mountains punctuate thick stands of pine. The outdoorsy college town of Flagstaff, set on the historic Route 66, is here. Williams, the launching point for a train ride to the Grand Canyon, is a tiny town that keeps the spirit of Route 66 alive. Sedona is famous for beautiful towering red rocks and as a center of New-Age spiritual energy, and is one of the state's biggest draws. Jerome is a former mining town turned artsy redoubt. Prescott brings Arizona's frontier days alive.

Flagstaff

A noisy reminder of Flagstaff's past, approximately 100 freight trains barrel through this fine mountain city each day, blowing their horns with spirited abandon. A funky, vibrant town filled with students attending Northern Arizona University (NAU), Flagstaff boasts cool mountain air, ponderosa pines and even a mountain to ski, and is the favored summer retreat for Phoenix folk. Microbreweries, interesting hotels and hip restaurants are housed in historic brick buildings a hop, skip and jump from historic Route 66. Nearby hiking and biking trails are abundant. A two-hour drive from the Grand Canyon, and by far the largest town in the region, Flagstaff makes a great base.

The visitors center (☎ 928-774-9541, 800-842-7293; www.flagstaffarizona.org; 1 E Rte 66; ⏰ 8am-5pm) is inside the historic Amtrak train station.

SIGHTS

If you have time for only one sight in Flagstaff, head to the Museum of Northern Arizona (☎ 928-774-5213; www.musnaz.org; 3101 N Fort Valley Rd; adult/student $7/4; ⏰ 9am-5pm). It features exhibits on local Native American archaeology, history and customs, as well as geology, biology and the arts.

The Lowell Observatory (☎ 928-233-3211; www.lowell.edu; 1400 W Mars Hill Rd; adult/child $6/3; ⏰ 9am-5pm Apr-Oct, noon-5pm Nov-Mar, varied night hours) witnessed the first sighting of Pluto in 1920; before this many scientists thought the existence of 'Planet X' was a crackpot theory. Weather permitting, there's nightly stargazing, helped by the fact that Flagstaff is the first International Dark Sky city in the world. During the day 30-minute tours are offered hourly between 1:15pm and 4:15pm.

The Sinagua cliff dwellings at Walnut Canyon National Monument (☎ 928-526-3367; www.nps.gov/waca; admission $5; ⏰ 9am-5pm Nov-Apr, 8am-5pm May-Oct) are set in the nearly vertical walls of a small limestone butte amid a forested canyon. A short hiking trail descends past many cliff-dwelling rooms. The monument is 11 miles southeast of Flagstaff off I-40 exit 204. Occasional rock falls can close the paths, so call ahead.

ACTIVITIES

If you want to say you've skied Arizona, head to the small but lofty Arizona Snowbowl (☎ 928-779-1951; www.arizonasnowbowl.com; Snowbowl Rd; half-/full day $38/48). Four lifts service 32 runs and a snowboarding park at elevations between 9200ft and 11,500ft. You can also ride the chairlift (adult/child $10/8) in summer, and the main lodge turns into a daytime hangout spot where you can watch disc golf matches. For a snow report, call ☎ 928-779-4577.

Arizona's highest mountain, the 12,663ft Humphreys Peak, is a reasonably straightforward, though strenuous, hike in summer. The trail begins at the Arizona Snowbowl and winds through forest, eventually coming out above the tree line, a beautifully barren, extremely windy place. The total distance is 4.5 miles one way; allow six to eight hours round-trip.

Get the rundown on nearby hiking, bike rental, rock climbing and cross-country skiing at Peace Surplus (☎ 928-779-4521; www.peacesurplus.com; 14 W Rte 66; ⏰ 8am-9pm Mon-Fri, 8am-8pm Sat, 8am-6pm Sun). It's one of the best places for outdoor and travel gear in the city, and the friendly, helpful staff is more than willing to share their knowledge.

SLEEPING

Flagstaff provides the widest variety of lodging choices in the region. Unlike in southern Arizona, summer is high season here. Take note that Route 66 is right next to the train tracks, and those freight trains run all night long. All of the properties following are within a short walk of Flagstaff's eating and drinking options.

Grand Canyon International Hostel (☎ 928-779-9421, 888-442-2696; www.grandcanyonhostel.com; 19½ S San Francisco St; dm/r incl breakfast from $18/38; 💻 ☒) Run by friendly people in a historic building, dorms are clean and small. There's a kitchen, laundry facilities and a host of tours to the Grand Canyon and Sedona, and you'll be fetched from the Greyhound for free.

Dubeau Hostel (☎ 928-774-6731, 800-398-7112; www.grandcanyonhostel.com; 19 W Phoenix Ave; incl breakfast dm $18-20, r $41-48) Run by the Grand Canyon International Hostel folks. The private rooms are like basic hotel rooms, but at half the price. With a jukebox, things can get a little loud here.

our pick Weatherford Hotel (☎ 928-779-1919; www.weatherfordhotel.com; 23 N Leroux St; r $65-79, ste $125; ☒) Flagstaff's most historic hotel is fantastic value, keeping its rates year-round. Eight snug, low-frills rooms (three share one bathroom) and two larger, spiffy suites have a turn-of-the-19th-century feel (with no TVs or telephones except in the suites).

Monte Vista Hotel (☎ 928-779-6971, 800-545-3068; www.hotelmontevista.com; 100 N San Francisco St; r $70-170; ☒ ❄ 📶) Many of the 50 rooms and suites here are named after the film stars who slept in them – rooms are clean and not claustrophobic, but these days this place definitely banks on its historic charm and stellar location more than its value for the buck. Ask for a quiet room if you're afraid of the live music at the downstairs Monte Vista Lounge.

EATING

Wander around downtown and you'll stumble on plenty of eating options.

Bun Huggers (☎ 928-779-3743; 901 S Milton Rd; meals under $8; ⏰ 10:30am-10pm) After a day on the nearby mountains it's a local tradition to stop here and refuel, and it's a college-crowd favorite because of the cheap prices. Meat-lovers adore the mesquite-grilled burgers and the ice-cold beer on tap is widely appreciated, too.

our pick Mountain Oasis (☎ 928-214-9270; 11 Aspen Ave; mains from $10; ⏰ 11am-9pm) Come in your mountain-biking shorts for lunch and nice jeans for dinner – the class factor rises when the sun sets. More than an oasis of good food and drink, this place is a UN of flavors: dishes range from Mediterranean to Japanese to Thai, with weekend-only cuts of prime rib cooked just right.

WHAT THE…?

Nearly a mile across and 600ft deep, the second most impressive hole in Arizona was formed by a fiery meteor that screamed into the atmosphere about 50,000 years ago, when giant sloths lived in these parts. Meteor Crater (☎ 928-289-2362; www.meteorcrater.com; I-40 exit 233; adult/child/senior $15/7/13; ⏰ 7am-7pm Jun–mid-Sep; 👪), 40 miles east of Flagstaff, is an out-of-this-world site for those with a thimbleful of imagination. There are lookout points around the crater's edge but no hiking to the bottom. Check out the fun, informative visitor center.

Brix Restaurant & Wine Bar (☎ 928-213-1021; 413 N San Francisco St; dishes $24-32; ⏰ 11am-2pm & 5-9:30pm Mon-Sat, 5-9:30pm Sun) Housed in a gently modernized building from the 1900s, this contemporary and casual American eatery showcases fresh food made with produce from local farms and ranches and wine from small producers.

DRINKING & ENTERTAINMENT

Museum Club (☎ 928-526-9434; 3404 E Rte 66; ⏰ 11am-2am) Yee-haw! Kick up your heels at this honky-tonk roadhouse where the country dancing is nightly. Inside what looks like a huge log cabin you'll find a large wooden dancefloor and a sumptuous elixir-filled mahogany bar.

Flagstaff Brewing Company (☎ 928-773-1442; www.flagbrew.com; 16 E Rte 66; ⏰ 11am-2am Mon-Sat, 11am-midnight Sun) A low-key place with a fun outdoorsy vibe, handcrafted brews, live music and lots of Scotch just a stumble away from downtown. The pub grub – pizza, burgers, soup and salads – is quite good.

Orpheum Theater (☎ 928-556-1580; www.orpheumpresents.com; 15 W Aspen St; tickets from $15) A grand old-style movie house from 1911, this theater is now a fine-looking music venue that hosts top regional and national bands and the occasional movie night.

GETTING THERE & AROUND

From the Greyhound bus station (☎ 928-774-4573; www.greyhound.com; 399 S Malpais Lane; 🕒 6am-2:30am) buses run frequently to Las Vegas, NV ($67, six hours), Los Angeles, CA ($66 to $75, 12 hours), and Phoenix ($26 to $35, three hours). Open Road Tours (☎ 928-226-8060; www.openroadtours.com; 1 E Rte 66) has shuttles from the Amtrak station to the Grand Canyon ($27), Phoenix Sky Harbor International Airport ($42) and, depending on the season, Sedona ($25). Call to reserve.

Operated by Amtrak (☎ 928-774-8679; www.amtrak.com), the Southwest Chief stops in Flagstaff on its daily runs between Chicago, IL, and Los Angeles, CA.

Williams

Williams, 60 miles south of Grand Canyon Village and 35 miles west of Flagstaff on I-40, is a splendid place to base a Grand Canyon South Rim adventure. Plenty of classic Route 66 motels and bargain chain hotels are here, and the old-school homes and train station charm the socks off visitors.

Most tourists visit to ride the turn-of-the-19th-century Grand Canyon Railway (☎ 800-843-8724; www.thetrain.com; Railway Depot, 233 N Grand Canyon Blvd; round-trip adult/child from $70/40; 👶) to the South Rim (departs Williams 9:30am). Even if you're not a train buff, a trip is a scenic stress- and traffic-free way to visit the Grand Canyon. Characters in period costumes provide historical and regional narration, and banjo folk music sets the tone. There's also a wildly popular Polar Express service (adult/child from $29/14) from November through January, ferrying pajama-clad kids to the 'North Pole' to visit Santa.

The Red Garter Bed & Bakery (☎ 928-635-1484, 800-328-1484; www.redgarter.com; 137 Railroad Ave; r incl breakfast $120-145; ☒ ❄ 📶) is an 1897 bordello turned B&B where the ladies used to hang out the windows to flag down customers. The four rooms have nice period touches and the downstairs bakery has good coffee. The funky little Grand Canyon Hotel (☎ 928-635-1419, 877-635-1419; www.thegrandcanyonhotel.com; 145 W Rte 66; dm $23, r with shared/private bath $60/75; ☒ ❄ 💻 📶) has small themed rooms, a six-bed dorm room, and even an on-site Thai restaurant.

Route 66 fans will dig the eclectic decor at Cruiser's Cafe' 66 (☎ 928-635-2445; 233 W Rte 66; mains $8-16; 🕒 11am-11pm Mar 1–Jan 15, 3pm-11pm Jan 15–March 1, bar open to 2am year-round). It's a fun place, serving tasty microbrews, BBQ and other American fare inside a 1930s filling station.

Open Road (☎ 928-226-8060; www.openroadtours.com; Railway Depot, 233 N Grand Canyon Blvd) offers two daily shuttles to the Grand Canyon ($22, plus $6 park entrance fee) and Flagstaff ($17).

Sedona

Native tribes have long considered the Sedona area – where the red rocks glow so bright they look like they're about to explode – a sacred place with its spindly towers, grand buttes and flat-topped mesas carved in crimson sandstone. Today, it's one of the top New Age destinations in the world, and a supposed hot spot of spiritually charged vortexes. Regardless of what you believe, 'Red Rock Country' is one of the most beautiful places in Arizona, full of art galleries, gourmet restaurants, resorts and many a New Age healer.

In the middle of town, the 'Y' is the landmark junction of Hwys 89A and 179. Businesses are spread along both roads. The visitors center (☎ 928-282-7722, 800-288-7336; www.visitsedona.com; 331 Forest Rd; 🕒 8am-5pm Mon-Sat, 9am-3pm Sun) has tourist information and vortex maps.

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

New Agers believe Sedona's rocks, cliffs and rivers radiate Mother Earth's mojo. The world's four best-known vortexes are here, and include Bell Rock near Village of Oak Creek east of Hwy 179, Cathedral Rock near Red Rock Crossing, Airport Mesa along the Airport Rd, and Boynton Canyon. Airport Rd is also a great location for watching the Technicolor sunsets.

The best way to explore the area is by hiking, biking or horseback riding in the surrounding Coconino National Forest (☎ 928-203-2900; www.redrockcountry.org/recreation). Most day use and parking areas require a Red Rock Pass ($5/15 per day/week), which can be purchased at most area stores and lodging and at a number of self-serve kiosks at the parking lot of the most popular sites. The most scenic spots in Coconino National Forest are along Hwy 89A north of Sedona, which snakes alongside Oak Creek through the heavily visited Oak Creek Canyon.

If it's a warm day and you want to cool down, visit Oak Creek Canyon's star attraction, Slide Rock State Park (☎ 928-282-3034; www.azstateparks.com; 6871 N Hwy 89A; per vehicle $10; 🕒 8am-7pm Jun-Aug, 8am-6pm Mar-Apr & Sep-Oct, 8am-5pm Nov-Feb) to swoosh down big rocks into the cool creek water. Or, walk the hiking trails. Call for water-quality reports.

Many companies offer 4WD tours, but Pink Jeep Tours (☎ 928-382-5000, 800-873-3662; www.pinkjeep.com; 204 N Hwy 89A; tours from $68) has a great reputation and a vast variety of outings. Earth Wisdom Jeep Tours (☎ 928-282-4714; www.earthwisdomtours.com; 293 N Hwy 89A; tours $68-98) offers vortex tours that are even fun for nonbelievers. For close encounters of another kind, the astronomers at Evening Sky Tours (☎ 928-203-0006; www.eveningskytours.com; adult/child $60/$20; 🕙 after sunset nightly) take you across the universe via their huge telescopes from the serenity of remote Sedona at night.

Bike & Bean (☎ 928-284-0210; www.bike-bean.com; 6020 Hwy 179; 2hr/day from $25/40) is a mountain-bike rental place with hiking, mellow biking and vortex-gazing.

SLEEPING

Sedona hosts many beautiful B&Bs, creekside cabins, motels and full-service resorts.

Coconino National Forest Campgrounds (☎ 928-203-2900; www.redrockcountry.org/recreation; campsites $15-20) There are eight campsites in the area, mainly north of Sedona along Hwy 89A. Some offer good hiking and views while others afford laid-back creekside camping. Most have a mix of reservable and first-come, first-served spots to pitch a tent or pull up the RV.

White House Inn (☎ 928-282-6680; www.sedonawhitehouseinn.com; 2986 W Hwy 89A; r $60-100) Not quite fit for a president, but the friendly management makes this good-value basic motel in the quieter, western part of Sedona, that much better. Long-term visitors should ask about weekly rates.

Garland's Oak Creek Lodge (☎ 928-282-3343; www.garlandslodge.com; 8067 N Hwy 89A; cabins $235-290; 🕙 Apr–mid-Nov) Set along an especially scenic stretch of Oak Creek, the stand-alone cabins are often booked solid months in advance for good reason; in addition to rates including breakfast, count on a scrumptious four-course dinner each night of your stay.

EATING & DRINKING

New Frontiers Natural Market & Deli (☎ 928-282-6311; 1420 W Hwy 89A; sandwiches $5; 🕙 8am-8pm) Stock up on healthy groceries, good cheese and nice wines. There's also a deli with good sandwiches and snacks on hand for picnickers.

D'lish Very Vegetarian (☎ 928-203-9393; 3190 W Hwy 89A; dishes $6-12; 🕙 11am-8pm; V) Delicious food and attitude- and animal-free dining add up to a solid meal. The food will impress even die-hard meat-eaters.

our pick Sedona Airport Restaurant (☎ 928-282-3576; 1185 Airport Rd; lunch mains from $7, dinner mains $12-25; 🕙 7am-8pm) Try to land here on a Thursday (and make reservations): fresh crab is flown in. All-you-can-eat snow crab is only $17.95. The stellar view atop Airport Mesa, the food, the red rocks glowing like the embers of a dying fire – truly, life is good.

Cowboy Club (☎ 928-282-4200; 241 N Hwy 89A; lunch mains $9-16, dinner mains $15-25; 🕙 11am-10pm) Home of the prickly pear margarita, only-in-Arizona cocktails, dishes like fried cactus strips and an appetizer platter that includes snake brochettes (tastes like chicken, really). The lineup includes plenty of sandwich, steak and salad standards. There's both a kid-friendly and adult-oriented section.

GETTING THERE & AROUND

The Sedona-Phoenix Shuttle (☎ 928-282-2066; www.sedona-phoenix-shuttle.com) runs between Phoenix Sky Harbor International Airport and Sedona eight times daily ($50). Call to make reservations. The free city-run Sedona Roadrunner (☎ 928-282-0938; www.sedonaroadrunner.com) shuttles between Hillside and the Uptown area north of the 'Y' from 9am to 6:30pm daily; trolleys arrive three to six times hourly.

Jerome

Shabbily chic, this old mining town and resurrected ghost town perched on a hillside exudes an untouristy and altogether romantic feel – especially once the weekend day-trippers clear out. It was known as the 'Wickedest Town in the West' during its late 1800s mining heyday, but today its historic buildings have been lovingly restored and turned into galleries, restaurants, saloons and B&Bs.

The chamber of commerce (☎ 928-634-2900; www.jeromechamber.com; 310 Hull Ave; 🕙 11am-3pm), located in a small trailer, offers information on the local attractions and arts scene.

A restored 1898 building with 12 rooms, the rooms at the Connor Hotel (☎ 928-634-5006, 800-523-3554; www.connorhotel.com; 164 Main St; r $90-165; 📶) are a nice surprise; checking-in at the gift shop cash register is rarely a good sign, but, plump beds, skylights and beautiful Victorian furnishings delight. The popular Spirit Room Bar (☎ 928-634-5006; 164 Main St; 🕙 10am-2am), the town's liveliest watering hole, is downstairs, and makes hotel rooms 1 to 4 a trifle noisy because of live music on weekends and some weeknights.

Grapes (☎ 928-634-8477; 111 Main St; mains from $10; 🕒 8am-9pm) serves top-drawer pizza, pasta and steak in an upscale but lively environment. Everything on the menu has a wine-pairing suggestion.

Prescott

With a historic Victorian-era downtown and a colorful Wild West history, Prescott, Arizona's first territorial capital and home of the world's oldest rodeo, feels like the Midwest meets cowboy country. Residents are a diverse mix of retirees, artists and families looking for a taste of yesteryear's wholesomeness. The town boasts over 500 buildings on the National Register of Historic Places. Along the plaza is Whiskey Row, an infamous strip of old saloons that still serve up their fair share of booze and host an interesting mix of not-so-fresh locals and whooping-it-up visitors.

The chamber of commerce (☎ 928-445-2000; www.prescott.org; 117 W Goodwin; 🕒 9am-5pm Mon-Fri, 10am-2pm Sat & Sun) has tourist information.

Right in the thick of Whiskey Row, the historic Hotel St Michael (☎ 928-776-1999, 800-678-3757; www.stmichaelhotel.com; 205 W Gurley St; r incl full breakfast $60-120; 💻) has basic rooms in a dynamite location. The early hours of the free breakfast aren't convivial for Whiskey Row enthusiasts. The restored Hassayampa Inn (☎ 928-778-9434, 800-322-1927; www.hassayampainn.com; 122 E Gurley St; r incl full breakfast $99-139; ❄ 📶) features a vintage hand-operated elevator, original furnishings, hand-painted wall decorations and a lovely dining room.

For a bite to eat, the burgers, Mexican food and pizzas are nearly as good as the microbrews at Prescott Brewing Company (☎ 928-771-2795; 130 W Gurley St; 🕒 11am-late), and that's a compliment of the highest order. The 'brew poo' platter gives a nice sampling of tasty apps.

On Whiskey Row, the Palace (☎ 928-541-1996; 120 S Montezuma St; 🕒 11am-11pm) is an atmospheric place to sit and sip; you enter through a swinging saloon door into a big room full of Old West memorabilia. Bird Cage Saloon (☎ 928-771-1913; 148 Whiskey Row; 🕒 10am-2am) is a divey, fun bar full of stuffed birds, and merits a look-see.

Prescott Transit Authority (☎ 928-445-5470, 800-445-7978; www.prescotttransit.com; 820 E Sheldon St) has shuttles to Phoenix and the Sky Harbor airport ($34, two hours, 16 daily).

GRAND CANYON NATIONAL PARK

Whatever you want to call it – the greatest hole on earth, the crown jewel of Arizona, or one of the seven natural wonders of the world – you really have to see the Grand Canyon, cleaving a mile deep and averaging 10 miles across, and ponder the eons it took to make it, to get it. Even the most jaded traveler comes away with a touch more appreciation for our ancient, ever-changing planet.

Snaking along its floor are 277 miles of the Colorado River, which has carved the canyon over the past six million years and exposed rocks up to two billion years old – half the age of the earth.

The two rims of the Grand Canyon offer quite different experiences; they lie more than 200 miles apart by road and are rarely visited on the same trip. Most visitors choose the South Rim with its easy access, wealth of services and vistas that don't disappoint. The quieter North Rim has its own charms; at 8200ft elevation (1000ft higher than the South Rim), its cooler temperatures support wildflower meadows and tall, thick stands of aspen and spruce.

Orientation

The park's most developed area is Grand Canyon Village, 6 miles north of the South Rim Entrance Station. The only entrance to the North Rim lies 30 miles south of Jacob Lake on Hwy 67. The North Rim and South Rim are 215 miles apart by car, 21 miles on foot through the canyon, or 10 miles as the condor flies.

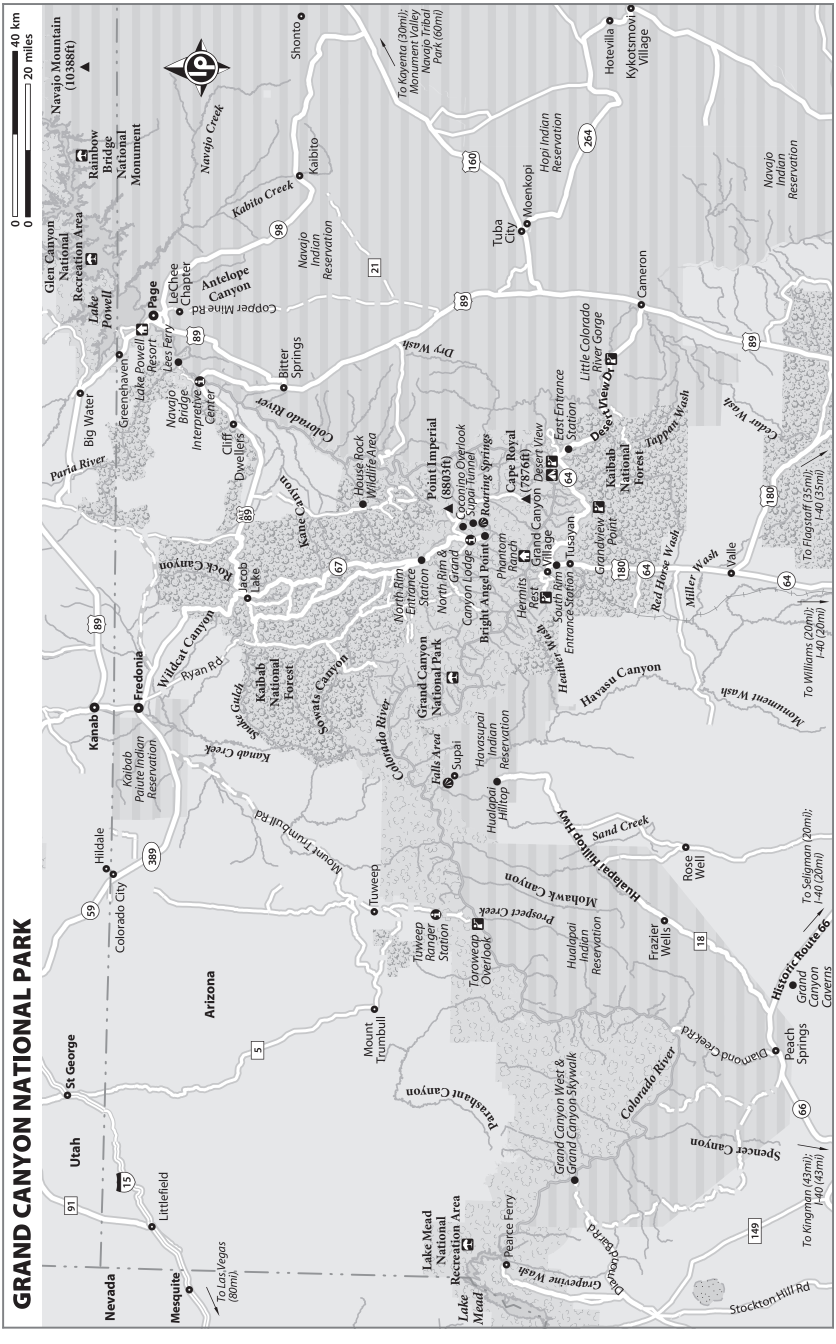
Information

The entrance ticket for the park (vehicles/cyclists & pedestrians $25/12) is valid for seven days and can be used at both rims.

Grand Canyon Visitor Center (☎ 928-638-7644; www.nps.gov/grca; Grand Canyon Village; 🕒 8am-5pm) The main visitor center is only accessible by free shuttle bus that runs along the main roads inside the park, a one-mile walk or bicycle ride from Market Plaza on the Greenway Trail, or a short walk from Mather Point.

National Geographic Visitor Center (☎ 928-638-2468; www.explorethecanyon.com; Hwy 64, Tusayan; 🕒 8am-10pm) Stop in Tusayan, 7 miles south of Grand Canyon Village, to pay your $25 vehicle entrance fee and spare yourself what could be a 30-minute wait at the entrance of the park in the summer months. There's a neat IMAX film about the canyon here.

GRAND CANYON NATIONAL PARK



0 40 km
0 20 miles
Navajo Mountain (10388ft)
Rainbow Bridge National Monument
Glen Canyon National Recreation Area
Lake Powell
Page
Lake Powell Resort
Greenehaven
Big Water
Lees Ferry
LeChee Chapter
Antelope Canyon
Copper Mine Rd
Navajo Creek
Kabito Creek
Kaibito
Shonto
Navajo Indian Reservation
To Kayenta (30mi); Monument Valley Navajo Tribal Park (60mi)
Tuba City
Moenkopi
Hopi Indian Reservation
Hotevilla
Kykotsmovi Village
Cameron
Bitter Springs
Navajo Bridge Interpretive Center
Cliff Dwellers
Paria River
Colorado River
Dry Wash
House Rock Wildlife Area
Kane Canyon
Point Imperial (8803ft)
Coconino Overlook
Supai Tunnel
Roaring Springs
Cape Royal (7876ft)
Desert View
East Entrance Station
Desert View Dr
Little Colorado River Gorge
Kaibab National Forest
Tappan Wash
Grandview Point
Tusayan
Grand Canyon Village
Phantom Ranch
Bright Angel Point
North Rim & Grand Canyon Lodge
North Rim Entrance Station
Hermits Rest
South Rim Entrance Station
Red Horse Wash
Miller Wash
Valle
Cedar Wash
To Flagstaff (35mi); I-40 (35mi)
To Williams (20mi); I-40 (20mi)
Jacob Lake
Rock Canyon
Wildcat Canyon
Ryan Rd
Fredonia
Kanab
Kaibab Paiute Indian Reservation
Kanab Creek
Snake Gulch
Kaibab National Forest
Sowats Canyon
Grand Canyon National Park
Heather Wash
Havasu Canyon
Monument Wash
Falls Area
Supai
Havasupai Indian Reservation
Hualapai Hilltop
Hualapai Hilltop Hwy
Sand Creek
Rose Well
Mount Trumbull Rd
Hildale
Colorado City
Tuweep
Tuweep Ranger Station
Toroweap Overlook Prospect Creek
Mohawk Canyon
Hualapai Indian Reservation
Frazier Wells
To Seligman (20mi); I-40 (20mi)
Historic Route 66
Grand Canyon Caverns
Peach Springs
Diamond Creek Rd
Arizona
Utah
Nevada
Mount Trumbull
St George Littlefield
Mesquite
To Las Vegas (80mi)
Parashant Canyon
Grand Canyon West & Grand Canyon Skywalk
Colorado River
Spencer Canyon
Lake Mead National Recreation Area
Lake Mead
Pearce Ferry
Grapevine Wash
Diamond Bar Rd
Stockton Hill Rd
To Kingman (43mi); I-40 (43mi)
160 264
98
21
89
ALT 89
67
64
180
389 59
15
91
5 18 66
149

North Rim Visitor Center (☎ 928-638-7888; www.nps.gov/grca; 🕑 8am-6pm) Adjacent to the Grand Canyon Lodge.

Verkamp's Visitor Center (www.nps.gov/grca; Grand Canyon Village; 🕑 8am-5pm) More accessible South Rim visitor center, across from El Tovar Hotel. Has an information desk, exhibits on the history of Grand Canyon Village, maps for self-guided walking tours of the village, a bookstore and a meeting point for ranger-led walks and talks.

WHEN TO GO

June is the driest month, July and August the wettest. January has average overnight lows of 13°F (-11°C) to 20°F (-7°C) and daytime highs around 40°F (4°C). Summer temperatures inside the canyon regularly soar above 100°F (38°C). While the South Rim is open year-round, most visitors come between late May and early September. The North Rim is open from mid-May to mid-October.

BACKCOUNTRY PERMITS

All overnight hikes and backcountry camping in the park require a permit. The Backcountry Information Center (☎ 928-638-7875; www.nps.gov/grca; Grand Canyon Village; 🕑 8am-noon & 1-5pm, phone staffed 1-5pm Mon-Fri) accepts applications for backpacking permits ($10, plus $5 per person per night) for the current month and following four months only. Your chances are decent if you apply early (four months in advance for spring and fall) and provide alternative hiking itineraries.

If you arrive without a permit, don't despair. Head to the office, by Maswik Lodge, to get on the waiting list. Show up every morning to hear the 8am callout of accepted wait-listers. If you're not on the list, this is when you'll receive a number for the next day. You'll likely get a permit within one to four days depending on the season and itinerary.

South Rim

Every summer, camera-toting visitors throng the park's most popular rim, though most stay only long enough to ogle from the easily accessible scenic viewpoints. To dodge the crowds, visit during fall or winter, especially on weekdays.

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

A scenic route follows the rim along the west side of the village along Hermit Road. Closed to private vehicles, the road is serviced by the free park shuttle bus and bicycling is encouraged because of the relatively light traffic. Stops along the way offer spectacular views, and interpretive signs explain canyon features and geology.

Hiking along the South Rim is among park visitors' favorite pastimes, with options for every skill level. The Rim Trail is the most popular, and easiest, walk in the park. It dips in and out of the scrubby pines of Kaibab National Forest and connects a series of scenic points and historical sights over 12 miles; portions are paved. Every viewpoint is accessed by one of the three shuttle routes. There's a spiffy new 3-mile paved western extension of the trail that's open to cyclists between Monument Creek Vista and Pima Point.

While on Hermit Rd, keep an eye peeled for one of 18 numbered signs that indicate a point in the audio tour (☎ 928-225-2907). Do yourself a favor and hit option 4 while gazing at the clear night sky for a sky tour.

Desert View Drive starts to the east of Grand Canyon village and follows the canyon rim for 26 miles to Desert View, the east entrance of the park. Pullouts along the way offer spectacular views, and interpretive signs explain canyon features and geology.

The most popular of the corridor trails is the beautiful Bright Angel Trail. The steep and scenic 8-mile descent to the Colorado River is punctuated with four logical turnaround spots. Summer heat can be crippling; day hikers should either turn around at one of the two resthouses (a 3- to 6-mile round-trip) or hit the trail at dawn to safely make the longer hikes to Indian Garden and Plateau Point (9.2 and 12.2 miles round-trip respectively). Hiking to the river in one day is not an option. The trailhead is at Grand Canyon Village.

The South Kaibab is arguably one of the park's prettiest trails, combining stunning scenery and unobstructed 360-degree views with every step. Steep, rough and wholly exposed, summer ascents can be dangerous, and during this season rangers discourage all but the shortest day hikes – otherwise it's a 6-mile, grueling round-trip. Turn around at Cedar Ridge, perhaps the park's finest short day hike.

Individuals and groups who want a more in-depth experience of the park while giving something back can apply for programs with Grand Canyon Volunteers (☎ 928-774-7488; www.gcvolunteers.org). One- and multiday programs include wildlife monitoring, native plant restoration and forest surveying.

TOURS

Park tours are run by Xanterra (☎ 303-297-2757, 888-297-2757; www.xanterra.com), which has information desks at the visitor centers and Bright Angel, Maswik and Yavapai Lodges. Various daily bus tours (tickets from $19) are offered.

Mule trips into the canyon depart daily from the corral west of Bright Angel Lodge. Choose from the seven-hour day trip ($162) or the overnight trip ($477), which includes lodging at Phantom Ranch and all meals. Riders must be at least 4ft 7in tall, speak fluent English, weigh less than 200lbs (90kg) and not be pregnant. Keep in mind that this is no carnival ride – these journeys are hot, dusty and bumpy.

SLEEPING

Advance or same-day reservations are required for the South Rim's six lodges, which are operated by Xanterra (☎ 888-297-2757; www.grandcanyonlodges.com) – use this phone number to make advance reservations (highly recommended) at any of the places (including Phantom Ranch) listed here. For same-day reservations or to reach a guest, call the South Rim switchboard (☎ 928-638-2631). If you can't find accommodations in the national park, try Tusayan (at South Rim Entrance Station), Valle (31 miles south), Cameron (53 miles east) or Williams (about 60 miles south).

Desert View Campground (campsites $12; 🕒 mid-May–mid-Oct) Near the East Entrance Station, 26 miles east of Grand Canyon Village, this first-come, first-served campground is a quieter alternative to Mather. A small cafeteria-snack shop serves meals.

Mather Campground (☎ 877-444-6777; www.recreation.gov; Grand Canyon Village; campsites $18-50) Well-dispersed, relatively peaceful sites amid piñon and juniper trees. There are pay showers and laundry facilities nearby, drinking water, toilets, grills and a small general store. First-come, first-served during winter months.

Phantom Ranch (dm/cabins $42/92) At the bottom of the canyon, the ranch has basic cabins sleeping four to 10 people, and segregated dorms. Most cabins are reserved for overnight mule tours, but hikers may make reservations if there's space – you can book up to 13 months ahead. The ranch serves meals ($12 to $41) – reserve well in advance. If you lack a sleeping reservation, show up at the Bright Angel Lodge transportation desk at 6am to snag a canceled bunks. Also offered is baggage transport by mule ($65).

Bright Angel Lodge (Grand Canyon Village; r & cabins $79-174; ☒ ✤) Built in 1935, the log-and-stone Bright Angel offers historic charm and refurbished rooms, the cheapest of which have shared bathrooms. Don't expect a TV in these very basic rooms (think dorm room from university), but rim cabins have better views than any boob tube and the cabins with fireplaces are magical.

El Tovar Hotel (Grand Canyon Village; d/ste $205/426; ☒ ✤) Wide inviting porches wreathe the rambling wooden structure, offering pleasant spots to people-watch and admire canyon views. Even if you're not a guest, stop by to relax with a book on the porch swing or a drink on the patio. The public spaces show the lodgelike, genteel elegance of the park's heyday. The standard rooms are small but first-class. Suites are fantastic.

Also recommended:

Trailer Village (Grand Canyon Village; tent & RV sites $32) Camp here if everywhere else is full. You can reserve well in advance or same-day.

Maswik Lodge (Grand Canyon Village; r $90-170, cabins $90; ☒ ✤) Set away from the rim, but with a sports bar and cafeteria.

Yavapai Lodge (Grand Canyon Village; r $97-126; 🕒 mid-Feb–mid-Nov; ☒) Basic lodging amid peaceful piñon and juniper forest.

Kachina Lodge & Thunderbird Lodge (Grand Canyon Village; r $170-180; ☒ ✤) Decent motel-style rooms in a central location. Some rooms have canyon views.

EATING & DRINKING

Bright Angel Lounge (Bright Angel Lodge, Grand Canyon Village; dishes $8-13; 🕒 11am-11pm) Perfect for those who want to relax with a burger and a beer (or similar pub food and drink) without cleaning up too much; a fun place to sit and relax at night when the lack of windows and dark decor aren't a big deal. If you're lucky, Terry Rickard will be working his guitar magic for the crowd.

Arizona Room (Bright Angel Lodge, Grand Canyon Village; dishes $9-26; 🕒 11:30am-3pm & 4:30-10pm Mar-Oct, 4:30-10pm Nov & Dec) Striking a wonderful balance between casual and upscale, this restaurant is a solid option. Antler chandeliers hang from the ceiling and picture windows overlook the canyon. Mains include steak, chicken and fish dishes. No reservations; there's often a wait.

El Tovar Dining Room (☎ 928-638-2631; El Tovar Hotel, Grand Canyon Village; dishes $12-35; 🕒 6:30am-2pm & 5-10pm) Set a stone's throw away from the canyon's edge, it has the best views of any restaurant of the state, if not the country. If you don't get a table with a view – you can request it in advance but it won't be guaranteed – the grand stone and dark oak dining room warms the soul like an upscale lodge of yore, and the food, especially the steaks, makes the trip worthwhile. Head to the verandah of the El Tovar Lounge afterwards for a guaranteed Grand Canyon vista.

Also recommended:

Canyon Village Marketplace (Grand Canyon Village; 🕑 8am-7pm, 7am-8pm Jul & Aug) Stock up on groceries or hit the deli (sandwiches and warm snacks from $5).

Canyon Cafe at Yavapai Lodge (Yavapai Lodge, Grand Canyon Village; dishes $5-9; 🕑 6am-10pm) Cafeteria food, service and seating.

Maswik Cafeteria (Maswik Lodge, Grand Canyon Village; dishes $5-9; 🕑 6am-10pm) Another cafeteria-style place.

GETTING THERE & AROUND

Most people arrive at the canyon in private vehicles or on a tour. Be advised that finding parking can be a chore in Grand Canyon Village. Open Road Tours (☎ 928-226-8060; www.openroadtours.com) runs shuttles from Flagstaff ($27, two daily) and Williams ($22, two daily). It can also arrange helicopter tours (from $145) over the canyon.

Free park shuttles operate along three routes: around Grand Canyon Village, west along Hermits Rest Route and east along Kaibab Trail Route. Buses run at least twice per hour, starting from one hour before sunset to one hour afterwards.

A free shuttle from Bright Angel Lodge during the summer months, the Hiker's Express (🕑 7am, 8am & 9am Mar, 6am, 7am & 8am Apr, 5am, 6am & 7am May) has pickups at the Backcountry Information Center and Grand Canyon Visitor Center, and then heads to the South Kaibab trailhead.

For the free Tusayan Route (🕑 8am-9:30pm mid-May–mid-Sep) riders must purchase a park entrance pass in Tusayan at one of a number of locations before boarding the bus – the National Geographic Visitor Center (p851) is convenient because it's a shuttle stop. The trip takes 20 minutes, and the last bus to Tusayan leaves the Grand Canyon Visitor Center at 9:30pm.

North Rim

Head here for blessed solitude in nature's bountiful bosom; only 10% of park visitors make the trek. Meadows are thick with wildflowers and dense clusters of willowy aspen and spruce trees, and the air is often crisp, the skies big and blue.

Facilities on the North Rim are closed from mid-October to mid-May, although you can drive into the park and stay at the campground until the first snow closes the road from Jacob Lake.

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

North Rim Visitor Center (☎ 928-638-7888; www.nps.gov/grca; 🕑 8am-6pm), next to the Grand Canyon Lodge (p856), is the place to get information on the park and the starting point for ranger-led nature walks and evening programs.

The short and easy paved trail (0.5 miles) to Bright Angel Point is a canyon must. Beginning from the back porch of Grand Canyon Lodge, it goes to a narrow finger of an overlook with fabulous views.

The North Kaibab Trail is the North Rim's only maintained rim-to-river trail and connects with trails to the South Rim. The first 4.7 miles are the steepest, dropping 3050ft to Roaring Springs – a popular all-day hike. If you prefer a shorter day hike below the rim, walk just 0.75 miles down to Coconino Overlook or 2 miles to the Supai Tunnel to get a flavor for steep inner-canyon hiking. The 28-mile round-trip to the Colorado River is a multiday affair.

Canyon Trail Rides (☎ 435-679-8665; www.canyonrides.com; Grand Canyon Lodge) offers one-hour mule trips ($40) along the rim and half- or full-day trips into the canyon. The full-day, seven-hour trip ($165, minimum age 12 years) departs at 7:30am. Lunch and water are provided. Half-day trips ($75, minimum age 10 years) leave at 7:30am and 12:30pm. Make arrangements at Grand Canyon Lodge.

SLEEPING

Accommodations within the North Rim are limited to one lodge and one campground. If these are booked, try your luck 80 miles north in Kanab, UT, or 84 miles northeast in Lees Ferry. There are also campgrounds in the Kaibab National Forest north of the park.

North Rim Campground (☎ 877-444-6777; www.recreation.gov; campsites $18) This campground, 1.5 miles north of Grand Canyon Lodge, offers pleasant sites on level ground blanketed in pine needles. There is water, a store, a snack bar and coin-operated showers and laundry facilities, but no hookups. Hikers and cross-country skiers can use the campground during winter months if they have a backcountry permit (p853). Reservations accepted.

Grand Canyon Lodge (☎ 877-386-4383; www.foreverlodging.com; r & cabins $112-170; 🕐 mid-May–mid-Oct; ☒) This lodge made of wood, stone and glass is the kind of place you imagine should be perched on the rim. Rustic yet modern cabins make up the majority of accommodations. The most expensive cabins offer two rooms, a porch and beautiful rim views. The canyon views from the Sun Room are stunning, the lobby regal. Reserve far in advance.

EATING & DRINKING

Grand Canyon Lodge Dining Room (☎ 928-638-2611; Grand Canyon Lodge; lunch mains $6-15, dinner mains $14-31; 🕐 6:30am-10am, 11:30am-2:30pm & 4:45-9:45pm) The windows are so huge that you can sit anywhere to get a good view. The menu includes several vegetarian options and unexpected treats like shrimp cocktail and bison flank steak. Dinner reservations are required, and it's neighbors with the atmospheric Rough Rider Saloon, full of memorabilia from the country's most adventurous president ever.

Grand Canyon Cookout Experience (☎ 928-638-2611; Grand Canyon Lodge; adult/child $35/22; 🕐 6pm; 👶) This chuck-wagon-style cookout featuring beef brisket and biscuits is more of an event than a meal. Kids love it, and there's no better way to feel like a well-fed, well-cared-for pioneer. Make arrangements at the Grand Canyon Lodge.

GETTING THERE & AROUND

The Transcanyon Shuttle (☎ 928-638-2820; www.trans-canyonshuttle.com; one way/round-trip $80/150; 🕐 7am mid-May–mid-Oct) departs daily from Grand Canyon Lodge for the South Rim (five hours) and is perfect for rim-to-rim hikers. Reserve at least one or two weeks in advance. A hikers' shuttle (first person $8, each additional person $5) to the North Kaibab Trail departs at both 5:20am and 7:20am from Grand Canyon Lodge. Reservations must be made at least 24 hours in advance.

AROUND THE GRAND CANYON

Havasu Canyon

Even after the massive flooding that hit the area in August 2008 and closed it down for 10 months, Havasupai is still one of the most beautiful places in the canyon.

On the Havasupai Indian Reservation, about 195 miles west of the South Rim, the valley around Havasu Canyon has spring-fed waterfalls and sparkling swimming holes. The falls lie 10 miles below the rim, accessed via a moderately challenging hiking trail, and trips require an overnight stay in the nearby village of Supai.

Supai offers two sleeping options and reservations must be secured before starting out. There's a $35 entrance fee ($17 for children) for all overnight guests. The Havasupai Campground (☎ 928-448-2174; adult/child $17/8.50), 2 miles north of Supai, has primitive campsites along a creek. In addition, every camper must pay a $5 environmental fee, refunded if you pack out trash. The Havasupai Lodge (☎ 928-448-2111; www.havasupaitribe.com/lodge.html; r $145; ☒ ❄) has motel rooms with canyon views and no phones or TVs. Be sure to check in by 5pm, when the lobby closes. A village café serves meals and accepts credit cards.

After a night in Supai, continue through Havasu Canyon to the waterfalls and blue-green swimming holes. If you don't want to hike to Supai, call the lodge or campground to arrange for a mule or horse ($187 round-trip) to carry you there. Rides depart from Hualapai Hilltop, where the hiking trail begins. The road to Hualapai Hilltop is 7 miles east of Peach Springs off Route 66. Look for the marked turnoff and follow the road for 62 miles.

Grand Canyon West

The Grand Canyon Skywalk (☎ 702-878-9378, 877-716-9378; www.destinationgrandcanyon.com; Diamond Bar Rd; admission incl tour $75; 🕐 sunrise-sunset year-round) is a slender see-through glass horseshoe bridge that levitates over a 4000ft chasm of the Grand Canyon.

Run by the Hualapai Nation, the remote site is 70 miles northeast of Kingman (and 215 driving miles from Grand Canyon Village), and the last 14 miles are rough, unpaved and unsuitable for RVs. Environmentalists have decried the Skywalk as an eyesore desecrating an otherwise pristine landmark.

NORTHEASTERN ARIZONA

Some of Arizona's most photogenic landscapes lie in the northeastern corner of the state. Between the red brooding buttes of Monument Valley, the cool blue waters of Lake Powell and the fossilized logs of the Petrified Forest National Park are lands locked in ancient history. Inhabited by Native Americans for centuries, this region is largely made up of reservation land called Navajo Nation, which spills into surrounding states. There's a Hopi reservation here as well, completely surrounded by Navajo land.

Lake Powell

The country's second-largest artificial reservoir and part of the Glen Canyon National Recreation Area (☎ 928-608-6200; www.nps.gov/glca; admission vehicle/boat $15/16), Lake Powell stretches between Utah and Arizona. Set amid striking red-rock formations, sharply cut canyons and dramatic desert scenery, it's water-sports heaven. South of the lake and looking out over a scenic stretch of the Colorado River, Lees Ferry (campsites $12) is a pleasant stopover, with same-day and advance reservations.

The region's central town is Page, and Hwy 89 forms the main strip. The Carl Hayden Visitor Center (☎ 928-608-6404; 🕒 8am-7pm late May–early Sep, 8am-4pm early Sep–late May) is located at the Glen Canyon Dam, 2.5 miles north of Page. Tours (☎ 928-608-6072; adult/child $5/2.50) run by the Glen Canyon Natural History Association take you inside the dam. In high season tours run every half-hour, in low season every two hours.

To visit photogenic Antelope Canyon (www.navajonationparks.org/htm/antelopecanyon.htm), a stunning sandstone slot canyon with two main parts, you must join a tour. Upper Antelope Canyon is easier to navigate and more touristed. Antelope Canyon Slot Tours (☎ 928-645-5594; www.antelopeslotcanyon.com; 55 S Lake Powell Blvd; tours adult/child $32/20) is recommended, and runs stargazing outings as well.

The more strenuous Lower Antelope Canyon sees much smaller crowds. If you've already gone on an Upper Antelope Canyon tour that day show your receipt to avoid paying the $6 Navajo Permit Fee again. After parking in a well-signed dirt lot, arrange a tour at the welcome kiosk, starting at $20 per person. Visitors with the trappings of serious photographers can pay the fee and wander at will.

Chain hotels line Hwy 89 in Page and a number of independent places line 8th Ave. One inexpensive and longtime reliable indie choice is Bashful Bob's Motel (☎ 928-645-3919; www.bashfulbobsmotel.com; 750 S Navajo Dr; r $39; ❄ 💻), which was constructed to house Glen Canyon Dam builders. All 13 rooms are more like apartments, with full kitchens.

Six miles north of Page and with a direct view of the lake, the Lake Powell Resort (☎ 928-645-2433, 800-528-6154; www.lakepowell.com; 100 Lake Shore Dr; RV sites $43, d $160-260; ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) offers rooms, camping, houseboat rentals and a dining room with panoramic views.

For breakfast in Page, the Ranch House Grille (☎ 928-645-1420; 819 N Navajo Dr; dishes $6-11; 🕒 6am-3pm) has good food, huge portions and fast service. The portions are large and the drinks cold at Fiesta Mexican (☎ 928-645-4082; 125 S Powell Blvd; mains $8-17; 🕒 11am-9pm), walking distance from most of the independent hotels.

Navajo Nation

The wounds are healing but the scars remain, a testament to the uprooting and forced relocation of thousands of Native Americans to reservations.

Amid the isolation is some of North America's most spectacular scenery, including Monument Valley. Cultural prides remain strong, and many still speak Navajo as their first language. The Navajo rely heavily on tourism; visitors can help keep their heritage alive by staying on reservation land or purchasing their renowned crafts. Stopping at roadside stalls is a nice way to make purchases for personal interaction and making sure money goes straight into the artisan's pocket.

Unlike Arizona, the Navajo Nation observes Mountain daylight saving time. During summer, the reservation is one hour ahead of Arizona.

CAMERON

Cameron is the gateway to the east entrance of the Grand Canyon's South Rim, but the other reason people come here is for Cameron Trading Post (www.camerontradingpost.com), just north of the Hwy 64 turnoff to the Grand Canyon. Food, lodging, a gift shop and even a post office are in this historic settlement. It's one of the few worthwhile places to stop and wander on Hwy 89 between Flagstaff and Page.

WINDOW ROCK

The tribal capital is at Window Rock, a bustling little place at the intersection of Hwys 264 and 12. The Navajo Nation Museum Library & Visitors Center (☎ 928-871-7941; www.navajonationmuseum.org; cnr Hwy 264 & Post Office Loop Rd; admission by donation; 🕒 8am-5pm Mon, 8am-8pm Tue-Fri, 9am-5pm Sat) features an information kiosk, a gift shop, a snack bar and permanent art collections and changing shows.

Rooms at the Quality Inn Navajo Nation Capital (☎ 928-871-4108, 800-662-6189; www.qualityinnwindowrock.com; 48 W Hwy 264; r incl breakfast $72-90; ❄ 💻)

WORTH THE TRIP: HOPI NATION

Descendants of the Ancestral Puebloans, the Hopi are one of the most untouched tribes in the United States and their village of Old Oraibi may be the oldest continuously inhabited settlement in North America. Come for a rare peek into a present with close ties to the past – the people here live in one of 12 traditional villages, each self-governing.

Hopi land is surrounded by Navajo Nation. Hwy 264 runs past the three mesas (First, Second and Third Mesa) that form the heart of the Hopi reservation.

There are no banks, and except at the Hopi Cultural Center Restaurant & Inn (☎ 928-734-2401; www.hopiculturalcenter.com; r $95-99, dishes $7-9; 🕒 7am-8pm Nov-Feb, 6am-9pm March-Oct; ⁙), cash is king. Photographs, sketching and recording are not allowed.

Get oriented at the tourist office (☎ 928-737-2262) in the tiny village of Walpi (c 1600). To reach Walpi, look for signs to First Mesa from Hwy 264 (around Mile 392).

are the clean, comfy, basic accommodations you'd expect from a reputable mid-tier brand. The on-site restaurant serves Navajo and American fare.

HUBBELL TRADING POST NATIONAL HISTORIC SITE

Thirty miles west of Window Rock in the town of Ganado, this is the oldest operating trading post (☎ 928-755-3475; www.nps.gov/hutr; admission free; 🕒 8am-6pm May-Sep, to 5pm Oct-Apr) on the Navajo Nation. Local artisans sell local crafts and jewelry, including top-quality Navajo weavings.

CANYON DE CHELLY NATIONAL MONUMENT

This many-fingered canyon (pronounced duh-shay) contains several beautiful Ancestral Puebloan sites important to Navajo history, including ancient cliff dwellings. Families still farm the land, wintering on the rims, then moving to hogans on the canyon floor in spring and summer. The canyon is private Navajo property administered by the NPS. Enter hogans only with a guide and don't photograph people without their permission.

Most of the bottom of the canyon is off-limits to visitors unless you hire a guide. The Thunderbird Lodge (☎ 928-674-5841; www.tbirdlodge.com; d $105-155; ⁙) is the place to book a tour (from $46/35 per adult/child) into the canyon. The lodge also boats comfortable rooms, an ATM and an inexpensive cafeteria serving tasty Navajo and American meals ($6 to $12).

The Canyon de Chelly visitor center (☎ 928-674-5500; www.nps.gov/cach; 🕒 8am-5pm) is three miles from Rte 191 in the small village of Chinle. Near the visitor center, the campground (campsites free) has 93 large sites on a first-come, first-served basis, with water but no showers.

FOUR CORNERS NAVAJO TRIBAL PARK

Don't be shy: do a spread eagle for the folks on top of the four corners marker (☎ 928-871-6647; www.navajonationparks.org; admission $3; 🕒 8am-5pm Oct-May, 7am-8pm Jun-Sep) that signifies you're in four states at once. It makes a good photograph, even if it's not 100% accurate – an April 2009 news story had government surveyors admitting that the marker is almost 2000ft east of where it should be, but that the marker is a legally recognized border point, regardless. Put a foot into Arizona and plant the other in New Mexico. Slap a hand in Utah and place the other in Colorado.

MONUMENT VALLEY NAVAJO TRIBAL PARK

With flaming-red buttes and impossibly slender spires bursting to the heavens, the Monument Valley landscape has starred in countless Hollywood Westerns and looms large in many a road-trip daydream.

Great views can be had from along Hwy 163, but to really get up close and personal you'll need to visit the Monument Valley Navajo Tribal Park (☎ 435-727-5874; www.navajonationparks.org; entry per person $5; 🕒 6am-8pm May-Sep, 8am-4:30pm Oct-Apr). The visitor center houses exhibits and a huge gift shop. From the visitor center, a rough and unpaved scenic driving loop covers 17 miles of stunning valley views. You can drive it in your own vehicle or take a tour ($65, 2½ hours) through one of the kiosks in the parking lot (tours enter areas private vehicles can't).

Inside the tribal park is the View Hotel at Monument Valley (☎ 435-727-5555; www.monumentvalleyview.com; Hwy 163; r $180; ☒ ⁙ 💻). Just how sweet is the View? Very. Built in harmony with the landscape, the sandstone-colored hotel blends naturally with its surroundings and most of the 96 rooms have private balconies facing the monuments. Though the Navajo-based specialties at the adjoining restaurant (mains $9 to $12; no alcohol) won't knock your socks off, the red-rock panorama will tug your tennis shoes toward the door. Visitors can also overnight in the park's de facto campground (per vehicle $10). It's basically just a parking lot, but the awesome sunrise view makes up for the lack of amenities.

Goulding's Lodge (p881) is just across the border in Utah. The surprisingly stylish, well-appointed Hampton Inn (☎ 928-697-3170; www.monumentvalleyonline.com; junction Hwys 160 & 163; r incl breakfast $130-180; ❄ 📶 🏊) is in the town of Kayenta, a popular base for Monument Valley trips that's just 20 miles from the park. Neighboring an interesting visitor center (☎ 928-697-3572; junction Hwys 160 & 163; 🕐 10am-5pm), the hotel has a good restaurant and a handful of fast-food places and gas stations with snacks are nearby.

Winslow

'Standing on a corner in Winslow, Arizona, such a fine sight to see…' Sound familiar? Thanks to the Eagles' twangy 1970s tune 'Take It Easy,' otherwise nondescript Winslow has earned its wings in pop-culture heaven. A small plaza on Route 66 at Kinsley Ave pays homage to the band.

Just 50 miles east of Petrified Forest National Park, Winslow makes a good regional base. About a dozen old motels are found along Route 66 and eateries sprinkle the downtown. The 1929 hacienda-style La Posada (☎ 928-289-4366; www.laposada.org; 303 E 2nd; r $99-169; ❄ 📶) is the town's most famous building.

Petrified Forest National Park

The multicolored Painted Desert here is strewn with fossilized logs predating the dinosaurs. This national park (☎ 928-524-6228; www.nps.gov/pefo; entry per vehicle $10) is an extraordinary site. The hard-to-miss visitor center (🕐 7am-7pm) is just half a mile north of I-40 and has maps and information on guided tours and science lectures.

The park straddles I-40 at exit 311, 25 miles east of Holbrook. From this exit, a 28-mile paved park road offers a splendid scenic drive. There are no campsites, but a number of short trails, ranging from less than a mile to two miles, pass through the best stands of petrified rock and ancient Native American dwellings in the park. Those prepared for rugged backcountry camping need to pick up a free permit at the visitor center.

SCENIC DRIVE: RIM COUNTRY

The section of eastern Arizona south of Winslow, formed by the southern edge of the Colorado Plateau, is called Rim Country by locals and is where they go for scenic drives and weekends in rented cabins during the summer months. Colorful little towns like Show Low (won in a poker game), Strawberry and Snowflake (named by Erastus Snow and William Jordan Flake) dot twisty roads lined by pines. Check out www.wmonline.com or www.paysonrimcountry.com.

WESTERN ARIZONA

The Colorado River is alive with sun-worshippers at Lake Havasu City, while Route 66 offers well-preserved stretches of classic highway near Kingman. South of I-10, the wild, empty landscape is among the most barren in the West. If you're already here there are some worthwhile sites, but nothing worth shaping an itinerary around unless you're a serious Route 66 or boating fanatic.

Kingman & Around

Faded motels and gas stations galore grace Kingman's main drag, but several turn-of-the-19th-century buildings remain. If you're following the Route 66 trail (aka Andy Devine Ave here) or looking for cheap lodging, it's worth a stroll.

Pick up self-guided walking-tour maps at the historic Powerhouse Visitor Center (☎ 928-753-6106; www.kingmantourism.org; 120 W Andy Devine Ave; 🕐 8am-5pm), which has an impressive Route 66 museum (☎ 928-753-9889; admission $4; 🕐 9am-5pm).

The atmospheric 1909 Hotel Brunswick (☎ 928-718-1800; www.hotel-brunswick.com; 315 E Andy Devine Ave; incl breakfast r $35-66, ste $95-175; ❄ 💻) is in the heart of Kingman and has rock-bottom-budget cowboy/girl rooms with single beds and shared baths, as well as nicer digs with larger beds, TVs and private baths. The on-site Hubbs Brunswick Bistro (dishes $20-30; 🕐 11am-2pm & 5-9pm Mon-Fri, 5-9pm Sat) is a fabulous gourmet bistro serving pasta, steaks and seafood.

Lake Havasu City

When the city of London auctioned off its 1831 bridge in the late 1960s, developer Robert McCulloch bought it, took it apart, shipped it, and then reassembled it at Lake Havasu City,

ROUTE 66: GET YOUR KICKS IN ARIZONA

Route 66 enthusiasts will find 400 miles of pavement stretching across Arizona – including the longest uninterrupted portion of old road left in the country, between Seligman and Topock. The Mother Road connects the dots between Winslow's windblown streets, Williams' 1940s-vintage downtown, Kingman's mining settlements and gunslinging Oatman, each a glimpse of a bygone era. Unpaved dirt segments give a taste of old-school motoring. For more info contact the Historic Route 66 Association of Arizona (☎ 928-753-5001; www.azrt66.com).

which sits along a dammed-up portion of the Colorado River. The place attracts hordes of young spring-breakers and weekend warriors who come to play in the water and party hard. An 'English Village' of pseudo-British pubs and tourist gift shops surrounds the bridge.

The visitor center (☎ 928-453-3444; www.golakehavasu.com; 420 English Village; 🕓 9am-5pm Mon-Sat) has information on tours and boat rentals.

With pools, popular nightclubs, a bar, hot tubs, restaurants and a lakeside location, London Bridge Resort & Convention Center (☎ 928-855-0888, 866-331-9231; www.londonbridgeresort.com; 1477 Queens Bay; ste $140-359; ✤ 💻 📶 🏊) attracts a playful crowd. Units feature either one or two bedrooms with kitchenettes.

Thanks to the college crowd there are plenty of affordable places to eat, drink and be merry, but Mudshark Brewing Co (☎ 928-453-2981; 210 Swanson Ave; dishes $8-20; 🕓 11am-10:30pm Sun-Thu, 11am-11:30pm Fri & Sat) is a favorite for casual dining, killer microbrews and quality food. There are many weeknight food specials: ribs, cheap happy-hour bites etc.

TUSCON

Arizona's second-largest city is set in the Sonoran Desert, full of rolling, sandy hills and crowds of cacti. The vibe here is ramshackle-cool and cozy compared with the shiny vastness of Phoenix. A college town, Tucson (the 'c' is silent) is home turf to the 36,000-strong University of Arizona (U of A) and was an artsy, dress-down kind of place before that was the cool thing to be. Eclectic shops and scores of funky restaurants and bars flourish in this arid ground.

Tucsonans are proud of the city's geographic and cultural proximity to Mexico (the southern neighbor is only 65 highway miles to the south), and more than 35% of the population is of Mexican or Central American descent. Spanish slides easily off most tongues and high-quality Mexican restaurants abound. The gateway for many attractions and little towns that get stranger and more beautiful the further afield you go, Tucson is a great base.

Orientation

Downtown Tucson and the historic district are east of I-10 exit 258. About a mile northeast of downtown is the U of A campus; 4th Ave is the main drag here, packed with cafés, bars and interesting shops.

With a number of downtown redevelopment construction projects happening, driving can be a bit confusing in this part of town, but with patience and caution you can get to wherever you need.

Information

BOOKSTORES

Bookman's (☎ 520-325-5767; 1930 E Grant Rd; 🕓 9am-10pm) Great selection of used books, music and magazines.

EMERGENCY & MEDICAL SERVICES

Police (☎ 520-791-4444; 270 S Stone Ave)

Tucson Medical Center (☎ 520-327-5461; 5301 E Grant Rd; 🕓 24hr emergency)

INTERNET ACCESS

Joel D Valdez Main Library (☎ 520-791-4393; 101 N Stone Ave; 🕓 9am-8pm Mon-Wed, to 6pm Thu, to 5pm Fri, 10am-5pm Sat, 1-5pm Sun) Free internet access.

MEDIA

Arizona Daily Star (www.azstarnet.com) The Tucson region's daily newspaper.

Tucson Weekly (www.tucsonweekly.com) A free weekly full of entertainment and restaurant listings.

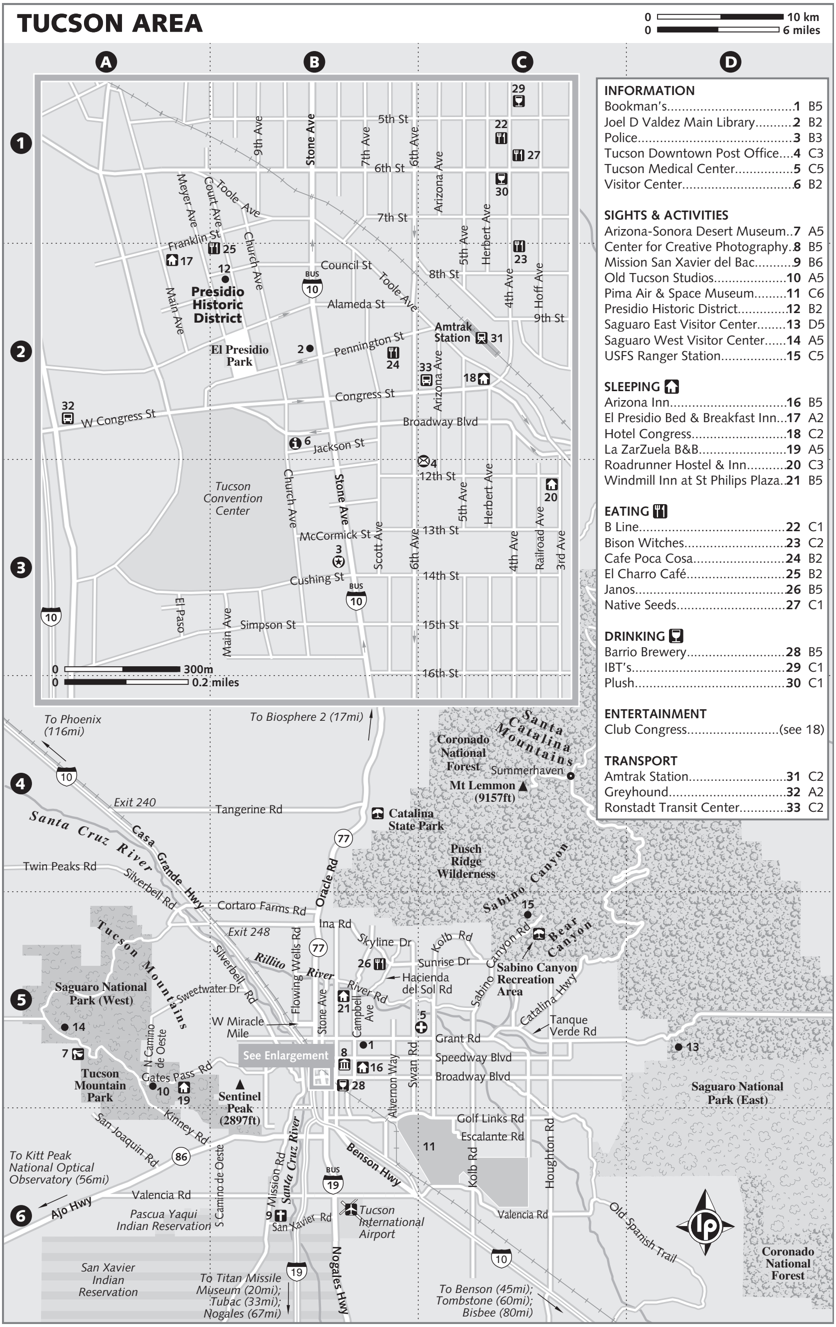
MONEY

ATMs are abundant. Foreign exchange is available at most banks; $5 is charged if you don't have an account. Tucson International Airport doesn't exchange currency.

POST

Tucson Downtown post office (☎ 520-903-1958, 800-275-8777; 141 S 6th Ave; 🕓 9am-5pm Mon-Fri)

TUCSON AREA



0 10 km
0 6 miles
A
B
C
D
1
2
3
4
5
6
5th St
6th St
7th St
8th St
9th St
9th Ave
Stone Ave
7th Ave
6th Ave
Arizona Ave
Toole Ave
Meyer Ave
Court Ave
Church Ave
Franklin St
Council St
Alameda St
Main Ave
Presidio Historic District
El Presidio Park
Pennington St
Amtrak Station
Congress St
W Congress St
Broadway Blvd
Jackson St
12th St
13th St
14th St
15th St
16th St
McCormick St
Cushing St
Simpson St
El Paso
Scott Ave
5th Ave
Herbert Ave
4th Ave
Hoff Ave
Railroad Ave
3rd Ave
Tucson Convention Center
BUS 10
10
0 300m
0 0.2 miles
To Phoenix (116mi)
To Biosphere 2 (17mi)
Exit 240
Tangerine Rd
Santa Cruz River
Casa Grande Hwy
Twin Peaks Rd
Silverbell Rd
Cortaro Farms Rd
Oracle Rd
77
Ina Rd
Exit 248
Skyline Dr
Sunrise Dr
Hacienda del Sol Rd
Kolb Rd
Rillito River
River Rd
Flowing Wells Rd
Stone Ave
Campbell Ave
Sweetwater Dr
W Miracle Mile
Tucson Mountains
Saguaro National Park (West)
N Camino de Oeste
Gates Pass Rd
Tucson Mountain Park
Sentinel Peak (2897ft)
Kinney Rd
San Joaquin Rd
86
To Kitt Peak National Optical Observatory (56mi)
Valencia Rd
Ajo Hwy
Pascua Yaqui Indian Reservation
S Camino de Oeste
San Xavier Indian Reservation
Mission Rd
San Xavier Rd
19
BUS 19
Tucson International Airport
Nogales Hwy
To Titan Missile Museum (20mi); Tubac (33mi); Nogales (67mi)
Benson Hwy
See Enlargement
Grant Rd
Speedway Blvd
Broadway Blvd
Alvernon Way
Swan Rd
Golf Links Rd
Escalante Rd
Kolb Rd
Houghton Rd
Valencia Rd
To Benson (45mi); Tombstone (60mi); Bisbee (80mi)
Old Spanish Trail
Santa Catalina Mountains
Coronado National Forest
Summerhaven
Mt Lemmon (9157ft)
Catalina State Park
Pusch Ridge Wilderness
Sabino Canyon
Bear Canyon
Sabino Canyon Rd
Sabino Canyon Recreation Area
Catalina Hwy
Tanque Verde Rd
Saguaro National Park (East)
Coronado National Forest
lp

INFORMATION

Bookman's	1	B5
Joel D Valdez Main Library	2	B2
Police	3	B3
Tucson Downtown Post Office	4	C3
Tucson Medical Center	5	C5
Visitor Center	6	B2

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

Arizona-Sonora Desert Museum	7	A5
Center for Creative Photography	8	B5
Mission San Xavier del Bac	9	B6
Old Tucson Studios	10	A5
Pima Air & Space Museum	11	C6
Presidio Historic District	12	B2
Saguaro East Visitor Center	13	D5
Saguaro West Visitor Center	14	A5
USFS Ranger Station	15	C5

SLEEPING

Arizona Inn	16	B5
El Presidio Bed & Breakfast Inn	17	A2
Hotel Congress	18	C2
La ZarZuela B&B	19	A5
Roadrunner Hostel & Inn	20	C3
Windmill Inn at St Philips Plaza	21	B5

EATING

B Line	22	C1
Bison Witches	23	C2
Cafe Poca Cosa	24	B2
El Charro Café	25	B2
Janos	26	B5
Native Seeds	27	C1

DRINKING

Barrio Brewery	28	B5
IBT's	29	C1
Plush	30	C1

ENTERTAINMENT

Club Congress	(see 18)

TRANSPORT

Amtrak Station	31	C2
Greyhound	32	A2
Ronstadt Transit Center	33	C2

TOURIST INFORMATION

Visitor center (☎ 520-624-1817, 800-638-8350; www.visittucson.org; 110 S Church Ave; 🕒 9am-5pm Mon-Fri, 9am-4pm Sat & Sun)

Sights & Activities

The 19th-century buildings and craft stores in the Presidio Historic District, (www.tucsonpresidiotrust.org) between Court and Main Aves and Franklin and Alameda Sts, are worth a wander. Walking the 2.5-mile Presidio Trail is a fun way to catch all the major sites – get a map from the visitor center or inquire about narrated tours.

Saguaro National Park (☎ 520-733-5100; www.nps.gov/sagu; per vehicle $10, valid for 7 days; 🕒 7am-sunset) is cut in half by 30 miles of freeway and farms. It's at the edges of Tucson but still officially in the city – though you'll never believe it once you're in the middle of this prickly ocean of green cacti.

Saguaro West (Tucson Mountain District) has the most things to see and do in close proximity. The state's best introduction to the wonder of the desert is here, at the Arizona-Sonora Desert Museum (☎ 520-883-2702; www.desertmuseum.org; 2021 N Kinney Rd; adult/child $9.50/2.25; 🕒 8:30am-5pm, varies seasonally; 👶). A cross between a zoo and an interpretive park, Tucson's must-see attraction deserves a full day of exploration and has a nice café. Javelinas (wild boars), coyotes, bobcats, snakes and just about every other local desert animal are displayed in a natural-looking outdoor setting. During summer there's a Saturday-night program where you can see the creepy crawlies who live on the night shift.

Two miles northwest of the Arizona-Sonora Desert Museum (follow the signs) is the Saguaro West Visitor Center (🕒 9am-5pm), with maps and ranger-led programs galore. The Bajada Loop Drive is an unpaved 6-mile loop that begins 1.5 miles west of the visitor center and provides fine views of cactus forests, several picnic spots and access to trailheads.

A few miles southeast of the Arizona-Sonora Desert Museum, Old Tucson Studios (☎ 520-883-0100; www.oldtucson.com; 201 S Kinney Rd; adult/child $17/11; 🕒 10am-6pm; 👶) was once an actual Western film set. Today it's a Western theme park with shootouts and stagecoach rides – kids eat it up.

Saguaro East (Rincon Mountain District; 🕒 9am-5pm) has a visitor center 15 miles east of downtown. It has information on day hikes, horseback riding and park camping (free permits must be obtained by noon on the day of your hike). This section of the park has about 130 miles of hiking (but only 2.5 miles of mountain-biking) trails.

The internationally renowned Center for Creative Photography (☎ 520-621-7968; www.creativephotography.org; 1030 N Olive Ave; admission free; 🕒 9am-5pm Mon-Fri, 1-4pm Sat & Sun) has an impressive collection of works by American photographers like Ansel Adams and Richard Avedon, and neat gallery shows.

The Pima Air & Space Museum (☎ 520-574-0462; www.pimaair.org; 6000 E Valencia Rd; adult/child $6/3; 🕒 9am-5pm Mon-Fri) leads tours through the almost 5000 military airplanes mothballed at Davis-Monthan Air Force Base, also known as AMARG or simply 'the Boneyard.' History buffs will especially enjoy tooling around on John F Kennedy's Air Force One. Call for tour times. Combination tickets are available for Titan Missile Museum (p865) and AMARG.

Festivals & Events

The Fiesta de los Vaqueros rodeo (☎ 520-741-2233; www.tucsonrodeo.com) is held during the last week of February, and the huge nonmotorized parade is a locally famous spectacle.

Sleeping

Lodging prices vary considerably, with lower rates in summer and fall.

BUDGET & MIDRANGE

Roadrunner Hostel & Inn (☎ 520-628-4709; www.roadrunnerhostelinn.com; 346 E 12th St; dm $20, r incl breakfast with shared bath $40; ☒ ❄ 💻 📶) A converted home located in a residential neighborhood within walking distance of the arts district, this comfortable hostel has a large kitchen, free coffee and waffles in the morning, and a big-screen TV for watching movies. Note that dorms close for afternoon cleaning and credit cards aren't accepted.

our pick Hotel Congress (☎ 520-622-8848, 800-722-8848; www.hotelcongress.com; 311 E Congress St; r $79-120; ❄ 💻 📶) A groovy historic hotel with a hip rock-and-roll flavor, the Congress is a nonstop buzz of activity, mostly because of its popular bar, restaurant and nightclub downstairs. Opt for a room at the hotel's far end if you're noise-sensitive or just crank up the only in-room entertainment – an old-fashioned radio – for an impromptu battle of the bands. Free wi-fi and pet-friendly.

Windmill Inn at St Philips Plaza (☎ 520-577-0007; www.windmillinns.com; 4250 N Campbell Ave; r $80-220; ☒ ❄ 💻 📶 👶) Set in a shopping plaza, but

HOT TOPIC: IMMIGRATION FROM MEXICO

Immigration issues continue to fan the flames in the Southwest, especially in southern Arizona. High unemployment at home and higher wages in the US mean that Mexican immigrants continue to come north in large numbers. Increased border enforcement in California and Texas and vigilante groups like the Minutemen have driven this human traffic to the most inhospitable and dangerous portions of the Sonoran Desert, with a subsequent spike in fatalities from hypothermia and exposure. When people are ill-prepared for the journey, or coyotes (paid smuggling guides) abandon them, the heat kills quickly yet painfully.

Distraught over a death toll of more than 100 a year, regional humanitarian and religious groups have approached it as an issue of human rights. Working within the law, they maintain emergency water stations in known crossing areas, in the hope that no one will die to cross a border.

don't let that deter you from the exceptional value on offer: all of the rooms are enormous suites. Kids under 18 and pets stay free. Free bike rentals, wi-fi and board games, too.

El Presidio Bed & Breakfast Inn (☎ 520-623-3860; www.bbonline.com/az/elpresidio; 297 N Main Ave; r incl breakfast $120-150; ☒ ❄ 💻 📶) In Tucson's Presidio District, the 'Victorian Adobe' features four rooms that mix the genteel of yesteryear with Spanish Colonial. Rooms feature antique furniture and a private entrance. A gourmet breakfast and afternoon drinks and treats are included. Children over 13 only, and check-in is between 4pm and 6pm.

TOP END

Tucson's ranches and resorts are often destinations in themselves. Rates drop dramatically in the summer.

Arizona Inn (☎ 520-325-1541, 800-933-1093; www.arizonainn.com; 2200 E Elm St; r from $220; ❄ 💻 🏊) Exuding grace and old-Arizona charm on 14 manicured acres, this is where in-the-know locals go for the weekend if they want a sumptuous 'staycation.' Depending on the season, enjoy the afternoon tea service or poolside ice-cream social. Free internet and bicycle use, as well.

La ZarZuela B&B (☎ 520-884-4824, 888-848-8225; www.zarzuela-az.com; 455 N Camino de Oeste; r $285-325; 🕒 Oct-Jun; ☒ ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) If you entertain fantasies of escaping to a remote and luxurious hideaway, this is your place. A gorgeous adults-only mansion in the foothills west of the city, it has five colorful casitas with wide-open terrace and porch views. Quiet and luxury abound.

Eating

For an inexpensive meal, stop into any little taqueria; they have to be at least decent to survive.

BUDGET

Your best bet for great food at good prices is 4th Ave; following are some of the standouts.

Native Seeds (☎ 520-622-5561; 526 N 4th Ave; mixes $6-10; 🕒 10am-5pm Mon-Sat, noon-4pm Sun) Snacks like prickly pear cactus lollipops are the only things ready to eat, but mixes for cooking at home are plentiful.

Bison Witches (☎ 520-740-1541; 326 N 4th Ave; sandwiches $7; 🕒 11am-midnight) Dive into a bread bowl at this lively hangout for college students and the occasional hipster. It's all about the sandwiches; the beef and brie is exactly what it sounds like. The music is boisterous, there are myriad TVs and drinks from the full bar are served till 2am.

B Line (☎ 520-882-7575; 621 N 4th Ave; mains $7-11; 🕒 7:30am-9pm Mon-Thu, 7:30am-10pm Fri & Sat, 7:30am-8pm Sun) Breakfast burritos and stacks of crepes in the AM, and a lunch and dinner menu with Mexican standards, pasta and salads. A small but exceptionally well-chosen wine and beer menu.

MIDRANGE & TOP END

El Charro Café (☎ 520-622-1922; 311 N Court Ave; dishes $9-18; 🕒 11am-9pm) With its famous carne seca, this is probably the most revered Mexican eatery in Tucson, if not the state. The food is innovative, mouthwatering and fresh, making it popular with tourists and locals alike. There are four other area locations, but this is the original.

Cafe Poca Cosa (☎ 520-622-6400; 110 E Pennington St; dinner mains $19-26; 🕒 11am-9pm Tue-Thu, 11am-10pm Fri & Sat) The excellent food incorporates many regions of Mexico, and it's freshly prepared, innovative and beautifully presented. If you want to catch a glimpse of Tucson's big-shot politicians and businesspeople, come here for lunch.

our pick Janos (☎ 520-615-6100; Westin La Paloma, 3770 E Sunrise Dr; mains $28-50, tasting menu/wine pairing $75/115; 🕒 5:30-9pm Mon-Sat) The James Beard Award winner Janos Wilder is a chef-magician who teases flavors that you didn't know existed out of meat. One of the most scenic spots for a romantic dinner or special meal in Tucson, the dining room at the Westin La Paloma overlooks the desert valley. Try the New York strip steak rubbed with coffee, molasses and Mexican chocolate. The attached J Bar is good for an after-steak drink.

Drinking & Entertainment

Downtown 4th Ave, near 6th St, is the happening bar-hop spot, and there are a number of nightclubs on downtown Congress St. Clubs showcase everything from DJs to live music.

Barrio Brewery (☎ 520-791-2739; www.barriobrewing.com; 800 E 16th St; 🕒 11am-1am) Set near train tracks in an industrial part of town – whenever a freight train rolls by pints are $3 and this locomotive goodness is sometimes met with cheers. It's roomy inside with a long porch on the front, and the food (snacks $3 to $7) is two notches above usual bar fare.

Club Congress (☎ 520-622-8848; 311 E Congress St; cover $3-10) Live and DJ music are found at this very popular place that's sometimes a rock hangout and sometimes a dance club. The crowd really depends on the night, but it's almost always a happening place.

IBT's (☎ 520-882-3053; www.myspace.com/ibtstucson; 616 N 4th Ave) The daddy of Tucson's gay bars. Every night has a different theme, from karaoke to dance to barbecue.

Plush (☎ 520-798-1298; www.plushtucson.com; 340 E 6th St; cover $5-10) A balm to the manic 4th Ave scene, the front of this club has a downtempo atmosphere with lounging aplenty on funky furniture.

Getting There & Around

Tucson International Airport (TUC; ☎ 520-573-8000; www.tucsonairport.org) is 10 miles south of downtown. Arizona Stagecoach (☎ 877-782-4355; www.azstagecoach.com) runs shared van service with fares from $23 between downtown and the airport. Greyhound (☎ 520-792-3475; www.greyhound.com; 471 W Congress St; 🕒 7am-11pm) runs buses to Phoenix (from $21, two hours, daily) and Nogales (from $11, one hour, daily) among other destinations in the US and Mexico. Don't be fooled by the Greyhound's street address, it's on the western end of Congress St, three miles from downtown. Amtrak (☎ 520-623-4442, 800-872-7245; www.amtrak.com; 400 E Toole Ave) is across from Hotel Congress and has trains to Los Angeles (from $38, 10 hours, three weekly) and other locations.

The Ronstadt Transit Center (cnr Congress St & 6th Ave) is the major downtown transit hub. From here Sun Tran (☎ 520-792-9222; www.suntran.com) buses serve metropolitan Tucson (day pass $2).

AROUND TUSCON

The places listed following are less than 1½ hours' drive from town and make great day trips.

North of Tuscon

About 35 miles away from downtown via backcountry roads, Biosphere 2 (☎ 520-838-6200; www.b2science.org; 32540 S Biosphere Rd, Oracle; adult/child $20/13; 🕒 9am-4pm; 🚸) is a 3-acre glassed dome housing seven separate microhabitats – a jungle, a desert, a swamp – designed to be self-sustaining. In 1991 eight bionauts entered Biosphere 2 for a two-year tour of duty, during which they were physically cut off from the outside world. They emerged thinner, but in fair shape. Although this experiment could be used as a prototype for future space stations, it was privately funded and controversial. The massive glass structure is now a University of Arizona–run earth science research institute. Visits are by guided tour only, but they start often, and if you're lucky your guide will let you stand in the huge, kind of scary artificial 'lung' of the place.

West of Tucson

From Tucson, Hwy 86 heads west into some of the driest and emptiest parts of the Sonoran Desert. West of Sells, the Kitt Peak National Optical Observatory (☎ 520-318-8726; www.noao.edu/kpno; Hwy 86; visitor center admission by donation, observing program adult/student/senior $41/36/36; 🕒 Sep–mid-Jul) features the largest collection of optical telescopes in the world. Guided tours (adult/child $4/2.50; at 10am, 11:30am and 1:30pm) last about an hour. Book two to four weeks in advance for the worthwhile nightly observing program (adult/child $46/41; no programs from July 1 to September 15 because of monsoon season) – clear, dry skies equal an awe-inspiring glimpse of the cosmos. Dress warmly, gas up the car in Tucson (the nearest gas station is 30 miles from the observatory) and note that children under eight are not allowed, for safety reasons. The picnic area draws amateur astronomers at night.

South of Tucson

South of Tucson, I-19 is the main route to Nogales and Mexico. Along the way are several interesting stops.

Mission San Xavier del Bac (☎ 520-294-2624; www.sanxaviermission.org; 1950 W San Xavier Rd; admission by donation; 🕑 8am-5pm) is Arizona's oldest European building still in use. Dark and moody inside, it's a graceful blend of Moorish, Byzantine and late Mexican Renaissance architecture. It's nine miles south of downtown Tucson.

At exit 69, 16 miles south of the mission, the Titan Missile Museum (☎ 520-625-7736; www.titanmissilemuseum.org; 1580 W Duval Mine Rd, Sahuarita; adult/child/senior $9.50/6/8.50; 🕑 tours 9am-4pm) features an underground launch site for Cold War–era intercontinental ballistic missiles. Tours are chilling, informative and leave frequently. Look into combo tickets for Pima Air & Space Museum (p862).

If history and/or shopping for crafts interest you, head 48 miles south of Tucson to the small village of Tubac (I-19 exit 34), with more than 80 galleries.

Nogales

Arizona's most important gateway into Mexico sees a constant flow of foot and vehicle traffic sliding across the border separating Nogales, AZ, from Nogales, Sonora, Mexico. The US State Department warns travelers that because of violent drug cartels along border cities, visitors should exercise caution. There can be delays for cars crossing into the US; check online (http://apps.cbp.gov/bwt) for waiting times, updated hourly.

The chamber of commerce (☎ 520-287-3685; www.nogaleschamber.com; 123 W Kino Park Way; 🕑 9am-5pm Mon-Fri) has all the usual tourist information. There is also a Mexican Consulate (☎ 520-287-2521/3381; 571 N Grand Ave; 🕑 Mon-Fri).

Chain motels are found off I-19 at exit 4. Mariposa Rd has the usual assortment of fast-food restaurants and a supermarket.

Crucero USA/Greyhound (☎ 520-287-5628; 35 N Terrace Dr) is located less than a mile from the border and has regular service to Tucson (from $11, one hour, daily). Five daily buses go to Hermosillo, Mexico ($19, four hours), where there are frequent connections to points deeper in Mexico with Estrella Blanca (www.estrellablanca.com.mx).

Drivers into Mexico can obtain car insurance from friendly, helpful Sanborn's (☎ 520-281-1865, 800-222-0158; www.sanbornsinsurance.com; 850 W Shell Rd; 🕑 8am-5pm Mon-Fri, varies Sat & Sun). The cost is determined by the value of the car and the length of your stay, with rates starting at $30 per day.

SOUTHEASTERN CORNER

Chockablock with places that loom large in the history of the Wild West, southern Arizona is home to the wonderfully preserved mining town of Bisbee, the OK Corral in Tombstone, and beautiful wonderlands of stone spires at Chiricahua National Monument

Kartchner Caverns State Park

Nine miles south of town, Kartchner Caverns State Park (☎ 502-586-4100; www.explorethecaverns.com; Hwy 90; entry $5; 🕑 park 7:30am-6pm, tours 8:40am-4:40pm) is a 2.5-mile-long wet limestone fantasia of rocks that look like everything from impossibly long soda straws to huge ice-cream cones. Two tours (from $17/9 per adult/child) are offered and these can sell out weeks in advance, so reserve ahead.

Chiricahua National Monument

The remote Chiricahua National Monument (☎ 520-824-3560; www.nps.gov/chir; adult/child $5/free), in the Chiricahua Mountains is full of towers of rock sometimes rising hundreds of feet high that often look like they're on the verge of tipping over. The Bonita Canyon Scenic Drive takes you 8 miles to Massai Point at 6870ft and there are numerous hiking trails. The monument is 36 miles southeast of Willcox off Hwy 186/181.

Tombstone

In Tombstone's 19th-century heyday as a booming mining town the whiskey flowed and six-shooters blazed over disputes large and small, most famously at the OK Corral. Now a National Historic Landmark, it attracts hordes of tourists to its old Western buildings, stagecoach rides and nonstop gunfight reenactments. The Visitor & Information Center (☎ 520-457-3929; www.tombstone.org; cnr 4th & Allen Sts; 🕑 9am-4pm) has good walking maps and local recommendations.

Bisbee

Oozing old-fashioned ambience, Bisbee is a former copper-mining town that's now a delightful mix of aging bohemians, elegant buildings, sumptuous restaurants and charming hotels.

Most businesses are found in the Historic District (Old Bisbee), along Subway and Main Sts. The visitor center (☎ 520-432-3554, 866-224-7233; www.discoverbisbee.com; 2 Copper Queen Plaza; 🕘 9am-5pm Mon-Fri, 10am-4pm Sat & Sun) is a good place to start.

To burrow under the earth in a tour led by the retired miners who worked here, take the Queen Mine Tour (☎ 520-432-2071; 478 Dart Rd; adult/child $12/5; 🕘 9am-3:30pm). Right outside of town, check out the Lavender Pit, an ugly yet impressive testament to strip mining. On the Historic Walking Tour led by cowboy-attired Michael London, ask to see the historic photograph that shows the mountain where Lavender Pit now lies. The tour costs $10 and leaves every hour on the hour from outside the visitor center.

Rest your copper-heavy head at Shady Dell RV Park (☎ 520-432-3567; www.theshadydell.com; 1 Douglas Rd; trailers $50-130; 🚭), kitschy trailer park extraordinaire. Everything's done up with retro furnishings and stocked with period movies. There's an on-site diner that serves breakfast and lunch.

our pick Copper Queen Hotel (☎ 520-432-2216; www.copperqueen.com; 11 Howell Ave; r $80-180; 🚭 ❄ 📶 🏊), built in 1902, is still charming as heck and a number of rooms are themed after the famous personalities that stayed in them, including John Wayne. The rooms and halls are bewitched by lovely copper lamps, and supposedly ghosts wander here. The downstairs restaurant and patio bar, which often has live piano music, draw locals and tourists alike.

Caffeinate at Bisbee Coffee Company (☎ 520-432-7879; 2 Copper Queen Plaza; snacks $3-6; 🕘 11am-9pm) in the morning and come back later in the day for a quiche, sandwich, salad or dessert. Root around Copper Queen Plaza for other, more expensive, dining options.

UTAH

The rugged terrain of this little-populated state comes ready-made for adventure, and opportunities for biking, hiking, skiing and rafting roll into view after every scenic bend on the road. Its dazzling display of geographic grandeur leaves visitors a bit awestruck and dumbfounded. The temptation to sit still and watch the ever-changing kaleidoscope runs in opposition to hiking where no one (literally) has hiked before. This haunting topography is that vast.

The southern Utah landscape is defined by five national parks, featuring towering mountain peaks, plunging canyons, sweeping sandstone domes and seemingly endless expanses of undulating desert. Northern Utah is marked by the Great Salt Lake, forested mountains in the snow-covered Wasatch Range (where the 2002 Winter Olympic Games were held) and the wild Uinta Mountains.

UTAH FACTS

Nicknames Beehive State, Mormon State
Population 2.7 million
Area 84,900 sq miles
Capital city Salt Lake City (population 180,650)
Sales tax 4.7%
Birthplace of Entertainers Donny (b 1957) and Marie (b 1959) Osmond, beloved bandit Butch Cassidy (1866–1908)
Home of 2002 Winter Olympic Games
Famous for Mormons, red-rock canyons
Best souvenir T-shirt for Wasatch Brewery's Polygamy Porter – 'Why have just one?'
Driving distances Salt Lake City to Moab 235 miles, St George to Park City 304 miles

Utah is also defined by modern Mormons, whose social and political influence reverberates statewide. When the Mormon pioneers reached the area in 1847, they, too (like the Native Americans 7000 years before them), felt a spiritual response and claimed it as their new home (their Zion). No matter what your belief system, the magical landscape of Utah will feel like heaven on earth.

History

Utah gets its name from the nomadic Ute people who, along with the Paiute and Shoshone, lived in the Great Basin Desert more than 8000 years ago. Europeans arrived as early as 1776, but Native Americans inhabited the region freely until the mid-19th century. Led by Brigham Young, the Mormons fled to Utah to escape religious persecution, establishing Salt Lake City on July 24, 1847. They called their state Deseret, meaning 'honeybee,' according to the Book of Mormon.

After the US acquired the Utah Territory from Mexico, the Mormons petitioned Congress for statehood six times. Their petitions were consistently rejected because of Mormon polygamy (the practice of having more than one spouse at the same time), which was outlawed by the US government. Tensions grew between the Mormons and the federal government until 1890, when Mormon Church president Wilford Woodruff announced that God had told him that Mormons should abide by US law. Polygamy was discontinued and, soon afterward, Utah became the 45th state in 1896. Today Mormons remain in the majority in Utah and continue to exert a powerful conservative influence here.

Information

It's difficult to change currency outside Salt Lake City (p869). Where opening hours are listed by season (not month), readers should call first, as hours can fluctuate based on weather, budgets and level of custom.

Natural Resources Map & Bookstore (Map p868; ☎ 801-537-3320, 888-882-4627; www.mapstore.utah.gov; 1594 W North Temple, Salt Lake City; 🕓 7am-6pm Mon-Thu) Look online or inside the store for detailed maps of all the stellar places to explore.

Utah Office of Tourism (Map p868; ☎ 801-538-1030, 800-200-1160; www.utah.com; Capitol Hill, 300 N State St, Salt Lake City; 🕓 9am-6pm Mon-Fri, 10am-5pm Sat & Sun) Links on lodging, camping and outdoor activities. Website has information in six languages. Publishes the free Utah Travel Guide; the bookstore sells guides and maps.

Utah Pride Center (Map p868; ☎ 801-539-8800, 888-874-2743; www.utahpridecenter.org; 361 N 300 West, Salt Lake City; 🕓 administrative offices 10am-6pm Mon-Fri, coffee shop (p873) and library 7am-9pm Mon-Fri, 8am-9pm Sat, 10am-9pm Sun) Helpful gay and lesbian center offers advice, activities and classes.

Utah State Parks & Recreation Department (Map p868; ☎ 801-538-7220, 877-887-2757; www.stateparks.utah.gov; 1594 W North Temple, Salt Lake City; 🕓 7am-6pm Mon-Thu) In the same building as the Natural Resources Map & Bookstore, this separate office sells state park permits and arranges camping reservations (campsites cost $10 to $25 per night). State-park camping reservations are also available through Reserve America (☎ 800-322-3770; www.reserveamerica.com).

SALT LAKE CITY

Ushered into the spotlight by the 2002 Winter Olympic Games, Salt Lake City (SLC) has built on the momentum ever since. It's modern, with charming anachronisms and a mountain setting – its location prompted pioneer Mormon leader Brigham Young to inform his weary band of emigrant settlers, 'This is the place.'

SLC is the headquarters of the Mormon Church, though only about half its citizens are Latter-Day Saints (LDS; see p870). It surprises many that the city is politically progressive (compared with the rest of the state) and has a sizable gay and lesbian community.

The proximity of the Wasatch Mountains is a huge lure for outdoor enthusiasts year-round. World-class hiking, climbing and snow sports await less than an hour away, and it seems like the soaring peaks loom over you from all points in the city. Add in a thriving university, wildly eclectic restaurants and a flourishing arts scene, and you might second Brigham Young's pronouncement.

Orientation

SLC is laid out in a grid with streets aligned north–south or east–west. Everything radiates from Temple Sq: the corner of S Temple (east–west) and Main St (north–south) is the zero point for streets and addresses. Eight blocks equals one mile. The streets were originally built 132ft wide so that four oxen pulling a wagon could turn around.

Two major interstates cross at SLC: I-15 runs north–south and I-80 east–west. I-215 loops the city.

Information

BOOKSTORES

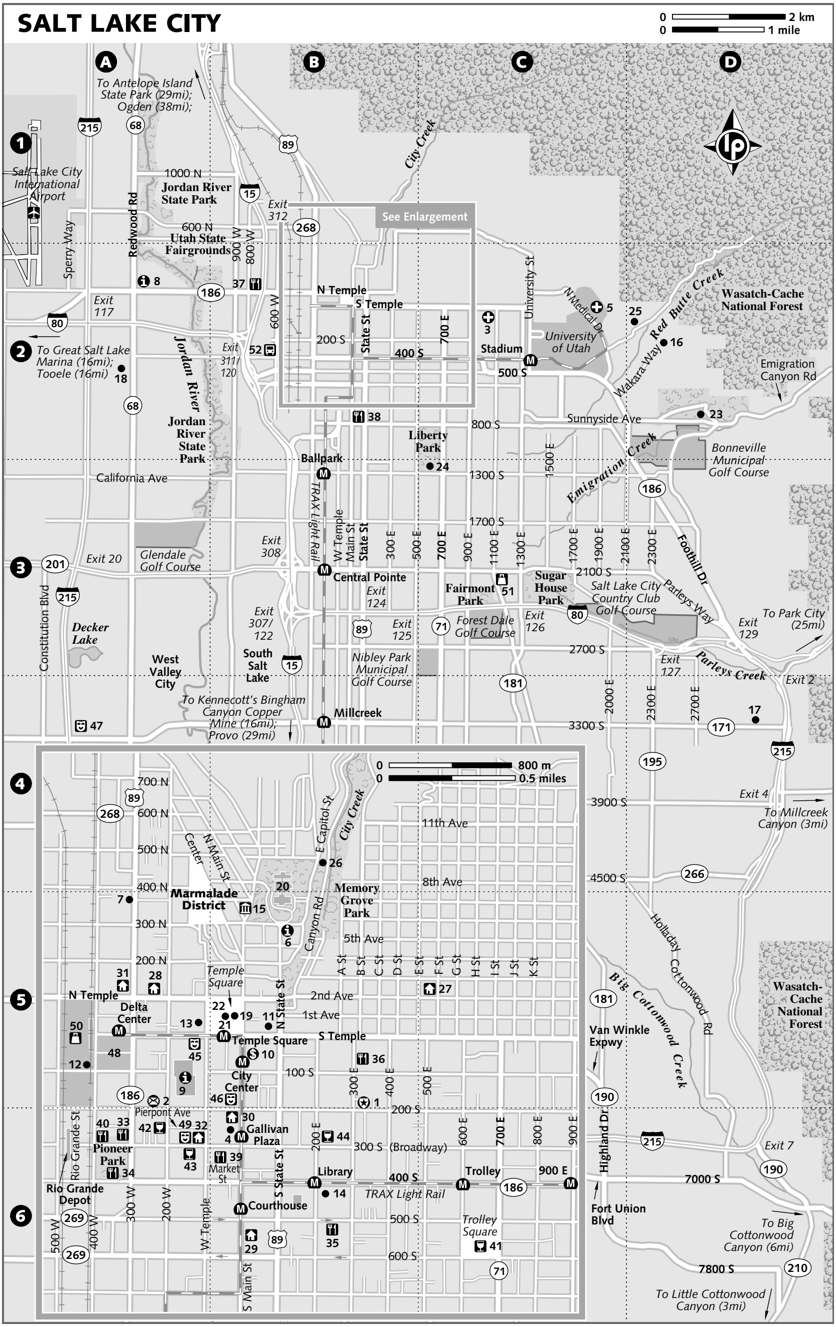
Sam Weller Books (☎ 801-328-2586, 800-333-7269; 254 S Main; 🕓 10am-7pm Mon-Sat) The city's biggest

HOT TOPIC: LIFTING THE ZION CURTAIN

Thanks to the efforts of Governor Jon Huntsman (now US ambassador to China), it just got easier to order a drink in Utah. What was the problem? For 40 years, Utah bars operated as private clubs. Visitors could enter only as a member's guest or as a temporary member after garnering sponsorship and paying a $5 fee. Bars were required to install partitions, or curtains, between bartenders and guests, and beer was all low-alcohol.

While it was not impossible to get a drink, the laws slowed things down – the goal when introduced by the Mormon-led legislature. But times change, and Utah's $6-billion tourism industry became a power player. Together with Huntsman, it persuaded the legislature to rescind the private club rule, and the change went into effect on July 1, 2009. Details are still being worked out, so a few unusual practices may linger.

SALT LAKE CITY



0 2 km
0 1 mile
A
B
C
D
1
2
3
4
5
6
To Antelope Island State Park (29mi); Ogden (38mi); 215
68
89
15
Salt Lake City International Airport
1000 N
Jordan River State Park
Exit 312
268
See Enlargement
City Creek
600 N
Utah State Fairgrounds
900 W
800 W
Redwood Rd
Sperry Way
8
37
186
N Temple
S Temple
Exit 117
80
600 W
200 S
State St
700 E
400 S
3 Stadium
University St
N Medical Dr
5
25
Red Butte Creek
Wasatch-Cache National Forest
University of Utah
16
To Great Salt Lake Marina (16mi); Tooele (16mi)
18
Jordan River
Exit 311/120
52
500 S
Wakara Way
Emigration Canyon Rd
68
38
800 S
Sunnyside Ave
23
Jordan River State Park
Liberty Park
Bonneville Municipal Golf Course
Ballpark
24
1300 S
1500 E
Emigration Creek
California Ave
186
TRAX Light Rail
1700 S
Foothill Dr
Exit 308
W Temple
Main St
State St
300 E
500 E
700 E
900 E
1100 E
1300 E
1700 E
1900 E
2100 E
2300 E
201
Exit 20
Glendale Golf Course
Central Pointe
2100 S
Sugar House Park
Salt Lake City Country Club Golf Course
Parleys Way
Constitution Blvd
215
Exit 124
Fairmont Park
51
Exit 307/122
Exit 125
71
Forest Dale Golf Course
Exit 126
80
To Park City (25mi)
Exit 129
Decker Lake
89
2700 S
West Valley City
South Salt Lake
15
Nibley Park Municipal Golf Course
181
Exit 127
Parleys Creek
Exit 2
To Kennecott's Bingham Canyon Copper Mine (16mi); Provo (29mi)
47 Millcreek
3300 S
2000 E
2300 E
2700 E
17 171
215
195
0 800 m
0 0.5 miles
700 N
89 268
600 N
500 N
11th Ave
N Main St
Center
E Capitol St
City Creek
26
3900 S
Exit 4
To Millcreek Canyon (3mi)
400 N
7 Marmalade District 20 15
Memory Grove Park
8th Ave
4500 S
266
300 N
6
Canyon Rd
5th Ave
Holladay
Cottonwood Rd
200 N
A St
B St
C St
D St
E St
F St
G St
H St
I St
J St
K St
Temple Square
31 28
27
Big Cottonwood Creek
N Temple
2nd Ave
181
Wasatch-Cache National Forest
Delta Center
22
19 21 11
N State St
1st Ave
50 13
Temple Square
S Temple
Van Winkle Expwy
48
45 10
36 12
City Center
100 S
300 E
400 E
500 E
186
2
9 46
1
200 S
190
Pierpont Ave
30 40
33
42
49
32 Gallivan Plaza
4
200 E
44
300 S (Broadway)
600 E
700 E
800 E
900 E
Highland Dr
215
Exit 7
Rio Grande St
Pioneer Park
34 43 39
Market St
S State St
Library
Trolley
900 E
400 S
186
190
7000 S
Rio Grande Depot
14
TRAX Light Rail
Courthouse
Fort Union Blvd
269
500 W
400 W
300 W
200 W
W Temple
29
89 35
500 S
Trolley Square
41
600 S
To Big Cottonwood Canyon (6mi)
7800 S
210 269
S Main St
71
To Little Cottonwood Canyon (3mi)

INFORMATION
Main Library ....(see 14)
Natural Resources Map & Bookstore..........(see 8)
Police..........1 B5
Post Office..........2 A5
Public Lands Information Center..........(see 17)
Salt Lake Regional Medical Center..........3 C2
Sam Weller Books..........4 B6
University Hospital..........5 C2
Utah Office of Tourism..........6 B5
Utah Pride Center..........7 A5
Utah State Parks & Recreation Department..........8 A2
Visitor Information Center..........9 A5
Wells Fargo..........10 B5

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES
Beehive House..........11 B5
Discovery Gateway..........12 A5
Family History Library..........13 A5
Main Library..........14 B6
Pioneer Memorial Museum..........15 B5
Red Butte Gardens..........16 D2
REI..........17 D4
Salt Lake City Parks & Recreation Department..........18 A2
Salt Lake Temple..........19 B5
State Capitol..........20 B4
Tabernacle..........21 B5
Temple Square..........22 B5
This Is The Place Heritage Park..23 D2
Tracy Aviary..........24 C3
University of Utah Outdoor Recreation Program..........25 D2
Utah Heritage Foundation..........26 B4

SLEEPING
Avenues Hostel..........27 C5
City Creek Inn..........28 A5
Grand America..........29 B6
Hotel Monaco..........30 B6
Howard Johnson Express Inn....31 A5
Peery Hotel..........32 A6

EATING
Cucina Toscana..........33 A6
Downtown Farmers Market......34 A6
Les Madeleines Patisserie & Café..........35 B6
One World Everybody Eats.......36 B5
Red Iguana..........37 B2
Tacos Don Rafa..........38 B2
Takashi..........39 B6
Tony Caputo's Market & Deli...40 A6

DRINKING
Café Marmalade..........(see 7)
Green Street Social Club..........41 C6
Red Rock Brewing Company....42 A6
Squatter's Pub Brewery..........43 A6
Tavernacle Social Club..........44 B6

ENTERTAINMENT
Abravanel Hall..........45 A5
Capitol Theater..........46 B5
E Center..........47 A4
EnergySolutions Arena..........48 A5
Rose Wagner Performing Arts Center..........49 A6

SHOPPING
Gateway..........50 A5
Sugarhouse..........51 C3

TRANSPORT
Greyhound..........52 B2
Union Pacific Rail Depot (Amtrak)..........(see 52) independent bookstore. At press time, Weller's was looking for a new home downtown.

EMERGENCY & MEDICAL SERVICES

Police (☎ 801-799-3000; 315 E 200 South)
Salt Lake Regional Medical Center (☎ 801-350-4111; 1050 E South Temple; 🕒 24hr emergency) University Hospital (☎ 801-581-2121; 50 N Medical Dr; 🕒 24hr emergency)

INTERNET ACCESS

Main Library (☎ 801-524-8200; www.slcpl.org; 210 E 400 South; 🕒 9am-9pm Mon-Thu, 9am-6pm Fri & Sat, 1-5pm Sun) Free wireless and internet access. Excellent periodicals, including foreign.

INTERNET RESOURCES & MEDIA

City Weekly (www.cityweekly.net/utah) Free alternative weekly with good restaurant and entertainment listings.
Downtown SLC (www.downtownslc.org) Arts, entertainment and business information about the downtown core.
Salt Lake Convention & Visitors Bureau (www.visitsaltlake.com) SLC's official tourist-information website.
Salt Lake Tribune (www.sltrib.com) Utah's largest-circulation paper.

MONEY

Wells Fargo (☎ 801-246-2677; 79 S Main St) Currency-exchange services. Call ahead to confirm specific currency available.

POST

Post office (☎ 800-275-8777; www.usps.com; 230 W 200 South; 🕒 8am-5:30pm Mon-Fri, 9am-2pm Sat)

TOURIST INFORMATION

Public Lands Information Center (☎ 801-466-6411; www.publiclands.org; 3285 E 3300 South; 🕒 10:30am-5:30pm Mon-Fri, 9am-1pm Sat) Recreation information on the Wasatch-Cache National Forest; located inside the REI store.
Visitor Information Center (☎ 801-534-4900/4902, 800-541-4955; www.visitsaltlake.com; 90 S West Temple; 🕒 9am-6pm Mon-Fri, 9am-5pm Sat & Sun) Within the Salt Palace Convention Center; publishes the free Destination: Salt Lake visitors guide.

Sights

TEMPLE SQUARE

The city's most famous sight, the 10-acre Temple Square (☎ 801-240-2534, 800-537-9703; www.visittemplesquare.com; admission free; 🕒 9am-9pm) is certainly awe-inspiring, but it's the disarming helpfulness of the square's Mormon volunteers and docents that will leave the biggest impression. Docents can be found at the visitor centers inside the two entrances (on S and N Temple); they give free 30-minute tours of the grounds.

The egg-shaped 1867 Tabernacle (admission free; 🕒 9am-9pm) is again the highlight after the completion of an extensive seismic retrofit and renovation in 2007. Some preservationists grumbled about the replacement of its pine pews, but a few rows of the originals were left in the back. To show off its fabled acoustics, pin drops are held every 15 minutes – the sound can be heard all the way in the back, more than 200ft away. It's also home to the world-renowned Mormon Tabernacle Choir, and visitors can drop in on rehearsals (🕐 8pm Thu, choir broadcast 9:15am Sun) accompanied by the 11,000-pipe organ.

Lording it over the square, the 210ft Salt Lake Temple is topped with a golden statue of the angel Moroni, who appeared to LDS founder Joseph Smith. Temple ceremonies are secret and open only to LDS 'in good standing.'

Brigham Young lived in the Beehive House (☎ 801-240-2671; 67 E South Temple; admission free; 🕐 tours 9am-9pm Mon-Sat) until his death in 1877, and the house has been meticulously maintained with period furnishings and artwork.

Research your genealogy at the Family History Library (☎ 801-240-2584, 800-346-6044; www.familysearch.org; 35 N West Temple; 🕐 8am-5pm Mon, 8am-9pm Tue-Sat). The library holds genealogical records for more than 3 billion deceased people from around the world. Searching its vast resources is free.

DOWNTOWN

Daughters of Utah Pioneers (DUP) museums are located throughout Utah, but the Pioneer Memorial Museum (☎ 801-532-6479; www.dupinternational.org; 300 N Main St; admission free; 🕐 9am-5pm Mon-Sat year-round, plus 1-5pm Sun Jun-Aug) is by far the best, a vast four-story treasure trove of thousands of pioneer artifacts.

The grand State Capitol (☎ 801-538-1800; www.utahstatecapitol.utah.gov; 🕐 8am-8pm Mon-Fri, 8am-6pm Sat & Sun) rises majestically from a hill north of Temple Sq. Inside, colorful Works Progress Administration (WPA) murals of pioneers, trappers and missionaries adorn a portion of the building's dome. Outside, views of the city and the Wasatch Range are fantastic. Free tours (from 9am to 4pm) start hourly at the 1st-floor visitor center.

Also worth a stop is Moshe Safdie's architecturally stunning Main Library (☎ 801-524-8200; www.slcpl.org; 210 E 400 South; 🕐 9am-9pm Mon-Thu, 9am-6pm Fri & Sat, 1-5pm Sun), a gently curved glass-and-steel structure complete with sleek glass elevator, rooftop views of the city and loads of natural light. There's also a gallery, coffee shop and deli.

THIS IS THE PLACE

The members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints (LDS; www.lds.org, www.mormon.org) – Mormons – prize family above all else, and Mormon families tend to be large. Hard work and strict obedience to church leaders are very important. Smoking and drinking alcohol, tea or coffee are forbidden. Women are forbidden to take leadership roles, as were African Americans until 1978.

The faith considers missionary service important, and many young adults travel the world spreading the word. Women are called Sisters during their service and the men are called Elders. There are now around 12 million Mormons worldwide.

BEYOND DOWNTOWN

In the nearby Wasatch foothills, the lovely 150-acre Red Butte Gardens (☎ 801-585-0556; www.redbuttegarden.org; 300 Wakara Way; adult/child & senior $6/4; 🕐 9am-9pm Mon-Sat & 9am-5pm Sun May-Aug, 9am-7:30pm Mon-Sat & 9am-5pm Sun Apr & Sep, 10am-5pm daily Oct-Mar) has trails, 25 acres of gardens and gorgeous valley views. In summer, during its popular outdoor concert series, check online to see who's playing – from Neko Case to Deathcab for Cutie.

Dedicated to the 1847 arrival of the Mormons, This Is the Place Heritage Park (☎ 801-582-1847; www.thisistheplace.org; 2601 E Sunnyside Ave/800 South; park admission free, village adult/child $8/6 May-Sep; 🕐 9am-5pm; 👪) covers 450 acres and marks the spot where Brigham Young uttered the

NAVIGATING UTAH: WHERE'S MAPLE STREET?

Throughout Utah, towns and cities use the same street layout. The system is more complicated to explain than learn, but once learned, you can use it all over Utah.

Normally, there's a zero point in the town center, at the intersection of two major streets (often called Main St and Center St). Addresses and street names radiate out from this zero point, rising by 100 with each city block. Thus, an address of 500 South 400 East will be at the intersection of 500 South St and 400 East St, or five blocks south and four blocks east of the zero point. The first cardinal point is usually abbreviated, but the second cardinal point is abbreviated less frequently – 500 S 400 East would be the most likely designation.

fateful words, 'This is the place.' The centerpiece is Heritage Village, a living-history museum where, June through August, costumed docents depict life in the mid-19th century. Guests can wander the village at a cheaper price (adult/child $5/3) the rest of the year.

Activities

Millcreek, Big Cottonwood and Little Cottonwood Canyons, all on the east side of the Wasatch Range and in easy reach of SLC, offer excellent opportunities for hiking, mountain biking, camping and cross-country skiing. For directions as well as articles about activities in the canyons, visit www.utah.com. Peak-baggers looking for a moderate workout with big views can hike to Grandeur Peak (admission $3; 6 miles round-trip) in Millcreek Canyon off Wasatch Blvd (drive 3 miles east on 3800 S to Church Creek Picnic Area). It's a pet-friendly trail.

Salt Lake City Parks & Recreation Department (☎ 801-972-7800; www.slcgov.com; 1965 W 500 South; 🕗 8am-5pm Mon-Fri) has tons of information about city parks.

REI (☎ 801-486-2100; www.rei.com/stores/19; 3285 E 3300 South) rents camping equipment, climbing shoes, kayaks and most winter-sports gear, as does the University of Utah Outdoor Recreation Program (☎ 801-581-8516; www.utah.edu/campusrec; 2140 E Red Butte Canyon Rd; 🕗 8am-6pm Mon-Fri), which also rents mountain bikes ($20 per day).

Salt Lake City for Children

Consider purchasing a one- to three-day Visit Salt Lake Connect Pass (www.visitsaltlake.com/visit/activities/connect_pass) if you plan to visit a few attractions.

Discovery Gateway (☎ 801-456-5437; www.discoverygateway.org; 444 W 100 South; admission $8.50; 🕗 10am-6pm Mon-Thu, 10am-8pm Fri & Sat, noon-6pm Sun; 👪) is an enthusiastic, hands-on children's museum and possibly the best city attraction for families. The mock network-news desk in the media zone looks particularly cool for budding journos.

The Tracy Aviary (☎ 801-596-8500; 589 E 1300 South; adult/child $5/3; 🕗 9am-6pm; 👪), located in the southwest corner of Liberty Park, delights bird-lovers with winged creatures from all over the world. Kids can feed pelicans and mohawk-sportin' guira cuckoos.

Tours

City Sights (☎ 801-534-1001; www.saltlakecitytours.org) Offers tours of SLC and the Great Salt Lake. They collect you from your accommodations.

Utah Heritage Foundation (☎ 801-533-0858; www.utahheritagefoundation.com; 485 N Canyon Rd) Gives tours of SLC's historic landmarks and distributes free self-guided walking-tour brochures.

Festivals & Events

Crowds come for the Utah Arts Festival (www.uaf.org) in late June. Days of '47 (☎ 801-254-4656; www.daysof47.com), the 'Mormon Mardi Gras,' from mid to late July has everything from a rodeo to an enormous parade.

Sleeping

SLC's lodgings are primarily chain properties, many clustered on W North Temple near the airport and along S 200 West near 500 South and 600 South. Rates are lowest during spring and fall, and spike when there's a convention. At top-end hotels, rates are lowest at weekends. Summertime prices plunge at ski resorts (p874), about 45 minutes' drive from downtown. High-season rates are listed here:

BUDGET

Avenues Hostel (☎ 801-359-3855, 801-539-888; www.saltlakehostel.com; 107 F St; dm $17, s/d with shared bath $31/35, with private bath $40-46; P ☒ ✣ 💻 📶) This standard hostel is in a quiet residential neighborhood.

City Creek Inn (☎ 801-533-9100, 866-533-4898; www.citycreekinn.com; 230 W North Temple; s $69-79, d $85-95; P ☒ ✣ 📶) Monochromatic walls and patterned red chairs add a splash of style to the 33 revamped rooms at this family-run motel, one of the city's best budget options. The one-story, U-shaped motel isn't far from Temple Sq and the Gateway mall.

Howard Johnson Express Inn (☎ 801-521-3450, 800-541-7639; www.hojo.com; 121 N 300 West; r incl breakfast $79-89; P ☒ ✣ 📶) The exterior looks a little forlorn at this national chain, but the rooms are clean, the staff professional, and the choices aplenty at the continental breakfast. The delicious Red Iguana (p872) is a short, straight-shot west.

MIDRANGE & TOP END

Peery Hotel (☎ 801-521-4300, 800-331-0073; www.peeryhotel.com; 110 W 300 South; r $119-219; ☒ ✣ 💻 📶) This stately historic hotel is modernized with grace. The E-shaped building ushers in tons of natural light, and the impeccably maintained rooms have gilt-framed mirrors, heavy wooden furniture and thick bedspreads (atop Tempur-Pedic mattresses). Small but up-to-date bathrooms come with pedestal sinks and aromatherapy soaps. Parking is $10.

Hotel Monaco (☎ 801-595-0000, 877-294-9710; www.monaco-saltlakecity.com; 15 W 200 South; r $209-219, ste $239-259; ❄ 💻 📶) At this sassy boutique hotel, circus tent meets beach cabana in a conflagration of colors, stripes and plush leopard-print bathrobes. The front desk is a touch cooler-than-thou but hey, they'll loan you a goldfish if you miss your pet. There's also an evening wine hour with free chair massages. Valet parking is $15.50 per day, and wi-fi costs $10 per day but is free if you join the no-cost Kimpton InTouch program.

Grand America (☎ 801-258-6000, 800-621-4505; www.grandamerica.com; 555 S Main St; r $299-329; ⊠ ❄ 💻 🏊) Rooms in SLC's only true luxury hotel are decked out with Italian marble bathrooms, English wool carpeting, tasseled damask draperies and other cushy touches. If that's not enough to spoil you, there's always afternoon high tea ($16 to $30). Parking is $10.

Eating

Foodies will love SLC. Almost anything you crave can be found here, and there's a bountiful assortment of ethnic and vegetarian restaurants.

BUDGET

Downtown Farmers Market (Pioneer Park, cnr 300 South & 300 West; 🕑 8am-1pm Sat Jun-Oct) In warmer months, this market showcases locally grown produce and tasty ready-to-eat goodies.

Tacos Don Rafa (State St bwn Sears & 800 South; 🕑 9am-8pm) For a hot meal on the go, visit this cart on State St just south of Sears. You get two savory tacos – with a cooler-full of toppings – for $1.50. Salt Lake magazine calls its cabrito (goat kid meat) taco one of Utah's top 100 foods.

One World Everybody Eats (☎ 801-519-2002; 41 S 300 East; 🕑 11am-9pm) Until recently, diners at this organic, ecominded eatery could decide how much they'd pay for their meal. Unfortunately, a few cheapskates abused the system so the owner reversed the process – now you tell the server how much you can pay and an appropriate-sized portion is prepared. The welcoming staff will gladly explain the process to newbies, and they'll also show you the day's mains (salads, pastas, stir-fries).

Tony Caputo's Market & Deli (☎ 801-531-8669; 314 W 300 South; sandwiches $7.10-8.25; 🕑 9am-6pm Mon-Fri, 9am-5pm Sun) The line moves fast at this old-fashioned Italian deli where a short but satisfying sandwich menu includes meatball, prosciutto, and mozzarella with tomato. The adjoining gourmet market has a chocolate bar and a cheese cave.

Les Madeleines Patisserie & Cafe (☎ 801-355-2294; 216 E 500 South; mains under $10; 🕑 8am-6pm Mon-Fri, 8am-4pm Sat) OMG! What was that? Crunchy, buttery, fluffy, caramelized. I've never had anything like it. And now I want another one. Yep, just another convert to the kouign amann pastry, originally from Brittany, and the house specialty at this stylish but cheerful bakery that's an easy stroll from the main library. The kougin amann is $5 (it's made in only a handful of US bakeries) but croissants and scones are more traditionally priced. Sandwiches available at lunch.

MIDRANGE & TOP END

Takashi (☎ 801-519-9595; 18 W Market St; lunch mains $7-14, dinner mains $8-25; 🕑 11:30am-2pm Mon-Fri, 5:30-10pm Mon-Thu, 5:30-11pm Fri & Sat) Even LA sushi snobs rave about the excellent rolls at ever-so-chic Takashi, one of the top spots for a first date in SLC. But solos never fear, you'll do just fine at the friendly but professional sushi bar.

our pick Red Iguana (☎ 801-322-1489; 736 W North Temple; mains $8-15; 🕑 11am-10pm Mon-Thu, 11am-11pm Fri, 10am-11pm Sat, 10am-9pm Sun) You'll be offered a plate of sample moles if you can't decide which of the seven chili- or chocolate-based sauces sounds best. But really, you can't go wrong at this exceptional, family-run Mexican restaurant, a great choice for thoughtfully flavored Mexican food, tasty margaritas and festive good times. The puntas de filete a la norteña (sirloin tips with almond mole sauce) is a super-savory delight.

Cucina Toscana (☎ 801-328-3463; 307 W Pierpont Ave; mains $15-31; 🕑 5:30-10pm Mon-Sat) Be seated at a convivial Tuscan trattoria and possibly the best dinner party you've ever unwittingly attended. Charismatic owner-manager Valter Nassi flits between the tables in the elegant yellow room, making sure your gnocchi is delightful and your evening one to remember.

Drinking & Entertainment

With the closing of the infamous Port O'Call in 2009, the downtown club scene got a whole lot quieter, but the bustling microbreweries seem to be picking up the slack. The brewpubs listed here serve lunch and dinner. Most open by 11am and close between 11pm and midnight.

Red Rock Brewing Company (☎ 801-521-7446; www.redrockbrewing.com; 254 S 200 West) Can't make up your mind between the oats beer or the nut brown? Order a sampler flight and see what suits your fancy. The upscale pub grub inside this spacious former dairy building draws kudos too.

Squatter's Pub Brewery (☎ 801-363-2739; www.squatters.com; 147 W Broadway) Sampler flights arrive on a cut-off ski at lofty, brick-walled Squatter's.

Tavernacle Social Club (☎ 801-519-8900; 201 E Broadway) From dueling pianos to karaoke to $1 drafts Sundays and Tuesdays, there's always something happening at this neighborhood club.

Green Street Social Club (☎ 801-532-4200; 602 E 500 South) Twenty-somethings flock to this popular bar in Trolley Sq.

Café Marmalade (☎ 801-539-8800; www.utahpridecenter.com; 361 N 300 West; 🕐 7am-9pm Mon-Fri, 8am-9pm Sat, 10am-9pm Sun) This upbeat coffee shop, inside the Utah Pride Center (p867), has open mike nights, weekend BBQs and concerts, and the largest GLBT library in the state.

The Salt Lake City Arts Council provides a complete cultural events calendar on its website (www.slcgov.com/arts/calendar.pdf). The historic Capitol Theater (☎ 801-355-2787; 50 W 200 South), dramatic Rose Wagner Performing Arts Center (☎ 801-355-2787; 138 W 300 South) and acoustically rich Abravanel Hall (☎ 801-533-6683; 123 W South Temple) are the city's primary venues. Reserve through ArtTix (☎ 801-355-2787, 888-451-2787; www.arttix.org).

Utah Jazz (www.nba.com/jazz), the men's professional basketball team, plays at EnergySolutions Arena (☎ 801-325-2000; www.energysolutionsarena.com; 301 W South Temple). The International Hockey League's Utah Grizzlies (☎ 801-988-7825; www.utahgrizzlies.com) play at the E Center (☎ 801-988-8800; www.theecenter.com; 3200 S Decker Lake Dr, West Valley City).

Shopping

The best downtown major-label shopping is at the indoor-outdoor Gateway (☎ 801-456-0000; www.shopthegateway.com; btwn 200 S & N Temple, 400 W & 500 W; 🕐 10am-9pm Mon-Sat, noon-6pm Sun). The Sugarhouse neighborhood (2100 South, btwn 900 East & 1300 East) looks like Main St, USA, and has a good mix of indie shops and mall stores.

Getting There & Around

Salt Lake City International Airport (SLC; ☎ 801-575-2400, 800-595-2442; www.slcairport.com; 776 N Terminal Dr) is 5 miles northwest of downtown. Express Shuttle (☎ 800-397-0773; www.xpressshuttleutah.com) runs from the airport to downtown for $8, while Yellow Cab (☎ 801-521-2100) will cost you around $23. UTA (☎ 801-743-3882, 888-743-3882; www.rideuta.com; one way $2) bus 550 travels downtown from the parking structure between terminals 1 and 2.

There are several daily buses with Greyhound (☎ 801-355-9579; www.greyhound.com; 300 S 600 West) south through Provo and St George to Las Vegas, NV ($70, eight hours); west to San Francisco, CA ($106, 16 hours); east to Denver, CO ($74, 10 hours); and north to Seattle, WA ($153, 20 to 26 hours).

UTA (☎ 801-743-3882, 888-743-3882; www.rideuta.com; one way $2) buses serve SLC and the Wasatch Front area until about midnight, with limited service on Sunday. TRAX, UTA's light-rail system, runs east from EnergySolutions Arena to the university and south to Sandy. The center of downtown SLC is a free-fare zone. During ski season UTA serves the four local resorts near Provo (all $7 round-trip).

Amtrak's California Zephyr stops daily at the Union Pacific Rail Depot (☎ 801-322-3510, 800-872-7245; www.amtrak.com; 340 S 600 West) going east to Chicago, IL ($163, 34¼ hours), and west to Oakland/Emeryville, CA ($68, 18¾ hours). Schedule delays can be substantial.

AROUND SALT LAKE CITY

Great Salt Lake

Once part of prehistoric Lake Bonneville, the Great Salt Lake today covers 2000 sq miles and is far saltier than the ocean; you can easily float on its surface.

The pretty, 15-mile-long Antelope Island State Park (☎ 801-773-2941; www.stateparks.utah.gov; I-15 exit 332; per vehicle $9; 🕐 7am-sunset), 40 miles northwest of SLC, has nice hiking and the best beaches for lake swimming (though they're occasionally stinky). It's also home to one of the largest bison herds in the country. A basic campground (campsites $13) is open year-round. Six of the 26 sites are available first-come, first-served, the rest by reservation. For larger parties, check the website for information about separate group sites.

Kennecott's Bingham Canyon Copper Mine

The view into this century-old mine (☎ 801-204-2025; www.kennecott.com; Hwy 111; per vehicle $5; 🕒 8am-8pm Apr-Oct) is slightly unreal, with massive haulage trucks (some more than 12ft tall) looking no larger than toys as they wind up and down the world's largest factitious excavation. The 2.5-mile-wide and 0.75-mile-deep gash, which is still growing, is in the Oquirrh Mountains west of SLC. The pit is visible from space, and there's a picture from Apollo 11 inside the museum to prove it. Overall, it's a fascinating stop.

Ski Resorts

Within 40 minutes' drive of SLC are four world-class resorts in Little Cottonwood and Big Cottonwood Canyons. Consider purchasing a Super Pass (www.visitsaltlakecity.com/ski/superpass; 2-6 day pass $114-336). It requires reservations at one of the 80-plus area lodgings but offers discounted access to all four resorts plus round-trip transportation from SLC.

Alta Ski Area (☎ 801-359-1078; www.alta.com; Little Cottonwood Canyon; adult/child $66/34) A laid-back choice for skiers. No snowboarding.

Brighton Ski Area (☎ 801-532-4731, 800-873-5512; www.brightonresort.com; Big Cottonwood Canyon; adult/child $58/25)

Snowbird Ski Area (☎ 801-933-2222; www.snowbird.com; Little Cottonwood Canyon; adult/child under 7yr/child 7-12yr $72/15/39) Excellent snowboarding.

Solitude Ski Area (☎ 801-534-1400; www.skisolitude.com; Big Cottonwood Canyon; adult/senior/child $61/40/39)

WASATCH MOUNTAINS & NORTH

Utah has awesome skiing, some of the best anywhere in North America. Its fabulous low-density, low-moisture snow – between 300in and 500in annually – and thousands of acres of high-altitude terrain helped earn Utah the honor of hosting the 2002 Winter Olympics. This mountainous region, within 55 miles of SLC, is home to 11 ski resorts and offers abundant hiking, camping, fly-fishing and mountain biking.

Park City

A mere 35 miles east of SLC via I-80, Park City (elevation 6900ft) skyrocketed to international fame when it hosted the downhill, jumping and sledding events at the 2002 Winter Olympics. Not only is Park City the Southwest's most popular ski town, it's also home to the US ski team. Come spring, the town (population 8100) gears up for hiking and mountain-biking season in the high peaks nearby.

A silver-mining community during the 19th century, the city has an attractive and remarkably well-preserved Main St, lined with upscale galleries, shops, hotels, restaurants and bars. And despite the spread of prefab housing across the valley and surrounding hills, the town remains relatively charming.

The biggest and most star-studded event is the annual Sundance Film Festival (☎ institute 801-328-3456, festival 435-658-3456; www.sundance.org) each January. Independent films and their makers, stars and fans fill the town to bursting for two weeks, and tickets often sell out in advance.

There's one Visitor Information Center (☎ 435-658-4541, 800-453-1360; www.parkcityinfo.com; cnr Hwy 224 & Olympic Blvd; 🕒 9am-7pm Mon-Sat, 11am-4pm Sun Jun-Sep, closes earlier Oct-May) in the northern Kimball Junction area; the other is the Main Street Visitor Center (☎ 435-615-9559; 518 Main St, inside the Park City Museum) in downtown Park City which was moving to a new location at press time. Call ahead to confirm opening hours.

ACTIVITIES

Park City boasts three of Utah's preeminent ski resorts. An in-town chairlift whisks skiers to Park City Mountain Resort (☎ 435-649-8111, 800-222-7275; www.parkcitymountain.com; adult/child under 6 $83/free), host of the 2002 Winter Olympics giant slalom and snowboarding events. In summer it has zip-line rides ($19). Posh Deer Valley Resort (☎ 435-649-1000, 800-558-3337; www.deervalley.com; adult/senior/child $83/59/50) is for skiers only, and Canyons (☎ 435-649-5400; www.thecanyons.com; adult/child & senior $79/46) is Utah's largest resort. All three host summer activities like mountain biking and hiking.

Olympians may be long gone from Utah Olympic Park (☎ 435-658-4200; www.utaholympicpark.com; 3419 Olympic Pkwy, off Hwy 224; admission & self-guided tours free, guided tours adult/child $7/5; 🕒 9am-6pm), but you can tour the facilities where it all happened and, if you're lucky, watch the pros practice (call for rates, schedules and reservations). From January to March (possibly earlier), Park City's most thrilling offering is a 70–80mph bobsled ride (tickets $200) with an incredible 4Gs of centrifugal force – some liken it to an out-of-body experience. The risk-averse can check out the free Alf Engen Ski Museum and the Olympic Museum.

The Historic Union Pacific Rail Trail (http://stateparks.utah.gov/stateparks/parks/historic-union, www.mountaintrails.org) is a 28-mile multiuse trail that's also a state park. Pick it up at Bonanza Dr just south of Kearns Blvd. Maps are available at the Park City Visitor Information Center.

SLEEPING

There are more than 100 condo complexes, upscale hotels and B&Bs in Park City, and while the winter rates quoted here are very high, prices drop by half in summer. Rates go through the roof for the Sundance Film Festival.

Chateau Après Lodge (☎ 435-649-9372, 800-357-3556; www.chateauapres.com; 1299 Norfolk Ave; dm $40, r incl breakfast $105-155; 🅿 ⊠ 📶) Located near the ski lifts, this reasonably priced 1963 lodge – with a 1st-floor dorm – is deservedly popular with budget travelers. Private rooms are basic and comfortably sleep one to four. Best to reserve; caters to groups outside wintertime.

Washington School Inn (☎ 435-649-3800, 800-824-1672; www.washingtonschoolinn.com; 543 Park Ave; r incl breakfast $185-440, ste $285-690; ⊠ ❄ 📶) These sumptuous rooms are located in a restored schoolhouse that survived the infamous Park City fire of 1898. In the evenings it has fresh house-baked cookies, and a spread of hors d'oeuvres in the winter months. For history and charm, you won't find better. Usually a four- or five-night minimum stay in ski season.

Best Western Landmark Inn (☎ 435-649-7300, 800-548-8824; www.bwlandmarkinn.com; 6560 N Landmark Dr; r incl breakfast $219-239; 🅿 ⊠ ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) Not the quietest place, but it's cheaper than most and the hot breakfast is substantial. At checkout, if you didn't use the in-room safe, ask to have the $1.50 fee for its use removed from your bill. Rooms from $70 in summer.

Treasure Mountain Inn (☎ 435-655-4501, 800-344-2460; www.treasuremountaininn.com; 255 Main St; r from $250; 🅿 ⊠ ❄ 📶) Park City's first member of the Green Hotel Association is a committed eco-friendly property. The privately owned units here range from studios to suites and all have kitchens. Recent improvements include granite countertops and pillow-top mattresses.

EATING

Park City has dining options to suit any palate, with many upscale choices. Some of the hottest new eateries are opening in the Redstone development in Kimball Junction.

Maxwell's (☎ 435-647-0304; 1456 New Park Blvd; pizza slices from $3, mains $10-20; 🕒 11am-9pm Sun-Thu, 11am-10pm Fri & Sat) The buzz is strong for this new pizza, pasta and beer joint tucked in a back corner of the stylish outdoor mall at Redstone. The crispy-crusted Fat Boy pizza is the big draw and slices never linger for long on the tables. So far the scene is loud, local and upbeat. Check it out.

Wasatch Brew Pub (☎ 435-649-0900; 250 Main St; lunch mains $7-12, dinner mains $10-20; 🕒 11am-9:30pm mid-Apr–mid-Dec, 11am-10pm mid-Dec–mid-Apr) The Polygamy Porter and First Amendment Lager go down easy with hearty pub grub. There's a full restaurant downstairs and a cantina upstairs (with billiards) that's usually open later.

Morning Ray Café & Bakery (☎ 435-649-5686; 255 Main St; mains $8-12; 🕒 7:30am-1:30pm, sometimes longer hours in winter) A popular place that serves strong coffee and veggie scrambles.

Loco Lizard Cantina (☎ 435-645-7000; 1612 Ute Blvd; lunch mains $8-14, dinner mains $9-15; 🕒 11:30am-10pm Mon-Fri, 11am-10pm Sat & Sun) The bright, bold colors of this bustling Mexican eatery will lure you in, but it's the salsas and moles that will have you returning with friends. One local calls the enchiladas suizas with green chili sour-cream sauce 'mind-numbingly good.' Chips and salsa made in-house.

Zoom (☎ 435-649-9108; 660 Main St; mains $20-36; 🕒 11:30am-2:30pm & 5-9pm, may be open later Nov–mid-Apr) Co-owner Robert Redford is easy to spot at this upscale American restaurant – just look for his big artsy portrait above the register. But really, it works, fitting in comfortably with the Sundance Film Festival photos splashed across the walls inside this rehabbed train depot. Most of the beef, chicken and fish mains come grilled, roasted or crusted.

Purple Sage (☎ 435-655-9505; 434 Main St; mains $21-42; 🕒 from 5:30pm) Enjoy an intimate dinner in a restored 1895 telephone office along historic Main St. The American Western menu includes dishes like butternut-squash ravioli and cornmeal-fried rainbow trout, with desserts like bread pudding with raisins and pine nuts topped with cinnamon ice cream.

ENTERTAINMENT

Main St is where it's at, with half a dozen swinging nightclubs and bars.

O'Shucks (☎ 435-645-3999; 427 Main St; 🕒 10am-2am) This hard-partyin' dive bar is fun, especially on Tuesdays when it packs 'em in with $3 schooners (32oz beers). A carpet of peanut shells crunches underfoot.

No Name Saloon (☎ 435-649-6667; 447 Main St; 🕒 11am-1am) There's a motorcycle hanging from the ceiling, Johnny Cash's 'Jackson' playing on the stereo, and a waitress who might be lying about the history of this memorabilia-filled bar. We like it here.

Cisero's (☎ 435-649-6800; 306 Main St; 🕒 5pm-2am) Cisero's basement nightspot is happening seven days a week, with live music, karaoke and a dancefloor tricked out with lasers.

Egyptian Theatre Company (☎ 435-649-9371; www.egyptiantheatrecompany.org; 328 Main St) The restored 1926 theater is a primary venue for Sundance; the rest of the year it hosts plays, musicals and concerts.

GETTING THERE & AROUND

Several companies run vans from Salt Lake City International Airport and hotels to Park City; make reservations. Park City Transportation (☎ 435-649-8567, 800-637-3803; www.parkcitytransportation.com) operates frequent shared rides ($37), while Powder for the People (☎ 435-649-6648, 888-482-7547; www.powderforthepeople.com) has private-charter vans ($89 for one to three people, $132 for four, then $33 each additional passenger).

Park City Transit (☎ 435-615-5350; www.parkcity.org/citydepartments/transportation) runs free trolleys one to six times an hour from 8am to 11pm depending on location (reduced frequency in summer). The excellent system covers most of Park City, including the three ski resorts, and makes it easy not to need a car. There's a downloadable route map online.

Heber City & Around

About 45 miles southeast of SLC, Heber City is fairly utilitarian, but it's an affordable base for exploring the Wasatch Mountains. Most businesses are on Hwy 40 (Main St).

The 1904 Heber Valley Historic Railroad (☎ 435-654-5601; www.hebervalleyrr.org; 450 S 600 West; adult/child $30/20; 🕒 late May–Oct) offers family-friendly scenic trips through gorgeous Provo Canyon. For information on camping and hiking in the Uinta National Forest, contact the Heber Ranger Station (☎ 435-654-0470; 2460 S Hwy 40; 🕒 8am-4:30pm Mon-Fri).

Consider driving the attractive 20-mile route known as the Alpine Scenic Loop. From Hwy 189, head north onto narrow and twisting Hwy 92, which leads to Robert Redford's Sundance Resort (☎ 801-225-4107, 800-892-1600; www.sundanceresort.com; 9521 Alpine Loop Rd, Provo; r $319, ste $429-549, 3-/4-bedroom house $1229-1429; ☒ 💻 📶), an elegant, rustic and environmentally conscious getaway located in a wilderness setting, with excellent skiing, a year-round arts program, a spa, summer hiking and mountain biking.

Three beautiful caves in Timpanogos Cave National Monument (☎ 801-756-5238; www.nps.gov/tica; Alpine Scenic Loop; per vehicle $6; 🕒 May-Oct) are accessible on ranger-led tours (adults $7, children $3 to $5); call ahead to reserve.

Heber City motels are basic but far cheaper than those in Park City. Or you can camp in the surrounding forest and nearby state parks. The flower-bedecked Swiss Alps Inn (☎ 435-654-0722; www.swissalpsinn.com; 167 S Main; r $69-99; ☒ ❄ 📶 🏊) is one of the best motels in town.

It's not every day you can nibble a pork lettuce wrap at a bistro sharing a roof with Texaco, but that's part of the charm at Spin Cafe (☎ 435-654-0251; 220 N Main St; lunch mains $7-13, dinner mains $10-18; 🕒 11:30am-9pm Mon-Sat, 11:30am-8pm Sun), a contemporary oasis scoring kudos from Salt Lake and Sunset magazines.

Tucked behind a Wild West shoot-'em-up facade is Snake Creek Grill (☎ 435-654-2133; 650 W 100 South; mains $20-26; 🕒 5:30-9:30pm Wed-Sun), one of northern Utah's best restaurants. Hospitable chef Dean Hottle serves Southwest-style American dishes like corn-tortilla-crusted sustainable red trout and maple mustard BBQ baby back ribs.

Word of warning for party hounds: the city isn't known for its nightlife.

NORTHEASTERN UTAH

Despite being hyped as 'Utah's Dinosaurland,' the main attraction of this area is actually the high wilderness terrain. All towns are a mile above sea level, and the rugged Uinta Mountains make for great trips.

Mirror Lake Highway

This alpine route (Hwy 150) begins in Kamas, about 12 miles east of Park City, and covers 65 miles as it climbs to elevations of more than 10,000ft into Wyoming. The highway provides breathtaking vistas of the western Uinta Mountains, while passing by scores of lakes, campgrounds and trailheads. Portions may be closed to cars in winter due to heavy snowfall. Contact the ranger station (☎ 435-783-4338; 50 E Center St, Kamas; 🕒 8am-4:30pm Mon-Fri) for general information on the Wasatch-Cache National Forest.

Vernal

The capital of Utah's dinosaur country, Vernal welcomes visitors with a large pink dino-buddy and plenty of services. The Travel Board of Northeastern Utah (☎ 800-477-5558; www.dinoland.com) can provide information, and the good natural history museum (☎ 435-789-3799; 496 E Main St; adult/child $6/3; 🕑 9am-5pm) helps walk-ins and has driving-tour brochures. The Red Cloud Loop and Petroglyphs tour is a highlight. Check out the museum's garden full of life-size dinosaurs. The Vernal Ranger Station (☎ 435-789-1181; 355 N Vernal Ave; 🕑 8am-5pm Mon-Fri) has details on camping and hiking.

Twelve miles northeast of Vernal, Red Fleet State Park (☎ 435-789-4432; www.stateparks.utah.gov; Hwy 191; per vehicle $7, campsites $13) offers boating, camping and an easy hike to a series of fossilized dinosaur tracks (best visited when the reservoir isn't full). Campsites are a mix of reservable and and first-come, first-served.

The Green and Yampa Rivers have satisfying rapids for white-water enthusiasts, as well as calmer areas for gentler floats. Hatch River Expeditions (☎ 435-789-4316, 800-342-8243; www.donhatchrivertrips.com, www.oars.com; 221 N 400 East; 🕑 May-Sep), now partnered with OARS, runs a variety of one- to five-day trips.

Flaming Gorge National Recreation Area

Named for its fiery red sandstone, the gorge area (day use $5) has 375 miles of reservoir shoreline, fly-fishing and rafting on the Green River, trout fishing, hiking and cross-country skiing. Visit the Flaming Gorge Headquarters (☎ 435-784-3445; www.fs.fed.us/r4/ashley/recreation; 25 W Hwy 43; 🕑 8am-5pm Mon-Fri) or Flaming Gorge Dam Visitors Center (☎ 435-885-3135; Hwy 191; 🕑 8am-6pm mid-May–Aug, 9am-5pm Sep–mid-Oct, 10am-4pm Fri-Mon mid-Oct–mid-May).

Sheep Creek Canyon Geological Loop (www.utah.com/vernal), a dramatic 13-mile paved (but rutted) loop through the Sheep Creek Canyon Geological Area, leaves Hwy 44 about 15 miles west of Greendale Junction.

The campgrounds (☎ 877-444-6777; www.recreation.gov; campsites $9-15) in and around Flaming Gorge are generally open mid-May to mid-September; reserve ahead. Red Canyon Lodge (☎ 435-889-3759; www.redcanyonlodge.com; 2450 W Red Canyon Lodge, Dutch John; cabins $105-145, available nightly mid-Mar–mid-Oct, weekends mid-Oct–mid-Mar; 📶) provides rustic and luxury cabins without TVs or phones. Wi-fi is available in the restaurant. Flaming Gorge Resort (☎ 435-889-3773; www.flaminggorgeresort.com; 1100 E Flaming Gorge Resort, Dutch John; r $119, ste $159-249; 🚭 ❄ 📶) rents motel rooms and suites.

Dinosaur National Monument

One of the largest dinosaur fossil beds in North America was discovered here in 1909. The dinosaur quarry was enclosed and hundreds of bones were exposed but left in the rock. The visitor center surrounding the quarry closed in 2006 because of dangerous structural problems. The reopening is planned for 2011.

In the meantime, the monument (☎ 435-781-7700; www.nps.gov/dino; per vehicle $10; 🕑 8:30am-4:30pm daily, guided ranger tours daily Jun-Aug) is still accessible, with a scaled-back, temporary visitor center. You can drive, hike, backpack and raft through the dramatic and starkly eroded canyons. Budding scientists can walk through seven different periods of geologic history, and see a few bones on the Fossil Discovery Hike. The monument straddles the Utah–Colorado state line. The Utah portion of the park is about 15 miles east of Vernal via Hwys 40 and 149.

SOUTHEASTERN UTAH

Nicknamed 'Canyon Country,' this desolate corner of Utah is home to soaring snow-blanketed peaks towering over plunging red-rock river canyons – so inhospitable that it was the last region to be mapped in the continental US.

Over 65 million years, water carved serpentine, sheer-walled gorges along the course of the Colorado and Green Rivers, which define the borders of Canyonlands National Park, Utah's largest. Nearby Arches National Park encompasses more rock arches than anywhere else in the world. Between the parks lies Moab, the state's premier destination for mountain biking, river running and 4WDing. South of Moab, Ancestral Puebloan sites are scattered among wilderness areas and parks, most notably Monument Valley, which extends into Arizona (see p858).

This section is organized roughly north to south, beginning with the town of Green River, on I-70, and following Hwy 191 into the southeastern corner of the state.

Green River

The 'World's Watermelon Capital,' Green River offers a good base for river running on the Green and Colorado Rivers, or exploring the nearby San Rafael Swell, an eroded 80-mile dome of rock created by a massive geologic upheaval 40 to 60 million years ago.

The legendary one-armed Civil War veteran, geologist and ethnologist John Wesley Powell first explored these rivers in 1869 and 1871. Learn about his amazing travels at the John Wesley Powell River History Museum (☎ 435-564-3427; www.jwprhm.com; 1765 E Main St; adult/child $4/1; 🕒 8am-7pm Apr-Oct, 8am-5pm Tue-Sat Nov-Mar), which also has exhibits on the Fremont Native Americans, geology and local history. The museum serves as the local visitor center.

Local outfitters run day-long white-water rafting day trips (adult/child from $55/40), including lunch and transportation; ask about multiday excursions. Call Holiday Expeditions (☎ 435-564-3273, 801-266-2087; www.holidayexpeditions.com) or Moki Mac River Expeditions (☎ 435-564-3361, 800-284-7280; www.mokimac.com).

Robbers Roost Motel (☎ 435-564-3452; www.rrmotel.com; 325 W Main St; s $31-33, d $40-43; ☒ ❄ 📶) is a basic but clean one-story family-owned motel. At Best Western River Terrace (☎ 435-564-3401, 800-528-1234; www.bestwestern.com; 880 E Main St; r incl breakfast $110-106; ☒ ❄ 📶 🏊) many rooms overlook the river. Ray's Tavern (☎ 435-564-3511; 25 S Broadway; mains $8-26; 🕒 11am-10pm) is far and away the best place to eat in town.

There are daily Greyhound (☎ 435-564-3421, 800-231-2222; www.greyhound.com; 525 E Main St) buses to SLC ($48, 3¾ hours) and Las Vegas, NV ($82, 7½ hours); buses stop at the Rodeway Inn. Amtrak (☎ 800-872-7245; www.amtrak.com; 250 S Broadway) runs the daily California Zephyr to Denver, CO ($58, 10¾ hours). Green River is the only stop in southeastern Utah.

Moab

Mountain bikes, microbrews and red rocks about sums it up for this outdoorsy town that stays busy almost year-round. Encircled by stunning orange mountains and the snow-topped La Sal Mountains, Moab is southeastern Utah's largest community and an often-mobbed gateway for alfresco adventures. Moab bills itself as Utah's recreation capital, and it delivers.

INFORMATION

Most businesses are along Hwy 191, also called Main St. Bibliophiles rejoice: there are two great indie bookstores across the street from each other.

Arches Book Company (☎ 435-259-0782; 78 N Main St; 🕒 7:30am-8pm Jun-Aug, 8am-5pm Sep-May) Good fiction selection. Also has coffee shop and wi-fi.

Back of Beyond (☎ 435-259-5154; 83 N Main St; 🕒 9am-9pm Apr-Sep, 9am-6pm Oct-Mar) Excellent downtown bookstore with extensive regional selection.

Bureau of Land Management (BLM; ☎ 435-259-2100; www.blm.gov/utah/moab; 82 E Dogwood Ave; 🕒 7:45am-4:30pm Mon-Fri) Has camping information and takes reservations for group campsites. Canoeists and kayakers, stop here for river permit information.

Moab Area Travel Council (☎ 435-259-8825, 800-635-6622; www.discovermoab.com; 🕒 8am-5pm Mon-Fri) Dispenses visitor information over the phone and through the mail.

Moab Information Center (cnr Main & Center Sts; 🕒 8am-7pm Mon-Sat & 9am-6pm Sun Apr-Sep, 9am-5pm Oct-Mar) This helpful place serves walk-in visitors only. It carries books, maps and comprehensive information on everything from area campgrounds and permits to current river conditions. There's a fantastic series of free activities brochures.

ACTIVITIES

Outfitters take care of everything, from permits to food to setting up camp to transportation. Among the best:

Adrift Adventures (☎ 435-259-8594, 800-874-4483; www.adrift.net; 378 N Main St) Leads trips by raft, jeep and horseback.

Canyon Voyages (☎ 435-259-6007, 800-733-6007; www.canyonvoyages.com; 211 N Main St) Come here for rafting, kayaking and hiking.

OARS (☎ 435-259-5919, 800-342-5938; www.oars.com; 2540 S Hwy 191) Overnight rafting adventures are OARS specialty.

Sheri Griffith Expeditions (☎ 435-259-8229, 800-332-2439; www.griffithexp.com; 2231 S Hwy 191) Rafting and kayaking with 'a touch of class.'

SLEEPING

Despite tons of hotels, B&Bs and campgrounds, the town is packed from spring to fall; reservations are advised. Individual BLM campsites (www.blm.gov; campsites $8-12) in the area are first-come, first-served. In peak season, check with the Moab Information Center to see which sites are full.

Adventure Inn Moab (☎ 435-259-6122, 866-662-2466; www.adventureinnmoab.com; 512 N Main St; s/d incl breakfast $65/80; 🕒 Mar-Oct; ☒ ❄ 📶) Family owned and incredibly friendly, this standard motel has a homey feel, a shaded front yard and a laundry. Room 10 is a smidgen larger than the rest.

our pick Redstone Inn (☎ 435-259-3500, 800-772-1972; www.moabredstone.com; 535 S Main St; r $79-99; ☒ ❄) From the ranch-style exterior and big gas grill to the pine-paneled walls and chunky wood furniture, this place looks like Moab. And that's without mentioning the red-rock monoliths that are the ever-present backdrop. Walls are a bit thin at this 52-room motel but after a hard day on the trail, sleep will probably come easy. There's a hot tub on-site and guests have pool privileges at Bighorn Lodge across the street. Look for $20-off discount coupons at visitor centers.

Gonzo Inn (☎ 435-259-2515, 800-791-4044; www.gonzoinn.com; 100 W 200 South; r $159, ste $205-339, incl breakfast in season; ☒ ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) The lizard looks a wee bit tired at this funky, gecko-themed hotel, but that's not surprising considering the number of cyclists who churn through. The retro splashes of color and eclectic furniture are still fun, and the ample suites can comfortably sleep four, with kitchenettes and spacious patio or balcony areas to boot. There's a bicycle wash and repair station as well as a laundry.

EATING

There's no shortage of places to fuel up in Moab, from backpacker coffeehouses to gourmet dining rooms. Some restaurants close earlier in winter, so call ahead.

Love Muffin (☎ 435-259-6833; 139 N Main St; mains under $10; 🕒 7:30am-2pm; 📶) You gotta grab your love muffin fast at this breezy new bakery, because early-rising moms, gnarly adventure chicks and on-the-ball seniors nab the best ones – raspberry-blueberry, chocolate vegan – before most people get out of bed. But no worries: the breakfast menu also offers burritos, waffles, and honey yogurt with granola. Gourmet salads and sandwiches are served at lunch.

Moab Brewery (☎ 435-259-6333; 686 S Main St; mains $7-20; 🕒 11:30am-10pm Mon-Thu, 11:30am-11pm Fri & Sat, may close earlier Nov-Feb) At Moab's only on-site microbrewery restaurant you can see the vats just behind the bar area. It serves a range of burgers, seafood, steak and chicken, all to better accompany a pint of Derailleur or Dead Horse Ale. Natural, house-made gelato is sold on the front porch.

Miguel's Baja Grill (☎ 435-259-6546; 51 N Main St; dishes $11-20; 🕒 5-10pm) Dine on Baja fish tacos in the sky-lit breezeway patio lined with brightly painted walls. Fajitas, chilis rellenos and seafood mains are good sized, and the portobello salad is excellent. Refreshingly honest staff will tell you yes, they do have margaritas, but they may not be the best in town.

Center Café (☎ 435-259-4295; 60 N 100 West; mains $19-32; 🕒 from 4pm) Ready to trade your spandex and bike clips for a sundress and strappy shoes? Leave Main St behind and stroll over to stylish Center Café, consistently named southern Utah's best restaurant. The chef-owner cooks with confidence, drawing inspiration from American, Mediterranean and Asian cuisines. Lighter tapas menu ($4 to $12) served 4pm to 6pm.

GETTING THERE & AROUND

Twice daily Monday through Friday, Great Lakes Airlines (☎ 800-554-5111; www.flygreatlakes.com) flies from Denver, CO, to Canyonlands Airport (CNY; www.moabairport.com), 16 miles north of town via Hwy 191. There's one flight on Saturday and Sunday.

Bighorn Express (☎ 801-417-5191, 888-655-7433; www.bighornexpress.com) operates a scheduled van service to and from SLC ($69 one way) and Green River ($59 one way), while Roadrunner Shuttle (☎ 435-259-9402; www.roadrunnershuttle.com) operates an on-demand service to Moab airport as well as hiker-biker and river shuttles. Coyote Shuttle (☎ 435-260-2097, 435-259-8656; www.coyoteshuttle.com) also does the full range of recreational shuttles.

Arches National Park

One of the Southwest's most gorgeous parks, Arches (☎ 435-719-2299; www.nps.gov/arch; per vehicle $10; 🕒 visitor center 7:30am-6:30pm Apr-Oct, 8am-4:30pm Nov-Mar) boasts the world's greatest concentration of sandstone arches. Just 5 miles north of Moab on Hwy 191, the park is always packed in summer. Consider a moonlight exploration, when it's cooler and the rocks feel ghostly. Many arches are easily reached by paved roads and relatively short hiking trails.

Highlights include Balanced Rock, oft-photographed Delicate Arch (best captured in the late afternoon), spectacularly elongated Landscape Arch, and popular, twice-daily ranger-led trips into the Fiery Furnace (adult/child $10/5; 🕒 mid-Mar–Oct), for which reservations are recommended.

Because of water scarcity and the heat, few visitors backpack, though it is allowed with free permits (available from the visitor center). The scenic Devils Garden Campground (☎ 518-885-3639, 877-444-6777; www.recreation.gov; Hwy 191; campsites $20) is 18 miles from the visitor center and fills up March to October. Twenty-four sites available on a first-come, first-served basis, 52 sites by reservation. For the former, stop by the entrance station or visitor center after 7:30am.

Dead Horse Point State Park

A tiny but stunning state park (☎ 435-259-2614; www.stateparks.utah.gov; Hwy 313; per vehicle $10; 🕒 park 6am-10pm, visitor center 8am-5pm), Dead Horse Point has been the setting for numerous movies, including the opening scene from Mission Impossible II and the finale of Thelma & Louise. Located just off Hwy 313 (the road to Canyonlands), the park has canyons rimmed with white cliffs and walloping, mesmerizing views of the Colorado River, Canyonlands National Park and the distant La Sal Mountains. The 21-site Kayenta Campground (☎ 801-322-3770, 800-322-3770; www.stateparks.utah.gov; Hwy 313; campsites $20) provides limited water (bringing your own is highly recommended) and RV facilities. Four campsites are available first-come, first-served, the rest by reservation.

Canyonlands National Park

Covering 527 sq miles, Canyonlands (☎ 435-719-2313; www.nps.gov/cany; per vehicle $10) is Utah's largest and wildest park. Indeed, parts of it are as rugged as almost anywhere on the planet. Arches, bridges, needles, spires, craters, mesas, buttes – Canyonlands is a crumbling, decaying beauty, a vision of ancient earth.

You can hike, raft and 4WD (Cataract Canyon offers some of the wildest white water in the West), but be sure that you have plenty of gas, food and water. Difficult terrain and lack of water render this the least developed and visited of the major Southwestern national parks.

The canyons of the Colorado and Green Rivers divide the park into three districts. Island in the Sky is most easily reached and offers amazing views. There's a helpful visitor center (☎ 435-259-4712; www.nps.gov/cany/island; Hwy 313; ⌚ 9am-4:30pm Nov-Apr, extended hours Mar-Oct) and some excellent short hikes. Our favorite is the half-mile loop to oft-photographed Mesa Arch, a slender, cliff-hugging span framing a picturesque view of Washer Woman Arch and Buck Canyon. Drive a bit further to reach the Grand View Overlook trailhead. The path follows the canyon's edge and ends at a praise-your-maker precipice. This park section is 32 miles south of Moab; head north along Hwy 191 then west on Hwy 313.

Needles, the second district, is on Hwy 211, which heads west from Hwy 191, 40 miles south of Moab; you'll find more great views here and a smaller visitor center (☎ 435-259-4711; www.nps.gov/cany/needles; Hwy 211; ⌚ 9am-4:30pm Nov-Feb, 8am-6pm Mar-May, 8am-5pm Jun-Oct). And then there's the Maze, one of the wildest and most remote areas in the Southwest, accessible by 4WD only. Within Horseshoe Canyon, along the 32-mile road from Hwy 24 to the Maze, you'll find Great Gallery, with superb life-size rock art left by prehistoric Native Americans.

In addition to entrance fees, permits ($5 to $30) are required for overnight backcountry and mountain-biking camping, 4WD trips and river trips. Reserve at least two weeks ahead, by fax or mail only, with the Canyonlands NP Reservations Office (☎ 435-259-4351; fax 435-259-4285; www.nps.gov/cany/permits.htm; 2282 S West Resource Blvd, Moab, UT 84532), or just show up, although reservations are recommended in spring and fall. For more reservation information, visit www.nps.gov/cany/planyourvisit/reservations.htm.

Natural Bridges National Monument

Forty miles west of Blanding via Hwy 95, this monument (☎ 435-692-1234; www.nps.gov/nabr; Hwy 275; per vehicle $6; ⌚ visitor center 8:30am-6:30pm Apr-Sep, 8:30am-4:30pm Oct-Mar, sometimes later, park open 24hr) became Utah's first NPS land in 1908. The highlight is a dark-stained, white-sandstone canyon containing three easily accessible natural bridges. The oldest, the Owachomo Bridge, spans 180ft but is only 9ft thick. The flat 9-mile Scenic Drive loop is ideal for biking. The monument's 13 basic campsites ($10) are available on a first-come, first-served basis.

Hovenweep National Monument

Beautiful, little-visited Hovenweep (☎ 970-562-4282; www.nps.gov/hove; Hwy 262; per vehicle $6; ⌚ visitor center 8am-6pm Apr-Sep, 8am-5pm Oct-Mar, park & trails sunrise-sunset), meaning 'deserted valley' in the Ute language, contains six sets of prehistoric Ancestral Puebloan sites, five accessed by long hikes. You'll find a visitor center, ranger station and basic campground (campsites $10), but no facilities. The 31 campsites are first-come, first-served, but there's no need to rush because the campground rarely fills up.The main access is east of Hwy 191 on Hwy 262 via Hatch Trading Post, more than 40 miles from Bluff or Blanding.

Bluff

Surrounded by red rock, tiny Bluff was founded by Mormon pioneers in 1880 and makes a comfortable, laid-back base for regional exploring. It sits at the junction of Hwys 191 and 163, along the San Juan River. Hwy 191 through town is also called Main St. For up-close views of rock art, cliff dwellings and fossils, try Wild Rivers Expeditions (☎ 435-672-2244, 800-422-7654; www.riversandruins.com; 101 Main St; ⌚ Mar-Oct). This history-and-geology-minded outfitter has been leading river trips since 1957 (day trips adult/child $165/123). Vaughn Hadenfeldt, owner of Far Out

SCENIC DRIVE: MOKI DUGWAY & MULE POINT

The Moki Dugway (Hwy 261) heads south from Hwy 95 to connect with Hwy 163 at Mexican Hat. Along the way is a turnoff to Mule Point Overlook – don't miss this cliff-edge viewpoint, one of the country's most sweeping, encompassing Monument Valley and other landmarks.

Back on Hwy 261, the pavement ends and the Moki Dugway suddenly descends a whopping 1100ft along a series of fist-clenching hairpin turns on a narrow, mostly dirt road with no guardrails. At the bottom, a dirt road heads east into the Valley of the Gods, a 17-mile drive through mind-blowing sandstone monoliths.

Expeditions (☎ 435-672-2294; www.faroutexpeditions.com; cnr 7th & Mulberry Sts), arranges off-the-beaten-track trips to Monument Valley and archaeological sites. Lodging is available in the company's guesthouse (rooms from $90).

Another good choice is the hospitable Recapture Lodge (☎ 435-672-2281; www.bluffutah.org/recapturelodge; Hwy 191; r incl breakfast $60-80; ⊠ 📶 🏊), a rustic, cozy property pleasantly shaded between the highway and the river. Also nice are the spacious rooms inside the fancy-timbered Desert Rose Inn (☎ 435-672-2303; www.desertroseinn.com; 701 W Main St; r $99-109, cabins $119; ⊠ ❄ 💻).

Just across the street, Comb Ridge Coffee (☎ 435-672-9931; Hwy 191; mains $2-6; 🕒 7am-3pm Wed-Sun, may vary seasonally; Ⓥ) serves espresso, muffins and blue-corn pancakes inside a timber and adobe café. For lunch and dinner, the organic-minded San Juan River Kitchen (☎ 435-672-9956; 75 E Main St; lunch mains $8-13, dinner mains $9-20; 🕒 11am-9pm Tue-Sun) offers regionally sourced and inspired American and Mexican dishes including salads made with produce from a garden shared with Wild Rivers Expeditions.

Monument Valley

From the village of Mexican Hat (named for an easy-to-spot sombrero-shaped rock), Hwy 163 winds southwest and enters the Navajo Indian Reservation and, after about 30 miles, Monument Valley Navajo Tribal Park (see p858), where a 17-mile unpaved driving loop circles the massive formations.

For years, Goulding's Lodge (☎ 435-727-3231; www.gouldings.com; Hwy 163; r $180; 💻 📶 🏊) was the only area hotel, luring tourists with million-dollar views of the colossal red buttes. The full-service property still has a lot to offer – a restaurant, museum, gas station and campground (tent/RV sites $25/42) – but with the 2008 opening of Navajo-owned View Hotel at Monument Valley (p858), it's time to suit up for serious competition.

SOUTH-CENTRAL & SOUTHWESTERN UTAH

Locals call it 'color country,' but the cutesy label hardly does justice to the eye-popping hues that saturate the landscape. The deep-crimson canyons of Zion, the delicate pink-and-orange minarets at Bryce Canyon, the swirling yellow-white domes of Capitol Reef – the land is so spectacular that it encompasses three national parks and the gigantic Grand Staircase-Escalante National Monument.

This section is organized roughly northeast to southwest, following the highly scenic Hwy 12 and Hwy 89 from Capitol Reef National Park to Zion National Park.

Capitol Reef National Park

Not as crowded as its fellow parks but equally scenic, Capitol Reef contains much of the 100-mile Waterpocket Fold, created 65 million years ago when the earth's surface buckled up and folded, exposing a cross section of geologic history that is downright painterly in its colorful intensity. Hwy 24 cuts grandly through the park, but take the park's own scenic drive ($5) starting from the visitor center (☎ 435-425-3791; www.nps.gov/care; cnr Hwy 24 & Scenic Dr; 🕒 8am-4:30pm mid-fall–spring, to 6pm spring–mid-fall), where there's grassy, first-come, first-served campsites ($10) that fill fast spring through fall. A legacy of the Mormon settlement of Fruita, the park also encompasses amazing orchards (www.nps.gov/care/historyculture/orchardscms.htm) where visitors can pick cherries, peaches and apples in season. In summer, stop by the historic Gifford Farmhouse south of the visitor center for preserves or a fruit-filled minipie ($5).

Torrey

This little village makes a good stopping point for lodging and provides surprisingly great meals. The travel council (☎ 435-425-3365, 800-858-7951; www.capitolreef.org) has good information.

The slightly larger-than-average rooms at the Western-themed Austin's Chuck Wagon Lodge (☎ 435-425-3335; www.austinschuckwagonmotel.com; 12 W Main St; r from $75, cabins $135; 🕒 mid-Mar–Oct; ☒ ❄ 📶 🐾) are very clean with basic but sturdy furniture and lots of bathroom counter space. Grab supplies and food at the on-site general store.

Pecan chicken. Mayan tamales. Fire-roasted pork tenderloin. It's all devil-icious at the inviting Café Diablo (☎ 435-425-3070; 599 W Main St; mains $21-29; 🕒 5-10pm Apr–mid-Oct; ☒), one of southern Utah's best eateries. The highly stylized Southwestern fare – which includes 10 mains and a diverse selection of small plates – bursts with flavor and towers on the plate. Feeling adventurous? Try the award-winning rattlesnake cakes.

Boulder

Tiny Boulder is 32 miles south of Torrey on Hwy 12. From here, the attractive Burr Trail heads east as a paved road across the northeastern corner of the Grand Staircase-Escalante National Monument, winding up at Bullfrog Marina on Lake Powell. To explore the canyons, consider taking a one-day, child-friendly excursion with knowledgeable Earth Tours (☎ 435-691-1241; www.earth-tours.com), which offers half-/full-day tours for $75/100, or a multiday backcountry trek with the equally recommended Escalante Canyon Outfitters (☎ 435-691-3037, 888-326-4453; www.ecohike.com; 🕒 late Mar–early Nov). The ecocommitted company, which powers its office with a hydro-turbine, offers four-to six-day all-inclusive treks and archeo-hikes for $1225 to $1620. Guests enjoy in-season organic produce from the company garden.

The sturdy-but-stylish rooms at Boulder Mountain Lodge (☎ 435-335-7460, 800-556-3446; www.boulder-utah.com; 20 N Hwy 12; r $99-175, ste $190; ☒ ❄ 💻 📶) are among the nicest accommodations along Hwy 12. The outdoor hot tub with mountain views is a particularly scenic spot to soak off trail-earned aches and pains. Wi-fi is available in the lobby. The lodge's must-visit Hell's Backbone Grill (☎ 435-335-7464; Boulder Mountain Lodge, 20 N Hwy 12; breakfast dishes $8-10, dinner mains $16-34; 🕒 7-11:30am & 5:30-9:30pm) serves soulful, earthy preparations of regionally inspired and sourced cuisine.

Escalante

This gateway town of 750 people is the closest thing to a metropolis for 75 miles. It's also a good place to stock up and map it out before heading into the adjacent Grand Staircase-Escalante National Monument.

The Escalante Interagency Office (☎ 435-826-5499; www.ut.blm.gov/monument; 775 W Main St; 🕒 7:30am-5:30pm mid-Mar–Oct, 8am-4:30pm Nov–mid-Mar) is a superb resource center with complete information on all area public lands. Fifteen miles east on Hwy 12, Calf Creek Recreation Area (☎ 435-826-5499; www.ut.blm.gov/monument; per vehicle $2) has 13 basic but fast-filling campsites ($7) and a recommended 3-mile hike to Lower Calf Creek Falls.

Escalante Outfitters, Inc (☎ 435-826-4266; 310 W Main St; 🕒 8am-9pm; 📶) is a great travelers' oasis, selling maps, books, camping supplies, liquor, espresso and the best homemade pizza ($17 to $23, no slices) you'll find in Utah – no kidding.

Motels fill up fast in Escalante in high season, but the 50-room Prospector Inn (☎ 435-826-4653; www.prospectorinn.com; Hwy 12; r $55-65; ❄ 📶) may have a few units – basic but spacious and very clean – at the last minute. View-loving guests here settle into their balcony chairs to watch the sun go down.

Grand Staircase-Escalante National Monument

This 2656-sq-mile monument (www.ut.blm.gov/monument), established in 1996, is tucked between Bryce Canyon National Park, Capitol Reef National Park and Glen Canyon National Recreation Area. Tourist infrastructure is minimal, leaving a vast, remote desert for adventurous travelers who have the time and necessary outdoor equipment to explore.

Roads get slick and impassable when wet. Wilderness camping is allowed with a required free permit. Before heading out, obtain current road and travel information from the Escalante Interagency Office (above), the visitor centers in Kanab (opposite) or Cannonville (☎ 435-826-5640; 10 Center St, Cannonville; 🕒 8am-4:30pm Mar-Nov but hours may vary).

Kodachrome Basin State Park

Dozens of red, pink and white sandstone chimneys highlight this colorful state park (☎ 435-679-8562; www.stateparks.utah.gov; Cottonwood Canyon Rd; per vehicle $6), named for its photogenic landscape by the National Geographic Society. The Grand Parade Trail has the best views of sand pipes and other formations; there's also a campground (☎ 801-322-3770, 800-322-3770; campsites $16). Three campsites are first-come, first-served, 24 are available by reservation. Spring and fall are the busiest seasons.

THE MYSTERY OF EVERETT RUESS – SOLVED?

In November 1934, 20-year-old artist Everett Ruess walked into the Escalante backcountry, well prepared to explore, paint and experience the stunningly beautiful wilderness. Before leaving, he wrote to his brother, 'As to when I shall visit civilization, it will not be soon, I think…I prefer the saddle to the streetcar and star-sprinkled sky to a roof, the obscure and difficult trail, leading into the unknown, to any paved highway, and the deep peace of the wild to the discontent bred by the cities.' This was Ruess' last contact with his family, and he never returned from this trip.

The mystery of his disappearance grew into legend with the publication of several books examining his possible fate. In 2008, writer David Roberts and guide Vaughn Hadenfeldt (p880), acting on a tip that Ruess was murdered, found human remains in a crevice along desolate Comb Ridge. Although DNA tests seem to confirm that they belonged to Ruess, state archaeologists aren't 100% convinced.

Either way, it's clear today that Ruess' romantic idealism will live on in songs, books, an art festival (www.everettruessdays.org) and his own collected letters.

Bryce Canyon National Park

The Grand Staircase, a series of steplike uplifted rock layers stretching north from the Grand Canyon, culminates at this very popular national park (☎ 435-834-5322; www.nps.gov/brca; Hwy 63; per vehicle $25; 🕐 visitor center 8am-8pm May-Sep, 8am-4:30pm Nov-Mar, 8am-6pm Oct & Apr) in the Pink Cliffs formation. It's full of wondrous pinnacles and points, steeples and spires, and odd formations called 'hoodoos.' The 'canyon' is actually an amphitheater eroded from the cliffs.

From Hwy 12, Hwy 63 heads 4 miles south to Rim Rd Dr (8000ft), an 18-mile dead-end road that follows the rim of the canyon, passing the visitor center, lodge, viewpoints (don't miss Inspiration Point) and trailheads, ending at Rainbow Point at 9115ft elevation. The park's only licensed outfitter is Canyon Trail Rides (☎ 435-679-8665; www.canyonrides.com; Hwy 63; 2hr/half-day $50/75), which operates out of Bryce Canyon Lodge (below).

The two campgrounds, North Campground (☎ 877-444-6777; www.recreation.gov; campsites $15) and Sunset Campground (campsites $15; 🕐 late spring–fall), both have toilets and water. Sunset is more wooded, but has fewer amenities and doesn't accept reservations. For laundry, showers and groceries, visit North Campground. During summer, sites fill by noon.

The 1920s Bryce Canyon Lodge (☎ 435-834-8700, 888-297-2757; www.brycecanyonlodge.com; Hwy 63; lodge r $130-179, hotel r $165, cabins $175; 🕐 Apr-Oct; ☒) exudes rustic mountain charm. Rooms are in satellite buildings and range from modern hotel-style units with up-to-date furnishings and balconies to romantic, slightly dated, cabins with gas fireplaces and front porches. No TVs.

Kanab

Vast expanses of rugged desert surround remote Kanab, and until the advent of roads it was an isolated Mormon community. Filmmakers arrived in the 1920s to shoot Hollywood Westerns and Kanab soon earned the nickname 'Utah's Little Hollywood.'

Today, Hwy 89 snakes through town, passing a good selection of motels and restaurants. The Kanab Visitor Center (☎ 435-644-4680; www.ut.blm.gov/monument; 745 E Hwy 89; 🕐 8am-5pm Nov-Mar, 8am-4:30pm Dec-Feb) provides road, trail and weather updates for Grand Staircase-Escalante National Monument (opposite). For area information, visit the Kane County Office of Tourism (☎ 435-644-5033, 800-733-5263; www.kaneutah.com; 78 S 100 E; 🕐 10am-7pm Mon-Fri, 10am-5pm Sat, 10am-4pm Sun mid-May–Oct, 10am-5pm Mon-Sat Nov–mid-May).

John Wayne, Maureen O'Hara and Gregory Peck are a few Hollywood notables who slumbered at Parry Lodge (☎ 435-644-2601, 888-289-1722; www.parrylodge.com; 89 E Center St; r $73-84, ste $92-102; ❄ 📶 🏊). Today you can sleep in the same rooms they did (hotel records confirm room numbers). Units are well kept – if tired – and you'll find a hot tub, restaurant and bar onsite. Wi-fi is available in some units. Laid Back Larry's (☎ 435-644-3636; 98 S 100 East; sandwiches $2-5; 🕐 7am-2pm Thu-Tue) serves lunch and breakfast sandwiches, and it has good coffee.

St George

Nicknamed 'Dixie' for its warm weather and southern location, St George is a spacious Mormon town with wide streets, an eye-catching temple and pioneer buildings. St George, a city of 71,100, is popular with retirees and visitors to Zion and other nearby parks. The main source for town information is the chamber of commerce (☎ 435-628-1658; www.stgeorgechamber.com; 97 E St George Blvd; 🕒 9am-5pm Mon-Fri). The Interagency Information Center (☎ 435-688-3246; 345 E Riverside Dr; 🕒 7:45am-5pm Mon-Fri, 10am-3pm Sat) provides information on USFS and BLM lands, state parks and the Arizona Strip.

Nine miles north of town, 7400-acre Snow Canyon State Park (☎ 435-628-2255; www.stateparks.utah.gov; Hwy 18; per vehicle $5) is a great spot to stretch your legs and soak in stellar scenery: sandstone cliffs, volcanic landscapes and petroglyphs. Scope out lava caves and abundant wildlife from the hiking trails.

St George has the biggest selection of accommodations in southern Utah; most are chains, though, and many line St George Blvd. For a stylish budget abode with a great breakfast – that's close to the Interagency Information Center and Snow Canyon – try the hospitable Ambassador Inn (☎ 435-673-7900, 877-373-7900; www.ambassadorinn.net; 1481 Sunland Dr; r incl breakfast $65-75; 💻 📶 🏊) just off I-15 Exit 6.

Animal pelts and timber set a frontiersman's tone at Gun Barrel Steak & Game House (☎ 435-652-0550; 1091 N Bluff St; lunch mains $8-12, dinner mains $8-32; 🕒 11:30am-2pm Mon-Fri, 5-9pm Mon-Thu, 5-9:30pm Fri & Sat), a vibe perfectly in sync with the game-heavy menu. That said, solo female travelers will do just fine. For a scrumptious, meal-sized appetizer, try the buffalo wrap layered with onions, peppers, cheese and spicy chipotle mayo. For coffee, omelets and oatmeal, everybody heads to family-friendly Bear Paw Coffee Company (☎ 435-634-0126; 75 N Main St; mains $5-11; 🕒 7am-3pm).

Greyhound (☎ 435-673-2933, 800-231-2222; www.greyhound.com; 1235 S Bluff St) departs from the local McDonald's, with buses to SLC ($52, 5½ hours) and Las Vegas, NV ($23, two hours).

Springdale

Many travelers to Zion National Park pass through here, as Springdale sits along Hwy 9 just outside the park's southern entrance. It's a pleasant, relaxed community, catering mostly to park visitors. The regional visitors bureau (☎ 888-518-7070; www.zionpark.com) does not have a physical office. Call for a travel planner or check the website for information about lodging, restaurants and shopping.

Springdale has an abundance of good restaurants and nice lodging options, including the 22 recently revamped rooms – tile floors, monochromatic colors – at the pleasant Canyon Ranch Motel (☎ 435-772-3357; www.canyonranchmotel.com; 668 Zion Park Blvd; s $84-94, d $94-99, r with kitchenette $114-125; ☒ 💻 📶 🏊) Located half a mile south of the park, it has a nice shaded lawn with picnic tables.

Grab a coffee, breakfast burrito or turkey panini at scruffy Mean Bean (☎ 435-772-0654; 932 Zion Park Blvd; mains under $10; 🕒 7am-noon Mon-Fri, 7am-1pm Sat & Sun; 📶), a hiker-and-biker haven in the heart of downtown. Unless it's really busy, the place closes by noon on weekdays, and lunches are made to go. For dinner, you don't have to gussy up too much for the Spotted Dog (☎ 435-772-0700; 428 Zion Park Blvd; breakfast $8, mains $11-24; 🕒 7-11am & 5-10pm Mon-Fri, 7-11:30am & 5-10pm Sat & Sun, to 9pm off-season, may close Jan) but it might be nice to look fresh while people-watching on the patio. The seasonal, mostly regional menu has included wild game meatloaf and golden rainbow trout. There's also a breakfast buffet. For drinks, the Bit & Spur Restaurant & Saloon (☎ 435-772-3498; 1212 Zion Park Blvd) is a local institution and the liveliest spot in town, offering up a large selection of microbrews and occasional live music.

Zion National Park

If possible, enter Zion (☎ 435-772-3256; www.nps.gov/zion; Hwy 9; per vehicle $25) from the east, following Hwy 9 west from Hwy 89. The route is jaw-droppingly scenic as it rolls through colorful red rocks and a gallery-dotted tunnel before switchbacking 3.5 miles into the canyon.

More than 100 miles of trails offer everything from leisurely strolls to wilderness back packing and camping. The most famous backpacking trip is through the Narrows, 16 miles of walking and wading in the Virgin River through dramatic canyons (June to September). Prepare to get wet or your spirits dampened if there's a flash-flood warning. The Angels Landing Trail is a strenuous vertigo-inducer, but the views of Zion Canyon are phenomenal. It's 5 miles round-trip.

From April through October, the park operates frequent free shuttles which are the only vehicles allowed into the canyon (except for guests at the lodge). Two linked shuttle loops depart from the visitor center from 6:45am to 10pm daily. One loop picks up and drops off passengers along Zion Park Blvd in Springdale and the other stops at trailheads within the park. To avoid the hefty $25 vehicle entrance fee, ride the shuttle from town and pay the walk-in rate ($12 per person).

Motorhome drivers may have to pay a $15 escort pass to drive – or squeeze – large vehicles through the 1.1-mile Zion-Mt Carmel tunnel at the east entrance.

The Zion Canyon Visitor Center (☎ 435-772-3256; www.nps.gov/zion; 🕐 8am-8pm summer, 8am-6pm fall, 8am-5pm winter & spring) has books, maps and park recreation information. Ask about ranger-led activities, which include nature walks and interpretive talks on flora, fauna, ecology and geology. The center also houses the backcountry desk (☎ 435-772-0170; 🕐 7am-8pm Jun-Aug, 7am-6pm Sep–mid-Oct, 8am-4:30pm mid-Oct–May), which dispenses 25% of its backcountry permits to walk-ins either the day before, or the day of, a hike. To reserve a backcountry permit for a specific area (permits for popular areas like The Narrows go fast), call or reserve online well ahead of your arrival date (www.nps.gov/zion/planyourvisit/index.htm)

At the south gate, two campgrounds (☎ 877-444-6777; www.recreation.gov; campsites $16-20), South and Watchman, have almost 300 campsites. Fewer than half of these campsites can be reserved, so come early for the first-come, first-served spots. Smack in the middle of Zion Canyon, Zion Lodge (☎ reservations same day 435-772-7700, advance 888-297-2757; www.zionlodge.com; r/cabins/ste $160/173/183; ⊠ ✤ 💻 📶) has 81 well-appointed motel rooms and 40 cabins with gas fireplaces. All have wooden porches with stellar views. There are no TVs, but there's a good restaurant. Reservations are accepted up to 13 months in advance, or try your luck with same-day booking.

NEW MEXICO

Explaining New Mexico's undeniable allure in mere words is no easy task. Maybe it's the juxtaposition of art and landscape, with bleached cattle skulls hanging from sky-blue walls and silhouetted crosses topping centuries-old missions. Or maybe it's the fact that ancient pueblos, 300-year-old haciendas and stylish modern buildings stand in easy proximity, a testament to the three dominant cultures – Native American, Hispanic and Anglo – which intersect so pointedly here. Beyond that, there's crisp mountain air, chili-smothered enchiladas, national monuments and a welcoming populace. What's not to love?

But then, just when you think you've finally pinned it down, New Mexico turns to show a completely different side. Creatures from outer space lurk in Roswell. Billy the Kid is trumpeted like a hero. Museums honor the atomic age. Bats plumb the ethereal corners of Carlsbad Caverns. Seems there's a little more to it than turquoise and Taos. Maybe New Mexico's elusive, contradictory charm is best expressed in the captivating paintings of Georgia O'Keeffe, the state's patron artist. She herself exclaimed, on her very first visit: 'Well! Well! Well!…This is wonderful! No one told me it was like this.'

But seriously, how could they?

History

People roamed the land here as far back as 10,500 BC, but by Coronado's arrival in the 16th century, Pueblos were the dominant communities found here. Santa Fe was established as the colonial capital in 1610, after which Spanish settlers and farmers fanned out across northern New Mexico and missionaries began their often violent efforts to convert the area's Puebloans to Catholicism. Following on from a successful revolt, Native Americans then occupied Santa Fe until 1692, when Diego de Vargas recaptured the city.

In 1851 New Mexico became US territory. Native American wars, settlement by cowboys and miners, and trade along the Santa Fe Trail further transformed the region, and the arrival of the railroad in the 1870s created an economic boom.

Painters and writers set up art colonies in Santa Fe and Taos in the early 20th century. In 1943 a scientific community descended on Los Alamos and developed the atomic bomb (see p898). Big issues include water rights (whoever owns the water has the power) and immigration.

Information

Where opening hours are listed by season (not month), readers should call first, as hours can fluctuate based on weather, budgets and level of custom.

New Mexico CultureNet (www.nmcn.org) Listings for upcoming concerts, readings and openings in northern New Mexico.New Mexico Magazine (www.nmmagazine.com) Good guide to the state with sections on destinations, diversions and comforts.

NEW MEXICO FACTS

Nickname Land of Enchantment
Population 1.9 million
Area 121,599 sq miles
Capital city Santa Fe (population 72,000)
Other cities Albuquerque (population 507,800), Las Cruces (population 86,200), Roswell (population 45,600), Alamogordo (population 36,000), Carlsbad (population 25,400)
Sales tax 5%
Birthplace of Outlaw William Bonney, aka Billy the Kid (1859–81); national icon Smokey Bear
Home of International UFO Museum & Research Center (Roswell), Julia Roberts
Famous for Chilies, ancient pueblos, the first atomic bomb (1945)
State question 'Red or green?' (chili sauce, that is) Driving distances Albuquerque to Carlsbad 275 miles, Las Cruces to Taos 352 miles

New Mexico Route 66 Association (www.rt66nm.org) Information on the famous path through the state.
New Mexico State Parks Division (Map p895; ☎ 505-476-3355, 888-667-2757; www.emnrd.state.nm.us; 1220 South St Francis Dr, Santa Fe) Camping ($8 to $18 per night) is available by reservation (☎ 877-664-7787; www.newmexico.reserveworld.com) at some parks.
New Mexico Tourism Department (☎ 505-827-7400, 800-545-2040; www.newmexico.org) Order a free Vacation Guide, download a Scenic Byways map or research activities and accommodations.
Public Lands Information Center (☎ 877-851-8946; www.publiclands.org) Camping and recreation information.

ALBUQUERQUE

This bustling crossroads has a sneaky charm, one based more on its locals than big-city sparkle. The citizens here are proud of their city, and folks are more than happy to share history, highlights and must-try restaurants – which makes the state's most populous city much more than a dot on the Route 66 map.

Centuries-old adobes line the lively Old Town area, and downtown Central Ave has a densely packed nightlife district that's easy to navigate on foot. Ancient petroglyphs cover rocks just outside town while modern museums explore space and nuclear energy. There's a distinctive and vibrant mix of university students, Native Americans, Hispanics, gays and lesbians. You'll find square dances and yoga classes flyered with equal enthusiasm, and ranch hands and real-estate brokers chow down at hole-in-the-wall taquerias and retro cafés.

Orientation

Albuquerque's major boundaries are Paseo del Norte Dr to the north, Central Ave to the south, Rio Grande Blvd to the west and Tramway Blvd to the east. Central Ave is the main artery (aka old Route 66) – it passes through Old Town, downtown, the university and Nob Hill. The city is divided into four quadrants (NW, NE, SW and SE), and the intersection of Central Ave and the railroad tracks just east of downtown serves as the center point of the city.

Information

BOOKSTORES

Page One (Map p888; ☎ 505-294-2026; www.page1book.com; 11018 Montgomery Blvd NE, Juan Tabo Plaza; ⏰ 9am-9pm Mon-Sat, 9am-7pm Sun) Huge and comprehensive; also buys and sells used books.

EMERGENCY & MEDICAL SERVICES

Police (Map p888; ☎ 505-242-2677; 2501 Carlisle Blvd)
Presbyterian Hospital (Map p888; ☎ 505-841-1234; 1100 Central Ave SE; ⏰ 24hr emergency)
UNM Hospital (Map p888; ☎ 505-272-2411; 2211 Lomas Blvd NE; ⏰ 24hr emergency) Head here if you don't have insurance.

INTERNET ACCESS

FedEx Office (Map p888; ☎ 505-255-9673; 2706 Central Ave SE; per min 20¢; ⏰ 24hr Mon-Thu, midnight-11pm Fri, 9am-9pm Sat, 9am-midnight Sun)
Main Library (Map p890; ☎ 505-768-5141; 501 Copper Ave NW; ⏰ 10am-6pm Mon & Thu-Sat, 10am-7pm Tue & Wed) Free internet access after purchasing a $3 SmartCard. Wi-fi available for free but must obtain access card.

INTERNET RESOURCES

Albuquerque Online (www.abqonline.com) Exhaustive listings and links for local businesses.
Albuquerque.com (www.albuquerque.com) Attractions, hotels and restaurants.
Alibi (☎ 505-346-0660; www.alibi.com) Free weekly with entertainment listings.

City of Albuquerque (www.cabq.gov) Information on public transportation, area attractions and more.

POST

Post office (Map p890; ☎ 505-346-1256; 201 5th St SW)

TOURIST INFORMATION

The Albuquerque Convention & Visitors Bureau (www.itsatrip.org) has three visitor centers:

Downtown (Map p890; ☎ 505-842-9918, 800-284-2282; 20 First Plaza NW at cnr 2nd St & Copper Ave; 🕒 9am-4pm Mon- Fri)

Old Town (Map p890; ☎ 505-243-3215; 303 Romero St NW; 🕒 10am-5pm Oct-May, 10am-6pm Jun-Sep)

Sunport (Albuquerque International Airport) At the lower-level baggage claim.

Sights

OLD TOWN

From its foundation in 1706 until the arrival of the railroad in 1880, the plaza was the hub of Albuquerque; today Old Town is the city's most popular tourist area.

You may want to tiptoe past the fangs, scales and rattling tails that inhabit the informative – but slightly unnerving – Rattlesnake Museum (Map p890; ☎ 505-242-6569; www.rattlesnakes.com; 202 San Felipe St NW; adult/child/senior $5/3/4; 🕒 11:30am-5:30pm Mon-Fri, 10am-6pm Sat, 1pm-5pm Sun) southeast of the plaza. From eastern diamondbacks to canebrakes, you won't find more species of rattlesnakes coiled anywhere else in the world. Get a 'certificate of bravery' with admission.

Conquistador armor and weaponry are highlights at the Albuquerque Museum of Art & History (Map p890; ☎ 505-243-7255; www.cabq.gov/museum; 2000 Mountain Rd NW; adult/child 4-12yr/senior $4/1/2, 1st Wed of month & 9am-1pm Sun free; 🕒 9am-5pm Tue-Sun) where visitors can study the city's tricultural Native American, Hispanic and Anglo past. Works by New Mexico artists also featured.

Also in the Old Town are ¡Explora! Children's Museum (p888) and the New Mexico Museum of Natural History & Science (p889).

AROUND TOWN

The University of New Mexico (UNM) area (Map p890) has loads of good restaurants, casual bars, offbeat shops and hip college hangouts. The main drag is Central Ave between University and Carlisle Blvds. Just east is trendy Nob Hill, a pedestrian-friendly neighborhood lined with indie coffee shops, stylish boutiques and patio-wrapped restaurants.

Operated by New Mexico's 19 pueblos, the Indian Pueblo Cultural Center (Map p888; ☎ 505-843-7270; www.indianpueblo.org; 2401 12th St NW; adult/child & student/senior $6/3/5.50; 🕒 9am-5pm) is a must for anyone visiting pueblos. The museum traces the development of Pueblo cultures, exhibits customs and crafts, and features changing exhibits. The restaurant serves Pueblo fare.

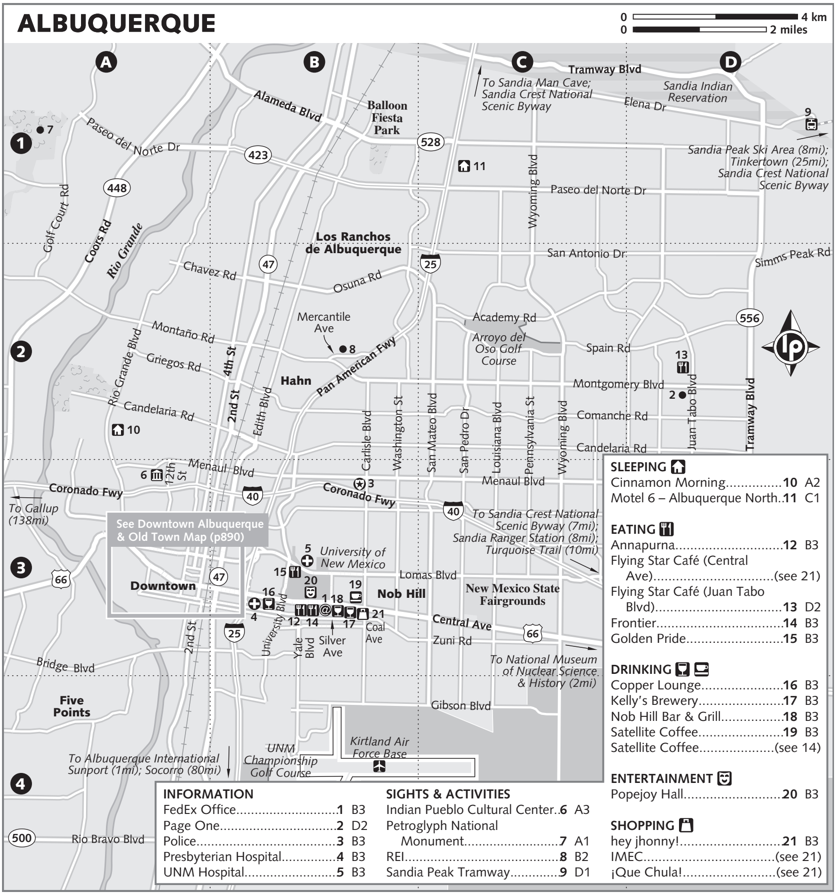
In 2009 the National Atomic Museum moved across town and changed its name to the National Museum of Nuclear Science & History (off Map p888; ☎ 505-245-2137; www.nuclearmuseum.org; 601 Eubank Blvd SE; adult/child & senior $8/4; 🕒 9am-5pm). Exhibits examine the Manhattan Project, the history of arms control and the use of nuclear energy as an alternative energy source. Docents here are retired military, and they're very knowledgeable about the exhibits. Take a moment to read the provocative and soul-searching comments in the visitors' journal beside the Hiroshima and Nagasaki display.

More than 20,000 rock etchings are found inside the Petroglyph National Monument (Map p888; ☎ 505-899-0205; www.nps.gov/petr; per vehicle at Boca Negra Canyon Mon-Fri $1, Sat & Sun $2) northwest of town. Stop by the visitor center to determine which of three viewing trails – in different sections of the park – best suits your schedule and hiking ability. Boca Negra, which has petroglyphs dating back 3000 years, works well if you're short on time. Note: smash-and-grab thefts have been reported at some trailhead parking lots, so don't leave valuables in your vehicle. Head west on I-40 across the Rio Grande and take exit 154 north.

The 2.7-mile Sandia Peak Tramway (Map p888; ☎ 505-856-7325; www.sandiapeak.com; Tramway Blvd; vehicle entrance fee $1, adult/youth 13-20 & senior/child $17.50/15/10; 🕒 9am-8pm Wed-Mon, 5-8pm Tue Sep-May, 9am-9pm Jun-Aug) starts in the desert realm of cholla cactus and soars to the pines atop 10,678ft Sandia Peak.

Activities

The omnipresent Sandia Mountains and the less crowded Manzano Mountains offer outdoor activities, including hiking, skiing (downhill and cross-country), mountain biking and camping. The Sandia Ranger Station (off Map p888; ☎ 505-281-3304; 11776 Hwy 337, Tijeras; 🕒 8am-4:30pm Mon-Fri Oct-May, to 5pm Mon-Fri, 8:30am-5pm Sat Jun-Sep), off I-40 exit 175 south, has maps and information. Best to call before visiting to confirm station is open. For equipment, try REI (Map p888; ☎ 505-247-1191; 1550 Mercantile Ave NE).



ALBUQUERQUE
0 4 km
0 2 miles
A
B
C
D
1
2
3
4
Tramway Blvd
To Sandia Man Cave; Sandia Crest National Scenic Byway
Sandia Indian Reservation
Elena Dr
Alameda Blvd
Balloon Fiesta Park
Paseo del Norte Dr
Sandia Peak Ski Area (8mi); Tinkertown (25mi); Sandia Crest National Scenic Byway
Golf Court Rd
Coors Rd
Rio Grande
Wyoming Blvd
Los Ranchos de Albuquerque
San Antonio Dr
Simms Peak Rd
Chavez Rd
Osuna Rd
Mercantile Ave
Academy Rd
Arroyo del Oso Golf Course
Spain Rd
Montaño Rd
Griegos Rd
Rio Grande Blvd
4th St
2nd St
Hahn
Pan American Fwy
Montgomery Blvd
Juan Tabo Blvd
Tramway Blvd
Candelaria Rd
Edith Blvd
Carlisle Blvd
Washington St
San Mateo Blvd
San Pedro Dr
Louisiana Blvd
Pennsylvania St
Comanche Rd
Menaul Blvd
12th St
Coronado Fwy
To Gallup (138mi)
To Sandia Crest National Scenic Byway (7mi); Sandia Ranger Station (8mi); Turquoise Trail (10mi)
See Downtown Albuquerque & Old Town Map (p890)
Downtown
University of New Mexico
Lomas Blvd
Nob Hill
New Mexico State Fairgrounds
University Blvd
Yale Blvd
Silver Ave
Coal Ave
Central Ave
Zuni Rd
To National Museum of Nuclear Science & History (2mi) Bridge Blvd
Five Points
Gibson Blvd
Kirtland Air Force Base
UNM Championship Golf Course
To Albuquerque International Sunport (1mi); Socorro (80mi)
Rio Bravo Blvd
423
448
528
47
25 40
66 556
500
SLEEPING
Cinnamon Morning 10 A2
Motel 6 – Albuquerque North 11 C1
EATING
Annapurna 12 B3
Flying Star Café (Central Ave) (see 21)
Flying Star Café (Juan Tabo Blvd) 13 D2
Frontier 14 B3
Golden Pride 15 B3
DRINKING
Copper Lounge 16 B3
Kelly's Brewery 17 B3
Nob Hill Bar & Grill 18 B3
Satellite Coffee 19 B3
Satellite Coffee (see 14)
ENTERTAINMENT
Popejoy Hall 20 B3
SHOPPING
hey jhonny! 21 B3
IMEC (see 21)
¡Que Chula! (see 21)
INFORMATION
FedEx Office 1 B3
Page One 2 D2
Police 3 B3
Presbyterian Hospital 4 B3
UNM Hospital 5 B3
SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES
Indian Pueblo Cultural Center 6 A3
Petroglyph National Monument 7 A1
REI 8 B2
Sandia Peak Tramway 9 D1

Reach the top of the Sandias via the eastern slope along the lovely Sandia Crest National Scenic Byway (I-40 exit 175 north), which passes several trailheads. Alternatively, take the Sandia Peak Tramway (p887) or Hwy 165 from Placitas (I-25 exit 242), a dirt road through Las Huertas Canyon that passes the prehistoric dwelling of Sandia Man Cave.

Atop the Sandia Peak Tramway, the Sandia Peak Ski Area (☎ 505-242-9052; www.sandiapeak.com; half-/full-day lift tickets adult $36/48, teen $30/38, child & senior $28/35) remains open during summer weekends and holidays (June to September) for mountain bikers. You can rent a bike at the base facility ($48 with $350 deposit) or ride the chairlift to the top of the peak with your own bike ($18).

Several companies offer rides over the city and the Rio Grande, including Discover Balloons (Map p890; ☎ 505-842-1111; www.discoverballoons.com; 205c San Felipe NW; adult/child under 12 $160/100). Flights last about an hour, and many are offered early in the morning to catch optimal winds and the sunrise.

Albuquerque for Children

The gung-ho ¡Explora! Children's Museum (Map p890; ☎ 505-224-8300; www.explora.us; 1701 Mountain Rd NW; adult/child under 12/senior $7/3/5; 🕒 10am-6pm Mon-Sat, noon-6pm Sun; 👶) will captivate your kiddies for hours. From the lofty high-wire bike to the leaping waters to the arts-and-crafts workshop, there's a hands-on exhibit for every type of child (don't miss the elevator). Not traveling with kids? Check the website to see if you're in town for the popular 'Adult Night.' Typically hosted by an acclaimed local scientist, it's become one of the hottest tickets in town.

The teen-friendly New Mexico Museum of Natural History & Science (Map p890; ☎ 505-841-2800; www.nmnaturalhistory.org; 1801 Mountain Rd NW; adult/child under 13/senior $7/4/6; 🕒 9am-5pm; 👶) features an Evolator (evolution elevator), which transports visitors through 38 million years of New Mexico's geologic and evolutionary history. The new Space Frontiers exhibit highlights the state's contribution to space exploration, from ancient Chaco observatories to an impressive, full-scale replica of the Mars Rover. The museum also houses the huge-screen DynaTheater (adult/child 3-12yr/senior $7/4/6).

Tours

From mid-March to mid-December, the Albuquerque Museum of Art & History (p887) offers informative, guided Old Town walking tours (🕒 11am Tue-Sun) of historically significant structures. It takes about 45 minutes to an hour and is free with museum admission.

Festivals & Events

The New Mexico Gay Rodeo Association (www.nmgra.com) hosts the Zia Regional Rodeo during the second weekend of August. In early October, 900,000 spectators are drawn to magical hot-air-balloon ascensions at the International Balloon Fiesta (☎ 888-422-7277; www.balloonfiesta.com).

Sleeping

BUDGET

Motel 6 – Albuquerque North (Map p888; ☎ 505-821-1472; www.motel6.com; 8510 Pan American Fwy NE; r from $42; 🅿 ❄ 🏊) Yeah, it's a chain, and it's a few miles north of downtown, but this one is cheap, clean, just off I-25 and has a laundry. Wi-fi costs $3 per night.

Hotel Blue (Map p890; ☎ 505-924-2400, 877-878-4868; www.thehotelblue.com; 717 Central Ave NW; r incl breakfast $62-99; 🅿 ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) Well positioned beside a park and downtown, the art-deco 140-room Hotel Blue has Tempur-Pedic beds and a free airport shuttle. Bonus points awarded for the good-sized pool and 40in flat-screen TVs.

MIDRANGE & TOP END

Mauger Estate B&B (Map p890; ☎ 505-242-8755, 800-719-9189; www.maugerbb.com; 701 Roma Ave NW; r incl breakfast $99-193, ste $164-204; 🅿 🚭 📶) This restored Queen Anne mansion (Mauger is pronounced 'major') has comfortable rooms with down comforters, stocked fridges and freshly cut flowers. Kids are welcome and there's one dog-friendly room complete with Wild West decor and a small yard ($20 extra).

Cinnamon Morning (Map p888; ☎ 505-345-3541; www.cinnamonmorning.com; 2700 Rio Grande Blvd NW; r $109-225; 🅿 🚭 ❄ 💻 📶) Travelers looking for an easygoing spot to blog, twitter or check their e-mails will fall hard for this wired B&B's welcoming back patio. Bright, Southwestern-themed rooms – choose from the main house, casita or guesthouse – maintain the hospitable vibe. In summer, breakfast is cooked on the patio's Mexican-style kitchen. Pets and children welcome.

our pick Böttger Mansion (Map p890; ☎ 505-243-3639, 800-758-3639; www.bottger.com; 110 San Felipe St NW; r incl breakfast $124-179; 🅿 🚭 ❄ 💻 📶) A friendly and informative proprietor gives this well-appointed Victorian-era B&B an edge over some tough competition. The eight-bedroom mansion, built in 1912, is close to Old Town Plaza, top-notch museums and several in-the-know New Mexican restaurants like Duran's Central Pharmacy (1815 Central Ave; cash only). The honeysuckle-lined courtyard is a favorite with bird-watchers. Famous past guests in the home include Elvis, Janis Joplin and Machine Gun Kelly.

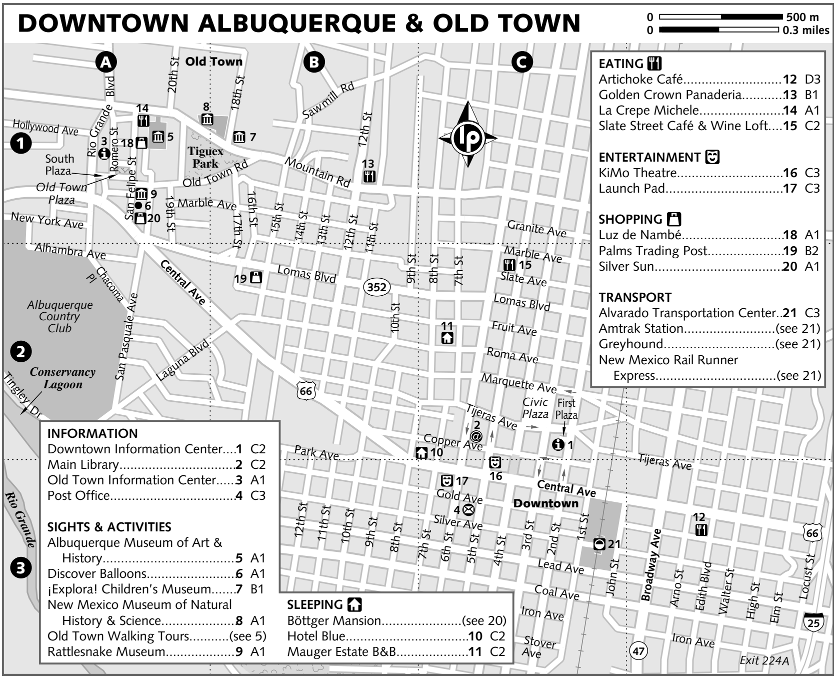
Eating

our pick Golden Crown Panaderia (Map p890; ☎ 505-243-2424; 1103 Mountain Rd NW; mains under $10; 🕒 7am-8pm Tue-Sat, 10am-8pm Sun) Who doesn't love a friendly neighborhood bakery? Especially one with gracious staff, fresh-from-the-oven bread, fruit-filled empanadas, smooth coffee and the frequent free cookie. Make time in your schedule to sample the goodies inside this beloved adobe oasis, and call ahead to reserve a loaf of quick-selling green chili bread.

Frontier (Map p888; ☎ 505-266-0550; 2400 Central Ave SE; dishes $3-10; 🕒 24hr; 👶) An Albuquerque tradition, the Frontier boasts enormous cinnamon rolls, addictive green chili stew, and the best huevos rancheros ever. The food and people-watching are outstanding, and students love the low prices on the 24/7 breakfast, burgers and Mexican food.

Golden Pride (Map p888; ☎ 505-242-2181; 1830 Lomas Blvd NE; most dishes under $10; 🕒 6am-10pm) For breakfast burritos and fried chicken this popular minichain (Frontier's sister restaurant) is great for hungry travelers on the go.

DOWNTOWN ALBUQUERQUE & OLD TOWN



0 500 m
0 0.3 miles
A
B
C
1
2
3
Old Town
Hollywood Ave
Rio Grande Blvd
Romero St
South Plaza
Old Town Plaza
San Felipe St
20th St
19th St
18th St
17th St
16th St
15th St
14th St
13th St
12th St
11th St
Tiguex Park
Old Town Rd
Marble Ave
Sawmill Rd
Mountain Rd
New York Ave
Alhambra Ave
Chacoma Pl
Central Ave
Lomas Blvd
352
Granite Ave
Marble Ave
Slate Ave
Lomas Blvd
Fruit Ave
Roma Ave
Marquette Ave
Civic Plaza
First Plaza
Tijeras Ave
Copper Ave
9th St
8th St
7th St
10th St
Albuquerque Country Club Conservancy Lagoon
San Pasquale Ave
Laguna Blvd
Tingley Dr
66
Rio Grande
Park Ave
Tijeras Ave
Central Ave
Downtown
Gold Ave
Silver Ave
Lead Ave
Coal Ave
Iron Ave
Stover Ave
6th St
5th St
4th St
3rd St
2nd St
1st St
John St
Broadway Ave
Arno St
Edith Blvd
Walter St
High St
Elm St
Locust St
Iron Ave
25 47
Exit 224A

EATING 🍴

Artichoke Café	12	D3
Golden Crown Panaderia	13	B1
La Crepe Michele	14	A1
Slate Street Café & Wine Loft	15	C2

ENTERTAINMENT ☺

KiMo Theatre	16	C3
Launch Pad	17	C3

SHOPPING

Luz de Nambé	18	A1
Palms Trading Post	19	B2
Silver Sun	20	A1

TRANSPORT

Alvarado Transportation Center	21	C3
Amtrak Station	(see 21)
Greyhound	(see 21)
New Mexico Rail Runner Express	(see 21)

INFORMATION

Downtown Information Center	1	C2
Main Library	2	C2
Old Town Information Center	3	A1
Post Office	4	C3

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

Albuquerque Museum of Art & History	5	A1
Discover Balloons	6	A1
¡Explora! Children's Museum	7	B1
New Mexico Museum of Natural History & Science	8	A1
Old Town Walking Tours	(see 5)
Rattlesnake Museum	9	A1

SLEEPING ⌂

Böttger Mansion	(see 20)
Hotel Blue	10	C2
Mauger Estate B&B	11	C2

Annapurna (Map p888; ☎ 505-262-2424; 2201 Silver Ave SE; mains $7-12; 🕒 7am-8pm Mon-Wed, 7am-9pm Thu-Sat, 10am-8pm Sun; 📶 Ⓥ) For some of the freshest, tastiest health food in town, grab a seat within the bright, mural-covered walls of Annapurna. The delicately spiced ayurvedic dishes are all vegetarian or vegan, but they're so delicious that even carnivores will find something to love.

Flying Star Café (Map p888; mains $8-11; Central Ave ☎ 505-255-6633; 3416 Central Ave SE; 🕒 6am-11pm Sun-Thu, 6am-midnight Fri & Sat; Juan Tabo Blvd ☎ 505-275-8311; 4501 Juan Tabo Blvd NE; 🕒 6am-10pm Sun-Thu, 6am-11pm Fri & Sat) With seven constantly packed locations, this is the place to go for homemade soups, muffins, bread, innovative main dishes, desserts and ice cream.

Slate Street Café & Wine Loft (Map p890; ☎ 505-243-2210; 515 Slate Ave NW; breakfast dishes $8-12, lunch mains $9-15, dinner mains $13-25; 🕒 7:30am-3pm Mon-Fri, 9am-2pm Sat & Sun, 5-9pm Tue-Thu, 5-10pm Fri & Sat, wine bar 4-10pm Tue- Sat) This downtown establishment in the burgeoning Route 66 Art District is usually packed with people who come to sample the clever Southwestern fare in the café and drink Merlot in the upstairs wine loft. A great new addition to downtown.

La Crepe Michele (Map p890; ☎ 505-242-1251; 400 San Felipe St; lunch mains $8-14, dinner mains $9-25; 🕒 11:30am-2pm Tue-Sun, 6-9pm Tue-Sat) Tucked in the corner of an adobe courtyard near Old Town Plaza, this intimate restaurant is the place to enjoy a quiet romantic dinner. A variety of crepes are served for lunch and dinner, while French specialties, ranging from beef Wellington to barramundi au champagne, change nightly.

Artichoke Café (Map p890; ☎ 505-243-0200; 424 Central Ave SE; lunch mains $8-16, dinner mains $17-30; 🕒 11am-2:30pm Mon-Fri, 5-9pm Mon & Sun, 5:30-10pm Tue-Sat) Voted an Albuquerque favorite many times over, this place takes the best from Italian, French and American cuisine.

Drinking & Entertainment

Satellite Coffee (Map p888; ☎ 505-254-3800; 2300 Central Ave NE) Don't be put off by the hip, space-age appearance. The staff is welcoming and seats filled with all manner of laptop-viewing, java-swilling locals. There are eight locations scattered across town; also try the one in Nob Hill (3513 Central Ave NE).

Copper Lounge (Map p888; ☎ 505-242-7490; 1504 Central Ave SE, 2nd fl; 🕒 Mon-Sat) If a parking lot filled with pickup trucks spells the word 'fun' in your party dictionary, then pull over for the red-brick Copper Lounge where baseball caps and cowboy hats sip beer, play pool and scope the ladies.

Kelly's Brewery (Map p888; ☎ 505-262-2739; 3226 Central Ave SE) Grab a seat at a communal table then settle in for a convivial night of people-watching and beer-drinking at this former Ford dealership and gas station. On warm spring nights, it seems everyone in town is chilling on the sprawling patio.

Nob Hill Bar & Grill (Map p888; ☎ 505-266-4455; 3128 Central Ave SE) Though this place is just up the block from Kelly's Brewery, the mood here is a tad more refined, with fancy cocktails getting all the attention. Try the Berries and Bubbles martini – a dry-ice infusion gives this drink a burbling kick.

Launch Pad (Map p890; ☎ 505-764-8887; www.launchpadrocks.com; 618 Central Ave SW) Indie, reggae, punk and country bands rock the house most nights (though not at the same time). Look for the spaceship on Central Ave.

Popejoy Hall (Map p888; ☎ 505-277-3824, tickets 505-277-4569; www.popejoyhall.com; cnr Central Ave & Cornell St SE) and the historic KiMo Theatre (Map p890; ☎ 505-768-3544; 423 Central Ave NW) are the primary venues for big-name national acts, local opera, symphony and theater.

Shopping

If you're looking for Native American crafts and informed salespeople who can give you advice, stop by the Palms Trading Post (Map p890; ☎ 505-247-8504; 1504 Lomas Blvd NW; 🕓 9am-5:30pm Mon-Sat). Nearby, just off Old Town Plaza, look for discounted and famed Nambe ware at Luz de Nambé (Map p890; ☎ 505-242-5699; 328 San Felipe St NW; 🕓 10am-6pm Mon-Sat, 11am-5pm Sun). Just south, Silver Sun (Map p890; ☎ 505-246-9692; 2011 Central Ave NW; 🕓 9am-4:30pm) is a reputable spot for turquoise.

For eclectic gifts, head to Nob Hill, east of the university. Park on Central Ave SE or one of the college-named side streets, then take a stroll past the inviting boutiques and specialty stores. ¡Que Chula! (Map p888; ☎ 505-255-0515; 3410 Central Ave SE) sells bright and funky Mexican imports while hey jhonny! (Map p888; ☎ 505-256-9244; 3418b Central Ave SE) displays sophisticated home furnishings and accessories. Around the corner, you'll find artistic fine jewelry at IMEC (Map p888; ☎ 505-265-0114; 101 Amherst SE).

Getting There & Around

AIR

Though the Albuquerque International Sunport (ABQ; off Map p888; ☎ 505-244-7700; www.cabq.gov/airport; 2200 Sunport Blvd SE) is New Mexico's biggest airport, it's still relatively small. Most major US airlines service Albuquerque, though Southwest (☎ 800-435-9792; www.southwest.com) has the largest presence. Cabs to downtown cost $17 to $20; try Albuquerque Cab (☎ 505-883-4888) or Yellow Cab (☎ 505-247-8888).

BUS

The Alvarado Transportation Center (Map p890; 100 1st St SW, cnr Central Ave) houses ABQ RIDE (☎ 505-243-7433; www.cabq.gov/transit; 🕓 8am-5pm), the public bus system. It covers most of Albuquerque on weekdays and hits the major tourist spots daily (adult/child $1/35¢; one-day pass $2). Most lines run until 6pm. ABQ RIDE Route 50 connects the airport with downtown (last bus at 8pm weekdays; limited service Saturday). Check website for maps and exact schedules. Route 36 stops near Old Town and the Indian Pueblo Cultural Center.

Greyhound (Map p890; ☎ 505-243-4435, 800-231-2222; www.greyhound.com, 320 1st St SW) is next door, and serves destinations throughout New Mexico. Two buses run daily to Santa Fe ($17) and one daily for Taos ($40 to $44).

Sandia Shuttle (☎ 505-474-5696, 888-775-5696; www.sandiashuttle.com) runs daily shuttles from Albuquerque to many Santa Fe hotels between 9am and 11pm (one way/round-trip $25/45).

TRAIN

The Southwest Chief stops daily at Albuquerque's Amtrak station (Map p890; ☎ 505-842-9650, 800-872-7245; www.amtrak.com; cnr 1st St & Central Ave), heading east to Kansas City, MO ($131, 17½ hours), and beyond, or west through Flagstaff, AZ ($86, five hours), to Los Angeles, CA (from $98, 16½ hours). Service to Santa Fe ($36, 1½ hours) involves transferring to a bus in Lamy (25 minutes), 18 miles south of Santa Fe.

A commuter line, the New Mexico Rail Runner Express (Map p890; www.nmrailrunner.com), shares the station, with eight departures for Santa Fe weekdays (one way/day pass $6/8) and six departures on Saturday (one way/day pass $4/6). The trip takes about 1½ hours.

ALONG I-40

Although you can zip between Albuquerque and Flagstaff, AZ, in less than five hours, the national monuments and pueblos along the way are well worth a visit. For a scenic loop, take Hwy 53 southwest from Grants, which leads to all the following sights, except Acoma. Hwy 602 brings you north to Gallup.

Acoma Pueblo

The dramatic mesa-top ‘Sky City’ sits 7000ft above sea level and 367ft above the surrounding plateau. One of the oldest continuously inhabited settlements in North America, this place has been home to pottery-making people since the later part of the 11th century. Guided tours (adult/senior/child $20/15/10; 🕘 hourly 8am-3pm mid-Oct–mid-Apr, 8am-5pm mid-Apr–mid-Oct) focusing on their craft leave from the visitor center (☎ 800-747-0181; http://sccc.acomaskycity.org; photo permit $10) at the bottom of the mesa and take 1¼ hours. From I-40, take exit 102, which is about 60 miles west of Albuquerque, then drive 12 miles south.

El Morro National Monument

The 200ft sandstone outcropping at this monument (☎ 505-783-4226; www.nps.gov/elmo; adult/child $3/free; 🕘 8am-7pm Jun-Aug, 9am-6pm Sep-Oct & Apr-May, 9am-5pm Nov-Mar), also known as ‘Inscription Rock,’ has been a travelers’ oasis for millennia. Thousands of carvings – from petroglyphs in the pueblo at the top (c 1275) to elaborate inscriptions by the Spanish conquistadors and the Anglo pioneers – offer a unique means of tracing history. It’s about 38 miles southwest of Grants via Hwy 53.

Zuni Pueblo

The Zuni are known worldwide for their delicately inlaid silverwork, which is sold in stores lining Hwy 53. Inside the pueblo (☎ 505-782-7238; www.zunitourism.com; 1239 Hwy 53; visitor center free, tours of pueblo $10; 🕘 8:30am-5:30pm Mon-Fri, 10:30am-4pm Sat, noon-4pm Sun), walk past stone houses and beehive-shaped mud ovens to the massive Our Lady of Guadalupe Mission, featuring impressive kachina murals. The A:shiwi A:wan Museum & Heritage Center (☎ 505-782-4403; www.ashiwi-museum.org; Ojo Caliente Rd; admission by donation; 🕘 9am-5pm Mon-Fri) displays early photos and other tribal artifacts.

The friendly, eight-room Inn at Halona (☎ 505-782-4547, 800-752-3278; www.halona.com; 23b Pia Mesa Rd; r incl breakfast $79; ⊠ ❄ 📶), decorated with local Zuni arts and crafts, is the only place to stay on the pueblo.

Gallup

Because Gallup serves as the Navajo and Zuni peoples’ major trading center, you’ll find many trading posts, pawnshops, jewelry stores and crafts galleries in the historic district. It’s arguably the best place in New Mexico for top-quality goods at fair prices. Gallup is another classic Route 66 town, with loads of vintage motels and businesses. Contact the chamber of commerce (☎ 505-722-2228, 800-380-4989; www.thegallupchamber.com; 103 W Hwy 66; 🕘 8:30am-5pm Mon-Fri, 10am-4pm Sat) for details.

The town’s lodging jewel is El Rancho (☎ 505-863-9311, 800-543-6351; www.elranchohotel.com; 1000 E Hwy 66; r $76-138, ste $138-148; P ❄ 📶 🏊). Many of the great actors of the 1940s and ’50s stayed here. El Rancho features a superb Southwestern lobby, a restaurant, a bar and an eclectic selection of simple rooms. There’s wi-fi in the lobby.

SANTA FE

In Santa Fe, the state capital, it’s all about the art. A sizable number of painters, sculptors and photographers live here, hundreds of galleries have set up shop, and more than a dozen museums thrive. The renowned Indian Market has been celebrated for more than 80 years. Against the dramatic backdrop of the Sangre de Cristo range, Santa Fe oozes sophistication, its cosmopolitan stature belying its size. It boasts gourmet restaurants, spas, an opera company and even a ski resort.

Orientation

Cerrillos Rd (I-25 exit 278), a 6-mile strip of hotels and fast-food restaurants, enters town from the south; Paseo de Peralta circles the center of town; St Francis Dr (I-25 exit 282) forms the western border of downtown and turns into Hwy 285, which heads north toward Los Alamos and Taos. Guadalupe St is the main north–south street through downtown. Most downtown restaurants, galleries, museums and sites are either on or east of Guadalupe St and within walking distance of the plaza, in the center of town.

Information

BOOKSTORES

Collected Works (☎ 505-988-4226; 202 Galisteo St) A good selection of regional travel books.

Travel Bug (☎ 505-992-0418; www.mapsofnewmexico.com; 839 Paseo de Peralta; 💻 📶) Huge selection of guidebooks and maps.

EMERGENCY & MEDICAL SERVICES

Police (☎ 505-428-3700; 2515 Camino Entrada)
St Vincent's Hospital (☎ 505-983-3361; 455 St Michael's Dr; 🕒 24hr emergency)

INTERNET ACCESS

New Mexico Tourism Department (☎ 505-827-7400; www.newmexico.org; 491 Old Santa Fe Trail; 🕒 8:30am-5:30pm) Free internet access.
Santa Fe Public Library (☎ 505-955-6781; 145 Washington Ave) Reserve up to an hour of free access.
Travel Bug (☎ 505-992-0418; www.mapsofnewmexico.com; 839 Paseo de Peralta; 💻 📶) Free wi-fi and internet access from onsite terminals.

INTERNET RESOURCES

New Mexican (☎ 505-983-3303; www.santafenewmexican.com) Daily paper with breaking news.
Santa Fe Chamber (www.santafechamber.com) Listings and links for local businesses.
Santa Fe Information (www.santafe.org) Official online visitors guide.
Santa Fe Reporter (☎ 505-988-5541; www.sfreporter.com) Free alternative weekly; culture section has thorough listings of what's going on.

POST

Post office (☎ 505-988-2239; 120 S Federal Pl)

TOURIST INFORMATION

New Mexico Tourism Department (☎ 505-827-7400, 800-545-2070; www.newmexico.org; 491 Old Santa Fe Trail; 🕒 8:30am-5:30pm) Has brochures, a hotel reservation line, free coffee and free internet access.
Public Lands Information Center (☎ 505-438-7542, 505-954-2002; www.publiclands.org; 301 Dinosaur Trail, just south of the intersection of Cerillos Rd and I-25; 🕒 8:30am-4:30pm Mon-Fri) Lots of maps and information.

Sights

Art enthusiasts coming for the weekend may want to arrive early on Friday to take advantage of the evening's free admission policies at many museums.

Possessing the world's largest collection of her work, the Georgia O'Keeffe Museum (☎ 505-946-1000; www.okeeffemuseum.org; 217 Johnson St; adult/senior/child $10/8/free, free Fri 5-8pm; 🕒 10am-5pm, to 8pm Fri) features the artist's paintings of flowers, bleached skulls and adobe architecture. Tours of O'Keeffe's house (p899) require advance reservations.

Canyon Road (www.canyonroadarts.com) is the epicenter of the city's upscale art scene. More than 100 galleries, studios, shops and restaurants line the narrow – but long – road. Look for Santa Fe School masterpieces, rare Native American antiquities and wild contemporary work. The area buzzes with activity during early-evening art openings on Friday.

The Museum of New Mexico (www.museumofnewmexico.org; 1 museum $9, 4-day pass to all 4 museums $20, children under 16 free, free Fri 5-8pm; 🕒 10am-8pm Fri, 10am-5pm Sat-Thu, closed Mon winter), which celebrated its centennial in 2009, administers four museums around town. On the plaza, the adobe Palace of the Governors (☎ 505-476-5100; 105 W Palace Ave) – dating from the 1600s – displays a handful of regional relics, but most of its holdings are now shown in an adjacent exhibit space called the New Mexico History Museum (113 Lincoln Ave), a glossy, 96,000-sq-ft expansion that opened in 2009. Inside, you can press handprints on a mock cliff wall to hear Native American stories or stop by a 1950s-era office to learn 'classified' info about the once-secret city of Los Alamos. Just down the street, there's fine art at the third of New Mexico's four museums, the New Mexico Museum of Art (☎ 505-476-5072; 107 W Palace Ave), while a short drive to Museum Hill leads to the enlightening Museum of Indian Arts & Culture (☎ 505-476-1250; 710 Camino Lejo) and the fascinating Museum of International Folk Art (☎ 505-476-1200; 706 Camino Lejo).

St Francis Cathedral (☎ 505-982-5619; 131 Cathedral Pl; 🕒 8:30am-5pm) houses the oldest Madonna statue in North America.

In 1937, Mary Cabot established the Wheelwright Museum of the American Indian (☎ 505-982-4636; www.wheelwright.org; 704 Camino Lejo; admission free; 🕒 10am-5pm Mon-Sat, 1-5pm Sun), part of Museum Hill, to showcase Navajo ceremonial art. While its strength continues to be Navajo exhibits, it now includes contemporary Native American art and historical artifacts as well.

Activities

The Pecos Wilderness and Santa Fe National Forest, east of town, have over 1000 miles of hiking trails, several of which lead to 12,000ft peaks. Summer storms are frequent, so prepare for hikes by checking weather reports. For maps and details, contact the Public Lands Information Center (left).

The Santa Fe Ski Area (☎ 505-982-4429, snow report 505-983-9155; www.skisantafe.com; lift ticket adult/child $58/46; 🕒 9am-4pm) is a half-hour drive from the plaza up Hwy 475. From the 12,000ft summit

SCENIC DRIVES: NEW MEXICO'S BEST

The following four drives are accessible, historically and culturally significant, and all exude a certain undeniable awesomeness. For details and a map, see www.newmexico.org/explore/scenic_byways/index.php.

Billy the Kid Scenic Byway (www.billybyway.com) This mountain-and-valley loop in southeastern New Mexico swoops past Billy the Kid's stomping grounds, Smokey Bear's gravesite and the orchard-lined Hondo Valley. From Roswell, take Hwy 380 west.

Santa Fe Trail to Enchanted Circle (www.byways.org, www.enchantedcircle.org) This geographically diverse, if indirect, route from Santa Fe to Taos offers rolling plains, the Santa Fe Trail, hot springs, Wild West towns, a mountain lake, towering mountains and a final cruise past Kit Carson's one-time digs. From Santa Fe, take I-25 north, following it 140 miles to Hwy 58. Follow Hwy 58 west through Cimarron, continuing into the mountains. Pick up Hwy 64 south to Taos.

Trail of the Mountain Spirits (www.tmsbyway.com) The highlight of this southwestern New Mexico trip is a twisting drive from spurs-and-boots Silver City through the Gila National Forest, anticipation building as you approach the mysterious Gila Cliff Dwellings. From Deming, take Hwy 180 north to Silver City then continue north on Hwy 15.

Turquoise Trail (www.turquoisetrail.org) The Turquoise Trail, a scenic back route between Tijeras, near Albuquerque, and Santa Fe, was a major trade route for several thousand years. Today it rolls past art galleries, shops (with turquoise jewelry) and a mining museum. From I-40, follow Hwy 14 north to I-25.

you can admire 80,000 sq miles of desert and mountains.

Busloads of people head up to the Taos Box (p900) for white-water river running, but there are also mellow float trips throughout New Mexico and overnight guided rafting trips. Contact New Wave River Trips (☎ 505-984-1444, 800-984-1444; www.newwaverafting.com) and stay cool on trips through the Rio Grande Gorge (adult/child half-day $52/42, full day $90/75), the wild Taos Box (full day $115), or the Rio Chama Wilderness (three days $500).

The Japanese-style 10,000 Waves (☎ 505-982-9304; www.tenthousandwaves.com; 3451 Hyde Park Rd; communal tubs $19, private tubs per person $29-49; ⏰ 2pm-10:30pm Tue, 9am-10:30pm Wed-Mon Jul-Oct, varies slightly Nov-Jun), with landscaped grounds concealing eight attractive tubs in a smooth Zen design, offers waterfalls, cold plunges, and hot and dry saunas.

Mellow Velo (☎ 505-995-8356; 638 Old Santa Fe Trail) rents bikes, has information about regional trails and does guided rides.

Courses

If you develop a love for New Mexican cuisine, try cooking lessons at the Santa Fe School of Cooking (☎ 505-983-4511; www.santafeschoolofcooking.com; 116 W San Francisco St). Classes, with over 25 options including traditional New Mexican and Southwestern breakfast, are typically between 1½ and three hours long and cost $42 to $80, including the meal.

Santa Fe for Children

The Santa Fe Children's Museum (☎ 505-989-8359; www.santafechildrensmuseum.org; 1050 Old Pecos Trail; admission $9; ⏰ 10am-5pm Wed & Sat, noon-8pm Thu, 9am-5pm Fri, noon-5pm Sun Sep-May, 10am-5pm Tue Jun-Aug; 🚸) features hands-on exhibits on science and art for young children. The museum runs daily programs tackling subjects like solar energy and printmaking.

The Santa Fe Southern Railway (☎ 505-989-8600; www.thetraininsantafe.com; 410 S Guadalupe St; 🚸) runs excursions on restored railcars. Its four-hour daytime trips (adult/child from $32/18), departing 11am Friday and Saturday, venture through the high desert and are pulled by working freight trains. Reservations are recommended.

Festivals & Events

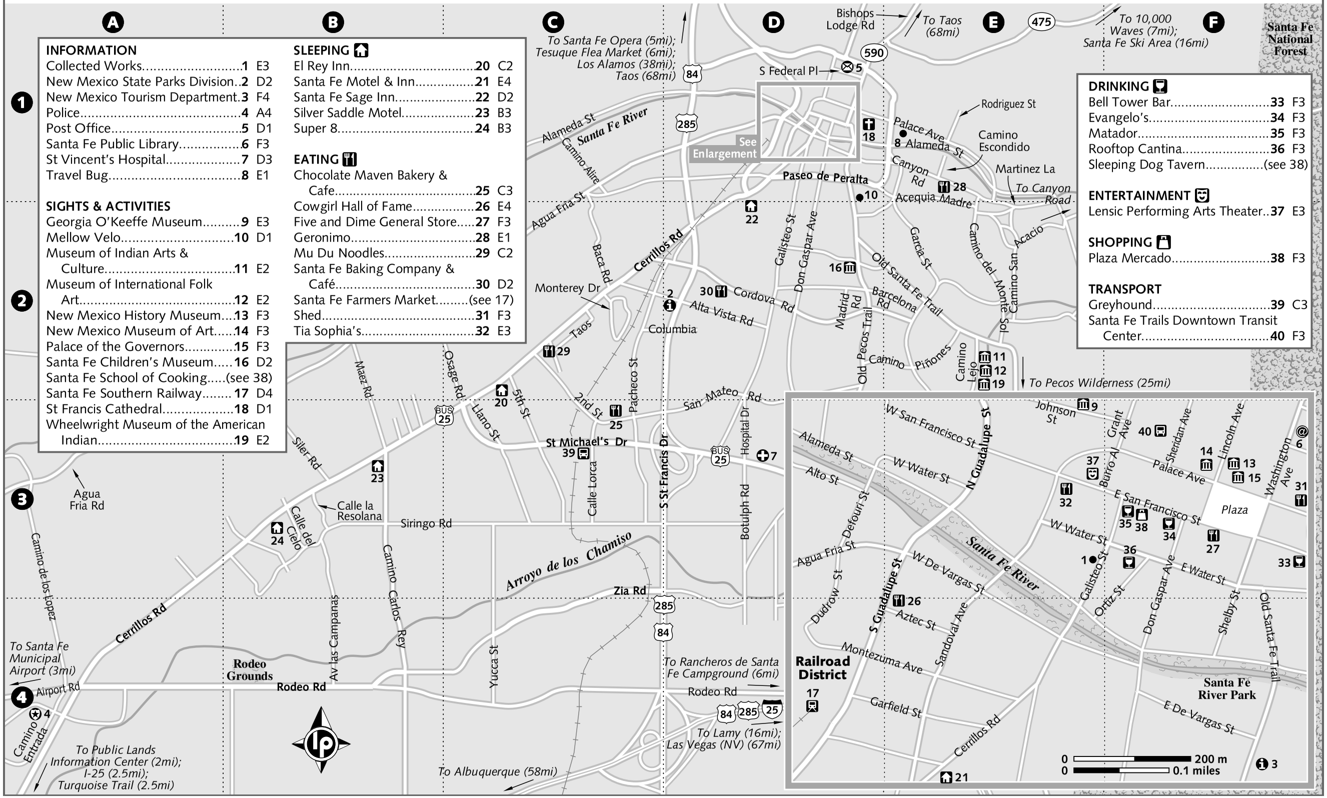
Santa Fe's biggest festivals:

Spanish Market (☎ 505-982-2226; www.spanishmarket.org) In late July, traditional Spanish colonial arts, from retablos (paintings on wooden panels) and bultos (wooden carvings of religious figures), to handcrafted furniture and metalwork, make this juried show an artistic extravaganza.

Santa Fe Indian Market (☎ 505-983-5220; www.swaia.org) Typically held the weekend after the third Thursday in August, this event draws the country's finest Native American artisans to the plaza – and tens of thousands of visitors.

Santa Fe Fiestas (☎ 505-988-7575) Two weeks of events in early September, including concerts, dances and parades.

SANTA FE



0 1 km
0 0.5 miles
A
B
C
D
E
F
1
2
3
4
To Santa Fe Opera (5mi); Tesuque Flea Market (6mi); Los Alamos (38mi); Taos (68mi)
Bishops Lodge Rd
To Taos (68mi)
To 10,000 Waves (7mi); Santa Fe Ski Area (16mi)
Santa Fe National Forest
S Federal Pl
See Enlargement
Alameda St
Santa Fe River
Camino Alire
Agua Fria St
Paseo de Peralta
Palace Ave
Alameda St
Rodriguez St
Camino Escondido
Martinez La
To Canyon Road
Canyon Rd
Acequia Madre Acacio
Galisteo St
Don Gaspar Ave
Garcia St
Old Santa Fe Trail
Camino del Monte Sol Camino San Cerrillos Rd
Baca Rd
Monterey Dr
Cordova Rd
Alta Vista Rd
Columbia
Madrid Rd
Barcelona Rd
Old Pecos Trail
Camino Piñones
Camino Lejo
To Pecos Wilderness (25mi)
Taos
Maez Rd
Osage Rd
5th St
2nd St
Pacheco St
San Mateo Rd
Hospital Dr
Llano St
St Michael's Dr
S St Francis Dr
Botulph Rd
Siler Rd
Calle la Resolana
Calle del Cielo
Siringo Rd
Calle Lorca
Agua Fria Rd
Camino de los Lopez
Arroyo de los Chamiso
Zia Rd
Camino Carlos Rey
Av las Campanas
Yucca St
Rodeo Grounds
Rodeo Rd
Airport Rd
Camino Entrada
To Santa Fe Municipal Airport (3mi)
To Public Lands Information Center (2mi); I-25 (2.5mi); Turquoise Trail (2.5mi)
To Albuquerque (58mi)
To Rancheros de Santa Fe Campground (6mi)
To Lamy (16mi); Las Vegas (NV) (67mi)
84
285
590
475
25
BUS 25
W San Francisco St
Johnson St
Grant Ave
Sheridan Ave
Lincoln Ave
Washington Ave
Burro Al
Palace Ave
Plaza
E San Francisco St
W Water St
E Water St
N Guadalupe St
S Guadalupe St
Alto St
Defouri St
Dudrow St
W De Vargas St
Aztec St
Sandoval Ave
Montezuma Ave
Garfield St
Ortiz St
Shelby St
E De Vargas St
Santa Fe River Park
Railroad District
0 200 m
0 0.1 miles

INFORMATION

Collected Works	1	E3
New Mexico State Parks Division	2	D2
New Mexico Tourism Department	3	F4
Police	4	A4
Post Office	5	D1
Santa Fe Public Library	6	F3
St Vincent's Hospital	7	D3
Travel Bug	8	E1

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

Georgia O'Keeffe Museum	9	E3
Mellow Velo	10	D1
Museum of Indian Arts & Culture	11	E2
Museum of International Folk Art	12	E2
New Mexico History Museum	13	F3
New Mexico Museum of Art	14	F3
Palace of the Governors	15	F3
Santa Fe Children's Museum	16	D2
Santa Fe School of Cooking	(see 38)
Santa Fe Southern Railway	17	D4
St Francis Cathedral	18	D1
Wheelwright Museum of the American Indian	19	E2

SLEEPING

El Rey Inn	20	C2
Santa Fe Motel & Inn	21	E4
Santa Fe Sage Inn	22	D2
Silver Saddle Motel	23	B3
Super 8	24	B3

EATING

Chocolate Maven Bakery & Cafe	25	C3
Cowgirl Hall of Fame	26	E4
Five and Dime General Store	27	F3
Geronimo	28	E1
Mu Du Noodles	29	C2
Santa Fe Baking Company & Café	30	D2
Santa Fe Farmers Market	(see 17)
Shed	31	F3
Tia Sophia's	32	E3

DRINKING

Bell Tower Bar	33	F3
Evangelo's	34	F3
Matador	35	F3
Rooftop Cantina	36	F3
Sleeping Dog Tavern	(see 38)

ENTERTAINMENT

Lensic Performing Arts Theater	37	E3

SHOPPING

Plaza Mercado	38	F3

TRANSPORT

Greyhound	39	C3
Santa Fe Trails Downtown Transit Center	40	F3

Sleeping

The visitor center (www.santafe.org) website lists helpful reservation services. Cerrillos Rd is lined with chains and independent motels.

BUDGET

Rancheros de Santa Fe Campground (☎ 505-466-3482, 800-426-9259; www.rancheros.com; 736 Old Las Vegas Hwy; tent/RV sites $21/37, cabins $45; ⏰ mid-Mar–Oct; 📶 🏊 👶) Superfriendly, this wooded campground is seven miles southeast of town. Enjoy hot showers, morning coffee for 25¢ and evening movies.

Silver Saddle Motel (☎ 505-471-7663; www.silversaddlemotelllc.com; 2810 Cerrillos Rd; r incl continental breakfast $40-63; P ❄ 💻) Shady wooden arcades outside and rustic cowboy-inspired decor inside, including some rooms with attractively tiled kitchenettes. For a bit of kitsch, request the Kenny Rogers or Wyatt Earp rooms. Recently sold back to its former owner, the well-worn Silver Saddle is Americana at its finest. Costs $5 for Fido to stay.

Super 8 (☎ 505-471-8811; www.super8.com; 358 Cerrillos Rd; r incl breakfast from $50; P ❄ 📶) For budget chains, try this Super 8: no fuss, clean rooms, decent breakfast.

MIDRANGE & TOP END

El Rey Inn (☎ 505-982-1931, 800-521-1349; www.elreyinnsantafe.com; 1862 Cerrillos Rd; r incl breakfast $99-190, ste $150-230; P ⊠ ❄ 💻 🏊) A highly recommended classic courtyard hotel, with super rooms, a great pool and hot tub, and even a kids' playground scattered around 5 acres of greenery. The inn recycles and takes a lot of green-friendly steps to conserve resources. Most rooms have air con.

Santa Fe Sage Inn (☎ 505-982-5952; www.santafesageinn.com; 725 Cerrillos Rd; r incl breakfast $135-160; P ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) Bold colors, wrought-iron lamps and crisply patterned Navajo pillows and rugs enliven midsize rooms at this motel-style inn. Shuttle to downtown and an on-site Laundromat are nice perks.

Santa Fe Motel & Inn (☎ 505-982-1039, 800-930-5002; www.santafemotel.com; 510 Cerrillos Rd; r $139-149, casitas $154; P ❄ 💻 📶) It's the aesthetic and technological attention to detail that make this downtown-adjacent motel a great pick. Bright tiles, clay sunbursts, LCD TVs and a welcoming chili pepper carefully placed atop your towels are just a few memorable pluses. Savor hot breakfasts on the kiva-anchored patio.

Eating

BUDGET

Five and Dime General Store (58 E San Francisco St) For a memorable local dish, sidle up to the counter at this sundries shop and order a Frito pie ($4.35). They say this delicacy – a bag of Fritos topped with meat, beans and onions – has been served here since 1962.

our pick Santa Fe Farmers Market (www.santafefarmersmarket; 1607 Paseo de Peralta; ⏰ 7am-noon Sat mid-Apr–Oct, 9am-1pm Sat Nov–mid-Apr, 7am-noon Tue mid-May–Oct) If fresh produce is more your style, don't miss this market at the redeveloped rail yard (Amtrak doesn't come through here but a few cargo trains do). Free samples and a festive mood make for a very pleasant morning.

Santa Fe Baking Company & Café (☎ 505-988-4292; 504 W Cordova Rd; mains $5-10; ⏰ 6am-8pm Mon-Sat, 6am-6pm Sun) An upbeat café serving burgers, sandwiches and hearty breakfasts all day. Place your order at the counter then savor Southwestern-style specialties drenched in red, green or 'Christmas' (a combination of both) chili sauce.

Tia Sophia's (☎ 505-983-9880; 210 W San Francisco St; mains $7-10; ⏰ 7am-2pm Mon-Sat) The plaza workforce joins knowledgeable collectors for this top spot's fabulous lunch specials and other great New Mexican offerings.

MIDRANGE

Chocolate Maven Bakery & Cafe (☎ 505-984-1980; 821 W San Mateo Rd; pastries under $5, mains $9-14; ⏰ 7am-3pm regular menu & 3-5:30pm high-tea menu Mon-Fri, 9am-3pm Sat, 9am-4pm Sun) Foodies arrive early for decadent breakfasts – strawberries-and-cream waffles, cheesy eggsadillas – and up-close views of the bakers prepping food behind a large glass wall. Part of the fun is finding the place; it's hidden in a nondescript warehouse. As for the chocolate – from chocolate almond crepes to Mayan Chile hot chocolate – there's a sinful array of choices. Bakery items and drinks available to go.

Shed (☎ 505-982-9030; 113½ E Palace Ave; lunch mains $6-10, dinner mains $6-32; ⏰ 11am-2:30pm & 5:30-9pm Mon-Sat) It's touristy, but the location is great, the patio is made for sipping margaritas, and the chicken enchiladas with red chili sauce will send you home satisfied. For fun, award-winning New Mexican fare, stop here.

Cowgirl Hall of Fame (☎ 505-982-2565; 319 S Guadalupe St; mains $8-15; ⏰ 11am-midnight Mon-Fri, 10am-midnight Sat, 10am-11pm Sun, bar open later) Two-step up to the cobblestoned courtyard and try the salmon tacos, butternut-squash casserole or the BBQ platter – all served with Western-style feminist flair. Youngsters are welcome, with buckets of coloring crayons to draw on the lengthy kids' menu. It also has a perennially popular bar with live music – some say it's the only meat market in town (youngsters perhaps not as welcome).

Mu Du Noodles (☎ 505-983-1411; 1494 Cerrillos Rd; mains $16-22; 🕘 5:30-9pm Tue-Sat, 11am-2pm Sun) Pan-Asian organic dishes, like lamb dumplings, Vietnamese spring rolls and tofu laksa, inspire lines out the door of this cozy contemporary spot; the noodles and specials are recommended, and almost everything has a vegan version.

TOP END

Geronimo (☎ 505-982-1500; 724 Canyon Rd; dishes $28-44; 🕘 5:45-10pm Mon-Thu, 5:45-11pm Fri & Sat) Housed in a 1756 adobe, Geronimo is among the finest and most romantic restaurants in town. Gourmands will be happy to hear that Chef Eric DiStefano has recently returned. The short but diverse menu currently includes fiery sweet chili and honey-grilled prawns and peppery elk tenderloin with applewood-smoked bacon.

Drinking & Entertainment

For a rooftop view with your margarita, try the convivial Rooftop Cantina (☎ 505-983-1616; 132 W Water St) perched atop Coyote Café, or ascend five floors to the Bell Tower Bar (☎ 505-982-5511; 100 E San Francisco St) at La Fonda, where you can watch one of those patented New Mexico sunsets. Both spots are open seasonally, as long as the cold's not nipping at your toes.

For microbrews and friendly conversation, settle in at the Sleeping Dog Tavern (☎ 505-982-4335; 114 W San Francisco St), a low-key gastropub just off the plaza. For a grungier, grumpier crowd, head over to the basement-y confines of divey Matador (Galisteo St). Descend the steps near the corner of W San Francisco St, slap on your best frown and open the door.

There's foot-stompin' live music nightly at Evangelo's (☎ 505-982-9014; 200 W San Francisco St) and the sounds of rock, blues, jazz and Latin combos spill into the street. You'll also find live music and good drinking most nights at the Cowgirl Hall of Fame (opposite).

For live performances and movies, see what's doing at the Lensic Performing Arts Theater (☎ 505-988-1234; www.lensic.org; 211 W San Francisco St). This beautifully renovated 1930s movie house is the city's premier venue for performing arts. Continuing its film history, it also holds $5 classic-movie screenings.

At the Santa Fe Opera (☎ 505-986-5900, 800-280-4654; www.santafeopera.org; tickets $26-188; 🕘 Jul & Aug) you can be a decked-out socialite or show up in cowboy boots and jeans; it doesn't matter. Opera fans (and those who've never attended an opera in their lives) come to Santa Fe for this alone: an architectural marvel, with views of wind-carved sandstone wilderness crowned with sunsets and moonrises, and at center stage internationally renowned vocal talent performing masterworks of aria and romance. The opera is 7 miles north of Santa Fe. Follow I-285 north to exit 168. Turn left off the ramp then right onto Opera Dr and continue 1.4 miles.

Shopping

Offering carved howling coyotes, turquoise jewelry and fine art, Santa Fe attracts shoppers of all budgets.

Plaza Mercado (112 W San Francisco St) A swish spot packed with art galleries, antique stores and Santa Fe–style clothing.

Pueblo of Tesuque Flea Market (Hwy 84/285; 🕘 8am-4pm Fri-Sun Mar-Nov) This outdoor market a few minutes' drive north of Santa Fe at Tesuque Pueblo offers deals on high-quality rugs, jewelry, art and clothing.

Getting There & Around

At press time, Santa Fe Municipal Airport (SAF; ☎ 505-955-2900; wwwsantafenm.gov; 121 Aviation Dr) was offering one daily flight to/from Dallas–Fort Worth (DFW) via American Eagle (☎ 800-433-7300; www.aa.com). By 2010, there should be two daily American Eagle flights to/from DFW, plus one daily flight to/from Los Angeles (LAX).

Greyhound (☎ 505-471-0008; www.greyhound.com; 858 St Michael's Dr) has two daily buses to Albuquerque ($20, 80 minutes) and one daily bus to Taos ($27 to $30, 95 minutes). Twin Hearts Shuttle (☎ 800-654-9456) runs between Santa Fe and the Albuquerque Sunport ($25) and Taos ($40); make reservations in advance.

Amtrak (☎ 800-872-7245; www.amtrak.com) stops at Lamy; buses continue 17 miles to Santa Fe.

Santa Fe Trails Downtown Transit Center (☎ 505-955-2001; www.santafenm.gov; 🕘 6am-10:45pm Mon-Fri, 8am-7:40pm Sat, 9:30am-6:15pm Sun, times may vary slightly) provides local bus service (adult/senior and child $1/50¢ per ride; day pass $2/1).

AROUND SANTA FE

Don't get too comfy in Santa Fe, because there's lots to see nearby.

Pueblos

North of Santa Fe is the heart of Puebloan lands. The Eight Northern Pueblos (ENIPC; ☎ 505-747-1593) publish the excellent and free Eight Northern Indian Pueblos Visitors Guide, available at area visitor centers.

Eight miles west of Pojoaque along Hwy 502, the ancient San Ildefonso Pueblo (☎ 505-455-3549; per vehicle $7, camera/sketching/video permits $10/25/20; ⏰ 8am-5pm daily, visitor center closed Sat & Sun in winter) was the home of Maria Martinez, who in 1919 revived a distinctive traditional black-on-black pottery style. Several exceptional potters (including Maria's direct descendants) work in the pueblo; stop at the Maria Poveka Martinez Museum (admission free; ⏰ 8am-4pm Mon-Fri), which sells the pueblo's pottery.

Las Vegas

Not to be confused with the glittery city to the west in Nevada, this Vegas is one of the loveliest towns in New Mexico and one of the largest and oldest towns east of the Sangre de Cristo Mountains. Its eminently strollable downtown has a pretty Old Town Plaza and some 900 historic buildings listed in the National Register of Historic Places. Its architecture is a mix of Southwestern and Victorian. Ask for a walking-tour brochure from the chamber of commerce (☎ 505-425-8631, 800-832-5947; www.lasvegasnewmexico.com; 701 Grand Ave; ⏰ 9am-5pm Mon-Fri).

Built in 1882 and carefully remodeled a century later, the recently expanded Plaza Hotel (☎ 505-425-3591, 800-328-1882; www.plazahotel-nm.com; 230 Plaza; r/ste incl breakfast from $89/159; ❄ 💻 📶) is Las Vegas' most celebrated and historic lodging. The elegant building now offers 72 comfortable accommodations. Choose between Victorian-style, antique-filled rooms in the original building or bright, monochromatic rooms in the new adjoining wing.

Indulge in a good New Mexican meal at Estella's Café (☎ 505-454-0048; 148 Bridge St; mains lunch under $10, dinner $10-12; ⏰ 11am-3pm Mon-Wed, 11am-8pm Thu & Fri, 7am-2pm Sat). Estella's devoted patrons treasure their homemade red chili, menudo (tripe and grits) and scrumptious enchiladas.

From the plaza, Hot Springs Blvd leads 5 miles north to Gallinas Canyon and the massive Montezuma Castle, an eye-popping structure on the flanks of the Sangre de Cristo Mountains; once a hotel, it's now the United World College of the West. Along the road there, you can soak in a series of natural hot spring pools.

Los Alamos

The top-secret Manhattan Project sprang to life in Los Alamos in 1943, turning a sleepy mesa-top village into a busy, community-wide laboratory. Here, in the 'town that didn't exist,' the nation's leading scientists developed the first atomic bomb in almost total secrecy. Today you'll encounter a fascinating dynamic in which souvenir T-shirts emblazoned with atomic explosions and 'La Bomba' wine are sold next to books on pueblo history and wilderness hiking.

You can't actually visit the Los Alamos National Laboratory, where the first atomic bomb was conceived, but you can visit the well-designed, interactive Bradbury Science Museum (☎ 505-667-4444; www.lanl.gov/museum; cnr Central Ave & 15th; admission free; ⏰ 10am-5pm Tue-Sat, 1-5pm Sun & Mon; 👶), which covers atomic history. A short film traces the community's wartime history and reveals a few fascinating secrets. Don't miss the small Los Alamos Historical Museum (☎ 505-662-6272; www.losalamoshistory.org; 1921 Juniper St; admission free; ⏰ 10am-4pm Mon-Sat, 1-4pm Sun winter, 9:30am-4:30pm Mon-Sat, 11am-5pm Sun summer) on the nearby grounds of the former Los Alamos Ranch School – an outdoorsy school for boys that closed when the scientists arrived. Displays highlight the school's history (surprisingly interesting), atomic culture artifacts and the social history of life 'on the hill' during the secret project. Pick up one of its great downtown walking-tour pamphlets or download it from the website.

Bandelier National Monument

Because of its convenient location and spectacular landscape, Bandelier (☎ 505-672-3861; www.nps.gov/band; per vehicle $12; ⏰ 8am-6pm summer, 9am-5:30pm spring/fall, 9am-4:30pm winter) is an excellent choice for folks interested in ancient pueblos. The adventurous can climb four ladders to reach an ancient cave dwelling inhabited by Ancestral Puebloans, who lived here until the mid-1500s. Although none of the sites are restored, there are almost 50 sq miles of protected canyons offering backpacking trails and camping at Juniper Campground (campsites $12), set among the pines near the monument entrance. It has about 100 campsites and is first-come, first-served, though rarely full.

Abiquiu

The tiny community of Abiquiu (sounds like 'barbecue'), on Hwy 84 about 45 minutes' drive northwest of Santa Fe, is famous because the renowned artist Georgia O'Keeffe lived and painted here permanently from 1949 until her death in 1986. With the Chama River flowing through farmland and spectacular rock landscape, the ethereal setting continues to attract artists, and many live and work in Abiquiu. O'Keeffe's adobe house is open for limited visits, and the Georgia O'Keeffe Museum (p893) offers one-hour tours (☎ 505-685-4539; www.okeeffemuseum.org) on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday from March to November ($30), and also on Saturdays from June to October ($40), often booked months in advance.

A retreat center on 21,000 acres at the foot of the Sangre de Cristo Mountains (and a shooting location for the movie City Slickers), Ghost Ranch (☎ 505-685-4333, 877-804-4678; www.ghostranch.org; campsites $19, RV sites $22-28, dm incl breakfast $50, r with private/shared bath incl breakfast from $80/50) is a spectacular spot with basic lodging and cafeteria-style meals. No phones or TVs in the rooms.

The lovely Abiquiú Inn (☎ 505-685-4378, 888-735-2902; www.abiquiuinn.com; Hwy 84; RV sites $18, r $140-200, ste $170, 4-person casitas $190; ☒ ❄ 📶) is a sprawling collection of shaded adobes; spacious casitas have kitchenettes. Wi-fi is available in the lobby and the on-site restaurant, Cafe Abiquiú (breakfast mains under $10, lunch & dinner mains $10-20; ⏰ 7am-9pm). The lunch and dinner menu includes numerous fish dishes, from chipotle honey-glazed salmon to trout tacos.

Ojo Caliente

At 140 years old, Ojo Caliente Mineral Springs Resort & Spa (☎ 505-583-2233, 800-222-9162; www.ojospa.com; 50 Los Baños Rd; r $139, cottages $199-239, ste $269-329; ☒ 📶) is one of the country's oldest health resorts. Located 50 miles north of Santa Fe on Hwy 285, the newly renovated resort offers 10 soaking pools with several combinations of minerals. If you're feeling out-of-sorts, try a cup of the Lithia water, rumored to help relieve the blues. In addition to the pleasant, if nothing special, historic hotel rooms, the resort has added 12 plush, boldly colored suites with kiva fireplaces and private soaking tubs, and 11 New Mexican–style cottages. Wi-fi is available in the lobby. The on-site Artesian Restaurant (breakfast mains $5-10, lunch mains $9-10, dinner mains $11-26; ⏰ 7:30am-10:30am, 11:30am-2:30pm & 5-9pm Sun-Thu, 5-9:30pm Fri & Sat) prepares organic and local ingredients with aplomb.

Cuba

Set in 360 beautiful acres in the Nacimiento Mountains, the friendly Circle A Ranch Hostel (☎ 505-289-3350; www.circlearanchhostel.com; dm $25, r $40-55, ste $65, yurt bed/whole yurt $30/75; ⏰ May–mid-Oct; 📶), just off Hwy 550, is a gem. The lovely old adobe lodge, with exposed beams, grassy grounds, hiking trails and a classic kitchen, is a peaceful place to hang out. Choose between private bedrooms (some with quilts and iron bedsteads), shared bunkrooms and a yurt. It also offers work exchanges.

TAOS

Nestled in the snow-peaked Sangre de Cristo Mountains, this small town has a big reputation. Isolated Taos boasts – with a pleasant but ever-so-disinterested tone – a long history of luring artists with its fabled clear light, a stunning multistory adobe pueblo and a magnificent mountain setting.

It's an eccentric place, full of bohemians and mainstream dropouts, alternative-energy aficionados, fine chefs, acculturated B&B owners and old-time Hispanic families who still farm hay fields. It's rural and worldly, a place where grazing horses and a disproportionate number of artists hold equal sway.

Information

Taos Vacation Guide (www.taosvacationguide.org) Great resource with lots of easy-to-navigate links.

Visitor center (☎ 575-758-3873, 800-732-8267; www.destinationtaos.com; 1139 Paseo del Pueblo Sur; ⏰ 9am-5pm; 💻 📶)

Wired? (☎ 575-751-9473; 705 Felicidad Lane; ⏰ 8am-6pm Mon-Fri, 8:30am-6pm Sat & Sun) Coffee shop with internet access ($7 per hour). Free wi-fi for customers.

Sights

Four miles south of Taos in Ranchos de Taos, the oft-photographed San Francisco de Asís Church (☎ 575-758-2754; St Francis Plaza; ⏰ 9am-4pm Mon-Fri) was built in the mid-18th century but didn't open until 1815. It's been memorialized in Georgia O'Keeffe paintings and Edward Weston photographs.

At 650ft above the Rio Grande, the steel Rio Grande Gorge Bridge is the second-highest suspension bridge in the US; the view down is eye-popping. For the best pictures of the bridge itself, park at the rest area on the western end of the span. Just 1.5 miles west of the bridge is the fascinating community of Earthships (☎ 575-751-0462; www.earthship.net; Hwy 64; adult/child under 12 $5/free; ⌚ 10am-4pm), with self-sustaining, environmentally savvy houses built with recycled materials that are completely off the grid. You can also stay overnight in one (see right).

Taos Historic Museums (☎ 575-758-0505; www.taoshistoricmuseums.com; adult/child individual museums $8/4, both museums $12; ⌚ 10am-5pm Mon-Sat, noon-5pm Sun) runs two great houses: the Blumenschein Home (222 Ledoux St), with spectacular art, and the Martínez Hacienda (708 Lower Ranchitos Rd), a 21-room colonial trader's former home dating from 1804.

The Millicent Rogers Museum (☎ 575-758-2462; www.millicentrogers.org; 1504 Millicent Rogers Museum Rd; adult/child $10/6; ⌚ 10am-5pm, closed Mon Nov-Mar), is filled with pottery, jewelry, baskets and textiles, and has one of the best collections of Native American and Spanish-Colonial art in the US.

Housed in a historic mid-19th-century adobe compound, the Harwood Museum of Art (☎ 575-758-9826; www.harwoodmuseum.org; 238 Ledoux St; adult/senior & student $8/7; ⌚ 10am-5pm Tue-Sat, noon-5pm Sun) features paintings, drawings, prints, sculpture and photography by northern New Mexico artists, both historical and contemporary.

Although the collection of artifacts at the Kit Carson Home & Museum (☎ 575-758-4613; www.kitcarsonhome.com; 113 Kit Carson Rd; admission $5; ⌚ 9am-5pm) is pretty light, you can watch an interesting 20-minute History Channel video about the famed frontiersman's life and explore his one-story home. For a more interesting – if haphazard – collection of period artifacts, walk across the street to the tiny museum inside El Rincón Trading Post (opposite).

Activities

During the summer, white-water rafting is popular in the Taos Box, the steep-sided cliffs that frame the Rio Grande. Day-long trips begin at around $100 per person; contact the visitor center for local outfitters. Hiking options are plentiful; trailheads line the road to the ski valley.

With a peak elevation of 11,819ft and a 2612ft vertical drop, Taos Ski Valley (☎ 866-968-7386; www.skitaos.org; lift ticket adult/teen 13-17 & senior/child $65/55/38) offers some of the most challenging skiing in the US and yet remains low-key and relaxed. Once exclusive to skiers, the resort now allows snowboarders on its slopes.

Sleeping

Abominable Snowmansion (☎ 575-776-8298; www.abominablesnowmansion.com; 476 State Hwy 150, Arroyo Seco; campsites $12, dm $22, tipis $34, cabins $37, r with shared/private bath $52/57; Ⓟ ☒ 💻 📶) About 9 miles northeast of Taos, this well-worn and welcoming hostel is a cozy mountainside alternative to central Taos. A big, round fireplace warms guests in wintertime, and kitschy tipis are available in summer. There's a $3 discount on dorms and private rooms for HI members.

Sun God Lodge (☎ 575-758-3162, 800-821-2437; www.sungodlodge.com; 919 Paseo del Pueblo Sur; r $69-102, ste $145; Ⓟ ✿ 📶) The hospitable folks at this well-run two-story motel can fill you in on local history as well as the craziest bar in town. Rooms are clean – if a bit dark – and decorated with low-key Southwestern flair. The highlight is the lush-green courtyard dappled with twinkling lights, a scenic spot for a picnic or enjoying the sunset. Wi-fi works best in the courtyard. Located 1.5 miles south of the plaza, the Sun God is a great budget choice.

Historic Taos Inn (☎ 575-758-2233, 888-518-8267; www.taosinn.com; 125 Paseo del Pueblo Norte; r $75-275; Ⓟ ☒ 📶) Even though it's not the plushest place in town and the front desk was a tad flakey when we visited, it's still fabulous, with a cozy lobby, a garden for the restaurant, heavy wooden furniture, a sunken fireplace and lots of live local music at its famed Adobe Bar. Parts of this landmark date to the 1800s. Wi-fi available in the lobby and some rooms.

Earthship Rentals (☎ 575-751-0462; www.earthship.net; Hwy 64; r $110-190) Experience an off-grid overnight in a boutique-chic, solar-powered dwelling. A cross between organic Gaudí architecture and space-age fantasy, these sustainable dwellings are put together using recycled tires, aluminum cans and sand, with rain catchment and gray-water systems to minimize their footprint. Half-buried in a valley surrounded by mountains, they could be hastily camouflaged alien vessels – you never know.

Eating

Taos Pizza Out Back (☎ 575-758-3112; 712 Paseo del Pueblo Norte; slices $3.50-7, whole pies $13-27; 🕐 11am-10pm daily May-Sep, 11am-9pm Sun-Thu, 11am-10pm Fri & Sat Oct-Apr) Warning: these pizza pies may be cruelly habit-forming. Located behind another business (no, it's not Australian), it uses organic ingredients and serves epicurean combos like a Portabella Pie with sun-dried tomatoes and camembert. Slices are the size of a small country.

our pick Taos Diner (☎ 575-758-2374; 908 Paseo del Pueblo Norte; mains $4-12; 🕐 7am-2:30pm) It's with some reluctance that we share the existence of this marvelous place, a mountain-town diner with wood-paneled walls, tattooed waitresses, fresh-baked biscuits and coffee cups that are never less than half-full. This is diner grub at its finest, prepared with a Southwestern, organic spin. Mountain men, scruffy jocks, solo diners and happy tourists – everyone's welcome here. We like the Copper John's eggs with a side of green chili sauce.

Orlando's (☎ 575-751-1450; 1114 Don Juan Valdez Lane; mains $8-11; 🕐 10:30am-3pm & 5-9pm) After a morning at the Gorge, stop here on your return for Taos' best New Mexican food, period. Those chicken enchiladas and huge burritos are all dressed to perfection and served up in the beautiful dining room.

Joseph's Table (☎ 575-751-4512; 108A S Taos Plaza; mains $26-38; 🕐 11:30am-2:30pm Fri-Mon Jun-Sep, 5:30-10pm daily) Inside the Hotel La Fonda, Chef Joseph Wrede doles out unique and creative Southwestern dishes with an emphasis on ingredients from local farms. The dining room sprouts pussywillow chandeliers and a lush flowery mural painted by his wife and his mother. Couples should go for a 'loveshack,' one of the cozy, romantic window booths.

Also good, if a bit touristy, is perennial breakfast fave Michael's Kitchen (☎ 575-758-4178; 304 Paseo del Pueblo Norte; mains $7-16; 🕐 7am-2:30pm).

Drinking

Adobe Bar (☎ 575-758-2233; Historic Taos Inn, 125 Paseo del Pueblo Norte) Everybody's welcome in 'the living room of Taos.' And there's something about it: the chairs, the Taos Inn's history, the casualness, the tequila. The packed streetside patio has some of the state's finest margaritas, along with an eclectic lineup of great live music and never a cover.

DON'T MISS: TAOS PUEBLO

Built around AD 1450 and continuously inhabited ever since, the streamside Taos Pueblo (☎ 575-758-1028; www.taospueblo.com; Taos Pueblo Rd; adult/child $10/5, photography or video permit $5; 🕐 8am-4pm Nov-Feb, 8am-4:30pm Mar-Oct, closed for 6 weeks around Feb & Mar) is the largest existing multistoried pueblo structure in the US and one of the best surviving examples of traditional adobe construction.

Alley Cantina (☎ 575-758-2121; 121 Teresina Lane) It's a bit-cooler-than-thou, but maybe 'tude happens when you inhabit the oldest building in town. Catch live rock, blues, hip-hop or jazz almost nightly.

Eske's Brew Pub & Eatery (☎ 575-758-1517; 106 Des Georges Lane) For a communal vibe grab an outdoor table at easygoing Eske's and order up a house specialty microbrew. Maybe an Artist Ale? Or a Taos Green Chile Beer? This crowded hangout spotlights local bands, from acoustic guitar to jazz.

Shopping

Taos has historically been a mecca for artists, demonstrated by the huge number of galleries and studios in and around town. Indie stores and galleries line the John Dunn Shops' (www.johndunnshops.com) pedestrian walkway linking Bent St to Taos Plaza. Here you'll find the well-stocked Moby Dickens Bookshop, the welcoming Steppin' Out boutique, and the tiny but intriguing G Robinson Old Prints & Maps – a treat for cartography geeks.

Even if you're not looking to buy anything, stop by El Rincón Trading Post (☎ 575-758-9188; 114 Kit Carson Rd) to browse through the dusty museum of artifacts, an engaging jumble of Native American crafts, jewelry and Old West memorabilia. There's even a detailed discourse on the role of the peyote plant.

Getting There & Away

From Santa Fe, take either the scenic 'high road' along Hwys 76 and 518, with galleries, villages and sites worth exploring, or follow the lovely unfolding Rio Grande landscape on Hwy 68.

Greyhound (☎ 575-758-1144, 800-231-2222; www.greyhound.com; 710h Paseo del Pueblo Sur) has a daily bus service to Albuquerque ($43, three hours) and Santa Fe ($27, 1½ hours).

NORTHWESTERN NEW MEXICO

Dubbed 'Indian Country' for good reason – huge swaths of land fall under the aegis of the Navajo, Pueblo, Zuni, Apache and Laguna tribes – this quadrant of New Mexico showcases remarkable ancient Indian sites alongside modern, solitary Native American settlements.

Farmington & Around

The largest town in New Mexico's northwestern region, Farmington makes a good base from which to explore the Four Corners area. The visitors bureau (☎ 505-326-7602, 800-448-1240; www.farmingtonnm.org; Gateway Park, 3041 E Main St; 🕒 8am-5pm Mon-Sat) has more information.

Shiprock, a 1700ft-high volcanic plug that rises eerily over the landscape to the west, was a landmark for the Anglo pioneers and is a sacred site to the Navajo.

An ancient pueblo, Salmon Ruin & Heritage Park (☎ 505-632-2013; adult/senior/child $3/2/1; 🕒 8am-5pm Mon-Fri, 9am-5pm Sat & Sun) features a large village built by the Chaco people in the early 1100s. Abandoned, resettled by people from Mesa Verde and again abandoned before 1300, the site also includes the remains of a homestead, petroglyphs, a Navajo hogan and a wickiup (a rough brushwood shelter). Take Hwy 64 east 11 miles toward Bloomfield.

Fourteen miles northeast of Farmington, the 27-acre Aztec Ruins National Monument (☎ 505-334-6174; www.nps.gov/azru; adult/child under 16 $5/free; 🕒 8am-5pm Sep-May, 8am-6pm Jun-Aug) features the largest reconstructed kiva in the country, with an internal diameter of almost 50ft. A few steps away, let your imagination wander as you stoop through low doorways and dark rooms inside the West Ruin. In summer, rangers give early-afternoon talks at the c 1100 site about ancient architecture, trade routes and astronomy.

About 35 miles south of Farmington along Hwy 371, the undeveloped Bisti Badlands & De-Na-Zin Wilderness is a trippy, surreal landscape of strange, colorful rock formations; desert enthusiasts shouldn't miss it. The Farmington BLM office (☎ 505-599-8900; www.nm.blm.gov; 1235 La Plata Hwy; 🕒 7:45am-4:30pm Mon-Fri) dispenses information.

The lovely, three-room Silver River Adobe Inn B&B (☎ 505-325-8219, 800-382-9251; www.silveradobe.com; 3151 W Main St; r incl breakfast $105-175; 🚭 📶) offers a peaceful respite among the trees along the San Juan River.

Managing to be both trendy and kid-friendly, the hippish Three Rivers Eatery & Brewhouse (☎ 505-324-2187; 101 E Main St; mains $8-26; 🕒 11am-10pm; 👶) has good steaks and pub grub and its own microbrews.

Chama

Nine miles south of the Colorado border, Chama's Cumbres & Toltec Scenic Railway (☎ 575-756-2151, 888-286-2737; www.cumbrestoltec.com; 🕒 late May–mid-Oct) is both the longest (64 miles) and highest (over the 10,015ft-high Cumbres Pass) authentic narrow-gauge steam railroad in the US. It's a beautiful trip, particularly in September and October during the fall foliage, through mountains, canyons and high desert.

Chaco Culture National Historic Park

Featuring massive Ancestral Puebloan buildings set in an isolated high-desert environment, intriguing Chaco (per vehicle $8; 🕒 sunrise-sunset) contains evidence of 5000 years of human occupation. In its prime, the community at Chaco Canyon was a major trading and ceremonial hub for the region – and the city the Puebloan people created here was masterly in its layout and design. Pueblo Bonito is four stories tall and may have had 600 to 800 rooms and kivas. As well as taking the self-guided loop tour, you can hike various backcountry trails. For stargazers, there's the Night Skies program offered Tuesday, Friday and Saturday evenings April through October. After a ranger-led talk, visitors view starry skies through park telescopes.

The visitor center (☎ 505-786-7014; www.nps.gov/chcu; 🕒 8am-5pm) is in a remote area approximately 80 miles south of Farmington. Gallo Campground (campsites $10) is 1 mile east of the visitor center; no RV sites. Campsites are first-come, first-served.

NORTHEASTERN NEW MEXICO

East of Santa Fe, the lush Sangre de Cristo Mountains give way to high and vast rolling plains. Dusty grasslands stretch to infinity and further – to Texas. Cattle and dinosaur prints dot the landscape, a land of extremes with formerly fiery volcanoes in Capulin and hot springs in Montezuma. Ranching is an economic mainstay, and on many stretches of the road you'll see more cattle than cars.

The Santa Fe Trail, along which pioneer settlers rolled in wagon trains, ran from New Mexico to Missouri. You can still see the wagon ruts in some places off I-25 between Santa Fe and Raton. For a bit of the Old West without a patina of consumer hype, this is the place.

Cimarron

Cimarron once ranked among the rowdiest of Wild West towns; it's name even means 'wild' in Spanish. According to local lore, murder was such an everyday occurrence in the 1870s that peace-and-quiet was newsworthy, one paper going so far as to report: 'Everything is quiet in Cimarron. Nobody has been killed in three days.'

Today, the town is indeed quiet, luring nature-minded travelers who want to enjoy the great outdoors. Driving here to or from Taos, you'll pass through gorgeous Cimarron Canyon State Park, a steep-walled canyon with several hiking trails, excellent trout fishing and camping.

Each of the 15 spotless motel rooms at the Cimarron Inn & RV Park (☎ 505-376-2268, 800-546-2244; www.cimarroninn.com; Hwy 64; campsites $10, RV sites $30, r $45-110, 6-/12-person cabins $135/240) comes with a Cimarron-related theme, from fishing and hunting to Native American and Will James, a cowboy writer and illustrator. There's a fun rock shower in the ski room. Units range from small singles to cabins that can bunk the extended family. Some have kitchenettes. It's a good budget choice before reaching the more expensive mountain resorts.

Capulin Volcano National Monument

Rising 1300ft above the surrounding plains, Capulin (☎ 575-278-2201; www.nps.gov/cavo; per vehicle $5; 🕒 8am-4pm Sep-May, 7:30am-6:30pm Jun-Aug) is the most accessible of several volcanoes in the area. From the visitor center, a 2-mile road spirals up the mountain to a parking lot at the crater rim (8182ft), where trails lead around and into the crater. The entrance is 3 miles north of Capulin village, which itself is 30 miles east of Raton on Hwy 87.

SOUTHWESTERN NEW MEXICO

The Rio Grande Valley unfurls from Albuquerque down to the bubbling hot springs of funky Truth or Consequences. Crops, while plentiful, often grow on a wing and a prayer. Residents are few and far between, except in lively Las Cruces, the state's second-largest city.

I-10 cuts through the Chihuahua Desert, dominated by yucca and agave. This is ranching country, though the cattle are sparse. North of the desert and west of I-25, the rugged Gila National Forest is wild with backpacking and fishing adventures.

Truth or Consequences & Around

An offbeat joie de vivre permeates this funky little town, which was built on the sight of natural hot springs in the 1880s. A bit of the quirkiness stems from the fact that the town changed its name from Hot Springs to Truth or Consequences (or 'T or C') in 1950, after a popular radio program of the same name. Publicity these days comes courtesy of Virgin Galactic CEO Richard Branson, Governor Bill Richardson and other space-travel visionaries driving the development of nearby Spaceport America, scheduled to launch tourists into the great beyond by the end of 2010.

Wander around the hole-in-the-wall cafés, pop into a gallery, check out the engaging mishmash of exhibits at the Geronimo Springs Museum (☎ 575-894-6600; www.geronimospringsmuseum.com; 211 Main St; adult/child $5/2.50; 🕒 9am-5pm Mon-Sat, noon-5pm Sun) and definitely enjoy a soak in a hot-spring spa. The visitor center (☎ 575-894-1968, 800-831-9487; www.truthorconsequencesnm.net; 211 Main St; 🕒 9am-4:30pm Mon-Fri, 9am-5pm Sat, noon-5pm Sun) has local listings.

About 60 miles north of town, sandhill cranes and Arctic geese winter in the 90 sq miles of fields and marshes at Bosque del Apache National Wildlife Refuge (☎ 575-835-1828; per vehicle $5; State Hwy 1; 🕒 refuge sunrise-sunset, visitor center 7:30am-4pm Mon-Fri, 8am-4:30pm Sat & Sun). There's a visitor center and driving tour.

Many local motels double as spas. Former hostel Riverbend Hot Springs (☎ 575-894-7625; www.riverbendhotsprings.com; 100 Austin St; r with shared/private bath $55/75, ste $88, cottages $110; 🚭 ✤ 📶) now offers more traditional motel-style accommodations – no more tipis – from its fantastic perch beside the Rio Grande. Rooms exude a bright, quirky charm, and several units work well for groups. Private hot-spring tubs are available by the hour (guest/nonguest $15/10 for the first hour then $10/5 additional hours), as is a public hot spring pool (guest/nonguest free all day/$10 for the first hour then $5 per hour or $20 per day).

our pick Blackstone Hotsprings (☎ 575-894-0894; www.blackstonehotsprings.com; 410 Austin St; r $75-125; ☒ ❄ 📶), new on the scene, embraces the T or C spirit with an upscale wink, decorating each of its seven rooms in the style of a classic TV show. From the Jetsons to the Golden Girls to I Love Lucy, the decor is simultaneously sassy, chic and comfortable, not to mention right on theme. Best part? Each room comes with its own hot-spring tub so you can fill 'er up then soak to your muscles' content. Built as a U-shaped motor-court motel in the 1930s, the property today uses its central courtyard as a flower-dappled patio. Great digs, and a primo spot for a post-hike soak.

When it comes to food, the upbeat Happy Belly Deli (☎ 575-894-3354; 313 N Broadway; mains under $10; 🕓 7am-3pm Mon-Fri, 8am-3pm Sat, 8am-noon Sun) draws the morning crowd with fresh breakfast burritos, while the new Café BellaLuca (☎ 575-894-9866; 303 Jones St; lunch mains $6-10, dinner mains $10-23; 🕓 11am-9pm Mon, Wed & Thu, 11am-10pm Fri & Sat, 10am-8pm Sun) earns raves for its Italian specialties.

Las Cruces & Around

The second-largest city in New Mexico is home to New Mexico State University (NMSU), which keeps things somewhat lively with about 17,000 students. The visitors bureau (☎ 575-541-2444, 800-343-7827; www.lascrucescvb.org; 211 N Water St; 🕓 8am-5pm Mon-Fri) has information.

For many, a visit to neighboring Mesilla is the highlight of their time in Las Cruces. Wander a few blocks off the plaza to gather the essence of a mid-19th-century Southwestern town of Hispanic heritage.

our pick El Comedor (☎ 575-524-7002; 2190 Ave de Mesilla; mains under $10; 🕓 9am-9pm Mon-Fri, 9am-3pm Sat & Sun), off the plaza in Mesilla, is highly recommended. Trust us, the hearty chili-and-cheese smothered New Mexican dishes at this bustling adobe are worth the extra two blocks of walking. Every dish looks good as it passes, but the chicken enchiladas with green chili sauce are so darn cheesy and good that if you don't lick your plate and yell hallelujah, you probably never will.

White Sands Missile Test Center Museum (☎ 575-678-8824; www.wsmr-history.org; admission free; 🕓 8am-4pm Mon-Fri, 10am-3pm Sat & Sun), about 25 miles east of Las Cruces along Hwy 70 (look for the White Sands Missile Range Headquarters sign), has been a major military testing site since 1945, and it still serves as an alternative landing site for the space shuttle. Look for the crazy outdoor missile park. Since it's on an army base, everyone entering over the age of 18 must show ID, and the driver must present car registration and proof of insurance.

EATING SOUTHWEST: GREEN CHILI CHEESEBURGER

If you're anywhere close at mealtime, pull into the Owl Bar & Cafe (☎ 575-835-9946; 215 San Antonio St; 🕓 8am-8:30pm Mon-Sat) for a green chili cheeseburger. Many New Mexican restaurants claim to serve the state's best, but the Owl Bar's pancake-flat beef patty piled high with mayo, cheese, pickles, tomato, onion and green chili has got 'em all beat. It's a spicy hot mess on a toasted bun. And oh so good. It's in San Antonio, 90 miles south of Albuquerque.

In Las Cruces, Lundeen Inn of the Arts (☎ 575-526-3326, 888-526-3326; www.innofthearts.com; 618 S Alameda Blvd; incl breakfast r $79-125, ste $99-155; ☒ ❄ 📶), a large turn-of-the-19th-century Mexican territorial-style inn, has seven guest rooms (all wildly different), an airy living room with soaring ceilings (made of pressed tin) and a 300-piece fine-art gallery.

Join the student crowd at Spirit Winds Coffee Bar (☎ 575-521-1222; 2260 S Locust St; mains under $10; 🕓 7am-7pm Mon-Fri, 7:30am-7pm Sat, 8am-6pm Sun) for excellent cappuccino, good sandwiches, salads, soups and pastries. The adjoining gift store has Bettie Page lunch boxes, decorative Buddhas and hilarious cards. Nellie's Cafe (☎ 575-524-9982; 1226 W Hadley Ave; 🕓 8am-2pm) is a favored local Mexican restaurant. Cash only.

Greyhound (☎ 575-524-8518; www.greyhound.com; 390 S Valley Dr) has buses traversing the two interstate corridors (I-10 and I-25), as well as daily trips to Albuquerque ($30 to $39, 3¾ hours), Roswell ($37 to $54, 3¾ hours) and El Paso ($11.50, one hour).

Silver City & Around

One word of caution when strolling through downtown Silver City – look carefully before you step off the sidewalk. Because of monsoonal summer rains, curbs are higher than average, built to keep the Victorian and the

IF YOU HAVE A FEW MORE DAYS

For those heading west into Arizona from Socorro, Hwy 60 makes a remote, scenic alternative to I-40. Past the town of Magdalena is the Very Large Array (VLA; www.vla.nrao.edu; admission free; 🕘 8:30am-dusk) radio telescope facility, a complex of 27 huge antenna dishes sprouting like giant mushrooms in the high plains. At the visitor center, watch a short film about the facility and take a self-guided walking tour with a window peek into the control building. Drive 4 miles south of Hwy 60 off Hwy 52 near mile-marker 93.

brick and cast-iron buildings safe from quick rising waters. The spirit of the Wild West still hangs in the air here, as if Billy the Kid himself – a former resident – might amble past at any moment.

Silver City is also the gateway to outdoor activities in the Gila National Forest, which is rugged country suitable for remote cross-country skiing, backpacking, camping, fishing and other activities.

The visitor center (☎ 575-538-3785, 800-548-9378; www.silvercity.org; 201 N Hudson St; 🕘 9am-5pm Mon-Fri, 10am-2pm Sat if volunteer available) and the Gila National Forest Ranger Station (☎ 575-388-8201; www.fs.fed.us/r3/gila; 3005 E Camino Del Bosque; 🕘 8am-4:30pm Mon-Fri) have area information. To learn about the town's contentious mining history, watch the blacklisted 1954 movie Salt of the Earth.

Two hours north of Silver City, up a winding 42-mile road, is Gila Cliff Dwellings National Monument (☎ 575-536-9461; admission $3; 🕘 8am-6pm Jun-Aug, 9am-4pm Sep-May), occupied in the 13th century by Mogollons. Mysterious and relatively isolated, these remarkable cliff dwellings are easily accessed from a 1-mile loop trail and look very much as they would have at the turn of the first millennium. For pictographs, stop by the Lower Scorpion Campground and walk a short distance along the marked trail.

Rounded volcanic towers make the City of Rocks State Park (☎ 575-536-2800; www.emnrd.state.nm.us/prd/cityrocks.htm; Hwy 61; day use $5, campsites $8-10) an intriguing playground. You can also camp among the towers in secluded campsites with tables and fire pits. Campsites are a mix of first-come, first served and reservable. For a rock-lined gem of a spot, check out campsite 43, the Lynx. Head 24 miles northwest of Deming along Hwy 180, then 3 miles northeast on Hwy 61. For more creature comforts, continue north on Hwy 180 to the Silver City KOA (☎ 575-388-3351, 800-562-7623; www.silvercitykoa.com; 11824 Hwy 180E; campsites $24-31, RV sites $28-46, cabins $50-63; 💻 📶 🏊), where you'll find 'kamping kabins' and a laundry.

For a smattering of Silver City's architectural history, overnight in the 22-room Palace Hotel (☎ 575-388-1811; www.zianet.com/palacehotel; 106 W Broadway; incl breakfast d $52-65, ste $79; ☒). Exuding a low-key, turn-of-the-19th-century charm (no air con, older fixtures), the Palace is a great choice for those tired of cookie-cutter chains. On the corner, the lofty Javalina (☎ 575-388-1350; 201 N Bullard St; pastries $2-4; 🕘 6am-9pm Mon-Thu, to 10pm Fri & Sat, to 7pm Sun) offers coffee, snacks and wi-fi in a comfy, come-as-you-are space.

You have the choice of three sizes – tapa, mezze, entrée – for meals at Shevek & Co Restaurant (☎ 575-534-9168; 602 N Bullard St; tapa under $10, mezze $8-18, entrée $20-30; 🕘 5-8:30pm Sun-Tue & Thu, 5-9pm Fri & Sat, slightly longer hours in summer), an upscale bistro where locally grown Slow Food specialties are prepared with Mediterranean flair.

SOUTHEASTERN NEW MEXICO

With the exception of the forests surrounding the resort towns of Cloudcroft and Ruidoso, southeastern New Mexico is marked by seemingly endless horizons and grassy plains. It's also marked by awesome White Sands National Monument and magnificent Carlsbad Caverns National Park. Spend dusk at both places if you can. It's all here: alien sightings in Roswell, Billy the Kid in Lincoln, and Smokey Bear just west in Capitan.

White Sands National Monument

Slide, roll and slither through brilliant, towering sand hills. Sixteen miles southwest of Alamogordo (15 miles southwest of Hwy 82/70), gypsum covers 275 sq miles to create a dazzling white landscape at this crisp, stark monument (☎ 575-679-2599; www.nps.gov/whsa; adult/child under 16 $3/free; 🕘 7am-9pm Jun-Aug, 7am-sunset Sep-May). These captivating windswept dunes are a highlight of any trip to New Mexico.

Spring for a $15 plastic saucer at the visitor center gift store then sled one of the back dunes. It's fun, and you can sell the disc back for $5 at day's end (no rentals to avoid liability). Check the park calendar for sunset strolls and occasional moonlight bicycle rides (adult/child under 16 $5/2.50), the latter best reserved far in advance. Backcountry campsites, with no water or toilet facilities, are a mile from the scenic drive. Pick up one of the limited permits ($3, issued first-come, first-served) in person at the visitor center at least one hour before sunset.

Alamogordo & Around

Alamogordo is the center of one of the most historically important space- and atomic-research programs in the country. The four-story New Mexico Museum of Space History (☎ 505-437-2840, 877-333-6589; www.nmspacemuseum.org; Hwy 2001; adult/senior/child 4-12yr $6/5/4; ⏰ 9am-5pm) has excellent exhibits on space research and flight. Its Tombaugh IMAX Theater & Planetarium (adult/senior/child $6/5.50/4.50) shows outstanding films on a huge wraparound screen on anything from sharks to space exploration.

Numerous motels stretch along White Sands Blvd, including Best Western Desert Aire Motor Inn (☎ 575-437-2110; www.bestwestern.com; 1021 S White Sands Blvd; r $74-120; P ❄ 💻 📶 🏊), with standard-issue rooms and suites (some with kitchenettes), along with a sauna. Before heading to White Sands, try a homespun American or Mexican dish at the kid-friendly Our Country Kitchen (☎ 575-434-3431; cnr 12th & New York Aves; mains $6-9; ⏰ 6am-2:30pm; 👶), or save up for a post-hike feast at Wok Inn (☎ 575-434-4388; 1010 S White Sands Blvd; mains & buffet under $10; ⏰ 11am-10pm), where the seven enormous buffet counters could qualify as the next wonder of the world. Even if you're not eating here, check 'em out.

Cloudcroft

Pleasant Cloudcroft, with turn-of-the-19th-century buildings, offers lots of outdoor recreation, a good base for exploration and a low-key feel. Situated high in the mountains, it provides welcome relief from the lowlands heat to the east. The chamber of commerce (☎ 575-682-2733, 866-874-4447; www.cloudcroft.net; 1001 James Canyon Hwy; ⏰ 10am-5pm Mon-Sat) is inside a log cabin on Hwy 82.

The Lodge Resort & Spa (☎ 575-682-2566, 800-395-6343; www.thelodgeresort.com; 1 Corona Pl; r from $125, ste $185-315; 🚭 ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) is one of the Southwest's best historic hotels. Rooms in the main Bavarian-style hotel are furnished with period and Victorian pieces. Within the lodge, Rebecca's (☎ 575-682-3131; breakfast & lunch mains $8-15, dinner mains $28-36; ⏰ 7-10:30am Mon-Sat, 7-10am Sun, 11:30am-2pm & 5:30-9pm, slightly longer hours summer), named after the resident ghost, offers by far the best food in town.

Ruidoso

Downright bustling in the summer and big with racetrack bettors, resorty Ruidoso (it means 'noisy' in Spanish) has an utterly pleasant climate thanks to its lofty and forested perch near Sierra Blanca (12,000ft). It's spread out along Hwy 48 (known as Mechem Dr or Sudderth Dr), the main drag. The chamber of commerce (☎ 575-257-7395, 877-784-3676; www.ruidosonow.com; 720 Sudderth Dr; ⏰ 8am-4:30pm Mon-Fri, 9am-3pm Sat) has visitor information.

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

Serious horse racing happens at the Ruidoso Downs Racetrack (☎ 575-378-4431; www.ruidownsracing.com; Hwy 70; grandstand seats free, boxes $35-45; ⏰ races Thu-Sun late May–early Sep, casino 11am-11pm year-round). The fine Hubbard Museum of the American West (☎ 575-378-4142; www.hubbardmuseum.org; 841 Hwy 70 W; adult/senior/child $6/5/2; ⏰ 9am-5pm; 👶) displays Western-related items, with an emphasis on Old West stagecoaches, Native American artifacts and, well, all things horse.

The best ski area south of Albuquerque is Ski Apache (☎ 575-464-3600, snow conditions 575-257-9001; www.skiapache.com; all-day lift ticket adult/child $39/25; ⏰ 9am-4pm), 18 miles northwest of Ruidoso on the slopes of beautiful Sierra Blanca Peak (about 12,000ft). To get there, take exit 532 off Hwy 48.

Circle the wagons and ride over to Flying J Ranch (☎ 575-336-4330; www.flyingjranch.com; Hwy 48 N; adult/child $24/14; ⏰ from 5:30pm Mon-Sat late May–early Sep, plus Sat during Sep & first two Sat of Oct; 👶), about 1.5 miles north of Alto, for a meal. This 'Western village' stages gunfights and offers pony rides with its cowboy-style chuckwagon.

To stretch your legs, try the easily accessible forest trails on Cedar Creek Rd just west of Smokey Bear Ranger Station. Choose from the USFS Fitness Trail or the meandering paths at the Cedar Creek Picnic Area.

SLEEPING & EATING

Numerous motels, hotels and cute little cabin complexes line the streets.

Sitzmark Chalet (☎ 575-257-4140, 800-658-9694; www.sitzmark-chalet.com; 627 Sudderth Dr; r $75-89, ste $99; 🚭 ❄ 📶) This ski-themed chalet offers 17 simple but nice rooms. Picnic tables, grills and an eight-person hot tub are welcome perks.

Ruidoso Lodge Cabins (☎ 575-257-2510, 800-950-2510; www.ruidosolodge.com; 300 Main Rd; cabins $109-209; ☒ ❄ 📶) Attractively set along the river, these cabins have full kitchens and wood-burning fireplaces.

Cornerstone Bakery (☎ 575-257-1842; 359 Sudderth Dr; mains under $10; ⏰ 7:30am-2pm Mon-Sat, 7:30am-1pm Sun) Stay around long enough and this eatery may become your touchstone. Everything on the menu, from the omelets to croissant sandwiches, is worthy, and the pinyon-flavored coffee is wonderful.

Café Rio (☎ 575-257-7746; 2547 Sudderth Dr; mains $5-25; ⏰ 11am-9pm) Friendly service isn't the first description that leaps to mind at this scruffy pizza joint, but oh…take one bite of a pillowy slice and all will be forgiven.

Casa Blanca (☎ 575-257-2495; 501 Mechem Dr; lunch mains $6-8, dinner mains $10-20; ⏰ 11am-9pm) Dine on Southwestern cuisine in a renovated Spanish-style house. The chilis rellenos are to die for.

Lincoln & Capitan

Fans of Western history won't want to miss little Lincoln. Twelve miles east of Capitan along the Billy the Kid National Scenic Byway (www.billybyway.com), this is where the gun battle that turned Billy the Kid into a legend took place. The whole town is beautifully preserved in close to original form and the main street has been designated the Lincoln Town Monument; modern influences (such as neon-lit motel signs, souvenir stands, fast-food joints) are not allowed.

Buy tickets to the most historic buildings at the Anderson Freeman Visitors Center & Museum (☎ 575-653-4025; Hwy 380; admission to 5 sites adult/child $5/free; ⏰ 8:30am-4:30pm), where you'll also find exhibits on Buffalo soldiers, Apaches and the Lincoln County War. Make the fascinating Courthouse Museum your last stop; this is the well-marked site of Billy's most daring – and violent – escape. There's a plaque where one of his bullets slammed into the wall.

For overnighters, the Ellis Store Country Inn (☎ 575-653-4609, 800-653-6460; www.ellisstore.com; Mile 98, Hwy 380; r incl breakfast $89-119; ☒) offers three antique-filled rooms (complete with wood stove) in the main house; five additional rooms are located in a historic mill on the property. From Wednesday to Saturday the host offers a six-course dinner ($75 per person), served in the lovely dining room. Perfect for special occasions; reservations recommended.

Like Lincoln, cozy Capitan is surrounded by the beautiful mountains of Lincoln National Forest. The main reason to come is so the kids can visit Smokey Bear Historical State Park (☎ 575-354-2748; www.smokeybearpark.com; adult/child 7-12yr $2/1; ⏰ 9am-5pm; 👪), where Smokey (yes, there actually was a real Smokey Bear) is buried.

Roswell

If you believe The Truth is Out There, then the Roswell Incident is already filed away in your memory banks. In 1947 a mysterious object crashed at a nearby ranch. No one would have skipped any sleep over it, but the military made a big to-do of hushing it up, and for a lot of folks, that sealed it: the aliens had landed! International curiosity and local ingenuity have transformed the city into a quirky extraterrestrial-wannabe zone. Bulbous white heads glow atop the downtown streetlamps and busloads of tourists come to find good souvenirs.

Pick up local information and have your picture snapped with an alien at the visitors bureau (☎ 575-624-0889, 888-767-9355; www.roswellmysteries.com; 912 N Main St; ⏰ 8:30am-5:30pm Mon-Fri, 10am-3pm Sat & Sun; 📶).

Believers and kitsch-seekers must check out the International UFO Museum & Research Center (☎ 575-625-9495; www.roswellufomuseum.com; 114 N Main St; adult/child $5/2; ⏰ 9am-5pm), displaying documents supporting the cover-up as well as lots of far-out art and exhibitions. The annual Roswell UFO Festival (www.roswellufofestival.com) beams down over the July 4 weekend, with an otherworldly costume parade, guest speakers, workshops and concerts.

Ho-hum chain motels line N Main St. About 36 miles south of Roswell, the Heritage Inn (☎ 575-748-2552, 866-207-0222; www.artesiaheritageinn.com; 209 W Main St; r incl breakfast $94; ☒ ❄ 💻 📶) in Artesia offers 11 Old West–style rooms and is the nicest lodging in the area.

Take a break from the downtown heat with a glass of wine and a cheese plate inside the cool confines of Pecos Flavors Winery (☎ 575-627-6265; 305 N Main St; ⏰ 10am-7pm Mon-Thu, 10am-8pm Fri & Sat). Beer-drinkers can swig an Alien Amber Ale. Superhero-themed Farley's (☎ 575-627-1100; 1315 N Main St; mains $7-13; ⏰ 11am-11pm Sun-Thu, to 1am Fri & Sat) has 29 beers on tap as well as pub food and pizza in a huge industrial space. For simple, dependable Mexican fare downtown, try Martin's Capitol Café (110 W 4th St; mains $6-10; ⏰ 6am-8:30pm Mon-Sat).

The Greyhound Bus Depot (☎ 575-622-2510; www.greyhound.com; 1100 N Virginia Ave) has buses to Carlsbad ($29 to $32, 1½ hours) and El Paso, TX, via Las Cruces ($55 to $60, 5½ hours).

Carlsbad

Travelers use Carlsbad as a base for visits to nearby Carlsbad Caverns National Park (right) and the Guadalupe Mountains. The chamber of commerce (☎ 575-887-6516, 866-822-9226; www.carlsbadchamber.com; 302 S Canal St; 🕒 9am-5pm Mon, 8am-5pm Tue-Fri year-round, 9am-3pm Sat May-Sep) has information on both.

On the northwestern outskirts of town, off Hwy 285, Living Desert State Park (☎ 575-887-5516; 1504 Miehls Dr; adult/child 7-12yr $5/3; 🕒 8am-8pm late Jun–Aug, 9am-5pm Sep-May; 👪) is a great place to see and learn about cacti, coyotes and wildlife. The park has a good 1.3-mile trail that showcases different habitats of the Chihuahua Desert.

Most Carlsbad lodging consists of chain motels on S Canal St or National Parks Hwy. The no-frills Motel 6 (☎ 575-885-0001; www.motel6.coms; 3824 National Parks Hwy; s/d $50/54; ❄ 📶 🐾) is clean, cheap and on the way to the park. For more personal service, spend a night or two at the red-tiled, Mediterranean-style Sousorrone Viento (☎ 575-628-0446; www.sousorronev.com; 20 Vincent Rd; r $125; ❄ 📶) north of town. The lovely owners of this welcoming B&B offer three tidy, well-appointed rooms and serve full, made-to-order breakfasts. Hikers are welcome, and they'll even pack you a trail lunch. Just north of the B&B is the highly recommended Carlsbad KOA (☎ 575-457-2000; www.carlsbadrv.com; 2 Mantei Rd; tent sites $27-30, RV sites $39-44, cabins $53-95; 📶 🐾), the cleanest campground you'll ever visit. The campground is located between mileposts 51 and 52 off Hwy 285.

The perky Blue House Bakery & Cafe (☎ 575-628-0555; 609 N Canyon St; mains under $10; 🕒 breakfast 6am-noon Mon & Sat, breakfast & lunch 6am-2pm Tue-Fri) brews the best coffee in this quadrant of New Mexico. Get there before 10am for the full selection of pastries. There's drive-through 'cue at Danny's Place (☎ 575-885-8739; 902 S Canal St; mains $5-11; 🕒 11am-9pm), as well indoor seating. The sandwiches here, served in a basket, are hearty, messy and a little bit spicy. For convivial beer-swigging, locals and visitors crowd Lucy's (☎ 575-887-7714; 701 S Canal St; mains $7-16; 🕒 11am-9pm Mon-Thu, 11am-9:30pm Fri & Sat), where you can also scarf down cheap New Mexican meals.

Greyhound (☎ 575-628-0768; www.greyhound.com; 3102 National Parks Hwy) buses depart from the Shamrock gas station inside Food Jet South. Destinations include El Paso, TX ($50 to $54, three hours), and Lubbock, TX ($50 to $54, 4¾ hours).

Carlsbad Caverns National Park

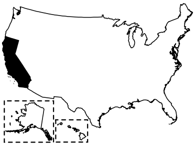
Scores of wondrous caves hide under the hills at this unique national park (☎ 575-785-2232, bat info 505-785-3012; www.nps.gov/cave; 3225 National Parks Hwy; adult/child $6/free; 🕒 caves 8:30am-3:30pm late May–early Sep, 8:30am-2pm early Sep–late May), which covers 73 sq miles. The cavern formations are an ethereal wonderland of stalactites and fantastical geological features. You can ride an elevator from the visitor center or take a 2-mile subterranean walk from the cave mouth to the Big Room, an underground chamber 1800ft long, 255ft high and over 800ft below the surface. For claustrophobics and those prone to panic attacks, the chamber and the elevator ride down to it (which descends the length of the Empire State Building in under a minute) may be a less than enjoyable experience.

Guided tours of additional caves are available (adult $7 to $20, child $3.50 to $10), and should be reserved well in advance (call ☎ 877-444-6777 or visit www.recreation.gov). Bring long sleeves and closed shoes; it gets chilly.

The cave's other claim to fame is the 300,000-plus Mexican free-tailed bat colony that roosts here from mid-May to mid-October. Be here by sunset, when they cyclone out for an all-evening insect feast.

© Lonely Planet. To make it easier for you to use, access to this chapter is not digitally restricted. In return, we think it's fair to ask you to use it for personal, non-commercial purposes only. In other words, please don't upload this chapter to a peer-to-peer site, mass email it to everyone you know, or resell it. See the terms and conditions on our site for a longer way of saying the above - 'Do the right thing with our content.'

California



More than anything else, California is iconic. It was here that naturalist John Muir rhapsodized about the Sierra Nevada's 'range of light,' and Jack Kerouac and the Beat Generation defined what it meant to hit the road. Today, winemakers craft world-beating vintages in their biodynamic vineyards, while a new generation of civil-rights activists, progressive social thinkers and environmentalists leave their mark on not just the state, but also the nation.

Think of California as the USA's most futuristic social laboratory. If humans develop an appetite, it will be fed here. If technology identifies a new useful gadget, Silicon Valley will build it at light speed. If postmodern Southern California celebrities, bizarrely famous merely for the fact of being famous, make a fashion statement, its ripples will be felt across the country. The California 'nation state' is worlds apart from most of the rest of America. But perhaps no other pop culture has as big of an effect on how the rest of us work, play, eat, love, consume and, yes, recycle.

Ever since the hurly-burly mid-19th-century gold-rush era, brave women and men filled with ambition and desire from across America and around the world have been streaming into California. It's here that, for millions of recent immigrants, the American dream still beckons like a golden sun hanging above the shimmering surf and windblown palm trees at the end of Route 66 in Los Angeles. And that's not a bad place for you, too, to start.

HIGHLIGHTS

- Chasing waterfalls and climbing granite domes in Yosemite National Park (p1006)
- Surfing the waves off San Diego (p939) and Orange County (p938) beach towns
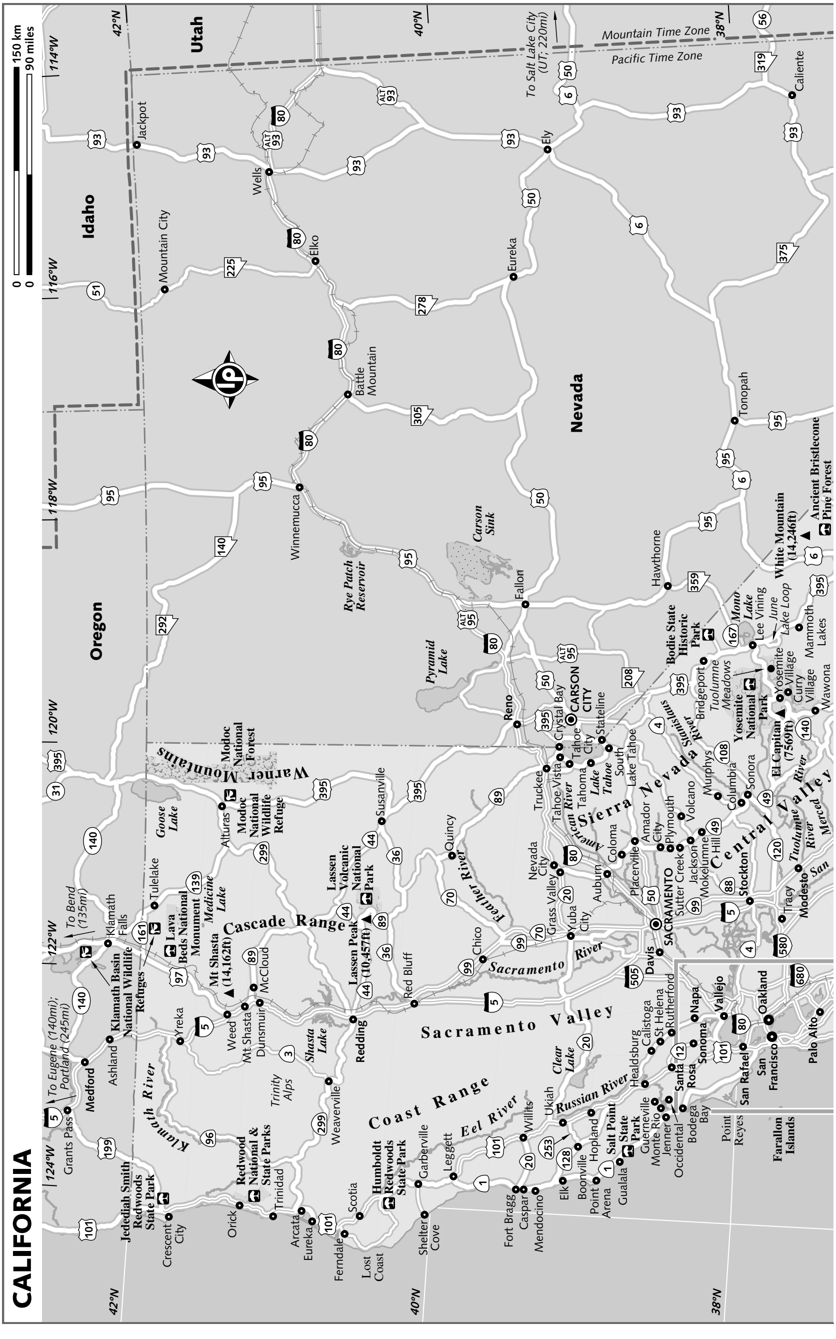
- Experiencing multicultural neighborhoods and glam nightlife in Los Angeles (p914)
- Trekking to sand dunes and Old West ghost towns around Death Valley (p954)
- Cruising Hwy 1 past redwood forests on the rocky coast of Big Sur (p960)
- Devouring Mission-style burritos and fresh, farmers-market fare in San Francisco (p982)
- Wallowing in a mud bath near the vineyards in Calistoga (p992)
- Looking up at the world's tallest trees in Redwood National Park (p998)

Redwood National Park
Calistoga
San Francisco
Yosemite National Park
Big Sur
California
Death Valley
Los Angeles
Orange County & San Diego



CALIFORNIA

0 150 km
0 90 miles
Idaho
Utah
Oregon
Nevada
Mountain Time Zone
Pacific Time Zone
To Salt Lake City (UT; 220mi)
To Eugene (140mi); Portland (245mi)
To Bend (135mi)
42°N
40°N
38°N
114°W
116°W
118°W
120°W
122°W
124°W Jackpot Mountain City
Wells
Elko
Battle Mountain
Eureka
Ely
Caliente
Tonopah
Winnemucca
Rye Patch Reservoir
Carson Sink
Fallon
Pyramid Lake
Reno
Hawthorne
CARSON CITY
Crystal Bay
Stateline
Tahoe City
Tahoe Vista Truckee
Tahoma
Lake Tahoe
South Lake Tahoe
Warner Mountains
Modoc National Forest
Modoc National Wildlife Refuge
Goose Lake
Alturas
Susanville
Lassen Volcanic National Park
Lassen Peak (10,457ft)
Cascade Range
Medicine Lake
Lava Beds National Monument
Tulelake
Klamath Falls
Klamath Basin National Wildlife Refuges
Mt Shasta (14,162ft)
McCloud
Weed
Mt Shasta
Dunsmuir
Yreka
Ashland
Medford
Grants Pass
Klamath River
Jedediah Smith Redwoods State Park
Crescent City
Redwood National & State Parks
Orick
Trinidad
Arcata
Eureka Ferndale Scotia
Lost Coast
Humboldt Redwoods State Park
Garberville
Shelter Cove
Leggett
Trinity Alps
Weaverville
Shasta Lake
Redding
Red Bluff
Chico
Quincy
Feather River Sacramento River
Sacramento Valley
Coast Range
Eel River
Willits
Fort Bragg
Caspar
Mendocino
Elk Point Arena
Boonville
Hopland
Ukiah
Clear Lake
Russian River
Gualala
Salt Point State Park
Healdsburg
Guerneville
Monte Rio
Jenner
Occidental
Bodega Bay
Santa Rosa
Sonoma
Calistoga
St Helena Rutherford
Napa
Vallejo
Point Reyes
San Rafael
San Francisco
Farallon Islands
Oakland
Palo Alto
Davis
SACRAMENTO
Yuba City
Grass Valley
Nevada City
Auburn
Coloma
Placerville
American River
Sierra Nevada
Amador City
Sutter Creek
Plymouth
Volcano
Jackson
Mokelumne Hill Murphys
Columbia
Sonora
Stockton
Tracy
Modesto
Central Valley
Stanislaus River
Tuolumne River
Merced River
San Bridgeport
Bodie State Historic Park
Tuolumne Meadows
Yosemite National Park
El Capitan (7569ft)
Yosemite Village
Curry Village
Wawona
Mono Lake
Lee Vining
June Lake Loop
Mammoth Lakes
White Mountain (14,246ft)
Ancient Bristlecone Pine Forest
5
101
199
96
299
3
1 20
253
128 12 80
680 580
4
88 99 49
120
140
108
50 70
89 36 44 139
161
97
395
31 140
292
95
ALT 95
208
359
6
375
278
305 225 51
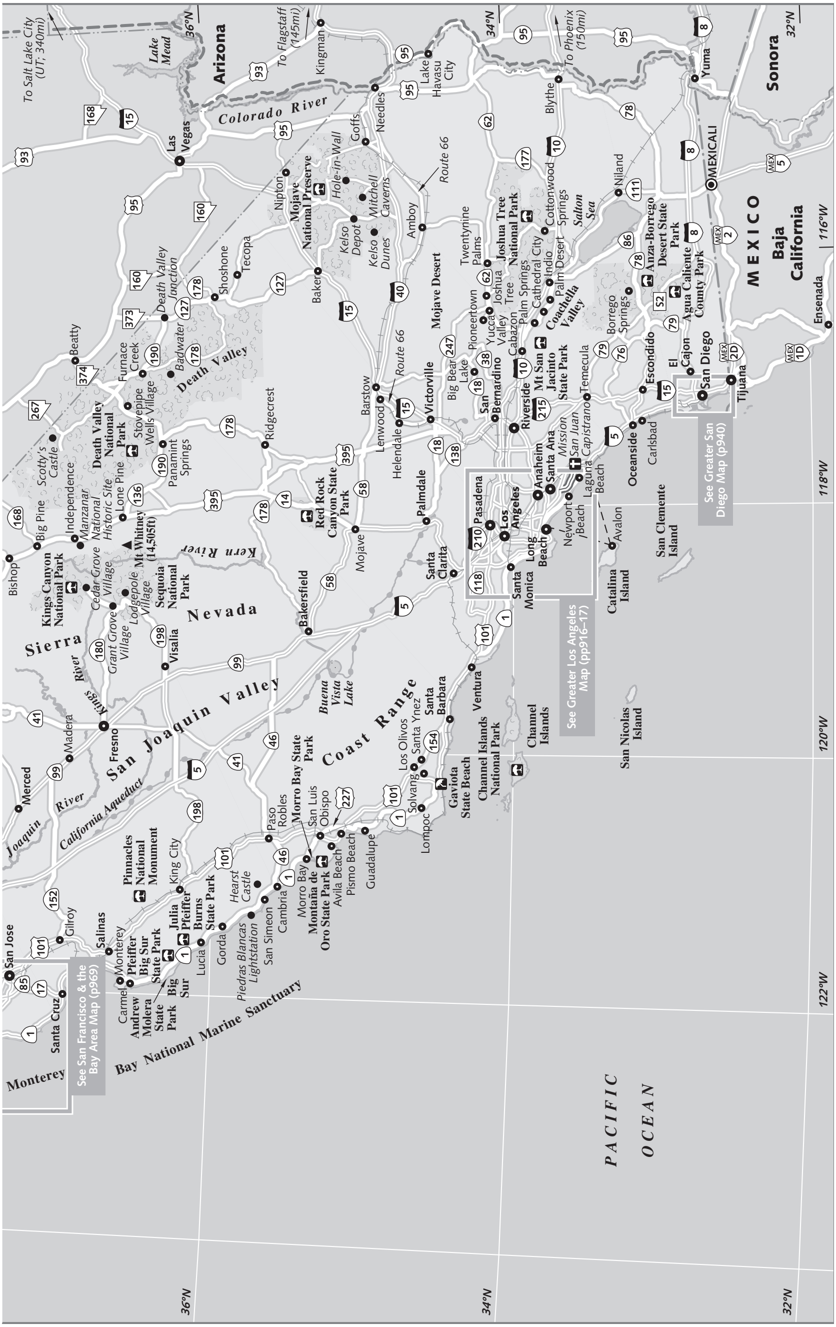
93
ALT 93
319
56



To Salt Lake City (UT; 340mi)
Lake Mead
36°N
Arizona
To Flagstaff (145mi)
Kingman
Colorado River
Las Vegas
Lake Havasu City Needles
Goffs
Nipton
Mojave National Preserve Hole-in-Wall
Mitchell Caverns
Kelso Depot
Kelso Dunes
Route 66
Amboy
34°N
To Phoenix (150mi)
Blythe
Twentynine Palms
Joshua Tree National Park
Cottonwood Springs
Salton Sea
Niland
Yuma
32°N
Sonora
MEXICALI
MEXICO
Baja California
116°W
Ensenada
Beatty
Scotty's Castle
Death Valley Junction
Shoshone
Tecopa
Baker
Furnace Creek
Badwater
Death Valley
Death Valley National Park
Stovepipe Wells Village
Panamint Springs
Ridgecrest
Barstow
Lenwood
Helendale
Victorville
Mojave Desert
Big Bear Lake
Pioneertown
Yucca Valley
Joshua Tree
Palm Springs
Cathedral City
Indio
Palm Desert
Coachella Valley
Cabazon
San Bernardino Riverside
Mt San Jacinto State Park
Temecula
Borrego Springs
Anza-Borrego Desert State Park
Agua Caliente County Park
Escondido
El Cajon
San Diego
Tijuana
Oceanside
Carlsbad
See Greater San Diego Map (p940)
118°W
San Clemente Island
Mission San Juan Capistrano
Laguna Beach
Newport Beach
Avalon
Anaheim
Santa Ana
Pasadena
Los Angeles
Long Beach
Santa Monica
Catalina Island
See Greater Los Angeles Map (pp916–17)
Palmdale
Santa Clarita
Mojave
Red Rock Canyon State Park
Bishop
Big Pine Independence
Manzanar National Historic Site
Lone Pine
Mt Whitney (14,505ft)
Kern River
Kings Canyon National Park
Cedar Grove Village
Lodgepole Village
Grant Grove Village
Sequoia National Park
Sierra Nevada
Visalia Bakersfield Kings River
Fresno
Madera
Merced
San Joaquin Valley
San Joaquin River
California Aqueduct
Buena Vista Lake
Coast Range
Santa Barbara Ventura
Channel Islands
Channel Islands National Park
San Nicolas Island
120°W
Los Olivos
Santa Ynez
Solvang
Lompoc
Gaviota State Beach
Morro Bay State Park
San Luis Obispo
Paso Robles
Pinnacles National Monument
King City
Hearst Castle
Morro Bay
Montaña de Oro State Park
Avila Beach
Pismo Beach
Guadalupe
Cambria
San Simeon
Piedras Blancas Lightstation
Gorda
Lucia
Julia Pfeiffer Burns State Park
Salinas
Gilroy
San Jose
Monterey
Carmel
Pfeiffer Big Sur State Park
Andrew Molera State Park
Big Sur
Santa Cruz
See San Francisco & the Bay Area Map (p969)
Monterey Bay National Marine Sanctuary
122°W
PACIFIC OCEAN
36°N
34°N
32°N
1
5
8 10 14 15
17 18 40
41
46
52
58
62
76
78
79 85
86 93
95
98
99
101
111 118
127
136
138
152
154
160 168
177
178
180
190
198
210
215
227
247
267
373
374
395
MEX 1D
MEX 2
MEX 2D
MEX 5

HISTORY

By the time European explorers arrived in the 16th century, up to 300,000 indigenous people called this land home. Northern coastal tribes, including the Tolowa, used redwoods to build dugout canoes and fished for salmon, while inland the Modoc gathered obsidian from volcanic mountains for trading. In the Sierra Nevada, the Miwok and other tribes moved between foothill villages and seasonal hunting camps in mountain highlands. Paiute tribespeople subsisted further east at the border of the Great Basin desert. Chumash villages dotted the southern coast, from which tribespeople voyaged out to the Channel Islands, while nomadic Cahuilla and Mojave bands found oases and gathered plants in the southern deserts.

Spanish conquistadors combed through what they called 'Alta California' (Upper California, as opposed to Baja, or Lower, California) in search of a fabled 'city of gold,' but they left the territory virtually alone after failing to find it. Not until the Mission Period (1769–1810) did Spain make a serious attempt to settle the land, establishing 21 Catholic missions – many founded by Franciscan priest Junípero Serra – for conversion purposes, and presidios (military forts) to keep out the British and Russians.

After winning independence from Spain in 1821, Mexico briefly ruled California, but then got trounced by the fledgling United States in the Mexican–American War in 1846–48. The discovery of gold just over a week before the treaty was signed sent California's population figures soaring from 14,000 to 92,000 by 1850, when California became the 31st US state.

Thousands of imported Chinese laborers helped complete the transcontinental railroad in 1869, which opened up markets on both coasts and further spurred migration to the Golden State. The 1906 San Francisco earthquake was barely a hiccup as California continued to grow exponentially in size, diversity and importance. Mexican immigrants arrived during the 1910–21 Mexican Revolution, and again during WWII, to fill labor shortages. Important military-driven industries developed during wartime, while anti-Asian sentiments led to the unjust internment of many Japanese Americans, including at Manzanar (p1013).

California has long been a pioneer in social trends thanks to its size; confluence of wealth, diversity of immigration; and technological innovation. Since the 1930s, Hollywood has mesmerized the world with its dreams and fashions, while San Francisco reacted against the banal complacency of post-WWII suburbia by spreading beat poetry, hippie free love and gay pride. The internet revolution, initially spurred by the high-tech visionaries in Silicon Valley, rewired the country and led to a 1990s boom in overspeculated stocks.

When the stock bubble burst, plunging the state's economy into chaos, Californians blamed their governor, Gray Davis (Democrat), and, in a controversial recall election, voted to give Arnold Schwarzenegger (Republican) a shot at fixing things. Despite some early fumbles, the 'Governator' surprised just about everyone by distancing himself from the Bush administration and

CALIFORNIA FACTS

Nickname Golden State
Population 38.3 million
Area 155,959 sq miles
Capital city Sacramento (population 481,000)
Other cities Los Angeles (population 4,003,000), San Francisco (population 744,000), San Diego (population 1,336,900)
Sales tax 8.25%, additional local taxes up to 1%
Birthplace of author John Steinbeck (1902–68), photographer Ansel Adams (1902–84), pop-culture icon Marilyn Monroe (1926–62), tennis pros Serena & Venus Williams (b 1980)
Home of the highest and lowest points in the contiguous US (Mt Whitney and Death Valley); world's oldest, tallest and biggest living trees (ancient bristlecone pines, coast redwoods and giant sequoias)
Famous for Disneyland, earthquakes, Hollywood, hippie tree-huggers, Silicon Valley, surfing
Kitschiest souvenir 'Mystery Spot' bumper sticker
Driving distances San Diego to San Francisco 500 miles, San Francisco to Yosemite Valley 200 miles

CALIFORNIA…

In One Week

California in a nutshell: Start in Los Angeles (p914), maybe detouring to Disneyland (p938), and then head up the breathtaking Central Coast, stopping in Santa Barbara (p956) and Big Sur (p960), before soaking up a dose of city culture in San Francisco (p966). Head inland to Yosemite (p1006) before returning to LA.

In Two Weeks

Follow the one-week itinerary at a saner pace. Add a jaunt to NorCal's Wine Country (p991), Lake Tahoe (p1004) or Death Valley (p954).

With Kids

Rug rats will be head over heels after seeing all the treasures waiting in the Golden State. Few can resist the magic of Disneyland (p938), but speed-crazed teens might prefer the roller-coaster thrills at nearby Knott's Berry Farm (p938) or Six Flags Magic Mountain (p937). Movie magic awaits at Universal Studios (p924) in LA, while San Diego is all about animal magnetism with its famous zoo (p943), wild animal park (p948) and SeaWorld (p944). In Northern California, don't miss the Monterey Bay Aquarium (p962) and Santa Cruz Boardwalk (p964).

putting environmental issues and controversial stem-cell research at the top of his agenda.

Then, in 2009, budget shortfalls caused another staggering financial crisis that lawmakers had yet to resolve at press time. Meanwhile, California's all-important high-tech sector struggles to regain its momentum, the need for public education reform builds, overcrowded prisons keep filling, state parks are chronically underfunded and the conundrum of illegal immigration from Mexico, which fills a critical cheap labor shortage (especially in agriculture), continue to bedevil the state.

LOCAL CULTURE

Currently the world's 12th-largest economy, California is a state of extremes, where grinding poverty shares urban corridors with fabulous wealth. Waves of immigrants keep arriving, and their neighborhoods are often miniversions of their homelands. Extreme tolerance for others is the norm in California, and so is intolerance, which you'll encounter on freeways or if you smoke. Untraditional and unconventional attitudes have made California a trendsetter by nature. After all, this state invented the internet and the iPod, power yoga and reality TV. Image is important, appearances are stridently youthful and outdoorsy, and an automobile often defines who you are and how important you consider yourself, especially in Southern California (SoCal).

LAND & CLIMATE

Deserts, forests, high alpine zones, river deltas, coastal wetlands, valleys – you want 'em, California's got 'em. The highest mountain in the contiguous USA (Mt Whitney, 14,505ft) is here and so is the lowest point in the nation (Badwater in Death Valley, 282ft below sea level). And those earthquakes? There isn't a day without one, but don't worry as most are so small that you won't even notice.

California's northern and eastern mountain regions get inundated with winter snow, while in summer the mercury can soar as high as 120°F (49°C) in the Central Valley and deserts. At the same time, inland heat pulls chilly blankets of fog over the coast from Big Sur northward, so don't forget a fleece jacket. Fog briefly hovers over SoCal in late spring, but by July the coast is usually clear, so to speak.

PARKS & WILDLIFE

Yosemite (p1006) and Sequoia (p1010) became California's first national parks in 1890, and today there are six more: Kings Canyon (p1010) Death Valley (p954), Joshua Tree (p951), Channel Islands (p956), Redwood (p998) and Lassen Volcanic (p1004). The National Park Service (NPS; www.nps.gov) also manages over two dozen other historic sites, monuments, nature preserves and recreational areas statewide. For camping on federal lands, see p1132.

California's over 270 state parks (☎ 916-653-6995, 800-777-0369; www.parks.ca.gov) are a diverse bunch, including everything from underwater marine preserves to redwood forests; they protect nearly a third of the coastline and 3000 miles of hiking, biking and equestrian trails. At press time, over 100 state parks were temporarily closed to California's budget crisis. Check the website to see which ones have reopened by the time you read this. Day-use parking fees range from $4 to $15; campsites cost $10 to $65 per night. ReserveAmerica (☎ 800-444-7275; www.reserveamerica.com) handles camping reservations.

When it comes to animals in California, think big. Gray whales, which migrate from Alaska to northern Mexico and back between December and April, are as large as a school bus. Year-round pods of bottle-nosed dolphins and porpoises frolic just offshore, while barking seals and sea lions laze under piers and on beaches. The California grizzly survives only on the state flag, but black bears are common, especially in the Sierra Nevada range.

Almost half of the bird species found in North America use coastal and inland refuges along the Pacific Flyway for rest and refueling. Look for bald eagles, which soared off the endangered species list in 2007. Ambitious captive-breeding programs have reintroduced California condors into the wild, although they're still exceedingly rare. Many migratory and native birds also flock to desert watering holes in native fan-palm oases, as bighorn sheep do. Also keep an eye out for the slow-moving, endangered Mojave desert tortoise.

INFORMATION

California Division of Tourism (www.visitcalifornia.com)

California Highway Conditions (☎ 800-427-7623; www2.dot.ca.gov/hq/roadinfo)

Department of Forestry & Fire Protection (www.fire.ca.gov) For wildfire updates.

USGS Earthquake Hazards Information (http://quake.usgs.gov/recenteqs/latest.htm) Maps of current seismic activity.

GETTING THERE & AROUND

Los Angeles (LAX) and San Francisco (SFO) are major international airports. Smaller airports such as Sacramento, Oakland, San Jose, Orange County and San Diego handle primarily domestic travel.

Four main Amtrak (p1166) routes connect California with the rest of the USA: California Zephyr (Chicago–San Francisco/Emeryville), Coast Starlight (Seattle–Los Angeles), Southwest Chief (Chicago–LA) and Sunset Limited (New Orleans–LA). Useful intrastate routes include the Pacific Surfliner (San Diego to San Luis Obispo via LA), Capitol Corridor (San Jose to Auburn via Oakland and Sacramento) and San Joaquin (Sacramento and San Francisco Bay Area to Bakersfield, with a bus link to Yosemite from Merced).

Greyhound (p1160) reaches into many corners of the state. But to really get out and explore, especially away from the coast, you'll need a car. National car-rental agency (p1164) offices are ubiquitous, with rates generally lowest in LA, San Diego and San Francisco.

LOS ANGELES

While 'All-American' isn't the first thought that comes to mind when thinking of Los Angeles, no other city is more American. Virtually every facet of this nation is represented here in its extremes. Its people are among the nation's richest and poorest, most established and newest arrivals, most refined and roughest, most beautiful and most plain, most erudite and most airheaded.

What Angelenos share is that they are seekers – or descendants of seekers – drawn by a dream, be it fame on the silver screen or money to send back to the family. In America's largest county (it would be the eighth largest state in population all by itself, with 10.2 million residents), success can be spectacular and failure equally so. If that's not America, we don't know what is.

If you think you've already got LA figured out – smog, traffic, celebrity murders, Botox babes and wannabes – think again. Although it's the world's undisputed entertainment capital, the city's truths aren't delivered in gossip rags or on movie screens. Rather, they are doled out in small portions of everyday experiences. Chances are, the more you explore, the more you'll enjoy.

Now is an exciting time to visit LA. Hollywood and Downtown are undergoing

LOS ANGELES…

Distances are ginormous in LA, so allow for traffic and don't try to pack too much into a day. These itineraries are already ambitious enough.

In One Day

Fuel up for the day at Waffle (p932) and then go star-searching on the Walk of Fame (p922) along revitalized Hollywood Blvd. Up your chances of spotting actual celebs by hitting the fashion-forward boutiques on paparazzi-infested Robertson Blvd (p936) and having lunch at the Ivy (p932). Then drive to the lofty Getty Center (p926), before heading west to the Venice Boardwalk (p927) to see the seaside sideshow. Watch the sunset over the ocean in Santa Monica (p933) and have dinner here.

In Two Days

Keep up with rapidly evolving Downtown LA. Start with its roots at El Pueblo de Los Angeles (p918), and catapult to the future at the dramatic Walt Disney Concert Hall (p920) and Cathedral of our Lady of the Angels (p920). Dim sum brunch in Chinatown (p932) is best walked off with a stroll among the nearby art galleries (p918). The new LA Live entertainment center is home to the Grammy Museum (p920), and if you're lucky you can join Leo, Jack and other celebs watching the Lakers next door at Staples Center (p921). Top it off with cocktails at the rooftop bar of the Standard Downtown LA (p930).

In More Days

Now that you've begun to get the hang of the city, it's time to branch out. Take the following suggestions at your own pace; each has its own brand of fabulousness: Beverly Hills (p924), Los Angeles County Museum of Art (p924), Hollywood Bowl (p935), Huntington Library (p928), Surfrider Beach (p926), Abbot Kinney Blvd (p927), Fashion District (p920), and Spaceland (p935).

an urban renaissance; a climate of openness and experimentation energizes the art, music and fashion scenes; and innovative chefs have kicked local cuisine into high gear.

ORIENTATION

LA County's landmass is vast (88 cities in over 4,000 square miles), but the areas of visitor interest are fairly well defined. About 12 miles inland, Downtown combines history, highbrow culture and global-village pizzazz. Hip-again Hollywood is to the northwest, and urban designer chic and lesbi-gays rule West Hollywood. South of here, Museum Row is Mid-City's main draw, while further west are ritzy Beverly Hills, Westwood (home to UCLA) and Brentwood, with the hilltop Getty Center. Santa Monica is the most tourist-friendly beach town; others include swish but low-key Malibu, boho Venice and hopping Long Beach. Stately Pasadena lies northeast of Downtown.

Getting around is easiest by car, although public transport is usually adequate to most of these neighborhoods.

INFORMATION

Bookstores

Book Soup (Map p925; ☎ 310-659-3110; www.booksoup.com; 8818 W Sunset Blvd, West Hollywood) Frequent celeb sightings.

Distant Lands (Map pp916-17; www.distantlands.com; ☎ 626-449-3220; 56 S Raymond Ave, Pasadena) Treasure chest of travel books, guides and gadgets.

Emergency & Medical Services

Cedars-Sinai Medical Center (Map p925; ☎ 310-423-3277; 8700 Beverly Blvd, West Hollywood; 🕒 24hr emergency)

National Sexual Assault Hotline (☎ 800-656-4673; 🕒 24hr)

Rite-Aid pharmacies (☎ 800-748-3243; 🕒 some 24hr) Call for the nearest branch.

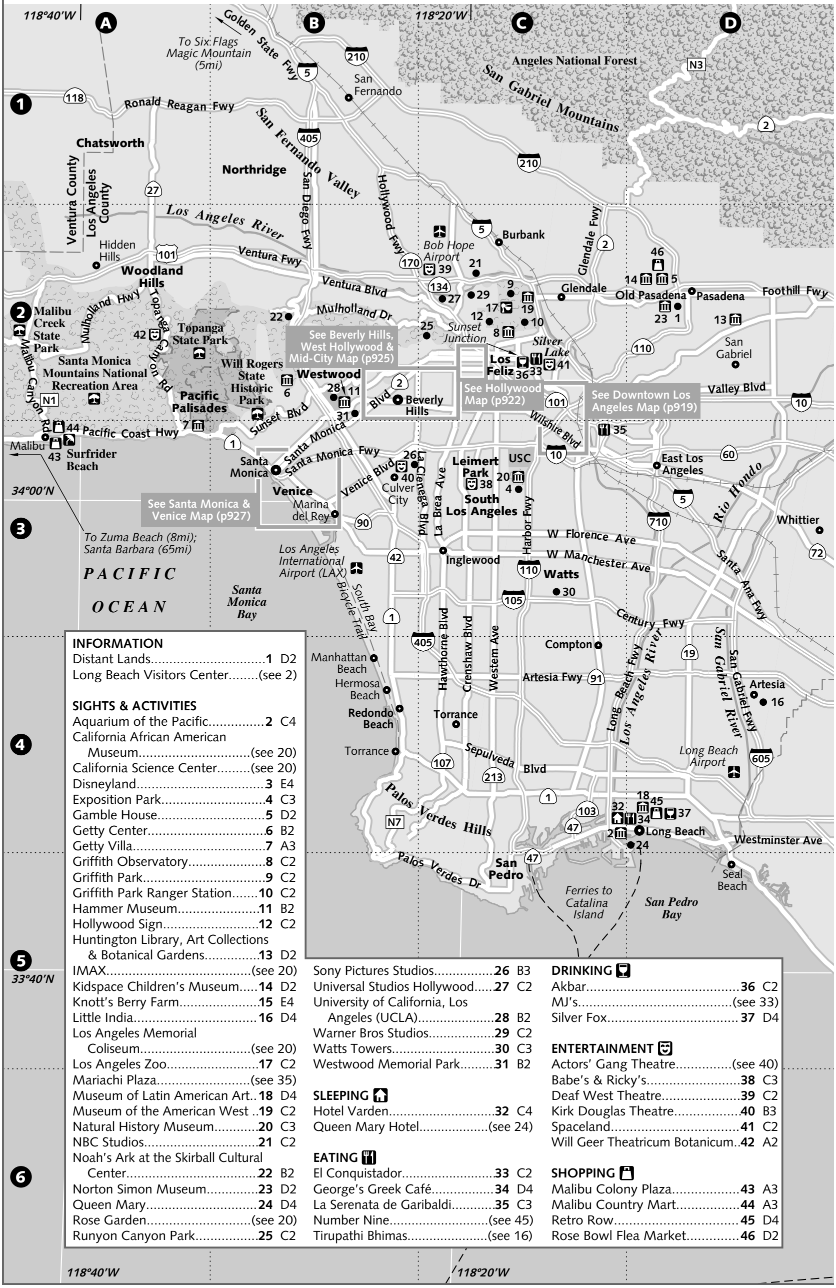
Internet Access

Libraries offer free access. Below are the main branches; phone or visit their websites for branch locations.

Los Angeles Public Library (Map p919; ☎ 213-228-7000; www.lapl.org; 630 W 5th St, Downtown; 🛜)

Santa Monica Public Library (Map p927; ☎ 310-458-8600; www.smpl.org; 601 Santa Monica Blvd; 🛜)

GREATER LOS ANGELES



118°40'W
118°20'W
34°00'N
33°40'N
A
B
C
D
1
2
3
4
5
6
To Six Flags Magic Mountain (5mi)
Golden State Fwy
San Fernando
Angeles National Forest
San Gabriel Mountains
Ronald Reagan Fwy
Chatsworth
Northridge
San Fernando Valley
San Diego Fwy
Hollywood Fwy
Ventura County
Los Angeles County
Los Angeles River
Hidden Hills
Ventura Fwy
Woodland Hills
Burbank
Bob Hope Airport
Glendale Fwy
Glendale
Old Pasadena
Pasadena
Foothill Fwy
Ventura Blvd
Mulholland Dr
Mulholland Hwy
Topanga Canyon Rd
Malibu Creek State Park
Topanga State Park
Santa Monica Mountains National Recreation Area
Will Rogers State Historic Park
Westwood
Pacific Palisades
Sunset Junction
Silver Lake
Los Feliz
See Beverly Hills, West Hollywood & Mid-City Map (p925)
See Hollywood Map (p922)
See Downtown Los Angeles Map (p919)
Beverly Hills
Sunset Blvd
Wilshire Blvd
Valley Blvd
San Gabriel
Malibu Canyon Rd
Pacific Coast Hwy
Malibu
Surfrider Beach
Santa Monica
Santa Monica Fwy
Venice
Venice Blvd
Culver City
Marina del Rey
See Santa Monica & Venice Map (p927)
La Cienega Blvd
La Brea Ave
Leimert Park
South Los Angeles USC Harbor Fwy
East Los Angeles
Rio Hondo
Whittier
To Zuma Beach (8mi); Santa Barbara (65mi)
W Florence Ave
W Manchester Ave
Inglewood
Los Angeles International Airport (LAX) Watts
PACIFIC OCEAN
Santa Monica Bay
South Bay Bicycle Trail
Century Fwy
Santa Ana Fwy
Compton
Manhattan Beach
Hermosa Beach
Redondo Beach
Hawthorne Blvd
Crenshaw Blvd
Western Ave
Artesia Fwy
Long Beach Fwy
Los Angeles River
San Gabriel River
San Gabriel Fwy
Artesia
Torrance
Sepulveda Blvd
Long Beach Airport
Palos Verdes Hills
Palos Verdes Dr
Long Beach
Westminster Ave
San Pedro
Seal Beach
Ferries to Catalina Island
San Pedro Bay

INFORMATION

Distant Lands	1	D2
Long Beach Visitors Center	(see 2)

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

Aquarium of the Pacific	2	C4
California African American Museum	(see 20)
California Science Center	(see 20)
Disneyland	3	E4
Exposition Park	4	C3
Gamble House	5	D2
Getty Center	6	B2
Getty Villa	7	A3
Griffith Observatory	8	C2
Griffith Park	9	C2
Griffith Park Ranger Station	10	C2
Hammer Museum	11	B2
Hollywood Sign	12	C2
Huntington Library, Art Collections & Botanical Gardens	13	D2
IMAX	(see 20)
Kidspace Children's Museum	14	D2
Knott's Berry Farm	15	E4
Little India	16	D4
Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum	(see 20)
Los Angeles Zoo	17	C2
Mariachi Plaza	(see 35)
Museum of Latin American Art	18	D4
Museum of the American West	19	C2
Natural History Museum	20	C3
NBC Studios	21	C2
Noah's Ark at the Skirball Cultural Center	22	B2
Norton Simon Museum	23	D2
Queen Mary	24	D4
Rose Garden	(see 20)
Runyon Canyon Park	25	C2
Sony Pictures Studios	26	B3
Universal Studios Hollywood	27	C2
University of California, Los Angeles (UCLA)	28	B2
Warner Bros Studios	29	C2
Watts Towers	30	C3
Westwood Memorial Park	31	B2

SLEEPING

Hotel Varden	32	C4
Queen Mary Hotel	(see 24)

EATING

El Conquistador	33	C2
George's Greek Café	34	D4
La Serenata de Garibaldi	35	C3
Number Nine	(see 45)
Tirupathi Bhimas	(see 16)

DRINKING

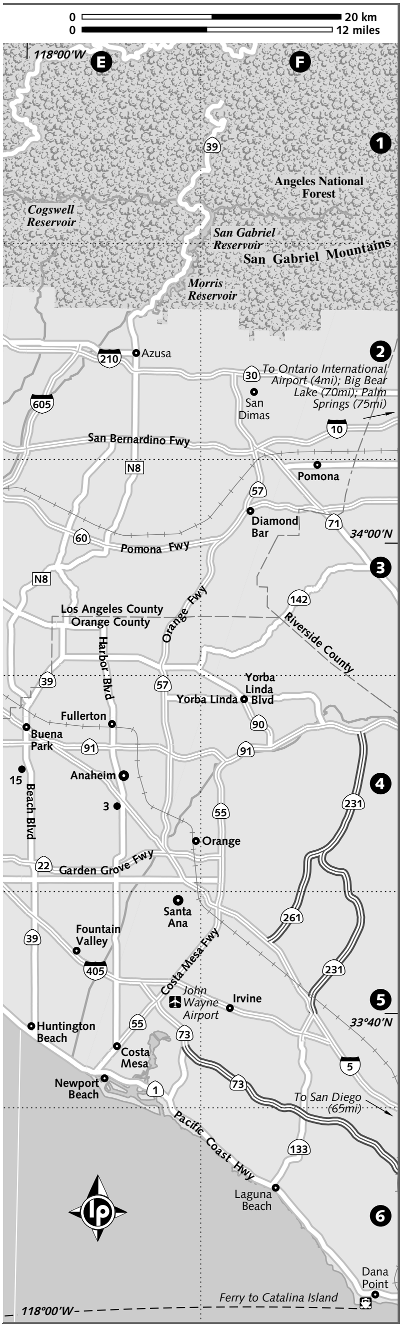
Akbar	36	C2
MJ's	(see 33)
Silver Fox	37	D4

ENTERTAINMENT

Actors' Gang Theatre	(see 40)
Babe's & Ricky's	38	C3
Deaf West Theatre	39	C2
Kirk Douglas Theatre	40	B3
Spaceland	41	C2
Will Geer Theatricum Botanicum	42	A2

SHOPPING

Malibu Colony Plaza	43	A3
Malibu Country Mart	44	A3
Retro Row	45	D4
Rose Bowl Flea Market	46	D2



0 20 km
0 12 miles
118°00'W
E
F
1
2
3
4
5
6 39
Angeles National Forest
Cogswell Reservoir
San Gabriel Reservoir
San Gabriel Mountains
Morris Reservoir
Azusa
210
605
30
To Ontario International Airport (4mi); Big Bear Lake (70mi); Palm Springs (75mi)
San Dimas
10
San Bernardino Fwy
N8
Pomona
57
Diamond Bar
71
34°00'N
60
Pomona Fwy
N8
142
Los Angeles County
Orange County
Orange Fwy
Harbor Blvd
Riverside County
39
57
Yorba Linda Blvd
Yorba Linda Fullerton
90
Buena Park
91
91
15 Anaheim
Beach Blvd
3
231
55
Orange
22
Garden Grove Fwy
Santa Ana
261
Fountain Valley
39
405
Costa Mesa Fwy
231
John Wayne Airport
Irvine
33°40'N
Huntington Beach
55
73
Costa Mesa
5
Newport Beach
1 73
To San Diego (65mi)
Pacific Coast Hwy
133
Laguna Beach
Dana Point
Ferry to Catalina Island
118°00'W

Internet Resources

Daily Candy LA (www.dailycandy.com) Little bites of LA style.

Discover Los Angeles (http://discoverlosangeles.com) Official tourist office site.

Flavorpill (http://flavorpill.com/losangeles) Hip city culture guide.

Gridskipper LA (www.gridskipper.com/travel/los-angeles) Urban travel guide to the offbeat.

LA Observed (www.laobserved.com) News blog that rounds up – and often scoops – other media.

LA.com (www.la.com) Clued-in guide to shopping, dining, nightlife and events.

Media

KCRW 89.9 FM (www.kcrw.org) A Santa Monica–based National Public Radio (NPR) station that plays cutting-edge music and airs well-chosen public affairs programming.

KPCC 89.3 FM (www.kpcc.org) Pasadena-based NPR station with NPR and BBC programming and intelligent local talk shows.

LA Weekly (www.laweekly.com) Free alternative news and listings magazine.

Los Angeles Magazine (www.losangelesmagazine.com) Glossy lifestyle monthly with a useful restaurant guide.

Los Angeles Times (www.latimes.com) The West's leading daily and winner of dozens of Pulitzer Prizes. Embattled but still useful.

Money

American Express (Map p925; ☎ 310-659-1682; Beverly Connection; 8493 W 3rd St, Mid-City; ⌚ 9am-6pm Mon-Fri, 10am-3pm Sat)

Travelex (Map p925; ☎ 310-659-6093; US Bank, 8901 Santa Monica Blvd; ⌚ 9am-2pm & 3pm-6pm Mon-Fri, 9am-1pm Sat)

Post

Call ☎ 800-275-8777 or visit www.usps.com for the nearest branch.

Telephone

LA County is covered by nearly a dozen area codes, some shared with neighboring counties. Dial 1 + area code before all numbers.

Tourist Information

Beverly Hills (Map p925; ☎ 310-248-1015, 800-345-2210; www.lovebeverlyhills.org; 239 S Beverly Dr, Beverly Hills; ⌚ 8:30am-5pm Mon-Fri)

Downtown LA (Map p919; ☎ 213-689-8822; http://discoverlosangeles.com; 685 S Figueroa St; ⌚ 8:30am-5pm Mon-Fri)

HOT TOPIC: ACTUALLY, SOME PEOPLE DO WALK IN LA

'No one walks in LA,' the '80s band Missing Persons famously sang. That was then. Fed up with traffic, smog and high gas prices, the city that defined car culture is developing a foot culture. Angelenos are moving into more densely populated neighborhoods and walking, cycling and taking public transit.

The turning point was the extension of Metro Red Line subway in 2003, connecting Union Station in Downtown LA to the San Fernando Valley via Koreatown, Hollywood and Universal Studios. Base yourself near one of the arty stations, and you may not need a car at all. Particularly convenient stations include Pershing Sq and 7th St/Metro Center in Downtown, and Hollywood/Highland in Hollywood. Unlimited-ride tickets at $5 a day are a downright bargain; plus, given LA's legendary traffic, it's often faster to travel below ground than above. Light-rail lines connect Downtown with Long Beach, Pasadena, East LA and Culver City.

The catch: going further afield. While eventual plans call for a 'Subway to the Sea', for now you'll be busing it to Mid-City, Beverly Hills, Westwood and Santa Monica. The easiest transfer is to the Rapid 720 bus (at Wilshire/Vermont station on the Red Line or Wilshire/Western on the Purple Line), which makes limited stops along Wilshire Blvd.

For more information see Getting Around (p936) and visit www.metro.net.

Hollywood (Map p922; ☎ 323-467-6412; Hollywood & Highland complex, 6801 Hollywood Blvd; 🕑 10am-10pm Mon-Sat, 10am-7pm Sun)

Long Beach (Map pp916-17; ☎ 562-628-8850; www.visitlongbeach.com; 🕑 11am-7pm daily Jun-Sep, 11am-5pm Sat & Sun Oct-May) Outside Aquarium of the Pacific.

Santa Monica (☎ 310-393-7593, 800-544-5319; www.santamonica.com) Visitor Center (Map p927; 1920 Main St; 🕑 9am-6pm); Information Kiosk (Map p927; ☎ 1400 Ocean Ave; 🕑 9am-5pm Jun-Aug, 10am-4pm Sep-May)

SIGHTS

Each LA neighborhood has its unique appeal. For great museums and architecture, head to Downtown, Mid-City or Pasadena. West Hollywood has the legendary Sunset Strip and trendy shopping, and the beach towns are great for soaking up the laid-back SoCal vibe.

Downtown

For decades, Downtown was LA's historic core and main business and government district – and empty nights and weekends. That's changing, as evidenced by the crowds at LA Live entertainment district and Walt Disney Concert Hall, cheering the Lakers at Staples Center arena and strolling the Grand Ave cultural corridor.

The real changes are more subtle. Thousands of young professionals, college kids and artists have moved into newly created lofts. Bars, restaurants and movie theaters have followed, and there's a growing gallery district. Of course, things don't change overnight, so don't expect Manhattan. But the momentum is undeniable, and for adventurous urbanites, now is an exciting time to be Downtown.

Downtown is easily explored on foot or by subway or DASH minibus (p937). Parking is cheapest (about $6 all day) around Little Tokyo and Chinatown.

EL PUEBLO DE LOS ANGELES & AROUND

Compact, colorful and car-free, this historic district is an immersion in LA's Spanish-Mexican roots and protects the city's oldest buildings, most notably the 1818 Avila Adobe (Map p919; ☎ 213-628-1274, Olvera St; admission free; 🕑 9am-4pm). It's right on Olvera Street, a festive tack-o-rama where you can chomp on tacos and stock up on handmade candy and folkloric trinkets. The visitor center (Map p919; ☎ 213-628-1274; Sepulveda House, Olvera St; 🕑 9am-4pm) has free self-guided tour pamphlets.

The majestic 1939 Union Station (Map p919; 800 N Alameda St; Ⓟ) is the last of America's grand rail stations; its glamorous art-deco interior can be seen in Blade Runner, Bugsy and many other movies.

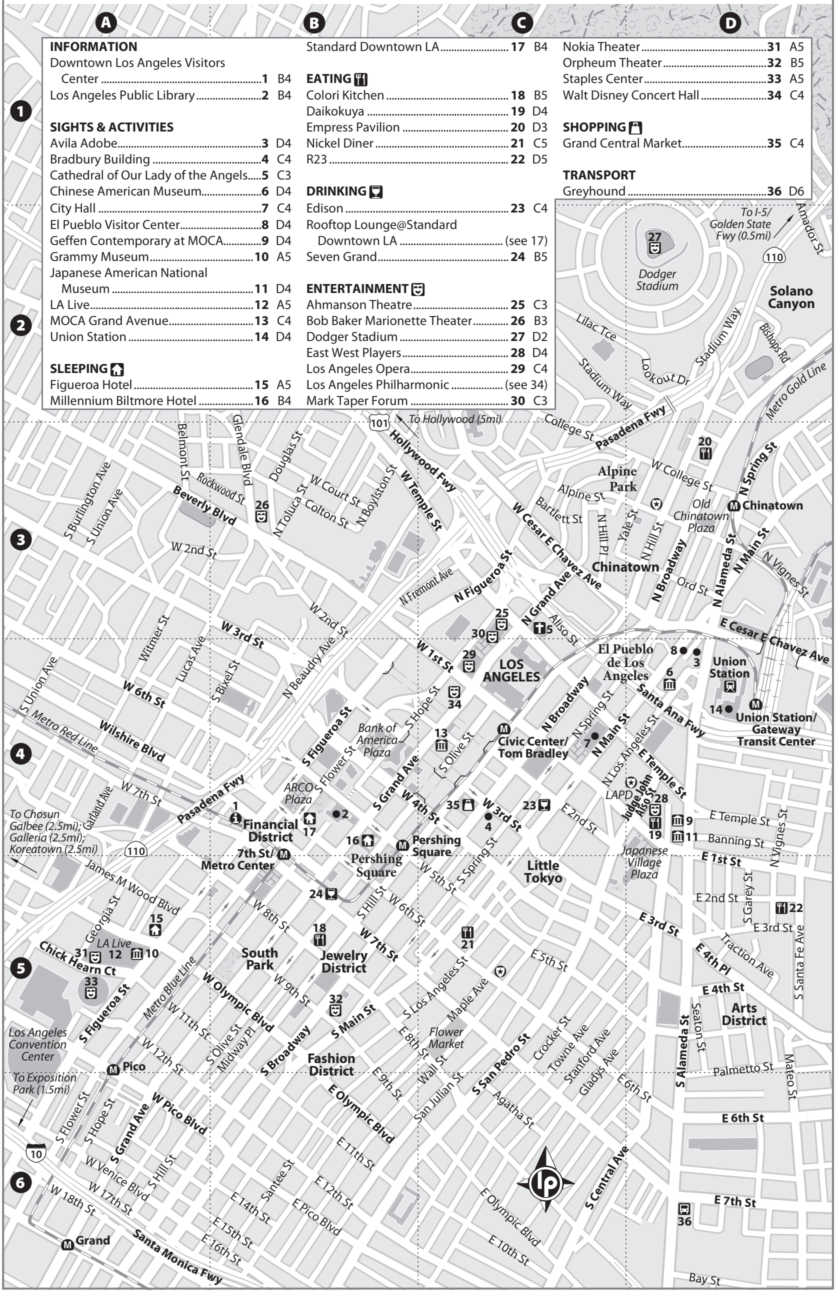
The Chinese–American community's trials and triumphs are documented in the small Chinese American Museum (Map p919; ☎ 213-485-8567; www.camla.org; 425 N Los Angeles St; adult/student/senior $3/2/2; 🕑 10am-3pm Tue-Sun); Chinatown (Map p919) is a few blocks north along Broadway and Hill St, crammed with dim sum parlors, exotic temples, herbal apothecaries and curio shops. On once run-down Chung King Road, an

DOWNTOWN LOS ANGELES



0 1 km
0 0.5 miles
A
B
C
D
1
2
3
4
5
6
To I-5/ Golden State Fwy (0.5mi)
Amador St
110 Dodger Stadium
Solano Canyon
Lilac Tce
Stadium Way
Bishops Rd
Lookout Dr
Stadium Way
Metro Gold Line
College St
Pasadena Fwy
101
To Hollywood (5mi)
Hollywood Fwy
W Temple St
Belmont St
Glendale Blvd
Rockwood St
Douglas St
W Court St
Colton St
N Toluca St
N Boylston St
Beverly Blvd
S Burlington Ave
S Union Ave
W 2nd St
Alpine Park
W College St
Alpine St
Bartlett St
N Hill Pl
Yale St
N Hill St
Old Chinatown Plaza
N Spring St
Chinatown
N Alameda St
N Main St
N Vignes St
Ord St
N Broadway
W Cesar E Chavez Ave
N Figueroa St
N Fremont Ave
N Grand Ave
Aliso St
W 2nd St
W 3rd St
Witmer St
Lucas Ave
S Bixel St
N Beaudry Ave
W 1st St
LOS ANGELES
El Pueblo de Los Angeles
E Cesar E Chavez Ave
Union Station
Santa Ana Fwy
Union Station/ Gateway Transit Center
W 6th St
S Union Ave
Metro Red Line
Wilshire Blvd
S Figueroa St
Bank of America Plaza
S Hope St
S Olive St
N Broadway
N Spring St
N Main St
Civic Center/ Tom Bradley
N Los Angeles St
E Temple St
LAPD
Judge John Aiso St
W 7th St
Garland Ave
Pasadena Fwy
S Flower St
ARCO Plaza
S Grand Ave
W 4th St
W 3rd St
E 2nd St
E Temple St
Banning St
To Chosun Galbee (2.5mi); Galleria (2.5mi); Koreatown (2.5mi)
110 Financial District
7th St/ Metro Center
Pershing Square
Pershing Square
S Spring St
W 5th St
Little Tokyo
Japanese Village Plaza
E 1st St
N Vignes St
James M Wood Blvd
W 8th St
S Hill St
W 6th St
E 2nd St
S Garey St
E 3rd St
Georgia St
LA Live
Chick Hearn Ct
South Park
Jewelry District
W 7th St
E 3rd St
E 4th Pl
Traction Ave
S Santa Fe Ave
W 9th St
E 5th St
S Los Angeles St
Maple Ave
E 4th St
Arts District
Metro Blue Line
W Olympic Blvd
W 11th St
S Main St
S Figueroa St
Los Angeles Convention Center
S Olive St
Midway Pl
S Broadway
E 8th St
Flower Market
S San Pedro St
Crocker St
Towne Ave
Stanford Ave
Gladys Ave
S Alameda St
Seaton St
Palmetto St
Mateo St
W 12th St
Pico
Fashion District
E 9th St
Wall St
San Julian St
Agatha St
E 6th St
E 6th St
To Exposition Park (1.5mi)
S Flower St
S Hope St
S Grand Ave
W Pico Blvd
E Olympic Blvd
10
W Venice Blvd
S Hill St
E 11th St
Santee St
E 12th St
S Central Ave
E 7th St
W 18th St
W 17th St
E 14th St
E Pico Blvd
E Olympic Blvd
Grand
Santa Monica Fwy
E 15th St
E 16th St
E 10th St
Bay St
lp

INFORMATION

Downtown Los Angeles Visitors Center	1	B4
Los Angeles Public Library	2	B4

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

Avila Adobe	3	D4
Bradbury Building	4	C4
Cathedral of Our Lady of the Angels	5	C3
Chinese American Museum	6	D4
City Hall	7	C4
El Pueblo Visitor Center	8	D4
Geffen Contemporary at MOCA	9	D4
Grammy Museum	10	A5
Japanese American National Museum	11	D4
LA Live	12	A5
MOCA Grand Avenue	13	C4
Union Station	14	D4

SLEEPING 🏠

Figueroa Hotel	15	A5
Millennium Biltmore Hotel	16	B4
Standard Downtown LA	17	B4

EATING 🍴

Colori Kitchen	18	B5
Daikokuya	19	D4
Empress Pavilion	20	D3
Nickel Diner	21	C5
R23	22	D5

DRINKING 🍸

Edison	23	C4
Rooftop Lounge@Standard Downtown LA	(see 17)
Seven Grand	24	B5

ENTERTAINMENT 🎭

Ahmanson Theatre	25	C3
Bob Baker Marionette Theater	26	B3
Dodger Stadium	27	D2
East West Players	28	D4
Los Angeles Opera	29	C4
Los Angeles Philharmonic	(see 34)
Mark Taper Forum	30	C3
Nokia Theater	31	A5
Orpheum Theater	32	B5
Staples Center	33	A5
Walt Disney Concert Hall	34	C4

SHOPPING 🛍

Grand Central Market	35	C4

TRANSPORT

Greyhound	36	D6

edgy gallery scene now lures hipsters from around town.

CIVIC CENTER & GRAND AVENUE CULTURAL CORRIDOR

Until 1966 no LA building stood taller than City Hall (Map p919; ☎ 213-978-1995; 200 N Spring St; admission free; 🕘 9am-5pm Mon-Fri, free tours 10am & 11am Mon-Fri by appointment). The 1928 building, with its ziggurat-shaped top, has cameoed in the Superman and Dragnet TV series and the 1953 sci-fi thriller War of the Worlds. There are some cool views of Downtown and the mountains from the observation deck.

Just uphill, the Grand Ave Cultural Corridor is anchored by architect Frank Gehry's now-iconic Walt Disney Concert Hall (2003; Map p919; ☎ 323-850-2000; www.laphil.com; 111 S Grand Ave), a gravity-defying sculpture of curving and billowing stainless-steel walls; it is the home base of the Los Angeles Philharmonic. Free tours are available subject to concert schedules. Parking is $8. For performance information, see p934.

Nearby, the Museum of Contemporary Art (MoCA; Map p919; ☎ 213-626-6222; www.moca.org; 250 S Grand Ave; adult/child/student & senior $10/free/5, 5-8pm Thu free; 🕘 11am-5pm Mon & Fri, 11am-8pm Thu, 11am-6pm Sat & Sun) offers headline-grabbing special exhibits; its permanent collection presents all the art world's heavy hitters from the 1940s to the present. It's in a building by Arata Isozaki; many consider it his masterpiece. Parking is $8, at Walt Disney Concert Hall. There are two other branches of MoCA: the Geffen Contemporary (Map p919) in Little Tokyo and the MoCA Pacific Design Center (Map p925) in West Hollywood. For more on the Pacific Design Center, see p923.

Walking north along Grand Ave, you will pass the Dorothy Chandler Pavilion, Mark Taper Forum and Ahmanson Theater, which (along with Disney Hall) make up the Music Center of Los Angeles County. For performance information, see p934.

Diagonally across, architect José Rafael Moneo mixed Gothic proportions with bold contemporary design for his 2002 Cathedral of Our Lady of the Angels (Map p919; ☎ 213-680-5200; www.olacathedral.org; 555 W Temple St; admission free; 🕘 6:30am-6pm Mon-Fri, 9am-6pm Sat, 7am-6pm Sun). It teems with art and sparkles with serenity achieved by soft light filtering in through alabaster panes; Gregory Peck is buried in the subterranean mausoleum. Tours (1pm, Monday to Friday) and recitals (12:45pm Wednesday) are both free and popular Unless you're coming for Mass, weekday parking is expensive – $3.50 per 15 minutes ($16.50 maximum) until 4pm, $5 on Saturday – but there's usually street parking at meters nearby.

PERSHING SQUARE & AROUND

The hub of historic Downtown, Pershing Square (Map p919) was LA's first park in 1866 and is now a postmodern concrete patch enlivened by public art, summer concerts and the grand old Millennium Biltmore Hotel (p930). The forest of office high-rises north of here marks the bustling Financial District.

Gold and diamonds are the main currency in the Jewelry District (Map p919) along Hill St, while Latino-flavored Broadway has the 1893 Bradbury Building (Map p919; ☎ 213-626-1893; 304 S Broadway; admission free; 🕘 9am-6pm Mon-Fri, to 5pm Sat & Sun); its dazzling galleried atrium featured prominently in Blade Runner. The frenzied and sawdust-sprinkled Grand Central Market (Map p919; ☎ 213-624-2378; 317 S Broadway; 🕘 9am-6pm) across the street has some fun nosh spots.

In the early 20th century, cacophonous Broadway was a glamorous shopping and theater strip, where megastars such as Charlie Chaplin leapt from limos to attend premieres at lavish movie palaces. Some – such as the Orpheum Theater (Map p919; 842 Broadway) – have been restored and again host screenings and parties. The best way to get inside is on tours run by the Los Angeles Conservancy (p929).

Shopaholics should head south to the Fashion District (see p921) to forage for designer knockoffs, sample sales and original designs.

SOUTH PARK

The southwestern corner of Downtown, South Park isn't a park but an emerging neighborhood, including the Staples Center arena, LA Convention Center and the new entertainment hub, LA Live. This $1.7 billion megaproject is putting Downtown LA onto the map of must-go destinations for both locals and visitors.

Music pulses through LA Live (www.lalive.com, 800 W Olympic Blvd). The Grammy Museum (Map p919; ☎ 213-765-6800; www.grammymuseum.org; 800 W Olympic Blvd; adult/child/senior & student $14.95/10.95/11.95; 🕘 11:30am-7:30pm Sun-Fri, 10am-7:30pm Sat) opened here in 2008, with mind-expanding interactive displays of the history of American music and plenty of listening opportunities. Nearby is the 7100-seat Nokia Theatre (Map p919; 213-763-6030, www.nokiatheatrelive.com, 777 Chick Hearn Ct), which hosts the MTV Music Awards and American Idol finals. LA Live also includes live-music clubs, a megaplex movie theater, a dozen restaurants and a 54-story hotel tower shared by Marriott and Ritz-Carlton.

The flying-saucer-shaped Staples Center (Map p919; ☎ 213-742-7340; www.staplescenter.com; 1111 S Figueroa St) is a sports and entertainment arena with all the high-tech trappings. It's home to the Lakers, Clippers and Sparks basketball teams, as well as the Kings ice hockey team. Major headliners – Barbra Streisand to Justin Timberlake – also perform here.

Heading east on Olympic Blvd takes you into the heart of the Fashion District (Map p919; ☎ 213-488-1153; www.fashiondistrict.org), a 90-block nirvana for bargain hunters, even if shopping around here is more Middle Eastern bazaar than Rodeo Dr, and haggling is ubiquitous. There's a head-spinning selection of samples, knockoffs and original designs at cutrate prices.

Nearby, LA's flower market (Map p919; ☎ 213-627-3696; Wall St; Mon-Fri $2, Sat $1; 🕒 8am-noon Mon, Wed & Fri, 6am-noon Tue, Thu & Sat), between 7th and 8th Sts, is the largest in the country and dates back to 1913.

Parking at South Park is in private lots ($8 to $20). South Park is near the Blue Line light-rail.

LITTLE TOKYO

Little Tokyo swirls with shopping malls, Buddhist temples, public art, traditional gardens, and authentic sushi bars and izakaya (pubs). The Japanese American National Museum (Map p919; ☎ 213-625-0414; www.janm.org; 369 E 1st St; adult/child/student & senior $9/free/5, 5-8pm Thu free; 🕒 11am-5pm Tue, Wed & Fri-Sun, noon-8pm Thu) offers an in-depth look at the Japanese immigrant experience, including the painful chapter of the WWII internment camps.

Arty types can pop next door to gawk at the cutting-edge and often provocative exhibits at the Geffen Contemporary at MOCA (Map p919; ☎ 213-626-6222; www.moca.org; 152 N Central Ave).

Exposition Park & Around

Just south of Downtown LA, Exposition Park (Map pp916-17; 🕒 24hr) has enough kid-friendly museums, historic sports facilities and green spaces to keep you busy for a day. Parking is $8.

Dinos to diamonds, bears to beetles, hissing roaches to an ultra-rare megamouth shark – the old-school Natural History Museum (Map pp916-17; ☎ 213-763-3466; www.nhm.org; 900 Exposition Blvd; adult/child/senior & student $9/2/6.50; 🕒 9:30am-5pm; 👪) will take you around the world and back millions of years in time. Kids love digging for fossils in the Discovery Center and making friends with creepy crawlies in the Insect Zoo.

A simulated earthquake, hatching baby chicks and a giant techno-doll named Tess bring out the kid in all of us at the California Science Center (Map pp916-17; ☎ 323-724-3623; www.californiasciencecenter.org; 700 State Dr; admission free; 🕒 10am-5pm; 👪), a great hands-on science museum. The IMAX (Map pp916-17; ☎ 213-744-7400; adult/child/senior & student $8/4.75/5.75; 👪) next door is ideal for capping off an action-filled day.

More grown-up attractions are the California African American Museum (Map pp916-17; ☎ 213-744-7432; www.caamuseum.org; 600 State Dr; admission free; 🕒 10am-5pm Tue-Sat, 11am-5pm Sun), a handsome showcase of African American art, culture and history; the romantic Rose Garden (Map pp916-17; admission free; 🕒 9am-dusk mid-Mar–Dec); and the 1923 Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum (Map pp916–17), site of the 1932 and 1984 Summer Olympic Games.

The area south of Exposition Park, known as South Los Angeles, is no stranger to poverty and crime. But one good reason to venture here is the world-famous Watts Towers (Map pp916-17; ☎ 213-847-4646; 1727 E 107th St; tours adult/child/senior & teen $7/free/3; 🕒 10am-4pm Tue-Sat, noon-4pm Sun, tours 10:30am-3pm Thu-Sat, 12:30-3pm Sun; P), a huge and fantastical free-form sculpture cobbled together from found objects – from green 7-Up bottles to seashells and pottery shards – by artist Simon Rodía.

Hollywood

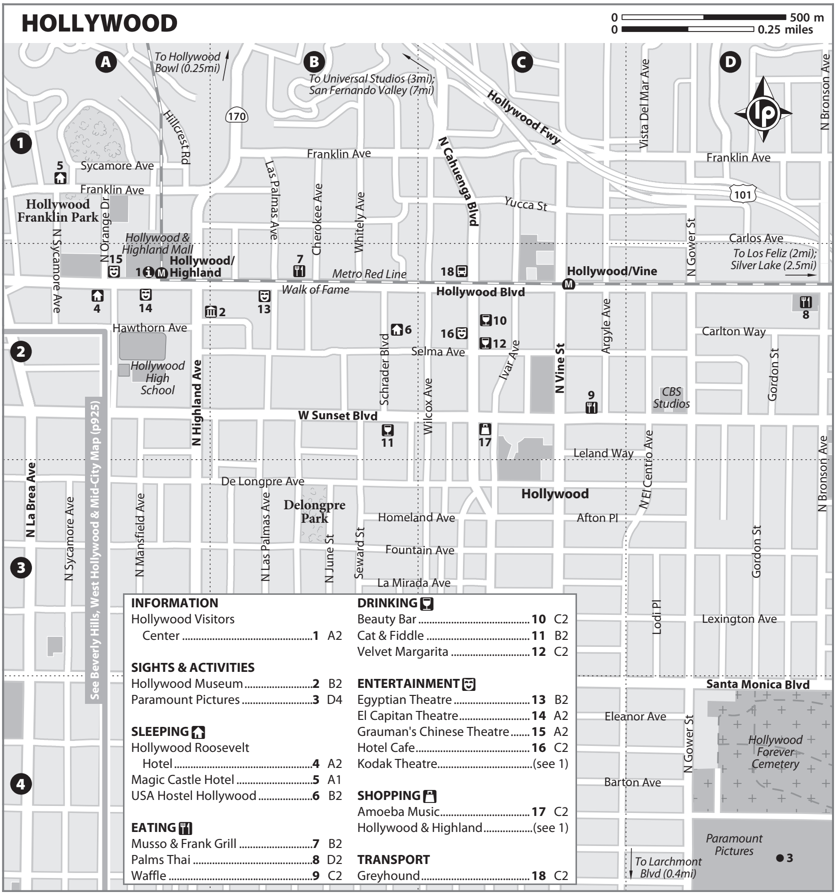
Aging movie stars know that a facelift can pump up a drooping career. The legendary Hollywood Boulevard has received similar preening and sprucing in recent years. While it still hasn't recaptured its Golden Age glamour (1920s–40s), much of its late-20th-century seediness is gone.

Even the most jaded visitor may thrill in the famous forecourt of Grauman's Chinese Theatre (1927; Map p922; ☎ 323-464-6266; 6925 Hollywood Blvd; 👪), where generations of screen legends have left their imprints in cement: feet, hands, dreadlocks (Whoopi Goldberg), and even magic wands (the young stars of the Harry Potter films). Actors dressed as Superman, Marilyn Monroe and the like are usually on hand to pose for photos (for tips), and it's a good bet you'll be offered free tickets to TV shows (those in season). It's on the Hollywood Walk of Fame (Map p922), which honors more than 2000 celebrities with stars embedded in the sidewalk.

Real-life celebs sashay along the red carpet for the Academy Awards next door at the Kodak Theatre (Map p922; ☎ 323-308-6363; www.kodaktheatre.com; adult/child & senior $15/10; 🕒 10:30am-4pm Jun-Aug, 10:30am-2:30pm Sep-May; closed irregularly). Pricey 30-minute tours take you inside the auditorium, the VIP room and past an actual Oscar statuette.

The spark plug for the neighborhood's rebirth was Hollywood & Highland (Map p922; ☎ 323-467-6412; www.hollywoodandhighland.com; 6801 Hollywood Blvd; admission free; 🕒 24hr), a multistory mall marrying kitsch and commerce. The main plaza is designed to frame views of LA's most recognizable landmark, the Hollywood Sign (Map pp916–17), which was erected in the Hollywood Hills in 1923 as an advertising gimmick for a real-estate development called Hollywoodland.

Across Hollywood Blvd is the flamboyant 1926 El Capitan Theatre (Map p922; ☎ 323-467-7674; 6838 Hollywood Blvd), which shows Disney blockbusters. Down the street, the exotic



HOLLYWOOD
0 500 m
0 0.25 miles
A
B
C
D
1
2
3
4
To Hollywood Bowl (0.25mi)
To Universal Studios (3mi); San Fernando Valley (7mi)
Hollywood Fwy
170
101
Hillcrest Rd
Sycamore Ave
Franklin Ave
Hollywood Franklin Park
N Sycamore Ave
N Orange Dr
Hollywood & Highland Mall
Hollywood/Highland Las Palmas Ave
Cherokee Ave
Whitely Ave
N Cahuenga Blvd
Yucca St
Vista Del Mar Ave
N Gower St
Carlos Ave
To Los Feliz (2mi); Silver Lake (2.5mi)
N Bronson Ave
Metro Red Line
Walk of Fame
Hollywood Blvd
Hollywood/Vine
Hawthorn Ave
Hollywood High School
N Highland Ave
Schrader Blvd
Selma Ave
Wilcox Ave
Ivar Ave
N Vine St
Argyle Ave
Carlton Way
Gordon St
CBS Studios
W Sunset Blvd
Leland Way
N El Centro Ave
De Longpre Ave
Delongpre Park
Hollywood
Afton Pl
Homeland Ave
Fountain Ave
La Mirada Ave
N La Brea Ave
N Sycamore Ave
N Mansfield Ave
N Las Palmas Ave
N June St
Seward St
Lodi Pl
Lexington Ave
Santa Monica Blvd
Eleanor Ave
Barton Ave
Hollywood Forever Cemetery
Paramount Pictures
To Larchmont Blvd (0.4mi)
See Beverly Hills, West Hollywood & Mid-City Map (p925)
1
2
3
4
5
6
7
8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16
17 18

INFORMATION
Hollywood Visitors Center	1	A2
SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES
Hollywood Museum	2	B2
Paramount Pictures	3	D4
SLEEPING
Hollywood Roosevelt Hotel	4	A2
Magic Castle Hotel	5	A1
USA Hostel Hollywood	6	B2
EATING
Musso & Frank Grill	7	B2
Palms Thai	8	D2
Waffle	9	C2
DRINKING
Beauty Bar	10	C2
Cat & Fiddle	11	B2
Velvet Margarita	12	C2
ENTERTAINMENT
Egyptian Theatre	13	B2
El Capitan Theatre	14	A2
Grauman's Chinese Theatre	15	A2
Hotel Cafe	16	C2
Kodak Theatre	(see 1)
SHOPPING
Amoeba Music	17	C2
Hollywood & Highland	(see 1)
TRANSPORT
Greyhound	18	C2

TOURING THE STUDIOS

Half the fun of visiting Hollywood is hoping you'll see stars. Up the odds by being part of the studio audience of a sitcom or game show, which usually tape between August and March. For free tickets, contact Audiences Unlimited (☎ 818-260-0041; www.tvtickets.com) or stop by its booth inside Universal Studios Hollywood (p924).

For an authentic behind-the-scenes look, take a small-group tour by open-sided shuttle at Paramount Pictures (Map p922; ☎ 323-956-1777; 5555 Melrose Ave, Hollywood; tours $35, minimum age 12yr; 🕓 Mon-Fri), Warner Bros Studios (Map pp916-17; ☎ 818-972-8687; www2.warnerbros.com/vipstudiotour; 3400 Riverside Dr, Burbank, San Fernando Valley; tours $45, minimum age 8yr; 🕓 8:30am-4pm Mon-Fri, longer in spring & summer) or walking tours of Sony Pictures Studios (Map pp916-17; ☎ 323-520-8687; 10202 W Washington Blvd, Culver City; tours $25; 🕓 9:30am, 10:30am, 12:30pm, 1:30pm & 2:30pm Mon-Fri; 🅿). All of these show you around sound stages and backlots (outdoor sets), and into such departments as wardrobe and make-up. Reservations are required; bring photo ID.

1922 Egyptian Theatre (Map p922; ☎ 323-466-3456; www.americancinematheque.com; 6712 Hollywood Blvd) is home to the American Cinematheque, which presents arty retrospectives and Q&As with directors, writers and actors.

The slightly musty Hollywood Museum (Map p922; ☎ 323-464-7776; www.thehollywoodmuseum.com; 1660 N Highland Ave; adult/student/senior $15/12/12; 🕓 10am-5pm Wed-Sun) is a 35,000-sq-ft shrine to the stars, crammed with kitsch, knickknacks and props out of shows starring celebrities from Charlie Chaplin to Zac Efron.

The Metro Red Line (see p918) stops beneath Hollywood & Highland Mall. Validated parking here costs $2 for four hours.

Griffith Park, Silver Lake & Los Feliz

America's largest urban park, Griffith Park (Map pp916-17; ☎ 323-913-4688; admission free; 🕓 6am-10pm, trails close at dusk; 🅿 👶) is a playground for all age levels and interests. Five times the size of New York's Central Park, it embraces an outdoor theater, zoo, observatory, museum, antique trains, golf, tennis, playgrounds, bridle paths, 53 miles of hiking trails, Batman's caves and even the Hollywood Sign. The Ranger Station (4730 Crystal Springs Dr) has maps.

For family fun, make friends with 1200 finned, feathered and furry creatures at the Los Angeles Zoo (Map pp916-17; ☎ 323-644-4200; www.lazoo.org; 5333 Zoo Dr; adult/child/senior $12/7/9; 🕓 10am-5pm; 🅿 👶). Then hop over to the Museum of the American West (Map pp916-17; ☎ 323-667-2000; www.autrynationalcenter.org; 4700 Western Heritage Way; adult/child/student/senior $9/3/5/5, free 2nd Tue each month; 🕓 10am-5pm Tue-Sun, to 8pm Thu Jun-Aug; 🅿 👶), where exhibits on the good, the bad and the ugly of America's westward expansion rope in even the most reluctant of cowpokes. Star exhibits include an original stagecoach, a large Colt firearms collection and a nymph-festooned saloon.

Above Los Feliz loom the iconic triple domes of the 1935 Griffith Observatory (Map pp916-17; ☎ 213-473-0800; www.griffithobservatory.org; 2800 Observatory Rd; admission free, planetarium shows adult/child/senior $7/3/5; 🕓 noon-10pm Tue-Fri, 10am-10pm Sat & Sun; 🅿 👶). A recent makeover brought a super-techie star projector to its planetarium and doubled the exhibit space, including films in the Leonard Nimoy Event Horizon Theater. During clear night-time skies, you can often peer through the telescopes at heavenly bodies.

West Hollywood

Rainbow flags fly proudly over Santa Monica Blvd. Celebs keep the gossip rags happy by misbehaving at the clubs on the fabled Sunset Strip. Boutiques on Robertson Blvd and Melrose Ave are ground zero for sassy and chic. Welcome to the city of West Hollywood (WeHo), 1.9 sq miles of pure personality.

WeHo's also a hotbed of cutting-edge design for furniture and furnishings, particularly along the Avenues of Art and Design around Beverly Blvd and Melrose Ave. Some 130 galleries fill the monolithic 'blue whale' and 'green whale' of the Pacific Design Center (PDC; Map p925; ☎ 310-657-0800; www.pacificdesigncenter.com; 8687 Melrose Ave; 9am-5pm Mon-Fri), designed by Cesar Pelli (of Malaysia's Petronas Towers fame), though most sales are to the trade only; a 'red whale' was under construction at the time of writing this book. There's also a small offshoot of the Museum of Contemporary Art (MoCA, p920, Map p925, admission free) behind PDC's main buildings. Parking is $4.50 per hour.

WORTH A TRIP: UNIVERSAL STUDIOS HOLLYWOOD

Universal Studios (Map pp916-17; ☎ 818-622-3801; www.universalstudioshollywood.com; 100 Universal City Plaza; admission over/under 48in $67/57; 🕒 open daily, hours vary; 👶) first opened to the public in 1915, when studio head Carl Laemmle invited visitors at a quaint 25¢ each (including a boxed lunch) to watch silent films being made. Nearly a century later, Universal remains one of the world's largest movie studios, even if today's visitors are directed to movie-based theme parks at which their chances of seeing an actual movie shoot are approximately nil.

Nonetheless, generations of visitors have had a ball here. Start with the 45-minute narrated Studio Tour aboard a giant, multicar tram that takes you past working soundstages and outdoor sets like Desperate Housewives (when there's no filming). Also prepare to survive a shark attack à la Jaws and an 8.3-magnitude earthquake. It's hokey but fun.

Of Universal's thrill rides, top billing goes to the Simpsons Ride, a motion-simulated romp 'designed' by Krusty the Klown. Special Effects Stages give you the park's best glimpse into the craft of movie-making (green-screening, sound, etc). Water World may have bombed as a movie, but the live action show based on it is a runaway hit, with stunts including giant fireballs and a crash-landing seaplane.

Parking is $12, or arrive via Metro Red Line.

A point of pilgrimage is the Schindler House (Map p925; ☎ 323-651-1510; www.makcenter.org; 835 N Kings Rd; adult/senior & student $7/6, 4-6pm Fri free; 🕒 11am-6pm Wed-Sun), which pioneering modernist architect Rudolph Schindler (1887–1953) made his home. It now houses changing exhibits and lectures.

Mid-City

Among LA's dozens of great museums, some of the best line Museum Row, a short stretch of Wilshire Blvd just east of Fairfax Ave.

Los Angeles County Museum of Art (LACMA; Map p925; ☎ 323-857-6000; www.lacma.org; 5905 Wilshire Blvd; adult/child under 17yr/student & senior $12/free/8, 'pay what you wish' after 5pm, free on 2nd Tue of each month; 🕒 noon-8pm Mon, Tue & Thu, noon-9pm Fri, 11am-8pm Sat & Sun) is one of the country's top art museums and the largest in the western USA. A major 2008 revamp masterminded by Renzo Piano brought to LACMA the three-story Broad Contemporary Art Museum (B-CAM); the collection includes seminal pieces by Jeff Koons, Roy Lichtenstein and Andy Warhol, and two gigantic works in rusted steel by Richard Serra.

The rest of LACMA brims with thousands of paintings, sculpture and decorative arts: Rembrandt, Cézanne and Magritte; ancient pottery from China, Turkey and Iran; photographs by Ansel Adams or Henri Cartier-Bresson; and a jewelbox of a Japanese pavilion. There are often headline-grabbing touring exhibits. Parking is $7.

A four-story ode to the auto, the Petersen Automotive Museum (Map p925; ☎ 323-930-2277; www.petersen.org; 6060 Wilshire Blvd; adult/child/senior & student $10/3/5; 🕒 10am-6pm Tue-Sun; 👶) exhibits shiny vintage cars galore, plus a fun LA streetscape showing how the city's growth has been shaped by the automobile. Parking is $8.

Between 10,000 and 40,000 years ago, tarlike bubbling crude oil trapped saber-toothed cats, mammoths and other extinct ice age critters, which are still being excavated at the La Brea Tar Pits. Check out their fossilized remains at the Page Museum (Map p925; ☎ 323-934-7243; www.tarpits.org; 5801 Wilshire Blvd; adult/child/senior/student $7/2/4.50/4.50; 🕒 9:30am-5pm; 👶). New fossils are being discovered all the time, and an active staff of archaeologists works behind glass. Parking is $6.

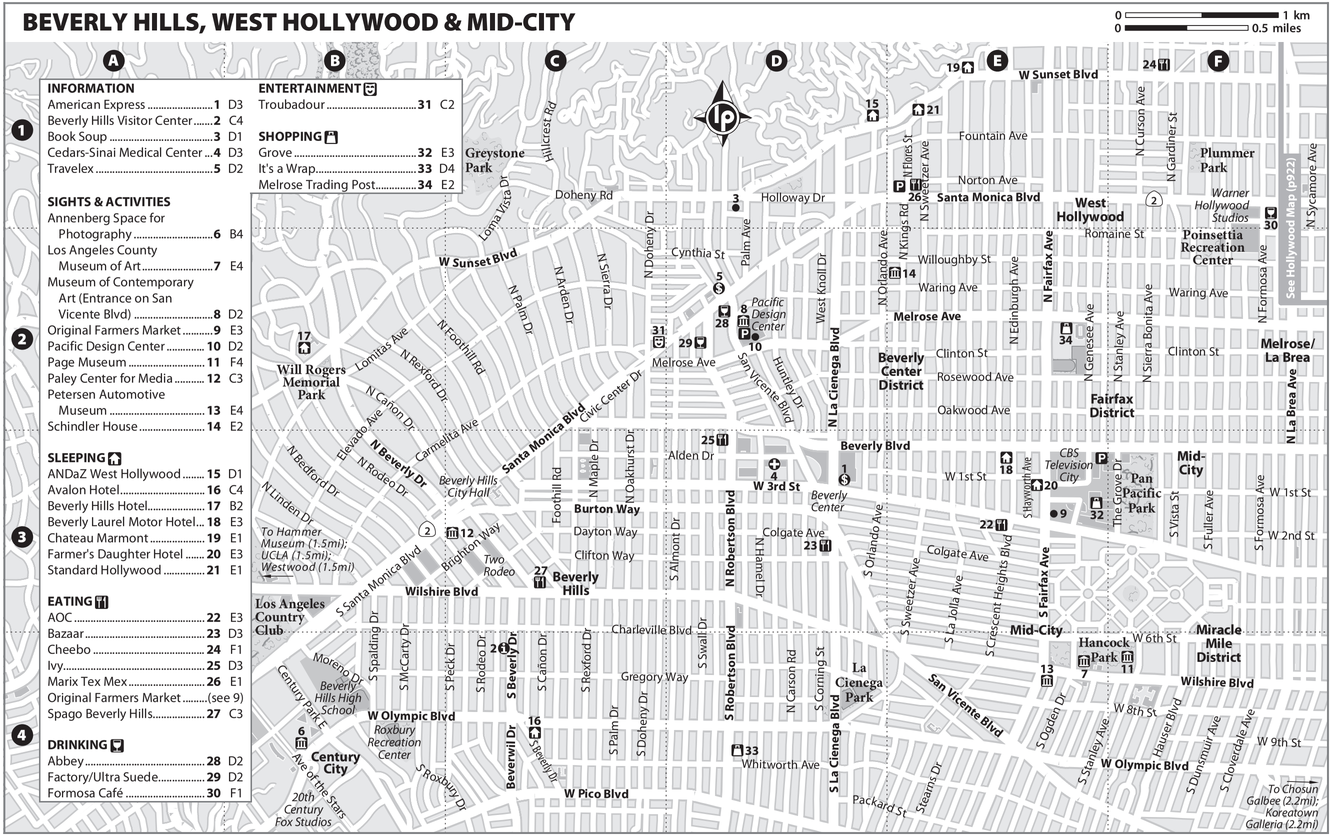
Museum Row is easily combined with a romp around the Original Farmers Market (6333 W 3rd St; P 👶), with plenty of food stalls for a fill-up before you hit the adjacent Grove, an open-air shopping mall with a musical fountain.

Beverly Hills

The mere mention of Beverly Hills conjures images of Maseratis, manicured mansions and mega-rich moguls. Stylish and sophisticated, this is indeed a haven for the well-heeled and famous. Stargazers could take a guided bus tour (p929), snag a map and scout for the stars' homes – or maybe just book a table at Spago (p933), the flagship restaurant of celebrity chef Wolfgang Puck.

It's pricey and pretentious, but no trip to LA would be complete without a saunter along Rodeo Drive (Map p925), the famous

BEVERLY HILLS, WEST HOLLYWOOD & MID-CITY



INFORMATION

American Express	1	D3
Beverly Hills Visitor Center	2	C4
Book Soup	3	D1
Cedars-Sinai Medical Center	4	D3
Travelex	5	D2

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

Annenberg Space for Photography	6	B4
Los Angeles County Museum of Art	7	E4
Museum of Contemporary Art (Entrance on San Vicente Blvd)	8	D2
Original Farmers Market	9	E3
Pacific Design Center	10	D2
Page Museum	11	F4
Paley Center for Media	12	C3
Petersen Automotive Museum	13	E4
Schindler House	14	E2

SLEEPING

ANDaZ West Hollywood	15	D1
Avalon Hotel	16	C4
Beverly Hills Hotel	17	B2
Beverly Laurel Motor Hotel	18	E3
Chateau Marmont	19	E1
Farmer's Daughter Hotel	20	E3
Standard Hollywood	21	E1

EATING

AOC	22	E3
Bazaar	23	D3
Cheebo	24	F1
Ivy	25	D3
Marix Tex Mex	26	E1
Original Farmers Market	(see 9)
Spago Beverly Hills	27	C3

DRINKING

Abbey	28	D2
Factory/Ultra Suede	29	D2
Formosa Café	30	F1

ENTERTAINMENT

Troubadour	31	C2

SHOPPING

Grove	32	E3
It's a Wrap	33	D4
Melrose Trading Post	34	E2

0 1 km
0 0.5 miles
A
B
C
D
E
F
1
2
3
4
See Hollywood Map (p922)
W Sunset Blvd
Santa Monica Blvd
Melrose Ave
Beverly Blvd
W 3rd St
Wilshire Blvd
W Olympic Blvd
W Pico Blvd
Burton Way
San Vicente Blvd
N La Cienega Blvd
S La Cienega Blvd
N Robertson Blvd
S Robertson Blvd
N Fairfax Ave
S Fairfax Ave
N La Brea Ave
Greystone Park
Will Rogers Memorial Park
Los Angeles Country Club
Beverly Hills High School Roxbury Recreation Center Century City
20th Century Fox Studios
Beverly Hills City Hall
Two Rodeo
Beverly Hills
Beverly Center
Beverly Center District
Pacific Design Center
West Hollywood
Plummer Park
Warner Hollywood Studios
Poinsettia Recreation Center
Melrose/La Brea
Fairfax District
CBS Television City
Pan Pacific Park
Mid-City
Hancock Park
Miracle Mile District
La Cienega Park
To Hammer Museum (1.5mi); UCLA (1.5mi); Westwood (1.5mi)
To Chosun Galbee (2.2mi); Koreatown Galleria (2.2mi)
Hillcrest Rd
Loma Vista Dr
Doheny Rd
Holloway Dr
Cynthia St
Palm Ave
N Doheny Dr
N Sierra Dr
N Arden Dr
N Palm Dr
N Foothill Rd
N Rexford Dr
Lomitas Ave
N Cañon Dr
Elevado Ave
N Beverly Dr
N Rodeo Dr
N Bedford Dr
N Linden Dr
Carmelita Ave
Civic Center Dr
Foothill Rd
N Maple Dr
N Oakhurst Dr
Alden Dr
Dayton Way
Clifton Way
Brighton Way
S Santa Monica Blvd
Melrose Ave
Huntley Dr
West Knoll Dr
N Orlando Ave
N Kings Rd
N Flores St
N Sweetzer Ave
Fountain Ave
Norton Ave
Willoughby St
Waring Ave
Clinton St
Rosewood Ave
Oakwood Ave
N Edinburgh Ave
N Genesee Ave
N Stanley Ave
N Sierra Bonita Ave
N Curson Ave
N Gardiner St
Romaine St
N Formosa Ave
N Sycamore Ave
W 1st St
W 2nd St
S Hayworth Ave
The Grove Dr
S Vista St
S Fuller Ave
S Formosa Ave
Colgate Ave
N Hamel Dr
S Almont Dr
S Orlando Ave
S Sweetzer Ave
S La Jolla Ave
S Crescent Heights Blvd
W 6th St
W 8th St
W 9th St
S Ogden Dr
S Stanley Ave
Hauser Blvd
S Dunsmuir Ave
S Cloverdale Ave
Charleville Blvd
Gregory Way
S Spalding Dr
S McCarty Dr
S Peck Dr
S Rodeo Dr
S Beverly Dr
S Cañon Dr
S Rexford Dr
S Palm Dr
S Doheny Dr
S Swall Dr
N Carson Rd
S Corning St
Whitworth Ave
Packard St
Stearns Dr
Moreno Dr
Century Park E
Ave of the Stars
S Roxbury Dr
Beverwil Dr
S Beverly Dr

three-block ribbon of style. Here sample-size fembots browse for fashions from international houses – from Armani to Zegna – in killer-design stores. If the price tags make you gasp, head one block east to Beverly Dr, which has more budget-friendly boutiques, local shops and mainstream chains.

TV and radio addicts can indulge their passion at the Paley Center for Media (Map p925; ☎ 310-786-1000; www.paleycenter.org; 465 N Beverly Dr; suggested donation adult/child/senior/student $10/5/8/8; 🕒 noon-5pm Wed-Sun), a mind-boggling archive of TV and radio broadcasts going back to 1918. Pick your faves, grab a seat at a private console and enjoy.

Several city-owned garages offer two hours of free parking in central Beverly Hills.

Just west of Beverly Hills, in the skyscraper village known as Century City, the Annenberg Space for Photography (Map p925; ☎ 213-403-3000; www.annenbergspaceforphotography.org; 2000 Ave of the Stars, No 10; admission free; 🕒 11am-6pm Wed-Sun) opened in 2009. Built around a cylindrical core meant to evoke a camera lens, the space is the region's first museum of photography and presents changing shows, including the Pictures of the Year exhibit. Parking is $3.50 from Wednesday to Friday, or $1 on Saturday and Sunday or after 4:30pm daily.

Westwood & Around

Westwood is dominated by the vast campus of the prestigious University of California, Los Angeles (UCLA; Map pp916–17). The university-run Hammer Museum (Map pp916-17; ☎ 310-443-7000; www.hammer.ucla.edu; 10899 Wilshire Blvd; adult/child/senior $7/free/5; 🕒 11am-7pm Tue, Wed, Fri & Sat, 11am-9pm Thu, 11am-5pm Sun) has cutting-edge contemporary art exhibits. Hammer parking is $3.

Tucked among Westwood's high-rises, postage stamp-sized Westwood Memorial Park (Map pp916-17; ☎ 310-474-1570; 1218 Glendon Ave; admission free; 🕒 8am-dusk) is packed with such famous 6ft-under residents as Marilyn Monroe, Burt Lancaster and Rodney Dangerfield.

Further west, the Getty Center (Map pp916-17; ☎ 310-440-7300; www.getty.edu; 1200 Getty Center Dr; admission free; 🕒 10am-6pm Sun & Tue-Thu, 10am-9pm Fri & Sat) presents triple delights: a stellar art collection, Richard Meier's fabulous architecture and Robert Irwin's seasonally changing gardens. On clear days, add breathtaking views of the city and ocean to the list. A great time to visit is in the late afternoon after the crowds have thinned. Parking is $10.

Malibu

Malibu, which hugs 27 spectacular miles of Pacific Coast Hwy, has long been synonymous with surfing, stars and a hedonistic lifestyle, but it actually looks far less posh than the glossy mags make it sound. Still, it's been celebrity central since the 1930s, when money troubles forced landowner May Rindge to lease out property to her Hollywood friends. Leo, Brangelina, Streisand, Cher and other A-listers have homes here and can often be spotted shopping at the villagelike Malibu Country Mart (Map pp916-17; 3835 Cross Creek Rd; P) and the more utilitarian Malibu Colony Plaza (Map pp916-17; 23841 W Malibu Rd; P).

Malibu's cultural star is the Getty Villa (Map pp916-17; ☎ 310-440-7300; www.getty.edu; 17985 Pacific Coast Hwy; admission free; 🕒 10am-5pm Thu-Mon; P), a replica Roman villa that's a fantastic showcase of Greek, Roman and Etruscan antiquities. Admission is by timed ticket (no walk-ins). Parking is $10.

Despite its wealth and star quotient, Malibu is best appreciated through its twin natural treasures: the Santa Monica Mountains National Recreation Area (Map pp916–17) and the beaches, including the aptly named Surfrider.

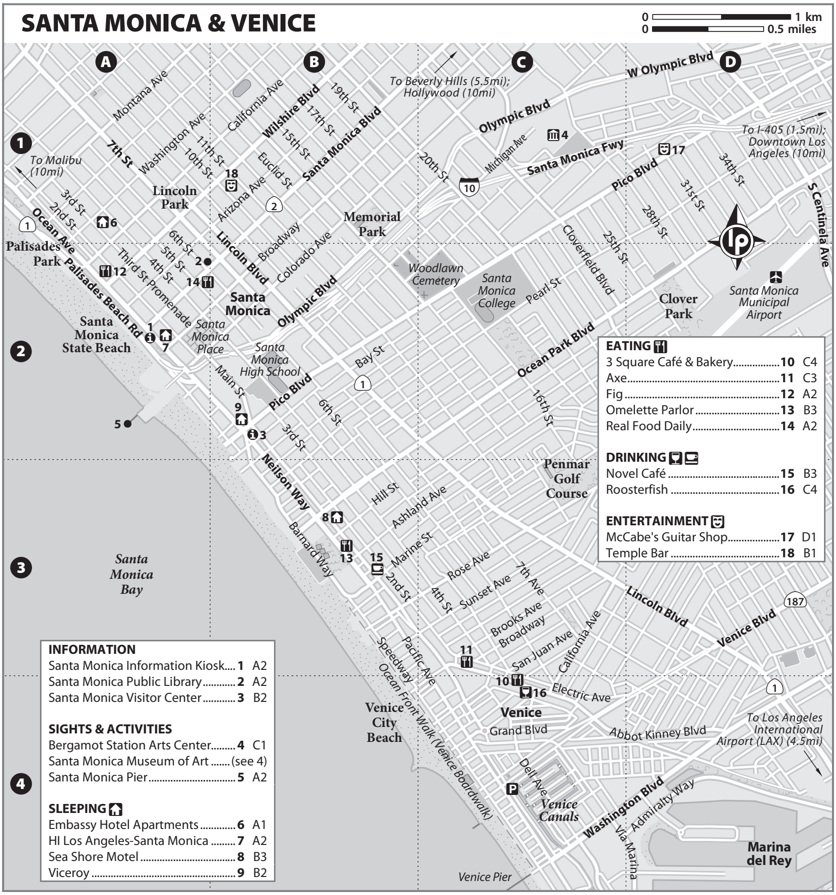
Santa Monica

Santa Monica is the belle by the beach, mixing urban cool with a laid-back only-at-the-beach vibe.

Tourists and teens make car-free, chain-lined Third Street Promenade (Map p927) the most action-packed zone; however, for more local flavor, head to celeb-favored Montana Avenue (Map p927) or down-homey Main Street (Map p927), which is the neighborhood once nicknamed 'Dogtown' and birthplace of skateboard culture. Kids love the venerable Santa Monica Pier (Map p927; 🚸), where diversions include a quaint carousel, a solar-powered Ferris wheel and tiny aquarium with touch tanks. There's free two-hour parking in public garages on 2nd and 4th Sts ($3 after 6pm).

Art fans gravitate inland toward the avant-garde Bergamot Station Arts Center (Map p927; 2525 Michigan Ave; 🕒 10am-6pm Tue-Sat; P), a former trolley stop that now houses 35 galleries and the progressive Santa Monica Museum of Art (Map p927; ☎ 310-586-6488; www.smmoa.org; 2525 Michigan Ave; suggestion donation $5; 🕒 11am-6pm Tue-Sat).

SANTA MONICA & VENICE



0 1 km
0 0.5 miles
A
B
C
D
1
2
3
4
W Olympic Blvd
To Beverly Hills (5.5mi); Hollywood (10mi)
To I-405 (1.5mi); Downtown Los Angeles (10mi)
To Malibu (10mi)
Montana Ave
Washington Ave
California Ave
Wilshire Blvd
19th St
17th St
15th St
Santa Monica Blvd
Euclid St
Arizona Ave
11th St
10th St
7th St
Lincoln Park
Olympic Blvd
Michigan Ave
Santa Monica Fwy
20th St
Pico Blvd
34th St
31st St
28th St
25th St
Cloverfield Blvd
S Centinela Ave
Memorial Park
Broadway
Colorado Ave
Lincoln Blvd
3rd St
2nd St
Ocean Ave
6th St
5th St
4th St
Third St Promenade
Palisades Park
Palisades Beach Rd
Santa Monica
Santa Monica State Beach
Santa Monica Place
Santa Monica High School
Woodlawn Cemetery
Santa Monica College
Pearl St
Clover Park
Santa Monica Municipal Airport
Bay St
Ocean Park Blvd
Main St
Pico Blvd
6th St
3rd St
16th St
Neilson Way
Penmar Golf Course
Hill St
Ashland Ave
Barnard Way
Marine St
2nd St
4th St
Rose Ave
Sunset Ave
7th Ave
Brooks Ave
Broadway
San Juan Ave
California Ave
Lincoln Blvd
Venice Blvd
Santa Monica Bay
Speedway
Pacific Ave
Ocean Front Walk (Venice Boardwalk)
Venice City Beach
Electric Ave
Venice
Grand Blvd
Abbot Kinney Blvd
To Los Angeles International Airport (LAX) (4.5mi)
Dell Ave
Venice Canals
Washington Blvd
Admiralty Way
Via Marina
Marina del Rey
Venice Pier
1
2 10
187

EATING

3 Square Café & Bakery	10	C4
Axe	11	C3
Fig	12	A2
Omelette Parlor	13	B3
Real Food Daily	14	A2

DRINKING

Novel Café	15	B3
Roosterfish	16	C4

ENTERTAINMENT

McCabe's Guitar Shop	17	D1
Temple Bar	18	B1

INFORMATION

Santa Monica Information Kiosk	1	A2
Santa Monica Public Library	2	A2
Santa Monica Visitor Center	3	B2

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

Bergamot Station Arts Center	4	C1
Santa Monica Museum of Art	(see 4)
Santa Monica Pier	5	A2

SLEEPING

Embassy Hotel Apartments	6	A1
HI Los Angeles-Santa Monica	7	A2
Sea Shore Motel	8	B3
Viceroy	9	B2

Venice

It's a freak show, a human zoo and a wacky carnival, but as far as LA experiences go, the Venice Boardwalk (Ocean Front Walk; Map p927) is truly essential. This cauldron of counter-culture is the place to get your hair braided, your karma corrected or a qi gong back massage. Encounters with wannabe Schwarzeneggers, hoop dreamers, a Speedo-clad snake charmer or a roller-skating Sikh minstrel are pretty much guaranteed, especially on hot summer days. Alas, the vibe gets a bit creepy after dark.

To escape the hubbub, meander inland to the Venice Canals (Map p927), a vestige of Venice's early days when gondoliers poled visitors along quiet man-made waterways. Today, ducks preen and locals lollygag in row boats in this serene, flower-festooned neighborhood.

The hippest Westside strip is funky, sophisticated Abbot Kinney Boulevard (Map p927), a palm-lined mile of restaurants, yoga studios, art galleries and eclectic shops selling mid-century furniture and handmade perfumes.

There's street parking around Abbot Kinney, and parking lots ($6 to $15) on the beach.

Long Beach

LA County's southernmost seaside town hosts the world's third-busiest container port, after Singapore and Hong Kong. But Long Beach's industrial edge has worn smooth in its humming downtown and along the restyled waterfront. Pine Ave is chockablock with restaurants and clubs popular with everyone from coiffed conventioneers to the testosterone-fuelled frat pack.

Long Beach's 'flagship' is the grand (and supposedly haunted!) British ocean liner Queen Mary (Map pp916-17; ☎ 562-435-3511; www.queenmary.com; 1126 Queens Hwy; adult/child/senior from $25/13/22; 🕐 10am-6pm), which is permanently moored here. Larger and fancier than the Titanic, it transported royals, dignitaries, immigrants and troops during its 1001 Atlantic crossings between 1936 and 1964. Parking is $12.

Kids will probably have a better time at the Aquarium of the Pacific (Map pp916-17; ☎ 562-590-3100; www.aquariumofpacific.org; 100 Aquarium Way; adult/child/senior $24/12/21; 🕐 9am-6pm; 👪), providing a high-tech romp through an underwater world in which sharks dart, jellyfish dance and sea lions frolic. Imagine the thrill of petting a shark! Parking is $7. Queen Mary/Aquarium combination tickets cost adult/child three to 11 years $35/19.

A short ride away, the Museum of Latin American Art (Map pp916-17; ☎ 562-437-1689; www.molaa.org; 628 Alamitos Ave; adult/child/student & senior $9/free/6, Sun free; 🕐 11am-5pm Wed-Sun; 🅿) is one of California's best as it is the only museum in the western USA specializing in contemporary art from south of the border. The permanent collection highlights spirituality and landscapes, and special exhibits are first-rate.

Long Beach is reached from Downtown LA via the Blue Line (p937, 55 minutes) and easily walkable once there. Passport minibuses (www.lbtransit.org) shuttle you around the above sights for free – you pay $1.25 elsewhere in town.

Pasadena

Resting below the lofty San Gabriel Mountains, Pasadena drips wealth and gentility and feels like a world apart from urban LA. It's famous for art museums, grand estates, fine craftsman architecture and the Rose Parade on New Year's Day (opposite).

The main fun zone is Old Town Pasadena (Map pp916–17), along Colorado Blvd and between Pasadena Ave and Arroyo Pkwy. Stroll west and you'll see Rodin's The Thinker, a mere overture to the full symphony of European art at the Norton Simon Museum (Map pp916-17; ☎ 626-449-6840; www.nortonsimon.org; 411 W Colorado Blvd; adult/child & student/senior $8/free/4; 🕐 noon-6pm Wed-Thu & Sat-Mon, noon-9pm Fri; 🅿). Don't skip the basement, with fabulous Indian and Southeast Asian sculpture.

A masterpiece of craftsman architecture, the 1908 Gamble House (Map pp916-17; ☎ 626-793-3334; www.gamblehouse.org; 4 Westmoreland Pl; adult/child/student & senior $10/free/7; 🕐 noon-3pm Thu-Sun; 🅿) by Charles and Henry Greene was Doc Brown's home in the movie Back to the Future. Admission is by one-hour guided tour.

There's great British and French art and lots of rare books, including a Gutenberg Bible, but it's the exquisite gardens that make the modestly named Huntington Library (Map pp916-17; ☎ 626-405-2100; www.huntington.org; 1151 Oxford Rd; adult/child/student/senior $15/6/10/12 Tue-Fri, $20/6/10/15 Sat, Sun & holidays; 🕐 10:30am-4:30pm Tue-Sun Jun-Aug, Sat & Sun Sep-May, noon-4:30pm Tue-Fri Sep-May; 🅿) such a special place. The Rose Garden is redolent with more than 1200 varieties (and a lovely tearoom; make reservations early, adult/child $25/13), the Desert Garden has a Seussian quality, and the new Chinese garden has a small lake crossed by a stone bridge. The interactive Children's Garden yields lots of surprises.

ACTIVITIES

Bicycling & In-line Skating

Get a scenic exercise kick skating or riding along the paved South Bay Bicycle Trail (Map pp916-17) that parallels the beach for most of the 22 miles between Santa Monica and Torrance. Rental outfits are plentiful in beach towns. Mountain bikers should head to the Santa Monica Mountains (Map pp916–17). For details, check www.labike paths.com.

Hiking

Turn on your celeb radar while strutting it with the hot bods along Runyon Canyon Park (Map pp916–17) above Hollywood. Griffith Park (Map pp916–17) is also laced with trails. For longer rambles, head to the Santa Monica Mountains, where Will Rogers State Historic Park, Topanga State Park and Malibu Creek State Park (all Map pp916–17) are all excellent gateways to beautiful terrain. Parking costs $10 to $12.

Swimming & Surfing

Top beaches for swimming are Malibu's Zuma (off Map pp916–17), Santa Monica State Beach (Map p927) and Hermosa Beach (Map pp916–17). Surfrider Beach (Map pp916–17) in Malibu is a legendary surfing spot.

'Endless Summer' is, sorry to report, a myth, so much of the year you'll want to wear a wet suit in the Pacific. Water temperatures become tolerable by June and peak at about 70°F (21°C) in August and September. Water quality varies. For updated conditions check the 'Beach Report Card' at www.healthebay.org.

LOS ANGELES FOR CHILDREN

Keeping the rug rats happy is child's play in LA. Many museums and attractions have kid-oriented exhibits, activities and workshops, but the excellent Kidspace Children's Museum (Map pp916-17; ☎ 626-449-9144; www.kidspacemuseum.org; 480 N Arroyo Blvd, Pasadena; admission $8, 🕐 9:30am-5pm Mon-Fri, 10am-5pm Sat & Sun; Ⓟ 👪) specifically lures the single-digit set with hands-on exhibits, outdoor learning areas and gardens. It's best after 1pm, when the field-trip crowd has left.

Kids love animals, making the sprawling Los Angeles Zoo (p923) in family-friendly Griffith Park a sure bet.

our pick Noah's Ark at the Skirball Cultural Center (Map pp916-17 ☎ 310-440-4500, tickets 877-722-4849; www.skirball.org; 2701 N Sepulveda Blvd; adult/child 2-12yr/student & senior $10/5/7, free on Thu; 🕐 noon-5pm Tue-Thu, 10am-5pm Sat & Sun, closed major Jewish holidays; 👪), great for those rare days when the weather does not cooperate, is an indoor playground of imaginative creatures made from car mats, couch springs, metal strainers and other recycled items.

Dino-fans gravitate to the Page Museum at the La Brea Tar Pits (p924) and Natural History Museum (p921), while budding scientists love the California Science Center (p921) next door.

For live sea creatures, head to the Aquarium of the Pacific (opposite) in Long Beach; teens might get a kick out of the ghost tours of the Queen Mary (opposite).

The adorable singing and dancing marionettes at Bob Baker Marionette Theater (Map p919; ☎ 213-250-9995; www.bobbakermarionettes.com; 1345 W 1st St, near Downtown; admission $12, reservations required; 🕐 10:30am Tue-Fri, 2:30pm Sat & Sun; Ⓟ 👪) have enthralled generations of wee Angelenos.

Among SoCal's amusement parks, Santa Monica Pier (p926), Disneyland (p938) and Knott's Berry Farm (p938) are meant for kids of all ages. Activities for younger children are more limited at Universal Studios Hollywood (p924) and Six Flags Magic Mountain (p937).

TOURS

Esotouric (☎ 323-223-2767; www.esotouric.com; bus tours $58) Hip, offbeat, insightful and entertaining walking and bus tours themed around famous crime sites (Black Dahlia, anyone?), literary lions (Chandler to Bukowski) and historical neighborhoods.

Los Angeles Conservancy (☎ 213-623-2489; www.laconservancy.org; tours $10) Thematic walking tours, mostly of Downtown LA, with an architectural focus.

Red Line Tours (☎ 323-402-1074; www.redlinetours.com; tours $25) 'Edutaining' walking tours of Hollywood and Downtown using headsets that cut out traffic noise.

Starline Tours (☎ 323-463-333, 800-959-3131; www.starlinetours.com; tours from $39) Narrated bus tours of the city, stars' homes and theme parks.

FESTIVALS & EVENTS

Rose Parade (☎ 626-449-4100; www.tournamentofroses.com) New Year's Day cavalcade of flower-festooned floats along Pasadena's Colorado Blvd, followed by the Rose Bowl football game.

Toyota Grand Prix of Long Beach (☎ 888-827-7333; www.longbeachgp.com) Week-long auto-racing spectacle in mid-April drawing world-class drivers.

Fiesta Broadway (☎ 310-914-0015; www.fiestabroadway.la) Huge street fair along historic Broadway in Downtown, on the last Sunday in April, with performances by Latino stars.

Sunset Junction Street Fair (☎ 323-661-7771; www.sunsetjunction.org) Silver Lake weekend street party with grub, libations and edgy bands in late August.

West Hollywood Halloween Carnival (☎ 323-848-6400; www.visitwesthollywood.com) Free rambunctious street fair with eccentric, and often NC17-rated, costumes on Santa Monica Blvd in WeHo on October 31.

SLEEPING

Your choice of lodging location may determine the LA you experience. For beach life, base yourself in Santa Monica or Long Beach. Cool-hunters and party people will be happiest in Hollywood or WeHo; culture-vultures, in Downtown; and the posh lot, in Beverly Hills. Rates are pretty steep and further swelled by a lodging tax of 12% to 14%; always ask whether discounts are available.

Downtown

Figueroa Hotel (Map p919; ☎ 213-627-8971, 800-421-9092; www.figueroahotel.com; 939 S Figueroa St; r $134-164, ste $225-265; ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) A rambling 1920s oasis across from LA Live, the Fig welcomes guests with a richly tiled Spanish-style lobby that segues to a sparkling pool and buzzy outdoor bar. Rooms are furnished in a world-beat mash-up of styles (Morocco, Mexico, Japan…), comfy but varying in size and configuration. Parking is $12.

Millennium Biltmore Hotel (Map p919; ☎ 213-624-1011, 800-245-8673; www.thebiltmore.com; 506 S Grand Ave; r $119-399, ste $460-3000; ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) Drenched in tradition and gold leaf, this palatial hotel has bedded stars, presidents and royalty since 1923, although some rooms lack elbow space. The gorgeous art-deco health club takes the work out of workout. Parking is $40.

our pick Standard Downtown LA (Map p919; ☎ 213-892-8080; www.standardhotel.com; 550 S Flower St; r from $165; ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) This 207-room design-savvy hotel in a former office building goes for a young, hip and shag-happy crowd – the rooftop bar fairly pulses – so don't come here with kids or to get a solid night's sleep. Mod, minimalist rooms have platform beds and peek-through showers. Parking is $31.

Hollywood

USA Hostel Hollywood (Map p922; ☎ 323-462-3777, 800-524-6783; www.usahostels.com; 1624 Schrader Blvd; incl breakfast & tax dm from $30-37, r from $70-85; 💻 📶) Not for introverts, this energetic hostel puts you within steps of Hollywood's party circuit. Make new friends during staff-organized BBQs, comedy nights and tours, or during free pancake breakfast in the guest kitchen.

Magic Castle Hotel (Map p922; ☎ 323-851-0800, 800-741-4915; www.magiccastlehotel.com; 7025 Franklin Ave; r from $164; ⊠ ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) Walls are thin, but this renovated former apartment building around a courtyard boasts contemporary furniture, attractive art, comfy bathrobes and fancy bath amenities. Most rooms have a separate living room. For breakfast: freshly baked goods and gourmet coffee on your balcony or poolside. Ask about access to the namesake private club for magicians. Parking is $10.

Hollywood Roosevelt Hotel (Map p922; ☎ 323-466-7000, 800-950-7667; www.hollywoodroosevelt.com; 7000 Hollywood Blvd; r from $399; ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) This venerable hotel has hosted elite players since the first Academy Awards were held here in 1929. It pairs a palatial Spanish lobby with sleek Asian contemporary rooms, a busy pool scene and rockin' restos. Marilyn Monroe shot her first commercial by the pool. Parking is $30.

West Hollywood & Mid-City

Beverly Laurel Motor Hotel (Map p925; ☎ 323-651-2441, 800-962-3824; 8018 W Beverly Blvd; r $109-155; 🅿 ❄ 📶 🏊) Ride the retro wave on the cheap at this slicked up 52-room 1950s motel near the Original Farmers Market and Grove. Rooms are just above basic and the pool tiny, but the attached Swingers diner (mains $5 to $11) makes colossal burgers and wicked Bloody Marys.

Standard Hollywood (Map p925; ☎ 323-650-9090; www.standardhotel.com; 8300 W Sunset Blvd; r $160-225, ste from $350; ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) This white-on-white property on the Sunset Strip is a scene with a model in a glass case behind the front desk, Astroturf-fringed pool with a view across LA, and rooms with condoms in the minibars and temperature controls that read 'blow, blow harder, stop.' Parking is $29.

our pick Farmer's Daughter Hotel (Map p925; ☎ 323-937-3930, 800-334-1658; www.farmersdaughterhotel.com; 115 S Fairfax Ave; r $179-209; ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) Opposite the Original Farmers Market, Grove and CBS Studios, this perennial pleaser gets high marks for its sleek 'urban cowboy' look. Adventurous lovebirds should ask about the No Tell Room… Parking is $17.

ANDaZ West Hollywood (Map p925; ☎ 323-656-1234; www.andaz.com; 8401 W Sunset Blvd; r from $245; ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) Like many a rockstar who used to stay here, the former 'rock 'n' roll Hyatt' has been transformed by a new name and face-lift. Rooms face Sunset Blvd (larger but noisier) or the Hollywood Hills, and boast clean lines, sleek oak furniture and bamboo-fiber robes. The rooftop pool deck has sweeping views, and the lobby lounge offers morning coffee, pastries and all-day snacks. Parking is $25.

Chateau Marmont (Map p925; ☎ 323-656-1010, 800-242-8328; www.chateaumarmont.com; 8221 W Sunset Blvd; r $345-785; ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) Its French-flavored indulgence may look dated, but this faux-chateau has long attracted A-listers – Greta Garbo to Bono – with its legendary discretion. The garden cottages are the most romantic, but not everyone is treated like a star. Parking is $28.

Beverly Hills

Avalon Hotel (Map p925; ☎ 310-277-5221, 800-535-4715; www.avalonbeverlyhills.com; 9400 W Olympic Blvd; r from $289; ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) Mid-century modern gets a 21st-century twist at this high-octane hot spot where the moneyed and metrosexual vamp it up by the hourglass-shaped pool and at the groovy Blue on Blue restaurant–bar. Parking is $30.

our pick Beverly Hills Hotel (Map p925; ☎ 310-276-2251, 800-283-8885; www.beverlyhillshotel.com; 9641 Sunset Blvd; r from $450; ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) The legendary Pink Palace from 1912 oozes opulence. The pool deck is classic, the grounds are lush, and the Polo Lounge remains a clubby lunch spot for the well-heeled and well-dressed. Rooms are comparably old-world, with gold accents and marble tile. Parking is $33.

Santa Monica & Venice

HI Los Angeles-Santa Monica (Map p927; ☎ 310-393-9913, 800-909-4776, ext 137; www.lahostels.org; 1436 2nd St; dm members/nonmembers $28/31, r with shared bath from $104; 🚭 ❄ 💻 📶) This 260-bed hostel is in an architecturally interesting building, but it's the killer location – between the beach and Third Street Promenade – that really makes it. Rates include linen and continental breakfast.

Sea Shore Motel (Map p927; ☎ 310-392-2787; www.seashoremotel.com; 2637 Main St; r from $110, ste from $180; Ⓟ ❄ 📶) These clean, friendly, family-owned lodgings are steps from the beach and right on happening Main St (read: some street noise). Spanish-tiled rooms are basic but attractive enough, and lofty kitchen suites are ideal for families.

Embassy Hotel Apartments (Map p927; ☎ 310-394-1279; www.embassyhotelapts.com; 1001 3rd St; r $175-390; Ⓟ 🚭 💻) This hushed 1927 Spanish-colonial hideaway delivers charm by the bucket. A rickety elevator takes you to units oozing old-world flair but equipped with internet. Kitchens make many rooms well suited to do-it-yourselfers.

our pick Viceroy (Map p927; ☎ 310-260-7500, 800-622-8711; www.viceroysantamonica.com; 1819 Ocean Ave; r from $390; ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) Ignore the high-rise eyesore exterior and plunge headlong into Top Design's Kelly Wearstler's campy 'Hollywood Regency' decor and color palette from dolphin gray to mamba green. Look for poolside cabanas, Italian designer linens, and chic bar and restaurant. Parking is $28.

Long Beach

Hotel Varden (Map pp916-17; ☎ 562-432-8950, 877-382-7336; www.thevardenhotel.com; 335 Pacific Ave; r from $109; ❄ 💻 📶) The designers clearly had a field day with their modernist renovation of the diminutive rooms in this 1929 hotel: tiny desks, tiny sinks, lots of right angles, cushy beds, white, white and more white. Rates include simple continental breakfast and wine hour. It's a block from Pine Avenue's restaurants and night spots. Parking is $10.

Queen Mary Hotel (Map pp916-17; ☎ 562-435-3511; www.queenmary.com; 1126 Queens Hwy, Long Beach; r $159-259; ❄ 💻 📶) Take a trip without leaving the dock aboard this grand ocean liner (p928). Staterooms brim with original art-deco details – avoid the cheapest ones that are on the inside. Rates include admission to guided tours. Parking is $15.

EATING

LA's culinary scene is one of the world's most vibrant and eclectic. Celebrity chefs whip up the latest in farmers-market-fab, alongside authentic international cooking in ethnic neighborhoods. For Angelenos, whether it's burritos or bulgogi (marinated, grilled Korean beef), dim sum, sushi or tapas, it's all just good food.

Downtown

Colori Kitchen (Map p919; ☎ 213-622-5950; 429 W 8th St; mains lunch $8-14, dinner $12-18; 🕐 11am-3pm Mon-Fri, 6-9pm Wed-Sat) Everybody feels like family in this colorful, cozy dining room with exposed brick walls, where owner–chef Luigi kicks Italian comfort food into high gear. BYOB.

Nickel Diner (Map p919; ☎ 213-623-8301; 524 S Main St; mains $8-14; 🕐 8am-3:30pm Tue-Sun, 6pm-11pm Tue-Sat) In Downtown's boho historic district, this place feels like a throwback to the 1920s, though decidedly non-'20s ingredients appear here: quinoa, arugula, chimichurri, etc. 'Smac and cheese' is a classic, and desserts are bountiful.

R23 (Map p919; ☎ 213-687-7178; 923 E 2nd St; mains lunch $9-13, dinner $12-30; 🕐 11:30am-2pm Mon-Fri, 5:30-10pm Mon-Sat) Not even the bold art and Frank Gehry–designed cardboard chairs can distract sushi lovers from the exquisite treats in this industrial-flavored hideaway.

Also, browse LA Live (Map p919) for about a dozen restaurants from chichi Japanese (Katsuya by Starck) to rockin' fish (Rock ▯n Fish), Tiki tributes (Trader Vic's) and all-American beer hall (Yard House).

Hollywood

Musso & Frank Grill (Map p922; ☎ 323-467-7788; 6667 Hollywood Blvd; mains $12-35; 🕐 11am-11pm Tue-Sat) Hollywood history hangs thickly in the air at the boulevard's oldest eatery. Waiters balance platters of steaks, chops, grilled liver and other dishes harking back to the days when cholesterol wasn't part of our vocabulary. Service is smooth, so are the martinis.

EATING LA: ESSENTIAL ETHNIC NEIGHBORHOODS

Taking nothing away from LA's top-end eateries, no less than Ruth Reichel – editor of Gourmet and former LA Times restaurant critic – has said that LA's real food treasures are its ethnic restaurants. With some 140 nationalities in LA, we can just scratch the surface, but here are some of the most prominent neighborhoods for authentic cuisine.

Little Tokyo– Downtown LA; Essential dish: steaming bowl of ramen at Daikokuya (Map p919; ☎ 213-626-1680; 327 East 1st St; 🕒 11am-2.30pm & 5pm-midnight Mon-Sat) While there, visit the Japanese American National Museum (p921)

Chinatown – Downtown LA; Essential dish: dim sum at Empress Pavilion (Map p919; ☎ 213-617-9898; 2nd fl, 988 N Hill St; dim sum per plate $2-6, most mains $10-25; 🕒 10am-2:30pm & 5:30-9pm, to 10pm Sat & Sun)While there, view contemporary art in galleries along Chung King Rd

Boyle Heights (Mexican) – East LA; Essential dish: gourmet tortilla soup at La Serenata de Garibaldi (Map pp916-17; ☎ 323-265-2887; 1842 E 1st St; mains $10-25; 🕒 11:30am-10:30pm Mon-Fri, 9am-10:30pm Sat & Sun) While there, listen to mariachis at Mariachi Plaza

Koreatown – West of Downtown LA; Essential dish: barbecue cooked at your table with lots of banchan (side dishes) at Chosun Galbee (off Map pp916-17; ☎ 323-734-3330; 3300 Olympic Blvd; mains $12-24; 🕒 11am-11pm) While there, browse the giant Koreatown Galleria mall (Olympic Blvd and Western Ave) for housewares and more food

Thai Town – East Hollywood; Essential dish: curries with accompaniment by an Elvis impersonator at Palms Thai (Map p922; ☎ 323-462-5073; 5900 Hollywood Blvd; mains $6-19; 🕒 11am-midnight Sun-Thu, 11am-2am Fri & Sat) While there, pick up a flower garland at Thailand Plaza shopping center (5321 Hollywood Blvd)

Little India – Pioneer Blvd, Artesia; Essential dish: vegetarian thali (set meal) at Tirupathi Bhimas (Map pp916-17; ☎ 562-809-3806; www.tirupathibhimas.com; Little India Village, 18792 Pioneer Blvd; mains $5-10; 🕒 11:30am-2:30pm Tue-Fri, 6pm-9:30pm Tue-Thu, 6pm-10pm Fri) While there, shop for a sari down the street

Waffle (Map p922; ☎ 323-465-6901; 6255 W Sunset Blvd; most mains $9-12; 🕒 6:30am-2:30am Sun-Thu, 6:30am-4:30am Fri & Sat) After a night out clubbing, do you really feel like filling yourself with garbage? Us, too. But the Waffle's 21st-century diner food – cornmeal-jalapeño waffles with grilled chicken, carrot cake waffles, mac 'n' cheese, samiches, heaping salads – is organic and locally sourced, so it's (almost) good for you. Bonus: short but well-chosen wine list.

El Conquistador (Map pp916-17; ☎ 323-666-5136; 3701 W Sunset Blvd, Silver Lake; mains $10-17; 🕒 11am-10pm Sun-Thu, 11am-11pm Fri & Sat) Halloween meets Margaritaville at this campy cantina, which is a perfect launchpad for a night on the razzle. One cocktail may suffice to drown your sorrows, so be sure to fill up on yummy nachos, quesadillas, enchiladas and other above-average classics.

West Hollywood, Mid-City & Beverly Hills

Cheebo (Map p925; ☎ 323-850-7070; 7533 W Sunset Blvd; mains $9-14, dinner $10-25; 🕒 8am-11pm) Cheap and cheerful, this joint makes heaping salads, bulging sandwiches and fabulous organic pizzas sold by the foot. (Inner) kids love the free paper and crayons.

Marix Tex Mex (Map p925; ☎ 323-656-8800; 1108 N Flores St; mains $9-19; 🕒 11:30am-11pm) Many an evening in Boystown has begun flirting on Marix's patios over kick-ass margaritas, followed by fish tacos, fajitas, chipotle chicken sandwiches, and all-you-can-eat on Taco Tuesdays.

our pick Bazaar (Map p925; ☎ 310-246-5555; 465 S La Cienega Blvd; dishes $8-18; 🕒 brunch 11am-3pm Sat & Sun, 6pm-11pm daily) In the SLS Hotel, the Bazaar dazzles with over-the-top design by Philippe Starck and futuristic tapas by José Andrés. Caprese salad pairs cherry tomatoes with mozzarella balls that explode in your mouth, or try cotton-candy foie gras or a Philly cheesesteak on 'air bread.' Cocktails and patisserie are similarly outré. Caution: those small plates add up.

Ivy (Map p925; ☎ 310-274-8303; 113 N Robertson Blvd; mains $20-38; 🕒 11:30am-11pm Mon-Fri, 11am-11pm Sat, 10am-11pm Sun) In the heart of Robertson's fashion frenzy, the Ivy's picket-fenced porch and rustic cottage are the power lunch spot in town. Chances of catching A-lister babes nibbling on a carrot stick or studio execs discussing sequels over the lobster omelet are excellent – if you're willing to put up with self-conscious servers and steep prices.

Spago Beverly Hills (Map p925; ☎ 310-385-0880; 176 N Cañon Dr; mains lunch $19-48, dinner $32-66; 🕐 noon-2:30pm Mon-Thu & Sat, 11:30am-2:30pm Fri, 6-10pm Sun-Fri, 5:30-11pm Sat) Wolfgang Puck's flagship emporium is still tops for celebrity-spotting and fancy eating. Book early if you want to scan the power crowd for famous faces while nibbling on expertly crafted global fusion fare.

Original Farmers Market (Map p925; cnr 3rd St & Fairfax Ave; 👶) The market hosts a dozen worthy, budget-priced eateries, most al fresco. Try the classic diner Du-par's, Cajun-style cooking at the Gumbo Pot, ¡Loteria! Mexican grill or Singapore's Banana Leaf.

Santa Monica & Venice

Omelette Parlor (Map p927; ☎ 310-399-7892; 2732 Main St; mains $6-12; 🕐 6am-2:30pm Mon-Fri, 6am-4pm Sat & Sun; 👶) An institution since the time Main St was known as Dogtown, festooned with black-and-whites of old Santa Monica, a soundtrack of oldies and a leafy courtyard out back. Big-as-your-head omelets and famous waffles for breakfast may last you to dinner.

Real Food Daily (Map p927; ☎ 310-451-7544; 514 Santa Monica Blvd; mains $8-17; 🕐 11:30am-10pm; Ⓥ) If you're tempted by tempeh or seduced by seitan, or even if you're not, RFD is worth checking out – a vegan place minus the hippie commune trappings, plus food courtesy of celeb chef Ann Gentry.

3 Square Café & Bakery (Map p927; ☎ 310-399-6504; 1121 Abbot Kinney Blvd; mains $8-20; 🕐 café 8am-10pm Mon-Thu, to 11pm Fri, 9am-11pm Sat, to 10pm Sun, bakery 7am-7pm) Tiny café at which you can devour Hans Röckenwagner's German-inspired pretzel burgers, gourmet sandwiches and apple pancakes. Bakery shelves are piled high with rustic breads and fluffy croissants.

Axe (Map p927; ☎ 310-664-9787; 1009 Abbot Kinney Blvd; mains lunch $6-12, dinner $18-26; 🕐 11:30am-3pm Wed-Fri, 9am-3pm Sat & Sun, 6-10pm Wed & Thu, 6-10:30pm Fri & Sat, 5:30-9:30pm Sun) It's good vibes all around at this industrial-chic space (pronounced ah-shay) on Abbot Kinney's restaurant row, where artsy bohos tuck into sharp-flavored dishes woven together from whatever is local, organic and in season.

Fig (Map p927; ☎ 310-319-3111; Fairmont Miramar Hotel, 101 Wilshire Blvd; mains lunch $9-24; dinner $19-34; 🕐 7am-2pm daily, 5-10pm Tue-Sat) It's all about the ingredients at this unpretentious newcomer with a really refined palate. They're sourced locally, and the menu kindly notes what's in season, for the freshest market salads or sides to steak and seafood, plus housemade charcuterie and lovely fromages. For dessert, fig bars (duh!).

Long Beach

Number Nine (Map pp916-17; ☎ 562-434-2009; 2118 E 4th St; mains $7-9; 🕐 noon-midnight) An enthusiastic, artsy couple of owners serves Vietnamese noodles in maximalist portions in minimalist surrounds on Retro Row (p936). Try the five-spice chicken with egg roll.

George's Greek Café (Map pp916-17; ☎ 562-437-1184; 135 Pine Ave; mains $7-19; 🕐 11am-10:30pm Sun-Thu, 11am-11:30pm Fri & Sat) George's is the heart of the Pine Ave restaurant row, both geographically and spiritually. George himself may greet you at the entrance on the generous patio, and locals cry 'Opa!' for the saganaki (flaming cheese) and lamb chops.

DRINKING

our pick Edison (Map p919; ☎ 213-613-0000; 108 W 2nd St, off Harlem Alley; 🕐 Wed-Sat) Metropolis meets Blade Runner at this industrial-chic basement boîte, where you'll be sipping mojitos surrounded by turbines and other machinery back from its days as a boiler room. Don't worry: it's all tarted up nicely with cocoa leather couches, three cavernous bars and a dress code.

Seven Grand (Map p919; ☎ 213-614-0737; 515 W 7th St) It's as if hipsters invaded mummy and daddy's hunt club, amid the tartan-patterned carpeting and deer heads mounted on the wall. Whisky is the drink of choice: choose from over 100 from Scotland, Ireland and even Japan.

Formosa Café (Map p925; ☎ 323-850-9050; 7156 Santa Monica Blvd) Bogart and Gable used to knock 'em back at this bat cave of a watering hole that's so authentically noir that scenes from LA Confidential were filmed here.

Dresden (Off Map p922; ☎ 323-665-4294; 1760 N Vermont Ave, Los Feliz) Dresden's answer to Bogey is the campy songster duo Marty & Elayne. They're an institution: you saw them crooning 'Stayin' Alive' in Swingers.

Cat & Fiddle (Map p922; ☎ 323-468-3800; 6530 W Sunset Blvd) Morrissey to Frodo, you never know who might be popping by for a Boddingtons on the fountain courtyard. Fortunately, this Brit-pub staple is more about friends and conversation than faux-hawks and working the deal.

Velvet Margarita (Map p922; ☎ 323-469-2000; 1612 N Cahuenga Blvd) Sombreros, velvet Elvises,

LA: SO GAY

Simply put, LA is one of America’s gayest cities. The Advocate magazine, PFLAG (Parents and Friends of Lesbians and Gays), and America’s first gay church and synagogue all started here. Gays and lesbians are woven into every segment of society: entertainment, politics, business and actors/waiters/models.

‘Boystown’, Santa Monica Blvd in West Hollywood (WeHo), is ground zero for LA’s gay community. Dozens of high-energy bars, cafés, restaurants, gyms and clubs here are especially busy from Thursday to Sunday; most cater to gay men. Elsewhere, the gay scenes are considerably more laid-back. Silver Lake, LA’s original gay enclave, has evolved from largely leather and Levi’s to encompass cute multiethnic hipsters. Long Beach also has a significant gay community.

LA’s Gay Pride celebration (mid-June, www.lapride.org) attracts hundreds of thousands for nonstop partying and a parade down Santa Monica Blvd. Here are some party places to get you started the rest of the year. Freebie listings magazines and the websites www.westhollywood.com and www.gaycities.com have comprehensive listings.

WeHo

Abbey (Map p925; ☎ 310-289-8410; www.abbeyfoodandbar.com; 692 N Robertson Blvd; mains $9-13; 🕐 8am-2am) From its beginnings as a humble coffeehouse, the Abbey has grown into WeHo’s funnest, coolest and most varied bar and restaurant, with dozens of flavored martinis and upscale pub grub. Take your pick of spaces from leafy patio to Goth-mod lounge.

Factory/Ultra Suede (Map p925; ☎ 310-659-4551; www.factorynightclub.com; 652 La Peer Dr) This giant double dance club has an edgy New York feel and sports different stripes nightly – from fashion-forward femmes to male hot bods.

Silver Lake

Akbar (Map pp916-17; ☎ 323-665-6810; www.akbarsilverlake.com; 4356 W Sunset Blvd) Best jukebox in town, Casbah atmosphere, and a crowd that’s been known to change from hour to hour – gay, straight or just hip, but not too-hip-for-you. Some nights, the back room’s a dance floor; other nights, it might feature comedy or crafts.

MJ’s (Map pp916-17; ☎ 323-660-1503; www.mjsbar.com; 2810 Hyperion Ave) Popular contempo hangout for dance nights, ‘porn star of the week’ and cruising. It attracts a younger but diverse crowd.

Beach Cities

Roosterfish (Map p927; ☎ 310-392-2123; www.roosterfishbar.com; 1302 Abbot Kinney Blvd) The ’Fish has been serving the men of Venice for over three decades, but still feels current and chill, with a pool table and back patio. Friday nights are busiest.

Silver Fox (Map pp916-17; ☎ 562-439-6343; www.silverfoxlongbeach.com; 411 Redondo Ave) Despite its name, all ages frequent this mainstay of gay Long Beach, especially on karaoke nights. It is a short drive from shopping on Retro Row.

cheesy Mexican cult movie projections and margarita-swilling scenesters – it’s Cabo San Lucas meets Graceland at this dark palace of kitsch on the Cahuenga Corridor party drag.

Also recommended:

Beauty Bar (Map p922; ☎ 323-464-7676; 1638 N Cahuenga Blvd) Beautilicious martinis and manicures.

Novel Café (Map p927; ☎ 310-396-8566; 212 Pier Ave) Low-key indie java shop favored by writers, beach bums and Main St shoppers.

ENTERTAINMENT

LA Weekly (www.laweekly.com) and the Los Angeles Times (http://theguide.latimes.com) have extensive entertainment listings. Snag tickets online, at the box office or through Ticketmaster (☎ 213-480-3232; www.ticketmaster.com). Get half-price tickets to selected stage shows through Goldstar (www.goldstar.com); for theater, use LAStageTIX (www.theatrela.org) and Plays 411 (www.plays411.com); or go in person to the visitor centers in Hollywood and Downtown LA (p917).

Live Music & Nightclubs

Troubadour (Map p925; ☎ 310-276-6168; www.troubadour.com; 9081 Santa Monica Blvd, West Hollywood; 🕑 Mon-Sat) This legendary rock hall helped catapult the Eagles and Tom Waits to stardom and is still great for catching tomorrow's headliners. A beer-drinking crowd serious about its music keeps attitude to a minimum.

our pick Spaceland (Map pp916-17; ☎ 323-661-4380; www.clubspaceland.com; 1717 Silver Lake Blvd, Silver Lake) Beck played some early gigs at what is still LA's best place for indie and alterna-sounds. When the ad says 'special guest,' you never know what level of star might show up for quick and dirty impromptu sessions.

Hotel Cafe (Map p922; ☎ 323-461-2040; www.hotelcafe.com; 1623.5 N Cahuenga Blvd, Hollywood) The 'it' place for handmade music sometimes features big-timers such as Suzanne Vega, but it's really more of a stepping stone for message-minded newbie balladeers. Get there early and enter from the alley.

McCabe's Guitar Shop (Map p927; ☎ 310-828-4403; www.mccabes.com; 3101 Pico Blvd, Santa Monica) This mecca of musicianship sells guitars and other instruments, and the likes of Jackson Browne, Liz Phair and Michelle Shocked perform live in the postage-stamp-sized back room.

Babe's & Ricky's (Map pp916-17; ☎ 323-295-9112; www.bluesbar.com; 4339 Leimert Blvd, Leimert Park; 🕑 Mon & Thu-Sat) This legendary blues joint is great any time, but Mondays are cult: $8 buys Mama Laura's late-night soul food buffet.

The Sunset Strip is lined with legendary music halls from Whisky A-Go-Go to House of Blues.

Classical Music & Opera

Los Angeles Philharmonic (Map p919; ☎ 323-850-2000; www.laphil.org; 111 S Grand Ave, Downtown) The world-class LA Phil performs classics and cutting-edge works at the Walt Disney Concert Hall. In 2009, the Phil welcomed Venezuelan wunderkind Gustavo Dudamel as its music director.

our pick Hollywood Bowl (off Map p922; ☎ 323-850-2000; www.hollywoodbowl.com; 2301 N Highland Ave, Hollywood; 🕑 late Jun-Sep) This historic natural amphitheater is the LA Phil's summer home and also a stellar place to catch big-name rock, jazz, blues and pop acts. Come early for a preshow picnic (alcohol is allowed).

Los Angeles Opera (Map p919; ☎ 213-972-8001; www.laopera.com; Dorothy Chandler Pavilion; 135 N Grand Ave, Downtown) Helmed by Plácido Domingo, this renowned opera ensemble plays it pretty safe with crowd-pleasers.

Theater

Centre Theatre Group (☎ 213-628-2772; www.centretheatregroup.org) New and classic plays and musicals, including some Broadway touring companies, are presented in – count ’em – three venues: Ahmanson Theatre (Map p919) and Mark Taper Forum (Map p919) in Downtown LA and Kirk Douglas Theatre (Map pp916–17) in Culver City. Phone for $20 'Hot Tix' to shows (when available).

Actors' Gang Theatre (Map pp916-17; ☎ 310-838-4264; www.theactorsgang.com; 9070 Venice Blvd, Culver City) Cofounded by Tim Robbins, this socially mindful troupe has won many awards for its bold and offbeat interpretations of classics and new works pulled from ensemble workshops.

Deaf West Theatre (Map pp916-17; ☎ 818-762-2773; www.deafwest.org; 5112 Lankershim Blvd, North Hollywood, San Fernando Valley; tickets vary) Hearing-impaired actors perform classic and contemporary plays in sign language with voice interpretation and/or supertitles; its 'Big River' soared on Broadway.

Other thespian venues:

East West Players (Map p919; ☎ 213-625-7000; www.eastwestplayers.org; 120 N Judge John Aiso St, Downtown) Pioneering Asian American ensemble.

Will Geer Theatricum Botanicum (Map pp916-17; ☎ 310-455-3723; www.theatricum.com; 1419 N Topanga Canyon Blvd, north of Santa Monica) Enchanting summer repertory in the woods.

Spectator Sports

Dodger Stadium (Map p919; ☎ 866-363-4377; www.dodgers.com; 1000 Elysian Park Dr, Downtown) LA's Major League Baseball team plays from April to October in this legendary stadium.

Staples Center (Map p919; ☎ 213-742-7340; www.staplescenter.com; 1111 S Figueroa St, Downtown) This state-of-the-art venue is home base for all three of LA's professional basketball teams – the LA Lakers, LA Sparks and LA Clippers – as well as the LA Kings NHL ice-hockey team.

SHOPPING

Beverly Hills's Rodeo Drive (Map p925; btwn Wilshire & Santa Monica Blvds) may be the world's most famous shopping street, but LA drips with other options for retail therapy. Fashionistas, and their paparazzi piranhas, flock to Robertson

IT'S A WRAP

Dress like a movie star – in their actual clothes! Packed-to-the-rafters It's a Wrap (Map p925; ☎ 310-246-9727; 1164 S Robertson Blvd, Mid-City, 🕐 11am-8pm Mon-Fri, 11am-6pm Sat & Sun) sells wardrobe castoffs – tank tops to tuxedos – worn by actors and extras working on TV or movie shoots. Tags are coded (there's a list at the check-out counter), so you'll know whose clothing you can brag about wearing.

Boulevard (Map p925; btwn Beverly Blvd & 3rd St), Melrose Avenue (Map p925; btwn San Vicente Blvd & La Brea Ave) in Hollywood and West Hollywood, and Montana Avenue (Map p927; btwn Lincoln Blvd & 20th St) in Santa Monica.

Hollywood is ground zero for groovy tunes at Amoeba Music (Map p922; ☎ 323-245-6400; 6400 W Sunset Blvd). East of here, Silver Lake has cool kitsch, collectibles and emerging LA designers, especially around Sunset Junction (Map p922; cnr Hollywood & Sunset Blvds). Other 'chain-gang-free' strips are Main St in Santa Monica (Map p927), Abbot Kinney Blvd in Venice (p927) and Larchmont Blvd in Hollywood (Map p922).

Bargain hunters haunt Downtown's Fashion District (p920), Jewelry District (p920) and Flower Market (p921), while Long Beach's Retro Row (Map pp916-17; E 4th St btwn Junipero & Cherry Aves) brims with shops selling vintage clothing and mid-century furniture at prices from 'how much?' to 'how much?'

Good flea markets include the weekly Melrose Trading Post (Map p925; Fairfax High School, 7850 Melrose Ave, West Hollywood; admission $2; 🕐 9am-5pm Sun), which brings out hipsters in search of retro treasure, and the monthly Rose Bowl Flea Market (Map pp916-17; ☎ 323-560-7469; www.rgcshows.com; Rose Bowl, 1001 Rose Bowl Dr, Pasadena; admission $8-20; 🕐 5am-4:30pm 2nd Sun of the month), the 'mother' of all flea markets with more than 2200 vendors.

GETTING THERE & AWAY

Air

LA's main gateway is Los Angeles International Airport (LAX; Map pp916-17; ☎ 310-646-5252; www.lawa.org/lax), one of the world's five busiest. The nine terminals are linked by the free Shuttle Bus A, on the lower (arrival) level. Hotel and car-rental shuttles stop here as well.

Long Beach Airport (LGB; Map pp916-17) and Burbank's Bob Hope Airport (BUR; Map pp916-17) handle mostly domestic flights.

Bus

The main Greyhound bus terminal (Map p919; ☎ 213-629-8401, 800-231-2222; 1716 E 7th St) is in an unsavory part of Downtown, so avoid arriving after dark. Some buses go directly to the Hollywood terminal (Map p922; ☎ 323-466-6381; 1715 N Cahuenga Blvd).

Car

The usual international car-rental agencies have branches throughout Los Angeles (see p1164 for central reservation numbers and websites). At LAX, if you don't have a prior booking, use courtesy phones in the arrival areas and catch free shuttles to the agencies' off-airport locations.

Train

Amtrak trains roll into Downtown's historic Union Station (Map p919; ☎ 800-872-7245; 800 N Alameda St). The Pacific Surfliner travels daily to San Diego ($34, 2¾ hours), Santa Barbara ($25, 2½ hours) and San Luis Obispo ($36, 5½ hours).

GETTING AROUND

To/From the Airport

At LAX, door-to-door shuttles operated by Prime Time (☎ 800-473-3743; www.primetimeshuttle.com) and Super Shuttle (☎ 310-782-6600; www.supershuttle.com) leave from the lower level of all terminals. Typical fares to Santa Monica, Hollywood or Downtown are $21, $26 and $16, respectively. Disneyland Express (☎ 714-978-8855; www.grayline.com) travels at least hourly between LAX and Disneyland-area hotels for one way/round-trip $22/$32.

Curbside dispatchers will summon a taxi for you. There's a flat fare of $46.50 to Downtown LA, and metered fares average $30 to Santa Monica, $42 to Hollywood, and up to $90 to Disneyland. There is a $2.50 surcharge for taxis departing LAX. See opposite for further information.

LAX Flyaway Buses (☎ 866-435-9529; www.lawa.org/flyaway) depart LAX terminals every 30 minutes, from about 5am to midnight, nonstop to both Westwood ($5, 30 min) and Union Station ($7, 45 min) in Downtown LA.

Other public transportation is slower and less convenient but cheaper. From the lower level outside any terminal, catch a free shuttle bus to parking lot C, from where it is a walk of under a minute to the LAX Transit Center, the hub for buses serving all of LA. You can also take shuttle bus G to Aviation Station and the Metro Green Line light rail, from where you can connect to the Blue Line and Downtown LA or Long Beach (40 minutes). See Public Transportation (below) for further information.

Car & Motorcycle

Unless time is no factor or money is extremely tight, you'll probably find yourself behind the wheel, although this means contending with some of the worst traffic in the country. Avoid rush hour (roughly 7:30am to 9am and 4pm to 6:30pm).

Parking at motels and cheaper hotels is usually free, while fancier ones charge from $8 to $36. Valet parking at nicer restaurants, hotels and nightspots is commonplace, with rates ranging from $2.50 to $10.

For local parking recommendations, see each of the neighborhoods in the Sights section (p918).

Public Transportation

LA's Metro(☎ 800-266-6883; www.metro.net) operates about 200 bus lines and six subway and light-rail lines:

Blue Line Downtown (7th St/Metro Center) to Long Beach
Expo Line Downtown (7th St/Metro Center) to Culver City, via Exposition Park
Gold Line Union Station to Pasadena and East LA
Green Line Norwalk to Redondo Beach
Purple Line Downtown to Koreatown
Red Line Union Station to North Hollywood, via Downtown, Hollywood and Universal Studios

Tickets cost $1.25 per boarding (get a transfer when boarding if needed). There are no free transfers between trains and buses, but 'TAP card' unlimited ride passes cost day/week $5/17. Bus drivers sell regular fares and same-day passes (exact fare required). Purchase train tickets at vending machines in stations. Trip-planning help is available at ☎ 800-266-6883 or online at www.metro.net.

Local DASH minibuses (☎ your area code + 808-2273; www.ladottransit.com; 25¢) serve Downtown and Hollywood. Santa Monica–based Big Blue Bus (☎ 310-451-5444; www.bigbluebus.com, 75¢) serves much of the western LA area and LAX. Its Line 10 Freeway Express connects Santa Monica with Downtown LA ($1.75, one hour).

See also p918 for further information.

Taxi

Except for taxis lined up outside airports, train stations, bus stations and major hotels, it's best to phone for a cab. Fares are metered, $2.85 at flag fall plus $2.70 per mile. Taxis serving the airport accept credit cards, though sometimes grudgingly. Some recommended companies:

Checker (☎ 800-300-5007)
Independent (☎ 800-521-8294)
Yellow Cab (☎ 800-200-1085)

AROUND LOS ANGELES

CATALINA ISLAND

Mediterranean-flavored Catalina Island (www.visitcatalina.org, www.catalinachamber.com) is a popular getaway for harried Angelenos, but seems to sink under the weight of day-trippers in summer. Commercial activity concentrates in the pint-sized port town of Avalon where the tourist office on the Green Pier has maps and information on sights and activities.

Catalina isn't famous for its beaches, but it does have some excellent snorkeling at Descanso Beach, Lovers' Cove and Casino Point Marine Park, a marine reserve that is also the best shore dive. Gear rentals cluster on the Green Pier. Other ways to escape the throngs are by kayaking the quiet coves of Catalina's rocky coastline or by visiting the nature-protected backcountry. On the Inside Adventure by Catalina Adventure Tours (☎ 877-510-2888; www.catalinaadventuretours.com; $35), you'll enjoy memorable views of the rugged coast and sandy coves and may even run into a herd of bison. The only other way to access the inland areas is by foot, boat or mountain bike (free pass required; call ☎ 310-510-1421).

Catalina Express (☎ 310-519-1212, 800-481-3470; www.catalinaexpress.com; round-trip $66.50) operates ferries to Avalon from San Pedro, Long Beach and Dana Point (in Orange County). Reservations are recommended in summer.

SIX FLAGS MAGIC MOUNTAIN

Velocity is king at Six Flags (off Map pp916-17; ☎ 661-255-4111; www.sixflags.com/parks/magicmountain; 26101 Magic Mountain Pkwy, Valencia; adult/child under 4ft $54/30; 🕑 from 10:30am daily late Mar-early Sep, open Sat, Sun, holidays & some Fridays rest of year, closing times vary 6pm-midnight; 👶), the ultimate roller-coaster park, where you can go up, down and inside-out faster and in more baffling ways than anywhere aside from a space shuttle. Check the website for discounts. It's about 30 miles north of central LA off the I-5 (Golden State Fwy). Parking is $15.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA COAST

ORANGE COUNTY

Oh sure, you've seen the OC, then Real Housewives, and you think you know what to expect from this giant quilt of suburbia connecting LA and San Diego: affluence, aspiration and anxiety. Indeed, there is much living large in Orange County: shopping is a major passion, and tony resorts and restaurants serve its affluent residents. But it's also home to a burgeoning arts community, 42 miles of glorious beaches and – don't forget – the 'Happiest Place on Earth,' aka Disneyland.

Disneyland Resort

The mother of all theme parks, Disneyland (Map pp916-17; ☎ 714-781-4000 or 714-781-7290; www.disneyland.com; 1313 Harbor Blvd, Anaheim; 1-day pass either park adult/child 3-9yr $69/59, both parks $94/84; 👶) lures you into a parallel world that's as enchanting as it is freaky and frenzied. The most popular rides and attractions include the wildly creative Indiana Jones Adventure, the white-knuckle Space Mountain and the Pirate's Lair where Jack Sparrow welcomes wannabe swashbucklers. The Finding Nemo Submarine Voyage is a gentle adventure for little ones.

Bigger and less crowded, Disney's California Adventure celebrates the natural and cultural glories of the Golden State but lacks the density of attractions and depth of imagination. The best rides are Soarin' over California, a virtual hang-glide, the Twilight Zone Tower of Terror that drops you 183ft down an elevator chute, and the new 3-D Toy Story Mania.

Nearby, Downtown Disney offers plenty of opportunities to drop even more cash in its stores, restaurants and entertainment venues.

You can see either park in a day, but going on all the rides requires at least two days (three if visiting both parks), as waits for top attractions can be an hour or more. To minimize wait times, especially in summer, arrive midweek before the gates open and use the Fastpass system, which assigns boarding times for selected attractions. A variety of multiday passes are available. Check the website for discounts and seasonal park hours. Parking is $12.

Chain hotels are a dime a dozen in the surrounding city of Anaheim, but a recommended indie is flowery, family-friendly Candy Cane Inn (☎ 714-774-5284, 800-345-7057; www.candycaneinn.net; 1747 S Harbor Blvd; r $99-189; P ⊠ ❄ 📶 🏊), where rates include a fitness center and poolside continental breakfast.

Knott's Berry Farm

Smaller and less commercially frenzied than Disney, Old West–themed Knott's Berry Farm (Map pp916-17; ☎ 714-220-5200; www.knotts.com; 8039 Beach Blvd, Buena Park; adult/child 3-11yr & senior $52/23; 🕙 from 10am; 👶) often teems with packs of speed-crazed adolescents testing their mettle on an intense line-up of thrill rides. Gut-wrenchers include the wooden Ghost Rider and the '50s-themed Xcelerator, while the single-digit-aged find tamer action at Camp Snoopy. If your stomach's up for it, wrap up with a visit with Mrs Knott's classic fried-chicken dinner (mains $10 to $16). Save time and money by printing tickets online. Parking costs $10 (free for restaurant patrons). Closing times vary from 6pm to 1pm; check website.

Orange County Beaches

Hummer-driving hunks and Botoxed beauties mix it up with surfers and artists to give Orange County's beach towns their distinct vibe. Just across the LA–OC county-line, Seal

WHAT THE…?

Hey, did that painting just move? Welcome to the Pageant of the Masters (☎ 949-497-6582, 800-487-3378; www.pageanttickets.com; admission $20-100; 🕙 8:30pm Jul & Aug), in which elaborately costumed humans step into painstaking recreations of famous paintings on an outdoor stage. The pageant began in 1933 as a sideshow to Laguna Beach's Festival of the Arts (www.LagunaFestivalofArts.org) and has been a prime attraction ever since. Our favorite part: watching the paintings deconstruct.

Beach is refreshingly noncommercial with its pleasantly walkable downtown, while gentrified Huntington Beach (aka Surf City, USA) epitomizes the California surfing lifestyle. Next up is the ritziest of the OC's beach communities: Newport Beach, portrayed in The OC and nirvana for luxe shoppers. Families should steer toward Balboa Peninsula for its beaches, vintage wooden pier and quaint amusement center.

Laguna Beach is the OC's most cultured and charming seaside town, where secluded beaches, glassy waves and eucalyptus-covered hillsides create a Riviera-like feel. Art galleries dot Coast Hwy here, and Laguna's summer art festivals are institutions.

Mission San Juan Capistrano (☎ 949-234-1300; cnr Ortega Hwy & Camino Capistrano; incl audio tour adult/child/senior $9/5/8; 🕑 8:30am-5pm), about 10 miles south and inland from Laguna, is one of California's most beautiful missions, featuring lush gardens and the charming Serra Chapel.

SAN DIEGO

San Diegans shamelessly yet endearingly promote their hometown as 'America's Finest City.' Smug? Maybe, but it's easy to see why. The weather is practically perfect, with coastal high temperatures hovering around 72°F (22°C) all year. Beaches or forests are rarely more than 10 minutes drive away. Its population (about 1.26 million) makes it America's eighth-largest city (or about 1.5 times the size of San Francisco), yet we're hard-pressed to think of a more laid-back big city anywhere.

San Diego languished as a relative backwater until WWII, when the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor prompted the US Navy to relocate the US Pacific Fleet from Hawaii to San Diego's natural harbor. Growth has been phenomenal ever since in military, tourism, education and research (especially medicine and oceanography), alongside high-tech companies in the inland valleys and businesses involved in cross-border trade. It all makes San Diego seem more all-American than its California compadres, despite its borderland location.

For visitors, San Diego bursts with world-famous attractions: including the San Diego Zoo (p943), SeaWorld (p944), and Legoland (p948). The ritzy, picturesque enclave of La Jolla (p945) has pride of place on San Diego's coast. Conventions are big business too, and next to the convention center is the always buzzing Gaslamp Quarter (p941). San Diego's beach cities make for 'hanging 10' or dipping in the world's largest pool (aka the Pacific).

Orientation

San Diego's compact downtown revolves around the historic Gaslamp Quarter, a beehive of restaurants, bars and boutiques with the convention center just to its south. Southwest of here, Coronado is reached via a stunning bridge, while Little Italy and museum-rich Balboa Park (home of the San Diego Zoo) are to the north. The park segues into Hillcrest, the city's lesbi-gay hub. West of here are tourist-oriented Old Town, and the water playground around Mission Bay.

Heading north along the coast, Ocean Beach, Mission Beach and Pacific Beach epitomize the laid-back SoCal lifestyle, while La Jolla sits pretty and privileged. The I-5 Fwy cuts through the region north–south, while the I-8 Fwy is the main east–west artery. The CA163 Fwy heads north from downtown through Balboa Park.

Information

BOOKSTORE

Le Travel Store (Map p942; ☎ 619-544-0005; 745 4th Ave, Downtown)

INTERNET ACCESS

For wi-fi hot-spot locations, check www.jiwire.com.

San Diego Public Library (Map p942; ☎ 619-236-5800; www.sandiego.gov/public-library; 820 E St, Downtown; 📶) Call or check the website for branch locations.

INTERNET RESOURCES

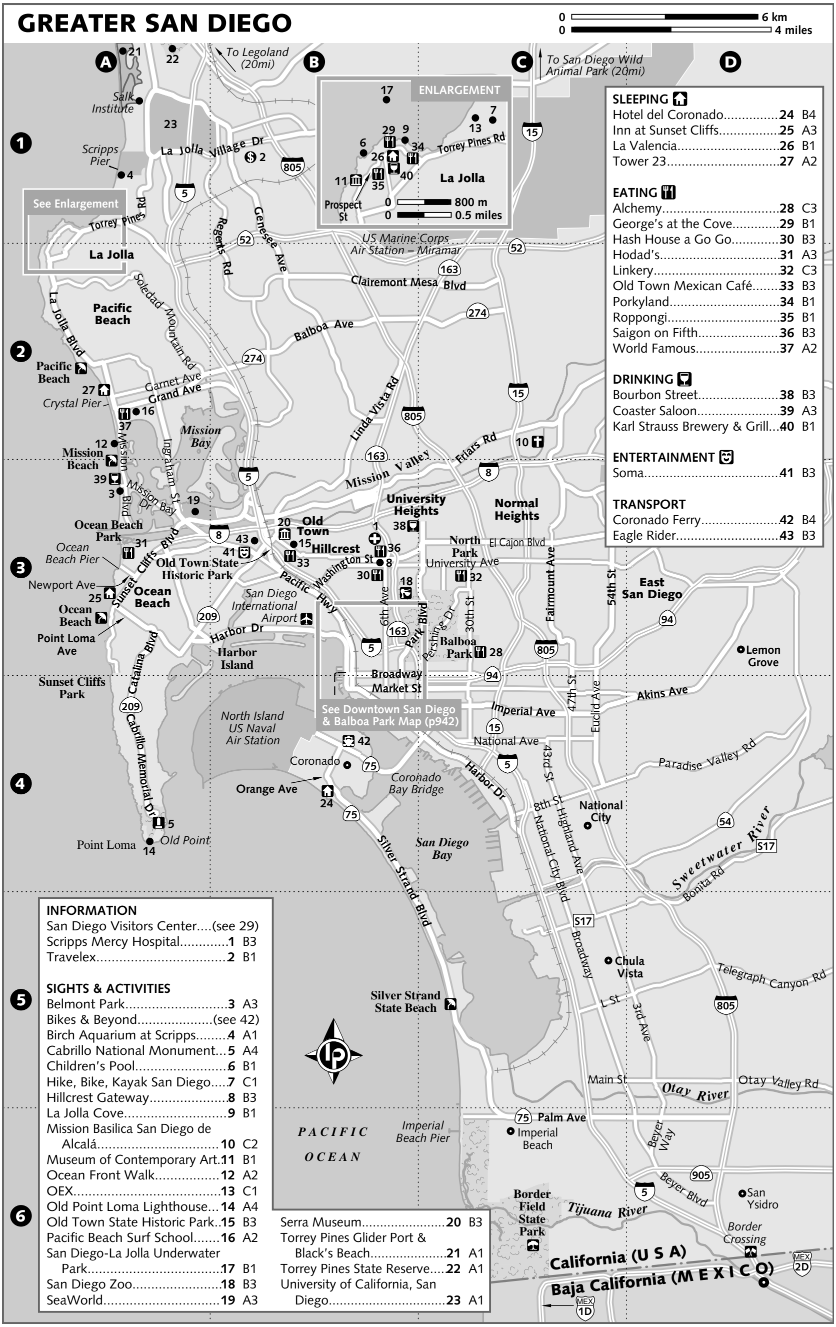
Accessible San Diego (www.asd.travel) Excellent resource for barrier-free travel around San Diego.

Gaslamp.org (www.gaslamp.org) Everything you need to know about the bustling Gaslamp Quarter, including parking secrets.

VISITING TIJUANA

Tijuana, Mexico, has long been a popular side trip; however, at the time of writing, safety conditions were such that it's not recommended. A triple-whammy of drug-related violence, the global economic downturn and the 2009 H1N1 swine flu virus has turned once-bustling tourist areas into ghost towns.

GREATER SAN DIEGO



0 6 km
0 4 miles
A
B
C
D
1
2
3
4
5
6
To Legoland (20mi)
To San Diego Wild Animal Park (20mi)
ENLARGEMENT
La Jolla
Torrey Pines Rd
Prospect St
0 800 m
0 0.5 miles
Salk Institute
Scripps Pier
La Jolla Village Dr
See Enlargement
Torrey Pines Rd
La Jolla
Regents Rd
Genesee Ave
US Marine Corps Air Station – Miramar
Clairemont Mesa Blvd
Pacific Beach
Soledad Mountain Rd
La Jolla Blvd
Balboa Ave
Garnet Ave
Grand Ave
Crystal Pier
Mission Bay
Mission Beach
Ingraham St
Mission Bay Dr
Mission Blvd
Linda Vista Rd
Mission Valley
Friars Rd University Heights Normal Heights
Ocean Beach Park
Ocean Beach Pier
Sunset Cliffs Blvd
Old Town
Old Town State Historic Park
Hillcrest
Washington St
El Cajon Blvd
North Park
University Ave
Newport Ave
Ocean Beach
Point Loma Ave
San Diego International Airport
Pacific Hwy
6th Ave
Park Blvd
Pershing Dr
30th St
Fairmount Ave
54th St
East San Diego
Harbor Dr
Harbor Island
Balboa Park
Broadway
Market St
Lemon Grove
Sunset Cliffs Park
Catalina Blvd
Imperial Ave
47th St
Euclid Ave
Akins Ave
North Island US Naval Air Station
See Downtown San Diego & Balboa Park Map (p942)
National Ave
Coronado
Orange Ave
Coronado Bay Bridge
Harbor Dr
43rd St
Paradise Valley Rd
Cabrillo Memorial Dr
8th St
Highland Ave
National City
National City Blvd
Point Loma
Old Point
San Diego Bay
Silver Strand Blvd
Sweetwater River
Bonita Rd
Broadway
Chula Vista
Telegraph Canyon Rd
L St
3rd Ave
Silver Strand State Beach
Main St
Otay River
Otay Valley Rd
PACIFIC OCEAN
Imperial Beach Pier
Palm Ave
Imperial Beach
Beyer Way
Beyer Blvd
San Ysidro
Border Field State Park
Tijuana River
Border Crossing
California (U S A)
Baja California (M E X I C O)
5
8
15
52
54
75
94
163
209
274
805
905
S17
MEX 1D
MEX 2D

SLEEPING

Hotel del Coronado	24	B4
Inn at Sunset Cliffs	25	A3
La Valencia	26	B1
Tower 23	27	A2

EATING

Alchemy	28	C3
George's at the Cove	29	B1
Hash House a Go Go	30	B3
Hodad's	31	A3
Linkery	32	C3
Old Town Mexican Café	33	B3
Porkyland	34	B1
Roppongi	35	B1
Saigon on Fifth	36	B3
World Famous	37	A2

DRINKING

Bourbon Street	38	B3
Coaster Saloon	39	A3
Karl Strauss Brewery & Grill	40	B1

ENTERTAINMENT

Soma	41	B3

TRANSPORT

Coronado Ferry	42	B4
Eagle Rider	43	B3

INFORMATION

San Diego Visitors Center	(see 29)
Scripps Mercy Hospital	1	B3
Travelex	2	B1

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

Belmont Park	3	A3
Bikes & Beyond	(see 42)
Birch Aquarium at Scripps	4	A1
Cabrillo National Monument	5	A4
Children's Pool	6	B1
Hike, Bike, Kayak San Diego	7	C1
Hillcrest Gateway	8	B3
La Jolla Cove	9	B1
Mission Basilica San Diego de Alcalá	10	C2
Museum of Contemporary Art	11	B1
Ocean Front Walk	12	A2
OEX	13	C1
Old Point Loma Lighthouse	14	A4
Old Town State Historic Park	15	B3
Pacific Beach Surf School	16	A2
San Diego-La Jolla Underwater Park	17	B1
San Diego Zoo	18	B3
SeaWorld	19	A3
Serra Museum	20	B3
Torrey Pines Glider Port & Black's Beach	21	A1
Torrey Pines State Reserve	22	A1
University of California, San Diego	23	A1

San Diego Convention & Visitors Bureau (www.sandiego.org) Search hotels, sights, dining, rental cars and more, and make reservations.

San Diego.com (www.sandiego.com) Comprehensive ad-based portal to all things San Diegan, from fun stuff to serious business.

MEDIA

Gay & Lesbian Times (www.gaylesbiantimes.com) Free weekly.

KPBS 89.5 FM (www.kpbs.org) National public radio.

San Diego Magazine (www.sandiegomagazine.com) Glossy monthly.

San Diego Reader (www.sdreader.com) Free tabloid-sized listings magazine.

San Diego Union-Tribune (www.signonsandiego.com) The city's major daily.

MEDICAL SERVICES

Rite-Aid pharmacies (☎ 800-748-3243) Call for the nearest branch.

Scripps Mercy Hospital (Map p940; ☎ 619-294-8111; 4077 5th Ave, Hillcrest; 🕒 24hr emergency room)

MONEY

Travelex (🕒 10:30am-7pm Mon-Fri, 10am-6pm Sat, 11am-4pm Sun); Airport (Map p940; ☎ 619-295-2501; 🕒 8am-5pm); Downtown (Map p942; ☎ 619-235-0901; Horton Plaza;); La Jolla (Map p940; ☎ 858-457-2412; University Towne Centre mall, 4417 La Jolla Village Dr); Foreign currency exchange services.

POST

Call ☎ 800-275-8777 or log on to www.usps.com for the nearest branch.

TOURIST INFORMATION

Balboa Park Visitors Center (Map p942; ☎ 619-239-0512; www.balboapark.org; 1549 El Prado; 🕒 9:30am-4:30pm) In the House of Hospitality. Sells park maps and the Passport to Balboa Park (adult/child $39/21, with zoo admission $65/39), which allows one-time entry to 13 of the park's museums within seven days.

San Diego Visitors Centers (☎ 619-236-1212, 800-350-6205; www.sandiego.org) Downtown (Map p942; cnr W Broadway & Harbor Dr; 🕒 9am-5pm Jun-Sep, 9am-4pm Oct-May); La Jolla (Map p940; 7966 Herschel Ave; 🕒 11am-4pm, possible longer hours Jun-Sep & Sat & Sun)

Sights

DOWNTOWN

In 1867, creative real-estate wrangling by developer Alonzo Horton created the so-called 'New Town' that is today's downtown San Diego. Downtown's main street, 5th Ave, was once a notorious strip of saloons, gambling joints and bordellos known as Stingaree.

These days, Stingaree has been beautifully restored as the thumping heart of downtown San Diego and rechristened the Gaslamp Quarter (Map p942), a playground of restaurants, bars, clubs, shops and galleries. For the full historical picture, peruse the exhibits inside the 1850 William Heath Davis House (Map p942; ☎ 619-233-4692; www.gaslampquarter.org; 410 Island Ave; adult/child/senior $5/free/4; 🕒 10am-6pm Tue-Sat, 11am-3pm Sun), which also offers guided walking tours (adult/senior and student $10/8; tours 11am Saturday) of the quarter.

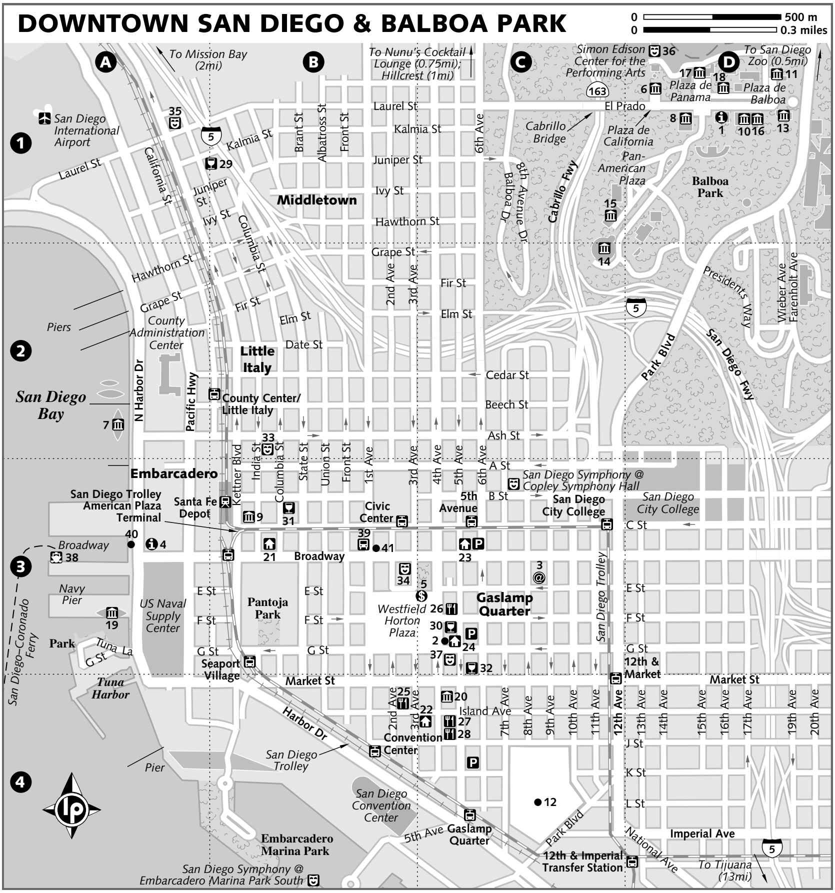
Just a quick stroll southeast of the Gaslamp is Downtown's newest landmark, Petco Park (Map p942; ☎ 619-795-5011; www.padres.com; 100 Park Blvd; tours adult/child/senior $9/5/6; 🕒 tours 10:30am, 12:30pm & 2:30pm Tue-Sun May-Aug, 10:30am & 12:30pm Apr & Sep, subject to game schedule), home of the San Diego Padres baseball team. Take an 80-minute behind-the-scenes tour.

Downtown's commercial focal point is the colorful, mazelike shopping mall Westfield Horton Plaza (Map p942; Broadway & 4th St; P). West of here, the Museum of Contemporary Art (Map p942; ☎ 858-454-3541; www.mcasd.org; 1001 & 1100 Kettner Blvd; adult/student/senior $10/free/5; 🕒 11am-5pm Thu-Tue, to 7pm third Thu each month, with free admission 5pm-7pm) emphasizes minimalist and pop art, as well as conceptual works and cross-border art. The 1100 Kettner Bldg is at the historic Santa Fe Depot. Another branch is in La Jolla (p945; one ticket admits you to all venues).

The museum is little more than a Frisbee toss away from the Embarcadero waterfront, where you can catch a harbor cruise or the Coronado Ferry (p943). The main attraction, though, is the USS Midway Museum (Map p942; ☎ 619-544-9600; www.midway.org; Navy Pier; adult/child/senior & student $17/9/13; 🕒 10am-5pm; 🚸), which is aboard the Navy's longest-serving aircraft carrier (1945–91). A self-guided audio tour takes in berthing spaces, galley, sick bay and, of course, the flight deck with its restored aircraft, including an F-14 Tomcat. Allow at least two hours. Parking costs from $5.

Other salty Embarcadero sights include the historic sailing vessels of the Maritime Museum (Map p942; ☎ 619-234-9153; www.sdmaritime.com; 1492 N Harbor Dr; adult/child/senior $14/8/11; 🕒 9am-8pm, to 9am late May-early Sep), most notably the 1863 Star of India.

DOWNTOWN SAN DIEGO & BALBOA PARK



0 500 m
0 0.3 miles
A
B
C
D
1
2
3
4
To Mission Bay (2mi)
To Nunu's Cocktail Lounge (0.75mi); Hillcrest (1mi)
Simon Edison Center for the Performing Arts
To San Diego Zoo (0.5mi)
Plaza de Panama
Plaza de Balboa
El Prado
Cabrillo Bridge
Plaza de California
Pan-American Plaza
Balboa Park
San Diego International Airport
Laurel St
Kalmia St
Juniper St
Ivy St
Hawthorn St
Grape St
Fir St
Elm St
Date St
Cedar St
Beech St
Ash St
A St
B St
C St
Broadway
E St
F St
G St
Market St
J St
K St
L St
Imperial Ave
California St
Columbia St
Brant St
Albatross St
Front St
2nd Ave
3rd Ave
4th Ave
5th Ave
6th Ave
7th Ave
8th Ave
9th Ave
10th Ave
11th Ave
12th Ave
13th Ave
14th Ave
15th Ave
16th Ave
17th Ave
19th Ave
20th Ave
Kettner Blvd
India St
State St
Union St
1st Ave
Balboa Dr
8th Avenue Dr
Cabrillo Fwy
Presidents Way
Park Blvd
San Diego Fwy
Wieber Ave
Farenholt Ave
Middletown
Little Italy
Piers
County Administration Center
San Diego Bay
N Harbor Dr
Pacific Hwy
County Center/ Little Italy
Embarcadero
San Diego Trolley American Plaza Terminal
Santa Fe Depot
Civic Center
5th Avenue
San Diego City College
San Diego Symphony @ Copley Symphony Hall
Navy Pier
US Naval Supply Center
Pantoja Park
Westfield Horton Plaza
Gaslamp Quarter
San Diego Trolley
12th & Market
Park
Tuna Harbor
Tuna La
San Diego–Coronado Ferry
Seaport Village
Harbor Dr
Convention Center
Pier
San Diego Convention Center
Embarcadero Marina Park
5th Ave
Gaslamp Quarter
12th & Imperial Transfer Station
National Ave
To Tijuana (13mi)
San Diego Symphony @ Embarcadero Marina Park South
163
5
P

INFORMATION

Balboa Park Visitors Center	1	D1
Le Travel Store	2	C3
San Diego Public Library	3	C3
San Diego Visitors Center	4	A3
Travelex	5	C3

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

California Building	6	D1
Maritime Museum	7	A2
Mingei International Museum	8	D1
Museum of Contemporary Art	9	B3
Museum of Man	(see 6)
Museum of Photographic Arts	10	D1
Natural History Museum	11	D1
Old Globe Theaters	(see 36)
Petco Park	12	C4
Reuben H Fleet Science Center	13	D1
San Diego Air & Space Museum	14	C2
San Diego Automotive Museum	15	C1
San Diego Model Railroad Museum	16	D1
San Diego Museum of Art	17	D1
Timken Museum of Art	18	D1
USS Midway Museum	19	A3
William Heath Davis House	20	C4

SLEEPING

500 West Hotel	21	B3
Horton Grand Hotel	22	C4
Se San Diego	23	C3
USA Hostel San Diego	24	C3

EATING

Café 222	25	B4
Croce's Restaurant & Jazz Bar	26	C3
Gaslamp Strip Club	27	C4
Oceanaire	28	C4

DRINKING

Airport Lounge	29	B1
Bitter End	30	C3
Karl Strauss Brewery & Grill	31	B3
Side Bar	32	C3

ENTERTAINMENT

Anthology	33	B2
Arts Tix	34	B3
Casbah	35	A1
Imax Theater	(see 13)
Old Globe Theaters	36	D1
Shout House	37	C3

TRANSPORT

Coronado Ferry	38	A3
Greyhound	39	B3
San Diego Harbor Excursion	40	A3
Transit Store	41	B3

In northern downtown, Little Italy (Map p942; www.littleitalysd.com) has evolved into one of the city's hippest places to live, eat and shop. India St is the main drag.

CORONADO

Technically a peninsula, Coronado Island (Map p940) is joined to the mainland by a soaring, boomerang-shaped bridge. The main draw here is the Hotel del Coronado (p946), famous for its buoyant Victorian architecture and illustrious guest book, which includes Thomas Edison, Brad Pitt and Marilyn Monroe (its exterior stood in for a Miami hotel in the classic film Some Like it Hot). The hourly Coronado Ferry (Map p942; ☎ 619-234-4111; www.sdhe.com; one way/round-trip $3.25/6.50; 🕒 9am-10pm) shuttles between the Broadway Pier on the Embarcadero (Map p942) to the ferry landing at the foot of Orange Ave (Map p940), where Bikes & Beyond (Map p940; ☎ 619-435-7180; rental per hr/day from $7/30; 🕒 9am-8pm, call for seasonal hours) rents bicycles.

SAN DIEGO ZOO

If it slithers, crawls, stomps, swims, leaps or flies, chances are you'll find it in this world-famous zoo (Map p940; ☎ 619-231-1515; www.sandiegozoo.org; 2920 Zoo Dr; adult/child $28.50/18.50, with guided bus tour & aerial tram ride $35/26; 🕒 opens 9am, closing times vary; 👶) in northern Balboa Park. It's home to 3000-plus animals representing 800-plus species in a beautifully landscaped setting, including the new 7.5-acre Elephant Odyssey. Arrive early, when the animals are most active. Attractions include animal shows and an aerial tram. See also the affiliated San Diego Wild Animal Park (off Map p940); combination tickets are available.

BALBOA PARK & AROUND

Balboa Park is an urban oasis brimming with more than a dozen museums, gorgeous gardens and architecture, performance spaces and the famous zoo. Early 20th-century beaux arts and Spanish-colonial buildings (the legacy of world's fairs) are grouped around plazas along the east–west El Prado promenade. Balboa Park (parking free) is easily reached from downtown on bus 7. A free tram shuttles visitors around.

The Balboa Park Visitors Center sells park maps and the Passport to Balboa Park; see p941 for details. Some museums occasionally have free admission on Tuesday – check with the visitors center.

The scenic park approach from the west across Cabrillo Bridge drops you at Plaza de California, dominated by the flamboyant California Building (Map p942). Inside, the Museum of Man (Map p942; ☎ 619-239-2001; www.museumofman.org; Plaza de California; adult/child 6-12yr/child 13-17yr & senior $10/5/7.50; 🕒 10am-4:30pm) exhibits world-class pottery, jewelry, baskets and other artifacts. Behind the museum are the Old Globe Theaters.

Further east, a trio of museums rings Plaza de Panama, including the San Diego Museum of Art (Map p942; ☎ 619-232-7931; www.sdmart.org; Plaza de Panama; adult/child/student/senior $10/4/7/8; 🕒 10am-5pm Tue-Sat, noon-5pm Sun, to 9pm Thu), which gets accolades for its European old masters and good collections of American and Asian art. The Mingei International Museum (Map p942; ☎ 619-239-0003; www.mingei.org; 1439 El Prado, Plaza de Panama; adult/child/senior $7/4/5; 🕒 10am-4pm Tue-Sun) exhibits folk art from around the globe, while the small but exquisite Timken Museum of Art (Map p942; ☎ 619-239-5548; www.timkenmuseum.org; 1500 El Prado; admission free; 🕒 10am-4:30pm Tue-Sat, from 1:30pm Sun) showcases European and American heavyweights, from Rembrandt to Cézanne and John Singleton Copley.

East along El Prado, the Museum of Photographic Arts (Map p942; ☎ 619-238-7559; www.mopa.org; adult/child/student & senior $6/free/4; 🕒 10am-5pm) exhibits fine-art photography and hosts an ongoing film series. The San Diego Model Railroad Museum (Map p942; ☎ 619-696-0199; www.sdmrm.org; adult/senior/student $6/3/5; 🕒 11am-4pm Tue-Fri, 11am-5pm Sat & Sun; 👶) is one of the largest of its kind with brilliantly 'landscaped' train sets.

Next up is Plaza de Balboa, flanked by the Reuben H Fleet Science Center (Map p942; ☎ 619-238-1233; www.rhfleet.org; 1875 El Prado; adult/child & senior $10/8.75; 🕒 9:30am-varies; 👶), which is a family-oriented hands-on museum-cum-Imax theater (adult/child $14:50/11.75 incl Science Center admission, additional films $5). Opposite is the Natural History Museum (Map p942; ☎ 619-232-3821; www.sdnhm.org; 1788 El Prado; adult/child/student/senior $13/7/8/11; 🕒 10am-5pm; 👶), with dinosaur skeletons, an impressive rattlesnake collection, an earthquake exhibit and nature-themed movies in a giant-screen cinema.

Buildings around Pan-American Plaza in the park's southern section date from the 1935 Pacific–California Exposition. It's all about polished chrome and cool tailfins at the San Diego Automotive Museum (Map p942; ☎ 619-231-2886; www.sdautomuseum.org; 2080 Pan-American Plaza; adult/child/senior $8/5/6; 🕑 10am-5pm). The San Diego Air & Space Museum (Map p942; ☎ 619-234-8291; www.aerospacemuseum.org; adult/child/student & senior $15/6/12; 🕑 10am-5:30pm Jun-Aug, to 4:30pm Sep-May) offers a fun-filled look at the history and mystique of flight. Highlights include an original Blackbird SR-71 spy plane and a replica of Charles Lindbergh's Spirit of St Louis, as well as simulators that require an extra charge.

North of Balboa Park, Hillcrest (off Map p942) is the hub of San Diego's gay community, but everyone's welcome in its buzzing restaurants, boutiques, bookstores, bars and cafés. Start your stroll at the Hillcrest Gateway (Map p940), a neon arch near 5th St and University Ave. North Park (Map p940) is a budding neighborhood with a youngish, urban vibe and a growing restaurant and nightlife scene around 30th St and University Ave.

OLD TOWN & MISSION VALLEY

In 1769, a band of missionaries led by the Franciscan friar Junípero Serra founded the first of the 21 California missions on San Diego's Presidio Hill; a small village (pueblo) grew around it. The spot turned out to be less than ideal for a mission, however, and in 1774 the mission was moved about 7 miles upriver, closer to a steady water supply and fertile land.

Today the Mission Basilica San Diego de Alcalá (Map p940; ☎ 619-281-8449; www.missionsandiego.com; 10818 San Diego Mission Rd at Friars Rd; adult/child/student & senior $3/1/2; 🕑 9am-4:45pm) is secluded in a corner of what's now called Mission Valley. It's a modest rectangle embracing a tranquil garden. Unfortunately, reaching it requires passing through the valley itself, via an unlovely freeway flanked by three massive shopping malls.

The original pueblo is now called Old Town. On the site of the original mission stands the handsome Serra Museum (Map p940; ☎ 619-297-3258; 2727 Presidio Dr; adult/child/student & senior $5/2/4; 🕑 10am-4:30pm), which highlights life during the city's rough-and-tumble early period.

Downhill, Old Town State Historic Park (Map p940; ☎ 619-220-5422; San Diego Ave at Twiggs St; 🕑 visitor center 10am-5pm; 🅿) preserves five original adobe buildings and several re-created structures from the first pueblo, including a schoolhouse and a newspaper office. Most now contain museums, shops or restaurants, and there are more restaurants along San Diego Ave. The visitor center operates free tours.

POINT LOMA

This peninsula wraps around the entrance to crescent-shaped San Diego Bay like an arm around a shoulder. Enjoy stunning bay panoramas from the Cabrillo National Monument (Map p940; ☎ 619-557-5450; www.nps.gov/cabr; per car $5 or per person $3; 🕑 9am-5pm; 🅿), which honors the leader of the first Spanish exploration of the West Coast. In winter enjoy whale-watching and tide-pooling. The nearby 1854 Old Point Loma Lighthouse helped guide ships until 1891 and is now a museum.

MISSION BAY & BEACHES

After WWII, coastal engineering turned the mouth of the swampy San Diego River into a 7-sq-mile playground of parks, beaches and bays. Amoeba-shaped Mission Bay sits just inland. Surfing is popular in Ocean Beach and Mission Beach, and all the beaches are naturals for swimming, kiteflying and cycling along miles of paved bike paths.

Mission Bay's four-star attraction is SeaWorld (Map p940; ☎ 800-257-4268, 619-226-3901; www.seaworld.com/seaworld/ca; 500 SeaWorld Dr; adult/child 3-9yr $65/55; 🕑 9am-11pm Jul–mid-Aug, shorter hours rest of year; 👪). It's easy to spend a day here, shuttling among shows, rides and exhibits. The biggest draws are live animal shows, particularly Believe, featuring Shamu, the world's most famous killer whale, and his killer whale amigos leaping, diving and gliding. Some may find the presentation a little, well, awww, but the animals induce awe. Dolphin shows are also popular. Avoid marked 'soak zones' near the tanks or you will get wet. There are also zoolike animal exhibits and a few amusement-park-style rides, such as the Journey to Atlantis flume. Lines can be long in summer and around holidays. Parking is $12.

San Diego's three major beaches are ribbons of hedonism where armies of tanned, taut bodies frolic in the sand and surf. South of Mission Bay, hippie-flavored Ocean Beach (OB; Map p940) has a fishing pier, beach volleyball, sunset BBQs and good surf. Newport Ave is chockablock with bohemian bars, eateries and shops selling beachwear, surf gear and antiques.

West of Mission Bay, Mission Beach (MB; Map p940) and its northern neighbor, Pacific Beach (PB; Map p940), are connected by the car-free Ocean Front Walk (Map p940), which swarms with skaters, joggers and cyclists year-round. The small Belmont Park amusement park in MB beckons with a historic wooden roller coaster and large indoor pool. PB has the better-quality restaurants and nightlife.

LA JOLLA

Snuggling against one of Southern California's loveliest sweeps of coast, La Jolla (Spanish for 'the jewel;' say la-hoy-ah, if you please) is a ritzy suburb with shimmering beaches and a tight, upscale downtown. Noteworthy sights include the Children's Pool (Map p940; no longer a kids' swim area but now home to sea lions), kayaking at La Jolla Cove (Map p940), exploring sea caves and snorkeling the San Diego-La Jolla Underwater Park (Map p940). The Museum of Contemporary Art (Map p940; ☎ 858-454-3541; www.mcasd.org; 700 Prospect St; adult/student/senior $10/free/5; 🕑 11am-5pm Thu-Tue, to 7pm third Thu each month, with free admission 5pm-7pm) is the sister venue of the Downtown branch (above; same ticket for both locations).

Outside La Jolla's central village is the University of California, San Diego (UCSD) (Map p940), with its renowned research facilities. The Birch Aquarium at Scripps (Map p940); ☎ 858-534-3474; http://aquarium.ucsd.edu; 2300 Exhibition Way; adult/child/student/senior $11/7.50/8/9; 🕑 9am-5pm; 🅿 👪) has a spectacular oceanfront setting. Up the coast, the Torrey Pines State Reserve (Map p940; ☎ 858-755-2063; www.torreypine.org; 12600 N Torrey Pines Rd; car $10; 🕑 8am-dusk) protects the endangered Torrey pine and is perfect for leisurely ocean-view strolls on 2000 acres. Parking here costs $8. Hang-gliding at Torrey Pines State Beach takes you by Black's Beach (Map p940), which is legendary among naturists.

Activities

Surfing and windsurfing (for surf reports, call ☎ 619-221-8824) are both excellent, although in some areas territorial locals are a major irritation. Learn to hang 10 at the Pacific Beach Surf School (Map p940; ☎ 858-373-1138; www.pacificbeachsurfschool.com; 4150 Mission Blvd; private lessons per person $75-85). Snorkeling and scuba diving in the San Diego-La Jolla Underwater Park (Map p940), you'll encounter glowing orange garibaldi flitting around giant kelp forests. For gear or instruction, try OEX (Map p940; ☎ 858-454-6195; www.oeexpress.com; 2158 Avenida de la Playa) in La Jolla.

Tours

Hike, Bike, Kayak San Diego (Map p940; ☎ 858-551-9510, 866-425-2925; www.hikebikekayak.com; 2246 Avenida de la Playa, La Jolla) Just what it says.

Old Town Trolley Tours (☎ 619-298-8687; www.trolleytours.com; adult/child $32/16) Hop-on, hop-off loop tour to the main attractions.

San Diego Harbor Excursion (Map p942; ☎ 619-234-4111; www.sdhe.com; 1050 N Harbor Dr; adult/child from $20/10) A variety of bay and harbor cruises.

Sleeping

Rates quoted here are 'rack' rates, and can skyrocket downtown during big conventions and the summer peak and plummet at other times. The San Diego Conventions & Visitor Bureau runs a room reservation line (☎ 800-350-6205; www.sandiego.org).

DOWNTOWN

USA Hostel San Diego (Map p942; ☎ 619-232-3100, 800-438-8622; www.usahostels.com; 726 5th Ave; dm/d incl breakfast from $26/65; 💻 📶) In a former Victorian-era hotel, this convivial Gaslamp hostel has cheerful rooms, a full kitchen and a lounge for chilling. Rates include linen, lockers and a pancake breakfast.

500 West Hotel (Map p942; ☎ 619-234-5252, 866-315-4251; www.500westhotel.com; 500 W Broadway; s/d/tw with shared bath $59/69/79; 🚭 💻 📶) Rooms are shoebox-sized and baths are down the hallway in this renovated 1920s YMCA, but hipsters on a budget love the bright decor, flat-screen TVs, communal kitchen (and diner-style restaurant, 7am to 1pm) and fitness studio.

Horton Grand Hotel (Map p942; ☎ 619-544-1886, 800-542-1886; www.hortongrand.com; 311 Island Ave; r from $199; 🚭 📶) This brick hotel in the Gaslamp dates from 1886. All rooms are individually decorated with Victoriana and gas fireplaces, and some have street-facing wrought-iron balconies. Rooms facing the inner courtyard are quieter. Parking is $25.

Se San Diego (Map p942; ☎ 619-515-3000; www.sesandiego.com; 1047 5th Ave; r from $249; 🚭 💻 📶 🏊) This new hotel brings Hollywood glam to San Diego. The 9,000lb bronze front door pivots open on to Nepalese carpets and walls covered in silver leaf, and the texture fest continues with crystal beads, stingray skin and woven leather. There's doting service, a chic restaurant, lovely spa and, should you need it, a music studio. Parking is $36.

BEACHES

Inn at Sunset Cliffs (Map p940; ☎ 619-222-7901, 866-786-2543; www.innatsunsetcliffs.com; 1370 Sunset Cliffs Blvd, Ocean Beach; r from $175; 🅿 ⊠ 💻 📶 🏊) Hear the surf crashing onto the rocky shore at this 24-room charmer wrapped around a flower-bedecked courtyard. Breezy rooms are on the small side (and may have the occasional cracked tile), but it's still tops in Ocean Beach. Some suites have full kitchens.

Tower 23 (Map p940; ☎ 866-869-3723; www.t23hotel.com; 723 Felspar St, Pacific Beach; r from $199; ⊠ 💻 📶) A mod and modernist showplace for a contempo-cool beach stay, with lots of teals and mint blues and a sense of humor. There's no pool – but dude, you're right on the beach. Parking is $20.

La Valencia (Map p940; ☎ 858-454-0771, 800-451-0772; www.lavalencia.com; 1132 Prospect St, La Jolla; r from $295; ⊠ 💻 📶 🏊) Publicity stills of Lon Cheney, Lillian Gish and Greta Garbo line the hallways of this 1926 landmark: pink-walled, Mediterranean-style and designed by William Templeton Johnson. Its 116 rooms are rather compact (befitting the era), but it wins for Old Hollywood romance. Parking is $25.

Hotel del Coronado (Map p940; ☎ 619-435-6611, 800-468-3533; www.hoteldel.com; 1500 Orange Ave, Coronado; r from $380; ⊠ 💻 📶 🏊) San Diego's iconic hotel, the Del provides more than a century of history, tennis courts, spa, shops, splashy restaurants, manicured grounds and a white-sand beach. Some rooms are in a 1970s seven-story building; book the original building. Parking is $25.

Eating

With more than 6000 restaurants, San Diego's dynamic dining scene will please everyone from fast-food junkies to serious gourmets. Reservations are advised at dinnertime, especially on weekends.

DOWNTOWN

Café 222 (Map p942; ☎ 619-236-9902; 222 Island Ave; mains $6-11; 🕒 7am-1:45pm) Downtown's favorite breakfast place for pumpkin waffles; buttermilk, orange-pecan or granola pancakes; and eggs in scrambles or benedicts. There are lunchtime sandwiches and salads, but we can't get enough of breakfast (available until closing).

Croce's Restaurant & Jazz Bar (Map p942; ☎ 619-233-4355; 802 5th Ave; mains breakfast & lunch $7-19, dinner $23-35; 🕒 5:30pm-midnight Mon-Fri, 10am-midnight Sat & Sun) Empty tables are a rare sight at this sizzling restaurant – a pioneer of the Gaslamp and Ingrid Croce's tribute to her late husband, singer Jim Croce. The contemporary American menu has few false notes, nor have the musicians who perform nightly at the jazz bar.

Gaslamp Strip Club (Map p942; ☎ 619-231-3140; 340 5th Ave; mains $14-24; 🕒 kitchen 5-10pm Sun-Thu, 5pm-midnight Fri & Sat, bar open later) Pull a bottle from the wine vault and then char your own favorite cut of steak, chicken or fish on the open grills in this retro-Vegas dining room. Fab, creative martinis, 'pin-up' art by Alberto Vargas and reasonable prices. No one under 21 allowed.

our pick Oceanaire (Map p942; ☎ 619-858-2277; 400 J St; mains $20-35; 🕒 5-10pm Sun-Thu, 5-11pm Fri & Sat) The look is art-deco ocean liner and the service is just as refined, with an oyster bar (get them for a buck during happy hour, 5pm to 6pm Monday to Friday) and inventive creations, including Maryland blue crab cakes and horseradish-crusted Alaskan halibut.

OLD TOWN, HILLCREST & NORTH PARK

our pick Old Town Mexican Café (Map p940; ☎ 619-297-4330; 2489 San Diego Ave, Old Town; dishes $3-14; 🕒 7am-midnight; 👶) Watch the staff turn out fresh tortillas in the window while waiting for a table. Besides breakfast (great chilaquiles – soft tortilla chips covered with mole), there's a big bar (try the Old Town ultimate margarita) and rambling dining room serving famous machacas (shredded pork with onions and peppers).

Hash House a Go Go (Map p940; ☎ 619-298-4646; 3628 5th Ave, Hillcrest; breakfast mains $8-16; 🕒 7.30am-2pm Tue-Fri, 7.30am-2.30pm Sat-Mon, 5:30-9pm Sun & Tue-Thu, 5:30-10pm Fri & Sat) This buzzing bungalow makes biscuits and gravy straight outta Carolina, towering benedicts, large-as-your-head pancakes and, of course, hash seven different ways. Come hungry.

Saigon on Fifth (Map p940; ☎ 619-220-8828; 3900 5th Ave, Hillcrest; mains $7-16; 🕒 11am-midnight; 🅿) This Vietnamese place tries hard and succeeds, with dishes such as fresh spring rolls, fish of Hue (with garlic, ginger and lemongrass) and rockin' 'spicy noodles.' Elegant but not overbearing.

Alchemy (Map p940; ☎ 619-255-0616; 1503 30th St, North Park; mains $11-20; 🕒 4pm-midnight Sun-Thu, 4pm-1am Fri & Sat, 11am-2pm Sat & Sun) It's a spin-the-globe menu of local ingredients from small plates (including charcuterie or Parmesan frites with garlic aioli), and Jidori chicken with bok choy and shiitake dumplings, in an art-filled blondwood room.

Linkery (Map p940; ☎ 619-255-8778; 3794 30th St, North Park; mains $9-20; 🕐 5.30-11:30pm Mon-Thu, noon-11:30pm Fri-Sun) A daily changing menu of house-made sausages and hand-cured meats from sustainably raised animals is the thing here – on a roll, in tacos, on a board with cheese or in choucroute (French stew). Vegetarians: don't worry; you're covered too.

BEACHES

Porkyland (Map p940; ☎ 858-459-1708; 1030 Torrey Pines Rd, La Jolla; dishes $3-7; 🕐 9am-7pm) Ay, caramba! This mini-mall Mexican joint just outside La Jolla village has no atmosphere, but the burritos and fish tacos have a devoted following. The habanero burrito ($4.50) will make your taste buds roar and still leave you beer money.

Hodad's (Map p940; ☎ 619-224-4623; 5010 Newport Ave, Ocean Beach; burgers $4-9; 🕐 11am-9pm Sun-Thu, 11am-10pm Fri & Sat) OB's legendary burger joint serves great shakes, massive baskets of onion rings and succulent hamburgers wrapped in paper. The walls are covered in license plates, grunge/surf-rock plays (loud!) and your bearded, tattooed server might sidle in to your booth to take your order.

World Famous (Map p940; ☎ 858-272-3100; 711 Pacific Beach Dr, Pacific Beach; mains breakfast & lunch $8-15, dinner $10-24; 🕐 7am-11pm) Watch the surf while enjoying 'California coastal cuisine,' an ever-changing menu of inventive dishes from the sea (think banana rum mahi and bacon-and-spinach-wrapped scallops), plus steaks, salads, lunchtime sandwiches and burgers and breakfasts, like the Newport omelet with crab, shrimp and spicy sauce.

Roppongi (Map p940; ☎ 858-551-5252; 875 Prospect St, La Jolla; most dishes $10-25; 🕐 11:30am-9:30pm Sun-Thu, 11:30am-10:30pm Fri & Sat) Tapas-style Asian fusion shines at this gorgeous eatery with clever lighting that makes everyone look good. The Polynesian crab stack, piled high and tossed at table, is a killer choice, and the ahi tuna with watermelon is a surprising flavor bomb.

George's at the Cove (Map p940; ☎ 858-454-4244; www.georgesatthecove.com; 1250 Prospect St, La Jolla; mains $11-48; 🕐 11am-11pm) If you've got the urge to splurge, the Euro-Cal cooking is as dramatic as the oceanfront location thanks to the bottomless imagination of chef Trey Foshee. George's has graced just about every list of top restaurants in California, and indeed the USA. Three venues allow you to enjoy it at different price points: Ocean Terrace, George's Bar and George's California Modern.

Drinking

Bitter End (Map p942; ☎ 619-338-9300; 770 5th Ave, Downtown) The crowd wears khakis and drinks martinis at this former Gaslamp brothel that has been turned into an atmospheric watering hole. There's an extensive selection of beers on tap. Dancing is downstairs.

Side Bar (Map p942; ☎ 619-696-0946; www.sidebarsd.com; 536 Market St, Downtown) Good vibrations accompany good libations – watermelon mojito, martini with blue cheese-stuffed olives – at this Gaslamp lounge, while you lounge on a long banquette beneath 'oh my'-enducing art.

Karl Strauss Brewery & Grill Downtown (Map p942; ☎ 619-234-2739; 1157 Columbia St; 🕐 hrs vary); La Jolla (Map p940; ☎ 858-551-2739; cnr Wall St & Herschel Ave; 🕐 hrs vary) Local microbrewery serving surprisingly decent pub grub (most mains $10 to $19). Pints cost $3.50 and pitchers are $12.95 during happy hour (4pm to 6:30pm Monday to Friday).

Airport Lounge (Map p942; ☎ 619-685-3881; 2400 India St, Little Italy) The clientele is Euro-cool, the DJs hot, the design mod, the drinks strong and the servers dressed like flight attendants at this buzzy watering hole in the flight path of San Diego Airport.

Nunu's Cocktail Lounge (off Map p942; ☎ 619-295-2878; 3537 5th Ave, Hillcrest) Dark and divey, this hipster haven started pouring when JFK was president and still looks the part with its curvy booths, big bar and lovably kitsch decor. Smoking is permitted on the patio.

Bourbon Street (Map p940; ☎ 619-291-4043; www.bourbonstreetsd.com; 4612 Park Blvd, North Park) This gay spot's warren of bars, courtyards and dancefloor makes for easy mingling. Look for bingo nights, guest DJs and wickedly cheap martini happy hours.

Coaster Saloon (Map p940; ☎ 858-488-4438; 744 Ventura Pl, Mission Beach) This old-fashioned neighborhood bar has front-row views of the Belmont Park roller coaster, and draws an unpretentious crowd with its beer selection and good margaritas.

Entertainment

Check the San Diego Reader or the Thursday edition of the San Diego Union-Tribune for the latest happenings around town (see p941). Arts Tix (p942; www.sdartstix.com; 3rd Ave & Broadway, Downtown; ⏲ 11am-6pm Tue-Thu, 10am-6pm Fri & Sat, 10am-5pm Sun), in a kiosk on Broadway outside Horton Plaza, has half-price tickets for same-day evening or next-day matinee performances and discounted tickets to all types of other events. Ticketmaster (☎ 619-220-8497; www.ticketmaster.com) and House of Blues (www.hob.com) sell other tickets.

LIVE MUSIC & NIGHTCLUBS

Anthology (Map p942; ☎ 619-595-0300; www.anthologysd.com; 1337 India St, Downtown; cover free-$60) Near Little Italy, Anthology presents live jazz in a swank supper-club setting, from both up-and-comers and big-name performers.

Casbah (Map p942; ☎ 619-232-4355; 2501 Kettner Blvd; cover free-$15) Liz Phair, Alanis Morissette and the Smashing Pumpkins all rocked this funky Casbah on their way up the charts, and it's still a good place to catch local acts and tomorrow's headliners.

Shout House (Map p942; ☎ 619-231-6700; 655 4th Ave, Downtown; cover free $10) Dueling pianos entertain at this rowdy but innocent Gaslamp bar. Pianists have an amazing repertoire: standards, rock and more; we once heard the cult comedy number 'D*ck in a Box.'

Soma (Map p940; ☎ 619-226-7662; www.somasd.com; 3350 Sports Arena Blvd, near Old Town; cover $8-23) This all-ages venue (no booze) spotlights up-and-coming local bands of the alterna-rock and punk persuasion. Electric and edgy, with fiercely loyal crowds.

Getting There & Away

San Diego International Airport (Lindbergh Field; Map p940; ☎ 619-400-2400; www.san.org) sits about 3 miles west of Downtown; plane-spotters will thrill watching jets come in for a landing over Balboa Park.

Greyhound (Map p942; ☎ 619-515-1100; 120 W Broadway, Downtown) has hourly direct buses to Los Angeles (one way/round-trip $17/30, two to three hours).

Amtrak (☎ 800-872-7245; www.amtrak.com) runs the Pacific Surfliner several times daily to Los Angeles ($34, three hours) and Santa Barbara ($37, 6½ hours) from the Santa Fe Depot (Map p942; 1055 Kettner Blvd, Downtown).

All major car-rental companies have desks at the airport, or call the national toll-free numbers (p1164). Eagle Rider (Map p940; ☎ 619-222-8822, 877-437-4337; 3655 Camino del Rio W, Old Town; ⏲ 9am-5pm) rents motorcycles from $89 per day.

Getting Around

Bus 992 ('the Flyer,' $2.25) operates at 10- to 15-minute intervals between the airport and Downtown, with stops along Broadway. Airport shuttles such as Super Shuttle (☎ 800-974-8885; www.supershuttle.com) charge about $13 to Downtown. A taxi fare to Downtown from the airport is $10 to $15.

Local buses and the San Diego Trolley, which travels south to the Mexican border, are operated by Metropolitan Transit System (MTS; www.sdcommute.com). The Transit Store (Map p942; ☎ 619-234-1060; Broadway & 1st Ave; ⏲ 9am-5pm Mon-Fri) has route maps, tickets and Day Tripper passes for $5/9/12/15 for one/two/three/four days. Single-day passes are available for purchase on board buses. The taxi flag fall is $2.40, plus $2.60 for each additional mile.

AROUND SAN DIEGO

San Diego Zoo's Wild Animal Park

Take a walk on the 'wild' side at this 1800-acre open-range zoo (off Map p942; ☎ 760-747-8702; www.sandiegozoo.org; 15500 San Pasqual Valley Rd, Escondido; general admission adult/child $28.50/18.50, incl tram adult/child $35/26; ⏲ opens 9am, closing times vary; 👶). Giraffes graze, lions lounge and rhinos romp more or less freely on the valley floor. For that instant safari feel, board the Journey to Africa tram ride, which tours you around the second-largest continent in under half an hour. Combination tickets with the San Diego Zoo are $60/43.

The park is in Escondido, about 35 miles north of downtown San Diego. Take I-15 Fwy to the Via Rancho Pkwy exit and then follow the signs. Parking is $9.

Legoland

This enchanting fantasy park (off Map p940; ☎ 760-918-5346; www.legoland.com/california; 1 Legoland Dr, Carlsbad; adult/child $63/53; ⏲ opens 10am, closing hours vary, closed most Tue & Wed Sep-May; 👶) of rides, shows and attractions is mostly suited to the elementary-school set. Tots can dig for dinosaur bones, pilot helicopters and earn their driver's license. Mom and dad will probably get a kick out of Miniland, recreating such American landmarks as the White House, the Golden Gate Bridge and Las Vegas entirely of Lego blocks. From Downtown San Diego (about 32 miles), take the I-5 Fwy north to the Cannon Rd E exit. Parking is $12.

CALIFORNIA DESERTS

From swanky Palm Springs to desolate Death Valley, this remote desert region – swallowing 25% of California – is a land of contradictions: vast yet intimate; searing yet healing. Over time, you may find that what first seemed harrowingly barren will transform in your mind's eye to perfect beauty: weathered volcanic peaks, sensuous sand dunes, purple-tinged mountains, cactus gardens, tiny wildflowers pushing up from hard-baked soil in spring, lizards scurrying beneath colossal boulders, and uncountable stars. California's deserts are serenely spiritual, surprisingly chic and ultimately irresistible, whether you're a boho artist, movie star, rock climber or 4WD adventurer.

PALM SPRINGS

The Rat Pack is back, baby – or, at least, its hangout is. In the 1950s and '60s, Palm Springs (population 47,900), some 100 miles east of LA, was the swinging getaway of Sinatra, Elvis and other big stars. Once the Rat Pack packed it in, however, the Coachella Valley swarmed with retirees in golf clothing. In the 1990s, a new generation latched onto PS' retro-chic charms: kidney-shaped pools, midcentury modernist steel-and-glass bungalows, boutique hotels with vintage decor and piano bars serving perfect martinis. Today, retirees mix with hipsters and there's a significant gay and lesbian community.

Orientation

Palm Springs is the principal city of the Coachella Valley, south of the I-10 Fwy. In its compact downtown, Palm Canyon Dr (Hwy 111) runs one-way south, while Indian Canyon Dr runs northbound. East–west Tahquitz Canyon Way runs toward the airport. Southeast of PS, Hwy 111 crawls from commercial Cathedral City to Indio, passing tony 'Down Valley' towns with world-class golf resorts and ritzy shopping.

DON'T MISS

- Tahquitz Canyon (p950) – hike Native American stream-fed lands
- Pioneertown (p952) – Hollywood's timeless Western movie set
- Salvation Mountain (p953) – folk art near the Salton Sea
- Route 66 (p954) – cruise along America's 'Mother Road'
- Rhyolite (p955) – well-preserved, atmospheric mining ghost town

Information

High season is October to April, but PS stays busy in summer, when temperatures spike above 100°F (38°C), hotel rates drop and many businesses keep shorter hours.

Desert Regional Medical Center (☎ 760-323-6511; 1150 N Indian Canyon Dr; 🕒 24hr) Emergency room.

Palm Springs Koffi Downtown (☎ 760-416-2244; 515 N Palm Canyon Dr; 🕒 5:30am-8pm; 📶); South (☎ 760-322-7776; 1700 S El Camino Real at E Palm Canyon Dr; 🕒 5:30am-8pm; 📶) Hand-brewed java and free wi-fi.

Palm Springs Official Visitors Center (☎ 760-778-8418, 800-347-7746; www.palm-springs.org; 2901 N Palm Canyon Dr; 🕒 9am-5pm) North of downtown at the tramway turnoff, offers specialty tourism guides (mobility-impaired, GLBT etc) and sells touring maps inside a 1965 Albert Frey–designed gas station.

Post office (☎ 760-322-4111; 333 E Amado Rd; 🕒 8am-5pm Mon-Fri, 9am-3pm Sat)

Public library (☎ 760-322-7323; 300 S Sunrise Way; 🕒 9am-8pm Tue-Wed, 9am-6pm Thu-Sat; 💻 📶) Free internet access.

Sights & Activities

our pick Palm Springs Aerial Tramway (☎ 760-325-1449, 888-515-8726; www.pstramway.com; 1 Tramway Rd; adult/child $23/16; 🕒 10am-8pm Mon-Fri, 8am-8pm Sat & Sun, last tram down 9:45pm; 👶) offers dizzying views as you're whisked 2.5 miles from sunbaked desert to pine-scented alpine wonderland. Temperatures can be 30°F to 40°F (17°C to 22°C) cooler up top at the mountain station (8516ft). Outside, hiking trails lead through the wilderness of Mt San Jacinto State Park (car $8), including a 5.5-mile nontechnical summit trek. In winter, rent snowshoes and cross-country skis at the Adventure Center (🕒 10am-4pm Thu-Mon, last rental 2:30pm), which is just outside the station.

In the cooler months, especially when spring wildflowers bloom, ramble around the lands owned by Cahuilla tribespeople. Indian Canyons (☎ 760-323-6018; www.indian-canyons.com; off S Palm Canyon Dr; adult/child $8/4, 90-min guided hike $3/2; 🕒 8am-5pm

WHAT THE...?

West of Palm Springs, you may do a double-take when you glimpse the World's Biggest Dinosaurs (☎ 951-922-0076; www.cabazondinosaurs.com; 50770 Seminole Dr, off I-10 exit Main St, Cabazon; 🕑 10am-6pm Mon-Thu, 10am-7pm Fri-Sun). Claude K Bell, a sculptor for Knott's Berry Farm (p938), spent over a decade crafting these concrete behemoths, now owned by Christian creationists promoting 'intelligent design.' In the gift shop, alongside the sort of dino-swag you might find at science museums, you can read about hoaxes and fallacies of evolution and Darwinism, and 'evidence' that dinosaurs and humans existed simultaneously.

Oct-Jul, Fri-Sun only Jul-Sep) is rare veins of green; picnic by a palm-shaded stream or beneath towering rock formations. Tahquitz Canyon (☎ 760-416-7044; www.tahquitzcanyon.com; 500 W Mesquite Ave; adult/child $12.50/6; 🕑 7:30am-5pm Oct-Jul, Fri-Sun only Jul-Sep, last entry 3:30pm) is famous for its seasonal waterfall and ancient rock art; tribal ranger-guided hikes leave from the visitor center, which has natural and cultural history exhibits.

The Palm Springs Art Museum (☎ 760-322-4800; www.psmuseum.org; 101 Museum Dr; adult/child/student $12.50/free/5, free 4-8pm Thu; 🕑 10am-5pm Tue-Wed & Fri-Sun, noon-8pm Thu) features contemporary painting, photography and sculpture, as well as pre-Columbian antiquities and Native American art.

On hot days, kids go nuts at Knott's Soak City (☎ 760-327-0499; www.knotts.com/soakcity/ps; 1500 S Gene Autry Trail; adult/child $30/20, after 3pm $20/20; 🕑 mid-Mar–Sep, hr vary; 👶) water park, boasting an 800,000-gallon wave pool, towering water slides and tube rides. Parking is $9.

Worth the 30-minute drive down-valley, Living Desert Zoo & Gardens (☎ 760-346-5694; www.livingdesert.org; 47900 Portola Ave, off Hwy 111, Palm Desert; adult/child $12/7.50; 🕑 9am-5pm Sep–mid-Jun, 8am-1:30pm mid-Jun–Aug; 👶) harbors a walk-through wildlife hospital, native plants and animals, desert geology exhibits and hiking trails.

Sleeping

High-season winter rates are quoted below; ask about summer discounts. Motels cluster south of downtown PS and along the I-10 Fwy heading east to Indio. For gay-friendly lodgings, browse www.purpleroofs.com.

Caliente Tropics (☎ 760-327-1391, 800-658-6034; www.calientetropics.com; 411 E Palm Canyon Dr; d $66-111; 📶 🏊 👶) This Polynesian-style motor lodge, where Elvis once splashed poolside, has blazing tiki torches poolside and spacious rooms with surprisingly comfy beds. It can get raucous, but it's near downtown.

Alpine Gardens Hotel (☎ 760-323-2231, 888-299-7455; www.alpinegardens.com; 1586 E Palm Canyon Dr; r $70-155; 💻 🏊) If PS' yeah-baby groove leaves you cold, all 10 rooms at this impeccably kept 1950s motel have redwood-beamed ceilings, fridges and slightly kitsch furnishings; suites have kitchens.

our pick Del Marcos Hotel (☎ 760-325-6902, 800-676-1214; www.delmarcoshotel.com; 225 W Baristo Rd; r $99-289; ❄ 📶 🏊) Newly remodeled, this 1947 gem finally looks like it should. Groovy tunes in the lobby usher you toward a saltwater pool and ineffably chic rooms named for architectural luminaries.

Chase Hotel (☎ 760-320-8866, 877-532-4273; www.chasehotelpalmsprings.com; 200 W Arenas Rd; r $119-159; ❄ 📶 🏊) On a side street downtown, this classic midcentury, modern motel has immaculately kept, oversized rooms with contemporary cool furnishings and some kitchenettes.

Orbit In (☎ 760-323-3585, 877-996-7248; www.orbitin.com; 562 W Arenas Rd; r $149-259; ❄ 📶 🏊) Swing back to the '50s during the 'Orbitini' happy hour, and then enjoy the high-end, original midcentury furniture (Eames, Noguchi et al.) and retro record players juxtaposed with flat-screen TVs. Free loaner bikes are available.

Viceroy (☎ 760-320-4117, 800-670-6184; www.viceroypalmsprings.com; 415 S Belardo Rd; r $170-290; ❄ 📶 🏊) Wear a Pucci dress to blend in at this 1960s-chic miniresort done up in black, white and lemon-yellow (think Austin Powers meets Givenchy). Full-service spa, fitness center and cruiser bikes are available to borrow.

Also recommended:

Century (☎ 760-323-9966, 800-475-5188; www.centurypalmsprings.com; 598 Grenfall Rd; r $179-299; ❄ 📶 🏊) To stay gay with that midcentury modern aesthetic.

Hope Springs (☎ 760-329-4003; www.hopespringsresort.com; 68075 Club Circle Dr, Desert Hot Springs; d from $195; ❄ 📶 🏊) Modernist 10-room mecca with hot-springs pools, north of I-10.

Eating

PS is famous for fabulous cocktails, not dining.

Sherman's (☎ 760-325-1199; 401 E Tahquitz Canyon Way; mains $5-15; 🕐 7am-9pm; 👶) With a breezy sidewalk patio, this 1950s Jewish deli serves lox-and-bagel breakfasts and early-bird dinners. It's festooned with headshots of aficionados no less than Don Rickles.

Cheeky's (☎ 760-327-7595; 622 N Palm Canyon Dr; mains $7-14; 🕐 8am-2pm) Never mind the subpar service and tiny portions – you can't beat the fresh, often organic menu for witty inventiveness: oatmeal brûlée with mascarpone cheese, custardy scrambled eggs and bacon bar 'flights.' Be prepared to wait.

Matchbox (☎ 760-778-6000; 2nd level, Mercado Plaza, 155 S Palm Canyon Dr; pizzas $11-21; 🕐 5-11pm Sun-Thu, to 1am Fri & Sat) A winner for its gourmet wood-oven-fired pizzas, killer California wine list and happy-hour cocktails and noshes. Nab a terrace table for prime people-watching.

Copley's on Palm Canyon (☎ 760-327-9555; 621 N Palm Canyon Dr; mains $29-37; 🕐 6pm-late Tue-Sun, from 5:30pm Jan-Apr) On the former Cary Grant estate, chef Andrew Manion Copley gets seriously inventive: think lavender-crusted rack of lamb and 'Oh my lobster pie.' Bring your sweetie and credit card.

Also recommended:

Cactusberry (☎ 760-325-3228; 116 La Plaza; dishes $3-6; 🕐 noon-10pm) Super-cool frozen yogurt with fresh-fruit toppings in biodegradable bowls.

Hadley Fruit Orchards (☎ 888-854-5655; 48980 Seminole Dr, Cabazon; date shake $5; 🕐 9am-7pm Mon-Thu, 8am-8pm Fri-Sun) Allegedly invented trail mix, it's near the outlet malls.

Native Foods (☎ 760-416-0070; Smoke Tree Village, 1775 E Palm Canyon Dr; mains $8-15; 🕐 11:30am-9:30pm Mon-Sat; 👶 V) Fresh, organic, vegan-friendly fare in an airy strip mall.

Drinking & Entertainment

Arenas Rd, east of Indian Canyon Dr, is lesbigay nightlife central.

Wang's in the Desert (☎ 760-325-9264; 424 S Indian Canyon Dr) With a so-so Chinese menu, indoor koi pond and giant cocktails, this resto-bar's a perennial gay darling. Kiss, kiss.

Melvyn's (☎ 760-325-2323; Ingleside Inn, 200 W Ramon Rd) Loll with a stiff martini with retired celebrities while torch singers backed by live combos croon at this old-guard standby, which was once a haunt of Sinatra. Shine your shoes.

Camelot Theatres (☎ 760-325-6565; www.camelottheatres.com; 2300 Baristo Rd) With a full bar and café, the desert's premier art-house cinema screens foreign and indie flicks. Film festivals happen in January and June.

A BLAST FROM THE PAST

Downtown's 1936 Plaza Theater hosts the Palm Springs Follies (☎ 760-327-0225; www.psfollies.com; 128 S Palm Canyon Dr; tickets $50-92; 🕐 Nov-May), a three-hour Ziegfeld Follies–style revue of music, dancing, showgirls and off-color comedy. The twist? Many of the performers are as old as the theater – all are over 50, and some are octogenarians. But this is no amateur hour: in their heyday, these old-timers hoofed it alongside Hollywood and Broadway's biggest, who occasionally guest-star.

Shopping

Go art-gallery hopping downtown along North Palm Canyon Dr.

Trina Turk (☎ 760-416-2856; 891 N Palm Canyon Dr) Find shagadelic resort-chic drag at PS' unique clothing boutique, inside a 1960s Albert Frey–designed storefront.

Angel View (☎ 760-320-1733; 454 N Indian Canyon Dr) At this charitable thrift-store chain, today's hipsters can buy clothes as cool as when they were first worn a generation ago.

Getting There & Around

Ten minutes' drive from downtown, Palm Springs International Airport (PSP; ☎ 760-318-3800; www.palmspringsairport.com; 3400 E Tahquitz Canyon Way) is served by several domestic and Canadian airlines; major car-rental agencies (p1164) are on-site.

Thrice-weekly Amtrak trains to/from LA ($35, 2¾ hours) stop at the unstaffed, kinda-creepy North Palm Springs Station, 5 miles north of downtown, as do several daily Greyhound buses to/from LA ($37, 2¾ hours). SunLine (☎ 760-343-3451, 800-347-8628; www.sunline.org; single ride/day pass $1/3) runs slow-moving local buses throughout the valley.

JOSHUA TREE NATIONAL PARK

Straddling the transition zone between the Colorado and Mojave deserts, this park is popular with rock climbers and hikers, especially when spring wildflowers bloom and Joshua trees (actually, tree-sized yucca plants) dramatically send out cream-colored

WHAT THE…?

Just north of Yucca Valley, Pioneertown (www.pioneertown.com; admission free) was built as a Hollywood Western movie set in 1946, and it hasn't changed much since. On Mane St, witness mock gunfights at 2:30pm on Saturdays and Sundays from April to October. Enjoy BBQ, cheap beer and live music at honky-tonk Pappy & Harriet's Pioneertown Palace (☎ 760-365-5956; www.pappyandharriets.com; 53688 Pioneertown Rd; mains $8-27; 🕑 11am-1am Thu-Sun, 5pm-midnight Mon). Then bed down where yesteryear silver-screen stars slept at Pioneertown Lodge (☎ 760-365-4879; www.pioneertownmotel.com; 5040 Curtis Rd; r $78-99; ❄ 📶), whose quaint memorabilia-filled rooms have kitchenettes and satellite TV (no phones).

flowers. The mystical quality of this stark, wondrously boulder-strewn landscape has inspired many artists, most famously the band U2. The trees themselves were named by Mormon settlers, who envisioned their twisted branches stretching up toward God like a biblical prophet's arms.

Twentynine Palms Hwy (Hwy 62) parallels the north side of the park, where most of the attractions are (including all of the Joshua trees), while I-10 borders the remote south side. Entry permits ($15 per vehicle) are valid for seven days; ask for a free map and newspaper guide. There are no tourist services or facilities besides restrooms, so gas up and bring food and plenty of water. Get information at the main visitor centers (☎ 760-367-5500; www.nps.gov/jotr; Oasis Utah Trail & National Park Dr, Twentynine Palms; 🕑 8am-5pm; Joshua Tree Park Blvd, off Hwy 62; 🕑 8am-5pm; Cottonwood north of I-10, Cottonwood Springs; 🕑 9am-3pm).

The epic Wonderland of Rocks, a mecca for climbers, dominates the park's north side. Sunset-worthy Keys View overlooks the San Andreas Fault and as far as Mexico. For Western pioneer history, visit Keys Ranch (☎ reservations 760-367-5555; 90-min walking tour adult/child $5/2.50; 🕑 10am & 1pm Sat & Sun Oct-May, weekday hours vary). Hikers can search out native desert fan-palm oases like 49 Palms Oasis (3-mile round-trip) or Lost Palms Oasis (7.2-mile round-trip). Kid-friendly nature trails include Barker Dam (1.3-mile loop), which passes Native American petroglyphs; Skull Rock (1.7-mile loop); and Cholla Cactus Garden (0.25-mile loop). For a scenic 4WD route, tackle the bumpy 18-mile Geology Tour Road, also open to hardy mountain-bikers.

Sleeping & Eating

Of the park's eight campgrounds (campsites $10-15), only Black Rock Canyon and Cottonwood accept reservations (☎ 877-444-6777; www.recreation.gov) and have potable water, flush toilets and dump stations. Backcountry camping (no campfires) is allowed 1 mile off-road and 500ft from any trail; free self-registration is required at backcountry boards scattered throughout the park.

Otherwise, base yourself in Twentynine Palms (home of the world's largest US marine base), arty Joshua Tree or suburban Yucca Valley, all north of the park. Standouts from the run-of-the-mill Hwy 62 motels include the Pioneertown Lodge (see boxed text, above) and Spin & Margie's Desert Hide-a-Way (☎ 760-366-9124; www.deserthideaway.com; off Sunkist Rd, Joshua Tree; ste $125-160; ❄), a hacienda-style inn with striking design motifs using corrugated tin, old license plates and cartoon art. The Best Western Yucca Valley Hotel & Suites (☎ 760-365-3555, 800-780-7234; www.bestwestern.com; 56525 Hwy 62, Yucca Valley; d incl breakfast $88-126; ❄ 💻 📶 🏊 👶) has business-class comforts.

For inventive sustenance, drop by uber-cool Crossroads Café (☎ 760-366-5414; 61715 Hwy 62, Joshua Tree; mains $4-11; 🕑 6:30am-8pm Sun-Tue & Thu, 6:30am-9pm Fri & Sat), with its tree-hugger-friendly menu, from dragged-through-the-garden salads to fresh smoothies. There's a cute bakery across the street. Sam's Pizza & Subs (☎ 760-366-9511; 61380 Twentynine Palms Hwy, Joshua Tree; mains $8-11; 🕑 11am-8pm Mon-Thu, 11am-7pm Fri & Sat, 3-8pm Sun) doubles as a vegetarian-friendly Indian restaurant. Atmosphere: nil. Solution: takeout.

ANZA-BORREGO DESERT STATE PARK

Extending south almost to Mexico, this 640,000-sq-mile untamed desert beast is the USA's largest state park outside Alaska. It claims spectacular scenery (especially when spring wildflowers bloom – call ☎ 760-767-4684 for updates) and rare wildlife such as endangered bighorn sheep, plus untrammeled backcountry byways and Native American, Spanish conquistador and Old West historical sites to explore. It's all within reach of the retro resort town of Borrego Springs (population 2800). In summer, Hades-like heat makes daytime exploring dangerous.

In Borrego Springs, you'll find ATMs, gas stations, a post office, supermarket and public library offering free internet-access terminals and wi-fi. The park's comprehensive visitor center (☎ 760-767-4205; www.california-desert.org; 200 Palm Canyon Dr; admission free; 🕑 9am-5pm Oct-May, Sat & Sun only Jun-Sep) is 2 miles west. You'll need your own wheels to explore the park (car $8); 4WD vehicles can tackle over 500 miles of backcountry dirt roads. If you hike the park's nature trails or go mountain biking along dirt roads, pack extra water and don't go at midday.

Park highlights include: Fonts Point desert lookout; Clark Dry Lake for birding; the Elephant Tree Discovery Trail; Split Mountain's wind caves; and Blair Valley, with its Native American pictographs and morteros (seed-grinding stones). Further south, Agua Caliente County Park (☎ 760-765-1188; 39555 Rte S2; entry $5; 🕑 9:30am-5pm Sep-May) has indoor and outdoor hot-springs pools.

Besides the state park's two developed campgrounds (☎ 800-444-7275; www.reserveamerica.com; campsites/RV sites $25/35) – Tamarisk Grove is shady and Borrego Palm Canyon has hookups – and several primitive campgrounds (no water), you can camp for free anywhere that's off-road and at least 100ft from water. Open ground fires and gathering vegetation (dead or alive) are prohibited.

In Borrego Springs, adobe-style Borrego Valley Inn (☎ 760-767-0311, 800-333-5810; www.borregovalleyinn.com; 405 Palm Canyon Dr; r incl breakfast $185-265; ☒ ❄ 📶 🏊) has 15 lovely rooms with Southwestern decor, plus a clothing-optional pool and hot tub. Stanlunds Inn & Suites (☎ 760-767-5501; www.standlunds.com; 2771 Borrego Springs Rd; r $65-150; ❄ 📶 🏊) is an ultra-basic, cinder-block motel with some kitchenettes, but no phones.

Inside a refurbished Quonset hut (the sign just says 'Eat'), Red Ocotillo (☎ 760-767-7400; 818 Palm Canyon Dr; mains $6-15; 🕑 7am-8:30pm; ❄ 📶) diner serves all-day skillet breakfasts, giant sandwiches and cold beer. More run-of-the-mill eateries line up west of Christmas Circle.

For country-style B&Bs and famous apple pie, the gold-mining town of Julian (☎ 760-765-1857; www.julian.ca) is a 45-minute drive southwest of Borrego Springs.

MOJAVE NATIONAL PRESERVE

If you're on a quest for the 'middle of nowhere,' you'll find it in the wilderness of the Mojave National Preserve (☎ 760-252-6100; www.nps.gov/moja; admission free), a 1.6-million-acre jumble of sand dunes, Joshua trees, volcanic cinder cones and habitat for desert tortoises, jackrabbits and coyotes. No gas is available here.

Southeast of Baker and the I-15 Fwy, Kelbaker Rd crosses a ghostly landscape of cinder cones before arriving at Kelso Depot, a handsome 1920s Spanish mission revival-style railroad station, which houses an art gallery, an old-fashioned lunch counter (dishes $2-8; 🕑 9am-5pm Fri-Tue) and a visitor center (☎ 760-252-6108; 🕑 9am-5pm) with excellent natural and cultural history exhibits. It's another 11 miles southwest to 'singing' Kelso Dunes. When conditions are right, they emanate low, booming sounds that are caused by shifting sands – try running downhill to jump-start the effect.

From Kelso Depot, Kelso–Cima Rd takes off northeast. After 19 miles, Cima Rd heads back toward I-15, which takes you around almost perfectly symmetrical Cima Dome, a 75-sq-mile, 1500ft hunk of granite with crusty lava outcroppings. Its slopes are smothered in the world's largest Joshua tree forest. For a close-up look, summit Teutonia Peak (4 miles round-trip); the trailhead is 6 miles northwest of Cima.

WHAT THE...?

It's an unexpected sight: California's largest lake in the middle of its biggest desert. After the Colorado River flooded in 1905, it took 1500 workers and half a million tons of rock to put the river back on course. With no natural outlet, the artificial Salton Sea (www.saltonsea.ca.gov) is here to stay: its surface is 220ft below sea level and its waters 30% saltier than the Pacific – it's an environmental nightmare that's yet to be cleaned up.

An even stranger sight near the lake's eastern shore is Salvation Mountain (www.salvationmountain.us), a 100ft-high hill of concrete and hand-mixed adobe, covered with acrylic paint. With the motto 'God Never Fails,' it's the vision of folk artist Leonard Knight. Turn off Hwy 111 at Niland, drive east on Beal Rd and you can't miss it.

ROUTE 66: GET YOUR KICKS IN CALIFORNIA

Through California's deserts, Route 66 mostly follows the National Old Trails Hwy, which is prone to potholes and heart-stopping vistas. After crossing into California near Needles and running a gauntlet of Mojave ghost towns, you'll motor through the railroad towns of Barstow and Victorville – each with its own Route 66 museum – and then ride I-15 over Cajon Summit into San Bernardino. On Foothill Blvd, keep cruising west all the way to Pasadena (p928). Swing by old-fashioned Fair Oaks Pharmacy & Soda Fountain (☎ 626-799-1414; 1526 Mission St, Pasadena; 🕘 9am-9pm Mon-Sat, 10am-7pm Sun; 👪) before braving traffic on the final stretch through LA, where crashing ocean waves await at the end of Route 66 near Santa Monica Pier (p926), over 300 miles from the Arizona–California border. Surf to www.cart66pf.org for directions, photos, news and events. Feeling ambitious? To drive the entire 2400mi route, see p44.

East of Kelso–Cima Rd, Mojave Rd is the backdoor route to two first-come, first-served campgrounds (campsites $12) with potable water at Mid Hills (no RVs) and Hole-in-the-Wall. They bookend a rugged 10-mile scenic drive along Wild Horse Canyon Rd. Ask at Hole-in-the-Wall's visitor center (☎ 760-252-6104; 🕘 9am-4pm Wed-Sun Oct-Apr, Fri-Sun only May-Sep) about the slot-canyon Rings Trail. Roads in this area are mostly unpaved but well maintained.

Southwest of Hole-in-the-Wall, Mitchell Caverns (☎ 760-928-2586; adult/child $6/3; 🕘 tours 1:30pm daily year-round, also 10am & 3pm Sat & Sun early Sep-late May) unlock a world of quirky limestone formations; make reservations. The caverns are inside Providence Mountains State Recreation Area, where no-reservation primitive campsites ($25) perch dizzyingly high above the desert floor.

Free backcountry and roadside camping is permitted throughout the Mojave National Preserve in areas already used for this purpose. For a roof over your head, there are a few cheap, bare-bones motels in Baker.

Off the beaten path, B&B-style Hotel Nipton (☎ 760-856-2335; www.nipton.com; 107355 Nipton Rd, Nipton; d $65-99; 🕘 reception 8am-6pm; 📶) inhabits a century-old adobe villa with tent cabins in a lonely railway outpost northeast of the preserve. Check-in is at the well-stocked trading post, which is next to the bar and café (mains $6 to $25).

DEATH VALLEY NATIONAL PARK

The name itself evokes all that is harsh and hellish – a punishing, barren and lifeless place of Old Testament severity. Yet closer inspection reveals that nature is putting on a spectacular show with water-sculpted canyons, singing sand dunes, palm-shaded oases, eroded mountains and plenty of endemic wildlife. It's a land of superlatives, holding the US records for hottest temperature (134°F, or 57°C), lowest point (Badwater, 282ft below sea level) and largest national park outside Alaska (over 5000 sq miles). Peak tourist season is when spring wildflowers bloom.

Entry permits ($20 per vehicle) are valid for seven days. Purchase them at self-service pay stations throughout the park. For a free map and newspaper, show your receipt at the visitor center (☎ 760-786-3200; www.nps.gov/deva; 🕘 8am-5pm) in Furnace Creek, which also has a general store, gas station, post office, ATM, lodging and restaurants. Stovepipe Wells, a 30-minute drive northwest, has a general store, gas station, ATM, motel and café. Panamint Springs, on the park's western edge, has gas and snacks.

Sights & Activities

Drive up to Zabriskie Point at sunrise or sunset for spectacular valley views across golden badlands eroded into waves, pleats and gullies. Less than 20 miles further south, at Dante's View, you can simultaneously see the highest (Mt Whitney, 14,505ft) and lowest (Badwater) points in the contiguous USA. En route, detour along the bone-rattling scenic one-way loop through Twenty Mule Team Canyon.

Badwater itself, an eternal landscape of crinkly salt flats, is a 17-mile drive south of Furnace Creek. Along the way, narrow Golden Canyon and Natural Bridge are both easily explored on short hikes. On the Devils Golf Course, crystallized salt has piled up into saw-tooth mini mountains. A 9-mile detour along Artists Drive is best in late afternoon when eroded hillsides erupt in fireworks of color.

Near Stovepipe Wells, you can scramble along the smooth marble walls of Mosaic Canyon or roll down the Saharan-esque Mesquite Flat sand dunes – magical during a full moon. Another 36 miles north is whimsical Scotty's Castle (☎ 760-786-2392; adult/child $11/6; 🕐 tours 9am-5pm Nov-Apr, 9am-4:30pm May-Oct), where costumed interpreters bring to life the strange tale of con-man Death Valley Scotty. Eight miles west, giant Ubehebe Crater is evidence of a massive volcanic eruption.

In summer, stick to paved roads (dirt roads can quickly overheat vehicles), limit your exertions (eg no hiking midday) and visit higher-elevation areas. For example, the scenic drive up Emigrant Canyon Road, starting west of Stovepipe Wells, ends 21 miles later at the historic beehive-shaped Charcoal Kilns, near the trailhead for the exhilarating 8.4-mile round-trip hike up telescopic Wildrose Peak (9064ft). At the park's western edge, utterly remote Panamint Springs offers volcanic vistas, Joshua tree forests and a pint-sized springtime waterfall.

Back at Furnace Creek Ranch, the stables (☎ 760-786-3339; 1hr/2hr ride $45/65) offer guided horseback rides daily, except during summer. For novelty's sake, play a round at the golf course (☎ 760-786-2301; greens fees $25-55; 🕐 mid-Oct–early May), which has the world's lowest-elevation greens.

Sleeping & Eating

During spring, accommodations are often booked solid and campgrounds fill by mid-morning, especially on weekends. All of the following in-park lodgings are run by Xanterra (☎ reservations 303-297-2757, 888-786-2387).

Stovepipe Wells Village (☎ 760-786-2387; www.stovepipewells.com; Hwy 190; RV sites $23, r $81-121; ❄ 📶 🏊) The freshly renovated roadside motel rooms are quiet and spacious (no phones or TVs), so it's definitely the most bang for your buck in the valley. The small pool is cool. The cowboy-style restaurant (mains $5 to $25) delivers three square meals a day.

Furnace Creek Ranch (☎ 760-786-2345; www.furnacecreekresort.com; cabins $126-162, r $157-213; ❄ 📶 🏊 👪) Tailor-made for families, this rambling resort has cramped cabins and slightly larger motel rooms that are dated but comfortable. There's a children's playground, spring-fed swimming pool and tennis courts. Skip the breakfast and lunch buffets at the steakhouse (dinner mains $19-29). Next door, the café (mains $6 to $19) cooks up American standards all day long.

WHAT THE...?

Four miles west of Beatty, NV, Rhyolite (☎ 775-553-2967; www.rhyolitesite.com; Hwy 374; admission free; 🕐 sunrise-sunset) ghost town recounts the hurly-burly, boom-and-bust story of so many Western gold-rush mining towns. Don't overlook the 1906 'bottle house' or the skeletal remains of a three-story bank. Next door is the bizarre Goldwell Open Air Museum (☎ 702-870-9946; www.goldwellmuseum.org; admission free; 🕐 24hr) of trippy installation art started by Belgian artist Albert Szukalski in 1984.

Furnace Creek Inn (☎ 760-786-2345; www.furnacecreekresort.com; r $320-435; 🕐 mid-Oct–mid-May; ❄ 🏊) At this elegant, mission-style hotel you can count the colors of the desert while unwinding by the spring-fed pool, which has sweeping vistas across the valley. The restaurant (mains $12 to $38) isn't quite as gourmet as advertised. Nice Sunday brunch, though.

Northeast of the park, the casino pit-stop of Beatty, NV, is your best bet for motels. Southbound toward I-15, Shoshone has a gas station, general store and the charming solar-powered 'flexitarian' Cafe Çest Si Bon (☎ 760-852-4307; 118 Hwy 127; dishes $3-8; 🕐 8am-4pm Wed-Sun; 📶 👪) for espresso, crepes and free wi-fi. Nearby Tecopa has hot-springs pools, a date farm, RV parks and the quirky, low-tech Ranch House Inn and Hostel (☎ 760-852-4580; www.ranchhouseinn.com; 2001 Old Spanish Trail Hwy; dm $22-25, d $75-118, tipis $148, all with shared bath).

CAMPING

Of the park's nine campgrounds (campsites free-$18), only Furnace Creek accepts reservations (☎ 877-444-6777; www.recreation.gov) from mid-April to mid-October. In summer, Furnace Creek is first-come, first-served, and the only other campgrounds open are Mesquite Spring, near Scotty's Castle, and those along Emigrant Canyon Rd. West of Stovepipe Wells, tent-only Emigrant campground is open year-round. Other valley-floor campgrounds – like roadside Stovepipe Wells, Sunset and shadier Texas Springs – are mostly for RVs; they're open October to April.

Backcountry camping (no campfires) is allowed 2 miles off paved roads and away from developed and day-use areas, and

IF YOU HAVE A FEW MORE DAYS

Rugged Channel Islands National Park (www.nps.gov/chis; admission free) earns the nickname 'California's Galápagos' for its unique wildlife. The islands are now preserved as wilderness, offering superb snorkeling, scuba diving, sea kayaking and wildlife watching. Spring is a gorgeous time to visit; summer and fall can be bone-dry, and winter stormy.

Anacapa, which is closest to the mainland, is the best island for day-tripping, with easy hiking trails and unforgettable views. Santa Cruz, the largest island, is convenient for overnight trips, offering a campground, sea kayaking and rugged hiking trails. Other islands require longer channel crossings and multiday trips: San Miguel is often shrouded in fog; Santa Barbara supports seabird and elephant-seal colonies, as does Santa Rosa, which also has Chumash archaeological sites.

Boat trips leave from Ventura Harbor, off Hwy 101, where an NPS visitor center (☎ 805-658-5730; 1901 Spinnaker Dr; ⏰ 8:30am-5pm) has information and maps. The main tour-boat operator is Island Packers (☎ 805-642-1393; www.islandpackers.com; 1691 Spinnaker Dr). Rates start at $45/28 per adult/child for day trips; $30/21 for whale-watching cruises. Primitive campgrounds (☎ 877-444-6777; www.recreation.gov; tent sites $15) require reservations; bring food and water.

100yd from any water source; pick up free permits at the visitor center.

Furnace Creek Ranch and Stovepipe Wells Village offer public showers ($5, including swimming-pool access).

CENTRAL COAST

No trip to California is worth its salt without a jaunt along the surreally scenic Central Coast. Hwy 1, one of the most iconic roads in the US (see p45), skirts past posh Santa Barbara, retro Pismo Beach, collegiate San Luis Obispo, fantastical Hearst Castle, soul-stirring Big Sur, down-to-earth Monterey Bay and hippie-haunt Santa Cruz. Slow down – this idyllic coast deserves to be savored, not gulped. (That same advice goes for the incredible locally grown wines, too.)

SANTA BARBARA

Life is certainly sweet in Santa Barbara, a coastal Shangri-La where the air is redolent with citrus and jasmine, flowery bougainvillea drapes whitewashed buildings with red-tiled roofs, and it's all cradled by seemingly endless pearly beaches. You won't regret slowing down for the Mediterranean architecture, California cuisine or local wines. Just ignore those pesky oil derricks out to sea.

State St is the main drag with bars, cafés, theaters and boutique shops. Near the waterfront, the visitor center (☎ 805-965-3021; www.santabarbaraca.com; 1 Garden St; ⏰ 9am-5pm Mon-Sat, 10am-5pm Sun) has maps and self-guided tour brochures. Helpful websites http://greensantabarbara.com and www.santabarbaracarfree.org offer ecotravel tips and valuable discounts.

Sights & Activities

The Spanish-Moorish revival style county courthouse (☎ 805-962-6464; 1100 Anacapa St; admission free; ⏰ 8am-5pm Mon-Fri, 10am-4:30pm Sat & Sun) is an absurdly beautiful place to be on trial (or get married). Marvel at the hand-painted ceilings and intricate murals, and then climb the Vertigo-esque clocktower for panoramic views.

The 1786 Mission Santa Barbara (☎ 805-682-4713; www.sbmission.org; 2201 Laguna St; adult/child $5/1; ⏰ 9am-4:30pm), nicknamed California's 'Queen of the Missions,' was the only one to escape secularization under Mexican rule. Look for Chumash artwork inside the vaulted church and a moody cemetery out back.

Uphill from the mission, Santa Barbara Botanic Garden (☎ 805-682-4726; www.sbbg.org; 1212 Mission Canyon Rd; adult/child $8/4; ⏰ 9am-6pm Mar-Oct, to 5pm Nov-Feb; 👪) is devoted to native flora. For a quirkier garden experience, book ahead for Lotusland (☎ 805-969-9990; www.lotusland.org; adult/child $35/10; ⏰ tours 10am & 1:30pm Wed-Sat mid-Feb–mid-Nov), the legacy of eccentric Madame Ganna Walska; two-hour walking tours take in rare botanical species.

Downtown, the Santa Barbara Museum of Art (☎ 805-963-4364; www.sbma.net; 1130 State St; adult/child $9/6, Sun free; ⏰ 11am-5pm Tue-Sun) has a well-edited collection of contemporary California artists, modern masters, like Matisse and Chagall, and Asian art. It also puts on sophisticated special exhibits.

Along the waterfront, 1872 Stearns Wharf is the West's oldest continuously operating wooden pier, now strung with restaurants and shops. A paved multi-use recreational trail skirts miles of beautiful beaches. Wheel Fun (☎ 805-966-2282; 23 E Cabrillo Blvd; ⏰ 8am-8pm) rents bicycles (from $8 per hour).

Farther east at the harbor, Santa Barbara Maritime Museum (☎ 805-962-8404; www.sbmm.org; 113 Harbor Way; adult/child $7/4, free 3rd Thu of the month; ⏰ 10am-5pm Thu-Tue, to 6pm in summer; 👪) celebrates the town's briny history with memorabilia, hands-on and virtual-reality exhibits, and a movie theater. Nearby, Paddle Sports (☎ 805-899-4925; www.kayaksb.com; 117b Harbor Way; ⏰ hr vary) rents kayaks (singles two hour/four hour $20/30) and teaches stand-up paddle surfing (two-hour lesson $65).

For traditional board-surfing lessons (from $99) and guided kayaking tours (from $85), talk to Santa Barbara Adventure Co (☎ 805-452-0671; www.sbadventureco.com). Year-round, Condor Express (☎ 805-882-0088; www.condorcruises.com; 301 W Cabrillo Blvd; adult/child from $48/28) runs narrated whale-watching tours.

Outside Santa Barbara, along Hwy 101, you'll find gorgeous, palm-fringed state beaches (per car $10), including Carpinteria State Beach, 10 miles south, and El Capitan and Refugio, just over 20 miles north.

Sleeping

Prepare for sticker shock: even basic rooms command over $200 in summer. Bargains may be found on motel row along upper State St, a few miles north of downtown. For state beaches' developed campgrounds along Hwy 101, make reservations (☎ 800-444-7275; www.reserveamerica.com; campsites $35-65).

Marina Beach Motel (☎ 805-963-9311, 877-627-4621; www.marinabeachmotel.com; 21 Bath St; r incl breakfast $119-284; ❄ 💻 📶) Old-fashioned one-story motor lodge right near the ocean has been done up inside. Some of the comfy rooms have kitchenettes. Free bikes are available to borrow.

Presidio Motel (☎ 805-963-1355; www.thepresidiomotel.com; 1620 State St; r incl breakfast $120-150; ❄ 📶) Like the H&M of motels, this affordable gem has panache and personality thanks to buzzy art, dreamy bedding, and hip and helpful owners. Noise can be an issue, but loaner bikes are free.

Brisas del Mar (☎ 805-966-2219, 800-468-1988; www.sbhotels.com; 223 Castillo St; r incl breakfast $145-235; 💻 📶 🐕) Big kudos for the freebies (DVDs, wine and cheese, milk and cookies) and new Mediterranean-style front section, although the motel wing is unlovely. The hotel's respectable sister properties are lower-priced.

El Capitan Canyon (☎ 805-685-3887, 866-352-2729; www.elcapitancanyon.com; 11560 Calle Real, off Hwy 101; safari tents $155, cabins $225-350; 📶 🐕 👪) Go glamping in this car-free zone near El Capitán State Beach, a 30-minute drive up Hwy 101 northbound. Creekside cedar cabins come with heavenly mattresses, kitchenettes, outdoor firepits and, if you're lucky, therapeutically deep soaking tubs.

Eating

To fill picnic baskets for the beach, stop at C'est Cheese (☎ 805-965-0318; 825 Santa Barbara St; ⏰ 10am-6pm Mon-Fri, 8am-6pm Sat) and Our Daily Bread (☎ 805-966-3894; 831 Santa Barbara St; ⏰ 6am-5:30pm Mon-Fri, 7am-4pm Sat).

our pick Santa Barbara Shellfish Company (☎ 805-966-6676; 230 Stearns Wharf; dishes $5-16; ⏰ 11am-9pm) 'From sea to skillet to plate' best describes this end-of-the-wharf crab shack that's more of a counter joint. Great lobster bisque, ocean views and the same owners for 25 years.

Brophy Brothers (☎ 805-966-4418; mains $9-20; ⏰ 11am-10pm Sun-Thu, to 11pm Fri & Sat) The raw-bar seafood at this raucous harbor hangout is so fresh that you half expect it to leap straight up out of the Pacific. Social upstairs deck for sunset drinks.

Tupelo Junction (☎ 805-899-3100; 1218 State St; mains $12-18; ⏰ 8am-2pm) Southern-style comfort food is the specialty at this busy downtown storefront café, showing off fresh takes on good ol' standards like cinnamon-apple beignets, vanilla-dipped French toast and gouda mac 'n' cheese.

Square One (☎ 805-965-4565; 14 E Cota St; mains $14-25; ⏰ 5:30-10pm Tue-Sun) Postmodern Californian cuisine reaches stratospheric heights of inventiveness, piquing even jaded palates with the likes of grapefruit gelée and avocado mousse laid atop seafood. Sculpted desserts are challenging. Svelte wine bar.

Drinking & Entertainment

Nightlife revolves around lower State St. Pick up free alt-weekly Santa Barbara Independent (www.independent.com) for a current calendar and venue listings.

Soho (☎ 805-962-7776; www.sohosb.com; 1221 State St; cover $12-30) This unpretentious brick room located upstairs behind a McDonald's has live bands nightly, from indie rock, funk and folk to jazz and blues.

Santa Barbara Brewing Co (☎ 805-730-1040; 501 State St) They've got microbrews on tap, including a killer Rincon Red ale made with Oregon hops. Pool tables are in the tatty lounge out back.

Getting There & Around

Greyhound (☎ 805-965-7551; 34 W Carrillo St) has several daily buses to LA ($18, three hours) and San Francisco ($60, nine hours) via San Luis Obispo ($27, two hours). Amtrak (209 State St) runs directly to LA ($25, three hours) and San Luis Obispo ($30, three hours).

Metropolitan Transit District (☎ 805-963-3366; www.sbmtd.gov; 1020 Chapla St; single-ride $1.75) buses travel across the city. MTD's Downtown-Waterfront shuttle (25¢; 🕒 9am-6pm daily year-round, to 10pm Fri & Sat Jun-Aug) hums down State St to Stearns Wharf and along Cabrillo Blvd by the beach.

SANTA BARBARA TO SAN LUIS OBISPO

You can speed up to San Luis Obispo in just two hours along Hwy 101, or take all day detouring to wineries, historical missions and hidden beaches.

A scenic backcountry drive north from Santa Barbara follows Hwy 154, where you can go for the grape in the Santa Barbara County wine country (www.sbcountywines.com). For all-day winery tours with an eco-angle, check out Sustainable Vine (☎ 805-698-3911; www.sustainablevine.com; tour $125). Otherwise, start exploring at Los Olivos Tasting Room (☎ 805-688-7406; 2905 Grand Ave, Los Olivos; tasting fee $7; 🕒 11am-5:30pm), which stocks rare vintages inside a 19th-century general store, and then follow the Foxen Canyon Wine Trail (www.foxencanyonwinetrail.com) north past cult winemakers' vineyards.

Further south, the Danish-immigrant village of Solvang (http://solvangusa.com) is a kitsch lovers' dream with its decorative windmills and fairytale-esque bakeries. If you need an espresso, picnic lunch or BBQ take-out, stop by El Rancho Marketplace (☎ 805-688-4300; 2886 Mission Dr (Hwy 246), Solvang; 🕒 6am-10pm). Farther west near Hwy 101, Hitching Post II (☎ 805-688-0676; 406 E Hwy 246, Buellton; mains $21-48; 🕒 5-9:30pm) is an old-guard steakhouse that makes its own pinot noir (which is damn good, by the way); reservations are essential.

DON'T MISS

- Lotusland (p956) – tour an eclectic botanical legacy
- Piedras Blancas elephant-seal colony (p960) – giant marine mammals in action
- Andrew Molera State Park (p961) – solitude, beachcombing and California condors
- Tor House (p962) – a poet's eccentric coastal hideaway
- Kuumbwa Jazz Center (p965) – live shows by musical masters

Follow Hwy 246 about 15 miles west of Hwy 101 to La Purísima Mission State Historic Park (☎ 805-733-3713; www.lapurisimamission.org; 2295 Purisima Rd, Lompoc; per car $6; 🕒 9am-5pm). Completely restored, it's one of California's most evocative Spanish-colonial missions, with flowering gardens, livestock pens and adobe buildings. South of Lompoc, Jalama Rd travels 14 twisting miles to utterly isolated Jalama Beach County Park (☎ 805-736-3504; www.jalamabeach.com; per car $8). Its crazy-popular campground (campsites/RV sites $20/30) doesn't take reservations – look for the 'campground full' sign a half-mile south of Hwy 1, to save yourself a wasted trip

Heading north on Hwy 1, rough-and-tumble Guadalupe is the gateway to North America's largest coastal dunes. The Dunes Center (☎ 805-343-2455; www.dunescenter.org; 1055 Guadalupe St; 🕒 10am-4pm Wed-Sun) has simple displays on the mystical Dunites of the 1930s and the 'Lost City of DeMille' (www.lostcitydemille.com), the entire movie set of the 1923 version of The Ten Commandments that lies buried beneath the sands. More recently, scenes from Pirates of the Caribbean: At World's End were filmed here. The best dune access is west of town via Hwy 166. Back downtown, dig into juicy steaks at genuine Old West–flavored Far Western Tavern (☎ 805-343-2211; 899 Guadalupe St; dinner mains $20-32; 🕒 11am-9pm Tue-Thu, 11am-10pm Fri & Sat, 9am-9pm Sun).

Where Hwy 1 rejoins Hwy 101, Pismo Beach has a nice long stretch of sand and a monarch butterfly grove, where migratory monarchs perch in eucalyptus trees from late October to February. The grove is just south of Pismo State Beach campground (☎ reservations 800-444-7275; www.reserveamerica.com; Hwy 1; campsites $35), which offers beach access and hot showers. Pismo Beach has dozens of motels, but rooms fill up quickly and prices skyrocket in summer. Grab breakfast at Old West Cinnamon Rolls (☎ 805-773-1428; 861 Dolliver St; dishes $3-5; 🕒 6:30am-5:30pm) bakery. By the pier, lines go out the door at hole-in-the-wall Splash Cafe (☎ 805-773-4653; 197 Pomeroy Ave; dishes $3-10; 🕒 8am-9pm; 👪), which is known for its clam chowder served in sourdough-bread bowls. When the fresh bucket o' seafood gets dumped on your butcher paper-covered table at the Cracked Crab (☎ 805-773-2722; 751 Price St; mains $9-48; 🕒 11am-9pm Sun-Thu, to 10pm Fri & Sat), make sure you're wearing a plastic bib.

SAN LUIS OBISPO

Halfway between LA and San Francisco, San Luis Obispo (SLO) is a lively yet low-key place. University students inject a healthy dose of hubbub into the streets, pubs and cafés, especially during the Thursday-night farmers market (🕒 6-9pm), which turns downtown's Higuera St into a festive street party with live music and sidewalk BBQs. SLO's visitor center (☎ 805-781-2777; www.visitslo.com; 1039 Chorro St; 🕒 10am-5pm Sun-Wed, 10am-7pm Thu-Sat) is off Higuera St. Like so many other California towns, SLO grew up around a mission (☎ 805-543-6850; www.missionsanluisobispo.org; 751 Palm St; admission $2; 🕒 9am-4pm), founded in 1772 by peripatetic Junípero Serra. These days, SLO is just a grape's throw from thriving Edna Valley wineries (www.slowine.com), known for chardonnays and syrahs.

Sleeping & Eating

San Luis Obispo's motel row is north of downtown along Monterey St, with cheaper chains along Hwy 101. Downtown Higuera St has cafés, restaurants, wine-tasting rooms and brewpubs.

HI Hostel Obispo (☎ 805-544-4678; www.hostelobispo.com; 1617 Santa Rosa St; dm $24-27, r from $45; 🕒 check-in 8-10am & 4:30-10pm; 💻 📶) This solar-powered ecohostel inhabits a converted Victorian one block from the train station. Amenities include a kitchen and bike rentals ($10/day). No credit cards are accepted.

Peach Tree Inn (☎ 805-543-3170, 800-227-6396; www.peachtreeinn.com; 2001 Monterey St; r incl breakfast $79-200; ❄ 💻 📶) The folksy motel rooms are relaxing, especially those creekside or with rocking chairs overlooking rose gardens and lawns. Hearty breakfasts include homemade breads.

Big Sky Café (☎ 805-545-5401; www.bigskycafe.com; 1121 Broad St; mains $8-20; 🕒 7am-9pm Mon, 7am-10pm Tue-Fri, 8am-10pm Sat, 8am-9pm Sun) With the tagline 'analog food for a digital world,' this ecoconscious café gets top marks for imaginative market-fresh breakfasts, but big-plate dinners can be bland.

WHAT THE...?

The fantastically campy Madonna Inn (☎ 805-543-3000, 800-543-9666; www.madonnainn.com; 100 Madonna Rd; r $179-449; ❄ 🏊) is a garish confection visible from Hwy 101. Japanese tourists, vacationing Midwesterners and irony-loving hipsters adore the 110 themed rooms – including Yosemite Rock, Caveman and hot-pink Floral Fantasy (check out photos online). The urinal in the men's room is a bizarre waterfall. But the best reason to stop here? Old-fashioned cookies from the storybook bakery.

Novo (☎ 805-543-3986; 726 Higuera St; small plates $6-22, dinner mains $16-32; 🕒 11am-10pm Mon-Thu, 11am-midnight Fri & Sat, 10am-10pm Sun) Novo spins out hit-or-miss Mediterranean, Brazilian and Asian-inspired tapas, with an eye towards freshness and presentation. Pick from dozens of international beers, wines or sakes, and savor the view from creekside decks.

Getting There & Around

A half-mile walk east of downtown, Amtrak (1011 Railroad Ave) runs the daily Seattle–LA Coast Starlight and twice-daily Pacific Surfliner, stopping at Santa Barbara ($30, 2¾ hours), LA ($37, 5¾ hours) and San Diego ($55, 8¾ hours). Greyhound (1023 Railroad Ave) has daily buses to Santa Barbara ($27, 2¼ hours), LA ($38, 5¼ hours) and San Francisco ($48, seven hours).

SLO's Regional Transit Authority (RTA; ☎ 805-541-2228; www.slorta.org; one-way fares $1.25 to $2.75, day pass $4.50) operates daily buses with limited weekend services, converging on downtown's transfer center (cnr Palm & Osos Sts).

MORRO BAY TO HEARST CASTLE

About 15 miles north of SLO via Hwy 1, Morro Bay is home to a commercial fishing fleet; however, its claim to fame is Morro Rock, a volcanic peak jutting up from the ocean floor, giving your first hint of the coast's upcoming drama. (Too bad about those power plant smokestacks obscuring the views though.) Boat tours and kayak rentals are available along the Embarcadero, where Giovanni's Fish Market & Galley (☎ 805-772-2123; 1001 Front St; mains $6-10; 🕒 9am-6pm; 👪), a classic California seafood shack, has killer garlic fries and fish-and-chips. Midrange motels cluster uphill between Harbor and Main Sts.

Nearby are fantastic state parks for coastal hiking and camping (☎ reservations 800-444-7275; www.reserveamerica.com). South of town, Morro Bay State Park (☎ 805-772-2694; campsites/RV sites $35/50) has a natural-history museum and heron rookery. The park's Inn at Morro Bay (☎ 805-772-5651, 800-321-9566; www.innatmorrobay.com; 60 State Park Rd; d $109-279; 🐾) is a tranquil, two-story waterfront lodge, where most rooms have feather beds and gas fireplaces to ward off coastal fog. Further south in Los Osos, west of Hwy 1, wilder Montaña de Oro State Park (☎ 805-772-7434; campsites $5-25) features coastal bluffs, tidepools, sand dunes, peak-climbing and mountain biking trails, and primitive camping. Its Spanish name ('mountain of gold') comes from native poppies that blanket the hillsides in spring.

North along Hwy 1, surfers love the Cal–Mexican Taco Temple (☎ 805-772-4965; 2680 Main St, Morro Bay; mains $6-12; 🕒 11am-8:30pm Sun, 11am-9pm Mon & Wed-Sat), a cash-only joint, and Ruddell's Smokehouse (☎ 805-995-5028; 101 D St, Cayucos; mains $4-10; 🕒 11am-6pm), which serves smoked-fish tacos by the oceanfront pier in small-town Cayucos. Vintage beach motels line Cayucos' Ocean Ave, including family-run Seaside Motel (☎ 805-995-3809, 800-549-0900; www.seasidemotel.com; 42 S Ocean Ave, Cayucos; r $75-140; W), which has kitchenettes.

Twenty miles north of Morro Bay, quaint Cambria village has deluxe lodgings along unearthly beautiful Moonstone Beach Dr, including the charming, Tudor-style Fogcatcher Inn (☎ 805-927-1400, 800-425-4121; www.fogcatcherinn.com; 6400 Moonstone Beach Dr; d incl breakfast $145-399; ⊠ 📶 🐾 👪), harboring modern rooms with romantic fireplaces. Inland, HI Cambria Bridge Street Inn (☎ 805-927-7653; www.bridgestreetinncambria.com; 4314 Bridge St; dm $22-25, r $40-75, all with shared bath; 🕒 reception 5-9pm; ⊠ 📶) sleeps like a hostel but feels like a grandmotherly B&B. The artisan cheese and wine shop Indigo Moon (☎ 805-927-2911; 1980 Main St; lunch mains $5-10; 🕒 10am-4pm daily, 5-9pm Wed-Sun) has breezy bistro tables, market-fresh salads and gourmet sandwiches. With a sunny patio and take-out counter, Linn's Easy as Pie Cafe (☎ 805-924-3050; 4251 Bridge St; dishes $4-10; 🕒 11am-7pm; 👪) is famous for its olallieberry pie and preserves.

Ten miles north of Cambria, hilltop Hearst Castle (☎ 805-927-2020, 800-444-4445; www.hearstcastle.org; tours adult/child from $24/12; 🕒 8:20am-3:20pm, later in summer) is California's most famous monument to wealth and ambition. William Randolph Hearst, the newspaper magnate, entertained Hollywood stars and royalty at this fantasy estate dripping with European antiques, accented by shimmering pools and surrounded by flowering gardens. Tours last 1¾ hours, including the round-trip bus ride. Make reservations, especially for evening living-history and Christmas holiday tours. Five miles south, San Simeon State Park (☎ reservations 800-444-7275; www.reserveamerica.com; campsites $20-35) has creekside campgrounds.

Heading north, Point Piedras Blancas is home to an enormous elephant-seal colony that breeds, molts, sleeps, frolics and, occasionally, goes aggro on the beach. Keep your distance from these wild animals as they can move faster on the sand than you can. The main viewpoint, 4.8 miles north of Hearst Castle, has interpretive panels. Seals are here year-round, but the exciting birthing and mating season is from January to March, peaking on Valentine's Day. Nearby, the 1875 Piedras Blancas Lightstation (☎ 805-927-7361; www.piedrasblancas.org; adult/child $10/5; 🕒 9:45am Tue, Thu & Sat) is an outstandingly scenic spot; tours meet at the old motel, 1.5 miles north of the lighthouse off Hwy 1.

BIG SUR

Much ink has been spilled extolling the raw beauty and energy of this 100-mile stretch of craggy coastline shoehorned south of the Monterey Peninsula. More a state of mind than a place you can pinpoint on a map, Big Sur has no traffic lights, banks or strip malls. When the sun goes down, the moon and stars provide the only illumination – if summer fog hasn't extinguished them. Lodging, food and gas are scarce and pricey. Demand is high year-round, so book ahead. The free, information-packed newspaper Big Sur Guide (www.bigsurcalifornia.org) is available everywhere along the way. Note the $10 parking fee at state parks is valid for same-day access to all.

It's about 25 miles from Hearst Castle to blink-and-you-miss-it Gorda, home of Treebones Resort (☎ 877-424-4787; www.treebonesresort.com; 71895 Hwy 1; d with shared bath incl breakfast $155-290; 📶 🐾), which offers back-to-nature clifftop yurts, some with oceanview decks. Don't expect much privacy though.

About 10 miles north of Lucia is the new-agey Esalen Institute (☎ 831-667-3047; www.esalen.org; 55000 Hwy 1), famous for its esoteric workshops and ocean-view hot-springs baths. With a reservation you too can frolic nekkid in the latter – but only from 1am to 3am ($20, credit cards only). It's surreal.

Three miles north, Julia Pfeiffer Burns State Park (car $10) harbors California's only coastal waterfall, 80ft-high McWay Falls, which is reached via a quarter-mile stroll. Perched on a cliff are two walk-in campsites (☎ 800-444-7275; www.reserveamerica.com; tent sites $30). Two more miles north, a steep dirt trail descends from a hairpin turn on Hwy 1 to Partington Cove, a raw and breathtaking spot where crashing surf salts your skin – truly scenic, but swimming isn't safe.

Seven miles further is Deetjen's Big Sur Inn (☎ 831-667-2377; www.deetjens.com; 48865 Hwy 1; d $130-200, with shared bath $80-185), where quirky, rustic rooms and cottages nestle among redwoods and wisteria. Its quaint restaurant (dinner mains $12-32; 🕑 8-11:30am & 6-9pm) serves country comfort-style fare.

Just north, the funky Henry Miller Memorial Library (☎ 831-667-2574; www.henrymiller.org; Hwy 1; 🕑 11am-6pm Wed-Mon; 💻 📶) is the art and soul of Big Sur bohemia, with a jam-packed bookstore, live-music concerts, open-mic nights and an outdoor film series. Nearly opposite, food takes a backseat to dramatic ocean views at clifftop Nepenthe (☎ 831-667-2345; 48510 Hwy 1; mains $14-37; 🕑 11:30am-10pm), meaning 'island of no sorrow.' The Ambrosia burger is famous.

Heading north, the USFS Big Sur Ranger Station (☎ 831-667-2315; 🕑 8am-4:30pm) will clue you in about hiking and camping options and issue overnight parking ($4) and campfire permits (free) for backpacking trips into the Ventana Wilderness, including the popular 10-mile trek to Sykes Hot Springs.

Across the highway, detour onto the obscurely marked Sycamore Canyon Rd, which drops for two narrow, twisting miles to crescent-shaped Pfeiffer Beach (per vehicle $5; 🕑 6am-sunset), with its towering offshore sea arch and strong currents that make it too dangerous for swimming. Dig down into the sand – it's purple!

Next up, Pfeiffer Big Sur State Park is crisscrossed by sun-dappled trails through redwood forests, including a lazy 1.4-mile round-trip to Pfeiffer Falls, which usually runs from October to May. Make campground reservations (☎ 800-444-7275; www.reserveamerica.com; campsites $35-50) or stay in the rambling, 1930s Big Sur Lodge (☎ 831-667-3100, 800-424-4787; www.bigsurlodge.com; 47225 Hwy 1; r $209-369; 🏊), which has renovated, single-story attached cottages, a well-stocked general store and simple restaurant (mains $8-25; 🕑 7:30am-9pm).

Most of Big Sur's commercial activity is concentrated along the next 6 miles, including a post office, shops, gas stations, private campgrounds, motels and restaurants. Chic, ecoconscious Glen Oaks Motel (☎ 831-667-2105; www.glenoaksbigsur.com; Hwy 1; d $195-300; 📶) is a redesigned 1950s redwood-and-adobe motor lodge, where snug rooms and cabins have gas fireplaces. A California-style burrito bar (mains $5-8) hides inside the Big Sur River Inn's general store (☎ 831-667-2700; 46840 Hwy 1; 🕑 11am-7pm). Nearby, Maiden Publick House (☎ 831-667-2355) has an encyclopedic beer menu, decent pub grub and live-music jams.

Heading north, visitors often overlook Andrew Molera State Park (vehicles $10), but locals love this trail-laced pastiche of grassy meadows, waterfalls, ocean bluffs, rugged beaches and wildlife watching, including California condors. From the parking lot, a half-mile trail leads to a first-come, first-served campground (tent sites $25).

Six miles before the famous Bixby Bridge, take a tour of 1889 Point Sur Lightstation (☎ 831-625-4419; www.pointsur.org; tours from adult/child $10/5; 🕑 schedules vary). Meet your guide at the locked gate; arrive early as space is limited (no reservations).

CARMEL

Once a bohemian artists' seaside resort, too-quaint Carmel-by-the-Sea now has the well-manicured feel of a country club. Simply plop down in any café (Ocean Ave is the main drag) and watch the parade of behatted ladies toting fancy-label shopping bags, dapper gents driving top-down convertibles and frazzled nannies wheeling their pampered charges.

A mile south of downtown, gorgeous San Carlos Borroméo de Carmelo Mission (☎ 831-624-1271; www.carmelmission.org; 3080 Rio Rd; adult/child under 17/senior $6.50/2/4; 🕑 9:30am-5pm Mon-Sat, 10:30am-5pm Sun) is an oasis of calm and solemnity, ensconced in flowering gardens. Its stone basilica is filled with original art, while a separate chapel holds the memorial tomb of founder Junípero Serra.

They bark, they bray, they bathe and they're fun to watch – sea lions are the stars of Point Lobos State Reserve (☎ 831-624-4909; http://pt-lobos.parks.states.ca.us; per car $10; 🕒 8am-30min after sunset), 4 miles south of Carmel. Its dramatically rocky coastline offers excellent tide-pooling. The full perimeter hike is 6 miles, but even short walks take in Bird Island and Whalers Cove. Arrive early on weekends; parking is limited.

Even if you've never heard of 20th-century poet Robinson Jeffers, a pilgrimage to Tor House (☎ 831-624-1813; www.torhouse.org; 26304 Ocean View Ave; tours $7; 🕒 10am-3pm Fri & Sat), which was built with his own hands, offers fascinating insights into bohemian Old Carmel. A porthole in the Celtic-inspired Hawk Tower reputedly came from the wrecked ship that carried Napoleon from Elba. Make reservations for tours (no children under 12).

Downtown, Bruno's Market & Deli (☎ 831-624-3821; cnr 6th & Junípero Aves; sandwiches $5-8; 🕒 7am-8pm) makes a mean tri-trip beef sandwich and has all the accoutrements for a picnic. Southeast of the mission, Rio Grill (☎ 831-625-5436; 101 Crossroads Blvd, off Hwy 1 exit Rio Rd; mains $9-26; 🕒 11:30am-9pm Sun-Thu, to 10pm Fri & Sat) is a jazzy bistro, where local ingredients find their destiny in wickedly flavored Southwestern dishes.

MONTEREY

Working-class Monterey is all about the sea. Today, it lures visitors with a top-notch aquarium that's a veritable temple to Monterey Bay's underwater universe. A National Marine Sanctuary since 1992, the bay begs for exploration by kayak, boat, scuba or snorkel. Meanwhile, downtown's historic quarter preserves California's Spanish and Mexican roots with restored period buildings. Don't waste time on the tourist ghettos of Fisherman's Wharf and Cannery Row; the latter was immortalized by novelist John Steinbeck back when it was the hectic, smelly epicenter of the sardine-canning industry, Monterey's lifeblood till the 1950s.

The visitor center (☎ 831-657-6400, 877-668-3739; www.montereyinfo.org; 401 Camino El Estero; 🕒 9am-6pm Mon-Sat, to 5pm Sun, closing 1hr earlier Nov-Mar) has free phones for checking lodgings availability. There's a smaller branch (5 Custom House Plaza; 🕒 9am-5pm) inside the Maritime Museum. Ask for the free Monterey County Film & Literary Map.

Sights

MONTEREY BAY AQUARIUM

our pick Monterey Bay Aquarium (☎ 831-648-4800, tickets 866-963-9645; www.montereybayaquarium.org; 886 Cannery Row; adult/child $30/18; 🕒 9:30am-6pm Mon-Fri, to 8pm Sat & Sun Jun-Aug, 10am-6pm daily Sep-May; 📶 👶) – we dare you not to be mesmerized and enriched by this ecoconscious aquarium. Give yourself at least half a day to watch sharks and sardines play hide-and-seek in fast-growing kelp forests, observe the antics of frisky otters, meditate upon ethereal jellyfish and get touchy-feely with sea cucumbers, bat rays and other tide-pool creatures. Feeding times are best, especially for watching the penguins. To avoid the worst crowds, get tickets in advance, be there when doors open and stick around during lunchtime.

MONTEREY STATE HISTORIC PARK

Old Monterey is a cluster of lovingly restored 19th-century brick-and-adobe buildings, including stately Casa Soberanes; novelist Robert Louis Stevenson's one-time boarding-house residence; and the Cooper–Molera adobe, built by a sea captain. All these and more are covered on a 2-mile self-guided walking tour called the Path of History. Admission to the buildings is free, but opening hours and guided tour times vary. At press time, all of the park's historic buildings were temporarily closed to the public, due to the state's budget crisis. Pick up maps and find out what's open inside the Pacific House Museum (☎ 831-649-7118; 20 Custom House Plaza), which has in-depth period exhibits on California's multinational history.

Opposite, the Maritime Museum (☎ 831-372-2608; 5 Custom House Plaza; admission free; 🕒 10am-5pm Tue-Sun) illuminates Monterey's salty past, including the roller-coaster-like rise and fall of the local sardine business. Gems include a ship-in-a-bottle collection and the historic Fresnel lens from Point Sur Lightstation.

Activities

A favorite activity is walking or bicycling the paved 18-mile Monterey Peninsula Recreation Trail, which edges the coast through Monterey and ends at Lovers Point in Pacific Grove. The much-vaunted 17-Mile Drive connects Monterey and Pacific Grove with Carmel-by-the-Sea. For maps and rentals, drop by Bay Bikes (☎ 831-655-2453; www.baybikes.com; 585 Cannery Row; per hr/day from $8/32).

WORTH THE TRIP: NATIONAL STEINBECK CENTER

A 30-minute drive east of Monterey, Salinas is the birthplace of John Steinbeck (1902–68), a Stanford University dropout who went on to win a Nobel Prize for Literature. Tough, funny and brash, he sensitively portrayed the troubled spirit of rural, working-class Americans in such novels as The Grapes of Wrath, Cannery Row and East of Eden.

Smack in the middle of the fertile Salinas Valley, the National Steinbeck Center (☎ 831-775-4721; www.steinbeck.org; 1 Main St; adult/child $11/6; 🕑 10am-5pm) brings his novels to life with interactive, kid-accessible exhibits and short movie clips. One cherished possession is Rocinante, the camper Steinbeck drove across America while writing Travels with Charley. A surprisingly interesting agricultural museum also inhabits the center.

In August, the Steinbeck Festival (www.steinbeck.org) is four days of films, lectures, music, tours and storytelling. Just south of the museum, Salinas' Main St is chockablock with eateries and bars, including First Awakenings diner, Habanero Cucina Mexicana and Monterey Coast Brewing Co.

Kayaking is especially magical at sunset; rent from the friendly folks at Monterey Bay Kayaks (☎ 800-649-5357; www.montereybaykayaks.com; 693 Del Monte Ave; per day $30-35). Lessons and guided tours of Monterey Bay or nearby Elkhorn Slough start at $50.

Diving and snorkeling reign supreme, although the water is rather frigid. Rent a full get-up, including wetsuit, at Monterey Bay Dive Company (☎ 831-656-0454; www.montereyscubadiving.com; 225 Cannery Row; snorkel/scuba rental per day $39/80), which runs guided boat dives (from $60).

Year-round, Fisherman's Wharf is the launch pad for whale-watching trips. But it's worth the 20-minute drive north to Moss Landing, where Sanctuary Cruises (☎ 530-778-3344; www.sanctuarycruises.com; adult/child under 3yr/child 3-12yr $45/10/35) operates highly recommended whale-watching and dolphin-spotting cruises led by marine biologists; reservations are essential.

Festivals & Events

Castroville Artichoke Festival (☎ 831-633-2465; www.artichoke-festival.org) 'Agro-art' sculptures, cooking demos and field tours in mid-May.

Monterey County Fair (☎ 831-372-5863; www.montereycountyfair.com) Old-fashioned carnival, wine-tasting competitions and live music in mid-August.

Monterey Jazz Festival (☎ 831-275-9255; www.montereyjazzfestival.org) One of the USA's longest-running jazz festivals in mid-September.

Sleeping

Peak summer rates are quoted below. Skip the frills and save a bunch at chain and indie motels along Munras Ave, south of downtown, and N Fremont St, east of Hwy 1.

Veterans Memorial Park Campground (☎ 831-646-3865; walk-in/drive-in campsites $5/25) Tucked into the forest, this municipal campground has 40 well-kept, grassy nonreservable sites with hot showers, drinking water and firepits.

HI Monterey Hostel (☎ 831-649-0375; www.montereyhostel.org; 778 Hawthorne St. Monterey; dm $25-28, r $59-91, all with shared bath; 🕑 reception 8am-10pm; 💻) Four blocks from Cannery Row, this simple, clean hostel is just the ticket for backpackers; reservations are strongly recommended. Take MST bus 1 from downtown's Transit Plaza.

Asilomar Conference Grounds (☎ 831-372-8016, 866-654-2878; www.visitasilomar.com; 800 Asilomar Ave, Pacific Grove; r incl breakfast $115-185; 📶 🏊 👶) At the peninsula's western edge, this state-park lodge has buildings designed by architect Julia Morgan, of Hearst Castle fame (see p960). Historic rooms are small and thin-walled, but charming nonetheless. The lodge's rec room has fireside reading nooks, ping-pong and pool tables, and bicycle rentals (per day $10).

Monterey Hotel (☎ 831-375-3184, 800-966-6490; www.montereyhotel.com; 406 Alvarado St, Monterey; r $159-319; 📶) Right downtown, this 1904 grand edifice harbors small, somewhat noisy, but freshly renovated rooms sporting reproduction Victorian furniture; there is no elevator. Book online for discounts. Parking costs $17.

Sanctuary Beach Resort (☎ 831-883-9478, 877-944-3863; www.thesanctuarybeachresort.com; 3295 Dunes Dr, Marina; r $189-369; 📶 🏊 👶) Be lulled to sleep by the surf at this low-lying retreat, hidden in the dunes north of Monterey. Petite town house rooms have gas fireplaces, kitchenettes and binoculars for whale-watching. The beach is off-limits, as it's a nature preserve, though there are other beaches and hiking trails nearby.

Eating & Entertainment

More eateries, bars, live music and cinemas line Alvarado St downtown and Cannery Row.

First Awakenings (☎ 831-372-1125; American Tin Cannery, 125 Oceanview Blvd, Pacific Grove; 🕑 7am-2pm Mon-Fri, to 2:30pm Sat & Sun; mains $5-11; 👪) Sweet and savory, creative breakfasts and lunches, plus bottomless pitchers of coffee, make this hideaway café near the aquarium worth seeking out.

our pick Passionfish (☎ 831-655-3311; 701 Lighthouse Ave, Pacific Grove; mains $17-24; 🕑 5-9:30pm Sun-Thu, to 10:30pm Fri & Sat) Here it is. You found it. A perfect, chef-owned seafood restaurant where the sustainable fish is dock-fresh, every preparation divine and the wine list more than affordable. Reservations are recommended.

Montrio Bistro (☎ 831-648-8880; 414 Calle Principal. Monterey; dishes $5-10, mains $14-38; 🕑 4:30pm-10pm Sun-Thu, to 11pm Fri & Sat; 👪) In a 1910 firehouse, the tables of this sophisticated-looking restaurant are covered in butcher paper with crayons for kids. The New American cooking often features local, organic ingredients. Tapas-sized tasting dishes and local wine list show flair.

Also recommended:

Wild Plum Cafe & Bakery (☎ 831-646-3109; 731 Munras Ave, Monterey; mains $6-11; 🕑 7am-6:30pm Tue-Fri, to 5pm Mon & Sat; 👪) Sidewalk café serving organic egg breakfasts, housemade soups and sandwiches.

East Village Coffee Lounge (☎ 831-373-5601; 498 Washington St, Monterey; dishes $2-6; 🕑 6am-late Mon-Fri, 7am-late Sat & Sun) Sleek coffeehouse with a liquor license and live-music, film and DJ nights.

Getting Around

Local buses run by Monterey-Salinas Transit (☎ 831-899-2555, 888-678-2871; www.mst.org; single-ride/day pass from $2.50/6) converge at the Transit Plaza (cnr Pearl & Alvarado Sts), including routes to Salinas, Carmel and, in summer, Big Sur. Also in summer, free daytime trolleys loop around downtown, Fisherman's Wharf and Cannery Row.

SANTA CRUZ

SoCal beach culture meets North California (NorCal) counterculture in Santa Cruz. The University of California (UCSC) student population makes this old-school radical town way more youthful, hip and lefty-political than Silicon Valley over the redwood-forested mountains farther north. Some worry that Santa Cruz's weirdness quotient is dropping, but you'll disagree when you witness the freak show (and we say that with love) along Pacific Ave, downtown's main drag. For the beach and boardwalk, head south. The visitor center (☎ 831-425-1234, 800-833-3494; www.santacruzca.org; 1211 Ocean St; 🕑 9am-5pm Mon-Fri, 10am-4pm Sat, 11am-3pm Sun) can help find accommodations. KPIG (107.5 FM) plays the classic Santa Cruz soundtrack – think Bob Marley, Janis Joplin and Willie Nelson.

Sights & Activities

There's free admission to the vintage 1907 boardwalk (☎ 831-423-5590; www.beachboardwalk.com; 400 Beach St; rides $2.25-4.50, all-day pass $30; 🕑 daily Memorial Day–Labor Day, off-season hr vary), which boasts the West Coast's oldest beachfront amusement park, with the 1924 Giant Dipper coaster and a 1911 Looff carousel.

About 1.5 miles west along the coast road, the tiny Surfing Museum (☎ 831-420-6289; www.santacruzsurfingmuseum.org; 701 W Cliff Dr; admission by donation; 🕑 noon-4pm Thu-Mon Sep-Jun, 10am-5pm Wed-Mon Jul & Aug), which is inside the old lighthouse, is packed with memorabilia, including vintage redwood boards. The museum overlooks experts-only Steamers Lane and beginners' Cowells, both popular surf breaks.

Further west, Natural Bridges State Beach (☎ 831-423-4609; per car $10; 🕑 8am-sunset; 👪) bookends the scenic drive, about 3.5 miles from the wharf. There are tide pools for exploring and leafy trees in which monarch butterflies hibernate from mid-October to late February. Nearby, UCSC's Seymour Center at Long Marine Lab (☎ 831-459-3800; www2.ucsc.edu/seymourcenter; off Delaware Ave; adult/student $6/4; 🕑 10am-5pm Tue-Sat, noon-5pm Sun; 👪) has cool interactive exhibits for kids.

They don't call Santa Cruz 'Surf City' for nothing. Richard Schmidt Surf School (☎ 831-423-0928; www.richardschmidt.com; per 2hr lesson $80) can get you out there, all equipment included. For surfing tips from in-the-know staff, head east to Capitola for women-owned Paradise Surf Shop (☎ 831-462-3880; www.paradisesurf.com; 3961 Portola Dr; wetsuit/surfboard rental $10/20, 2hr lesson $100; 🕑 10am-6pm Mon-Fri, 9am-6pm Sat & Sun) and internationally renowned O'Neill Surf Shop (☎ 831-475-4151; www.oneill.com; 1115 41st Ave; wetsuit/surfboard rental $10/20; 🕑 9am-8pm Mon-Fri, 8am-8pm Sat & Sun). Or experience the craggy coastline with Venture Quest (☎ 831-427-2267; www.kayaksantacruz.com; 2 Santa Cruz Wharf; kayak rentals/tours/lessons from $30/55/70; 🕑 10am-7pm Mon-Fri, 9am-7pm Jun-Sep, off-season hr vary; 👪), which guides sea-cave and

WHAT THE...?

A kitschy, old-fashioned tourist trap, the Mystery Spot (☎ 831-423-8897; www.mysteryspot.com; off Branciforte Dr; admission $5; ⏰ 10am-5pm Sep-May, 10am-6pm Mon-Fri, 9am-7pm Sat & Sun Jun-Aug) has scarcely changed since 1940. On a steeply sloping hillside, compasses seem to point crazily, mysterious forces push you around and buildings lean at silly angles. Make reservations, or risk getting stuck waiting. It's 3 miles north of town. Parking costs $5. Don't forget your bumper sticker!

whale-watching kayak tours, including to Elkhorn Slough and Point Lobos (p962).

A 45-minute drive north of Santa Cruz into the mountains via Hwys 9 and 236, Big Basin Redwoods State Park (☎ 831-338-8860; www.bigbasin.org; per car $10; ⏰ 6am-10pm) protects 20,000 acres of redwood forest and 80 miles of trails, one of which drops to the Pacific. Closer to town, Henry Cowell Redwoods State Park (☎ 831-438-2396; per car $10; ⏰ sunrise-sunset) has riverside trails through old-growth redwood forests. It's near Felton, the terminus of Roaring Camp Railroads (☎ 831-335-4484; www.roaringcamp.com; adult/child from $20/14; ⏰ schedules vary), which operates narrow-gauge steam trains up into the redwoods and a standard-gauge train from Santa Cruz's boardwalk; parking costs $7.

Sleeping

Hotel prices soar in summer. For motels, try Ocean St near downtown and Mission St near the UCSC campus. Make reservations (☎ 800-444-7275; www.reserveamerica.com) for state-park campgrounds (campsites $35-65, RV sites $65) at beaches south of town off Hwy 1 or up in the redwood forests (above).

HI Santa Cruz Hostel (☎ 831-423-8304; www.hi-santacruz.org; 321 Main St; dm $25-28, r $60-100, all with shared bath; ⏰ reception 8-11am & 5-10pm; 💻) Budget overnighters dig this cute hostel at the Carmelita Cottages in a flowery garden setting, just two blocks from the beach. One bummer: the 11pm curfew. Make reservations.

Redwood Croft (☎ 831-458-1939; www.redwoodcroft.com; 275 Northwest Dr, Bonny Doon; r incl breakfast $145-230; 👶) A 25-minute drive into the mountains, this country B&B with old-fashioned charm is a rejuvenating, back-to-nature retreat, with hammocks, fireplaces, hot tubs and a trampoline for the kiddos.

Adobe on Green B&B (☎ 831-469-9866; www.adobeongreen.com; 103 Green St; r incl breakfast $149-199; 📶) Peace and quiet are the mantras here. The hosts are practically invisible, but their thoughtful touches are everywhere: from boutique-hotel-style amenities inside spacious, stylish and solar-powered rooms to breakfast spreads from their organic gardens.

Pleasure Point Inn (☎ 831-475-4657; www.pleasurepointinn.com; 23665 E Cliff Dr; r incl breakfast $250-295; 📶) Live out your fantasy of California beachfront living here. Clean-lined, contemporary rooms have hardwood floors, Jacuzzi tubs, kitchenettes and private patios. Step onto the rooftop deck for drop-dead views.

Eating & Drinking

Downtown, especially Pacific Ave, is chockablock with mostly mediocre cafés. Mission St, near the UCSC campus, offers cheap take-out and multi-ethnic joints.

Tacos Moreno (☎ 831-429-6095; 1053 Water St; dishes $2-6; ⏰ 11am-8pm) Who cares how long the line is, especially at lunchtime? You're guaranteed to find taqueria heaven here – from pork, chicken and beef soft tacos to supremely stuffed burritos.

Emily's (☎ 831-429-9866; 1129 Mission St; items $2-7; ⏰ 5:30am-6pm Mon-Fri, 6:30am-6pm Sat & Sun) Their motto is simply 'good things to eat.' Stop by for hot, cheddar-cheese scones or the daily soup-and-salad combo, and nosh on the shady creekside porch.

Engfer Pizza Works (☎ 831-429-1856; 537 Seabright Ave; pizzas $8-23; ⏰ 4-9:30pm Tue-Sun; 👶) Detour to find this old factory, where wood-fired oven pizzas are made from scratch with love – the no-name specialty is almost like a giant salad on roasted bread. Play ping-pong and sip draft microbrews while you wait.

Drinking & Entertainment

Pacific Ave downtown has prolific bars, live-music lounges, cinemas and coffeehouses. Check the free newspaper Santa Cruz Weekly for listings.

Kuumbwa Jazz Center (☎ 831-427-2227; www.kuumbwajazz.org; 320 Cedar St; ⏰ hr vary) books big-name jazz sounds. Moe's Alley (☎ 831-479-1854; www.moesalley.com; 1535 Commercial Way; ⏰ 4pm-2am Tue-Sun) is a warm, intimate venue for jazz, blues and world beats. With its leafy sidewalk verandah, arty Caffe Pergolesi (☎ 831-426-1775; 418 Cedar St; ⏰ 7am-11pm; 📶) is the place to discuss conspiracy theories over strong coffee, organic juices or beer.

Getting There & Away

Local buses run by Santa Cruz Metro (☎ 831-425-8600; www.scmtd.com; single-ride/day pass $1.50/4.50) cover the region, converging on Metro Center (920 Pacific Ave). Nearby, Greyhound (☎ 831-423-1800; 425 Front St) runs frequent buses to San Francisco ($21, three hours) and Los Angeles ($55, nine hours).

SANTA CRUZ TO SAN FRANCISCO

Far more scenic than any freeway, this curvaceous, 70-mile stretch of coastal Hwy 1 is bordered by wild beaches, organic farmstands and sea-salted villages, all scattered like so many loose diamonds in the rough.

Twenty miles north of Santa Cruz, Año Nuevo State Natural Reserve (☎ 650-879-0227; per car $10; 🕒 8:30am-3:30pm Apr-Nov, by reservation only mid-Dec–mid-Mar) is home base for the world's largest colony of northern elephant seals. Call ahead to reserve space on a 2½-hour, 3-mile guided walking tour (☎ 916-638-5883, 800-444-4445; per person $7) during the cacophonous winter birthing and mating season. On a quiet windswept coastal perch further north, green business certified HI Pigeon Point Lighthouse Hostel (☎ 650-879-0633; dm $23-28, r $53-118; 🕒 check-in 3:30-10:30pm; 💻 📶 👪) inhabits the historic lightkeepers' quarters. It's popular, so book ahead.

Five miles north, Pescadero State Beach & Marsh Natural Preserve (☎ 650-879-2170; per car $10; 🕒 8am-sunset) attract beachcombers and birders. Just inland, Pescadero village is home to famed Duarte's Tavern (☎ 650-879-0464; 202 Stage Rd; dinner mains $25-40; 🕒 7am-9pm), where creamy artichoke soup and olallieberry pie are crowd-pleasers. For a beach picnic, visit the bakery-deli at Arcangeli Grocery Co (☎ 650-879-0147; 287 Stage Rd; 🕒 10am-6pm) and family-owned Harley Farms Cheese Shop (☎ 650-879-0480; 250 North St; 🕒 11am-5pm). Camp inside a redwood canyon at Butano State Park (☎ reservations 800-444-7275; www.reserveamerica.com; campsites $35), which is 5 miles southeast via Cloverdale Rd.

Less than 20 miles farther north, busy Half Moon Bay is defined by seductive, 4-mile-long Half Moon Bay State Beach (☎ 650-726-8819; per car $10, campsites $35-50), offering Spartan campsites. For oceanfront luxury, the Inn at Mavericks (☎ 650-728-1572; www.innatmavericks.com; 364 Princeton Ave; r $185-245; 📶) offers spacious, romantic roosts, most with deep-soaking tubs. It overlooks Pillar Point Harbor, which has a decent brewpub with a sunset-view patio. Better cafés, restaurants and eclectic shops line Half Moon Bay's quaint, five-block-long Main St, inland from Hwy 1.

Five miles farther north, follow the signs to Moss Beach Distillery (☎ 650-728-5595; 140 Beach Way; appetizers $11-16; 🕒 noon-8:30pm Mon-Thu, noon-9pm Fri & Sat, 11am-8:30pm Sun), a historic spot with good fish-and-chips and an ocean-view deck for sunset drinks. Two more miles along, HI Point Montara Lighthouse Hostel (☎ 650-728-7177; Hwy 1 & 16th St; dm $23-28, r $63-114; 🕒 check-in 3:30-10:30pm; 💻 📶) is an airy, ecofriendly hostel with a private beach; reservations are essential. From here, it's just 25 miles to San Francisco via Devil's Slide.

SAN FRANCISCO & THE BAY AREA

SAN FRANCISCO

Somewhere between waking and sleeping, there's a costumed pug parade already in progress past candy-colored Victorian houses, a street-corner prophet reciting Beat poetry through a megaphone, and skateboarders grinding to an awed halt to see an orange bridge poking through a blanket of fog. This dreamscape is an actual city called San Francisco, where East meets West, and fact meets fiction.

If you've ever wondered where the envelope goes when it's pushed, here's your answer. Psychedelic drugs, newfangled technology, gay liberation, green ventures, free speech and culinary experimentation all became mainstream long ago in San Francisco. Not afraid to go for broke, the city has lost fortunes – but never its spirit – in gold-rush panics and dot-com crashes, not to mention earthquakes and fires. Losing your shirt is now a favorite local pastime with the clothing-optional Bay to Breakers race, Pride Parade and hot Sundays on the nude north end of Baker Beach. This is no place to be shy: out here among eccentrics of every stripe, no one's going to notice a few tan lines. So long, inhibitions; hello, San Francisco.

History

Oysters and acorns would have been your main dinner options in the Mexico-run

Ohlone settlement of San Francisco circa 1847; however, a year and some gold nuggets later, beer and steak were the order of the day. By 1849, gold found in the nearby Sierra Nevada foothills had turned a waterfront village of 800 into a port city of 100,000 prospectors, card sharks, con men, prostitutes and honest folk trying to make an honest living – good luck telling which was which. That friendly bartender might drug your drink, and you'd wake up a mile from shore, shanghaied into service on some ship bound for Argentina. (No wonder San Franciscans still prefer their bartenders surly.)

By 1850, California had been nabbed from Mexico and fast-tracked for US statehood, presenting San Francisco with the problem of introducing public order to 200 saloons and an untold number of brothels and gambling dens. Panic struck when Australia glutted the market with gold in 1854, and ire turned irrationally on the city's Chinese community, who from 1877 to 1945 were restricted to living and working in Chinatown by anti-Chinese laws and periodic race riots. The main way out of debt was dangerous work building railroads for the city's robber barons, who dynamited, mined and clear-cut their way across the Golden West, and built grand Nob Hill mansions towering above Chinatown.

The city's lofty ambitions and 20-plus theaters came crashing down in 1906, when earthquake and fire left 3000 dead, 100,000 homeless and much of the city reduced to rubble – including almost every mansion on Nob Hill. Theater troupes and opera divas performed for free amid smoldering ruins downtown, reviving a performing arts tradition that continues to this day.

Ambitious public works projects continued through the 1930s, when Diego Rivera, Frida Kahlo and federally funded muralists began the tradition of leftist politics in paint visible in 250-plus Mission murals.

WWII brought seismic shifts to San Francisco's community as women and African Americans working in San Francisco shipyards created a new economic boom, and President Franklin Delano Roosevelt's Executive Order 9066 mandated the internment of the city's historic Japanese American community. A 40-year court battle ensued, ending in an unprecedented apology from the US government. San Francisco became a testing ground for civil rights and free speech, with Beat poet Lawrence Ferlinghetti and City Lights Bookstore winning a landmark 1957 ruling against book banning, with the publication of Allen Ginsberg's splendid, incendiary Howl.

The Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) hoped an experimental drug called LSD might turn San Francisco test subject Ken Kesey into the ultimate fighting machine, but instead the author of One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest served it up in Kool-Aid and kicked off the psychedelic '60s. The Summer of Love brought free food, love and music to the Haight – an out and proud gay community to the Castro – and back-to-nature California cuisine to natural food co-ops and restaurants nationwide.

The 1980s meant bloated stock market gains and devastating losses from AIDS, but the city rallied from recession in the early '90s to become a model for disease treatment and prevention. When other California cities systematically shut out homeless people by closing clinics and forbidding sitting on sidewalks, San Francisco absorbed homeless Vietnam veterans, runaways and addicts, and continues the work of repairing shattered lives today.

The city's arty cyberpunk crowd introduced wild ideas to Silicon Valley in the 1990s, spawning a dot-com boom that abruptly changed San Francisco's public image from grungy downtown bike messengers to slick South of Market venture capitalists. Then just as suddenly, the bubble popped in 2000. But rents and hopes were never entirely deflated, and San Francisco's quintessential bohemians are clutching their rent-controlled leases for dear life as the recession hits, social media takes off and a biotech boom begins. This is where you come in, just in time for San Francisco's next wild ride.

Orientation

The tongue of land that sticks out into the Pacific mocking the rest of the continental US is San Francisco. The 7 x 7-mile city is laid out on a staid grid, but its main street downtown is a diagonal contrarian streak called Market St. South of Market (SoMa) are the warehouses, galleries and rampant hedonism, while north of Market you'll find pinstriped Financial District (FiDi) with the wild parrots of North Beach on its shoulders.

From here to the waterfront, the scenery gets weirder and wilder. Decor choices shift from the Tuscan faux-finish of North Beach to pagoda-topped Chinatown Deco along Columbus St, which points north toward the sea lions belly flopped on Fisherman's Wharf. To the West it's a steep slide from swanky Nob Hill and Russian Hill through the shopping and entertainment gauntlet that is Union Square, all the way downhill to seedy Tenderloin back alleys.

Alongside the squalor of the 'Loin are the grandiose ambitions of Civic Center and the east–west dividing line of Van Ness Ave. Follow Van Ness south until you see taco trucks and graffiti art, and you'll know you've arrived in the Mission. Further west is witty, pretty and gay Castro, and north of the Castro, freak flags fly high above rainbow Victorians in the historic hippie Haight. Keep heading north and you'll rub shoulders with old money in Pacific Heights and wonder how everyone suddenly got so blonde in the Marina. Westward, ho: the Richmond and Sunset districts flank Golden Gate Park, where the city gets back to nature.

Keep your city smarts and wits about you, especially at night in the Tenderloin, SoMa and the Mission. Expect to be asked for spare change often, but don't feel obliged – to address the causes of homelessness instead of the symptoms, consider making a donation to nonprofit Haight Ashbury Food Program (p977).

From San Francisco International Airport, take Hwy 101 north. See p987.

Information

BOOKSTORES

A Different Light Bookstore (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-431-0891; www.adlbooks.com; 489 Castro St; 🕒 10am-10pm Mon-Sat, 11am-9pm Sun) The USA's largest gay bookseller: raucous readings; gay, lesbian, bisexual and transgender (GLBT) resources; and literary cruising.

Adobe Books (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-864-3936; http://adobebooksbackroomgallery.blogspot.com; 3166 16th St; 🕒 11am-midnight) Every book you never knew you needed used and cheap, if you can find it in the obstacle course of sofas, cats, art installations and German philosophy.

Bound Together Anarchist Book Collective (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-431-8355; www.boundtogetherbooks.com; 1369 Haight St; 🕒 11:30am-7:30pm) All-volunteer nonprofit bookstore stocked with conspiracy theory comics, alternative histories, organic farming manuals and other radical notions.

City Lights Bookstore (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-362-8193; www.citylights.com; 261 Columbus Ave; 🕒 10am-midnight) Landmark bookseller, publisher and free-speech champion; trust excellent staff picks, browse Muckraking and Stolen Continents downstairs and find Nirvana upstairs in Poetry.

Green Apple (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-387-2272; www.greenapplebooks.com; 506 Clement St; 🕒 10am-10:30pm Sun-Thu, 10am-11:30pm Fri & Sat) Three-story mother lode of new releases, remaindered titles and used books; mags, music and used novels two doors down.

Kayo Books (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-749-0554; www.kayobooks.com; 814 Post St; 🕒 11am-6pm Thu-Sat) Pulp fiction, and proud of it: vintage noir novels, trashy romances, wild Westerns and an entire Bizarre Nonfiction section.

EMERGENCY & MEDICAL SERVICES

American College of Traditional Chinese Medicine (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-282-9603; www.actcm.edu; 450 Connecticut St; 🕒 8:30am-9pm Mon-Thu, 9am-5:30pm Fri & Sat) Acupuncture, herbal remedies and other traditional Chinese medical treatments.

Pharmaca (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-661-1216; www.pharmaca.com; 925 Cole St; 🕒 8am-8pm Mon-Fri, 9am-8pm Sat & Sun) Pharmacy plus naturopathic remedies and weekend chair massage.

Police, fire & ambulance (☎ 311)

San Francisco General Hospital (Map pp972-3; ☎ emergency room 415-206-8111, main 415-206-8000; www.sfdph.org; 1001 Potrero Ave)

Trauma Recovery & Rape Treatment Center (☎ 415-437-3000; http://traumarecoverycenter.org)

Walgreens (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-861-6276; www.walgreens.com; 498 Castro at 18th; 🕒 24hr) Pharmacy and over-the-counter meds; dozens of locations citywide.

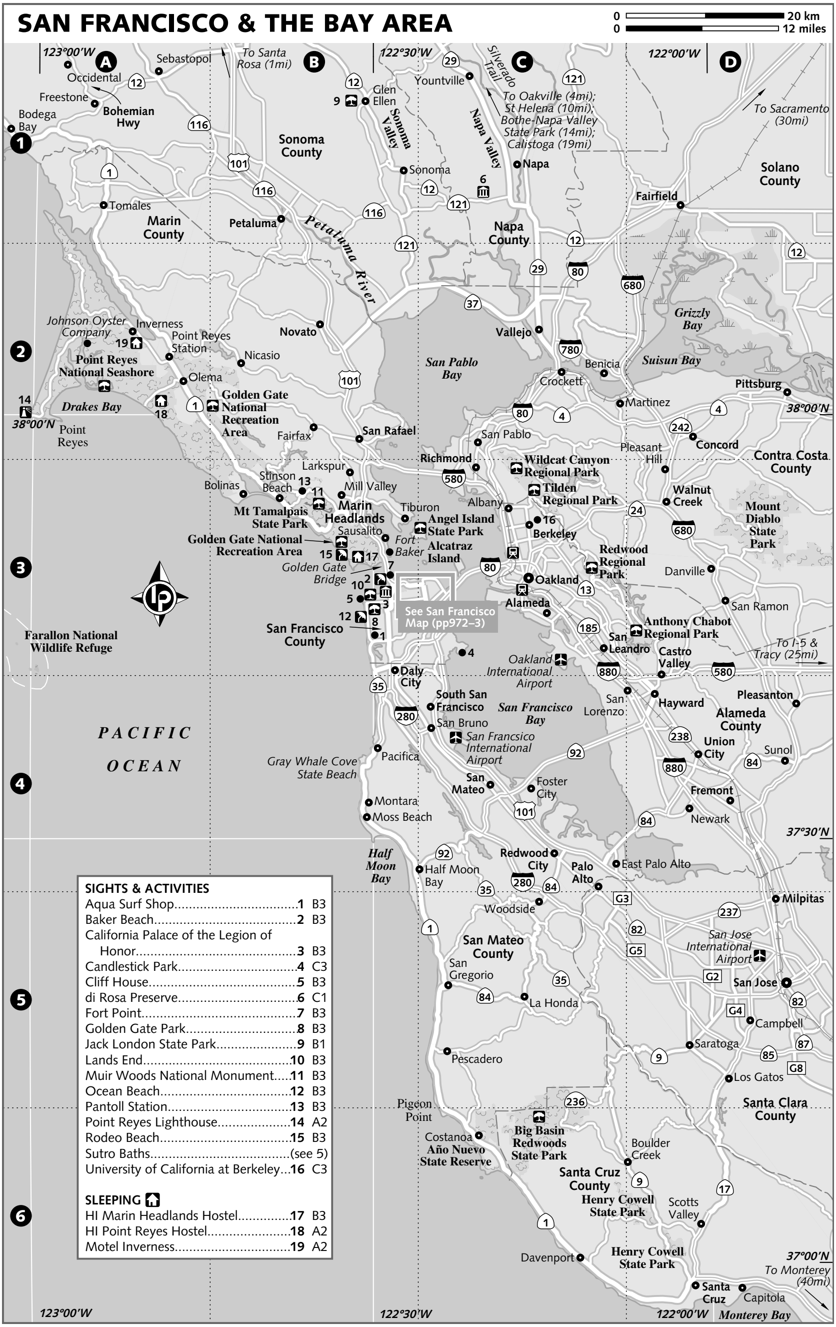
INTERNET ACCESS

There are more than 370 free wi-fi hot spots citywide. Connect for free in Union Sq, BrainWash (p970), and most cafés and hotel lobbies. Walgreens (above) can burn digital photos on to a CD for $2.99.

Apple Store (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-392-0202; www.apple.com/retail/sanfrancisco; 1 Stockton St; 🕒 10am-9pm Mon-Sat, 11am-6pm Sun; 📶) Free wi-fi access and internet terminal usage.

San Francisco Main Library (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-557-4400; http://sfpl.lib.ca.us; cnr 100 Larkin St, at Grove St; 🕒 10am-6pm Mon & Sat, 9am-8pm Tue-Thu, noon-6pm Fri & Sun; 📶) The main library provides free internet terminal usage and free (although spotty) wi-fi access.

SAN FRANCISCO & THE BAY AREA



0 20 km
0 12 miles
123°00'W
A
B
C
D
122°30'W
122°00'W
Sebastopol
To Santa Rosa (1mi)
Occidental
Freestone
Bohemian Hwy
Bodega Bay
Glen Ellen Yountville
Silverado Trail
To Oakville (4mi); St Helena (10mi); Bothe-Napa Valley State Park (14mi); Calistoga (19mi)
To Sacramento (30mi)
Sonoma County
Sonoma Valley
Napa Valley
Sonoma
Napa
Solano County
Tomales
Marin County
Petaluma
Petaluma River
Napa County Fairfield
Grizzly Bay
Suisun Bay
Johnson Oyster Company
Inverness
Point Reyes Station
Nicasio
Novato
Vallejo
San Pablo Bay
Benicia
Crockett
Point Reyes National Seashore
Olema
Golden Gate National Recreation Area
Drakes Bay
Point Reyes
38°00'N
Pittsburg
Martinez
Fairfax
San Rafael
San Pablo
Pleasant Hill
Concord
Contra Costa County
Richmond
Wildcat Canyon Regional Park
Tilden Regional Park
Walnut Creek
Larkspur
Stinson Beach
Bolinas
Mill Valley
Mt Tamalpais State Park
Marin Headlands
Tiburon
Albany
Angel Island State Park
Berkeley
Mount Diablo State Park
Sausalito
Fort Baker
Alcatraz Island
Redwood Regional Park
Golden Gate National Recreation Area
Golden Gate Bridge
Oakland
Danville
Alameda
San Ramon
See San Francisco Map (pp972–3)
Farallon National Wildlife Refuge
San Francisco County
Anthony Chabot Regional Park
San Leandro
Castro Valley
To I-5 & Tracy (25mi)
Oakland International Airport
Daly City
South San Francisco
San Francisco Bay
San Lorenzo
Hayward
Pleasanton
Alameda County
PACIFIC OCEAN
San Bruno
San Francsico International Airport
Union City
Sunol
Gray Whale Cove State Beach
Pacifica
San Mateo
Foster City
Fremont
Montara
Moss Beach
Newark
37°30'N
Half Moon Bay
Half Moon Bay
Redwood City
Palo Alto
East Palo Alto
Woodside
Milpitas
San Mateo County
San Jose International Airport
San Gregorio
San Jose
La Honda
Campbell
Saratoga
Pescadero
Los Gatos
Santa Clara County
Pigeon Point
Costanoa
Año Nuevo State Reserve
Big Basin Redwoods State Park
Boulder Creek
Santa Cruz County
Henry Cowell State Park
Scotts Valley
Henry Cowell State Park
Davenport
37°00'N
To Monterey (40mi)
Santa Cruz
Capitola
Monterey Bay
123°00'W
122°30'W
122°00'W

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

Aqua Surf Shop	1	B3
Baker Beach	2	B3
California Palace of the Legion of Honor	3	B3
Candlestick Park	4	C3
Cliff House	5	B3
di Rosa Preserve	6	C1
Fort Point	7	B3
Golden Gate Park	8	B3
Jack London State Park	9	B1
Lands End	10	B3
Muir Woods National Monument	11	B3
Ocean Beach	12	B3
Pantoll Station	13	B3
Point Reyes Lighthouse	14	A2
Rodeo Beach	15	B3
Sutro Baths	(see 5)
University of California at Berkeley	16	C3

SLEEPING

HI Marin Headlands Hostel	17	B3
HI Point Reyes Hostel	18	A2
Motel Inverness	19	A2

INTERNET RESOURCES

Craigslist (http://sfbay.craigslist.org) Jobs, dates, free junk, tango lessons, Buddhist babysitters – you name it.

Thrillist (www.thrillist.com) Blog on the new and now in SF: bars, bands, shops, restaurants, events.

Yelp (www.yelp.com) Locals trade verbal fisticuffs over SF's best shopping, bars, spas and restaurants.

LAUNDRY

Bernal Bubbles (off Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-821-9530; www.bernalbubbles.com; 397 Cortland Ave near Bocana St; 🕒 7am-10pm; 📶) Free wi-fi, coin laundry, wash and fold service, video games, bulletin board for stray socks and free lecture series.

BrainWash (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-255-4866; www.brainwash.com; 1122 Folsom St; 🕒 7am-10pm Mon-Thu, 7am-11pm Fri & Sat, 8am-10pm Sun; 📶) Come with laundry, stay for breakfast all day, cheap beer, live entertainment, pinball, free wi-fi and internet terminals ($3 per 20 minutes).

MEDIA

KALW 91.7 FM (www.kalw.org) Local National Public Radio (NPR) affiliate.

KPFA 94.1 FM (www.kpfa.org) Alternative news and music.

KPOO 89.5 FM (www.kpoo.com) Community radio with jazz, R & B, blues and reggae.

KQED 88.5 FM (www.kqed.org) Local NPR and Public Broadcasting (PBS) affiliate featuring original shows, California reportage, podcasts and streaming video.

San Francisco Bay Guardian (www.sfbg.com) SF's free, alternative weekly covers politics, theater, music, art and movie listings.

San Francisco Chronicle (www.sfgate.com) Main daily newspaper; news, entertainment and event listings on website (no registration required).

MONEY

Bank of America (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-977-0278; www.bankamerica.com; downstairs, One Market Plaza; 🕒 9am-6pm Mon-Fri)

POST

Rincon Center post office (Map pp972-3; ☎ 800-275-8777; www.usps.com; 180 Steuart St; 🕒 8am-6pm Mon-Fri, 8am-2pm Sat)

TOURIST INFORMATION

San Francisco's Visitor Information Center (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-391-2000; www.onlyinsanfrancisco.com; lower level, Hallidie Plaza, cnr Market & Powell Sts; 🕒 9am-5pm Mon-Fri, 9am-3pm Sat & Sun, closed Sun Nov-Apr)

Sights

Let San Francisco's 43 hills and more than 80 arts venues stretch your legs and imagination, and take in some (literally) breathtaking views.

UNION SQUARE

The paved square is nothing special, but offers front-row seating for nonstop downtown drama: bejeweled theater-goers dodging clanging cable cars, trendy teens camped out overnight for limited-edition sneakers and business travelers heading into the Tenderloin for entertainment too scandalous to include on expense reports. The action begins with shoppers clustered around the Powell St cable-car turnaround (Mapp972–3), gets dramatic along the Geary St Theater District (Mapp972–3) and switches on the red lights south of Geary.

CIVIC CENTER

City Hall (Map pp972-3); ☎ docent tours 415-554-6139; www.sfgov.org; 400 Van Ness Ave; 🕒 8am-8pm Mon-Fri) rose from the ashes of the 1906 earthquake to house the city's signature mixture of corruption, idealism and opposition politics under a splendid rotunda. Meanwhile across the plaza, imaginations race from ancient Persian miniatures to cutting-edge Japanese fashion at the Asian Art Museum (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-581-3500; www.asianart.org; 200 Larkin St; adult/senior/student & child 13-17yr $12/8/7; 🕒 10am-5pm Tue, Wed, Fri-Sun, to 9pm Thu). Find out what's on San Francisco's mind at San Francisco's Main Library (p968), through lecture series, historical exhibits, and artist Ann Chamberlain's card-catalog wallpaper with handwritten commentary in 12 languages.

Classical music fans need no introduction to War Memorial Opera House (p985), which on a good night can scarcely contain San Francisco's 150-year enthusiasm for opera and dance, and Davies Symphony Hall (p985), where conductor Michael Tilson Thomas' baton prods Mahler to new heights and whips Berlioz into shape.

The symphony crowd chows down and spiffs up a couple blocks away in the brasseries and design boutiques of Hayes Valley. When you need a moment of Zen, San Francisco's landmark Zen Center (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-863-3136; http://sfzc.org; 300 Page St; 🕒 9:30am-12:30pm & 1:30-5pm Mon-Fri, 8:30am-noon Sat) offers spiritual retreats for the largest Buddhist community outside Asia.

SAN FRANCISCO IN…

Stretch your dollars and ditch the car: bus fare and calf muscles let you see SF at its best.

One Day

Since the gold rush, great San Francisco adventures have started in Chinatown (p975), where you can still wander back alleys in search of hidden fortunes – in cookies, that is. Beat it to City Lights Bookstore (p968) to revel in Beat poetry and free speech, and then walk downhill past the Transamerica Pyramid (p975) to City View (p982) for scrumptious dumplings. Hit the San Francisco Museum of Modern Art (below) and the downtown gallery scene (p975), and then head over to the Asian Art Museum (opposite), where art transports you across centuries and oceans within an hour. Two blocks away, conductor Michael Tilson Thomas brings down the house with Beethoven at Davies Symphony Hall (p985). Toast hearts lost and inspiration found in SF with passion-fruit cocktails and Nuevo Latino cuisine at Destino (p984). End the night with film festival premieres at the Castro Theatre (p986), or swaying to glam-rock anthems in a converted speakeasy at Café du Nord (p985).

Two Days

Start your day amid the unlikely splendors of mural-covered Balmy Alley (p976), and then window-shop up to 826 Valencia (p976) to load up on pirate supplies and literary mags and to watch ichthyoid antics in the Fish Theater. By the time you walk to 16th and Valencia, you should be hungry enough to eat a horse – maybe even a burrito (p983). Hoof it up to the Haight for flashbacks at vintage clothing boutiques and follow starry-eyed hippies to the Summer of Love site: Golden Gate Park (p977). Head to the MH de Young Fine Arts Museum (p978) for far-out tower views and farther-out art, take a walk on the wild side in the rainforest dome of the California Academy of Sciences (p977), and then dig into organic Cal-Moroccan feasts at Aziza (p984).

For Foodies

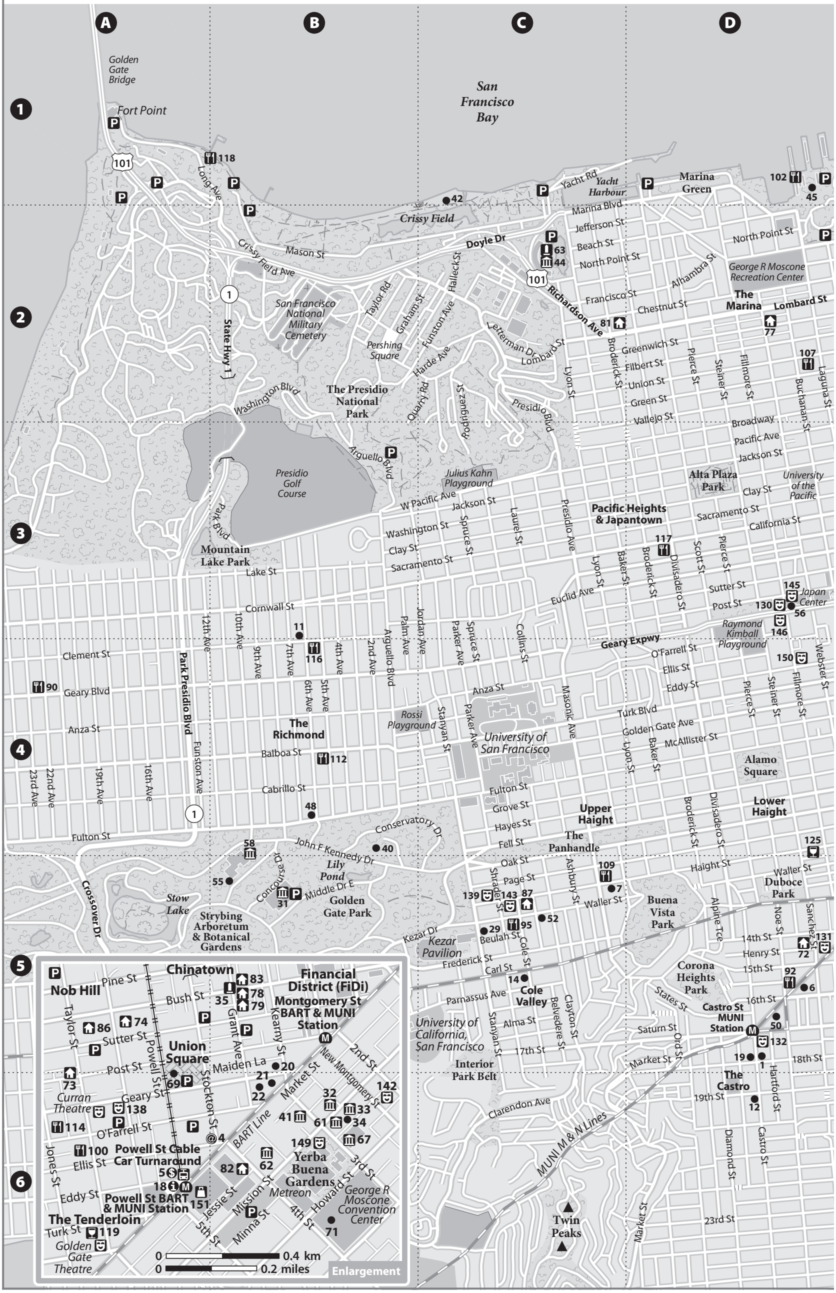
Graze your way across San Francisco, starting with the farmers' market at the Ferry Building (p982) or the gamut of local temptations indoors: sourdough baguettes, artisanal chocolate, sustainably farmed caviar and organic goat blue cheese. Your crash course in dim sum awaits along Chinatown's Stockton Street (p975), where florescent-lit mom-and-pop shops dole out shrimp and chive dumplings, crowd-pleasing barbecue pork buns and sweet lotus-root mooncakes. From here it's a BART ride to 24th Street and Mission, where bodegas revive tired palates with fragrant corn tortillas and habañero-spiked salsa; La Taquería (p983) sets the standard for Cal-Mex burritos. Cross town to shop Clement Street's restaurant supply stores for fearsome cleavers and dainty amuse-bouche plates, and scour Green Apple (p968) for remaindered cookbooks. Your grand finale awaits at Jardinière (p982), with a mood-enhancing meal by James Beard award-winning chef Traci des Jardins.

SOMA

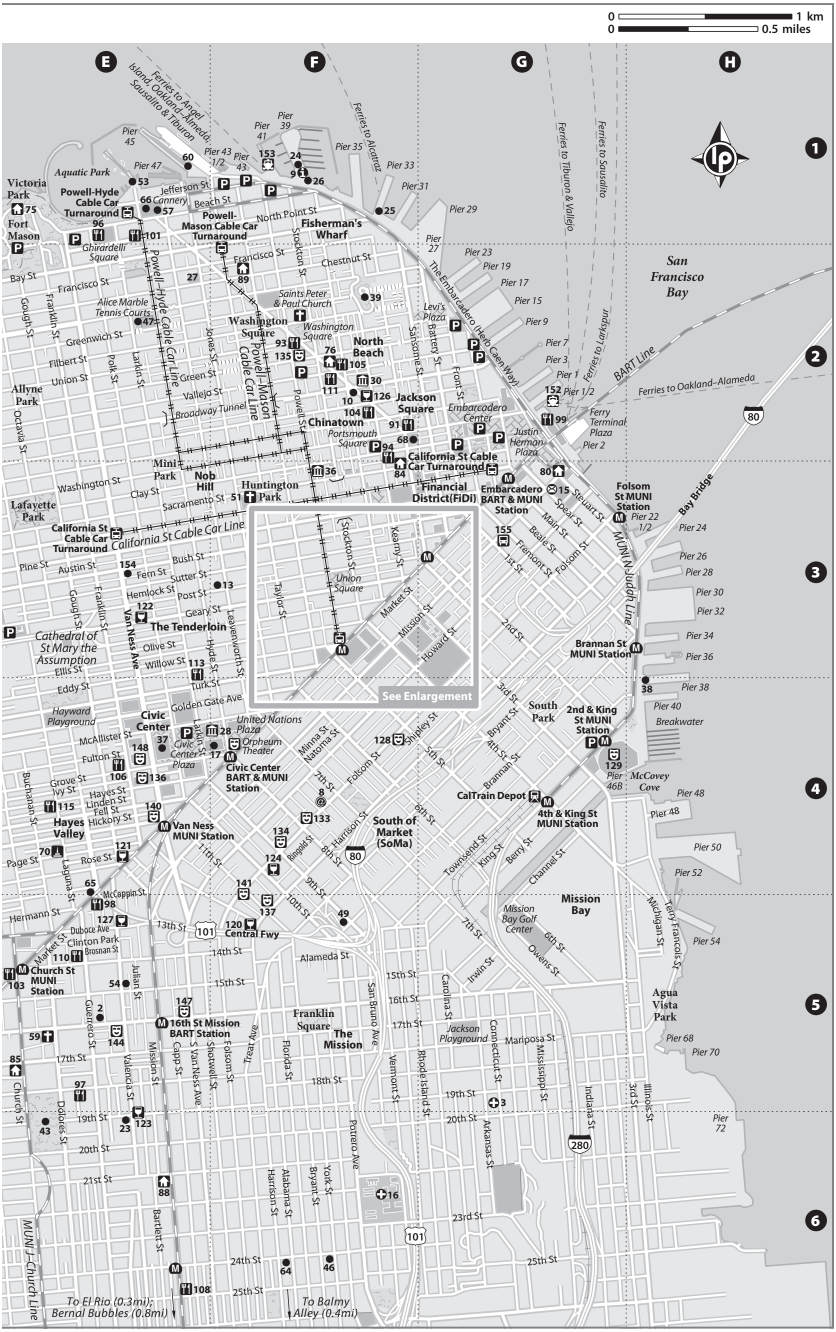
Don't let the high-rises and warehouses fool you: SoMa is packed with outrageous art venues, adventurous dining and anything-goes after-hours clubs. At San Francisco Museum of Modern Art (SFMOMA; Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-357-4000; www.sfmoma.org; 151 3rd St; adult/senior/student/child under 12 $12.50/8/7/free; 🕒 11am-5:45pm Fri-Tue, to 8:45pm Thu), Mario Botta's glowing lightwell illuminates massive mural installations, outstanding photography from Dorothea Lange's Depression documentaries to Daido Moriyama's dreamscapes, a rooftop sculpture garden featuring Louise Bourgeois' eerie super-spider, and new media mavericks, such as Matthew Barney, who debuted his dazzling Vaseline-smeared videos at SFMoMa.

Comics earn serious consideration at the Cartoon Art Museum (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-227-8666; www.cartoonart.org; 655 Mission St; adult/child 6-12yr $6/2; 🕒 11am-5pm Tue-Sun) with shows of original Watchmen covers, too-hot-to-print political cartoons and hands-on workshops with comics legends. On this same block is the always moving Museum of African Diaspora (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-358-7200; www.moadsf.org; 685 Mission; 🕒 11am-6pm Wed-Sat), tracing connections among African communities through

SAN FRANCISCO



A
B
C
D
1
2
3
4
5
6
Golden Gate Bridge
Fort Point
San Francisco Bay
Crissy Field
Yacht Harbour
Marina Green
The Marina
San Francisco National Military Cemetery
Pershing Square
The Presidio National Park
Presidio Golf Course
Mountain Lake Park
Julius Kahn Playground
Pacific Heights & Japantown
Alta Plaza Park
University of the Pacific
Japan Center
Raymond Kimball Playground
George R Moscone Recreation Center
The Richmond
Rossi Playground
University of San Francisco
Alamo Square
Lower Haight
Upper Haight
The Panhandle
Golden Gate Park
Lily Pond
Stow Lake
Strybing Arboretum & Botanical Gardens
Kezar Pavilion
Buena Vista Park
Duboce Park
Corona Heights Park
Cole Valley
University of California, San Francisco
Interior Park Belt
Castro St MUNI Station
The Castro
Twin Peaks
MUNI M & N Lines
Chinatown
Nob Hill
Financial District (FiDi)
Montgomery St BART & MUNI Station
Union Square
Curran Theatre
Powell St Cable Car Turnaround
Powell St BART & MUNI Station
The Tenderloin
Golden Gate Theatre
Yerba Buena Gardens
Metreon
George R Moscone Convention Center
BART Line
0.4 km
0.2 miles
Enlargement



0 1 km
0 0.5 miles
E
F
G
H
1
2
3
4
5
6
Ferries to Angel Island, Oakland–Alameda, Sausalito & Tiburon
Ferries to Alcatraz
Ferries to Tiburon & Vallejo
Ferries to Sausalito
Ferries to Larkspur
Ferries to Oakland–Alameda
BART Line
San Francisco Bay
Bay Bridge
Pier 45
Pier 47
Pier 43 1/2
Pier 43
Pier 41
Pier 39
Pier 35
Pier 33
Pier 31
Pier 29
Pier 27
Pier 23
Pier 19
Pier 17
Pier 15
Pier 9
Pier 7
Pier 3
Pier 1
Pier 1/2
Pier 2
Pier 22 1/2
Pier 24
Pier 26
Pier 28
Pier 30
Pier 32
Pier 34
Pier 36
Pier 38
Pier 40
Breakwater
Pier 46B
McCovey Cove
Pier 48
Pier 50
Pier 52
Pier 54
Pier 68
Pier 70
Pier 72
Aquatic Park
Victoria Park
Fort Mason
Powell-Hyde Cable Car Turnaround
Cannery
Jefferson St
Beach St
Ghirardelli Square
Powell-Mason Cable Car Turnaround
North Point St
Fisherman's Wharf
Bay St
Francisco St
Chestnut St
Saints Peter & Paul Church
Alice Marble Tennis Courts
Washington Square
Washington Square
North Beach
Greenwich St
Filbert St
Union St
Green St
Vallejo St
Broadway Tunnel
Allyne Park
Powell-Hyde Cable Car Line
Powell-Mason Cable Car Line
Levi's Plaza
The Embarcadero (Herb Caen Way)
Jackson Square
Chinatown
Portsmouth Square
Embarcadero Center
Justin Herman Plaza
Ferry Terminal Plaza
California St Cable Car Turnaround
Mini Park
Nob Hill
Huntington Park
Financial District (FiDi)
Embarcadero BART & MUNI Station
Washington St
Clay St
Sacramento St
Lafayette Park
California St Cable Car Turnaround
California St Cable Car Line
Folsom St MUNI Station
MUNI N-Judah Line
Steuart St
Spear St
Main St
Beale St
Fremont St
1st St
Folsom St
Pine St
Austin St
Bush St
Fern St
Sutter St
Hemlock St
Post St
Geary St
The Tenderloin
Olive St
Willow St
Ellis St
Eddy St
Turk St
Cathedral of St Mary the Assumption
Van Ness Ave
Gough St
Franklin St
Polk St
Larkin St
Jones St
Hyde St Leavenworth St
Powell St
Stockton St
Kearny St
Sansome St
Battery St
Front St
Octavia St
Taylor St
Union Square
Market St
Mission St
Howard St
See Enlargement
2nd St
Brannan St MUNI Station
3rd St
South Park
2nd & King St MUNI Station
Golden Gate Ave
Hayward Playground
Civic Center
McAllister St
Civic Center Plaza
United Nations Plaza
Orpheum Theater
Civic Center BART & MUNI Station
Fulton St
Grove St
Ivy St
Hayes St
Linden St
Fell St
Hickory St
Hayes Valley
Buchanan St
Van Ness MUNI Station
Minna St
Natoma St
7th St
Folsom St
Shipley St
5th St
Bryant St
4th St
Brannan St
CalTrain Depot
4th & King St MUNI Station
6th St
South of Market (SoMa)
Harrison St
Ringold St
8th St
11th St
Page St
Rose St
Laguna St
McCoppin St
Hermann St
Duboce Ave
Clinton Park
Brosnan St
Market St
Church St MUNI Station
13th St
101 Central Fwy
9th St
10th St
80
Townsend St
King St
Berry St
Channel St
Mission Bay
Mission Bay Golf Center
7th St
6th St
Owens St
Irwin St
Michigan St
Terry Francois St
14th St
Alameda St
15th St
16th St
17th St
18th St
19th St
20th St
21st St
23rd St
24th St
25th St
Julian St
Guerrero St
16th St Mission BART Station
Franklin Square
The Mission Treat Ave
Florida St
San Bruno Ave
Vermont St
Rhode Island St
Carolina St
Jackson Playground
Connecticut St
Mariposa St
Mississippi St
Arkansas St
Indiana St
3rd St
Illinois St
280
Agua Vista Park
Valencia St
Mission St
Capp St
S Van Ness Ave
Shotwell St
Folsom St
Church St
Dolores St
Bartlett St
Harrison St
Alabama St
Bryant St
York St
Potrero Ave
MUNI J-Church Line
To El Rio (0.3mi); Bernal Bubbles (0.8mi)
To Balmy Alley (0.4mi)
2
3
8 10 13 15 16
17
23 24
25 26 27
28 30 36 37
38 39
43
46 47
49
51
53
54
57
59 60
64
65
66
68 70
75 76 80
84
85
88 89 91
93
94
96
97
98
99
101
103
104
105
106
108
110
111
113
115
120
121 122
123
124
126
127 128
129
133
134
135
136
137
140
141
144
147
148
152
153
154 155

INFORMATION

A Different Light Bookstore	1	D5
Adobe Books	2	E5
American College of Traditional Chinese Medicine	3	G5
Apple Store	4	B6
Bank of America	5	A6
Books Inc	6	D5
Bound Together Anarchist Book Collective	7	C5
BrainWash	8	F4
California Welcome Center	9	F1
City Lights Bookstore	10	F2
Green Apple	11	B3
Human Rights Campaign	12	D6
Kayo Books	13	F3
Pharmaca	14	C5
Rincon Center Post Office	15	G3
San Francisco General Hospital	16	F6
San Francisco Main Library	17	F4
San Francisco's Visitor Information Center	18	A6
Walgreens	19	D5

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

14 Geary	20	B5
49 Geary	21	B6
77 Geary	22	B6
826 Valencia	23	E6
Adventure Cat	24	F1
Alcatraz Cruises	25	F1
Aquarium of the Bay	26	F1
Art Institute	27	E2
Asian Art Museum	28	F4
Avenue Cyclery	29	C5
Beat Museum	30	F2
Blazing Saddles	(see 101)
California Academy of Sciences	31	B5
California Historical Society	32	B6
Cartoon Art Museum	33	B6
Catharine Clark Gallery	34	B6
Chinatown Gate	35	B5
Chinese Historical Society of America Muesum	36	F3
City Hall	37	E4
City Kayak	38	H4
Coit Tower	39	F2
Conservatory of Flowers	40	B4
Contemporary Jewish Museum	41	B6
Crissy Field	42	C1
Davies Symphony Hall	(see 136)
Dolores Park	43	E6
Exploratorium	44	C2
Ferry Building	(see 99)
Fort Mason	45	D1
Galería de la Raza	46	F6
George Sterling Park	47	E2
Golden Gate Bike & Skate	48	B4
Gold's Gym	49	F5
Gold's Gym	50	D5
Grace Cathedral	51	F3
Haight Ashbury Food Program	52	C5
Hyde Street Pier	53	E1
Jack Hanley Gallery	54	E5
Japanese Tea Garden	55	B5
Kabuki Hot Springs	56	D3
Meeting Point for Fire Engine Tours	57	E1
MH de Young Fine Arts Museum	58	B4
Mission Dolores	59	E5
Musée Mécanique	60	E1
Museum of African Diaspora	61	B6
Museum of Craft & Folk Arts	62	B6
Oceanic Society Expeditions	(see 45)
Palace of Fine Arts	63	C2
Precita Eyes Mural Arts Center	64	F6
San Francisco Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender Community Center	65	E4
San Francisco Maritime National Historical Park	66	E1
San Francisco Museum of Modern Art (SFMOMA)	67	B6
Transamerica Pyramid	68	F2
Union Square	69	A6
War Memorial Opera House	(see 148)
Yerba Buena Centre for the Arts	(see 149)
Zen Center	70	E4
Zeum Art & Technology Center	71	B6

SLEEPING

24 Henry	72	D5
Dakota Hotel	73	A6
Golden Gate Hotel	74	A5
HI San Francisco Fisherman's Wharf	75	E1
Hotel Bohème	76	F2
Hotel Del Sol	77	D2
Hotel des Arts	78	B5
Hotel Triton	79	B5
Hotel Vitale	80	G3
Marina Motel	81	C2
Mosser	82	B6
Orchard Garden Hotel	83	B5
Pacific Tradewinds	84	F3
Parker Guest House	85	E5
Petite Auberge	86	A5
Red Victorian	87	C5
San Francisco Elements	88	E6
San Remo Hotel	89	F2

EATING

Aziza	90	A4
Bocadillos	91	F2
Cafe Flore	92	D5
Cinecittá	93	F2
City View	94	F2
Cole Valley Cafe	95	C5
Crown & Crumpet	96	E1
Delfina	97	E5
Destino	98	E5
Ferry Building	99	G2
Fish & Farm	100	A6
Gary Danko	101	E1
Greens	102	D1
Home	103	E5
House of Nanking	104	F2
Ideale	105	F2
Jardinière	106	E4
La Boulange	107	D2
La Taquería	108	E6
Magnolia Brewpub	109	C5
Mission Beach Café	110	E5
Molinari	111	F2
Namu	112	B4
Rosamunde Sausage Grill	(see 125)
Saigon Sandwich Shop	113	E3
Shalimar	114	A6
Suppenküche	115	E4
Taiwan	116	B4
Tataki	117	D3
Warming Hut	118	B1

DRINKING

Aunt Charlie's	119	A6
Eagle Tavern	120	F5
Hôtel Biron	121	E4
Koko Cocktails	122	E3
Lexington Club	123	E6
Powerhouse	124	F4
Toronado	125	D4
Tosca Cafe	126	F2
Zeitgeist	127	E5

ENTERTAINMENT

Annie's Social Club	128	F4
AT&T Park	129	G4
Boom Boom Room	130	D3
Café du Nord	131	D5
Castro Theater	132	D5
Cat Club	133	F4
Climate Theater	134	F4
Club Fugazi	135	F2
Davies Symphony Hall	136	E4
DNA Lounge	137	F5
Geary Theater	138	A6
Honey Soundsystem	(see 141)
Magic Theater	(see 45)
Milk	139	C5
New Conservatory Theater	140	E4
Paradise Loft	141	F4
Qoöl	142	B6
Red Vic	143	C5
Roxie Cinema	144	E5
Sundance Kabuki Cinema	145	D3
The Fillmore	146	D3
Theater Rhinoceros	147	E5
TIX Bay Area	(see 69)
War Memorial Opera House	148	E4
Yerba Buena Center for the Arts	149	B6
Yoshi's	150	D4

SHOPPING

Westfield San Francisco Shopping Center	151	A6

TRANSPORT

Blue & Gold Ferries	152	G2
Blue & Gold Ferries	153	F1
City Rent-a-Car	154	E3
Transbay Terminal	155	G3

SAN FRANCISCO ART ATTACK

Think you can keep up with SF's creative leaps? Once your imagination limbers up at SFMoMa (p971), catch art while it's hot and controversial at the Catharine Clark Gallery (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-399-1439; www.cclarkgallery.com; 150 Minna St; 🕒 noon-6pm Tue-Thu). Next, follow the steady stream of hipsters across 3rd St into Yerba Buena Center for the Arts (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-978-2787; www.ybca.org; 701 Mission St; gallery admission adult/senior/student & teacher $7/5/5; 🕒 noon-5pm Tue-Sun, to 8pm Thu) for avant-garde shows and openings that draw art freaks by the thousands.

Duck into Yerba Buena Lane to celebrate creative breakthroughs in skilled hands at the Museum of Craft & Folk Arts (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-227-4888; www.mocfa.org; 51 Yerba Buena Lane; adult/senior/child under 18yr $5/4/free; 🕒 11am-5pm Tue-Sun), and then hit the galleries at 14, 49 and 71 Geary (below) to see SF's latest high-concept photography and installation art. Afterwards, crash inside a hotel room designed to look like a conspiracy theorist's lair at Hotel des Arts (p981).

art, storytelling and technology. Across the street, architect Daniel Liebskind reshaped San Francisco's 1881 brick power plant with a blue steel extension to form the Hebrew word l'chaim ('to life'). Welcome to the Contemporary Jewish Museum (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-655-7800; www.jmsf.org; 736 Mission St at 3rd; adult/child/senior & student $10/free/8; 🕒 11am-5:30pm Fri-Tue, 1-8:30pm Thu), where recent shows explore Chagall's theatre backdrops and the life of Gertrude Stein. To keep the artistic inspiration coming, see above.

THE FINANCIAL DISTRICT

Back in its Barbary Coast heyday, loose change would buy you time with loose women in this neighborhood – now you'd be lucky to see a loose tie during happy hour. But the area still has redeeming quirks: a redwood grove has taken root in the remains of old whaling ships below the rocket-shaped Transamerica Pyramid (Map pp972-3; www.thepyramidcenter.com; 600 Montgomery St; 🕒 not open to the public), and eccentric art collectors descend from hilltop mansions for First Thursday gallery openings at 14, 49 and 77 Geary (Map pp972-3; www.sfada.com; San Francisco Art Dealers Association; 🕒 most galleries 10:30am-5:30pm Tue-Fri, 11am-5pm Sat). Hedonism is alive and well at the Ferry Building (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-983-8000, www.ferrybuildingmarketplace.com; 🕒 10am-6pm Mon-Fri, 9am-6pm Sat, 11am-5pm Sun), where foodies happily miss their ferries slurping local oysters and bubbly.

CHINATOWN

More than pagoda phone booths and dragon-draped streetlights, it's astounding resilience that defines these 22 blocks and 40 alleyways. Since the 1840s, this community has survived riots, discrimination, fires, bootlegging gangsters and politicians' attempts to relocate it down the coast – the amazing-but-true story unfolds before your eyes at the landmark Chinese Historical Society of America Museum (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-391-1188; www.chsa.org; 965 Clay St; adult/child 6-17yr $3/1; 🕒 noon-5pm Tue-Fri).

In the 1930s, Chinatown merchants rallied to oust back-alley brothels and opium dens, and gave Grant Avenue its signature Chinatown deco look. One block uphill, Stockton Street is lined with dim sum dives, vegetable sellers and apothecaries with walls of wooden drawers. But since you'll never really know Chinatown until you roam its alleys, take our Walking Tour (p978) or reserve ahead for Chinatown Alleyway Tours (p980).

NORTH BEACH

Parrots and poetry make the air of North Beach seem rarified – or maybe that's just the heady aroma of espresso brewing and pizza baking. Beat writers Jack Kerouac, Allen Ginsberg and Lawrence Ferlinghetti made this Italian neighborhood the proving ground for free spirits and free speech in the 1950s, as chronicled in the Beat Museum (Map pp972-3; ☎ 800-537-6822; www.thebeatmuseum.org; 540 Broadway; admission $5; 🕒 noon-10pm Tue-Thu, 10am-10pm Fri-Sun), and the escaped parrots who flock here make it an actual urban jungle. Some things stay the same: in cafés and pizzerias lining Columbus and upper Grant Street, you'll still hear Italian spoken. Up the Filbert Street steps at Coit Tower (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-362-0808; admission free, elevator rides $5; 🕒 10am-6pm), you'll find 360-degree views of downtown and wraparound 1930s murals glorifying SF workers – once denounced as Communist, but now a landmark.

RUSSIAN HILL & NOB HILL

Gardeners, fitness freaks and suckers for sunsets all brave dizzying climbs west of North

Beach up Russian and Nob Hills. Drivers test their mettle on the crooked 1000 block of Lombard Street (Map pp972–3), but many obliviously roll past one of the city's best sunset vista points over the Golden Gate bridge at George Sterling Park (Map pp972–3) and a splendid Diego Rivera mural at the nearby Art Institute (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-771-7020; www.sfai.edu; 800 Chestnut St; 🕒 8am-9pm).

Stairways lead urban hikers past hidden cottages and scrap-sculpture gardens, but there's a shortcut to heaven in SF: hop the cable car uphill to Grace Cathedral (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-749-6300; www.gracecathedral.com; 1100 California St; 🕒 7am-6pm Mon-Fri, 8am-6pm Sat, 8am-7pm Sun, services with choir at 11am & 3pm Sun). This progressive Episcopal church keeps pace with its parishioners: the AIDS Interfaith Memorial Chapel features a bronze Keith Haring altarpiece; stained-glass windows illuminate Human Endeavors, including Albert Einstein in a swirl of nuclear particles; and pavement labyrinths guide restless souls through the spiritual stages of releasing, receiving and returning.

FISHERMAN'S WHARF

With the notable exception of sea lions gleefully belching after fish dinners at Pier 39 (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-981-7437; www.pier39.com), most piers are packed with landlubbers attempting to digest sourdough-bread bowls of gloppy clam chowder (don't bother: it can't be done). For a real taste of the city's seafaring past, head to the San Francisco Maritime National Historical Park (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-561-7100; www.nps.gov/safr; 499 Jefferson at Hyde; 🕒 9:30am-7pm Jun-Sep, 9:30am-5pm Oct-May) to tour 19th-century ships moored at Hyde Street Pier (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-447-5000; 2905 Hyde at Jefferson Sts; boarding pass $5, national park passes accepted), including triple-masted 1886 Balclutha. At Pier 45 you can guillotine a man for a quarter at the Musée Mécanique (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-346-2000; www.museemecaniquesf.com; admission free; 🕒 10am-7pm Mon-Fri, 10am-8pm Sat & Sun), where 19th-century arcade games like the macabre French Execution compete for your spare change with Ms Pac-Man.

THE MARINA & PRESIDIO

Army sergeants would surely be scandalized by the frolicking in former army bases in the Marina and Presidio, including comedy improv and kiddie art classes at Fort Mason (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-345-7500; www.fortmason.org). Geeks and freaks flock to the Exploratorium (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-561-0360; www.exploratorium.edu; 3601 Lyon St; adult/child 4-12yr $14/9, Tactile Dome $17; 🕒 10am-5pm Tue-Sun) to learn the scientific secrets to cuteness and grope through the Tactile Dome. Outside, ducklings march through the 1915 Palace of Fine Arts (Map pp972–3), Bernard Maybeck's faux-Roman rotunda depicting Art under attack by Materialists, with Idealists leaping to her rescue.

The Presidio's coastal airstrip has been stripped of asphalt and reinvented as Crissy Field (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-561-7690; www.crissyfield.org), a haven for coastal birds, kitefliers and urban beachgoers. Take a hike for spectacular views of Golden Gate Bridge: see it from below like Alfred Hitchcock for a thrilling case of Vertigo at Fort Point (Map p969; ☎ 415-561-4395; www.nps.gov/fopo), or see it au naturel on the Presidio's west side at clothing-optional Baker Beach (Map p969; 🕒 sunrise-sunset). When the fog rolls in, the Warming Hut (Map pp972-3; 🕒 9am-5pm) serves Fair Trade coffee and organic pastries within walls insulated with old denim.

THE MISSION

The Mission would have you believe every underground art movement started here – that's not entirely untrue. Ever since the local Ohlone painted pulsating hearts behind the altar at Mission Dolores (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-621-8203; www.missiondolores.org; cnr Dolores & 16th Sts; adult/senior & child $5/3; 🕒 9am-4pm Nov-Apr, 9am-4:30pm, May-Oct) around 1795, the Mission has kept art close to its heart.

Before SF skate-graffiti art became an international hit through such galleries as Jack Hanley (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-522-1623; www.jackhanley.com; 395 Valencia St; 🕒 11am-6pm Tue-Sat), there were 1970s political murals lining Mission side streets and the Balmy Alley (off Map pp972-3; off 24th St near Folsom). For tours, see Precita Eyes Mission Mural Tours (p980). Politics come with the territory: protests are held almost every weekend at Dolores Park (Map pp972–3), and Latino artists take on politics and pop culture at Galería de la Raza (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-826-8009; www.galeriadelaraza.org; 2857 24th St; 🕒 noon-6pm Wed-Sat, 1-7pm Tue).

Given a Mission diet of burritos, margaritas and coffee, creative types seem to thrive – hence the local design boutiques, 'zine bookstores and nonprofit arts venues clustered around Valencia and Mission Sts. When a Pirate Supply Store landed at 826 Valencia (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-642-5905; www.826valencia.org; 826 Valencia St; 🕒 noon-6pm), selling eye patches and McSweeney's publications to fund youth writing workshops, the Mission found its dream mission.

THE CASTRO

San Francisco's other neighborhoods have their share of gays; however, in the landmark Castro district, the GLBT community is extra-strength, like superheroes or condoms. Here they don't just get mad about half-ass drag and laws prohibiting same-sex marriage, they get organized: hence the historic Human Rights Campaign (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-431-2200; www.hrc.org; 600 Castro St) and half-million-strong Pride parade (see p980), trailing boas and bridal veils by the mile.

You'll know you're entering the Castro from downtown when you see that glorious aqua Victorian with a glass front, so anyone inside the San Francisco Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender Community Center (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-865-5555; www.sfcenter.org; 1800 Market St) can still be out and proud. Stop by for art shows by transgendered artists, GLBT parenting groups, Friday crafts extravaganzas for under-26 arty types, and the annual Queer Prom. But you've officially arrived when you see the marquee of the Castro Theatre (p986), where every film begins with the rise of a mighty organ…no, really. When the vintage Wurlitzer rises from the orchestra pit and the crowd sings the theme song from San Francisco ('San Francisco, open your Golden Gate…'), the moment is pure movie magic.

THE HAIGHT

Better known as the hazy hot spot of the Summer of Love, the Haight still has its swinging '60s tendencies. Only a very mysterious, very local illness could explain the number of neighborhood medical marijuana clubs, and tie-dyes and ideals have never entirely gone out of fashion here – hence the Bound Together Anarchist Book Collective (p968), the cooperative indie Red Vic Movie House (p986) and the Haight Ashbury Food Program (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-566-0366; www.thefoodprogram.org; 1525 Waller St), serving anyone in need with hot meals and job training.

North of Divisadero St, the Upper Haight features head shops, cafés, boutiques, vintage clothes and used CDs. Across Divisadero, Lower Haight is big on hairdressers, bars, skater gear and, um, gardening supply shops, all clustered around the picture-perfect Victorians lining hilltop Alamo Square Park. Anywhere you go on Haight, punks, artistes, aesthetes, oddballs and misfits all blend into the scenery.

JAPANTOWN & PACIFIC HEIGHTS

Atop every noodle house counter and karaoke bar in Japantown perches a maneki neko, the porcelain cat with one paw raised in permanent welcome. This neighborhood works hard to put you completely at ease, including shiatsu massages at Kabuki Hot Springs (p978), eco-entertainment and non-GMO popcorn at Robert Redford's Sundance Kabuki Cinema (p986), and Yoshi's (p985), featuring such world-class talents as New Orleans' Preservation Hall Jazz Band and SF's own funk-fusion Broun Fellinis. Across the street is the Fillmore (p985), the legendary birthplace of 1960s psychedelic rock, with the Day-Glo poster gallery to prove it.

GOLDEN GATE PARK & AROUND

San Francisco was way ahead of its time in 1866, when the city decided to turn 1017 acres of sand dunes into the world's largest city park. This ambitious green scheme scared off Frederick Law Olmstead, the celebrated architect of New York's Central Park, and thwarted real estate speculators' plans to turn Golden Gate Park into a theme-park resort. The park does have its outlandish attractions, including carnivorous plants and outer-space orchids in the 1879 Conservatory of Flowers (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-666-7001; www.conservatoryofflowers.org; adult/senior & youth age 12-17/age 5-11/under 5 $5/3/1.50/free; 🕒 9am-4:30pm Tue-Sun). But instead of hotels and casinos, park architect William Hammond Hall insisted on botanical gardens, the Japanese Tea Garden (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-752-4227; www.parks.sfgov.org; Hagiwara Tea Garden Dr; adult/senior & age 12-17/age 5-11/under 5 $5/3/$1.50/free, free 9-10am Mon, Wed & Fri; 🕒 9am-6pm Mar-Oct, 9am-5pm Nov-Feb) and boating on scenic Stow Lake (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-752-0357; per hr paddleboats/canoes/rowboats $24/20/19, surreys/tandem bikes/bikes $20-35/12/6-8; 🕒 rentals 10am-4pm).

Though even in Hammond's wildest dreams, he might not have imagined the Park's newest attractions. Architect Renzo Piano's 2008 landmark LEED-certified California Academy of Sciences (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-379-8000; www.calacademy.org; 55 Concourse Dr; weekday adult/age 11-17/age 7-11/under 7 $24.95/19.95/14.95/free, third Wednesdays free, Thursdays 6-10pm $10 (age 21+ only); 🕒 9:30am-5pm Mon-Sat, 11am-5pm Sun) houses Pierre the Penguin and 38,000 other weird and wonderful animals under a 'living roof' of California wildflowers. Across the music concourse is another showstopper: Herzog & de Meuron's sleek, copper-clad MH de Young Fine Arts Museum (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-750-3600; www.famsf.org/deyoung; adult/senior/student over 13 $10/7/6, $2 discount with Muni ticket, first Tue of month free; 🕒 9:30am-5:15pm Tue-Sun, to 8:45pm Fri Jan-Nov) is oxidizing green to blend into the park. But don't be fooled by the de Young's camouflaged exterior: inside are standout shows that celebrate inspired handiwork, from Andy Warhol's silkscreened pop-star portraits to Oceanic ceremonial masks.

Toward the Pacific, the Park scenery turns quixotic, with bison stampeding in their paddock toward dilapidated windmills. The park ends in blustery Ocean Beach (Map p969; ☎ 415-556-8371; 🕒 sunrise-sunset), too chilly for bikini-clad clambakes but ideal for wet-suited pro surfers braving rip tides (casual swimmers beware). At the north end of Ocean Beach, the recently rebuilt and sadly soulless Cliff House (Map p969; ☎ 415-386-3330; www.cliffhouse.com; 1090 Point Lobos) overlooks the splendid ruin of Sutro Baths (Map p969), where Victorian dandies once converged for bracing baths and workouts.

Follow the trail above Sutro Baths around Lands End (Map p969) for postcard-worthy views of Marin Headlands and the Golden Gate Bridge. The trail leads to the California Palace of the Legion of Honor (Map p969; ☎ 415-750-3600; www.famsf.org/legion; 34th Ave at Clement Street; adult/senior/student over 13 $10/7/6, $2 discount with Muni ticket, first Tue of month free; 🕒 9:30am-5pm Tue-Sun), which mixes blockbuster exhibits of Fabergé eggs with Max Klinger's obscure, macabre 19th-century Waking Dream etchings.

SAN FRANCISCO BAY

Imagine a squat concrete bridge striped black and caution yellow spanning the San Francisco Bay – that's what the US Navy initially had in mind. Luckily, engineer Joseph B Strauss and architects Gertrude and Irving Murrow insisted on a soaring art-deco design and International Orange paint that harmonized with the natural environment. The result is the 1937 Golden Gate Bridge (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-921-5858; www.goldengatebridge.org). Cars pay a $6 toll to cross from Marin to San Francisco; pedestrians and cyclists stroll the east sidewalk for free.

There is one impressive hunk of concrete in the Bay: the notorious island prison Al Capone called home, better known as Alcatraz (Map p969). Prison authorities boasted it was inescapable; however, since importing guards and all other necessities cost the state more than putting up prisoners at the Ritz, it was closed in 1963. Native American leaders took over the island from 1969–71 to protest US occupation of Native lands, and their standoff with the FBI is commemorated in a small museum and 'Red Power' signs near the ferry dock. Ferry tickets must be reserved in advance from Alcatraz Cruises (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-981-7625; www.alcatrazcruises.com; adult/child 5-11yr day $26.00/16.00, night $32.00/19.50; 🕒 reservations 9am-6:45pm; tours depart from Pier 33 about every half-hr 9am-4pm, plus 6:10pm & 6:45pm), which covers a captivating audio tour with prisoners and guards recalling life on the Rock.

Activities

Rent wheels at Avenue Cyclery (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-387-3155; www.avenuecyclery.com; 756 Stanyan St; 👪) at Golden Gate Park, or Blazing Saddles (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-202-8888; www.blazingsaddles.com; 2715 Hyde St; per hr/day $7/28; 👪), at Fisherman's Wharf. Cross the Golden Gate Bridge, and take the Sausalito ferry back to SF. On Sundays, Golden Gate Park's JFK Drive closes to vehicular traffic.

For a cool view of SF, paddle the bay with City Kayak (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-357-1010; www.citykayak.com; Pier 38, cnr Embarcadero & Townsend Sts; per hr $15-25), or take a 1½-hour catamaran cruise with Adventure Cat (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-777-1630; www.adventurecat.com; Pier 39; adult from $30).

Surfers head to Ocean Beach (Map p969), where wintertime swells rise 12ft or higher. Aqua Surf Shop (Map p969; ☎ 415-242-9283; http://aquasurfshop.com; 2830 Sloat Blvd; 🕒 10am-5:30pm Sun-Tue, 10am-7pm Wed-Sat) rents boards and wetsuits. Check the surf report (☎ 415-273-1618).

For stellar whale-watching trips, contact Oceanic Society Expeditions (Map pp972-3; ☎ 800-326-7491; www.oceanic-society.org; Fort Mason, bldg E; adult $100).

our pick Kabuki Hot Springs (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-922-6000; www.kabukisprings.com; 1750 Geary Blvd; admission $22-25; 🕒 10am-9:45pm) is the place for soaking in Japanese baths; men and women use the baths on alternate days; bathing suits are required on coed Tuesdays.

Walking Tour

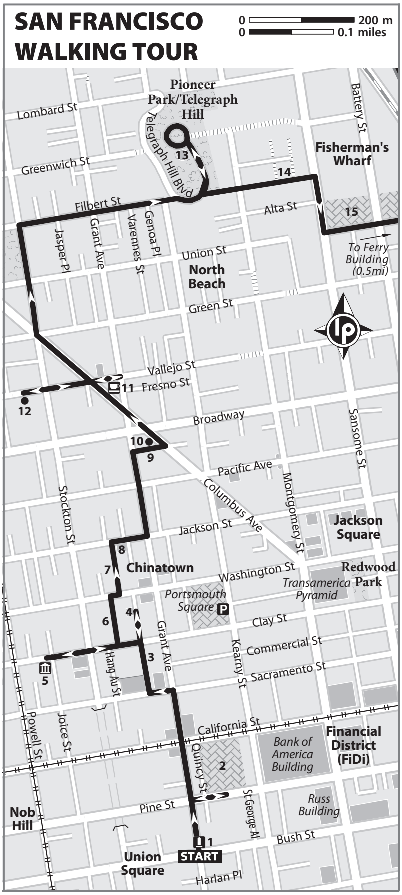
Limber up and look sharp: on this walk, you'll discover revolutionary plots, find hidden fortunes, meet birds that swear like sailors, shimmy up a giant fire hose and go gourmet with Gandhi.

Starting at Chinatown's Dragon Gate (1; Grant Ave at Bush St), head north one block past the gilded dragon lamps and trinket shops of Grant St and hang a right on Pine St. On your left, Old St Mary's Park (2) marks the spot of a notorious brothel leveled in the 1906 fire, but now the only tricks here are performed by renegade skateboarders under the watchful eye of Beniamino Bufano's 1929 statue of revolutionary leader Sun Yat-Sen. Backtrack and walk one block past Old St Mary's Church, turning left on Sacramento and taking the next right to spot flag-festooned temple balconies along Waverly Place (3). Pay your respects at Tien Hou Temple (4; 125 Waverly Place, 4th fl; free, but offerings appreciated; 🕒 hours vary), or hang your next left onto Clay St. One block up is the Chinese Historical Society of America Museum (5; p975), in the majestic Chinatown YWCA built by Julia Morgan, California's first female architect and the only person William Randolph Hearst trusted to build his castle (p960).

Walk back down Clay past Stockton, and the first lane on your left is Spofford Alley (6), where you'll hear the click of mah-jongg tiles, a Chinese orchestra warming up and beauticians gossiping indiscreetly over blow-dryers. Once you might have overheard the whispers of Sun Yat-Sen and his conspirators at no 36 plotting the 1911 overthrow of China's last dynasty, or gunfire blasts during the 1920s bootlegger turf wars. At Washington St, jog right and left to enter Ross Alley (7), once packed with brothels and more recently pimped as the picturesque setting for forgettable sequels such as Karate Kid II and Indian Jones and the Temple of Doom. Get your fortune while it's hot here, folded into warm cookies on vintage machines at Golden Gate Fortune Cookie Factory (8; 56 Ross Alley).

Head right back to Grant, and turn left; up a block and a half on your right is Jack Kerouac Alley (9). The alleyway where Kerouac once passed out is now marked with poetry on the sidewalk and murals on the walls. At the end is City Lights Bookstore (10; p968), home of Beat poetry and champion of free speech. Get some lit to read a block and a half away at Caffe Trieste (11; ☎ 415-982-2605; www.caffetrieste.com; 601 Vallejo St; 🕒 6:30am-11pm daily, to midnight Fri & Sat), beloved since the '50s for its opera jukebox, accordion jams and offbeat regulars. Cross Columbus on Vallejo to the Good Luck Parking Garage (12; 735 Vallejo), where every parking spot comes with stenciled fortunes by artist Harrell Fletcher, such as 'You are not a has-been.'

SAN FRANCISCO WALKING TOUR



0 200 m
0 0.1 miles
Pioneer Park/Telegraph Hill
Lombard St
Battery St
Telegraph Hill Blvd
13
Fisherman's Wharf
Greenwich St
14
Filbert St
Alta St
15
Jasper Pl
Grant Ave
Varennes St
Genoa Pl
Union St
To Ferry Building (0.5mi)
North Beach
Green St
Vallejo St
11 Fresno St
12
Broadway
10 9
Pacific Ave
Sansome St
Stockton St
Columbus Ave
Montgomery St
Jackson St
Jackson Square
8
7 Chinatown
Washington St
Redwood Park
Transamerica Pyramid
Portsmouth Square
4
6
Clay St
Grant Ave
Kearny St
Commercial St
3
5
Hang Ah St
Sacramento St
Powell St
Joice St
California St
Financial District (FiDi)
Bank of America Building
Quincy St
2
St George Al
Russ Building
Nob Hill
Pine St
1
Bush St
Union Square START
Harlan Pl

WALK FACTS

Start Chinatown's Dragon Gate Finish Ferry Building
Distance 1.8 miles
Duration 1/2 day

Back on Columbus, head north, turn right at Stockton and again at Filbert St, and then pace yourself for the climb to Coit Tower (13; p975). The tower was built by eccentric millionaire Lillie Hitchcock Coit to honor firefighters and resemble a giant hose, which controversial WPA murals critics have called Communist, courageous, or both. Take Filbert Steps (14) downhill past wild parrots and hidden cottages, onward to Sansome St. Cut through Levi's Plaza (15), named for San Francisco's most famous inventor, to the Embarcadero. Turn right, and a few blocks south await the gourmet delights of the Ferry Building (p982). Enjoy your lunch on a Bayside bench, with the bronze statue of Gandhi peeking rather hungrily over your shoulder.

San Francisco for Children

Although it has the least kids per capita of any US city – according to 2008 SFSPCA data, there are about 19,000 more dogs than kids under age 18 in town – San Francisco is packed with attractions for kids.

American Child Care (☎ 415-285-2300; www.americanchildcare.com; 580 California St, Suite 1600; 👶) The cost is $20 per hour plus gratuity; four-hour minimum.

Aquarium of the Bay (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-623-5301; www.aquariumofthebay.com; Pier 39; adult/child/family (2 adults, 2 children) $15.95/8/39.95; 🕒 9am-8pm daily summer, 10am-6pm Mon-Fri & 10am-7pm Sat & Sun rest of year; 👶) Glide through glass tubes underwater on conveyer belts as sharks circle overhead.

California Academy of Sciences (p977; 👶) A four-story rainforest, a swamp stalked by a white alligator, and a planetarium of shooting stars, all under a roof of California wildflowers: it's a storybook come to life.

Cartoon Art Museum (p971; 👶) Comics galore, from superheroes to anime.

Exploratorium (p976) Find out why you sound better singing in the shower and what you could see with X-ray vision through hands-on exhibits that won a 2008 MacArthur Genius Grant.

Fire Engine Tours (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-333-7077; www.fireenginetours.com; Beach St at the Cannery; adult/child under 12/teen $50/30/40; 🕒 tours depart 1pm Wed-Mon; 👶) Hot stuff: a 75-minute, open-air vintage fire engine ride over Golden Gate Bridge.

Golden Gate Park (p977; 👶) Kid heaven: buffalo, a carousel, playgrounds, miniature trees and paddle boats.

Zeum Art & Technology Center (Map pp972–3; ☎ 415-822-3320; www.zeum.org; 221 4th St; adult/child 4-18yr $7/5; 🕒 11am-5pm Tue-Sun Jun-Aug, 1pm-5pm Wed-Fri & 11am-5pm Sat-Sun Sep-May; 👶) Technology that's too cool for school: robots, live-action video games, DIY music videos, and animation workshops with Silicon Valley innovators.

Tours

California Historical Society (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-357-1848; www.californiahistoricalsociety.org; 678 Mission St) When eccentric urban planner Gary Holloway isn't dressing in monk's robes, he leads Historical Walkabouts to little-known sights hidden in San Francisco neighborhoods.

Chinatown Alleyway Tours (☎ 415-984-1478; www.chinatownalleywaytours.org; adult/student 10-17yr/age 6-9/under 6 $18/12/5/free) Teens who grew up in the neighborhood lead two-hour tours for an up-close-and-personal peek into Chinatown's past. Tours depart 11am Saturday or by appointment.

Precita Eyes Mission Mural Tours (☎ 415-285-2287; www.precitaeyes.org; for public tour, adult/senior & under 17/under 12 $10-12/5/2) Run by the Precita Eyes Mural Arts Center, local artists lead two-hour tours on foot or bike covering 60-70 murals in a 6-10 block radius of mural-bedecked Balmy Alley. Tours depart 11am weekdays & 1:30pm weekends.

Public Library City Guides (☎ 415-557-4266; www.sfcityguides.org; public tours free) Local historians lead tours by neighborhood and theme: Art Deco Marina, Gold Rush Downtown, Pacific Heights Mansions and more. See website for meeting times and locations.

Festivals & Events

Chinese New Year Parade (☎ 415-986-1370; www.chineseparade.com) Chase the 200ft dragon, and see lion dancers and toddler kung-fu classes through Chinatown in late January/early February.

SF International Film Festival (☎ 415-561-5000; www.sffs.org) Sunglasses and paparazzi are must-have accessories at the nation's oldest film festival in late April.

Bay to Breakers (☎ 415-359-2800; www.baytobreakers.com; race registration $44-48) Many run costumed, others naked, some scared – from Embarcadero to Ocean Beach the third Sunday in May.

Carnaval (☎ 415-826-1401; www.carnavalsf.com) Brazilian, or just faking it with a wax and a tan? Come shake your tail feathers in the Mission the last weekend of May.

SF Gay Pride Month (☎ 415-864-0831; www.sfpride.org) A day isn't enough to do SF proud: June begins with the Gay & Lesbian Film Festival, and goes out in style the last weekend with the Dyke March (☎ 415-241-8882; www.dykemarch.org) and the frisky, fun, half-million-strong Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual and Transgender Pride Parade.

Folsom Street Fair (☎ 415-777-3247; www.folsomstreetfair.com) Work that leather look and enjoy public spankings for local charities the last weekend of July.

LitQuake (415-750-1497 www.litquake.org) Authors spill true stories and trade secrets over drinks at the legendary Lit Crawl, held the second weekend in October.

SF Jazz Festival (☎ 415-398-5655; www.sfjazz.org) Old-school greats and breakthrough talents blow horns and minds in late October.

Diá de los Muertos (☎ 415-821-1155; www.dayofthedeadsf.org) Party to wake the dead with a spooky costume parade, sugar skulls and fabulous altars in the Mission on November 2.

Sleeping

San Francisco is the birthplace of the boutique hotel; they're all over town – for a price: in SF, $100 to $200 rooms are midrange. The San Francisco's Visitor Information Center (p970) runs a multilingual reservation line (☎ 888-782-9673; www.onlyinsanfrancisco.com). Bed & Breakfast SF (☎ 415-899-0060; www.bbsf.com) is a B&B–apartment service. Lombard St (Hwy 101) is packed with motels. San Francisco hotel tax is 14% (hostels are exempt).

UNION SQUARE & CIVIC CENTER

Dakota Hotel (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-931-7475; 606 Post St at Taylor St; r $98-110; ☒ 💻 📶) Vintage 1920s hotel with clean, basic rooms and clawfoot bathtubs; the elevator is temperamental. Parking costs $16.

our pick Hotel des Arts (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-956-3232; www.sfhoteldesarts.com; 447 Bush St; r without bath $99-149, with bath $139-199; ☒ 📶) A budget hotel for art freaks, with specialty rooms painted by underground artists – it's like sleeping inside a painting. Standard rooms are less exciting, but are clean and good value. Parking costs $24.

Golden Gate Hotel (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-392-3702, 800-835-1118; www.goldengatehotel.com; 775 Bush St; r without/with bath $105/165; ☒ 💻 📶) Like an old-fashioned pensione, the Golden Gate has kindly owners and simple rooms inside a 1913 Edwardian hotel, safely uphill from the Tenderloin. Parking is $25.

Mosser (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-986-4400, 800-227-3804; www.themosser.com; 54 4th St; r without bath $75-109, with bath $149-179; ☒ 💻 📶) This tourist-class hotel has some stylish details in its tiny rooms and tinier baths. Parking costs $29.

Petite Auberge (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-928-6000, 800-365-3004; 863 Bush St; r $169-219; ☒ 💻 📶) Like a country inn – a French-provincial charmer with cheerful rooms, some with gas fireplaces. Parking is $32.

Hotel Triton (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-394-0500, 800-800-1299; www.hoteltriton.com; 342 Grant Ave; r $149-239; ☒ ❄ 💻 📶) The lobby thumps with high-energy music at this snappy boutique hotel. Least-expensive rooms are tiny; great beds though. Parking costs $38.

Orchard Garden Hotel (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-399-9807; www.theorchardgardenhotel.com; 466 Bush St; r $179-249; ☒ ❄ 💻 📶) SF's first all-green-practices hotel has soothingly quiet rooms with luxe touches, like Egyptian-cotton sheets. Parking costs $40.

THE FINANCIAL DISTRICT & NORTH BEACH

Pacific Tradewinds (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-433-7970, 888-734-6783; www.sanfranciscohostel.org; 680 Sacramento St; dm $24-26; ☒ 💻 📶) SF's smartest-looking all-dorm hostel has a blue-and-white nautical theme, full kitchen and spotless showers. There's no elevator, but three flights of stairs.

San Remo Hotel (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-776-8688, 800-352-7366; www.sanremohotel.com; 2237 Mason St; r $55-85; 💻 📶) The 1906 San Remo is long on old-fashioned charm, with simple rooms and mismatched turn-of-the-century furnishings; all share bathrooms. Note: the cheapest rooms face the hallway; for air and light, request one with a window.

Hotel Bohème (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-433-9111; www.hotelboheme.com; 444 Columbus Ave; r $174-194; ☒ 📶) Our favorite boutique hotel is like a love letter to the Jazz era, with rooms in burnt-orange, black and sage-green, and ceiling lights are covered with Chinese umbrellas.

Hotel Vitale (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-278-3700, 888-890-8688; www.jdvhotels.com; 8 Mission St; r $279-319; ❄ 💻 📶) The shagadelic-chic Vitale is SF's sexiest splurge, with a soothing spa theme and sumptuous beds. Parking costs $51.

FISHERMAN'S WHARF & THE MARINA

HI San Francisco Fisherman's Wharf (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-771-7277; www.norcalhostels.org; Fort Mason, Bldg 240; dm/r $23-30/60-100; 🅿 ☒ 💻 📶) Superbig dorms and communal showers, but the in-park setting is unparalleled. There's no curfew.

Marina Motel (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-921-9406, 800-346-6118; www.marinamotel.com; 2576 Lombard St; r $75-129; 🅿 ☒ 📶) This vintage 1930s motor court is perfect for backpackers and families. The rooms are homey; some have kitchens. The quietest are in the back.

Hotel Del Sol (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-921-5520, 877-433-5765; www.thehoteldelsol.com; 3100 Webster St; r $169-199; 🅿 ☒ ❄ 📶 🏊 👶) A revamped 1950s motor lodge, the Del Sol is a riot of color. Kids love the heated outdoor pool. It also has family suites.

THE MISSION

San Francisco Elements (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-647-4100; www.elementssf.com; 2524 Mission St; dm/d $28/79; ☒ 💻 📶) The good-looking (if institutional) coed and segregated dorms all have in-room baths. The rooftop bar is fantastic. You'll find yourself at the center of Mission nightlife.

THE CASTRO

24 Henry (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-864-5686, 800-900-5686; www.24henry.com; 24 Henry St; r without/with bath $105-110/$149; ☒ 💻 📶) A converted Victorian on a quiet street, 24 Henry is decorated with cast-off antiques and utilitarian furniture. It is great for no-fuss gay travelers.

Parker Guest House (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-621-3222, 888-520-7275; www.parkerguesthouse.com; 520 Church at 17th St; r without bath from $119, with bath $150-199; ☒ 💻 📶) SF's best gay B&B has cushy rooms in adjoining Edwardian mansions. Parking ($15) is limited, so reserve ahead.

THE HAIGHT

Red Victorian (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-864-1978; www.redvic.com; 1665 Haight St; r $86-200; ☒ 📶) The year 1968 lives at the tripped-out Red Vic. Individually decorated rooms pay tribute to peace, ecology and friendship. Only four have baths; all include breakfast in the organic café. Wi-fi is available in the lobby.

Eating

Hope you're hungry – there are 10 times more restaurants per capita in San Francisco than in any other US city, and every red-blooded resident has an opinion on which one you absolutely, positively, cannot miss. The city even has a monument to gourmet glory: the Ferry Building (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-983-8000; www.ferrybuildingmarketplace.com); see the boxed text, opposite. On Chowhound (www.chowhound.com/boards/1), informed foodies explain exactly where to eat what.

UNION SQUARE & CIVIC CENTER

Saigon Sandwich Shop (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-474-5698; 560 Larkin St; sandwiches $3-3.50; 🕒 6:30am-5pm Mon-Sat, 7am-4:30pm Sun) Join the line for Vietnamese banh mi, baguettes piled with roast meat, pâté, meatballs and/or tofu with pickled carrots, jalapeno, onion, and cilantro. Order two now, and spare yourself a return trip.

Suppenküche (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-252-9289; www.suppenkuche.com; 525 Laguna; mains $8-18.50; 🕒 5-10pm daily, 10am-2:30pm Sun) Feast on Bratwurst sausages and spaetzle oozing with cheese, and toast your new friends at the unvarnished communal table with a 2L glass boot of draft beer – then cure Sunday hangovers with 'Emperor's Pancakes' studded with brandied raisins.

Shalimar (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-928-0333; www.shalimarsf.com 532 Jones St; mains under $10; 🕒 noon-3pm & 5-11:30pm) Follow your nose to tandoori chicken straight off the skewer and naan bread still bubbling from the oven. Vegetables are leaden, so don't hold back on the roasted meats.

Fish & Farm (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-474-3474; www.fishandfarmsf.com; 339 Taylor St; dinner mains $17-28; 🕒 5-10pm) Ecocomfort food showcases organic produce, sustainable seafood and humanely raised meats, all sourced within 100 miles – plus cocktails blended with seasonal, organic fruit.

Jardinière (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-861-5555; www.jardiniere.com; 300 Grove St; mains $23-40; 🕒 5-10:30pm Sun-Wed, 5-11:30pm Thu-Sat) Iron Chef champ Traci Des Jardins has a way with organic vegetables, free-range meats and sustainable seafood that's slightly naughty, topping succulent octopus with crispy pork belly, and drizzling Sonoma lavender honey over squash blossoms bursting with molten sheep's cheese. Don't miss Mondays, when $45 scores three decadent courses with wine pairings.

FINANCIAL DISTRICT, CHINATOWN & NORTH BEACH

City View (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-398-2838; 662 Commercial St; small plates $3-5; 🕒 11am-2:30pm Mon-Fri, 10am-2:30pm Sat & Sun) Dim sum aficionados used to cramped quarters and surly service are wowed by impeccable shrimp and leek dumplings, tender asparagus and crisp Peking duck, all served with a flourish in a spacious, sunny room.

Bocadillos (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-982-2622; www.bocasf.com; 710 Montgomery St; small plates lunch $4.50-7, dinner $5-15; 🕒 7am-10pm Mon-Wed, 7am-10:30pm Thu-Fri, 5-10:30pm Sat) Lunchtime fine dining that won't break the bank or pop buttons, with just-right Basque bites of lamb burger, snapper ceviche with Asian pears, Catalan sausages and wines by the glass.

Molinari (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-421-2337; 373 Columbus Ave; sandwiches $5-8; 🕒 9am-5pm Mon-Fri, 7:30am-5:30pm Sat) Grab an Italian roll and get it stuffed with translucent sheets of Parma prosciutto, milky buffalo mozzarella, marinated artichokes and legendary house-cured salami.

House of Nanking (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-421-1429; 919 Kearny St; mains $7-14; 🕒 11am-10pm Mon-Fri, from noon Sat, noon-9pm Sun) Meekly suggest seafood, nothing deep-fried, perhaps some poultry – and your server nods, snatches the menu, and returns within minutes with meltaway scallops, minced squab lettuce cups and a tea ball that blossoms in water. Come prepared to wait, and bearing cash.

FIVE TASTY REASONS TO MISS THAT FERRY

When it comes to fine dining, you'll be missing the boat unless you stop and taste the treats on offer at the Ferry Building:

- Today's catch at Hog Island Oyster Company (☎ 415-391-7117; www.hogislandoysters.com; half-dozen $15-17; 🕓 11:30am-8pm Mon-Fri, 11am-6pm Sat & Sun, happy hour 5-7pm Mon & Thu), including $1 oysters at happy hour.
- Free-range beef burgers and sweet-potato fries at Taylor's Automatic Refresher (☎ 415-318-3423; www.taylorsrefresher.com; burgers $7-10; 🕓 10:30am-10pm)
- Chef Traci des Jardins' nuevo Mexican street eats at Mijita (☎ 399-0814; www.mijitasf.com; menu items under $10; 🕓 10am-7pm Mon-Thu, 10am-8pm Fri, 9am-8pm Sat, 10am-4pm Sun).
- Cal-Vietnamese Dungeness crab over cellophane noodles at Charles Phan's family-run Slanted Door (☎ 415-861-8032; http://slanteddoor.com; mains $11-26; 🕓 11am-10pm).
- The Ferry Building weekend farmers' market (☎ 415-291-3276; www.cuesa.org; 🕓 10am-2pm Tue, 8am-2pm Sat year-round, also 4-8pm Thu & 10am-2pm Sun in summer).

Cinecittà (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-291-8830; 663 Union St; pizzas $9-14; 🕓 noon-10pm Sun-Thu, noon-11pm Fri & Sat) That aroma you followed into this 18-seat eatery is thin-crust Roman pizza, probably the crowd-pleasing Capricciosa: artichoke hearts, olives, fresh mozzarella, prosciutto and egg. Save room for housemade tiramisu – hands down the best in North Beach.

Ideale (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-391-4129; www.idealerestaurant.com; 1315 Grant Ave; mains $13-26; 🕓 5:30-10:30pm Tue-Thu, 5:30-11pm Fri & Sat, 5-10pm Sun) Expat Italian regulars are stunned that a restaurant this authentic borders the Pacific, with proper bucatini ammatriciana (Roman tube pasta with tomato-pancetta-pecorino sauce), seafood risotto made with superior Canaroli rice, a well-priced selection of Italian wines, and wisecracking Tuscan waitstaff.

FISHERMAN'S WHARF

Crown & Crumpet (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-771-4252 www.crownandcrumpet.com; 207 Ghirardelli Square; tea & cake $8-12, 5-course tea service $32; 🕓 10am-6pm Mon-Thu, 9am-10pm Fri, 9am-9pm Sat, 9am-6pm Sun) Designer style and rosy cheer usher teatime into the 21st century: girlfriends rehash hot dates over scones with strawberries and Champagne, and dads and daughters clink porcelain teacups with crooked pinkies and 38 kinds of tea. Reservations are recommended on weekends.

Gary Danko (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-749-2060; www.garydanko.com; 800 North Point St; 2/3/4/5 courses prix-fixe $44/66/83/98; 🕓 5:30-10pm) Smoked-glass windows prevent passersby from tripping over their tongues at the sight of roasted lobster with trumpet mushrooms, blushing duck breast with rhubarb compote, trios of crème brûlée and the lavish cheese cart. Ladies receive tiny cakes as parting gifts.

THE MARINA

La Boulange (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-440-4450; www.baybread.com; 1909 Union St; lunch under $10; 🕓 7am-6pm) The best buy amid Union boutiques is here: 10 bucks gets you half a tartine (open-faced sandwich) with soup or salad, a fresh-baked macaroon, and all the cornichons and Nutella you can grab from the condiment bar.

Greens (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-771-6222; www.greensrestaurant.com; Fort Mason Center, bldg A; mains $7-20; 🕓 noon-2:30pm Tue-Sat, 5:30-9pm Mon-Sat, 10:30am-2pm Sun; V) Career carnivores won't realize there's no meat in roasted eggplant panini or hearty black bean chili with crème fraiche and pickled jalapeños. On weekends, enjoy take-out at redwood-stump café tables or on sunny docks outside.

THE MISSION

La Taquería (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-285-7117; 2889 Mission St at 25th; burritos $5-6.50; 🕓 11am-9pm Mon-Sat, 11am-8pm Sun) No debatable tofu, saffron rice, spinach tortilla or mango salsa here: just classic tomatillo or mesquite salsa, marinated, grilled meats and flavorful beans inside a flour tortilla – optional housemade spicy pickles and sour cream are highly recommended.

Mission Beach Café (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-861-0198; www.missionbeachcafesf.com; 198 Guerrero St; brunch $9-14; 🕓 7am-10pm Tue-Thu, 7am-11pm Fri, 9am-11pm Sat, 9am-10pm Sun) Brunch gets upgraded to first class with soufflé pancakes, organic huevos rancheros with sustainably raised pulled pork, and farm eggs with caramelized onions and English muffins made by the in-house pastry chef.

Delfina (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-552-4055; www.delfinasf.com; 3621 18th St; mains $18-26; 🕐 5:30-10pm Mon-Thu, 5:30-11pm Fri & Sat, 5-10pm Sun) Simple, sensational, seasonal California fare: Sonoma duck with Barolo-roasted cherries, wild nettle tagliatelle pasta, profiteroles with coffee gelato and candied almonds. Reserve ahead, or settle for Delfina Pizza next door.

THE CASTRO

Cafe Flore (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-621-8579; http://cafeflore.com; 2298 Market St; mains $8-11; 🕐 7am-2am; 📶) Mind your pasta-slurping and racy IM-ing with free wi-fi: this all-glass corner venue maximizes opportunities to see and be seen.

Home (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-503-0333; www.home-sf.com; 2100 Market St; mains $12-18; 🕐 11am-midnight Mon-Fri, 10am-midnight Sat & Sun) There's no place like it, especially if you enjoy comfort food – mac 'n' cheese, roast chicken, pot roast – served fireside, with a gaggle of gym-fresh men and $4 Homegirls (aka Cosmo plus Champagne) during the 4pm to 7pm happy hour.

Destino (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-552-4451; www.destinosf.com; 1815 Market St; small plates $10-13.30, 3-course prix-fixe $32; 🕐 5-10pm Mon-Thu, 5-11pm Fri & Sat, 11am-2pm & 5-10pm Sun) Your taste buds will think tectonic plates have shifted at this Peru-meets-California bistro, starring ahi ceviche with organic mango and achiote oil, duck breast with bacon-plantain cakes and passion-fruit Pisco sour cocktails.

THE HAIGHT

Rosamunde Sausage Grill (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-437-6851; 545 Haight St; sausages $4-5.50; 🕐 11:30am-10pm) Impress a dinner date for $10: load up classic Brats or fig-duck links with complimentary roasted peppers, grilled onions, wholegrain mustard and mango chutney, washed down with one of 50-plus microbrews at Toronado (opposite).

Cole Valley Cafe (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-668-5282; www.colevalleycafe.com; 701 Cole St; sandwiches $5.75; 🕐 7am-8pm; 📶) Powerful coffee, free wi-fi and hot gourmet sandwiches that are a bargain at any price, let alone $6 for lip-smacking thyme-marinated chicken with lemony avocado spread.

Magnolia Brewpub (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-864-7468; www.magnoliapub.com; 1398 Haight St; mains $8-19; 🕐 noon-midnight Mon-Thu, noon-1am Fri, 10am-1am Sat, 10am-midnight Sun) Organic pub grub and home-brew samplers keep conversation flowing at communal tables, while grass-fed Prather Ranch burgers satisfy stoner appetites in the side booths – it's like the Summer of Love is back, only with better food.

JAPANTOWN & PACIFIC HEIGHTS

our pick Tataki (Map pp972-3 ☎ 415-931-1182; www.tatakisushibar.com; 2815 California St; small plates $4-13; 🕐 11:30am-2pm & 5:30-10:30pm Mon-Thu, 11:30am-2pm & 5:30-11:30pm Fri, 5-11:30pm Sat, 5-9:30pm Sun) Rescue dinner dates and the oceans with sensational, sustainable sushi: silky arctic char drizzled with yuzu-citrus and capers replaces at-risk wild salmon, and the Golden State Roll is a local hero with spicy dive-caught scallop, Pacific tuna, organic apple slivers and edible gold.

THE RICHMOND

Taiwan (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-387-1789; 445 Clement St; meals $10; 🕐 11am-10pm Sun-Thu, 11am-midnight Fri, 10am-midnight Sat) Feast for days on heaping, housemade sesame hot-sauce noodles, dumplings made fresh to order, smoky dry braised green beans and feisty black bean chicken.

Namu (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-386-8332; www.namusf.com; 439 Balboa St; small plates $9-15; 🕐 5-10:30pm Mon-Fri, 10am-3pm & 5:30-10:30pm Sat & Sun) SF's unfair culinary advantages – top-notch organic ingredients, Silicon Valley inventiveness and Pacific Rim flair – are showcased in Korean-inspired small plates of buttery kampachi with chili oil and fleur de sel, bacon-wrapped enoki mushrooms, and Niman Ranch Kobe beef with organic vegetables in a sizzling stone pot.

Aziza (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-752-2222; www.azizasf.com; 5800 Geary Blvd; mains $18-26; 🕐 5:30-10:30pm Wed-Mon) Mourad Lahlou's inspiration is Moroccan and his produce organic Californian, but his flavors are out of this world: quail dazzles with huckleberries and cumin-orange glaze, and the prawn tagine (stew) with Meyer lemons is pizzazz in a pot.

Drinking

Crawl the Mission, Haight, North Beach, and Polk St (north of Geary St) for bars.

Hôtel Biron (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-703-0403; 45 Rose St) Our favorite for an intimate weeknight tête-à-tête and bottle of wine. (Weekends are too crowded.)

Koko Cocktails (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-885-4788; 1060 Geary St) This retro-cool cocktail lounge spins reggae, soul and sometimes hip-hop – a snappy place to start a pub crawl.

Toronado (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-863-2276; www.toronado.com; 547 Haight St) Beer mavens dig the 50-plus microbrews, with hundreds more in bottles. Stumble next door to Rosamunde (opposite) for sausages.

Tosca Cafe (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-391-1244; 242 Columbus Ave) With red-vinyl booths and a jukebox of opera and Sinatra, Tosca is quintessential old-guard North Beach.

Zeitgeist (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-255-7505; 199 Valencia St) On warm evenings, bikers and hipsters head for Zeitgeist's huge outdoor beer garden – an underground SF institution.

Entertainment

Pick up the SF Weekly for listings; look online at Nitevibe (www.nitevibe.com), SF Station (www.sfstation.com) and SF Gate (www.sfgate.com); and – most importantly – strike up conversations with locals to gather tips. TIX Bay Area (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-433-7827; www.theatrebayarea.org; 🕓 Tue-Sun), at Union Sq, has half-price theater tickets.

NIGHTCLUBS & LIVE MUSIC

Annie's Social Club (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-974-1585; www.anniessocialclub.com; 917 Folsom St) Annie's stages kick-ass new music, burlesque, punk-rock-and-schlock karaoke, and open-mic comedy; check the website.

Boom Boom Room (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-673-8000; www.boomboomblues.com; 1601 Fillmore St; 🕓 Tue-Sun) John Lee Hooker owns this vintage '30s blues and jazz club, which hops six nights a week. Advance tickets are necessary for major acts, but not usually.

Café du Nord (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-861-5016; www.cafedunord.com; 2170 Market St) The former speakeasy in the basement of the Swedish–American Hall rocks revelers with a cool, ever-changing lineup; check their calendar.

El Rio (off Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-282-3325; www.elriosf.com; 3158 Mission St at Cesar Chavez) 'Salsa Sundays' are legendary: arrive at 3pm for lessons; dress sexy. Other nights: awesome specials, eclectic music, pan-sexual crowd.

Fillmore (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-346-6000; www.thefillmore.com; 1805 Geary Blvd) Hendrix, Zeppelin, the Who – they all played the Fillmore. Its 1250 capacity means you're close to the stage. Dig the priceless collection in the upstairs poster-art gallery.

Yoshi's (☎ 415-655-5600; www.yoshis.com; 1300 Fillmore St; 🕓 8pm & (sometimes) 10pm shows nightly) San Francisco's definitive jazz club draws the world's top talent, and adjoins a pretty-good sushi restaurant.

DANCE CLUBS

Cat Club (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-703-8965; www.catclubsf.com; 1190 Folsom St) Thursday's '1984' lures '80s pop lovers; other nights vary, but are usually way cool. Check the website.

DNA Lounge (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-626-1409; www.dnalounge.com; 375 11th St) One of SF's last mega clubs hosts live bands and big-name DJs. The second and fourth Saturdays are Bootie, the kick-ass original mashup party (now franchised worldwide); Monday's 18-and-over night is Goth. Check the website.

Milk (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-387-6455, www.milksf.com; 1840 Haight St) Get down to hip-hop at this tufted-white-vinyl Upper Haight club. There is no cover before 9pm.

our pick Qoöl at 111 Minna (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-974-1719; www.qoolsf.com; 111 Minna St; 🕓 5-10pm Wed) SF's coolest weekly dance party is a Wednesday-evening techno happy hour in an art gallery. Afterward, follow the crowd to Satellite, at Anu (43 6th St), for techno-dance till 2am.

CLASSICAL MUSIC & OPERA

Yerba Buena Center for the Arts (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-978-2787; www.ybca.org; 701 Mission St) The center hosts top-notch modern music, dance and theater.

Davies Symphony Hall (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-864-6000; www.sfsymphony.org; 201 Van Ness Ave) Home of the world-renown SF Symphony. Season runs September to July.

The glorious 1932 War Memorial Opera House (Map pp972-3; 301 Van Ness Ave) is home to the San Francisco Opera (☎ 415-864-3330; www.sfopera.com; 🕓 season Jun-Dec) and the San Francisco Ballet (☎ 415-861-5600; www.sfballet.org; 🕓 season Jan-May).

THEATER

SF is home to the professional group and actor-training program American Conservatory Theater (ACT; ☎ 415-749-2228; www.act-sf.org), which performs at the Geary Theater (Map pp972-3; 415 Geary St). SHN (☎ 415-512-7770; www.shnsf.com) hosts touring Broadway shows.

GAY/LES/BI/TRANS SAN FRANCISCO

San Francisco is America's pinkest city. New York Marys may label SF the retirement home of the young – the sidewalks roll up early – but for sexual outlaws and underground weirdness, SF kicks New York's ass. The intersection of 18th and Castro Streets is the heart of the gay scene, with bars a go-go. Dancing queens and slutty boys head South of Market (SoMa) for thump-thump clubs and sex venues. Cruise Castro by day, SoMa by night. On sunny days, Speedo-clad gay boys and grrrls colonize the hill at 20th and Church Streets, in Mission Dolores Park. (Be prepared for pot smoke: SF is stoner central.) The sexy bitches also connect on Valencia St, south of 16th St, in happening cafés, thrift stores and bookstores. Check Get Your Girl On (http://gogetyourgirlon.com) for concerts and parties; or plug into the A-gay scene on Betty's List (www.bettyslist.com). The San Francisco Bay Times (www.sfbaytimes.com) has good resources for transsexuals; the Bay Area Reporter (aka BAR; www.ebar.com) has news and listings.

Some gay faves:

Aunt Charlie's (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-441-2922; www.auntcharlieslounge.com; 133 Turk St; 🕒 9am-2am) Total dive. The city's best classic drag happens Fridays and Saturdays at 10pm. Thursday nights, art-school boys pack in for bathhouse disco at Tubesteak ($5).

Cafe Flore (Map pp972-3; p984) Coffee, wi-fi and hot dishes.

Eagle Tavern (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-626-0880; www.sfeagle.com; 398 12th St; 🕒 noon-2am) The place on Sunday afternoons; wear leather and blend right in. All-you-can-drink beer from 3pm to 6pm ($10).

Gold's Gym (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-626-4488; www.goldsgym.com; 2301 Market St; ☎ 415-552-4653; 1001 Brannan St; admission $15) Circuit queens and Castro boys go to Market St; testosterone-y daddies go to Brannan.

Honey Soundsystem (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-252-5018; www.honeysoundsystem.com; at Paradise Loft, 1501 Folsom St; 🕒 9pm-2am Sun) Kick-ass dance party – from obscure disco b-sides to German techno.

Lexington Club (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-863-2052; 3464 19th St; 🕒 3pm-2am) SF's bitchinest lesbian bar.

Powerhouse (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-552-8689; www.powerhouse-sf.com; 1347 Folsom St) Thursdays to Sundays are best at this sometimes-hot, sometimes-not, slutty-men's cruise bar. Weird smokers' patio.

Sisters of Perpetual Indulgence (☎ 415-820-9697; www.thesisters.org) For guerrilla antics, follow the 'leading-edge order of queer nuns.' Our fave event: Easter's 'Hunky Jesus Contest' in Dolores Park – legendary.

Club Fugazi (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-421-4222; www.beachblanketbabylon.com; 678 Green St; seats $25-78) Home of ribald, hilarious Beach Blanket Babylon – an only-in-SF must-see.

For cool new plays and experimental shows, check the following (also see p990):

Climate Theater (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-263-0830; www.climatetheater.com; 285 9th St)

Magic Theater (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-441-8822; www.magictheatre.org; Fort Mason, Bldg D)

New Conservatory Theater (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-861-8972; www.nctcsf.org; 25 Van Ness Ave)

Theater Rhinoceros (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-861-5079; www.therhino.org; 2926 16th St) our pick Castro Theatre (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-621-6120; www.thecastrotheatre.com; 429 Castro St) The city's grandest movie place screens vintage, foreign, documentary and new films.

CINEMA

Sundance Kabuki Cinema (☎ 415-929-4650; www.sundancecinemas.com/kabuki.html; 1881 Post St; admission adult/child & senior $9/6.25 plus $1-3 amenities fee; 🕒 call/website) The silver screen gone green, from recycled-fiber reserved seating to local Hangar vodka cocktails served in the Auditorium 1 Balcony Bar.

Also recommended for indie celluloid:

Red Vic Movie House (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-668-3994; www.redvicmoviehouse.com; 1727 Haight St)

Roxie Cinema (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-863-1087; www.roxie.com; 3117 16th St)

SPORTS

San Francisco 49ers (☎ 415-656-4900; www.sf49ers.com) For garlic-fries, beer and NFL football, head to Candlestick Park (Map p969).

San Francisco Giants (☎ 415-478-2277; http://sanfrancisco.giants.mlb.com) The major-league Giants plays AT&T Park (Map pp972–3).

Shopping

So much for traveling light: SF souvenirs start out packable in Chinatown with silk slippers; however, on Grant Ave between Bush and Filbert Sts, you'll discover custom zoot suits, local designer dresses and rare vinyl. Anyone tempted by locally designed earrings, handmade felt rugs and mod candelabras should beware Union St from Steiner to Van Ness Sts, as well as Hayes St between Franklin and Laguna Sts. Foot fetishists, CD hoarders and vintage clotheshounds can't resist the siren call of the Upper Haight, while used books and thrift-store scores await along Valencia and Mission Sts between 16th and 24th Sts. Mall rats may never escape the 400 stores of Westfield San Francisco Shopping Center (Map pp972-3 ☎ 415-512-6776; http://westfield.com/sanfrancisco; 865 Market St; ⌚ most shops 9:30am-9pm Mon-Sat, 10am-7pm Sun), and with designer finds dotting Fillmore between Bush and Clay, you might need another suitcase…

Getting There & Away

AIR

San Francisco International Airport (SFO; Map p969; ☎ 650-821-8211, 800-435-9736; www.flysfo.com) is 14 miles south of downtown off Hwy 101. SFO's AirTrain connects terminals with parking garages, rental-car centers and Bay Area Rapid Transit (BART; right).

BUS

At intercity transit hub Transbay Terminal (Map pp972-3; 425 Mission St), catch AC Transit (☎ 511; www.actransit.org) buses to the East Bay, Golden Gate Transit (☎ 415-455-2000; http://goldengatetransit.org) buses north to Marin and Sonoma Counties, and SamTrans (☎ 800-660-4287; www.samtrans.com) buses south to Palo Alto and the Pacific coast.

Greyhound (☎ 415-495-1569, 800-231-2222; www.greyhound.com) buses leave daily for Los Angeles ($39 and up, from eight hours), Truckee near Lake Tahoe ($66 round-trip, 5½ hours), and other destinations.

TRAIN

Amtrak (☎ 800-872-7245; www.amtrakcalifornia.com) offers low-emissions, leisurely travel to and from San Francisco. The Coast Starlight's spectacular 35-hour run from Los Angeles to Seattle stops across the Bay in Oakland, and the California Zephyr takes its sweet time (51 hours) traveling from Chicago through the ruggedly handsome Rockies en route to Emeryville (near Oakland). Both have sleeping cars and dining/lounge cars with panoramic windows. Amtrak runs free shuttle buses to San Francisco's Ferry Building and CalTrain station, with connecting buses to Martinez and onward to Napa, Santa Rosa and Healdsburg.

CalTrain (☎ 800-660-4287; www.caltrain.com; cnr 4th & King Sts) connects San Francisco with towns along the Peninsula, including Millbrae (connecting to BART and SFO, 30 minutes).

Getting Around

For Bay Area transit options with departure and arrival times, check www.511.org or call ☎ 511.

TO/FROM THE SAN FRANCISCO AIRPORT

BART (Bay Area Rapid Transit; ☎ 415-989-2278; www.bart.gov; one way $5.35) offers a cheap, fast, direct ride to downtown San Francisco.

SamTrans (☎ 800-660-4287; www.samtrans.com; one way $4.50) express bus KX gets you to Transbay Terminal in about 30 minutes.

SuperShuttle (☎ 415-558-8500, 800-258-3826; www.supershuttle.com; one way $17) door-to-door vans depart from baggage-claim areas, taking 45 minutes to most locations within San Francisco.

Taxis to downtown San Francisco cost $35 to $50, plus tip.

TO/FROM THE OAKLAND INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT

SuperShuttle (above) offers shared van rides to downtown SF for an average fare of $25. Airport Express (☎ 800-327-2024; www.airportexpressinc.com) runs a scheduled shuttle every two hours (from 6am to midnight) between Oakland Airport and Sonoma ($32) and Marin ($24) counties.

Taxi fares from Oakland Airport average $25 to Oakland and $50 to $60 to SF, plus tip. To avoid higher fares during rush hours, ask for a flat rate to/from the airport.

BART is the cheapest way to get to San Francisco from the Oakland Airport. AirBART shuttle ($3) runs every 10 minutes to the Coliseum station to catch BART to downtown SF ($3.55 to Powell St, 25 minutes).

BOAT

Blue & Gold Ferries (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-705-8200; www.blueandgoldfleet.com) runs the Alameda–Oakland ferry from Pier 41 and the Ferry Building. Golden Gate Ferry (☎ 415-455-2000; www.goldengate.org) runs from the Ferry Building to Sausalito and Larkspur in Marin County.

CAR

If you can, avoid driving in San Francisco: street parking is harder to find than true love, and meter readers are ruthless. Convenient downtown parking lots are at the Embarcadero Center, at 5th and Mission Sts, under Union Sq, and at Sutter and Stockton Sts.

National car-rental agencies have 24-hour offices at the airport and downtown; see p1164 for toll-free contact information. City Rent-a-Car (Map pp972-3; ☎ 415-359-1331; www.cityrentacar.com; 1433 Bush St) is a competitively priced independent agency.

PUBLIC TRANSPORTATION

San Francisco MUNI (Municipal Transit Agency; ☎ 415-701-2311 & 311 inside San Francisco; www.sfmuni.com) operates bus and streetcar lines and three cable-car lines; two cable-car lines leave from Powell and Market Sts, and one leaves from California and Markets Sts. A detailed MUNI Street & Transit Map ($3) is available at newsstands and the Powell St MUNI kiosk. Standard fare for buses or streetcars is $1.50; cable-car fare is $5. A MUNI Passport (one-/three-/seven-days $11/18/24) allows unlimited travel on all MUNI transport, including cable cars; it's sold at San Francisco's Visitor Information Center (p970) and at the TIX Bay Area kiosk at Union Sq. A seven-day City Pass ($59) includes transit and admission to six attractions.

BART (p987) links San Francisco with the East Bay and runs beneath Market St, down Mission St and south to SFO and Millbrae, where it connects with CalTrain.

TAXI

Fares run about $2.25 per mile; meters start at $3.50. Major cab companies include the following:

DeSoto Cab (☎ 415-970-1300)
Green Cab (☎ 415-626-4733; www.sfgreencab.com) Fuel-efficient hybrids; worker-owned collective.
Veteran's Taxicab (☎ 415-648-1313)
Yellow Cab (☎ 415-626-2345)

MARIN COUNTY

Majestic redwoods cling to coastal hills just across the Golden Gate Bridge in woodsy, wealthy, laid-back Marin (www.visitmarin.org). Sausalito, the southernmost town, is a cute, touristy bayside destination for bike trips over the bridge (take the ferry back). At the harbor, the San Francisco Bay-Delta Model (☎ 415-332-3871; www.spn.usace.army.mil/bmvc; 2100 Bridgeway Blvd; admission free; 🕐 summer 9am-4pm Tue-Fri, 10am-5pm Sat & Sun, closed Sun-Mon winter) is a way-cool 1.5-acre hydraulic re-creation of the entire bay and delta.

Marin Headlands

The windswept, rugged Headlands are laced with hiking trails, providing stunning views of SF and the Golden Gate. To reach the visitor center (☎ 415-331-1540; 🕐 9:30am-4:30pm), take the Alexander Ave exit from the Golden Gate Bridge, turn left under the freeway, and then turn right on Conzelman Rd and follow signs. Attractions include the Point Bonita Lighthouse (🕐 12:30-3:30pm Sat-Mon; 👪), climbable Cold War–era bunkers and Rodeo Beach (Map p969) – and there's free walk-in camping (reserve with the visitors center). At Fort Baker, Bay Area Discovery Museum (☎ 415-339-3900; www.baykidsmuseum.org; 557 McReynolds Rd, Sausalito; adult/child 1-17yr $8.50/7.50; 🕐 9am-4pm Tue-Fri, 10am-5pm Sat & Sun; 👪) is a cool destination for kids.

Near the visitor center, the HI Marin Headlands Hostel (Map p969; ☎ 415-331-2777, 800-909-4776; dm from $20, r from $60; Ⓟ ⊠ 💻) occupies two historic 1907 buildings on a forested hill. Private rooms in the former officer's house are sweet.

Mt Tamalpais State Park

Majestic 2571ft 'Mt Tam' is fantastic for mountain biking and hiking. Mt Tamalpais State Park (Map p969; ☎ 415-388-2070; www.mttam.net; per car $8) encompasses 6300 acres of parklands, plus over 200 miles of trails; get a map and don't miss East Peak. Panoramic Hwy climbs from Hwy 1 through the park to Stinson Beach, a mellow seaside town with a great beach. Park headquarters are at Pantoll Station (801 Panoramic Hwy; campsites $25), the nexus of many trails and location of a wooded first-come, first-served campground. Or make reservations and hike in food, linen and towels to the rustic, electricity-free West Point Inn (☎ 415-646-0702; www.westpointinn.com; 1000 Panoramic Hwy, Mill Valley; r per adult/child $50/25; reservations essential).

Near park headquarters, Mountain Home Inn (☎ 415-381-9000; www.mtnhomeinn.com; 810 Panoramic Hwy; dinner/brunch $38/10-20; 🕐 Wed-Sun ⊠ 💻 📶) sits atop a wooded ridge. Its romantic, woodsy rooms ($195 to $345) have gorgeous views; the restaurant serves good brunches and prix-fixe dinners.

IF YOU HAVE A FEW MORE DAYS

Right across the bay, gritty-urban Oakland's got attitude, the A's and deep African American roots that shine through in world-celebrated music, lit and art. It kicks SF's fog with daily sunshine, and has a lovely historic downtown, saltwater lake fun for joggers and kids, and some happening clubs and restaurants.

Oakland Museum of California (☎ 510-238-2200; www.museumca.org; cnr 10th & Oak Sts; adult/child $8/5; 🕑 10am-5pm Wed-Sat, noon-5pm Sun) is a must-see. Relevant, fascinating exhibits have included knockout Yosemite photography and interactive Great Quake rooms. (It may close temporarily in 2012 for renovations.)

Heinhold's First & Last Chance Saloon (☎ 510-839-6761; 48 Webster), in Jack London Sq, is a lopsided quake survivor and National Literary Landmark; open daily for inspirational drinking. Yes, your beer is sliding off the counter.

Yoshi's (☎ 510-238-9200; www.yoshis.com; 510 Embarcadero West; mains $15-20; 🕑 5:30-10pm Mon-Thu, to 10:30pm Fri & Sat, 5-9pm Sun) is one of the country's major jazz clubs; pretty-good sushi too.

Muir Woods National Monument

Wander among an ancient stand of the world's tallest trees in 550-acre Muir Woods (☎ 415-388-2595; www.nps.gov/muwo; adults/under 16 $5/free), 12 miles north of the Golden Gate. The easy 1-mile Main Trail Loop leads past thousand-year-old redwoods at Cathedral Grove and returns via Bohemian Grove. Come midweek to avoid crowds; otherwise arrive early morning or late afternoon. Take Hwy 101 to the Hwy 1 exit, and follow the signs. No camping or picnicking is permitted.

The Muir Woods shuttle (Bus No 66; ☎ 415-923-2000; www.goldengatetransit.org; adult/senior & child 6-18yr $3/1) operates weekends and holidays, May to September, and runs about every 30 minutes from Marin City and Mill Valley, with limited service to the Sausalito ferry terminal.

Point Reyes National Seashore

The windswept peninsula of Point Reyes National Seashore (Map p969) juts 10 miles out to sea on an entirely different tectonic plate, and covers 110 sq miles of beaches, lagoons and forested hills.

our pick Point Reyes Lighthouse (🕑 Thu-Mon), crowns the peninsula's westernmost point and is ideal for whale-watching. Our favorite hike: the bluff-top trail on the peninsula's north tip, Tomales Point, through herds of Tule elk. Take Pierce Point Rd. The Bear Valley Visitors Center (☎ 415-464-5100; www.nps.gov/pore) is just past Olema and has trail maps and cool displays. Point Reyes has four hike-in campsites (☎ reservations 415-663-8054; campsites $15), two near the beach.

The West Marin Chamber of Commerce (☎ 415-663-9232; www.pointreyes.org) can point out loads of cozy inns and cottages. The upmarket Motel Inverness (Map p969); ☎ 415-669-1081; www.motelinverness.com; 12718 Sir Francis Drake Blvd; r $100-200; 🚭 📶) has comfy rooms and a common area with roaring fireplace. Budgeteers bunk at the only in-park lodging, HI Point Reyes Hostel (Map p969; ☎ 415-663-8811; dm from $22), off Limantour Rd, 8 miles from the visitors center. Wintertime bird-watching is incredible – especially Tomales Bay from a kayak. Contact Blue Waters Kayaking (☎ 415-669-2600; www.bwkayak.com; guided trips $68-98, rentals $40-120), which has two locations: one in Inverness, and one in Marshall.

our pick Drake's Bay Oyster Farm (☎ 415-669-1149; 1 dozen oysters $10-14; 🕑 8am-4:30pm), off Sir Francis Drake Blvd in the park, is the place for oyster-lovers. Make reservations to picnic. Nearby, cute little Point Reyes Station has restaurants and supplies.

BERKELEY

Not much has changed since the 1960s heyday of anti-Vietnam War protests – except the bumper stickers: 'No Blood For Oil' has supplanted 'Make Love Not War.' Birkenstocks and pony tails remain perennially in fashion. You can't walk around nude anymore, but 'Berserkeley' remains the Bay Area's radical hub, crawling with university students, scoffing skateboarders and aging hippies. Stroll its wooded university grounds and surrounding streets to soak up the vibe.

Sights & Activities

The University of California at Berkeley (Map p969) – 'Cal' – is one of the country's top universities and home to 33,000 diverse, politically conscious students. The university's Visitor Services center (☎ 510-642-5215; http://visitors.berkeley.edu; 101 University Hall, 2200 University Ave at Oxford St; 🕑 8:30am-4:30pm Mon-Fri, tours 10am Mon-Sat, 1pm Sun) has info and leads free campus tours. Cal's landmark is the 1914 Sather Tower (also called the 'Campanile'), with elevator rides ($2) to the top. The Bancroft Library displays the small gold nugget that started the California gold rush in 1848.

Other campus highlights include the Berkeley Art Museum (☎ 510-642-0808; www.bampfa.berkeley.edu; 2626 Bancroft Way; adult/child under 13yr/senior & child 13-17yr $8/free/5; 🕑 11am-5pm Wed-Sun), whose 11 galleries showcase a wide range of works, from ancient Chinese to cutting-edge contemporary; and the world-renowned Pacific Film Archive (☎ 510-642-1124), which screens little-known independent and avant-garde films.

Leading to the campus's south gate, Telegraph Avenue is as far-out and gritty as San Francisco's Haight St, and packed with cafés, cheap-eats, record stores and bookstores – including beatnik-era Moe's (☎ 510-849-2087; www.moesbooks.com; 2476 Telegraph Ave; 🕑 10am-10pm).

Kick back in Tilden Regional Park (☎ 510-562-7275; www.ebparks.org; 👪), in the Berkeley hills, which has hiking, picnicking, swimming at Lake Anza, and fun stuff for kids, including a merry-go-round and steam train.

Sleeping

Basic and midrange motels are clustered west of campus along University Ave.

Bancroft Hotel (☎ 510-549-1000, 800-549-1002; www.bancrofthotel.com; 2680 Bancroft Way; r from $149; 🚭 📶) Simple and homey are the 22 rooms at this 1928 historic-landmark Craftsman hotel that's threadbare like grandma's house, sans doilies. There's no elevator. Parking costs $15.

Hotel Durant (☎ 510-845-8981, 800-238-7268; www.hoteldurant.com; 2600 Durant Ave; r $135-180; 🚭 💻 📶) The 140-room Durant is Berkeley's spiffiest – and green-certified – but some rooms are tiny (request a big one); the beds are sumptuous. Parking is $16.

Eating & Drinking

our pick Chez Panisse (☎ 510-548-5049; www.chezpanisse.com; 1517 Shattuck Ave; set-price menu $65-95, café mains $18-25; 🕑 café lunch & dinner Mon-Sat; restaurant dinner Mon-Sat) Genuflect at the temple of Alice Waters: the birthplace of California cuisine remains at the pinnacle of Bay Area dining. Book one month ahead for its legendary prix-fixe meals (no substitutions); or book upstairs at the less-expensive, a-la-carte café.

Also in the Gourmet Ghetto, along Shattuck Ave north of University Ave, are the fabulous Cheese Board Pizza (☎ 510-549-3055; http://cheeseboardcollective.coop; 1512 Shattuck Ave; about $20/pie or $2.50/slice; 🕑 11:30am-3pm & 4:30-8pm Tue-Sat) for knockout artisanal pizzas; and the adjacent Cheese Board Collective (☎ 510-549-3183; 1504 Shattuck Ave; 🕑 10am-6pm Tue-Fri, to 5pm Sat) for gooey cheeses.

Vik's Chaat Corner (☎ 510-644-4412; 2390 4th St; items $3.50-6; 🕑 11am-6pm Tue-Fri, to 8pm Sat & Sun) This is our favorite Berkeley cheap-eats, with all-fresh-made Indian classics (no tikka masala here) ordered at the counter.

Caffe Strada (☎ 510-843-5282; 2300 College Ave; 🕑 7am-midnight) University students get wired on caffeine on the giant outdoor patio and study, ardently talk philosophy or make eyes at each other. Good pastries.

For the best social introduction to Berkeley's bar scene, head to the back patio at Jupiter (☎ 510-843-8277; 2181 Shattuck Ave).

Entertainment

Berkeley Repertory Theatre (☎ 510-845-4700; www.berkeleyrep.org; 2025 Addison St) This is the Bay Area's top professional theater company.

Shotgun Players (☎ 510-841-6500; www.shotgunplayers.org; 1901 Ashby Ave) America's first solar-powered theater, it showcases classic works and innovative new plays.

Getting There & Around

AC Transit (☎ 510-817-1717; www.actransit.org) runs local buses in Berkeley, as well as between Berkeley and Oakland ($2) and Berkeley and San Francisco ($4). BART (www.bart.gov) trains run from SF to Downtown Berkeley ($3.40), which is four blocks from the main campus gate.

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA

The Golden State goes wild in Northern California, with giant redwoods emerging from coastal mists, wallows formed in volcanic mud amid Wine Country vineyards, and the majestic Sierra Nevadas framing Yosemite and Lake Tahoe. Northern California's backwoods are surprisingly forward-thinking, with organic diners, ecoresorts, and the nation's earliest national and state parks. Pack your trash and be mindful of private property since local goatherds and medical marijuana growers can get touchy about trespassers. Come for the scenery, but stay for superb wine and cheese, the obligatory hot tub, and conversations that begin with 'Hey dude!' and end hours later.

WINE COUNTRY

The West has gone wild for spas, gourmet grub and the almighty grape for 150 years in the patchwork of vineyards stretching from sunny Napa to coastal Sonoma. Napa has art-filled tasting rooms by big-name architects with prices to match; in down-to-earth Sonoma, you'll drink in sheds and probably meet the vintner's dog.

Napa Valley

Some 230 wineries crowd 30-mile-long Napa Valley along three routes:

Hwy 121 Off Carneros Hwy (Hwy 121) towards Sonoma, landmark wineries specialize in cool-climate sparkling wines.

Hwy 29 Napa's blockbuster wines are poured in splashy tasting rooms along this highway.

Silverado Trail The trail is lined with boutique wineries, featuring bizarre architecture and cult-hit Cabs.

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

When you notice scrap-metal sheep-grazing Carneros vineyards, you've spotted di Rosa Art + Nature Preserve (☎ 707-226-5991; www.dirosapreserve.org; 5200 Carneros Hwy 121; 🕘 gallery 9:30am-3pm Wed-Fri, tours depart 10am, 11am & 1pm Wed-Fri, 10am, 11am, noon Sat). Reserve ahead for tours of the main house filled with contemporary art, from Tony Oursler's grimacing video projections in the wine cellar to million-dollar Robert Bechtel paintings hung on the living-room ceiling.

DON'T MISS...

- Taste Napa's newest craze: farm-to-table dining, fresh and affordable at Ubuntu (p992) and Ad Hoc (p992)
- Bike Sonoma's sun-dappled Dry Creek Valley, braking for Zin in a cave at Bella Vineyards (p994) and Pinot in a toolshed at Porter Creek Vineyards (p994)
- Breathe rarified air amid 1000-year-old redwoods at Armstrong Redwoods State Reserve (p993)
- Find inspiration among the vineyards, peacocks and surreal sculpture at Napa's di Rosa Art + Nature Preserve (left)
- Race otters and turtles down the lazy Russian River in a canoe (p994)
- Wallow in Calistoga's volcanic mud baths at Indian Springs (p992)

A few miles northeast is Downtown Napa, a Victorian boomtown with trend-setting restaurants, tasting rooms and mansions reinvented as B&Bs. Picky picnickers head to Napa's Oxbow Public Market (p992) for artisanal eats, while bargain-hunters hit Napa Valley Visitors Bureau (☎ 707-226-7459; www.napavalley.com; 1310 Napa Town Center; 🕘 9am-5pm) for spa deals, wine-tasting passes and the free Preiser Key to Napa Valley, which has comprehensive winery maps. You can check your email before wine-tasting at Napa Library (☎ 707-253-4241; www.co.napa.ca.us/library; 580 Coombs St; 🕘 10am-9pm Mon-Thu, 10am-5pm Fri & Sat, 2-9pm Sun).

Downtown at the Vintners' Collective (☎ 707-255-7150; www.vintnerscollective.com; 1245 Main St; tasting $25; 🕘 11am-6pm Wed-Mon), sample six wines from 20 wineries in a former 19th-century brothel. Then discover affordable Pinot blends in the mural-lined tasting room of Ceja (☎ 707-226-6445; www.cejavineyards.com; 1248 First St, Napa; tasting $10; 🕘 noon-6pm Sun-Thu, noon-10pm Fri & Sat), which was founded by former vineyard workers. Northwest of town, the Hess Collection (☎ 707-255-1144; www.hesscollection.com; 4411 Redwood Rd; tasting per person $10; 🕘 10am-4pm) pairs monster Cabs with art by mega modernists like Francis Bacon and Robert Motherwell.

Head northeast from Napa to boutique wineries along the Silverado Trail, starting with super-Tuscan-style Sangiovese at Luna Vineyards (☎ 707-255-5862; www.lunavineyards.com; 2921 Silverado Trail; 🕘 10:30am-4pm). Stone bulls glower atop pillars lining the driveway of Darioush (☎ 707-257-2345; www.darioush.com; 4240 Silverado Trail; tasting $25; 🕘 10:30am-5pm), a Persian-temple winery with monumental Merlots. Veer off to Frog's Leap (☎ 707-963-4704; www.frogsleap.com; 8815 Conn Creek Rd, Rutherford; tours with tasting $25; 🕘 by appointment, 10am-4pm Mon-Thu) for organically grown Cabs generously poured on irreverent tours of the LEED-certified winery.

Off Hwy 29, Yountville was once a stagecoach stop; now this two-horse town is home to French Laundry (right) and the most Michelin-starred eateries per capita in the US. Up Hwy 29, St Helena has historic charm and impeccable taste, with boutiques, bistros, and an 1889 stone chateau housing the Culinary Institute of America (☎ 707-967-2320; 2555 Main St; mains $21-34, cooking demonstration $15; 🕒 restaurant 11:30am-9pm, cooking demonstrations 1:30pm & 3:30pm Mon & Fri, 10:30am & 1:30pm Sat & Sun).

Calistoga is Napa's down-to-earth north end, where Indian Springs (☎ 707-942-4913; www.indianspringscalistoga.com; 1712 Lincoln Ave; 🕒 10am-7:30pm) offers volcanic mud baths with access to its hot-springs pool ($85). Dr. Wilkinson's Hot Springs (☎ 707-942-4102; www.drwilkinson.com; 1507 Lincoln Ave; 🕒 8:30am-5:30pm) features wallows in volcanic mud and peat moss, mineral whirlpools, steam rooms, and blanket wraps ($89).

SLEEPING

Napa's best values are midweek and off-season in Calistoga and downtown Napa motels and B&Bs – see www.lonelyplanet.com and www.legendarynapavalley.com for more options.

Bothe-Napa Valley State Park (☎ 707-942-4575, reservations 800-444-7275; www.parks.ca.gov; campsites $35; 🏊) Hillside campsites with gorgeous hiking beneath redwoods to the historic Bale Grist Mill.

Calistoga Inn (☎ 707-942-4101; www.calistogainn.com; 1250 Lincoln Ave, Calistoga; r with shared bath midweek/weekend $89/139) Snug rooms lack phones and TVs, but there's a lively brewery-restaurant downstairs and spas within walking distance.

Hotel St Helena (☎ 707-963-4388; www.hotelsthelena.net; 1309 Main St, St Helena; r with shared bath $95; 🚭) Period-furnished rooms in the heart of historic St Helena.

Golden Haven (☎ 707-942-8000; www.goldenhaven.com; 1713 Lake St, Calistoga; r midweek/weekend from $115/149) Bland motel rooms at bargain rates – ask about package deals with mud bath treatments.

EATING

Oxbow Public Market (☎ 707-226-6529; www.oxbowpublicmarket.com; 610 & 644 First St; 🕒 9am-7pm Mon-Sat, 10am-5pm Sun) is a gourmet food court, featuring Hog Island's sustainably harvested oysters (six for $15), Pica Pica's Venezuelan cornbread sandwiches ($7), and Three Twins certified organic ice cream ($4 fo a single waffle cone).

Oakville Grocery (☎ 707-944-8802; www.oakvillegrocery.com; 7856 St Helena Hwy at Oakville Crossroad; 🕒 8am-6pm) Gourmet meals on the go: serious espresso, crusty bread, Sonoma cheese, cured meat and more.

JoLé (☎ 707-942-5938; www.jolerestaurant.com; 1457 Lincoln Ave, Calistoga; mains $7-22; 🕒 5pm-10pm Sun & Tue-Thu, to 11pm Fri & Sat) Small plates, modest prices and outsize flavor, from the local catch of the day to organic roast veggies and seasonal desserts from the in-house pastry chef.

our pick Ad Hoc (☎ 707-944-2487; www.adhocrestaurant.com; 6476 Washington St; h5pm-9pm Mon, Wed, Thu-Sun dinner, 10:30am-2pm Sun brunch) Don't bother asking for a menu at Thomas Keller's most innovative restaurant since French Laundry: chef Dave Cruz dreams up his four-course, $48 market menu daily. No substitutions are offered unless you mention dietary restrictions when making reservations, but none are needed – every dish is comforting, fresh and fabulous.

Ubuntu (☎ 707-251-5656; www.ubuntunapa.com; 1140 Main St; 🕒 5:30pm-9pm Mon-Thu, 11:30am-2:30pm & 5:30pm-10pm Fri & Sat, 11:30am-2:30pm & 5:30pm-9pm Sun; V) The seasonal, vegetarian menu features natural wonders from the biodynamic kitchen garden, satisfying hearty eaters with four to five inspired small plates and ecosavvy drinkers with 100-plus sustainably produced wines.

French Laundry (☎ 707-944-2380; www.frenchlaundry.com; 6640 Washington St, Yountville; fixed-price menu $240; 🕒 5:30-9:30pm daily, 11am-1pm Fri-Sun) The definition of California fine dining: inspired and seasonal, setting international trends with ingredients plucked from the organic garden out the back. A culinary experience worthy of lifetime achievements – a 40th birthday, say, or a Nobel Prize? Book one to six months ahead; call at 10am sharp.

Sonoma Valley

More casual and less commercial than Napa, Sonoma Valley has 70 wineries clustered around Hwy 12 – and unlike Napa, most welcome picnicking.

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

Downtown Sonoma was once the capital of a rogue nation, and though Sonoma Plaza looks stately with its chic boutiques and stone visitor center (☎ 707-996-1090, 800-576-6662; www.sonomavalley.com; 453 1st St E; 🕒 9am-5pm), the plaza gets plenty lively on summer nights and farmers' market (🕒 9am-noon Fri & 5:30-8pm Tue Apr-Oct) days.

Down a country road from downtown, Gundlach-Bundschu (☎ 707-938-5277; www.gunbun.com; 2000 Denmark St) is a solar-powered castle perched above a reclaimed water lake producing legendary Tempranillo. GunBun also runs nearby Bartholomew Park Winery (☎ 707-939-3026; www.bartpark.com; 1000 Vineyard Ln; tasting $5-10, museum & park entry free; 🕐 tasting room & museum 11am-4:30pm daily), which is a 400-acre preserve with vineyards originally cultivated in 1857 and now certified organic, yielding citrus-sunshine Sauvignon Blanc and smoky-midnight Merlot.

Obey the call of the wild up Hwy 12 at Jack London Historic State Park (☎ 707-938-5216; www.jacklondonpark.com; 2400 London Ranch Rd; car $8; 🕐 10am-5pm Oct-Apr, 9:30am-7pm May-Sep), where adventure-novelist Jack London brought Sonoma's slash-and-burned hillsides back to life. Hike to the lake to overlook London's pristine 129-acre farmstead, ride through fragrant redwood groves with Triple Creek Horse Outfit (☎ 707-887-8700; www.triplecreekhorseoutfit.com; 2400 London Ranch Rd; group rides 1/2/3 hr with lunch $60/90/250; 🕐 by reservation), or visit the House of Happy Walls to peruse London's life story, sustainable farming methods, best-selling books and 600 rejection letters.

Turn off Hwy 12 near Kenwood to Kaz Winery (☎ 707-833-2536; www.kazwinery.com; 233 Adobe Canyon Rd, Kenwood; tasting $5-10 (applicable to purchase); 🕐 11am-5pm Fri-Mon) for offbeat, organically grown Nebbiolo Blush Port and Cabernet Franc poured in the barn.

SLEEPING

At the northern end of Sonoma Valley, Santa Rosa offers affordable chain motels along Cleveland Ave, west of Hwy 101.

Sugarloaf Ridge State Park (☎ 707-833-5712, reservations 800-444-7275; www.parks.ca.gov; Adobe Canyon Rd; campsites $30) North of Kenwood wineries, 50 sites without hookups are nestled in two mellow meadows.

Hillside Inn (☎ 707-546-9353; www.hillside-inn.com; 2901 Fourth St, Sonoma; s/d Nov-Mar $70/78, Apr-Oct $74/82; Ⓟ 📶 🏊) Downtown Sonoma's best-kept motel is close to wine-tasting action; add $4 for kitchens.

Sonoma Hotel (☎ 707-996-2996, 800-468-6016; www.sonomahotel.com; 110 W Spain St, Sonoma; r incl breakfast midweek/weekend $140/170 Nov-Mar, $170/198 Apr-Oct; ☒) Stylish 1880 landmark hotel on happening Sonoma Plaza, with larger/smaller rooms for $30 more/less; there is a two-night minimum on weekends.

our pick Beltane Ranch (☎ 707-996-6501; www.beltaneranch.com; 11775 Hwy 12; r incl breakfast $150-220; Ⓟ ☒ 📶) In the 1890s this ranch belonged to Mary Ellen Pleasant, daughter of slaves and former brothel owner turned abolitionist leader and California pioneer. Her graceful yellow homestead offers bucolic splendor amid olive orchards, without phones or TVs. Guests enjoy ranch-raised meals, hike trails, play tennis and watch horses graze from porch swings.

EATING

Sonoma Market (☎ 707-996-3411; 500 W Napa St, Sonoma; 🕐 6am-9pm) Superior deli with hot-pressed panini created by the in-house chef.

Red Grape (☎ 707-996-4103; www.theredgrape.com; 529 First St West; pizzas $10-16; 🕐 11:30am-10pm; 👪) Thin-crust pizza with local cheeses and cured meats, plus small-production Sonoma wines by the half-bottle.

Fig Cafe (☎ 707-938-2130; www.thefigcafe.com; 13690 Arnold Dr, Glen Ellen; mains $15-20; 🕐 5:30-9pm daily, brunch 10am-2:30pm Sat & Sun) Sonoma's take on comfort food: organic salads, Sonoma duck cassoulet and free corkage on Sonoma wines, served in a converted living room.

Cafe la Haye (☎ 707-935-5994; www.cafelahaye.com; 140 E Napa St, Sonoma; mains $17-25; 🕐 from 5:30pm Tue-Sat) In an open kitchen, this tiny bistro whips up big-city cuisine with ingredients grown within a 60-mile radius.

Russian River Valley

The West preserves its wild ways in Russian River, two hours north of San Francisco (via Hwys 101 and 116) in western Sonoma County. Here ancient redwoods tower over independent wineries and the 10-mile, aptly named Bohemian Highway is lined with resorts for rebels, hippie craft galleries, and gay-friendly honky-tonks. Guerneville visitor center (☎ 707-869-9000; www.russianriver.com; 16209 1st St; 🕐 10am-5pm) offers maps and last-minute lodging info.

Old-growth redwoods at 805-acre Armstrong Redwoods State Reserve (☎ 707-869-2015; www.parks.ca.gov; 17000 Armstrong Woods Rd; entry per car $8, campsites $20; 🕐 8am-sunset) were saved by lumber baron Colonel James Boydston Armstrong, who bought these woods in 1874 and saved them from the axe, including the 308ft, 1400-year-old Colonel Armstrong Tree.

Paddle downriver past herons and otters in Burke's Canoe Trips (☎ 707-887-1222; www.burkescanoetrips.com; 8600 River Rd; canoes $59), or enjoy nature while sipping bubbly served to US presidents at the outdoor hilltop tasting bar at Iron Horse Vineyards (☎ 707-887-1507; www.ironhorsevineyards.com; 9786 Ross Station Rd; $10-15 tasting; 🕐 10am-3:30pm), 15 minutes south of Guerneville. Dinner and a movie awaits at Rio Theater (☎ 707-865-0913; www.riotheater.com; 20396 Bohemian Hwy, Monte Rio; adult/senior, child & matinees $8/6; 🕐 Wed-Sun), a converted 1940s Army shed featuring Oscar contenders and gourmet hot dogs ($7).

Occidental is the heart of the Boho Hwy, with its organic farmers market (☎ 707-793-2159; www.occidentalfarmersmarket.com, 🕐 4pm-dusk Fri, Jun-Oct), clever crafts from reclaimed materials at Renga Arts (☎ 707-874-9407; www.rengaarts.com; 3605 Main St; 🕐 11am-5pm Fri-Mon), and outlandish April 1 Fool's Day Parade.

For European classics with California creativity – and bargain three-course weeknight menus – head to Bistro des Copains (☎ 707-874-2436; www.bistrodescopains.com; 3782 Bohemian Hwy; 🕐 5-9pm Sun-Thu, 5-10pm Fri & Sat).

Healdsburg to Boonville

More than 90 wineries dot the Russian River, Dry Creek and Alexander Valleys within a 30-mile radius of Healdsburg, where upscale eateries, wine-tasting rooms and stylish inns surround the Spanish-style Plaza. For tasting passes and Wine Country maps, hit the Healdsburg Visitors Center (☎ 707-433-6935, 800-648-9922; www.healdsburg.org; 217 Healdsburg Ave; 🕐 9am-5pm Mon-Fri, 9am-3pm Sat, 10am-2pm Sun).

Picture-perfect farmstead wineries await discovery in Dry Creek Valley, across Hwy 101 from downtown Healdsburg. Rent a bike from Spoke Folk Cyclery (opposite), and peddle from Zin-tasting in the caves at Bella Vineyards (☎ 707-473-9171, 866-572-3552; www.bellawinery.com; 9711 W Dry Creek Rd; tastings $5-10; 🕐 11am-4:30pm) to organic, certified biodynamic Porter Creek Vineyards (☎ 707-433-6321; www.portercreekvineyards.com; 8735 Westside Rd; tastings free; 🕐 10:30am-4:30pm) for woodsy Pinot Noir served on a bar made from a bowling alley lane.

North of Healdsburg, take Hwy 128 to Anderson Valley for organic eats and award-winning beer amid vineyards and apple orchards. In Boonville, brake for disc golf, beer-tasting and tours of the solar-powered facilities at Anderson Valley Brewing Company (☎ 707-895-2337; www.avbc.com; 17700 Hwy 253; tastings $5 (applicable to purchase); 🕐 11am-6pm Thu-Mon; tours 11:30am & 3pm daily).

SLEEPING & EATING

Healdsburg's budget options include Vegas-kitschy L&M Motel (☎ 707-433-6528; www.landmmotel.com; 70 Healdsburg Ave; r $75-99; ☒ ⁜ 🏊) and spiffy Best Western Dry Creek (☎ 707-433-0300, 800-222-5784; www.drycreekinn.com; 198 Dry Creek Rd; r $115-135; ⁜ 🏊)

Bovolo (☎ 707-431-2962; www.bovolorestaurant.com; 106 Matheson St; lunch mains $8-14; 🕐 9am-6pm Thu-Tue, to 9pm Sat & Sun) puts a Slow Food spin on fast food, making salads, panini and pizza with meats cured in-house. Critics rave about Cyrus (☎ 707-433-3311; www.cyrusrestaurant.com; 29 North St; fixed-price menus $102-130; 🕐 6-11pm Wed-Mon), but the local secret is the bar, where truffle-laced dishes are served à la carte with mad-scientist cocktails. Boonville General Store (☎ 707-895-9477; 14077 #A Hwy 128, Boonville; 🕐 9:30am-3pm; 👶) serves house-baked pastries and pizza, plus locally grown organic salads.

Getting There & Around

Wine Country is about 90 minutes north of San Francisco via Hwy 101 or I-80. For transit information, dial ☎ 511.

PUBLIC TRANSPORTATION

Take the scenic route to Napa from SF on the Vallejo Ferry (415-877-643-3779; www.baylinkferry.com; adults/seniors & youth/under 6 $13/6.50/free), departing from the Ferry Building about every hour from 6:30am to 7pm on weekdays, and every two hours from 11am to 7:30pm on weekends. Otherwise, take BART (p987) to El Cerrito and transfer to Vallejo Transit (☎ 707-648-4666; www.vallejotransit.com) to Vallejo. Napa Valley Vine (☎ 707-251-2800, 800-696-6443; www.napavalleyvine.net) buses connect Vallejo to Napa and Calistoga.

For Sonoma, Greyhound buses (☎ 800-231-2222; www.greyhound.com) run from San Francisco to Santa Rosa ($21). Golden Gate Transit (☎ 415-923-2000; www.goldengate.org) links San Francisco to Petaluma ($7.60) and Santa Rosa ($8.40), where you connect with Sonoma County Transit (☎ 707-576-7433; www.sctransit.com).

Napa Valley Vine provides public transit within Napa Valley; Golden Gate Transit, and Sonoma Valley Transit provide transit around Sonoma.

BICYCLE

The best way to explore Wine Country's scenic backroads is by bicycle. Rent yours for about $30 to $45 per day at Calistoga Bike Shop (☎ 707-942-9687, 866-942-2453; www.calistogabikeshop.com; 1318 Lincoln Ave), Sonoma Valley Cyclery (☎ 707-935-3377; 20093 Broadway), and Healdsburg's Spoke Folk Cyclery (☎ 707-433-7171; www.spokefolk.com; 201 Center St).

Napa Valley Adventure Tours (☎ 707-259-1833, 877-548-6877; www.napavalleyadventuretours.com; Oxbow Public Market, 610 1st St, Napa) offers bicycle rentals and Silverado Trail rides introducing cyclists to winemakers, artisans and organic farmers ($139/6.5 hours). Getaway Adventures (☎ 707-568-3040, 800-499-2453; www.getawayadventures.com) offers easy Sip-n-Cycle tours around Calistoga or Dry Creek ($149/6 hours).

TRAIN

Napa Valley Wine Train (☎ 707-253-2111, 800-427-4124; www.winetrain.com; adult/child under 12 $49.50/25, plus lunch $44.50/25, dinner $49.50/30) offers cushy, touristy three-hour trips with an optional winery stop ($25 extra) and a bar car ($10/4 tastings).

AUTO-RICKSHAW

Napa Valley Hoppers (☎ 707-224-4677; www.nvhoppers.com) offer motorized rickshaw excursions, making three to four winery stops from 10am to 2pm ($89 per person/5 hours); reservations are required.

NORTH COAST

Valleys of redwoods amble into the moody crash of the Pacific along the North Coast, home to hippies, hoppy microbrews and flora that famously includes some of the tallest trees and most potent marijuana in the world. This is the part of California to slow down and get lost under the giant trees as you soak up the scenic route through massive forests and foggy, two-stoplight towns.

Bodega Bay to Fort Bragg

The coast between Bodega Bay and Fort Bragg is on the gorgeous, jagged edge of the continent, where cows graze on cliffs above the frothing, frigid roar of the Pacific. The metropolitan charms of San Francisco, only a few hours south, feel eons away. Compared to Hwy 1 along the Big Sur coast, the snaking route through the North Coast is more challenging, more remote and more real: white-knuckled drivers pass farms, fishing towns and hidden beaches, pausing on roadside pullouts where gusty cliffs overlook migrating whales. The drive takes four hours of daylight driving without stops. At night in the fog, it takes steely nerves and much, much longer.

Bodega Bay is the first pearl in a string of sleepy fishing towns, and the setting of Hitchcock's terrifying 1963 avian horror flick The Birds. The skies are free from bloodthirsty gulls today (though you'd best keep an eye on the picnic); it's Bay Area weekenders who descend en masse on B&Bs and extraordinary state beaches between here and Jenner, 10 miles north. Bodega Bay Sportfishing (☎ 707-875-3344; 1410 Bay Flat Rd) runs whale-watching trips ($35 per person, 3½-to-four-hours) and Bodega Bay Surf Shack (☎ 707-875-3944; www.bodegabaysurf.com; 1400 N Hwy 1; surfboards per day $13, kayaks per 4hr single/double $45/65) rents surfboards and kayaks.

There isn't much to Jenner, just a cluster of shops and restaurants dotting the coastal hills where the Russian River meets the Pacific. The main attraction is the resident harbor seal colony. Look for them from Hwy 1 turnouts north of town. Volunteers protect the seals and educate tourists at Goat Rock State Beach (☎ 707-875-3483; Mile 19.15) during pupping season, between March and August.

The centerpiece of Fort Ross State Historic Park (☎ 707-847-3286, 707-847-3708; www.fortrossstatepark.org; 19005 Hwy 1; per car $8, campsites $25), 12 miles north of Jenner, is an 1812 trading post and salt-weathered Russian Orthodox church, once the southernmost reach of Tsarist Russia's North American trading expeditions. The small, wood-scented museum offers historical exhibits and respite from wind-swept cliffs. There's drive-in, first-come, first-served camping 2 miles south of the fort. It's open from April to November.

Salt Point State Park (☎ 707-847-3221, reservations 800-444-7275; www.reserveamerica.com; Mile 39; per car $8, campsites $35) has hiking trails, tide pools and two campgrounds where pink blooms spot the green, misty woods in springtime. Cows graze the surrounding rock-strewn fields on the bluffs, which are home to organic dairy cooperatives.

Continuing north is Gualala (pronounced wah-la-la), an 1850s milltown that enjoys a breathtaking coastal location. Staying in town is pricy, but a mile south, Gualala Point Regional Park (☎ 707-785-2377, reservations 707-565-2267; www.sonoma-county.org/parks; 42401 S Highway 1; per car $6, campsites $22) has campsites under the redwoods, a windswept beach and trails to the shore.

Just north, Point Arena, has a cute downtown and a stilting pier. A little further north are rapturous views atop the 1908 Point Arena Lighthouse (☎ 707-882-2777; www.pointarenalighthouse.com; 45500 Lighthouse Rd; 🕒 10am-3:30pm; admission $7.50), one of the tallest on the West Coast.

Eight miles north of Elk, Van Damme State Park (☎ 707-937-5804, reservations 800-444-7275; www.reserveamerica.com; per car $8, campsites $35) has the popular Fern Canyon Trail, which passes through a pygmy forest and a fern- and elderberry-lined canyon. The car-accessible camping is pleasant, but an easy 2 mile hike-in offers a secluded option.

The most popular village on this stretch, Mendocino, is the North Coast's salt-washed gem, with New England saltbox B&Bs and a gorgeous headland. Walk the headland among berry bramble and wildflowers, where cypress trees stand guard over dizzying cliffs. Nature's power is evident everywhere: from driftwood littered fields and cave tunnels to the raging surf. The town itself is full of cute shops – no chains – and has earned the nickname 'Spendocino' for its upscale goods. Quasi-bohemian bourgeoisie with fat wallets love wandering the streets; most are up from San Francisco for the weekend. The visitor center (☎ 707-937-5397; www.gomendo.com; 735 Main St; 🕒 11am-4pm) is in the Ford House and is the place to start.

Medocino's scrappy sister city, Fort Bragg, is trying to lure some of the moneyed travelers a bit further north, but it still has a way to go. You'll find cheap gas, large motels and a mess of fast food, but it's not without its charm. The thick, hoppy brews at North Coast Brewing Co (☎ 707-964-2739; www.northcoastbrewing.com; 455 N Main St; pint $4, 10-beer sampler $12) are reason enough to pull over. Fort Bragg also boasts the 1885 Skunk Train (☎ 800-866-1690; www.skunktrain.com; adult/child 3-11yr $47/22), whose diesel and steam engines make half-day trips through the woods to Ukiah.

SLEEPING & EATING

The following options are listed from south to north.

The Bodega Harbor Inn (☎ 707-875-3594; www.bodegaharborinn.com; 1345 Bodega Ave; r $80-155; ☒), in Bodega Bay, has affordable cottage-style rooms. Golden-battered baskets of local rock cod are the highlight of the Boat House (☎ 707-875-3495; 1445 N Hwy 1; mains $11-15; 🕒 noon-8pm), a buoy-strung shack with a sloping floor.

Jenner's River's End Cabins (☎ 707-865-2484; www.ilovesunsets.com; 11048 Hwy 1; cabins $120-220) are peaceful and rustic (no TV or phone), with a connected restaurant offering carefully prepared, elegant dishes and captivating views.

In Gualala, the first stop for lunch is the best: Bones Roadhouse (☎ 707-884-1188; 39350 S Hwy 1; mains $10-20; 🕒 11:30am-9pm Sun-Thu, 11:30am-10pm Fri & Sat). On weekends, they may even have a codgerly blues outfit growling 'Mustang Sally.' The gorgeous, quirky St Orres (☎ 707-884-3303; www.saintorres.com; 36601 Hwy 1; r with shared bath incl breakfast from $95, cottages incl breakfast $140-445) has a hand-hewn Russian-style redwood hotel, secluded cottages and dramatic California cuisine (dinner mains $40).

our pick Mar Vista Cottages (☎ 707-884-3522, 877-855-3522; www.marvistamendocino.com; 35101 S Hwy 1; cottages from $155; ☒ 📶) is a cluster of a dozen elegantly remodeled fishing cottages that's idyllic: chickens cluck around the grounds laying the morning's eats; guests swing on the tire swing and pick from the organic garden. The cabins have wi-fi and require a two-night minimum stay.

Lovely Mendocino has lots of upscale sleeping and dining options, but the coziest of these, Brewery Gulch Inn (☎ 800-578-4454; www.brewerygulchinn.com; 9401 N Hwy 1; r $210-450; 💻), wins with fireplace rooms and hosts who pour heavily at the complimentary wine hour and leave sweets out for midnight snacking. It's just south of town, on a hill overlooking the ocean. If it's late, you'll thank heavens for Patterson's Pub (☎ 707-937-4782; www.pattersonspub.com; 10485 Lansing St; mains $10-15), which serves big entree salads and first-class pub fare.

Jughandle Creek Farm (☎ 707-964-4630; www.jughandlecreekfarm.org; 15501 N Hwy 1; r & cabins adult/child/student $40/$13/$33, campsites $12/5/10) is an educational center in Caspar, opposite Jug Handle State Reserve. Rooms and cabins are set up like a hostel (bring a sleeping bag) with communal baths and kitchens. An hour's worth of work earns a small discount.

Fort Bragg has many dreary midrange motels, though an unbelievable bargain is available at the cute Colombi Motel (☎ 707-964-5773; www.colombimotel.com; 647 Oak St; r with kitchenette $45-70).

Free local folk and jazz performances set up nightly at the Headlands Coffeehouse (☎ 707-964-1987; www.headlandscoffeehouse.com; 120 E Laurel St; panini sandwiches $7-8; 🕐 7am-10pm Sun-Thu, to 11pm Fri & Sat), a coffee shop and café that's a godsend for idle Fort Bragg teens.

GETTING THERE & AWAY

A car is nearly a necessity along Hwy 1, though the Mendocino Transit Authority (MTA; ☎ 800-696-4682; www.4mta.org) operates a daily bus from Fort Bragg south to Santa Rosa via Willits and Ukiah ($20, 3 hours); at Santa Rosa, catch San Francisco–bound bus 80 ($8.80), operated by Golden Gate Transit (☎ 415-923-2000; www.goldengate.org). Neither Greyhound (p1160) nor Amtrak (p1166) serves towns along Hwy 1.

Ukiah to Scotia

Ukiah is mostly a place to gas up or get some food along the ride north. The best thing going in the area is Vichy Springs Resort (right).

North of tiny Leggett on Hwy 101, lose yourself under giant redwoods at Standish-Hickey State Recreation Area (☎ 707-925-6482, 69350 Hwy 101; per car $8). It has river swimming and fishing, as well as 9 miles of hiking trails in virgin and second-growth redwoods (look for the 225ft-tall Miles Standish tree). Fourteen miles further north is Richardson Grove State Park (per car $8), for 1400 acres of more virgin redwoods and camping (campsites $35).

Garberville became famous in the 1970s for the sinsemilla (potent, seedless marijuana) grown in the surrounding hills. Today Garberville is a quiet, one-street town with cheap motels and diners, and a curious culture clash of burly loggers and burned-out hippies. (You'll be able to tell them apart pretty easily.)

The Lost Coast tops a serious hiker's itinerary, offering the best coastal camping in California. It became 'lost' when the state's highway system bypassed the rugged mountains of the King Range, which rise 4000ft within several miles of the ocean, leaving the region largely undeveloped. The scenery is stunning. From Garberville it's 23 miles along a rough road to Shelter Cove, a seaside subdivision with a deli, restaurant and motels. Talk to locals before venturing along back roads or wandering off trail, lest you encounter farmers who are extremely protective of the county's illicit cash crop.

Along Hwy 101, 80-sq-mile Humboldt Redwoods State Park (☎ 707-946-2409, reservations 800-444-7275; www.reserveamerica.com; campsites $35-45) protects some of the world's oldest redwoods and has three-quarters of the world's tallest 100 trees. Even if you don't have time to hike in, drive (vehicle entry $8) the park's awe-inspiring Avenue of the Giants, a 32-mile, two-lane road parallel to Hwy 101. Book ahead for magnificent campsites near the informative visitor center (☎ 707-946-2409; 🕐 9am-5pm).

SLEEPING & EATING

The camping options are plentiful and extremely high quality, though every one-horse town guarantees at least a deli or taqueria. The following listings run south to north.

In Ukiah, chain motels line S State St, though the best value is the independent Sunrise Inn (☎ 707-462-6601; www.sunriseinn.net; 650 S State St; r $48-68; ❄). Seven-hundred-acre Vichy Springs Resort (☎ 707-462-9515; www.vichysprings.com; 2605 Vichy Springs Rd, Ukiah; RV sites $20, lodge s/d $135/195, creekside r $195/245, cottages from $280; ❄ 🏊) has the only warm-water, naturally carbonated mineral baths in North America. Two-hour day-use costs $30; all-day use runs to $50. Unlike other nearby hot springs, it also requires swimwear – you'll be thankful.

The most fun dining in town is at the Ukiah Brewing Company (☎ 707-468-5898; www.ukiahbrewingco.com; 102 S State St; dinner mains $15-25; 🕐 5:30-9pm Tue-Sat, 11:30am-2pm Thu & Fri), where the brews are better than the food, but the dancefloor rocks to live music on the weekend.

The historic Tudor-style Benbow Inn (☎ 707-923-2124, 800-355-3301; www.benbowinn.com; 445 Lake Benbow Dr, Garberville, r $130-200; 📶), just south of Garberville off Hwy 101, indulges guests with complimentary decanted sherry in each lovely room; consider splurging for riverside rooms. The white-tablecloth restaurant and wood-paneled bar are particularly inviting on foggy evenings.

Along the Avenue of the Giants is excellent camping – the best of which is in Humboldt Redwoods State Park (left) – and scads of musty midcentury motels, to be approached with caution.

GETTING THERE & AROUND

Greyhound (☎ 800-231-2222; www.greyhound.com) operates from San Francisco to Ukiah ($29.20). The Redwood Transit System (☎ 707-443-0826; www.hta.org) operates buses Monday through Saturday between Scotia and Trinidad ($1.95, 2½ hours).

Eureka to Crescent City

Passing the strip malls that sprawl from the edges, Eureka is unlikely to have you shouting the town's name from the hills; however, it does have an Old Town with fine Victorians, inviting shops and restaurants. The Eureka visitor center (☎ 707-442-3738, 800-356-6381; www.eurekachamber.com; 2112 Broadway; ⏰ 8:30am-5pm Mon-Fri, 10am-4pm Sat) has maps and information. In Old Town, Going Places (☎ 707-443-4145; 328 2nd St; ⏰ 10:30am-5:30pm Mon-Sat, 11am-5pm Sun) is a fabulous travel bookstore.

The best thing going in Eureka is Blue Ox Millworks (☎ 707-444-3437; www.blueoxmill.com; adult/child 6-12yr $7.50/3.50; ⏰ 9am-4pm Mon-Sat), one of a small handful of mills in the nation that hand-tools Victorian detailing using traditional carpentry and 19th-century equipment. Fascinating self-guided tours let you watch the craftsmen work.

Cruising the harbor aboard the blue-and-white 1910 Madaket (☎ 707-445-1910; www.humboldtbaymaritimemuseum.com; adult/child 5-12yr/senior & teen $15/7.50/13; ⏰ May-Oct) is also fun. It departs from the foot of F St and the $10 sunset cocktail cruise serves from the smallest licensed bar in the state.

Nine miles north of Eureka, Arcata is a patchouli-dipped bastion of radical politics set around a quaint square, where trucks run on biodiesel and recycling gets picked up by tandem bicycle. On the northeast side of town lies the pretty campus of Humboldt State University (☎ 707-826-3011; www.humboldt.edu). At the junction of Hwys 299 and 101 is a California Welcome Center (☎ 707-822-3619; www.arcatachamber.com; ⏰ 9am-5pm), with area info.

Trinidad, a working fishing town 16 miles north of Arcata, sits on a bluff overlooking a glittering harbor. There are lovely sand beaches and short hikes on Trinidad Head. Nearby Luffenholtz Beach is popular (but unpatrolled) for surfing; and north of town, Patrick's Point Rd is dotted with lodging and forested campgrounds. Patrick's Point State Park (☎ 707-677-3570; reservations 800-444-7275; www.reserveamerica.com; day-use $8, campsites $35-45) has stunning rocky headlands, tide pools and camping.

On Hwy 101, a mile south of tiny Orick, is Redwood National & State Parks Visitor Center (☎ 707-464-6101, ext 5265; www.nps.gov/redw; ⏰ 9am-5pm). Together, Redwood National Park and Prairie Creek, Del Norte and Jedediah Smith State Parks are a designated World Heritage Site containing almost half the remaining old-growth redwood forests in California. The national park is free; the state parks have a $8 day-use fee in some areas and the only developed campsites ($35). Peering out of the tent at the surreal size of the trunks makes this excellent camping. The visitor center has info about the parks and free permits for backcountry camping.

The jaw-dropping highlights at Redwood National Park are Lady Bird Johnson Grove and Tall Trees Grove, home to several of the world's tallest trees and roaming elk herds.

But for the giant cast-metal golden bears at the bridge, you could drive right past Klamath and never know it existed. Isolated amid trees and water, it's a well-placed launching pad for outdoor adventures. Several miles north, Del Norte Coast Redwoods State Park (☎ 707-464-6101, ext 5120) contains redwood groves and 8 miles of unspoiled coastline.

Sprawling over with a crescent-shaped bay, Crescent City is the only sizable coastal town north of Arcata. More than half the town was destroyed by a tidal wave in 1964 and then rebuilt with drab utilitarian architecture. When the tide's out, you can check out the 1865 Battery Point Lighthouse (☎ 707-464-3089; admission $3; ⏰ 10am-4pm Wed-Sun Apr-Oct) at the south end of A St.

Jedediah Smith Redwoods State Park (☎ 707-464-6101, ext 5112), 5 miles northeast of Crescent City, is less crowded than the other parks but no less beautiful. The redwood stands are so dense that there are few trails, but the outstanding 11-mile Howland Hill Scenic Drive is the best way to see the forest if you can't hike.

SLEEPING & EATING

The following options are listed south to north. A mixed bag of midcentury motels are scattered throughout every town along Hwy 101.

In Eureka, the cheapest options are south of downtown, but the family-run Bayview Motel (☎ 707-442-1673, 866-725-6813; www.bayviewmotel.com; 2844 Fairfield St; r $90-95; 🚭 📶) is a bright, clean midrange choice (some rooms do have a bay view). Carter House Inns (☎ 707-444-8062, 800-404-1390; www.carterhouse.com; 301 L St; r incl breakfast $185-213; 🚭 📶) is the cush option near Old Town, a complex of several lovingly tended Victorian properties. The French fusion at Restaurant 301 is the most haute dining around.

The Lost Coast Brewery (☎ 707-445-4480; 617 4th St; pints $3.50, 10-beer sampler $10, mains $6-13; 📶) is another excellent North Coast brewery. The Downtown Brown and Great White are both delicious, the kitchen turns out great wings, fries, and good burgers from 11am until midnight and – bonus – there's wi-fi.

On the nearby Samoa Peninsula, the popular Samoa Cookhouse (☎ 707-442-1659; www.samoacookhouse.net; all-you-can-eat meals $12-15; 🕒 7am-9pm) is the dining hall of an 1893 lumber camp. Hikers, hippies and lumberjacks get stuffed while sharing long red-checked oilcloth-covered tables.

On the Arcata town square, the stately 1915 Hotel Arcata (☎ 707-826-0217, 800-344-1221; www.hotelarcata.com; 708 9th St; r $96-156; 📶) is a bit stuffy but right in the center of the town.

In Klamath, the 1914 Requa Inn (☎ 707-482-1425, 866-800-8777; www.requainn.com; 451 Requa Rd; r $85-155; 🚭 📶) caters to hikers, with country-style rooms overlooking the river.

GETTING THERE & AROUND

Greyhound (☎ 800-231-2222; www.greyhound.com) serves Arcata; from San Francisco budget $38 and seven hours. Redwood Transit buses (☎ 707-443-0826; www.hta.org) serve Arcata and Eureka on the Trinidad–Scotia routes ($1.95, 2½ hours), which don't run on Sunday.

SACRAMENTO

Even though Sacramento was the first (non-mission) European settlement in California, the state's capital is an anomalous place: the first city to shoot up from gold discovery is flat and fairly bland with shady trees, withering summer heat and jammed highways.

In 1839, eccentric Swiss immigrant John Sutter built a fort and after gold was discovered nearby in 1848, the town's population exploded. In 1854, after several years of legislative waffling, it became California's capital. Old Sacramento remains the visitor's magnet – an authentic riverside settlement with raised wooden sidewalks that can feel like ye olde tourist trap – but better food and culture lie hidden among the grid of streets in midtown, where a fledgling arts scene is quietly defying the city's reputation as a cow town.

The visitor center (☎ 916-442-7644; www.discovergold.org; 1004 2nd St; 🕒 10am-5pm) in Old Sacramento can recommend hotels.

Sights

The 19th-century state capitol at 10th St is the white jewel rising from the immaculately manicured Capitol Mall; inside, it's stunning. The Capitol Museum (☎ 916-324-0333; www.statecapitolmuseum.com; admission free; 🕒 9am-5pm), gives tours through period-furnished chambers. The Assembly and Senate rooms are open to the public.

A few blocks away is the attractive, modern California Museum (☎ 916-653-7524; www.californiamuseum.org; 1020 O St; adult/child 6-13yr $8.50/7; 🕒 10am-5pm Mon-Sat, noon-5pm Sun; 👶), home to the California Hall Of Fame – perhaps the only place to simultaneously encounter Cesar Chavez, Dr Seuss and Amelia Earhart.

It's a little stagey, and the candy-scented streets rumble with baby boomers on Harleys, but Old Sacramento (www.oldsacramento.com) offers a stroll past California's largest concentration of historic buildings and three great museums. The California State Railroad Museum (☎ 916-323-9280, 916-445-6645; www.californiastaterailroadmuseum.org; 125 I St; adult/child 6-17yr $9/4; 🕒 10am-5pm) is a train lover's dream. You can board dozens of meticulously restored beasts of steam and diesel; ride a steam train ($8) at summer weekends. Next door, the Sacramento History Museum (☎ 916-264-7059; www.sachistorymuseum.org; 101 I St; adult/child 13-17yr/child 4-12yr $5/4/3; 🕒 10am-5pm, closed Mon in winter) focuses on the gold rush. The city's small but handsome house of fine art, the Crocker Art Museum (☎ 916-264-5423; www.crockerartmuseum.org; 3rd & O Sts; adult/child 7-17yr $6/3, free 10am-1pm Sun; 🕒 10am-5pm Tue-Sun, to 9pm Thu) is in the former residence of 19th-century California Supreme Court Judge Edwin B Crocker. It contains his visionary collection of California art.

Restored to its 1850s appearance, Sutter's Fort (☎ 916-445-4422; cnr 27th & L Sts; adult/child under 5yr/child 6-16yr $5/free/3; 🕒 10am-5pm; 👶) has historical actors in summer and some Saturdays throughout the year. Adjacent to the fort, the well-done California State Indian Museum (☎ 916-324-0971; adult/child under 5yr/child 6-17yr $3/free/2; 🕒 10am-5pm) is tiny but informative and has Ishi artifacts.

Sleeping & Eating

Downtown has a glut of midrange chain hotels. For restaurants, make for J St between 16th and 25th Sts.

our pick HI Sacramento Hostel (☎ 916-443-1691; 925 H St; dm $25, r $55.75; Ⓟ 🚭 💻) This is a hostel? Sweet! The public areas in this restored Victorian mansion are B&B quality, the spacious dorms are clean and the staff is kind.

The cozy Mulvaney's B & L (☎ 916-441-6022; www.culinaryspecialists.com; 1215 19th St; mains $20-40; 🕒 11:30am-2:30pm, 5-10pm Tue-Fri, 5-10pm Sat) is the class place in town; an expert French-touched menu changes every day.

The best vegetarian fare in all of California might be at Andy Nguyen's (☎ 916-736-1157; 2007 Broadway; meals $8-16; 🕒 11:30am-9pm Mon-Sat; V), a tranquil Buddhist Thai diner. Try the steaming curries and artful fake meat dishes (the 'chicken' leg has a little wooden bone).

For award-winning IPAs and decent pub grub, hit Rubicon (☎ 916-448-7032; www.rubiconbrewing.com; 2004 Capitol Ave; sandwiches $6-9; 🕒 11am-11:30pm Mon-Thu, to 12:30am Fri & Sat, to 10pm Sun).

Getting There & Around

Sacramento is 91 miles east of San Francisco via I-80, and 386 miles north of LA via I-5. Sacramento International Airport (☎ 916-929-5411; www.sacairports.org), is a great small airport to access Lake Tahoe, 15 miles north of downtown off I-5.

Greyhound (☎ 800-231-2222; 7th & L Sts) serves San Francisco ($22, two hours), Los Angeles ($66, nine hours), Seattle ($150, 19 hours) and other major towns.

Sacramento's Amtrak (☎ 800-872-7245; cnr 5th & I Sts) is the best way to travel to the Bay Area, with frequent trains. The depot is near downtown. Trains leave daily for Oakland ($24, two hours) and Los Angeles ($56, 14 hours).

Sacramento Regional Transit (☎ 916-321-2877; www.sacrt.com) runs a bus and light rail system (fare $2.25).

GOLD COUNTRY

This is where California was born with a sparkle: a curiously shiny rock caught the eye of James Marshall in 1848, the sighting of which started a chaotic stampede of some 300,000 Forty Niners whose lust for gold had little time for the rules of civilized society or the environment. You'd never know to visit the region today: the scars of mining have healed, leaving hills dotted with pine and oak, and once lawless towns are either restored to the showy Victorian elegance or slouching under the blistering summer heat. Historical markers tell tales of bloodlust and banditry, but a traveler's more tactile pleasures on offer include an icy plunge into one of the area's swimming holes or a molar-rattling mountain bike descent.

Many small cities exude historical quaintness, but all have similar features: antiques, ice-cream parlors and musty gold-rush museums. Situated along Hwy 49, the area warrants a two-day detour. For something adventurous, try a white-water trip down the American River; its three forks are inviting for beginners and experts alike.

In the summer when temperatures soar, rafting trips explore the icy currents of the American, Tuolumne, Kings and Stanislaus Rivers. All-Outdoors California Whitewater Rafting (☎ 800-247-2387; www.aorafting.com) is the favorite; the family-run outfitter does single- and two-day wilderness adventures. Wolf Creek Wilderness (☎ 530-477-2722; www.wolfcreekwilderness.com; 595 E Main St, Grass Valley; kayaks per day from $40) has kayak rentals and lessons ($40 to $150).

Outside of Auburn off I-80, at exit 121, the California Welcome Center (☎ 530-887-2111; www.visitplacer.com; 13411 Lincoln Way; 🕒 9:30am-4:30pm Mon-Fri, 9am-3pm Sat, 11am-3pm Sun) has statewide information. The Gold Country Visitors Association (☎ 800-225-3764; www.calgold.org) has detailed local information.

Northern Mines

Highway 50 divides the Southern and Northern Mines; the latter stretch south from Nevada City to Placerville. Winding Hwy 49, which connects it all, has plenty of pull-outs and vistas of the surrounding hills. If it's sweltering and you see a line of cars parked roadside, it's likely a swimming hole. Don't ask questions; just park, strip and jump. One of the best is where North and South Forks of the American River join up, 3 miles south of Auburn on Hwy 49.

Nevada City was known as the 'Queen City of the Northern Mines' and her streets still gleam with lovingly restored buildings, an arty folk scene, organic cafés and boutiques. The chamber of commerce (☎ 530-265-2692, 800-655-6569; www.nevadacitychamber.com; 132 Main St; 🕒 9am-5pm Mon-Fri, 11am-4pm Sat, 11am-3pm most Sundays) has self-guided walking tours and tons of information. The Tahoe National Forest Headquarters (☎ 530-265-4531; 🕒 8am-4:30pm Mon-Fri, plus Sat in summer), on Hwy 49 at the north end of Coyote St, has hiking and backcountry info, including details about area mountain biking trails.

About 5 miles southwest, Grass Valley is Nevada City's functional sister, where artists, hippies and ranchers get their oil changed. Two miles east of town, the landscaped Empire Mine State Historic Park (☎ 530-273-8522; www.empiremine.org; adult/child 6-16yr $5/3; 🕒 9am-6pm summer, 10am-5pm winter) marks the site of one of the richest mines in the state; from 1850 to 1956 it produced 5.8 million ounces of gold – about $5 billion in today's market. In summer, living-history weekends are popular; an underground tour is due to open in 2010.

Coloma is where the gold rush started, and the Marshall Gold Discovery State Historic Park (☎ 530-622-3470; per car $8; 🕑 8am-dusk) makes an eerily quiet tribute to the riotous discovery, with a replica of Sutter's Mill, restored buildings and short hikes. There's a statue of Sutter himself, who, in one of the many ironic twists of the gold rush, died a ward of the state.

SLEEPING & EATING

The following sleeping and eating options are listed north to south. Cafés, ice-cream parlors and upscale eateries are in nearly every sizable town along Hwy 49.

In Nevada City, there's an abundance of budget sleeping options, but the best is just outside of town. Northern Queen Inn (☎ 530-265-5824; www.northernqueeninn.com; 400 Railroad Ave; r $99-154; ❄ 📶 🏊) is an 86-room motel with separate cottages with kitchens. The most fun is Outside Inn (☎ 530-265-2233; www.outsideinn.com; 575 E Broad St; r $75-150; ☒ ❄ 📶 🏊), which has themed rooms and is run by exceedingly friendly outdoor enthusiasts.

More upscale than the many cute cafés at which folkies gather is New Moon Café (☎ 530-265-6399; www.thenewmooncafe.com; 230 York St; mains $13-28; 🕑 11am-9pm Tue-Sun). It has a regularly changing, French-Asian menu with an organic, local bent.

In Grass Valley, the register of the 1852 Holbrooke Hotel (☎ 530-273-1252, 800-933-7077; www.holbrooke.com; 212 W Main St; r midweek/weekend from $90/105; ☒ ❄) boast Ulysses Grant and Mark Twain. Elegant Victorian rooms have claw-foot tubs. A recommended restaurant is on-site.

If you're cruising this part of the state without time to explore, the best pit stop is off I-80 at exit 121. There, Ikedas (☎ 530-885-4243; www.ikedas.com; 13500 Lincoln Way; 🕑 8am-7pm, to 8pm weekends) feeds Tahoe-bound travelers amazing burgers, homemade pies and snacks, including a deliriously good, seasonal fresh peach shake.

Southern Mines

The towns of the Southern Mines – from Placerville to Sonora – receive less traffic and the dusty streets still have a whiff of Wild West, which is evident in the motley assortment of Harley cruisers, weed farmers, vineyard owners and gold prospectors (still!) who populate them. Some, like Plymouth (Ole Pokerville) and Mokelumne Hill (Moke Hill), are virtual ghost towns, slowly crumbling into photogenic oblivion. Others, like Jackson, Murphys and Sutter Creek, are frilly slices of historical Americana. Get off the beaten path for family-run vineyards (especially around Plymouth in Amador County, a region that invented Zinfandel) and underground caverns, where geological wonders reward those willing to navigate the touristy gift shops above.

To get perspective on the region's history, take Hwy 88 north toward Pine Grove to the Indian Grinding Rock State Historic Park (☎ 206-296-7488; 14881 Pine Grove-Volcano Rd, per car $8, campsites $25; 🕑 sunrise-susnet), which is sacred ground for the local Miwok Indians. The magnificent 'grinding rock' is covered with ancient petroglyphs and mortar holes called chaw'Ses. Camping in reconstructed bark houses, called U'macha'tam'ma', provides a more tactile Miwok experience than any museum could.

Columbia (☎ 209-536-1672; www.columbiacalifornia.com; 👪) is one of Gold Country's best historic sites, with four square blocks of authentic 1850s buildings and concessionaires in period costumes right in the middle of town. It's crazy with kids panning for gold. The park itself doesn't close, but most businesses are open from 10am to 5pm.

SLEEPING & EATING

Sleeping and eating listings that follow are ordered north to south. This area's best value is in the national forests, where camping is free. Lacy B&Bs are in nearly every town and usually priced over $100 per night.

our pick Taste (☎ 209-245-3463; www.restauranttaste.com; 9402 Main St, Plymouth; mains $31-50; 🕑 5pm-10pm Thu-Mon) is where the region's best food is at, with artfully constructed fresh, seasonal dishes that are well paired with bold Zinfandels from the surrounding hills of Amador County. It was recently named among the top 50 restaurants in the nation.

our pick St George Hotel (☎ 209-296-4458; www.stgeorgehotel.com; 16104 Main St, Volcano; r incl breakfast $98-127; ☒ ❄ 💻) was built in 1862. The attractive rooms in the grand main hotel share baths, while six bungalows have private baths. In the adjoining bar, brave travelers brace themselves before sipping the historic local tipple, 'Moosemilk.'

Murphys Historic Hotel & Lodge (☎ 209-728-3444, 800-532-7684; www.murphyshotel.com; 457 Main St, Murphys; r midweek $89-109, add $20 weekends; ☒ ⁘) is a trip back in time with shared baths, no phones or TVs, and a creaky saloon. Can't live without TV? Book the adjacent motel.

In Columbia, the co-run City Hotel & Fallon Hotel (☎ 209-532-1479, 800-532-1479; www.cityhotel.com; Fallon Hotel r incl breakfast from $80-145, City Hotel r incl breakfast $115-145) have 24 stunning, museum-worthy rooms. The City Hotel has an acclaimed restaurant (meals $14-30; 🕒 5-9:30pm Tue-Sun, plus 9am-2pm Sun), and Fallon Hotel hosts a repertory theater. Ask about packages.

Busy Sonora is a bit drab, but it's just over an hour from Yosemite National Park (see p1006) and has serviceable midrange hotels. The best is just off Main St: Gunn House Hotel (☎ 209-532-3421; www.gunnhousehotel.com; 286 S Washington St; r $69-109; 🅿 ☒ ⁘ 🏊) has historic rooms that are a work of love. The poolside breakfast room is the place to fuel up before the drive to Yosemite.

GETTING THERE & AROUND

About 26 miles northeast of Sacramento, Hwy 49 intersects I-80 in the town of Auburn. Local bus systems include Gold Country Stage (☎ 530-477-0103), which links Nevada City, Grass Valley and Auburn (fare $1.50 to $3), and Placer County Transit (☎ 530-885-2877). No public transit serves the Southern Mines on Hwy 49.

NORTHERN MOUNTAINS

Remote and eerily beautiful, the Northern Mountains are some of California's least-visited turf; it's an endless show of geological wonders, alpine lakes, rivers and desert. The major peaks – Lassen, Shasta, Lava Beds National Monument and the Trinity Alps – have little geological features in common, but all offer isolated backcountry camping under sparkling night skies. The towns dotted along the region's routes aren't attractions, but they make good places to gas up for the launch into the wild.

Redding to Yreka

Much of the drive north of Redding is dominated by Mt Shasta, a 14,162ft snow-capped monster that rises out of the Central Valley as dramatically as the anticipation felt by outdoor enthusiasts who seek adventure along its slopes. An extremely helpful pit stop just off I-5 is the Shasta-Cascade Wonderland Association (☎ 530-365-1180, 800-474-2782; www.shastacascade.com; 🕒 9am-10pm Mon-Fri, 9am-4pm Sat & Sun). It's 10 miles south of Redding in the Shasta Factory Outlets Mall.

Despite what their brochures may say, Redding itself is a snooze. The best reason to stop is the Sundial Bridge, a glass-deck pedestrian marvel designed by world-class architect Santiago Calatrava. It leads over the Sacramento River and to the Turtle Bay Exploration Park (☎ 800-887-8532; www.turtlebay.org; 840 Auditorium Dr; adult/child 4-12yr $13/9; 🕒 9am-5pm; closed Tue in winter; 👪), a kid-friendly science center.

Eight miles west of Redding on Hwy 299 (the Trinity Scenic Byway) is the Whiskeytown National Recreation Area, home of Whiskeytown Lake, a vast reservoir with hiking, camping and several sandy beaches. The visitor center (☎ 530-246-1225; 🕒 9am-6pm summer, 10am-4:30pm winter) has maps, permits and information. Weaverville, another 35 miles west, is the launching point for mountains, and a lovely detour from Redding. The Weaverville Ranger Station (☎ 530-623-2121; 210 N Main St; 🕒 8am-5pm Mon-Fri, to 4:30pm Sat) issues backcountry permits to surrounding Trinity Alps, some of the most pristine wilderness in California.

North of Redding, I-5 crosses deep-blue Shasta Lake, California's biggest reservoir, which is surrounded by hiking trails and paved RV parks. High in the limestone megaliths at the north end of the lake are the prehistoric caves of Lake Shasta Caverns (☎ 530-238-2341, 800-795-2283; www.lakeshastacaverns.com; adult/child 3-11yr $22/12; 🕒 tours 9am-3pm). Tours come with a pontoon ride.

Teensy Dunsmuir, a historic railroad town, is rustic like its neighbors, but distinguishes itself with a healthy scene for culture and cuisine. If for no other reason, stop to fill your water bottle from the public fountains; Dunsmuir claims it's got the best H_20 on earth.

Gorgeous Mt Shasta town lures climbers, burnouts and back-to-nature types, all of whom revere the majestic mountain that looms overhead with varying degrees of mystical and physical engagement. Mt Shasta visitor center (☎ 530-926-4865, 800-926-4865; www.mtshastachamber.com; 300 Pine St; 🕒 9am-5:30pm Mon-Thu, to 6pm Fri & Sat, to 4pm Sun) is a useful info hub.

Everitt Memorial Hwy climbs the mountain to 7900ft; to access it, simply head east from town on Lake St and keep going. Ask the rangers' advice to find a hiking trail that's a good match for the season and your ability. Ten-thousand-foot-plus climbs require a $20 Summit Pass from the Mt Shasta Ranger Station (☎ 530-926-4511; 204 W Alma St; 🕒 8am-4:30pm Mon-Sat).

Campers note: even in summer, temperatures on the mountain drop below freezing. Ski or board its south slope, off Hwy 89, at Mt Shasta Board & Ski Park (☎ 530-926-8610, 800-754-7427; www.skipark.com); take a mountain bike or chairlift ride in summer.

SLEEPING & EATING

Sleeping and eating listings are ordered south to north. The best option in this part of the state is to camp. Midcentury motels are abundant in all but the remote northeast.

Clustered near major thoroughfares, lodgings in Redding can be noisy. Situated north of downtown on N Main are a few clean, quiet motels; chain options lie along the freeway.

To get out in the wilderness, rent gear in Redding at Hermit's Hut (☎ 888-507-4455; www.hermitshut.com; 3184 Bechelli Ln; 2-person tents $20, backpacks per day $9).

The most memorable indoor stay is in a wood-paneled caboose at the Railroad Park Resort (☎ 530-235-4440, 800-974-7245; www.rrpark.com; d from $115; ❄ 🏊), off I-5 just south of Dunsmuir.

Among Dunsmuir's gourmet eateries is Thai restaurant Sengthongs (☎ 530-235-4770; www.sengthongs.com; 5855 Dunsmuir Ave; mains $15-22; 🕑 5-9pm Thu-Mon). It also hosts live music in an adjoining room.

Even though it's tiny, McCloud has loads of B&Bs, most of which are charming. The intensely scenic three-hour Shasta Sunset Dinner Train (☎ 800-733-2141; www.shastasunset.com; set-price menu $89, tax & drinks extra; 🕑 6pm) departs on weekends.

If you want to carb-up before heading up Shasta or stuff your face after a week of granola, head for Mike and Tony's (☎ 530-926-4792; www.mikeandtonys.net; 501 S Mount Shasta Blvd; dinner mains $16-24; 🕑 5pm-9pm Thu-Mon, to 10pm Fri & Sat) in Mount Shasta town.

Comfy motels line Yreka's Main St, including the Klamath Motor Lodge (☎ 530-842-2751, 800-551-7255; 1111 S Main St; d $64; ❄ 🏊). Ask for the crunchy crust at popular Brickhouse Bakery & Pizzeria (☎ 530-841-0553; 313 W Miner St; dinner mains from $8; 🕑 6:30am-9pm).

GETTING THERE & AROUND

Amtrak trains (☎ 800-872-7245; www.amtrak.com) service Redding and Dunsmuir; Greyhound buses (☎ 800-231-2222; www.greyhound.com) serve Redding and Yreka. Stage buses (☎ 530-842-8295, 800-2478243) cover Siskiyou County from Dunsmuir to Yreka, weekdays only. By car, San Francisco to Redding is 215 miles (four hours). For updated road conditions call Siskiyou County (☎ 530-842-4438).

Northeast Corner

Site of one of the last major Indian wars and a half-million years of volcanic destruction, Lava Beds National Monument is a quiet monument to centuries of turmoil. This park's got it all: lava flows, craters, cinder and spatter cones, and more than 500 lava tubes. It was the site of the Modoc War, and Native Americans maintain a strong presence here today – their ancestors' petroglyphs adorn some cave walls. Info, maps and flashlights (for cave exploring) are available at the visitor center (☎ 530-667-8113; www.nps.gov/labe; 1 Indian Well; 🕑 8am-6pm May-Oct, to 5pm Nov-Sep). Coming from the north on Hwy 161, turn south on Hill Rd to the park's north entrance. Nearby is the park's only campground (campsite $10). The simple sites (no showers) are suitable for tents and small RVs. Free wilderness camping is available; ask at the visitor center.

Winged migrants find safe haven just north at Klamath Basin National Wildlife Refuges, a reserve consisting of six separate refuges. This is a prime stopover on the Pacific Flyway and an important wintering site for bald eagles. The visitor center (☎ 530-667-2231; http://klamathbasinrefuges.fws.gov; 4009 Hill Rd; 🕑 8am-4:30pm Mon-Fri, 10am-4pm Sat & Sun) is along the road to Lava Beds Monument on Hwy 161. Self-guided 10-mile auto tours (free) of the Lower Klamath and Tule Lake reserves provide excellent viewing.

Overall, this area has very few commercial services, though the friendly, tidy Ellis Motel (☎ 530-667-5242; r $50-55, with kitchen extra $5) is 1 mile north of Tulelake on Hwy 139. One of the most popular (and only) restaurants around is Captain Jack's Stronghold (☎ 530-664-5566; mains $8-14; 🕑 8am-8pm Tue-Sun), which is located 5 miles south of Tulelake on Hwy 139 and named for the nearby lava-rock fortress where the Modoc took their final stand.

Modoc National Forest blankets over 3000 sq miles of California's northeast corner. Camping here is free and no reservations are accepted, though you need a permit for a campfire. Medicine Lake, 14 miles south of Lava Beds Monument on Hwy 49, is a pristine, blue, gleaming crater lake surrounded by pine forest, hulking volcanic formations and cool, secluded campgrounds (also free).

Alturas, at the junction of Hwys 299 and 395, is the Modoc County seat, and mostly for local ranchers. The Modoc National Forest Supervisor's Headquarters (☎ 530-233-5811; www.fs.fed.us/r5/modoc; 800 W 12th St; 🕒 8am-4:30pm Mon-Fri) provides hiking info and maps. The Modoc National Wildlife Refuge (☎ 530-233-3572; http://modoc.fws.gov; 🕒 7:30am-4pm Mon-Fri) is 3 miles southeast of Alturas. Just 24 miles east of Alturas, on the California–Nevada border, is the high desert of Surprise Valley, which is the gateway to the wild Warner Mountains.

The region's impressive Lassen Volcanic National Park (per car $10, campsites $16-18) is further south. Steaming hydrothermal sulfur pools and cauldrons, with names like 'Devil's Kitchen,' can be visited at some distance. At 10,457ft Lassen Peak is the world's largest plug-dome volcano. The park has two entrances with visitor centers: the smaller on Hwy 44 at Manzanita Lake, and a newly remodeled one off Hwy 89, where park headquarters (☎ 530-595-4444; www.nps.gov/lavo; 🕒 8am-4:30pm daily Jul-Sep, Mon-Fri Oct-Jun) is located. Hwy 89 through the park is open to cars from June to October (and to cross-country skiers in winter). All camping is first-come, first-served. Outside the park, lodges and cabins line Hwy 89 between Hat Creek and Old Station.

SIERRA NEVADA

The mighty Sierra Nevada – baptized the 'Range of Light' by naturalist John Muir – is California's backbone. This 400-mile phalanx of craggy peaks, chiseled and gouged by glaciers and erosion, both welcomes and challenges outdoors enthusiasts. Cradling three highland national parks (Yosemite, Sequoia and Kings Canyon), the Sierra is a magical wonderland of superlatives, embracing the contiguous USA's highest peak (Mt Whitney), North America's tallest waterfall and the world's biggest trees.

LAKE TAHOE

Shimmering in myriad blues and greens, Lake Tahoe is the nation's second-deepest lake. It straddles the California–Nevada state line. Driving around its spellbinding 72-mile scenic shoreline gives you quite a workout behind the wheel. The north shore is quiet and upscale; the west shore, rugged and old-timey; the east shore, undeveloped; and the south shore, busy and tacky with aging motels and flashy casinos. The horned peaks surrounding the lake are four-seasons playgrounds.

Tahoe gets packed in summer, on winter weekends and around holidays, when reservations are essential. The Lake Tahoe Visitors Authority (☎ 800-288-2463; www.bluelaketahoe.com) and North Lake Tahoe Visitors Bureaus (☎ 888-434-1262; www.gotahoenorth.com) can help with accommodations and vacation packages. Room rates tend to be lowest in South Lake Tahoe. There's camping in state parks and on USFS lands.

South Lake Tahoe & West Shore

With retro motels and eateries lining busy Hwy 50, South Lake Tahoe feels oddly suburban. Gambling at Stateline's casino hotels, just across the Nevada border, attracts thousands, as does the world-class ski resort of Heavenly (☎ 775-586-7000; www.skiheavenly.com; cnr Wildwood Ave & Saddle Rd; 👪). In summer, a trip up the gondola (adult/child $30/20) guarantees fabulous views of the lake and Desolation Wilderness (www.fs.fed.us/r5/ltbmu/recreation/wilderness/desowild). This stark and beautiful landscape of raw granite peaks, glacier-carved valleys and alpine lakes is a favorite of hikers. Get maps, information and overnight wilderness permits at the USFS Taylor Creek Visitor Center (☎ 530-543-2674; Hwy 89; 🕒 8am-5:30pm late May-Sep, to 4:30pm Oct). It's 3 miles north of the 'Y' intersection of Hwys 50 and 89, at Tallac Historic Site (☎ 530-541-5227; admission by donation; 🕒 10am-4:30pm mid-Jun–mid-Sep, Fri & Sat only mid-May–mid-Jun), which preserves early 20th-century vacation estates. Lake Tahoe Cruises (☎ 530-543-6191; www.zephyrcove.com; 2hr narrated tour adult/child $39/15) ply the 'Big Blue' year-round. Back on shore, vegetarian-friendly Sprouts (☎ 530-541-6969; 3123 Harrison Ave/US 50; mains $6-9; 🕒 8am-9pm) is a delish natural-foods café.

Hwy 89 threads northwest along the thickly forested west shore to Emerald Bay State Park (☎ 530-541-6498; entry per car $8, campsites $35; 🕒 late May-Sep), where granite cliffs and pine trees frame a fjordlike inlet, truly sparkling green. A steep 1-mile trail leads down to Vikingsholm Castle (tours adult/child $5/3; 🕒 10am-4pm). From this 1920s Scandinavian-style mansion, the 4.5-mile Rubicon Trail ribbons north along the lakeshore past an old lighthouse and small coves to DL Bliss State Park (☎ 530-525-7277; entry per car $8, walk-in tent sites $7, campsites $35-50), with its sandy beaches. North of Meeks Bay, Tahoma Meadows B&B Cottages (☎ 530-525-1553, 866-525-1533; www.tahomameadows.com; 6821 W Lake Blvd, Tahoma; d incl breakfast $125-199) rents darling country cabins.

North & East Shores

The north shore's commercial hub, Tahoe City is great for grabbing supplies and renting outdoor gear. It's also close to Squaw Valley USA (☎ 530-583-6985; www.squaw.com; off Hwy 89; 👪), a megasized ski resort that hosted the 1960 Winter Olympics. Après-ski crowds gather for beer 'n' burgers at woodsy Bridgetender (☎ 530-583-3342; 65 W Lake Blvd; dishes $6-12; 🕐 11am-11pm, to midnight Thu-Sat) restaurant. Fuel up on French toast and eggs Benedict at down-home Fire Sign Cafe (☎ 530-583-0871; 1785 W Lake Blvd; dishes $6-12; 🕐 7am-3pm).

Little towns farther east are more fetching. In summer, swim or kayak at Tahoe Vista or Kings Beach. For a taste of old Tahoe, spend a night at Rustic Cottages (☎ 530-546-3523, 888-778-7842; www.rusticcottages.com; 7449 N Lake Blvd, Tahoe Vista; cabins incl breakfast $89-230; 🚭 🐕), whose 1940s-era cabins come with full kitchens and modern amenities. Kings Beach has filling eats, including old-world pastas at Lanza's (☎ 530-546-2434; 7739 N Lake Blvd; mains $12-25; 🕐 5-10pm).

Hwy 28 barrels east into Nevada at Crystal Bay. Try your luck at the casinos, including landmark Cal Neva Resort (☎ 775-832-4000; www.calnevaresort.com; 2 Stateline Rd), whose one-time owner Frank Sinatra entertained JFK, Marilyn Monroe and mobsters here in the early 1960s. Or catch a live-music show at Crystal Bay Club Casino (☎ 775-831-0512; 14 Hwy 28; tickets $10-50; 🕐 schedule varies).

With pristine beaches, lakes and miles of multiuse trails, Lake Tahoe-Nevada State Park (☎ 775-831-0494; http://parks.nv.gov/lt.htm; entry per bicycle/car $2/8) is the east shore's biggest draw. Summer crowds splash in the turquoise waters of Sand Harbor. The 15-mile Flume Trail, a mountain biker's holy grail, starts further south at Spooner Lake. Conveniently, you can rent bikes ($45) and arrange shuttles ($13) at the trailhead.

Truckee & Donner Lake

North of the lake off I-80, Truckee is not in fact a truck stop but a thriving mountain town, with organic-coffee shops, trendy boutiques and dining in its historical downtown district. Inside the train depot, the visitor center (☎ 530-587-8808; www.truckee.com; 10065 Donner Pass Rd; 🕐 9am-6pm; 💻 📶) offers free wi-fi and pay-as-you-go internet terminals (per hour $12).

Ski bunnies have several resorts, including glam Northstar-at-Tahoe (☎ 530-562-1010; www.northstarattahoe.com; off Hwy 267, 6mi south of I-80; 👪); Sugar Bowl (☎ 530-426-9000; www.sugarbowl.com; Hwy 40, off I-80 exit 174; 👪), cofounded by Walt Disney; and Royal Gorge (☎ 800-666-3871; www.royalgorge.com; 9411 Hillside Dr, off I-80 exit 174; 👪) cross-country ski resort.

Nearby Donner Summit (7239ft) is where the infamous Donner Party became trapped during the fierce winter of 1846–47. Led astray by an erroneous guidebook, less than half survived – by cannibalizing their dead friends. The grisly tale is chronicled at the Emigrant Trail Museum (adult/child $5/3; 🕐 9am-4pm) inside Donner Memorial State Park (☎ 530-582-7892; Donner Pass Rd, off I-80 exit 184; entry per car $8, walk-in tent sites $7, campsites $35; 🕐 campground mid-May–mid-Sep), where Donner Lake is popular for swimming and windsurfing.

our pick Cedar House Sport Hotel (☎ 530-582-5655, 866-852-5655; www.cedarhousesporthotel.com; 10918 Brockway Rd; r incl breakfast $170-200; 📶) is ecoconscious and green building-certified, and has stylishly modern boutique rooms as well as an outdoor hot tub. For DJs, live jazz and a killer wine list, sophisticated bistro-lounge Moody's (☎ 530-587-8688; 10007 Bridge St; dinner mains $20-38; 🕐 11:30am-9:30pm Sun-Thu, to 10pm Fri & Sat) sources locally ranched meats and seasonal produce. Down pints of 'Donner Party Porter' at Fifty Fifty Brewing Co (☎ 530-587-2337; 11197 Brockway Rd) across the tracks.

Getting There & Around

Major airlines serve Reno-Tahoe International Airport (p835). South Tahoe Express (☎ 866-898-2463; www.southtahoeexpress.com) runs frequent airport shuttles to Stateline ($26, two hours). North Lake Tahoe Express (☎ 866-216-5222; www.northlaketahoeexpress.com) connects the airport with Truckee, Squaw Valley and north-shore towns ($40).

From Truckee's Amtrak depot (10065 Donner Pass Rd), which has daily trains to Sacramento ($39, 4½ hours) and Reno ($17, 1½ hours), Greyhound has twice-daily buses to Reno ($20, one hour), Sacramento ($42, 2½ hours) and San Francisco ($46, six hours). Amtrak's Thruway buses connect Sacramento with South Lake Tahoe ($34, 2½ hours).

Tahoe Area Rapid Transit (TART; ☎ 530-581-3922; www.laketahoetransit.com; single-ride/day pass $1.75/3.50) runs local buses to Truckee and around the north and west shores. South Lake Tahoe is served by BlueGO (☎ 530-541-7149; www.bluego.org; single-ride/day pass $2/6), which operates a summer-only trolley up the west shore to Tahoma, connecting with TART.

Hwy 89 (Emerald Bay Rd) may partly close in winter, when tire chains are often required on I-80 and US 50.

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK

There's a reason why everybody's heard of it: the granite-peak heights are dizzying, the mist from thunderous waterfalls drenching, the Technicolor wildflower meadows amazing, and the majestic, hulking silhouettes of El Capitan and Half Dome almost shocking against a crisp blue sky. It's a landscape of dreams, relentlessly surrounding us oh-so-small people on all sides. Then, alas, the hiss and belch of another tour bus, disgorging dozens, rudely breaks the spell. While staggering crowds can't be ignored, these rules will shake most of 'em:

- Avoid summer. Spring's best, especially when waterfalls gush in May. Autumn is blissfully peaceful, and snowy winter days can be magical too.
- Park your car and leave it – simply by hiking a short distance up almost any trail, you'll lose the car-dependent majority of visitors.
- To hell with jet lag. Get up early, or go for moonlit hikes and do unforgettable stargazing.

Orientation & Information

Yosemite's entrance fee ($20 per car, $10 on bicycle, motorcycle or foot) is valid for seven days and includes a free map and helpful newspaper guide. The primary entrances are: Arch Rock (Hwy 140), South Entrance (Hwy 41), Big Oak Flat (Hwy 120 west) and Tioga Pass (Hwy 120 east). Open seasonally, Hwy 120 traverses the park as Tioga Rd (see boxed text, p1011), connecting Yosemite Valley with Hwy 395 in the Eastern Sierra Nevada (p1012).

Overrun, traffic-choked Yosemite Village is home to the park's main visitor center, museum, general store and many other services. Curry Village is another Yosemite Valley hub, offering showers, self-service laundry and outdoor equipment rental and sales, including for camping. Along scenic Tioga Rd, Tuolumne (pronounced twol-uh-mee) Meadows draws hikers, backpackers and climbers to the park's northern region. Wawona, near the southern entrance, has a pioneer-history village, golf course and giant sequoias.

Yosemite Village, Curry Village and Wawona stores all have ATMs. Fill up the tank before entering the park, or buy high-priced gas at Wawona or Crane Flat year-round or at Tuolumne Meadows in summer.

SCENIC DRIVES IN THE SIERRA NEVADA

- Lake Tahoe Eastshore Dr (Hwy 28 & US 50; p1005) – coast beside the 'Big Blue'
- Tioga Rd (Hwy 120; p1008) – Yosemite's rooftop of the world
- Generals Hwy (Hwy 198; p1010) – historic byway past giant sequoias
- Kings Canyon Scenic Byway (Hwy 180; p1010) – dive into North America's deepest canyon
- Eastern Sierra Scenic Byway (US 395; p1012) – where snowy mountains overshadow the desert

Peak summer hours are listed below for the following:

Post office (☎ 209-372-4475; 9017 Village Dr, Yosemite Village; 🕒 8:30-5pm Mon-Fri, 10am-noon Sat)

Public library (☎ 209-372-4552; www.mariposalibrary.org; Girls Club Bldg, 58 Cedar Ct, Yosemite Valley; 🕒 8:30am-11:30am Mon, 10am-2pm Tue, 8:30am-12:30pm Wed, 4-7pm Thu; 💻) Two free internet terminals.

Yosemite Lodge at the Falls (☎ 209-372-1274; Northside Dr, Yosemite Valley; per 10min $1; 💻) Self-service internet kiosks.

Yosemite Medical Clinic (☎ 209-372-4637; Ahwahnee Dr, Yosemite Valley; 🕒 8am-7pm, emergencies 24hr) Also runs a dental clinic.

Yosemite Valley Visitor Center (☎ 209-372-0200; www.nps.gov/yose; Yosemite Village; 🕒 9am-7:30pm) Smaller visitor centers at Wawona, Tuolumne Meadows and Big Oak Flat are open seasonally.

Valley Wilderness Center (☎ 209-372-0740; Yosemite Village; 🕒 7:30am-5pm) Backcountry permits and bear-canister rentals also available seasonally at Wawona, Tuolumne Meadows and Big Oak Flat.

Sights

YOSEMITE VALLEY

From the ground up, this dramatic valley cut by the meandering Merced River is song-inspiring: rippling green meadow-grass; stately pines; cool, impassive pools reflecting looming granite monoliths and cascading, glacier-cold whitewater ribbons.

You can't ignore monumental El Capitan (7569ft), an El Dorado for rock climbers, while toothed Half Dome (8842ft) is Yosemite's spiritual centerpiece. The classic photo-op is up Hwy 41 at Tunnel View. Sweat it out and you'll get better views – sans crowds – from the Inspiration Point Trail (2.6 miles round-trip), starting near the tunnel. Early or late in the day, head up the 2-mile round-trip trail to Mirror Lake to catch the ever-shifting reflection of Half Dome in the still waters, full only in spring and early summer.

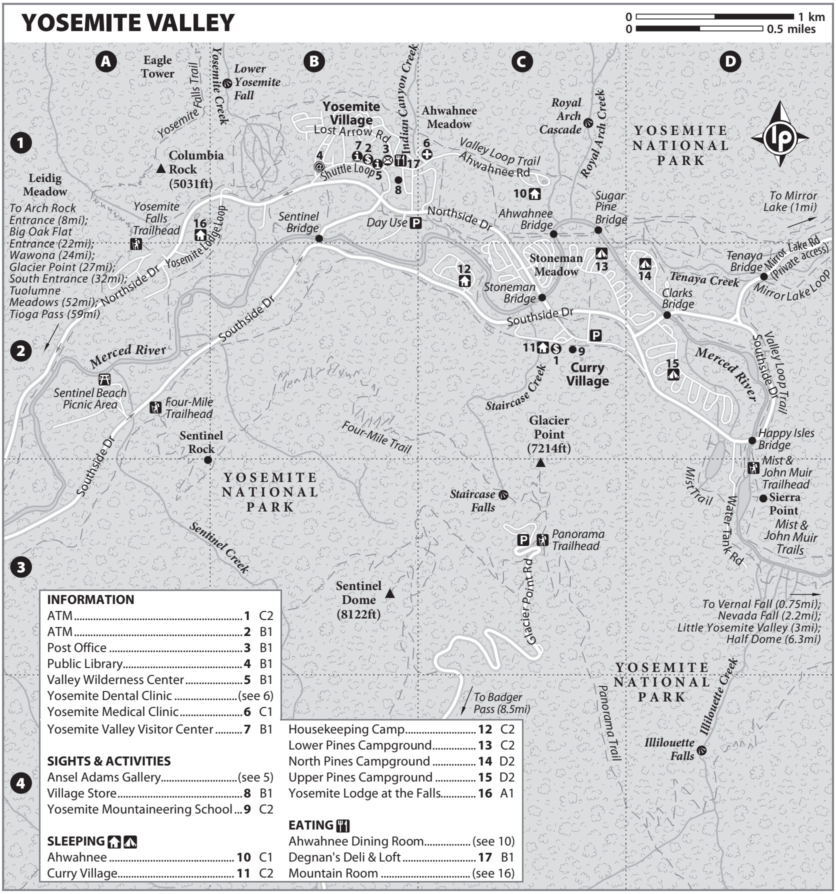
Spring snowmelt turns the valley's famous waterfalls into thunderous cataracts; most are reduced to a mere trickle by late summer. Yosemite Falls is North America's tallest, dropping 2425ft in three tiers. A wheelchair-accessible trail leads to the bottom of this cascade or, for solitude and different perspectives, you can trek the grueling trail to the top (7.2 miles round-trip). No less impressive are nearby Bridalveil Fall and other waterfalls scattered throughout the valley. A strenuous staircase climb (see p1008) beside Vernal Fall leads you, gasping, right to the top edge of the falls for a vertical view – look for rainbows in the clouds of mist.

GLACIER POINT & WAWONA

Rising 3200ft above the valley floor, dramatic Glacier Point (7214ft) practically puts you at eye level with Half Dome. It's about an hour's drive from Yosemite Valley up Glacier Point Rd (usually open late May to mid-November) off Hwy 41, or a strenuous hike along the Four-Mile Trail (actually, 4.8 miles one way) or the less-crowded, waterfall-strewn Panorama Trail (8.5 miles one way). To avoid backtracking, reserve a seat on the hikers' shuttle bus (p1009).

At Wawona, a 45-minute drive south of Yosemite Valley, drop by the Pioneer Yosemite

YOSEMITE VALLEY



0 1 km
0 0.5 miles
A
B
C
D
1
2
3
4
Eagle Tower
Lower Yosemite Fall
Yosemite Falls Trail
Yosemite Creek
Yosemite Village
Lost Arrow Rd
Indian Canyon Creek
Ahwahnee Meadow
Royal Arch Cascade
Royal Arch Creek
YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK
Columbia Rock (5031ft)
Leidig Meadow
Shuttle Loop
Valley Loop Trail
Ahwahnee Rd
To Mirror Lake (1mi)
To Arch Rock Entrance (8mi); Big Oak Flat Entrance (22mi); Wawona (24mi); Glacier Point (27mi); South Entrance (32mi); Tuolumne Meadows (52mi); Tioga Pass (59mi)
Yosemite Falls Trailhead
Yosemite Lodge Loop Sentinel Bridge
Day Use
Northside Dr
Ahwahnee Bridge
Sugar Pine Bridge
Stoneman Meadow
Tenaya Bridge
Mirror Lake Rd (Private access)
Tenaya Creek
Mirror Lake Loop
Stoneman Bridge
Clarks Bridge
Southside Dr
Merced River
Curry Village
Valley Loop Trail
Sentinel Beach Picnic Area
Four-Mile Trailhead
Staircase Creek
Glacier Point (7214ft)
Four-Mile Trail
Sentinel Rock
Happy Isles Bridge
Mist & John Muir Trailhead
Mist Trail
Sierra Point
Water Tank Rd
Mist & John Muir Trails Staircase Falls
Panorama Trailhead
Sentinel Creek
Sentinel Dome (8122ft)
Glacier Point Rd
To Vernal Fall (0.75mi); Nevada Fall (2.2mi); Little Yosemite Valley (3mi); Half Dome (6.3mi)
To Badger Pass (8.5mi)
Panorama Trail
Illilouette Creek
Illilouette Falls

INFORMATION
ATM	1	C2
ATM	2	B1
Post Office	3	B1
Public Library	4	B1
Valley Wilderness Center	5	B1
Yosemite Dental Clinic	(see 6)
Yosemite Medical Clinic	6	C1
Yosemite Valley Visitor Center	7	B1
SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES
Ansel Adams Gallery	(see 5)
Village Store	8	B1
Yosemite Mountaineering School	9	C2
SLEEPING
Ahwahnee	10	C1
Curry Village	11	C2
Housekeeping Camp	12	C2
Lower Pines Campground	13	C2
North Pines Campground	14	D2
Upper Pines Campground	15	D2
Yosemite Lodge at the Falls	16	A1
EATING
Ahwahnee Dining Room	(see 10)
Degnan's Deli & Loft	17	B1
Mountain Room	(see 16)

DARKROOM SHOW

Few know about it, but original Ansel Adams photographic prints are shown at Yosemite Valley's Ansel Adams Gallery (☎ 209-372-4413; www.anseladams.com; Yosemite Village; 🕒 9am-5pm, later in summer). The curator-led 'Fine Print' tour is limited to five people; call in advance to reserve a spot. For budding photographers, free guided 'Camera Walks' are offered at 8:30am thrice weekly in summer; space is limited to 15 people.

History Center, with its covered bridge, pioneer cabins and historic Wells Fargo office. Farther south, wander giddily in the Mariposa Grove, home of the 1800-year-old Grizzly Giant and other giant sequoias (see p1012).

TUOLUMNE MEADOWS

A 90-minute drive from Yosemite Valley, Tuolumne Meadows (8600ft) is the Sierra Nevada's largest subalpine meadow. It's a vivid contrast to the valley, with wildflower fields, azure lakes, ragged granite peaks and domes, and cooler temperatures. Hikers and climbers will find a paradise of options; swimming and picnicking by lakes are also popular. Access is via scenic Tioga Rd (Hwy 120; see boxed text, p1011), which follows a 19th-century wagon road and older Native American trading route. West of the meadows and Tenaya Lake, stop at Olmsted Point for epic vistas of Half Dome.

HETCH HETCHY

It's the site of perhaps the most controversial dam in US history. Despite not existing in its natural state, Hetch Hetchy Valley remains pretty and mostly crowd-free. It's a 40-minute drive northwest of Yosemite Valley. Wapama Falls, approached via a 5-mile round-trip hike across the dam and through a tunnel, lets you get thrillingly close to an avalanche of water crashing down into the sparkling reservoir. In spring, you'll get drenched.

Activities

HIKING & BACKPACKING

With over 800 miles of varied hiking trails, it's hard to know where to go. Easy valley floor trails can get jammed; escape the teeming masses by heading up. The ultimate hike summits Half Dome (14 miles round-trip), but be warned: it's strenuous, difficult and best tackled in two days. It's rewarding to hike just as far as the top of Vernal Fall (3 miles round-trip) or Nevada Fall (5.8 miles round-trip) via the Mist Trail. A longer, alternate route to Half Dome follows a more gently graded section of the long-distance John Muir Trail.

Wilderness permits are required year-round for overnight trips. A quota system limits the number of people leaving from each trailhead. Make reservations (☎ 209-372-0740; www.nps.gov/yose/planyourvisit/wildpermits.htm; permit fee $5, plus $5 per person) up to 24 weeks before your trip, or try your luck grabbing a permit at a wilderness center on the day before or morning of your hike.

ROCK CLIMBING

With sheer spires, polished domes and soaring monoliths, Yosemite is rock-climbing nirvana. Yosemite Mountaineering School (YMS; ☎ 209-372-8344; www.yosemitemountaineering.com; Curry Village; 🕒 Apr-Oct) offers topflight instruction for novice to advanced climbers, plus guided climbs and equipment rental. During peak summer season, YMS also operates at Tuolumne Meadows.

WINTER SPORTS

Head up to Badger Pass (☎ 209-372-8430; www.badgerpass.com; 🕒 9am-4pm mid-Dec–late Mar, weather permitting; 👶), whose gentle slopes are perfect for beginning skiers and snowboarders. Cross-country skiers can schuss along 40km of groomed tracks and 150km of marked trails, which are also great for snowshoers. Equipment rental and lessons are available. In Yosemite Valley, an ice-skating rink (☎ 209-372-8319; Curry Village; adult/child $8/6, skate rental $3; 🕒 hours vary) opens in winter.

Sleeping & Eating

Concessionaire Delaware North Companies (DNC; ☎ 801-559-4884; www.yosemitepark.com) has a monopoly on park lodging and eating establishments, including mostly forgettable food courts, cafeteria buffets and snack bars. All park accommodations, campgrounds and eateries are shown on the free map and newspaper guide given out to visitors as they enter the park. Lodging reservations (available up to 366 days in advance) are essential from May to September. In summer, DNC sets up simple canvas-tent cabins at riverside Housekeeping Camp (cabins $73) in Yosemite Valley and busy Tuolumne Meadows Lodge (cabins $95) and serene White Wolf Lodge (cabins $88-96) off Tioga Rd. Tuolumne Meadows is about a 90-minute drive northeast of the valley, while White Wolf is an hour away.

Curry Village (Yosemite Valley; tent cabins $95-97, cabins without/with bath $102/140, cottage r $179; 🕒 Apr–mid-Oct; 👪) With a nostalgic summer-camp atmosphere, Curry Village has hundreds of helter-skelter units scattered beneath towering evergreens. Tent cabins resemble Civil War army barracks with scratchy wool blankets; wooden cabins are smaller but cozy.

Yosemite Lodge at the Falls (Northside Rd, Yosemite Valley; r $179-207; 💻 📶) Spacious motel-style rooms have patios or balconies overlooking Yosemite Falls, meadows or the parking lot. Fork into grass-fed steaks, river trout and organic veggies at the lodge's Mountain Room (dinner mains $16 to $30), open nightly (no reservations). The casual lounge offers the same menu and has a convivial open-pit fireplace.

Wawona Hotel (Wawona Rd, Wawona; r without/with bath incl breakfast buffet $145/217; ☒ 🏊) Filled with ghosts and character, this Victorian-era throwback has wide porches, manicured lawns and a golf course. Half the thin-walled rooms share baths and need some paint and attention. The romantic dining room with vintage details serves three gourmet Western meals a day (dinner mains $17 to $33). Wawona is about a 45-minute drive south of the valley.

Ahwahnee (Ahwahnee Dr, Yosemite Valley; r from $488; 📶 🏊) Sleep where Charlie Chaplin, Eleanor Roosevelt and JFK bedded down at this national historic landmark, built in 1927. Browse the artisan gift shop, and then sit a spell by the roaring fireplace beneath soaring sugar-pine timbers. Skip the formal dining room, serving only mediocre Californian fare (dinner mains $30 to $50), for the lobby bar with its signature inspired cocktails.

Degnan's Deli & Loft (Yosemite Village; mains $6-21; 🕒 deli 7am-5pm year-round, restaurant 4-9pm Mon-Fri, noon-9pm Sat & Sun Apr-Oct; 👪) Grab a custom-made deli sandwich and bag of chips downstairs before hitting the trail. After dark, head upstairs for pool tables, cold brewskies and crispy pizzas.

CAMPING

All campgrounds have bearproof lockers and campfire rings; most have potable water.

In summer, most campgrounds are noisy and booked to bulging, especially North Pines (campsites $20; 🕒 mid-Mar–Nov), Lower Pines (campsites $20; 🕒 Mar-Oct) and Upper Pines (campsites $20; 🕒 year-round) in Yosemite Valley and Tuolumne Meadows (campsites $20; 🕒 Jul-late Sep) off Tioga Rd, a 90-minute drive northeast of the valley. In summer, some campgrounds require reservations (☎ 518-885-3639, 877-444-6777; www.recreation.gov), which are available up to five months in advance.

Camp 4 (shared tent sites per person $5; 🕒 year-round), a rock climber's hangout in the valley, and Bridalveil Creek (campsites $14; 🕒 Jul-early Sep), a 45-minute drive south of the valley off Glacier Point Rd, are first-come, first-served and often full by noon, especially on weekends. Looking for a quieter, more rugged experience? Try smaller spots like Tamarack Flat (campsites $10; 🕒 late Jun-Sep), Yosemite Creek (tent sites $10; 🕒 Jul-early Sep) and Porcupine Flat (campsites $10; 🕒 Jul–mid-Oct) off Tioga Rd, 45 minutes to 1¼ hours' drive northeast of the valley.

OUTSIDE YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK

Gateway towns with sometimes better-value lodgings include Fish Camp, Oakhurst, El Portal, Midpines, Mariposa, Groveland and Lee Vining.

Yosemite Bug (☎ 209-966-6666, 866-826-7108; www.yosemitebug.com; 6979 Hwy 140, Midpines; dm $22-25, tent cabins $35-55, r $75-155, cabins with shared bath $65-85; 💻 📶) Tucked into a forest about 25 miles west of Yosemite Valley, this rustic mountain hostelry hosts globetrotters who dig the clean rooms, yoga studio and spa, swimming hole, shared kitchen access and laundry. The café's fresh, organic and vegetarian-friendly meals (mains $5 to $15) get raves.

our pick Evergreen Lodge (☎ 209-379-2606, 800-935-6343; www.evergreenlodge.com; 33160 Evergreen Rd, Groveland; tents $50-90, cabins $145-299; ☒ 💻 📶) Near the entrance to Hetch Hetchy, this welcoming resort lets roughing-it guests cheat with comfy, prefurnished tents and deluxe mountain cabins. Outdoor recreational activities abound, with equipment rentals available. There's a tavern, general store, bar with pool tables and restaurant (dinner mains $18 to $30) serving three hearty meals every day.

Narrow Gauge Inn (☎ 559-683-7720, 888-644-9050; www.narrowgaugeinn.com; 48571 Hwy 41, Fish Camp; r incl breakfast $120-195; 🕒 restaurant 5:30-9pm Wed-Sun mid-Apr–mid-Oct; ❄ 📶 🏊) Swiss chalet–esque, this small inn has 26 comfy rooms, each with balcony or patio, and the Yosemite Mountain Sugar Pine steam railway next door. The 'buffalo bar' is authentic, and elk, venison and rib-eye appear on the Euro-Cal menu. It's 4 miles south of the park.

Getting There & Around

The nearest Greyhound and Amtrak stations are in Merced. Yarts (☎ 209-388-9589, 877-989-2787; www.yarts.com) buses travel from Merced to the park along Hwy 140, stopping at towns along the way. In summer, Yarts buses run from Mammoth Lakes (p1012) along Hwy 120 via Tioga Pass. One-way tickets including the park-entry fee cost $25 from Merced, $30 from Mammoth Lakes.

Free shuttle buses loop around Yosemite Valley and, in summer, the Tuolumne Meadows and Wawona areas. DNC runs hikers' buses from the valley to Tuolumne Meadows ($14.50/$23) or Glacier Point (one way/round-trip $25/41). Bike rentals (per hour/day $9.50/25.50) are available at Yosemite Lodge and Curry Village, both in the valley. In winter, valley roads are plowed and the highways to the parks are kept open (except Tioga Rd/Hwy 120) – although snow chains may be required – and a free twice-daily shuttle bus connects Yosemite Valley with Badger Pass.

SEQUOIA & KINGS CANYON NATIONAL PARKS

In these neighboring parks, the famous rust-red giant sequoia trees are bigger – up to 30 stories high! – and more numerous than anywhere else in the Sierra Nevada. Tough and fire-charred, they'd easily swallow two freeway lanes each. Giant, too, are the mountains – including Mt Whitney (14,505ft), the tallest peak in the lower 48 states. Finally, there is the giant Kings Canyon, carved out of granite by ancient glaciers and a powerful river. These are what lure the vast majority of 1.5 million annual visitors here; however, for quiet, solitude and close-up sightings of wildlife, including black bears, hit the trail to quickly lose yourself in the epic wilderness.

Orientation & Information

Sequoia was designated a national park in 1890; Kings Canyon, in 1940. Though distinct, the two parks operate as one unit with a single admission fee (valid for seven days) of $20 per car, $10 on motorcycle, bicycle or foot. For updates and general info, call ☎ 559-565-3341 or check the park website (www.nps.gov/seki).

From the south, Hwy 198 enters Sequoia National Park beyond the town of Three Rivers at Ash Mountain, from where it ascends the zigzagging Generals Hwy. From the west, Hwy 180 leads to the Big Stump entrance near Grant Grove before plunging into Kings Canyon.

Lodgepole Village (☎ 559-565-4436), in Sequoia, and Grant Grove Village (☎ 559-565-4307), in Kings Canyon, are the main hubs. Both have year-round visitor centers, post offices, markets, ATMs and public showers (summer only). Foothills Visitor Center (☎ 559-565-3135) at Ash Mountain is open year-round. Cedar Grove Visitor Center (☎ 559-565-3793) and the Mineral King Ranger Station (☎ 559-565-3768) are open during summer. Check the free park newspaper for opening hours of visitor centers and other services.

Expensive gas is available at Hume Lake (year-round) and Stony Creek (summer only) outside park boundaries on national forest land.

Sights

SEQUOIA NATIONAL PARK

We dare you to try hugging the trees in Giant Forest, a 3-sq-mile grove protecting the park's most gargantuan specimens; the world's biggest is the General Sherman Tree. With sore arms and sticky sap fingers, lose the crowds by venturing onto any of the many forested trails (bring a map).

Two miles south is the kid-friendly Giant Forest Museum (☎ 559-565-4480; 🕓 9am-4:30pm, to 7pm in summer; 👪). More hiking trails start there, including a wheelchair-accessible route. For 360-degree views of the Great Western Divide, climb the steep quarter-mile staircase up Moro Rock.

Discovered in 1918, Crystal Cave (☎ 559-565-3759; www.sequoiahistory.org; adult/child $11/6; 🕓 open early May-late Oct, tour hours vary; 👪) has marble formations estimated to be 10,000 years old. Tickets for the 45-minute basic tour are available at the Lodgepole and Foothills visitor centers, not at the cave. Bring a jacket as it's chilly.

Worth a detour is Mineral King, a late-19th-century mining and logging camp ringed by craggy peaks and alpine lakes. The 25-mile one-way scenic drive – navigating over 700 hair-raising hairpin turns – is usually open from late May to late October.

KINGS CANYON NATIONAL PARK

North of Grant Grove Village, General Grant Grove brims with majestic giants. Beyond here, Hwy 180 begins its 35-mile descent into Kings Canyon, serpentining past chiseled rock walls laced with spring waterfalls. Near Boyden Cavern (☎ 559-338-0959; 45min tour adult/child $13/6.50; 🕓 May–mid-Nov; 👪) the road meets the Kings River, its roar ricocheting off granite cliffs soaring over 4000ft high, making this one of North America's deepest canyons.

Cedar Grove Village is the last outpost of civilization before the rugged grandeur of the Sierra Nevada backcountry. A popular day hike climbs 4 miles one way to roaring Mist Falls from Roads End; continue alongside the river 2.5 more miles to Paradise Valley. A favorite of birders, an easy 1.5-mile nature trail loops around Zumwalt Meadow, just west of Roads End. Watch for rattlesnakes, black bear and mule deer.

Activities

Hiking is why people come here – with over 800 miles of marked trails to prove it. Cedar Grove and Mineral King offer the best backcountry access. Trails usually begin to open by mid-May, though there's hiking year-round in the Foothills area. Overnight backcountry trips require wilderness permits ($15), subject to a quota system in summer; for details, see www.nps.gov/seki/planyourvisit/wilderness.htm.

You can take a naturalist-led field trip with the Sequoia Natural History Association (SNHA; ☎ 559-565-3759; www.sequoiahistory.org). Horseback riding is offered at Grant Grove Village (☎ 559-335-9292) and the Cedar Grove Pack Station (☎ 559-565-3464). In summer, cool off by swimming at Hume Lake, on national forest land off Hwy 180, and at riverside swimming holes in both parks. In winter, you can cross-country ski or snowshoe among the snow-draped giant sequoias. Equipment rental is available at Grant Grove Village and Wuksachi Lodge; for the best cross-country skiing and other winter sports, visit old-fashioned Montecito Sequoia Lodge (right) off the Generals Hwy between the two parks.

Sleeping & Eating

Outside Sequoia's southern entrance, several independent and chain motels line Hwy 198 through unexciting Three Rivers town.

John Muir Lodge & Grant Grove Cabins (☎ 559-335-5500, 866-522-6966; www.sequoia-kingscanyon.com; Hwy 180, Grant Grove Village; d $62-188; 📶) Woodsy lodge has good-sized, if generic, rooms and a cozy lobby with a stone fireplace and board games. Oddly assorted cabin types range from thin-walled canvas tents to nicely furnished historical cottages with private bathrooms.

Cedar Grove Lodge (☎ 559-335-5500, 866-522-6966; www.sequoia-kingscanyon.com; Hwy 180, Cedar Grove Village; r $119-135; 🕑 mid-May–mid-Oct; 📶) The 21 motel-style rooms with common porches overlooking Kings River are simple and well worn, but they're still your best option down the canyon.

Montecito Sequoia Lodge (☎ 559-565-3388, 800-227-9900; www.mslodge.com; 63410 Generals Hwy, btwn Sequoia & Kings Canyon National Parks; d incl meals $119-169; 👪) Basic, recently renovated rooms include all meals. Family-fun camps keep things raucous all summer long; in winter there's cross-country skiing lessons and 50 miles of groomed trails.

Wuksachi Lodge (☎ 559-565-4070, 866-807-3598; www.visitsequoia.com; 64670 Wuksachi Way, 4 miles north of Lodgepole Village; r $181-241; 📶) Don't be misled by the grand lobby – because oversized motel-style rooms are nothing to brag about. For an unforgettable wilderness adventure, the lodge's Bearpaw High Sierra Camp (tent cabin per person, including meals, $175) is open from mid-June to mid-September.

Camping reservations (☎ 518-885-3639, 877-444-6777; www.recreation.gov) are accepted only at Lodgepole and Dorst in Sequoia National Park. The parks' dozen other campgrounds are first-come, first-served. Most have flush toilets; sites cost $12 to $20. Lodgepole, Azalea, Potwisha and South Fork are open year-round. Overflow camping is available in the surrounding Sequoia National Forest.

The markets in Grant Grove, Lodgepole and Cedar Grove have limited, pricey groceries; the latter two have snack bars serving burgers and basic meals for under $10. The Wuksachi Lodge's upscale restaurant (☎ 559-565-4070; dinner mains $18-33; 🕒 7-10am, 11am-2:30pm & 5-9:45pm) is hit-or-miss.

IMPASSABLE TIOGA PASS

Hwy 120 is the only road connecting Yosemite National Park with the Eastern Sierra, climbing through Tioga Pass (9945ft). Most California maps mark this road 'closed in winter,' which, while literally true, is also misleading. Tioga Rd is usually closed from the first heavy snowfall in October or November until May or June. If you are planning a trip through Tioga Pass in spring, you'll likely be out of luck. The earliest date that the road through the pass is plowed is April 15, yet it has only opened in April once since 1980. In 1998, it didn't open until July 1! Call ☎ 209-372-0200 or check the website (www.nps.gov/yose/planyourvisit/conditions.htm) for current road and weather conditions.

Getting There & Around

In summer, free shuttle buses cover the Giant Forest and Lodgepole Village areas of Sequoia National Park, while the Sequoia Shuttle (☎ 877-287-4453; www.sequoiashuttle.com) connects the park with Three Rivers and Visalia (round-trip fare $10 to $15), with onward connections to Amtrak (p1166); reservations are required. Currently, there is no public transportation into Kings Canyon National Park.

EASTERN SIERRA

Vast, empty and majestic, here jagged peaks plummet down into the Great Basin desert, a dramatic juxtaposition that creates a potent scenery cocktail. Hwy 395 runs the entire length of the Sierra Nevada range, with turnoffs leading to pine forests, wildflower-strewn meadows, placid lakes, simmering hot springs and glacier-gouged canyons. Hikers, backpackers, mountain bikers, fishers and skiers love to escape here. The main visitor hubs are Mammoth Lakes and Bishop.

At Bodie State Historic Park (☎ 760-647-6445; adult/child $5/3; 🕒 8am-6pm Jun-Aug, 8am-4pm Sep-May), a gold-rush ghost town is preserved in a state of 'arrested decay.' Weathered buildings sit frozen in time on a dusty, windswept plain. To get there, head east for 13 miles (the last three unpaved) on Hwy 270, about 7 miles south of Bridgeport. The access road is often closed in winter.

SUPERSIZED FORESTS

In California you can stand under the world's oldest trees (ancient bristlecone pines, see right) and its tallest (coast redwoods, see p998), but the record for biggest in terms of volume belongs to the giant sequoias (Sequoiadendron giganteum). They grow only on the western slope of the Sierra Nevada range and are most abundant in Sequoia, Kings Canyon and Yosemite National Parks. John Muir called them 'Nature's forest masterpiece,' and anyone who's ever craned their neck to take in their soaring vastness has probably done so with the same awe. These trees can grow 300ft tall and nearly 40ft in diameter with bark up to 2ft thick. The Giant Forest Museum (p1010) in Sequoia National Park has exhibits about the trees' unusual ecology.

Further south, Mono Lake (www.monolake.org) is famous for its unearthly tufa towers, which rise from the alkaline water like drip sand castles. The best photo ops are from the south shore's Mono Lake Tufa State Natural Reserve (admission $3). Off Hwy 395, Mono Basin Scenic Area Visitor Center (☎ 760-647-3044; 🕒 8am-5pm Mon-Fri, 8am-7pm Sat & Sun Jun-Aug, shorter hours Sep-May) has excellent exhibits and schedules of guided walks and talks. From the nearby town of Lee Vining, Hwy 120 heads west into Yosemite National Park via the Tioga Pass (see boxed text, p1011).

Continuing south on Hwy 395, detour along the scenic 16-mile June Lake Loop or push on to Mammoth Lakes, a fast-growing four-seasons resort guarded by 11,053ft Mammoth Mountain (☎ 760-934-2571, 800-626-6684; www.mammothmountain.com; 1 Minaret Rd; ski-lift tickets adult/child $69/34; 👪), a top-notch skiing area. The slopes morph into a mountain-bike park in summer, when there's also camping, fishing and day hiking in the Mammoth Lakes Basin and Reds Meadow areas. Nearby are the near-vertical, 60ft-high basalt columns of Devil's Postpile National Monument, formed by volcanic activity. Hot-springs fans can soak in the boiling-hot pools of the Hot Creek Geological Site (admission free; 🕒 sunrise-sunset), 3 miles south of town. The Mammoth Lakes Welcome Center & Ranger Station (☎ 760-924-5500, 888-466-2666; www.visitmammoth.com; Hwy 203; 🕒 8am-5pm Mon-Fri) has maps and information about all of these places.

Farther south, Hwy 395 descends into the Owens Valley, soon arriving in frontier-flavored Bishop, whose minor attractions include art galleries and an interesting railroad museum. Bishop provides access to the best fishing and rock climbing in the entire Eastern Sierra, and it's the main gateway for packhorse trips. Covered sidewalks and vintage neon signs line Bishop's busy main street.

To check out some of the earth's oldest living things, budget a half-day for the thrilling trip up to the Ancient Bristlecone Pine Forest (☎ 760-873-2500). These gnarled, otherworldly looking trees are found above 10,000ft on the slopes of the parched White Mountains, where you'd think nothing could grow. The oldest tree – called Methuselah – is estimated to be over 4700 years old. The road (usually open May to October) is paved to the top, where there are hikes of varying length, primitive camping and a visitor

DON'T MISS

- Bodie State Historic Park (opposite) – a real gold-rush ghost town
- Mono Lake (opposite) – unearthly, mysterious-looking mineral formations
- Whoa Nellie Deli (right) – creative comfort food, like buffalo meatloaf
- Ancient Bristlecone Pine Forest (opposite) – the world's oldest living trees
- Manzanar National Historic Site (below) – uncensored history of WWII-era internment camps center. From Hwy 395, take Hwy 168 east for 12 miles and then head uphill another 10 miles from the marked turnoff.

Hwy 395 barrels on south to Independence and Manzanar National Historic Site (☎ 760-878-2194; www.nps.gov/manz; 5001 Hwy 395; admission free; ⏰ sunrise-sunset, visitor center 9am-4:30pm, to 5:30pm Apr-Oct), which memorializes the war relocation camp where some 10,000 Japanese Americans were unjustly interned during WWII following the attack on Pearl Harbor. Interpretive exhibits and a short film vividly chronicle life at the camp.

South of here, in Lone Pine, you finally catch a glimpse of Mt Whitney (14,505ft), the highest mountain in the lower 48 states. The heart-stopping, 11-mile scenic drive up Whitney Portal Road (closed in winter) is spectacular. Climbing the peak is hugely popular, but requires a permit issued on a lottery basis. For details, consult www.fs.fed.us/r5/inyo or stop by the Eastern Sierra InterAgency Visitor Center (☎ 760-876-6222; ⏰ 8am-5pm) at the Hwy 395/136 junction. West of Lone Pine, the bizarrely shaped boulders of the Alabama Hills have enchanted filmmakers of such Hollywood Western classics as How the West Was Won (1962). Peruse vintage memorabilia and movie posters at the Museum of Lone Pine Film History (☎ 760-876-9909; www.lonepinefilmhistorymuseum.org; 701 S Main St; admission $5; ⏰ 10am-6pm Mon-Wed, 10am-7pm Thu-Sat, 10am-4pm Sun).

Sleeping

The Eastern Sierra is freckled with campgrounds. Backcountry camping requires fire permits (including for campstoves), available free at any ranger station. Bishop, Lone Pine and Bridgeport have the most motels. Mammoth Lakes has countless inns, B&Bs and condo and vacation rentals

Dow Hotel & Dow Villa Motel (☎ 760-876-5521, 800-824-9317; www.dowvillamotel.com; 310 S Main St; r $50-135; ⊠ 📶 🏊) John Wayne and Errol Flynn are among the movie stars who have stayed at this venerable hotel. Built in 1922, it has been restored with rustic charm, though modern motel rooms are generic.

Redwood Motel (☎ 760-932-7060, 888-932-3292; www.redwoodmotel.net; 425 Main St, Bridgeport; d $70-110; ⏰ mid-Mar–early Dec; ❄ 📶) A cow in a Hawaiian shirt and other wacky farm animal sculptures give a cheerful welcome to this spotless motel. Your host will shower you with travel tips. There is limited free wi-fi.

Winnedumah Hotel (☎ 760-878-2040; www.winnedumah.com; 211 N Edwards St, Independence; r incl breakfast $85-130) Off the beaten path, this 1927 country-style inn with welcoming owners was once a popular movie-star hangout when the cameras were rolling in the nearby Alabama Hills.

Tamarack Lodge & Resort (☎ 760-934-2442, 800-626-6684; www.tamaracklodge.com; off Lake Mary Rd, Mammoth Lakes; r $109-169, cabins $169-469; 📶) In business since 1924, this ecosavvy lodge offers cabins with kitchens, ranging from very simple to simply deluxe, and some even have wood-burning stoves.

Eating & Drinking

Erick Schat's Bakkery (☎ 760-873-7156; 763 N Main St, Bishop; sandwiches $5-8; ⏰ 6am-6pm) Touristy, oh yes. But it's still the best place on Hwy 395 to satisfy cravings for fresh-baked breads (try the jalapeño-cheese), apple fritters and pecan-kiss cookies.

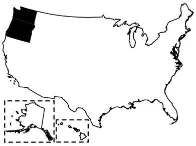
Good Life Café (☎ 760-934-1734; 126 Old Mammoth Rd, Mammoth Lakes; mains $8-12; ⏰ 6:30am-3pm) Stomach-stuffing Mexican breakfasts, healthy veggie wraps, brawny burgers and big salad bowls make this place perennially popular. Expect a wait, but it's worth it.

Whoa Nellie Deli (☎ 760-647-1088; Hwys 120 & 395, Lee Vining; mains $8-20; ⏰ 7am-9pm mid-May–Oct) Great food in a gas station? Really, you gotta try this amazing kitchen, where chef Matt 'Tioga' Toomey serves up delicious fish tacos, wild buffalo meatloaf and other tasty morsels.

For strong brews, visit Looney Bean Roasting Co (☎ 760-872-2326; 399 N Main St, Bishop; ⏰ 6am-8pm Sun-Thu, to 10pm Fri & Sat; 📶). Before you hit the trail, stop by Mahogany Smoked Meats (☎ 888-624-6426; 2345 N Sierra Hwy, Bishop; ⏰ 9am-6pm) for elk, buffalo and turkey jerky.

© Lonely Planet. To make it easier for you to use, access to this chapter is not digitally restricted. In return, we think it's fair to ask you to use it for personal, non-commercial purposes only. In other words, please don't upload this chapter to a peer-to-peer site, mass email it to everyone you know, or resell it. See the terms and conditions on our site for a longer way of saying the above - 'Do the right thing with our content.'

Pacific Northwest



Test Carl Jung's theory of word association out on the Pacific Northwest and you'll get a variety of different answers: evergreen, rain, volcanoes, fleece-wear, coffee, Starbucks, beer, Boeing, Nirvana, Nike, grunge, Gates. These are the well-known symbols, the nationally and internationally recognizable cultural icons. But what of the other stuff? Who knew about llama trekking in the North Cascade Mountains, the authentic Bavarian 'village' of Leavenworth, the fruity Cab Savs of up-and-coming Walla Walla or the eclectic food carts of downtown Portland?

So pack up your lightweight rucksack/suitcase and leave all your rainy/grungy/caffeine-concocted preconceptions at home. This ripe outdoor Eden wedged between Northern California and the Canadian border is not just about philanthropic dot-com millionaires and tall dark-roast skinny lattes (although the coffee ain't half bad). Much of it isn't even that green, comprised instead of high plateaus, scrubby steppe, grand coulees and dusty desert – yes, desert!

If the USA's East Coast is prone to overwork, the West undoubtedly suffers from the opposite affliction. Spend time in the overcast Pacific Rim cities and you'll quickly understand the Northwest's conundrum. It's hard to resist the lure of the great outdoors when resplendent volcanoes like Rainier, Hood and Baker take their cloudy hats off and allow a little sun to shine through. Seattleites and Portlanders don't merely live to work; they work to live – hiking around Rainier's Wonderland Trail, kayaking the San Juan Islands, sipping homemade beer in homegrown microbreweries and discussing the protest potential of 'tree-sitting' with reformed anarchists from Eugene. Take a leaf out of their tree and come join them.

HIGHLIGHTS

- Climbing up or hiking around Mt Rainier (p1043) on a guided five-day ascent or the circuitous 10-day Wonderland Trail
- Quaffing local wine and watching cowpokes at the Northwest's biggest rodeo in Ellensburg (p1044)
- Sharing a tall dark skinny latte with wannabe rock stars, dot-com millionaires and aging fetish freaks in caffeine-fueled Seattle (p1021)
- Taking a bike ride around clean, green, serene Portland (p1046) energized by beer, coffee and food-cart pizza
- Watching West Coast thespians get their tongues around Elizabethan English in Ashland at the world-renowned Oregon Shakespeare Festival (p1065)

Seattle
Ellensburg
Mt Rainier
Washington
Portland
Oregon
Ashland

HISTORY

Native American societies including the Chinook and the Salish had long-established coastal communities by the time Europeans arrived in the Pacific Northwest in the 18th century. Inland, on the arid plateaus between the Cascades and the Rocky Mountains, the Spokane, Nez Percé and other tribes thrived on seasonal migration between river valleys and temperate uplands.

Three hundred years after Columbus landed in the New World, Spanish and British explorers began probing the northern Pacific coast, seeking the fabled Northwest Passage. In 1792, Capt George Vancouver was the first explorer to sail the waters of Puget Sound, claiming British sovereignty over the entire region. At the same time, an American, Capt Robert Gray, found the mouth of the Columbia River. In 1805 the explorers Lewis and Clark crossed the Rockies and made their way down the Columbia to the Pacific Ocean, extending the US claim on the territory.

In 1824 the British Hudson's Bay Company established Fort Vancouver in Washington as headquarters for the Columbia region. This opened the door to waves of settlers but had a devastating impact on the indigenous cultures, assailed as they were by the double threat of European diseases and alcohol.

In 1843 settlers at Champoeg, on the Willamette River south of Portland, voted to organize a provisional government independent of the Hudson's Bay Company, thereby casting their lot with the USA, which formally acquired the territory from the British by treaty in 1846. Over the next decade, some 53,000 settlers came to the Northwest via the 2000-mile-long Oregon Trail.

Arrival of the railroads set the region's future. Agriculture and lumber became the pillars of the economy until 1914, when the opening of the Panama Canal and WWI brought increased trade to Pacific ports. Shipyards opened along Puget Sound, and the Boeing aircraft company set up shop near Seattle.

Big dam projects in the 1930s and '40s provided cheap hydroelectricity and irrigation. WWII offered another boost for aircraft manufacturing and shipbuilding, and agriculture continued to thrive. In the postwar period Washington's population, especially around Puget Sound, grew to twice that of Oregon. But hydroelectricity production and the massive irrigation projects along the Columbia have nearly destroyed the river's ecosystem. Logging has also left its scars, especially in Oregon. The environment remains a contentious issue in the Northwest; flash points are the logging of old-growth forests and the destruction of salmon runs in streams and rivers.

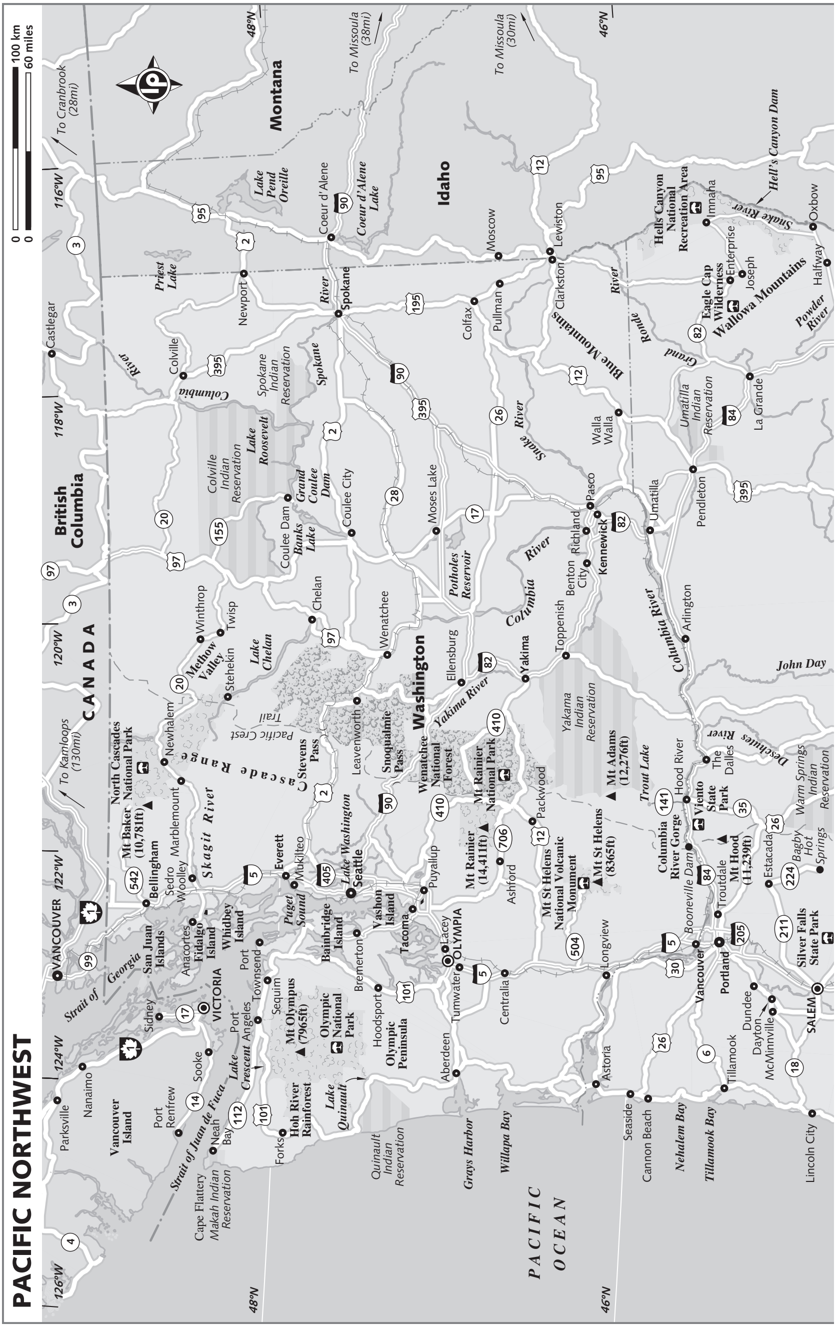
In the 1980s and '90s, the economic emphasis shifted again with the rise of the high-tech industry, embodied by Microsoft in Seattle and Intel in Portland. The region has also reinvigorated its eco-credentials and stands at the forefront of US efforts to offset climate change.

LOCAL CULTURE

The stereotypical image of a Pacific Northwesterner is of a casually dressed, latte-supping urbanite who drives a Prius, votes Democrat and walks around with an unwavering diet of Nirvana-derived indie rock programmed into their iPod. But, as with most fleeting regional generalizations, the reality is far more complex.

Noted for their sophisticated café culture and copious microbrew pubs, the urban hubs of Seattle and Portland are the Northwest's most emblematic cities. But head east into the region's drier and less verdant interior and the cultural affiliations become increasingly more traditional. Here, strung out along the Columbia River Valley or nestled amid the arid steppes of southeastern Washington, small towns host raucous rodeos, tourist centers promote cowboy culture, and a cup of coffee is served 'straight up' with none of the fancily fashioned chai lattes and icy frappés that are par for the course in Seattle.

In contrast to the USA's hardworking eastern seaboard, life out West is more casual and less frenetic than in New York or Boston. Idealistically, Westerners would rather work to play than live to work. Indeed, with so much winter rain, the citizens of Olympia or Bellingham will dredge up any excuse to shun the nine-to-five treadmill and hit the great outdoors a couple of hours (or even days) early. Witness the scene in late May and early June when the first bright days of summer prompt a mass exodus of hikers and cyclists making enthusiastically for the national parks and wilderness areas for which the region is justly famous.



PACIFIC NORTHWEST

0 100 km
0 60 miles
CANADA
British Columbia
Montana
Idaho
Washington
PACIFIC OCEAN
To Kamloops (130mi)
To Cranbrook (28mi)
To Missoula (38mi)
To Missoula (30mi)
126°W
124°W
122°W
120°W
118°W
116°W
48°N
46°N
Vancouver Island
Parksville
Nanaimo
Port Renfrew
Sooke
Sidney
VICTORIA
VANCOUVER
Strait of Georgia Strait of Juan de Fuca
San Juan Islands
Anacortes
Fidalgo Island
Whidbey Island
Cape Flattery
Makah Indian Reservation
Neah Bay Forks
Hoh River Rainforest
Lake Crescent
Port Angeles
Sequim
Port Townsend
Mt Olympus (7965ft)
Olympic National Park
Olympic Peninsula
Lake Quinault
Quinault Indian Reservation
Hoodsport
Bremerton Bainbridge Island
Vashon Island
Puget Sound
Mukilteo
Everett
Seattle
Lake Washington Tacoma
Puyallup
Lacey OLYMPIA
Tumwater
Aberdeen
Grays Harbor
Willapa Bay
Centralia
Bellingham
Sedro Woolley
Skagit River
Mt Baker (10,781ft)
Marblemount
Newhalem
North Cascades National Park
Cascade Range
Stevens Pass
Leavenworth
Snoqualmie Pass
Wenatchee National Forest
Pacific Crest Trail
Stehekin
Methow Valley
Winthrop
Twisp
Lake Chelan
Chelan
Wenatchee
Ellensburg
Yakima River
Yakima
Mt Rainier (14,411ft)
Mt Rainier National Park
Ashford
Packwood
Mt St Helens National Volcanic Monument
Mt St Helens (8365ft)
Mt Adams (12,276ft)
Yakama Indian Reservation
Toppenish
Trout Lake
Longview
Astoria
Seaside
Cannon Beach
Nehalem Bay
Tillamook Bay
Tillamook
Vancouver
Portland
Troutdale
Booneville Dam
Columbia River Gorge
Viento State Park
Hood River
The Dalles
Mt Hood (11,239ft)
Estacada
Bagby Hot Springs
Warm Springs Indian Reservation
Silver Falls State Park
Dundee
Dayton
McMinnville
SALEM
Lincoln City
Deschutes River
John Day
Columbia River
Arlington
Umatilla Pendleton
Benton City
Richland
Kennewick
Pasco
Potholes Reservoir
Moses Lake
Coulee City
Coulee Dam
Banks Lake
Grand Coulee Dam
Colville Indian Reservation Lake Roosevelt
Spokane Indian Reservation
Spokane River
Spokane
Colville
Columbia River
Castlegar
Newport
Priest Lake
Lake Pend Oreille
Coeur d'Alene
Coeur d'Alene Lake
Colfax
Pullman
Moscow
Clarkston
Lewiston
Snake River
Walla Walla
Blue Mountains
Umatilla Indian Reservation
La Grande
Grand Ronde River
Eagle Cap Wilderness
Wallowa Mountains
Enterprise
Joseph
Imnaha
Hells Canyon National Recreation Area
Hell's Canyon Dam
Snake River
Halfway Oxbow
Powder River
4 14
17
112
101
99 542
5
405
2 90
410 706 12 504 30
26
6 18 211
224
205
84 35
141
82 395
97
3 20 155 28
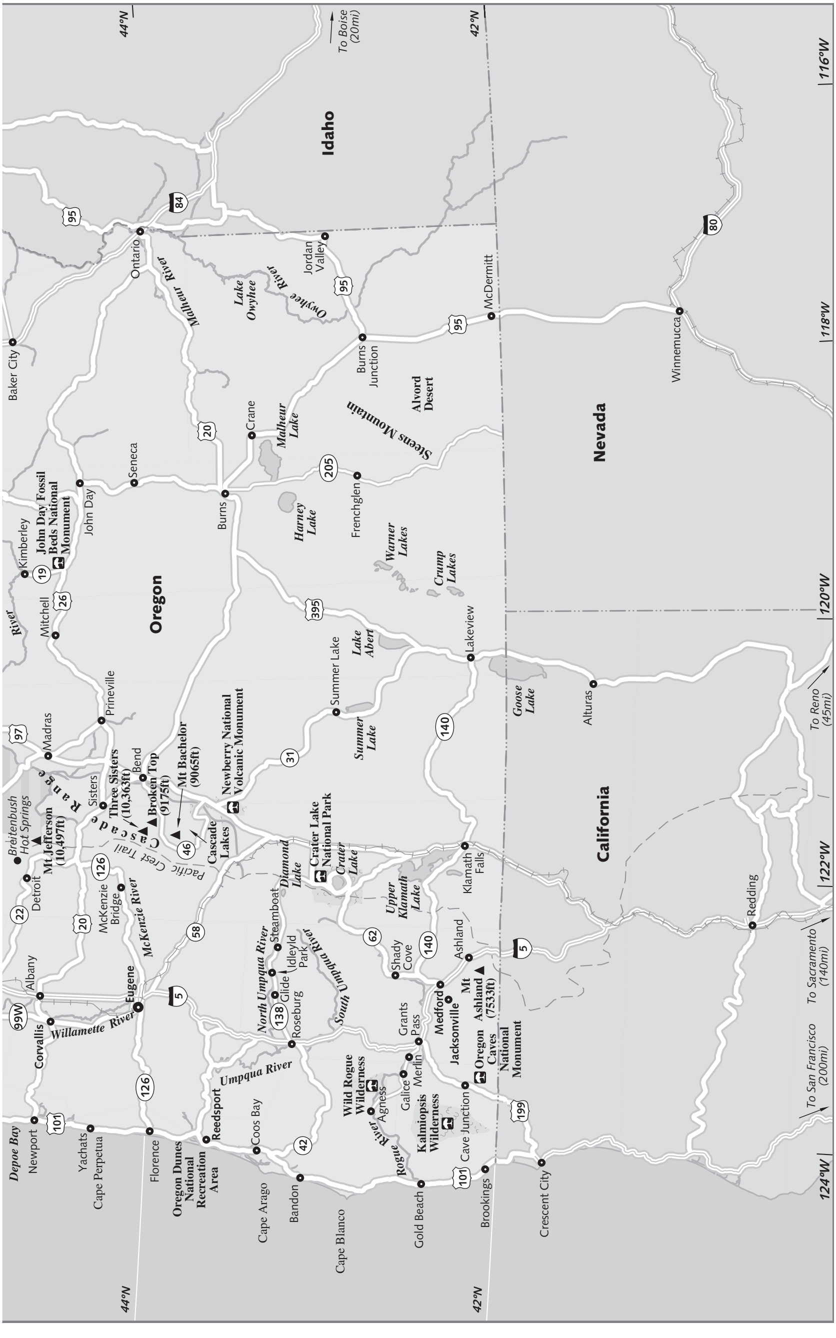
17
195
95



44°N
42°N
124°W
122°W
120°W
118°W
116°W
To Boise (20mi)
To Reno (45mi)
To Sacramento (140mi)
To San Francisco (200mi)
Idaho
Oregon
Nevada
California
Baker City
Ontario
Malheur River
Jordan Valley
Lake Owyhee
Owyhee River
Burns Junction
McDermitt
Winnemucca
Alvord Desert
Steens Mountain
Crane
Malheur Lake
Seneca
John Day
Burns
Harney Lake
Frenchglen
Warner Lakes
Crump Lakes
Kimberley
John Day Fossil Beds National Monument
Mitchell
River
Prineville
Madras
Summer Lake
Lake Abert
Lakeview
Goose Lake
Alturas
Newberry National Volcanic Monument
Bend
Sisters
Three Sisters (10,363ft)
Broken Top (9175ft)
Mt Bachelor (9065ft)
Cascade Range
Cascade Lakes
Breitenbush Hot Springs
Mt Jefferson (10,497ft)
Detroit
Pacific Crest Trail
McKenzie Bridge
McKenzie River
Crater Lake National Park
Crater Lake
Diamond Lake
Upper Klamath Lake
Klamath Falls
Redding
Albany
Corvallis
Willamette River
Eugene
North Umpqua River
Steamboat
Idleyld Park Glide
Roseburg
South Umpqua River
Shady Cove
Ashland
Mt Ashland (7533ft)
Medford
Jacksonville
Grants Pass
Merlin
Galice
Oregon Caves National Monument
Wild Rogue Wilderness
Agness
Kalmiopsis Wilderness Cave Junction
Rogue River
Umpqua River
Depoe Bay
Newport
Yachats
Cape Perpetua
Florence
Oregon Dunes National Recreation Area
Reedsport
Coos Bay
Cape Arago
Bandon
Cape Blanco
Gold Beach
Brookings
Crescent City
84
95 80 20
205 395
26
19 97
31 140 46
126
22
58
62
5
138
99W
101
42
199

Creativity is another strong Northwestern trait, be it redefining the course of modern rock music or reconfiguring the latest Microsoft computer program. No longer content to live in the shadow of California or Hong Kong, the Pacific Northwest has redefined itself internationally in recent decades through celebrated TV shows (Frasier and Grey's Anatomy), iconic global personalities (Bill Gates) and a groundbreaking music scene that has spawned everything from grunge rock to riot grrrl feminism.

Tolerance is widespread in Pacific Northwestern society, from recreational drug use (possession of small quantities of cannabis is decriminalised in Oregon, and both states have legalised the use of cannabis for medical purposes) to physician-assisted suicide. Commonly voting Democrat in presidential elections, the population has also enthusiastically embraced the push for 'greener' lifestyles in the form of car clubs, recycling programs, organic restaurants and biodiesel whale-watching tours. An early exponent of ecofriendly practices, former Seattle mayor Greg Nickels has advocated himself as a leading spokesperson on climate change, while salubrious Portland regularly features high in lists of America's most sustainable cities.

LAND & CLIMATE

The Pacific Northwest is cut in half both physically and climatically by the looming Cascade Range, which runs like a rugged spine from Canada down to California. Thanks to this substantial geographic barrier, the region's vegetation and terrain are extremely varied.

The area to the west of the Cascades receives an enormous amount of precipitation (up to 200in a year in the Hoh River Rainforest) and hence boasts numerous glaciers, record-breaking snowfalls and a lush temperate rain-

PACIFIC NORTHWEST…

In Four Days

Start the morning in Seattle (p1021) with brunch and a brew – caffeinated rather than alcoholic – before surfing the stalls in Pike Place Market and taking a lift to the top of the Space Needle. If Rainier's visible you may find yourself being lured towards Mt Rainier National Park (p1043) on day two for a hike in the alpine meadows of aptly named Paradise. Start day three by popping into Olympia (p1034) for a look at the resplendent State Capitol before tracking the coastal road into Oregon via historic Astoria (p1068). Call into Cannon Beach (p1068) before it gets dark, and enjoy what's left of the night in happening Portland (p1046).

In One Week

Follow the four-day itinerary, spending a bit of time on day five to discover Portland by bike. After a food-cart lunch head east on the scenic Columbia River drive to Hood River (p1060) where you can ride on a historic train through the apple orchards. If you rush you can make it down as far as Bend (p1063) before nightfall. On day six breakfast early in Bend before heading south, stopping at the Newberry National Volcanic Monument (p1063). Continue south on US 97 for a scenic late-afternoon epiphany at Crater Lake (p1064) before chasing the sunset as far as Ashland (p1064). If you've booked your Shakespeare tickets online you'll be able to spend most of day seven relaxing (and eating) before the main event.

In Two Weeks

Follow the one-week itinerary before heading back north for an afternoon and evening in Eugene (p1059) where you'd better have brought your running shoes. On day nine you can linger in the Willamette Valley (p1058) quaffing wine or head across the state line towards the Yakima Valley (p1044) for more of the same. Gentile Ellensburg (p1044) is a worthwhile overnighter with some more wine tasting after which you can book a quaint room in Germanic Leavenworth (p1040). While there get out and experience the Alpine Lakes Wilderness. From Leavenworth cross Stevens Pass and home in on Whidbey Island (p1037) for some true bucolic relaxation. Finish the grand tour using up as many days as you've got left in the recuperative San Juan Islands (p1038) – no car required, it's the Pacific Northwest's perfect antidote to a two-week road trip.

forest that shelters some of the world's oldest and largest trees. Traveling inland, the lofty mountains – which culminate in 14,411ft Mt Rainier – suck up much of this moisture from the atmosphere, leaving the areas to the east of the range languishing in arid steppe and semidesert (Pasco in southeast Washington gets less than 6in of rain a year).

Cocooned on a massive ice-age floodplain, the eastern parts of Oregon and Washington lie on the dry Columbia River plateau, a region characterized by its many coulees, canyons and gorges. Indeed, the spectacular Columbia River is the fourth-largest river by volume in the US (after the Mississippi) and drains the whole region through a magnificent river gorge that provides the only natural break in the Cascade Mountains south of the Canadian border. The Columbia is also renowned for its numerous dams that provide vital hydroelectric power and have transformed a once barren desert into a veritable Garden of Eden that produces fine wines, classic vegetables and more than half of the US apple crop.

PARKS & WILDLIFE

Oregon has one national park, Crater Lake (p1064); Washington has three: Olympic (p1034), North Cascades (p1041) and Mt Rainier (p1043). Maps and passes are available at various ranger stations or through Nature of the Northwest (www.naturenw.org).

There are 240 state parks in Oregon (p1046) and 215 in Washington (p1020). Other areas noted for their natural beauty include the Oregon Coast (p1068), the Columbia River Gorge (p1060) and Hells Canyon (p1067), which borders with Idaho. Mt St Helens (p1044) offers visitors a unique look at America's most well known National Volcanic Monument.

The Northwest's parks contain numerous fauna including black bear, rare Roosevelt elk (in Olympic National Park), mule deer, bighorn sheep, coyote, raccoons and pronghorn antelope. Meanwhile the seas boast plentiful whales and sea lions. Resident birds include herons, kingfishers, loons, ospreys, meadowlarks and bald eagles.

INFORMATION

Oregon and western Washington have a 10-digit dialing system for local calls. To make a local call within the ☎ 206, ☎ 253, ☎ 425, ☎ 360 and ☎ 564 area codes in Washington, and throughout Oregon, dial the area code first (without a preceding 1).

GETTING THERE & AROUND

Seattle-Tacoma International Airport (p1032), aka 'Sea-Tac,' is the main international airport in the Northwest, with daily service to Europe, Asia and points throughout the US and Canada. Portland International Airport (p1057) serves the US and Canada and has nonstop flights to Frankfurt (Germany) and Guadalajara (Mexico).

Both passenger-only and car ferries operate around Puget Sound and across to Vancouver Island, BC (Canada). Washington State Ferries (WSF; ☎ 206-464-6400, in Washington 888-808-7977; www.wsdot.wa.gov/ferries) links Seattle with Bainbridge and Vashon Islands. Other WSF routes cross from Whidbey Island to Port Townsend on the Olympic Peninsula, and from Anacortes through the San Juan Islands to Sidney, BC. Victoria Clipper (p1032) operates services from Seattle to Victoria, BC. Ferries to Victoria also operate from Port Angeles (p1036). Alaska Marine Highway (p1077) ferries go from Bellingham, WA, to Alaska.

Greyhound (p1160) provides service along the I-5 corridor from Bellingham in northern Washington down to Medford in southern Oregon, with connecting services across the US and Canada. East–west routes fan out toward Spokane, Yakima, the Tri-Cities (Kennewick, Pasco and Richland), Walla Walla and Pullman in Washington, and Pendleton, Bend, Hood River and Newport in Oregon with numerous stops in between.

Driving your own vehicle is a convenient way of touring the Pacific Northwest. Major rental agencies can be found throughout the region. I-5 is the major north–south road artery. In Washington I-90 heads east from Seattle to Spokane and into Idaho. In Oregon I-84 branches east from Portland along the Columbia River Gorge via Pendleton to link up with Boise in Idaho.

Amtrak (p1166) runs an excellent train service north (to Vancouver, Canada) and south (to California) linking Seattle, Portland and other major urban centers with the Cascades and Coast Starlight routes. The famous Empire Builder heads east to Chicago from Seattle and Portland (joining up in Spokane, WA).

WASHINGTON

Divided in two by the spinal Cascade Mountains, Washington isn't so much a land of contrasts as a land of polar opposites. Centered on Seattle, the western coastal zone is wet, urban, liberal and famous for its fecund evergreen forests; splayed to the east between the less celebrated cities of Spokane and Yakima, the inland plains are arid, rural, conservative and covered by mile after mile of scrublike steppe.

Of the two halves it's the west that harbors most of the quintessential Washington sights, while the more remote east is less heralded, understated and full of surprises.

History

The first US settlement in Washington was at Tumwater, on the southern edge of Puget Sound, in 1845. Both Seattle and Port Townsend were established in 1851 and quickly became logging centers. Lumber was shipped at great profit to San Francisco, the boomtown of the California gold rush.

In 1853, Washington separated from the Oregon territory. Congress reduced the amount of land open to native hunting and fishing, and opened up the eastern part of the state to settlement. The arrival of rail links in the last decades of the century created a readily accessible market for the products of the Pacific Northwest and brought in floods of settlers.

Washington was admitted to the union in 1889, and Seattle began to flourish in 1897, when it became the principal port en route to the Alaska and Yukon goldfields. The construction of the Bonneville Dam (1937) and Grand Coulee Dam (1947) accelerated the region's industrial and agricultural development by providing cheap hydroelectric power and irrigation.

The rapid postwar urbanization of the Puget Sound region created an enormous metropolitan area linked by perpetually jammed freeways that mar some of the waterfront vistas. Industry switched from lumber to computer technologies as Seattle rode the dot-com boom, suffered a small recession and emerged to fight another day. Placed firmly on the world map through the work of homegrown global giants such as Starbucks and Microsoft, Washington is looking to the future with a greener face. Former Seattle mayor Greg Nickels has been instrumental in rallying more than 400 American cities to reduce carbon emissions in line with the Kyoto Protocol and the knock-on effect in other towns is palpable.

Information

Washington road conditions (☎ Seattle 206-368-4499, elsewhere in the state 800-695-7623)

Washington State Parks & Recreation Commission (☎ 360-902-8844, 800-233-0321; www.parks.wa.gov; PO Box 42650, Olympia, WA 98504) You can reserve up to nine months in advance at 50 of Washington's 90 state park campgrounds. There's a $6.50 online booking fee. Prices are approximately$19 for a standard campsite, $26 for a hook-up.

Washington State Tourism Office (☎ 360-725-5052; www.tourism.wa.gov; 🕒 7am-7pm) Useful website; 'travel counselors' offer travel-related advice over the phone.

WASHINGTON FACTS

Nickname Evergreen State
Population 6.5 million
Area 71,342 sq miles
Capital city Olympia (population 44,645)
Other cities Seattle (population 582,454), Spokane (population 198,081), Yakima (population 82,805), Bellingham (population 75,150), Walla Walla (population 30,945), Ellensburg (population 15,414)
Sales tax 6.5%
Birthplace of singer and actor Bing Crosby (1903–77), guitarist Jimi Hendrix (1942–70), computer geek Bill Gates (b 1955), Denver Broncos quarterback John Elway (b 1960), saxophonist Kenny G (b 1956), musical icon Kurt Cobain (1967–94)
Home of Mt St Helens, Microsoft, Starbucks, Nordstrom, Evergreen State College
Famous for grunge rock, coffee, Grey's Anatomy, Twin Peaks, volcanoes, apples, wine, precipitation
State vegetable Walla Walla sweet onion
Driving distances Seattle to Portland 174 miles, Spokane to Port Angeles 365 miles

SEATTLE

Built on seven hills like a modern Rome, Seattle is an entrepreneurial Pacific Rim city whose groundbreaking homegrown inventions have a habit of becoming international brands. Think anarchistic grunge music and cool coffee bars, zillionaire computer geeks and Boeing planes. But, in the fast-moving economy of the Pacific Northwest, Seattle doesn't rest on its laurels. In a city still less than 160 years old, what happened last month, let alone last year, is quickly confined to ancient history. Tucked beneath the shadow of the Cascade Mountains, the splayed metropolis has grown up and moved on since the nihilistic '90s. Belltown, grunge music's former spiritual home, is now a nexus for wine-quaffing condo dwellers; the global conglomerate known as Starbucks is locally challenged by more low-key indie roasters; and the traffic jams on I-5, while still legendary, have been countered by the green sprouts of a concerted environmental revolution led by proactive former city mayor, Greg Nickels. The moral of the story is: when in Seattle never stand still. This is a city at the vanguard with a boom-bust cycle that has been replaying itself ever since the 1890s when the Klondike gold rush created the 19th-century equivalent of the dot-com millionaire.

History

Seattle was named for Chief Sealth, leader of the Duwamish tribe that inhabited the Lake Washington area when David Denny led the first group of white settlers here in 1851. The railway came through in 1893, linking Seattle with the rest of the country. For a decade, prospectors headed for the Yukon gold territory would stop in Seattle to stock up on provisions.

The boom continued through WWI, when Northwest lumber was in great demand and the Puget Sound area prospered as a shipbuilding center. In 1916 William Boeing founded the aircraft manufacturing business that would become one of the largest employers in Seattle, attracting tens of thousands of newcomers to the region during WWII.

In November 1999, the city drew attention as protesters and police clashed violently outside a World Trade Organization (WTO) summit. Two of the city's biggest business successes, Starbucks and Microsoft, are loved and loathed almost equally. Boeing has relocated its headquarters to Chicago, though it's still a major presence in Seattle.

Orientation

Seattle's Sea-Tac Airport is 13 miles south of the city. Amtrak trains use the King Street Station, north of the new Seahawks Stadium, just south of Pioneer Square. Greyhound's bus terminal is on the corner of 8th Ave and Stewart St, on the north edge of downtown.

Seattle is neighborhood-oriented: Capitol Hill and the U District are east of I-5, while downtown, Seattle Center, Fremont and Ballard lie to the west. To reach Fremont from downtown, take 4th Ave to the Fremont Bridge; from here, hang a left on NW 36th Ave (which becomes Leary) to reach Ballard. Eastlake Ave goes from downtown to the U District.

Information

BOOKSTORES

Bulldog News & Espresso (☎ 206-632-6397; www.bulldognews.com; 4208 University Way NE) A very thorough newsstand in the U District.

Elliott Bay Book Company (☎ 206-624-6600; www.elliottbaybook.com; 101 S Main St) Labyrinthine store in historic Pioneer Square has readings almost nightly.

Metsker Maps (☎ 206-623-8747; www.metskers.com; 1511 1st Ave) Great selection of maps and travel guides.

EMERGENCY & MEDICAL SERVICES

45th St Community Clinic (☎ 206-633-3350; 1629 N 45th St, Wallingford) Medical and dental services.

Harborview Medical Center (☎ 206-731-3000; 325 9th Ave) Full medical care, with emergency room.

Seattle Police (☎ 206-625-5011)

Seattle Rape Relief (☎ 206-632-7273)

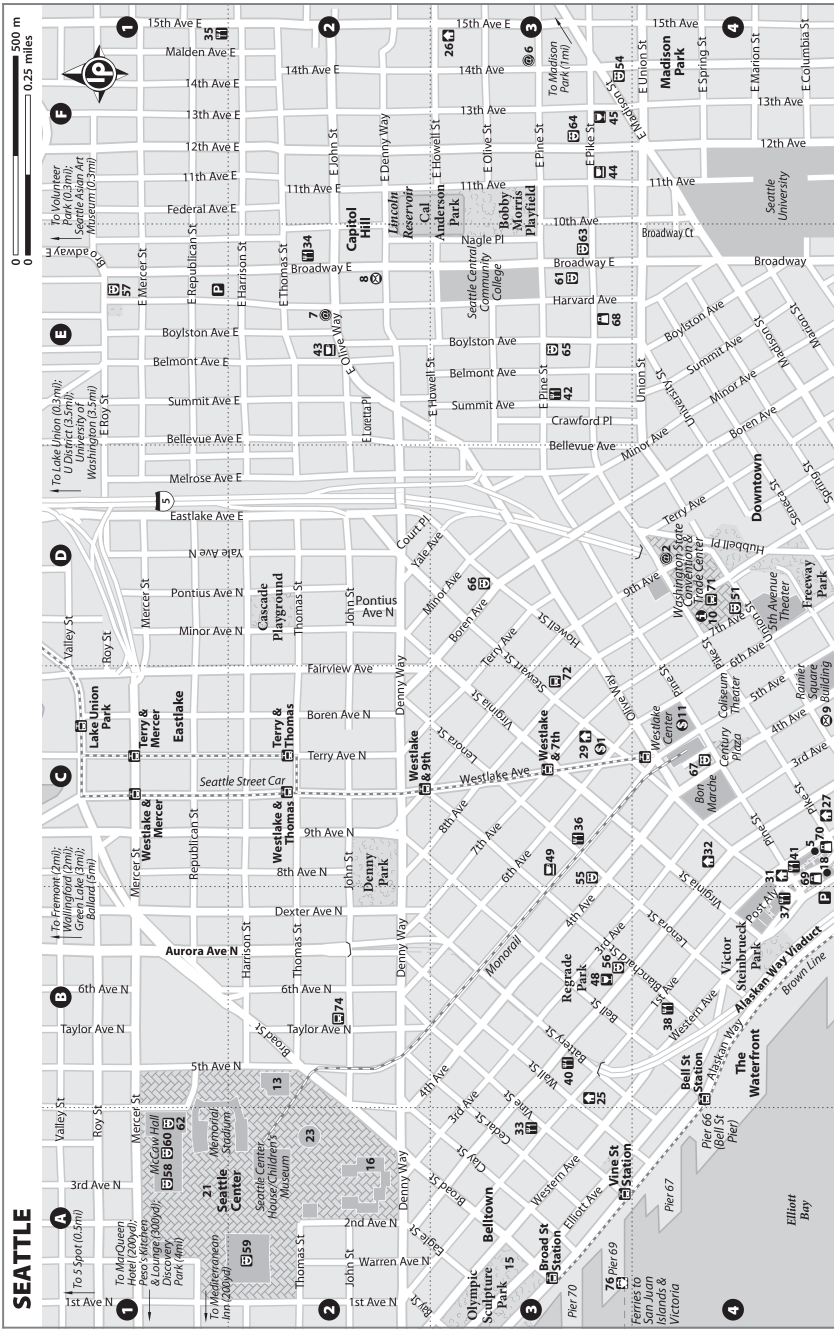
Washington State Patrol (☎ 425-649-4370)

INTERNET ACCESS

Seattle is a computer geek's heaven and practically every bar and coffee shop has free wi-fi, as do most hotels. For laptop-free travelers, internet cafés include the following:

Cyber-Dogs (☎ 206-405-3647; 909 Pike St; 1st 20min free, then per hr $6; 🕑 10am-midnight) A veggie hot dog stand (dogs $2 to $5), espresso bar, internet café and youngster hangout/pick-up joint.

Online Coffee Company (www.onlinecoffeeco.com; per min 14¢; 🕑 7:30am-midnight); Olive Way (☎ 206-328-3731; 1720 E Olive Way); Pine St (☎ 206-323-7798; 1404 E Pine St) The Olive Way location is in a cozy former residence, while the Pine St shop is more utilitarian-chic. The first hour is free for students.



SEATTLE
0 500 m
0 0.25 miles
Seattle Center
Memorial Stadium
McCaw Hall
Seattle Center House/Children's Museum
Capitol Hill
Lincoln Reservoir
Cal Anderson Park
Bobby Morris Playfield
Seattle Central Community College
Seattle University
Madison Park
Cascade Playground
Denny Park
Lake Union Park
Eastlake
Westlake & Mercer
Terry & Mercer
Westlake & Thomas
Terry & Thomas
Westlake & 9th
Westlake & 7th
Westlake Center
Seattle Street Car
Monorail
Washington State Convention & Trade Center
5th Avenue Theater
Freeway Park
Rainier Square
Coliseum Theater Century Plaza
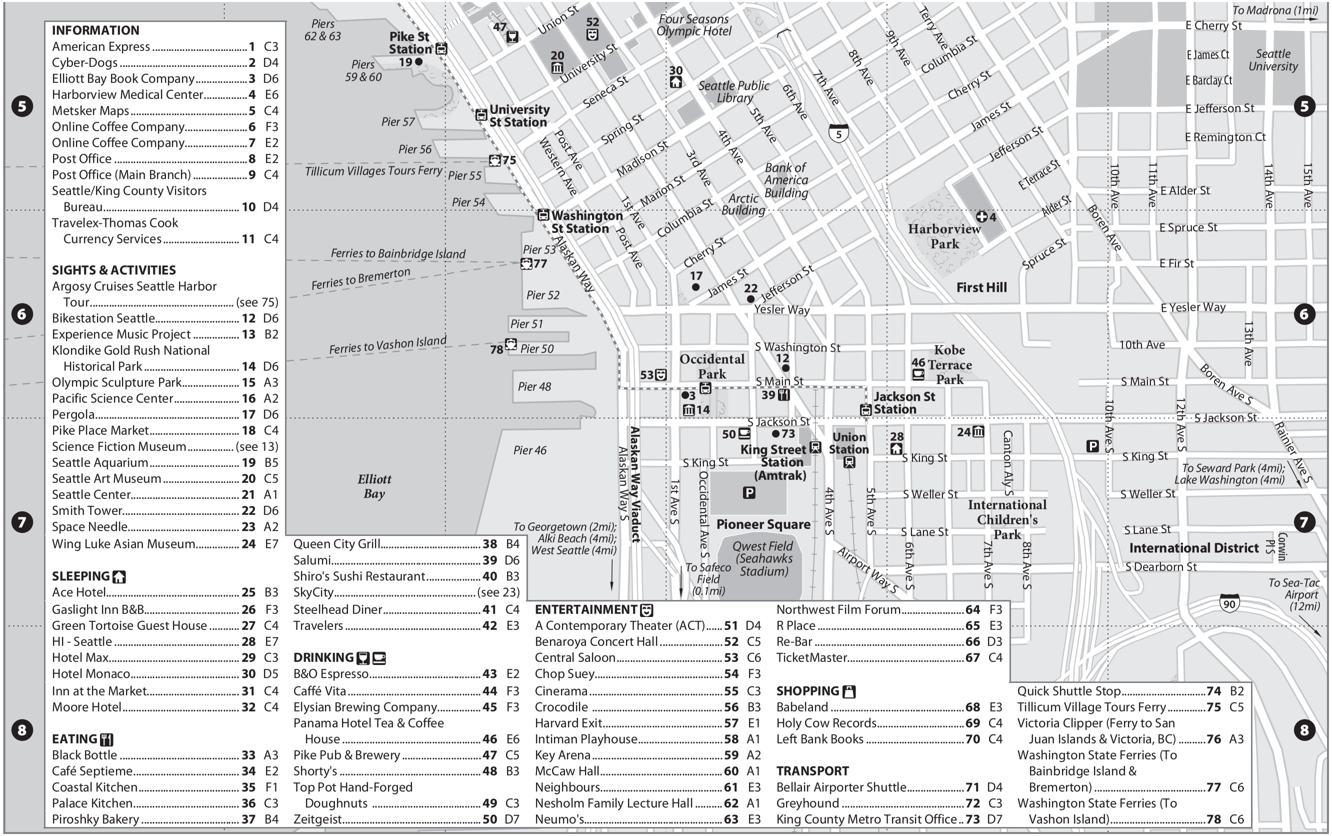
Bon Marche
Downtown
Regrade Park
Belltown
Olympic Sculpture Park
Victor Steinbrueck Park
Post Alley
Alaskan Way Viaduct
The Waterfront
Bell St Station
Vine St Station
Broad St Station
Brown Line
Pier 66 (Bell St Pier)
Pier 67
Pier 69
Pier 70
Elliott Bay
Ferries to San Juan Islands & Victoria
To MarQueen Hotel (200yd); Peso's Kitchen & Lounge (300yd); Discovery Park (4mi)
To Mediterranean Inn (200yd)
To 5 Spot (0.5mi)
To Fremont (2mi); Wallingford (2mi); Green Lake (3mi); Ballard (5mi)
To Lake Union (0.3mi); U District (3.5mi); University of Washington (3.5mi)
To Volunteer Park (0.3mi); Seattle Asian Art Museum (0.3mi)
To Madison Park (1mi)
Aurora Ave N
Denny Way
Broadway
Broadway E
Westlake Ave
Pike St
Pine St
E Pine St
E Pike St
E Madison St
E Olive Way
Olive Way
Union St
Madison St
Marion St
Spring St
Seneca St
University St
Broad St
Mercer St
Valley St
Roy St
Republican St
Harrison St
Thomas St
John St
1st Ave N
2nd Ave N
3rd Ave N
5th Ave N
6th Ave N
Taylor Ave N
Warren Ave N
Dexter Ave N
8th Ave N
9th Ave N
Terry Ave N
Boren Ave N
Fairview Ave
Minor Ave N
Pontius Ave N
Yale Ave N
Eastlake Ave E
Melrose Ave E
Bellevue Ave E
Summit Ave E
Belmont Ave E
Boylston Ave E
Federal Ave E
10th Ave
11th Ave E
12th Ave E
13th Ave E
14th Ave E
15th Ave E
Malden Ave E
Harvard Ave
Nagle Pl
Crawford Pl
Broadway Ct
E Howell St
E Olive St
E Denny Way
E John St
E Thomas St
E Harrison St
E Republican St
E Mercer St
E Roy St
E Loretta Pl
E Union St
E Spring St
E Marion St
E Columbia St
Court Pl
Hubbell Pl
Howell St
Stewart St
Virginia St
Lenora St
Blanchard St
Bell St
Battery St
Wall St
Vine St
Cedar St
Clay St
Eagle St
Bay St
Western Ave
Elliott Ave
Alaskan Way
1st Ave
3rd Ave
4th Ave
5th Ave
6th Ave
7th Ave
8th Ave
9th Ave
A B C D E F
1 2 3 4



To Madrona (1mi)
Seattle University
E Cherry St
E James Ct
E Barclay Ct
E Jefferson St
E Remington Ct
E Alder St
E Spruce St
E Fir St
E Yesler Way
15th Ave
14th Ave
13th Ave
12th Ave S
11th Ave
10th Ave
10th Ave S
Boren Ave
Boren Ave S
Rainier Ave S
S Jackson St
S Main St
S King St
S Weller St
S Lane St
S Dearborn St
Corwin Pl S
International District
To Seward Park (4mi); Lake Washington (4mi)
To Sea-Tac Airport (12mi)
90
Terry Ave
Columbia St
Cherry St
James St
Jefferson St
E Terrace St
Alder St
Spruce St
9th Ave
8th Ave
7th Ave
6th Ave
5th Ave
4th Ave
3rd Ave
1st Ave
Post Ave
Western Ave
5 Harborview Park
4
First Hill
Kobe Terrace Park
46
Jackson St Station
24
28
Union Station
International Children's Park
Canton Aly S
8th Ave S
7th Ave S
6th Ave S
5th Ave S
4th Ave S
Airport Way S
Four Seasons Olympic Hotel
Seattle Public Library
Bank of America Building
Arctic Building
30 52 20
47
Union St
University St
Seneca St
Spring St
Madison St
Marion St
Yesler Way
S Washington St
12
17
22 Occidental Park
53
3 14
39
50
73
King Street Station (Amtrak)
Pioneer Square
Qwest Field (Seahawks Stadium)
To Safeco Field (0.1mi)
Occidental Ave S
1st Ave S
Alaskan Way Viaduct
Alaskan Way S
Alaskan Way
To Georgetown (2mi); Alki Beach (4mi); West Seattle (4mi)
Pike St Station
19 University St Station
Washington St Station
Piers 62 & 63
Piers 59 & 60
Pier 57
Pier 56
Pier 55
75
Tillicum Villages Tours Ferry
Pier 54
Pier 53
77
Ferries to Bainbridge Island
Ferries to Bremerton
Pier 52
Pier 51
Pier 50
78
Ferries to Vashon Island
Pier 48
Pier 46
Elliott Bay
5
6
7
8

INFORMATION

American Express	1	C3
Cyber-Dogs	2	D4
Elliott Bay Book Company	3	D6
Harborview Medical Center	4	E6
Metsker Maps	5	C4
Online Coffee Company	6	F3
Online Coffee Company	7	E2
Post Office	8	E2
Post Office (Main Branch)	9	C4
Seattle/King County Visitors Bureau	10	D4
Travelex-Thomas Cook Currency Services	11	C4

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

Argosy Cruises Seattle Harbor Tour	(see 75)
Bikestation Seattle	12	D6
Experience Music Project	13	B2
Klondike Gold Rush National Historical Park	14	D6
Olympic Sculpture Park	15	A3
Pacific Science Center	16	A2
Pergola	17	D6
Pike Place Market	18	C4
Science Fiction Museum	(see 13)
Seattle Aquarium	19	B5
Seattle Art Museum	20	C5
Seattle Center	21	A1
Smith Tower	22	D6
Space Needle	23	A2
Wing Luke Asian Museum	24	E7

SLEEPING

Ace Hotel	25	B3
Gaslight Inn B&B	26	F3
Green Tortoise Guest House	27	C4
HI - Seattle	28	E7
Hotel Max	29	C3
Hotel Monaco	30	D5
Inn at the Market	31	C4
Moore Hotel	32	C4

EATING

Black Bottle	33	A3
Café Septieme	34	E2
Coastal Kitchen	35	F1
Palace Kitchen	36	C3
Piroshky Bakery	37	B4
Queen City Grill	38	B4
Salumi	39	D6
Shiro's Sushi Restaurant	40	B3
SkyCity	(see 23)
Steelhead Diner	41	C4
Travelers	42	E3

DRINKING

B&O Espresso	43	E2
Caffé Vita	44	F3
Elysian Brewing Company	45	F3
Panama Hotel Tea & Coffee House	46	E6
Pike Pub & Brewery	47	C5
Shorty's	48	B3
Top Pot Hand-Forged Doughnuts	49	C3
Zeitgeist	50	D7

ENTERTAINMENT

A Contemporary Theater (ACT)	51	D4
Benaroya Concert Hall	52	C5
Central Saloon	53	C6
Chop Suey	54	F3
Cinerama	55	C3
Crocodile	56	B3
Harvard Exit	57	E1
Intiman Playhouse	58	A1
Key Arena	59	A2
McCaw Hall	60	A1
Neighbours	61	E3
Nesholm Family Lecture Hall	62	A1
Neumo's	63	E3
Northwest Film Forum	64	F3
R Place	65	E3
Re-Bar	66	D3
TicketMaster	67	C4

SHOPPING

Babeland	68	E3
Holy Cow Records	69	C4
Left Bank Books	70	C4

TRANSPORT

Bellair Airporter Shuttle	71	D4
Greyhound	72	C3
King County Metro Transit Office	73	D7
Quick Shuttle Stop	74	B2
Tillicum Village Tours Ferry	75	C5
Victoria Clipper (Ferry to San Juan Islands & Victoria, BC)	76	A3
Washington State Ferries (To Bainbridge Island & Bremerton)	77	C6
Washington State Ferries (To Vashon Island)	78	C6

INTERNET RESOURCES

http://hankblog.wordpress.com Insider art-related news and views from the folks at the Henry Art Gallery.
http://slog.thestranger.com A frequently updated blog by the staff of the Stranger.
www.historylink.org Loads of essays and photos on local history.
www.seattlediy.com Information on underground events and house shows.
www.seattlest.com A blog about various goings-on in and around Seattle.
www.visitseattle.org Seattle's Convention and Visitors Bureau site.

MEDIA

KEXP 90.3 FM Legendary independent music and community station.
KUOW 94.9 FM National Public Radio (NPR) news.
Seattle Gay News (www.sgn.org) Weekly.
Seattle Times (www.seattletimes.com) The state's largest daily paper.
Seattle Weekly (www.seattleweekly.com) Free weekly with news and entertainment listings.
The Stranger (www.thestranger.com) Irreverent weekly edited by Dan Savage of 'Savage Love' fame.

MONEY

American Express (Amex; ☎ 206-441-8622; 600 Stewart St; 🕘 8:30am-5:30pm Mon-Fri)
Travelex-Thomas Cook Currency Services Airport (☎ 206-248-6960; 🕘 6am-8pm); Westlake Center (☎ 206-682-4525; 400 Pine St, Level 3; 🕘 9:30am-6pm Mon-Sat, 11am-5pm Sun) The booth at the main airport terminal is behind the Delta Airlines counter.

POST

Post office Broadway Station (☎ 206-324-5474; 101 Broadway E); main branch (☎ 206-748-5417; 301 Union St); University Station (☎ 206-675-8114; 4244 NE University Way, U District)

TOURIST INFORMATION

Seattle/King County Visitors Bureau (☎ 206-461-5840; www.seeseattle.org; cnr 7th Ave & Pike St; 🕘 9am-5pm Mon-Fri) Inside the Washington State Convention and Trade Center; it also operates a useful citywide concierge service.

Sights

Most of Seattle's sights are concentrated in a fairly compact core area. The historic downtown, Pioneer Square, includes the area between Cherry and S King Sts, along 1st to 3rd Ave. The main shopping area is along 4th and 5th Aves from Olive Way down to University St. Northwest of downtown is Seattle Center, with many of the city's cultural and sporting facilities, as well as the Space Needle and the Experience Music Project. Across busy Alaskan Way from the Pike Place Market is the Waterfront, Seattle's tourist mecca.

DOWNTOWN

Second only to the Space Needle as an iconic Seattle emblem, Pike Place Market (www.pikeplacemarket.org) doesn't look like somewhere that spawned the world's largest corporate coffee chain (Starbucks). Quirky, alternative and full of independent businesses, this busy slice of urban theater is famous for its eye-poppingly fresh fruit and vegetables, and wisecracking showman vendors, most notably the loquacious fish-throwing fishmongers. Then there are the anarchistic shops – Left Banks Books (p1032) and Holy Cow Records (p1032) – and the assembled buskers, jugglers, palm readers, tourists and oddballs, from the stand-up piano player in the tall hat to the guy standing underneath the neon coffee sign holding up a placard that reads 'Free Hugs'. Melded together, it's quite a show.

HOT TOPIC: PUBLIC TRANSPORTATION

In a city beset by some truly awful traffic jams, transportation in Seattle has always been a hot and highly controversial topic. The Alaskan Way Viaduct and Seawall Replacement project is a plan to replace Seattle's ugly 60's-era waterfront flyover with a less unsightly and more earthquake-proof tunnel. But, the $4.2 billion project, enthusiastically backed by city mayor Greg Nickels, is not without its opponents, including residents wary of higher taxes and the local chapter of the Sierra Club who feel that the tunnel will not do enough to get people out of their cars and reduce greenhouse-gas emissions. The topic played a major role in the 2009 Seattle mayoral campaign and was a contributing factor in the defeat of the once popular environmentalist mayor, Nickels, who lost in his bid for a third term in August 2009. As for the tunnel, the jury is still out.

DON'T MISS

- Pike Place Market (opposite) – street theater in Seattle's urban hub
- Seattle Art Museum (below) – up-to-the-minute international art skillfully laid out in a classic downtown gallery
- Capitol Hill (p1026) – where the counterculture meets modern yuppiedom in a funky hilltop domain
- Brouwer's (p1030) – an enormous beer hall with an epic bar and cool industrial decor

Extensively renovated and expanded in 2007, the Seattle Art Museum (☎ 206-654-3100; www.seattleartmuseum.org; 1300 1st Ave; adult/child/student/senior $13/free/7/10, 1st Thu of month free; 🕒 10am-5pm Tue-Sun, to 9pm Thu & Fri) now has 118,000 extra square feet. Some have criticized the new section for having a clinical feel, but it's difficult not to be struck by a sense of excitement upon entering. Above the ticket counter hangs Cai Guo-Qiang's Inopportune: Stage One, a series of white cars exploding with neon. Between the two museum entrances (one in the old building and one in the new) is the 'art ladder,' a free space with installations cascading down a wide stepped hallway. And the galleries themselves are much improved. The museum's John H Hauberg Collection is an excellent display of masks, canoes, totems and other pieces from Northwest coastal tribes.

Northwest of Pike Place Market is Belltown, a one-time haven of grunge that is anything but grungy these days. Aside from sharing lattes with the now upscale condo crowd you can mosey on over to the experimental new Olympic Sculpture Park (☎ 206-654-3100; 2901 Western Ave; admission free; 🕒 sunrise-sunset), an outpost of the Seattle Art Museum overlooking Elliott Bay.

PIONEER SQUARE

A riot of Richardson Romanesque (the red-bricked revivalist architectural style that embellished Seattle after the 1889 fire (a devastating inferno that destroyed 25 city blocks including the entire central business district), Pioneer Square is Seattle's oldest quarter. In the early years its boom-bust fortunes turned its arterial road, Yesler Way, into the original 'skid row' – an allusion to the skidding logs that were pulled downhill to Henry Yesler's pier-side mill. When the timber industry fell on hard times, the road became a haven for the homeless and its name subsequently became a byword for poverty-stricken urban enclaves countrywide.

Pioneer Square's most iconic building is the 42-story Smith Tower completed in 1914 and, until 1931, the tallest building west of the Mississippi. Thanks to a concerted public effort, the neighborhood avoided being laid to waste by the demolition squads in the 1960s and is now protected in the Pioneer Square–Skid Rd Historic District.

The quarter today mixes historic with seedy and harbors art galleries, cafés and nightlife. Highlights include the 1909 Pergola, a decorative iron shelter reminiscent of a Parisian Metro station; Occidental Park, containing totem poles carved by Chinookan artist Duane Pasco; and the Central Saloon (p1031), a bar that has been in operation since 1892.

The Klondike Gold Rush National Historical Park (☎ 206-553-7220; www.nps.gov/klse; 117 S Main St; admission free; 🕒 9am-5pm) is a shockingly good museum with exhibits, photos and news clippings about Seattle during the boom years of the 1897 Klondike gold rush that sent prospectors to the Yukon Territory in Canada.

INTERNATIONAL DISTRICT

East of Pioneer Square (take S Jackson St), Asian shops and restaurants line the streets. The Wing Luke Asian Museum (☎ 206-623-5124; www.wingluke.org; 407 7th Ave S; adult/child/student $4/2/3; 🕒 11am-4:30pm Tue-Fri, noon-4pm Sat & Sun) documents the city's wealth of Asian cultures and their often fraught meeting with the West through artwork, special exhibits, historic photographs, a replica of a WWII Japanese American internment camp and recorded interviews with people who were forced into the camps.

SEATTLE CENTER

The remnants of the futuristic 1962 World's Fair hosted by Seattle and subtitled Century 21 Exposition are still visible nearly 50 years later at the Seattle Center (☎ 206-684-8582; www.seattlecenter.com; 400 Broad St). The fair was a major success, attracting 10 million visitors, running a profit (rare for the time) and inspiring a skin-crawlingly kitschy Elvis movie, It Happened at the World's Fair (1963).

Visible all over the city, the instantly recognizable Space Needle (☎ 206-905-2100; www.spaceneedle.com; adult/child/senior $16/8/14; 🕒 9am-midnight) is a 605ft-high observation station with a revolving restaurant. The monorail (☎ 206-905-2600; www.seattlemonorail.com; adult/child/senior $4/1.50/2; 🕒 9am-11pm), a 1.5-mile experiment in mass transit that many American cities have yet to cotton on to, runs every 10 minutes daily from downtown's Westlake Center to a station next to the Experience Music Project.

Microsoft cofounder Paul Allen's Experience Music Project (EMP; ☎ 206-367-5483; www.emplive.com; 325 5th Ave N; adult/child/student & senior $19.95/14.95/15.95; 🕒 9am-6pm Sun-Thu, 9am-9pm Fri & Sat May-Sept, 10am-5pm Sun-Thu, 10am-9pm Fri & Sat Nov-Apr) is worth a look for the architecture alone. Whether it's worth the admission price depends on how old and music-obsessed you are. The Frank Gehry building houses 80,000 music artifacts, including handwritten lyrics by Nirvana's Kurt Cobain and a Fender Stratocaster demolished by Jimi Hendrix. Attached to the EMP is the Science Fiction Museum (☎ 206-724-3428; www.sfhomeworld.org; 325 5th Ave N; adult/child $15/12; 🕒 10am-8pm May-Sept, 10am-5pm Wed-Mon Nov-Apr), a nerd paradise of costumes, props and models from sci-fi movies and TV shows. Admission is free between 5pm and 8pm on the first Thursday of the month.

CAPITOL HILL

Seattle's counterculture is never far from the surface in irreverent Capitol Hill, a well-heeled but liberal neighborhood rightly renowned for its fringe theater, alternative music scene, indie coffee bars, and vital gay and lesbian culture. You can take your dog for a herbal bath here, go shopping for ethnic crafts on Broadway, or blend in (or not) with the young punks and the old hippies on the eclectic Pike-Pine Corridor. The junction of Broadway and E John St is the nexus from which to navigate the quarter's various restaurants, brewpubs, boutiques and dingy but not dirty dive bars. Further north, in stately Volunteer Park, the Seattle Asian Art Museum (☎ 206-654-3100; www.seattleartmuseum.org; 1400 E Prospect St; adult/child/student & senior $5/free/3, 1st Thu & Sat of month free; 🕒 10am-5pm Tue-Sun, to 9pm Thu; P) houses the extensive art collection of Dr Richard Fuller, who donated this severe art-moderne-style gallery to the city in 1932. Also in Volunteer Park is the glass-sided Victorian conservatory (admission free), filled with palms, cacti and tropical plants.

WHAT THE...?

The Fremont Troll lurks beneath the north end of the Aurora Bridge at N 36th St. The troll's creators – artists Steve Badanes, Will Martin, Donna Walter and Ross Whitehead – won a competition sponsored by the Fremont Arts Council in 1990. The 18ft-high cement figure snacking on a Volkswagen Beetle is now a favorite place for late-night beer drinking.

FREMONT

Fremont, about 2 miles north of Seattle Center, is known for its lefty vibe, farmers market and wacky public sculpture, including a rocket sticking out of a building and a statue of Lenin shipped over from Slovakia. People come from all over town for the Fremont Sunday Market (☎ 206-781-6776; www.fremontmarket.com/fremont; Stone Way & N 34th St; 🕒 10am-5pm Sun May-Sept, 10am-4pm Sun Nov-Apr). The market features fresh fruits and vegetables, arts and crafts, and all kinds of people getting rid of junk.

Another piece of public art, Waiting for the Interurban (cnr N 34th St & Fremont Ave N) is a cast-aluminum statue of people awaiting a train that never comes: the Interurban linking Seattle and Everett stopped running in the 1930s (it started up again in 2001 but the line no longer passes this way). Check out the human face on the dog; it's Armen Stepanian, once Fremont's honorary mayor, who made the mistake of objecting to the sculpture.

THE U DISTRICT

The 700-acre University of Washington (www.washington.edu) campus sits at the edge of Lake Union in a commercial area about 3 miles northeast of downtown. The main streets are University Way, known as 'the Ave,' and NE 45th St, both lined with coffee shops, restaurants and bars, cinemas and bookstores. The core of the campus is Central Plaza, known as Red Sq because of its brick base. Get information and a campus map at the visitor center (☎ 206-543-9198; 4014 University Way; 🕒 8am-5pm Mon-Fri).

Near the junction of NE 45th St and 16th Ave is the Burke Museum (☎ 206-543-5590; adult/student/senior $8/5/6.50, 1st Thu of month free; 🕒 10am-5pm, 1st Thu of month 10am-8pm), with an excellent collection of Northwest-coast Native American artifacts. At the corner of NE 41st St and 15th Ave is the Henry Art Gallery

(☎ 206-543-2280; adult/student/senior $10/free/6, Thu free; 🕑 11am-5pm Tue-Sun, to 8pm Thu), a sophisticated space centered on a remarkable permanent exhibit by light-manipulating sculptor James Turrell, and featuring various temporary and touring collections.

BALLARD

Six miles northwest of Downtown, Ballard, despite its recent veneer of hipness, still has the feel of an old Scandinavian fishing village – especially around the locks, the marina and the Nordic Heritage Museum. The old town has become a nightlife hot spot, but even in the daytime its historic buildings and cobblestoned streets make it a pleasure to wander through.

Here, the waters of Lake Washington and Lake Union flow through the 8-mile-long Lake Washington Ship Canal and into Puget Sound. Construction of the canal began in 1911; today 100,000 boats a year pass through the Hiram M Chittenden Locks (☎ visitors center 206-783-7059; 3015 NW 54th St; 🕑 24hr), about a half-mile west of Ballard off NW Market St. Take bus 17 from downtown at 4th Ave and Union St. On the southern side of the locks you can watch from underwater glass tanks or from above as salmon navigate a fish ladder on their way to spawning grounds in the Cascade headwaters of the Sammamish River, which feeds Lake Washington.

Activities

HIKING

There are great hiking trails through old-growth forest at Seward Park, which dominates the Bailey Peninsula that juts into Lake Washington, and longer but flatter hikes in 534-acre Discovery Park northwest of Seattle. The Sierra Club (☎ 206-523-2019; www.sierraclub.org) leads day-hiking and car-camping trips on weekends; most day trips are free.

CYCLING

A cycling favorite, the 16.5-mile Burke-Gilman Trail winds from Ballard to Log Boom Park in Kenmore on Seattle's Eastside. There, it connects with the 11-mile Sammamish River Trail, which winds past the Chateau Ste Michelle winery in Woodinville before terminating at Redmond's Marymoor Park.

More cyclists pedal the oft-congested loop around Green Lake, situated just north of Fremont and 5 miles north of the downtown core. Closer in, the 2.5-mile Elliott Bay Trail runs along the Waterfront.

Get a copy of the Seattle Bicycling Guide Map, published by the City of Seattle's Transportation Bicycle & Pedestrian Program (☎ 206-684-7583; www.cityofseattle.net/transportation/bikemaps.htm) online or at bike shops.

The following are recommended for bicycle rentals and repairs:

Bicycle Center (☎ 206-523 8300; 4529 Sand Point Way; rentals per 1-/24hr $3/15) A longstanding bike shop that does rentals and repairs; it's right off the Burke-Gilman Trail.

Bikestation Seattle (☎ 206-224-9252; 309A 3rd Ave S; 🕑 9am-5pm Mon-Fri) Affiliated to the Bicycle Alliance of Washington, this place offers secure 24/7 bike parking, on-site repair and rental facilities in the adjacent JRA shop.

Gregg's Cycles (☎ 206-523-1822; 7007 Woodlawn Ave NE; 🕑 10am-8pm Mon-Fri, 10am-6pm Sat & Sun) Here since 1932, Gregg's is a higher-end shop with two new storefronts in Bellevue and Alderwood; rentals are still out of the Green Lake shop. Fancy road bikes rent for $30 to $56 per hour, or you can get a more standard model for $18 per hour or $135 per week.

WATER SPORTS

On Lake Union, Northwest Outdoor Center Inc (☎ 206-281-9694, 800-683-0637; www.nwoc.com; 2100 Westlake Ave N; kayaks per hr $13-20) rents kayaks and offers tours and instruction in sea and white-water kayaking.

The UW Waterfront Activities Center (☎ 206-543-9433; canoes & rowboats per hr $7.50; 🕑 usually 10am-7pm Feb-Oct), at the southeast corner of the Husky Stadium parking lot off Montlake Blvd NE, rents canoes and rowboats. Bring ID or a passport.

The Agua Verde Paddle Club (☎ 206-545-8570; 1303 NE Boat St; per 1/2hr single kayak $15/25, double kayak $18/30; 🕑 10am-dusk Mon-Sat, 10am-6pm Sun Mar-Oct), near the university on Portage Bay, rents kayaks.

Seattle for Children

The whole of Seattle Center will fascinate youngsters, but they'll get the most out of the Pacific Science Center (☎ 206-443-2001; www.pacsci.org; 200 2nd Ave N; adult/child 3-5yr/child 6-12yr $11/6/8, IMAX Theater & Laserium with general admission extra $3, without general admission $8/6/7; 🕑 10am-6pm; 👪). It entertains and educates with virtual-reality exhibits, laser shows, holograms, an IMAX theater and a planetarium – parents won't be bored either. Parking costs between $5 and $10.

Downtown on Pier 59 is the fascinating Seattle Aquarium (☎ 206-386-4300; www.seattleaquarium.org; 1483 Alaskan Way at Pier 59; adult/child $16/10.50; 🕑 9:30am-5pm; 👪), another fun way to learn all about the natural world of the Pacific Northwest. 'Window on Washington Waters' is a look at the seafloor of the Neah Bay area, where rockfish, salmon, sea anemones and more than 100 other fish and invertebrate species live. The centerpiece of the aquarium is a glass-domed room where sharks, octopuses and other deepwater denizens lurk in the shadowy depths.

Tours

Argosy Cruises Seattle Harbor Tour (☎ 206-623-1445, 800-642-7816; www.argosycruises.com; adult/child $18.61/7.81) Argosy's popular Seattle Harbor Tour is a one-hour narrated tour of Elliott Bay, the Waterfront and the Port of Seattle. It departs from Pier 55.

Coffee Crawl (☎ 800-838-3006; www.seattlebyfoot.com; tours $20; 🕑 10am selective days) Touring Seattle's coffee bars is a local experience akin to exploring Rome's ruins. This two-hour caffeine-fuelled romp starts at Pike Place Market under the famous coffee sign and continues along Post Alley with explanations on the city's coffee history and culture.

Seattle Food Tours (☎ 425-725-4483; www.seattlefoodtours.com; tours $39) A culinary hike in and around Pike Place Market, this 2½-hour excursion takes in a bakery, chowder house, Vietnamese restaurant and Mexican kitchen. You'll also get some historical and artistic background.

Festivals & Events

Northwest Folklife Festival (☎ 206-684-7300; www.nwfolklife.org) Memorial Day weekend in May. International music, dance, crafts, food and family activities at Seattle Center.

Seafair (☎ 206-728-0123; www.seafair.com) Late July and August. Huge crowds attend this festival on the water, with hydroplane races, a torchlight parade, an air show, music and a carnival.

Bumbershoot (☎ 206-281-8111; www.bumbershoot.com) Labor Day weekend in September. A major arts and cultural event at Seattle Center, with live music, author readings and lots of unclassifiable fun.

Sleeping

From mid-November through to the end of March, most downtown hotels offer Seattle Super Saver Packages – generally 50% off rack rates, with a coupon book for savings on dining, shopping and attractions. Call the Seattle Hotel Hotline (☎ 800-535-7071). You can make reservations on its website at www.seattlesupersaver.com.

BUDGET

Green Tortoise Guest House (☎ 206-340-1222; www.greentortoise.net; 105 Pike St; dm $24-29, r $77-80, incl breakfast; 💻) The only hostel in the city center now that HI (Hostelling International) Seattle has closed, this once-super-grungy place has moved around the corner from its old home and is right across the street from Pike Place Market. There are 30 bunk rooms and 16 European-style rooms (with shared bath and shower).

Moore Hotel (☎ 206-448-4851, 800-421-5508; www.moorehotel.com; 1926 2nd Ave; s/d with shared bath $59/71, private bath $74/86; ☒ 💻 📶) Old-world and a little moth-eaten, the Moore nonetheless has a friendly front desk and a prime location. If that doesn't swing you, the price should.

College Inn (☎ 206-633-4441; www.collegeinnseattle.com; 4000 University Way NE; s/d incl breakfast from $60/70; ☒ 💻 📶) This pretty, half-timbered building in the U District, left over from the 1909 Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition, has 25 European-style guest rooms with sinks and shared baths. Note there are four flights of stairs and no elevator. Pub in the basement!

MIDRANGE

Gaslight Inn B&B (☎ 206-325-3654; www.gaslight-inn.com; 1727 15th Ave E; r $88-158; ☒ 🏊) The Gaslight Inn has 15 rooms available (12 with private baths) in two neighboring homes. In summer, it's refreshing to dive into the outdoor pool or just hang out on the sun deck.

Ace Hotel (☎ 206-448-4721; www.acehotel.com; 2423 1st Ave; r with shared/private bath $99/190; P 💻 📶) Emulating (almost) its hip Portland cousin, the Ace sports minimal, futuristic decor (everything's white or stainless steel, even the TV), antique French army blankets, condoms instead of pillow mints and a Kama Sutra in place of the Bible. Parking costs $15.

our pick Mediterranean Inn (☎ 206-428-4700; www.mediterranean-inn.com; 425 Queen Anne Ave N; r from $119; P ☒ ✖ 💻) There's something about the surprisingly un-Mediterranean Med Inn that just clicks. Maybe it's the handy cusp-of-downtown location, or the genuinely friendly staff, or the kitchenettes in every room, or the small downstairs gym, or the surgical cleanliness in every room. Don't try to define it – just go there and soak it up.

Hotel Max (☎ 206-441-4200, 800-426-0670; www.hotelmaxseattle.com; 620 Stewart St; s/d from $179/199; P 💻) Original artworks hang in the (small but cool) guest rooms, and it's tough to get any hipper than the Max's super-saturated color scheme – not to mention package deals such as the Grunge Special or the Gaycation. Rooms feature menus for your choice of pillows and spirituality services. Parking costs $15.

TOP END

Inn at the Market (☎ 206-443-3600, 800-446-4484; www.innatthemarket.com; 86 Pine St; r $175-300, with water views $230-400; 🅿 ⊠ ❄ 📶) The elegant Inn at the Market is the only lodging in the venerable Pike Place Market. This 70-room boutique hotel has large rooms, many of which enjoy grand views onto market activity and Puget Sound. Parking costs $20.

MarQueen Hotel (☎ 206-286-7407; www.marqueen.com; 600 Queen Anne Ave N; r from $225; 🅿 📶) In some old (by Seattle standards) apartment buildings spruced up and turned into a hotel, the MarQueen's rooms come with their original kitchenettes and retain enough early 20th-century elegance to keep them feeling authentic. While falling a little shy of the full-on luxury bracket, the hotel's location adjacent to the Seattle Center and next to a fine strip of restaurants is a big advantage.

Hotel Monaco (☎ 206-621-1770; www.monaco-seattle.com; 1101 4th Ave; d/ste from $260/309; 🅿 ⊠ 💻 📶) Whimsical with dashes of European elegance, the downtown Monaco is worthy of all four of its illustrious stars. Injecting a bit of down-to-earth ambience into the brew, the assistant manager runs (quite literally) early-morning jogging sessions along the Waterfront with guests.

Eating

BUDGET

The best budget meals are to be found in Pike Place Market. Take your pick and make your own from fresh produce, baked goods, deli items and take-out ethnic foods.

our pick Piroshky Bakery (☎ 206-441-6068; 1908 Pike Pl; snacks $2-7; 🕓 8am-6:30pm Oct-Apr, 7:30am-6:30pm May-Sep) Proof that not all insanely popular Pike Place holes-in-the-wall go global (à la Starbucks), Piroshky's is still knocking out its delectable mix of sweet and savory Russian pies and pastries in a space barely big enough to swing a small kitten. Join the melee and order one 'to go.'

Travelers (☎ 206-329-6260; 501 E Pine St; snacks $5-10; 🕓 10am-7pm Mon-Thu, 10am-8pm Fri & Sat, noon-8pm Sun) This Capitol Hill Indian store-cum-café sells everything from tiffin boxes to Kama Sutra postcards, but comes into its own for its slow-brewed masala chai tea, a sweet, spicy and powder-free taste of the real Asian subcontinent. If you're feeling peckish the subtly nuanced thali tray is highly recommended.

Peso's Kitchen & Lounge (☎ 206-283-9353; 605 Queen Anne Ave N; breakfast $6-9, dinner $9-13; 🕓 9am-2am) A place that wears many hats – or should that be sombreros. Fine Mexican food is served here in the evenings amid a cool trendy 'scene' that is anything but Mexican. But the trump card comes the next morning, after the beautiful people have gone home, with an acclaimed egg-biased breakfast.

Salumi (☎ 206-621-8772; 309 3rd Ave S; sandwiches $7-10, plates $11-14; 🕓 11am-4pm Tue-Fri) The line waiting at Mario Batali's dad's place is like its own little community. People chat, compare notes, talk about sandwiches they've had and loved…it's nice. Sandwiches come with any of a dozen types of cured meat and fresh cheese. There aren't many seats, so plan to picnic.

MIDRANGE

Shiro's Sushi Restaurant (☎ 206-443-9844; 2401 2nd Ave; sushi $2-9, specials $9-13, mains $20-21; 🕓 5:30-9:45pm) There's barely room for all the awards and kudos that cram the window in this sleek Japanese joint. Grab a pew behind the glass food case and watch the experts concoct delicate and delicious Seattle sushi.

Café Septieme (☎ 206-860-8858; 214 Broadway E; starters $5-9, breakfast & lunch $7-9, dinner $15-18; 🕓 9am-midnight) A pretty, Euro-style restaurant-bar with red walls and white-clothed tables, Septieme serves filling but sophisticated burgers, salads, pastas and fish dishes; the bacon-provolone cheeseburger is great.

Palace Kitchen (☎ 206-448-2001; 2030 5th Ave; salads $7-9, mains $12-25; 🕓 5pm-1am) Owned by celebrity chef Tom Douglas, Palace Kitchen is a late-night hot spot that fills up when the cocktail crowd gets peckish. Its bar snacks are anything but ordinary; try the king-crab omelet.

5 Spot (☎ 206-285-7768; 1502 Queen Anne Ave N; brunch $8-10, dinner $13-17 🕓 8:30am-midnight) Top of the hill, top of the morning and top of the pops; the queues outside 5 Spot at 10am on a Sunday testify to a formidable brunch. The crowds mean a great atmosphere and the hearty menu, which has perfected French toast, huevos rancheros and plenty more American standards, will shift even the most stubborn of hangovers.

Black Bottle (☎ 206-441-1500; 2600 1st Ave; plates $8-12; 🕓 4:30pm-2am) This trendy minimalist bar-restaurant showcases the new Belltown of smart condo dwellers and avid wine quaffers. The food is mainly appetizers, but with menu items such as grilled lamb and sumac hummus, and braised artichoke heart and greens, even the nostalgic grunge groupies of yore will find it hard to resist the lure.

Coastal Kitchen (☎ 206-322-1145; 429 15th Ave E; lunch $8-12, dinner $14-20; 🕑 8am-11pm) This longtime favorite turns out some of the best food in the neighborhood – it has an eclectic mix of Cajun, Mayan and Mexican inspirations, and an Italian-language instruction tape running in the restroom, if that gives a clue toward influences.

TOP END

Queen City Grill (☎ 206-443-0975; 2201 1st Ave; mains $12-33; 🕑 5pm-2am) This longtime Belltown favorite serves daily seafood specials and menus that change to reflect the use of seasonal ingredients. The room is warmly lit and cozy, yet sophisticated, and service is all class.

Steelhead Diner (☎ 206-625-0129; www.steelheaddiner.com; 95 Pine St; sandwiches $9-13, mains $15-33; 🕑 11am-10pm Tue-Sat, 10am-3pm Sun) Homey favorites such as fish and chips, grilled salmon or braised short ribs and grits become fine cuisine when they're made with the best of what Pike Place Market has to offer.

SkyCity (☎ 206-905-2100; 219 4th Ave N; mains $34-54; 🕑 11:30am-2pm & 5-8:45pm Mon-Fri, 10am-2:45pm & 5-9:45pm Sat & Sun) Balanced on top of the Space Needle (p1026), this revolving restaurant makes a full turn every 47 minutes. The steep prices reflect both the setting (all tables have a full city view) and the fine dining incorporating fresh ecofriendly ingredients.

Drinking

You'll find cocktail bars, dance clubs and live music on Capitol Hill. The main drag in Ballard has brick taverns old and new, filled with the hard-drinking older set in daylight hours and indie rockers at night. Belltown has gone from grungy to shabby chic, but has the advantage of many drinking holes neatly lined up in rows. Industrial Georgetown is an up-and-coming barfly's paradise, still rough around the edges. And, this being Seattle, you can't walk two blocks without hitting a coffee shop.

Coffeehouses get brewing between 6am and 7am and keep going until 7pm. Some of the hip places hold out until 11pm or even midnight. Bars usually open from 5pm to 2am, unless there's a restaurant attached in which case they'll often open for lunch.

COFFEEHOUSES

Starbucks is the tip of the iceberg. Seattle has spawned plenty of smaller indie chains, many with their own roasting rooms.

B&O Espresso (☎ 206-322-5028; 204 Belmont Ave E; 🕑 7am-late Mon-Thu, 8am-late Fri-Sun) Full of understated swank, this is the place to go for Turkish coffee – if you can get past the pastry case up front.

Caffé Vita (☎ 206-709-4440; 1005 E Pike St; 🕑 6am-11pm) The laptop fiend, the date, the radical student, the homeless hobo, the philosopher, the business guy on his way to work; watch the whole neighborhood pass through this Capitol Hill institution (one of four in Seattle) with its own on-site roasting room visible through a glass partition.

Top Pot Hand-Forged Doughnuts (☎ 206-728-1966; 2124 5th Ave; 🕑 6am-7pm) Another nascent Seattle chain, Top Pot still only has a manageable four branches. This trendy Belltown location is perhaps the quirkiest with its floor-to-ceiling library shelves, art-deco signage, and legendary coffee and doughnuts.

Panama Hotel Tea & Coffee House (☎ 206-515-4000; 607 S Main St; 🕑 8am-7pm Mon-Sat, 9am-7pm Sun) The Panama, a historic 1910 building that contains the only remaining Japanese bathhouse in the US, doubles as a memorial to the neighborhood's Japanese residents forced into internment camps during WWII.

Zeitgeist (☎ 206-583-0497; 171 S Jackson St; 🕑 6am-7pm Mon-Fri, 8am-7pm Sat & Sun; 📶) Plug into the spirit of the times with the rest of the laptop crew at this lofty, brick-walled café near the train station.

BARS

Brouwer's (☎ 206-267-2437; 400 N 35th St; 🕑 11am-2am) This dark cathedral of beer in Fremont has rough-hewn rock walls and a black metal grate in the ceiling. Behind an epic bar are tantalizing glimpses into a massive beer fridge. A replica Mannequin Pis statue at the door and the Belgian crest everywhere clue you in to the specialty.

Shorty's (☎ 206-441-5449; 2222 2nd Ave) An unpretentious oasis in a block of très chic lounges, Shorty's has cheap beer and hot dogs, alcohol slushies and a back room of pinball heaven.

Blue Moon (☎ 206-633-626; 712 NE 45th St) Legendary former haunt of Dylan Thomas and Allen Ginsberg, the Blue Moon is exactly a mile from the university campus, thanks to an early zoning law. Be prepared for impromptu poetry recitations, jaw-harp performances and inspired rants.

Copper Gate (☎ 206-706-3292; 6301 24th Ave NW) Formerly one of Seattle's worst dives, the Copper Gate in Ballard is now an upscale bar-restaurant focused on meatballs and naked ladies. A Viking longship forms the bar, with a peepshow pastiche for a sail and a cargo of helmets and gramophones.

Nine Pound Hammer (☎ 206-762-3373; 6009 Airport Way S) This darkened beer hall in Georgetown is generous with the pours and the peanuts, and the mixed crowd of workers, hipsters, punks and bikers vacillates between energetic and rowdy.

BREWPUBS

Jolly Roger Taproom (☎ 206-782-6181; 1514 Leary Way NW; 🕒 Mon-Sat) Less scurvy-barnacle than placid-yachtsman, Maritime Pacific Brewing's Jolly Roger Taproom in Ballard is a tiny, pirate-themed bar with a nautical chart painted onto the floor, good seafood and about 15 taps.

Hale's Ales Brewery (☎ 206-706-1544; 4301 Leary Way NW) Hale's makes fantastic beer, notably its ambrosial Cream Ale. Its flagship brewpub in Fremont feels like a business-hotel lobby, but it's worth a stop. There is a self-guided tour near the entrance.

Pike Pub & Brewery (☎ 206-622-6044; 1415 1st Ave) This pub in Pike Place Market serves great burgers and brews in a funky neoindustrial multilevel space.

Elysian Brewing Company (☎ 206-860-1920; 1221 E Pike St) On Capitol Hill, the Elysian's huge windows are great for people-watching – or being watched, if your pool game's good enough.

Entertainment

Consult the Stranger, Seattle Weekly or the daily papers for listings. Tickets for big events are available at TicketMaster (☎ 206-628-0888), which operates a discount ticket booth (☎ 206-233-1111) at Westlake Center.

LIVE MUSIC

Crocodile (☎ 206-441-5611; www.thecrocodile.com; 2200 2nd Ave) Reopened in March 2009 after a year in the doldrums, the sole survivor of Belltown's once influential grunge scene (formerly known as the Crocodile Café) will have to work hard to reclaim an audience who grew up listening to Nirvana, Pearl Jam and REM at this formerly hallowed music venue.

Neumo's (☎ 206-709-9467; www.neumos.com; 925 E Pike St) A punk/hip-hop/alternative music venue that counts Radiohead and Bill Clinton (not together) among its former guests, Neumo's (formerly known as Moe's) fills the big shoes of its original namesake. You can mark the passage of time at 'Sad Bastards Mondays' which offer 'tunes to cry into your beer to.'

Chop Suey (☎ 206-324-8000; www.chopsuey.com; 1325 E Madison St) Chop Suey is a dark, high-ceilinged space with a ramshackle faux-Chinese motif and eclectic bookings.

Central Saloon (☎ 206-622-0209; 207 1st Ave) The launching pad for many a musical career, Pioneer Square's 'Central' has been in operation since 1892 and has seen it all from the Klondike gold rush to a Mudhoney sound rush.

CINEMAS

The biggest event of the year for Seattle cinephiles is the Seattle International Film Festival (SIFF; ☎ 206-464-5830; www.siff.net; tickets $5-11, 6-/20-pack pass $57/180). The festival uses a half-dozen cinemas but also has its own dedicated cinema, in McCaw Hall's Nesholm Family Lecture Hall (321 Mercer St, Seattle Center), and typically starts in mid-May.

The Seattle Lesbian & Gay Film Festival (☎ 206-323-4274; www.threedollarbillcinema.org; tickets $6-8), a popular festival in October, shows new gay-themed films from directors worldwide.

Cool cinemas include the following:

Cinerama (☎ 206-441-3653; www.cinerama.com; 2100 4th Ave) One of the very few Cineramas left in the world, it has a fun, sci-fi feel.

Harvard Exit (☎ 206-781-5755; www.landmarktheatres.com; cnr E Roy St & Harvard Ave) Built in 1925, Seattle's first independent theater.

Northwest Film Forum (☎ 206-329-2629; www.nwfilmforum.org; 1515 12th Ave) Impeccable programming, from restored classics to cutting-edge independent and international films.

THEATER & CULTURE

Check local newspapers for reviews and schedules.

One of the three big companies in the city, A Contemporary Theatre (ACT; ☎ 206-292-7676; www.acttheatre.org; 700 Union St) fills its $30-million home at Kreielsheimer Place with performances by Seattle's best thespians and occasional big-name actors. The Intiman Theatre Company, Seattle's oldest, takes the stage at Intiman Playhouse (☎ 206-269-1900; www.intiman.org; 201 Mercer St).

The Pacific Northwest Ballet (☎ 206-441-9411; www.pnb.org) is the foremost dance company in the Northwest and does more than a hundred performances a season from September through June at Seattle Center's McCaw Hall. Seattle Opera (☎ 206-389-7676; www.seattleopera.org), also at McCaw Hall, features a program of four or five full-scale operas every season, including a summer Wagner's Ring cycle that draws sellout crowds.

The Seattle Symphony (☎ 206-215-4747; www.seattlesymphony.org) is a major regional ensemble. It plays at the Benaroya Concert Hall, which you'll find downtown at 2nd Ave and University St.

SPORTS

The beloved Seattle Mariners (☎ 206-628-3555; www.mariners.org; tickets $7-60) baseball team plays in Safeco Field just south of downtown, while the Seattle Seahawks (☎ 425-827-9777; www.seahawks.com; tickets $42-95), the Northwest's only National Football League (NFL) franchise plays in the 72,000-seat Seahawks Stadium.

GAY & LESBIAN VENUES

Storied dance club Re-Bar (☎ 206-233-9873; 1114 Howell St), where many of Seattle's defining cultural events happened (such as Nirvana album releases etc), welcomes gay, straight, bi or undecided revelers to its lively dance floor.

Check out the always-packed dance factory Neighbours (☎ 206-324-5358; 1509 Broadway Ave E) for the gay club scene and its attendant glittery straight girls.

R Place (☎ 206-322-8828; 619 E Pine St) offers three floors of dancing to hip-hop/R & B DJs and plenty of sweaty body contact make this club a blast for pretty much everyone who isn't terribly uptight.

Shopping

The main big-name shopping area is downtown between 3rd and 6th Aves and University and Stewart Sts. Pike Place Market (p1024) is a maze of arts-and-crafts stalls, galleries and small shops. Pioneer Square and Capitol Hill have locally owned gift and thrift shops.

Some only-in-Seattle shops to seek out:

Babeland (☎ 206-328-2914; 707 E Pike St; 🕘 11am-10pm Mon-Sat, noon-7pm Sun) The answer to the question 'Where can I buy pink furry handcuffs and a glass dildo?'

Holy Cow Records (☎ 206-405-4200; 1501 Pike Pl, Suite 325; 🕘 10am-10pm Mon-Sat, 10am-7pm Sun) Proceed to Pike Place Market and let your fingers flick through the ageing vinyl at this shrine to music geekdom; you might just stumble upon that rare Psychedelic Furs 12-inch that has been eluding you since 1984.

Left Bank Books (☎ 206-622-0195; 92 Pike St; 🕘 10am-7pm Mon-Sat, 11am-6pm Sun) This 35-year-old collective displays zines in español, revolutionary pamphlets, a 'fuck authority' notice board and plenty of Chomsky. You're in Seattle, just in case you forgot.

Getting There & Away

AIR

Aka 'Sea-Tac,' Seattle-Tacoma International Airport (SEA; ☎ 206-433-5388; www.portseattle.org/seatac), 13 miles south of Seattle on I-5, has daily service to Europe, Asia, Mexico and points throughout the USA and Canada, with frequent flights to and from Portland, OR, and Vancouver, BC.

BOAT

Victoria Clipper (☎ 206-443-2560, 800-888-2535; www.victoriaclipper.com) operates several high-speed passenger ferries to Victoria, BC, and to the San Juan Islands. It also organizes package tours which can be booked in advance through the website. Victoria Clipper runs from Seattle to Victoria up to six times daily; round-trips cost from $77.

The Washington State Ferries (☎ 206-464-6400, in Washington 888-808-7977; www.wsdot.wa.gov/ferries) website has maps, prices, schedules, trip planners and weather updates, plus estimated waiting time for popular routes. Fares depend on the route, vehicle size and trip duration, and are collected either for round-trip or one-way travel depending on the departure terminal.

BUS

The Bellair Airporter Shuttle (☎ 1-866-235-5247; www.airporter.com) buses passengers as far afield as Ellensburg, Yakima, Anacortes and Bellingham.

Greyhound (☎ 206-628-5561, 800-231-2222; www.greyhound.com; 811 Stewart St; 🕘 6am-midnight) connects Seattle with cites all over the country, including Chicago, IL ($195 one way, two days, three daily), Spokane, WA ($38, five to seven hours, three daily), San Francisco, CA ($95, 20 hours, four daily), and Vancouver, BC ($25, three to four hours, six daily).

More comfortable and offering free on-board wi-fi is the super-efficient Quick Shuttle (☎ 800-665-2122; www.quickcoach.com) that runs five times daily along I-5 between Sea-Tac Airport and central Vancouver (BC) stopping in downtown Seattle (at the Best Western Executive Inn, 200 Taylor Ave N), Tulalip, Bellingham airport, South Surrey (Canada), Vancouver airport and downtown Vancouver.

TRAIN

Amtrak (☎ 800-872-7245; www.amtrak.com) serves Seattle's King Street Station (303 S Jackson St; 🕑 6am-10:30pm, ticket counter 6:15am-8pm). Three main routes run through town: the Amtrak Cascades (connecting Vancouver, Seattle, Portland and Eugene), the very scenic Coast Starlight (connecting Seattle, Oakland and Los Angeles) and the Empire Builder (a cross-continental roller-coaster to Chicago).

Some examples of one-way ticket prices from Seattle:

Chicago, IL From $334, 46 hours, daily
Oakland, CA $92, 23 hours, daily
Portland, OR $28, three to four hours, five daily
Vancouver, BC $35, three to four hours, five daily

Getting Around

TO/FROM THE AIRPORT

There are a number of options for making the 13-mile trek from the airport to downtown Seattle.

Gray Line's Airport Express (☎ 206-626-6088; www.graylineseattle.com; one way adult/child $11/8.25) fetches passengers in the parking lot outside door 00 at the south end of the baggage-claim level. It will drop you at a choice of eight different downtown hotels (handy if you want to get downtown).

Taxis and limousines (about $35 and $40, respectively) are available at the parking garage on the 3rd floor. Rental-car counters are located in the baggage-claim area.

Catch Metro (☎ schedule info 206-553-3000; www.transit.metrokc.gov) buses outside door 6 by baggage carousel 5 on the baggage-claim level. Buses 194 Express and 174 go downtown ($1.75 to $2). From there, the free 99 bus goes to the Waterfront, Pioneer Square and the International District. Use the online trip planner for more information.

CAR & MOTORCYCLE

Trapped in a narrow corridor between mountains and sea, Seattle is a horrendous traffic bottleneck and its nightmarish jams are famous. I-5 has a High-Occupancy Vehicle lane for vehicles carrying two or more people. Otherwise try to work around the elongated rush 'hours'.

PUBLIC TRANSPORTATION

Buses are operated by Metro Transit (☎ schedule info 206-553-3000, customer service 206-553-3060; www.transit.metrokc.gov), part of the King County Department of Transportation. Fares cost $1.75 to $2.

The new Seattle Street Car (☎ 206-553-3000; www.seattlestreetcar.org) runs from the Westlake Center to Lake Union along a 2.6-mile route. There are 11 stops allowing interconnections with numerous bus routes.

TAXI

All Seattle taxi cabs operate at the same rate, set by King County; at the time of research the rate was $2.50 at meter drop, then $2.50 per mile.

Any of the following offer reliable taxi service:

Orange Cab Co (☎ 206-444-0409; www.orangecab.net)
Yellow Cab (☎ 206-622-6500; www.yellowtaxi.net)

AROUND SEATTLE

Puget Sound

Bainbridge Island is a popular destination with locals and visitors alike; the ferry ride provides stunning views of Seattle and the Sound, and it's the quickest and easiest way to get out on the water from Seattle. Prepare to stroll around lazily, tour some waterfront cafés, taste unique wines at the Bainbridge Island Winery (☎ 206-842-9463; www.bainbridgevineyards.com; Hwy 305; 🕑 tastings 11am-5pm Fri-Sun), 4 miles north of Winslow, and maybe rent a bike and cycle around the invitingly flat countryside.

Another easy way to get onto the Sound from Seattle is with Tillicum Village Tours (☎ 206-933-8600, 800-426-1205; www.tillicumvillage.com; adult/child/senior $79/30/72), which operates from March and December, departing from Pier 55. The four-hour trip to Blake Island – the birthplace of Seattle's namesake, Chief Sealth – includes a salmon bake, a native dance and a movie at an old Duwamish Native American village.

Washington State Ferries (☎ 206-464-6400, in Washington 888-808-7977; www.wsdot.wa.gov/ferries) runs many times daily from Seattle to Bainbridge (adult/child/car and driver $6.70/5.40/14.45, bicycle surcharge $1).

Olympia

In many ways a microcosm of Seattle, Olympia is an edgy, culturally vivacious city that also doubles up as the state capital. Long hailed as a nexus for the fine arts, it's noted for its progressive university (Evergreen) and white-hot music scene, a force that served as an important catalyst for grunge and fermented its own angry post-punk genre: riot grrrl, a radical '90s incarnation of proactive third-wave feminism. While the nightlife has lost a little of its luster since Kurt Cobain roamed the bars of 4th Ave, Olympia can still put on a show and its gritty underground music scene is complemented by some decent brewpubs and a growing cluster of nonfranchise coffee bars. Beyond the grunge, the city's position at the tip of Puget Sound sandwiched between two national parks (Olympic and Mt Rainier) makes it a viable base for the wilderness-bound. The State Capitol Visitor Center (☎ 360-586-3460; cnr 14th Ave & Capitol Way) offers information on the capitol campus, the Olympia area and Washington state.

Be sure to look inside the vast, marble-clad Legislative Building (1927) in the Washington State Capitol. Free tours are offered hourly between 8am and 4:30pm every day except Christmas and Thanksgiving. Visitors can also tour the campus (admission free; 🕒 8am-4pm Mon-Fri) and see the Temple of Justice and the Capitol Conservatory, which houses a large collection of tropical plants.

The State Capital Museum (☎ 360-753-2580; 211 W 21st Ave; admission $2; 🕒 10am-4pm Tue-Fri, noon-4pm Sat) has exhibits on the Nisqually Native Americans. The Olympia Farmers Market (☎ 360-352-9096; 🕒 10am-3pm Thu-Sun Apr-Oct, 10am-3pm Sat & Sun Nov-Dec), at the north end of Capitol Way, is one of the state's best with fresh local produce, crafts and live music.

For cheap digs, try the Olympia Inn (☎ 360-352-8533; 909 Capitol Way S; s/d $50/57; 🅿 ❄), a central downtown motel with no frills but clean rooms. A little more upmarket is the slick and efficient Phoenix Inn Suites (☎ 360-570-0555; 415 Capitol Way N; s/d $99/109; ⊠ ❄ 📶 🏊), well tuned in dealing with demanding state government officials.

Batdorf & Bronson (☎ 360-786-6717; 513 Capitol Way S; 🕒 6am-7pm Mon-Fri, 7am-6pm Sat & Sun) is a local roaster offering ethical coffee. Aside from this downtown café, you can buy or try the latest blends at its popular Tasting Room (☎ 360-753-4057; 200 Market St NE; 🕒 9am-4pm Wed-Sun). The equally famous Olympia oysters can be sampled at the Budd Bay Café (☎ 360-357-6963; 525 Columbia St NW; seafood dinners $17-24; 🕒 6:30am-11pm). The Spar Bar (☎ 360-357-6444; 114 4th Ave E; breakfast $4-5, lunch $5-8; 🕒 7am-9pm) is a cozy old café-cum-bar-cum-cigar store with good brews, classic comfort food and supersonic service.

The city's never-static music scene still makes waves on 4th Ave at the retrofitted 4th Avenue Tavern (☎ 360-786-1444; 210 4th Ave E) or the graffiti-decorated Le Voyeur (☎ 360-943-5710; 404 4th Ave E), an anarchistic, vegan-friendly dive bar with a busker often guarding the door.

OLYMPIC PENINSULA

Surrounded on three sides by sea and exhibiting many of the insular characteristics of a full-blown island, the remote Olympic Peninsula is about as 'wild' and 'west' as America gets. What it lacks in cowboys it makes up for in rare, endangered wildlife and dense primeval forest. The peninsula's road-less interior is largely given over to the notoriously wet Olympic National Park while the margins are the preserve of loggers, Native American reservations and a smattering of small but interesting settlements, most notably Port Townsend. Equally untamed is the western coastline, America's isolated end point, where the tempestuous ocean and misty old-growth Pacific rainforest meet in aqueous harmony.

Olympic National Park

Declared a national monument in 1909 and a national park in 1938, the 1406-sq-mile Olympic National Park (www.nps.gov/olym) shelters one of the world's only temperate rainforests and a 57-mile strip of Pacific coastal wilderness that was added in 1953 – it exists as one of North America's last great wilderness areas. Opportunities for independent exploration abound, with visitors enjoying such diverse activities as hiking, fishing, kayaking and skiing.

INFORMATION

The park entry fee is $5/15 per person/vehicle, valid for one week, payable at park entrances. Many park visitor centers double as United

WHAT THE....?

With their sharp, crenellated ridges and brooding, snowcapped volcanoes, Washington's peaks share much in common with the Andes in South America – including llamas.

Deli Llama Adventures (☎ 360-757-4212; www.delillama.com; 17045 Llama Lame, Bow, WA 98232) is a small, well-established local outfit that offers llama/hiking excursions in both the North Cascades and Olympic National Parks for groups of up to 10 people from May through September. Prices start at $140 per person per day (depending on group size) and include tents, cooking gear, all meals and – of course – the llamas themselves who, with their sure-footed dignity and instinctive climbing skills, can penetrate the rugged backcountry like a fleet of environmentally friendly SUVs.

States Forestry Service (USFS) ranger stations, where you can pick up permits for wilderness camping ($5 per group, valid up to 14 days, plus $2 per person per night).

Forks Visitor Information Center (☎ 360-374-2531, 800-443-6757; 1411 S Forks Ave, Forks; 🕒 10am-4pm) Suggested itineraries and seasonal information.

Olympic National Park Visitor Center (☎ 360-565-3130; 3002 Mt Angeles Rd, Port Angeles; 🕒 9am-5pm) The best overall center is situated at the Hurricane Ridge gateway, a mile off Hwy 101 in Port Angeles.

Wilderness Information Center (☎ 360-565-3100; 3002 Mt Angeles Rd, Port Angeles; 🕒 7:30am-6pm Sun-Thu, 7:30am-8pm Fri & Sat May-Sept, 8am-4:30pm daily Nov-Apr) Directly behind the visitor center, you'll find maps, permits and trail information.

EASTERN ENTRANCES

The graveled Dosewallips River Rd follows the river from US 101 (turn off approximately 1km north of Dosewallips State Park) for 15 miles to Dosewallips Ranger Station, where the trails begin; call ☎ 360-565-3130 for road conditions. Even hiking smaller portions of the two long-distance paths – with increasingly impressive views of heavily glaciated Mt Anderson – is reason enough to visit the valley. Another eastern entry for hikers is the Staircase Ranger Station (☎ 360-877-5569; 🕒 May-Sept only), just inside the national park boundary, 15 miles from Hoodsport on US 101. Two state parks along the eastern edge of the national park are popular with campers: Dosewallips State Park (☎ 888-226-7688; campsites/RV sites $19/24 and Lake Cushman State Park (☎ 888-226-7688; campsites/RV sites $20/26). Both have running water, flush toilets and some RV hookups. Reservations are accepted.

NORTHERN ENTRANCES

The park's easiest – and hence most popular – entry point is at Hurricane Ridge, 18 miles south of Port Angeles. At the road's end, an interpretive center overlooks a stupendous view of Mt Olympus (7965ft) and dozens of other peaks. The 5200ft altitude can mean inclement weather and the winds here (as the name suggests) can be ferocious. Aside from various summer trekking opportunities, the area boasts one of only two US national-park-based ski runs operated by the small, family-friendly Hurricane Ridge Winter Sports Club (☎ 360-417-1542; www.hurricaneridge.net).

Popular for boating and fishing is Lake Crescent, the site of the park's oldest and most reasonably priced lodge (☎ 360-928-3211; www.lakecrescentlodge.com; 416 Lake Crescent Rd; lodge r with shared bath $68-85, cottages $132-211; 🕒 May-Oct; P ⊠ ❄ 📶). Sumptuous and sustainable food is served in the lodge's ecofriendly restaurant. From Storm King Information Station (☎ 360-928-3380; 🕒 May-Sept only) on the lake's south shore, a 1-mile hike climbs through old-growth forest to Marymere Falls. Along the Sol Duc River, the Sol Duc Hot Springs Resort (☎ 360-327-3583; www.northolympic.com/solduc; 12076 Sol Duc Hot Springs Rd, Port Angeles; r $115-169, RV sites $23; 🕒 late Mar–Oct; ❄ 🏊) has lodging, dining, massage and, of course, hot-spring pools (adult/child $10/7.50), as well as great day hikes.

WESTERN ENTRANCES

Isolated by distance and one of the US' rainiest microclimates, the Pacific side of the Olympics remains its wildest. Only US 101 offers access to its noted temperate rainforests and untamed coastline. The Hoh River Rainforest, at the end of the 19-mile Hoh River Rd, is a Tolkienesque maze of dripping ferns and moss-draped trees. You can get better acquainted with the area's complex yet delicate natural ecosystems at the Hoh visitor center and campground (☎ 360-374-6925; campsites $12; 🕒 9am-6pm Jul & Aug, 9am-4:30pm Sep-Jun), which has information on guided walks and longer backcountry hikes. No hook-ups or showers; first-come first-served.

A little to the south lies Lake Quinault, a beautiful glacial lake surrounded by forested peaks. It's popular for fishing, boating and swimming and is punctuated by some of the nation's oldest trees.

our pick Lake Quinault Lodge (☎ 360-288-2900; www.visitlakequinault.com; 345 S Shore Rd; lodge r $134-167, cabins $125-243; ⁘ ⊠ ≋), a luxury classic of 1920s 'parkitecture', boasts a heated pool and sauna, a crackling fireplace and a memorable dining room noted for its sweet-potato breakfast pancakes. For a cheaper sleep nearby try the ultrafriendly Quinault River Inn (☎ 360-288-2237; 8 River Dr; r $69; P ⊠ ⁘ ☰) in Amanda Park, a favorite with anglers.

A number of short hikes begin just outside the Lake Quinault Lodge or you can try the longer Enchanted Valley Trail, a medium-grade 13-miler that begins from the Graves Creek Ranger station at the end of South Shore Rd and climbs up to a large meadow resplendent with wildflowers and copses of alder trees.

Port Townsend

Historical relics are rare in the Pacific Northwest which makes time-warped Port Townsend all the more fascinating. Small, nostalgic and culturally vibrant, this showcase of 1890s Victorian architecture is the 'New York of the West that never was,' a one-time boomtown that went bust at the turn of the twentieth century only to be rescued 70 years later by a group of far-sighted locals. Port Townsend today is a buoyant blend of inventive eateries, elegant fin de siècle hotels and quirky annual festivals. To get the lowdown on the city's rollercoaster boom-bust history call in at the visitor center (☎ 360-385-2722; www.ptchamber.org; 2437 E Sims Way; ⏲ 9am-5pm Mon-Fri, 9am-4pm Sat & Sun). Further enlightenment can be gleaned at the Jefferson County Historical Society Museum (☎ 360-385-1003; 540 Water St; adult/child 12yr & under $4/1; ⏲ 11am-4pm Mon-Sat & 1-4pm Sun Mar-Dec).

Blustery Fort Worden State Park (☎ 360-344-4400; 200 Battery Way; ⏲ 6:30am-dusk Apr-Oct, 8am-dusk Nov-Mar), located 2 miles north of the ferry landing (take Cherry St from uptown), was featured in the film An Officer and a Gentleman. Within the complex are the Commanding Officer's Quarters (☎ 360-385-4730; admission $2; ⏲ 10am-5pm daily Jun-Aug, 1-4pm Sat & Sun Mar-May & Sep-Oct), a restored Victorian-era home, the Coast Artillery Museum (☎ 360-385-0373; admission $2; ⏲ 11am-4pm daily Jun-Aug, 11am-4pm Sat & Sun Mar-May & Sep-Oct) and plenty of opportunities to fly kites and view nature.

Within Fort Worden State Park, the HI Olympic Hostel (☎ 360-385-0655; www.hihostels.com; 272 Battery Way; dm $17-20, r from $50) has impeccable if spartan quarters in a former barracks; it's up the hill behind the park office. Downtown is bedecked with numerous red-bricked Victorian hotels, including the Waterstreet Hotel (☎ 360-385-5467; www.waterstreethotelporttownsend.com; 635 Water St; r $50-160; ⁘), with a selection of period rooms set above a pub (read: noise), some with ocean views. The turreted, Prussian-style Manresa Castle (☎ 360-385-5750, 800-732-1281; www.manresacastle.com; cnr 7th & Sheridan Sts; r from $109; P ☰) is a quieter (though purportedly haunted) 40-room mansion built in 1892 that is light on cheap gimmicks but heavy on period authenticity.

Port Townsend has a whole range of unfancy but funky places to eat, drink and be merry. The Salal Café (☎ 360-385-6532; 634 Water St; breakfast $7-8, lunch $8-9; ⏲ 7am-2pm) is an insanely popular brunch spot famous for its egg burritos. Arrive early to nab a table.

our pick Waterfront Pizza (☎ 360-385-6629; 951 Water St; pizzas from $10 ⏲ 11am-10pm) is a hole-in-the-wall drawing people regularly across Puget Sound from Seattle for legendary hand-tossed sourdough pizza crust topped with a delicious range of fresh ingredients. Eat it upstairs or/and order a slice to go. The Silverwater Cafe (☎ 360-385-6448; 237 Taylor St; lunch $6-10, dinner $10-17; ⏲ 11:30am-10pm Sun-Thu, 11:30am-11pm Fri & Sat) provides a romantic atmosphere for a creatively prepared dinner.

Port Townsend can be reached from Seattle in a ferry/bus connection via Bainbridge Island and Poulsbo (bus 90 followed by bus 7). Washington State Ferries (☎ 206-464-6400, in Washington 888-808-7977; www.wsdot.wa.gov/ferries) goes to and from Keystone on Whidbey Island (car and driver/passenger $8.90/2.60, 35 minutes).

Port Angeles

Despite the name, there's nothing Spanish or particularly angelic about Port Angeles. Propped up by the lumber industry and backed by the steep-sided Olympic Mountains, people come here to catch a ferry for Victoria, BC, or plot an outdoor excursion into the nearby Olympic National Park rather than for the town per se. The visitor center

(☎ 360-452-2363; 121 E Railroad Ave; 🕒 8am-8pm May-Oct, 10am-4pm Nov-Apr) is adjacent to the ferry terminal. For information on the national park there's another center just outside town (see p1035). You can get kitted out for impending outdoor adventures at Olympic Mountaineering (☎ 360-452-0240; 140 W Front St).

Port Angeles' cheapest central budget accommodation can be found at the comfortable Downtown Hotel (☎ 360-565-1125; www.portangelesdowntownhotel.com; 101 E Front St; r with shared/private bath $55/75; ☒ ✣) adjacent to the ferry dock. Downstairs, the cheerful Corner House Restaurant (☎ 360-452-9692; 101 E Front St; mains $6-8; 🕒 6am-9pm) does a bustling trade and its no-nonsense table/booths are nearly always full.

Bella Italia (☎ 360-457-5442; 118 E 1st St; mains $11-19; 🕒 from 4pm) boasts a comprehensive wine list and offers last-gasp carb-loading for hikers heading for the Olympic wilderness.

Two ferries run from Port Angeles to Victoria, BC: the Coho Vehicle Ferry (☎ 360-457-4491; passenger/car $13.50/50), taking 1½ hours, and the passenger-only Victoria Express (☎ 360-452-8088; adult/child $12.50/7; 🕒 May-Sep), which takes one hour.

Olympic Bus Lines (☎ 360-417-0700) runs twice daily to Seattle ($39) from the public transit center at the corner of Oak and Front Sts. Clallam Transit (☎ 360-452-4511) buses go to Forks and Sequim where they link up with other transit buses, enabling you to circumnavigate the whole peninsula.

Northwest Peninsula

Several Native American reservations cling to the extreme northwest corner of the continent and welcome interested visitors. Hit hard by the decline in the salmon-fishing industry, the small settlement of Neah Bay on Hwy 112 is characterized by its weather-beaten boats and craning totem poles. This is home to the Makah Indian Reservation (www.makah.com), whose Makah Museum (☎ 360-645-2711; 1880 Bayview Ave; admission $5; 🕒 10am-5pm daily Apr-Aug, 10am-5pm Wed-Sun Sep-May) displays artifacts from one of North America's most significant archaeological finds. Exposed by tidal erosion in 1970, the 500-year-old Makah village of Ozette quickly proved to be a treasure trove of native history, unearthing a huge range of materials including whaling weapons, canoes, spears and combs. Seven miles beyond the museum, a short boardwalk trail leads to Cape Flattery, a 300ft promontory that marks the most northwesterly point in the lower 48 states.

Convenient to the Hoh River Rainforest and the Olympic coastline is Forks, a one-horse lumber town 57 miles from Neah Bay. Get cozy in the amiable Forks Motel (☎ 360-374-6243; www.forksmotel.com; 432 S Forks Ave; s/d $65/70; ✣ 📶 ⛱) and sample home-style cooking at the In Place (☎ 360-372-6258; 320 S Forks Ave; mains $9-17; 🕒 7am-10pm) nearby.

NORTHWEST WASHINGTON

Wedged between Seattle, the Cascades and Canada, northwest Washington draws influences from three sides. Its urban hub is laidback Bellingham with its collegiate coffee bars and organic ethnic restaurants, while its outdoor highlight is the pastoral San Juan Islands, an extensive archipelago accessible by ferry that glimmers like a sepia-toned snapshot from another era. Equally verdant, and simpler to reach, Whidbey Island contains beautiful Deception Pass State Park and the quaint oyster-fishing village of Coupeville. Situated on Fidalgo Island and attached to the mainland via a bridge, the settlement of Anacortes is the main hub for ferries to the San Juan Islands and Victoria, BC. If your boat's delayed you can pass time in expansive Washington Park or sample the local halibut and chips in a couple of classic downtown restaurants.

Whidbey Island

Measuring 41 miles north to south, Whidbey Island is one of the largest contiguous islands in the United States. It is also quite possibly one of the greenest. Endowed with six state parks, a unique National Historical Reserve, a budding artists and writers community, plus a free – yes, free – island-wide public bus service, there's more to this lush oasis than meets the eye.

Deception Pass State Park (☎ 360-675-2417; 41229 N State Hwy 20) straddles the eponymous steep-sided water chasm that flows between Whidbey and Fidalgo Islands, and incorporates lakes, islands, campsites and 27 miles of hiking trails.

Ebey's Landing National Historical Reserve (☎ 360-678-3310; www.nps.gov/ebla; admission free; 🕒 8am-5pm mid-Oct–Mar, 6:30am-10pm Apr–mid-Oct) comprises 17,400 acres encompassing working farms, sheltered beaches, two state parks and the town of Coupeville. This small settlement is one of Washington's oldest towns and boasts an attractive seafront, antique stores and a number of old inns. Call at the visitor center (☎ 360-678-5434; www.centralwhidbeychamber.com; 107 S Main St; 🕒 10am-5pm) for more details. Whidbey has multiple inns and B&Bs and even the motels are markedly different. Head for the Coupville Inn (☎ 800-247-6162; www.thecoupevilleinn.com; 200 Coveland St; r without/with balcony $105/140; P ✱ 💻), which bills itself as a French-style motel (if that's not an oxymoron) with fancy furnishings and a tasty breakfast. For fresh local clams and hand-crafted microbrews look no further than Toby's Tavern (☎ 360-678-4222; 8 Front St; 🕒 11am-9pm Sun-Thu, 11am-10pm Fri & Sat).

Washington State Ferries (☎ 206-464-6400, in Washington 888-808-7977; www.wsdot.wa.gov/ferries) link Clinton to Mukilteo (car and driver/passenger $6.85/3.95, 20 minutes, every 30 minutes) and Keystone to Port Townsend (car and driver/passenger $8.90/2.60, 30 minutes, every 45 minutes). Free Island Transit buses (☎ 360-678-7771) run the length of Whidbey every hour daily except Sunday, from the Clinton ferry dock.

Bellingham

Bellingham exudes green; not just in its trees (of which there are plenty), but in its whole progressive approach to life. You can walk or cycle along well-maintained intra-urban trails here, sort your waste into six different recycling bins, and go shopping in pioneering community food co-ops. But, rather than being a commune of tree-hugging granola-munchers, Washington's 10th-largest population center is widely touted as being one of the USA's most livable communities. There's precious history to be found here, showcased in the gentile quarter of Old Fairhaven, erudite intellectualism available in an assortment of secondhand bookstores, and, just outside the city limits, the magical outdoors – from the rugged tip of Mt Baker down to the kayak-friendly inlets of the San Juan Islands. The best downtown tourist information can be procured at the Visitor Info Station (☎ 360-527-8710; www.downtownbellingham.com; 1304 Cornwall St; 🕒 9am-6pm).

Victoria/San Juan Cruises (☎ 360-738-8099, 800-443-4552) has whale-watching trips to Victoria, BC, via the San Juan Islands. Boats leave from the Bellingham Cruise Terminal in Fairhaven.

The secret of a good 'chain' hotel is that it doesn't seem like a chain at all. To put this theory into practice, check out the clean, personable Guesthouse Inn (☎ 360-671-9600; www.bellinghamvaluinn.com; 805 Lakeway Dr; s/d $79/89; P ⊠ ✱ 📶) just off I-5. Handily, the Vancouver-Seattle Airporter Shuttle also stops here. The Fairhaven Village Inn (☎ 360-733-1311; www.fairhavenvillageinn.com; 1200 10th St; r with bay/park view $169/189; P ⊠ ✱ 📶) blends in with the vintage tones of Old Fairhaven without losing its modern sheen. Service is slick but subtle.

Bellingham has so many good independent cheap eats, it's a dice roll where to go first. Try the Bagelry (☎ 360-676-5288; 1319 Railroad Ave; bagels $4-7; 🕒 6:30am-5pm Mon-Fri, 8am-4pm Sat & Sun) where preservative-free New York–style bagels are baked on the premises and served with a good-morning grin. The Swan Cafe (☎ 360-734-0542; 1220 N Forest St; dishes $5-7; 🕒 8am-9pm; V) is a Community Food Co-op with an on-site café-deli that offers an insight into Bellingham's organic, fair-trade, community-based mentality. You can walk the 2.5-mile South Bay Trail down to Fairhaven where book-browsing in Village Books (☎ 360-671-2626; www.villagebooks.com; 1200 11th St) can be combined with a visit to the adjacent Colophon Café (☎ 360-647-0092; 1208 11th St; mains $7-10; 🕒 9am-10pm), famous for its African peanut soup and chocolate brandy cream pies. The emblematic Mt Baker Theatre (☎ 360-734-6080; 106 N Commercial St) punches way above its weight and regularly draws top-name acts for music and plays.

San Juan Islands Shuttle Express (☎ 360-734-3431) offers daily summer service to Orcas and San Juan Islands ($20). Alaska Marine Highway ferries (p1077) go to Juneau (60 hours) and other southeast Alaskan ports (from $353 without car). The Bellair Airporter Shuttle (☎ 360-380-8800; www.airporter.com) runs to Sea-Tac airport ($34) with connections en route to Anacortes and Whidbey Island.

SAN JUAN ISLANDS

Take the ferry west out of Anacortes and you'll feel like you've dropped off the edge of the continent. A thousand metaphoric miles from the urban inquietude of Puget Sound, the nebulous San Juan archipelago conjures up Proustian flashbacks from another era and often feels about as American as – er – Canada (which surrounds it on two sides). Street crime here barely registers, fast-food franchises are a nasty mainland apparition, and cars – those most essential of US travel accessories – are best left at home.

There are over 450 landfalls in this expansive archipelago but unless you're rich enough to charter your own yacht or seaplane you'll be restricted to seeing the big four – San Juan, Orcas, Shaw and Lopez Islands – all served daily by Washington State Ferries. Communally, the islands are famous for their tranquillity, whale-watching opportunities, sheltered sea kayaking and seditious nonconformity.

For good general information about the San Juans, contact the San Juan Islands Visitor Information Center (☎ 360-468-3663; www.guidetosanjuans.com; 🕒 10am-2pm Mon-Fri).

The best way to explore the San Juans is by sea kayak or bicycle. Kayaks are available for rent on Lopez, Orcas and San Juan Island. Expect a guided half-day trip to cost $30 to $45. Note that most beach access is barred by private property, except at state or county parks. Cycling-wise, Lopez is flat and pastoral and San Juan is worthy of an easy day loop, while Orcas offers the challenge of undulating terrain and the steep 5-mile ride to the top of Mt Constitution.

Airlines serving the San Juan Islands include Harbor Air Lines (☎ 800-359-3220; www.harborair.com), Kenmore Air (☎ 800-543-9595; www.kenmoreair.com) and West Isle Air (☎ 800-874-4434; www.westisleair.com). Public transportation is pretty much nonexistent, but most motels will pick up guests at the ferry landing with advance notice.

Washington State Ferries (☎ 206-464-6400, in Washington 888-808-7977; www.wsdot.wa.gov/ferries) leaves Anacortes for the San Juans; some continue to Sidney, BC, near Victoria. Ferries run to Lopez Island (45 minutes), Orcas Landing (60 minutes) and Friday Harbor on San Juan Island (75 minutes). Fares vary by season; the cost of the entire round-trip is collected on westbound journeys only (except those returning from Sidney, BC). To visit all the islands, it's cheapest to go to Friday Harbor first and work your way back through the other islands.

Lopez Island

If you're going to Lopez – or 'Slow-pez,' as locals prefer to call it – take a bike. With its undulating terrain and salutation-offering locals (who are famous for their three-fingered 'Lopezian wave') this is the ideal cycling isle. A leisurely pastoral spin can be tackled in a day with good overnight digs available next to the marina in the Lopez Islander Resort (☎ 360-468-2233; www.lopezislander.com; 2864 Fisherman Bay Rd; d from $120; ✣ 🏊), which has a restaurant, gym and pool and offers free parking in Anacortes (another incentive to dump the car). If you arrive bike-less, call up Lopez Bicycle Works (☎ 360-468-2847; 2847 Fisherman Bay Rd; 🕒 10am-6pm May-Sep) who can deliver a bicycle to the ferry terminal for you.

San Juan Island

San Juan Island is the archipelago's unofficial capital, a verdant mix of low forested hills and small rural farms that resonate with a dramatic and unusual 19th-century history. The main settlement is Friday Harbor, where the chamber of commerce (☎ 360-378-5240; www.sanjuanisland.org; 135 Spring St; 🕒 10am-5pm Mon-Fri, 10am-4pm Sat & Sun) is situated inside a small arcade off the main street.

San Juan Island National Historical Park (☎ 360-378-2240; www.nps.gov/sajh; 🕒 8:30am-4pm), commemorating a mid-19th-century British-US territorial conflict, consists of two former military camps on opposite ends of the island. Both of these day-use sites contain remnants of the old officers' quarters; the American Camp, on the island's southeast end, features a splendid hike up Mt Finlayson, from which three mountain ranges can be glimpsed on a clear day. On the western shore, Lime Kiln Point State Park (🕒 8am-5pm mid-Oct–Mar, 6:30am-10pm Apr–mid-Oct) is devoted to whale-watching.

Wayfarer's Rest (☎ 360-378-6428; www.rockisland.com/~wayfarersrest; 35 Malcolm St; dm/cabins $30/70) in Friday Harbor is a backpackers hostel. Roche Harbor Resort (☎ 800-451-8910; www.rocheharbor.com; Roche Harbor; r $79-99, 2-bedroom town houses from $299, condos from $149; P ☒ ✣) is a splendid seaside village on the island's northwest corner. Friday Harbor has several great places to eat near the ferry landing.

Orcas Island

Precipitous, unspoiled and ruggedly beautiful, Orcas Island is the San Juan's emerald jewel. The ferry terminal is at Orcas Landing, 13.5 miles south of the main population center, Eastsound. On the island's eastern lobe is Moran State Park (☎ 360-376-2326; 🕒 6:30am-dusk Apr-Sep, 8am-dusk Oct-Mar), dominated by Mt Constitution (2409ft), with 40 miles of trails and an awe-inspiring 360-degree mountaintop view. Reservations are accepted.

Orcas Island has some stellar accommodation options, from cheap cottages to luxury resorts.

IF YOU HAVE A FEW MORE DAYS

Washington's Cascades are full of latent surprises – both natural and constructed. If you're keen to get off the main tourist routes and fly by the seat of your pants, try taking in some of the following treats.

- Ross Lake Resort is a cluster of floating cabins on the west side of Ross Lake just north of the Ross Dam. There's no road in, so guests either hike the 2-mile trail from Hwy 20 or take the resort's tugboat-taxi-and-truck shuttle from the parking area near Diablo Dam.
- Hike the trail up to Desolation Peak (6102ft) overlooking Ross Lake and ponder the hut where Beatnik novelist Jack Kerouac once spent two months alone as a fire lookout in 1956. The hike is 6.8 miles one-way and pretty strenuous, although you'll be richly rewarded with the same stunning vistas that inspired Kerouac. The trailhead is best accessed via water taxi from the Ross Lake Resort.

our pick Rosario Resort & Spa (☎ 360-376-2222; www.rosario-resort.com; 1400 Rosario Rd, Eastsound; r $188-400; 🅿 ☒ ❋ 📶 🏊), at the top end of the market, is a magnificent seafront mansion built by former shipbuilding magnate Robert Moran in 1904 and now converted into an exquisite, upscale resort and spa. A cheaper but no less historic option is Outlook Inn (☎ 360-376-2200; www.outlookinn.com; 171 Main St, Eastsound; r with shared/private bath $84/140; 🅿 ☒ ❋), a vintage 1888 structure that has kept up with the times by adding motel-style rooms and fancy suites. The on-site New Leaf Café (☎ 360-376-2200; mains $17-25; 🕘 5:30-11pm Thu-Mon) is one of the island's classiest eating spots. Campers will find solace at Moran State Park (☎ 360-376-2326; standard sites $13, hiker & cyclist sites $6), which has more than 150 campsites (no hookups).

Cafe Olga (☎ 360-376-5098; 11 Point Lawrence Rd, Olga; mains $9-11; 🕘 9am-6pm Mon-Fri, 9am-8pm Sat & Sun, closed Wed Mar-Apr) is tucked inside a barn alongside a crafts gallery 6 miles southeast of Eastsound. It specializes in homemade pies and provides a sweet treat for cyclists and hikers who just conquered lofty Mt Constitution. For fuerte Mexican flavors look no further than Bilbo's Festivo (☎ 360-376-4728; 310 A St, Eastsound; dinner mains from $14; 🕘 4-9pm).

NORTH CASCADES

Geologically different from their southern counterparts, the North Cascade Mountains are peppered with sharp, jagged peaks, copious glaciers and a preponderance of complex metamorphic rock. Thanks to their virtual impregnability, the North Cascades were an unsolved mystery to humans until relatively recently. The first road was built across the region in 1972 and, even today, it remains one of the Northwest's most isolated outposts.

Mt Baker

Rising like a ghostly sentinel above the sparkling waters of upper Puget Sound, Mt Baker has been mesmerizing visitors to the northwest for centuries. A dormant volcano that last belched smoke in the 1850s, this haunting 10,781ft peak shelters 12 glaciers and in 1999 registered a record-breaking 95ft of snow in one season.

Well-paved Hwy 542 – known as the Mt Baker Scenic Byway – climbs 5100ft to Artist Point, 56 miles from Bellingham. Near here you'll find the Heather Meadows Visitor Center (Mile 56 Mt Baker Hwy; 🕘 8am-4:30pm May-Sep) and a plethora of varied hikes.

Boasting the greatest annual snowfall of any ski area in North America, Mt Baker is a skier's paradise and the Mt Baker Ski Area (☎ 360-734-6771; www.mtbakerskiarea.com) has 38 runs, eight lifts and a vertical rise of 1500ft. Due to its rustic facilities, ungroomed terrain and limited après ski options, the resort has gained something of a cult status among snowboarders, who flock here for the Legendary Baker Banked Slalom, held every January.

On the 100 or so days a year when Baker breaks through the clouds, the views from the deck at the Inn at Mount Baker (☎ 360-599-1359; www.theinnatmtbaker.com; 8174 Mt Baker Hwy; r from $149; 🅿 ☒ ❋) can divert your attention away from the rather scrumptious breakfast. Situated 7 miles east of Maple Falls this six room B&B is welcoming, private and mindful of its pristine setting.

Leavenworth

Blink hard and rub your eyes. This isn't some strange Germanic hallucination. This rather is Leavenworth, a former lumber town that underwent a Bavarian makeover back in the 1960s after the rerouting of the cross-continental railway threatened to put it permanently out of business. Swapping wood for tourists, Leavenworth today has successfully reinvented itself as a traditional Romantische Strasse village, right down to the beer and sausages and the lederhosen-loving locals (25% of whom are German). The classic Sound of Music mountain setting helps, as does the fact that Leavenworth serves as the main activity center for sorties into the nearby Alpine Lakes Wilderness. The Leavenworth Ranger Station (☎ 509-548-6977; 600 Sherbourne St; 🕒 7:30am-4:30pm daily mid-Jun–mid-Oct, 7:45am-4:30pm Mon-Fri mid-Oct–mid-Jun) can advise on the local outdoor scene, while Der Sportsmann (☎ 509-548-5623; 837 Front St) will happily kit you out for anything from skiing and climbing to biking and snowshoeing.

Far too cozy to be classified as a standard motel, the Linderhof Inn (☎ 509-548-5283; www.linderhof.com; 690 Hwy 2; r $99-149; ⊠ ✣ 📶 🏊) is an authentic take on a Bavarian B&B with king-sized beds, flat-screen TVs, a decent buffet breakfast and super-friendly staff. Taking the German theme up a notch is the quirky Enzian Inn (☎ 509-548-5269; www.enzianinn.com; 590 Hwy 2; d $120-150; ⊠ ✣ 📶 🏊) with an 18-hole putting green, a racquetball court, a sunny breakfast room and a lederhosen-clad owner who entertains guests with an early-morning blast on the alphorn.

For Wiener Schnitzel served with classic Bavarian sauce, red cabbage and spaetzle, head to Andreas Keller (☎ 509-548-6000; 829 Front St, Lower Level; lunch $7-9, dinner $14-18; 🕒 11am-10pm), where traditional accordionists serenade diners every night from 6pm. The alfresco München Haus (☎ 509-548-1158; 709 Front St; sausages & snacks from $6; 🕒 11am-11pm daily May-Oct, 11am-11pm Fri-Sun Nov-Apr) serves the best charbroiled Bavarian sausage this side of Bavaria.

Lake Chelan

Long, slender Lake Chelan is central Washington's playground. Lake Chelan State Park (☎ 509-687-3710), on South Shore Rd, has 144 campsites ($19 to $24; reservations accepted); a number of lakeshore campgrounds are accessible only by boat. The town of Chelan, at the lake's southeastern tip, is the primary base for accommodations and services, and it has a USFS ranger station (☎ 509-682-2549; 428 Woodin Ave). Link Transit (☎ 509-662-1155; www.linktransit.com) buses connect Chelan with Wenatchee and Leavenworth ($1).

Beautiful Stehekin, on the northern tip of Lake Chelan, is accessible only by boat (☎ 509-682-4584; www.ladyofthelake.com; round-trip from Chelan $39), seaplane (☎ 509-682-5555; round-trip from Chelan $159) or a long hike across Cascade Pass, 28 miles from the lake. Most facilities are open mid-June to mid-September.

Methow Valley

The Methow's combination of powdery winter snow and abundant summer sunshine has transformed the valley into one of Washington's primary recreation areas. Bike, hike and fish in the summer; cross-country ski on the second-biggest snow trail network in the US in the winter.

The USFS maintains the Methow Valley Visitor Center (☎ 509-996-4000; 24 West Chewuch Rd; 🕒 8am-5pm May-Oct) on Hwy 20 at the west end of Winthrop. For classic accommodations and easy access to cross-country skiing, hiking and biking trails, decamp at the exquisite Sun Mountain Lodge (☎ 509-996-2211; www.sunmountainlodge.com; Box 1000, Winthrop, WA 98862; lodge r $160-620, cabins $160-345; ⊠ ✣ 📶 🏊), 10 miles west of the town of Winthrop.

North Cascades National Park

The wildest of all Pacific Northwest wildernesses, the lightly trodden North Cascades National Park (www.nps.gov/noca) has no settlements, no overnight accommodations and only one unpaved road. The names of the dramatic mountains pretty much set the tone: Desolation Peak, Jagged Ridge, Mt Despair and Mt Terror. Not surprisingly, the region offers some of the best backcountry adventures outside of Alaska.

The North Cascades Visitor Center (☎ 206-386-4495; 502 Newhalem St; 🕒 9am-4:30pm daily mid-Apr–Oct, 9am-4:30pm Sat & Sun Nov-Mar, extended hours mid-Jun–Labor Day), in the small settlement of Newhalem on Hwy 20, is the best orientation point for visitors and is staffed by expert rangers who can enlighten you on the park's highlights.

NORTHEASTERN WASHINGTON

Bordered by Canada to the north and Idaho to the east, northeastern Washington is dominated by the understated yet populous city of Spokane and is internationally famous for producing one of the 20th century's greatest engineering marvels, the gargantuan Grand Coulee Dam.

WORTH THE TRIP: WINTHROP

Welcome to the not so Wild West. Winthrop (population 349) is – along with Bavarian Leavenworth (p1040) – one of two themed towns on the popular Cascade Loop. But rather than extolling the virtues of lederhosen, Winthrop has been made over to resemble a scene from swaggering 1950s cowboy flick High Noon.

The area was first settled in 1891 by Harvard-educated Guy Waring, who built a trading post at the confluence of the Chewuch (chee-wok) and Methow Rivers. When the mining business dried up after 1915, Winthrop teetered catastrophically on the brink of extinction, until an enterprising local couple drafted in Robert Jorgenson, the architect who had redesigned Leavenworth, to rebuild the town with false-fronted shops and assorted cowboy memorabilia in the hope of attracting tourists.

It did. Today, Winthrop is a perennially popular pit stop on the Cascade Loop rightly lauded for its fishing, cross-country skiing and mountain-biking opportunities. In keeping with its esoteric image Winthrop is often seen as the birthplace of modern smokejumping and you can learn all about it by visiting the North Cascade Smokejumper Base (☎ 509-997-2031; 23 Intercity Airport Rd; admission free; 🕑 usually 8am-5pm Jun-Oct) halfway between Winthrop and Twisp. Cheap lodging and great food can be found in town at the Duck Brand Hotel (☎ 509-996-2192; www.methownet.com/duck; 248 Riverside Ave; s/d $69/79; ⊠), a classic Wild West–style cantina.

Grand Coulee Dam

The colossal Grand Coulee Dam is the country's largest hydroelectric project and one of the great engineering marvels of the modern world. While many people visit the area to admire the dam itself, an equal number are drawn by the fishing, hunting and swimming opportunities that the structure and the adjoining 150-mile-long Lake Roosevelt have inadvertently created.

Visitors can orientate themselves at the Grand Coulee Visitor Arrival Center (☎ 509-633-9265; 🕑 9am-5pm), an interactive exhibit center that details the history of the dam, offers free guided tours and showcases a spectacular nightly laser show.

Spokane

Bucking cultural trends in eastern Washington, Spokane is a city that exhibits style and panache. As well as hosting the 1974 World's Fair, this understated metropolis has spawned history's most popular recording artist (Bing Crosby), its largest organized running race (Bloomsday), one of the nation's most successful college basketball teams (Gonzaga Bulldogs) and a stunning Gilded Age hotel (the Davenport). Shoehorned among the highlights you'll find restored steam mills, classic art-deco skyscrapers, an inviting river trail and the Browne's Addition historic district – a treasure trove of Queen Anne architecture. Stop by the Spokane Area Visitor Information Center (☎ 509-747-3230; www.visitspokane.com; 201 W Main Ave at Browne St; 🕑 8:30am-5pm Mon-Fri, 9am-6pm Sat & Sun) for a raft of information.

On the former site of Spokane's 1974 World's Fair, the Riverfront Park (☎ 509-456-4386; www.spokaneriverfrontpark.com) provides a welcome slice of urban greenery in the middle of downtown. It has been redeveloped in recent years with a 17-point sculpture walk, along with plenty of bridges and trails to satisfy the city's plethora of amateur runners. The park's centerpiece is Spokane Falls, a gushing combination of scenic waterfalls and foaming rapids. There are various viewing points over the river, including a short gondola ride (admission $7; 🕑 11am-6pm daily, to 9pm Fri, Sat & holidays), which takes you directly above the falls. Walkers and joggers crowd the interurban Spokane River Centennial Trail (☎ 509-624-7188), which extends for 37 miles to the Idaho border and beyond.

Encased in a striking state-of-the-art building in the posh Browne's Addition neighborhood, the Northwest Museum of Arts & Culture (☎ 509-456-3931; www.northwestmuseum.org; 2316 W 1st Ave; adult/child/senior & student $7/free/5; 🕑 11am-5pm Tue-Sun, to 8pm Wed & Fri) has – arguably – one of the finest collections of indigenous artifacts in the Northwest.

The Davenport Hotel (☎ 509-455-8888; www.thedavenporthotel.com; 10 S Post St; r standard/deluxe $219/239; ⊠ ✻ ≋ ▨) is a historic Spokane landmark (opened in 1914) that is considered one of best hotels in the US. If you can't afford a room, linger in the exquisite lobby. Equally charming is the smaller but similarly polished Montvale

Hotel (☎ 509-747-1919; www.montvalehotel.com; 1005 W 1st Ave; r queen/king $89/159; ⊠ ❄ 📶). The third in the boutique triumvirate is the Hotel Lusso (☎ 509-747-9750; www.hotellusso.com; North One Post; s/d $155/295; ⊠ ❄ 📶), with sparkling marble bathrooms and expensive wood furnishings.

Rock City Grill (☎ 509-455-4400; 505 W Riverside Ave; lunch $6-10; 🕐 11am-11pm Sun-Thu, to midnight Fri & Sat), is an atmospherically lit, youthful bar-restaurant with an expansive menu of old staples prepared in imaginative ways. The Steam Plant Grill (☎ 509-777-3900;159 S Lincoln; wraps $7-9, mains $15-23; 🕐 11:30am-9:30pm Mon-Thu & Sun, 11:30am-11pm Fri & Sat) serves everything from Thai wraps to New Zealand lamb chops in a converted neo-industrial steam plant.

With a vibrant student population based at Gonzaga University, Spokane has a happening nighttime scene. You can sample the local handcrafted ales at the Northern Lights Brewing Company (☎ 509-242-2739; 1003 E Trent Ave), an enticing microbrewery near the university campus. For an alternative gay-friendly nighttime establishment try Dempsey's Brass Rail (☎ 509-747-5362; 909 W 1st). For concerts, plays, film festivals and the Spokane Opera check out the Metropolitan Performing Arts Center (☎ 509-455-6500; www.metmtg.com/themet; 901 W Sprague Ave).

Buses and trains depart from the Spokane Intermodal Transportation Station (221 W 1st Ave). Amtrak (☎ 509-624-5144) has a daily service on the esteemed Empire Builder to Seattle ($56, 7½ hours), Portland ($56, 9½ hours) and Chicago ($237, 14½ hours).

SOUTH CASCADES

The South Cascades are taller but less clustered than their northern counterparts extending from Snoqualmie Pass east of Seattle down to the mighty Columbia River on the border with Oregon. The highpoint in more ways than one is 14,411ft Mt Rainier. Equally compelling for different reasons is Mt St Helens (8365ft), still recovering from a devastating 1980 volcanic eruption. Lesser known Mt Adams (12,276ft) is renowned for the huckleberries and wildflowers that fill its grassy alpine meadows during the short but intense summer season.

Mt Rainier National Park

Majestic Mt Rainier, the USA's fourth-highest peak (outside Alaska), is also one of its most beguiling. Encased in a 368-sq-mile national park (the world's fifth national park when it was inaugurated in 1899), the mountain's snowcapped summit and forest-covered foothills harbor numerous hiking trails, huge swaths of flower-carpeted meadows and an alluring conical peak that presents a formidable challenge for aspiring climbers. The park has four entrances. Nisqually, on Hwy 706 via Ashford, near the park's southwest corner, is the busiest and most convenient gate, being close to the park's main nexus points and open year-round. The other entrances are Ohanapecosh, via Hwy 123; White River, off Hwy 410; and Carbon River, the most remote entryway, at the northwest corner. Call ☎ 800-695-7623 for road conditions.

For information on the park check out the National Park Service (NPS) website at www.nps.gov/mora, which includes downloadable maps and descriptions of 50 park trails.

Park entry is $15 per car or $5 per pedestrian. For overnight trips, get a wilderness camping permit (free) from ranger stations or visitor centers. The six campgrounds in the park have running water and toilets, but no RV hookups. Reservations (☎ 800-365-2267; www.mount.rainier.national-park.com/camping.htm; reserved campsites May-Sept/Oct-Apr $15/12, unreserved campsites $10) are strongly advised during summer months and can be made up to two months in advance by phone or online.

The park's two main nexus points are Longmire and Paradise. Longmire, 7 miles inside the Nisqually entrance, has a Museum/Information Center (☎ 360-569-2211, ext 3314; admission free; 🕐 9am-6pm Jun-Sep, 9am-5pm Oct-May), a number of important trailheads and the rustic National Park Inn (☎ 360-569-2275; www.guestservices.com/rainier; r with shared/private bath $104/139, 2-room units $191; 🅿 ❄) complete with an excellent restaurant. More hikes and interpretive walks can be found 12 miles further east at loftier Paradise, which is served by the flying-saucer-shaped Henry M Jackson Visitor Center (☎ 360-569-2211, ext 2328; 🕐 9am-7pm daily May-Sep, 10am-5pm Sat & Sun Oct & Apr) and the vintage Paradise Inn (☎ 360-569-2275; r with shared/private bath $105/154; 🕐 May-Oct; 🅿 ⊠ ❄). Climbs to the top of Rainier leave from here and can be organized through the American Alpine Institute (☎ 360-671-1505; www.aai.cc; 1515 12th St, Bellingham, WA 98225), which offers guided five-day climbs from $1540.

The Wonderland Trail is a 93-mile path that completely circumnavigates Mt Rainier via a well-maintained unbroken route. The hike is normally tackled over 10 to 12 days with walkers staying at one of 18 registered campsites along the way. Before embarking you'll need to organize a free backcountry permit from the Wilderness Information Center (☎ 877-617-9950; www.nps.gov/mora; 55210 238th Ave E, Ashford, WA 98304-9751); forms are available online.

The remote Carbon River entrance gives access to the park's inland rainforest. The ranger station (☎ 360-829-9639), just inside the entrance, is open daily in summer.

Gray Line (☎ 206-624-5077; www.graylineseattle.com) runs tours from Seattle from May to September (one/two days $62/145).

Mt St Helens National Volcanic Monument

Thanks to a 1980 eruption that set off an explosion bigger than the combined power of 21,000 atomic bombs, Washington's 87th-tallest mountain needs little introduction. What it lacks in height Mt St Helens makes up for in fiery infamy; 57 people perished on the mountain on that fateful day in May 1980 when an earthquake of 5.1 on the Richter scale sparked the biggest landslide in human history and buried 230 sq miles of forest under millions of tons of volcanic rock and ash.

For the car-less, Mt St Helens can be seen in a day trip by bus from Portland with Eco Tours of Oregon (☎ 503-245-1428; www.ecotours-of-oregon.com) for $59.50. If traveling independently, your first port of call should be the Mt St Helens Visitor Center (☎ 360-274-2100; 3029 Spirit Lake Hwy; admission $3; 🕘 9am-5pm), 5 miles east of Castle Rock on Hwy 504, which showcases films, exhibits and free information on the mountain.

For a closer view of the destructive power of nature, venture to the Coldwater Ridge Visitor Center (☎ 360-274-2131; 🕘 10am-6pm May-Oct, 9am-5pm Nov-Apr) with vistas toward Mt St Helens' gaping northern crater.

An off-beat ambience is provided at the Eco Park Resort (☎ 360-274-7007; www.ecoparkresort.com; 14000 Spirit Lake Hwy; tent sites/yurts/cabins $17.50/75/100).

Mt Adams

Further from Seattle than Mts Rainier and St Helens, and covered on its eastern flanks by the Yakama Indian Reservation, Mt Adams receives nowhere near as many visitors as its more famous neighbors. Yet it is enchantingly beautiful. Protected in the 66-sq-mile Mt Adams Wilderness, Adams sports plenty of picturesque hikes including the much-loved Bird Creek Meadow Trail, a 3-mile loop that showcases the best of the mountain's meadows, wildflowers and waterfalls. Another unique activity in the area is blue-huckleberry picking in the high meadows around the Indian Heaven Wilderness. For huckleberry permits and information on hiking and climbing, consult the Mt Adams Ranger District USFS office (☎ 509-395-3400; 2455 Hwy 141; 🕘 8am-4:30pm Mon-Sat, plus Sun May-Sept) in Trout Lake.

The most enticing local accommodation option can be found at Serenity's (☎ 509-395-2500; www.serenitys.com; 2291 Hwy 141; cabins $89-129; 🅿 📶), a mile south of Trout Lake on Hwy 141, which offers four beautifully presented cabins in the woods in the shadow of Mt Adams.

CENTRAL & SOUTHEASTERN WASHINGTON

While they're rarely the first places visitors to Washington head for, the central and southeastern parts of the state harbor one secret weapon: wine. A Johnny-come-lately to the viticultural world, the fertile land that borders the Nile-like Yakima and Columbia River valleys is awash with enterprising new wineries producing quality grapes which now vie with California for national recognition. Yakima and its smaller and more attractive cousin Ellensburg have traditionally held the edge, but look out too for emerging Walla Walla, where talented restaurateurs and a proactive local council have begun to craft a wine destination par excellence.

Yakima & Ellensburg

Situated in its eponymous river valley, the city of Yakima is a rather bleak trading center that doesn't really live up to its 'Palm Springs of Washington' tourist label. The main reason to stop here is to visit one of the numerous wineries that lie between Yakima and Benton City; pick up a map at the Yakima Valley Visitors & Convention Bureau (☎ 509-575-3010; www.visityakima.com; 10 N 8th St; 🕘 9am-5pm Mon-Sat, 10am-4pm Sun).

A better layover is Ellensburg, a diminutive settlement 36 miles to the northwest that juxtaposes the state's largest rodeo (each Labor Day) with a town center that has more coffee bars per head than anywhere else in the world (allegedly). Grab your latte at local roaster D&M Coffee (☎ 509-925-5313; 301 N Pine St), browse the history section in the Kittitas County Museum

(☎ 509-925-3778; donations accepted; 🕒 10am-4pm Mon-Sat Jun-Sep, noon-4pm Tue-Sat Oct-May) opposite, and seriously consider staying over in Guesthouse Ellensburg (☎ 509-962-3706; www.guesthouseellensburg.com; 606 Main St; r $135), a small two-bedroom B&B set above Ellensburg Wineworks, a retail shop and wine-tasting room where guests can quaff the local flavors free of charge.

Walla Walla

Over the last decade, Walla Walla has converted itself from an obscure agricultural backwater, famous for its sweet onions and large state penitentiary, into the hottest wine-growing region outside of California's Napa Valley. While venerable Marcus Whitman College is the town's most obvious cultural attribute, you'll also find zany coffee bars here, along with cool wine-tasting rooms, fine Queen Anne architecture and one of the state's freshest and most vibrant farmers markets.

A good starting point for aspiring wine quaffers is Walla Walla Wineworks (☎ 509-522-1261; 31 E Main St; 🕒 11am-6pm Mon-Thu, 11am-9pm Fri & Sat) in the town center, a tasting room affiliated to the local Waterbrook winery that offers local wines, cheese, cured meats along with live music at weekends.

For information on wine tasting and maps of four fascinating urban walking tours call in at the chamber of commerce (☎ 509-525-0850; www.wallawalla.org; 29 E Sumach St; 🕒 8:30am-5pm Mon-Fri, 9am-4pm Sat & Sun May-Sept).

The remains of the 1836 Whitman Mission are 7 miles west of Walla Walla off US 12. Marcus Whitman and 14 other missionaries died in 1847 when, after a measles epidemic killed half their tribe, a band of Cayuse Native Americans attacked the 11-year-old mission. When news of the uprising reached Washington, DC, Congress established the Oregon Territories, the first formal government west of the Rockies. The visitor center (☎ 509-522-6357; adult/family $3/5; 🕒 8am-4:30pm) has exhibits and maps.

Walla Walla's best-known landmark and most salubrious hotel is the independently run Marcus Whitman Hotel (☎ 509-525-2200; www.marcuswhitmanhotel.com; 6 W Rose St; r from $99; ❄ 📶). To immerse yourself in the real flavor of the area you can stay in a cottage at the pricey but lovely Inn at Abeja (☎ 509-529-2660; www.abeja.net; 2014 Mill Creek Rd; cottages from $215-285; ☒ ❄), a working winery 4 miles east of town in the foothills of the Blue Mountains.

The wine boom has lured a number of notable restaurateurs to the area. One of the best fine-dining experiences can be found at Saffron Mediterranean Kitchen (☎ 509-525-2112; 125 W Alder St; mains $15-27; 🕒 2-10pm Tue-Thu & Sun, 2-11pm Fri & Sat), which takes fresh local ingredients and turns them into Mediterranean-tinged wonders. Local wines are sold and hearty brunches concocted at Merchants Delicatessen (☎ 509-525-0900; 21 E Main St; breakfast $5-8; 🕒 5:30am-5pm Mon-Sat), a hybrid café, deli, wine store and bakery bang in the town center.

OREGON

Spatially larger than Washington but with only half the population, Oregon is the Pacific Northwest's warm, mild-mannered elder cousin (it joined the union 30 years earlier than Washington). Physically, the state shares many characteristics with its northern neighbor including a rain-lashed coast, a spectacular spinal mountain range and a drier, more conservative interior plateau. But, with better urban planning laws and less sprawl, Oregon retains a more laid-back and tranquil feel.

History

Oregon started as an ad hoc collection of New England missionaries and French and British trappers, officially becoming a US territory in 1848 and a state in 1859. Settlers populated most of the coastal and central region by the 1860s, many having made the arduous six-month journey across the continent on the Oregon Trail.

The new Oregonians proceeded to appropriate the homelands of the various Native American groups. In what came to be called the Rogue River Wars, one such group – the Takelma, dubbed coquins (rogues) by French beaver trappers early in the 19th century – attacked immigrant parties and refused to negotiate with the army to allow passage through their land. Consequently, tensions mounted, and butchery escalated on both sides. Eventually the Takelma retreated into the canyons of the western Rogue Valley, but they surrendered after several winter months of skirmishing with little food or shelter. They were sent north to the Grand Ronde Reservation on the Yamhill River, and they weren't alone. By the late 1850s,

OREGON FACTS

Nickname Beaver State
Population 3.8 million
Area 95,997 sq miles
Capital city Salem (population 152,000)
Other cities Portland (population 537,081), Eugene (population 146,356), Bend (population 71,892)
Sales tax Oregon has no sales tax
Birthplace of former US president Herbert Hoover (1874–1964); writer and Merry Prankster Ken Kesey (1935–2001); actress and dancer Ginger Rogers (1911–1995); The Simpsons creator Matt Groening (b 1954); filmmaker Gus Van Sant (b 1952)
Home of Oregon Shakespeare Festival, tree-sitting, Nike, McMenamins
Famous for the Oregon Trail, forests, rain, beer, not being able to pump your own gas
State beverage milk (dairy's big here)
Driving distances Portland to Eugene 110 miles, Pendleton to Astoria 295 miles most of the Native Americans in the region had been confined to reservations.

The railroad reached Portland in 1883, and by 1890 the city was one of the world's largest wheat-shipment points. The two world wars brought further economic expansion, much of it from logging. In the postwar era, idealistic baby boomers flooded into Oregon from California and the eastern states, seeking alternative lifestyles and natural surroundings. These arrivals brought pace-setting policies on many environmental and social issues.

Since the 1960s, Portland and western Oregon have been particularly influenced by the new, politically progressive settlers, while small towns and rural areas have remained mostly conservative. Its ballot-initiative system gives Oregonians the opportunity to advance citizen-proposed laws to the ballot box, and Oregon has become a stage for political dramas on divisive issues – such as physician-assisted suicide and gay marriage – in which the whole country has an interest.

Information

Nature of the Northwest (☎ 503-872-2750, 800-270-7504; www.naturenw.org/forest-directory.htm; 800 NE Oregon St, Suite 177, Portland, OR 97232; 🕑 9am-5pm Mon-Fri) Recreational information on national forests and state parks of the region; sells the Northwest Forest Pass ($5/30 per day/year), required at many parks, trailheads, visitor centers and boat launches.

Oregon road conditions (☎ 503-588-2941, in Oregon 800-977-6368)

Oregon State Parks & Recreation Dept (☎ 503-378-6305, 800-551-6949; www.oregonstateparks.org; 1115 Commercial St NE, Salem, OR 97310) Roughly half of Oregon's state park campgrounds accept reservations (up to 9 months in advance), the rest are first-come first-served. You can book online. Tent sites run from $14 to $18, electric hook-ups $16 to $22.

Oregon Tourism Commission (☎ 503-986-0000, 800-547-7842; www.traveloregon.com; 775 Summer St NE, Salem, OR 97301; 🕑 8am-5pm Mon-Fri) Sends out information and brochures on accommodations, camping, state parks and recreation outfitters.

PORTLAND

If there's a blueprint for a successful 21st-century city, Portland must surely be it. While New York continuously reinvents itself and San Francisco has priced its Haight hippies out of the property market, this zany but precocious mini-metropolis stands at the cutting edge of all that's cool, hip and forward-thinking about modern America.

Irony is one of Portland's biggest hallmarks. Known as 'Stumptown' by early pioneers for the proliferation of tree stumps that littered downtown, the city's erstwhile tree-fellers have turned into modern tree-huggers and the urban area now exhibits more parks than any other city in the US. Portland green credentials also extend to its environmentalism. You can ride a bike here and still live to tell the tale, breeze around downtown on a free European-style tram, or sup organic coffee with a zine-reading lesbian beside a Bosnian food cart.

And if that's not enough, consider that Portland has more strip clubs per head than either Vegas or New York. Intrigued? You will be.

History

The Portland area was first settled in 1844 when two New Englanders bought a claim on the Willamette's west bank. They tossed a coin to decide the new settlement's name – 'Portland' won over 'Boston.'

Portland's location near the confluence of the Columbia and Willamette Rivers helped drive the young city's growth. The California gold rush clamored for Oregon lumber, while the growing population of settlers in the Willamette Valley demanded supplies. The Northern Pacific Railroad (which arrived in 1883) and the WWII shipbuilding boom didn't hurt the local economy either.

Today more than half a million people live in the greater Portland area. Shipping operations have since moved north of downtown, the Old Town's been revitalized and the once-industrial Pearl District now brims with expensive lofts and boutiques. Outdoor-clothing manufacturers Nike, Adidas and Columbia Sportswear help drive the economy, along with high-tech companies such as Intel and Tektronix.

Orientation

Portland lies just south of the Washington border and about an hour's drive from the Pacific Coast. The Willamette River flows through the center of town, dividing the city into east and west. Burnside St divides north from south, organizing the city into four quadrants: Northwest, Southwest, Northeast and Southeast. Make sure you understand this, as the same address could exist on both NE Davis St and NW Davis St, which are on opposite sides of the river!

Downtown is in Southwest Portland. The historic Old Town, rough-and-tumble Chinatown, trendy 23rd Ave, chic Pearl District and exclusive West Hills are in Northwest Portland. Close to the center but across the river is the Lloyd District, an extension of downtown.

Northeast and Southeast Portland are mostly tree-lined, late 19th-century residential neighborhoods, each with its own trendy cluster of shops and restaurants. Popular commercial streets include N Mississippi Ave, NE Alberta St, SE Hawthorne Blvd and SE Division St. Sellwood is furthest south and a pretty neighborhood with antique stores and yuppies.

Information

BOOKSTORES

CounterMedia (☎ 503-226-8141; 927 SW Oak St) Portland personified. Liberally minded books on fringe culture and vintage erotica.

In Other Words (☎ 503-232-6003; www.inotherwords.org; 8 NE Killingsworth St) Feminist bookstore and resource center, just north of the Lloyd District.

Powell's City of Books (☎ 503-228-4651; www.powells.com; 1005 W Burnside St) The largest independent bookstore in the US, this place is dangerously addictive. Bank on your quick one-hour 'browse' turning into three. Fantastic travel section.

Reading Frenzy (☎ 503-274-1449; www.readingfrenzy.com; 921 SW Oak St) Flick through Yeti, Rolling Thunder, Bitch, Craphound, Giant Robot and other such indie zine classics.

EMERGENCY & MEDICAL SERVICES

Legacy Good Samaritan Hospital & Medical Center (☎ 503-413-7711; 1015 NW 22nd Ave)

Portland Police (☎ 503-823-0000)

Walgreens (☎ 503-238-6053; 940 SE 39th Ave) Has a 24-hour pharmacy; to the city's east.

INTERNET ACCESS

Backspace (☎ 503-248-2900; www.backspace.bz; 115 NW 5th Ave; 🕒 7am-11pm Mon-Wed, to midnight Thu & Fri, 10am-midnight Sat, to 11pm Sun) Youth-oriented hangout with arcade games, coffee and long hours.

Urban Grind Coffeehouse (www.urbangrindcoffee.com); NE Oregon St (☎ 503-546-0649;2214 NE Oregon St); NW 14th Ave (☎ 503-546-5919; 911 NW 14th Ave; 🕒 6am-10:30pm) Slick café with computers and free wi-fi.

INTERNET RESOURCES

City of Portland (www.portlandonline.com) Stumptown's official website.

Gay Oregon (www.gaypdx.com) A resource for Portland's gay and lesbian communities.

PDX Guide (www.pdxguide.com) Fun and spot-on food and drink reviews by a guy who knows, plus other happenings around town.

Portland Independent Media Center (www.portland.indymedia.org) Community news and lefty activism.

MEDIA

Just Out (www.justout.com) Free biweekly serving Portland's gay community.

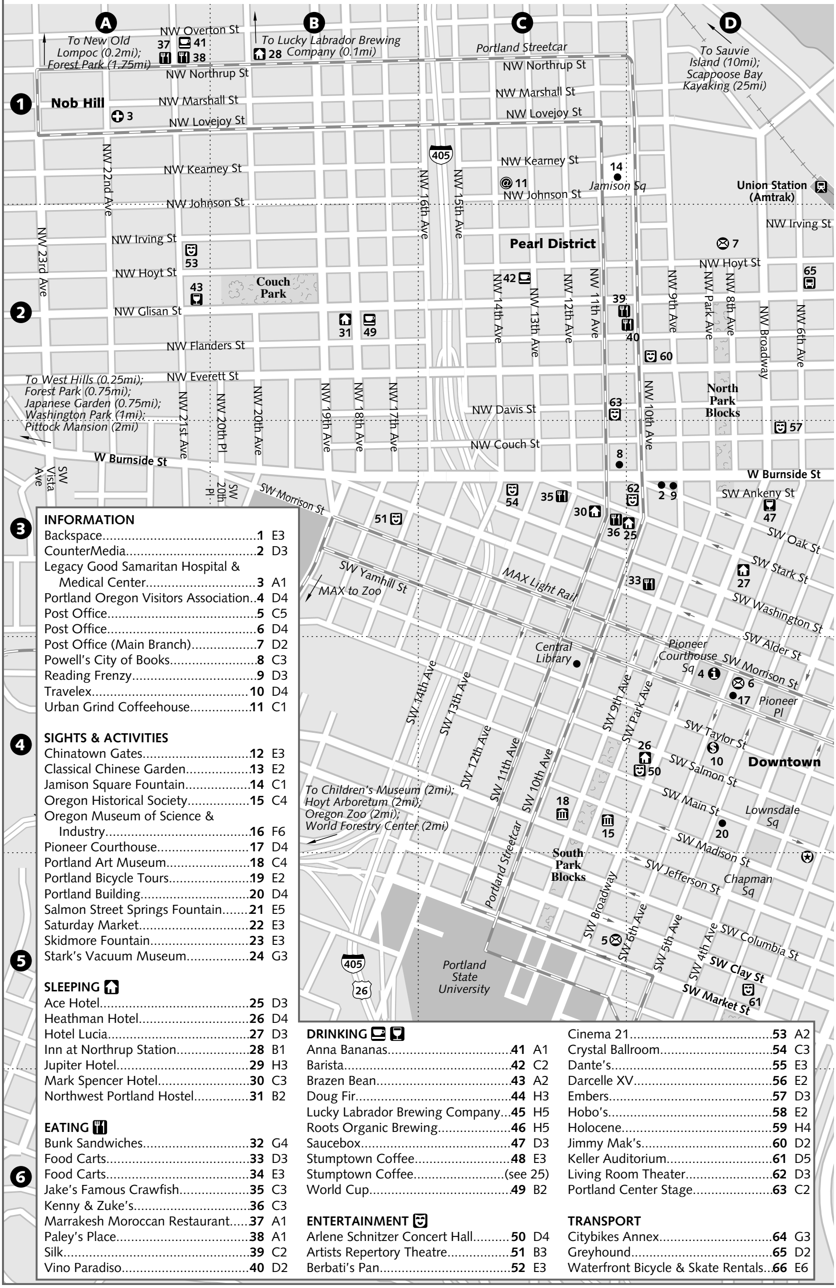
KBOO 90.7 FM Progressive local station run by volunteers; alternative news and views.

Portland Mercury (www.portlandmercury.com) The local sibling of Seattle's Stranger, this free weekly is published on Thursdays.

Portland Monthly (www.portlandmonthlymag.com) Excellent subscription magazine focusing on the city's happenings.

Willamette Week (www.wweek.com) Free alt-weekly covering local news and culture, published on Wednesdays.

PORTLAND



A
B
C
D
1
2
3
4
5
6
To New Old Lompoc (0.2mi); Forest Park (1.75mi)
To Lucky Labrador Brewing Company (0.1mi)
To Sauvie Island (10mi); Scappoose Bay Kayaking (25mi)
To West Hills (0.25mi); Forest Park (0.75mi); Japanese Garden (0.75mi); Washington Park (1mi); Pittock Mansion (2mi)
To Children's Museum (2mi); Hoyt Arboretum (2mi); Oregon Zoo (2mi); World Forestry Center (2mi)
MAX to Zoo
Portland Streetcar
MAX Light Rail
Nob Hill
Pearl District
Couch Park
North Park Blocks
South Park Blocks
Downtown
Jamison Sq
Union Station (Amtrak)
Central Library
Pioneer Courthouse Sq
Pioneer Pl
Lownsdale Sq
Chapman Sq
Portland State University
405 26
NW Overton St
NW Northrup St
NW Marshall St
NW Lovejoy St
NW Kearney St
NW Johnson St
NW Irving St
NW Hoyt St
NW Glisan St
NW Flanders St
NW Everett St
NW Davis St
NW Couch St
W Burnside St
SW Ankeny St
SW Oak St
SW Stark St
SW Washington St
SW Alder St
SW Morrison St
SW Yamhill St
SW Taylor St
SW Salmon St
SW Main St
SW Madison St
SW Jefferson St
SW Columbia St
SW Clay St
SW Market St
SW Vista Ave
SW 20th Pl
SW 14th Ave
SW 13th Ave
SW 12th Ave
SW 11th Ave
SW 10th Ave
SW 9th Ave
SW Park Ave
SW Broadway
SW 6th Ave
SW 5th Ave
SW 4th Ave
NW 23rd Ave
NW 22nd Ave
NW 21st Ave
NW 20th Pl
NW 20th Ave
NW 19th Ave
NW 18th Ave
NW 17th Ave
NW 16th Ave
NW 15th Ave
NW 14th Ave
NW 13th Ave
NW 12th Ave
NW 11th Ave
NW 10th Ave
NW 9th Ave
NW Park Ave
NW 8th Ave
NW Broadway
NW 6th Ave

INFORMATION

Backspace	1	E3
CounterMedia	2	D3
Legacy Good Samaritan Hospital & Medical Center	3	A1
Portland Oregon Visitors Association	4	D4
Post Office	5	C5
Post Office	6	D4
Post Office (Main Branch)	7	D2
Powell's City of Books	8	C3
Reading Frenzy	9	D3
Travelex	10	D4
Urban Grind Coffeehouse	11	C1

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

Chinatown Gates	12	E3
Classical Chinese Garden	13	E2
Jamison Square Fountain	14	C1
Oregon Historical Society	15	C4
Oregon Museum of Science & Industry	16	F6
Pioneer Courthouse	17	D4
Portland Art Museum	18	C4
Portland Bicycle Tours	19	E2
Portland Building	20	D4
Salmon Street Springs Fountain	21	E5
Saturday Market	22	E3
Skidmore Fountain	23	E3
Stark's Vacuum Museum	24	G3

SLEEPING

Ace Hotel	25	D3
Heathman Hotel	26	D4
Hotel Lucia	27	D3
Inn at Northrup Station	28	B1
Jupiter Hotel	29	H3
Mark Spencer Hotel	30	C3
Northwest Portland Hostel	31	B2

EATING

Bunk Sandwiches	32	G4
Food Carts	33	D3
Food Carts	34	E3
Jake's Famous Crawfish	35	C3
Kenny & Zuke's	36	C3
Marrakesh Moroccan Restaurant	37	A1
Paley's Place	38	A1
Silk	39	C2
Vino Paradiso	40	D2

DRINKING

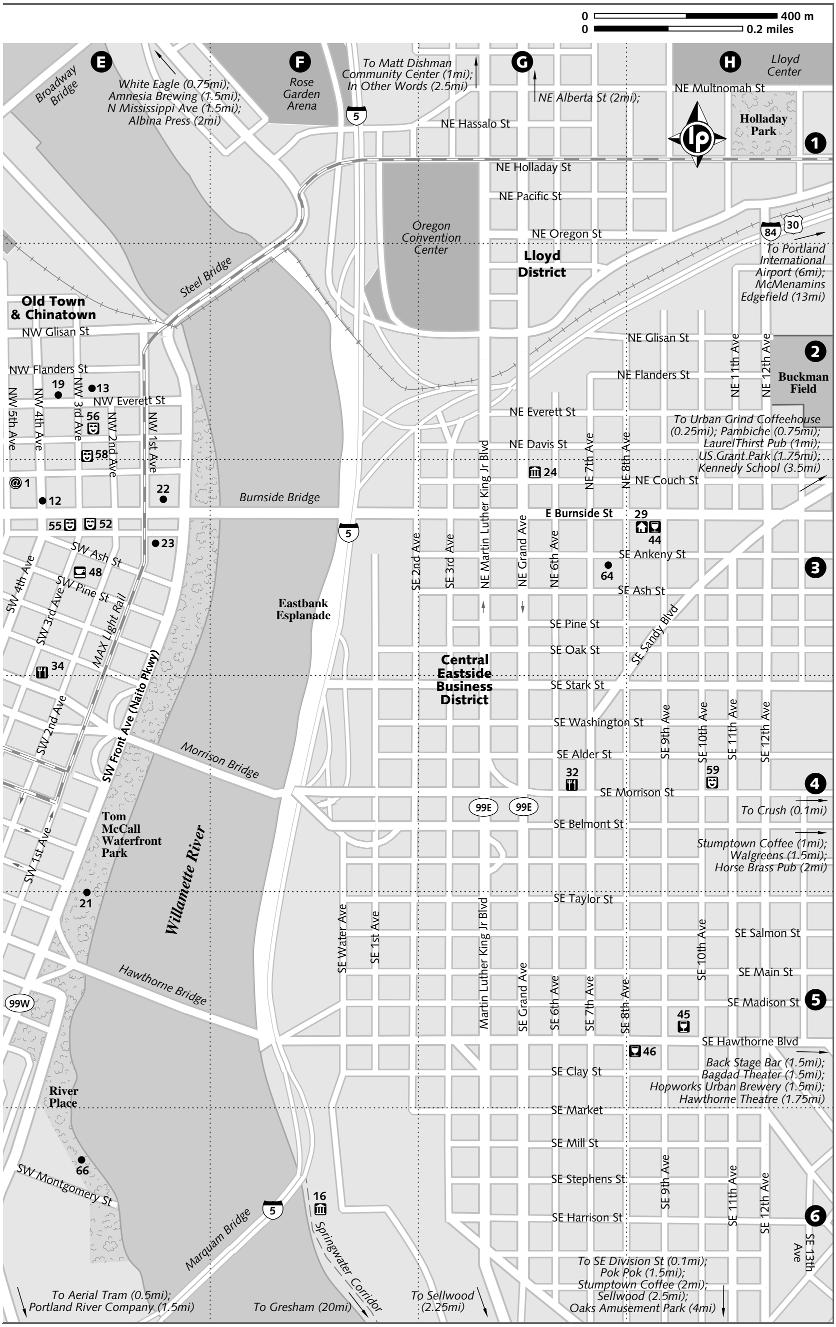
Anna Bananas	41	A1
Barista	42	C2
Brazen Bean	43	A2
Doug Fir	44	H3
Lucky Labrador Brewing Company	45	H5
Roots Organic Brewing	46	H5
Saucebox	47	D3
Stumptown Coffee	48	E3
Stumptown Coffee	(see 25)
World Cup	49	B2

ENTERTAINMENT

Arlene Schnitzer Concert Hall	50	D4
Artists Repertory Theatre	51	B3
Berbati's Pan	52	E3
Cinema 21	53	A2
Crystal Ballroom	54	C3
Dante's	55	E3
Darcelle XV	56	E2
Embers	57	D3
Hobo's	58	E2
Holocene	59	H4
Jimmy Mak's	60	D2
Keller Auditorium	61	D5
Living Room Theater	62	D3
Portland Center Stage	63	C2

TRANSPORT

Citybikes Annex	64	G3
Greyhound	65	D2
Waterfront Bicycle & Skate Rentals	66	E6



0 400 m
0 0.2 miles
E
F
G
H
1
2
3
4
5
6
Broadway Bridge
White Eagle (0.75mi); Amnesia Brewing (1.5mi); N Mississippi Ave (1.5mi); Albina Press (2mi)
Rose Garden Arena
To Matt Dishman Community Center (1mi); In Other Words (2.5mi)
NE Alberta St (2mi);
Lloyd Center
NE Multnomah St
Holladay Park
NE Hassalo St
NE Holladay St
NE Pacific St
NE Oregon St
Oregon Convention Center
Lloyd District
84 30
To Portland International Airport (6mi); McMenamins Edgefield (13mi)
Steel Bridge
Old Town & Chinatown
NW Glisan St
NW Flanders St
NW Everett St
NW 5th Ave
NW 4th Ave
NW 3rd Ave
NW 2nd Ave
NW 1st Ave
NE Glisan St
NE Flanders St
NE 11th Ave
NE 12th Ave
Buckman Field
NE Everett St
NE Davis St
To Urban Grind Coffeehouse (0.25mi); Pambiche (0.75mi); LaurelThirst Pub (1mi); US Grant Park (1.75mi); Kennedy School (3.5mi)
NE 7th Ave
NE 8th Ave
NE Couch St
Burnside Bridge
E Burnside St
5
SE 2nd Ave
SE 3rd Ave
NE Martin Luther King Jr Blvd
NE Grand Ave
NE 6th Ave
SE Ankeny St
SE Ash St
SW Ash St
SW Pine St
SW 4th Ave
SW 3rd Ave
MAX Light Rail
Eastbank Esplanade
SE Pine St
SE Oak St
SE Sandy Blvd
SE Stark St
Central Eastside Business District
SE Washington St
SE 9th Ave
SE 10th Ave
SE 11th Ave
SE 12th Ave
SW 2nd Ave
SW Front Ave (Naito Pkwy)
Morrison Bridge
SE Alder St
SE Morrison St
99E
99E
To Crush (0.1mi)
SE Belmont St
Stumptown Coffee (1mi); Walgreens (1.5mi); Horse Brass Pub (2mi)
Tom McCall Waterfront Park
SW 1st Ave
Willamette River
SE Taylor St
SE Water Ave
SE 1st Ave
Martin Luther King Jr Blvd
SE Salmon St
SE Main St
Hawthorne Bridge
99W
SE Grand Ave
SE 6th Ave
SE 7th Ave
SE 8th Ave
SE 10th Ave
SE Madison St
SE Hawthorne Blvd
Back Stage Bar (1.5mi); Bagdad Theater (1.5mi); Hopworks Urban Brewery (1.5mi); Hawthorne Theatre (1.75mi)
SE Clay St
River Place
SE Market
SE Mill St
SW Montgomery St
SE Stephens St
SE 9th Ave
SE 11th Ave
SE 12th Ave
SE Harrison St
SE 13th Ave
Marquam Bridge
Springwater Corridor
To SE Division St (0.1mi); Pok Pok (1.5mi); Stumptown Coffee (2mi); Sellwood (2.5mi); Oaks Amusement Park (4mi)
To Aerial Tram (0.5mi); Portland River Company (1.5mi)
To Gresham (20mi)
To Sellwood (2.25mi)
1 12 13 16
19 21
22
23 24
29 32 34
44
45
46 48 52
55 56 58 59
64
66

MONEY

Travelex (☎ 503-281-3045; 🕓 5:30am-4:30pm); downtown (900 SW 6th Ave); Portland International Airport (main ticket lobby) Foreign-currency exchange.

POST

Post office Main branch (☎ 503-294-2564; 715 NW Hoyt St); University Station (☎ 503-274-1362; 1505 SW 6th Ave)

TOURIST INFORMATION

Portland Oregon Visitors Association (☎ 503-275-8355, 877-678-5263; www.travelportland.com; 701 SW 6th Ave; 🕓 8:30am-5:30pm Mon-Fri, 10am-4pm Sat, 10am-2pm Sun) Super-friendly volunteers man this office in Pioneer Courthouse Square. There's a small theater with a 12-minute film about the city and Tri-Met bus and light-rail offices inside.

Sights

Portland is a sight in itself replete with trees, parks, trams and food carts. Most of the more specific stuff can be reached on foot (or bike) inside the downtown core.

DOWNTOWN

Portland's downtown hub is Pioneer Courthouse Square, a red-bricked people-friendly square with minimal traffic interference where you'll find chess players, sunbathers, lunching office workers, buskers and the odd political activist. Formerly a car park and before that a posh hotel, the square today hosts concerts, festivals and rallies. Across 6th Ave is the muscular Pioneer Courthouse (1875), the oldest federal building in the Pacific Northwest.

In a downtown devoid of big skyscrapers, the city's signature structure is the emblematic Portland Building (cnr SW 5th Ave & SW Main St) designed in 1980 by Michael Graves. A triumph of postmodernism to some but a mine of user unfriendliness to others, the 15-story block had the Neptune-like Portlandia statue added above the front door in 1985 representing the Goddess of Commerce.

Along the tree-shaded South Park Blocks sits the state's primary history museum, the Oregon Historical Society (☎ 503-222-1741; www.ohs.org; 1200 SW Park Ave; adult/child 6-18yr $11/5; 🕓 10am-5pm Tue-Sat, noon-5pm Sun). As well as temporary exhibits and several objects from Oregon's history on permanent display, there's a research library and a bookstore.

Just across the park is the Portland Art Museum (☎ 503-226-2811; www.portlandartmuseum.org; 1219 SW Park Ave; adult/child under 17 $10/free; 🕓 10am-5pm Tue, Wed & Sat, 10am-8pm Thu & Fri, noon-5pm Sun). Excellent exhibits include Native American carvings, Asian and American art, and English silver. The museum also houses the Whitsell Auditorium, a first-rate theater that frequently screens rare or international films.

Two-mile-long Tom McCall Waterfront Park flanks the west bank of the Willamette River, hosting summer festivals and concerts. Runners, walkers and cyclists can loop round on the Eastbank Esplanade by crossing the distinctive vertical lift Steel Bridge (1912), the second-oldest and most eye-catching of Portland's river-spanning bridges.

Portland's Aerial Tram (www.portlandtram.org) runs from the south Waterfront (there's a streetcar stop) to Marquam Hill. The tram runs along a 3,300ft line up a vertical ascent of 500ft. The ride takes three minutes and costs $4 round-trip. The tram opened in January 2007, smashing its budget predictions and causing much public controversy.

DON'T MISS

- Pearl District (opposite) – the city's rehabilitated old warehouse district
- Stumptown Coffee (p1055) – Portland's best coffee served at a handful of different locations
- Powell's City of Books (p1047) – largest independent bookstore in the world
- Tom McCall Waterfront Park (below) – a mass of walking, jogging, in-line skating and cavorting humanity

OLD TOWN & CHINATOWN

The core of rambunctious 1890s Portland, the once-notorious Old Town still exhibits a slightly seedy, if innocuous, underbelly. Among the fly-post covered brick buildings and odd mumbling hobo lie several of the city's better music clubs and – slightly to the north – the city's main 'gayborhood.' Running beneath Old Town's streets are the Shanghai Tunnels (☎ 503-622-4798; www.shanghaitunnels.info; adult/child $12/8), a series of underground corridors through which, in the 1850s, unscrupulous people would kidnap or 'shanghai' drunken men and sell them to sea captains looking for indentured workers. Tours are available by appointment.

The impressive pagoda-style Chinatown Gates (cnr W Burnside St & NW 4th Ave) belie a rather lackluster Chinese quarter where you'll struggle to find a palatable dim sum restaurant. Aside from some token chow mein takeouts, the main attraction here is the Classical Chinese Garden (☎ 503-228-8131; www.portlandchinesegarden.org; cnr NW 3rd Ave & NW Everett St; adult/child under 5/senior $7/free/6; 🕐 10am-5pm). It's a one-block haven of tranquillity, reflecting ponds and manicured greenery. Free tours are available with admission.

Victorian-era architecture and the attractive Skidmore Fountain give the area beneath the Burnside Bridge some nostalgic flair. The best time to hit the river walk is on a weekend to catch the famous Saturday Market (☎ 503-222-6072; www.portlandsaturdaymarket.com; 🕐 10am-5pm Sat & 11am-4:30pm Sun Mar-Dec), which showcases handicrafts, street entertainers and food carts.

NORTHWEST & PEARL DISTRICT

Nob Hill – or 'Snob Hill' to its detractors – has its hub on NW 23rd Ave, a trendy neighborhood thoroughfare that brims with clothing boutiques, home decor shops and cafés. Restaurants – including some of Portland's finest – lie mostly along NW 21st Ave. This is a great neighborhood for strolling, window-shopping and people-watching.

Just east and closer to downtown, the Pearl District is an old industrial quarter that has transformed its once grotty warehouses into expensive lofts, upscale boutiques and trendy restaurants. On the first Thursday of every month, art galleries extend their evening hours and the area turns into a fancy street party of sorts. The Pearl is bordered by NW 9th Ave, NW 14th Ave, W Burnside St and NW Lovejoy St.

WEST HILLS & WASHINGTON PARK

Behind downtown Portland is the West Hills area, known for its exclusive homes, windy streets and huge Forest Park – America's largest green urban space.

The grand Pittock Mansion (☎ 503-823-3623; www.pittockmansion.com; 3229 NW Pittock Dr; adult/child 6-18yr/senior $7/4/6; 🕐 11am-4pm; 🅿) was built in 1914 by Henry Pittock, who revitalized the Portland-based Oregonian newspaper. It's worth visiting the (free) grounds just to check out the spectacular views – bring a picnic.

Massive Washington Park contains a day's worth of attraction in its own right. See Portland's famous blooms on show at the International Rose Test Gardens (☎ 503-823-7529; www.rosegardenstore.org; admission free; 🕐 sunrise-sunset; 🅿) with 400 types of roses and good views. Further uphill is the tranquil Japanese Garden (☎ 503-223-1321; www.japanesegarden.com; 611 SW Kingston Ave; adult/child 6-17yr $8/5.25; 🕐 noon-7pm Mon, 10am-7pm Tue-Sun; 🅿). Prettiest in the fall, Hoyt Arboretum (☎ 503-865-8733; www.hoytarboretum.org; 4000 Fairview Blvd; admission free; 🕐 trails 6am-10pm, visitor center 9am-4pm Mon-Fri, 9am-3pm Sat; 🅿) is home to more than 1000 species of native and exotic trees and has 12 miles of walking trails. There's also a popular zoo (p1052).

NORTHEAST & SOUTHEAST

Across the Willamette River from downtown is the Lloyd Center shopping mall (1960), the usual florescent amalgamation of fast-food franchises and chain stores, of interest only because it was – apparently – the first of its kind in the US. A few blocks to the southwest is the slightly more attractive glass-towered Oregon Convention Center and the Rose Garden Arena, home of local basketball heroes, the Trailblazers.

Further up the Willamette, N Mississippi Avenue used to be full of run-down buildings but they've been transformed into trendy shops and restaurants. Northeast is artsy NE Alberta Street, a ribbon of art galleries, boutiques and cafés. Don't miss the summertime street party that takes place every last Thursday of the month – it's a hoot. For a dose of hippie-hipster culture, visit SE Hawthorne Boulevard (near SE 39th Ave), a bohemian string of bookstores, colorful shops and cafés. A mile to the south the connecting thoroughfare of SE Division Street has in recent years become a kind of SE Delicious Street with an ample quota of excellent new restaurants bars and pubs.

Activities

HIKING, MOUNTAIN BIKING & CYCLING

Hiking and mountain biking are to Portland what driving is to LA – a cultural rite of passage. You may need a few weeks of training in order to keep up with the svelte-looking locals.

Hikers and joggers will find an unbelievable 70 miles of trails in Forest Park, all within the city limits. The Wildwood Trail starts at the Hoyt Arboretum and winds through

WHAT THE...?

Only in America (or should that be 'only in Portland'): Stark's Vacuum Museum (☎ 503-232-4101; www.starks.com; 107 NE Grand Ave; admission free; 🕐 8am-7pm Mon-Fri, 9am-5pm Sat, 11am-4pm Sun) is an anally retentive collection of 300 or more Hoovers, Busy Bees, Electroluxes and Pneumatics that document the esoteric history of floor-cleaning from 1950s housewife classics to 21st-century lightweights. The museum is located – surprise, surprise – in Stark's vacuum cleaner store and, after sifting through the throwaway collection of modern models, you'll undoubtedly end up pining for one of the museum's space-dog machines of yore.

30 miles of forest, with many spur trails allowing for loop hikes. Other trailheads into Forest Park are at the western ends of NW Thurman and NW Upshur Sts.

Cyclists have the riverside Springwater Corridor, which starts near the Oregon Museum of Science & Industry (as an extension of the Eastbank Esplanade) and goes all the way to the suburb of Gresham – over 21 miles long. For mountain biking try Leif Erikson Drive, a great old logging road leading 11 miles into Forest Park and offering occasional peeks over the city. Avoid riding on hiking paths here, as you'd be poaching the trails.

For scenic farm country, head to Sauvie Island, 10 miles northwest of downtown Portland. This island is prime cycling land – it's flat, has relatively little traffic and much of it is wildlife refuge. For bike rentals, see p1058.

WATER SPORTS

Summer in Portland means finding cool things to do on hot days, and fortunately there's a few.

For simple pleasures, visit the Salmon Street Springs Fountain in the Tom McCall Waterfront Park or the Jamison Square Fountain (cnr NW Johnson St & NW 10th Ave), both of which attract splashing kids.

Swim indoors at Matt Dishman Community Center (☎ 503-823-3673; 77 NE Knott St; admission $2-3.25), north of the Lloyd District. For an outdoor experience, try the pool at US Grant Park (☎ 503-823-3674; cnr NE 33rd Ave & NE US Grant Pl; admission $2-3.25), northeast of the Lloyd District. Hours at both pools vary for different activities, so call beforehand.

Kayakers have Portland River Company (☎ 503-459-4050; www.portlandrivercompany.com; 6320 SW Macadam Ave) or Scappoose Bay Kayaking (☎ 503-397-2161, 877-272-3353; www.scappoosebaykayaking.com; 57420 Old Portland Rd), both with tours and rentals.

Portland for Children

Fear not, overworked parent. Kids love Portland especially the Oregon Museum of Science & Industry (OMSI; ☎ 503-797-6674; www.omsi.edu; 1945 SE Water Ave; adult/senior & child 3-13yr $11/9; 🕐 9:30am-5:30pm; 👪), which offers hands-on science exhibits for the whole age range. There's also an Omnimax theater, planetarium shows and a submarine tour (all separate charge).

In summer, the Zoo Train connects the Washington Park rose garden with the Oregon Zoo (☎ 503-226-1561; www.oregonzoo.org; 4001 SW Canyon Rd; adult/child $9.75/6.75; 🕐 8am-6pm Apr-Sep; 👪). Don't miss 'zoolights' during the holiday season, when the zoo becomes a winter wonderland filled with lit-up trees and animal figures. In summer there are concerts on the zoo's lawns. Parking costs $1.

Parents can also seek solace at the nearby Children's Museum (☎ 503-223-6500; www.portlandcm.org; 4015 SW Canyon Rd; admission $8; 🕐 9am-5pm Mon-Sat, 11am-5pm Sun; 👪), a great place to keep kids busy with interesting learning activities and exhibits. Next door, the World Forestry Center (☎ 503-228-1367; www.worldforestry.org; 4033 SW Canyon Rd; adult/child 3-18yr/senior $8/7/5; 🕐 10am-5pm; 👪) offers similar experiences but with a woodsy twist.

For rides and go-karts, head south to Oaks Amusement Park (☎ 503-233-5777; www.oakspark.com; 7805 SE Oaks Park Way; admission free, ride bracelets $11.75-14.40; 👪). Hours vary widely, so call ahead.

Tours

For kayak tours, see above.

Eco Tours of Oregon (☎ 503-245-1428, 888-868-7733; www.ecotours-of-oregon.com) Naturalist tours of northwest Oregon and Washington, including the Columbia River Gorge, Mt St Helens and the wine country.

Portland Bicycle Tours (☎ 503-360-6815; www.intrepidexperience.com; 345 NW Everett St) Bike the 'City of Roses' on a parks, bridges or market tour energized with plenty of Stumptown coffee. Two-hour tours with own/rented bike cost $30/40.

Portland Walking Tours (☎ 503-774-4522; www.portlandwalkingtours.com) Art, food, neighborhood, history, underground and even ghost-oriented tours.

Festivals & Events

Portland International Film Festival (☎ 503-221-1156; www.nwfilm.org) Oregon's biggest film event highlights nearly 100 films from over 30 countries. Held mid to late February.

Portland Rose Festival (☎ 503-227-2681; www.rosefestival.org) Rose-covered floats, dragon-boat races, fireworks, roaming packs of sailors and the crowning of a Rose Queen all make this Portland's biggest celebration. Held late May to early June.

Queer Pride Celebration (☎ 503-295-9788; www.pridenw.org) Keep Portland queer in mid-June: enjoy a kick-off party, take a cruise or join the parade.

Oregon Brewers Festival (☎ 503-778-5917; www.oregonbrewfest.com) Quaff microbrews during the summer (late July) in Tom McCall Waterfront Park and during the winter (early December) at Pioneer Courthouse Square.

Sleeping

Reserve ahead in summer.

BUDGET

Northwest Portland Hostel (☎ 503-241-2783; www.nwportlandhostel.com; 425 NW 18th Ave; dm $20-25, d $42-74; Ⓟ ☒ ✣ 💻 📶) Perfectly located between the Pearl District and NW 21st and 24th Aves, this friendly hostel is spread across a couple of quintessential Northwest District houses and features plenty of common areas (including a small deck), good rooms and bike rentals. Non-HI members pay $3 extra.

our pick McMenamins Edgefield (☎ 503-669-8610; www.mcmenamins.com; 2126 SW Halsey St, Troutdale; dm $30, d with shared bath $60-80, with private bath $110-145; ☒ ✣ 💻 📶) This former county poor farm, restored by the McMenamin brothers, is now a one-of-a-kind, 38-acre hotel complex with a dizzying variety of services. Taste wine and homemade beer, play golf, watch movies, shop at the gift store, listen to live music, walk the extensive gardens and eat at one of its restaurants. It's about a 20-minute drive east from downtown.

White Eagle (☎ 503-335-8900, 866-271-3377; www.mcmenamins.com; 836 N Russell St; dm $40, d $45-60; Ⓟ) A rock-and-roll crash pad (ZZ Top used to play here), the White Eagle is a McMenamins-run bar and live-music saloon which keeps 11 upstairs basic rooms (all with shared baths) for night owls, incurable music fans and very heavy sleepers. The hotel was opened in 1905 and, while the upstairs brothel and opium den may been sidelined, the home-brewed beer still hits the mark. It's north of the Lloyd District on the MAX light-rail line.

MIDRANGE

Jupiter Hotel (☎ 503-230-9200; www.jupiterhotel.com; 800 E BurnsideSt; d Sun-Thu $100-145, Fri & Sat $128-178; Ⓟ ☒ ✣ 💻 📶) Take a dull concept – in this case a motel – give it a sleek makeover and behold! The Jupiter has hijacked America's most ubiquitous cheap-sleep idea and personalized it with retro furnishings, chalkboard doors (on which you can write instructions to the room maid) and splashes of vivid color. No two rooms are alike (ironic given the motel shell) and the adjacent Doug Fir (p1055) is one of the city's coolest live-music venues. Hit the bar with the band roadies and check in after midnight for a discount.

our pick Ace Hotel (☎ 503-228-2277; www.acehotel.com; 1022 SW Stark St; d with shared/private bath from $107/147; ☒ ✣ 💻 📶) A microcosm of the Portland scene, Ace is frequented by some of the city's brightest sparks who recline on the ample lobby sofas supping on Stumptown coffee and conversing on everything from Brangelina to Derrida. If you make it upstairs, you'll find attractive retro-industrial rooms glittering with chic minimalist appeal. Parking costs $20.

Kennedy School (☎ 503-249-3983, 888-249-3983; www.mcmenamins.com; 5736 NE 33rd Ave; d $109-130; Ⓟ ☒ 💻 📶) At this Portland institution, a former elementary school, you can relive those halcyon days when you used to fall asleep in biology classes. A few miles from the city center, the school is now home to a hotel (yes, the bedrooms are converted classrooms), a restaurant, several bars, a microbrewery and a movie theater. There's a soaking pool, and the whole school is decorated with mosaics, fantasy paintings and historical photographs.

Mark Spencer Hotel (☎ 503-224-3293, 800-548-3934; www.markspencer.com; 409 SW 11th Ave; d incl breakfast from $125; ☒ ✣ 💻 📶) If the Ace is too trendy for your taste head next door to this more refined and down-to-earth (some would say 'boring') choice where spacious, unmemorable rooms (all with kitchens) are economically priced for such a well-placed, comfortable city center option. There's complimentary tea with cookies in the afternoon. Parking costs $16.

Hotel Lucia (☎ 503-225-1717; www.hotellucia.com; 400 SW Broadway; d from $127; ☒ ✣ 💻 📶) A boutique hotel with sleek black and white furnishings topped with arty displays of polished (but still edible) apples. Rooms are design-show funky and geek-friendly gadgets include wi-fi, flat-screen TVs and i-Pod docking

EATING PORTLAND: FOOD CARTS

Perhaps one of the best (and cheapest) ways to uncover Portland's cultural pastiche is to explore its delicious food carts. Largely a product of the last decade, these semipermanent kitchens-on-wheels inhabit parking lots around town and are usually clustered together in rough groups or 'pods'. As most of the owners are recent immigrants (who can't afford a hefty restaurant start-up), the carts are akin to an international potluck with colorful kitchen hatches offering soul food from everywhere from Bosnia and Czechoslovakia to Vietnam and Mexico. While prices are low ($5 to $6 for a filling and tasty lunch), standards of hygiene – thanks to tight city regulations – are kept high and the banter between customer-proprietor is a kind of geography lesson meets recipe exchange.

Food-cart locations vary, but you'll find two significant clusters at the corners of SW Alder St and SW 9th Ave, and SW Washington St and SW 3rd Ave.

stations. The downtown location is handy for everywhere.

Inn at Northrup Station (☎ 503-224-0543, 800-224-1180; www.northrupstation.com; 2025 NW Northrup St; d incl breakfast from $156; 🅿 ⊠ ❄ 💻 📶) Almost over the top with its bright color scheme and funky decor, this super-trendy hotel boasts huge artsy suites, many with a patio or balcony. There's a cool rooftop patio with plants.

TOP END

Heathman Hotel (☎ 503-241-4100, 800-551-0011; www.heathmanhotel.com; 1001 SW Broadway; d from $200; ❄ 💻 📶) Portland's token 'posh' hotel has a doorman dressed as a London beefeater (without the accent) and one of the best restaurants in the city. It also boasts high tea in the afternoons, jazz in the evenings and a library stocked with signed books by authors who have stayed here. Rooms are elegant, stylish and luxurious. Parking costs $30.

Eating

Portland's rapidly evolving food scene has won plenty of plaudits, especially in recent years, with its globally-influenced dishes. Vegetarians are well catered for while budget travelers can enjoy the city's quirky international food carts with cultural roots in Bosnia, Egypt and everywhere in between.

Bunk Sandwiches (☎ 503-477-9515; 621 SE Morrison St; light meals $5-7; 🕓 8am-3pm) This unfussy hole-in-the-wall brunch/lunch spot is well worth crossing the river for. Choose from a blackboard of po'boys, tuna melts and meatball parmigianas and you'll be licking your lips all day long.

Silk (☎ 503-248-2172; 1012 NW Glisan St, Pearl District; mains $7-10; 🕓 11am-3pm & 5-10pm Mon-Sat) Vietnamese-food lovers will adore this gorgeous restaurant. Everything is delicious, from the banana-blossom salad and lemongrass shrimp to the pho (noodle soups). The original restaurant (called Pho Van) can be found on SE 82nd Ave.

Pok Pok (☎ 503-232-1387; 3226 SE Division St; mains $8-11; 🕓 11.30am-10pm Mon-Fri, 5-10pm Sat) Popular Thai hole-in-the-wall with some of Portland's best Thai food.

Kenny & Zuke's (☎ 503-222-3354; 1038 SW Stark St; sandwiches $9-13; 🕓 7am-8pm Sun-Thu, 7am-9pm Fri & Sat) Portland takes on New York in this new traditional Jewish-style deli next to the Ace Hotel where the pièce de résistance is – surprise, surprise – the hand-sliced pastrami (cured for five days, smoked for10 and steamed for three). Once you've demolished the classic pastrami on rye leave room for a blintz, latke or formidable desert.

Vino Paradiso (☎ 503-295-9536; 417 NW 10th Ave; mains $11-16; 🕓 4-11pm Tue-Sat, 3-9pm Sun) A cool Pearl District wine bar-cum-bistro with small, tasty portions of mainly Italian fare skillfully paired with some amazing vinos. Try the risotto and watch the beautiful people come and go.

Pambiche (☎ 503-233-0511; 2811 NE Glisan St; mains $11-17; 🕓 11am-10pm Sun-Thu, 11am-midnight Fri & Sat) Americans might not be able to legally visit Cuba, but they can get the next best thing at this multicolored Cuban restaurant in the Northeast district. Open all day, la hora del amigo (Cuban happy hour) is the best time to chow (2pm to 6pm Monday to Friday, 10pm to midnight Friday and Saturday). The menu? No Castro speeches, but plenty of ropa vieja (shredded beef), snapper in coconut sauce and that rich Cuban coffee. Warning – the place is insanely popular, but tiny. Arrive early!

our pick Jake's Famous Crawfish (☎ 503-226-1419; 401 SW 12th Ave; mains $17-32; 🕒 11am-11pm Mon-Thu, 11am-midnight Fri, noon-midnight Sat, 3-11pm Sun) Portland's best seafood lies within this elegant old-time venue. The oysters are divine, the crab cakes a revelation and the horseradish salmon your ticket into heaven. Come at 3pm and praise the lord for (cheap) happy hour.

Marrakesh Moroccan Restaurant (☎ 503-248-9442; 1201 NW 21st Ave; mains $20-30; 🕒 5pm-midnight Mon-Sat) You'll be hitting Powell's bookstore to buy Lonely Planet's Morocco guide after a visit to this Nob Hill classic which serves up authentic tagine that you eat with your hands while sitting on puffy cushions.

Paley's Place (☎ 503-243-2403; 1204 NW 21st Ave; mains $20-32; 🕒 5:30-10pm Mon-Thu, 5:30-11pm Fri & Sat, 5-10pm Sun) Vitaly and Kimberly Paley have established one of Portland's premier restaurants, offering a creative blend of French and Pacific Northwest cuisines. Whether it's the duck confit, Kobe burger or veal sweetbreads, you can count on fresh ingredients, excellent service and a memorable experience.

Drinking

Check www.barflymag.com for eclectic, spot-on reviews. As of 2009, Oregon bars and pubs are nonsmoking.

COFFEEHOUSES

To Seattleites it's anathema to suggest that Portland brews equitable coffee, but word on the street says it's a close run thing.

our pick Stumptown Coffee (☎ 503-230-7797; Ace Hotel 1022 SW Stark St; Belmont 3356 SE Belmont St; Division 3377 SE Division St; Downtown 128 SW 3rd Ave; 💻 📶) The hottest, the coolest, the greatest and the most ubiquitous.

Barista (☎ 503-274-1211; 539 NW 13th Ave) Forget the beans, it's all about the confection. Star barista Billy Wilson concocts caffeine-infused miracles out of an eclectic selection of different coffees in this made-over Pearl District warehouse.

Albina Press (☎ 503-282-5214; 4637 N Albina Ave; 💻 📶) Pure nirvana for its delicious cups of coffee artistically constructed by competition-winning baristas.The cafe is situated just off I5 two miles north of the Lloyd District.

World Cup (☎ 503-228-4152; 1740 NW Glisan St; 💻 📶) Not a soccer tournament but a world-class coffee bar with its own on-site roasting room. It also rejuvenates the marathon book-browsers in Powell's bookstore.

Anna Bannanas (☎ 503-274-2559; 1214 NW 21st Ave; 💻 📶) Funky hangout in an old renovated house with a comfortable feel, gourmet food and a good crowd.

BARS

Brazen Bean (☎ 503-234-0636; 2075 NW Glisan St) Located in a antique Victorian house, this very popular bar is known for its martinis – more than 25 different kinds. During happy hour (5pm to 8pm weekdays) the prize drinks are $4 and service slows to molasses.

Saucebox (☎ 503-241-3393; 214 SW Broadway) Metro-sleek restaurant with pretty bar staff serving upscale Asian-fusion cuisine, but also very popular for its wide selection of drinks, including creative cocktails. DJs fire up at 10pm.

Horse Brass Pub (☎ 503-232-2202; 4534 SE Belmont St) Portland's most authentic English pub, cherished for its dark-wood atmosphere, excellent fish and chips, and 50 beers on tap. Play some darts, watch soccer on TV or just take it all in.

Doug Fir (☎ 503-231-9663; 830 E Burnside St) Paul Bunyan meets the Jetsons at this ultratrendy venue with edgy, hard-to-get talent, drawing crowds from tattooed youth to suburban yuppies. Sample its restaurant (open 21 hours), then stumble next door to the rock-star quality Jupiter Hotel.

Crush (☎ 503-235-8150; 1400 SE Morrison St) Slip into this sexy lounge with all the pretty people and order one of the exotic cocktails. The menu's gourmet (try brunch) and there's a 'vice' room just for smokers. Great for a girls' night out, straight or lesbian.

LaurelThirst Pub (☎ 503-232-1504; 2958 NE Glisan St) Crowds sometimes spill onto the sidewalk at this dark, funky neighborhood joint. Regular live music is free in the early evening, but incurs a cover charge after 9pm. Good beer and wine selection (but no liquor), along with fine breakfasts.

Back Stage Bar (☎ 503-236-9234; 3702 SE Hawthorne Blvd) Hidden gem behind the Bagdad Theater with a seven-story-high space, pool tables galore and tons of personality.

BREWPUBS

It's enough to make a native Brit jealous. Portland has about 30 brewpubs within its borders – more than any other city on earth. Here's a starting list.

Amnesia Brewing (☎ 503-281-7708; 832 N Beech St) Hip N Mississippi Ave's main brewery, with a casual feel and picnic tables out front. Excellent beer – try the Desolation IPA or Wonka Porter. Outdoor grill offers burgers and sausages.

Hopworks Urban Brewery (☎ 503-232-4677; 2944 SE Powell Blvd) The newest kid on the block opened in March 2008 and furnished Portland with its first 100% ecobrewery – all organic ales, local ingredients, composting and even a 'bicycle bar.'

Lucky Labrador Brewing Company (Hawthorne ☎ 503-236-3555; 915 SE Hawthorne Blvd; Pearl District ☎ 503-517-4352; 1945 NW Quimby St) Large, no-nonsense beer hall with a wide selection of brews and, at the Hawthorne branch, a dog-friendly back patio, where movies are shown in summer.

New Old Lompoc (☎ 503-225-1855; 1616 NW 23rd Ave) Eclectic pub offering more than a dozen taps with treats such as Condor Pale Ale, Sockeye Cream Stout and Bald Guy Brown. The leafy back patio is a must on warm days.

Roots Organic Brewing (☎ 503-235-7668; 1520 SE 7th Ave) Relative newcomer on the scene focusing on fully organic brews.

Entertainment

Check the Mercury or Willamette Week for schedules and cover charges.

LIVE MUSIC

See also Doug Fir (p1055), LaurelThirst Pub (p1055) and Holocene (right).

Dante's (☎ 503-226-6630; www.danteslive.com; 1 SW 3rd Ave) This steamy red bar books vaudeville shows along with national acts including the Dandy Warhols and Concrete Blonde. Drop in on Monday night for the ever-popular 'Karaoke from Hell.'

Berbati's Pan (☎ 503-248-4579; www.berbati.com; 10 SW 3rd Ave) This established rock club nabs some of the more interesting acts in town. Expect big band, swing, acid rock and R & B music. Outdoor seating and pool tables a plus.

Crystal Ballroom (☎ 503-225-0047; www.mcmenamins.com; 1332 W Burnside St) Major bands play at this historic ballroom, from the Grateful Dead to Steve Earl. The 'floating' dance floor bounces at the slightest provocation.

Jimmy Mak's (☎ 503-295-6542; www.jimmymaks.com; 221 NW 10th Ave) Stumptown's premier jazz venue, serving excellent Mediterranean food; casual smoking bar-lounge in the basement. Music starts at 8pm.

Hawthorne Theatre (☎ 503-233-7100; www.hawthornetheatre.com; 1507 SE 39th Ave) All-ages music venue good for live rock, reggae, punk, pop, metal and country music. Intimate stage, high balcony and 21-and-over section for legal boozehounds.

GAY & LESBIAN VENUES

For current listings see Just Out, Portland's free gay biweekly. Or grab a Gay and Lesbian Community Yellow Pages (www.pdxgayyellowpages.com) for other services. For an upscale, mixed-crowd bar, see Crush (p1055). A selection:

Darcelle XV (☎ 503-222-5338; 208 NW 3rd Ave) Portland's premier drag show, featuring queens in big wigs, fake jewelry and over-stuffed bras. Male strippers perform at midnight on weekends.

Holocene (☎ 503-239-7639; 1001 SE Morrison St) Best for lesbians on 'Tart Night,' which takes place every second

MIKE MCMENAMIN

A Portland native, Mike is one of two McMenamin brothers who started the quirky Pacific Northwest McMenamins empire that includes more than 50 brewpubs, hotels, restaurants, music venues and movie theaters – most located in historic buildings and decorated in highly eclectic style. They're all very fun places to visit, stay at and have a drink at (or three). See www.mcmenamins.com for a taste.

What are the best things about Portland? I think the neighborhoods here are fabulous. There are dozens of them that feel good and have their own life. Portland is charming: rolling hills, proximity to a lot of stuff. It's a good spot, small-town feel…but it's getting faster, or I'm getting slower.

How did you go about finding buildings to restore? In the early days, we used to have to drive around and snoop stuff out. But now we get piles of suggestions, photos, brochures and calls from people who like that we preserve things. It's rewarding that they think of us like that, but it's also kind of unfortunate because we can't do everything.

What role did you play in starting Portland's microbrew movement? There was a group of people – Portland Brewing, Widmer, us and Bridgeport – that were instrumental in getting that whole thing going. In 1985 [pubs could legally brew their own beer] and it's been a great thing. You tend to think of a brewery as a vast thing, but it can be in the corner of the kitchen.

Sunday of the month. Otherwise it's your typical hipster crowd dance scene in a modern industrial space.

Embers (☎ 503-222-3082; 110 NW Broadway) Regulars come to meet up for the music (from '80s tunes to techno and pop), amateur drag shows, a fun dance floor and friendly camaraderie. Mixed crowd.

Hobo's (☎ 503-224-3285; 120 NW 3rd Ave) Past the old historic storefront is a classy restaurant–piano bar popular with older gay men. It's a quiet, relaxed place for a romantic dinner or drink.

CINEMAS

Another Portland quirk is the cinemas where you can sit down for a movie and be served wine, beer, food and snacks without taking your eyes off the screen.

Kennedy School (☎ 503-249-3983; www.mcmenamins.com; 5736 NE 33rd Ave) is the McMenamin brothers' premier Portland venue. Watch movies in the old school gym. Bagdad Theater (☎ 503-236-9234; www.mcmenamins.com; 3702 SE Hawthorne Blvd), another awesome McMenamin venue, has bargain flicks. Cinema 21 (☎ 503-223-4515; www.cinema21.com; 616 NW 21st Ave) is Portland's premier art- and foreign-film theater. Living Room Theater (☎ 971-222-2005; www.livingroomtheaters.com; 341 SW 10th Ave) has six theaters with cutting-edge digital technology screen art-house, foreign and retro movies while the cool staff serves you drinks and tapas in front of the big screen. There's an adjacent bar with wine, wi-fi, coffee and comfy sofas. Sublime.

THEATER & CULTURE

The Oregon Symphony performs in Arlene Schnitzer Concert Hall (☎ 503-228-1353, 800-228-7343; www.pcpa.com/events/asch.php; 1037 SW Broadway), a beautiful, if not acoustically brilliant, downtown venue. You can catch some of Portland's best plays, including regional premieres, in the intimate space at the Artists Repertory Theatre (☎ 503-241-1278; www.artistsrep.org; 1516 SW Alder St). The Portland Opera, Oregon Ballet Theatre and Oregon Children's Theatre all stage performances at Keller Auditorium (☎ 503-248-4335; www.pcpa.com/events/keller.php; 222 SW Clay St), while Portland Center Stage (☎ 503-445-3700; www.pcs.org; 128 NW 11th Ave), the city's main theater company, now performs in the Portland Armory – a newly renovated Pearl District landmark that boasts state-of-the-art features.

SPORTS

Portland's only major-league sports team is the Trail Blazers (www.nba.com/blazers), who play basketball at Rose Garden Arena. The Winter Hawks (www.winterhawks.com), Portland's minor-league hockey team, and the LumberJax (www.portlandjax.com), the city's lacrosse team, both play here too.

PGE Park hosts the Portland's minor-league baseball team, the Portland Beavers (www.portlandbeavers.com), along with the A-League soccer team, the Portland Timbers (☎ 503-553-5555).

Shopping

Portland's downtown shopping district extends in a two-block radius from Pioneer Courthouse Square and displays all of the usual suspects. Pioneer Place, an upscale mall, is between SW Morrison and SW Yamhill Sts, east of the square. The Pearl District is dotted with high-end galleries, boutiques and home-decor shops – don't miss Powell's City of Books (p1047). On the first Thursday of each month galleries stay open longer and people fill some of the Pearl's streets amid a party atmosphere. And on weekends, visit the quintessentially Portland Saturday Market (p1051).

Eastside has lots of trendy shopping streets that also host a few restaurants and cafés. SE Hawthorne Blvd is the biggest, N Mississippi Ave is the most recent and NE Alberta St is the most artsy and funky. Down south, Sellwood is known for its antique shops.

Getting There & Away

Portland International Airport (PDX; ☎ 877-739-4636; www.flypdx.com) has daily flights all over the US, as well as to seven international destinations. It's situated just east of I-5 on the banks of the Columbia River (20 minutes' drive from downtown) Amenities include money changers, restaurants, bookstores (including three Powell's branches) and business services like free wi-fi.

Greyhound (☎ 503-243-2357; www.greyhound.com; 550 NW 6th Ave) connects Portland with cities along I-5 and I-84. Destinations include Chicago, IL (50 hours, $170), Boise, WA (9½ hours, $60), Denver, CO (28 hours, $120), San Francisco, CA (17½ hours, $76), Seattle, WA (four hours, $36) and Vancouver, BC (8½ hours, $48).

Amtrak (☎ 503-241-4290; www.amtrak.com; cnr NW 6th Ave & NW Irving St) serves Chicago, IL ($237, two days, two daily), Oakland, CA ($69, 18 hours, one daily), Seattle, WA ($28, 3½ hours, four daily) and Vancouver, BC ($42, four hours, two daily).

Getting Around

Tri-Met's MAX light-rail train runs between the airport and downtown ($2, 45 minutes). If you prefer a bus, Blue Star (☎ 503-249-1837; www.bluestarbus.com) offers a shuttle service between PDX and several downtown stops ($14, 30 minutes). Taxis from the airport cost about $30.

Portland is regularly touted as the most bike-friendly city in the US and there are miles of dedicated paths. Rent bikes from Citybikes Annex (☎ 503-239-6951; www.citybikes.coop; 734 SE Ankeny St) or Waterfront Bicycle & Skate Rentals (☎ 503-227-1719; 315 SW Montgomery St). A ballpark price for day rental is $35. Some hotels (eg Ace Hotel) offer bikes free of charge.

Another Portland tour de force is its comprehensive public transportation network. The city runs standard local buses, a MAX light-rail system – run by Tri-Met with an information center (☎ 503-238-7433; www.trimet.org; 🕑 8:30am-5:30pm Mon-Fri) at Pioneer Courthouse Square – and a streetcar (tram) introduced in 2001 which runs from Portland State University, south of downtown, through the Pearl District to NW 23rd Ave. Within the downtown core, public transportation is free; outside downtown, fares run $1.70 to $2. Services run until 1:30am.

Major car-rental agencies have outlets at Portland International Airport and around town. Oregon law prohibits you from pumping your own gas. Most of downtown is metered parking; a free option is to park along an inner-Southeast street and walk across a bridge to the city center.

Cabs are available 24 hours by phone. Downtown, you can often just flag them down. Try Broadway Cab (☎ 503-227-1234) or Radio Cab (☎ 503-227-1212)

AROUND PORTLAND

A short and scenic drive from Portland are some of the best wineries in the state, mostly scattered around the towns of Dundee and McMinnville along Hwy 99W. To get started, contact Willamette Valley Wineries Association (☎ 503-646-2985; www.willamettewines.com).

There are many wineries in the area but, for a decent overview visit Ponzi Vineyards (☎ 503-628-1227; 14665 SW Winery Lane, Beaverton; 🕑 10am-5pm), 30 minutes southwest of downtown Portland, where you taste current releases and visit the historic cellars and vineyards.

Meandering through plush green hills on winding country roads from one wine-tasting room to another is a delightful way to spend an afternoon (just make sure you designate a driver). Alternatively, Portland-based Pedal Bike Tours (☎ 503-916-9704; pedalbiketours.com) run five-hour spins from the town of Dundee on Hwy 99W for $79. If you only have time for a quick sampling, head for the Oregon Wine Tasting Room (☎ 503-843-3787; 🕑 11am-6pm), 9 miles south of McMinnville on Hwy 18, where you'll find around 70 of the area's wineries represented. Grape Escape (☎ 503-282-4262; www.grapeescapetours.com) specializes in wine-country tours.

For something different, head to McMinnville's Evergreen Aviation Museum (☎ 503-434-4180; www.sprucegoose.org; 500 NE Captain Michael King Smith Way; adult/child 3-17yr/senior $14/12/13; 🕑 9am-5pm) and check out Howard Hughes' Spruce Goose, the world's largest wood-framed airplane. There's also a replica of the Wright brothers' Flyer, along with an IMAX theater (movie admission separate).

There are several fine restaurants in the area, but for something spectacular consider the Joel Palmer House (☎ 503-864-2995; www.joelpalmerhouse.com; 600 Ferry St, Dayton; mains $20-37; 🕑 5-9pm Tue-Sat); its dishes are peppered with wild mushrooms collected by hand from the surrounding woods. And if you need an interesting place to stay, consider McMenamins Hotel Oregon (☎ 503-472-8427; www.mcmenamins.com; 310 NE Evans St, McMinnville; d $60-130; ☒ ✣ 💻 📶), an older building renovated into a charming hotel. It boasts a pub with an awesome rooftop bar.

WILLAMETTE VALLEY

The Willamette Valley, a fertile 60-mile-wide agricultural basin, was the holy grail for Oregon Trail pioneers who headed west more than 150 years ago. Today it's the state's breadbasket, producing more than 100 kinds of crops – including renowned Pinot Noir grapes. Salem, Oregon's capital, is about an hour's drive from Portland at the northern end of the Willamette Valley, and most of the other attractions in the area make easy day trips as well. Toward the south is Eugene, a dynamic college town worth a few days of exploration.

Salem

Another leafy Oregon city, state capital Salem is renowned for its cherry trees, capitol building and Willamette University. Find information at the visitor center (☎ 503-581-4325; 1313 Mill St SE; 🕐 8:30am-5pm Mon-Fri, 10am-5pm Sat).

Following an Oregon trend, Salem's best museum is housed in the local university. Willamette University's Hallie Ford Museum of Art (☎ 503-370-6300; 900 State St; adult/senior $3/2; 🕐 10am-5pm Tue-Sat, 1-5pm Sun) boasts the state's best collection of Pacific Northwest art, including an impressive Native American gallery.

The 1938 Oregon State Capitol (☎ 503-986-1388; 900 Court St NE) looks like a sci-fi film director's vision of an Orwellian White House. Free tours run hourly between 9am and 4pm in summer. Rambling 19th-century Bush House (☎ 503-363-4714; 600 Mission St SE; adult/child 6-12yr/senior $4/2/3; 🕐 noon-5pm Tue-Sun) is an Italianate mansion now preserved as a museum with historic accents, including original wallpapers and marble fireplaces.

Silver Falls State Park (☎ 503-873-8681; car per day $3) is 26 miles east of Salem on Hwy 214 (via Hwy 22). South Falls, a 177ft waterfall, is just a few feet from the main parking lot. For something longer, hike a 7-mile loop trail that covers 10 waterfalls – including a few you can walk behind. There's also camping, swimming and a 4-mile paved bike path.

A couple of hours drive east of Salem are Bagby Hot Springs, a revitalizing free hot-tub in a rustic forest bathhouse 1.5 miles down a hiking trail. From Estacada head 26 miles south on Hwy 224 (which becomes Forest Rd 46). Turn right onto Forest Rd 63 and go three miles to USFS Rd 70. Turn right and go 6 miles to the parking area ($5 Northwest Forest Pass required). If the communal bathing doesn't cut it, enjoy more salubrious climes at Breitenbush Hot Springs (☎ 503-854-3320; www.breitenbush.com), a fancier spa with massages, yoga and the like. Day-use prices are $12 to $25. Breitenbush is east of Salem on Hwy 46 just past the settlement of Detroit.

Eugene

If Eugene was a person, it would be a countercultural Merry Prankster dressed in recycled running shoes with a penchant for anarchistic politics. Located in a central location close to coast, mountains, rivers and plains, this is the city that launched Nike, food co-ops, tree-sitting and Ken Kesey, the zany author of One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest.

Arcane antics aside, Eugene is an interesting mid-state stopover with plenty of outdoor recreation possibilities and several world-class wineries. It also has – not surprisingly – more dedicated running paths than anywhere else in the US. For more information visit the Convention & Visitors Association of Lane County (☎ 541-484-5307, 800-547-5445; www.visitlanecounty.com; 754 Olive St; 🕐 8am-5pm Mon-Fri, 10am-4pm Sat & Sun).

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

The 5th St Public Market (www.5stmarket.com; cnr E 5th Ave & Pearl St) is an old mill that now anchors several dozen restaurants, cafés and boutiques around a pretty courtyard. Performers occasionally entertain here.

Housed in a replica of a Native American longhouse, the University of Oregon Museum of Natural History (☎ 541-346-3024; http://natural-history.uoregon.edu; 1680 E 15th Ave; adult/senior & child 3-18yr $3/2; 🕐 11am-5pm Wed-Sun) contains the state's best display of fossils, Native American artifacts and geologic curiosities.

The renowned Jordan Schnitzer Museum of Art (☎ 541-346-3027; http://jsma.uoregon.edu; 1430 Johnson Lane; adult/senior $5/3; 🕐 11am-8pm Wed, 11am-5pm Tue & Thu-Sun) offers a rotating permanent collection of world-class art, from Korean scrolls to Rembrandt paintings.

Eugene has some of the best running facilities in the nation. Many trails hug the Willamette River including Pre's Trail (named for Eugene running icon Steve Prefontaine) in Alton Barker Park. The Adidas Oregon Trail (cnr 24th & Amazon Pkwy) is a one-mile loop popular with interval runners (it's floodlit at night). Spencer Butte Park south of town offers more challenging, hillier terrain.

SLEEPING

Prices can rise sharply during key football games and graduation.

Eugene Kamping World (☎ 541-343-4832, 800-343-3008; www.eugenekampingworld.com; 90932 S Stuart Way; campsites/RV sites $18/30) Large, tidy campground 6 miles north of Eugene (I-5 exit 199). Reservations are accepted.

Campus Inn (☎ 541-343-3376, 800-888-6313; www.campus-inn.com; 390 E Broadway; d from $66; ❄ 💻 📶) An independent family-run motel (recently remodeled) perched between the university and downtown with friendly helpful staff, a Jacuzzi and a small gym. Prices depend on the season but are negotiable.

River Walk Inn (☎ 541-344-6506, 800-621-2904; www.ariverwalkinn.com; 250 N Adams St; d $100-120; 🅿 ☒ 💻 📶) Dutch colonial B&B with four simple, pretty rooms (two with private bath) and a casual, homey atmosphere. Close to the river.

Campbell House (☎ 541-343-1119, 800-264-2519; www.campbellhouse.com; 252 Pearl St; d incl breakfast from $129; ☒ ✣ 💻 📶) Large 1892 inn with 19 rooms, suites and a cottage; lovely common spaces and garden too.

EATING & DRINKING

Papa's Soul Food Kitchen (☎ 541-342-7500; 400 Blair Blvd; mains $6-9; 🕒 noon-2pm & 5-9pm Tue-Fri, 2-9pm Sat) Line up with the locals at this outrageously popular Southern-food spot, which grills up awesome fried catfish and seafood gumbo. The best part is the live blues music, which keeps the joint open late on weekends.

McMenamins (🕒 11am-11pm Sun-Thu, 11am-midnight Fri & Sat) E 19th St (☎ 541-342-4025; 1485 E 19th St) High St (☎ 541-345-4905; 1243 High St); North Bank (☎ 541-343-5622; 22 Club Rd) Gloriously located on the banks of the mighty Willamette, the North Bank pub–restaurant boasts riverside patio tables. The other two locations lack water views but offer similar fare ('classic pub food with a Northwest kick' – pasta, salads, burgers and steaks).

Morning Glory Café (☎ 541-687-0709; 450 Willamette St; 🕒 7:30am-3:30pm; Ⓥ) Eugene in a nutshell, or should that be a nut-roast. This sustainable place is good for breakfast, lunch and brunch and rarely will vegans have a better choice – everything on the menu is either vegan or can be made vegan. Try the biscuits, tofu sandwiches or cookies, and as the in-shop sign says 'make tea not war.'

Ambrosia (☎ 541-342-4141; 174 E Broadway; mains $14-22; 🕒 11:30am-9:30pm Mon-Thu, 11:30am-11:30pm Fri, 4:30-11pm Sat, 4:30-9pm Sun) Long bar, cozy interior, fine wine and great Italian food from the standard (spaghetti bolognese) to the more adventurous (curried pasta salad). There's weekly wine-tasting and small plate specials Monday to Friday 2:30pm to 5:30pm.

GETTING THERE & AROUND

Eugene is serviced by the Eugene Airport (EUG; ☎ 541-682-5430; www.eugeneairport.com), Amtrak (☎ 541-687-1383; www.amtrak.com; cnr E 4th Ave & Willamette St) and Greyhound (☎ 541-344-6265; www.greyhound.com; 987 Pearl St).

Local bus service is provided by Lane Transit District (LTD; ☎ 541-687-5555; www.ltd.org). For bike rentals there's Paul's (☎ 541-344-4150; 152 W 5th St; 🕒 9am-7pm Mon-Fri, 10am-5pm Sat & Sun).

COLUMBIA RIVER GORGE

The fourth-largest river in the US by volume, the mighty Columbia runs 1243 miles from Alberta, Canada, into the Pacific Ocean just west of Astoria. For the final 309 miles of its course the heavily dammed waterway delineates the border between Washington and Oregon and cuts though the Cascade Mountains via the spectacular Columbia River Gorge. Showcasing numerous ecosystems, waterfalls and magnificent vistas the land bordering the river is protected as a National Scenic Area and is a popular sporting nexus for windsurfers, cyclists, anglers and hikers.

Hood River & Around

Surrounded by apple orchards and wineries, the small town of Hood River, 63 miles east of Portland on I-84, is famous for its windsurfing (on the Columbia River) and mountain biking south of town off Hwy 35 and Forest Rd 44. A sporting triumvirate is completed by year-round skiing facilities on nearby Mt Hood. For more outdoor information call in at the chamber of commerce (☎ 541-386-2000; www.hoodriver.org; 405 Portway Ave; 🕒 9am-5pm Mon-Fri, 10am-5pm Sat & Sun), across I-84 from the city center.

In operation since 1906, the 22-mile Mount Hood Railroad (☎ 541-386-3556; 110 Railroad Ave; www.mthoodrr.com; adult/child $30/18; 👪) was built to carry lumber to the Columbia River. Today it serves mainly as a tourist train. Spectacular two-hour trips run Wednesdays to Sundays from April through December starting from the historic rail depot in Hood River on the corner of 1st St and Cascade Ave.

The Columbia River Gorge Hostel (☎ 509-493-3363; www.bingenschool.com; cnr Cedar & Humbolt Sts; dm/r from $19/49), across the Columbia in Bingen, WA, has simple and affordable lodging in an old schoolhouse. The Inn at the Gorge (☎ 541-386-4429; www.innatthegorge.com; 1113 Eugene St; d $119-159; ☒ ✣ 💻 📶) is an attractive Queen Anne–style B&B with five rooms (some with kitchenette) and wide porches.

Full Sail Brewery (☎ 541-386-2247; 506 Columbia St; mains $9-23; 🕒 11:30am-8pm) has a cozy tasting-room bar with a small pub menu. Free 20-minute brewery tours end up here. Sage's Café (☎ 541-386-9404; 202 Cascade Ave; sandwiches $4-7; 🕒 7:30am-4pm Mon-Fri, 8am-4pm Sat & Sun), situated in a little mall, offers great pancakes, oatmeal and brunch along with 25 different sandwich concoctions in a warm and unpretentious coffee bar-cum-restaurant.

SCENIC DRIVE: HISTORIC COLUMBIA RIVER HIGHWAY

Finished in 1915, this gorgeous winding highway between Troutdale and the Dalles was the first paved road in the Northwest. It was also part of the Oregon Trail and the last leg of Lewis and Clark's expedition. There are gushing waterfalls in spring, wildflower displays in summer and awe-inspiring views all year round. Hikers have plenty of trailheads to choose from, and cyclists can cruise two stretches of the old highway renovated for nonvehicle use (cars 'detour' onto I-84).

Be sure to stop at the interpretive center Vista House (☎ 503-695-2230; 🕑 9am-6pm), boasting an amazing view. It's atop Crown Point on the E Historic Columbia River Hwy, 3 miles east of the town of Corbett and 45 miles west of Hood River. Must-see Multnomah Falls is a 642ft waterfall – Oregon's tallest – with a one-hour hike to the top. There's a visitor center (☎ 503-695-2372; 🕑 9am-5pm) here with plenty of area information. Finally, hikers will appreciate the Eagle Creek Trail, the gorge's premier trail.

To reach the historic 74-mile highway, take exit 17 or 35 off I-84.

OREGON CASCADES

An extension of their Washington cousins, the Oregon Cascades offer plenty of dramatic stand-alone volcanoes that dominate the skyline for miles around. Mt Hood overlooking the Columbia River Gorge is the state's highest and offers year-round skiing plus a relatively straightforward summit ascent. Tracking south you pass Mt Jefferson and the Three Sisters before reaching Crater Lake, the ghost of erstwhile Mt Mazama that collapsed in on itself after blowing its top approximately 7000 years ago. More volcanic tourism is available in the Newberry National Volcanic Monument, or you can enjoy flatter, less fiery adventures in the nearby town of Bend.

Mt Hood

Mt Hood (11,239ft), or Wy'east as it was known to the Native Americans, is Oregon's highest peak and the fourth-highest in the Cascades. First climbed in 1857, the summit ascent is relatively easy compared to other mountains but still requires technical climbing know-how. Hood has six ski areas, including Timberline, which lies above the eponymous lodge and offers the only year-round skiing in the US. In summer, hiking reigns supreme with the Timberline Trail, a 40.7-mile circumnavigation of the mountain, attracting the most ambitious walkers.

The prettiest approach to Hood by car is from Hood River (44 miles) on Hwy 35. Alternatively you can take Hwy 26 directly from Portland (56 miles). The historic Timberline Lodge offers the mountain's loftiest and most scenic accommodation and dining. Otherwise you're better off in Government Camp, 6 miles away.

If you're approaching from Hood River visit the Hood River Ranger Station (☎ 541-352-6002; 6780 Hwy 35, Parkdale; 🕑 8am-4:30pm Mon-Sat). The ZigZag Ranger Station (☎ 503-622-3191; 70220 E Hwy 26, Zigzag; 🕑 7:45am-4:30pm Mon-Sat) is more handy for Portland arrivals. There's another helpful office in Government Camp. The weather changes quickly here; carry chains in winter. For road conditions, dial ☎ 800-977-6368.

ACTIVITIES

Hiking

A Northwest Forest Pass ($5) is required at most trailheads.

Loop 7 miles to beautiful Ramona Falls, which tumbles down mossy columnar basalt. Or head 1.5 miles up from US 26 to Mirror Lake; continue a half-mile around the lake, then 2 miles beyond to a ridge.

The 40.7-mile Timberline Trail circumnavigates Mt Hood along a scenic wilderness. Noteworthy portions of it include the hike to McNeil Point and the short climb to Bald Mountain. From Timberline Lodge, Zigzag Canyon Overlook is a 4.5-mile round-trip.

Climbing Mt Hood should be taken seriously – deaths do occur. Contact a ranger station for details.

Skiing

Timberline Lodge (☎ 503-622-0717; www.timberlinelodge.com; lift tickets adult/child 7-14yr/child 15-17yr $52/30/40) is the USA's only year-round skiing option. Mt Hood SkiBowl (☎ 503-272-3206; www.skibowl.com; lift tickets adult/child 7-12 $38/20) meanwhile, is the nation's largest night-ski area and the closest skiing to Portland. The largest ski area on Hood is Mt Hood Meadows (☎ 503-337-2222; www.skihood.com; lift tickets adult/child 7-14 $52/30).

CLIMBING OREGON'S PEAKS

Unless you're a mountaineering expert (or a Sherpa) don't even think about trying to ascend one of Oregon's volcanoes without a guide. Good all-round programs are offered by Timberline Mountain Guides Inc (☎ 541-312-9242; www.timberlinemtguides.com).

- Mt Hood (11,239ft) Each year 10,000 people scale Hood via its textbook southern route (crossing the Palmer and Coalman glaciers), making it the second most climbed mountain in the world over 10,000ft (after Mt Fuji in Japan). Though it's a relatively straightforward ascent, don't underestimate the latent dangers – Hood has claimed 130 lives in the last 100 years.
- Mt Jefferson (10,497ft) A breathtaking wilderness mountain, Jefferson's remote summit makes for a difficult but rewarding ascent. Expert rock- and ice-climbing skills are necessary.
- North Sister (10,085ft) The oldest of Oregon's three sisters, the north peak is also the trio's most rugged and offers what is potentially its most dangerous climb with high levels of erosion…possible rock-falls.
- Middle Sister (10,047ft) The difficult middle child is also the Sisters' most mysterious summit, although climbing here is less complicated than the north peak with no previous mountaineering experience required.
- Broken Top (9,175ft) An often overlooked extinct volcano that offers a wide variety of ascents and experiences from rugged rock climbing to adrenalin-charged ice-axe adventures.

For backcountry skiing, ski mountaineering and other adventures contact Timberline Mountain Guides Inc (☎ 541-312-9242; www.timberlinemtguides.com).

SLEEPING & EATING

Mazama Lodge (☎ 503-272-9214; www.mazamas.org; 30500 E West Leg Rd; dm members/nonmembers $15/20, d $45-60) Run by mountaineering group Mazamas, this lodge just outside Government Camp has mostly dorms (bring bedding), decks with mountain views, and a restaurant. Open weekends mostly. In winter, trek 10 minutes from the parking lot; in summer, park at the lodge.

Huckleberry Inn (☎ 503-272-3325; www.huckleberry-inn.com; 88611 E Government Camp Loop, Government Camp; d $85-135, 2 bedrooms with kitchen $155; ☒ 💻 📶) A family-run rustic inn and restaurant with dorm and private rooms, along with a 24-hour restaurant serving up formidable milk shakes and – as the name suggests – pie! Handily located in Government Camp village.

our pick Timberline Lodge (☎ 800-547-1406; www.timberlinelodge.com; d $115-270; ☒ 💻 📶 🏊) Stanley Kubrick fans will have no trouble recognizing this historic 1937 lodge as the fictional Outlook Hotel from the film The Shining (exterior shots only). 'All work and no play make Jack a dull boy,' typed Jack Nicholson repeatedly in the movie. If only he'd known about the year-round skiing, the hikes, the cozy fires and the hearty restaurant.

Backyard Bistro (☎ 503-622-6302; 67898 E US 26, Welches; mains $6-9; 🕑 11am-8pm Tue-Sat, 10am-4pm Sun) This tiny but elegant bistro serves up rather delicious soups, salads and sandwiches; there's a great patio for warm days.

Rendezvous Grill & Tap Room (☎ 503-622-6837; 67149 E US 26, Welches; mains $20-30; 🕑 11:30am-9pm) Outstanding dishes such as porterhouse steak and Dungeness crab linguine are served here. Great desserts and wine list also.

Reserve campsites (☎ 877-444-6777; www.reserveusa.com; campsites $12-14) in summer. On US 26 are streamside campgrounds Tollgate and Camp Creek. Large and popular Trillium Lake has great views of Mt Hood.

Sisters

Named for the trio of eponymous 10,000ft-plus peaks that dominate the skyline, congenial Sisters straddles the Cascades and high desert that demarcate western and eastern Oregon. Once a stagecoach stop for loggers and ranchers, the town is now a hot spot full of boutiques and art galleries. Throw in some splendid mountain scenery, spectacular hiking and a sunny climate and the brew is hard to resist. For local orientation, see the chamber of commerce (☎ 541-549-0251; www.sisterschamber.com; 291 Main St; 🕑 9am-5pm) or the ranger station (☎ 541-549-7700; www.fs.fed.us/r6/centraloregon; 207 N Pine St; 🕑 8am-4pm).

At the southern end of Sisters, the city park has campsites (per site $10); no showers.

For more comfort there's the Sisters Inn (☎ 541-549-7829; www.sistersinnandrvpark.com; 540 US 20 W; RV sites $35-38, d $87-109; ⊠ ✻ 💻 📶 🏊) with great rooms and an indoor pool. Or try the central but quiet Blue Spruce B&B (☎ 541-549-9644; www.blue-spruce.biz; 444 Spruce St; d $169-189; ⊠ ✻ 💻 📶), offering four woody rooms with fireplaces and bike rental.

Bend

Salubrious, livable and embellished with attractive riverside parks, Bend is Oregon personified. Though ostensibly prosperous, the area got hit badly by the 2008–09 economic downturn with unemployment hitting over 12%. Yet, despite the recession, this 52,000-strong city of sporty fresh-air fiends has held onto its green sheen.

Information is available at the visitor and convention bureau (☎ 541-382-8048; www.visitbend.com; 917 NW Harriman St; 🕒 9am-5pm Mon-Fri, 10am-4pm Sat) and the Bend-Fort Rock Ranger District (☎ 541-383-5300; www.fs.fed/us/r6/centraloregon; 1230 NE 3rd St; 🕒 7:45am-4:30pm Mon-Fri).

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

The extraordinary High Desert Museum (☎ 541-382-4754; www.highdesertmuseum.org; 59800 S US 97; adult/child 5-12yr/senior $15/9/12; 🕒 9am-5pm), 6 miles south of Bend, is undoubtedly one of the best in the state. It charts the settlement of the West, along with the region's natural history. The sea-otter exhibit and trout pool are highlights.

As improbable as it may seem on a hot spring day, Bend boasts Oregon's best skiing 22 miles southwest of the town at glorious Mt Bachelor (9065ft). With 370in of snow a year, the season at Mt Bachelor Ski Resort (☎ 541-382-7888; www.mtbachelor.com; lift tickets adult/child 6-12yr/senior $58/35/50) begins in November and can last until May. Cross-country skiing is also possible.

SLEEPING & EATING

Look out for a new downtown boutique hotel still being built at the time of writing and due to open in late 2009.

Tumalo State Park (☎ 541-388-6055, 800-551-6949; www.oregonstateparks.org; 64120 OB Riley Rd; campsites/RV sites/yurts $17/22/29) Located 5 miles northwest of Bend off US 20. Reservations are accepted.

Bend Riverside Motel (☎ 541-389-2363, 800-284-2363; 1565 Hill St; d from $60; ✻ 💻 📶 🏊) Away from the main motel strip, the Riverside sits on the cusp of the downtown core and enjoys an attractive watery setting. For a slightly higher fee you can bag a room with a river-facing view. There's a small covered swimming pool and a pleasant park next door.

our pick McMenamins Old St Francis School (☎ 541-382-5174; www.mcmenamins.com; 700 NW Bond St; d $145-175, cottages $190-330; ⊠ ✻ 💻 📶) Another highly original McMenamins invention; this time an old schoolhouse remodeled into a classy 19-room hotel complete with saltwater Turkish bath (nonguests pay $5), restaurant-pub, three bars, pool tables and a movie theater. You'll struggle to tear yourself away to delve into the town itself.

Victorian Café (☎ 541-382-6411; 1404 NW Galveston Ave; mains $7-12; 🕒 7am-2pm) A Bend classic and a must-see for anyone with a hearty morning appetite, the Victorian is a formidable American brunch stop housed in an inviting red chalet in the city's leafy western suburbs. Brave the weekend queues to get in – you won't regret it.

Deschutes Brewery & Public House (☎ 541-382-9242; 1044 NW Bond St; 🕒 11am-11pm Mon-Thu, 11am-midnight Fri & Sat, 11am-10pm Sun) Bend's first microbrewery, gregariously serving up plenty of food and handcrafted beers.

Newberry National Volcanic Monument

This volcanic region (day use $5) showcases 500,000 years of volcanic activity. Start your visit at the recently refurbished Lava Lands Visitor Center (☎ 541-593-2421; 🕒 9am-5pm Jul-Sep, limited hours May, Jun, Sep & Oct, closed Nov-Apr), 13 miles south of Bend. Nearby attractions include Lava Butte, a perfect cone rising 500ft, and Lava River Cave, a lava tube. Four miles west of the visitor center is Benham Falls, a good picnic spot on the Deschutes River.

Newberry Crater was once one of the most active volcanoes in North America, but after a large eruption a caldera was born. Close by are Paulina Lake and East Lake, deep lakes rich with trout, while looming above is 7985ft Paulina Peak.

Cascade Lakes

Hwy 46, also called the Cascade Lakes Hwy, loops roughly 100 miles between high mountain peaks, linking together lovely alpine lakes. There are several trailheads in the area, along with campgrounds at most lakes. Beyond Mt Bachelor the road is closed from November to May.

Many lakes have cabins ranging from rustic to upscale. These include Twin Lakes Resort (☎ 541-382-6432; www.twinlakesresortoregon.com), Elk Lake Resort (☎ 541-480-7378; www.elklakeresort.net) and Crane Prairie Resort (☎ 541-383-3939; www.crane-prairie-resort-guides.com). Reserve ahead.

Crater Lake National Park

Get ready for a sharp intake of breath. It may be a cliché but it certainly isn't an exaggeration: the still, deep, blue waters of Crater Lake reflect the surrounding cliffs like a giant mirror. The secret lies in the water's purity. No rivers or streams feed the lake meaning its H_2O content is made up entirely of rain and melted snow. It is also exceptionally deep – indeed at 1949ft (maximum) it's the deepest lake in the US. The classic tour is the 33-mile self-guided rim drive (open approximately June to mid-October), but there are also exceptional hiking and cross-country skiing opportunities. As Oregon's sole national park, there's a $10 vehicle fee to enter the Crater Lake area. It receives some of the highest snowfalls in North America and the rim drive and north entrance are sometimes closed up until early July. Check ahead. For more park information head to Steel Visitor Center (☎ 541-594-3100; 🕒 9am-5pm May-Sept, 10am-4pm Nov-Apr).

You can stay overnight from early June to early October at the Cabins at Mazama Village (☎ 541-830-8700, 888-774-2728; www.craterlakelodges.com; d $126; ☒) or the majestic old Crater Lake Lodge (☎ 541-594-2255, 888-774-2728; www.craterlakelodges.com; d $151-282; ☒ ✻), opened in 1915 as a classic example of rustic 'parkitecture.' The updated facilities still retain their rustic elegance. Nearby campgrounds include the large Mazama Campground (campsites/RV sites $21/25), managed by Crater Lake Lodge.

SOUTHERN OREGON

With a warm and sunny climate that belongs in nearby California, southern Oregon is the state's banana belt. Rugged landscapes, scenic rivers and a couple of attractive towns top the highlights list, while breathtaking Crater Lake (above) isn't too far away. Centrally located between Seattle and San Francisco, southern Oregon is certainly worth more than a short gas break as you cruise I-5.

Ashland

The pretty settlement of Ashland is as synonymous with William Shakespeare as the great Bard's hometown, Stratford-upon-Avon, in England. People come from all over the world to see its famous Shakespeare festival (see opposite) which has been held here under various guises since the 1930s. The word 'festival' is a little misleading; the shows are a permanent fixture occupying nine months of the annual town calendar and attracting up to 400,000 theater-goers per season. An attractive town in its own right, Ashland is propped up by a plethora of wineries, upscale B&Bs and fine restaurants. Adjacent to the three splendid theaters (one of which is outdoor) is lovely, 93-acre Lithia Park, which winds along Ashland Creek above the center of town and is embellished with fountains and flowers. For detailed information visit the chamber of commerce (☎ 541-482-3486; www.ashlandchamber.com; 110 E Main St; 🕒 9am-5pm Mon-Fri, 11am-3pm Sat, noon-3pm Sun).

ACTIVITIES

Powdery snow is surprisingly abundant at Mt Ashland Ski Resort (☎ 541-482-2897; www.mtashland.com; lift pass adult/child $36/29), 18 miles southwest on 7533ft Mt Ashland. Pedal-pushers can rent a bike at Siskiyou Cyclery (☎ 541-482-1997; 1729 Siskiyou Blvd; per day $35; 🕒 10am-5:30pm Tue-Sat) and explore the countryside on Bear Creek Greenway.

Noah's River Adventures (☎ 541-488-2811; www.noahsrafting.com; 53 N Main St) offers white-water rafting and fishing trips on the Rogue and Upper Klamath Rivers. For a more refined water-based excursion ask about the wine floats and wine/culinary trips.

For a good soak check out Jackson Wellsprings (☎ 541-482-3776; www.jacksonwellsprings.com; 2253 Hwy 99), a casual New Age–style place which boasts an 85°F (29°C) mineral-fed swimming pool ($6) and 103°F (39°C) private Jacuzzi tubs ($20 to $30 for 75 minutes). It's 2 miles north of town.

SLEEPING

Reserve in summer when the thespians descend in their droves.

Glenyan Campground (☎ 541-488-1785, 877-453-6929; www.glenyanrvpark.com; 5310 Hwy 66; campsites/RV sites $22/28; 💻 📶 🏊) Pleasant campground 4 miles southeast of Ashland; go for a creekside spot. Reservations are accepted.

Manor Motel (☎ 541-482-2246; www.manormotel.net; 476 N Main St; d from $59; ☒ ✻ 💻) Handily located independent hotel on the threshold

OREGON SHAKESPEARE FESTIVAL

Highly respected and wildly popular, the OSF repertoire is rooted in Shakespearean and Elizabethan drama but also features revivals and contemporary theater from around the world. Eleven productions run February through October in three theaters near Main and Pioneer Sts: the outdoor Elizabethan Theatre, the Angus Bowmer Theatre and the intimate New Theatre.

Performances sell out quickly; obtain tickets in advance at www.osfashland.org. You can also try the box office (☎ 541-482-4331; 15 S Pioneer St; tickets $20-80). Backstage tours (adult/youth $12/6) also need to be booked well in advance.

Check the OSF Welcome Center (on the north side of the complex facing Main St) for other events, which may include scholarly lectures, play readings, concerts and preshow talks.

of the central area with 11 rooms, friendly service and plenty of greenery.

our pick Columbia Hotel (☎ 541-482-3726, 800-718-2530; www.columbiahotel.com; 262 1/2 E Main St; d $78-136; ⊠ ✣ 💻 📶) Get in a Shakespearean mood at this quaint European-style hotel with period rooms (some with shared baths), comfy sitting area, complimentary morning coffee and ideal theater-side location.

Ashland Springs Hotel (☎ 541-488-1700, 888-795-4545; www.ashlandspringshotel.com; 212 E Main St; d $139-249; ⊠ ✣ 💻 📶 🏊) An Ashland institution and National Historic Landmark that was painstakingly restored in 2000, the Springs glistens with plenty of Shakespearean splendor, although it actually dates from 1925. Elegant rooms are bedizened with pastel colors and common areas include a grand ballroom, a conservatory, an English garden and Larks Restaurant.

Cowslip's Belle B&B (☎ 541-488-2901, 800-888-6819; www.cowslip.com; 159 N Main St; d $145-165; ⊠ ✣ 💻 📶 🏊) A top-rated B&B with four luxurious rooms in a 1913 bungalow along with a couple of suites ($215 to $245) in a separate town house. There's a beautiful garden and classic touches such as love seats, rockers, private decks and Jacuzzi tubs (in the suites).

EATING

Sesame Asian Kitchen (☎ 541-482-0119; 21 Winburn Way; mains $11-16; 🕒 11:30am-9pm) The newest place in town is a chic but relatively cheap Asian-fusion restaurant where quick service and hearty but healthy portions make for an ideal pre-performance dinner. Try the tangerine chicken or the Mongolian beef short ribs as you discuss the merits of Hamlet over Macbeth.

New Sammy's Cowboy Bistro (☎ 541-535-2779; 2210 S Pacific Hwy; mains $23-36; 🕒 5-8:30pm Thu-Sun) Some consider this funky spot, run by an eclectic couple, Oregon's best restaurant. Located in Talent, about 3 miles north of Ashland. Reserve weeks in advance; limited winter hours.

Chateaulin (☎ 503-482-2264; 50 E Main St; mains $24-36; 🕒 5-9pm Wed-Sun) More European fantasies are stirred at this fine-dining French bistro right next to the theaters. The decor and menu are très Parisian (dishes include duck, vol-au-vent and filet mignon) but the wine list stays patriotically local with some hard-to-find Oregonian vintages. There's a wine shop next door.

Jacksonville

This small but endearing ex-gold-prospecting town is the oldest settlement in southern Oregon and a National Historic Landmark. The main drag is lined with well-preserved buildings dating from the 1880s, now converted into boutiques and galleries. Music-lovers can't miss the Britt Festival (☎ 541-773-6077; www.brittfest.org; 🕒 September), a world-class musical experience with top-name performers. Seek more enlightenment at the chamber of commerce (☎ 541-899-8118; www.jacksonvilleoregon.org; 185 N Oregon St; 🕒 10am-5pm Mon-Fri, 11am-4pm Sat & Sun).

Jacksonville is full of fancy B&Bs; for budget motels head 6 miles east to Medford. Jacksonville Stage Lodge (☎ 541-899-3953, 800-253-8254; www.stagelodge.com; 830 N 5th St; d $98-112; ⊠ ✣ 💻 📶) is a modern hotel with 27 spacious and fine contemporary rooms.

Wild Rogue Wilderness

Situated between the town of Grants Pass on I-5 and Gold Beach on the Oregon coast, the Wild Rogue Wilderness lives up to its name, with the turbulent Rogue River cutting through 40 miles of untamed, roadless canyon. The area is known for challenging white-water rafting (classes III and IV) and long-distance hikes.

Grants Pass is the gateway to adventure along the Rogue. The chamber of commerce (☎ 541-476-7717, 800-547-5927; www.visitgrantspass.org; 1995 NW Vine St; 🕑 8am-5pm Mon-Fri) is right off I-5 exit 58. For raft permits and backpacking advice, contact the Bureau of Land Management's (BLM) Smullin Visitors Center (☎ 541-479-3735; www.blm.gov/or/resources/recreation/rogue/index.php; 14335 Galice Rd; 🕑 7am-3pm) in Galice.

Rafting the Rogue is not for the faint of heart; a typical trip takes three days and costs upward of $650. Outfitters include Raft the Rogue (☎ 800-797-7238; www.raftterogue.com; 21171 Hwy 62), Rogue Wilderness Adventures (☎ 800-336-1647; www.wildrogue.com). The latter is based in the small town of Shady Cove, 20 miles north of Medford.

A highlight of the region is the 40-mile Rogue River Trail, once a supply route from Gold Beach. The full trek takes four to five days; day hikers might aim for Whiskey Creek Cabin, a 6-mile round-trip from the Grave Creek trailhead. The trail is dotted with rustic lodges ($110 to $140 per person with meals; reservations required) – try Black Bar (☎ 541-479-6507; www.blackbarlodge.net). There are also primitive campgrounds along the way.

North Umpqua River

This 'Wild and Scenic' river boasts world-class fly-fishing, fine hiking and serene camping. The 79-mile North Umpqua Trail begins near Idleyld Park and passes through Steamboat en route to the Pacific Crest Trail. A popular sideline is pretty Umpqua Hot Springs, east of Steamboat near Toketee Lake. Not far away, stunning, two-tiered Toketee Falls (113ft) flows over columnar basalt, while Watson Falls (272ft) is one of the highest waterfalls in Oregon. For information stop by Glide's Colliding Rivers Information Center (☎ 541-496-0157; 18782 N Umpqua Hwy; 🕑 9am-5pm May-Oct). Adjacent is the North Umpqua Ranger District (☎ 541-496-3532; 🕑 8am-4:30pm Mon-Fri).

Between Idleyld Park and Diamond Lake are dozens of riverside campgrounds; these include lovely Susan Creek and primitive Boulder Flat (no water). A few area accommodations fill up quickly in summer; try the log-cabin-like rooms at Dogwood Motel (☎ 541-496-3403; www.dogwoodmotel.com; 28866 N Umpqua Hwy; d $65-70; 🚭 ❄).

Oregon Caves National Monument

This very popular cave (there's only one) lies 19 miles east of Cave Junction on Hwy 46. Three miles of passages are explored via 90-minute walking tours (☎ 541-592-2100; www.nps.gov/orca; adult/child 16yr & under $8.50/6; 🕑 10am-4pm Apr-May & Oct-Nov, 9am-5pm Jun-Sep, closed Dec-Mar) that include 520 rocky steps and dripping chambers running along the River Styx. Dress warmly, wear shoes with good traction and be prepared to get dripped on.

Cave Junction, 28 miles south of Grants Pass on US 199 (Redwood Hwy), provides the region's services. Here you'll find the decent Junction Inn (☎ 541-592-3106; 406 Redwood Hwy; d from $65; 🏊), along with a few restaurants. For fancy lodgings right at the cave there's the impressive Oregon Caves Chateau (☎ 541-592-3400, 877-245-9022; www.oregoncaveschateau.com; d from $90-137; 🕑 May-Oct); grab a milk shake at the old-fashioned soda fountain here. Campers should head to Cave Creek Campground (☎ 541-592-2166; campsites $10), 14 miles up Hwy 46, about 4 miles from the cave.

EASTERN OREGON

Mirroring Washington, Oregon east of the Cascades bears little resemblance to its wetter western cohort. Despite a tiny population – the biggest town Pendleton numbers only 20,000 – the region hoards some of the state's most diverse and unusual sights. Picture high plateaus, painted hills, alkali lakebeds and the country's deepest river gorge. Many of the smaller towns will whisk you back in time with still-palpable spaghetti-Western touches.

John Day Fossil Beds National Monument

Within the soft rocks and crumbly soils of John Day country lies one of the world's greatest fossil collections, laid down between six and 50 million years ago. Roaming the forests at the time were saber-toothed nimravids, pint-sized horses, bear-dogs and other early mammals.

The national monument includes 22 sq miles at three different units: Sheep Rock Unit, Painted Hills Unit and Clarno Unit. Each has hiking trails and interpretive displays. To visit all of the units in one day requires quite a bit of driving, as more than 100 miles separate the fossil beds.

Visit the excellent Thomas Condon Paleontology Center (☎ 541-987-2333; www.nps.gov/joda; 32651 Hwy 19, Kimberly; 🕒 9am-5:30pm May-Sep, to 4pm Nov-Apr) 2 miles north of US 26 at the Sheep Rock Unit. Displays include a three-toed horse and petrified dung-beetle balls, along with many other fossils and geologic history exhibits. If you feel like walking, take the short hike up the Blue Basin Trail, which will make you feel like you've just landed on the sunny side of the moon.

The Painted Hills Unit, near the town of Mitchell, consists of low-slung, colorfully banded hills formed about 30 million years ago. Ten million years older is the Clarno Unit, which exposes mud flows that washed over an Eocene-era forest and eroded into distinctive, sheer-white cliffs topped with spires and turrets of stone.

Rafting is popular on the John Day River, the longest free-flowing river in the state. Oregon River Experiences (☎ 800-827-1358; www.oregonriver.com) offer trips of up to five days. There's also good fishing for smallmouth bass and rainbow trout. Enquire at the Oregon Department of Fish & Wildlife (☎ 541-575-1167; www.dfw.state.or.us).

Every little town in the area has at least one hotel; these include the charming Historic Hotel Oregon (☎ 541-462-3027; www.theoregonhotel.net; 104 E Main St; dm $15, d $29-79; 🚭) in Mitchell and the friendly Sonshine B&B (☎ 541-575-1827; www.sonshinebedandbreakfast.com; 210 NW Canton St; d $75-105; 🚭 ❄), in John Day itself, which has four rooms, formidable breakfasts and a warm welcome. There are several campgrounds in the area including Lone Pine and Big Bend (sites $8) on Hwy 402.

Wallowa Mountains

The Wallowa Mountains, with their glacier-hewn peaks and crystalline lakes, are among the most beautiful natural areas in Oregon. The only drawback is the large number of visitors who flock here in summer, especially to the pretty Wallowa Lake area. Escape them all on one of several long hikes into the nearby Eagle Cap Wilderness area, such as the 6-mile one-way jaunt to Aneroid Lake or the 9-mile trek on the West Fork Trail. From the upper Lostine Valley, or from the Sheep Creek Summit of USFS Rd 39, there is easier day-hike access to the Eagle Cap's high country.

Just north of the mountains, in the Wallowa Valley, Enterprise is a homely backcountry town with several motels such as the Ponderosa (☎ 541-426-3186; 102 E Greenwood St; d $67-74; 🚭 ❄ 💻 📶). If you like beer, don't miss the town's microbrewery, Terminal Gravity. Just 6 miles south is Enterprise's fancy cousin, the upscale town of Joseph. Expensive bronze galleries and artsy boutiques line the main strip, and accommodations comprise mostly B&Bs.

Hells Canyon

North America's deepest river gorge (yes – even deeper than the Grand Canyon) provides Oregon with its northeastern border (with Idaho) and visitors with one of the state's wildest and jaw-dropping vistas. The mighty Snake River (a 1000-mile-long tributary of the even mightier Columbia) has taken 13 million years to carve its path through the high plateaus of eastern Oregon to its present depth of 8000ft. The canyon itself is a true wilderness bereft of roads but replete with plenty of outdoor adventures.

For perspective, drive 30 miles from Joseph to Imnaha, where a 24-mile slow gravel road leads up to the excellent lookout at Hat Point (USFS Rd 4240). From here you can see the Wallowa Mountains, Idaho's Seven Devils, the Imnaha River and the wilds of Hells Canyon. This road is open from late May until snowfall; give yourself two hours each way for the drive. In Enterprise, the Wallowa Mountains Visitor Center (☎ 541-426-5546; www.fs.fed.us/r6/w-w; 88401 Hwy 82; 🕒 8am-6pm Mon-Sat) has a wealth of information on road conditions and area details.

For white-water action and spectacular scenery, head down to Hells Canyon Dam, 25 miles north of the small community of Oxbow. Hells Canyon Adventures (☎ 541-785-3352, 800-422-3568; www.hellscanyonadventures.com; 4200 Hells Canyon Dam Rd) runs raft trips and noisy jet-boat tours from May through September (reservations required). Just past the dam the road ends at the Hells Canyon Visitor Center (☎ 541-785-3395; 🕒 8am-4pm May-Sept), which has good advice on the area's campgrounds and hiking trails.

The area has many campgrounds. Just outside Imnaha is the huntsman-style Imnaha River Inn (☎ 541-577-6002, 866-601-9214; www.imnahariverinn.com; d $120), a B&B replete with Hemingway-esque animal trophies, while Oxbow has the good-value Hells Canyon B&B (☎ 541-785-3373; www.hellscanyonb-b.com; 49922 Homestead Rd; d $70). For more services head to the towns of Enterprise, Joseph and Halfway.

Steens Mountain & Alvord Desert

Steens Mountain, the highest peak (9670ft) in southeastern Oregon, is part of a massive, 30-mile fault-block range. On the west slope of the range, ice-age glaciers bulldozed massive U-shaped valleys into the flanks of the mountain. To the east, delicate alpine meadows and lakes flank the Steens, dropping off dizzyingly into the Alvord Desert 5000ft below.

Beginning in Frenchglen, the 66-mile gravel Steens Mountain Loop Road offers access to Steens Mountain Recreation Area; it's open from late June to October (depending on the weather) and requires a high-clearance vehicle in parts. Call the Bureau of Land Management (BLM; ☎ 541-573-4400; www.blm.gov; ⏰ 7:45am-4:30pm Mon-Fri) for information. If you happen to be in the area outside these months or have a low-clearance vehicle, consider seeing the Steens via the flat eastern gravel road through the scenic Alvord Desert. Take a full gas tank and prepare for weather changes year-round.

There are campgrounds on the Steens Mountain Loop, such as the BLM's pretty Page Springs and fine South Steens Campgrounds (campsites $6 to $8, water available). Free 'dispersed' camping is allowed in the Steens and Alvord Desert (bring water). The historic Frenchglen Hotel (☎ 541-493-2825; fghotel@yahoo.com; 39184 Hwy 205, Frenchglen; d $67-100; ⏰ mid-Mar–Oct; ☒) has small, cute rooms with shared bath, plus five modern rooms with private bathroom. Dinners are available (reserve ahead).

OREGON COAST

While Washington's mountains might pack more punch than Oregon's less well known peaks, Oregon wins hands down when it comes to beaches. Oregon's 362 miles of gorgeous coastline is paralleled by spectacular US 101, a scenic highway that winds its way through towns, resorts, state parks (over 70 of them) and wilderness areas.

Astoria

The oldest Caucasian-founded settlement west of the Rockies, the port town of Astoria was founded by John Jacob Astor – a millionaire fur trader and the Bill Gates of his day – in 1811. Sitting at the wide mouth of the Columbia River, the town retains some typical Victorian heritage houses, a handful of good seafood restaurants and plenty of poignant Lewis and Clark memorabilia; the two great American explorers concluded their epic cross-continental journey at Fort Clatsop, just south of here, in 1805. The impossible-to-miss 4.1-mile-long Astoria-Megler Bridge (1966) takes US 101 into Washington state and is the world's longest continuous truss bridge. Find information at the visitor center (☎ 503-325-6311; www.oldoregon.com; 111 W Marine Dr; ⏰ 9am-5pm).

Astoria's 150-year-old seafaring heritage is well interpreted at the fine Columbia River Maritime Museum (☎ 503-325-2323; www.crmm.org; 1792 Marine Dr; adult/child 6-17yr/senior $10/5/8; ⏰ 9:30am-5pm). The less flashy Heritage Museum (☎ 503-338-4849; www.cumtux.org; 1618 Exchange St; adult/child 6-17yr/senior $4/2/3; ⏰ 10am-5pm) has historical exhibits which include Ku Klux Klan (KKK) paraphernalia.

The extravagant Flavel House (☎ 503-325-2203; www.cumtux.org; 441 8th St; adult/child 6-17yr/senior $5/2/4; ⏰ 10am-5pm) is a Queen Anne Victorian built by Capt George Flavel, one of Astoria's leading citizens during the 1880s. For a good view, head uphill to the Astoria Column, a 125ft tower painted with scenes from the westward sweep of US exploration and settlement.

Five miles south of Astoria, the Lewis & Clark National Historical Park (☎ 503-861-2471; www.nps.gov/lewi; adult/child under 16 $3/free; ⏰ 9am-6pm Jun-Aug, 9am-5pm Sep-May) offers a reconstructed fort similar to one the Corps of Discovery occupied during their miserable winter of 1805–06. And 10 miles west of Astoria off US 101 is Fort Stevens State Park (☎ 503-861-1671; campsites/RV sites/yurts $18/22/30), which commemorates the historic military reservation that guarded the mouth of the Columbia River. There's beach access, camping and bike trails. Reservations are accepted.

The oldest hotel in the West Coast's oldest town, the Hideaway Inn & Hostel (☎ 503-325-6989; www.hideawayinnandhostel.com; 443 14th St; dm $20, r $33-88; 💻 📶) has cheap bunks and private rooms. The Commodore Hotel (☎ 503-325-4747; www.commodoreastoria.com; 258 14th St; d with shared/private bath from $69/129; ☒ 💻 📶) is an early 20th-century hotel that recently reopened after 45 years as a pigeon coop. The birds and moths have been replaced by a stylish set of European-style rooms and suites.

TPaul's Urban Café (☎ 503-338-5133; 1119 Commercial St; mains $9-16; ⏰ 9am-9pm Mon-Thu, 9am-10pm Fri & Sat, 11am-4pm Sun) cooks up memorable lunchtime quesadillas served with nachos and a homemade salsa dip. Baked Alaska (☎ 503-325-7414; 1 12th St; mains $18-24; ⏰ 11am-10pm) is one of Astoria's finer restaurants, with great water views.

Cannon Beach

The low-key antidote to gaudy Seaside 9 miles to the north, Cannon Beach is a sensitively laid-out small resort where upmarket serenity is juxtaposed against the thunderous Pacific breakers and fickle weather. Immense basalt promontories and a sweeping sandy beach have given the town its tourist-brochure wrapping paper, but Cannon Beach is uniquely beautiful and far from spoiled. Photogenic Haystack Rock (a 295ft sea stack) is the most spectacular landmark just offshore, while stunning views grace the Oregon Coast Trail over Tillamook Head in nearby Ecola State Park. The town itself is replete with small art galleries and esoteric shops. For the full rundown ask at the chamber of commerce (☎ 503-436-2623; www.cannonbeach.org; 207 N Spruce St; ◷ 10am-5pm Mon-Sat, 11am-4pm Sun).

our pick Cannon Beach Hotel (☎ 503-436-1392, 800-238-4107; www.cannonbeachhotel.com; 1116 S Hemlock St; d from $132-242; ⊠ 💻 📶) dates from 1914 and has small but tasteful rooms and a café. For budget lodgings head north a few blocks to the Blue Gull Inn Motel (☎ 800-507-2714; www.haystacklodgings.com; 487 S Hemlock St; d/cottages from $69/125; 💻 📶), a modest but pleasant arc of rooms clustered around an outdoor fountain. Campers have Sea Ranch RV Park (☎ 503-436-2815; www.cannon-beach.net/searanch; 415 Fir St; campsites/RV sites/cabins $26/30/80).

There are plenty of eateries in town; try the clams, snapper or halibut at the oceanfront Wayfarer Restaurant (☎ 503-436-1108; 1190 Pacific Drive; mains $19-28; ◷ 9am-3pm & 5-10pm) or the burgers and pizza at Lumberyard (☎ 503-436-0285; 264 3rd St; mains $9-23; ◷ 11am-10pm).

There's a daily Amtrak Bus (☎ 800-872-7245) to Portland ($17), via Astoria, leaving from outside the Beach Store at 1108 S Hemlock St.

Newport

Oregon's second-largest commercial port, Newport is a lively tourist city with several fine beaches and a world-class aquarium. Good restaurants – along with some tacky attractions, gift shops and barking sea lions – abound in the historic Bayfront area, while bohemian Nye Beach offers art galleries and a friendly village atmosphere. The Newport Seafood & Wine Festival in late February draws the West's top chefs and literally dozens of wineries from California up to Washington. Get information at the visitor center (☎ 541-265-8801, 800-262-7844; www.newportchamber.org; 555 SW Coast Hwy; ◷ 8am-5pm Mon-Fri, 10am-3pm Sat).

The top-notch Oregon Coast Aquarium (☎ 541-867-3474; www.aquarium.org; 2820 SE Ferry Slip Rd; adult/child 3-13yr/senior $13.25/7.75/11.25; ◷ 9am-6pm) is well known on the scenic coast, featuring a sea otter pool, surreal jellyfish tanks and Plexiglas tunnels through a shark tank. An alternative is the Oregon Coast History Center (☎ 541-265-7509; www.oregoncoast.history.museum; 545 SW 9th St; suggested donation $2; ◷ 10am-5pm Tue-Sun) housed in the turreted Burrows House and adjacent Log Cabin. There's more history at the breezy Yaquina Head Outstanding Area (☎ 541-574-3100; 750 Lighthouse Dr; admission $7; ☎ sunrise-sunset), site of the coast's tallest lighthouse and an interesting interpretive center.

Campers can head to South Beach State Park (☎ 541-867-4715, 800-452-5687; www.oregonstateparks.org; campsites/RV sites/yurts $22/22/29), 2 miles south on US 101, which has 227 reservable campsites and 27 yurts. Book-lovers shouldn't miss the Sylvia Beach Hotel (☎ 541-265-5428; www.sylviabeachhotel.com; 267 NW Cliff St; d incl breakfast $105-208; ⊠), with simple but comfy rooms, each named after a famous author; reservations are mandatory. For a fancy meal, try Saffron Salmon (☎ 541-265-8921; 859 SW Bay Blvd; mains $22-30; ◷ 11:30am-2:30pm & 5-8:30pm Thu-Tue). Once you get past the stellar wall-to-wall view, dig into grilled Chinook salmon or herb-crusted rack of lamb. Reserve for dinner.

Yachats

One of the Oregon coast's best-kept secrets, this neat and friendly little town lies at the base of beautiful Cape Perpetua. Volcanic intrusions to the south form a beautifully rugged shoreline, with dramatic features such as the Devil's Churn and the Spouting Horn. Ten miles south is the much-photographed Heceta Head Lighthouse, built in 1894 and perched above the churning ocean. Five miles further south on US 101 is the almost tourist trap but fun Sea Lion Caves (☎ 541-547-3111; www.sealioncaves.com; adult/child 6-12yr/senior $11/7/10; ◷ 8am-6pm Jul & Aug, 9am-5:30pm Sep-Jun), a noisy grotto filled with groaning sea lions accessed via an elevator. Get more tips at the visitor center (☎ 800-929-0477; www.yachats.org; cnr US 101 & 3rd St; ◷ 10am-5pm).

Camp at Beachside State Park (☎ 541-563-3220, 800-452-5687; www.oregonstateparks.org.com; campsites/RV sites/yurts $17/21/29), 5 miles north on US 101 (reservations accepted). A mile further on is the quirky Lesbian-owned See Vue Motel (☎ 541-547-3227, 866-547-323787; www.seevue.com; 95590 Hwy 101 S; d $80-120; ⊠ 💻 📶), whose 11 individually crafted rooms are perched high above the Pacific breakers. In town you can bed down at the welcoming Ya'Tel Motel (☎ 541-547-3225; www.yatelmotel.com; cnr US 101 & 6th St; d $55-90; 🚭 💻 📶) where eight specially named rooms come with the usual motel amenities plus popcorn, board games and – priceless one this – genuine hospitality.

Oregon Dunes National Recreation Area

Stretching for 50 miles between Florence and Coos Bay, the Oregon Dunes form the largest expanse of coastal dunes in the USA. The dunes tower up to 500ft and undulate inland as far as 3 miles to meet coastal forests, harboring curious ecosystems that sustain an abundance of wildlife. Hiking trails, bridle paths, and boating and swimming areas are available, but avoid the stretch south of Reedsport as noisy dune buggies dominate this area. Inform yourself at the Oregon Dunes National Recreation Area's headquarters (☎ 541-271-3495; www.fs.fed/us/r6/sius law; 855 Highway Ave; 🕒 8am-4:30pm Mon-Fri, 8am-4pm Sat & Sun) in Reedsport.

State parks include popular Jessie M Honeyman (☎ 541-997-3641; US 101; campsites/RV sites/yurts $17/22/29), 3 miles south of Florence, and pleasant Umpqua Lighthouse (☎ 541-271-4118; US 101; campsites/RV sites/yurts/cabins $16/20/27/35), 6 miles south of Reedsport. USFS campgrounds include Eel Creek (☎ 877-444-6777; US 101; campsites $17), 10 miles south of Reedsport.

Bandon

Optimistically touted as Bandon-by-the-Sea, this little town happily sits at the bay of the Coquille River. Its harbor has gentrified into a picturesque shopping district, while south of town are vacation resorts and occasional beach access points. The Bandon Historical Society Museum (☎ 541-347-2164; 270 Fillmore Ave; admission $2; 🕒 10am-4pm Mon-Sat) has interesting displays on shipwrecks, the Coquille Native Americans and the town's fiery past (two fires devastated the town in 1914 and 1936). For more details harass the chamber of commerce (☎ 541-347-9616; www.bandon.com; cnr 2nd St & Chicago Ave; 🕒 10am-5:30pm).

You can book a campsite at Bullards Beach State Park (☎ 541-347-2209, 800-452-5687; US 101; campsites/yurts $20/27), 2 miles to the north. At the harbor is Sea Star Guesthouse (☎ 541-347-9632; www.seastarbandon.com; 370 1st St; d $80-115; 🚭), offering pleasant homey rooms, some with loft and kitchenette. Just outside town is Lighthouse B&B (☎ 541-347-9316; www.lighthouselodging.com; 650 SW Jetty Rd; d $150-263; 🚭 💻 📶), boasting fine river views and excellent rooms.

For fancy food head to Wild Rose Bistro (☎ 541-347-4428; 130 Chicago St; mains $18-24; 🕒 5-10pm Wed-Mon), which uses fresh ingredients to whip up some of the coast's best dishes.

Gold Beach

Situated at the mouth of the fabulous Rogue River, Gold Beach attracts anglers and folks looking to zip upstream via jet boat into the Wild Rogue Wilderness area. Hikers can appreciate the area's spectacular coastline; visit Cape Sebastian State Park, a rocky headland 7 miles south, for a panorama stretching from California to Cape Blanco. Get details at the chamber of commerce (☎ 541-247-7526, 800-525-2334; www.goldbeachchamber.com; 29279 S Ellensburg Ave; 🕒 9:30-5:30pm Tue-Sun).

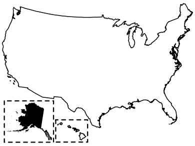
For rustic, modern or beach cabins (along with RV sites) head to Ireland's Rustic Lodges (☎ 541-247-7718; www.irelandsrusticlodges.com; 29346 Ellensburg Ave; d $58-149; 💻 📶). There's a glorious garden area in front and beach views in back. Awesome cheeses, meats, soup and sandwiches can be had at Patti's Rollin 'n Dough Bistro (☎ 541-247-4438; 94257 N Bank Rogue Rd; mains $7-14; 🕒 10:30am-3pm Tue-Sat), one of the coast's best cheap eats, though it only serves lunch (reserve ahead).

Brookings

Just 6 miles from the California border is this balmy and bustling commercial town. Other than great fishing and the scenic coastline, visitors come to visit the remote and unique vegetation of the Kalmiopsis Wilderness area. North of town is Samuel H Boardman State Park, with 11 miles of Oregon's most beautiful coastline. Oregon's only redwood forests, along with old-growth myrtle, are found in Alfred A Loeb State Park (☎ 541-469-2021, 800-452-5687; www.oregonstateparks.org; N Bank Chetco River Rd; tents/cabins $16/35), 10 miles east. The chamber of commerce (☎ 541-469-3181; www.brookingsor.com; 16330 Lower Harbor Rd; 🕒 9am-5pm Mon-Fri) is at the harbor.

© Lonely Planet. To make it easier for you to use, access to this chapter is not digitally restricted. In return, we think it's fair to ask you to use it for personal, non-commercial purposes only. In other words, please don't upload this chapter to a peer-to-peer site, mass email it to everyone you know, or resell it. See the terms and conditions on our site for a longer way of saying the above - 'Do the right thing with our content.'

Alaska



Big, beautiful and wildly bountiful. Far away, rurally isolated and very expensive. Alaska is a traveler's dilemma.

There are few places in the world with the grandeur and breathtaking beauty of Alaska. Not only is Mt McKinley the highest peak in North America, it's also a stunning sight when you catch its alpenglow in Wonder Lake. Forty bald eagles perched on a single tree is something seen in Haines, not in Iowa. A 5-mile-wide glacier shedding chunks of ice the size of small cars is not something you'll see anywhere else in the USA.

Alaska is a remote and costly destination for anybody tripping through the rest of the country. To reach the 49th state takes a week on the road, two to three days on a ferry or, from any region outside the Northwest, a $600-to-$800 airline ticket. And once there you'll find accommodations expensive, bus and train options meager and much of the state roadless and inaccessible.

But for those who have a strong sense of adventure, a little extra time and a love for life on the grand scale, whether it's watching a 40-ton humpback whale breaching or witnessing the northern lights snake mysteriously across the sky, Alaska is a hard place to pass up. And once there, even on a short side-trip, you'll marvel at this amazing land and begin plotting your return.

HIGHLIGHTS

- Zip-lining down to a stream full of bears feasting on salmon in Ketchikan (p1078)
- Kayaking among icebergs and seals at Glacier Bay National Park & Preserve (p1083)
- Following the Klondike gold rush into the mountains with a ride on the historic White Pass & Yukon Route Railroad (p1085)
- Exploring Alaska's history and culture at the newly renovated Anchorage Museum of History & Art (p1087)
- Watching Childs Glacier (p1097) crackle and send giant icebergs into the Copper River from only 300 yards away.
- Exploring the copper-mining town of Kennecott (p1097) and spending the night in the funky town of McCarthy (p1097)
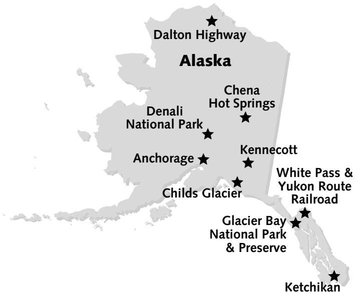
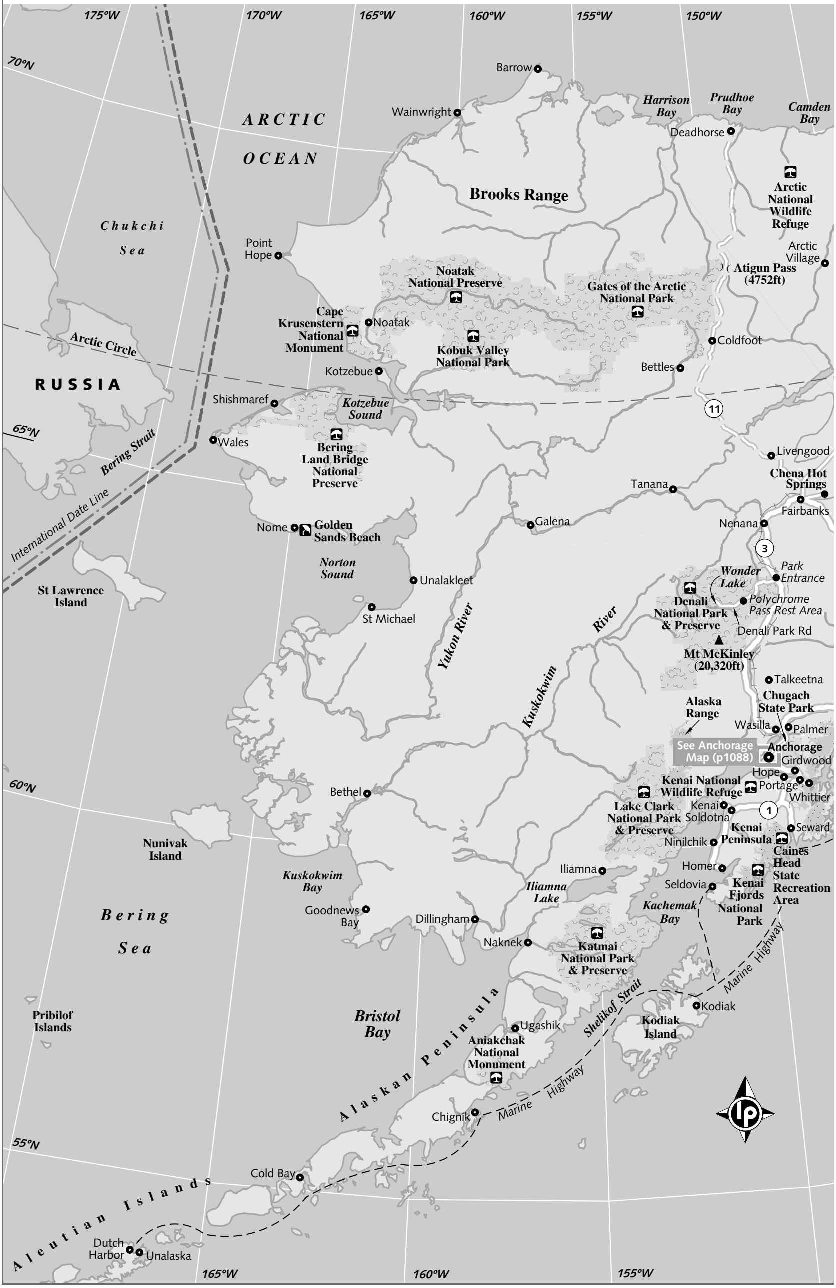
- Looking for brown bears and Mt McKinley from the shuttle bus in Denali National Park (p1100)
- Enjoying a strenuous mountain hike and then a soothing soak at Chena Hot Springs (p1101)
- Following the Dalton Highway to the Arctic Ocean and the top of the world…or close to it (p1103)



ALASKA



175°W
170°W
165°W
160°W
155°W
150°W
70°N
65°N
60°N
55°N
165°W
160°W
155°W
ARCTIC OCEAN
Chukchi Sea
RUSSIA
Arctic Circle Bering Strait
International Date Line
St Lawrence Island
Nunivak Island
Bering Sea
Pribilof Islands
Bristol Bay
Aleutian Islands
Alaskan Peninsula
Shelikof Strait
Marine Highway
Barrow
Wainwright
Harrison Bay
Prudhoe Bay
Camden Bay
Deadhorse
Brooks Range
Arctic National Wildlife Refuge
Arctic Village
Atigun Pass (4752ft)
Point Hope
Noatak National Preserve
Gates of the Arctic National Park
Cape Krusenstern National Monument
Noatak
Kobuk Valley National Park
Coldfoot
Bettles
Kotzebue
Shishmaref
Kotzebue Sound 11 Wales
Bering Land Bridge National Preserve Livengood
Chena Hot Springs
Tanana
Fairbanks
Nenana
Galena
Nome
Golden Sands Beach
3
Norton Sound
Unalakleet Park Entrance
Wonder Lake
Denali National Park & Preserve
Polychrome Pass Rest Area
Denali Park Rd
St Michael Yukon River
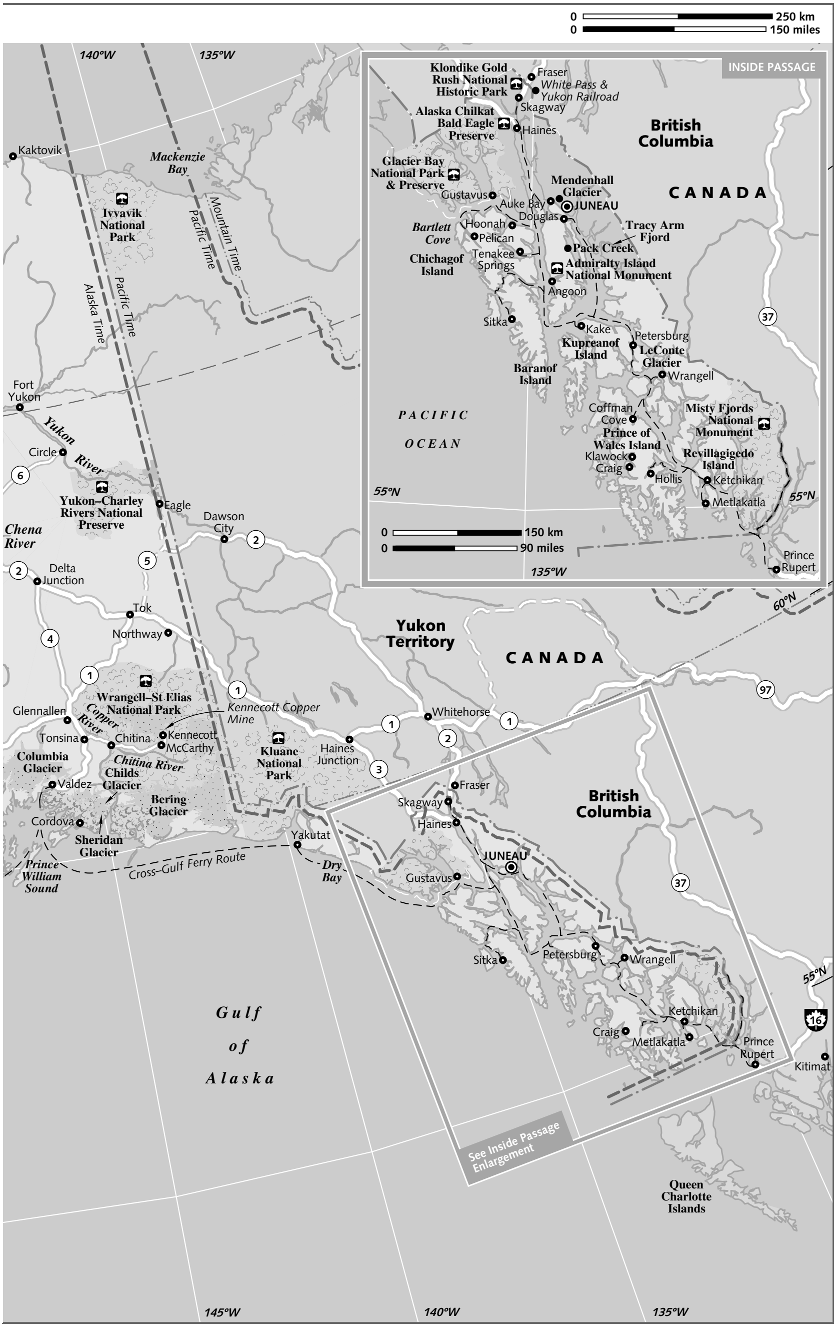
Kuskokwim River
Mt McKinley (20,320ft)
Talkeetna
Chugach State Park
Alaska Range
Wasilla
Palmer
See Anchorage Map (p1088)
Anchorage
Girdwood
Hope
Portage
Whittier
Kenai National Wildlife Refuge
Kenai
Soldotna
1
Lake Clark National Park & Preserve
Bethel
Kenai Peninsula
Seward
Ninilchik
Caines Head State Recreation Area
Iliamna
Homer
Seldovia
Kenai Fjords National Park
Kuskokwim Bay
Iliamna Lake
Kachemak Bay
Goodnews Bay
Dillingham
Naknek
Katmai National Park & Preserve
Kodiak
Kodiak Island
Ugashik
Aniakchak National Monument
Chignik
Cold Bay
Dutch Harbor
Unalaska



0 250 km
0 150 miles
140°W
135°W Kaktovik
Mackenzie Bay
Ivvavik National Park
Mountain Time
Pacific Time
Alaska Time
Pacific Time
Fort Yukon
Yukon River Circle
6
Yukon–Charley Rivers National Preserve
Eagle
Chena River
Dawson City
2
5
2
Delta Junction
Tok
Northway
4
1 Yukon Territory
CANADA
Wrangell–St Elias National Park
Kennecott Copper Mine
1 Glennallen
Copper River
Tonsina Chitina
Kennecott
McCarthy
Kluane National Park
Haines Junction
1 Whitehorse
1
2
3 Columbia Glacier
Chitina River
Childs Glacier
Valdez
Bering Glacier
Cordova
Sheridan Glacier
Prince William Sound
Cross–Gulf Ferry Route
Yakutat
Dry Bay
97
INSIDE PASSAGE
Klondike Gold Rush National Historic Park
Fraser
White Pass & Yukon Railroad
Skagway
Alaska Chilkat Bald Eagle Preserve
Haines
British Columbia
Glacier Bay National Park & Preserve
Mendenhall Glacier
Gustavus
Auke Bay
JUNEAU
CANADA
Douglas
Bartlett Cove
Hoonah
Pelican
Tracy Arm Fjord
Pack Creek
Chichagof Island
Tenakee Springs
Admiralty Island National Monument
Angoon
37 Sitka
Kake
Petersburg
Kupreanof Island
LeConte Glacier
Baranof Island
Wrangell
PACIFIC OCEAN
Coffman Cove
Prince of Wales Island
Misty Fjords National Monument
Klawock
Craig
Revillagigedo Island
Hollis
Ketchikan
55°N
Metlakatla
55°N
0 150 km
0 90 miles
135°W
Prince Rupert
60°N
Fraser
Skagway
Haines
British Columbia
JUNEAU
Gustavus
37 Sitka
Petersburg
Wrangell
55°N
Ketchikan
Craig
Metlakatla
Prince Rupert
16 Kitimat
Gulf of Alaska
See Inside Passage Enlargement
Queen Charlotte Islands
145°W
140°W
135°W

ALASKA FACTS

Nickname Last Frontier.
Population 686,293
Area 591,004 sq miles
Capital city Juneau (population 30,966).
Other cities Anchorage (population 283,938).
Sales tax There is no state sales tax in Alaska, but many cities have their own and they vary widely.
Birthplace of Singer and poet Jewel (b 1974), cartoonist Virgil F Partch (1916-84).
Home of The Iditarod – the 'Last Great Race' is the world's longest dogsled event.
Famous for Its size (even if split, each half would still be one of the two largest states in the USA); Inuit (Eskimos).
Giant veggies The largest cabbage ever grown in Alaska, a 105.6lb-er that was 6ft across and 4ft high, won the top prize at the Alaska State Fair in 2000.
Driving distances Anchorage to Fairbanks 358 miles, Fairbanks to Prudhoe Bay 498 miles

HISTORY

Indigenous Alaskans – Athabascans, Aleuts and Inuit, and the coastal tribes Tlingits and Haidas – migrated over the Bering Strait land bridge 20,000 years ago. In the 18th century, waves of Europeans arrived: first British and French explorers, then Russian whalers and fur traders, naming land formations, taking otter pelts and leaving the cultures of the Alaska Native peoples in disarray.

With the Russians' finances badly overextended by the Napoleonic Wars, US Secretary of State William H Seward was able to purchase the territory from them for $7.2 million – less than 2¢ an acre – in 1867. There was uproar over 'Seward's Folly,' but the land's riches soon revealed themselves: whales initially, then salmon, gold and finally oil.

After Japan bombed and occupied the Aleutian Islands in WWII, the military built the famous Alcan (Alaska–Canada) Hwy, which connected the territory with the rest of the USA. The 1520-mile Alcan was constructed in less than nine months and contributed greatly to postwar Alaska becoming a state in 1959. The Good Friday earthquake in 1964 left Alaska in a shambles, but recovery was boosted when oil deposits were discovered under Prudhoe Bay, resulting in the construction of a 789-mile pipeline to Valdez.

Oil still fuels Alaska's economy. Nearly 90% of the state's general fund revenue comes from taxes on oil production and when the price soared to almost $150 a barrel in 2008, Alaska was flush with cash. However, the price has since fallen, Prudhoe Bay's oil reserves are drying up and the battle over drilling in the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge (ANWR) is still raging in Washington, DC. The future is fuzzy in the Last Frontier but one thing is certain, no matter what the price is at the pump: with their economy centered on resource extraction, whether it's oil, gold or salmon, Alaskans will always be mired in a boom-and-bust way of life.

LOCAL CULTURE

Most of Alaska is the rural Bush, small villages and roadless areas where transportation is either by boat or on snowmobiles in the winter. Yet more than 60% of the state's residents live in the four largest cities: Anchorage, Juneau, Ketchikan and Fairbanks. You can still find Alaskans in log cabins in the middle of nowhere supporting themselves with traplines, but the vast majority of residents live in neighborhoods, work nine-to-five jobs and look forward to playing softball at weekends. Satellite TV dishes, the latest hip-hop CDs and internet access link even the remotest villages to the rest of the world.

Rural or urban, Alaskans tend to be individualistic in their lifestyles, following few outside trends, and instead adhering to what their harsh environment dictates. They are also very opportunistic. In the summer Alaskans play hard: the weather is nice and the days are long. In the winter they linger at the office, with the temperature outside often falling below 0°F (-15°C).

Alaskans love the outdoors and cherish their great parks. But the majority have few problems with drilling the pristine wilderness of the ANWR or clear-cutting Tongass National Forest. They want to live in Alaska so they need to make a living in a land where there is little industry or agriculture.

LAND & CLIMATE

Simply put, Alaska is huge. Or, as residents love to point out: if Alaska was divided in half each half would rank as the top two largest states in the country, dropping Texas to third. At latitudes spanning the Arctic Circle, the main body of Alaska is about 800 sq miles, with the arc of the Aleutian Islands chain stretching some 1600 miles south and west, and a 'panhandle' strip running 600 miles southeast down the North American coast.

The coastal regions, such as Southeast and Prince William Sound, have lush coniferous forests, while the Interior is dominated by boreal forest of white spruce, cottonwood and birch. Further north is a taiga zone – a moist, subarctic forest characterized by muskeg, willow thickets and stunted spruce – then the treeless Arctic tundra, with grass, mosses and a variety of tiny flowers thriving briefly in summer.

Alaska's size is the reason for its extremely variable climate. The Interior can top 90°F (32°C) during the summer, while the Southeast and Southcentral maritime regions will average 55°F (13°C) to 70°F (21°C). In the Southeast it rains almost daily from late September through October, while even a week of good weather in the summer will include a day or two when you need to pull out your rain gear. In winter, residents experience long nights (in Juneau it gets dark between 4 and 5pm, in Barrow the sun never comes up so it's always dark), -50°F (-55°C) temperatures and the mesmerizing northern lights.

HOT TOPIC: THE METEORIC RISE OF SARAH PALIN

From mayor of a small Alaskan town to being considered as a presidential contender in the 2012 election, it's been a wild ride for Sarah Palin. Few politicians from any state have risen in the national spotlight as fast as Alaska's former governor.

Palin was only three when her father, a science teacher, moved his family from Idaho to Skagway, AK, in 1964 to accept a teaching position. Eventually they relocated to Wasilla, where senior point-guard Palin led her high-school girls' basketball team to the Alaska state championship. Over the next few years, Palin finished third in the 1984 Miss Alaska pageant, worked as a sports reporter for an Anchorage TV station and married her high school sweetheart.

Then in 1992, the self-described 'hockey mom' won a seat on the Wasilla City Council; four years later, at 32, she was Wasilla's mayor. But the turning point for Palin was in 2004 when she resigned as the head of the Alaska Oil and Gas Conservation Commission over ethical violations by another commissioner. Two years later when Palin ran for governor, promising 'transparency and trust' in Alaska politics, she struck a chord with many residents disillusioned with the career politicians, corruption and cronyism. The results were stunning. In the Republican primary she crushed incumbent Gov Frank Murkowski by more than 30 percentage points. In the general election, she handily beat former Democratic Gov Tony Knowles to not only become Alaska's first female governor but also, at age 42, its youngest.

Two years later Republican presidential candidate John McCain chose Palin as his running mate, making her the first Alaskan and only the second woman to run on a major US party ticket. The highlight of the campaign came early when she delivered a spirited, 40-minute acceptance speech at the Republican National Convention that was praised by conservatives and watched by more than 40 million people on TV.

The national campaign was rough for Palin: there was a wardrobe controversy, the announcement of her unwed teenage daughter's pregnancy, and an interview with CBS News anchor Katie Couric in which she stumbled badly over foreign policy questions. But Palin's views on abortion (pro-life, not pro-choice), gun ownership and conservative fiscal policy excited the right wing of the Republican party while her trademark 'you betcha' phrase became a rallying cry for the so-called Joe Six-Packs of America. McCain had no more lost the 2008 presidential campaign when a Draft Palin movement was organized to position the Alaska governor for the Republican nomination in 2012.

With eighteen months remaining in her term as governor, Palin shocked the political world in 2009 by announcing her resignation, fueling even more speculation that she was eyeing a run for president.

The peak tourist season runs from early July to mid-August, when the best-known parks are packed and it's essential to make reservations for ferries and accommodations. In May and September you'll still find mild weather, but fewer crowds and lower prices.

PARKS & WILDLIFE

Alaska has land to roam and plenty of parks to do it in. Within the state the National Park Service (NPS) administers 54 million acres as national parks, preserves and monuments. The most popular national parks are Klondike Gold Rush National Historical Park in Skagway (p1085), Denali National Park in the Interior (p1099) and Kenai Fjords National Park near Seward (p1094).

Various agencies administer Alaska's parks, refuges and forests. The US Forest Service (USFS) administers Tongass National Forest (☎ 907-586-8800; www.fs.fed.us/r10/tongass); US Fish & Wildlife Service (USFWS) manages Kenai National Wildlife Refuge (☎ 907-262-7021; http://kenai.fws.gov); while the Bureau of Land Management (BLM) is responsible for White Mountains National Recreation Area (☎ 907-474-2200; www.blm.gov/ak/st/en/prog/sa/white_mtns.html). Alaska State Parks (☎ 907-269-8400; dnr.alaska.gov/parks) account for another 3 million acres, and most parks offer camping (campsites per night $10-20; reservations generally not accepted), hiking and paddling. At 773 sq miles, Chugach State Park (on the edge of Anchorage) is the country's third-largest state park.

All the above agencies have wilderness cabins you can rent (see Information, below) and plenty of places to watch wildlife. On land, Alaska's most popular species to view are moose, bears and bald eagles. Harder to spot are caribou, which inhabit the Interior in large herds; mountain goats and Dall sheep, which also live in remote areas; and wolves, which are reclusive by nature. Marine life includes seals, porpoises, whales, sea otters and walruses. During summer, millions of spawning salmon fill the rivers and streams.

INFORMATION

The Alaska Travel Industry Association (www.travelalaska.com) is the official tourism marketing arm for the state and publishes a vacation planner with listings of B&Bs, motels, tours and more. An excellent source for tour companies and outfitters committed to responsible tourism and minimizing visitor impact is Alaska Wilderness Recreation and Tourism Association (☎ 907-258-3171; www.awrta.org).

The best place for information on national parks, state parks and all public land agencies along with their cabin rental programs is one of the four Alaska Public Lands Information Centers (APLICs) scattered around the state. Anchorage has the largest APLIC (☎ 907-271-2737; www.alaskacenters.gov) and is the best one to contact in advance of your trip.

ACTIVITIES

Alaska is many things, but first and foremost it is the great outdoors. Travelers come here for the mountains, the trails, the wildlife, the camping – the adventure. Hiking trails are boundless and are the best way to escape the summer crowds in places like Juneau and the Kenai Peninsula. Mountain biking is allowed on many trails, and bikes can be rented throughout the state. You can also rent kayaks in coastal towns such as Ketchikan, Sitka, Juneau, Seward and Valdez, where paddlers enjoy sea kayaking in protective fjords, often within view of glaciers. Other popular outdoor activities are white-water rafting, wildlife-watching, canoeing, fishing, ziplining and just pulling over on the road and admiring the scenery.

GETTING THERE & AROUND

Air

The vast majority of visitors to Alaska, and almost all international flights, fly into Ted Stevens Anchorage International Airport (ANC; ☎ 907-266-2526; www.dot.state.ak.us/anc).

Alaska Airlines (☎ 800-426-0333; www.alaskaair.com) has direct flights to Anchorage from Seattle, Chicago and many West Coast cities. It also flies between many towns within Alaska, including daily northbound and southbound flights year-round through Southeast Alaska, with stops at all main towns. Round-trip advance-purchase routes include Seattle–Ketchikan, Anchorage–Juneau and Ketchikan–Juneau.

Since absorbing Northwest, Delta (☎ 800-221-1212; www.delta.com) offers direct flights from Minneapolis, Detroit, Atlanta and New York, while American Airlines (☎ 800-443-7300; www.aa.com) flies in from St Louis and Dallas.

'Bush planes' can be chartered to the most remote areas of the state. Smaller airlines serving the Southeast Alaska region include Taquan Air (☎ 907-225-8800, 800-770-8800;

ALASKA…

In One Week

From Washington state, hop on one of the Alaska Marine Highway ferries for a cruise through Southeast Alaska (p1078). Spend a day in Ketchikan (p1078) zip-lining and watching bears feast on salmon, then three days in Juneau (p1081) to check out its great hiking and glaciers. Jump back on the Alaska Marine Highway to Skagway and relive the Klondike gold rush (p1085).

In Two Weeks

Fly to Anchorage (p1086), rent a car and beat it out of town. Head south, following the beautiful Seward Hwy to Seward (p1093) and go kayaking in Resurrection Bay. Continue the road trip by driving to artsy Homer (p1094). Begin the second week in Anchorage exploring Alaska's biggest city, then jump on the Alaska Railroad for charming Talkeetna (p1100). Continue north on the train to spend three days in Denali National Park (p1099), viewing wildlife and hopefully Mt McKinley.

In Wilderness Cabins

Explore the Southeast wilderness by reserving rustic National Forest cabins (☎ 877-444-6777; www.recreation.gov.com). The Anan Bay Cabin near Wrangell includes an observatory where you can watch bears feed on salmon. A short flight from Juneau delivers you to West Turner Lake Cabin, a classic log structure overlooking the lake. At the White Sulphur Springs Cabin near Sitka, you can spend the evenings sipping wine and soaking in hot springs.

www.taquanair.com) and Wings of Alaska (☎ 907-789-0790; www.wingsofalaska.com).

Boat

The Alaska Marine Highway (☎ 800-642-0066; www.ferryalaska.com) connects Bellingham, WA, with 14 towns in Southeast Alaska (p1078) and is a very popular way to travel to this roadless region, with calls on the main towns almost daily in summer. The complete trip (Bellingham–Haines; $353, 3½ days) stops at ports along the way and should be scheduled in advance. Trips within the Inside Passage include Ketchikan-Petersburg ($60, 11 hours), Sitka-Juneau ($45, five hours) and Juneau-Haines ($37, two hours). Alaska Marine Highway ferries are equipped to handle cars (Bellingham–Haines $462), but space must be reserved months ahead. The ferries also service five towns in Southcentral Alaska, and make five runs a year from Kodiak to Unalaska in the Aleutian Islands (p1102) and 11 between Whittier and Juneau.

You can also pick up the state ferries (☎ 800-642-0066; www.ferryalaska.com) from Prince Rupert, British Columbia, to Ketchikan ($54), or twice a month join the special runs across the Gulf of Alaska from Juneau to Whittier ($221).

Bus

Bus services link all the main towns in Alaska, with connections to the lower 48. Traveling by bus is not that much cheaper than flying, but you do get to experience the Alcan Hwy. From Seattle, WA, Greyhound (☎ 206-628-5526; 800-231-2222; www.greyhound.com; cnr 8th Ave & Stewart St) can get you to Whitehorse, Canada, via Vancouver ($181, 52 hours); see p1157 for further information. From Whitehorse, Alaska Direct (☎ 800-770-6652; www.alaskadirectbusline.com; 509 Main St) leaves three days a week for Anchorage ($220, 16 hours).

Car

Be sure to allow at least a week to drive from northern USA through Canada to Fairbanks on the mostly paved Alcan Hwy. It's not worth the time it takes unless you can make some stops along the way and spend a few weeks in Alaska. Local rental cars are handy to get around the countryside; they start at $45 a day, with 100 miles free.

Train

The Alaska Railroad (☎ 907-265-2494, 800-544-0552; www.akrr.com) offers a service between Seward and Anchorage and from Anchorage to Denali, before ending in Fairbanks. Book seats in advance on this popular train.

The narrow-gauge 1890s White Pass & Yukon Route Railroad (☎ 800-343-7373; www.wpyr.com) links Skagway and Fraser, British Columbia, with a bus connection to Whitehorse, Yukon, which is situated on the Alcan Hwy ($116, 10 hours). It also offers short excursions from Skagway (p1085).

SOUTHEAST ALASKA

The Southeast is as close as Alaska comes to continental USA, but most of it is inaccessible by road. It's possible to fly to the panhandle for a quick visit, but a better option if you can spare a week or two is to cruise the Inside Passage, a waterway made up of thousands of islands, glacier-filled fjords and a mountainous coastline. You can jump on a state ferry and stop at a handful of ports for hiking, kayaking and whale-watching.

KETCHIKAN

Ketchikan, the first stop of the Alaska Marine Highway, is a thin town: several miles long, never more than 10 blocks wide and crammed with Alaskan character, adventure and the scenery you came looking for.

Information

Crow's Nest (☎ 907-225-6119; 308 Grant St; per 30min/hr $2.50/5; 🕒 6am-6pm) Cheapest internet in town plus a huge espresso machine.

Ketchikan Visitors Bureau (☎ 907-225-6166, 800-770-3300; www.visit-ketchikan.com; 131 Front St; 🕒 7am-5pm) Helpful staff will book tours and accommodations.

Southeast Alaska Discovery Center (☎ 907-228-6220; 50 Main St; adult/child $5/free; 🕒 8am-5pm) Houses an impressive exhibit hall; provides details of outdoor activities.

Sights & Activities

Fly through the trees! Alaska Canopy Adventures (☎ 907-225-5503; www.alaskacanopy.com; 116 Wood Rd; $179 per person), uses eight zip lines, three suspension bridges and 4WD vehicles so you can zip 4600ft down a mountain. Afterwards you can watch bears feast on a salmon run.

The star of Ketchikan's former red-light district, Creek St, is Dolly's House (☎ 907-225-6329; 24 Creek St; adult/child $5/free; 🕒 8am-5pm), the parlor of Ketchikan's most famous madam, Dolly Arthur. The Totem Heritage Center (☎ 907-225-5900; 601 Deermont St; adult/child $5/free; 🕒 8am-5pm) features a collection of 19th-century totems in a spiritual setting.

The 3-mile Deer Mountain Trail begins near the city center and provides access to the alpine world above the timberline and wonderful views of the town. There are more trails in the Ward Lake Recreation Area. Southeast Sea Kayaks (☎ 907-225-1258, 800-287-1607; www.kayakketchikan.com; 1621 Tongass Ave; single/double kayak per day $50/60, day trip $219) offers rentals and guided trips.

Sleeping

Ketchikan Hostel (☎ 907-225-3319; ktnyh@eagle.ptialaska.net; 400 Main St; dm $15; ☒) A friendly, clean hostel located in a Methodist church downtown and open from June through August.

Gilmore Hotel (☎ 907-225-9423, 800-275-9423; www.gilmorehotel.com; 326 Front St; d $115-155; ☒ 💻 📶) Built in 1927, the Gilmore has 38 'historically proportioned' (ie small) rooms that include cable TV, coffeemakers and hair dryers.

our pick New York Hotel (☎ 907-225-0246, 866-225-0246; www.thenewyorkhotel.com; 207 Stedman St; r $129-144, ste $189-209; ☒ 💻 📶) A historic boutique hotel in the heart of town with antique-filled rooms and unique suites overlooking Creek Street.

Black Bear Inn (☎ 907-225-4343; www.stayinalaska.com; 5528 N Tongass Hwy; r $160-230; ☒ 💻 📶) This incredible B&B, 2.5 miles north of the downtown madness, offers both rooms and small apartments. Among the many amenities is a covered outdoor hot tub where you can soak while watching eagles soaring overhead.

Eating & Drinking

Burger Queen (☎ 907-225-6060; 518 Tongass Ave; burgers $5-8; 🕒 11am-3pm Mon, 11am-7pm Tue-Sat) Ketchikan's favorite shake-and-burger joint. They'll deliver your hamburger to the Arctic Bar across the street where you can be sipping a beer.

Sushi Harbor (☎ 907-225-1233; 629 Mission St; lunch specials $9-11, rolls $7-13; 🕒 10am-10pm). This Japanese restaurant bustles with locals, tourists and cruise-ship workers. Just a bowl of their udon noodles will fuel you all afternoon.

Bar Harbor Restaurant (☎ 907-225-2813; 2813 Tongass Ave; lunch mains $9-12, dinner mains $15-30; 🕒 11am-9pm Mon-Fri, 5-9pm Sat & Sun; ☒) A cozy place with a covered outdoor deck, between downtown and the ferry terminal. Yea, they serve seafood here – who doesn't in Southeast? – but their signature dish is Ketchikan's best prime rib.

IF YOU HAVE A FEW MORE DAYS

Real Alaska is only a three-hour ferry ride away from the cruise-ship madness of Ketchikan. Prince of Wales Island, the third-largest island in the USA, features Alaska Native villages, the Southeast's most extensive road network and a lot of clear-cuts, but no cruise ships. For information, Prince of Wales Chamber of Commerce (☎ 907-755-2626; www.princeofwalescoc.org; Klawock Bell Tower Mall, Craig-Klawock Hwy; 🕒 10am-3pm Mon-Fri) is in Klawock and a USFS office (☎ 907-826-3271; 900 9th St; 🕒 8am-5pm Mon-Fri) is in Craig.

Bring a mountain bike and you can spend a week exploring the 300 miles of paved and graded gravel roads or the 1800 miles of shot-rock logging roads. Bring a kayak and you can do the same along 990 miles of contorted coastline. You can also rent bikes and kayaks from A5 Outdoor Recreation (☎ 907-329-2399; www.a5outdoorrec.com; 103a Sea Otter Dr, Coffman Cove; bike per day $25, single/double kayak $50/60).

In Craig, stay at Ruth Ann's Hotel (☎ 907-826-3378; cnr Main & Water Sts; r $110-135; ☒) or the delightful Inn of the Blue Heron (☎ 907-826-3608; www.littleblueheroninn.com; 406 9th St; s $79-99, d $99-115; ☒ 💻).

The M/V Stikine (☎ 866-308-4848; www.interislandferry.com; adult/child $37/18) makes a daily Hollis–Ketchikan run. The main communities of Klawock and Craig are 25 miles and 31 miles southwest of Hollis respectively.

First City Saloon (☎ 907-225-1494; 830 Water St; 📶) A sprawling club that rocks with live music during the summer, often impromptu when cruise-ship bands are looking to let loose.

Getting There & Around

Alaska Airlines and Alaska Marine Highway ferries service Ketchikan (see p1076). For wheels, try Alaska Car Rental (☎ 907-225-5123, 800-662-0007; 2828 Tongass Ave; compacts $55).

AROUND KETCHIKAN

Ten miles north of Ketchikan, Totem Bight State Historical Park (☎ 907-247-8574; admission free; 🕒 6am-10pm) contains 14 restored totem poles, a colorful community house and viewing deck overlooking Tongass Narrows.

Misty Fjords National Monument begins 22 miles east of Ketchikan, offering wildlife-watching and spectacular views of 3000ft sheer granite walls that rise from the ocean. Allen Marine Tours (☎ 907-225-8100, 877-686-8100; www.allenmarinetours.com; adult/child $168/115) runs a four-hour trip around the monument. Family Air Tours (☎ 907-247-1305 800-380-1305; www.familyairtours.com; adult/child $229/179) offers a two-hour tour of flightseeing and hiking in the monument's old-growth forests.

WRANGELL

Strategically located near the mouth of the Stikine River, Wrangell is the only town to have existed under three flags and be ruled by four nations – Tlingit, Russia, Britain and the USA. Today Wrangell is one the few ports where the state ferries dock downtown, so at the very least jump off the boat for a quick look around town.

At the Nolan Center is the visitor center (☎ 907-874-3901, 800-367-9745; www.wrangell.com; 296 Outer Dr; 🕒 10am-5pm Mon-Sat; 💻) and the impressive Wrangell Museum (☎ 907-874-3770; 296 Outer Dr; adult/child/family $5/3/12; 🕒 10am-5pm Mon-Sat), where you can learn about gold-rush Wrangell or why Wyatt Earp filled in as the town's deputy marshal for 10 days.

For its size, Wrangell has an impressive collection of totems. Pick up the free Wrangell Guide at the visitor center and spend an afternoon locating them all. Make sure you stop at Chief Shakes Island, near the boat harbor downtown.

Sleeping & Eating

Alaskan Sourdough Lodge (☎ 907-874-3613, 800-874-3613; www.akgetaway.com; 1104 Peninsula St; s/d $104/114; ☒ 💻) This family-owned lodge offers 16 rooms, a sauna, steam bath and a front deck full of wicker furniture with a view of the harbor.

Stikine Inn (☎ 907-874-3388, 888-874-3388; www.stikineinn.com; 107 Stikine Ave; s $115-143, d 134-151; 📶) Wrangell's largest motel is on the waterfront near the ferry dock and underwent a major renovation in 2008 that included its bar, restaurant and many of the 33 rooms.

Diamond C Café (☎ 907-874-3322; 223 Front St; breakfast dishes $6-12, lunch mains $8-14; 🕒 6am-3pm; ☒) Eat what the locals eat (eggs, biscuits and deep-fried fish-and-chips) while listening to the conservative pulse of this community.

The City Park Campground (Zimovia Hwy; campsites free), 1.75 miles south of the ferry terminal, is a delightful place to pitch a tent, while Wrangell Hostel (☎ 907-874-3534; 220 Church St; dm $18; ☒) is in the Presbyterian church.

PETERSBURG

At the north end of the spectacular Wrangell Narrows lies the picturesque community of Petersburg, a town known for its Norwegian roots and home to Alaska's largest halibut fleet.

The Petersburg Chamber of Commerce (☎ 907-772-4636; www.petersburg.org; cnr Fram & 1st Sts; 🕒 9am-5pm Mon-Sat, noon-4pm Sun) has B&B and USFS information. You can also visit the USFS office (☎ 907-772-3871; Federal Bldg, 12 N Nordic Dr; 🕒 8am-5pm Mon-Fri).

Sights & Activities

The center of old Petersburg was Sing Lee Alley, which winds past weathered homes and boathouses perched on pilings above the water. The Clausen Memorial Museum (☎ 907-772-3598; 203 Fram St; adult/child $3/free; 🕒 10am-5pm Mon-Sat) features local artifacts and fishing relics, and a small but excellent museum store.

Tongass Kayak Adventures (☎ 907-772-4600; www.tongasskayak.com; single/double kayak $55/65) offers rentals and drop-off transportation, as well as several guided paddles, including a day-long paddle at LeConte Glacier ($225), North America's southernmost tidewater glacier and often the site of spectacular falling ice and breaching whales.

Sleeping, Eating & Drinking

Alaska Island Hostel (☎ 907-772-3632, 877-772-3632; www.alaskaislandhostel.com; 805 Gjoa St; dm $25; ☒ 💻) This is Petersburg's excellent and only budget-lodging alternative. The nine-bunk hostel, a short walk from downtown, is clean, comfortable, casual and fun.

Nordic House (☎ 907-772-3620; www.nordichouse.net; 806 S Nordic Dr; s/d $82/92; ☒ 💻) Within an easy walk of the ferry terminal, this place offers five large rooms and a common area overlooking the boat harbor.

Scandia House (☎ 907-772-4281, 800-722-5006; www.scandiahousehotel.com; 110 Nordic Dr; s/d $110/130; 📶) The most impressive place in town, this hotel has 33 modern rooms (some with kitchenettes), a courtesy shuttle service, and a main-street location.

Coastal Cold Storage (☎ 907-772-4177, 306 Nordic Dr; breakfast dishes $4-6, lunch mains $9-12; 🕒 7am-3pm) The local specialty is halibut beer bits and this place serves the best ones in this seafood town.

Kito's Kave (☎ 907-772-3207; 11 Sing Lee Alley; dinner mains $8-12) Serves up Petersburg's best Mexican, with live music and dancing at night.

our pick Beachcomber Inn (☎ 907-772-3888; 384 Mitkof Hwy; dinner mains $15-30; 🕒 5:30-9pm) This wonderful restaurant is built on pilings over the sea so every table has a fabulous maritime-and-mountain view.

SITKA

Russians established Southeast Alaska's first nonindigenous settlement here in 1799, and the town flourished on fur. Today Sitka sees itself as both the cultural center of the Southeast and, because it's the only one facing the Pacific Ocean, the region's most beautiful city.

The Sitka Convention & Visitors Bureau (☎ 907-747-5940; www.sitka.org; 330 Harbor Dr; 🕒 8am-5pm Mon-Fri) is located across the street from St Michael's Cathedral, and also staffs a desk in the Centennial Building. The USFS office (☎ 907-747-6671; 204 Siginaka Way; 🕒 8am-4:30pm Mon-Fri) can provide hiking and kayaking information for the area.

Sights & Activities

Sitka National Historical Park has an intriguing trail that winds past 15 totem poles, while its visitor center (☎ 907-747-0110; Lincoln St; adult/child $4/free; 🕒 8am-5pm) features Russian and indigenous artifacts and traditional carving demonstrations. For an eye-to-eye encounter with a bald eagle, head to the nearby Alaska Raptor Center (☎ 907-747-8662, 800-643-9425; www.alaskaraptor.org; 101 Sawmill Creek Rd; adult/child $12/6; 🕒 8am-4pm; 👪) where injured birds relearn to fly in its flight training center.

St Michael's Cathedral (☎ 907-747-8120; 240 Lincoln St; admission $2; 🕒 9am-4pm Mon-Fri) is a replica of the original 1840s Russian Orthodox cathedral destroyed by fire in 1966; priceless treasures were salvaged by residents. Castle Hill is the site of Baranof's Castle, where Alaska was officially transferred from Russia to the USA. Built in 1842, the Russian Bishop's House (☎ 907-747-6281; Lincoln St; adult/child $4/free; 🕒 9am-5pm) is Sitka's oldest intact Russian building. Sheldon Jackson Museum (☎ 907-747-8981; 104 College Dr; adult/child $4/free; 🕑 9am-5pm) houses an excellent indigenous culture collection.

Sitka has superb hiking, and the Gaven Hill Trail into the mountains is accessible from the downtown area. There are also many kayaking trips around Baranof and Chichagof Islands. Sitka Sound Ocean Adventures (☎ 907-747-6375; www.ssoceanadventures.com; single/double kayak $55/65) rents kayaks and runs guided day trips; its office is a blue bus at the Centennial Building. Thanks to Sitka's ocean location, marine-wildlife boat tours have mushroomed in the town. Allen Marine Tours (☎ 907-747-8100, 888-747-8101; www.allenmarinetours.com; adult/child $79/49; 🕑 8:30-11:30am Sat & Sun) offers three-hour tours that often include spotting otters and whales. Sea Life Discovery Tours (☎ 907-966-2301, 877-966-2301; www.sealifediscoverytours.com; adult/child $86/63; 👪) operates two-hour tours from a glass-bottomed boat that provides underwater views of the area's marine life.

Sleeping

Sitka International Youth Hostel (☎ 907-747-8661; 109 Jeff Davis St) Sitka's new – and only – hostel is downtown less than a block from Crescent Harbor and is expected to be open by 2010.

Ann's Gavan Hill B&B (☎ 907-747-8023; www.annsgavanhill.com; 415 Arrowhead St; s/d $75/95; ⊠ 💻) An easy walk from downtown, this lovely Alaskan home has three guestrooms and a wrap-around deck with two hot tubs. Ahhh!

Sitka Hotel (☎ 907-747-3288; www.sitkahotel.net; 118 Lincoln St; s/d Oct 1–Apr 30 $85/90, May 1–Sep 30 $99/105; 📶) This venerable hotel is right downtown and its new back rooms are large, comfortable and feature views of Sitka Sound.

Shee Atika Totem Square Inn (☎ 907-747-3693; www.totemsquareinn.com; 201 Katlian St; r $144-189; ⊠ 💻 📶) Extensively renovated, this is Sitka's finest hotel, with 68 large, comfortable rooms perched above a harbor that bustles with boats bringing in the day's catch.

Eating & Drinking

Highliner Coffee (☎ 907-747-4924; 327 Seward St, Seward Sq Mall; light fare under $5; 🕑 5:30am-5pm Mon-Sat, 8am-4pm Sun; ⊠ 💻 📶) At the Highliner they like their coffee black and their salmon wild. Come here to catch the buzz from a latte and the local issues.

Victoria's (☎ 907-747-9301; 118 Lincoln St; breakfast $8-13, lunch mains $9-14, dinner mains $15-24; 🕑 4:30am-10pm; ⊠) Sitka's early-morning breakfast joint also serves a good selection of seafood in the evening.

Little Tokyo (☎ 907-747-5699 315; Lincoln St; lunch $8-10, fish & tempura rolls $6-12; 🕑 11am-9pm; ⊠) Even crew members from the commercial fleet, who know a thing or two about raw fish, say Sitka's only sushi bar is a good catch.

our pick Ludvig's Bistro (☎ 907-966-3663; 256 Katlian St; dinner mains $20-33; 🕑 2-10pm; ⊠) Sitka's boldest restaurant is steadily becoming known as the Southeast's best. The menu is described as 'rustic Mediterranean fare' and almost everything is local, even the sea salt.

Fly-in Fish Inn Bar (☎ 907-747-7910; 485 Katlian St) A delightfully little six-stool bar on the back side of a inn. On the covered deck outside you can watch deckhands unload the day's catch.

Getting There & Away

Sitka Airport (SIT; ☎ 907-966-2960), on Japonski Island, is served by Alaska Airlines (☎ 800-426-0333; www.alaskaair.com). Northstar Rental (☎ 907-966-2552, 800-722-6927; Sitka Airport) has compacts from $55 per day. Alaska Marine Highway (☎ 907-747-8737, 800-642-0066; www.ferryalaska.com) ferries stop almost daily at the terminal, which is 7 miles north of town. Ferry Transit Bus (☎ 907-747-8443; one way/round-trip $8/10) will take you into town.

JUNEAU

The first town to be founded after Alaska's purchase from the Russians, Juneau became the territorial capital in 1906 and today is the most scenic capital in the country. Its historic downtown clings between snow-capped mountains and a bustling waterfront. The rest of the city spreads north into the Mendenhall Valley. Juneau is also Alaska's cruise-ship capital and the gateway to many attractions, including Glacier Bay National Park (p1083) and Admiralty Island National Monument (p1083).

Information

Juneau Convention & Visitors Bureau (☎ 907-586-2201, 800-587-2201; www.traveljuneau.com; 101 Egan Dr; 🕑 9am-5pm) In Centennial Hall.

Juneau Library (☎ 907-586-5249; 292 Marine Way; 🕑 11am-9pm Mon-Thu, noon-5pm Fri-Sun; 💻 📶) Provides free internet access.

Juneau Ranger Station (☎ 907-586-8800; 8510 Mendenhall Loop Rd; 🕑 8am-5pm Mon-Fri) This new office is in Mendenhall Valley and has information on cabins, trails and kayaking.

Sights & Activities

The Alaska State Museum (☎ 907-465-2901; 395 Whittier St; adult/child $5/free; 🕑 8:30am-5:30pm; 👪) has artifacts from Alaska's six major indigenous groups, plus a full-size eagles' nest atop a two-story tree.

The Juneau-Douglas City Museum (☎ 907-586-3572; 114 W 4th St; adult/child $4/free; 🕑 9am-5pm Mon-Fri, 10am-5pm Sat & Sun) highlights the area's gold-mining history. The Last Chance Mining Museum (☎ 907-586-5338; 1001 Basin Rd; adult/child $4/free; 🕑 9:30am-12:30pm & 3:30-6:30pm) is an impressive complex of railroad lines, ore cars and repair sheds. A short hike will take you to the very interesting Treadwell Mine ruins, just south of Douglas.

About 3 miles northwest of downtown, the Macaulay Salmon Hatchery Visitor Center (☎ 907-463-4810; 2697 Channel Dr; adult/child $3.25/1.75; 🕑 10am-6pm Mon-Fri, 10am-5pm Sat & Sun; 👪) has huge seawater aquariums and underwater viewing windows so you can watch thousands of salmon fighting their way upstream to spawn.

The area's numerous glaciers include Mendenhall Glacier, the famous 'drive-in' glacier; the informative USFS Visitor Center (☎ 907-789-0097; Glacier Spur Rd; adult/child $3/free; 🕑 8am-7:30pm) is 13 miles from the city. Mendenhall Glacier Transport (☎ 907-789-5460; round-trip $14) runs a bus from downtown to the visitor center.

Hiking is the most popular activity in the area, and some trails access USFS cabins. Juneau Parks & Recreation (☎ 907-586-0428; www.juneau.org/parksrec) organizes free hikes. West Glacier Trail, which sidles along Mendenhall Glacier, has the most stunning scenery. The Mt Roberts Trail is the most popular hike to the alpine country above Juneau.

Or skip the hike – the Mt Roberts Tram (☎ 907-463-3412, 888-461-8726; 490 S Franklin St; adult/child $27/13.50; 🕑 9am-9pm; 👪) takes passengers from the dock to the timberline, where there is a nature center and a restaurant.

The Juneau area is wonderful for kayaking and whale-watching. Alaska Boat & Kayak (☎ 907-364-2333; www.juneaukayak.com; 11521 Glacier Hwy; single/double kayak $50/70; 🕑 9am-6pm) rents boats and offers a self-guided Mendenhall Lake paddle. Orca Enterprises (☎ 907-789-6801, 888-733-6722; www.alaskawhalewatching.com; adult/child $120/88) uses a 42ft jet boat for whale-watching tours.

our pick Adventure Bound Alaska (☎ 907-463-2509, 800-228-3875; www.adventureboundalaska.com; adult/child $150/95; 👪) offers a wonderful day-trip to steep-sided Tracy Arm fjord, 50 miles southeast of Juneau, to see seals, glaciers and icebergs.

Sleeping

Downtown accommodations are heavily booked during summer, but Juneau has more than 50 B&Bs; stop at the visitor center to find one.

Juneau International Hostel (☎ 907-586-9559; www.juneauhostel.org; 614 Harris St; dm adult/child $10/5; ⊠ 💻 📶) Alaska's best hostel is a five-minute walk from the state capitol.

Driftwood Lodge (☎ 907-586-2280, 800-544-2239; www.driftwoodalaska.com; 435 Willoughby Ave; r $94-110; ⊠ 💻) The rooms are no-frills but clean, and many have kitchenettes. There's a courtesy airport and ferry van, a coin laundry and bike rental.

Juneau Hotel (☎ 907-586-5666; www.juneauhotels.net; 1200 W 9th St; ste $169; ⊠ 💻) New, freshly painted and located within easy walking distance of the downtown attractions, this all-suites hotel is Juneau's best deal in accommodations.

Silverbow Inn (☎ 907-586-4146, 800-586-4146; www.silverbowinn.com; 120 2nd St; r $169-209; ⊠ 📶) A wonderful boutique inn on top of a downtown bagel shop. Along with 11 rooms, there's an outdoor hot tub with a view of the mountains.

WORTH THE TRIP: SMALL PORTS IN SOUTHEAST ALASKA

The LeConte ferry (☎ 800-642-0066; www.ferryalaska.com) services a handful of small ports between Sitka and Juneau, offering the chance to experience a Southeast Alaska not overrun by cruise-ship passengers. Stay for a day or two and then hop on a Wings of Alaska (☎ 907-789-0790; www.wingsofalaska.com) plane.

On Chichagof Island, Hoonah boasts the world's longest zip line at 5330ft and great whale-watching while roadless Tenakee Springs is known for its relaxed pace, alternative lifestyle and public bathhouse, built around a 108°F (42°C) hot spring. Twice monthly, the LeConte travels to the lively fishing town of Pelican, a unique day trip from Juneau ($100). Built on pilings over tidelands, Pelican's main street is a mile-long wooden boardwalk.

EATING ALASKA: SALMON BAKES

One popular eating event during summer in much of the state, but especially in the Southeast, is the salmon bake. It's an outdoor affair, with grilled locally caught salmon smothered with somebody's homemade barbecue sauce and served all-you-can-eat style. A dinner costs $20 to $27 and it's strictly something tourists do, but is often the dining highlight of many trips to Alaska. Two of the state's best bakes are at Thane Ore House (below) in Juneau and the Alaska Salmon Bake (☎ 907-452-7274; www.akvisit.com) at Fairbank's Pioneer Park (p1101).

Eating & Drinking

Seong's Sushi Bar & Chinese Takeout (☎ 907-586-4778; 740 W 9th St; sushi $4-6, Chinese lunch $7-9, dinner $11-13; ⏰ 10am-8:30pm Mon-Thu, to 9pm Fri, 4-9pm Sat; ☒) Across from the Federal Building, the menu at this sushi bar is extensive and loved by locals.

Rainbow Foods (☎ 907-586-6476; 224 4th St; food bar per lb $7.50; ⏰ 9am-7pm Mon-Sat, 10am-6pm Sun; ☒) A cool natural-foods store with a deli that makes for a happening lunch spot.

Hot Bite (☎ 907-790-2483; 11465 Auke Bay Harbor Dr; hamburgers $8-13; ⏰ 11am-7pm; ☒ 👶) You have to drive out to the Auke Bay Harbor for the best milk shakes and burgers in Juneau. The small café also has seating outside where you can watch the state ferry sail out of Auke Bay.

Island Pub (☎ 907-364-1595; 1102 2nd St; large pizza $13-16; ⏰ 11:30am-10pm) Across the channel in Douglas is the capital city's best pizzeria, serving firebrick-oven focaccias and gourmet pizza to a mountainous view.

Twisted Fish (☎ 907-463-5033; 550 S Franklin St; dinner mains $15-22; ⏰ 11am-10pm; ☒) Beef be gone! Located between Taku Smokeries and a wharf where commercial fishermen unload their catch, this restaurant is about local seafood.

Thane Ore House (☎ 907-586-3442; 4400 Thane Rd; dinner adult/child $24/12; ⏰ 11am-9pm; ☒ 👶) Juneau's best salmon bake, 4 miles south of town, is an all-you-can-eat affair of grilled salmon, halibut and ribs…plus sides. There's courtesy-van transportation.

S Franklin St is Juneau's drinking sector. The (in)famous Red Dog Saloon (☎ 907-463-3658; 278 S Franklin St) has a sawdust floor and relic-covered walls. Hidden in the Alaskan Hotel (☎ 907-586-1000; 167 S Franklin St) is a unique bar with historic ambience and occasional live music.

Getting There & Around

The main airline serving Juneau is Alaska Air (☎ 800-426-0333; www.alaskaair.com). Smaller companies such as Wings of Alaska (☎ 907-789-0790; www.wingsofalaska.com) provide services to isolated communities.

The terminal for the Alaska Marine Highway (☎ 800-642-0066; www.ferryalaska.com) is 14 miles from downtown; M/V LeConte runs to Angoon ($37, nine hours) and Tenakee Springs ($35, eight hours), while the high-speed M/V Fairweather connects to Petersburg ($66, four hours) and Sitka ($45, 4½ hours).

Juneau's public bus system, Capital Transit (☎ 907-789-6901; adult/child $1.50/1), can take you from the airport to the city center, but not the ferry terminal. Numerous car-rental places offer pick up/drop off and unlimited mileage. Compacts at Rent-A-Wreck (☎ 907-789-4111, 888-843-4111; 2450 C Industrial Blvd) are $45, while Evergreen Ford (☎ 907-789-9386; 8895 Mallard St) rents them for $54.

ADMIRALTY ISLAND NATIONAL MONUMENT

Fifteen miles southeast of Juneau, this island has 1406 sq miles of designated wilderness, featuring brown bears, eagles, whales, harbor seals and sea lions. Stock up on supplies in Juneau and contact the Juneau Ranger District office (☎ 907-586-8800; www.fs.fed.us/r10/tongass/districts/admiralty) for information.

The single settlement on Admiralty Island, Angoon, is a dry community with only one café. Favorite Bay Inn (☎ 907-788-3234; www.favoritebayinn.com; s/d with shared bath $119/139; ☒) will pick you up from the ferry terminal and rent you a canoe to paddle into the heart of Admiralty Island.

The best bear-viewing in Southeast Alaska is at Pack Creek, on the eastern side of Admiralty Island. The bears are most abundant in July and August, when the salmon are running, and visitors can watch them feed from an observation tower. The tower is reached by a mile-long trail, usually as part of a guided tour. Alaska Discovery/Mt Sobek (☎ 800-586-1911; www.mtsobek.com) offers a three-day tour from Juneau ($1295 per person) that includes kayaking and camping and Alaska Fly 'N' Fish (☎ 907-790-2120; www.alaskabyair.com) has a five-hour, fly-in tour ($600).

GLACIER BAY NATIONAL PARK & PRESERVE

Eleven tidewater glaciers spill from the mountains and fill the sea with icebergs around the icy wilderness of Glacier Bay National Park

& Preserve. To see the glaciers, most visitors board the Fairweather Express operated by Glacier Bay Lodge & Tours (☎ 907-264-4600, 888-229-8687; www.visitglacierbay.com; adult/child $190/95) for an eight-hour cruise up the West Arm of Glacier Bay.

The only developed hiking trails are in Bartlett Cove, but there is excellent kayaking; rent equipment from Glacier Bay Sea Kayaks (☎ 907-697-2257; www.glacierbayseakayaks.com; single/double kayak per day $45/50). Spirit Walker Expeditions (☎ 907-697-2266, 800-529-2537; www.seakayakalaska.com) offers day paddles for $160 to $435.

The park headquarters (☎ 907-697-2230; www.nps.gov/glba; 1 Park Rd; 🕓 8am-4:30pm Mon-Fri) in Bartlett Cove maintains a free campground and a visitor center (☎ 907-697-2627; 🕓 6am-10:30pm) at the dock, which provides backcountry permits and maps. The park is served by the settlement of Gustavus (www.gustavusak.com), which has lodging, restaurants and supplies.

Glacier Bay Lodge (☎ 888-229-8687; www.visitglacierbay.com; 199 Bartlett Cove Rd; r $171-196; ☒) is the only hotel and restaurant at Bartlett Cove.

In Gustavus, Good River B&B (☎ 907-697-2241; www.glacier-bay.us; Good River Rd; s/d/cabin $120/140/130; ☒) is a three-story log home with three guestrooms and a Honeymoon Cabin (no running water) tucked in the woods. The much larger Annie Mae Lodge (☎ 907-697-2346; 800-478-2346; www.anniemae.com; Grandpa's Farm Rd; s $120-150, d $170-200; ☒ 💻) has 11 rooms, most with private entrances and bathrooms.

On the way to the dock, Beartrack Mercantile (☎ 907-697-2358; Dock Rd; 🕓 9am-7pm Mon-Sat, 10:30am-6pm Sun) has limited groceries and surprisingly good deli sandwiches.

Unfortunately, the Alaska state ferry doesn't stop at Gustavus. Alaska Airlines (☎ 800-426-0333; www.alaskaair.com) has daily flights between Gustavus and Juneau. The Glacier Bay Lodge bus meets flights for $12.

HAINES

Haines is Southeast Alaska's most scenic departure point and a crucial link to the Alcan Hwy for thousands of RVers every summer on their way to Interior Alaska. The Northwest Trading Company arrived here in 1878, followed by gold prospectors and the US Army, which built its first permanent post in Alaska, Fort Seward, in 1903. The perceived threat of a Japanese invasion in WWII resulted in the construction of the Haines and Alcan Hwys, connecting Haines to the rest of the USA. If mammoth cruise ships depress you, Haines is a much better destination choice than Skagway.

Collect information from the Haines Convention & Visitors Bureau (☎ 907-766-2234, 800-458-3579; www.haines.ak.us; 122 2nd Ave; 🕓 9am-5pm).

Sights & Activities

Haines has the most affordable museums in Alaska. The Sheldon Museum (☎ 907-766-2366; 11 Main St; adult/child $3/free; 🕓 10am-5pm Mon-Fri, 1-4pm Sat & Sun) features indigenous artifacts upstairs, and gold-rush relics downstairs. The American Bald Eagle Foundation (☎ 907-766-3094; 113 Haines Hwy; adult/child $3/1; 🕓 10am-5pm Mon-Fri, 1-5pm Sat & Sun; 👪) displays more than 100 species of animals, including almost two dozen eagles, in their natural habitat. For something quirky, hit the Hammer Museum (☎ 907-776-2374; 108 Main St; adult/child $3/free; 🕓 10am-5pm Mon-Fri), a 1200-hammer monument to owner Dave Pahl's obsession with the tool.

Haines offers two major hiking-trail systems – Mt Riley and Mt Ripinsky – as well as afternoon walking tours of Fort Seward (the visitor center has details). Chilkat Guides (☎ 907-766-2491, 888-292-7789; www.raftalaska.com; adult/child $89/62) runs a four-hour Chilkat River raft float and Sockeye Cycle (☎ 907-766-2869, 877-292-4154; www.cyclealaska.com; rental 4-/8hr $25/35) will rent you a mountain bike and suggest rides.

Sleeping

Bear Creek Cabins & Hostel (☎ 907-766-2259; www.bearcreekcabinsalaska.com; Small Tract Rd; dm/cabins $20/48; ☒) To escape the metropolis of Haines, head a mile out of town to this pleasant hostel on the edge of the woods.

Fort Seward Lodge (☎ 907-766-2009, 877-617-3418; 39 Mud Bay Rd; s/d $95/110, r without bath $75; ☒ 📶) The former Post Exchange of Fort Seward offers Haines' best value in accommodations, with updated rooms and a friendly bar.

Lynn View Lodge (☎ 907-766-3713; www.lynnviewlodge.com; Mile 6.5 Lutak Rd; r $95-135, cabins $95; ☒) This B&B near the ferry terminal offers rooms, suites, cabins and a great view of Lynn Canal.

Captain's Choice Motel (☎ 907-766-3111, 800-478-2345; www.capchoice.com; 108 2nd Ave; s/d $113/123; ☒ 📶) The nicest motel in town, with a huge sun deck that overlooks the bay.

Eating & Drinking

Mountain Market & Spirits (☎ 907-766-3340; 151 3rd Ave S; sandwiches $6-8; 🕓 7am-7pm Mon-Fri, 8am-7pm Sat, 8am-6pm Sun; ☒) Great coffee, innovative wraps, cool atmosphere.

Chilkat Restaurant & Bakery (☎ 907-766-3653; Dalton St at 5th Ave; breakfast dishes $6-8, lunch mains $7-8; 🕑 7am-3pm Mon-Sat; ☒) Locals have been gathering here for a slice of rhubarb-strawberry pie for 25 years.

Fireweed Restaurant (☎ 907-766-3838; 37 Blacksmith St; pasta $11-15, pizza $11-21; 🕑 4:30-9pm Tue, 11:30am-3pm & 4:30-9pm Wed-Sat; ☒) This bright and laid-back bistro looks like it belongs in California rather than Haines. Vegetarians actually have a choice here (try the veggie baked ziti).

Mosey's Cantina (☎ 907-766-2320; 31 Tower Rd; lunch $8-15, dinner $14-18; 🕑 11:30am-2:30pm & 5:30-8:30pm Mon-Sat; ☒) A cute and cozy Mexican restaurant serving halibut-stuffed burritos and the local beer.

It's well worth the walk to the Haines Brewing Company (☎ 907-766-3823; Dalton City; 🕑 1-7pm Mon-Sat), the town's delightful one-room brewery.

Getting There & Away

Several air-charter companies service Haines, the cheapest being Wings of Alaska (☎ 907-789-0790; www.wingsofalaska.com).

Haines-Skagway Fast Ferry (☎ 907-766-2100, 888-766-2103; www.hainesskagwayfastferry.com; one way adult/child $35/18) will get you to and from Skagway.

Eagle Nest Car Rentals (☎ 907-766-2891, 800-354-6009; 1183 Haines Hwy), in the Eagle Nest Motel, has cars available for $50 per day with 100 miles included.

AROUND HAINES

The 75-sq-mile Alaska Chilkat Bald Eagle Preserve, along the Chilkat River, protects the world's largest-known gathering of bald eagles. The greatest numbers of birds are spotted in December and January, but you can see eagles here any time during summer. Lookouts on the Haines Hwy between Miles 18 and 22 allow motorists to glimpse the birds. Alaska Nature Tours (☎ 907-766-2876; www.alaskanaturetours.net; adult/child $65/50; 👪) offers a three-hour tour of the preserve.

SKAGWAY

The northern terminus of the Alaska Marine Highway, Skagway was a gold-rush town infamous for its lawlessness. In 1887 the population was two; 10 years later it was Alaska's largest city, with 20,000 residents. Today, Skagway survives entirely on tourism and gets packed when a handful of cruise ships pull in and thousands of passengers converge on the town as if the Klondike gold rush was still on.

Information

Klondike Gold Rush National Historical Park Visitors Center (☎ 907-983-9223; www.nps.gov/klgo; 154 Broadway St; 🕑 8am-6pm) For everything outdoors; local trails, public campgrounds and National Park Service (NPS) programs.

Skagway Convention & Visitors Bureau (☎ 907-983-2854; www.skagway.com; cnr Broadway St & 2nd Ave; 🕑 8am-6pm Mon-Fri, 9am-6pm Sat & Sun) In the can't-miss Arctic Brotherhood Hall (think driftwood).

Sights & Activities

The Klondike Gold Rush National Historical Park is a seven-block corridor along Broadway St that features 15 restored buildings, false fronts and wooden sidewalks from Skagway's golden era as a boom town. Thanks to the cruise ships, it's the most popular national park in Alaska. To best appreciate this amazing moment in Skagway's history, join a free, ranger-led walking tour, offered five times a day from the NPS Center.

The Skagway Museum (☎ 907-983-2420; Skagway City Hall, cnr 7th Ave & Spring St; adult/child $2/1; 🕑 9am-5pm Mon-Fri, 10am-5pm Sat, 10am-4pm Sun) is one of the best in Southeast, and its gold-rush relics are some of the most interesting exhibits in a town filled with museums. Moore's Cabin (cnr 5th Ave & Spring St; admission free; 🕑 10am-5pm) is the town's oldest building, while Mascot Saloon (290 Broadway St; admission free; 🕑 8am-6pm) is a museum devoted to Skagway's heyday as the 'roughest place in the world.'

White Pass & Yukon Route Railroad (☎ 907-983-2217, 800-343-7373; www.wpyr.com; 231 2nd Ave; adult/child $103/52) offers the best tour: the three-hour Summit Excursion climbs the high White Pass in a historic narrow-gauge train.

Sleeping

Skagway Home Hostel (☎ 907-983-2131; www.skagwayhostel.com; 456 3rd Ave; dm $15-20; ☒ 💻) A half-mile from the ferry terminal, this is a relaxed hostel with a kitchen, laundry facilities and daily chores.

Cindy's Place (☎ 907-983-2674, 800-831-8095; www.alaska.net/~croland; Mile 1 Dyea Rd; cabins s $50-140, d $65-150) Two miles from town are Cindy's cabins: two large log units with private baths and a smaller, cozy one without a shower. In the morning freshly baked goods magically appear on your doorstep.

Sgt Preston's Lodge (☎ 907-983-2521, 866-983-2521; www.sgt-prestonslodgeskagway.com; 370 6th Ave; s $80-115, d $90-130; ☒ 💻 📶) Recently updated, this motel is the best bargain in Skagway and just far enough from Broadway St to escape most of the cruise-ship crush.

Mile Zero B&B (☎ 907-983-3045; www.mile-zero.com; 901 Main St; r $135; ☒ 💻) This B&B is like a motel with the comforts of home as the six large rooms have their own bath and a private entrance on the wraparound porch.

Eating & Drinking

North Eden (☎ 907-983-2784; 21st Ave at State St; breakfast dishes $4-6, lunch mains $5-6; 🕒 6:30am-2pm; ☒) Skagway's most affordable espresso bar, with cheap breakfasts and lunch bowls heaped with spicy red beans, lentils or rice for $5 or less.

Starfire (☎ 907-983-3663; 4th Ave at Spring St; lunch mains $12-15, dinner mains $14-19; 🕒 11am-10pm Mon-Fri, 4-10pm Sat & Sun; ☒) Order pad Thai or spicy drunken noodle here and then enjoy it with a beer on the outdoor patio.

Stowaway Café (☎ 907-983-3463; 205 Congress Way; dinner mains $18-27; 🕒 4-10pm; ☒) Near the Harbor Master's office, this funky and fantastic café serves excellent fish and Cajun-style steak dinners. Try the wasabi salmon.

Skagway Fish Company (☎ 907-983-3474; Congress Way; lunch mains $10-14, dinner mains $17-35; 🕒 11am-10pm) Despite a menu loaded with seafood, what locals rave about at this restaurant located next to Stowaway Café are its ribs – great barbecue even if you weren't in Alaska.

Red Onion Saloon (☎ 907-983-2222; 205 Broadway St) This former brothel is now Skagway's liveliest bar. Naturally.

Getting There & Away

Regularly scheduled flights from Skagway to Juneau, Haines and Glacier Bay are available from Wings of Alaska (☎ 907-983-2442; www.wingsofalaska.com).

Alaska Marine Highway (☎ 800-642-0066; www.ferryalaska.com) has ferries departing every day in summer, and Haines-Skagway Fast Ferry (☎ 907-766-2100, 888-766-2103; www.hainesskagwayfastferry.com; one way adult/child $35/18) runs daily to Haines.

Sourdough Car Rentals (☎ 907-983-2523; 6th Ave at Broadway St; 🕒 8am-5pm) has compacts for $69 a day with unlimited miles.

Yukon-Alaska Tourist Tours (☎ 866-626-7383, in Whitehorse 867-668-5944; www.yukonalaskatouristtours.com) offers a minibus service three times a week to Whitehouse (one way $60).

White Pass & Yukon Route Railroad (☎ 800-343-7373; www.whitepassrailroad.com; 231 2nd Ave) goes to Fraser, British Columbia, where there's a bus connection to Whitehorse (adult/ child $116/58).

SOUTHCENTRAL ALASKA

Southcentral Alaska is where Alaskans and travelers alike come to play, with its mountains, glaciers, good fishing, great hiking and kayaking and lots of campgrounds to stay at. Even better, there are roads between towns and other regions of the state, making Southcentral Alaska one of the most accessible places to visit.

ANCHORAGE

Anchorage offers the comforts of a large US city but is only a 30-minute drive from the Alaskan wilderness. Founded in 1914 as a work camp for the Alaska Railroad, the city was devastated by the 1964 Good Friday earthquake but quickly rebounded as the industry headquarters for the Prudhoe Bay oil boom. Today almost half the state's residents live in or around the city, as Anchorage (population 283,938) serves as the economic and political heart of Alaska. Sorry, Juneau.

Orientation

A surveyor was obviously in charge of laying out Anchorage. Its downtown is pedestrian-friendly, with numbered avenues running east–west and lettered streets north–south. East of A St, street names continue alphabetically, beginning with Barrow.

Midtown Anchorage is generally considered to span the area between Fireweed Ave south to 36th Ave and Minnesota Avenue east to Old Seward Hwy. Anything south of 36th Ave is clumped together as South Anchorage.

MAPS

The best free city map is the Alaska Activities Map, distributed all over town. For more detail there's Rand McNally's Anchorage ($4). The best selection of maps is at Title Wave Books (opposite) or the Alaska Public Lands Information Center (opposite)

DON'T MISS

The Chilkoot is the most famous trail in Alaska and often the most popular. It was the route used by the Klondike gold miners in the 1898 gold rush, and walking it is not so much a wilderness adventure as a history lesson. The 34-mile trek takes three to four days and includes the Chilkoot Pass – a steep climb up to 3525ft that has most hikers scrambling on all fours. The highlight of the hike for many is riding the historic White Pass & Yukon Route Railroad (WP&YR; p1085) from Lake Bennett back to Skagway. There are cheaper ways to return, but don't pass up the train. Experiencing the Chilkoot and returning on the WP&YR is probably the ultimate Alaska trek, combining great scenery, a historical site and an incredible sense of adventure.

Interested? Stop at the Trail Center (☎ 907-983-9234; Broadway St at 2nd Ave, Skagway; 🕒 8am-5pm) to obtain backpacking permits and set up the hike. Then cross the street to WP&YR depot to book a seat on the train.

Information

BOOKSTORES

Title Wave Books (☎ 888-598-9283; 📶) Northern Lights Center (1360 W Northern Lights Blvd); W 5th Ave (415 W 5th Ave) The best bookstore in Anchorage with two branches, both equipped with internet cafés.

INTERNET ACCESS

Cyber City (☎ 907-277-7601; 1441 W Northern Lights Blvd; per hr $4; 🕒 11am-midnight Mon-Sat, from noon Sun) Midtown location for late-night gamers.

ZJ Loussac Public Library (☎ 907-343-2975; 3600 Denali St; 🕒 10am-9pm Mon-Thu, to 6pm Fri-Sat, 1-5pm Sun) Free internet access.

MEDIA

Tourist freebies are available everywhere, including the Official Anchorage Visitors Guide.

Anchorage Daily News (www.adn.com) This top-rate paper has the largest daily circulation in the state.

Anchorage Press (www.anchoragepress.com) A fabulous free weekly with events listings and social commentary.

MEDICAL SERVICES

Alaska Regional Hospital (☎ 907-276-1131; 2801 DeBarr Rd; 🕒 24hr) For emergency care.

First Care Medical Center (☎ 907-248-1122; 3710 Woodland Dr, Suite 1100; 🕒 7am-midnight) Walk-in clinic in midtown.

Providence Alaska Medical Center (☎ 907-562-2211; 3200 Providence Dr)

MONEY

Key Bank (☎ 257-5500, 800-539-2968; 601 W 5th Ave) Downtown.

Wells Fargo (☎ 800-869-3557; 301 W Northern Lights Blvd) The main bank is in midtown.

POST

Post office (344 W 3rd Ave) Downtown in the Village at Ship Creek Center.

TOURIST INFORMATION

Alaska Public Lands Information Center (☎ 907-271-2737; www.alaskacenters.gov; 605 W 4th Ave, Suite 105; 🕒 9am-5pm) Has park, trail and cabin information as well as excellent displays.

Log Cabin Visitor Center (☎ recorded event information 907-274-3531, 907-276-3200; www.anchorage.net; 524 W 4th Ave; 🕒 7:30am-7pm Jun-Aug, 8am-6pm May & Sep) Has pamphlets, maps, bus schedules and city guides in several languages.

Sights & Activities

Experiencing Alaska Native culture firsthand in the Bush is expensive. Instead, come to the Alaska Native Heritage Center (☎ 800-315-6608; www.alaskanative.net; 8800 Heritage Center Dr; adult/child $25/17; 🕒 9am-5pm) and see how humans survived – even thrived – before central heating. Spread over 26 acres are studios with artists carving baleen or sewing skin-boats, a small lake and five replica villages.

our pick Anchorage Museum of History & Art (☎ 907-343-4326; 121 W 7th Ave; adult/child $8/2; 🕒 9am-6pm; 👪) is Alaska's crowning cultural experience. A $75 million renovation that doubled its size was completed in 2009. If you don't have an entire afternoon for this jewel then visit the much smaller Heritage Library Museum (☎ 907-265-2834; 301 W Northern Lights Blvd; admission free; 🕒 noon-5pm Mon-Fri) for its displays of Alaska Native costumes, weapons and artwork.

For something wild head to the Ship Creek Viewing Platform (Whitney Rd at Ship Creek Bridge) when from mid- to late summer king, coho and pink salmon spawn up Ship Creek and the banks are lined with locals and visitors alike trying to catch dinner. On the other side of the creek, beginning at the west end of 2nd Ave, is the 11-mile Tony Knowles Coastal Trail, the most scenic of the city's 122

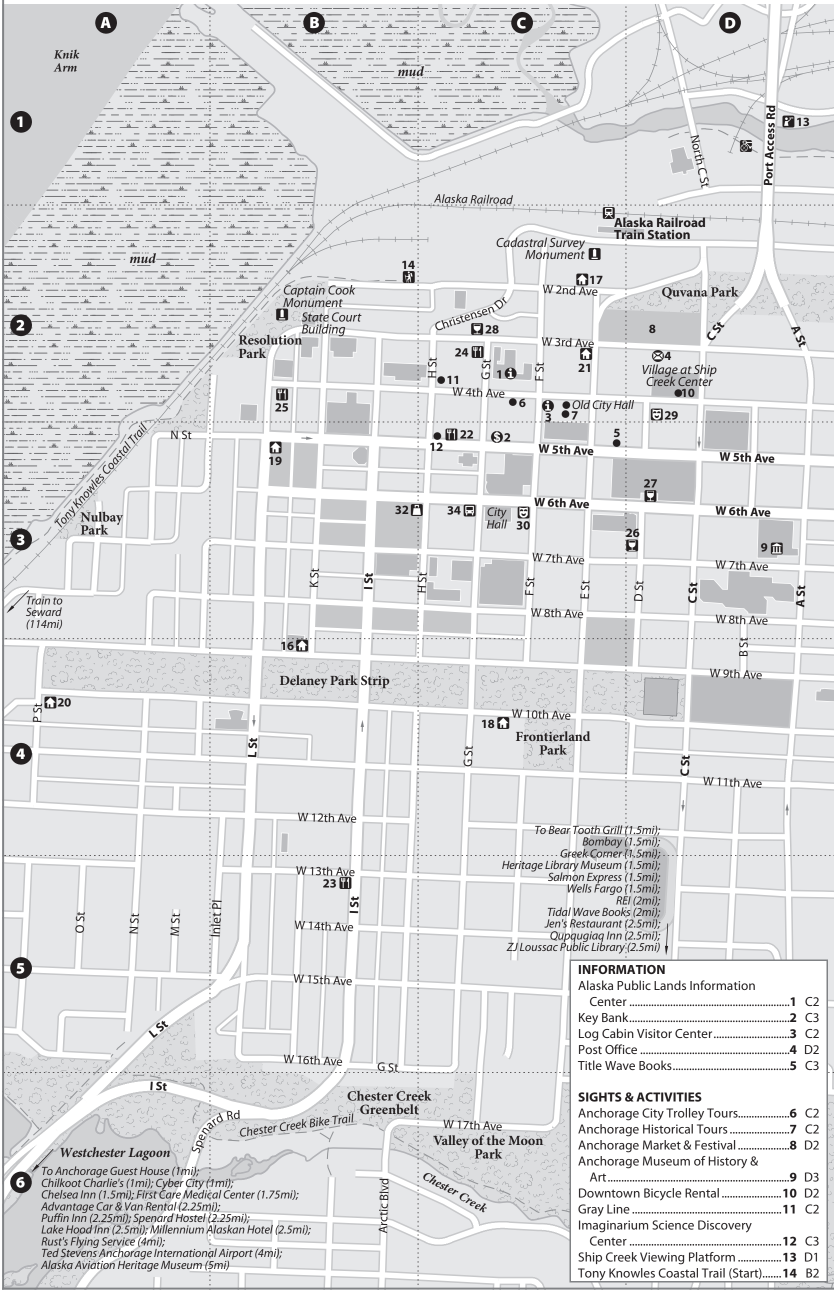
ANCHORAGE



A
B
C
D
1
2
3
4
5
6 Knik Arm mud mud
Alaska Railroad
Alaska Railroad Train Station
Cadastral Survey Monument
North C St
Port Access Rd
13 14
17
W 2nd Ave
Quvana Park
Captain Cook Monument
State Court Building
Resolution Park
Christensen Dr
28
8
C St
A St
W 3rd Ave
24
21
4
Village at Ship Creek Center 10
H St
G St
F St
11 1
W 4th Ave
25
6
3
Old City Hall
7
29
N St
12
22
2
5
W 5th Ave
W 5th Ave
19
Tony Knowles Coastal Trail
27
W 6th Ave
W 6th Ave
32
34
City Hall 30
Nulbay Park
26 9
W 7th Ave
W 7th Ave
K St
I St
H St
F St
E St
D St
C St
A St
Train to Seward (114mi)
W 8th Ave
W 8th Ave
B St
16
W 9th Ave
Delaney Park Strip
P St 20
W 10th Ave
18 Frontierland Park
L St
G St
C St
W 11th Ave
W 12th Ave
To Bear Tooth Grill (1.5mi); Bombay (1.5mi); Greek Corner (1.5mi); Heritage Library Museum (1.5mi); Salmon Express (1.5mi); Wells Fargo (1.5mi); REI (2mi); Tidal Wave Books (2mi); Jen's Restaurant (2.5mi); Qupqugiaq Inn (2.5mi); ZJ Loussac Public Library (2.5mi)
W 13th Ave
23
I St
O St
N St
M St Inlet Pl
W 14th Ave
W 15th Ave
L St
W 16th Ave
G St
I St
Chester Creek Greenbelt
Spenard Rd
Chester Creek Bike Trail
W 17th Ave
Valley of the Moon Park Westchester Lagoon
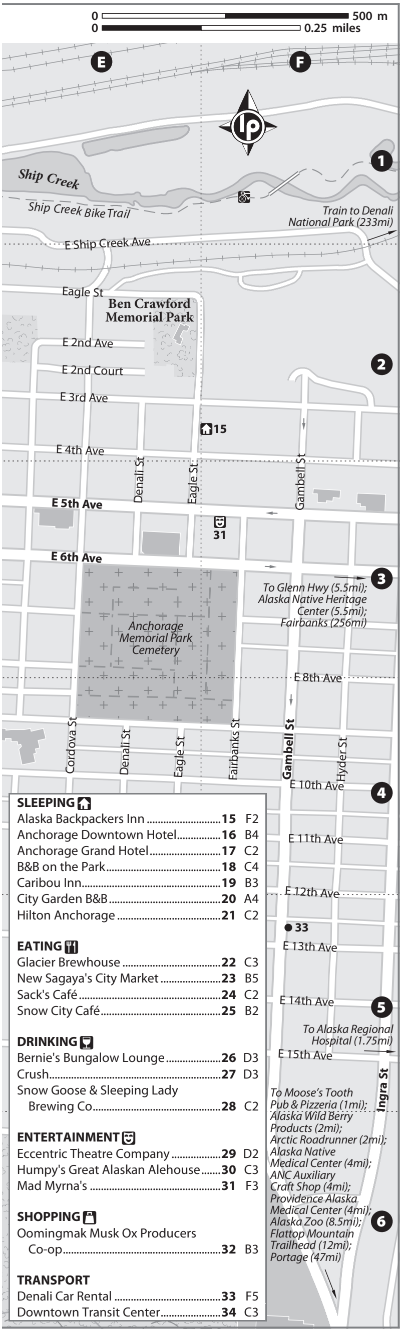
Chester Creek
Arctic Blvd
To Anchorage Guest House (1mi); Chilkoot Charlie's (1mi); Cyber City (1mi); Chelsea Inn (1.5mi); First Care Medical Center (1.75mi); Advantage Car & Van Rental (2.25mi); Puffin Inn (2.25mi); Spenard Hostel (2.25mi); Lake Hood Inn (2.5mi); Millennium Alaskan Hotel (2.5mi); Rust's Flying Service (4mi); Ted Stevens Anchorage International Airport (4mi); Alaska Aviation Heritage Museum (5mi)

INFORMATION

Alaska Public Lands Information Center	1	C2
Key Bank	2	C3
Log Cabin Visitor Center	3	C2
Post Office	4	D2
Title Wave Books	5	C3

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

Anchorage City Trolley Tours	6	C2
Anchorage Historical Tours	7	C2
Anchorage Market & Festival	8	D2
Anchorage Museum of History & Art	9	D3
Downtown Bicycle Rental	10	D2
Gray Line	11	C2
Imaginarium Science Discovery Center	12	C3
Ship Creek Viewing Platform	13	D1
Tony Knowles Coastal Trail (Start)	14	B2



0 500 m
0 0.25 miles
E
F
1
2
3
4
5
6
Ship Creek
Ship Creek Bike Trail
Train to Denali National Park (233mi)
E Ship Creek Ave
Eagle St
Ben Crawford Memorial Park
E 2nd Ave
E 2nd Court
E 3rd Ave
15
E 4th Ave
Denali St
Eagle St
Gambell St
E 5th Ave
31
E 6th Ave
To Glenn Hwy (5.5mi); Alaska Native Heritage Center (5.5mi); Fairbanks (256mi)
Anchorage Memorial Park Cemetery
E 8th Ave
Cordova St
Denali St
Eagle St
Fairbanks St
Gambell St
Hyder St
E 10th Ave
E 11th Ave
E 12th Ave
33
E 13th Ave
E 14th Ave
To Alaska Regional Hospital (1.75mi)
E 15th Ave
Ingra St
To Moose's Tooth Pub & Pizzeria (1mi); Alaska Wild Berry Products (2mi); Arctic Roadrunner (2mi); Alaska Native Medical Center (4mi); ANC Auxiliary Craft Shop (4mi); Providence Alaska Medical Center (4mi); Alaska Zoo (8.5mi); Flattop Mountain Trailhead (12mi); Portage (47mi)

SLEEPING
Alaska Backpackers Inn	15	F2
Anchorage Downtown Hotel	16	B4
Anchorage Grand Hotel	17	C2
B&B on the Park	18	C4
Caribou Inn	19	B3
City Garden B&B	20	A4
Hilton Anchorage	21	C2
EATING
Glacier Brewhouse	22	C3
New Sagaya's City Market	23	B5
Sack's Café	24	C2
Snow City Café	25	B2
DRINKING
Bernie's Bungalow Lounge	26	D3
Crush	27	D3
Snow Goose & Sleeping Lady Brewing Co	28	C2
ENTERTAINMENT
Eccentric Theatre Company	29	D2
Humpy's Great Alaskan Alehouse	30	C3
Mad Myrna's	31	F3
SHOPPING
Oomingmak Musk Ox Producers Co-op	32	B3
TRANSPORT
Denali Car Rental	33	F5
Downtown Transit Center	34	C3

miles of paved path. Rent bikes at Downtown Bicycle Rental (☎ 907-279-5293; 333 W 4th Ave; 3/24hr rental $16/32).

Ideally located on the south shore of Lake Hood, the world's busiest floatplane lake, is the Alaska Aviation Heritage Museum (☎ 907-248-5325; 4721 Aircraft Dr; adult/child $10/6; 🕒 9am-5pm), a tribute to Alaska's colorful bush pilots and their faithful planes. Housed inside are 25 planes along with historic photos and displays of pilots' achievements, from the first flight to Fairbanks (1913) to the early history of Alaska Airlines.

Flattop Mountain is Alaska's most-climbed peak; a three- to five-hour, 3.4-mile round-trip starts from a trailhead on the outskirts of Anchorage. Maps are available at the Alaska Public Lands Information Center (p1087) and the Flattop Mountain Shuttle (☎ 907-279-3334; round-trip adult/child $22/15) will run you to the trailhead.

Anchorage Historical Tours (☎ 907-274-3600; Old City Hall, 524 W 4th Ave; adult/child $5/1; 🕒 1pm Mon-Fri) takes visitors on hour-long downtown walking tours. Anchorage City Trolley Tours (☎ 907-775-5603; 612 W 4th Ave; per person $15; 🕒 tours on the hour 9am-5pm) One-hour rides in a bright red trolley past Lake Hood, Earthquake Park and Cook Inlet, among other sights.

'Flightseeing' – touring in a small plane – is popular in Anchorage. Tours are short and expensive, but if time is limited they offer a glimpse into Alaska's grandeur not otherwise possible. More than a dozen charter companies peddle flightseeing: Rust's Flying Service (☎ 907-243-1595, 800-544-2299; www.flyrusts.com; 4525 Enstrom Circle) has 30-minute tours ($100), a three-hour flight to view Mt McKinley in Denali National Park ($365) and a full day of guided fly-in fishing ($485).

Anchorage for Children

Anchorage is exceptionally kid-friendly – more than 40 city parks boast playscapes. Close to downtown, Frontierland Park (corner of 10th Ave & E St) is a local favorite. Valley of the Moon Park (cnr Arctic Blvd & W 17th Ave) makes a delightful picnic spot. If the Flattop Mountain hike (above) is overly ambitious for your kids, head to Alaska Wild Berry Products (☎ 907-562-8858; 5525 Juneau St; admission free; 🕒 10am-11pm). Inside the sprawling gift shop is a chocolate waterfall and the Wild Berry Theater; outside there's a short nature trail that leads to a handful of caribou that kids can feed and pet.

DON'T MISS

On the weekend head over to the Anchorage Market & Festival (W 3rd Ave & E St; 🕑 10am-6pm Sat & Sun) for live music, cheap food and great souvenirs from birch steins to birch syrup.

The Wild Salmon On Parade, an annual event (early June to September) in which local artists turn fiberglass fish downtown into a 'Marilyn MonROE,' a fish with boxing gloves titled 'Socked Eye Salmon,' and 'Fish & Chips', a poker-playing halibut. To see them all, pick up a fish tour map at the Log Cabin Visitor Center (p1087).

Even if you're not sick, stop at the Alaska Native Medical Center (☎ 800-478-1636; 4315 Diplomacy Dr) to see its fantastic collection of Alaska Native art and artifacts: take the elevator to the top floor and wind down the staircase past dolls, basketry and tools from all over Alaska.

The unique wildlife of the Arctic is on display at the Alaska Zoo (☎ 907-346-3242; 4731 O'Malley Rd; adult/child $12/6; 🕑 9am-6pm Sat-Mon, Wed & Thu, 9am-9pm Tue & Fri), the only zoo in North America that specializes in northern animals, including three species of Alaskan bear and other Alaska native species, from wolverines and moose to caribou and Dall sheep.

To add some science to Alaska's nature, check out the Imaginarium Science Discovery Center (☎ 907-276-3179; 737 W 5th Ave; adult/child $5.50/5; 🕑 10am-6pm Mon-Sat, noon-5pm Sun). This award-winning center features creative, hands-on exhibits that explain the northern lights, earthquakes, oil exploration and other Alaskan topics.

Sleeping

BUDGET

Spenard Hostel (☎ 907-248-5036; www.alaskahostel.org; 2845 W 42nd Pl; dm $25; ☒ 💻 📶) This friendly, independent hostel is near the airport and has 24-hour check-in – great for red-eye arrivals in Alaska. There's free coffee in the morning and bike rentals ($3 per hour) are available.

Alaska Backpackers Inn (☎ 907-277-2770; www.alaskabackpackers.com; 327 Eagle St; dm/s/d $25/50/60; ☒ 💻) Anchorage's newest hostel is roomy, comfortable and professional. A bit east of central downtown, it's still within walking distance to restaurants and bars.

our pick Qupqugiaq Inn (☎ 907-563-5633; www.qupq.com; 640 W 36th Ave; dm $24, s/d $87/104, with shared bath $69/90; ☒ 💻 📶) This colorful establishment has a continental breakfast that includes French-pressed coffee and roll-your-own oats. The large dorms sleep eight, and the private rooms are bright and clean.

Anchorage Guest House (☎ 907-274-0408; www.akhouse.com; 2001 Hillcrest Dr; dm/r $39/92; ☒ 💻) This beautiful place feels more like a B&B than a hostel, and the prices reflect that. Rent a bike ($8 per hour) for the nearby Tony Knowles Coastal Trail.

MIDRANGE

Chelsea Inn (☎ 907-276-5002, 800-770-5002; www.chelseainnalaska.com; 3836 Spenard Rd; s/d incl breakfast $90/100, with shared bath $79/89; 💻 👶) This small European-style inn has comfortable rooms with a communal kitchen, cribs for the tots, continental breakfast and free transportation from the airport. What more could you want?

Caribou Inn (☎ 907-272-0444, 800-272-5878; www.cariboubnb.com; 501 L St; s/d incl breakfast $119/129, with shared bath $99/109; ☒) Ideal downtown location, and the 14 rooms, though small and a bit worn around the edges, are definitely acceptable and come with a full breakfast.

City Garden B&B (☎ 907-276-8686; www.citygarden.biz; 1352 W 10th Ave; r $100-150; ☒ 💻) This open, sunny, gay-and-lesbian-friendly place has three rooms, one with a private bath.

B&B on the Park (☎ 907-277-0878, 800-353-0878; www.bedandbreakfastonthepark.net; 602 W 10th Ave; r $125; ☒) The location of this beautifully restored 1946 log church is convenient and five rooms have their own private bath.

Anchorage Downtown Hotel (☎ 907-258-7669; www.anchoragedowntownhotel.com; 826 K St; r $149; ☒ 💻 📶) Although not exactly downtown, this small hotel is a pleasant place to stay, with 16 rooms that feature private baths, coffeemakers, small refrigerators and microwaves.

Lake Hood Inn (☎ 907-258-9321; 866-663-9322 www.lakehoodinn.com; 4702 Lake Spenard Dr; r $149-169; ☒ 💻) If you're infatuated with floatplanes, book a room here. This spotless upscale home, with four guest rooms, is adorned with airplane artifacts while outside you can watch a parade of floatplanes lift off from the lake.

Puffin Inn (☎ 907-243-4044, 866-494-4841; www.puffininn.net; 4400 Spenard Rd; r $149-185, ste 194-221;

☒ 💻 📶) The Puffin Inn has three tiers of fine rooms, from 26 sardine-can economy rooms to full suites. Accessible via a free 24-hour airport shuttle.

TOP END

Anchorage Grand Hotel (☎ 907-929-8888, 888-800-0640; www.anchoragegrand.com; 505 W 2nd Ave; r $205; ☒ 💻 📶) This small but luxurious hotel features 30 spacious suites that include full kitchens and separate living and bedroom areas. Many rooms overlook Ship Creek and Cook Inlet, and the hotel's downtown location is convenient to everything.

Millennium Alaskan Hotel (☎ 907-243-2300, 800-544-0553; www.millenniumhotels.com; 4800 Spenard Rd; r $219-349; ☒ 💻 📶 👪) A large, 248-room resort with a woodsy lodge feel overlooking Lake Spenard four miles from downtown. Kids love the mounted animals and fish.

Hilton Anchorage (☎ 907-272-7411, 800-245-2527; www.hiltonanchorage.com; 500 W 3rd Ave; r $290; ☒ 💻 📶) The Hilton has the best location of any of the luxury hotels, right in the heart of downtown. If you're going to pay this much, ask for a room with a view of Cook Inlet.

Eating

In Anchorage you'll enjoy great menus, from Polynesian and Mexican to good old burgers, and clean air. All restaurants and bars went smoke-free in 2007.

BUDGET

New Sagaya's City Market (☎ 907-274-6173; W 13th Ave; 🕑 6am-10pm Mon-Sat, 8am-9pm Sun) Eclectic and upscale, this grocery store has a great deli specializing in Asian fare and has seating indoors and outdoors.

Arctic Roadrunner (☎ 907-561-1245; 5300 Old Seward Hwy; burgers $5-6; 🕑 10:30am-9pm Mon-Sat) Since 1964 this place has been turning out beefy burgers that can be enjoyed outdoors while watching salmon spawn up Campbell Creek.

Salmon Express (606 W Northern Lights Blvd; fast food $5-9; 🕑 10:30am-6pm Mon-Fri) It serves salmon chowder, salmon kabobs and the recommended salmon quesadillas from the most ramshackle little drive-through stand imaginable.

our pick Snow City Café (☎ 907-272-2489; 1034 W 4th Ave; breakfast dishes $7-13; lunch mains $9-11; 🕑 7am-4pm Sat) This busy café serves healthy grub to a mix of clientele that ranges from the tattooed to the up-and-coming. For breakfast skip the usual eggs and toast and try a bowl of Snow City granola with dried fruit, honey and nuts instead.

Bear Tooth Grill (☎ 907-276-4200; 1230 W 27th St; burgers $8-12, dinner mains $10-20; 🕑 11am-11:30pm) A popular hangout with an adjacent movie theatre, the Bear Tooth Grill serves excellent burgers and seafood as well as Mexican and Asian fusion dishes.

MIDRANGE

Greek Corner (☎ 907-276-2820; 302 W Fireweed Ln; lunch mains $7-12, dinner mains $12-20; 🕑 11am-10pm Mon-Fri, noon-10pm Sat, 4pm-10pm Sun) Best moussaka and stuffed grape leaves in Alaska.

Sack's Café (☎ 907-274-4022; 328 G St; lunch mains $9-13, dinner mains $18-34; 🕑 11am-2:30pm & 5-9pm Mon-Thu, 11am-2:30pm & 5-10:30pm Fri & Sat, 10am-2:30pm & 5-9pm Sun) A bright, colorful restaurant serving Asian-Mediterranean fusion fare that is consistently creative (reservations recommended).

Bombay (☎ 907-277-1200; 555 W Northern Lights Blvd; mains $15-20; 🕑 11am-2pm & 5-9pm) Skip the mediocre lunch buffet and order straight off the menu. Don't forget to try the samosas.

Moose's Tooth Pub & Pizzeria (☎ 907-258-2537; 3300 Old Seward Hwy; medium pizza $16-22; 🕑 10:30am-11:30pm Mon-Thu, to 12:30am Fri & Sat, 11am-11:30pm Sun) An Anchorage institution serving 18 custom-brewed beers including monthly specials, and 50 gourmet pizzas.

TOP END

Glacier Brewhouse (☎ 907-274-2739; 737 W 5th Ave; lunch mains $11-17, dinner mains $18-37; 🕑 11am-10pm Sun-Thu, 11am-11pm Fri & Sat) Grab a table overlooking the three giant copper brewing tanks and enjoy Alaskan seafood and rotisserie-grilled ribs and chops with a pint of oatmeal stout.

Jen's Restaurant (☎ 907-561-5367; 701 W 36th Ave; lunch mains $10-22; dinner mains $18-36; 🕑 11am-2pm Mon-Fri, 6-10pm Tue-Sat) Innovative, Scandinavian-accented cuisine emphasizing fresh ingredients and elaborate presentation. There's also a wine bar with music and a menu of tapas.

Drinking

Crush (☎ 907-865-9198; 343 W 6th Ave) This swanky wine bar serves 'bistro bites' – a menu of appetizers and salads. It a great place for a nibble and a glass wine.

Snow Goose & Sleeping Lady Brewing Co (☎ 907-277-7727; 717 W 3rd Ave) If the sun is setting over Cook Inlet and the Alaska Range, head to the rooftop deck of this brewpub. Only the beer is better than the view.

Bernie's Bungalow Lounge (☎ 907-276-8808; 626 D St) Pretty people, pretty drinks: this is the place to see and be seen. On Thursdays bands play on the tiki torch-lit patio, on the weekends it's DJs.

Entertainment

Check the Anchorage Press and Friday's Anchorage Daily News for the latest entertainment listings.

Mad Myrna's (☎ 907-276-9762; 530 E 5th Ave; cover Sat & Sun $5-10) A fun, cruisy bar with line-dancing on Thursday, drag shows on Friday and dance music most other nights after 9pm.

our pick Chilkoot Charlie's (☎ 907-272-1010; 2435 Spenard Rd) 'Coots,' as locals call this beloved landmark, is big and brash, with 10 bars, four dance floors and sawdust everywhere. Some amazing bands have played here: Doobie Brothers, Blue Oyster Cult and Green Day, among others.

Humpy's Great Alaskan Alehouse (☎ 907-276-2337; 610 W 6th Ave) Live music nightly from around 9pm, running the gamut from acoustic folk and ska to disco retrospective. All of it can be enjoyed with more than 40 drafts on tap, the most of any bar in Anchorage.

Eccentric Theatre Company (☎ 907-274-2599; 413 D St) This may be the best live theater in town, staging everything from Hamlet to a Mel Brooks' jazz musical based on the poetry of Don Marquis. Only in Anchorage…

Shopping

Oomingmak Musk Ox Producers Co-op (☎ 907-272-9225; www.qiviut.com; 604 H St; 🕘 10am-6pm) Handles a variety of very soft, very warm and very expensive garments made of arctic musk-ox wool, hand-knitted in isolated Inupiaq villages.

REI (☎ 907-272-4565; 1200 W Northern Lights Blvd; 🕘 10am-8pm Mon-Fri, 10am-7pm Sat, 10am-6pm Sun) The newly expanded REI has the city's finest selection of backpacking, kayaking and camping gear.

ANC Auxiliary Craft Shop (☎ 907-729-1122; 4315 Diplomacy Dr; 🕘 10am-2pm Mon-Fri, 11am-2pm 1st & 3rd Sat of month) On the 1st floor of the Alaska Native Medical Center; has some of the finest Alaska Native arts and crafts available to the public.

Getting There & Around

Ted Stevens Anchorage International Airport (ANC; ☎ 907-266-2525; www.dot.state.ak.us/anc/index.shtml) has frequent inter- and intrastate flights. Terminals are off International Airport Rd. Alaska Airlines (☎ 800-426-0333; www.alaskaair.com) flies to 19 Alaskan towns, including Fairbanks, Juneau, Nome and Barrow. Era Aviation (☎ 800-866-8394; www.flyera.com) flies to Cordova, Valdez, Kodiak and Homer. Pen Air (☎ 800-448-4226; www.penair.com) serves southwest Alaska.

Alaska Shuttle (☎ 907-338-8888, 907-694-8888; www.alaskashuttle.net) offers door-to-door transportation between the airport and downtown and South Anchorage (one to three people $30) and Eagle River ($45). The city's bus service (People Mover) picks up from both terminals (bus 7) on a route that heads back downtown.

Advantage Car & Van Rental (☎ 907-243-8806, 888-877-3585; 4211 Spenard Rd) rents compacts for daily/weekly $70/42, as does Denali Car Rental (☎ 907-276-1230, 800-757-1230; 1209 Gambell St) for daily/weekly $65/390. Avoid picking up a car at the airport as you will be hit with a 32% rental tax, as opposed to 18% in the city.

Alaska Direct Bus Line (☎ 800-770-6652; www.alaskadirectbusline.com) has regular services to Glennallen ($75, three hours), and Tok ($105, eight hours). Alaska/Yukon Trails (☎ 800-770-7275; www.alaskashuttle.com) goes to Denali ($75, five hours) and Fairbanks ($99, nine hours). Seward Bus Lines (☎ 907-563-0800; www.sewardbuslines.net) goes to Seward ($50, 2½ hours), while Homer Stage Lines (☎ 907-868-3914; www.homerstageline.com) will take you to Homer ($78, five hours).

Alaska Railroad (☎ 907-265-2494, 800-544-0552; www.akrr.com) goes south to Whittier (adult/child $65/33, 2½ hours) and Seward (adult/child $75/38, four hours), and north to Denali (adult/child $146/73, eight hours) and Fairbanks (adult/child $210/105, 12 hours).

People Mover (☎ 907-343-6543; www.peoplemover.org; adult/child $1.75/1) is the local bus service; its main terminal is at the Downtown Transit Center (cnr W 6th Ave & G St).

AROUND ANCHORAGE

Seward Hwy runs south of Anchorage, squeezed between the mountains and Turnagain Arm, where motorists often pull over to watch beluga whales. At Portage, a short railroad and toll road runs to Whittier for the ferry to Valdez. Portage Glacier Access Rd leads to the Begich-Boggs Visitors Center (☎ 907-783-2326; 🕘 9am-6pm), 5 miles south of Portage, and Portage Glacier. Gray Line (☎ 907-277-5581; www.graylinealaska.com; 6441 Interstate Circle) offers hour-long cruises (adult/child $29/14.50),

WORTH THE TRIP: GIRDWOOD

Enfolded into mighty peaks famed for skiing, and overlooking the beauty of Turnagain Arm, Girdwood is a magnet for epicurean urbanites, artists and hippies successful in spite of themselves. With fine restaurants, great hiking, a colorful town center and not one but two trams, it's a must.

At Hotel Alyeska (☎ 907-754-2111; www.alyeskaresort.com; 1000 Arlberg Ave; d $199-239, ste $440-2200; 🏊 🚭 💻 📶) in Girdwood, you can ride a tram to explore the alpine area, and then enjoy its mountaintop restaurant, Seven Glaciers (☎ 907-754-2237; dinner mains $28-52; 🕒 5:30-9:30pm), before heading back down.

The Crow Pass Trail, 5.8 miles north of Alyeska Hwy on Crow Creek Rd, is a short but beautiful alpine hike that features gold-mining relics and an alpine lake, and Dall sheep are usually on the slopes above. It's 4 miles to Raven Glacier, the traditional turnaround point of the trail. Refuel after the hike at Maxine's Glacier City Bristol (☎ 907-783-1234; Crow Creek Rd; dinner mains $15-22; 🕒 5pm-midnight; Wed-Mon), a Mediterranean bistro with a Girdwood feel (friendly dogs congregate outside while their owners eat). Your lamb shawarma is accompanied by live music on Friday and Saturday nights.

the only way to see the entire glacier. There are two USFS campgrounds along Portage Glacier Access Rd: Black Bear Campground (campsites $14) and Williwaw Campground ($28).

Northeast of Anchorage, Glenn Hwy runs 13 miles to Eagle River Rd – a beautiful mountainside trip. The Eagle River Nature Center (☎ 907-694-2108; 32750 Eagle River Rd; 🕒 10am-5pm; admission per vehicle $5) offers wildlife displays and scenic hiking. Near Palmer, 42 miles north of Anchorage, Hatcher Pass is an alpine paradise, with hiking, parasailing, gold-rush artifacts and panoramas of the Talkeetna Mountains.

our pick Hatcher Pass Lodge (☎ 907-745-5897; www.hatcherpasslodge.com; Mile 17.5 Hatcher Pass Rd; r/cabin $95/165; 🚭) puts you above the treeline for spectacular views of the mountains surrounding Independence Mine State Historic Park and offers cabins and a restaurant. Or you can stay at Hatcher Pass B&B (☎ 907-745-6788, 877-745-6788; www.hatcherpassbb.com; Mile 6.6 Palmer-Fishhook Rd; cabin s/d $109/124; 🚭 💻 📶).

KENAI PENINSULA

This wonderful region, broken up by mountains, fjords and glaciers and laced with hiking trails and salmon-filled rivers, is a popular playground for both tourists and locals. More than half the population of the state lives within a two-hour drive of Kenai Peninsula. Even if you despise crowds, there are easy escapes into the wilderness.

Seward

Seward is an unpolished gem, rewarding visitors with small-town charm and phenomenal access to the mountains and sea. Founded in 1903 as an ice-free port at the southern end of the Alaska Railroad, Seward prospered in the gold rush as it was located at the beginning of the Iditarod Trail. It also survived the devastating 1964 Good Friday earthquake.

The Chamber of Commerce (☎ 907-224-8051; www.sewardak.org; 2001 Seward Hwy/3rd Ave; 🕒 8am-6pm Mon-Thu, to 8pm Fri, 9am-5pm Sat, 10am-3pm Sun) serves as the visitor center. There's also a USFS office (☎ 907-224-3374; 334 4th Ave; 🕒 8am-5pm Mon-Fri) and the Kenai Fjords National Park Visitor Center (☎ 907-224-3175; www.nps.gov/kefj; 1212 4th Ave; 🕒 8am-6pm) for hiking and paddling information. Grant Electronics (☎ 907-224-7015; 222 4th Ave; per hr $8; 🕒 9am-6pm) has internet access.

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

our pick Alaska SeaLife Center (☎ 800-224-2525; www.alaskasealife.org; 301 Railway Ave; adult/child $20/10; 🕒 8am-7pm; 👪) is the only cold-water marine-science facility in the western hemisphere. It's home to a thousand fish, nearly all from Alaskan waters, and is the top attraction on the Kenai Peninsula. Plan to spend an afternoon here watching puffins, otters and 2000lb Steller sea lions glide past the two-storey viewing windows.

Six miles south of town is Caines Head State Recreation Area (per person $5), which was fortified during WWII to guard the entrance of Resurrection Bay after the Japanese bombed the island of Unalaska. Exploring the bunkers, gun emplacements and surrounding alpine country makes for an intriguing way to spend a day. You can access the area on foot at low tide along the Coastal Trail, or paddle to it with Kayak Adventures Worldwide (☎ 907-224-3960; www.kayakak.com; 328 3rd Ave; day trip $125). Miller's Landing Campground (☎ 907-224-5739, 866-541-5739; www.millerslandingak.com; Lowell Point Rd; one way/round-trip $38/48) also runs a water taxi to the state park.

Seward's other great hike is the Mt Marathon Trail, a 3-mile (round-trip) walk to spectacular views on the mountain overlooking Seward.

SLEEPING

Snow River Hostel (☎ 907-440-1907; www.snowriverhostel.org; Mile 16 Seward Hwy; dm/d $20/50; ☒) Out of town, but highly recommended for its wooded tranquility.

Ballaine House B&B (☎ 907-224-2362; www.superpage.com/ballaine; 437 3rd Ave; r $50-82; ☒) This B&B is in one of the original Seward homes and does cook-to-order breakfasts.

Van Gilder Hotel (☎ 800-204-6835; www.vangilderhotel.com; 308 Adams St; d with/without bath $139-219/109; ☒ 📶) Seward's oldest hotel, which means two things: Victorian charm and brass beds. The European pensions with shared baths are a bargain.

Seward Windsong Lodge (☎ 907-224-7116; www.sewardwindsong.com; Mile 0.5 Exit Glacier Rd; r $179-309; ☒ 💻 📶) This Alaska Native–corporation-owned place is immaculate, modern and snazzy, but devoid of good views and soul. There's free shuttle transportation to downtown.

EATING & DRINKING

Smoke Shack (☎ 907-224-7427; 411 Port Ave; breakfast & lunch dishes $6-11; 🕑 6am-8pm) Housed in a rail car, this tiny joint has the best breakfast in town, with biscuits and gravy made from scratch.

Yoly's Bistro (☎ 907-224-3295; 220 4th Ave; lunch mains $7-14, dinner mains $12-25; 🕑 11am-10pm) The menu has a delicious blend of curries, seafood, and burgers, with a decent wine and beer selection. Listen to live music on weekends.

Ray's Waterfront (☎ 907-224-5606; breakfast & lunch dishes $10-16, dinner mains $19-31; 🕑 11am-10pm) Hands down, this is Seward's culinary high point, with attentive service, picture-postcard views and the finest seafood above water.

Yukon Bar (☎ 907-224-3063; cnr 4th Ave & Washington St) has live music and can get festive at night. Head to Resurrect Art Gallery Coffee House (☎ 907-224-7161; 320 3rd Ave; 🕑 7am-7pm; ☒) for a latte and a quieter atmosphere.

GETTING THERE & AWAY

Seward Bus Lines (☎ 907-224-3608; www.sewardbuslines.net) runs daily to Anchorage ($50, 2½ hours). Alaska Railroad (☎ 800-544-0552; www.akrr.com) takes a spectacular daily route to Anchorage (adult/child $75/38, four hours).

Kenai Fjords National Park

South of Seward is Kenai Fjords National Park. The park's main features are the 917-sq-mile Harding Icefield and the tidewater glaciers that calve into the sea. Even though it's making a fast retreat, Exit Glacier, at the end of Exit Glacier Rd, is still the most popular attraction. There's a visitor center and a paved 0.25-mile trail to a glacier overlook. Hikers can climb a difficult 5 miles to the edge of the ice field – worth it for the spectacular views. The park visitor center is in Seward (p1093).

The best marine-wildlife cruises in the state are the tour boats that run into Kenai Fjords. Major Marine Tours (☎ 907-224-8030, 800-764-7300; www.majormarine.com) offers a half-day Resurrection Bay tour (adult/child $69/34) and a full-day tour viewing Holgate Arm ($136/68). The latter tour is a local favorite for its wildlife and prime rib and salmon buffet feast (adult/child $19/9).

Sterling Hwy

Paved Sterling Hwy arcs around the Kenai Peninsula, passing Kenai National Wildlife Refuge, where you might see moose, bears, eagles, salmon and anglers. Head to Kenai, which has good views and some Russian history, and then to Captain Cook Strait Recreation Area, which is off the fishing circuit. South of Soldotna, the scenic highway hugs the coastline, passing through small villages with campgrounds and great clamming beaches. Picturesque Ninilchik has a Russian accent, and Eagle Watch Hostel (☎ 907-567-3905; home.gci.net/~theeaglewatch; Mile 3 Oil Well Rd; dm/r $15/40; ☒) is 3 miles east of the Sterling Hwy in a gorgeous rural setting where you can see eagles.

Homer

Colorful and hip Homer sits on beautiful Kachemak Bay at the end of Sterling Hwy, facing awe-inspiring mountains and glaciers. The town began attracting alternative types in the 1960s, and is now home to artists and aging hippies. Homer Visitor Center (☎ 907-235-7740; www.homeralaska.org; 201 Sterling Hwy; 🕑 9am-7pm Mon-Fri, 10am-6pm Sat & Sun) has courtesy phones to book rooms or tours. The Homer Library (☎ 907-235-3180; 500 Hazel Ave; 🕑 10am-6pm Mon, Wed, Fri & Sat, 10am-8pm Tue & Thu) is impressive and has free internet access.

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

The recently renovated Pratt Museum (☎ 907-235-8635; 3779 Bartlett St; adult/child $6/3; ⏰ 10am-6pm) is the best on the peninsula, with exhibits on the Exxon Valdez oil spill and the dangers fisherman face on Kachemak Bay. Intriguing wildlife exhibits are found at the free Alaska Islands & Ocean Visitor Center (☎ 907-235-6961; www.islandsandocean.org; 95 Sterling Hwy; ⏰ 9am-6pm).

Homer Spit is a 4.5-mile sand bar that hums with tourists clamming, camping on the beach and exploring the harbor by boat. The best hiking is along the beaches, particularly Bishop's Beach Trail at Homer's Bishop Park, and at Kachemak Bay State Park, located across Kachemak Bay.

SLEEPING

Karen Hornaday Memorial Campground (tent/RV sites $8/15) Below the bluffs just north of downtown, this campground is less busy than those on the Spit.

Homer Hostel (☎ 907-235-1463; www.homerhostel.com; 304 W Pioneer Ave; dm $25, s/d $52/65) A bit cluttered, this hostel is perfectly located right downtown with no lockout.

Driftwood Inn (☎ 907-235-8019, 800-478-8019; www.thedriftwoodinn.com; cnr Main St & Bunnell Ave; d $85-170; 📶) Quiet yet centrally located, this inn has rooms ranging from tiny 'ship quarters' to large rooms with oceanfront views. Fall asleep to the sound of the waves.

Old Town B&B (☎ 907-235-7558; www.oldtownbedandbreakfast.com; 106 W Bunnell Ave; d $95-115) Three beautiful rooms with great views and lots of antiques; rates include a gourmet breakfast at Panarelli's Café next door.

Ocean Shores Motel (☎ 907-235-7775, 800-770-7775; www.akoceanshores.com; 451 Sterling Hwy; d $129-199; 📶) A downtown motel with clean and spacious rooms, most with pleasant decks. Operated by a serious kayak buff.

Bear Creek Lodging (☎ 907-235-8484; Bear Creek Dr; www.bearcreekwineryalaska.com; ste $225; ☒) Situated on a stunning hillside at the Bear Creek Winery, this place has two posh suites and a hot tub overlooking the vineyard. This is Alaska?

EATING & DRINKING

Two Sisters Bakery (☎ 907-235-2280; 233 W Bunnell Ave; light meals $3-9; ⏰ 7am-8pm Mon-Sat, 9am-4pm Sun) A beloved Homer institution with espresso and tables on a porch overlooking the bay.

Fresh Sourdough Express (☎ 907-235-7571; 1316 Ocean Dr; breakfast dishes $6-10, lunch & dinner mains $6-11; ⏰ 7am-9pm; 🚸) Alaska's first green restaurant where everything is organic and as much as possible locally grown.

Café Cups (☎ 907-235-8330; 162 W Pioneer Ave; dinner mains $11-30; ⏰ 4:30-9:30pm Tue-Sat) Has a wacky exterior (think Antoni Gaudí) and an equally fun, eclectic-yet-refined menu that includes excellent curries and hand-cut rib-eyes.

our pick Fat Olives (☎ 907-235-8488; 276 Ohlson Ln; dinner mains $16-29; ⏰ 11am-9:30pm) In this chic and hyper-popular pizza joint/wine bar, you could gorge affordably on appetizers such as prosciutto-wrapped Alaska scallops, delicious mains like wood oven-roasted rack of lamb or a huge slice of pizza to go ($4).

Salty Dawg Saloon (Homer Spit Rd) Maybe the most-colorful bar on the Kenai Peninsula, the Salty Dawg is one of those places that's famous for being famous.

GETTING THERE & AWAY

Era Aviation (☎ 800-866-8394; www.flyera.com) flies frequently from Anchorage. The Alaska Marine Highway (☎ 907-235-8449; www.ferryalaska.com) sails three times a week to Seldovia ($33) and four to five times weekly to Kodiak ($74). Polar Car Rental (☎ 800-876-6417; Homer airport terminal; ⏰ 24hr) rents subcompacts for $65 a day. Homer Stage Line (☎ 907-235-2252; www.homerstageline.com) provides a bus service to Anchorage ($78, five hours).

PRINCE WILLIAM SOUND

Enclosed in a jagged-edged circle and infused with fjords and glaciers, Prince William Sound is a stunner. With only three cities, the 15,000-sq-mile region is mostly wilderness packed with quiet coves, rainy islands and abundant wildlife. Don't pass through without splurging on a marine-wildlife boat tour or a kayak adventure.

Whittier

At the western end of Prince William Sound, this strange little town was built by the military as a WWII warm-water port. A tunnel was drilled through solid rock to connect it with the main line of the Alaska Railroad. In 2000, the tunnel was converted to handle vehicles and Whittier's first luxury hotel opened up shortly after that.

Prince William Sound Kayak Center (☎ 907-472-2452, 877-472-2452; www.pwskayakcenter.com; Eastern Ave) offers rentals (single/double $50/80) and guided tours, including day-long excursions to Blackstone Bay (for two people $425).

If you're looking for a place to stay, June's B&B (☎ 907-472-2396, 888-472-2396; www.breadnbuttercharters.com; Lot 7, Harbor View Rd; condos $155-275; ⊠) offers insight into the local lifestyle by putting you up in comfortable suites atop Begich Towers. At the Inn at Whittier (☎ 907-472-7000; www.innatwhittier.com; 1 Harbor Loop Rd; r $219-399; 💻 ⊠) the rooms are bland but the view isn't – make sure you spend the $20 extra for a seaside room.

A train leaves Whittier daily for Anchorage (adult/child $65/33, 2½ hours). The Alaska Marine Highway sails three times per week direct to Valdez ($89) and Cordova ($89).

Valdez

Just 25 miles east of Columbia Glacier, the ice-free port of Valdez is the southern terminus of the Trans-Alaska Pipeline. Valdez first boomed when 4000 gold seekers passed through, heading for the Klondike. After the 1964 earthquake, the city was rebuilt 4 miles further east.

The Valdez Visitor Information Center (☎ 907-835-4636; www.valdezalaska.org; 200 Fairbanks Dr; ⏲ 8am-7pm Mon-Sat, noon-7pm Sun) has information about the area and courtesy phones to book accommodations. Valdez Consortium Library (☎ 907-835-4632; 212 Fairbanks St; ⏲ 10am-6pm Mon & Fri, 10am-8pm Tue-Thu, to 6pm Sat) has free internet access.

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

The Valdez Museum (☎ 907-835-2764; 217 Egan Dr; adult/child $6/free; ⏲ 9am-5pm) is packed with displays, including the first barrel of oil to flow from the Trans-Alaska Pipeline and photos of Valdez being shaken by the 1964 Good Friday earthquake. The Maxine & Jesse Whitney Museum (☎ 907-834-1690; 303 Lowe St; adult/child $5/3; ⏲ 9am-7pm; 👪) is devoted to Alaska Native culture and Alaskan wildlife, and features ivory and baleen artwork and natural-history displays.

The magnificent Columbia Glacier is retreating, but its 3-mile-wide face can still be seen from Alaska Marine Highway ferries going to or from Whittier. For a longer and much closer look, Stan Stephens Glacier & Wildlife Cruises (☎ 907-835-4731, 866-867-1297; www.stanstephenscruises.com; 112 N Harbor Dr) runs seven-hour boat tours to Columbia Glacier (adult/child $112/56) and a nine-hour tour that also includes Meares Glacier (adult/child $147/73).

Although not blessed with the hiking options that Anchorage and Juneau possess, Valdez still offers a number of scenic trails. The 12.8-mile Shoup Bay Trail, which leads to its namesake bay, includes walk-in campsites halfway through the hike. For white-water enthusiasts, Keystone Raft & Kayak Adventures (☎ 907-835-2606, 800-328-8460; www.alaskawhitewater.com; ½-day $105) runs raft trips on the Class IV Tsaina River. Anadyr Adventures (☎ 907-835-2814, 800-865-2925; www.anadyradventures.com; 225 Harbor Dr) offers kayak rentals (single/double per day $45/65), water-taxi service and guided day trips.

SLEEPING

Bear Paw RV Campground (☎ 907-835-2530; 101 N Harbor Dr; tent/RV sites $20/30) Conveniently located right downtown; has showers and laundry – and a great little wooded glade just for tents!

L&L's B&B (☎ 907-835-4447; www.lnlalaska.com; 533 W Hanagita St; r with/without bath $85/75; ⊠ 💻) Five rooms in a big, airy suburban home with two bicycles at your disposal.

Downtown B&B Inn (☎ 907-835-2791; 800-478-2791; www.alaskan.com/downtowninn; 113 Galena Dr; r incl breakfast $110, with shared bath $95; 📶) More hotel than B&B, though you do get breakfast with your clean, basic room.

Lakehouse B&B (☎ 907-835-4752; www.cvinternet.net/~devens; Mile 6 Richardson Hwy; r $130-145; ⊠ 💻) This ambling, sunny place has six rooms, all spacious and each with its own deck overlooking the pretty Robe Lake. If you've got your own wheels, this is a good option.

EATING

Alaska Halibut House (☎ 907-835-2788; 208 Meals Ave; fish $4-10; ⏲ 11am-8pm Mon-Sat) Frying up delicious local fish, this place is what every fast-food joint should be.

Ernesto's Taqueria (☎ 907-835-2519; 328 Egan Dr; fast food $7-9; ⏲ 5:30am-9:30pm) Locally loved, this place serves large portions of serviceable Mexican food with a selection of Mexican beer.

Fu Kung (☎ 907-835-5255; 207 Kobuk Dr; lunch mains $7-10, dinner mains $12-17; ⏲ 11am-11pm Mon-Sat, 4pm-11pm Sun) In a structure that wonderfully fuses Asian and Alaskan themes, this restaurant has fantastic Chinese food and lunch specials including egg roll and quality wonton soup.

GETTING THERE & AWAY

Era Aviation (☎ 800-866-8394; www.flyera.com) makes the 40-minute flight daily to Anchorage. Alaska

Marine Highway (☎ 800-642-0066; www.ferryalaska.com) ferries sail regularly to Whittier ($89) and Cordova ($50).

Cordova

At the eastern end of the sound, this beautiful little town's population of 2600 doubles in summer with fishery and cannery workers. First settled by the nomadic Eyak, who lived on the enormous salmon runs, Cordova became a fish-packing center in 1889.

The Cordova Library (☎ 907-424-6667; 622 1st Ave; 🕒 10am-8pm Tue-Fri, 1-5pm Sat & Sun) has visitor information, including B&B listings, and internet access. The USFS office (☎ 907-424-7661; 612 2nd St; 🕒 8am-5pm Mon-Fri) has free maps of hiking trails accessible from the road.

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

The Cordova Museum (☎ 907-424-6665; 622 1st Ave; admission $1; 🕒 10am-6pm Mon-Fri; 10am-5pm Sat, 2-4pm Sun) has a small but intriguing collection that ranges from when the Russians arrived in the area to a heart-wrenching display on the Exxon Valdez oil spill. It will also store your pack during the day. The Ilanka Cultural Center (☎ 907-424-7903; 110 Nicholoff Way; admission free; 🕒 10am-5pm Mon-Fri) has a small but high-quality collection of Alaska Native art.

our pick Childs Glacier calving into the Copper River is a magnificent sight – it's part of the stunning scenery to be found along the 50-mile Copper River Hwy. Alaska River Expeditions (☎ 907-424-7238, 800-776-1864; www.alaskarafters.com; Mile 13 Copper River Hwy) offers a full-day bus tour to Childs Glacier ($85) or a half-day raft and hike adventure to Sheridan Glacier ($95).

SLEEPING & EATING

Northern Nights Inn (☎ 907-424-5356; www.northernnightsinn.com; cnr 3rd St & Council Ave; r from $85; ⊠ 💻) Rooms in this century-old house range from basic to suites with kitchenettes. Some have peek-a-boo views of the bay.

Reluctant Fisherman Inn (☎ 907-424-3272, 800-770-3272; www.reluctantfisherman.com; cnr Railroad & Council Aves; r $130-155; ⊠ 📶) Overhanging Orca Inlet, this place is as close to luxurious as Cordova gets.

Baja Taco Wagon (☎ 907-424-5599; Harbor Loop; fast food $7-12; 🕒 8am-9pm) Graft a bus onto a cabin, add flowers and nautical implements, and what do you have? The best fish-taco stand north of San Diego.

Killer Whale Café (☎ 907-424-7733; 1st St; breakfast $5-10, sandwiches & burgers $8-10; 🕒 6:30am-3pm Mon-Sat, to 1pm Sun) Serves hearty breakfasts and fresh soups, wraps and sandwiches.

Powder House Bar (☎ 907-424-3529; Mile 1.5 Copper River Hwy; dinner mains $9-11; 🕒 10am-late Mon-Sat, noon-late Sun) Features folk and country music along with its grub and drinks.

GETTING THERE & AWAY

Alaska Airlines (☎ 907-424-7151, 800-252-7522; www.alaskaair.com) flies daily from Anchorage and Juneau. Alaska Marine Highway (☎ 800-642-0066; www.ferryalaska.com) ferries run daily to Valdez ($50, 4 hours) or Whittier ($89, 6½ hours). Rent a car at Chinook Auto Rentals (☎ 907-424-5279, 877-424-5279; www.chinookautorentals.com; Mile 13 Copper River Hwy) for $55 per day.

Wrangell–St Elias National Park

Part of a 31,250-sq-mile wilderness area, this park is a crossroad of mountain ranges: Wrangell, Chugach and St Elias. Extensive ice fields and 100 major glaciers spill from the peaks, including one bigger than the state of Rhode Island. It's more difficult to visit than Denali National Park but no less impressive with mountainous scenery and numerous opportunities for wilderness adventure whether on foot or in a raft.

From Valdez, the Richardson Hwy is a jaw-dropping scenic route to Glennallen, past canyons, mountain passes and glaciers. The Wrangell–St Elias National Park Visitor Center (☎ 907-822-5234; www.nps.gov/wrst; Mile 106.8 Richardson Hwy; 🕒 9am-7pm) is in Copper Center.

A side road at Tonsina goes southeast to Chitina, which has the last place to fill up your tank. From there, the rugged Mt McCarthy Rd follows former railroad tracks 60 miles east through the stunning Chugach Mountains and across the mighty Copper River to the Kennicott River, where the road dead-ends. Here a footbridge is used to cross the river and access historic McCarthy and the abandoned copper-mining town of Kennecott.

McCarthy & Kennecott

Scenic and funky little McCarthy was the Wild West counterpart of the Kennecott company town and, to a degree, still is today. The historic buildings in McCarthy are inns, restaurants and bars that serve visitors arriving from the other side of the Kennicott River. The company town of Kennecott is the remains of what was one of the greatest and richest copper mines in the USA.

In 1900 miners discovered the rich Kennecott copper deposit, and a syndicate built 196 miles of railroad through the wilderness to take the ore to Cordova. For 30 years Kennecott worked around the clock, but in 1938 management closed the mine, giving workers two hours to catch the last train out. Despite some pilferage, Kennecott remains a remarkably preserved piece of US mining history. The Kennecott Visitor Center (☎ 907-554-1105; Kennicott Railroad Depot; 🕑 9am-5:30pm) is staffed by the NPS during the summer (June to August), and has displays and maps of the company town.

There's some good hiking around the glaciers, peaks and mines, as well as rafting on the Kennicott River. St Elias Alpine Guides (☎ 907-544-4445, 888-933-5427; www.steliasguides.com) offers historical walking tours of Kennecott ($25) and a half-day hike on Root Glacier ($65). Copper Oar (☎ 907-554-4453, 800-523-4453; www.copperoar.com) has a full-day whitewater raft trip that ends with a bush plane flight ($275).

our pick Kennicott River Lodge & Hostel (☎ 907-554-4441; www.kennicottriverlodge.com; dm/cabin/ste $28/100/150; 🚭) is a beautiful log lodge on the west side of the river with a 12-person sauna. A bit run-down but offering the lowest rates in McCarthy is Lancaster's Backpacker Hotel (☎ 907-554-4402; www.mccarthylodge.com; s/d $48/68). Near the ruins, Kennicott Glacier Lodge (☎ 907-258-2350, 800-582-5128; www.kennicottlodge.com; s/d from $169/259; 💻) is a sprawling lodge and restaurant overlooking its namesake glacier.

Backcountry Connection (☎ 907-822-5292, in Alaska 866-582-5292; www.kennicottshuttle.com) buses leave Glennallen daily for McCarthy via Chitina ($79). In McCarthy there's a five-hour layover to visit Kennecott; this long day trip costs $99. Ellis Air (☎ 907-822-3368; www.ellisair.com) flies from Anchorage to McCarthy via Gulkana twice weekly (one way/round-trip $300/600).

KODIAK ISLAND

Southwest of Kenai Peninsula, Kodiak Island is most famous for Kodiak brown bears, which grow huge from gorging on salmon. Accommodations and transportation are expensive, but the town is a refreshing change after visiting areas overrun by cruise ships and RVers.

The Kodiak Island Visitors Center (☎ 907-486-4782, 800-789-4782; www.kodiak.org; 100 Marine Way; 🕑 8am-7pm Mon-Tue, 9am-5pm Wed-Thu, 8am-7pm Fri, 10am-2pm & 5-9pm Sat, noon-5pm Sun) has lists of accommodations (including 20 B&Bs). The Homes Johnson Library (☎ 907-486-8686; 319 Lower Mill Rd; 🕑 10am-9pm Mon-Fri, 10am-5pm Sat, 1-5pm Sun) has free internet access.

Bear-watching is best from July to September, but usually involves a charter flight to a remote salmon stream through a company like Sea Hawk Air (☎ 907-486-8282, 800-770-4295; www.seahawkair.com; adult/child $475/350). Orcas Unlimited (☎ 907-539-1979; www.orcasunlimited.com) has guided full-day kayak outings ($160 to $200).

Bev's Bed & Make Your Own Darn Breakfast (☎ 907-486-8217; www.bevsbedandbreakfast.com; 1510 Mission Rd; r $90-120; 🚭 📶) You can't beat the price for what you get at Bev's; comfortable queen-size beds, a fully-stocked kitchen and 15-minute walk to downtown.

Salmon Run Guesthouse (☎ 907-486-0091; www.salmonrunguesthouse.com; 410 Hillside Dr; r $120-160; 🚭) It's a climb to this downtown B&B but the three guestrooms are like small apartments with fully-equipped kitchens and private entrances.

Both Alaska Airlines (☎ 800-252-7522; www.alaskaair.com) and carrier Era (☎ 800-866-8394; www.flyera.com) fly to Kodiak from Anchorage daily. Alaska Marine Highway (☎ 907-486-3800; www.ferryalaska.com) ferries connect Kodiak with Homer ($74) several times a week.

DENALI & THE INTERIOR

Mt McKinley, known to the native Athabascans as Denali, presides regally over Alaska's vast and diverse Interior, a region that stretches from lowland forests to the towering peaks and glaciers of the Alaska, Talkeetna and Wrangell ranges. This is Alaska's heartland: dogsleds and gold pans, roadhouses and fish wheels, moose on the side of the road and a seemingly endless stretch of pavement disappearing into the mountains.

The main route into this region is George Parks Hwy (Hwy 3), which winds 358 miles from Anchorage to Fairbanks, passing Denali National Park. The Richardson Hwy (Hwy 4) extends 366 miles south from Fairbanks to Valdez while the Glenn Hwy (Hwy 1) completes this Interior triangle by extending 189 miles from Anchorage to Glennallen. All the Interior roads are lined with turnoffs, campgrounds and hiking trails and are serviced by small towns with limited facilities and high prices.

DENALI NATIONAL PARK

This breathtaking wilderness area, which includes North America's highest mountain, attracts 400,000 visitors a year. A single road curves 91 miles through the heart of the park, leading to off-trail hiking opportunities, wildlife and stunning panoramas. The Denali Park Rd can be used only by official shuttle buses, which have limited seating. Numbers of overnight backpackers in the wilderness zones are also strictly limited. This means Disneyland-level crowds at the entrance but relative solitude once you're inside.

Wildlife, including mammals from marmots to moose, is easy to spot. Caribou, wolves and brown bears are crowd favorites. However, the main attraction is magnificent Mt McKinley, a high pyramid of rock, snow and glaciers rising from the valley floor. Clouds will obscure McKinley more often than not, so be prepared to wait for the big picture.

Information

The park entrance is at Mile 237.3 George Parks Hwy. The highway north and south of the park entrance is 'Glitter Gulch,' a touristy strip of private campgrounds, lodges, restaurants and facilities.

Begin your trip to Denali at the Wilderness Access Center (WAC; ☎ 907-683-9274; Mile 1 Denali Park Rd; 🕑 5am-8pm) to obtain shuttle-bus tickets, campsites and pay entrance fees (per person/family $10/20). Then head across the parking lot to the Backcountry Information Center (BIC; ☎ 907-683-9510; 🕑 9am-6pm) for a free backcountry permit if you want to overnight in Denali's backcountry. Finally stop at the new Denali Visitor Center (☎ 907-683-2294; www.nps.gov/dena; 🕑 8am-6pm; 👪) to learn what makes this park so special. If possible, plan the exact days you will be at Denali and reserve bus seats and campsites through Denali National Park Reservations (☎ 907-272-7275, 800-622-7275; www.reservedenali.com).

Shuttle buses provide access for day hiking and sightseeing, and can be reserved from late February for the following summer. In the backcountry you can get on or off buses along their routes. Buses leave the WAC regularly (5:30am to 4pm) for various stops, including Eielson Visitor Center (adult/child $31/free, four hours) and Wonder Lake ($43/free, 6½ hours). Special camper shuttle buses, with space for backpacks and mountain bikes, cost $30 per adult (children are free) to any point on the road.

Activities

For day hiking, get off the shuttle bus at any valley, riverbed or ridge that takes your fancy (no permit needed). For a guided walk, book at the WAC one or two days ahead.

For backcountry camping, you must get a backcountry permit from the BIC one day in advance. The park is divided into 43 zones, each with a regulated number of visitors. Some are more popular than others. Watch the Backcountry Simulator Program video at the BIC – it covers bears, river and backcountry safety – and check the quota board for an area you can access. You then go to the counter to book a camper shuttle bus and buy your maps.

Most cyclists book campsites at the WAC and then carry their bikes on the camper shuttle. Cycling is only permitted on roads. Rent bikes from Denali Outdoor Center (☎ 907-683-1925, 888-303-1925; www.denalioutdoorcenter.com; Mile 240.5 & Mile 247 Parks Hwy; per hr/day $7/40).

Several rafting companies run daily floats on the Nenana River. Denali Raft Adventures (☎ 907-683-2234, 888-683-2234; www.denaliraft.com; Mile 238 Parks Hwy) offers a wild canyon run through the gorge, as well as a milder Mt McKinley float ($84 per person).

Sleeping & Eating

Campsites inside the park cost between $9 and $20, and most can be reserved for a $4 fee. That includes Riley Creek, just inside the park entrance, which is usually overrun by RVers. Other campgrounds are spaced along the park road, the most popular being Wonder Lake (Mile 85 Park Rd; campsites $16), overlooking Mt McKinley, while Sanctuary River (Mile 23 Park Rd; campsites $9) makes a great base for day hikes.

Denali Mountain Morning Hostel (☎ 907-683-7503; www.hostelalaska.com; Mile 224 Parks Hwy; dm/d $32/80-95; ⊠ 💻 📶) A great place to get a bunk, stash your gear (or rent some) and catch a free shuttle to the park. Make reservations!

Denali Grizzly Bear Resort (☎ 907-683-2696, 866-583-2696; www.denaligrizzlybear.com; Mile 231.1 George Parks Hwy; campsites $24, r $192, tent cabin from $30-35, cabin $65-260) This place offers wooded campsites, platform tent cabins, rooms and 23 cabins, some featuring tons of Alaskan character.

Carlo Creek Lodge (☎ 907-683-2576; www.ccldenaliparkalaska.com; Mile 224 George Parks Hwy; cabins with/without bath $145/85; 💻 📶) About 13 miles south of the park entrance, this lodge offers a variety of creek-side accommodations.

Earthsong Lodge (☎ 907-683-2863; www.earthsonglodge.com; Mile 4 Stampede Rd, off Mile 251 Parks Hwy; cabins $155-195) North of Healy; rents out 12 private-bathroom cabins above the timberline at 1900ft – just a short climb away from stunning views of Mt McKinley.

Overlook Bar & Grill (☎ 907-683-2641; Mile 238.5 Parks Hwy; sandwiches & burgers $11-15; 🕐 11am-11pm) Way up on the hill over Glitter Gulch, the 'Big O' gets raves for its view, beer list and as the best bar at the entrance.

229 Parks (☎ 907-683-2567; Mile 229 Parks Hwy; dinner $24-34; 🕐 8-11am, 5-10pm Tue-Sun) South of McKinley Village, this excellent restaurant manages to be both epicurean and ardently environmental at the same time, emphasizing organic and locally grown foods.

Getting There & away

From the WAC inside the park, the Alaska/Yukon Trails (☎ 800-770-7275; www.alaskashuttle.com) bus departs for Anchorage ($75, six hours) and Fairbanks ($55, three hours).

The Alaska Railroad (☎ 907-265-2494, 800-544-0552; www.akrr.com) train departs from a depot near Riley Creek campground; it's expensive (adult/child Anchorage $146/73, Fairbanks $64/32) but very scenic.

GEORGE PARKS HWY

North of Anchorage, just past the Glenn Hwy (Hwy 1) turnoff, George Parks Hwy passes through Wasilla – the now famous home of ex-Gov Sarah Palin. A dramatic detour, the Fishook-Willow Rd between Palmer and Willow goes through Hatcher Pass (p1093), an alpine paradise with foot trails, gold-mining artifacts and panoramas of the Talkeetna Mountains.

Talkeetna

At Mile 98.7, a side road heads north to this interesting town. It was a miners supply center in 1901, and later a riverboat station and a railroad-construction headquarters. Since the 1950s, Mt McKinley mountaineers have made Talkeetna their staging post, and today the town is the most interesting along the George Parks Hwy. Just be aware that loads of cruise ship visitors invade this town throughout the summer. The Talkeetna/Denali Visitors Center (☎ 907-733-2688; www.talkeetnadenali.com; George Parks Hwy; 🕐 10am-6pm) has information about the area.

The Mountaineering Ranger Station (☎ 907-733-2231; cnr 1st & B Sts; 🕐 8am-6pm) handles expeditions to Mt McKinley and has displays that will interest even those who have no desire to stand on North America's highest peak. The four restored buildings of the Talkeetna Historical Society Museum (☎ 907-733-2487; adult/child $3/free; 🕐 10am-6pm) are a block south of Main St and houses exhibits on bush pilots and McKinley climbs.

For scenic flights to view Mt McKinley ($190 to $330), check out Hudson Air Service (☎ 907-733-2321, 800-478-2321; www.hudsonair.com) or K2 Aviation (☎ 907-733-2291, 800-764-2291; www.flyk2.com). If the day is clear, be prepared for a long wait, made worthwhile by an unforgettable flight.

SLEEPING & EATING

Talkeetna Hostel International (☎ 907-733-4678; www.talkeetnahostel.com; I St; dm/s/d $22/50/65; ☒ 💻) This well-loved hostel has coed dorm rooms, private rooms, a shared kitchen and even a converted VW van you can sleep in ($35). How cool is that?

Latitude 62 Lodge/Motel (☎ 907-733-2262; Mile 13.5 Talkeetna Spur Rd; s/d $68/79) If downtown Talkeetna is just too hippie-dippy for you, there's always this place, with hunting-lodge decor.

Talkeetna Alaskan Lodge (☎ 907-733-9500, 888-959-9590; www.talkeetnalodge.com; Mile 12.5 Talkeetna Spur Rd; r $309-409, ste 479-569; 💻 📶) This luxurious Alaska Native–corporation-owned place has 153 rooms and suites, a restaurant, a lounge and high prices. The hillside setting offers great views of Mt McKinley.

Mountain High Pizza Pie (☎ 907-733-1234; Main St; pizza slice $4, sandwiches $6-12; 🕐 11:30am-11pm) This arty, airy restaurant makes fabulous pizza that is served with a mug of one of Alaska's favorite microbrews.

Wildflower Café (☎ 907-733-2694; Main St; sandwiches $14, mains $22-32; 🕐 11am-9pm) This new entrant to the Talkeetna culinary scene is doing well with yummy burgers and large wholesome mains served on a large deck that's a perfect perch for people-watching.

Café Michele (☎ 907-733-5300; Talkeetna Spur Rd & 2nd St; lunch mains $13-17, dinner mains $18-35; 🕐 11am-10pm; ☒) Talkeetna's fanciest restaurant with international cuisine that takes off in Asia

SCENIC DRIVE: CHENA HOT SPRINGS

Start the morning hiking in Chena River State Recreational Area, which has a variety of walks, including the impressive Granite Tors Trail, a 15-mile loop. Then end the day at Chena Hot Springs Resort (☎ 907-451-8104; www.chenahotsprings.com; Mile 56.5 Chena Hot Springs Rd; campsites/yurts $20/65, r $189-249), where you can soak away those sore feet or have a cold one in its Aurora Ice Museum, the world's only year-round ice palace. The resort also offers economical yurts, a good restaurant and a bar where you can belly up and drink as if you were a local.

with dishes like coconut-curry rice, then suddenly jets down to the US South for a romping jambalaya.

GETTING THERE & AWAY

The Alaska Railroad (☎ 800-544-0552; www.akrr.com) from Anchorage stops at Talkeetna daily in summer (adult/child $89/45, 3½ hours) and heads north to Denali National Park (adult/child $89/45, four hours) and Fairbanks (adult/child $124/62, 8½ hours). Denali Overland Transportation (☎ 907-733-2384, 800-651-5221; www.denalioverland.com) runs shuttles between Anchorage and Talkeetna ($75, three hours).

FAIRBANKS

A spread-out, low-rise city, Fairbanks (population 96,888) features extremes of climate, colorful residents and gold fever. In a city that can hit -60°F (-70°C) in the winter, summer days average 70°F (21°C) and occasionally top 90°F (32°C). Downtown is roughly centered on Golden Heart Park, and Cushman St is more or less the main street.

Fairbanks was founded in 1901, when a trader could not get his riverboat any further up the Chena River. A gold strike made Fairbanks a boom town, with 18,000 residents settling there by 1908, but by 1920 the population had slumped to 1000. WWII, the Alcan Hwy and military bases produced minor booms, but the town took off as a construction base for the Trans-Alaska Pipeline in 1973 and still serves as a gateway to the North Slope. Just north of the city is Fort Knox, Alaska's largest gold mine.

Information

The new Morris Thomson Cultural & Visitor Center (☎ 907-456-5774, 800-327-5774; www.explorefairbanks.com; 101 Dunkel St; 🕒 8am-7pm), combines the maps and exhibits of the former Alaska Public Lands Information Center with the travel brochures and helpful staff of the Fairbanks Convention and Visitors Center.

Sights & Activities

Pioneer Park (☎ 907-459-1087; cnr Airport Way & Peger Rd; admission free; 🕒 stores noon-8pm, park 24hr; 👶) is a 44-acre park and the city's biggest attraction. The historical displays are impressive and include an old stern-wheeler, the railroad car that carried President Warren Harding, and giant gold dredgers.

Museum of the North (☎ 907-474-7505; 907 Yukon Dr; adult/child $10/free; 🕒 9am-9pm;) at the University of Alaska rivals the Anchorage Museum of History & Art as the state's most impressive cultural center. A $42 million expansion added a Alaska Native art gallery and a sound-and-light theatre that features the northern lights. But the most popular exhibit is still Blue Babe, a 36,000-year-old bison found preserved in the permafrost.

Canoeing options range from afternoon paddles to overnight trips; ask at 7 Bridges Boats & Bikes (☎ 907-479-0751; www.7gablesinn.com/7bbb; 4312 Birch Lane; canoe per day $35), at 7 Gables Inn. Alternatively, cruise the calm Chena River with a 3½-hour tour on the historic stern-wheeler Riverboat Discovery (☎ 907-479-6673, 866-479-6673; www.riverboatdiscovery.com; 1975 Discovery Dr; adult/child $55/38; 🕒 8:45am & 2pm; 👶).

Sleeping

Go North Hostel (☎ 907-479-7272; 866-236-7272; 3500 Davis Rd; tent cabins $25, campsites $12; 💻 📶) Fairbanks' best hostel houses backpackers in comfortable tent cabins, offers communal cooking in a bright kitchen cabin and boasts a dazzling array of services, including canoe-trip shuttles and guided backcountry expeditions.

Ah, Rose Marie (☎ 907-456-2040; www.akpub.com/akbbrv/ahrose.html; 302 Cowles St; s/d incl breakfast $65/90; 🚭 💻) This highly recommended downtown B&B has cozy rooms at an amazingly affordable rate and great breakfasts.

Golden North Motel (☎ 907-479-6201, 800-447-1910; www.goldennorthmotel.com; 4888 Old Airport Rd; s/d $79/89-106; 💻 📶) A friendly, family-owned place that is the cheapest respectable motel in town.

WORTH THE TRIP: CRUISING THE ALEUTIANS

The easiest way to see 'Bush Alaska' without flying is to hop onto the Alaska Marine Highway (☎ 800-642-0066; www.ferryalaska.com) when it makes its special runs to the eastern end of the Aleutian Islands. The MV Tustumena, a 290ft vessel that holds 220 passengers, is one of only two ferries in the Alaska Marine Highway fleet rated as an oceangoing ship; hence its nickname, the 'Trusty Tusty.' It is also one of the oldest vessels in the fleet, thus its other nickname: the 'Rusty Tusty.'

Once a month from May through September, the Tustumena leaves Kodiak on a Wednesday, and continues west to Chignik, Sand Point, King Cove, Cold Bay and False Pass, docking at each village for two hours, which is plenty of time to get off for a quick look around. It reaches Unalaska/Dutch Harbor by Saturday morning and stays put for five hours before backtracking.

A Kodiak–Unalaska ticket is adult/child $293/146, making the cruise one of the best bargains in public transportation. The scenery and wildlife are spectacular. You'll pass the perfect cones of several volcanoes, the treeless but lush green mountains of the Aleutians and distinctive rock formations and cliffs. Whales, sea lions, otters and porpoises are commonly sighted, and birdlife abounds. Occasionally a brown bear is seen rambling along the beach. More than 250 species of birds migrate through the Aleutians and if you don't know a puffin from a kittiwake, you can attend daily presentations by naturalists from the US Fish & Wildlife Service.

Viewing wildlife and scenery depends, however, on the weather. It can be an extremely rough trip at times, deserving its title 'the cruise through the cradle of the storms.' The smoothest runs are from June to August, while in the fall 40ft waves and 80-knot winds are the norm. That's the reason for barf bags near the cabins and Dramamine in the vending machines, right above the Reese Peanut Butter Cups. Its tiny bar – three stools, two tables – is called The Pitch And Roll Cocktail Lounge.

Keep in mind that the Tusty's solarium isn't as comfortable as most of the Southeast ferries for cabinless sleeping. Bring a good sleeping pad and loads of Cup-of-Noodles, instant oatmeal and tea (there's free hot water) if you want to avoid the restaurant onboard. Also bring a good book. On days when the fog surrounds the boat, there is little to look at but the waves lapping along the side.

Rooms tend to be on the small side but come with coffee and muffins in the morning.

7 Gables Inn (☎ 907-479-0751; www.7gablesinn.com; 4312 Birch Lane; r $90-130, apt $130-200; 💻) This B&B, just off the Chena River, is entered via a hothouse garden and offers plush rooms, some with Jacuzzis, as well as private apartments.

Pike's Waterfront Lodge (☎ 907-456-4500, 877-774-2400; www.pikeslodge.com; 1850 Hoselton Rd; r from $235; 💻 📶) An upscale place on the banks of the Chena River, amenities at this lodge include a steam room, sauna and a deck on the river.

Eating & Drinking

College Coffeehouse (☎ 907-374-0468; 3677 College Rd; 🕑 7am-midnight Mon-Fri, 8am-midnight Sat & Sun; 💻 📶) In Campus Corner Mall, this is one of the best spots in Fairbanks to pick up on the city's offbeat vibe. They often have live music.

Sam & Sharon's Sourdough Cafe (☎ 907-479-0523; University Ave at Cameron St; breakfast, burgers & sandwiches $7-11; 🕑 6am-10pm) Considered by many to be the town's best diner, this place, just down University Ave from campus, serves up sourdough pancakes all day long.

Lemongrass (☎ 907-456-2200; 388 Old Chena Pump Rd; mains $9-11; 🕑 11am-4pm & 5pm-10pm) Ignore the out-of-the-way, strip-mall setting – Fairbanks' best Thai food and most gracious service is found here.

Gambardella's Pasta Bella (☎ 907-457-4992; 706 2nd Ave; lunches $9-12, dinners $12-28; 🕑 11am-9pm Mon-Thu, to 10pm Fri & Sat, 4-9pm Sun) The place for Italian food in Fairbanks, with luscious pasta dishes, pizza and homemade bread. There's an outdoor café that's a delight during Fairbanks' long summer days.

Big Daddy's Barbecue (☎ 907-452-2501; 107 Wickersham St; sandwich $9-12, dinner $13-30; 🕑 11am-10pm Mon-Thu, to 11pm Fri & Sat) Claiming to be the 'northernmost southern barbecue,' Big Daddy's has great beef brisket, ribs, and pulled pork with all the down-home fixin's. There's live music Thursday through Saturday.

Palace Theatre & Saloon (☎ 907-456-5960; www.akvisit.com; adult/child $18/9) At Pioneer Park, this saloon comes alive at night with honky-tonk piano, can-can dancers and other acts in the Golden Heart Revue.

Getting There & Around

Alaska Airlines (☎ 800-252-7522; www.alaskaair.com) has seven flights daily to Anchorage with occasional bargains. Frontier Alaska (☎ 907-450-7200, 800-478-6779; www.frontierflying.com) also flies to Anchorage as well as throughout Arctic Alaska.

Arctic Rent-A-Car (☎ 907-479-8044; www.arcticrentacar.com; 4500 Dale Rd), near the airport, rents out compacts for around $50 a day with 200 free miles.

Alaska Direct Bus Lines (☎ 800-770-6652; www.alaskadirectbusline.com) makes a Fairbanks–Whitehorse run ($200, 15 hours) stopping at Tok ($80, five hours) along the way. Alaska/Yukon Trails (☎ 800-770-7275; www.alaskashuttle.com) offers daily connections to Denali National Park ($55, 2½ hours) and Anchorage ($99, eight hours). It also services Dawson City ($169, 10 hours).

The Alaska Railroad (☎ 800-544-0552; www.akrr.com) departs at 8:15am daily for Denali National Park (adult/child $64/32, three hours) and Anchorage (adult/child $210/105, 12 hours).

The Metropolitan Area Commuter Service (☎ 907-459-1011; www.co.fairbanks.ak.us/transportation) provides a local bus service (single ride/daily pass $1.50/3).

THE BUSH

The Bush is the vast area of Alaska that is not readily accessible by road or ferry. It includes Arctic Alaska, the Brooks Range, the Alaska Peninsula–Aleutian Islands chain and the Bering Sea coast. Traveling to the Bush usually involves small, expensive chartered aircraft. Facilities for travelers are pricey and very limited.

To visit Arctic Alaska, take the Dalton Hwy, a rough gravel road that goes 490 miles north from Fairbanks to Deadhorse, near Prudhoe Bay. You can tour the oil complex at Prudhoe, but you can't camp on the shores of the Arctic Ocean. The highlight of the long drive is the Arctic Circle and Atigun Pass (4752ft) in the Brooks Range, 300 miles from Fairbanks, for the views of the North Slope. Dalton Hwy Express (☎ 907-474-3555; www.daltonhighwayexpress.com) makes the run to Prudhoe Bay twice a week. It's $168 round-trip from Fairbanks to the Arctic Circle (six hours one way), and $442 to Prudhoe Bay (16 hours one way). Arctic Outfitters (☎ 907-474-3530; www.arctic-outfitters.com) offers a self-drive package to Prudhoe Bay for $1,313, which includes a car and three nights' lodging for two people.

The Dalton Hwy passes the remote Gates of the Arctic National Park, which has great hiking and paddling, but the park is best accessed from the town of Bettles, which can be reached only by air. For information, contact the NPS Ranger Station (☎ 907-692-5494; www.nps.gov/gaar). For guided and unguided trips into the park as well as accommodations in Bettles, contact Bettles Lodge (☎ 800-770-5111, 907-692-5111; www.bettleslodge.com).

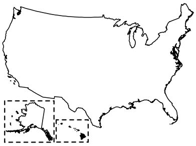
On the Bering Sea coast, the legendary gold-rush town of Nome is friendly and an intriguing place to visit, whether you want to explore the still-visible links to its golden past or have a go panning for nuggets yourself. The visitor center (☎ 907-443-6624; www.nomealaska.org; 🕘 9am-9pm) has information about accommodations and trips in the surrounding area. You can camp for free on Golden Sands Beach, where gold is still being sought by a small band of miners who set up their sluice boxes and other equipment every summer. You can talk to them, see the nuggets they find and then give panning a whirl for yourself. Swanberg's Gold Dredge is on display nearby. Alaska Airlines (☎ 800-252-7522; www.alaskaair.com) offers nonstop flights from Anchorage.

WHAT THE …

Muktuk is an Inupiat delicacy that is made up of the outer skin of a whale and the attached pink blubber. It can be eaten pickled, boiled or even fresh with hot mustard, and is said to have the consistency of stale Jell-O. Needless to say, muktuk is an acquired taste. Fly to Barrow in late June for the town's Nalukataq Festival to acquire it.

© Lonely Planet. To make it easier for you to use, access to this chapter is not digitally restricted. In return, we think it's fair to ask you to use it for personal, non-commercial purposes only. In other words, please don't upload this chapter to a peer-to-peer site, mass email it to everyone you know, or resell it. See the terms and conditions on our site for a longer way of saying the above - 'Do the right thing with our content.'

Hawaii



So many states claim uniqueness, and Hawaii does too. It now even boasts that it's the birthplace of the USA's 44th president, Barack Obama. But this string of emerald islands in the cobalt-blue Pacific Ocean, over 2000 miles from any continent, takes a little work to get to. So you may wonder: will that be time and money well spent?

We're so glad you asked: cue the galloping Hawaii Five-0 theme music and watch surfers carve a thunderous ocean, Elvis croon and lei-draped beauties dance hula 'neath wind-rustled palms.

Hawaii, as tourist bureaus and Hollywood constantly remind us, is 'paradise.' Push past the hype and what do you find? Darned if they're not right. Hawaii is hiking sculpted cliffs or diving coral-reef cities in the morning and drinking mai tais to slack-key guitar at sunset. It's slurping chin-dripping papayas with hibiscus flowers in your hair; it's Pacific Rim cuisine, fiery volcanoes and cavorting whales. By serendipity and design, Hawaii is an almost flawless destination. It's an enchanting multicultural society with roots in Polynesia, Asia, North America and Europe, and it's an expression of nature at its most luscious and divine.

About seven million visitors come to experience paradise annually, but the islands are not as crushed with sun-baked tourists and cooing honeymooners as that sounds. If you want a cushy resort vacation, head for Oahu's Waikiki or West Maui. For something cheaper or more adventurous, aim for the Big Island or Kaua'i. If time is short, stick to one island and make the most of it. Honolulu is a teeming cultural and economic powerhouse, but in under an hour you can be alone in the rainforest or snoozing on white sand.

Locals know that Hawaii isn't really paradise, but on any given day it can sure feel like it.

HIGHLIGHTS

- Exploring multicultural Honolulu, particularly the herbalists and eats of Chinatown (p1111)
- Snorkeling with tropical fish in O'ahu's Hanauma Bay (p1117)
- Hiking the smoldering crust of a living volcano at Hawai'i Volcanoes National Park (p1122)
- Catching sunset in the 'house of the rising sun,' Maui's Haleakalā (p1127)
- Kayaking or hiking Kaua'i's wrinkly Na Pali Coast (p1128)

HISTORY

Little is known about Hawaii's first settlers, who arrived around AD 500. Tahitians arrived around AD 1000, and for the next 200 years navigated thousands of miles back and forth across the ocean in double-hulled canoes. Ruled by chiefs, ancient Hawaiian society was matriarchal, and its religion followed strict laws known as kapu.

In 1778, famed British explorer Captain James Cook stumbled upon the islands, and he returned in 1779. The first white Westerner to arrive, Cook was initially feted like a high chief (perhaps even a deity) as Hawaiians plied him with food and goodwill. However, on the second visit, tensions escalated over a series of small thefts and insults. During a confrontation on the beach, Cook lost his temper and shot a Hawaiian, sparking a violent melee during which Cook himself was killed.

Beginning in the 1790s, King Kamehameha, chief of the Big Island, conquered and united all the Hawaiian islands. He is credited with bringing peace and stability to a society that was often in flux due to wars and the power struggles of the ruling class. However, after his death in 1819 his son Liholiho inherited the throne, while Kamehameha's favorite wife, Queen Ka'ahumanu, became regent. In a stunning repudiation of traditional Hawaiian religion, Liholiho and Ka'ahumanu deliberately violated the kapu and destroyed many temples.

As fate would have it, Christian missionaries arrived not long after, and in the midst of Hawaii's social and spiritual chaos they found it relatively easy to 'save souls.' New England whalers also arrived, seeking different quarry, and by the 1840s Lahaina and Honolulu were the busiest whaling towns in the Pacific. Meanwhile, foreigners made a grab for Hawaii's fertile land, turning vast tracts into sugarcane plantations; needing workers in cane fields, they encouraged a flood of immigrants from China, Japan, Portugal and the Philippines. This gave rise to Hawaii's multiethnic culture, but it also displaced Native Hawaiians, most of whom became landless.

In 1893 a group of American businessmen overthrew the Hawaiian monarchy. The US government was initially reluctant to support the coup, but it soon rationalized its colonialism by citing the islands' strategic importance and annexed Hawaii in 1898. Hawaii played an infamous role in US history when a surprise attack on Pearl Harbor vaulted America into WWII. Hawaii became the 50th US state in 1959.

LOCAL CULTURE

Compared to 'the mainland' – the blanket term for the rest of the USA – Hawaii may as well be another country. In fact, some Native Hawaiians would like to restore Hawaii's status as an independent nation. It makes sense. Geologically, historically and culturally, Hawaii developed in isolation, and, like its flora and fauna, its society is unique, endemic and even fragile. Locals treasure their customs and sensibilities and constantly guard them against the diluting influence of haole (white or mainland) ways – which arrive like so many invasive species.

In Hawaii, no ethnicity claims a majority, but this diversity is also distinct from typical American multiculturalism. Hawaii has large Asian populations and very small African American and Mexican Hispanic communities, with about 20% of residents identifying themselves as full or part Native Hawaiian.

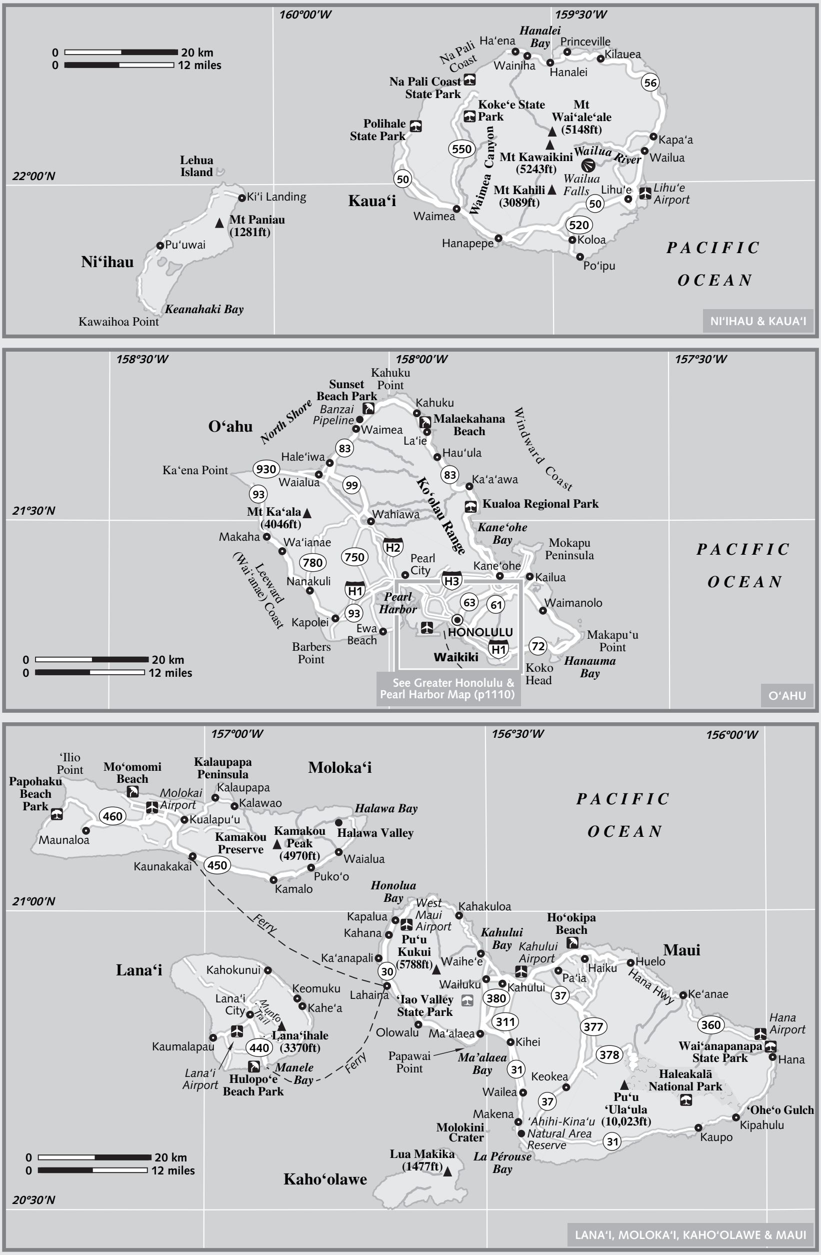
As befits a tropical paradise, Hawaii has a decidedly casual personality. Except in cosmopolitan Honolulu, aloha shirts and sandals ('rubbah slippahs') are acceptable attire for any occasion, socializing revolves around food and family, and fun means sports and the outdoors. In local and Hawaiian sensibilities, caring for the land and caring for the community are integral and intertwined.

Then there is aloha – or alooooooHA, as they say at the luau. It is of course a greeting, but, more than that, it describes a gentle,

HAWAII FACTS

Nickname Aloha State
Population 1.3 million
Area 6423 sq miles
Capital city Honolulu (population 375,570)
Sales tax 4.16% (plus 8.25% room tax, due to increase to 9.25% in 2010)
Birthplace of entertainer Don Ho (1930–2007), President Barack Obama (b 1961), actor Nicole Kidman (b 1967), pro golfer Michelle Wie (b 1989)
Home of ukuleles, America's only royal palace
Famous for surfing, hula, mai tais, the world's most active volcano
Most famous state fish humuhumunukunukuapua'a (or, 'fish with a nose like a pig')

HAWAII



160°00'W
159°30'W
22°00'N
0 20 km
0 12 miles
Hanalei Bay
Ha'ena
Princeville
Na Pali Coast
Wainiha
Hanalei
Kilauea
56
Na Pali Coast State Park
Koke'e State Park
Mt Wai'ale'ale (5148ft)
Polihale State Park
Kapa'a
Wailua
550
Waimea Canyon
Mt Kawaikini (5243ft)
Wailua River
Wailua Falls
Lehua Island
50 Lihu'e
Lihu'e Airport
Ki'i Landing
Kaua'i
Mt Kahili (3089ft)
Waimea
Mt Paniau (1281ft)
520 Koloa Pu'uwai
Hanapepe
Po'ipu
Ni'ihau
PACIFIC OCEAN
Keanahaki Bay
Kawaihoa Point
NI'IHAU & KAUA'I
158°30'W
158°00'W
157°30'W
Kahuku Point
Sunset Beach Park
Banzai Pipeline
Kahuku
Malaekahana Beach
O'ahu
North Shore
Waimea
La'ie
Windward Coast
83 Hale'iwa
Hau'ula
Ka'ena Point
930 Waialua
99 Ka'a'awa
93
Ko'olau Range
Kualoa Regional Park
21°30'N
Mt Ka'ala (4046ft)
Wahiawa
Kane'ohe Bay
Makaha
Wa'ianae
H2
Mokapu Peninsula
Pearl City
780
750
Kane'ohe
Kailua
Nanakuli
H1
H3
Leeward (Wai'anae) Coast
Pearl Harbor
63
61 Waimanolo
93 Kapolei
Ewa Beach
HONOLULU
Makapu'u Point
Barbers Point
H1
72
Waikiki
Hanauma Bay
Koko Head
0 20 km
0 12 miles
See Greater Honolulu & Pearl Harbor Map (p1110)
PACIFIC OCEAN
O'AHU
157°00'W
156°30'W
156°00'W
'Ilio Point
Mo'omomi Beach
Kalaupapa Peninsula
Moloka'i
Papohaku Beach Park
Kalaupapa
Molokai Airport Kalawao
Halawa Bay
460 Kualapu'u
Kamakou Preserve
Kamakou Peak (4970ft)
Halawa Valley
Maunaloa
Waialua
Kaunakakai
450 Puko'o Kamalo
PACIFIC OCEAN
21°00'N
Honolua Bay
West Maui Airport
Kahakuloa Ferry
Kapalua
Ho'okipa Beach
Kahana
Pu'u Kukui (5788ft)
Kahului Bay
Kahului Airport
Maui
Ka'anapali
Waihe'e
Haiku
Huelo
Lana'i
Kahokunui
30 Pa'ia
Wailuku
Hana Hwy
Keomuku
Lahaina
Kahului
Ke'anae
Lana'i City
Munro Trail
'Iao Valley State Park
380
37
Kahe'a
311
Hana Airport
Lana'ihale (3370ft)
Olowalu
Ma'alaea
377
360 Kaumalapau
440
Kihei
Wai'anapanapa State Park
Papawai Point
Ma'alaea Bay
378 Hana
Lana'i Airport
Hulopo'e Beach Park
Manele Bay
Ferry
31 Keokea
Haleakalā National Park
Wailea
37 Pu'u 'Ula'ula (10,023ft)
'Ohe'o Gulch
Makena
'Ahihi-Kina'u Natural Area Reserve
Kipahulu
Molokini Crater
31 Kaupo
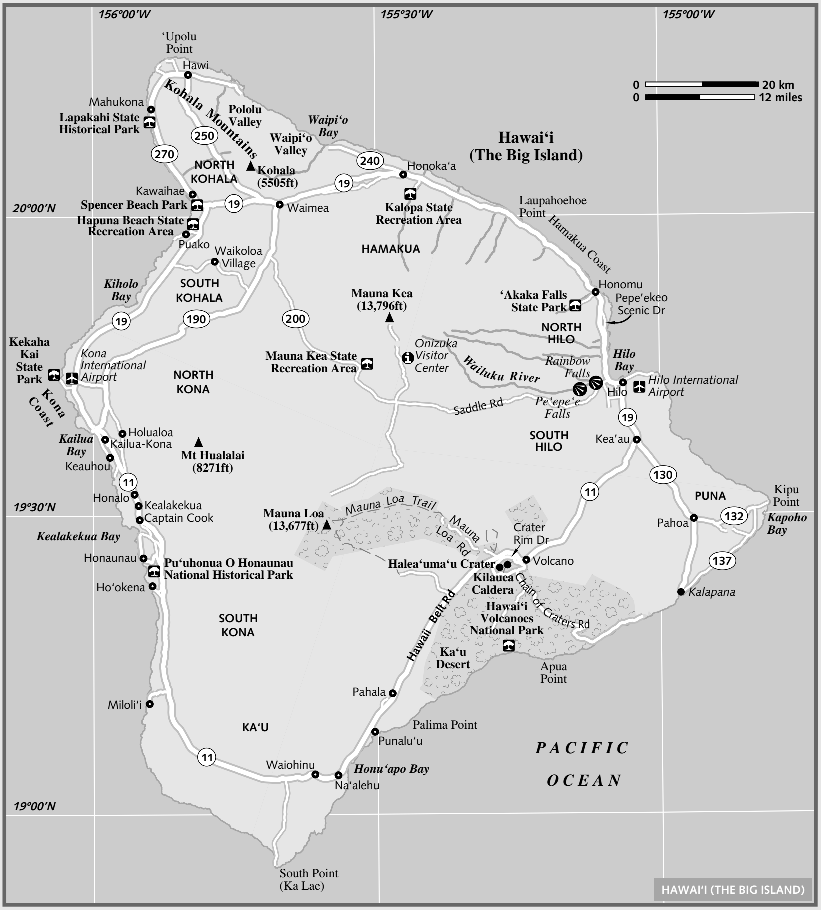
0 20 km
0 12 miles
Lua Makika (1477ft)
La Pérouse Bay
Kaho'olawe
20°30'N
LANA'I, MOLOKA'I, KAHO'OLAWE & MAUI



156°00'W
155°30'W
155°00'W
20°00'N
19°30'N
19°00'N
0 20 km
0 12 miles
Hawai'i (The Big Island)
'Upolu Point
Hawi
Kohala Mountains
Mahukona
Lapakahi State Historical Park
Pololu Valley
Waipi'o Bay
Waipi'o Valley
250 270
NORTH KOHALA
Kohala (5505ft)
240 Honoka'a
19 Kawaihae
Spencer Beach Park
Waimea
Kalopa State Recreation Area
Hapuna Beach State Recreation Area
Puako
Laupahoehoe Point
Hamakua Coast
Waikoloa Village
HAMAKUA
Kiholo Bay
SOUTH KOHALA
Mauna Kea (13,796ft)
'Akaka Falls State Park
Honomu
Pepe'ekeo Scenic Dr
190 200
NORTH HILO
Kekaha Kai State Park
Kona International Airport
Onizuka Visitor Center
Mauna Kea State Recreation Area
Wailuku River
Rainbow Falls
Hilo Bay
NORTH KONA
Kona Coast
Hilo
Hilo International Airport
Saddle Rd
Pe'epe'e Falls
Holualoa
Kailua Bay
Kailua-Kona
Mt Hualalai (8271ft)
SOUTH HILO Kea'au
Keauhou
130
11
Honalo
Kealakekua
Captain Cook
Mauna Loa (13,677ft)
Mauna Loa Trail
Mauna Loa Rd
PUNA
Kipu Point
Kealakekua Bay
Crater Rim Dr
Pahoa
132
Kapoho Bay
Honaunau
Pu'uhonua O Honaunau National Historical Park
Halea'uma'u Crater
Volcano
137 Ho'okena
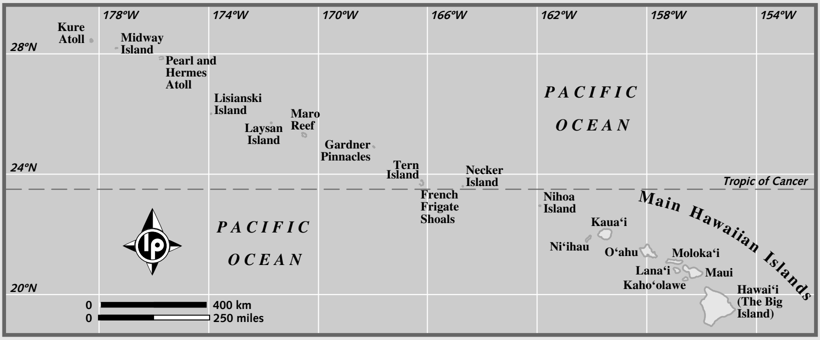
Kilauea Caldera
Chain of Craters Rd
Kalapana
Hawaii Belt Rd
Hawai'i Volcanoes National Park
SOUTH KONA
Ka'u Desert
Apua Point
Pahala
Miloli'i
KA'U
Palima Point
Punalu'u
PACIFIC OCEAN
Waiohinu
Honu'apo Bay
Na'alehu
South Point (Ka Lae)
HAWAI'I (THE BIG ISLAND)



178°W
174°W
170°W
166°W
162°W
158°W
154°W
28°N
24°N
20°N
Kure Atoll
Midway Island
Pearl and Hermes Atoll
Lisianski Island
Maro Reef
Laysan Island
Gardner Pinnacles
Tern Island
Necker Island
PACIFIC OCEAN
Tropic of Cancer
French Frigate Shoals
Nihoa Island
Main Hawaiian Islands
Kaua'i
Ni'ihau
O'ahu
Moloka'i
Lana'i
Maui
Kaho'olawe
Hawai'i (The Big Island)
PACIFIC OCEAN
0 400 km
0 250 miles

everyday practice of openness, hospitality and loving welcome – one that's extended to everyone, local and visitor alike.

Language

Hawaii has two official state languages, English and Hawaiian, and one unofficial language, pidgin. In recent years, the Hawaiian language has experienced a renaissance, but outside of a formal setting (a classroom, museum, or performance), you are unlikely to hear it spoken. In the 1820s, Christian missionaries translated Hawaiian into a written language, using only 13 letters – including the ʻokina (reverse apostrophe) to mark glottal stops. Though it often appears daunting, Hawaiian is usually pronounced exactly as written.

All residents speak English, but when locals 'talk story' with each other, they reach for the relaxed, fun-loving cadences of pidgin. Pidgin developed as the lingua franca of the sugar plantations, a common tongue for diverse foreign workers. It can sound like broken English, but it has its own syntax and grammar; it is (somewhat controversially) considered its own language. The most well-known (and hilarious) introduction is the Pidgin to Da Max series by Douglas Simonson, but mind the nonlocal's caution, okay brah?

LAND & CLIMATE

The Hawaiian Islands exist because of a hot spot beneath the earth's slow-moving Pacific Plate, which has been spewing lava and creating islands for 70 million years. Today, the state of Hawaii contains eight main islands, including the unpopulated Kahoʻolawe.

Measure for measure, the Hawaiian Islands are as diverse as it gets. Their flora and fauna are a textbook case of Darwinian evolution. Time and again, single migratory species blossomed into dozens of variations as isolated individuals adapted to arid coastal deserts, rainforests and snow-capped subarctic mountaintops. As a result, the majority of Hawaiian plants and animals are endemic and, nearly as often, endangered.

All the islands have similar climates: the southwestern coasts are sunny, dry and lined with sandy beaches; the northeastern sides have lush rainforests, cascading waterfalls and pounding surf. Hawaii enjoys warm weather year-round, with coastal temperatures averaging a high of 83°F (28°C) and a low of 68°F (20°C). Summer and fall are the driest seasons; winter, the wettest.

PARKS

Volcanoes form the centerpieces of Hawaii's two national parks. On the Big Island, Hawaiʻi

HAWAII…

In Four Days

Those on a trans-Pacific stopover will land at Honolulu. Spend the the few days you have on Oʻahu (opposite). In between surfing and sunning on Waikiki Beach (p1111), check out Honolulu's museums (p1111), walk around Chinatown (p1111), hike up Diamond Head (p1117) and snorkel Hanauma Bay (p1117). In winter, take time to admire the monster waves of the North Shore (p1118).

In One Week

With a week, fit in another island – say, Maui (p1123). Explore the old whaling town of Lahaina (p1123), head to Haleakalā National Park (p1127) to see the sunrise above the crater, take a whale-watching cruise (see boxed text, p1125), snorkel Molokini Crater (p1125) and drive the Road to Hana (see boxed text, p1126).

In Two Weeks

With two weeks, be more leisurely and visit two or three islands. If you choose the Big Island (p1118), visit the ancient Hawaiian Puʻuhonua O Honaunau National Historical Park (p1119), lounge on Gold Coast beaches (see boxed text, p1121), catch the farmers market and museums in Hilo (p1121), and say aloha to Pele at Hawaiʻi Volcanoes National Park (p1122). If you choose to visit Kauaʻi (p1127), kayak the Wailua River (p1127), hike Waimea Canyon and Kokeʻe State Park (p1129), surf Hanalei Bay (p1128), snorkel Keʻe Beach (p1128) and don't miss hiking the Kalalau Trail on the Na Pali Coast (p1128).

Volcanoes National Park (p1122) contains two active volcanoes and a wondrous collection of landscapes, from lava deserts to rainforests to freezing mountaintops. Maui's Haleakalā National Park (p1127) focuses on Haleakalā Crater, which so resembles the lunar surface that astronauts have trained there.

Hawaii's many state parks range from beachfront sites with full facilities to undeveloped wilderness. For more information and to make camping reservations, contact the Division of State Parks (Map p1112; ☎ 808-587-0300; www.hawaiistateparks.org; 1151 Punchbowl St, Honolulu). The state-sponsored Na Ala Hele (Map p1110; ☎ 808-587-0300; www.hawaiitrails.org) has hiking-trail information.

INFORMATION

For in-depth coverage of the islands, see Lonely Planet's Hawaii guide.

Hawaii Ecotourism Association (www.hawaiiecotourism.org) This nonprofit certifies and lists businesses committed to ecotourism.

Hawaii Visitors & Convention Bureau (www.gohawaii.com) The state's official tourism site.

GETTING THERE & AROUND

Honolulu International Airport (HNL; Map p1110; ☎ 808-836-6413; www.honoluluairport.com) is a major Pacific air hub and an intermediate stop on many flights between the US mainland and Asia, Australia and the South Pacific. From Europe, ask about an add-on fare from the US West Coast or perhaps a round-the-world ticket (p1155). From the US mainland, the cheapest fares often start at around $700 from the east coast and $400 from California. Most major US airlines fly to Honolulu, Maui and the Big Island.

Hawaiian Airlines (☎ 800-367-5320; www.hawaiianair.com) and go! (☎ 888-435-9462; www.iflygo.com) are the main carriers flying between the Hawaiian Islands. Service is frequent and flight times are short. One-way fares to/from Honolulu can be as low as $40, but other interisland flights typically run $70 to $90.

Standard ferry services connect Maui to Lanaʻi and Molokaʻi. The high-speed Hawaii Superferry, connecting Honolulu and Maui, shut down in 2009 (due to legal troubles).

Oʻahu is the only island that can be explored extensively by public bus. Maui, the Big Island and Kauaʻi have infrequent bus services between major towns and very limited service to sightseeing destinations.

Rental cars are widely available on all the main islands, and typically begin around $30 to $40 a day and $130 to $170 a week. It's wise to book a car before arrival.

Specialized tours include whale-watching cruises, bicycle tours, snorkeling trips, overnight tours and helicopter tours. All can be booked after arrival in Hawaii. On the larger islands, half- and full-day sightseeing bus tours are available for $60 to $100; the largest companies are Discover Hawaii Tours (☎ 800-946-4432; www.discoverhawaiitours.com), Roberts Hawaii (☎ 866-898-2519; www.robertshawaii.com), and Polynesian Adventure Tours (☎ 800-622-3011; www.polyad.com).

OʻAHU

Oʻahu is preeminent among Hawaii's islands – so much so that the others are referred to as 'Neighbor Islands.' Oʻahu is the center of Hawaii's government, commerce and culture. It's home to three-quarters of state residents, and it's the destination of two-thirds of all visitors. Honolulu is one of the nation's major cities, and its nearby Waikiki beaches gave birth to the whole tiki-craze Hawaii fantasia. If you want to take the measure of diverse Hawaii, Oʻahu offers the full buffet in one tidy package: in the blink of an eye you can go from crowded metropolis to remote turquoise bays teeming with sea life. Known as 'the gathering place,' Oʻahu is the USA's best combination of urban living, natural beauty and rural community.

Getting There & Around

Oʻahu's extensive public bus system, TheBus (☎ 808-848-5555; www.thebus.org; Kalihi Transit Center, 811 Middle St), has some 80 routes that collectively cover most of Oʻahu; all fares are $2. From Honolulu International Airport to Waikiki, take bus 19 or 20. Buses 2, 19 and 20 connect Waikiki with downtown Honolulu and Chinatown. Another option for getting between Honolulu and Waikiki is the Waikiki Trolley (☎ 808-593-2822; www.waikikitrolley.com; all-day pass adult/child $30/14). See also left.

HONOLULU & WAIKIKI

Among its many museums and cultural offerings, Honolulu has the only royal palace in the USA, and it is a foodie heaven of cheap noodle joints and fancy Pacific Rim cuisine.

Saunter over to gorgeous Waikiki to lounge on the sand, play in the water and listen to splendid Hawaii music in the evening.

Orientation & Information

Honolulu International Airport (Map p1110) is on the outskirts of Honolulu; airport buses pass through Honolulu's city center on their way to Waikiki. Diamond Head, the extinct volcano looming above the eastern side of Waikiki, is such a major landmark that islanders typically say 'go Diamond Head' when they give directions.

BOOKSTORES

Bestsellers (Map p1113; ☎ 808-953-2378; Hilton Hawaiian Village, 2005 Kalia Rd, Waikiki; ⏰ 8am-10pm)

Native Books/Nā Mea Hawai'i (Map p1110; ☎ 597-8967; www.nativebookshawaii.com; Ward Warehouse, 1050 Ala Moana Blvd, Honolulu; ⏰ 10am-9pm Mon-Sat, 10am-7pm Sun) Specializes in Hawaiiana books and hosts cultural performances and classes.

INTERNET ACCESS

Kuhio Ave has internet shops; average surfing costs $6 to $12 an hour.

Hawaii State Library (Map p1112; ☎ 586-3500; www.librarieshawaii.org; 478 S King St; ⏰ 10am-5pm Mon & Wed, 9am-5pm Tue, Fri & Sat, 9am-8pm Thu) A temporary visitor card ($10) allows free internet access at any branch.

MEDIA

Honolulu Advertiser (www.honoluluadvertiser.com) Hawaii's largest daily newspaper.

Honolulu Star-Bulletin (www.starbulletin.com) Honolulu's other daily newspaper.

KINE (105.1 FM) Hawaiian music.

MEDICAL SERVICES

Longs Drugs (Map p1110; ☎ 808-949-4781, pharmacy 808-947-2651; www.longs.com; 2220 S King St, Honolulu; ⏰ 24hr) Honolulu has numerous Longs with varying hours.

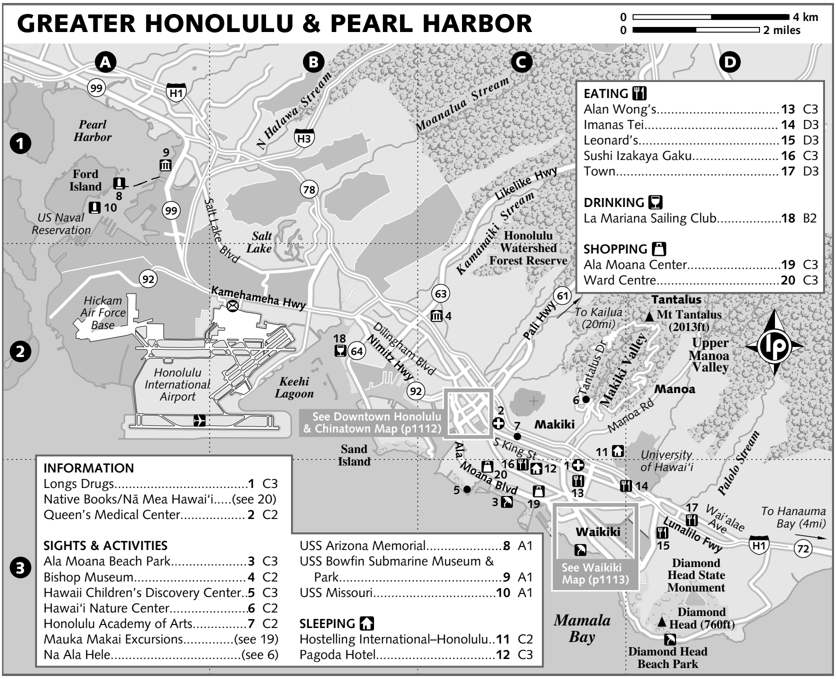
Queen's Medical Center (Map p1110; ☎ 808-538-9011; www.queensmedicalcenter.net; 1301 Punchbowl St, Honolulu; ⏰ 24hr) A major full-service hospital.

MONEY

These banks have island-wide branches.

Bank of Hawaii (Map p1113; ☎ 808-543-6900, 888-643-3888; www.boh.com; 2155 Kalakaua Ave, Waikiki)

First Hawaiian Bank (Map p1112; ☎ 808-525-6888; www.fhb.com; 2 N King St, Honolulu)



GREATER HONOLULU & PEARL HARBOR

0 4 km
0 2 miles
A
B
C
D
1
2
3
99 H1
H3
78 92
63
64 61
72
Pearl Harbor
Ford Island
US Naval Reservation
N Halawa Stream
Moanalua Stream
Likelike Hwy
Kamananaiki Stream
Honolulu Watershed Forest Reserve
Salt Lake Blvd
Salt Lake
Kamehameha Hwy
Hickam Air Force Base
Honolulu International Airport
Keehi Lagoon
Dilingham Blvd
Nimitz Hwy
Pali Hwy
To Kailua (20mi)
Tantalus
Mt Tantalus (2013ft)
Tantalus Dr
Makiki Valley
Upper Manoa Valley
Manoa
Manoa Rd
Makiki
See Downtown Honolulu & Chinatown Map (p1112)
Sand Island
S King St
Ala Moana Blvd
University of Hawai'i Palolo Stream
Wai'alae Ave
Lunalilo Fwy
To Hanauma Bay (4mi)
Waikiki
See Waikiki Map (p1113)
Diamond Head State Monument
Diamond Head (760ft)
Diamond Head Beach Park
Mamala Bay
1
2
3
4
5
6
7
8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16
17 18 19 20

EATING

Alan Wong's	13	C3
Imanas Tei	14	D3
Leonard's	15	D3
Sushi Izakaya Gaku	16	C3
Town	17	D3

DRINKING

La Mariana Sailing Club	18	B2

SHOPPING

Ala Moana Center	19	C3
Ward Centre	20	C3

INFORMATION

Longs Drugs	1	C3
Native Books/Nā Mea Hawai'i	(see 20)
Queen's Medical Center	2	C2

SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES

Ala Moana Beach Park	3	C3
Bishop Museum	4	C2
Hawaii Children's Discovery Center	5	C3
Hawai'i Nature Center	6	C2
Honolulu Academy of Arts	7	C2
Mauka Makai Excursions	(see 19)
Na Ala Hele	(see 6)
USS Arizona Memorial	8	A1
USS Bowfin Submarine Museum & Park	9	A1
USS Missouri	10	A1

SLEEPING

Hostelling International–Honolulu	11	C2
Pagoda Hotel	12	C3

POST

Post office Downtown (Map p1112; ☎ 800-275-8777; 335 Merchant St); Waikiki (Map p1113; ☎ 800-275-8777; 330 Saratoga Rd)

TOURIST INFORMATION

Hawaii Visitors & Convention Bureau (Map p1113; ☎ 808-923-1811, 800-464-2924; www.gohawaii.com; Waikiki Shopping Plaza, 2270 Kalakaua Ave, Suite 801)

O'ahu Visitors Bureau (☎ 877-525-6248; www.visit-oahu.com) Stock up on brochures at the airport counter.

Sights & Activities

DOWNTOWN HONOLULU

At the heart of downtown Honolulu, the 19th-century 'Iolani Palace (Map p1112; ☎ 808-522-0832; www.iolanipalace.org; cnr S King & Richards Sts; tours/gallery only $20/6; 🕘 9am-5pm Tue-Sat, guided tour 9-11:15am, self-guided audio tour 11:45am-3:30pm) offers a unique glimpse of Hawaii's intriguing history. At the adjacent, postmodern State Capitol (Map p1112), visitors can wander through the rotunda without charge. Built of coral slabs, the nearby 1842 Kawaiaha'o Church (Map p1112; ☎ 808-522-1333; 957 Punchbowl St; admission free; 🕘 8am-4pm Mon-Fri) is O'ahu's oldest church.

A central piece of the island art scene, the Hawai'i State Art Museum (Map p1112; ☎ 808-586-0900; www.hawaii.gov/sfca; 250 S Hotel St; admission free; 🕘 10am-4pm Tue-Sat) showcases the work of Hawaiian artists.

CHINATOWN

Immediately north of downtown Honolulu, Chinatown is an intriguing quarter that lends itself to exploring. Bring an appetite since grazing the superb Asian food is a prime activity as you wander among the herbalists, temples and tattoo parlors. Get started at the colorful O'ahu Market (Map p1112; cnr Kekaulike & N King Sts) – the bustling heart of Chinatown for more than a century. For a bizarro-tropical escape, visit Chinatown's overwhelming Foster Botanical Garden (Map p1112; ☎ 522-7066; www.co.honolulu.hi.us/parks/hbg/fbg.htm; 180 N Vineyard Blvd; adult/child 6-12yr $5/1; 🕘 9am-4pm, guided tour usually 1pm Mon-Sat).

BE YOUR OWN TOUR GUIDE

No car? No worries, brah! Make a fun, easy day excursion circling the island by public bus. Routes 52 and 55 combine, taking you in four nonstop hours from Honolulu's Ala Moana Center, up H1 to Haleiwa, past the North Shore, down the Windward Coast, and back to Honolulu via the Pali Hwy. Stop as many times as you like and simply catch the next bus; they run every 30 to 60 minutes daily. Each ride costs $2, or buy a four-day visitor pass ($20) and have unlimited usage for a multiday trip. What a deal!

WAIKIKI

Waikiki is all about that loooong beach. Catamarans and outriggers pull up onto the sand offering rides, and concession stands rent surfboards, boogie boards, kayaks and windsurfing gear at reasonable prices. If you need just a little help perfecting your technique, lessons are readily available.

GREATER HONOLULU

Bishop Museum (Map p1110; ☎ 808-847-3511; www.bishopmuseum.org; 1525 Bernice St; adult/child $16/13; 🕘 9am-5pm Wed-Sun) is considered the finest Polynesian anthropological museum in the world. Impressive cultural displays include the newly refurbished, epic Hawaiian Hall, while the Science Adventure Center puts you inside an erupting volcano.

The exceptional Honolulu Academy of Arts (Map p1110; ☎ 808-532-8700; www.honoluluacademy.org; 900 S Beretania St; adult/child $10/free; 🕘 10am-4:30pm Tue-Sat, 1-5pm Sun) has must-see collections of Asian, European and Pacific art.

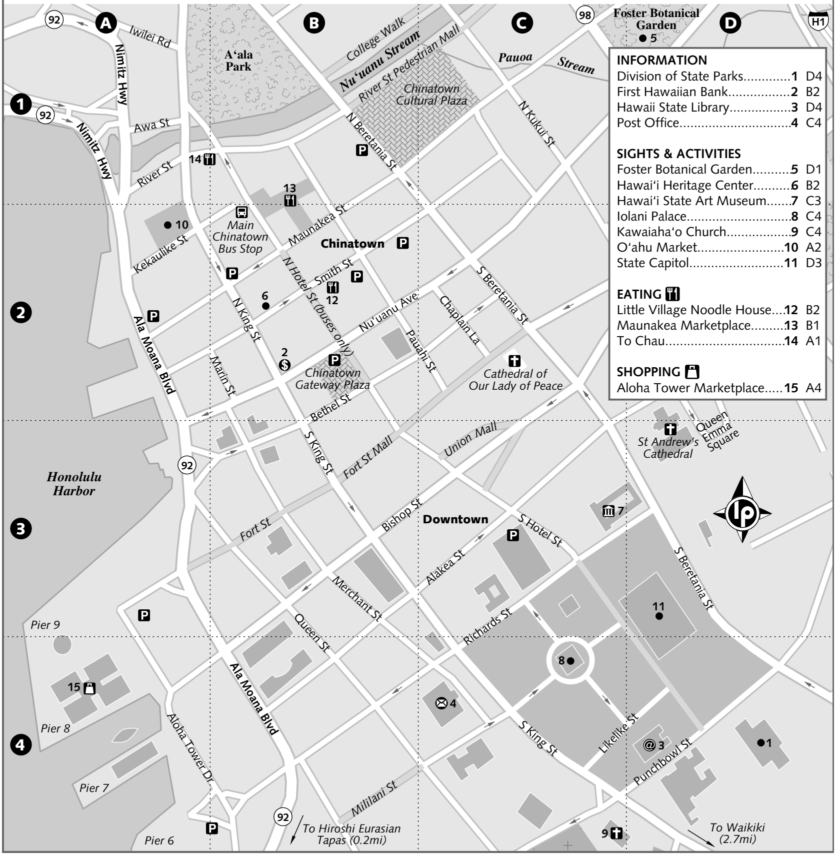
Several hiking trails offer sweeping city views in the Tantalus area, the lush Upper Manoa and Makiki Valleys, and the hills above the University of Hawai'i. Some trailheads are accessible by bus. Run by the state Division of Forestry & Wildlife, Na Ala Hele (Map p1110; ☎ 808-973-9782; www.hawaiitrails.org; 2135 Makiki Heights Dr; 🕘 7:45am-4:30pm Mon-Fri) distributes free trail maps.

For a great place to swim without the tourist crowds, head to Ala Moana Beach Park (Map p1110; 1201 Ala Moana Blvd), between downtown and Waikiki.

Honolulu & Waikiki for Children

O'ahu spills over with activities for keiki (children). While the above-average Honolulu Zoo (Map p1113; ☎ 808-971-7171; www.honoluluzoo.org; 151 Kapahulu Ave; adult/child $8/1; 🕘 9am-4:30pm; 👶) is worth a look, the nearby Waikiki Aquarium (☎ 808-923-9741; www.waquarium.org; 2777 Kalakaua Ave; adult/child $9/2; 🕘 9am-4:30pm; 👶) will knock your

DOWNTOWN HONOLULU & CHINATOWN



0 200 m
0 0.1 miles
A
B
C
D
1
2
3
4 92
98
H1
Iwilei Rd
Nimitz Hwy
A'ala Park College Walk
Nu'uanu Stream
River St Pedestrian Mall
Chinatown Cultural Plaza
Pauoa Stream
Foster Botanical Garden
N Kukui St
Awa St
River St
N Beretania St
Main Chinatown Bus Stop
Maunakea St
Chinatown
Kekaulike St
Smith St
N Hotel St (buses only)
N King St
Nu'uanu Ave
Chaplain La
S Beretania St
Pauahi St
Ala Moana Blvd
Marin St
Chinatown Gateway Plaza
Bethel St
Cathedral of Our Lady of Peace
St Andrew's Cathedral
Queen Emma Square
Union Mall
Fort St Mall
S King St
Honolulu Harbor
Fort St
Bishop St
Downtown
S Hotel St
Alakea St
Merchant St
Richards St
Queen St
Pier 9
Pier 8
Pier 7
Pier 6
Aloha Tower Dr
Likelike St
Punchbowl St
Mililani St
To Hiroshi Eurasian Tapas (0.2mi)
To Waikiki (2.7mi)

INFORMATION
Division of State Parks	1	D4
First Hawaiian Bank	2	B2
Hawaii State Library	3	D4
Post Office	4	C4
SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES
Foster Botanical Garden	5	D1
Hawai'i Heritage Center	6	B2
Hawai'i State Art Museum	7	C3
Iolani Palace	8	C4
Kawaiaha'o Church	9	C4
O'ahu Market	10	A2
State Capitol	11	D3
EATING
Little Village Noodle House	12	B2
Maunakea Marketplace	13	B1
To Chau	14	A1
SHOPPING
Aloha Tower Marketplace	15	A4

socks off, with fantastic exhibits and hands-on touch tanks.

The kid-centered Hawai'i Nature Center (Map p1110; ☎ 808-955-0100; www.hawaiinaturecenter.org; 2131 Makiki Heights Dr; 👪) conducts family programs and hikes on most weekends; see the website for a schedule.

Of course, what kid doesn't love Waikiki Beach? When the sun fails to shine, the hands-on Hawaii Children's Discovery Center (Map p1110; ☎ 808-524-5437; www.discoverycenterhawaii.org; 111 'Ohe St; admission $10; 🕘 9am-1pm Tue-Fri, 10am-3pm Sat & Sun; 👪) is a perfect let-'em-loose kind of place.

Tours

For something more interesting than the typical bus tour, try the following.

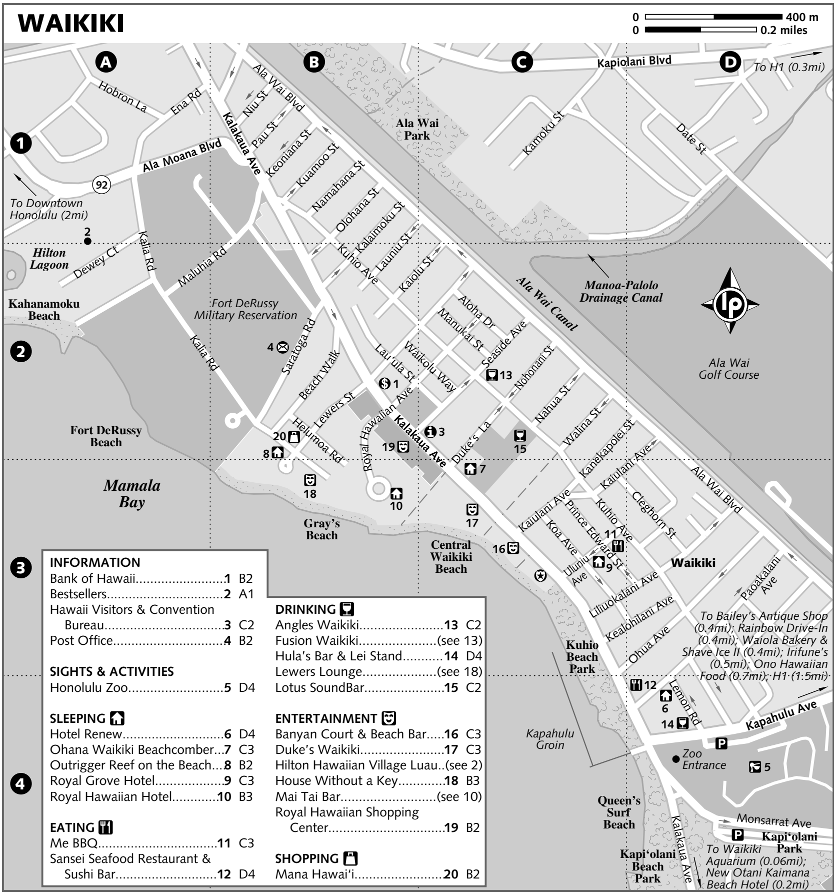
Hawaii Food Tours (☎ 808-926-3663; www.hawaiifoodtours.com; tours $100-200) From holes-in-the-wall to gourmet temples.

Hawai'i Heritage Center (Map p1112; ☎ 808-521-2749; 1117 Smith St; tours $10; 🕘 9:30-11:30am Wed & Fri) Chinatown walking tours.

Mauka Makai Excursions (☎ 866-896-0596; www.hawaiianecotours.net; 350 Ward Ave, Ste 106; tours $52-85) Hawaiian-run cultural ecotours; some hiking.

Festivals & Events

In April, the only-in-Hawaii Waikiki Spam Jam (www.spamjamhawaii.com) is a rhapsodic celebration of canned meat. King Kamehameha Celebration (☎ 808-586-0333), a state holiday in early June, includes festivities at 'Iolani Palace. Across the state from September into



WAIKIKI
0 400 m
0 0.2 miles
A
B
C
D
1
2
3
4
Kapiolani Blvd
To H1 (0.3mi)
Hobron La
Ena Rd
Ala Wai Blvd
Niu St
Kalakaua Ave
Pau St
Keoniana St
Kuamoo St
Namahana St
Olohana St
Kalaimoku St
Launiu St
Kuhio Ave
Kaiolu St
Ala Wai Park
Kamoku St
Date St
Ala Moana Blvd
92
To Downtown Honolulu (2mi)
Hilton Lagoon
Dewey Ct
Kalia Rd
Maluhia Rd
Kahanamoku Beach
Fort DeRussy Military Reservation
Saratoga Rd
Beach Walk
Lewers St
Helumoa Rd
Royal Hawaiian Ave
Lau'ula St
Waikolu Way
Aloha Dr
Manukai St
Seaside Ave
Nohonani St
Nahua St
Duke's La
Ala Wai Canal
Manoa-Palolo Drainage Canal
Ala Wai Golf Course
Fort DeRussy Beach
Mamala Bay
Gray's Beach
Central Waikiki Beach
Walina St
Kanekapolei St
Kaiulani Ave
Prince Edward St
Koa Ave
Uluniu Ave
Cleghorn St
Waikiki
Paoakalani Ave
Liliuokalani Ave
Kealohilani Ave
Ohua Ave
Kuhio Beach Park
To Bailey's Antique Shop (0.4mi); Rainbow Drive-In (0.4mi); Waiola Bakery & Shave Ice II (0.4mi); Irifune's (0.5mi); Ono Hawaiian Food (0.7mi); H1 (1.5mi)
Lemon Rd
Kapahulu Ave
Kapahulu Groin Zoo Entrance
Queen's Surf Beach
Kapi'olani Beach Park
Kalakaua Ave
Monsarrat Ave
Kapi'olani Park
To Waikiki Aquarium (0.06mi); New Otani Kaimana Beach Hotel (0.2mi)
1
2
3
4
5
6
7
8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16
17 18 19 20

INFORMATION
Bank of Hawaii	1	B2
Bestsellers	2	A1
Hawaii Visitors & Convention Bureau	3	C2
Post Office	4	B2
SIGHTS & ACTIVITIES
Honolulu Zoo	5	D4
SLEEPING
Hotel Renew	6	D4
Ohana Waikiki Beachcomber	7	C3
Outrigger Reef on the Beach	8	B2
Royal Grove Hotel	9	C3
Royal Hawaiian Hotel	10	B3
EATING
Me BBQ	11	C3
Sansei Seafood Restaurant & Sushi Bar	12	D4
DRINKING
Angles Waikiki	13	C2
Fusion Waikiki	(see 13)
Hula's Bar & Lei Stand	14	D4
Lewers Lounge	(see 18)
Lotus SoundBar	15	C2
ENTERTAINMENT
Banyan Court & Beach Bar	16	C3
Duke's Waikiki	17	C3
Hilton Hawaiian Village Luau	(see 2)
House Without a Key	18	B3
Mai Tai Bar	(see 10)
Royal Hawaiian Shopping Center	19	B2
SHOPPING
Mana Hawai'i	20	B2

October, Aloha Festivals (http://alohafestivals.com) inspires two months of cultural performances and celebrations. The North Shore comes alive for the Triple Crown of Surfing (http://triplecrownofsuring.com) from November to December. For much more, see www.gohawaii.com.

Sleeping

As a rule, the best selection of hotels is in Waikiki, while Honolulu has far better eats.

HONOLULU

Hostelling International–Honolulu (Map p1110; ☎ 946-0591; www.hostelsaloha.com; 2323-A Seaview Ave; dm $20-23, r $50-56; 🕑 reception 8am-noon & 4pm-midnight; P ✕ 💻 📶) This small, tidy hostel is in a residential neighborhood near the university, a short bus ride from Waikiki. There are sex-segregated dorms, plus kitchen, laundry and lockers.

Pagoda Hotel (Map p1110; ☎ 808-923-4511, 800-472-4632; www.pagodahotel.com; 1525 Rycroft St; r from $125, 1br from $155; P ❄ 💻 📶 🏊 👶) Adorably kitschy or just outdated? Either way, it's a popular, good-value alternative to hectic Waikiki, with 12 floors of comfortable, no-frills rooms. Parking is $5.

WAIKIKI

Waikiki is the center of the action, and Kalakaua Ave, the main beachfront strip, is lined with swanky high-rise hotels. That idyllic location comes at a price; for better value, look off the beach and along Kuhio Ave.

MR OBAMA'S NEIGHBORHOOD

US President Barack Obama grew up in Honolulu's Makiki Heights neighborhood, and he graduated high school in 1979 from the exclusive Punahou School. Now you can follow in his youthful footsteps by visiting some of his favorite childhood places:

- Manoa Falls in the Upper Manoa Valley (p1111)
- Kapi'olani Beach Park (Map p1113)
- Hanauma Bay Nature Preserve (p1117)
- Sandy Beach (p1117)

If nothing else, it's refreshing to have a president who appreciates plate lunches and shave ice. President Obama has enjoyed the former at Waikiki's Rainbow Drive-In (off Map p1113; 808-737-0177; cnr Kapahulu & Kanaina; dishes $5; 🕑 7:30am-9pm), and the latter at Island Snow Hawaii (☎ 808-263-6339; 130 Kailua Rd, Kailua; items $4-7; 🕑 10am-7pm) on the Windward Coast.

To learn more about Obama's childhood, read The Dream Begins: How Hawaii Shaped Barack Obama by Stu Glauberman and Jerry Burris.

Royal Grove Hotel (Map p1113; ☎ 808-923-7691; www.royalgrovehotel.com; 161 Uluniu Ave; r $55-100; ☒ ❄ 💻 🏊 👶) This classic, family-run, low-rise hotel satisfies the thrifty with spacious if worn rooms (all with kitchenette, some with air-con) and genuine aloha. It has a central location.

Ohana Waikiki Beachcomber (Map p1113; ☎ 808-922-4646, 866-968-8744; www.ohanahotels.com; 2300 Kalakaua Ave; r $120-230; ☒ ❄ 💻 🏊 👶) On Waikiki's main strip, this modern nonsmoking hotel is remarkable for its prime location and subprime rates. Could-be-anywhere rooms have been renovated with flat-screen TVs. Parking is $18.

our pick Hotel Renew (Map p1113; ☎ 808-687-7700, 888-485-7639; www.hotelrenew.com; 129 Paoakalani Ave; r incl breakfast $160-225; ☒ ❄ 💻 📶) Just a half block from the beach, this ecoconscious, gay-friendly boutique hotel satisfies sophisticated urbanites nursing romantic island dreams. There are only 72 stylish, design-savvy rooms, attentive staff and lots of little niceties. Parking is $22.

Outrigger Reef on the Beach (Map p1113; ☎ 923-3111, 866-956-4262; www.outriggerreef.com; 2169 Kalia Rd; r $160-375, 1br from $270; ☒ ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) Looking sharp after a recent remodel, this Outrigger eschews the hoity-toity attitudes of its higher-priced beachfront neighbors. Enjoy atmospheric Hawaiiana – from the handmade outrigger canoe to free hula classes – and modern, functional rooms. Parking is $25.

New Otani Kaimana Beach Hotel (off Map p1113; ☎ 808-923-1555, 800-356-8264; www.kaimana.com; 2863 Kalakaua Ave; r $190-440, ste $340-920; ☒ ❄ 💻 📶) For a little more privacy and seclusion, the New Otani offers well-kept, small rooms and its own beach about a half mile from the throbbing heart of Waikiki. Parking is $18.

Royal Hawaiian Hotel (Map p1113; ☎ 923-7311, 866-716-8110; www.royal-hawaiian.com; 2259 Kalakaua Ave; r $560-920; ☒ ❄ 💻 🏊) The aristocratic, oh-so-pink Royal Hawaiian is a worthy special-occasion choice. Waikiki's first true luxury hotel is spiffier than ever, thanks to multimillion-dollar renovations. For old-school ambiance, ask for the historic building; for ocean views, the modern tower. Parking is $20.

Eating

Honolulu is a culinary delight – abundant with every sort of ethnic Asian eatery you could name. If this was the mainland, the scene would get much more press.

HONOLULU

Maunakea Marketplace (Map p1112; 1120 Maunakea St; meals $5; 🕑 7am-3:30pm) This Chinatown food court serves the ultimate local grinds, with mom-and-pop vendors whipping up home-style Chinese, Filipino and Thai fare.

To Chau (Map p1112; ☎ 808-533-4549; 1007 River St; soups $5-8; 🕑 8:30am-2:30pm) This Chinatown staple makes Honolulu's best pho, a delicious, steamy Vietnamese soup spiced with heaps of fresh basil and tasty extras.

Little Village Noodle House (Map p1112; ☎ 808-545-3008; 1113 Smith St; mains $7-15; 🕑 10:30am-10:30pm Sun-Thu, to midnight Fri & Sat) A quiet, air-conditioned restaurant in Chinatown? That's only the beginning. The kitchen sets a gold standard, particularly for black-bean sauce and noodles.

Imanas Tei (Map p1110; ☎ 808-941-2626; 2626 S King St; plates $5-30; ⏲ 5-11:30pm Mon-Sat) At this top-rated izakaya (a Japanese pub serving food), enjoy world-class sake while grazing on delectable sushi and crowd-pleasing nabemono (do-it-yourself meat and vegetable soups).

Sushi Izakaya Gaku (Map p1110; ☎ 589-1329; 1329 S King St; plates $8-25; ⏲ 5-11pm Mon-Sat) Another wildly popular izakaya, near the university, Gaku plates traditional, supremely fresh sushi and hard-to-find specialties like chazuke (tea-soaked rice porridge) and natto (fermented soybeans). Reservations are recommended.

Hiroshi Eurasian Tapas (off Map p1112; ☎ 808-533-4476; www.hiroshihawaii.com; 500 Ala Moana Blvd; plates $15-25; ⏲ 5:30-9:30pm) The Honolulu culinary scene is all about East–West fusions, and chef Hiroshi Fukui adds his own personal stamp with his subtle, unlikely, unforgettable creations.

Town (Map p1110; ☎ 735-5900; www.townkaimuki.com; 3435 Wai'alae Ave at 9th Ave; mains lunch $6-15, dinner $15-22; ⏲ 6:30-9:30pm Mon-Thu, 6:30am-10pm Fri & Sat) Laid-back locavores love the Mediterranean-inspired cuisine at Town. Leave your attitude at the door, be patient (it helps), and enjoy coffee-shop gourmet with the occasional Lost cast member.

our pick Alan Wong's (Map p1110; ☎ 949-2526; www.alanwongs.com; 1857 S King St; mains $27-52; ⏲ 5-10pm) Celebrity chef Alan Wong continues to redefine classic Pacific Rim and Hawaii Regional cuisine with flare, whimsy and farm-to-table freshness. You can't miss with signature dishes like ginger-crusted snapper and twice-cooked kalbi short ribs. Reservations are essential.

WAIKIKI

Leonard's (Map p1110; ☎ 808-737-5591; 933 Kapahulu Ave; pastries 75¢-$2; ⏲ 6am-9pm Mon-Thu, 6am-10pm Fri & Sat) This classic Portuguese bakery is famous for malasadas, an addictive, spongy, often-cream-filled donut. Try coconut cream; you'll be hooked.

Waiola Bakery & Shave Ice II (☎ 808-735-8886; 525 Kapahulu Ave; snacks $2-4; ⏲ 7:30am-6pm) For a lesson in shave ice, Waiola is the place. The super-fine ice and the add-ons set it apart: try azuki beans, condensed milk, mochi (sticky-sweet Japanese-pounded rice cakes) and island-style li hing mui crack seed.

Me BBQ (Map p1113; ☎ 808-926-9717; 151 Uluniu Ave; plate meals $4-12; ⏲ 7am-9pm Mon-Sat) This hole-in-the-wall Korean takeout counter delivers the goods fast and plentiful. Order a plate lunch, grab some napkins and take it to the beach.

Ono Hawaiian Food (☎ 808-737-2275; 726 Kapahulu Ave; meals $12-16; ⏲ 11am-8pm Mon-Sat) A legendary destination for traditional Hawaiian dishes and local grinds – get a combo plate, but don't miss the kalua pig.

Sansei Seafood Restaurant & Sushi Bar (Map p1113; ☎ 808-931-6286; http://sanseihawaii.com; 3rd fl, Marriott Resort, 2552 Kalakaua Ave; mains $16-35; ⏲ 5:30-10pm Sun-Thu, 5:30pm-1am Fri & Sat) Chef DK Kodama's 'new wave sushi' is a certified hit, playfully dribbling truffled sauces, deep-frying panko-crusted rolls and adding Dungeness crab to simmering ramen. The torch-lit veranda enjoys prime sunset views.

EATING HAWAII: LOCAL GRINDS & HAWAII REGIONAL CUISINE

Hawaii is a feast for the senses, and that includes your palate. For two decades, 'Hawaii Regional Cuisine' has referred to Hawaii's robust, distinctive gourmet fusion of Pacific Rim flavors. Once this meant seared 'ahi and macadamia-crusted mahimahi, a dash of shōyu and a liliko'i glaze. Today, it means menus built almost exclusively around the bounty of organic, locally grown produce, sustainably harvested seafood and island ranches. It's a 21st-century amalgam of locavore politics and international inspirations that can reach far beyond the Pacific Rim. Mix Spanish tapas and sushi? Burritos, backyard mangoes, and kalua pork? Por que no?

In everyday life, though, Hawaii lives on 'local grinds,' a catch-all pigdin term for the satisfying comfort foods of the state's polyglot cultures. Local grinds include Native Hawaiian favorites such as kalua pork (roasted pig in an underground oven), laulau (savory meats wrapped in steamed taro leaves), and poi (mashed taro). It includes endless varieties of poke, or seasoned, raw fish. It's a morning loco moco (rice, two fried eggs, hamburger patty, and gravy) followed by an afternoon plate lunch (fried or grilled meat, 'two-scoops rice,' and potato-macaroni salad). It's Japanese saimin (egg noodles in broth), Chinese crack seed (preserved fruit), and a classic, rainbow-hued, melon-sized, postswim shave ice.

Drinking & Entertainment

BARS & NIGHTCLUBS

The free Honolulu Weekly (www.honoluluweekly.com) has full details on bars, clubs and entertainment. The hippest nightlife scene is around N Hotel St and Nuʻuanu Ave in Chinatown, which was once a notorious red-light district.

Lewers Lounge (Map p1113; ☎ 808-923-2311; Halekulani Hotel, 2199 Kalia Rd; 🕒 music 7:30pm-1am) This sophisticated lounge is old-school Waikiki, with top-shelf, fresh-juice cocktails and smooth live jazz music.

La Mariana Sailing Club (Map p1110; ☎ 808-848-2800; 50 Sand Island Access Rd; 🕒 11am-10pm Sun-Thu, 11am-midnight Fri & Sat) They don't make kitschy 1950s tiki bars like this anymore – and who knows how long this one will last? Grab a waterfront table, order a mai tai with tiki-head swizzle stick, and dream.

Lotus SoundBar (Map p1113; ☎ 808-924-1688; Waikiki Town Center, 2301 Kuhio Ave; cover $10-20; 🕒 9pm-2am Sun-Wed, 9pm-4am Thu-Sat) This nightclub has cutting-edge DJs spinning soulful hip-hop and chill-out grooves.

HAWAIIAN MUSIC & HULA

Waikiki has plenty of Hawaiian-style entertainment on offer.

our pick Kuhio Beach Torch Lighting & Hula Show (☎ 808-843-8002; www.honolulu.gov/moca; admission free; 🕒 6:30-7:30pm Tue, Thu & Sat; 👪) Bask in the warm aloha with performances by local hula troupes at this city-sponsored show at Kuhio Beach Park (Map p1113).

Royal Hawaiian Shopping Center (Map p1113; ☎ 808-922-2299; 2201 Kalakaua Ave; 🕒 6pm Mon-Fri) Oddly enough, this shopping center hosts interesting Hawaiian music and hula performances on the 2nd floor and provides free weekday classes.

Hilton Hawaiian Village Luau (Map p1113; ☎ 808-941-5828; www.hiltonhawaiianvillage.com/luau; 2005 Kalia Rd; adult/child 4-11yr $95/48; 🕒 5:30-8:30pm Sun-Thu; 👪) This beachside luau is a kitschy classic, with a huge buffet, mid-20th-century hapa haole hula, and high-energy fire twirlers.

Many beachfront hotels offer evening Hawaiian music and hula at their outdoor bars and restaurants. Head for these at sunset:

Banyan Court & Beach Bar (Map p1113; ☎ 808-921-4600; www.moana-surfrider.com; Moana Surfrider, 2365 Kalakaua Ave; 🕒 10:30am-midnight, live music 6-9pm) The famous Hawaii Calls radio show once broadcast under the banyan tree here; name musicians arrive on weekends.

Duke's Waikiki (Map p1113; ☎ 808-922-2268; www.dukeswaikiki.com; Outrigger Waikiki, 2335 Kalakaua Ave; 🕒 4pm-midnight, live music 4-6pm Fri-Sun) Duke's hosts a raucous, surf-themed party most nights, with the crowds for weekend concerts spilling onto the sand.

House Without a Key (Map p1113; ☎ 808-923-2311; www.halekulani.com; Halekulani Hotel, 2199 Kalia Rd; 🕒 7am-9pm, live music 5:30-8:30pm) At this classy open-air bar, catch live music and solo hula by two former Miss Hawaii pageant winners.

Mai Tai Bar (Map p1113; ☎ 808-923-7311; www.royal-hawaiian.com; Royal Hawaiian Hotel, 2259 Kalakaua Ave; 🕒 10:30am-12:30am, live music 6-10pm) The Royal Hawaiian's low-key bar includes a view to Diamond Head. Their signature mai tai packs a punch.

Shopping

our pick Bailey's Antique Shop (☎ 808-734-7628; 517 Kapahulu Ave; 🕒 10am-6pm) This famous mecca for vintage and used aloha shirts promises over 15,000 choices. You're guaranteed to find something memorable.

Mana Hawaiʻi (Map p1113; ☎ 808-923-2220; 2nd fl, Waikiki Beach Walk; 🕒 9am-10pm) This airy space offers authentic Hawaii-made products (eg woodcarving and bowls) as well as photos and books on Hawaii, and hosts classes in Hawaiian language, hula, lauhala weaving etc.

Honolulu's main shopping centers also have Hawaiian crafts, food and clothing:

GAY & LESBIAN WAIKIKI

Waikiki is the heart of Honolulu's well-developed gay scene. The free monthly magazine Odyssey (www.odysseyhawaii.com) has full details; visit also Gay Hawaii (www.gayhawaii.com). Queen's Surf Beach (Map p1113) is the destination for the sun-worshipping gay crowd.

Waikiki's top gay venue, Hula's Bar & Lei Stand (Map p1113; ☎ 808-923-0669; www.hulas.com; Waikiki Grand Hotel, 134 Kapahulu Ave; 🕒 10am-2am), is a cheery open-air bar with views of Diamond Head. Other good spots include Angles Waikiki (Map p1113; ☎ 808-926-9766; www.angleswaikiki.com; 2256 Kuhio Ave; 🕒 10am-2am), a bar by day and a nightclub after dark; and Fusion Waikiki (Map p1113; ☎ 808-924-2422; 2260 Kuhio Ave; 🕒 10pm-4am Sun-Thu, 8pm-4am Fri & Sat), which features karaoke and drag shows.

Ala Moana Center (Map p1110; ☎ 808-955-9517; www.alamoanacenter.com; 1450 Ala Moana Blvd; 🕒 9:30am-9pm Mon-Sat, 10am-7pm Sun)
Aloha Tower Marketplace (Map p1112; ☎ 808-528-5700; www.alohatower.com; 1 Aloha Tower Dr; 🕒 9am-9pm Mon-Sat, to 6pm Sun)
Ward Centre (Map p1110; ☎ 808-591-8411; www.wardcenters.com; Ward Ave; 🕒 10am-9pm Mon-Sat, to 6pm Sun) Adjacent to Ward Warehouse.

PEARL HARBOR

On December 7, 1941, a Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor took 2500 lives, sank 21 ships and fatefully catapulted the US into WWII. Today more than 1.5 million people a year ‘remember Pearl Harbor’ by visiting the USS Arizona Memorial (Map p1110).

The memorial sits directly over the sunken Arizona; visitors look down at the shallow wreck, still a tomb for 1177 sailors. The visitors center (☎ 808-422-0561; www.nps.gov/usar; Arizona Memorial Dr; admission & tour free; 🕒 7am-5pm) runs 1¼-hour tours that include a documentary film and a boat ride to the memorial. Tours run on a first-come, first-served basis; arrive early to beat the long queues. No purses, fanny packs or camera bags are allowed; the parking lot has storage ($3).

If you have to wait, walk to the adjacent USS Bowfin Submarine Museum & Park (Map p1110; ☎ 808-836-0317; www.bowfin.org; Arizona Memorial Dr; museum $5, submarine tours $10; 🕒 8am-5pm), poke around the WWII relics and clamber down into a retired submarine. Got more time? From the Bowfin, shuttles go to the USS Missouri (Map p1110; ☎ 877-644-4896; www.ussmissouri.org; tours $16; 🕒 9am-5pm) and the hangar-sized Pacific Aviation Museum (☎ 808-441-1000; www.pacificaviationmuseum.org; adult/child 4-12yr $14/7; 🕒 9am-5pm) on Ford Island (Map p1110). The Mighty Mo’s deck hosted the Japanese surrender that ended WWII, while authentically restored planes including a Japanese Zero are on display at the museum.

From Waikiki, bus 42 goes to Pearl Harbor ($2) or take the VIP Trans (☎ 808-836-0317; http://viptrans.com; round-trip $11), which picks up from Waikiki hotels.

SOUTHEAST O‘AHU

The southeast coast abounds in dramatic scenery and offers plenty of activities. For a sweeping view of the area, make the 1.5-mile climb up Diamond Head (Map p1110; Diamond Head Rd; per person/car $1/5; 🕒 6am-6pm), the 760ft extinct volcano that forms the famous backdrop to Waikiki.

WHAT THE...?

Craving a little Istanbul in the islands? Hawaii might be the last place you’d expect a show-stopping paean to Islamic art and architecture, but the stunning, graceful mansion of heiress Doris Duke is just that. Named Shangri La (☎ 866-385-3849; www.shangrilahawaii.org; 2½hr tour $25; 🕒 usually 8:30am, 11am & 1:30pm Wed-Sat, closed Sep), it’s open only for guided tours, which depart from the Honolulu Academy of Arts (p1111).

The best place on O‘ahu to go eyeball to eyeball with tropical fish is at Hanauma Bay Nature Preserve (☎ 808-396-4229; www.honolulu.gov/parks/facility/hanaumabay; Hwy 72; adult/child $5/free; 🕒 6am-7pm Wed-Mon Apr-Oct, to 6pm rest of yr), a gorgeous turquoise bathtub set in a rugged volcanic ring. For the best conditions, head to the outer reef; you can rent snorkel gear on-site. Parking costs $1.

Long and lovely Sandy Beach, along Hwy 72 about a mile north of Hanauma, offers very challenging bodysurfing with punishing shorebreaks, making it a favorite of pros – and exhilarating to watch!

From Waikiki, bus 22 ($2) stops at most southeast-area beaches.

WINDWARD COAST

The deeply scalloped Ko‘olau mountains form a scenic backdrop for the entire windward coast, where near-constant trade winds create ideal conditions for windsurfing.

The reef-protected Waimanalo Bay contains O‘ahu’s longest beach (5.5 miles of gleaming white sand), and it’s great for swimming. From Hwy 72, make a detour south on Hwy 61 to reach the stunning panorama at Nu‘uanu Pali Lookout (1200ft).

Beneath the windswept pali (cliffs) sits beautiful Kailua Beach, the island’s top windsurfing spot. Just beyond the beach, the bird sanctuary of Popoi‘a Island is a popular destination for kayakers. Gear rental and windsurfing lessons are available weekdays. Kailua has plenty of sleeping and eating options, and makes a good place to stay. For area B&Bs and condos, check with Affordable Paradise (☎ 808-261-1693; www.affordable-paradise.com).

Other notable beaches are the scenic Kualoa Regional Park and, further on, Malaekahana Beach, a marvelous spot for swimming, windsurfing and snorkeling, particularly at Goat Island, a near-shore bird sanctuary.

Run by the Mormon Church, the Polynesian Cultural Center (☎ 808-293-3333, 800-367-7060; www.polynesia.com; Hwy 83, La'ie; admission $60; 🕓 noon-9pm Mon-Sat) is a Polynesian theme park (and all that implies) with villages, performances and luau buffets. Only Pearl Harbor draws more visitors.

NORTH SHORE

O'ahu's North Shore is legendary for the massive 30ft winter swells that thunder against its beaches. In the 1960s, surfers first learned to ride these deadly waves, and today the North Shore hosts the world's most awesome surf competitions, particularly December's famed Triple Crown.

The gateway to the North Shore, Hale'iwa is the region's only real town – along its main road you'll find a funky surf museum, shops selling surfing paraphernalia, and rusty pickup trucks with surfboards tied to the roof. When the surf's up, folks really do drop everything to hit the waves. They don't have to go far: Hale'iwa Ali'i Beach Park, right in town, gets towering swells.

The North Shore's most popular beach, Waimea Bay Beach Park, in the town of Waimea, flaunts a dual personality. In summer the water can be as calm as a lake and ideal for swimming and snorkeling; in winter it rips with the island's highest waves.

Just north, the Banzai Pipeline breaks over a shallow reef, creating a death-defying ride for pros only. Next up is Sunset Beach Park, O'ahu's classic winter surf spot, famous for its incredible surf and tricky breaks; sunbathers favor the fit and fashionable.

Hale'iwa Joe's (☎ 808-637-8005; www.haleiwajoes.com; 66-011 Kamehameha Ave, Hale'iwa; lunch mains $9-18, dinner mains $15-30; 🕓 11:30am-9:30pm), a North Shore institution, serves up hearty seafood-inspired meals. Emma's Poke (marinated raw 'ahi) and coconut shrimp are favorites.

WAI'ANAE COAST

For a day-trip escape from Honolulu, explore the rural, underpopulated and sometimes impoverished Wai'anae Coast. Makaha has a fantastic beach with excellent surfing, and inland in the Makaha Valley is the beautifully restored Kane'aki Heiau (☎ 808-695-8174; admission free; 🕓 10am-2pm Tue-Sun). At jagged Ka'ena Point, lovely windswept trails and a pretty beach offer a perfect perch for sunset.

HAWAI'I THE BIG ISLAND

Diverse in every way, and twice the size of the other Hawaiian Islands combined, the Big Island contains a whole continent's worth of adventures. Even more thrillingly, it's still growing. Of Hawai'i's two active volcanoes, Kilauea (p1122) has been erupting almost nonstop for the last 25 years. Along with red-hot lava, the Big Island offers stargazing from subarctic mountaintops, ancient Hawaiian places of refuge, an artistic working-class city, well-preserved plantation towns, horseback riding in cowboy country, rugged hikes and a full range of soporific beaches, from bone-white strands to green to tan to black and cratered with lava-rock tide pools.

Getting There & Around

Mainland flights arrive at both Kona and Hilo International airports (www6.hawaii.gov/dot/airports/hawaii); both have taxi stands and car-rental booths. The public bus system, Hele-On (☎ 808-961-8744; www.heleonbus.org), is free and circles the island, but has limited Monday-to-Saturday commuter-focused routes.

KAILUA-KONA

Kailua-Kona is the sort of overbright tourist town where you sit in open-air cafés and count sunburnt vacationers for amusement. But with sun-drenched beaches north and south and stacks of ocean-centric activities at hand, this condo-rich area makes a great base for wider explorations.

Sights & Activities

The grounds of King Kamehameha's Kona Beach Hotel at Kamakahonu Beach were once the site of Kamehameha the Great's royal residence. They include the restored Ahu'ena Heiau, a temple at which Kamehameha died in 1819.

Meander south on Ali‘i Dr and visit the lava-rock Moku‘aikaua Church (☎ 808-329-0655; www.mokuaikaua.org; Ali‘i Dr; admission free; 🕘 8am-5pm), built in 1836 by Hawaii's first Christian missionaries. Across the street, and currently closed for renovations, Hulihe‘e Palace (☎ 808-329-1877; www.daughtersofhawaii.org; 75-5718 Ali‘i Dr; call for hr & admission) was a vacation spot for Hawaiian royalty and is packed with amazing Hawaiian artifacts. Several miles south of Kailua on Ali‘i Dr, get sunning and bodysurfing at sparkling White Sands Beach. In Keauhou, Kahalu‘u Beach offers fab snorkeling with sea turtles; gear rental is available.

Sleeping

For condos, check with ATR Properties (☎ 808-329-6020, 888-311-6020; www.konacondo.com) or Kona Hawaii Vacation Rentals (☎ 808-329-3333, 800-244-4752; www.konahawaii.com).

Koa Wood Hale Inn/Patey's Place (☎ 808-329-9663; www.alternative-hawaii.com/affordable/kona.htm; 75-184 Ala Ona Ona St; dm/s/d from $25/55/65; P 💻 📶) This well-managed, well-located hostel is Kona's best deal, with plain, quiet and clean dorms and private rooms.

Kona Tiki Hotel (☎ 808-329-1425; www.konatiki.com; 75-5968 Ali‘i Dr; r $72-96; 🏊) It's all about the price, the location and the surf outside your window; rooms are straightforward but atmospheric to the max. Some have kitchenettes.

Royal Kona Resort (☎ 329-3111, reservations 800-222-5642; www.royalkona.com; 75-5852 Ali‘i Dr; r $185-285, ste $300-430; P ❄ 💻 📶 🏊 👶) Sporting '70s-era Polynesian kitsch, the Royal Kona is a Brady Bunch–style good time; the full-amenity hotel has attractive rooms, killer views and a classic tiki bar.

Eating

Island Lava Java (☎ 808-327-2161; 75-5799 Ali‘i Dr; mains $8-20; 🕘 6am-10pm; 💻 📶) This local gathering spot provides that irresistible combo of good coffee, ocean breezes and internet access ($4 per 20 minutes).

Kanaka Kava (☎ 808-883-6260; www.kanakakava.com; Coconut Grove Marketplace, 75-5803 Ali‘i Dr; kava $4, plates $13-16; 🕘 10am-10pm Sun-Wed, to 11pm Thu-Sat) Join locals for some mildly intoxicating kava (juice of the ‘awa plant) at this hidden counter; the well-made Hawaiian fare is fresh and tasty.

Big Island Grill (☎ 808-326-1153; 75-5702 Kuakini Hwy; plate lunches $10, mains $10-19; 🕘 6am-9pm Mon-Sat) Hawaiian-style home cooking draws everyone and their auntie to this beloved institution; look no farther than the plate lunches and loco mocos.

Kona Brewing Company (☎ 808-334-2739; www.konabrewingco.com; 75-5629 Kuakini Hwy; mains & pizza $11-26; 🕘 11am-9pm Sun-Thu, to 10pm Fri & Sat) The Big Island's first microbrewery makes top-notch ales with a Hawaiian touch. They also make great pizza, and their torchlit patio packs 'em in nightly; reserve ahead.

SOUTH KONA COAST

Linger along the verdant, romantic South Kona Coast for its fragrant coffee farms (see boxed text, p1120), ancient Hawaiian sites, colorful small towns and exquisite snorkeling.

A side road off Hwy 11 leads to the sparkling waters of mile-wide Kealakekua Bay. At the bay's northern end is Ka‘awaloa Cove, where Captain Cook was killed and now the Big Island's premier snorkeling destination. You can hike to it, but it's far more fun to kayak (sometimes with dolphins). For kayak rentals and tours, try the Hawaiian-owned Aloha Kayak Company (☎ 808-322-2868, 877-322-1444; www.alohakayak.com; Hwy 11, Honalo; kayak rentals $35-60, half-day tours $65-160). For snorkel and dive cruises – and an epic, unforgettable nighttime manta-ray trip – try Sea Paradise (☎ 808-322-2500, 800-322-5662; www.seaparadise.com; adult/child snorkel cruise $99/59, manta snorkel $89/59).

South of Kealakekua Bay, the awesome Pu‘uhonua O Honaunau National Historical Park (☎ 808-328-2288; www.nps.gov/puho; per car $5; 🕘 7am-8pm) is an ancient place of refuge – or pu‘uhonua, a sanctuary where kapu-breakers could have their lives spared. The evocative grounds and temples are right next to a terrific snorkeling spot called ‘Two-Step,' north of the park.

In Captain Cook, the 1917 Manago Hotel (☎ 808-323-2642; www.managohotel.com; 82-6155 Hwy 11; r without/with bath $36/64) is a classic experience: stay in the simple, well-kept roadhouse rooms and order the restaurant's signature pork chops.

our pick Ka‘awa Loa Plantation (☎ 323-2686; www.kaawaloaplantation.com; 82-5990 Napo‘opo‘o Rd; r incl breakfast $125-145, ste $195, cottage $150; 💻 📶), a stylish, jungly estate with four-poster beds, outdoor shower and a view-licious lanai, is perfect for those wishing to indulge in romance.

Another window on local life is Teshima Restaurant (☎ 808-322-9140; Hwy 11; mains $13-23; 🕐 6:30am-1:45pm & 5-9pm), in Honalo. Families and immigrant coffee pickers have been ordering delicious Japanese comfort food here since the 1940s.

NORTH KONA & KOHALA COASTS

North of Kailua-Kona, the lava-blackened coast from North Kona to North Kohala is strung with secluded, palm-lined beaches, ancient Hawaiian sites and posh resorts. For beaches, see the Gold Coast Beaches boxed text (opposite).

our pick Kona Village Resort (☎ 808-325-5555, 800-367-5290; www.konavillage.com; 1 Kahuwai Bay Dr; 1-r hale $660-$1200, 2-r hale $975-1475; 🏊) offers low-key but luxurious seclusion and the warmest aloha of any Big Island resort. Rates include all meals. Plus, they host the island's best luau (adult/child 6-12yr $98/67; 🕐 6pm Wed & Fri), with great food and authentic hula.

The Waikaloa resort area is home to a huge ancient petroglyph field and two shopping malls with tons of free entertainment. Blurring the line between resort and theme park is the Hilton Waikoloa Village (☎ 808-886-1234, 800-445-8667; www.hiltonwaikoloavillage.com; 69-425 Waikoloa Beach Dr, Waikoloa; r $230-650; ⊠ ❄ 💻 📶 🏊 👪), with pools, lagoons and activities to please all ages.

The Mauna Lani resort area also has ancient Hawaiian sites, a shopping mall, and the notably ecoconscious Mauna Lani Bay Hotel (☎ 808-885-6622, 800-367-2323; www.maunalani.com; 68-1400 Mauna Lani Dr; r $445-965, ste from $995; ❄ 💻 📶 🏊).

For live jazz and dancing under the stars, head to Kawaihae and Blue Dragon Musiquarium (☎ 808-882-7771; www.bluedragonhawaii.com; 61-3616 Kawaihae Rd; mains $15-30; 🕐 5-10pm Wed-Sun, bar to 11pm), whose eclectic, above-average menu matches its engaging roster of performers.

WAIMEA

Waimea is the epicenter of the USA's largest cattle ranch, and you can learn all about Hawai'i's unusual cowboy history at Parker Ranch Historic Homes (☎ 808-885-5433, 877-885-7999; www.parkerranch.com; 67-1435 Mamalahoa Hwy; adult $10; 🕐 10am-5pm Tue-Sat); Parker Ranch also books horse rides. More museum than gallery, the Isaacs Art Center (☎ 808-885-5884; http://isaacsartcenter.hpa.edu; 65-1268 Kawaihae Rd; admission free; 🕐 10am-5pm Tue-Sat) has a stunning collection of Hawaii painters, including Madge Tennent and Herb Kawainui Kane.

It's easy to live well in Waimea. First, book a cozy, memorable room at Aaah, the Views B&B (☎ 808-885-3455; www.aaahtheviews.com; 66-1773 Alaneo St; d incl breakfast $150-195; 📶). Then take your pick among the town's gourmet restaurants. A romantic choice is Merriman's (☎ 808-885-6822; www.merrimanshawaii.com; Opelo Plaza, 65-1227 Opelo Rd; dinner mains $30-45; 🕐 11:30am-1:30pm & 5:30-9pm Mon-Fri, 5:30-9pm Sat & Sun). An early innovator of Hawaii Regional Cuisine, the service is perfect and the cuisine always farm fresh.

MAUNA KEA

Measured from its base beneath the sea, this sacred mountain (13,796ft) is the tallest on earth, and its summit, nearly touching the sky, is clustered with world-class astronomical observatories. Partway up the mountain, the Onizuka Center for International Astronomy (☎ 808-961-2180; www.ifa.hawaii.edu/info/vis; admission free; 🕐 9am-10pm) offers displays, free astronomy presentations, awesome stargazing and summit tours (BYO 4WD). Continuing to the summit for sunset is unforgettable, but it requires a 4WD, a grueling 6-mile, high-altitude hike (10 hours round-trip), or a guided tour. One of the best is run by Hawaii Forest & Trail

WORTH THE TRIP: KONA COFFEE FARMS

Lots of good coffee is grown in Hawaii, but none has the gourmet cachet of 100% Kona coffee, which is grown on about 700 small family-run farms in the Kona Coffee Belt – a narrow strip of land just 2 miles wide and 22 miles long. With harvesting still done by hand, the region has a lost-in-time feel, seemingly unchanged from when Japanese and other immigrants first established themselves in the 19th century.

An easy way to experience this is to drive south from Holualoa, on Hwy 180, through the South Kona towns along Hwy 11. In Kealekekua on Hwy 11, get a free tour at the historic Greenwell Farms (☎ 808-323-2295; www.greenwellfarms.com; 🕐 8am-5pm Mon-Sat, tours to 4pm). Then, just south, check out the Kona Coffee Living History Farm (☎ 808-323-2006; www.konahistorical.org; adult $20; 🕐 tours on the hour 9am-1pm Mon-Thu), which recreates rural Japanese-immigrant life in the early 20th century. In November, catch the 10-day Kona Coffee Cultural Festival (www.konacoffeefest.com).

DON'T MISS

All these Gold Coast beaches and parks are free and signed from Hwy 19.

Kekaha Kai State Park (🕒 closed Wed) Four dreamy sugar-sand beaches; all but Manini'owali Beach require hot hiking or 4WD to reach.

Kiholo Bay Less-crowded, easy-access black sand beach.

Puako Off Hwy 19, turn left for tide pools, turn right for kid-friendly Beach 69.

Hapuna Beach State Recreation Area World-renowned swoon-worthy Hapuna also has recommended camping cabins (☎ 808-974-6200; www.hawaiistateparks.org; cabins $20).

Mau'umae Beach Mauna Kea Resort's beach is every bit Hapuna's equal.

Spencer Beach Park The waters are silty, but it has the region's best camping (☎ 808-961-8311; www.hawaii-county.com/parks/parks.htm; campsites $5).

(☎ 808-331-8505, 800-464-1993; www.hawaii-forest.com; tours $185).

To reach the Onizuka Center, you must drive the 50-mile Saddle Rd (Hwy 200); though ridiculously scenic, it's historically accident prone and some car-rental companies prohibit travel on it; ask when renting.

HAMAKUA COAST

The Hamakua Coast offers some of the Big Island's most spectacular scenery – it's a Lost-worthy show of deep ravines, lush jungle valleys and cascading waterfalls.

Most scenic of all is Waipi'o Valley, the largest of seven magnificent amphitheater valleys on the windward coast. Hwy 240 dead-ends at a dramatic overlook; the road down is so steep that only 4WDs can make it. It's worth the 20-minute hike down – or really, the grueling return – to meditate on the thunderous black-sand beach, surrounded by ribbony waterfalls feeding ancient taro patches.

Another moody stop is beautiful Laupahoehoe Point, where in 1946 Hawaii's worst tsunami swept away half the town, as well as dozens of children. 'Akaka Falls State Park (Hwy 220) contains two stunning waterfalls that are easily accessed along a short rainforest loop trail. Pepe'ekeo Scenic Dr makes for a delightful 4-mile detour, cutting through a thick forest of flowering tulip trees on the way south to Hilo.

HILO

The island capital, Hilo has been dubbed the 'rainiest city in the US,' and that soggy reputation tends to keep tourists away. It's their loss because Hilo – ethnically diverse, largely working class, with a walkable, historic downtown – provides visitors with an evocative slice of real Hawaii. Browse its vibrant farmers market and its first-rate museums and galleries, and you find a proud community undampened by mass tourism.

Sights & Activities

With its waterfront of century-old buildings, downtown Hilo brims with weather-beaten charm. Pick up a walking-tour map at the Big Island Visitors Bureau (☎ 808-961-5797; www.bigisland.org; 250 Keawe St; 🕒 8am-4:30pm Mon-Fri).

One of Hawaii's most fascinating museums, 'Imiloa Astronomy Center of Hawai'i (☎ 808-969-9700; www.imiloahawaii.org; 600 'Imiloa Pl; adult/child $17.50/9.50; 🕒 9am-4pm Tue-Sun) explores Native Hawaiian culture, Hawaiian ecology and environment, and astronomical discoveries about our universe – all filtered through the lens of Mauna Kea. It's an eye-popping, thought-provoking journey.

The Lyman Museum (☎ 808-935-5021; www.lymanmuseum.org; 276 Haili St; adult/child $10/3; 🕒 10am-4:30pm Mon-Sat) provides an excellent overview of Hawaii's natural and cultural history. Hilo has survived several major tsunamis, and the dramatic Pacific Tsunami Museum (☎ 808-935-0926; www.tsunami.org; 130 Kamehameha Ave; adult/child $7/5; 🕒 9am-4pm Mon-Sat) brings these chilling events to life.

If possible, time your visit for Hilo's twice-weekly farmers market (www.hilofarmersmarket.com; cnr Mamo St & Kamehameha Ave; 🕒 6am-3pm Wed & Sat), an islandwide event that's equal parts gossip and shopping, both for fresh produce and Hawaiian crafts and clothing.

Sleeping

Hilo Bay Hostel (☎ 808-933-2771; www.hawaiihostel.net; 101 Waianuenue Ave; dm $25, r with/without bathroom $75/65; 💻) Put simply, this hostel is great. Perfectly situated downtown, it's well maintained and welcoming; private rooms are a great deal.

Dolphin Bay Hotel (☎ 808-935-1466, 877-935-1466; www.dolphinbayhilo.com; 333 Iliahi St; r $100-160; 👶) This is a perennial favorite with volcanoes-bound travelers who like to settle in. Rooms aren’t snazzy, but they’re comfortably clean and have kitchens.

our pick Hilo Honu Inn (☎ 808-935-4325; www.hilohonu.com; 465 Haili St; r incl breakfast $140-250; ❄ 💻 📶) This friendly B&B with hilltop views has three great rooms, but the top-floor Samurai Suite is a memorable treat, boasting authentic Japanese furnishings and an awesome ofuro (soaking tub).

Shipman House B&B (☎ 808-934-8002, 800-627-8447; www.hilo-hawaii.com; 131 Ka‘iulani St; r incl breakfast $210-250; 🚭 📶) Hilo’s most gracious and historic B&B occupies a Victorian mansion packed with museum-quality Hawaiiana. Queen Lili‘uokalani once entertained on the grand piano.

Eating

Nori’s Saimin & Snacks (☎ 808-935-9133; Suite 124, 688 Kino‘ole St, in Kukuau Plaza; noodle soups $5.50-9; 🕐 10:30am-11pm Tue-Sat, 10:30am-10pm Sun) Saimin is Japanese soup for the soul, and this no-frills Hilo institution serves it in rich steaming bowls packed with goodies.

Café Pesto (☎ 808-969-6640; www.cafepesto.com; 308 Kamehameha Ave; pizzas $12-19, dinner mains $17-30; 🕐 11am-9pm Sun-Thu, to 10pm Fri & Sat) A buzzing, friendly downtown choice with a varied menu; pizzas and seafood are noteworthy.

our pick Hilo Bay Café (☎ 808-935-4939; Waiakea Center, 315 Maka‘ala St; mains $16-30; 🕐 11am-9pm Mon-Sat, 5-9pm Sun) The Hilo-style, unpretentious-yet-sophisticated gourmet dishes whipped up here will keep your palate happy and your honey’s heart warm even when the rain is pounding.

HAWAI‘I VOLCANOES NATIONAL PARK

Even among Hawaii’s many wonders, this national park (☎ 808-985-6000; www.nps.gov/havo; 7-day pass per car $10) stands out: its two active volcanoes testify to the ongoing birth of the islands. Majestic Mauna Loa (13,677ft) looms like a sleeping giant, while young Kilauea – the world’s most active volcano – has been erupting almost continually since 1983. With luck, you’ll witness the primal event of molten lava tumbling into the sea. But the park contains much more – overwhelming lava deserts, steaming craters, lava tubes and ancient rainforests. For hikers, it’s heaven.

Near the park entrance, Kilauea Visitor Center (☎ 808-985-6017; 🕐 7:45am-5pm) makes a great introduction, and rangers provide updates on trail conditions, volcanic activity and guided walks. The Volcano Art Center (☎ 808-967-7565, 866-967-7565; www.volcanoartcenter.org; 🕐 9am-5pm) coordinates special events.

Sights & Activities

The 11-mile Crater Rim Drive circles Kilauea Caldera, offering almost nonstop views of the goddess Pele’s scorched, smoldering home. If time is short, drive this, making sure to peek into Halema‘uma‘u Crater (where eruption activity resumed in 2008); hike Thurston Lava Tube, an enormous cave left by flowing lava; and visit Jaggar Museum (☎ 808-985-6049; admission free; 🕐 8:30am-8pm), with working seismographs, lava displays and a stupendous vista. Note that shifting eruptions can cause unexpected road and trail closures.

The best two-hour hike is the 4-mile Kilauea Iki Trail, which crosses the top of steaming Kilauea Iki Crater; this hike can be easily extended by joining up with the Halema‘uma‘u Trail, a 7-mile loop. For an all-day or overnight adventure, Napau Crater Trail (a 14-mile round-trip) leads to tremendous views of the smoke-belching Pu‘u O‘o vent.

The park’s equally scenic 18-mile Chain of Craters Road leads down to the coast, ending abruptly where recent lava flows have buried it. Rangers can advise you on how, or if it’s possible, to hike to the active flow from here; a tell-tale steam plume marks the spot where lava enters the water. Stay for sunset as darkness brings out the fiery glow.

For lava updates, check with the USGS (☎ 808-967-8862; http://hvo.wr.usgs.gov) and Hawai‘i County (☎ 808-961-8093; www.lavainfo.us), which, at the time of writing, was maintaining a lava-viewing site outside the park at Kalapana, in the Puna district.

Sleeping & Eating

All but the campgrounds listed below are in the nearby village of Volcano, which has many nice B&Bs and vacation homes. Volcano Gallery (☎ 800-967-8617; www.volcanogallery.com) is a locally managed rental agency.

The national park maintains two excellent, free, first-come, first-served campgrounds: Namakanipaio, off Hwy 11 outside the park entrance, and Kulanaokuaiki, along Hilina Pali Rd inside the park. Backcountry camping is limited; register at the visitor center no more than one day ahead. Also, Namakanipaio has 10 simple, A-frame cabins (☎ 808-967-7321; cabins $55).

Holo Holo In (☎ 808-967-7950; www.enable.org/holoholo; 19-4036 Kalani Honua Rd; dm $19, r $50-65; 💻) This friendly hostel is a great budget choice.

My Island B&B (☎ 808-967-7216; www.myislandinnhawaii.com; 19-3896 Old Volcano Rd; d incl breakfast $85-120, house $165) Occupying an historic 1886 house, this European-style B&B is delightful; it is run by gracious, gregarious hosts who make you feel like family.

Kilauea Lodge (☎ 808-967-7366; www.kilauealodge.com; 19-3948 Old Volcano Rd; r incl breakfast $175-225; ⊠ 📶) With a variety of well-appointed, country-cozy rooms, this rambling lodge is a nicely romantic choice. Plus, it runs the area's best restaurant (mains $25 to $35; open 5:30pm to 9pm), serving hearty steaks and German comfort food (hassenpfeffer, anyone?).

our pick Thai Thai Restaurant (☎ 808-967-7969; 19-4084 Old Volcano Rd; mains $15-23; 🕒 4-9pm) Inspired by Pele, perhaps, the superior Thai cuisine here is satisfyingly hot and authentic; leftovers make the perfect trail lunch.

MAUI

According to some, you can't have it all. Perhaps those folks haven't been to Maui, which consistently lands atop travel-magazine reader polls as one of the world's most romantic islands. And why not? With its wealth of glorious beaches, luxe resorts, friendly B&Bs, gourmet cuisine, fantastic luau and world-class windsurfing, whale-watching, snorkeling, diving and hiking, what's missing? More adventure? Drive the jungly road to Hana (p1126) or traverse the moonlike volcanic crater of Haleakalā (p1127). More privacy? Maui is the gateway to secluded Molokaʻi (p1129) and Lanaʻi (p1129). But is Maui really all that? Well, it does weave a gauzy spell that leaves most visitors more in love than when they arrived, so you'll just have to excuse those who, when the magazines call, wax a little enthusiastic.

Getting There & Around

Most travelers to Maui arrive at Kahului International Airport (OGG; ☎ 808-872-3803; http://hawaii.gov/ogg), the busiest airport in Hawaii outside Honolulu. From the airport, shuttle buses service the main tourist destinations. Using biodiesel vehicles, Speedi Shuttle (☎ 808-871-7474, 877-242-5777; www.speedishuttle.com) is the green-friendly airport shuttle service; it's $35 to Kihei, and $50 to Lahaina.

The island's public bus system, Maui Bus (☎ 808-871-4838; www.mauicounty.gov/bus), operates several daily routes (fares $1) that service the main towns, including Kahului, Lahaina, Wailuku, Kihei and Wailea. To rent your own wheels, consider the ecofriendly, biodiesel-fueled cars at Bio-Beetle (☎ 808-873-6121, 877-873-6121; www.bio-beetle.com), which start at $50/250 a day/week.

LAHAINA & KAʻANAPALI

For cook-it-yourself condo life, head to Kihei (p1124). For the megahotel and resort experience, bunk down in Kaʻanapali, which also has prime beaches. And for atmosphere, entertainment and fine dining, make time for Lahaina, a 19th-century whaling town rich with well-preserved period architecture. Maui's best festivals occur in Lahaina and, for romantics, it's tough to beat the town's combination of history, gourmet restaurants and dazzling Pacific Ocean sunsets.

Sights & Activities

The focal point of Lahaina is its bustling small-boat harbor, backed by the historic Pioneer Inn and Banyan Tree Sq – the latter is home to the largest banyan tree in the US. The main drag and tourist strip is Front St, which runs along the ocean and is lined with shops, galleries and restaurants.

Lahaina's main sightseeing attractions are within walking distance of the waterfront. They include a host of fine small museums, missionary homes, prisons built for rowdy sailors and the remains of a royal palace. For a free walking-tour map, visit the Lahaina Visitor Center (☎ 808-667-9175, 888-310-1117; www.visitlahaina.com; 648 Wharf St; 🕒 9am-5pm), inside the old courthouse.

As for those world-famous beaches? Head north and keep going: between Kaʻanapali and Kapalua, one impossible perfect strand follows another. All water sports are possible, and eager outfitters abound. Three top-ranked gems are Kahekili Beach Park, Honolua Bay and DT Fleming Beach Park.

In Kaʻanapali, visit the evocative Whalers Village Museum (☎ 808-661-5992; www.whalersvillage.com; 2435 Kaʻanapali Parkway; admission free; 🕒 9am-10pm) in the Whalers Village mall.

In May, don't miss Maui's signature cultural event, the two-week International Festival of Canoes (www.mauifestivalofcanoes.com), held in Lahaina.

Sleeping

House of Fountains (☎ 808-667-2121, 800-789-6865; www.alohahouse.com; 1579 Lokia St; r incl breakfast $150-170; ✣ 💻 📶 🏊) In addition to museum-quality Hawaiiana, this friendly B&B has well-equipped, modern rooms and a great breakfast. It's near Wahikuli Beach Park, between Lahaina and Ka'anapali.

our pick Lahaina Inn (☎ 808-661-0577, 800-669-3444; www.lahainainn.com; 127 Lahainaluna Rd; r $150-170, ste $205; P ⊠ ✣ 📶) Forget cookie-cutter resorts – if you want an authentic taste of Lahaina, book a room at this painstakingly resorted boutique hotel, furnished with Hawaiian quilts and antiques. Your TV is a rocking chair on the lanai above town.

Ka'anapali Beach Hotel (☎ 808-661-0011, 800-262-8450; www.kbhmaui.com; 2525 Ka'anapali Parkway; r incl breakfast $235-355; P ✣ 📶 🏊) While not the fanciest, newest or biggest, this low-key Ka'anapali resort hotel has an enviable beach location and, most of all, genuine Hawaiian aloha. There are free guest lessons in ukulele, hula and lei-making.

Eating & Drinking

Pioneer Inn (☎ 808-661-3636; 658 Wharf St; 🕐 11am-10pm) With its whaling-era atmosphere and harborside veranda, this is unquestionably the most popular place for a drink in Lahaina.

Bakery (☎ 808-667-9062; 991 Limahana Pl; snacks $1.50-6; 🕐 5:30am-12:30pm Mon-Fri, to noon Sat) Lahaina's finest bakery, in a nondescript industrial park, offers sinfully sweet pastries, crispy croissants and generously heaped sandwiches.

Aloha Mixed Plate (☎ 808-661-3322; www.alohamixedplate.com; 1285 Front St; plates $6-14; 🕐 10:30am-10pm) This fun Lahaina beach shack is the best place to go local with a Hawaiian plate lunch or to catch sunset with a tropical drink, a few pupu and Hawaiian music.

Sansei Seafood Restaurant (☎ 808-669-6286; www.sanseihawaii.com; 600 Office Rd; sushi $4-15, mains $17-40; 🕐 5:30-10pm Sat-Wed, to 1am Thu & Fri) In Kapalua, trendy Sansei is always packed, serving out-of-this-world sushi and intriguing Japanese–Hawaiian fare; Thursday and Friday have half-price food after 10pm.

Hula Grill & Barefoot Bar (☎ 808-667-6636; www.hulagrill.com; Whalers Village; grill menu $9-18, dinner mains $19-34; 🕐 11am-10pm) Watch the swimsuit parade in Ka'anapali as you dine under coconut-frond umbrellas on creative pupu and robust dinner mains, like kiawe wood-grilled steaks.

I'O (☎ 808-661-8422; www.iomaui.com; 505 Front St; mains $28-38; 🕐 5:30-10pm) For Lahaina's best waterfront fine dining, stop searching. I'O features nouveau Hawaii cuisine using organic, farm-fresh ingredients and a bounty of just-caught seafood.

Entertainment

our pick Old Lahaina Lu'au (☎ 808-667-1998, 800-248-5828; www.oldlahainaluau.com; 1251 Front St; adult/child $92/62; 🕐 5:15-8:15pm) For a night to remember, this beachside luau is unsurpassed for its authenticity and all-around aloha – the hula troupe is first rate and the feast superb. Book far ahead.

Feast at Lele (☎ 808-667-5353, 866-244-5353; www.feastatlele.com; 505 Front St; adult/child $110/80; 🕐 6-9pm) No half-hearted buffet, this gourmet luau is a delicious culinary tour of Pacific cultures, accompanied by an excellent music-and-dance performance.

MA'ALAEA BAY

Ma'alaea Bay runs along the low isthmus separating the mountain masses of western and eastern Maui. Prevailing winds from the north funnel between the mountains, creating strong midday gusts and some of the best windsurfing conditions on Maui.

The superb Maui Ocean Center (☎ 808-270-7000; www.mauioceancenter.com; 192 Ma'alaea Rd, Ma'alaea; adult/child $25/18; 🕐 9am-6pm Jul & Aug, to 5pm rest of yr; 👶), the largest tropical aquarium in the USA, is a dazzling feast for the eyes. The aquarium, dedicated to Hawaii marine life, is as close as you can get to being underwater without donning dive gear!

With a breezy harbor view, the Waterfront (☎ 808-244-9028; 50 Hauoli St, Ma'alaea; mains $26-35; 🕐 5-9pm) serves Central Maui's best seafood.

KIHEI

Sun-kissed, gleaming beaches run for miles and miles south of Kihei, which is less ritzy than West Maui. Vacationers flock to this coast for the excellent swimming, snorkeling, windsurfing and kayaking, and abundant condos keep prices reasonable.

For kayak rentals and adventurous tours, try South Pacific Kayaks (☎ 808-875-4848, 800-776-2326; www.southpacifickayaks.com; 95 Hale Kuai St;

WHALES IN LOVE

Every winter from November through May, some 10,000 humpback whales crowd the shallow waters along the western coast of Maui for breeding, calving and nursing. These awesome creatures are easy to spot from shore, particularly when they perform their acrobatic breaches. It's one of nature's grandest spectacles.

To get an even closer look, take a whale-watching cruise with the nonprofit Pacific Whale Foundation (☎ 808-249-8811, 800-942-5311; www.pacificwhale.org; adult/child $32/17; ⏰ Dec-Apr; 👶), which sails out of both Lahaina and Ma'alaea harbors. Another place to get acquainted with these creatures is in Kihei at the Hawaiian Islands Humpback Whale National Marine Sanctuary Headquarters (☎ 808-879-2818, 800-831-4888; www.hawaiihumpbackwhale.noaa.gov; 726 S Kihei Rd; ⏰ 10am-3pm Mon-Fri). You can volunteer for one of the sanctuary's ocean counts.

Think the whales aren't happy to be in Maui? Listen to them singing at www.whalesong.net.

single/double kayaks per day $40/60, tours $65-100). South Pacific's paddle to Molokini Crater (per person $140) is a workout that leads to Maui's best snorkeling and diving spot. Or opt for a two-hour Molokini Express boat trip with Blue Water Rafting (☎ 808-879-7238; www.bluewaterrafting.com; Kihei Boat Ramp; tours $50-120).

Sleeping

To begin sorting through Kihei's condo possibilities, check out Bello Realty (☎ 808-879-3328, 800-541-3060; www.bellomaui.com) or Kihei Maui Vacations (☎ 808-879-7581, 888-568-6284; www.kmvmaui.com).

Two Mermaids on Maui B&B (☎ 808-874-8687, 800-598-9550; www.twomermaids.com; 2840 Umalu Pl; studio/1-br incl breakfast $115/140; ☒ ❄ 📶 🏊) For a more personal touch, try the two kitchenette units at this friendly, cheerful B&B.

Kihei Kai Nani (☎ 808-879-9088, 800-473-1493; www.kiheikainani.com; 2495 S Kihei Rd; 1-br units $148-168; ❄ 🏊) This inviting low-rise complex has roomy, well-equipped one-bedroom units. It has good off-season discounts.

Punahoa (☎ 808-879-2720, 800-564-4380; www.punahoabeach.com; 2142 Ili'ili Rd; studio/1br/2br $156/240/270; 📶) This tasteful boutique condo, hidden on a side street, fronts a quiet beach frequented by sea turtles. Who needs a pool?

Eating

Eskimo Candy (☎ 808-879-5686; www.eskimocandy.com; 2665 Wai Wai Place; meals $8-17; ⏰ 10:30am-7pm Mon-Fri) If you've never tried poke (cubed, marinated raw fish), this local fish market is a required stop. If you have tried poke, same thing. Delicious ahi wraps and fish tacos round out the takeout menu.

Da Kitchen Express (☎ 808-875-7782; www.da-kitchen.com; Rainbow Mall, 2439 S Kihei Rd; meals $9-12; ⏰ 9am-9pm) This quintessential Hawaiian diner serves tasty, sizeable plate lunches. Try laulau, loco moco and other local grinds, but don't miss the kalua pork.

Café O'Lei (☎ 808-891-1368; http://cafeoleirestaurants.com; Rainbow Mall, 2439 S Kihei Rd; lunch $8-13, dinner $18-30; ⏰ 10:30am-3:30pm & 5-9pm Tue-Sun) For superb Hawaii Regional cuisine at honest prices, no other Kihei dining spot comes close. It has fierce martinis too.

WAILEA & MAKENA

As Maui's most upscale seaside community, Wailea boasts million-dollar homes and extravagant resorts with prices to match – all because this stretch of coastline cradles tawny beaches of dreamy perfection. The mile-long Wailea Beach Walk is a superb place to enjoy shoreline whale-watching in winter.

South of Wailea, Makena has several knockout undeveloped beaches – particularly Big Beach and secluded Little Beach – as well as the 'Ahihi-Kina'u Natural Area Reserve, which encompasses trails, historic ruins and hidden coves ideal for snorkeling.

A class act, Pineapple Inn Maui (☎ 808-298-4403, 877-212-6284; www.pineappleinnmaui.com; 3170 Akala Dr; r/cottage $150/215; ❄ 📶 🏊) is a boutique inn where all the attractive rooms have kitchenettes – the only thing lacking is a high price.

KAHULUI & WAILUKU

Kahului and Wailuku, Maui's two largest communities, flow together in one urban sprawl. Kahului hosts Maui's windsurfing shops, whose employees give lessons at perpetually breezy Kanaha Beach. The Maui Arts & Cultural Center (☎ 808-242-7469; www.mauiarts.org; 1 Cameron Way) is Maui's premier concert venue, which also runs an excellent

SCENIC DRIVE: ROAD TO HANA

The most spectacular coastal drive in all Hawaii, the Hana Hwy (Hwy 360) winds its way deep into jungle valleys and back out above a rugged coastline. The road is a real cliff-hugger with 54 one-lane bridges, roadside waterfalls and head-spinning views. Gas up and buy lunch in Pa'ia before starting.

Swimming holes, heart-stopping vistas and awesome hikes call out almost nonstop. Definitely explore the lava tubes and black-sand beach at Wai'anapanapa State Park, with inviting camping ($5) and cabins ($45). For permits, contact the Division of State Parks (☎ 808-984-8109; www.hawaiistateparks.org/camping).

To really get away? In Huelo, book the Tea House (☎ 572-5610, 800-215-6130; www.mauiteahouse.com; Ho'olawa Rd, Huelo; 1br cottage $150), a meditative, off-the-grid cottage made from a former Zen temple, with open-air shower, kitchen and soulful views.

art gallery (☎ 808-242-2787; admission free; 🕒 11am-5pm Tue-Sun).

On the outskirts of Wailuku, 'Iao Valley State Park ('Iao Valley Rd; admission free; 🕒 7am-7pm) centers on the picturesque 'Iao Needle rock pinnacle, which rises 1200ft from the valley floor.

Information

Maui Memorial Medical Center (☎ 808-244-9056; 221 Mahalani St, Wailuku; 🕒 24hr) The island's main hospital.

Maui Visitors Bureau (☎ 808-872-3893, 808-244-3530; www.visitmaui.com; Kahului Airport; 🕒 7:45am-9:45pm) Operates a staffed booth in the airport's arrivals area.

Sleeping & Eating

Old Wailuku Inn (☎ 808-244-5897, 800-305-4899; www.mauiinn.com; 2199 Kaho'okele St, Wailuku; r $165-195; 💻) Step back into the 1920s in this elegant period home, built by a wealthy banker and authentically restored by the friendly innkeepers. Rooms are large and comfy, with traditional Hawaiian quilts.

Thailand Cuisine (☎ 808-873-0225; Maui Mall, 70 E Ka'ahumanu Ave, Kahului; mains $10-15; 🕒 10:30am-3pm & 5-9:30pm) Stop here for superior Thai cuisine, and a menu with dozens of tasty vegetarian options. It's a perennial award winner.

Drinking

Wow-Wee Maui's Kava Bar & Grill (☎ 808-871-1414; 333 Dairy Rd, Kahului; 🕒 10am-9pm Sun-Thu, to 11pm Fri & Sat) This hip café is the place to try the mildly relaxing drink kava. If it tastes too much like dirt, try it mixed with chocolate.

PA'IA

But for the incessant winds, Pa'ia would be a forgotten former sugar town. Instead, it's become the Windsurfing Capital of the World and draws an eclectic, international crowd and a burgeoning selection of superb restaurants. To admire the windsurfing and kitesurfing action, head to Ho'okipa Beach.

our pick Mama's Fish House (☎ 808-579-8488; www.mamasfishhouse.com; 799 Poho Pl; mains $36-50; 🕒 11am-2:30pm & 5-9:30pm) is Maui's most celebrated seafood restaurant, which pairs beachside romance with impeccably prepared fish. Reservations are essential. Pa'ia Fish Market Restaurant (☎ 808-579-8030; 100 Hana Hwy; meals $9-15; 🕒 11am-9:30pm) is the place to go for fresh fish sandwiches.

HANA & AROUND

The mainland influences so evident everywhere else on Maui are missing in Hana, where many residents are Native Hawaiian, and they treasure the town's relaxed pace and quiet isolation. Surfers head to Waikoloa Beach, while sunbathers favor Kaihalulu (Red Sand) Beach, which is reached by a trail at the end of Uakea Rd.

The road south from Hana is incredibly beautiful. 'Ohe'o Stream cuts its way through 'Ohe'o Gulch as a gorgeous series of wide pools and waterfalls, each tumbling into the one below. Just past the gulch is the sleepy village of Kipahulu, the burial site of aviator Charles Lindbergh.

Maintenance at this Hana condo complex can be uneven, but Hana Kai Maui (☎ 808-248-8426, 800-346-2772; www.hanakaimaui.com; 1533 Uakea Rd; studio/1-br from $185/210; 📶) has an ideal oceanfront spot and great views from upper-floor rooms.

Hana isn't known for great eats, but it has one gourmet destination: Ka'uiki (☎ 808-248-8211, 800-321-4262; Hotel Hana-Maui, 5031 Hana Hwy; full dinner $50-65; 🕑 11:30am-2:30pm & 6-9pm). Dinner is a locavore’s treat with Hana-caught fish, Nahiku greens and other homegrown delights.

HALEAKALĀ NATIONAL PARK

No trip to Maui is complete without visiting this national park (www.nps.gov/hale; 3-day entry pass per car $10), containing the mighty volcano that gave rise to East Maui. The volcano’s floor measures a whopping 7.5 miles wide, 2.5 miles long and 3000ft deep – more than enough to swallow Manhattan. From its towering rim there are dramatic views of its lunarlike surface. But the adventure needn’t stop at the viewpoints: with a good pair of hiking boots, you can walk down into the crater on trails that meander around eerie cinder cones and peer up at towering walls.

For an unforgettable experience, arrive in time to see the sunrise – an event that Mark Twain called the ‘sublimest spectacle’ he’d ever seen. Check on weather conditions and sunrise times (☎ 866-944-5025) before driving up. Park headquarters (☎ 808-572-4400; 🕑 6:30am-4pm) can give you details on free guided hikes and nature talks.

Free drive-up camping (first-come, first-served) is allowed at Hosmer Grove, near the main entrance. Another amazing option is primitive cabins on the crater floor; demand is so high that you must book online (https://fhnp.org/wcr) exactly 90 days in advance. Camping and cabins have a three-night maximum.

KAUA‘I

Lush, rural Kaua‘i is the Pacific Ocean’s magnificent jade temple. On Hawaii’s oldest major island, nature’s fingers have had time to dig deep – carving the unbelievable fluted cliffs of the Na Pali Coast (p1128) and the tremendous ragged gash of Waimea Canyon (p1129). A mecca for hikers and kayakers, Kaua‘i is beloved by outdoor enthusiasts of all stripes, and it has been the darling of honeymooners ever since Elvis tied the knot here in Blue Hawaii. Forget coddling resorts, decadent shopping or bustling nightlife. Come to Kaua‘i for its heavenly art gallery – the one you find outdoors. The price for these works? Just a pair of boots and a little sweat.

Getting There & Around

All commercial flights land at Lihu‘e Airport (LIH; ☎ 808-246-1448; www6.hawaii.gov/dot/airports/kauai/lih). Taxis and the major car-rental companies are available here. Kaua‘i has a limited public bus service (☎ 808-241-6410; www.kauai.gov; 🕑 Mon-Sat), which serves most towns but not tourist destinations like Kilauea Point and Koke‘e State Park. Fares are $1.50.

LIHU‘E

This former plantation town is Kaua‘i’s capital and commercial center. Seek information at the Kaua‘i Visitors Bureau (☎ 808-245-3971, 800-262-1400; www.kauaidiscovery.com; 4334 Rice St; 🕑 8am-4:30pm Mon-Fri). The insightful Kaua‘i Museum (☎ 808-245-6931; www.kauaimuseum.org; 4428 Rice St; admission $10; 🕑 9am-4pm Mon-Fri, 10am-4pm Sat) traces the island’s intriguing history.

Garden Island Inn (☎ 808-245-7227, 800-648-0154; www.gardenislandinn.com; 3445 Wilcox Rd; r $100-150, ste $145-180; ☒ ❄ 📶) offers modest but cheerful rooms just minutes from the beach. Fish lovers may find themselves coming to Fish Express (☎ 808-245-9918; 3343 Kuhio Hwy; lunch $6-7.50; 🕑 10am-6pm Mon-Sat, to 5pm Sun, lunch served to 3pm daily) every day for its heavenly gourmet takeout.

Luau Kalamaku (☎ 877-622-1780; www.luaukalamaku.com; Kilohana Plantation; adult/child 3-11yr/child 12-18yr $95/45/65; 🕑 5pm Tue & Fri) offers a theatrical, Cirque du Soleil–style Polynesian show with its above-average luau buffet.

WAILUA & AROUND

You wouldn’t know it from the shopping strip-lined Kuhio Hwy, but the Wailua area contains great outdoor opportunities. Families should head to Lydgate Beach Park (www.kamalani.org), with the best kids’ playground in Hawaii and safe swimming at a well-protected beach. The mountains above Wailua hold some recommended hikes, such as the Kuilau Ridge Trail, the Moalepe Trail and the Nounou Mountain Trails.

However, most come to kayak the Wailua River. The easy, bucolic 5-mile kayak – including swimming holes and hikes to waterfalls – is so popular that it’s restricted almost completely to guided tours. Book a day ahead with Kayak Kaua‘i (☎ 808-826-9844, 800-437-3507; www.kayakkauai.com; double kayaks per person $27, tours adult/child $85/60) and Outfitters Kaua‘i (☎ 808-742-9667, 888-742-9887; www.outfitterskauai.com; kayaks per person per day $40, tours adult/child $98/78); both also offer other kayak and guided trips. Or try Kayak Wailua (☎ 808-822-3388; www.kayakwailua.com; Kuhio Hwy, Wailua; tour per person $40), a small, family-owned outfit specializing in Wailua River tours.

NA PALI COAST & NORTH SHORE

Unspoiled and unhurried, Kaua'i's mountainous north shore features otherworldly scenery and enough outdoor adventures for a lifetime. Be sure to stop at Kilauea Point National Wildlife Refuge (☎ 808-828-1413; www.fws.gov/kilaueapoint; Kilauea Rd, Kilauea; admission $5; 🕒 10am-4pm) to enjoy its historic lighthouse and thriving seabird sanctuary.

Gentle 'Anini Beach Park is spacious, with calm water perfect for kids, lazy kayaking, easy snorkeling and the best beginner windsurfing on the island. Camping is recommended (and quieter midweek); get permits from the Division of Parks & Recreation (☎ 808-241-4463; www.kauai.gov; campsites per person $3).

The Princeville area makes for glamorous living and provides glorious sunset perches, such as at the tiny but magnificent Pali Ke Kua Beach (accessible through the Princeville Resort). A satisfying, and more affordable, lodging choice is Westin Princeville Ocean Resort Villas (☎ 808-827-8700; www.westinprinceville.com; 3838 Wyllie Rd; studio/1 br from $250/375; ❄ 📶 🏊); the condo-like 'villas' boast full kitchens, flat-screen TVs and washer/dryer. The Westin also contains Nanea (☎ 808-827-8700; breakfast $8-22, dinner mains $31-38; 🕒 6:30-10:30am & 5:30-9:30pm), an inventive restaurant featuring elegant locally grown Hawaii fusion cuisine.

In Hanalei, the hippie-surfer vibe is palpable and, indeed, in magnificent Hanalei Bay the surfing is spectacular; it really swells in winter. Also popular are quiet, easy kayak trips up the Hanalei River; for rentals, try Pedal & Paddle (☎ 808-826-9069; www.pedalnpaddle.com; Ching Young Village; single/double kayaks per day $20/40).

An attractively well-kept place to stay is Hanalei Inn (☎ 808-826-9333; www.hanaleiinn.com; 5-5468 Kuhio Hwy; r $150; W). Its four studios have kitchens and a killer locale.

Hanalei makes a good meal stop. Doubters become converts at Hanalei Taro & Juice Company (☎ 826-1059; 5-5070-B Kuhio Hwy; smoothies $3-4.50, sandwiches $6.50; 🕒 11am-4pm Mon-Fri), where the taro-based smoothies are exquisite; the other Hawaiian fare is great too. For a gourmet plate lunch (on paper plates), head for Polynesia Café (☎ 808-826-1999; www.polynesiacafe.com; Ching Young Village; mains $11-17; 🕒 8am-9pm). For firmer tableware and a stylishly rustic atmosphere, Postcards Café (☎ 808-826-1191; www.postcardscafe.com; 5-5075 Kuhio Hwy; mains $18-27; 🕒 6-9pm) creates gourmet, vegetarian-friendly organic cuisine.

Marking the western end of Hwy 56, at the little village of Ha'ena, are Tunnels Beach and lovely Kee Beach, both of which have excellent snorkeling. Camping is allowed (with a permit) at Ha'ena Beach Park (☎ 808-241-4463; www.kauai.gov; campsites per person $3), close to the Kalalau trailhead.

In Ha'ena, Hanalei Colony Resort (☎ 808-826-6235, 800-628-3004; www.hcr.com; 5-7130 Kuhio Hwy; 2-br from $250; ❄ 💻 🏊) has a tad dated '70s-era décor, but the condos are kept well and in a nicely secluded waterfront location.

Hikers shouldn't miss the challenging but oh-so-rewarding 11-mile Kalalau Trail, which runs along the folded Na Pali cliffs and winds through a series of breathtakingly lush valleys in Na Pali Coast State Park. To hike past the first valley or for backcountry camping ($10 per person per night), you need a permit (☎ 808-274-3444; www.hawaiistateparks.org). Allow three days for the whole shebang.

Hard-core paddlers can admire the same scenery from the sea along the strenuous 17-mile Na Pali Coast kayak. It takes all day (and feels longer) and is only possible from May to September. Two good outfitters are Kayak Kaua'i (☎ 808-826-9844, 800-437-3507; www.kayakkauai.com; Na Pali tours $205) and Na Pali Kayak (☎ 808-826-6900, 866-977-6900; www.napalikayak.com; Na Pali tours $200).

SOUTH SHORE

Sunny, family-friendly Po'ipu, Kaua'i's main resort area, fronts a fabulous run of sandy beaches. It's good for swimming and snorkeling year-round and for surfing in summer. Tour the stunning gardens at the National Tropical Botanical Garden (NTBG; ☎ 808-742-2623; www.ntbg.org; 4425 Lawa'i Rd; tours $20-85; 🕒 8:30am-5pm) and admire the windswept limestone cliffs of the Maha'ulepu Coast along the 2-mile Maha'ulepu Heritage Trail (www.hikemahaulepu.org).

Po'ipu is awash in condos and vacation rentals for all budgets; check the listings of Po'ipu Beach Resort Association (☎ 808-742-7444; www.poipubeach.org) and Parrish Collection Kaua'i ((☎ 808-742-2000, 800-742-1412; www.parrishkauai.com).

In Koloa, the magnificent valley views from Marjorie's Kaua'i Inn (☎ 808-332-8838, 800-717-8838; www.marjorieskauaiinn.com; Hailima St, Lawa'i; r incl breakfast $130-175; 🚭 📶 🏊) could be a trip highlight. Rooms are nicely appointed with kitchenettes.

our pick Casa di Amici (☎ 808-742-1555; www.casadiamici.com; 2301 Nalo Rd; mains $23-29; 🕒 from 6pm) is the place to head to at dinnertime. This overlooked, unpretentious gem serves Italian-influenced island cuisine.

WEST SIDE

The top destinations here are Waimea Canyon – the ‘Grand Canyon of the Pacific’ with cascading waterfalls and spectacular gorges – and the adjacent Koke‘e State Park. Both feature breathtaking views and a vast network of hiking trails; some, like Koke‘e’s Awa‘awapuhi and Nu‘alolo Trails, stroll the knife edge of precipitously eroded cliffs. Waimea Canyon Dr (Hwy 550) starts in the town of Waimea and is peppered with scenic lookouts. Pick up trail information at the park’s Koke‘e Museum (☎ 808-335-9975; www.kokee.org; 3600 Koke‘e Rd; donation $1; 🕒 10am-4pm).

Those with tents should aim for the comfortable Koke‘e State Park campground; for permits, contact the Division of State Parks (☎ 808-274-3446; www.hawaiistateparks.org; campsites $5). The town of Waimea makes a good base for park explorations; in town, Inn Waimea (☎ 808-338-0031; www.innwaimea.com; 4469 Halepule Rd, Waimea; ste from $110, cottage $150; ☒ 💻 📶) is a lovely old missionary home with four guest rooms and two-bedroom cottages.

Also worth exploring is Hanapepe, a quaint, historic town with false-fronted Old West buildings housing fun galleries and shops. Friday night is Hanapepe Art Walk (🕒 6-9pm Fri), when galleries stay open late and the town comes alive. Near town, Salt Pond Beach Park is perfect for swimming and ideal for families. The best West-side meal is at the artfully quaint Hanapepe Café (☎ 808-335-5011; 3830 Hanapepe Rd; lunch $6-10, dinner $18-25; 🕒 7:30am-3pm Mon-Thu, 5-9pm Fri); the menu focuses on seafood and vegetarian mains, and dinner Friday night includes live music (reservations are required).

MOLOKA‘I

Sparsely populated by mostly Native Hawaiians and largely undeveloped for tourism, rural Moloka‘i is ideal for those seeking the ‘other’ Hawaii: unpackaged, traditional, still wild and exuding genuine aloha. It is for travelers who willingly trade comfort for a taste of an untamed landscape – this one recalling Hawaii’s awe-inspiring natural glory as it was half a century or more ago.

The quintessential Moloka‘i experience is riding a mule (or hiking) down the steep, towering cliff face of the Kalaupapa Peninsula. Designated as the Kalaupapa National Historical Park (www.nps.gov/kala; 🕒 Mon-Sat), the beautiful peninsula was once a settlement for people with leprosy (now called Hansen’s disease); from 1873 to 1889, they were served by Catholic priest Father Damien, who achieved sainthood in 2009. Guided tours of the settlement are included in the cost of the Moloka‘i Mule Ride (☎ 808-567-6088, 800-567-7550; www.muleride.com; tours $175).

From Moloka‘i’s main town, Kaunakakai (with simple lodgings and eateries), a gorgeous 27-mile drive leads along the south coast past small towns and fishponds to the lush Halawa Valley, which shelters ancient heiau and waterfalls. Raw, nearly prehistoric forests are found in the Moloka‘i Forest Reserve and the adjacent Kamakou Preserve, in central Moloka‘i. Access is difficult (almost exclusively by 4WD and/or long hike), so it’s worth joining the excellent monthly hike with the Nature Conservancy (☎ 808-553-5236; www.nature.org/hawaii; suggested donation $25), which provides transportation.

For cottages, houses and condos Molokai Vacation Properties (☎ 808-553-8334, 800-367-2984; www.molokai-vacation-rental.com) and Moloka‘i Resorts Vacation Rental Center (☎ 808-553-3666, 800-600-4158; www.molokairesorts.com) have choices in all price ranges.

To reach Moloka‘i, Island Air (☎ 808-484-2222, 800-652-6541; www.islandair.com) and Mokulele Airlines (☎ 808-426-7070, 866-260-7070; www.mokuleleairlines.com) both have daily flights from Honolulu and Kahului, Maui. Or take a 90-minute passenger ferry from Lahaina, Maui, on the Molokai Princess (☎ 808-662-3355, 866-307-6524; www.molokaiferry.com; adult/child $40/20), which runs two round-trips Monday to Saturday and one on Sunday. It will also arrange ferry-car packages.

LANA‘I

Once home to the world’s largest pineapple plantation, Lana‘i has been refashioned into a plaything for the wealthy. Home to a pair of Hawaii’s most elite resorts, between them boasting more stars than the night sky, and two world-class golf courses, Lanaʻi can nevertheless make a satisfying visit or day trip for mere-mortal travelers.

At its center is Lanaʻi City, a charming, well-preserved historic plantation town where the pace evokes a gentler, slower era. Swim, snorkel and dive in the dolphin-rich waters off beautiful Hulopoʻe Beach, and enjoy unparalleled views hiking along the ridgetop Munro Trail.

You can also golf, and sample the good life, at the resorts, which are run by Four Seasons Resort Lanaʻi (☎ 800-321-4666; www.fourseasons.com/lanai). Get your gourmet restaurants, spas and first-class lodgings at either Manele Bay (☎ 808-565-2000; r from $415; ❄ 💻 📶 🏊) or Lodge at Koele (☎ 808-565-4000; r from $345; ❄ 💻 📶 🏊). To spend the night without breaking the bank, the 1923 Hotel Lanai (☎ 808-565-7211, 877-665-2624; www.hotellanai.com; 828 Lanaʻi Ave; r $160-180; 🚭) is a 10-room former plantation guesthouse that is a delightful throwback.

The recommended way to reach Lanaʻi is by ferry from Lahaina, Maui, since you often see whales and spinner dolphins en route. Expeditions (☎ 808-661-3756, 800-695-2624; www.go-lanai.com; adult/child $30/20) runs a round-trip passenger ferry five times daily. Also, Island Air (☎ 808-484-2222, 800-652-6541; www.islandair.com) and Mokulele Airlines (☎ 808-426-7070, 866-260-7070; www.mokuleleairlines.com) both have daily flights from Honolulu.

OTHER ISLANDS

KAHOʻOLAWE

This uninhabited island, 7 miles southwest of Maui, was used exclusively by the US military as a bombing target from WWII until 1990. Despite a $400-million, 10-year cleanup by the military, the island remains littered with unexploded ordnance and is thus off-limits to tourists.

Considered sacred by Native Hawaiians, Kahoʻolawe is currently managed by the Kahoʻolawe Island Reserve Commission (www.kahoolawe.hawaii.gov). With the help of Protect Kahoʻolawe ʻOhana (www.kahoolawe.org), it is rehabilitating the island's ecosystems and restoring cultural sites in the hopes of making the island livable once again. To learn more or to volunteer to help during monthly visits, see the websites.

NIʻIHAU

The smallest of the inhabited Hawaiian Islands and a Native Hawaiian preserve, Niʻihau has long been closed to outsiders, earning it the nickname 'The Forbidden Island.' No other place in Hawaii has more successfully turned its back on change. The island's 160 residents still speak Hawaiian as a first language, and Niʻihau has no paved roads, no airport, no islandwide electricity and no telephones.

The only way to visit the island is through Niʻihau Helicopters (☎ 877-441-3500; www.niihau.us; per person $365/half day); arrange helicopter tours well in advance.

PAPAHANAUMOKUAKEA MARINE NATIONAL MONUMENT

On June 15, 2006, President Bush declared the Northwestern Hawaiian Islands the USA's first Marine National Monument. Encompassing around 140,000 sq miles and containing 33 islands and atolls, it is now the largest protected marine area in the world and is scattered across 1200 miles of ocean northwest of Kauaʻi.

The islands are home to the USA's largest and healthiest coral reef, and they support 7000 marine species and around 14 million seabirds. Governed by some form of protection since 1909, Papahanaumokuakea Marine National Monument (www.hawaiireef.noaa.gov) has only one island that can be visited by tourists, Midway Island, which was the site of a pivotal WWII battle between Japanese and American naval forces. Renewed in 2007 by the US Fish & Wildlife Service (www.fws.gov/midway), Midway visits are limited, costly ($5000 per week) and only allowed from November to July – to coincide with Midway's spectacular albatross nesting season.

© Lonely Planet. To make it easier for you to use, access to this chapter is not digitally restricted. In return, we think it's fair to ask you to use it for personal, non-commercial purposes only. In other words, please don't upload this chapter to a peer-to-peer site, mass email it to everyone you know, or resell it. See the terms and conditions on our site for a longer way of saying the above - 'Do the right thing with our content.'

Directory

CONTENTS

Accommodations 1131
Activities 1134
Business Hours 1136
Children 1136
Climate Charts 1137
Customs 1137
Dangers & Annoyances 1139
Discounts 1139
Embassies & Consulates 1140
Festivals & Events 1140
Food 1141
Gay & Lesbian Travelers 1141
Holidays 1141
Insurance 1141
Internet Access 1142
Legal Matters 1142
Maps 1143
Money 1143
Photography & Video 1144
Post 1145
Shopping 1145
Solo Travelers 1145
Telephone 1146
Time 1147
Tourist Information 1147
Travelers with Disabilities 1147
Visas 1148
Volunteering 1150
Women Travelers 1151
Work 1151

ACCOMMODATIONS

This guide includes recommendations for all budgets, but it emphasizes midrange accommodations. Unless otherwise noted, 'budget' is considered under $80 per room per night, 'midrange' $80 to $200 and 'top end' over $200. Accommodation rates are based on standard double-occupancy in high season (usually during summer from late May to early September). These rates are a general guide only. Special events, busy weekends, conventions and holidays can drive prices higher; in some places, low-season rates can be significantly lower. Note: prices do not include hotel tax, which can add 10% to 15%, or more. When booking, always ask for the rate including taxes.

Since nearly every US hotel has nonsmoking rooms, the nonsmoking icon (☒) is used only when a property bans smoking entirely. Accommodations that cater to families are marked with the child-friendly icon (👶). The wi-fi icon (📶) is used when wireless internet access is available, whether free or paid. The internet icon (💻) denotes an online computer terminal is available for guests' use. To find ecofriendly accommodations, consult the GreenDex (p1212).

For all but the cheapest places and the slowest seasons, reservations are advised. In high-season tourist hot spots, hotels can book up months ahead. Walking in off the street without a reservation gets you a good deal only when things are really dead. In general, many hotels offer specials on their websites, but low-end chains sometimes give a slightly better rate over the phone. Chain hotels also increasingly offer frequent-flyer mileage deals and other rewards programs; ask when booking. Online travel booking, bidding and comparison websites (see p1154) are another good way to find discounted hotel rates; also check out Hotels.com (www.hotels.com) and Hotwire (www.hotwire.com).

B&Bs

In the USA, many B&Bs are high-end romantic retreats in restored historic homes that are run by personable, independent innkeepers who serve gourmet breakfasts. These B&Bs often take pains to evoke a theme – Victorian, rustic, Cape Cod and so on – and amenities range from merely comfortable to hopelessly indulgent. Rates normally top $100, and the best run $200 to $300+. Many B&Bs have minimum-stay requirements, and some exclude young children.

BOOK YOUR STAY ONLINE

For more accommodation reviews and recommendations by Lonely Planet authors, check out the online booking service at www.lonelyplanet.com/hotels. You'll find the true, insider low-down on the best places to stay. Reviews are thorough and independent. Best of all, you can book online.

PRACTICALITIES

Electricity

- AC 110V is standard; buy adapters to run most non-US electronics

Newspapers & Magazines

- National newspapers: New York Times, Wall Street Journal, USA Today
- Mainstream news magazines: Time, Newsweek, US News & World Report

Radio & TV

- Radio news: National Public Radio (NPR), lower end of FM dial
- Broadcast TV: ABC, CBS, NBC, FOX, PBS (public broadcasting)
- Major cable channels: CNN (news), ESPN (sports), HBO (movies), Weather Channel

Video Systems

- NTSC standard (incompatible with PAL or SECAM)
- DVDs coded for Region 1 (US and Canada only)

Weights & Measures

- Weight: ounces (oz), pounds (lb), tons
- Liquid: oz, pints, quarts, gallons (gal)
- Distance: feet (ft), yards (yd), miles (mi)

To convert weights, liquid measures and distances to the metric system, see the inside front cover.

Still, European-style B&Bs exist: these may be rooms in someone's home, with plainer furnishings, simpler breakfasts, shared baths and cheaper rates. These often welcome families.

B&Bs can close out of season and reservations are essential, especially for top-end places. To avoid surprises, always ask about bathrooms (whether shared or private). B&B agencies are sprinkled throughout this guide. Also check listings online:

Bed & Breakfast Inns Online (www.bbonline.com)
BedandBreakfast.com (www.bedandbreakfast.com)
BnB Finder (www.bnbfinder.com)
Pamela Lanier's Bed & Breakfast Inns (www.lanierbb.com)
Select Registry (www.selectregistry.com)

Camping

Most federally managed public lands (see p1134) and many state parks offer camping. First-come, first-served 'primitive' campsites offer no facilities; overnight fees range from free to under $10. 'Basic' sites usually provide toilets (flush or pit), drinking water, fire pits and picnic tables; they cost $5 to $15 a night, and some or all may be reserved in advance. 'Developed' campsites, usually in national or state parks, have nicer facilities and more amenities: showers, barbecue grills, RV sites with hookups etc. These run $12 to $35 a night, and many can be reserved in advance.

Camping on most federal lands – including national parks (p114), national forests, Bureau of Land Management land and so on – can be reserved through Recreation.gov (☎ 518-885-3639, 877-444-6777; www.recreation.gov). Camping is usually limited to 14 days and can be reserved up to six months in advance. For some state park campgrounds, you can make bookings through ReserveAmerica (www.reserveamerica.com). Both websites let you search for campground locations and amenities, check availability and reserve a site, view maps and get driving directions online.

Private campgrounds tend to cater to RVs and families (tent sites may be few and lack atmosphere). Facilities may include playgrounds, convenience stores, wi-fi networks, swimming pools and other activities. Some rent camping cabins, ranging from canvas-sided wooden platforms to log-frame structures with real beds, heating and private baths. Kampgrounds of America (KOA; http://koa.com) is a national network of private campgrounds with a full range of facilities. You can order KOA's free annual directory (shipping fees apply) or browse its comprehensive campground listings and make bookings online.

Hostels

Hostels are clustered mainly in the northeast, the Pacific Northwest, California and the Southwest. Cities stock a handful, but across swathes of the Great Plains, the Midwest and the South, it's hard to find even one.

Hostelling International USA (HI-USA; ☎ 301-495-1240; www.hiusa.org; annual membership adult/child under 18/senior $28/free/$18) runs over 40 hostels in the US. Most have gender-segregated dorms, a few private rooms, shared baths and a communal kitchen. They usually provide linen (free or for a small fee; sleeping bags not allowed), prohibit alcohol and smoking, and organize social activities. In cities, hostels may stay open 24 hours, have wheelchair-accessible accommodations and amenities such as swimming pools, while others may close in the afternoon (usually between 10am and 5pm). Overnight fees for dorm beds range from $20 to $35. HI-USA members are entitled to small discounts and a free hostel handbook upon request. Reservations are accepted and advised during high season, when there may be a three-night maximum stay. Book online or through HI-USA's central booking service (☎ 888-464-4872).

The USA has many independent hostels not affiliated with HI-USA. For online listings, check the following:

Hostel Handbook (www.hostelhandbook.com)
Hostels.com (www.hostels.com)
Hostelworld.com (www.hostelworld.com).
Hostelz.com (www.hostelz.com)

Hotels

These days, every town's 'hotel corridor' seems to be an interchangeable row of bland, chain-owned choices. There's no escaping this, though what you lose in personality you gain in dependability. With chains, you have the (sometimes stifling) comfort of knowing what you'll get by looking at the sign. Sigh.

In this guide, we aim to highlight independently owned, family-run, quirky and otherwise stand-out establishments – places designed to be remembered, not instantly forgotten. When these are too few to sustain the traveler, we also include the best choices among the chains. Some chains, as well, have made not-unwelcome stabs at individualism; it sounds oxymoronic, but they occasionally offer unique stays.

Hotels in all categories typically include in-room phones, cable TV, alarm clocks, private baths and a simple continental breakfast. Many midrange properties provide minibars, microwaves, hairdryers, internet access, air-conditioning and/or heating, swimming pools and writing desks, while top-end hotels add concierge services, fitness and business centers, spas, restaurants, bars and much more.

The downside to an independent hotel is that decor and cleanliness can vary greatly, even from room to room. Don't like surprises? Ask to see your room before paying, particularly at cheaper places. In general, rooms will have one king-size bed or two double or queen-size beds, and rates will cover two adults, with small surcharges for a third or fourth person. Even if hotels advertise that children 'sleep free,' cots or rollaway beds may cost extra. Always ask about the hotel's policy for telephone calls; all charge an exorbitant amount for long-distance and international calls, but some also charge for dialing local and toll-free numbers.

CHAIN HOTELS

Budget

Choice Hotels (☎ 877-424-6423; www.choicehotels.com)
Days Inn (☎ 800-329-7466; www.daysinn.com)
Motel 6 (☎ 800-466-8356; www.motel6.com)
Red Roof Inn (☎ 800-733-7663; www.redroof.com)
Super 8 (☎ 800-800-8000; www.super8.com)
Travelodge (☎ 800-578-7878; www.travelodge.com)

Midrange

Best Western (☎ 800-780-7234; www.bestwestern.com)
Choice Hotels (☎ 877-424-6423; www.choicehotels.com)
Hampton Inn (☎ 800-426-7866; www.hamptoninn.com)
Holiday Inn (☎ 888-465-4329; www.holidayinn.com)
Howard Johnson (☎ 800-446-4656; www.hojo.com)
La Quinta (☎ 800-753-3757; www.lq.com)
Marriott (☎ 888-236-2427; www.marriott.com)
Radisson (☎ 800-395-7046; www.radisson.com)
Ramada (☎ 800-272-6232; www.ramada.com)

Top End

Four Seasons (☎ 800-819-5053; www.fourseasons.com)
Hilton (☎ 800-445-8667; www.hilton.com)
Hyatt (☎ 888-591-1234; www.hyatt.com)
Ritz-Carlton (☎ 800-542-8680; www.ritzcarlton.com)
Sheraton (☎ 800-325-3535; www.sheraton.com)
W Hotels (☎ 877-946-8357; www.whotels.com)
Westin (☎ 800-937-8461; www.westin.com)

Motels

Motels were originally 'drive-up rooms' along the highway, where you parked your car outside your door. Today, many motels are equivalent to hotels, with one leftover distinguishing characteristic: motels usually have exterior room doors opening onto a parking lot, while most hotel rooms open into secured interior hallways.

Motels tend to cluster around interstate exits and along main routes into towns. Some remain smaller, less-expensive 'mom-and-pop' operations; breakfast is rarely included (unless you count burnt coffee and donuts); and amenities might top out at a phone and a TV (maybe with cable). However, motels often have a few rooms with simple kitchenettes.

Don't judge a motel solely on looks. Facades may be faded and tired, but the proprietor may keep rooms spotlessly clean. Of course, the situation could be decidedly reversed. Try to ask to see your room before you commit.

ACTIVITIES

For inspiration, see the Outdoors chapter (p131) and the special section on national parks (p105). Here, we've provided some practical details and contact information for national outdoors organizations. See the regional chapters for more destinations, outdoor outfitters and local organizations.

The Great Outdoor Recreation Pages (GORP; http://gorp.away.com) are an all-round online resource. A general-interest magazine for outdoor enthusiasts is Outside (http://outside.away.com). If you just need gear, national retailers include co-op–owned REI (☎ 253-891-2500, 800-426-4840; www.rei.com) and the corporate Sports Authority (☎ 888-801-9164; www.sportsauthority.com).

For comprehensive instruction in a range of outdoor skills, contact the National Outdoor Leadership School (☎ 800-710-6657; www.nols.edu). REI offers outdoor activity and skills classes, weekend getaways and longer multisport adventure tours. Outward Bound (☎ 866-467-7651; www.outwardbound.org) is known for its challenging courses emphasizing wilderness skills and personal growth. For more regional outdoor activity schools, see p132.

The USA has a wealth of public lands. Wilderness.net (www.wilderness.net) provides descriptions, maps, contact information and links for every national wilderness area. Recreation.gov (www.recreation.gov) has a searchable database of recreational opportunities on public lands managed by federal agencies:

Bureau of Land Management (BLM; www.blm.gov)
National Park Service (NPS; www.nps.gov)
US Fish & Wildlife Service (USFWS; www.fws.gov)
US Forest Service (USFS; www.fs.fed.us)

For advice on low-impact camping and 'Leave No Trace' wilderness etiquette, see p126.

Canoeing, Kayaking, Rafting & Sailing

If a river, lake or reservoir is big enough to support watercraft, an outfitter or rental operation will usually be found nearby. In national parks, rafting, kayaking and canoeing usually require a permit, and in some cases – such as white-water rafting on the Colorado River – waitlists for individual permits can be years long. In these cases, book in advance with an organized tour.

Helpful resources for paddlers:

American Canoe Association (www.americancanoe.org) Canoeing and kayaking organization publishes Paddler magazine (www.paddlermagazine.com), has a water trails database and offers courses.

American Whitewater (www.americanwhitewater.org) Advocacy group for responsible recreation works to preserve America's wild rivers.

Canoe & Kayak (www.canoekayak.com) Special-interest magazine for paddlers.

Kayak Online (www.kayakonline.com) Advice for buying gear and helpful links to kayaking outfitters, schools and associations.

Cycling & Mountain Biking

Bike rental outfits are common across the whole country; see the regional chapters for recommendations. Turn to p1159 for advice on bicycle touring; buying, renting and reselling bicycles; and transporting your own bicycle to, from and around the USA. If you bring your own bike, bring a heavy-duty lock too – bicycle theft is big business here.

Some national and state parks have multiuse or recreational cycling trails, but bikes are almost always banned from dedicated hiking trails. Bikes are typically allowed on the parks' paved or dirt roads, but ask the rangers about local regulations first. Trail etiquette requires that cyclists yield to other users on trails. Elsewhere, bicycles are subject to the same rules of the road as automobiles. Check out www.mtbr.com or www.dirtworld.com for free online reviews of hundreds of mountain-biking trails.

Helpful resources for cyclists:

Adventure Cycling Association (www.adventurecycling.org) Organizes tours, sells bike routes and maps, maintains a cyclists' yellow pages and publishes Adventure Cyclist magazine.

Backroads (www.backroads.com) Offers a variety of cycling and multisport tours nationwide, from cushy to strenuous.

Bicycling (www.bicycling.com) Primarily for road cyclists, Bicycling magazine highlights cycling routes across the country and advises on gear and fitness training.

Bike (www.bikemag.com) Bike magazine publishes news and features online, with links to a database of national mountain-biking trail reviews.

Cycle America (www.cycleamerica.com) Specializes in supported cross-country rides and national park cycling tours.

League of American Bicyclists (www.bikeleague.org) National advocacy group publishes American Bicyclist magazine; its informative website has links, touring advice and a database of local bike clubs and repair shops.

Hiking & Backpacking

With few exceptions, most of America's wilderness areas are open to hikers. The best-maintained trails are usually in national and state parks; these range from easy, paved, wheelchair-accessible nature paths to overnight and multiday backcountry adventures.

At national and state parks, free trail maps are usually adequate for day hikes. For backpacking and day hiking on other public lands, topographic maps (p1143) may be useful and even necessary. Before hiking, always ask at a ranger station or visitor center about current weather and trail conditions. It's usually required that you get a permit or at least register with park rangers or at a sign-in board before departing on overnight trips. Whether free or costing a few dollars, backcountry permits are sometimes limited; in popular national parks they can book up months ahead. In environmentally sensitive areas areas, backcountry use may have many restrictions.

Be prepared for a wilderness journey and know what to do if things go wrong. Survive Outdoors (www.surviveoutdoors.com) dispenses tons of safety and first-aid tips, plus helpful photos of dangerous critters. How to Stay Alive in the Woods: A Complete Guide to Food, Shelter, and Self-Preservation that Makes Starvation in the Wilderness Next to Impossible, by Bradford Angier, covers almost every contingency.

Helpful resources for hikers and backpackers:

American Hiking Society (www.americanhiking.org) Links to local hiking clubs and 'volunteer vacations' building trails.

Backpacker (www.backpacker.com) Premier national magazine for backpackers, from novices to experts.

Rails-to-Trails Conservancy (www.railstotrails.org) Converts abandoned railroad corridors into hiking and biking trails; publishes free trail reviews at www.traillink.com.

Trails.com (www.trails.com) Searchable database of over 45,000 trails from coast to coast, plus printable topo maps and hike guides; membership fee required.

The continental USA's three mountain systems are traversed by legendary, epic trails, which can be broken up into smaller segments. For more information:

Appalachian Trail Appalachian Trail Conservancy (www.appalachiantrail.org)

Continental Divide Trail Continental Divide Trail Alliance (www.cdtrail.org); Continental Divide Trail Society (www.cdtsociety.org)

Pacific Crest Trail Pacific Crest Trail Association (www.pcta.org)

Rock Climbing & Canyoneering

Listed here are some helpful resources for climbers and canyoneers:

American Canyoneering Association (www.canyoneering.net) An online canyons database and links to courses, local climbing groups and more.

Climbing (www.climbing.com) Killer magazine for cutting-edge rock-climbing news and information since 1970.

SuperTopo (www.supertopo.com) One-stop shop for rock-climbing guidebooks, free topo maps and route descriptions.

Skiing & Snowboarding

Most of the USA's ski resorts are all-inclusive experiences: they typically offer equipment rental, lessons, kids' programs, restaurants and lodging. The ski season typically runs from mid-December to April, though some resorts have longer seasons. In summer, many resorts are great places to go mountain biking and hiking courtesy of chair lifts. Ski packages (including airfare, hotel and lift tickets) are easy to find through resorts, travel agencies and online travel booking sites; these packages can be a good deal if your main goal is to ski.

Charles Leocha's Ski Snowboard America has up-to-date overviews of North America's major resorts. Virtually every ski resort has its own website. Most downhill ski resorts also have snowboarding areas and some have cross-country (Nordic) ski trails. In winter, popular areas of national parks, national forests and city parks often have cross-country ski and snowshoe trails and ice-skating rinks.

These are some helpful resources for skiers and snowboarders:

Cross-Country Ski Areas Association (www.xcski.org) Comprehensive information and gear guides for skiing and snowshoeing across North America.

Cross Country Skier (www.crosscountryskier.com) Magazine with Nordic skiing news articles, online trail reports, and race and events information.

Powder (www.powdermag.com) Online version of Powder magazine for skiers.

SkiNet (www.skinet.com) Online versions of Ski, Skiing and Snow magazines.

Ski Resorts Guide (www.skiresortsguide.com) Comprehensive guide to resorts, with downloadable trail maps, lodging info and more.

SnoCountry Mountain Reports (www.snocountry.com) Snow reports for North America, plus events, news and resort links.

Snowboard.com (http://snowboard.colonies.com) A community website for snowboarders; lots of unvarnished advice.

Surfing, Kitesurfing & Windsurfing

Pick up Surfer (www.surfermag.com) magazine for news, features and an events calendar, along with travel reports that cover just about every break in the USA, plus online discussion boards. For a comprehensive surfing atlas, buy the Stormrider Guide: North America. The US Kitesurfing Association (www.uskite.org) has links to kitesurfing schools nationwide. For online articles and kitesurfing news, check out www.ikiteboarding.com. Windsurfers should contact the US Windsurfing Association (www.uswindsurfing.org). For water babies of all kinds, the Surfrider Foundation (www.surfrider.org), a grassroots nonprofit organization, strives to protect coastal biodiversity and ecological integrity worldwide.

BUSINESS HOURS

Unless otherwise noted, standard business hours in this guide are as follows. Businesses are open 9am to 5pm Monday to Friday. Banks are open 8:30am to 4:30pm Monday to Thursday, until 5:30pm Friday. Some post offices and banks are also open 9am to noon or 1pm on Saturday.

Stores are usually open 10am to 6pm Monday to Saturday, noon to 5pm Sunday. In malls and downtown shopping areas, hours may be extended to 8pm or 9pm. Supermarkets are generally open 8am to 8pm, and most cities have 24-hour supermarkets. In some parts of the country, all businesses except a few restaurants may close on Sunday.

Restaurant hours can fluctuate with seasonal demand and the owners' whim. We provide peak-season restaurant hours for every listing, but if it's winter, and your heart's set and/or you're making a special trip, call ahead to confirm. Generally, breakfast is served from 7am to 10:30am Monday to Friday, with weekend brunch 9am to 2pm Saturday and Sunday; lunch runs from 11:30am to 2:30pm Monday to Friday; and dinner is served between 5pm to 9:30pm, often later on Friday and Saturday.

Bars and pubs are usually open 5pm to midnight, extended to 2am on Friday and Saturday. Nightclubs and dance clubs tend to open after 9pm and close around 2am Wednesday to Saturday; hours may be longer in major cities.

CHILDREN

Traveling with children is often like possessing a secret key that unlocks locals, who brighten and coo and embrace your family like long-lost cousins. From the city to the country, most facilities are ready to accommodate a child's needs, and there are boundless options for entertaining restless young minds.

Practicalities

Restaurants of all stripes have high chairs, and if a restaurant doesn't have a specific children's menu, it can usually make a kid-tailored meal. Many diners and family restaurants break out paper placemats and crayons for drawing. Many public toilets have a baby changing table (sometimes in men's toilets too), and gender-neutral 'family' facilities appear in airports.

Motels and hotels typically have rooms with two beds, which are ideal for families. They also have roll-away beds or cots that can be brought into the room for an extra charge. Some have 'kids stay free' programs, for children up to 12 or sometimes 18 years old. Some B&Bs, to preserve a romantic atmosphere, don't allow children; ask when reserving.

Every car rental agency should be able to provide an appropriate child seat or restraint, since these are required in every state, but you need to request it when booking and expect to pay around $10 more per day. Airlines sometimes offer 'kids fly free' promotions, and they usually offer steep discounts for traveling infants.

Resort hotels may have on-call babysitting services; otherwise, ask the front-desk staff or concierge to help you make arrangements. Always ask if babysitters are licensed and bonded, what they charge per hour per child, whether there's a minimum fee, and if they charge extra for transportation or meals. Most tourist bureaus list local resources for childcare and recreation facilities, medical services and so on.

To find family-oriented sights and activities, accommodations, restaurants and entertainment throughout this guide, just look for the child-friendly icon (👶).

Sights & Activities

In this guide, many big cities include a 'for children' section that highlights the area's best kids' activities and resources. The USA is full to bursting with hands-on science museums, playgrounds, theme parks and family fun centers, too. Most national and state parks gear at least some exhibits, trails and programs (eg junior ranger activities) towards families with kids.

For more outdoor advice, read Kids in the Wild: A Family Guide to Outdoor Recreation by Cindy Ross and Todd Gladfelter, and Alice Cary's Parents' Guide to Hiking & Camping. For all-around information and advice, check out Lonely Planet's Travel with Children.

Helpful resources for families:

Family Travel Files (www.thefamilytravelfiles.com) Ready-made vacation ideas, destination profiles and travel tips.

Go City Kids (www.gocitykids.com) Excellent coverage of kid-centric activities and entertainment in over 50 US cities.

Kids.gov (www.kids.gov) Eclectic, enormous national resource; download songs and activities, or even link to the CIA Kids' Page.

CLIMATE CHARTS

For general advice on seasonal travel in the USA, see p25. Every regional chapter provides specific destination information. The National Weather Service (www.nws.noaa.gov) has an array of radar and satellite maps. Our climate charts (p1138) provide a snapshot of the USA's weather patterns.

CUSTOMS

For a complete list of US customs regulations, visit the official portal for US Customs and Border Protection (www.cbp.gov); the downloadable 'Know Before You Go' brochure covers the basics.

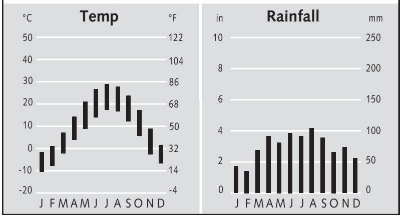
US Customs allows each person to bring 1L of liquor (provided you are at least 21 years old) and 100 cigars and 200 cigarettes (if you are at least 18) duty-free into the USA. US citizens are allowed to import, duty-free, $800 worth of gifts and purchases from abroad, while non-US citizens are allowed to bring in $100 worth.

US law permits you to bring in, or take out, as much as $10,000 in US or foreign currency, traveler's checks or money orders without formality. There's no maximum limit, but larger amounts of money must be declared to customs.

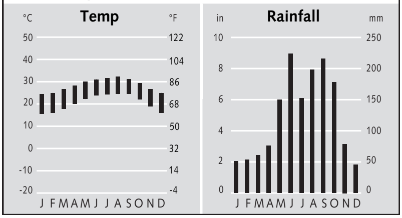
There are heavy penalties for attempting to import illegal drugs. It's also forbidden to bring in to the US drug paraphernalia, lottery tickets, items with fake brand names, and most goods made in Cuba, Iran, North Korea, Myanmar (Burma), Angola and Sudan. Any fruit, vegetables, or other food or plant material must be declared or left in the bins in the arrival area. Most food items are prohibited to prevent the introduction of pests or diseases.

The USA, like over 170 other countries, is a signatory to the Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species of Wild Flora and Fauna (CITES). As such, it prohibits the import and export of products made from species that may be endangered in any part of the world, including ivory, tortoiseshell, coral and many fur, skin and feather products. If you bring or buy a fur coat, bone carving or alligator-skin boots, you may have to show a certificate when you enter and/or leave the USA that states your goods were not made from endangered species. For more information, contact the US Fish and Wildlife Service (☎ 800-358-2104; www.fws.gov).

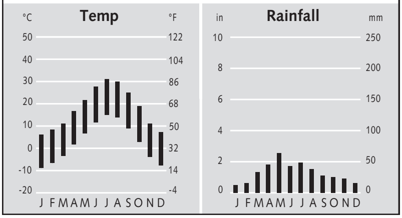
CHICAGO, IL 182m (595ft) Average Max/Min



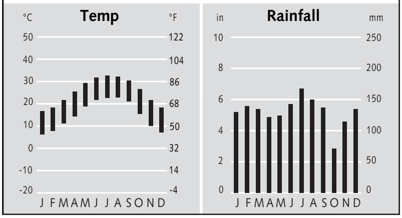
MIAMI, FL 3m (12ft) Average Max/Min



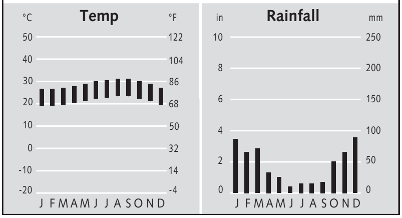
DENVER, CO 1611m (5286ft) Average Max/Min



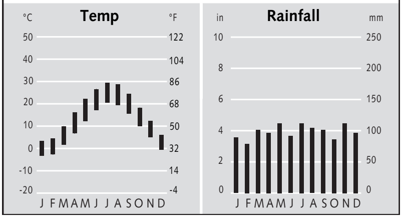
NEW ORLEANS, LA 5m (16ft) Average Max/Min



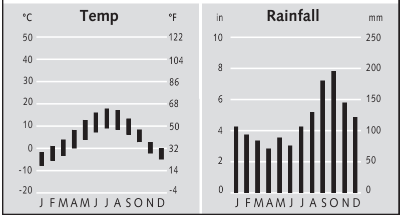
HONOLULU, HI 2m (7ft) Average Max/Min



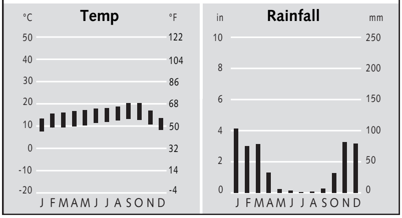
NEW YORK, NY 39m (131ft) Average Max/Min



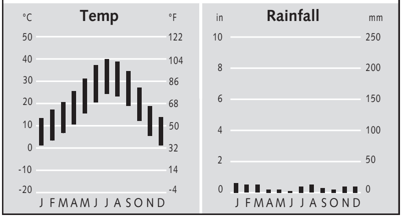
JUNEAU, AK 3m (10ft) Average Max/Min



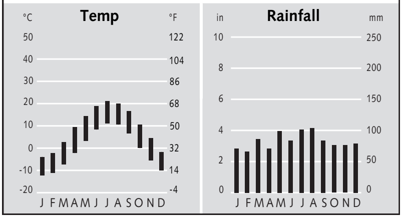
SAN FRANCISCO, CA 39m (128ft) Average Max/Min



LAS VEGAS, NV 658m (2162ft) Average Max/Min



WASHINGTON, DC 9m (30ft) Average Max/Min



DANGERS & ANNOYANCES

Despite its seemingly Babylonian list of dangers – guns, violent crime, riots, earthquakes, tornadoes – the USA is actually a pretty safe country to visit. The greatest danger for travelers is posed by car accidents (buckle up – it's the law). The greatest annoyances are urban traffic and crowds at popular tourist attractions. Otherwise, there are few traveler troubles unique to the USA.

Crime

For the traveler, petty theft is the biggest concern, not violent crime. When possible, withdraw money from ATMs during the day, or at night in well-lit, busy areas. When driving, don't pick up hitchhikers, and lock valuables in the trunk of your car before arriving at your destination. In hotels, you can secure valuables in room or hotel safes.

Guns, so prominent in the news, would seem to be everywhere, but unless it's hunting season, you'll rarely see them (except perhaps in Alaska and Texas). Then again, if it is hunting season, wear bright colors when hiking in the woods.

Scams

Pack your street smarts. In big cities, you know that three-card-monte card games are always rigged, and that expensive electronics, watches and designer items sold on the cheap from sidewalk tables are either fakes or stolen? You realize there is no such thing as 'bargain-priced authentic handicrafts?' Good. Those truly fascinated by all the myriad ways small-time American hucksters make a living today (usually with credit card, real estate and investment frauds), browse the 'Consumer Guides' on the government's website, www.usa.gov.

Natural Disasters

Most areas with predictable natural disturbances – tornadoes in the Midwest, tsunamis in Hawaii, hurricanes in the South, earthquakes in California – have an emergency siren system to alert communities to imminent danger. These sirens are tested periodically at noon, but if you hear one and suspect trouble, turn on a local TV or radio station, which will be broadcasting safety warnings and advice.

The US Department of Health & Human Services (www.dhhs.gov/disasters) has preparedness advice, news and information on all the ways your vacation could go horribly, horribly wrong. But relax: it probably won't.

DISCOUNTS

Travelers will find a plethora of ways to shave costs off hotel rooms, meals, rental cars, museum admissions and just about anything else that can be had for a price. Persistence and ingenuity go a long way when it comes to finding deals in the USA.

Students and seniors over age 62 (sometimes 55 or 60) are not issued separate discount cards, but they benefit from savings of all kinds. As a matter of policy, ask about a discount every time you book a room, reserve a car or pay an entrance fee. Most of the time this saves 10% or so, but sometimes as much as 50%. Simply carry proof of age or student status.

International students should consider getting an International Student Identity Card (ISIC; www.isiccard.com), which provides its own discounts and should convince any dubious merchants of your student status. For international nonstudents under 26, the International Youth Travel Card (IYTC) offers some of the same savings. International and US students can buy the Student Advantage Card (www.studentadvantage.com) and get 15% off Amtrak train and Greyhound bus tickets, plus discounts of up to 40% at some hotels, shops and cinemas.

US seniors should consider getting an 'America the Beautiful' Senior Pass (p114), which grants free access to all federal recreational lands (eg national parks) and 50% off use fees such as camping. For US citizens aged 50 years and older, the nonprofit American Association of Retired Persons (AARP; www.aarp.org) is another source of travel discounts, typically 10% to 25% off hotels, car rentals, entertainment etc.

Card-carrying members of automobile associations (p1161) are entitled to similar travel discounts; AAA has reciprocal agreements with several international auto associations, so bring your membership card from home. Other people whose status might lead to discounts are: US military personnel and veterans, travelers with disabilities, children, business travelers and foreign visitors. These discounts may not always be advertised – it pays to ask.

Discount coupons can be found at every tourist locale. They always have restrictions

GOVERNMENT TRAVEL ADVICE

- Australia (www.smartraveler.gov.au)
- Canada (www.voyage.gc.ca)
- New Zealand (www.safetravel.govt.nz)
- UK (www.fco.gov.uk)
- USA (www.travel.state.gov)

and conditions, so read the fine print. Some are hardly worth the effort, but scour tourist information offices and highway welcome centers for brochures and flyers, and you'll find a few gems. For online hotel coupons, browse Roomsaver.com (www.roomsaver.com).

EMBASSIES & CONSULATES

International travelers who want to contact their home country's embassy while in the United States should visit www.embassy.org, which lists contact information for all foreign embassies in Washington, DC. Most countries have an embassy for the UN in New York City. Some countries also have consulates in other large cities; look under 'Consulates' in the yellow pages, or call local directory assistance.

FESTIVALS & EVENTS

Festivals and events listed here are celebrated nationally, though with much more fanfare in some places. For more festival highlights nationwide, see 'Parties & Parades' (p28) and the 'Festivals & Events' sections of the regional chapters. Contact individual tourist information offices for more details. See also Holidays (opposite).

JANUARY

Chinese New Year Late January or early February. Celebrated with parades, fireworks and lots of food; San Francisco's Chinatown is a fantastic place to be.

FEBRUARY

Black History Month African American heritage is celebrated nationwide.

Valentine's Day The 14th. For some reason, St Valentine is associated with romance; shops sell out of boxes of chocolate candy, flowers and cards.

Mardi Gras In late February or early March, the day before Ash Wednesday. Parades, revelry and abandonment accompany the finale of Carnival; New Orleans's celebrations are legendary.

MARCH

St Patrick's Day The 17th. The patron saint of Ireland is honored; huge celebrations occur in New York, Boston and Chicago. Wear green – if you don't, you could get pinched.

Easter In late March or April, on the Sunday following Good Friday (which is not a public holiday); after morning church services, kids hunt for eggs hidden by the Easter bunny.

MAY

Cinco de Mayo The 5th. The day the Mexicans won the Battle of Puebla against the French in 1862; especially in the South and West, communities celebrate their Mexican heritage with parades.

Mother's Day The second Sunday. Children send cards and call their mothers (or feel guilty for a whole year).

JUNE

Father's Day The third Sunday. Same idea as Mother's Day, different parent, less guilt.

Gay Pride Month (www.interpride.org) In some cities, gay pride celebrations last a week, but in San Francisco, it's a month-long party, where the last weekend in June sees giant parades.

JULY

Independence Day The 4th. The historic anniversary of the US becoming independent inspires parades and fireworks; Chicago pulls out all the stops with fireworks on the 3rd.

OCTOBER

Halloween The 31st. Kids dress in costumes and go door-to-door trick-or-treating for candy; adults dress in costumes and act out alter egos at parties – New York and San Francisco are the wildest.

NOVEMBER

Day of the Dead The 2nd. Areas with Mexican communities honor deceased relatives with candlelit memorials; candy skulls and skeletons are popular.

Thanksgiving The fourth Thursday. A latter-day harvest festival: family and friends gather for daylong feasts, traditionally involving roast turkey. New York City hosts a huge parade.

DECEMBER

Chanukkah Date determined by the Hebrew calendar, but usually begins before Christmas. This eight-day Jewish holiday is also called the Festival of Lights.

Christmas The 25th. Christ's birth inspires midnight church services, tree-lighting ceremonies, caroling in the streets and of course, a visit from Santa.

Kwanzaa (www.officialkwanzaawebsite.org) From December 26th to January 1st. This African American celebration is a time to give thanks and honor the seven principles.

New Year's Eve The 31st. Out with the old, in with the new: millions get drunk, resolve to do better, and the next day nurse hangovers while watching college football.

FOOD

In this book, restaurant prices typically refer to an average main dish at dinner; the same dish at lunch will usually be significantly cheaper, perhaps half-price. Quoted prices do not usually include drinks, appetizers, desserts, taxes or tips, unless otherwise stated. When price categories are used in the regional chapters, 'budget' means a meal under $12, 'midrange' means most dinner meals or mains $12 to $25, and 'top end' means most dinner meals or mains over $25.

Note many US restaurants ban or restrict smoking. For the lowdown on cuisine, customs and table manners, see the Food & Drink chapter, p101.

GAY & LESBIAN TRAVELERS

Most major US cities have a visible and open GLBT community that is easy to connect with. In this guide, many cities include a boxed text or section that describes the city's best GLBT offerings. For highlights, see the 'We're Here, We're Queer' itinerary (p43).

The level of acceptance varies nationwide. In some places, there is absolutely no tolerance whatsoever, and in others acceptance is predicated on GLBT people not 'flaunting' their sexual preference or identity. Make no mistake: bigotry still exists. When in doubt, assume locals follow a 'don't ask, don't tell' policy. Same-sex marriage, a hotly debated topic, is now legal in a handful of states.

Damron (www.damron.com) publishes the classic gay travel guides, but they're advertiser-driven and sometimes outdated. OutTraveler (www.outtraveler.com), Out & About (www.gay.com/travel) and PlanetOut (www.planetout.com/travel) publish downloadable gay travel guides and articles. Purple Roofs (www.purpleroofs.com) lists gay-owned and gay-friendly B&Bs and hotels nationwide.

The Queerest Places: A Guide to Gay and Lesbian Historic Sites by Paula Martinac is full of juicy details and history, and covers the country.

Other helpful resources:

Advocate (www.advocate.com) Gay-oriented news website reports on business, politics, arts, entertainment and travel.

Gay & Lesbian National Help Center (☎ 888-843-4564; 🕑 1-9pm PST Mon-Fri, 4pm-midnight PST Sat) A national hotline for counseling, information and referrals.

Gay Yellow Network (www.gayyellow.com) Yellow-page listings for over 30 US cities.

National Gay and Lesbian Task Force (www.thetaskforce.org) National activist group's website covers news, politics and current issues.

HOLIDAYS

On the following national public holidays, banks, schools and government offices (including post offices) are closed, and transportation, museums and other services operate on a Sunday schedule. Holidays falling on a weekend are usually observed the following Monday.

New Year's Day	January 1
Martin Luther King Jr Day	Third Monday in January
Presidents' Day	Third Monday in February
Memorial Day	Last Monday in May
Independence Day	July 4
Labor Day	First Monday in September
Columbus Day	Second Monday in October
Veterans' Day	November 11
Thanksgiving	Fourth Thursday in November
Christmas Day	December 25

During spring break, college students get a week off from school so they can overrun beach towns and resorts with wild shenanigans. Colleges don't all choose the same week, so spring breaks occur throughout March and April. For students of all ages, summer vacation runs from June to August.

INSURANCE

No matter how long or short your trip, make sure you have adequate travel insurance, purchased before departure. At a minimum, you need coverage for medical emergencies and treatment, including hospital stays and an emergency flight home if necessary. Medical treatment in the USA is of the highest caliber, but the expense could kill you. See p1168 for more information.

You should also consider getting coverage for luggage theft or loss and trip cancellation. If you already have a home-owner's or renter's policy, see what it will cover and consider getting supplemental insurance to cover the rest. If you have prepaid a large portion of your trip, cancellation insurance is a worthwhile expense. A comprehensive travel insurance policy that covers all these things can cost up to 10% of the total cost of your trip.

THE LEGAL AGE FOR…

- Drinking: 21
- Driving: 16
- Heterosexual consensual sex: 16-18 (varies by state)
- Homosexual consensual sex: where legal, 16-18 (varies by state)
- Voting: 18

Travelers should note that they can be prosecuted under the laws of their home country regarding age of consent for sexual activity, even while traveling abroad.

If you will be driving, it's essential that you have liability insurance. Car rental agencies offer insurance that covers damage to the rental vehicle and separate liability insurance, which covers damage to people and other vehicles. See p1163 for details.

Worldwide travel insurance is available at www.lonelyplanet.com/travel_services. You can buy, extend and claim online anytime – even if you're already on the road.

INTERNET ACCESS

Travelers will have few problems staying connected in the tech-savvy USA.

This guides uses an internet icon (💻) when a place has an internet terminal for public use and the wi-fi icon (📶) when it offers wireless internet access, whether free or fee-based. These days, most hotels and some motels have either a public computer terminal or wi-fi (sometimes free, sometimes for a surcharge of $10 or more per day); ask when reserving. For more on wi-fi hotspots, see the boxed text, below.

Most towns have at least one internet café or copy center (rates average $3 to $12 per hour) and cities have dozens; in this guide, city 'Internet Access' sections list convenient options. In addition to providing internet access, full-service internet cafés may let you hook up your own peripherals to upload photos and/or burn them onto CDs (see also p1144).

For quick internet surfing and email, other dependable bets are public libraries, which offer public terminals (though they have time limits) and sometimes wi-fi. Occasionally out-of-state residents are charged a small fee.

If you're not from the US, remember that you will need an AC adapter for your laptop, plus a plug adapter for US sockets; both are available at larger electronics shops, such as Best Buy (☎ 888-237-8289; www.bestbuy.com).

See p32 for some useful websites for trip planning and traveling in the USA.

LEGAL MATTERS

In everyday matters, if you are stopped by the police, bear in mind that there is no system of paying traffic or other fines on the spot. Attempting to pay a fine to an officer is frowned upon at best and may result in a charge of bribery. For traffic offenses, the police officer or highway patroller will explain the options to you. There is usually a 30-day period to pay a fine. Most matters can be handled by mail.

If you are arrested, you have a legal right to an attorney, and you are allowed to remain

LOOK MA, NO WIRES

Wi-fi hotspots don't entirely cover the USA yet, but wireless internet access is common. Most cities and college towns have neighborhood hotspots, and even the smallest towns usually have at least one coffee shop, internet café or hotel with wi-fi. You can even connect in the woods: private campgrounds (like KOA) increasingly offer it, and so do some state parks (for example, in California, Michigan, Kentucky and Texas).

The following websites provide lists of free and fee-based wi-fi hotspots nationwide, as well as lots of helpful advice and links to gear:

- www.hotspot-locations.com
- www.jiwire.com
- www.wi-fi.com (run by the nonprofit Wi-Fi Alliance).
- www.wififreespot.com
- www.wi-fihotspotlist.com

silent. There is no legal reason to speak to a police officer if you don't wish, but never walk away from an officer until given permission to do so. Anyone who is arrested is legally allowed to make one phone call. If you can't afford a lawyer, a public defender will be appointed to you free of charge. Foreign visitors who don't have a lawyer, friend or family member to help should call their embassy; the police will provide the number upon request.

As a matter of principle, the US legal system presumes a person innocent until proven guilty. Each state has its own civil and criminal laws, and what is legal in one state may be illegal in others. Federal laws are applicable to the postal service, US government property and many interstate activities.

One wrinkle for international visitors is the USA Patriot Act, passed after September 11. Among other things, it expanded the federal government's ability to detain foreign visitors and immigrants they believe are linked to terrorism or terrorist organizations for an extended period of time without submitting charges or bringing them to trial. While this should be taken seriously, it is extremely unlikely to affect you. For more information and legal-defense referrals, contact the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU; www.aclu.org/safeandfree).

Drinking

Bars and stores often ask for photo ID to prove you are of legal drinking age (ie 21 or over). Being 'carded' is standard practice; don't take it personally. The sale of liquor is subject to local government regulations; some counties prohibit liquor sales on Sunday, after midnight or before breakfast. In 'dry' counties, liquor sales are banned altogether.

Driving

In all states, driving under the influence of alcohol or drugs is a serious offense, subject to stiff fines and even imprisonment. For more information on driving in the USA and road rules, see p1165.

Drugs

Recreational drugs are prohibited by federal and state laws. Some states, such as California and Alaska, treat possession of small quantities of marijuana as a misdemeanor, though it is still punishable with fines and/or imprisonment.

Possession of any illicit drug, including cocaine, ecstasy, LSD, heroin, hashish or more than an ounce of pot, is a felony potentially punishable by lengthy jail sentences. For foreigners, conviction of any drug offense is grounds for deportation.

MAPS

For a good road atlas or driving maps, try Rand McNally (www.randmcnally.com) and its Thomas Brothers city guides; both are stocked at many bookstores and some gas stations. If you are a member of an automobile association (p1161), you can get free high-quality maps from regional offices; AAA has reciprocal agreements with some international auto clubs. For online driving directions and free downloadable maps, visit Google Maps (http://maps. google.com).

If you're heading into the wilderness backcountry, don't venture out on the trail without a good topographic map, often sold at park visitor centers, outdoor outfitters and supply stores. The most detailed topo maps are published by the US Geological Survey (USGS; ☎ 877-275-8747; http://store.usgs.gov), which offers online downloads and orders; the website has a comprehensive list of retailers. You can pay to create custom, downloadable topo maps at Trails.com (www.trails.com) or buy personalized topo-map creation software from National Geographic (www.nationalgeographic.com), whose online store has all the mapping products you'd ever want.

For on- and off-road driving and outdoor adventures on foot and bicycle, GPS gear and mapping software are available from Garmin (www.garmin.com) and Magellan (www.magellangps.com). Of course, GPS units can sometimes fail and may not work in all areas of the country, such as in thick forests or deep canyons.

MONEY

The US dollar ($) is the only currency generally accepted in the country, though a few places near the Canadian border also accept Canadian dollars.

The US dollar is divided into 100 cents (¢). Coins come in denominations of 1¢ (penny), 5¢ (nickel), 10¢ (dime), 25¢ (quarter), the seldom-seen 50¢ (half-dollar) piece and $1 coin. Quarters are most commonly used in vending machines and parking meters. Bills come in $1, $2 (rare), $5, $10, $20, $50 and $100 denominations.

Most locals do not carry large amounts of cash for everyday use, relying instead on credit cards, ATMs and debit cards. Smaller businesses may refuse to accept bills over $20. Prices quoted in this book are in US dollars and exclude taxes, unless otherwise noted. For a list of currency-exchange rates at press time, see the inside front cover. For typical US travel costs, see p25.

ATMs

ATMs are available 24/7 at most banks, and in shopping centers, airports, grocery stores and convenience shops. Most ATMs charge a service fee of $2 or more per transaction and your home bank may impose additional charges. Withdrawing cash from an ATM using a credit card usually incurs a hefty fee; check with your credit-card company first.

For foreign visitors, ask your bank or credit card company for exact information about using its cards in stateside ATMs. If you will be relying on ATMs (not a bad strategy), bring more than one card and carry them separately. The exchange rate on ATM transactions is usually as good as you'll get anywhere. Before leaving home, notify your bank and credit-card providers of your upcoming travel plans. Otherwise, you may trigger fraud alerts with atypical spending patterns, which may result in your accounts being temporarily frozen.

Credit Cards

Major credit cards are almost universally accepted. In fact, it's almost impossible to rent a car or make phone reservations without one (though some airlines require your credit card billing address to be in the USA – a hassle if you're booking domestic flights once there). It's highly recommended that you carry at least one credit card, if only for emergencies. Visa and MasterCard are the most widely accepted.

Before leaving home, notify your bank/credit-card providers of your upcoming travel plans. Carry copies of your credit card numbers separately. If your credit cards are lost or stolen, contact the issuing company immediately:

American Express (☎ 800-528-4800; www.americanexpress.com)
Diners Club (☎ 800-234-6377; www.dinersclub.com)
Discover (☎ 800-347-2683; www.discovercard.com)
MasterCard (☎ 800-622-7747; www.mastercard.com)
Visa (☎ 800-847-2911; www.visa.com)

Currency Exchange

Banks are usually the best places to exchange foreign currencies. Most large city banks offer currency exchange, but banks in rural areas may not. Currency-exchange counters at the airport and in tourist centers typically have the worst rates; ask about fees and surcharges first. Travelex (☎ 888-457-4602; www.travelex.com) is a major currency-exchange company, but American Express (☎ 800-297-2977; www.americanexpress.com) travel offices may offer better rates.

Taxes

Sales tax varies by state and county; see each state's 'Facts' boxed text in the regional chapters for specifics. Hotel taxes vary by city, and these are listed under cities' Sleeping sections.

Tipping

Tipping is not optional; only withhold tips in cases of outrageously bad service.

Airport & hotel porters $2 per bag, minimum per cart $5
Bartenders 10-15% per round, minimum per drink $1
Hotel maids $2-4 per night, left under the card provided
Restaurant servers 15-20%, unless a gratuity is already charged on the bill
Taxi drivers 10-15%, rounded up to the next dollar
Valet parking attendants At least $2 when handed back the keys

Traveler's Checks

Since the advent of ATMs, traveler's checks are becoming obsolete, except as a trustworthy backup. If you carry them, buy them in US dollars; local businesses may not cash them in a foreign currency. Keep a separate record of their numbers in case they are lost or stolen. American Express and Visa traveler's checks are the most widely accepted.

PHOTOGRAPHY & VIDEO

Print film can be found in drugstores and at specialty camera shops. Digital camera memory cards are widely available at chain retailers such as Best Buy and Target.

Drugstores and supermarkets will process print film cheaply – about $7 for a roll of 24 exposures. One-hour processing services are more expensive, usually around $12. FedEx Office is a major chain of copy shops with one-stop digital-photo printing and CD-burning stations. Many internet cafés (p1142) offer digital photo uploading and CD-burning services.

Some Native American tribal lands prohibit photography and video completely; when it's allowed, you may be required to purchase a permit. Always ask permission if you want to photograph someone close up; anyone who then agrees to be photographed may expect a small tip.

For more advice on picture-taking, consult Lonely Planet's Travel Photography book.

POST

For 24-hour postal information, including post office locations and hours, contact the US Postal Service (USPS; ☎ 800-275-8777; www.usps.com), which is reliable and inexpensive. You'll find branch post offices and post office centers in some drugstores and supermarkets.

For sending urgent or important letters and packages either domestically or overseas, Federal Express (FedEx; ☎ 800-463-3339; www.fedex.com) and United Parcel Service (UPS; ☎ 800-742-5877; www.ups.com) offer more-expensive door-to-door delivery services.

Postal Rates

At press time, the postal rates for 1st-class mail within the USA were 44¢ for letters weighing up to 1oz (17¢ for each additional ounce) and 28¢ for postcards. First-class mail goes up to 13oz, and then priority-mail rates apply.

International airmail rates (except to Canada and Mexico) are 98¢ for a 1oz letter or a postcard; to Canada it's 75¢, and to Mexico it's 79¢.

Sending & Receiving Mail

If you have the correct postage, you can drop mail weighing less than 13oz into any blue mailbox. To send a package weighing 13oz or more, go to a post office.

Poste-restante mail can usually be sent to you c/o General Delivery at any post office that has its own zip code. Domestic mail is usually held for 10 days and international mail for 30 days before it's returned to the sender; you might ask the sender to write 'Hold for Arrival' on the envelope. You'll need photo ID to collect mail. In some big cities, general-delivery mail is not held at the main post office but at a postal facility away from downtown.

SHOPPING

Most visitors won't want to leave before procuring a little American kitsch, and you'll find it's merely abundant even when it isn't truly bizarre. Some tacky roadside souvenirs achieve the status of folk art, and if nothing else, they prove that Americans really do have a sense of humor.

Many regions are known for excellent local handicrafts or Native artwork and goods. Traditional quilts, Pueblo jewelry, Navajo blankets, traditional and contemporary pottery, Gullah sweetgrass baskets and tooled leather cowboy boots are just a few of the things to look for. Good pieces will be expensive; if they are cheap, they are probably not authentic.

Another popular purchase is antiques. As with handicrafts, bargains are rare and sometimes suspect. The most popular antiques – anything colonial, Victorian, Amish, Shaker, art-deco or 1950s mid-century-modern – will likely have a hefty price tag.

For hip, unusual souvenirs, browse museum stores, which specialize in items that play off the museum's collections. They also often sell high-quality original designs by local artists and artisans.

Bargain hunters should track down factory outlet malls. These are usually near a freeway exit on the outskirts of cities or towns. There, brand-name stores sell their damaged, leftover or out-of-season stock at discounts ranging from modest to practically giveaway. Service will be minimal and choices limited, but the chance of half-price Levi's jeans, Nike shoes or a Coach handbag can be a sirens' song.

SOLO TRAVELERS

There are no particular problems traveling alone in the USA.

Hotels often offer lower rates for a single person, but single rooms tend to be small and badly located; for more comfort, reserve a double. To meet people, eat at the restaurant bar.

Hitchhiking is always risky and not recommended, especially hitchhiking alone. Definitely don't pick up hitchhikers when driving alone.

When first meeting someone, don't advertise where you are staying, or even that you are traveling alone. Americans can be eager to help and even take in solo travelers. However, don't take all offers of help at face value. If someone who seems trustworthy invites you to his or her home, let someone (eg hostel or hotel manager) know where you're going. This advice also applies if you go for a hike by yourself. If something happens and you don't return as expected, you want to know that someone will notice and know where to begin looking for you.

More advice for women travelers can be found on p1151.

TELEPHONE

The US phone system comprises regional service providers, competing long-distance carriers and several mobile-phone and payphone companies. Overall, the system is very efficient, but it can be expensive. Avoid making long-distance calls on a hotel phone or on a pay phone. It's usually cheaper to use a regular landline or cell phone.

Telephone books can be fantastic resources: in addition to complete calling information, they list community services, public transportation and things to see and do. Online phone directories include www.411.com and www.yellowpages.com.

Cell Phones

In the USA cell phones use GSM 1900 or CDMA 800, operating on different frequencies from other systems around the world. The only foreign phones that will work in the USA are GSM tri- or quad-band models. If you have one of these phones, check with your service provider about using it in the USA. Ask if roaming charges apply, as these will turn even local US calls into pricey international calls.

You can rent a mobile phone from one of several major US airports or have it delivered anywhere in the USA by TripTel (☎ 877-874-7835; www.triptel.com); pricing plans vary, but typically are expensive. T-Mobile (www.t-mobile.com) is another company that rents cell phones with a set amount of prepaid call time.

It might be cheaper to buy a compatible prepaid SIM card for the USA, like those sold by AT&T or Cingular, which you can insert into your international mobile phone to get a local phone number and voicemail. Planet Omni (☎ 925-686-9945; www.planetomni.com) and Telestial (☎ 213-337-5560, 800-707-0031; www.telestial.com) offer these services, as well as cell phone rentals.

You may also be able to take the SIM card from your home phone, install it in a rented mobile phone that's compatible with the US systems, and use the rental phone as if it were your own phone – same number, same billing basis. Ask your mobile phone company about this before departure.

Huge swathes of rural America, including many national parks and recreation areas, don't pick up a signal. Check your provider's coverage map.

Dialing Codes

If you're calling from abroad, the international country code for the USA is ☎ 1 (the same as Canada, but international rates apply between the two countries). To make an international call from the USA, dial ☎ 011, then the country code, followed by the area code (usually without the initial '0') and the phone number. For assistance making international calls, dial ☎ 00.

All phone numbers within the USA consist of a three-digit area code followed by a seven-digit local number. Typically, if you are calling a number within the same area code, you only have to dial the seven-digit number; however, some places now require you to dial the entire 10-digit number even for a local call. If dialing the seven-digit number doesn't work, try all 10.

If you are calling long distance, dial ☎ 1 plus the area code plus the phone number. If you're not sure whether the number is local or long distance (new area codes are added all the time, confusing even residents), try one way, and if it's wrong, usually a recorded voice will correct you.

For local directory assistance, dial ☎ 411. For directory assistance outside your area code, you can dial ☎ 1 plus the three-digit area code of the place you want to call plus 555-1212, but this will be charged as a long-distance call. For free nationwide directory assistance, dial ☎ 800-466-4411.

Toll-free numbers begin with ☎ 800, ☎ 888, ☎ 877 and ☎ 866 and when dialing, must be preceded by ☎ 1. Most can only be used within the USA, some only within the state, and some only from outside the state. You won't know until you try dialing. For directory assistance for toll-free numbers, call ☎ 800-555-1212.

The 900-series of area codes and a few other prefixes are for calls charged at a premium per-minute rate – phone sex, horoscopes, jokes etc.

Pay Phones

Local calls at pay phones cost 35¢ to 50¢ for the first few minutes; talking longer costs more.

Only put in the exact amount because pay phones don't give change. Some pay phones (eg in national parks) only accept credit cards or prepaid phone cards. Local calls from pay phones get expensive quickly, while long-distance calls can be prohibitive, especially if you use the operator (☎ 0) to facilitate long-distance or collect (reverse-charge) calls. It's usually cheaper to use a prepaid phone card (see the next section) or the access line of a major carrier like AT&T (☎ 800-321-0288).

Phone Cards

A prepaid phone card is a good solution for travelers on a budget. Phone cards are easy to find in larger towns and cities, where they are sold at newsstands, convenience stores, supermarkets and major retailers. Be sure to read the fine print, as many cards contain hidden charges such as 'activation fees' or per-call 'connection fees' in addition to the rates. AT&T sells a reliable phone card that is widely available in the USA.

TIME

The USA uses Daylight Saving Time (DST). On the second Sunday in March, clocks are set one hour ahead ('spring ahead'). Then, on the first Sunday of November, clocks are turned back one hour ('fall back'). Just to keep you on your toes, Arizona (except the Navajo Nation), Hawaii and much of Indiana don't follow DST.

The US date system is written as month/day/year. Thus, 8 June 2008 becomes 6/8/08.

TOURIST INFORMATION

There is no national office promoting US tourism. However, visit the federal government's official web portal (www.usa.gov), go to the 'Travel and Recreation' page, and you'll find links to every US state and territory tourism office and website, plus more links to indoor and outdoor recreation, from museums and historical landmarks to scenic byways, beaches and parks.

In this book, state tourism offices are listed in the Information section at the start of each regional chapter, while city and county visitor information centers are listed throughout the regional chapters.

Any tourist office worth contacting has a website, where you can download free travel e-guides, and will send out a clutch of free promotional material (though typically only to US addresses). They also field phone calls; some local offices maintain daily lists of hotel room availability, but few offer reservation services. All tourist offices have self-service racks of brochures and discount coupons; some also sell maps and books.

State-run 'welcome centers,' usually placed along interstate highways, tend to have materials that cover wider territories, and offices are usually open longer hours, including weekends and holidays.

Many cities have an official convention and visitors bureau (CVB); these sometimes double as tourist bureaus, but since their main focus is drawing the business trade, CVBs can be less useful for independent travelers.

Keep in mind that, in smaller towns, when the local chamber of commerce runs the tourist bureau, their lists of hotels, restaurants and services usually mention only chamber members; the town's cheapest options may be missing.

Similarly, in prime tourist destinations, some private 'tourist bureaus' are really agents who book hotel rooms and tours on commission. They may offer excellent service and deals, but you'll get what they're selling and nothing else.

TRAVELERS WITH DISABILITIES

If you have a physical disability, the USA can be an accommodating place. The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) requires that all public buildings, private buildings built after 1993 (including hotels, restaurants, theaters and museums) and public transit be wheelchair accessible. However, call ahead to confirm what is available. Some local tourist offices publish detailed accessibility guides.

Telephone companies offer relay operators, available via teletypewriter (TTY) numbers, for the hearing impaired. Most banks provide ATM instructions in Braille and via earphone jacks for hearing-impaired customers. All major airlines, Greyhound buses and Amtrak trains will assist travelers with disabilities; just describe your needs when making reservations at least 48 hours in advance. Service animals (guide dogs) are allowed to accompany passengers, but bring documentation.

Some car rental agencies – such as Budget and Hertz – offer hand-controlled vehicles and vans with wheelchair lifts at no extra charge, but you must reserve them well in advance. Wheelchair Getaways (☎ 800-642-2042; www.wheelchairgetaways.com) rents accessible vans throughout the USA. In many cities and towns, public buses are accessible to wheelchair riders and will 'kneel' if you are unable to use the steps; just let the driver know that you need the lift or ramp.

Many national and some state parks and recreation areas have wheelchair-accessible paved, graded dirt or boardwalk trails. US citizens and permanent residents with permanent disabilities are entitled to a free 'America the Beautiful' Access Pass (p114), which gives free entry to all federal recreation lands (eg national parks).

Some helpful resources for travelers with disabilities:

Access-Able Travel Source (☎ 303-232-2979; www.access-able.com) General travel website with useful tips and links, including the Travelin' Talk Network.

Disabled Sports USA (☎ 301-217-0960; www.dsusa.org) Offers sports and recreation programs for those with disabilities and publishes Challenge magazine.

Flying Wheels Travel (☎ 507-451-5005, 877-451-5006; www.flyingwheelstravel.com) A full-service travel agency.

Mobility International USA (☎ 541-343-1284; www.miusa.org) Advises disabled travelers on mobility issues and runs educational international-exchange programs.

Moss Rehabilitation Hospital (☎ 800-225-5667; www.mossresourcenet.org/travel.htm) Extensive links and tips for accessible travel.

Society for Accessible Travel & Hospitality (☎ 212-447-7284; www.sath.org) Advocacy group provides general information for travelers with disabilities.

VISAS

Warning: all of the following information is highly subject to change. US entry requirements keep evolving as national security regulations change. All travelers should double-check current visa and passport regulations before coming to the USA.

Although you can also access visa information through www.usa.gov, the US State Department (www.travel.state.gov/visa) maintains the most comprehensive visa information, providing downloadable forms, lists of US consulates abroad and even visa wait times calculated by country. US Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS; www.uscis.gov) mainly serves immigrants, not temporary visitors.

Visa Applications

Apart from most Canadian citizens and those entering under the Visa Waiver Program (see opposite), all foreign visitors will need to obtain a visa from a US consulate or embassy abroad. Most applicants must schedule a personal interview, to which you must bring all your documentation and proof of fee payment. Wait times for interviews vary, but afterward, barring problems, visa issuance takes from a few days to a few weeks.

Your passport must be valid for at least six months after the end of your intended stay in the USA. You'll need a recent photo (2in by 2in), and you must pay a $131 processing fee, plus in a few cases an additional visa issuance reciprocity fee. In addition to the main nonimmigrant visa application form (DS-156), all men aged 16 to 45 must complete an additional form (DS-157) that details their travel plans.

Visa applicants are required to show documents of financial stability (or evidence that a US resident will provide financial support), a round-trip or onward ticket and 'binding obligations' that will ensure their return home, such as family ties, a home or a job. Because of these requirements, those planning to travel through other countries before arriving in the USA are generally better off applying for a US visa while they are still in their home country, rather than while on the road.

The most common visa is a nonimmigrant visitor's visa, type B-1 for business purposes, B-2 for tourism or visiting friends and relatives. A visitor's visa is good for multiple entries over one or five years, and specifically prohibits the visitor from taking paid employment in the USA. The validity period depends on what country you are from. The actual length of time you'll be allowed to stay in the USA is determined by US immigration at the port of entry.

If you're coming to the USA to work or study, you will need a different type of visa, and the company or institution to which you are going should make the arrangements. Other categories of nonimmigrant visas include an F-1 visa for students attending a course at a recognized institution; an H-1, H-2 or H-3 visa for temporary employment; and a J-1 visa for exchange visitors in approved programs. See p1151 for more information about working in the USA.

VISA WAIVER PROGRAM

Currently under the Visa Waiver Program (VWP), citizens of the following countries may enter the USA without a visa for stays of 90 days or fewer: Andorra, Australia, Austria, Belgium, Brunei, Czech Republic, Denmark, Estonia, Finland, France, Germany, Hungary, Iceland, Ireland, Italy, Japan, Latvia, Liechtenstein, Lithuania, Luxembourg, Malta, Monaco, the Netherlands, New Zealand, Norway, Portugal, San Marino, Singapore, Slovakia, Slovenia, South Korea, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland and the UK.

If you are a citizen of a VWP country, you do not need a visa only if you have a passport that meets current US standards (see p1152) and you have gotten approval from the Electronic System for Travel Authorization (ESTA) in advance. Register online with the Department of Homeland Security at https://esta.cbp.dhs.gov at least 72 hours before arrival; once travel authorization is approved, your registration is valid for two years.

Visitors from VWP countries must still produce at the port of entry all the same evidence as for a nonimmigrant visa application. They must demonstrate that their trip is for 90 days or less, and that they have a round-trip or onward ticket, adequate funds to cover the trip and binding obligations abroad.

In addition, the same 'grounds for exclusion and deportation' apply (see the next section), except that you will have no opportunity to appeal the grounds or apply for an exemption. If you are denied under the Visa Waiver Program at a US point of entry, you will have to use your onward or return ticket on the next available flight.

GROUNDS FOR EXCLUSION & DEPORTATION

If on your visa application form you admit to being a subversive, smuggler, prostitute, drug addict, terrorist or an ex-Nazi, you may be excluded. You can also be refused a visa or entry to the USA if you have a 'communicable disease of public health significance' or a criminal record, or if you've ever made a false statement in connection with a US visa application. However, if these last three apply, you are still able to request an exemption; many people are granted them and then given visas.

The US immigration department has a very broad definition of a criminal record. If you've ever been arrested or charged with an offense, that's a criminal record, even if you were acquitted or discharged without conviction. Don't attempt to enter through the VWP if you have a criminal record of any kind; assume US authorities will find out about it.

Communicable diseases include tuberculosis, the Ebola virus, SARS and most particularly HIV. US immigration doesn't test people for disease, but officials at the point of entry may question anyone about his or her health. They can exclude anyone whom they believe has a communicable disease, perhaps because they are carrying medical documents, prescriptions or AIDS/HIV medicine. Being gay is not grounds for exclusion; being an IV drug user is. Visitors may be deported if US immigration finds out they have HIV but did not declare it. Being HIV-positive is not grounds for deportation, but failing to provide accurate information on the visa application is.

Often USCIS will grant an exemption (a 'waiver of ineligibility') to a person who would normally be subject to exclusion, but this requires referral to a regional immigration office and can take some time (allow at least two months). If you're tempted to conceal something, remember that US immigration is strictest of all about false statements. It will often view favorably an applicant who admits to an old criminal charge or a communicable disease, but it is extremely harsh on anyone who has ever attempted to mislead it, even on minor points. After you're admitted to the USA, any evidence of a false statement to US immigration is grounds for deportation.

Prospective visitors to whom grounds of exclusion may apply should consider their options before applying for a visa.

Entering the USA

If you have a non-US passport, you must complete an arrival/departure record (form I-94) before you reach the immigration desk. It's usually handed out on the plane along with the customs declaration. For the question, 'Address While In the United States,' give the address where you will spend the first night (a hotel address is fine).

No matter what your visa says, US immigration officers have an absolute authority to refuse admission to the USA or to impose conditions on admission. They will ask about your plans and whether you have sufficient funds; it's a good idea to list an itinerary, produce an onward or round-trip ticket and have at least one major credit card. Showing that you have over $400 per week of your stay should be enough. Don't make too much of having friends, relatives or business contacts in the USA; the immigration official may decide that this will make you more likely to overstay. It also helps to be neatly dressed and polite.

The Department of Homeland Security's registration program, called US-VISIT (www.dhs.gov/us-visit), includes every port of entry and nearly every foreign visitor to the USA. For most visitors (excluding, for now, most Canadian and some Mexican citizens), registration consists of having a digital photo and electronic (inkless) fingerprints taken; the process takes less than a minute.

The National Security Entry/Exit Registration System (NSEERS) applies to certain citizens of countries that have been deemed particular risks; however, US officials can require this registration of any traveler. Currently, the countries included are Iran, Iraq, Libya, Sudan and Syria, but be sure to visit www.ice.gov for updates. Registration in these cases also includes a short interview in a separate room and computer verification of all personal information supplied on travel documents.

Visa Extensions

To stay in the USA longer than the date stamped on your passport, go to a local USCIS (☎ 800-375-5283; www.uscis.gov) office to apply for an extension well before the stamped date. If the date has passed, your best chance will be to bring a US citizen with you to vouch for your character, and to produce lots of other verification that you are not trying to work illegally and have enough money to support yourself. However, if you've overstayed, the most likely scenario is that you will be deported. Travelers who enter the USA under the VWP are ineligible for visa extensions.

Short-Term Departures & Reentry

It's temptingly easy to make trips across the border to Canada or Mexico, but upon return to the USA, non-Americans will be subject to the full immigration procedure. Always take your passport when you cross the border. If your immigration card still has plenty of time on it, you will probably be able to reenter using the same one, but if it has nearly expired, you will have to apply for a new card, and border control may want to see your onward air ticket, sufficient funds and so on.

Traditionally, a quick trip across the border has been a way to extend your stay in the USA without applying for an extension at a USCIS office. Don't assume this still works. First, make sure you hand in your old immigration card to the immigration authorities when you leave the USA, and when you return make sure you have all the necessary application documentation from when you first entered the country. US immigration will be very suspicious of anyone who leaves for a few days and returns immediately hoping for a new six-month stay; expect to be questioned closely.

Citizens of most Western countries will not need a visa to visit Canada, so it's really not a problem at all to cross to the Canadian side of Niagara Falls, detour up to Québec or pass through on the way to Alaska. Travelers entering the USA by bus from Canada may be closely scrutinized. A round-trip ticket that takes you back to Canada will most likely make US immigration feel less suspicious. Mexico has a visa-free zone along most of its border with the USA, including the Baja Peninsula and most of the border towns, such as Tijuana and Ciudad Juárez. You'll need a Mexican visa or tourist card if you want to go beyond the border zone. See Border Crossings, p1157.

VOLUNTEERING

Volunteer opportunities abound in the USA, and they can be a great way to break up a long trip. They can also provide truly memorable experiences: you'll get to interact with people, society and the land in ways you never would by just passing through.

Casual, drop-in volunteer opportunities are plentiful in big cities, where you can socialize with locals while helping out nonprofit organizations. Check weekly alternative newspapers for calendar listings, or browse the free classified ads online at Craigslist (www.craigslist.org). The public website Serve.gov (www.serve.gov) and private websites Idealist.org (www.idealist.org) and VolunteerMatch (www.volunteermatch.org) offer free searchable databases of short- and long-term volunteer opportunities nationwide.

More formal volunteer programs, especially those designed for international travelers, typically charge a hefty fee of $250 to $1000, depending on the length of the program and what amenities are included (eg housing, meals). None cover travel to the USA.

Recommended volunteer organizations:

Green Project (☎ 504-344-4884; www.thegreenproject.org) Working to rebuild New Orleans post-Katrina in sustainable, green ways.

Habitat for Humanity (☎ 800-422-4828; www.habitat.org) Focuses on building affordable housing for those in need.
Sierra Club (☎ 415-977-5522; www.sierraclub.org) 'Volunteer vacations' restore wilderness areas and maintain trails, including in national parks and nature preserves.
Volunteers for Peace (☎ 802-259-2759; www.vfp.org) Grassroots, multiweek volunteer projects emphasize manual labor and international exchange.
Wilderness Volunteers (☎ 928-556-0038; www.wildernessvolunteers.org) Weeklong trips helping maintain national parklands and outdoor recreation areas.
World Wide Opportunities on Organic Farms–USA (www.wwoofusa.org) Represents more than 1000 organic farms that host volunteer workers in exchange for meals and accommodation, with opportunities for both short- and long-term stays.

WOMEN TRAVELERS

Women traveling alone or in groups should not expect to encounter any particular problems in the USA. The community website www.journeywoman.com facilitates women exchanging travel tips, and has links to other helpful resources. The booklet 'Her Own Way,' published by the Canadian government, is filled with general travel advice, useful for any woman; click to www.voyage.gc.ca/publications/menu-eng.asp to download the PDF or read it online.

These two national advocacy groups might also be helpful:
National Organization for Women (NOW; ☎ 202-628-8669; www.now.org)
Planned Parenthood (☎ 800-230-7526; www.plannedparenthood.org) Offers referrals to women's health clinics throughout the country.

In terms of safety issues, single women just need to practice the same street smarts as any solo traveler (p1145), but they are sometimes more often the target of unwanted attention or harassment. Some women carry a whistle, mace or cayenne-pepper spray in case of assault. If you purchase a spray, contact a police station to find out about local regulations. Laws regarding sprays vary from state to state; federal law prohibits them being carried on planes.

If you are assaulted, consider calling a rape-crisis hotline before calling the police, unless you are in immediate danger, in which case you should call ☎ 911. But be aware that not all police have as much sensitivity training or experience assisting sexual assault survivors, whereas rape-crisis-center staff will tirelessly advocate on your behalf and act as a link to other community services, including hospitals and the police. Telephone books have listings of local rape-crisis centers, or contact the 24-hour National Sexual Assault Hotline (☎ 800-656-4673; www.rainn.org). Alternatively, go straight to a hospital emergency room.

WORK

If you are a foreigner in the USA with a standard nonimmigrant visitor's visa, you are expressly forbidden to partake in paid work in the USA and will be deported if you're caught working illegally. Employers are required to establish the bona fides of their employees or face fines, making it much tougher for a foreigner to get work than it once was.

To work legally, foreigners need to apply for a work visa before leaving home. A J-1 visa, for exchange visitors, is issued to young people (age limits vary) for study, student vacation employment, work in summer camps, and short-term traineeships with a specific employer. Organizations that can help arrange international student exchanges, work placements and J-1 visas:
American Institute for Foreign Study (☎ 866-906-2437; www.aifs.com)
Au Pair in America (☎ 800-928-7247; www.aupairinamerica.com)
BUNAC UK (☎ 020-7251-3472; www.bunac.org)
Camp America UK (☎ 020-7581-7373; www.campamerica.co.uk)
Council on International Educational Exchange (☎ 207-553-4000; www.ciee.org)
InterExchange (☎ 212-924-0446; www.interexchange.org)
International Exchange Programs (IEP) Australia (☎ 1300-300-912; www.iep.org.au); New Zealand (☎ 0800-443-769; www.iep.co.nz)

For nonstudent jobs, temporary or permanent, you need to be sponsored by a US employer who will have to arrange an H-category visa. These are not easy to obtain, since the employer has to prove that no US citizen or permanent resident is available to do the job. Seasonal work is possible in national parks and at tourist attractions and ski resorts. Contact park concessionaire businesses, local chambers of commerce and ski-resort management. Lonely Planet's Gap Year Book has more ideas on how to combine work and travel.

Transportation

CONTENTS

Getting There & Away 1152
Entering the USA 1152
Air 1153
Land 1157
Sea 1158
Tours 1158
Getting Around 1158
Air 1158
Bicycle 1159
Boat 1160
Bus 1160
Car & Motorcycle 1161
Hitchhiking 1165
Local Transportation 1165
Tours 1166
Train 1166

GETTING THERE & AWAY

Flights and tours can be booked online at www.lonelyplanet.com/travel_services.

ENTERING THE USA

The USA is working hard to counter any lingering 'Fortress America' imagery that came about post–September 11, and in fact, despite new security procedures, it's not really any more time-consuming to enter the country now than pre–September 11. That said, US officials are strict and vigilant: have all your papers in order; neatness and politeness count.

If you are flying to America, the first airport that you land in is where you must go through immigration and customs, even if you are continuing on the flight to another destination. Upon arrival, all international visitors must register with the US-VISIT program, which entails having your fingerprints scanned and a digital photo taken. For more information on visa requirements for visiting the USA, including the Electronic System for Travel Authorization (ESTA) now required before arrival for citizens of Visa Waiver Program (VWP) countries, see p1148.

Once you go through immigration, you collect your baggage and pass through customs (p1137). If you have nothing to declare, you'll probably clear customs without a baggage search, but don't assume this. If you are continuing on the same plane or connecting to another one, it is your responsibility to get your bags to the right place. There are usually airline representatives just outside the customs area who can help you.

If you are a single parent, grandparent or guardian traveling with anyone under 18, carry proof of legal custody or a notarized letter from the nonaccompanying parent(s) authorizing the trip. This isn't required, but the USA is concerned with thwarting child abduction, and not having authorizing papers could cause delays or even result in being denied admittance to the country.

Passports

Adult US citizens returning from any foreign country, including Canada, Mexico, the Caribbean and Bermuda, must present a passport, passport card, enhanced driver's license or trusted traveler program card to re-enter the USA. Children under 16 who are US citizens are currently exempt from this rule; they need only show a birth certificate, naturalization certificate or citizenship card. For more on the mercurial re-entry requirements for US citizens, click to the US Department of State's website, www.getyouhome.gov.

Every foreign visitor entering the USA from abroad needs a passport. Your passport must be valid for at least six months longer than your intended stay in the USA. Also, if your passport does not meet current US standards, THINGS CHANGE...

The information in this chapter is particularly vulnerable to change. Check directly with the airline or a travel agent to make sure you understand how a fare (and ticket you may buy) works and be aware of the security requirements for international travel. Shop carefully. The details given in this chapter should be regarded as pointers and are not a substitute for your own careful, up-to-date research.

CLIMATE CHANGE & TRAVEL

Climate change is a serious threat to the ecosystems that humans rely upon, and air travel is the fastest-growing contributor to the problem. Lonely Planet regards travel, overall, as a global benefit, but believes we all have a responsibility to limit our personal impact on global warming.

Flying & Climate Change

Pretty much every form of motor travel generates CO_2 (the main cause of human-induced climate change) but planes are far and away the worst offenders, not just because of the sheer distances they allow us to travel, but because they release greenhouse gases high into the atmosphere. The statistics are frightening: two people taking a return flight between Europe and the US will contribute as much to climate change as an average household's gas and electricity consumption over a whole year.

Carbon Offset Schemes

Climatecare.org and other websites use 'carbon calculators' that allow jetsetters to offset the greenhouse gases they are responsible for with contributions to energy-saving projects and other climate-friendly initiatives in the developing world – including projects in India, Honduras, Kazakhstan and Uganda.

Lonely Planet, together with Rough Guides and other concerned partners in the travel industry, supports the carbon offset scheme run by climatecare.org. Lonely Planet offsets all of its staff and author travel.

For more information check out our website: lonelyplanet.com.

you'll be turned back at the border. If your passport was issued before October 26, 2005, it must be 'machine readable' (with two lines of letters, numbers and <<< at the bottom); if it was issued between October 26, 2005, and October 25, 2006, it must be machine readable and include a digital photo; and if it was issued on or after October 26, 2006, it must be an e-Passport with a digital photo and an integrated RFID chip containing biometric data.

AIR

Airports & Airlines

The USA has over 375 domestic airports, but only a baker's dozen are the main international gateways. Many other airports are called 'international' but may have only a few flights from other countries – typically Mexico or Canada. Even travel to an international gateway sometimes requires a connection in another gateway city (eg London–Los Angeles flights may involve transferring planes in Houston).

International gateway airports in the USA:

Atlanta Hartsfield-Jackson International (ATL; ☎ 404-530-7300; www.atlanta-airport.com)
Boston Logan International (BOS; ☎ 800-235-6426; www.massport.com/logan)
Chicago O'Hare International (ORD; ☎ 800-832-6352; www.flychicago.com)
Dallas-Fort Worth (DFW; ☎ 972-574-8888; www.dfwairport.com)
Honolulu (HNL; ☎ 808-836-6413; www.honoluluairport.com)
Houston George Bush Intercontinental (IAH; ☎ 281-230-3000; www.fly2houston.com)
Los Angeles (LAX; ☎ 310-646-5252; www.lawa.org/lax)
Miami (MIA; ☎ 305-876-7000; www.miami-airport.com)
New York John F Kennedy (JFK; ☎ 718-244-4444; www.panynj.gov)
Newark Liberty International (EWR; ☎ 973-961-6000; www.panynj.gov)
San Francisco (SFO; ☎ 800-435-9736; www.flysfo.com)
Seattle Seattle-Tacoma International (SEA; ☎ 206-433-5388; www.portseattle.org/seatac)
Washington, DC Dulles International (IAD; ☎ 703-572-2700; www.metwashairports.com/dulles)

AIRLINES FLYING TO/FROM THE USA

The national airlines of most countries have flights to the USA, and the USA has several airlines serving the world. Online, www.seatguru.com and http://seatexpert.com have extensive airline info, including seat-by-seat reviews for each aircraft.

Aer Lingus (EI; ☎ 800-474-7424; www.aerlingus.com)
Aerolíneas Argentinas (AR; ☎ 800-333-0276; www.aerolineas.com.ar)
Aeroméxico (AM; ☎ 800-237-6639; www.aeromexico.com)
Air Canada (AC; ☎ 888-247-2262; www.aircanada.com)
Air China (CA; ☎ 866-270-5897; http://us.fly-airchina.com)
Air France (AF; ☎ 800-237-2747; www.airfrance.com)

YOU MAY NOW BOARD YOUR FLIGHT

By now, most everyone knows that airport security measures restrict many common household items from being carried on planes. These regulations change often, so get up-to-date information on current restrictions from the Transportation Security Administration (TSA; ☎ 866-289-9673; www.tsa.gov), which also provides average security wait times by airport (30 minutes is standard).

To get through airport security checkpoints, you need a boarding pass and photo ID. If you beep going through the metal detector, or x-rays of your carry-on bags look suspicious, you will undergo a second screening, involving hand-wand and pat-down checks and opening your bags. You can request a private room.

If you suspect you were stopped because your name appears on the TSA Watch List, afterwards file a complaint with the DHS Traveler Redress Inquiry Program (DHS TRIP; www.dhs.gov); this doesn't remove your name from the list, but it establishes that you are not the 'Jane Doe' they want, expediting screening next time.

All checked luggage is screened for explosives; TSA may open your suitcase for visual confirmation, breaking the lock if necessary. Either leave your bags unlocked or use a TSA-approved lock such as Travel Sentry (www.travelsentry.org). Also, screening machines damage undeveloped film, so carry this on the plane and request a hand inspection.

As for gels and liquids, you can bring them: just put each of 'em in a 3oz container and gather them all together into a single quart-size zip-top bag. That's TSA's 3-1-1 rule. For more information, see its website.

Air India (AI; ☎ 800-223-7776; http://home.airindia.in)
Air New Zealand (NZ; ☎ 800-262-1234; www.airnewzealand.com)
Alitalia (AZ; ☎ 800-223-5730; www.alitalia.com)
All Nippon Airways (NH; ☎ 800-235-9262; www.fly-ana.com)
American Airlines (AA; ☎ 800-433-7300; www.aa.com)
Asiana Airlines (OZ; ☎ 888-437-7718; http://us.flyasiana.com)
British Airways (BA; ☎ 800-247-9297; www.britishairways.com)
British Midland Airways (BD; ☎ 800-788-0555; www.flybmi.com)
Cathay Pacific Airways (CX; ☎ 800-233-2742; www.cathaypacific.com)
Continental Airlines (CO; ☎ 800-523-3273; www.continental.com)
Delta Air Lines (DL; ☎ 800-221-1212; www.delta.com)
El Al Airlines (LY; ☎ 800-223-6700; www.elal.com)
Iberia Airlines (IB; ☎ 800-772-4642; www.iberia.com)
Icelandair (FI; ☎ 800-223-5500; www.icelandair.com)
Japan Airlines (JL; ☎ 800-525-3663; www.jal.com)
KLM Royal Dutch Airlines (KL; ☎ 800-225-2525; www.klm.com)
Korean Air (KE; ☎ 800-438-5000; www.koreanair.com)
LAN Airlines (LA; ☎ 866-435-9526; www.lan.com)
Lufthansa (LH; ☎ 800-399-5838; www.lufthansa.com)
Mexicana Airlines (MX; ☎ 800-531-7921; www.mexicana.com)
Northwest Airlines (NW; ☎ 800-225-2525; www.nwa.com)
Philippine Airlines (PR; ☎ 800-435-9725; www.philippineairlines.com)
Qantas Airways (QF; ☎ 800-227-4500; www.qantas.com.au)
Scandinavian Airlines (SK; ☎ 800-221-2350; www.flysas.com)
Singapore Airlines (SQ; ☎ 800-742-3333; www.singaporeair.com)
South African Airways (SA; ☎ 800-722-9675; www.flysaa.com)
Spanair (JK; ☎ 888-545-5757; www.spanair.com)
Swiss (LX; ☎ 877-359-7947; www.swiss.com)
Thai Airways (TG; ☎ 800-426-5204; www.thaiair.com)
United Airlines (UA; ☎ 800-864-8331; www.united.com)
US Airways (US; ☎ 800-622-1015; www.usairways.com)
V Australia (VA; ☎ 800-444-0260; www.vaustralia.com)
Virgin Atlantic (VS; ☎ 800-821-5438; www.virgin-atlantic.com)
WestJet Airlines (WS; ☎ 888-937-8538; www.westjet.com)

Tickets

Getting a cheap airline ticket is a matter of research, reserving early – at least three to four weeks in advance – and timing. Flying midweek and in the off-season (normally, fall to spring, excluding holidays) is always less expensive, but fare wars can start anytime. To ensure you've found the cheapest possible ticket for the flight you want, check every angle: compare several online travel booking sites with the airline's own website. Engage a living, breathing travel agent if your itinerary is complex.

Keep in mind your entire itinerary. Some deals for travel within the USA can only be purchased overseas in conjunction with an international air ticket, or you may get discounts for booking air and car rental together. Or, you may find domestic flights within the USA are less expensive when added on to your international airfare.

For a good overview of online ticket agencies, visit Airinfo (http://airinfo.aero), which also lists travel agents worldwide. The big three US travel-booking websites are Travelocity (www.travelocity.com), Orbitz (www.orbitz.com) and Expedia (www.expedia.com). Similar to these and worth trying are Cheap Tickets (www.cheaptickets.com) and Lowest Fare (www.lowestfare.com). Typically, these sites don't include budget airlines such as Southwest.

Meta sites are good for price comparisons, as they gather from many sources (but don't provide direct booking). Try Farecast (www.farecast.com), Kayak (www.kayak.com), Mobissimo (www.mobissimo.com), Qixo (www.qixo.com) and Sidestep (www.sidestep.com).

Bidding for travel can be very successful, but read the fine print carefully before bidding. Try Hotwire (www.hotwire.com), Skyauction (www.skyauction.com) and Priceline (www.priceline.com). See www.biddingfortravel.com for advice about Priceline, which can be great for car rentals.

INTERCONTINENTAL (RTW) TICKETS

Round-the-world (RTW) tickets can be great if you want to visit other regions besides the USA; otherwise, a simple round-trip ticket is usually cheaper. RTW tickets are of most value for trips that combine the USA with Europe, Asia and/or Australasia.

RTW tickets typically let you fly in only one direction on the combined routes of an airline alliance, such as Star Alliance (www.staralliance.com) and One World (www.oneworld.com). They are valid for a fixed period, usually a year; some are segment-based, while others are tiered by total mileage. Most RTW fares restrict the number of stops within the USA and Canada. The cheapest fares permit only one stop; others allow multiple stops. Some airlines 'black out' heavily traveled routes (eg Honolulu–Tokyo). In most cases a 14-day advance purchase is required. After the ticket is purchased, dates can usually be changed without penalty, and tickets can be rewritten to add or delete stops, for an extra charge.

For RTW tickets, try:

Air Brokers (www.airbrokers.com)
Air Treks (www.airtreks.com)
Circle the Planet (www.circletheplanet.com)
Just Fares (www.justfares.com)

Africa

Only a few cities in West and North Africa have direct flights to the USA, including Abidjan (Côte d'Ivoire), Accra (Ghana), Cairo (Egypt), Casablanca (Morocco), Dakar (Senegal) and Lagos (Nigeria). Delta Air Lines and South African Airways fly direct between Johannesburg and New York. Otherwise, most flights from Africa to the USA go via a European hub, commonly London.

Agents serving South Africa:

Flight Centre (☎ 0860-400-727; www.flightcentre.co.za)
STA Travel (☎ 0861-781-781; www.statravel.co.za)

Asia

Bangkok, Singapore, Kuala Lumpur, Hong Kong, Seoul and Tokyo all have good connections to the US West Coast. Many flights to the USA go via Honolulu, but stopovers may cost extra. Bangkok is the discounted-fare capital of the region, though its cheapest agents can be unreliable.

Agents serving Asia:

Concorde Travel Hong Kong (☎ 852-2526-3391; www.concorde-travel.com)
No 1 Travel Tokyo (☎ 03-3205-6073; www.no1-travel.com)
STA Travel Bangkok (☎ 662-236-0262; www.statravel.co.th); Singapore (☎ 65-6737-7188; www.statravel.com.sg); Tokyo (☎ 03-5391-2922; www.statravel.co.jp)
Traveller Services Hong Kong (☎ 852-2375-2222; www.taketraveller.com)
Zuji (www. zuji.com)

Australia

Some flights go from Sydney and Melbourne direct to Los Angeles and San Francisco. Flights to other US cities usually involve a stop in Los Angeles, or possibly San Francisco or Honolulu. Qantas, V Australia, Air New Zealand, United, American and US Airways are the main airlines on the route. Fares from Melbourne, Sydney, Brisbane and sometimes Cairns are 'common rated' (the same for all cities). For other cities such as Hobart and Perth, there'll usually be an add-on fare.

Agents serving Australia:

Flight Centre (☎ 1300-133-133; www.flightcentre.com.au)
STA Travel (☎ 1300-134-782; www.statravel.com.au)
Travel.com (☎ 1300-130-482; www.travel.com.au)
Zuji (☎ 1300-888-180; www.zuji.com.au)

Canada

Daily flights go from Toronto, Montreal, Vancouver and many smaller cities to all US gateways. Commuter flights to cities such as New York and Chicago can be expensive. Some of the best deals are charter and package fares to sunny destinations like Florida, California, Las Vegas and Hawaii, with higher prices during winter.

It may be much cheaper to travel by land to the nearest US city, then take a discounted domestic flight. For example, round-trip fares to New York are often much cheaper from Seattle, WA, than from Vancouver, British Columbia, which is only 140 miles north across the US–Canadian border.

Agents serving Canada:

Expedia (☎ 888-397-3342; www.expedia.ca)
Travel Cuts (☎ 866-246-9762; www.travelcuts.ca)
Travelocity (☎ 800-457-8010; www.travelocity.ca)

Continental Europe

There are nonstop flights to many US cities, but the discounted fares often involve indirect routes and changing planes. The main airlines between Europe and the USA include Air France, Alitalia, American Airlines, British Airways, Continental Airlines, Delta Air Lines, Icelandair, KLM, Lufthansa, Scandinavian Airlines, Spanair and United Airlines. Sometimes an Asian or Middle Eastern carrier will have cheap deals on flights in transit to the USA, but these seats can be difficult to book.

BELGIUM

Airstop (☎ 070-233-188; www.airstop.be)

FRANCE

Anyway (☎ 0892-302-301; www.anyway.fr)
Easyvols (☎ 0899-700-207; www.easyvols.fr)
Nouvelles Frontières (☎ 01-4920-6587; www.nouvelles-frontieres.fr)
Voyages Wasteels (☎ 0892-051-155; www.wasteels.fr)

GERMANY

Expedia (☎ 01805-900-560; www.expedia.de)
Opodo (☎ 01805-676-361; www.opodo.de)
Reisebörse (☎ 030-2800-2800; www.reiseboerse.com)
STA Travel (☎ 069-743-032-92; www.statravel.de)

ITALY

CTS (☎ 06-441-111; www.cts.it)
Opodo (☎ 199-404-044; www.opodo.it)

NETHERLANDS

Airfair (☎ 0900-7-717-717; www.airfair.nl)

SCANDINAVIA

Kilroy Travels (www.kilroytravels.com) Denmark (☎ 7015-4015); Finland (☎ 0203-545-769); Norway (☎ 2149-2633); Sweden (☎ 0771-545-769)

SPAIN

Barceló Viajes (☎ 902-200-400; www.barceloviajes.com)

Latin America

The main US gateway from Central and South America is Miami, FL, but there are also direct flights to Los Angeles, CA, and Houston, TX. Check the national airlines of the countries you want to connect to, as well as major US carriers such as American, Continental, Delta and United.

At times, it can be much cheaper to fly to a Mexican border town than to the adjacent town on the US side. A flight from Mexico City to Tijuana, right by the border, can cost quite a bit less than a flight to San Diego, which is just a few miles north of the US–Mexico border. Check safety conditions for US–Mexico overland border crossings first (see opposite).

Agents serving Latin America:

Despegar Mexico (☎ 55-1084-0450; www.despegar.com.mx)
Mundo Joven Mexico (☎ 01800-000-0789; www.mundojoven.com)
OTEC Viajes (www.otecviajes.com) Costa Rica (☎ 506-2523-0500); El Salvador (☎ 503-2264-0200); Honduras (☎ 504-220-6165); Nicaragua (☎ 505-278-3788); Panama (☎ 507-264-2842)
Star Travel Argentina (☎ 11-5199-4445; www.startravel.com.ar)
Student Travel Bureau Brazil (☎ 11-3038-1555; www.stb.com.br)
Viajo.com (www.viajo.com) Argentina (☎ 0810-888-8425; www.viajo.com.ar); Mexico (☎ 55-5004-4120; www.viajo.com.mx)

New Zealand

Air New Zealand has direct flights from Auckland to Los Angeles. Flights from Christchurch and Wellington require changing planes in Auckland or one of the Pacific Islands.

Agents serving New Zealand:

Flight Centre (☎ 0800-243-544; www.flightcentre.co.nz)
STA Travel (☎ 0800-474-400; www.statravel.co.nz)
Travelocity (☎ 0800-451-297; www.travelocity.co.nz)

UK & Ireland

One of the busiest and most competitive air sectors in the world is between the UK and the USA, with hundreds of scheduled flights between London and major US gateways offered by American, British Airways, BMI, Continental, Delta, Northwest/KLM, United, US Airways and Virgin Atlantic. From UK regional airports, discounted flights may be routed via London, Paris or Amsterdam, and will probably not fly direct to smaller US cities such as Las Vegas or Denver.

Agents serving the UK and Ireland:

Ebookers.com (☎ 0871-223-5000; www.ebookers.com)
Flight Centre (☎ 0870-499-0040; www.flightcentre.co.uk)
North-South Travel (☎ 01245-608-291; www.northsouthtravel.co.uk) Donates part of its profits to projects in the developing world.
Opodo (☎ 0871-472-5112; www.opodo.co.uk)
Quest Travel (☎ 0845-263-6963; www.questtravel.com)
STA Travel (☎ 0871-230-0040; www.statravel.co.uk)
Trailfinders (☎ 0845-058-5858; www.trailfinders.com)
Travel Bag (☎ 0871-703-4700; www.travelbag.co.uk)
Travelocity (☎ 0870-472-5116; www.travelocity.co.uk)

LAND

Border Crossings

The USA shares long land borders with Canada in the north and Mexico in the south. It is relatively easy crossing from the USA into either country; it's crossing into the USA that can pose problems if you haven't brought all your documents (see p1148). US Customs & Border Protection (http://apps.cbp.gov/bwt/) tracks current wait times at every border crossing. Some borders are open 24 hours, but most are not.

The USA has more than 20 official border crossings with Canada. Busy entry points include those at Detroit (MI)/Windsor, Buffalo (NY)/Niagara Falls and Blaine (WA)/British Columbia. The downside to choosing a quiet border crossing is that officers have plenty of time to take apart your luggage. For border wait times returning to Canada, visit www.cbsa-asfc.gc.ca/general/times/menu-e.html.

The USA has almost 40 official entry points with Mexico. The main ones are San Diego (CA)/Tijuana, Nogales West (AZ)/Nogales East, El Paso (TX)/Ciudad Juárez and Brownsville (TX)/Matamoros. As always, have your papers in order, act polite and don't make jokes or casual conversation with US border officials.

In 2009 the US State Department (http://travel.state.gov) issued a travel alert about a dangerous increase in Mexican drug cartel violence and crime along the US–Mexico border. Foreign visitors should exercise extreme caution, avoid large-scale gatherings and demonstrations, and not drive after dark, especially in a car with US license plates. For more specific travel warnings, see p752 for Ciudad Juárez and p939 for Tijuana.

Canada

BUS

Greyhound has direct connections between main cities in Canada and the northern USA, but you may have to transfer to a different bus at the border. Book through Greyhound USA (☎ 800-231-2222, international customer service 214-849-8100; www.greyhound.com) or Greyhound Canada (☎ in Canada 800-661-8747; www.greyhound.ca). Greyhound's Discovery Pass (p1160) allows unlimited travel in both the USA and Canada.

CAR & MOTORCYCLE

If you're driving into the USA from Canada, bring the vehicle's registration papers, proof of liability insurance and your home driver's license. Canadian auto insurance is typically valid in the USA, and vice-versa. Canadian driver's licenses are also valid, but an International Driving Permit (IDP) is a good supplement (p1163).

If your papers are in order, taking your own car across the US–Canadian border is usually fast and easy, but occasionally the authorities of either country decide to search a car thoroughly. On weekends and holidays, especially in summer, traffic at the main border crossings can be heavy and waits long.

TRAIN

Amtrak (☎ 800-872-7245; www.amtrak.com) and VIA Rail Canada (☎ 888-842-7245; www.viarail.ca) run daily services between Montreal and New York, Toronto and New York via Niagara Falls, Toronto and Chicago via Detroit, and Vancouver and Seattle. Customs inspections happen at the border, not upon boarding.

Mexico

BUS

Greyhound US (☎ 800-231-2222, international customer service 214-849-8100; www.greyhound.com) and Greyhound México (☎ in Mexico 800-710-8819; www.greyhound.com.mx) operate direct bus routes between main towns in Mexico and the USA. Northbound buses can take time to cross the border, as sometimes US immigration insists on checking every person on board.

For connections to smaller destinations south of the border, there are numerous domestic Mexican bus companies; Ticketbus (☎ in Mexico 5133-2424, 800-702-8000; www.ticketbus.com.mx) is an alliance of several.

CAR & MOTORCYCLE

If you're driving into the USA from Mexico, bring the vehicle's registration papers, proof of liability insurance and your driver's license from your home country. Mexican driver's licenses are valid, but an IDP (p1163) is a good supplement.

Very few car-rental companies will let you take a car from the US into Mexico. US auto insurance is not valid in Mexico, so even a short trip into Mexico's border region requires you to buy Mexican car insurance, available for $25 per day at most border crossings, as well as from AAA (☎ 800-874-7532; www.aaa.com). At some border towns, including Tijuana or Ciudad Juárez, there can be long lines of vehicles waiting to re-enter the USA. For a short visit, it's often more convenient to leave your car in a private parking lot on the US side and walk or take a bus across the border.

For a longer driving trip into Mexico beyond the border zone or Baja California, you'll need a Mexican permiso de importación temporal de vehículos (temporary vehicle import permit). See Lonely Planet's Mexico guide for details, or call Mexico's tourist information number in the USA (☎ 800-446-3942).

TRAIN

Amtrak gets close to the Mexican border at San Diego (CA), Yuma (AZ) and El Paso and Del Rio (TX), but there are currently no cross-border services. There are no Mexican train services to US border towns.

SEA

If you're interested in taking a cruise ship to America – as well as to other interesting ports o' call – a good specialized travel agency is Cruise Web (☎ 800-377-9383; www.cruiseweb.com).

You can also travel to and from the USA on a freighter, though it will be much slower and less cushy than a cruise. Nevertheless, freighters aren't spartan (some advertise cruise-ship-level amenities), and they are much cheaper (sometimes by half). Trips range from a week to two months; stops at interim ports are usually quick.

For more information:

Cruise & Freighter Travel Association (☎ 800-872-8584; www.travltips.com)

Freighter World Cruises (☎ 800-531-7774; www.freighterworld.com).

TOURS

Group travel can be an enjoyable way to get to and tour the USA. For tours once you're in the country, see p1166.

Reputable tour companies:

American Holidays (☎ 01-673-3840; www.americanholidays.com) Ireland-based company specializes in tours to North America.

Contiki (☎ 866-266-8454; http://contiki.com) Party-hardy sightseeing tour-bus vacations for 18- to 35-year-olds.

North America Travel Service (☎ 020-7569-6710; www.northamericatravelservice.co.uk) UK-based tour operator arranges luxury US trips.

Trek America (☎ in North America 800-221-0596, in UK 0845-313-2614; www.trekamerica.com) For active outdoor adventures; group sizes are kept small.

GETTING AROUND

AIR

When time is tight, book a flight. The domestic air system is extensive and reliable, with dozens of competing airlines, hundreds of airports and thousands of flights daily. Flying is usually more expensive than traveling by bus, train or car, but it's the way to go when you're in a hurry. Advice for buying international plane tickets (p1154) also applies to domestic flights.

Main 'hub' airports in the USA include all international gateways (p1153) plus many other large cities. Most cities and towns have a local or county airport, but you usually have to travel via a hub airport to reach them.

The website www.parkingaccess.com offers information, reservations and discounts on parking at most major airports.

Airlines in the USA

Several domestic airlines have entered and emerged from bankruptcy recently, but are still flying. Mergers and downsizing have had an impact on traveler experiences. Free meal service has often been replaced with for-purchase sandwiches, and thinly spread staff mean that any disruptions (say, from a winter snowstorm) can strand flights for hours or even days.

Overall, air travel in the USA is very safe (much safer than driving out on the nation's highways); for comprehensive details by carrier, check out Airsafe.com (www.airsafe.com), which has good advice on current airport security procedures (see the boxed text, p1154).

The main domestic carriers:

AirTran Airways (☎ 800-247-8726; www.airtran.com) Atlanta-based airline; primarily serves the South, Midwest and eastern US.

Alaska Airlines/Horizon Air (☎ 800-252-7522/547-9308; www.alaskaair.com) Serves Alaska and the western US, with flights to the East Coast and Hawaii.

American Airlines (☎ 800-433-7300; www.aa.com) Nationwide service.

Continental Airlines (☎ 800-523-3273; www.continental.com) Nationwide service.

Delta Air Lines (☎ 800-221-1212; www.delta.com) Nationwide service.

Frontier Airlines (☎ 800-432-1359; www.frontierairlines.com) Denver-based airline with nationwide service, including to Alaska.

Hawaiian Airlines (☎ 800-367-5320; www.hawaiianair.com) Serves the Hawaiian Islands and West Coast, plus Las Vegas and Phoenix.

JetBlue Airways(☎ 800-538-2583; www.jetblue.com) Nonstop connections between eastern and western US cities, plus Florida, New Orleans and Texas.

Midwest Airlines (☎ 800-452-2022; www.midwestairlines.com) Milwaukee-based carrier serves many US gateway cities.

Northwest Airlines (☎ 800-225-2525; www.nwa.com) Nationwide service.

Southwest Airlines (☎ 800-435-9792; www.southwest.com) Service across the continental USA.

Spirit Airlines (☎ 800-772-7117; www.spiritair.com) Florida-based airline; serves many US gateway cities.

United Airlines (☎ 800-864-8331; www.united.com) Nationwide service.

US Airways (☎ 800-428-4322; www.usairways.com) Nationwide service.

Virgin America (☎ 877-359-8474; www.virginamerica.com) Flights between East and West Coast cities and Las Vegas.

Air Passes

International travelers who plan on doing a lot of flying might consider buying a North American air pass. Passes are normally available only to non–North American citizens, and they must be purchased in conjunction with an international ticket. Conditions and cost structures can be complicated, but all passes include a certain number of domestic flights (from two to 10) that typically must be used within a 60-day period. Often you must plan your itinerary in advance, but sometimes dates (and even destinations) can be left open. Talk with a travel agent to determine if an air pass will save you money. Two of the biggest airline networks offering air passes are Star Alliance (www.staralliance.com) and One World (www.oneworld.com).

BICYCLE

Regional bicycle touring is popular. It means coasting winding backroads (because bicycles are often not permitted on freeways), and calculating progress in miles per day, not miles per hour. Cyclists must follow the same rules of the road as automobiles, but don't expect drivers to respect your right of way. Better World Club (p1161) offers a bicycle roadside assistance program.

For bicycling associations, tour groups and magazines, see p1134. For highlights of the USA's cycling and mountain-biking trails, turn to p132. For epic cross-country journeys, get the support of a tour operator; it's about two months of dedicated pedaling coast to coast.

For advice, and lists of local bike clubs and repair shops, browse the League of American Bicyclists website (www.bikeleague.org). If you're bringing your own bike to the USA, visit the International Bicycle Fund website (www.ibike.org), which lists bike regulations by airline and has lots of advice. In the past, most international and domestic airlines have carried bikes as checked baggage without charge when they're in a box; recently, many have changed their regulations and imposed or increased fees (averaging $50 to $100, but sometimes higher). Amtrak trains and Greyhound buses will transport bikes within the USA, sometimes charging extra.

It's not hard to buy a bike once you're here and resell it before you leave. Every city and town has bike shops; if you prefer a cheaper, used bicycle, try garage sales, bulletin boards at hostels and colleges, or the free classified ads at Craigslist (www.craigslist.org). These are also the best places to sell your bike, though stores selling used bikes may also buy from you.

Long-term bike rentals are also easy to find; recommended rental places are listed throughout this guide. Rates run from $100 per week and up, and a credit card authorization for several hundred dollars is usually necessary as a security deposit.

BOAT

There is no river or canal public transportation system in the USA, but there are many smaller, often state-run, coastal ferry services, which provide efficient, scenic links to the many islands off both coasts. Most larger ferries will transport private cars, motorcycles and bicycles. For details, see the regional chapters.

The most spectacular coastal ferry runs are on the southeastern coast of Alaska and along the Inside Passage (p1077). The Great Lakes have several islands that can be visited only by boat, such as Mackinac Island, MI (p624); the Apostle Islands, off Wisconsin (p635); and remote Isle Royale National Park (p625), MN. Off the coast of Washington, ferries reach the scenic San Juan Islands (p1039). Several of California's Channel Islands (p956) are accessible by boat, including Catalina Island (p937), offshore from Los Angeles.

BUS

To save money, travel by bus, particularly between major towns and cities. Gotta-go middle-class Americans prefer to fly or drive, but buses let you see the countryside and meet folks along the way. As a rule, buses are reliable, cleanish and comfortable, with air-conditioning, barely reclining seats, onboard lavatories and no smoking on board.

Greyhound (☎ 800-231-2222; www.greyhound.com) is the major long-distance bus company, with routes throughout the USA and Canada. To improve efficiency and profitability, Greyhound has recently stopped service to many small towns; routes generally trace major highways and stop at larger population centers. To reach country towns on rural roads, you may need to transfer to local or county bus systems; Greyhound can usually provide their contact information.

Competing with Greyhound are the 75-plus franchises of Trailways (☎ 703-691-3052; www.trailways.com). Trailways may not be as useful as Greyhound for long trips, but fares can be competitive. Upstart long-distance bus lines that may offer cheaper fares include Megabus (☎ 877-462-6342; www.megabus.com), primarily operating routes in the Northeast and Midwest.

Most baggage has to be checked in; label it loudly and clearly to avoid it getting lost. Larger items, including skis, surfboards and bicycles, can be transported, but there may be an extra charge. Call to check.

The frequency of bus services varies widely, depending on the route. Despite the elimination of many tiny destinations, nonexpress Greyhound buses still stop every 50 to 100 miles to pick up passengers, and long-distance buses stop for meal breaks and driver changes.

Many bus stations are clean and safe, but some are in dodgy areas; if you arrive in the evening, it's worth spending the money on a taxi. Some towns have just a flag stop. If you are boarding at one of these, pay the driver with exact change.

Bus Passes

Greyhound's Discovery Pass (☎ 888-454-7277; www.discoverypass.com), which is available to both domestic and international travelers, allows unlimited, unrestricted travel for periods of seven ($199), 15 ($299), 30 ($399) or 60 ($499) consecutive days in both the USA and Canada. Besides the length of the pass, the only real decision to make is which country you want to start your travels in. This pass is also accepted by a few dozen regional bus companies; check with Greyhound for a list.

You can buy passes at select Greyhound terminals up to two hours before departure, or purchase them online at least 14 days in advance, then pick them up using the same credit card, with photo ID, at least an hour before boarding.

Costs

For lower fares on Greyhound, purchase tickets at least seven days in advance. Round trips are also cheaper. Special promotional fares are regularly offered on Greyhound's website, especially for online bookings. If you're traveling with family or friends, Greyhound's companion fares let up to three additional travelers get 50% off with a minimum three-day advance purchase.

As for other Greyhound discounts: tickets for children aged two to 11 get 40% off; seniors over 62 get 5% off; and students get 15% off if they have purchased the Student Advantage Discount Card ($20), or 10% off with any valid student ID.

Here are some sample standard one-way adult fares and trip times on the 'Hound:

Service	Price ($)	Duration
Boston–Philadelphia	65	8hr
Chicago–New Orleans	130	22hr
Los Angeles–San Francisco	45	8hr
New York–Chicago	110	18hr
New York–San Francisco	245	2-3 days
Washington, DC–Miami	149	27hr

Reservations

Tickets for some Trailways and other buses can only be purchased immediately prior to departure. Greyhound bus tickets can be bought over the phone or online. If you make your purchase 10 days in advance with a major US credit card, tickets will be mailed to you. International credit cards are accepted when buying in person at the terminal, by calling ☎ 214-849-8100 or by booking online in advance for 'Will Call' tickets, which you can pick up at the terminal (bring photo ID). Greyhound terminals also accept traveler's checks and cash.

On Greyhound, a prepurchased ticket does not reserve or guarantee a seat on a bus. Seating is normally first-come, first-served. Greyhound recommends arriving an hour before departure to get a seat; allow extra time on weekends and holidays. In select gateway cities, priority seating costs $5 extra, but guarantees you a seat and lets you board ahead of other passengers.

CAR & MOTORCYCLE

The American love of the auto runs so deep it often verges on the pathological. And it will abide for at least one practical reason: the continent is too damn big. Public transportation can't cover it. For maximum flexibility and convenience, and to explore rural America and its wide-open spaces, you have to have a car. Independence costs, though, as rental rates and gas prices can eat a good chunk of your travel budget. Only for stays in major metro areas can you easily dispense with an auto.

For recommended driving routes, turn to the special Road Trips chapter (p44) and Scenic Drive boxed texts throughout the regional chapters.

Automobile Associations

The American Automobile Association (AAA; ☎ 800-874-7532; www.aaa.com) has reciprocal membership agreements with several international auto clubs (check with AAA and bring your membership card from home). For its members, AAA offers travel insurance, tour books, diagnostic centers for used-car buyers and a wide-ranging network of regional offices. AAA advocates politically for the auto industry.

A more ecofriendly alternative, the Better World Club (☎ 866-238-1137; www.betterworldclub.com) donates 1% of revenue to assist environmental cleanup, offers ecologically sensitive choices for every service it provides and advocates politically for environmental causes.

In either organization, the primary member benefit is 24-hour emergency roadside assistance anywhere in the USA. Both also offer trip planning, free travel maps, travel agency services, car insurance and a range of travel discounts (eg on hotels, car rentals, attractions).

Bring Your Own Vehicle

For details on driving your own car over the border from Canada, see p1157, and from Mexico, see p1158. Unless you're moving to the USA, don't even think about freighting your car.

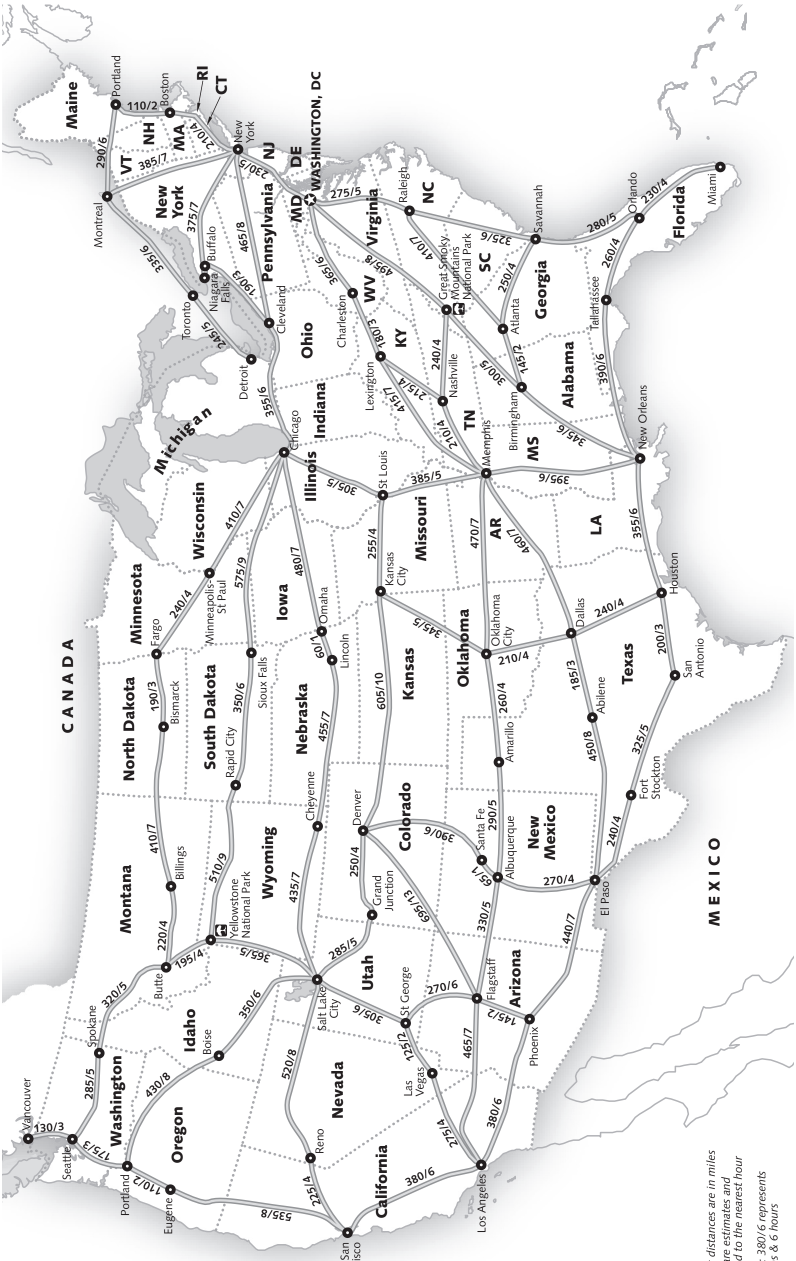
Drive-Away Cars

'Drive-away cars' refers to the business of driving cars across the country for people who are moving or otherwise can't transport their cars themselves. For flexible travelers, they can be a dream come true: you can cover the long distances between A and B for the price of gas. Timing and availability are key.

To be a driver you must be at least 23 years old with a valid driver's license (non-US citizens should have an International Driving Permit); you'll also need to provide a $300 to $400 cash deposit (which is refunded upon safe delivery of the car), a printout of your 'clean' driving record from home, a major credit card and/or three forms of identification (or a passport).

The drive-away company provides insurance; you pay for gas. The stipulation is that you must deliver the car to its destination within a specified time and mileage, which usually requires that you drive no more

DRIVING DISTANCES & TIMES



CANADA
MEXICO
Maine
NH VT
MA
RI
CT
New York NJ DE MD
WASHINGTON, DC
Pennsylvania
Virginia
WV
NC
SC
Georgia
Florida
Ohio
KY
TN
Alabama
MS
Indiana
Michigan
Illinois
Wisconsin
Missouri
AR
LA
Minnesota
Iowa
North Dakota
South Dakota
Nebraska
Kansas
Oklahoma
Texas
Montana
Wyoming
Colorado
New Mexico
Idaho
Utah
Arizona
Washington
Oregon
Nevada
California
Portland
Boston
New York
Montreal
Buffalo
Niagara Falls
Toronto
Detroit
Cleveland
Chicago
Charleston
Raleigh
Great Smoky Mountains National Park
Savannah
Orlando
Miami
Tallahassee
Atlanta
Birmingham
Lexington
Nashville
Memphis
New Orleans
St Louis
Kansas City
Minneapolis-St Paul Fargo
Bismarck
Sioux Falls
Omaha
Lincoln
Oklahoma City
Dallas
Houston
San Antonio
Abilene
Amarillo
Rapid City Cheyenne Denver
Santa Fe Albuquerque
El Paso
Fort Stockton
Billings
Yellowstone National Park
Grand Junction
Butte
Salt Lake City
St George
Flagstaff
Phoenix
Las Vegas
Boise
Spokane
Vancouver
Seattle
Portland
Eugene
Reno
San Francisco
Los Angeles
110/2
290/6
210/4
385/7
230/5
375/7
465/8
335/6
190/3
245/5
275/5
365/6
495/8
410/7
325/6
280/5
230/4
260/4
250/4
180/3
240/4
145/2
300/5
390/6
355/6
215/4
415/7
210/4
345/6
385/5
395/6
305/5
410/7
575/9
480/7
255/4
470/7
460/7
355/6
240/4
240/4
345/5
60/1
210/4
200/3
190/3
350/6
455/7
605/10
260/4
185/3
325/5
450/8
410/7
510/9
435/7
250/4
390/6
290/5
65/1
240/4
270/4
220/4
195/4
365/5
285/5
695/13
330/5
440/7
320/5
350/6
305/6
270/6
145/2
125/2
465/7
520/8
285/5
430/8
130/3
175/3
110/2
535/8
225/4
275/4
380/6
380/6

NOTE:
- Driving distances are in miles
- Times are estimates and rounded to the nearest hour

Example: 380/6 represents 380 miles & 6 hours than eight hours and about 400 miles a day along the shortest route (ie no sightseeing). Availability depends on demand.

One major company is Auto Driveaway (☎ 800-346-2277; www.autodriveaway.com), which has more than 40 offices nationwide.

Driver's License

Foreign visitors can legally drive a car in the USA for up to 12 months using their home driver's license. However, an IDP will have more credibility with US traffic police, especially if your home license doesn't have a photo or isn't in English. Your automobile association at home can issue an IDP, valid for one year, for a small fee. Always carry your home license together with the IDP.

To drive a motorcycle in the USA, you will need either a valid US state motorcycle license or an IDP specially endorsed for motorcycles.

Insurance

Don't put the key into the ignition if you don't have insurance, which is legally required, else you risk financial ruin and legal consequences if there's an accident. If you already have auto insurance, or if you buy travel insurance that covers car rentals, make sure your policy has adequate liability coverage for where you will be driving; it probably does, but beware that states specify different minimum levels of coverage.

Rental-car companies will provide liability insurance, but most charge extra. Rental companies almost never include collision-damage insurance for the vehicle. Instead, they offer an optional Collision Damage Waiver (CDW) or Loss Damage Waiver (LDW), usually with an initial deductible cost of $100 to $500. For an extra premium, you can usually get this deductible covered as well. Paying extra for some or all of this insurance increases the cost of a rental car by as much as $30 a day.

Many credit cards offer free collision damage coverage for rental cars if you rent for 15 days or less and charge the total rental to your card. This is a good way to avoid paying extra fees to the rental company, but note that if there's an accident, sometimes you must pay the rental car company first and then seek reimbursement from the credit-card company. There may be exceptions that are not covered, too, such as 'exotic' rentals (eg 4WD Jeeps, convertibles). Check your credit-card policy.

Purchase

Buying a car is usually much more hassle than it's worth, particularly for foreign visitors and trips under four months. Foreigners will have the easiest time arranging this if they have stateside friends or relatives who can provide a fixed address for registration, licensing and insurance, or by working with one of the companies below.

To find a new or used auto, check newspapers and websites and visit dealers. To evaluate used-car prices, check the Kelley Blue Book (www.kbb.com). It's smart to pay an independent auto mechanic to inspect any used car before you buy it. Once purchased, the car's transfer of ownership papers must be registered with the state's Department of Motor Vehicles (DMV) within 10 days; you'll need the bill of sale, the title (or 'pink slip') and proof of insurance. Some states also require a 'smog certificate.' This is the seller's responsibility, so don't buy a car without a current certificate. A dealer will submit all necessary paperwork to the DMV for you.

For foreigners, independent liability insurance is difficult to virtually impossible to arrange without a US driver's license. A car dealer or AAA may be able to suggest an insurer who will do this. Even with a local license, insurance can be expensive and difficult to obtain if you don't have evidence of a good driving record. Bring copies of your home auto-insurance policy if it helps establish that you are a good risk. All drivers under 25 will have problems getting insurance.

Finally, selling a car can become desperate business. Selling to dealers gets you the worst price but involves a minimum of paperwork. Otherwise, fellow travelers and college students are the best bets – but be sure the DMV is properly notified about the sale, or you may be on the hook for someone else's traffic tickets later on.

Based in Seattle, WA, Auto Tour USA (☎ 206-999-4686; www.autotourusa.com) specializes in helping foreign visitors purchase, license and insure cars. For US citizens, Adventures on Wheels (☎ 800-943-3579; www.adventuresonwheels.com) offers a six-month buy-back program: you buy one of their cars, they register and insure it, and when your trip's done, they buy it back for a pre-established price.

Rental

CAR

Car rental is a competitive business in the USA. Most rental companies require that you have a major credit card, be at least 25 years old and have a valid driver's license (p1163). Some major national companies may rent to drivers between the ages of 21 and 24 for an additional charge of around $25 per day. Those under 21 are usually not permitted to rent at all.

Good independent agencies are listed in this guide. Online, Car Rental Express (www.carrentalexpress.com) rates and compares independent agencies in US cities; it's particularly useful for searching out cheaper long-term rentals.

Major national car-rental companies:

Alamo (☎ 877-222-9075; www.alamo.com)
Avis (☎ 800-331-1212; www.avis.com)
Budget (☎ 800-527-0700; www.budget.com)
Dollar (☎ 800-800-3665; www.dollar.com)
Enterprise (☎ 800-261-7331; www.enterprise.com)
Hertz (☎ 800-654-3131; www.hertz.com)
National (☎ 877-222-9058; www.nationalcar.com)
Rent-a-Wreck (☎ 877-877-0877; www.rentawreck.com)
Thrifty (☎ 800-847-4389; www.thrifty.com)

Car-rental prices vary wildly. As when buying plane tickets, shop around, checking every angle and several websites. Airport locations may have cheaper rates but higher fees; city-center offices may do pick-ups and drop-offs. Adjusting the days of your rental even slightly can completely change the rate; weekend and weekly rates are usually cheaper. The average daily rate for a small car ranges from around $30 to $75, or $200 to $500 per week. If you belong to an auto club or frequent-flier program, you may get a discount (or earn rewards points or miles). Check out arranging a cheaper fly–drive package, too. No matter what, advance reservations are recommended.

Some other things to keep in mind: most national agencies make 'unlimited mileage' standard on all cars, but independents might charge extra for this; limited mileage plans rarely work out unless you aren't going far. Some rental companies let you pay for your last tank of gas upfront; this is almost never a good deal. Tax on car rentals varies by state and agency location; always ask for the total cost including all taxes and fees. Most agencies charge more if you pick the car up in one place and drop it off in another; usually only national agencies even offer this option. Be careful about adding extra days or turning in a car early; extra days may be charged at a premium rate, or an early return may jeopardize any weekly or monthly discounts you originally arranged.

Some major national companies, including Avis, Budget and Hertz, offer 'green' fleets of hybrid rental cars (eg Toyota Priuses, Honda Civics), although you'll usually have to pay a lot extra to rent a more fuel-efficient car. Some independent local agencies, especially on the West Coast, also offer hybrid-vehicle rentals. Try Southern California's Simply Hybrid (www.simplyhybrid.com) and Hawaii's Bio-Beetle (p1123).

For car-sharing rentals in cities and towns in 25 states, Zipcar (☎ 866-494-7227; www.zipcar.com) charges hourly/daily rental fees with free gas, insurance and limited mileage included; prepayment is required. Check the website for locations and to apply (some foreign drivers OK). No one-way rentals allowed.

MOTORCYCLE & RECREATIONAL VEHICLE (RV)

If you dream of cruising across America on a Harley, EagleRider (☎ 888-900-9901; www.eaglerider.com) has offices in major cities nationwide and rents other kinds of adventure vehicles, too. Beware that motorcycle rental and insurance are expensive.

Companies specializing in RV and camper rentals:

Adventures on Wheels (☎ 800-943-3579; www.wheels9.com)
Cruise America (☎ 800-671-8042; www.cruiseamerica.com)
Happy Travel Camper Rental & Sales (☎ 800-370-1262; www.camperusa.com)

Road Conditions & Hazards

America's highways are legendary ribbons of unblemished asphalt, but not always. Road hazards include potholes, city commuter traffic, wandering wildlife and, of course, cell-phone-wielding, kid-distracted and enraged drivers. Caution, foresight, courtesy and luck usually gets you past them. For nationwide traffic and road-closure information, click to www.fhwa.dot.gov/trafficinfo/index.htm.

In places where winter driving is an issue, many cars are fitted with steel-studded snow tires; snow chains can sometimes be required in mountain areas. Driving off-road, or on dirt roads, is often forbidden by rental-car companies, and it can be very dangerous in wet weather.

In deserts and range country, livestock sometimes graze next to unfenced roads. These areas are signed as 'Open Range' or with the silhouette of a steer. Where deer and other wild animals frequently appear roadside, you'll see signs with the silhouette of a leaping deer. Take these signs seriously, particularly at night.

Road Rules

In the USA, cars drive on the right-hand side of the road. The use of seat belts and child safety seats is required in every state. Most car rental agencies rent child safety seats for around $10 per day, but you must reserve them when booking. In some states, motorcyclists are required to wear helmets.

On interstate highways, the speed limit is sometimes raised to 75mph. Unless otherwise posted, the speed limit is generally 55mph or 65mph on highways, 25mph to 35mph in cities and towns and as low as 15mph in school zones (strictly enforced during school hours). It's forbidden to pass a school bus when its lights are flashing.

Unless signs prohibit it, you may turn right at a red light after first coming to a full stop, so long as you don't impede intersecting traffic, which has the right of way. At four-way stop signs, cars should proceed in order of arrival; when two cars arrive simultaneously, the one on the right has the right of way. When in doubt, just politely wave the other driver ahead. When emergency vehicles (ie police, fire or ambulance) approach from either direction, pull over safely and get out of the way.

Most states have laws against (and hefty fines for) littering along the highway. Sure, few people ever get caught, but don't do it anyway. In an increasing number of states, it is illegal to talk on a handheld cell (mobile) phone while driving; use a hands-free device (eg Bluetooth headset) instead.

The maximum legal blood-alcohol concentration for drivers is 0.08%. Penalties are very severe for 'DUI' – driving under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs. Police can give roadside sobriety checks to assess if you've been drinking or using drugs. If you fail, they'll require you take a breath test, urine test or blood test to determine the level of alcohol or drugs in your body. Refusing to be tested is treated the same as if you'd taken the test and failed.

In some states it is illegal to carry 'open containers' of alcohol in a vehicle, even if they are empty. Containers that are full and sealed may be carried, but if they have ever been opened, you must transport them in the trunk.

HITCHHIKING

Hitchhiking in the USA is potentially dangerous and definitely not recommended. Indeed, drivers have heard so many lurid reports they tend to be just as afraid of those with their thumbs out. Hitchhiking on freeways is prohibited. You'll see more people hitchhiking in rural areas and in Alaska and Hawaii, but these places aren't safer than anywhere else, and with sparse traffic, you may well get stranded. In and around national parks, hitching to and from trailheads is common, but a safer bet is to check ride-share boards at hostels, park visitor centers and wilderness information stations.

LOCAL TRANSPORTATION

Except in large US cities, public transportation is rarely the most convenient option for travelers, and coverage can be sparse to outlying towns and suburbs. However, it is usually cheap, safe and reliable. For details, see the Getting Around sections for the main cities and towns covered in the regional chapters. In addition, more than half the states in the nation have adopted ☎ 511 as an all-purpose local-transportation help line.

Airport Shuttles

Shuttle buses provide inexpensive and convenient transport to/from airports in most cities. Most are 12-seat vans; some have regular routes and stops (which include the main hotels) and some pick up and deliver passengers 'door to door' in their service area. Costs average $15 to $30 per person.

Bicycle

Some cities are more amenable to bicycles than others, but most have at least a few dedicated bike lanes and paths, and bikes can usually be carried on public transportation. See p1159 for more on bicycling in the USA, including rentals.

Bus

Most cities and larger towns have dependable local bus systems, though they are often designed for commuters and provide limited service in the evening and on weekends. Costs range from free to between $1 and $3 per ride.

Subway & Train

Some cities have underground subways or elevated metropolitan rail systems, which often provide the fastest local transport. The largest systems are in New York, Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia, Washington, DC, Chicago, Los Angeles and the San Francisco Bay Area. Other cities may have small, one- or two-line rail systems that mainly serve downtown.

Taxi

Taxis are metered, with flagfall charges of around $2.50 to start, plus $1.50 to $2 per mile. They charge extra for waiting and handling baggage, and drivers expect a 10% to 15% tip. Taxis cruise the busiest areas in large cities; otherwise, it's easiest to phone and order one.

TOURS

Hundreds of companies offer all kinds of organized tours of the USA; most focus on either cities or regions. See Tours in the city sections throughout this book for more recommendations, and above for sightseeing tours that take you to and around the USA.

Popular tour companies:

Backroads (☎ 510-527-1555, 800-462-2848; www.backroads.com) Designs a range of active, multisport and outdoor-oriented trips for all abilities and budgets.

Elderhostel (☎ 978-323-4141, 800-454-5768; www.elderhostel.org) For those aged 55 and older, this venerable nonprofit offers 'learning adventures' in all 50 states.

Gray Line (www.grayline.com) For those short on time, Gray Line offers a comprehensive range of standard sightseeing tours across the country.

Green Tortoise (☎ 415-956-7500, 800-867-8647; www.greentortoise.com) Offering budget adventures for independent travelers, Green Tortoise is famous for its sleeping-bunk buses. Most trips leave from San Francisco, traipsing through the West and nationwide.

TRAIN

Amtrak (☎ 800-872-7245; www.amtrak.com) has an extensive rail system throughout the USA, with Amtrak's Thruway buses providing connections to and from the rail network to some smaller centers and national parks. Compared with other modes of travel, trains are rarely the quickest, cheapest, timeliest or most convenient option, but they turn the journey into a relaxing, social and scenic all-American experience.

Amtrak has several long-distance lines traversing the nation east to west, and even more running north to south. These connect all of America's biggest cities and many of its smaller ones. Long-distance services (on named trains) mostly operate daily on these routes, but some run only three to five days per week. See Amtrak's website for detailed route maps, as well as the Getting There & Around sections in this guide's regional chapters.

Commuter trains provide faster, more frequent services on shorter routes, especially the northeast corridor from Boston, MA, to Washington, DC. Amtrak's high-speed Acela Express trains are the most expensive, and rail passes (opposite) are not valid on these trains. Other commuter rail lines include those serving the Lake Michigan shoreline near Chicago, IL, major cities on the West Coast and the Miami, FL, area.

Classes & Costs

Amtrak fares vary according to the type of train and seating; on long-distance lines, you can travel in coach seats (reserved or unreserved), business class, or 1st class, which includes all sleeping compartments. Sleeping cars include simple bunks (called 'roomettes'), bedrooms with en-suite facilities and suites sleeping four with two bathrooms. Sleeping-car rates include meals in the dining car, which offers everyone sit-down meal service (pricey if not included). Food service on commuter lines, when it exists, consists of sandwich and snack bars. Bringing your own food and drink is recommended on all trains.

Various one-way, round-trip and touring fares are available from Amtrak, with discounts of 15% for seniors aged 62 and over and for students with a 'Student Advantage' card ($20) or an International Student Identity Card (ISIC), and 50% discounts for children aged two to 15 when accompanied by a paying adult. AAA members get 10% off. Web-only 'Weekly Specials' offer deep discounts on certain undersold routes.

Generally, the earlier you book, the lower the price. To get many of the standard discounts, you need to reserve at least three

ALL ABOARD!

Who doesn't enjoy the steamy puff and whistle of a mighty locomotive as glorious scenery streams by? Dozens of historic narrow-gauge railroads still operate today as attractions, rather than as transportation. Most trains only run in the warmer months, and they can be extremely popular – so book ahead.

Here are some of the best:

Cass Scenic Railroad Nestled in the Appalachian Mountains in West Virginia (p382).
Cumbres & Toltec Scenic Railroad Living, moving museum from Chama, NM, into Colorado's Rocky Mountains (p902).
Durango & Silverton Narrow Gauge Railroad Ends at historic mining town Silverton in Colorado's Rocky Mountains (p784).
Great Smoky Mountain Railroad Rides from Bryson City, NC, through the Great Smoky Mountains (p403).
Mount Hood Railroad Winds through the scenic Columbia River Gorge outside Portland, OR (p1060).
Roaring Camp Railroads Rises through coast redwood forests in the mountains above Santa Cruz, CA (p965).
Skunk Train Runs between Fort Bragg, CA, on the coast and Willits farther inland, passing through redwoods (p996).
White Pass & Yukon Route Railroad Klondike Gold Rush–era railroad has departures from Skagway, AK (p1085), and Fraser (British Columbia) and Carcross and Whitehorse (Yukon) in Canada.

Also worth riding are the vintage steam and diesel locomotives of Arizona's Grand Canyon Railway (p849), New York State's Delaware & Ulster Line (p198), and Colorado's Pikes Peak Cog Railway (p767).

days in advance. If you want to take an Acela Express or Metroliner train, avoid peak commute times and aim for weekends.

Amtrak Vacations (☎ 800-268-7252; www.amtrakvacations.com) offers vacation packages that include rental cars, hotels, tours and attractions. Air-Rail packages let you travel by train in one direction, then return by plane the other way.

Sample standard, one-way, adult coach-class fares and trip times on Amtrak's long-distance routes:

Service	Price ($)	Duration (hr)
Chicago–New Orleans	$110	20
Los Angeles–San Antonio	$135	30
New York–Chicago	$85	19
New York–Los Angeles	$195	61
Seattle–Oakland	$95	23
Washington, DC–Miami	$120	24

Reservations

Reservations can be made any time from 11 months in advance up to the day of departure. Space on most trains is limited, and certain routes can be crowded, especially during summer and holiday periods, so it's a good idea to book as far in advance as you can; this also gives you the best chance of fare discounts.

Train Passes

Amtrak's USA Rail Pass offers coach-class travel for 15 ($389), 30 ($579) or 45 ($749) days, with travel limited to 8, 12 or 18 one-way 'segments,' respectively. A segment is not the same as a one-way trip. If reaching your destination requires riding more than one train (for example, getting from New York to Miami with a transfer in Washington, DC) that one-way trip will actually use two segments of your pass.

Present your pass at an Amtrak office to pick up your ticket(s) for each trip. Reservations should be made by phone (call ☎ 800-872-7245, or ☎ 215-856-7953 from outside the USA) as far in advance as possible. Each segment of the journey must be booked. At some rural stations, trains will only stop if there's a reservation. Tickets are not for specific seats, but a conductor on board may allocate you a seat. Business-class, 1st-class and sleeper accommodations cost extra and must be reserved separately.

All travel must be completed within 180 days of purchasing your pass. Passes are not valid on the Acela Express, Auto Train, Thruway motorcoach connections or the Canadian portion of Amtrak routes operated jointly with Via Rail Canada.

Health

Dr David Goldberg

CONTENTS

Before You Go 1168
Insurance 1168
Recommended Vaccinations 1168
Medical Checklist 1168
Internet Resources 1168
In the USA 1169
Availability & Cost of Health Care 1169
Infectious Diseases 1169
Environmental Hazards 1170

The North American continent encompasses an extraordinary range of climates and terrains, from the freezing heights of the Rockies to tropical areas in southern Florida. Because of the high level of hygiene, infectious diseases will not be a significant concern for most travelers, who will experience nothing worse than a little diarrhea or a mild respiratory infection.

BEFORE YOU GO

INSURANCE

The USA offers possibly the finest health care in the world. The problem is that, unless you have good insurance, it can be prohibitively expensive. It's essential to purchase travel health insurance if your regular policy doesn't cover you when you're abroad.

Bring any medications you may need in their original containers, clearly labeled. A signed, dated letter from your physician that describes all medical conditions and medications, including generic names, is also a good idea.

If your health insurance does not cover you for medical expenses abroad, consider supplemental insurance. Check the Travel Services section of the Lonely Planet website (www.lonelyplanet.com) for more information. Find out in advance if your insurance plan will make payments directly to providers or reimburse you later for overseas health expenditures. For more information on insurance, see p1141.

RECOMMENDED VACCINATIONS

No special vaccines are required or recommended for travel to the USA. All travelers should be up-to-date on routine immunizations. See the following table.

Vaccine	Recommended for	Dosage	Side effects
chicken pox	travelers who've never had chicken pox	two doses a month apart	fever; mild case of chicken pox influenza	all travelers during flu season (Nov-Mar)	one dose	soreness at injection site; fever measles	travelers born after 1956 who've had only one measles vaccination	one dose	fever; rash; joint pains; allergic reactions tetanus-diphtheria	all travelers who haven't had a booster within 10 years	one dose lasts 10 years	soreness at injection site

MEDICAL CHECKLIST

Recommended items for a medical kit:

- acetaminophen (Tylenol) or aspirin
- adhesive or paper tape
- antibacterial ointment (eg Bactroban) for cuts and abrasions
- antihistamines (for hay fever and allergic reactions)
- anti-inflammatory drugs (eg ibuprofen)
- bandages, gauze, gauze rolls
- DEET-containing insect repellent for the skin
- permethrin-containing insect spray for clothing, tents and bed nets
- pocket knife
- scissors, safety pins, tweezers
- steroid cream or cortisone (for poison ivy and other allergic rashes)
- sunblock
- thermometer

INTERNET RESOURCES

There is a wealth of travel health advice available on the internet. The World Health Organization publishes a superb book, called International Travel and Health, which is revised annually and is available online at no cost at www.who.int/ith/en. Another website of general interest is MD Travel Health (www.mdtravelhealth.com), which provides complete travel health recommendations for every country, updated daily, also at no cost.

It's usually a good idea to consult your government's travel health website before departure, if one is available:

Australia (www.smarttraveller.gov.au)
Canada (www.hc-sc.gc.ca/index-eng.php)
UK (www.dh.gov.uk/travellers)
USA (wwwn.cdc.gov/travel)

IN THE USA

AVAILABILITY & COST OF HEALTH CARE

In general, if you have a medical emergency, the best bet is for you to find the nearest hospital and go to its emergency room. If the problem isn't urgent, you can call a nearby hospital and ask for a referral to a local physician, which is usually cheaper than a trip to the emergency room. Stand-alone, for-profit urgent-care centers can be convenient, but may perform large numbers of expensive tests, even for minor illnesses.

Pharmacies are abundantly supplied, but you may find that some medications that are available over-the-counter in your home country require a prescription in the USA and, as always, if you don't have insurance to cover the cost of prescriptions, they can be shockingly expensive.

INFECTIOUS DISEASES

In addition to more common ailments, there are several infectious diseases that are unknown or uncommon outside North America. Most are acquired by mosquito or tick bites.

Giardiasis

This parasitic infection of the small intestine occurs throughout the world. Symptoms may include nausea, bloating, cramps and diarrhea, and may last for weeks. To protect yourself from Giardia, avoid drinking directly from lakes, ponds, streams and rivers, which may be contaminated by animal or human feces. The infection can also be transmitted from person to person if proper hand washing is not performed. Giardiasis is easily diagnosed by a stool test and readily treated with antibiotics.

HIV/AIDS

As with most parts of the world, HIV infection occurs throughout the USA. You should never assume, on the basis of someone's background or appearance, that they're free of this or any other sexually transmitted disease. Be sure to use a condom or other prophylactic device for all sexual encounters.

Lyme Disease

This disease has been reported from many states, but most documented cases occur in the northeastern part of the country, especially New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and Massachusetts. A smaller number of cases occur in the northern Midwest and in the northern Pacific coastal regions, including northern California. Lyme disease is transmitted by deer ticks, which are only 1mm to 2mm long. Most cases occur in the late spring and summer. The Center for Disease Control (CDC; www.cdc.gov/ncidod/dvbid/lyme) has an informative, if slightly scary, web page on Lyme disease.

The first symptom is usually an expanding red rash that is often pale in the center, known as a bull's-eye rash. However, in many cases, no rash is observed. Flu-like symptoms are common, including fever, headache, joint pains, body aches and malaise. When the infection is treated promptly with an appropriate antibiotic, usually doxycycline or amoxicillin, the cure rate is high. Luckily, since the tick must be attached for 36 hours or more to transmit Lyme disease, most cases can be prevented by performing a thorough tick check after you've been outdoors. For information, see Tick Bites (p1171).

Rabies

Rabies is a viral infection of the brain and spinal cord that is almost always fatal. The rabies virus is carried in the saliva of infected animals and is typically transmitted through an animal bite, though contamination of any break in the skin with infected saliva may result in rabies. In the USA, most cases of human rabies are related to exposure to bats. Rabies may also be contracted from raccoons, skunks, foxes, and unvaccinated cats and dogs.

If there is any possibility, however small, that you have been exposed to rabies, you should seek preventative treatment, which consists of rabies immune globulin and rabies vaccine, and is quite safe. In particular, any contact with a bat should be discussed with health authorities, because bats have small teeth and may not leave obvious bite marks. If you wake up to find a bat in your room, or discover a bat in a room with small children, rabies prophylaxis may be necessary.

West Nile Virus

These infections were unknown in the USA until a few years ago, but have now been reported in almost all 50 states. The virus is transmitted by culex mosquitoes, which are active in late summer and early fall, and generally bite after dusk. Most infections are mild or asymptomatic, but the virus may infect the central nervous system, leading to fever, headache, confusion, lethargy, coma and sometimes death. There is no treatment for West Nile virus. For the latest update on the areas affected by West Nile, go to the US Geological Survey website (http://diseasemaps.usgs.gov).

ENVIRONMENTAL HAZARDS

Bites & Stings

Common sense approaches to these concerns are the most effective: wear boots when hiking to protect from snakes, wear long sleeves and pants to protect from ticks and mosquitoes. If you're bitten, don't overreact. Stay calm and follow the recommended treatment.

ANIMAL BITES

Do not attempt to pet, handle or feed any animal, with the exception of domestic animals known to be free of any infectious disease. Most animal injuries are directly related to a person's attempt to touch or feed the animal.

Any bite or scratch by a mammal, including bats, should be promptly and thoroughly cleansed with large amounts of soap and water, followed by application of an antiseptic, such as iodine or alcohol. The local health authorities should be contacted immediately for possible post-exposure rabies treatment, whether or not you've been immunized against rabies. It may also be advisable to start an antibiotic, since wounds caused by animal bites and scratches frequently become infected.

MOSQUITO BITES

When traveling in areas where West Nile or other mosquito-borne illnesses have been reported, keep yourself covered (wear long sleeves, long pants, hats and shoes rather than sandals) and apply a good insect repellent, preferably one containing DEET, to exposed skin and clothing. In general, adults and children over 12 should use preparations containing 25% to 35% DEET, which usually lasts about six hours. Children between two and 12 years of age should use preparations containing no more than 10% DEET, applied sparingly, which will usually last about three hours. Neurologic toxicity has been reported from DEET, especially in children, but appears to be extremely uncommon and generally related to overuse. DEET-containing compounds should not be used on children under age two.

Insect repellents containing certain botanical products, including oil of eucalyptus and soybean oil, are effective but last only 1½ to two hours. Products based on citronella are not very effective.

Visit the Center for Disease Control's website (CDC; www.cdc.gov/ncidod/dvbid/westnile/prevention_info.htm) for prevention information.

SNAKE BITES

There are several varieties of venomous snakes in the USA, but unlike those in other countries they do not cause instantaneous death, and antivenins are available. First aid is to place a light constricting bandage over the bite, keep the wounded part below the level of the heart and move it as little as possible. Stay calm and get to a medical facility as soon as possible. Bring the dead snake for identification if you can, but don't risk being bitten again. Do not use the mythic 'cut an X and suck out the venom' trick; this causes more damage to snakebite victims than the bites themselves.

SPIDER & SCORPION BITES

Although there are many species of spider in the USA, the only ones that cause significant human illness are the black widow, brown recluse and hobo spiders. The black widow is black or brown in color, measuring about 15mm in body length, with a shiny top, fat body, and distinctive red or orange hourglass figure on its underside. It's found throughout the USA, usually in barns, woodpiles, sheds, harvested crops and bowls of outdoor toilets. The brown recluse spider is brown in color, usually 10mm in body length, with a dark violin-shaped mark on the top of the upper section of the body. It's usually found in the South and southern Midwest, but has spread to other parts of the country in recent years. The brown recluse is active mostly at night, lives in dark sheltered areas, such as under porches and in woodpiles, and typically bites when trapped. Hobo spiders are found chiefly in the northwestern USA and western Canada.

If bitten by a black widow, you should clean the wound with an antiseptic such as iodine or alcohol and apply ice or cold packs, then go immediately to the nearest emergency room. Complications of a black-widow bite may include muscle spasms, breathing difficulties and high blood pressure. The bite of a brown recluse or hobo-spider typically causes a large, inflamed wound, sometimes associated with fever and chills. The symptoms of a hobo spider bite are similar to those of a brown recluse, but milder. If bitten, apply ice and see a physician.

The only dangerous species of scorpion in the USA is the bark scorpion, which is found in the southwestern part of the country, chiefly Arizona. If stung, you should immediately apply ice or cold packs, immobilize the affected body part and go to the nearest emergency room. To prevent scorpion stings, be sure to inspect and shake out clothing, shoes and sleeping bags before use, and wear gloves and protective clothing when working around piles of wood or leaves.

TICK BITES

Ticks are parasitic arachnids that may be present in brush, forest and grasslands, where hikers often get them on their legs or in their boots. Adult ticks suck blood from hosts by burrowing into the skin and can carry infections such as Lyme disease.

Always check your body for ticks after walking through high grass or thickly forested area. If ticks are found unattached, they can simply be brushed off. If a tick is found attached, press gently down around the tick's head with tweezers, grab the head and pull steadily upwards – do not twist or force it. (If no tweezers are available, use your fingers, but protect them from contamination with a piece of tissue or paper.) Do not rub oil, alcohol or petroleum jelly on it. If you get sick in the next couple of weeks, consult a doctor.

Glossary

The best primer for what has happened to the English language since it landed on the continent is Bill Bryson's Made in America (1994), which tackles American slang and expressions (along with good dollops of history) from the arrival of the Mayflower onwards.

4WD – four-wheel-drive vehicle

9/11 – September 11, 2001; the date of the Al-Qaeda terrorist attacks, in which hijacked airplanes hit the Pentagon and destroyed NYC's World Trade Center

24/7 – 24 hours a day, seven days a week

AAA – the American Automobile Association, also called 'Triple A'

Acela – high-speed trains operating in the northeast adobe – a traditional Spanish-Mexican building material of sun-baked bricks made with mud and straw; a structure built with this type of brick aka – also known as alien – official government term for a non-US citizen, visiting or resident in the USA (as in 'resident alien,' 'illegal alien' etc); impolite generally

Amtrak – national government-supported passenger railroad company

Angeleno/Angelena – a resident of Los Angeles antebellum – of the period before the Civil War; pre-1861

ANWR – Arctic National Wildlife Refuge; contains a 1.5-million-acre wilderness area that's the subject of controversial oil and gas drilling proposals

Arts and Crafts – an architecture and design movement popular at the turn of the 20th century; also called (American) Craftsman

ATF – Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco & Firearms, a federal law enforcement agency

ATM – automated teller machine

ATV – all-terrain vehicle, used for off-road transportation and recreation; see also OHV back east – a West Coast reference to the East Coast backpacker – one who hikes or camps out overnight; less commonly, a young, low-budget traveler bling – hip-hop term for expensive jewelry and goods, the status symbols of success

BLM – Bureau of Land Management, an agency of the federal Department of the Interior that manages certain public lands for resources and recreation blog – short for web log; a personal journal available online blue book – the Kelley Blue Book, a used-car pricing guide bluegrass – a form of Appalachian folk music that evolved in the bluegrass country of Kentucky and Tennessee bodega – especially in NYC, a small local store selling liquor, food and other basics boomtown – as during the gold rush, a town that experiences rapid economic and population growth booster – an avid promoter of a town or university; sometimes has parochial connotations brick-and-mortar – a business' actual premises, as opposed to its internet presence buffalo soldier – an African American soldier serving in the West after the Civil War burro – a small donkey used as a pack animal

Bush, the – the greater part of Alaska, inaccessible by road or sea; to get there, charter a 'bush plane'

BYOB – bring your own booze; a staple of party invitations

Cajun – corruption of 'Acadia'; refers to Louisiana people who descended from 18th-century French-speaking Acadian exiles from eastern Canada camper – pickup truck with a detachable roof or shell fitted out for camping carded – asked to show your ID to buy liquor or cigarettes, or to enter a bar carpetbaggers – political Northerners who migrated to the South following the Civil War

CCC – Civilian Conservation Corps, a Depression-era federal program established in 1933 to employ young, single men

CDW – collision damage waiver; optional insurance against damaging a rental car cell – cellular (or mobile) phone chamber of commerce – an association of local businesses that often provides tourist information

Chicano/Chicana – a Mexican American man/woman

clambake – seashore cookout featuring clams, fish and other fresh seafood

CNN – Cable News Network, a 24-hour cable TV news station coach class – an economical class of travel on airplanes, trains, etc coed – coeducational, open to both males and females; often used in noneducational contexts (eg hostel dorms)

conch (pronounced conk) – pink mollusk eaten as seafood; also a nickname for long-term Key West residents (new Key Westers are freshwater conchs)

Conestoga wagon – a big covered wagon drawn by horses or oxen, the vehicle of 18th- and 19th-century westward migration; also called a 'prairie schooner'

Confederacy – the 11 Southern states that seceded from the USA in 1860–61 contiguous states – all states except Alaska and Hawaii; also called the 'lower 48' cot – camp bed (babies sleep in cribs) country and western – an amalgam of folk music of the South and the West coyote – a small wild dog; also a person who assists illegal immigrants to cross the Mexican border into the USA cracker – in the South, a derogatory term for a poor white person

CVB – convention and visitors bureau, a city-run organization promoting tourism and assisting visitors

DEA – Drug Enforcement Agency, the federal body responsible for enforcing US drug laws
Deep South – in this book, the states of Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama Dixie – the South; the states south of the Mason-Dixon Line
DIY – do it yourself
DMV – Department of Motor Vehicles, the state agency that administers the registration of vehicles and the licensing of drivers docent – a guide or attendant at a museum downtown – the center of a city, central business district (CBD); in the direction of downtown (eg a downtown bus)
DUI – driving under the influence of alcohol or drugs or both; sometimes called DWI (driving while intoxicated)

East – generally, the states east of the Mississippi River efficiency – a small furnished apartment with a kitchen, often for short-term rental Emancipation – refers to Abraham Lincoln's 1863 Emancipation Proclamation, which freed all slaves in the Confederate-controlled states (made official with the US Constitution's 13th Amendment) entrée – the main course of a meal express bus/train – stops only at selected stations, not at 'local' stations express stop/station – served by express buses/trains as well as local ones fanzine – an amateur DIY magazine, often written by obsessive fans flag stop – a place where a bus stops only if you flag it down foldaway – portable folding bed in a hotel forty-niners – immigrants to California during the 1849 gold rush; also, San Francisco's pro-football team (49ers) funnel cake – a specialty of the Pennsylvania Dutch, these deep-fried, spiral-shaped pastries are served dusted with powdered sugar, usually at outdoor fairs and carnivals gallery – a commercial establishment selling artwork; institutions that exhibit art collections are usually called museums gated community – walled upscale residential area accessible only through security gates general delivery – poste restante

Generation X – 1980s disaffected youth, replace by Generation Y gimme cap – promotional baseball cap with company logo; often used pejoratively to refer to rural or lower-class white culture
GLBT – gay, lesbian, bisexual, transgender (ie inclusive of all nonheterosexuals); aka LGBT GOP – Grand Old Party, nickname for the Republican Party graduate school – advanced-degree study, after completion of a bachelor's degree green card – technically, an Alien Registration Receipt Card, issued to holders of immigrant visas that allows them to live and work legally in the USA; being issued in various colors, it's actually not green Gullah – African American culture from the Georgia and South Carolina coast hale – Hawaii thatched-roof bungalow hip-hop – rap music; also African American urban youth culture generally Hispanic – of Latin American descent or culture (often used interchangeably with Latino/Latina)

HI-USA – Hostelling International USA; refers to US hostels affiliated with Hostelling International, a global federation hogan – a traditional Navajo one-room structure used for religious practices honky-tonk – country music club hookup – at campgrounds, refers to RV connections for electricity, water and sewage; in social situations, refers to a casual sexual encounter
'Hound, to ride the – to travel by Greyhound bus

Imax – specialized, giant-screen movie theaters
INS – Immigration & Naturalization Service; as of 2002 replaced by the USCIS and no longer operating interstate – an interstate highway, part of the national, federally funded highway system
IRS – Internal Revenue Service, the branch of the US Treasury Department that oversees tax collection

Jim Crow laws – in the post–Civil War South, laws intended to limit the civil or voting rights of blacks; Jim Crow is an old pejorative term for a black person
Joshua tree – a tall, treelike type of yucca plant, common in the arid Southwest juke joints – roadside dance halls with live music kachina – Hopi sacred spirits; also refers to kachina dolls (traditional Hopi carvings) kiva – a round underground chamber built by indigenous Southwestern cultures for ceremonial and everyday purposes

KOA – Kampgrounds of America, a private chain of campgrounds throughout the USA lagniappe – (lan-yap) a little something extra, often refers to a free gift, bonus or perk

Latino/Latina – a man/woman of Latin American descent (often used interchangeably with Hispanic)
LDS – from the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, the formal name of the Mormon church live oak – a hardwood, evergreen oak, native to the South; dead live oaks make excellent boat-building timber local – a bus or train that stops at every bus stop or station; see also express bus/train lower 48 – the 48 contiguous states of the continental USA; all states except Alaska and Hawaii

Mason-Dixon Line – the 1767 delineation between Pennsylvania and Maryland that was later regarded as the boundary between free and slave states in the period before the Civil War
MLB – Major League Baseball
MLS – Major League Soccer
mojito – sweet rum drink laden with mint moonshine – illegal liquor, usually corn whiskey, associated with backwoods stills in the Appalachian Mountains morteros – hollows in rocks used by Native Americans for grinding seeds and nuts; also called mortar holes or grinding stones
Mother Road – nickname for Route 66, once the main route from Chicago to Los Angeles

NAACP – National Association for the Advancement of Colored People
National Guard – each state's federally supported military reserves, used most often in civil emergencies
National Recreation Area – National Park Service areas of scenic or ecological importance that are also reserved for recreation; they often incorporate public works, such as dams
National Register of Historic Places – the National Park Service list of historic sites; designation restricts modifications to help preserve the integrity of original buildings
NBA – National Basketball Association
NCAA – National Collegiate Athletic Association, the body that regulates intercollegiate sports
New Deal – wide-ranging domestic program of public works and regulations introduced by President Franklin D Roosevelt to counteract the effects of the Depression
NFL – National Football League
NHL – National Hockey League
NHS – National Historic Site
NM – National Monument
NOW – National Organization for Women, a political organization dedicated to promoting women's rights and equality
NPR – National Public Radio, a noncommercial, listener-supported national network of radio stations; notable for news and cultural programming
NPS – National Park Service, the division of the Department of the Interior that administers US national parks, monuments, historic sites, preserves and more
NRA – National Recreation Area; also National Rifle Association, an influential pro-gun lobby
NWR – National Wildlife Refuge

OHV – off-highway vehicle
OMG – oh my God
ORV – off-road vehicle out west – the opposite of back east; any place west of the Mississippi River outfitter – business providing supplies, equipment, transport, guides etc for fishing, canoeing, rafting and hiking trips panhandle – a narrow piece of land projecting from the main body of a state (eg the Florida panhandle); also, to beg from passersby parking lot/garage – paved area/building for parking cars (the phrase 'car park' is not used)

PBS – Public Broadcasting System, a noncommercial TV network; the TV equivalent of NPR
PC – politically correct; also personal computer petroglyph – a work of rock art in which the design is pecked, chipped, incised or abraded into the surface of the rock
PGA – Professional Golfers' Association pickup – small truck with an open bed pictograph – indigenous work of art in which the design is painted, often on a rock surface po'boy – a Louisiana-style submarine sandwich on a thick bread roll powwow – a social and ceremonial gathering of Native American people pueblo – Native American village in the Southwest, with adjoining dwellings of adobe or stone ranchero – a Mexican rancher; also a Mexican American musical style blending German and Spanish influences, often featuring accordions rancho – a small ranch (Mexican Spanish) raw bar – a restaurant counter that serves raw shellfish Reconstruction – a period after the Civil War, when secessionist states were placed under federal control before they were readmitted to the Union redneck – derogatory term for a politically conservative, working-class rural person ristra – dried, usually red chili peppers tied on a string and hung vertically, often seen in New Mexico

RV – recreational vehicle, also known as a motor home scalawags – Southern whites with Northern sympathies who profited under Reconstruction after the Civil War schlep – carry awkwardly or with difficulty (Yiddish)

schlock – cheap, trashy products (Yiddish) shotgun shack – a small timber house with rooms in a line (as if you could fire a shotgun straight through from front to back); once-common dwellings for poor whites and blacks in the South sierra – mountain range (Spanish) snail mail – stamped letters and packages, as opposed to email snowbirds – term for retirees who travel to sunny vacation spots during winter, often around the Southwest, California, Texas, Florida and Hawaii
SoCal – Southern California soul food – a traditional Southern cuisine (such as chitterlings, ham hocks and collard greens) of African Americans sourdough – a 19th-century California miner; also old-time Alaskans who, it is said, are 'sour on the country but without enough dough to get out'; also, a yeast mixture used to make bread or pancakes SSN – social security number, a nine-digit ID code required for employment stick, stick shift – manually operated gearshift; a car with manual transmission ('Can you drive a stick?') strip mall – any collection of businesses and stores arranged around a parking lot SUV – sports utility vehicle swag – free promotional items given away to function as advertisements terroir – a French term used in wine countries referring to the unique characteristics of a particular place where grapes are grown Trail of Tears – in the 1830s, the forced relocation of some Native American tribes to the western US; hardships along the route resulted in starvation, exposure, disease and death trailer – transportable dwelling; a trailer park is a residential collection that doesn't move and provides low-cost housing TTY/TDD – telecommunications devices for those who are deaf two-by-four – standard-size timber, 2in thick and 4in wide

Underground Railroad – series of safe havens for runaway slaves heading North
Union, the – the United States; in a Civil War context, the Union refers to the northern states at war with southern Confederate states
USAF – United States Air Force
USCIS – US Citizenship & Immigration Services, the agency within the Department of Homeland Security that oversees immigration, naturalization and visa processing
USFS – United States Forest Service, the division of the Department of Agriculture that manages federal forests for resources and recreation
USGS – United States Geological Survey, an agency of the Department of the Interior responsible for, among other things, creating detailed topographic maps of the country
USMC – United States Marine Corps
USN – United States Navy

wash – a watercourse in the desert, usually dry but subject to flash flooding Wasp – White, Anglo-Saxon Protestant; often used to refer to affluent white upper-class values well drinks – bar drinks with less-expensive, generic-brand hard liquor, as opposed to name-brand 'top-shelf' drinks wickiup – a portable shelter of grasses, reeds or brushwood made by Native Americans WNBA – Women's National Basketball Association
wonk – a person overly obsessed with minute details, usually pejorative; equivalent to geek
WPA – Works Progress (later, Works Projects) Administration; a Depression-era, New Deal program to increase employment by funding public works projects zip code – a five- or nine-digit postal code zydeco – music style of southern Louisiana combining influence from French, Carribbean and blues cultures

© Lonely Planet. To make it easier for you to use, access to this chapter is not digitally restricted. In return, we think it's fair to ask you to use it for personal, non-commercial purposes only. In other words, please don't upload this chapter to a peer-to-peer site, mass email it to everyone you know, or resell it. See the terms and conditions on our site for a longer way of saying the above - 'Do the right thing with our content.'

Index

ABBREVIATIONS

AK	Alaska
AL	Alabama
AR	Arkansas
AZ	Arizona
CA	California
CO	Colorado
CT	Connecticut
DC	District of Columbia
DE	Delaware
FL	Florida
GA	Georgia
HI	Hawaii
IA	Iowa
ID	Idaho
IL	Illinois
IN	Indiana
KS	Kansas
KY	Kentucky
LA	Louisiana
MA	Massachusetts
MD	Maryland
ME	Maine
MI	Michigan
MN	Minnesota
MO	Missouri
MS	Mississippi
MT	Montana
NC	North Carolina
ND	North Dakota
NE	Nebraska
NH	New Hampshire
NJ	New Jersey
NM	New Mexico
NV	Nevada
NY	New York
OH	Ohio
OK	Oklahoma
OR	Oregon
PA	Pennsylvania
RI	Rhode Island
SC	South Carolina
SD	South Dakota
TN	Tennessee
TX	Texas
UT	Utah
VA	Virginia
VT	Vermont
WA	Washington
WI	Wisconsin
WV	West Virginia
WY	Wyoming

10,000 Islands 522
4WD 393, 786, 850

A
Abbeville 491
Abilene 693
Abingdon 379
Abiquiu 899
Abita Springs 486
Absaroka Beartooth Wilderness 803-4
Academy Awards 922
Acadia National Park 142, 310-11 accommodations 28, 1131-4, see also individual locations
Acoma Pueblo 892
activities 29, 106-12, 131-42, 1134-6, see also individual activities
Adirondacks, the 201-2
Adler Planetarium & Astronomy Museum 567
Admiralty Island National Monument 1083
African Americans, see also Civil Rights movement, slavery artists 86, 171 authors 59, 82
  festivals 448, 1140
  history 317, 329, 339, 363, 459, 469, 693
African American museums
  Alabama 460, 462, 463
  California 921, 971-2
  Colorado 763
  Illinois 574
  Louisiana 477, 487-8
  Maryland 342-3
  Massachusetts 246
  Michigan 612
  Oklahoma 701
  Pennsylvania 220
  Tennessee 419, 420, 432
  Virginia 363, 379
  Washington, DC 330
Agate Fossil Beds National Monument 689
Agua Caliente County Park 953
'Ahihi-Kina'u Natural Area Reserve 1125
air pollution 130 air travel 1153-7, 1158-9
airboating 522
'Akaka Falls State Park 1121
Akron 602
Alabama 385-9, 459-63, 386-7
Alabama Hills 31
Alamo, the 31, 720, 722
Alamogordo 906
Alaska 41, 1071-1103, 1072-3, 13
Alaska Marine Highway 13, 1077, 1102, 13
Alaska Native people 70, 1074, 1087, 1090, 1096
Albany 199-200
Albuquerque 886-91, 888, 890
Alcatraz 978
Alcott, Louisa May 259
Aleutians, the 1102
Alexandria 360
Alexandria Bay 202
Alfred A Loeb State Park 1070
Algonquian people 144, 239
Ali, Muhammad 436
aliens 750, 838, 907, 14
Allegheny National Forest 237 alligators 487, 118
Alma 646
Alpine 748-9
Alturas 1003-4
Altus 497
Alvord Desert 1067-8
Amana Colonies 672
Amarillo 744-5
Amelia Island 538-9
Ames 672
Amherst 273
Amicalola Falls State Park 452
Amish people 228-30, 596-7, 603-4, 646 amusement rides, see theme parks & amusement rides

Anadarko 700
Anastasia State Recreation Area 536
Ancestral Pueblo Indians 789, 820, 838, 880, 885, 887
Anchorage 1086-92, 1088-9
Ancient Bristlecone Pine Forest 1012
Ancient Spanish Monastery 511-12
Anderson Valley 994
Andrew Molera State Park 961
Angoon 1083
animals 122-5, 140, 797, see also individual animals
Ann Arbor 617-19
Annapolis 348-50
Año Nuevo State Natural Reserve 966
Antelope Canyon 857
Antelope Island State Park 873
Antietam National Battlefield 353-4
Anza-Borrego Desert State Park 952-3
Apache people 705
Apalachee people 551
Apostle Islands 635-6
Appalachian Trail 134, 135, 288, 314, 377, 403
Appomattox Court House 375 aquariums
  Alaska 1082, 1093
  California 928, 945, 962, 980
  Connecticut 282
  Florida 539
  Georgia 446
  Illinois 567
  Iowa 672
  Louisiana 478
  Maryland 342
  Massachusetts 247, 262
  Minnesota 645, 646
  New York 173
  North Carolina 392, 394
  Pennsylvania 220
  Ohio 607
  Oregon 1069
  South Carolina 407
  Tennessee 432
  Texas 733, 735
  Vermont 292
  Virginia 372
  Washington 1027-8
Arab Americans 617
Aransas National Wildlife Refuge 733
Arapaho National Forest 776

000 Map pages
000 Photograph pages

Arcata 998
Arches National Park 879
architecture 30, 90-2, 507, 512-13, 567, see also Wright, Frank Lloyd Arcosanti 845
Arctic Alaska 1103
Area 51 838
Arizona 817-21, 838-66, 818-19
Arkansas 385-9, 386-7, 493-9
Arkansas Delta 499
Arkansas River Valley 497
Arlington 359-60
Armstrong Redwoods State Reserve 993
Arnold Arboretum 252
Art Institute of Chicago 563
art galleries, see museums & art galleries arts 75-92, see also individual arts
  books 87, 88
  internet resources 77, 78, 80, 82, 83, 85, 88, 89
  Native American 86, 1145
arts festivals
  California 939
  Florida 513
  Illinois 577
  Louisiana 490
  Maryland 345
  Nevada 835
  Pennsylvania 221, 234
  Rhode Island 276
Asbury Park 209
Asheville 400-2
Ashfall Fossil Beds 689
Ashland 1064-5
Ashley River Plantations 411-12
Aspen 781-3
Assateague Island National Seashore 31, 353
Astor, John Jacob 1068
Astoria 1068
Atchafalaya Basin 491
Athens 452-3, 605
Atkins 497
Atlanta 442-51, 444-5
  accommodations 448-9
  attractions 446
  drinking 450-1
  entertainment 450-1
  food 449-50
  internet access 443
  medical services 443
  shopping 451
  tourist information 443
  travel to/from 451
  travel within 451
Atlantic City 210-11, 15
ATMs 1144
Auburn 596
Augusta 313
Austin (MN) 647
Austin (NV) 837
Austin (TX) 709-16, 711
automobile associations 1161 automobile industry 58, 130, 534, 611
Avenue of the Giants 997
Avery Island 491
Aztec Ruins National Monument 902

B
Babcock State Park 383
backpacking, see hiking
Badlands National Park 679, 680
Bahia Honda State Park 527
Balboa Park 942
Balmorhea State Park 750
Baltimore 339-48, 340-1
  accommodations 345
  attractions 342-4
  drinking 346-8
  entertainment 347-8
  food 345-6
  internet access 342
  medical services 342
  tourist information 342
  travel to/from 348
  travel within 348
Bandelier National Monument 898-9
Bandera 719-20
Bandon 1070
Bangor 313
Banner Elk 400
Bar Harbor 311-12
Baraboo 632
Barataria Preserve 487
Bardstown 439, 440
Bartlesville 702
baseball 73 basketball 73-4
Basque culture 837
Bass Island 603
Bath 307-8
Baton Rouge 488-9
bats 712
Battle of Little Bighorn 677
Baxter Springs 694
Baxter State Park 314
Bayfield 635
beaches 31

  'Anini Beach Park 1128
  Assateague Island National Seashore 31, 353
  Bethany Beach 357
  Bradley Beach 209
  Coast Guard Beach 31, 264
  Cumberland Island National Seashore 31, 458
  DT Fleming Beach Park 31
  Fire Island National Seashore 31, 193-4
  Folly Beach 411
  Fort DeSoto Park 542
  Fort Myers Beach 544
  Golden Sands Beach 31, 1103
  Half Moon Bay State Beach 966
  Hulopo'e Beach 1130
  Huntington Beach 939
  Kailua Beach 1117
  Kamakahonu Beach 1118
  La Jolla 945
  Laguna Beach 939
  Lydgate Beach Park 1127
  Makaha 1118
  Makena 1125
  Malaekahana Beach 1118
  Miami 509
  Myrtle Beach 413-14
  Newport Beach 939
  North Avenue Beach 31, 569, 575
  Ocean Beach 944
  Ogunquit Beach 302
  Orange County 938-9
  Oval Beach 620
  Padre Island National Seashore 31, 733
  Pali Ke Kua Beach 1128
  Point Lobos State Reserve 31, 962
  Race Point Beach 265
  Rehoboth Beach 355-6
  Sandy Beach 1117
  Santa Barbara 957
  Scarborough State Beach 279
  Siesta Key Beach 31, 543
  Waimea Bay Beach Park 1118
  Wilmington 396
Beachside State Park 1069
Bear Mountain State Park 196 bears 122-3, 1083, 1098
Beat Generation 81, 967, 975
Beaufort 394, 412
Beaver Island 623
beer, see breweries & beer
Beidler Forest 415
Bellingham 1038
Bemidji 650
Ben & Jerry's Ice Cream Factory 291
Bend 1063
Bennington 287, 288
Bentsen-Rio Grande Valley State Park 734
Berea 439
Berkeley 989-91
Berkeley Springs 381-3
Berkshires, the 273-5
Berlin 350-1
Bethany Beach 357
Bethel 313
Bethlehem 230
Bettles 1103
Big Basin Redwoods State Park 965
Big Bay State Park 635
Big Bend 748
Big Bend National Park 746
Big Bend Ranch State Park 748
Big Cypress National Preserve 523
Big Sur 960-1
Big Thicket National Preserve 732
Bigfork 806
Bighorn Mountains 801
bighorn sheep 952 biking, see cycling, mountain biking
Bill Baggs Cape Florida State Recreation Park 512
Bill of Rights, the 54, 56, 327
Billings 804
Billy the Kid National Scenic Byway 907
Biltmore Estate 401
Biosphere 2 864
birds & birdwatching 124-5, see also eagles
  Alabama 463
  Alaska 1080
  Florida 533, 545
  Hawaii 1128
  New Jersey 210
  Massachusetts 264, 270
  New Mexico 903
  North Carolina 392
  South Dakota 688
  Texas 733
  Vermont 289
Birmingham 460-1
Bisbee 865-6
Biscayne National Park 522
Bishop 1012
Bismarck 674-5 bison 123
bites 1170
Black Hawk State Historic Site 588
Black Hills 680-5
Black's Beach 945
Blackwater Falls State Park 382
Blanchard Springs Caverns 497
Block Island 280
Bloomberg, Michael 148
Bloomington 595
Blowing Rock 400
Bluegrass Country 437-9 bluegrass music 47, 79
  Colorado 788
  Kentucky 437
  Tennessee 427
  Virginia 379-80
Blue Hill 309-10
Blue Ridge Pkwy 9, 46-7, 378, 401
blues music 37, 48, 76
  Arkansas 499
  Illinois 573, 577
  Mississippi 466, 467
  Missouri 660
  Tennessee 416, 421
Bluff 880-1
boat travel 41, 1102, 1158, 1160, 13, see also sailing
Bob Marshall Wilderness Complex 806
Boca Raton 519
Bodega Bay 995
Bodie Island 391, 392
Bodie State Historic Park 1012
Bogue Banks 394
Boise 810-12
Boldt Castle 202
books
  activities 135, 140
  arts 87, 88
  culture 65, 69, 75
  environment 126, 128, 129
  film 83
  geography 121
  geology 121
  history 51, 53, 54, 58, 59, 61, 62
  internet resources 80
  Native American 32, 51, 53
  travel 32
Boone 400
Boone, Daniel 435, 439, 440
Boonville 994
Boothbay Harbor 308
border crossings 204, 752, 1157
Borrego Springs 953
Bosque del Apache National Wildlife Refuge 903

Boston 243-59, 245, 248-9, 251
  accommodations 254-5
  attractions 244-52
  bookstores 244
  Cambridge 251-2, 251
  drinking 257-8
  entertainment 257-8
  food 255-7
  internet access 244
  itineraries 246
  medical services 244
  shopping 258
  tourist information 244
  travel to/from 258-9
  travel within 259
  walking tours 31, 252, 252
Boston Harbor Islands 254
Boston Marathon 136, 253
Boston Massacre 243
Boston Tea Party 53, 55, 243, 246
Bothe-Napa Valley State Park 992 bottle trees 466
Boulder (CO) 770-4
Boulder (UT) 882
Boundary Waters Canoe Area Wilderness 648
bourbon 439, 440
Bozeman 801-2
Brandywine Valley (DE) 357
Brandywine Valley (PA) 227
Branson 664-5
Brattleboro 285-7
Breaux Bridge 98, 491
Breckenridge 778
Bretton Woods 294, 300 breweries & beer 29
  Alabama 462
  Alaska 1085, 1091
  Arizona 848, 851, 860, 864
  Boston 257
  California 958, 994, 996, 997, 998, 1005
  Colorado 763, 768, 773, 774, 785, 789
  Florida 537, 538
  Great Lakes 561
  Hawaii 1119
  Illinois 581
  Indiana 596
  Kansas 29, 692
  Louisiana 29, 486
  Maine 295
  Massachusetts 272
  Michigan 615, 619, 620, 622
  Missouri 660
  Nebraska 687, 688
  New Mexico 891, 901
  North Carolina 395, 402
  Oklahoma 699
  Oregon 1053, 1060
  Rhode Island 276
  Texas 714, 728, 729-30, 744
  Utah 873, 879
  Vermont 287, 293, 294
  Washington 1031, 1038, 1043
  West Virginia 380
  Wisconsin 627, 628, 631
  Wyoming 800
Brewster 263-4
Bridgehampton 194
Broken Top 1062
Brookings 1070
Brown County State Park 595
Brown University 275
Brown vs Board of Education National Historic Site 31, 61, 692
Brownsville 734
Brunswick 457-60
Bryce Canyon National Park 883
Bryson City 403
Buena Vista 783
Buffalo 204-6
buffalo 123
Buffalo Bill Ranch State Historical Park 688
Buffalo Gap National Grassland 679
Buffalo National River 498-9
Bug Ranch 746
Bullards Beach State Park 1070
Bunker Hill Monument 247
Burlington 292-4
Burning Man Festival 28, 835 bus travel 1157, 1158, 1160-1
Bush, George HW 63
Bush, George W 63-4, 65, 705
Bush, the 1103
business hours 1136, see also inside front cover
Butano State Park 966

C
C&O Canal National Historic Park 354
Cabazon 950
Cabrillo National Monument 944
Caddo people 705
Cadillac Mountain 142, 311
Cadillac Ranch 15, 746, 14
Cahokia Mounds State Historic Site 590
Cahuilla people 912, 949-50
Caines Head State Recreation Area 1093
Cajun Country 489-92
Caliente 838
California 95, 97, 909-1013, 910-11
Calistoga 992
Calumet 649
Cambridge 251-2, 251
Camden 308-9
Camden Hills State Park 308, 309
Cameron 857
camping 1132-3
Canada 204, 1157
Canaveral National Seashore 533
Cane River Country 492
Cannon Beach 1068-9
canoeing & kayaking 135-6, 1134
  Alaska 1080, 1081, 1082, 1084, 1095-6, 1101
  Arkansas 499
  California 937, 945, 957, 963, 978, 994, 1000
  Florida 522, 524, 526, 530
  Hawaii 1117, 1119, 1124-5, 1127-8
  Illinois 588
  Indiana 596
  Louisiana 487
  Maine 306, 312, 313
  Michigan 621, 623
  Minnesota 647, 648
  Mississippi 467
  Missouri 664
  Nebraska 689
  New Hampshire 298
  New Jersey 210
  Ohio 605
  Oregon 1052
  Pennsylvania 226, 230
  South Carolina 415
  Texas 733
  Vermont 288
  Washington 1027
  Wisconsin 635
canonyeering 107-8, 1135
Canterbury Shaker Village 297
Canton 602
Canyon Country 13
Canyon de Chelly National Monument 858
Canyonlands National Park 880

000 Map pages
000 Photograph pages

Cape Cod 260-7, 261
Cape Cod National Seashore 264
Cape Fear Serpentarium 395
Cape Flattery 1037
Cape Hatteras National Seashore 392
Cape Henlopen State Park 355
Cape Lookout National Seashore 394
Cape May 212, 355
Cape Perpetua 1069
Cape Sebastian State Park 1070
Cape Vincent 202
Capitan 907
Capitol Reef National Park 881
Capone, Al 560, 572
Capulin Volcano National Monument 903 car & truck museums
    California 924, 943-4
    Florida 517
    Indiana 596, 597
    Iowa 671, 672-3
    Michigan 617, 618,
    Nevada 834-5
    South Dakota 682
    Texas 726
car industry 58, 130, 534, 611 car racing 74
    California 929
    Florida 534-5
    Indiana 592
    Michigan 614
    North Carolina 399
    Texas 743
    Virginia 358
car travel 26, 1157, 1158, 1161-5, 1162, see also four-wheel driving, road trips
Caratunk 313
Carhenge 689
Carillon Historical Park 606
Carlsbad 908
Carlsbad Caverns National Park 908
Carmel 961-2
Carrboro 397-9
Carson, Johnny 689
Carson City 836
Carter, Jimmy 448
Carthage 666
Cascade Lakes 1063-4
Cascades 1040
casinos
    Atlantic City 210-11
    Bethlehem 230
    Cherokee 403
    Connecticut 282
    Cripple Creek 770
    Dover 358
    Las Vegas 826-7
    Reno 834
    Vicksburg 468
Cass Scenic Railroad State Park 382
Castillo de San Marcos National Monument 536
Catalina Island 937
Catawba people 390
Cathedral Gorge State Park 838 cathedrals, see churches
Catskills 197
Cave Point Park 634
caving 108-9, 400, 596 cell phones 1146
cemeteries
    Arlington National Cemetery 359
    Granary Burying Ground 246
    Hollywood Cemetery 363
    Key West Cemetery 530
    Lake View Cemetery 600
    Mount Moriah Cemetery 683
    Sleepy Hollow Cemetery 259
    St Louis Cemetery No 1 477
    Westwood Memorial Park 926
Central Park 166-7, 175, 168-9
Chaco Culture National Historic Park 902
Chaco people 902
Chama 902
Chamberlain 678
Chantilly 361
Channel Islands National Park 956
Chapel Hill 397-9
Chapin Mesa 789
Charles Pinckney National Historic Site 411
Charleston 404-11, 406
Charleston Tea Plantation 412
Charlevoix 622
Charlotte 398-400
Charlottesville 373-5
Chase County 694
Chatham 264
Chattanooga 432-3
Cheat Lake 382
cheesemaking 632
Chelsea 160, 178, 182-3
Chena Hot Springs 1101
Chequamegon National Forest 635
Cherokee 403
Cherokee people 70, 388, 654
    North Carolina 389-90
    Oklahoma 702, 703
    South Carolina 403, 404
    Tennesse 415
Cheyenne 791-2
Chicago 11, 559-87, 562, 564-5, 570-1, 573, 11
    accommodations 578-9
    attractions 563-7
    drinking 582-3
    entertainment 583-5
    food 579-82
    internet access 561
    itineraries 560
    medical services 561
    shopping 585-6
    tourist information 563
    travel to/from 586
    travel within 586-7
    walking tours 575-6, 575
Chickasaw people 388, 654, 702
Chief Shakes Island 1079 children, travel with 1136-7
    accommodation 1136-7
    Anchorage 1089-90
    Atlanta 448
    Baltimore 344
    Boston 253
    Charleston 407
    Chicago 576
    Denver 763 discounts 26
    food 26, 101, 1136
    Hawaii 1111-12
    Houston 726
    internet resources 1137
    Las Vegas 828
    Los Angeles 929
    Memphis 420
    Miami 513
    Minneapolis 640
    New Orleans 480
    New York City 176
    Phoenix 843
    Pittsburgh 233
    planning 26
    Portland (OR) 1052
    Salt Lake City 871
    San Francisco 980
    Santa Fe 894
    Seattle 1027-8
    St Paul 644
    transportation 1137
    Washington, DC 330-1
Childs Glacier 1097
Chimney Rock Park 401
Chinati Hot Springs 749

- Chincoteague 373
- Chinese people 57, 157, 219-20, 918, 975
- Chinook people 1015
- Chippewa National Forest Area 650
- Chippewa people 70
- Chiricahua National Monument 865
- Chisholm 649
- Choctaw people 70, 388, 654, 702
- Christ of the Deep 524
- Christ of the Ozarks 498
- Chumash people 912
- churches
  - 16th St Baptist Church 460
  - Byzantine Fresco Chapel Museum 726
  - Cathedral Basilica of Saint Louis 660
  - Cathedral of Our Lady of the Angels 920
  - Cathedral of St John the Divine 167
  - Cathedral of St Paul 643
  - Daytona Beach Drive-In Church 535
  - Ebenezer Baptist Church 447
  - Full Gospel Tabernacle Church 419
  - Grace Cathedral 976
  - Kawaiaha'o Church 1111
  - Old First Church 287
  - Old North Church 247
  - San Francisco de Asís Church 899-900
  - St Augustine's Church 477
  - St John's Episcopal Church 363
  - St Michael's Cathedral 1080
  - Tabernacle 869
  - Thorncrown Chapel 498
  - Trinity Church 247
  - Washington National Cathedral 330
- Churchill Downs 436
- Cimarron 903
- Cimarron Canyon State Park 903
- Cincinnati 606-11, 608
- Cinco de Mayo 1140
- City Island 174
- City Lights Bookstore 967, 968
- City of Rocks State Park 905
- Civil Rights movement 62, 388
  - Alabama 459-60, 462, 463
  - Georgia 447, 454-5
  - museums 417, 460, 462
  - North Carolina 390
  - Tennessee 417
  - Kansas 693
- Civil War, the 57, 58, 388
  - Alabama 459
  - Delware 355
  - Georgia 442
  - Illinois 588
  - Kansas 690
  - Maryland 339, 353-4
  - Mississippi 468
  - North Carolina 390, 397
  - Pennsylvania 219, 229
  - South Carolina 404, 405, 407-8, 411
  - Tennessee 416, 423, 435
  - Texas 705
  - Washington, DC 316
  - Virginia 359, 361, 363, 367, 375
- Claremore 702
- Clarksdale 466-7
- Clayton 202
- Clear Lake 731
- Cleveland 598-602, 599
- Cliff Walk 277
- Clifty Falls State Park 596
- climate 25, 1138
- climate change 128-30, 675, 1153
- Clingmans Dome 434
- Clinton, Bill 63, 329, 494, 496
- Cloud Gate 563
- Cloudcroft 906
- Clyde 602
- Coast Guard Beach 31, 264
- Cocoa Beach 534
- Coconino National Forest 849, 850
- Cody 792-3
- Coeur d'Alene 816
- coffee farms 1120
- Cold Mountain 403
- Cold War 62-3, 87, 384, 678, 865
- Coloma 1001
- Colonial Michilimackinac 622
- Colonial Williamsburg 368
- Colorado 754-90, 756-7, 779
- Colorado Springs 767-9
- Columbia 414-16, 1001
- Columbia Glacier 1096
- Columbia River Gorge 1060
- Columbia River Hwy 9, 1061, 9
- Columbia University 167
- Columbus (IN) 594-5
- Columbus (OH) 604-5
- Columbus, Christopher 51, 53
- Conch Republic 28, 530
- Concord 259, 296
- condors 125
- Coney Island 173
- Congaree National Park 415
- Connecticut 238-43, 279-84, 240-1
- consulates 1140
- Conway Scenic Railroad 297
- Cook, James 1105
- cooking courses 102, 197, 480, 490, 894, 992
- Cooperstown 200
- Coral Castle 15, 522
- Corbin 440
- Cordova 1097
- Corn Palace 678
- Cornucopia 636
- Corolla 391, 392
- Corpus Christi 733
- Cosmosphere & Space Center 693
- costs 25-6, 99, 1144, see also inside front cover
- cougars 123
- country music 77, 426, 428
- Coupeville 1037-8
- courses
  - adventure 132
  - cooking 102, 197, 480, 490, 894, 992
- covered bridges 285, 288
- Covington 486, 607
- cowboys 748, 837
- coyotes 123
- crabs 351
- cranes 688, 733, 903
- Crater Lake National Park 1064
- Crater of Diamonds State Park 496
- Craters of the Moon National Monument 814
- Crawford Notch State Park 300
- Crayola Factory 227
- Crazy Horse 684, 804
- Creation Museum 439
- credit cards 1144
- Creek people 654, 702
- Crescent City 998
- Crested Butte 783
- crime 1139
- Cripple Creek 770
- Crisfield 352
- Crockett, Davy 722
- Crooked Road 379-80
- Crystal Coast 394-5
- Cuba (NM) 899
- Cuban Americans 509, 515, 539-40
- culture 65-92

000 Map pages
000 Photograph pages

Cumberland 354
Cumberland Falls State Resort Park 440
Cumberland Island National Seashore 31, 458
Currituck Heritage Park 392
Custer, Lieutenant Colonel George 677, 703, 804
Custer State Park 684-5
customs 67, 100, 101
customs regulations 1137 cycling 109, 132-3, 1134-5, 1159-60, 1165, 109, see also mountain biking
  Alaska 1099
  Arkansas 494
  Boston 246
  California 928, 957, 962, 978, 994, 995
  Chicago 574-5
  Colorado 770-1, 780-1
  Florida 521, 542, 544
  Georgia 452, 454
  Illinois 574-5
  Indiana 595
  Los Angeles 928
  Louisiana 486-7
  Maine 311
  Massachusetts 246, 262, 263, 266, 268, 269
  Miami 512, 513
  Michigan 620, 621, 623
  Minnesota 640
  Mississippi 471
  Missouri 660, 664
  New York City 175
  Oregon 1051-2, 1058
  Pennsylvania 228
  Philadelphia 220
  Pittsburgh 232
  San Francisco 978
  South Carolina 408
  St Louis 660
  Texas 712-13
  Vermont 292
  Virginia 379
  Washington 1027, 1039
  Washington, DC 330
  West Virginia 382
  Wisconsin 627, 629, 631, 633, 635
  Wyoming 796

D
Dahlonega 452
Dallas 734-41, 736, 738
dance 89-90, 577
Daniel Boone National Forest 440
Dartmouth College 301
Darwin 15, 646
Dauphin Island 463
Davis Mountains State Park 750
Dayton 606
Daytona Beach 534-6
Dayton Aviation Heritage National Historical Park 606
De Leon Springs State Recreation Area 550
De Smet 677
Del Norte Coast Redwoods State Park 998
Dead Horse Point State Park 31, 879-80
Deadwood 682-3
Dean, James 594
Dearborn 617
Death Valley National Park 954-6
Deception Pass State Park 1037
Declaration of Independence 53, 55, 327, 349
Deep Creek Lake 354
Delaware 315-17, 354-8, 318-19
Delaware Water Gap National Recreation Area 208
Delmarva 354
Denali 1098-103
Denali National Park 1099-1100, 109
Denver 760-6, 762
Des Moines 670
Desolation Peak 1040
Detroit 611-17, 613
Devil's Postpile National Monument 1012
Devil's Tower National Monument 801
Devils Lake 676
Dewey Beach 356
Dickinson, Emily 80, 273
Dinosaur National Monument 877 disabilities, travelers with 1147-8
Disneyland (CA) 938 distilleries 433, 440, 966 diving & snorkeling 137-40
  California 937, 945, 963
  Florida 524, 525, 527, 528, 552, 554
  Hawaii 1117, 1119
  North Carolina 393
DL Bliss State Park 1004
Dodge City 694-5
dogs 767
dogsledding 132, 649
Dollywood 434
Donner Memorial State Park 1005
Door County 634
Dosewallips State Park 1035
Douglas 620
Douglass, Frederick 62, 246, 329-30
Dover 358
Dr Evermor's Sculpture Park 632
Dred Scott 658
drinks 96-8, see also breweries & beer, distilleries, wineries
  bourbon 439, 440
  Coca-Cola 446
  coffee 1028
  courses 480 festivals 98, 439, 631, 763, 1053, 1069
  itineraries 42
  museums 440, 446
  root beer 650
driver's licenses 1163 driving 26, 1157, 1158, 1161-5, see also four-wheel driving, road trips
Dr Seuss 272
Dry Tortugas National Park 531, 112
DT Fleming Beach Park 31, 1123
Dubuque 672
Duck 391
Duke University 397
Duluth 646-7
Dunsmuir 1002
Durango 784-6
Durham 397
Duwamish people 1021

E
eagles 124
  Alaska 1084, 1085, 1094
  California 1003
  Minnestoa 646
  Vermont 289
East Chicago (IN) 597
East Haddam 283
East Hampton 194-5
Easton 227
Ebey's Landing National Historical Reserve 1037
Echo Lake State Park 298 economy 64, 67-8
Edgartown 270-1
Edison, Thomas 544, 602
Edisto Beach State Park 412
Edisto Island 412
Edward Ball Wakulla Springs State Park 552

Effigy Mounds National Monument 673
El Capitan 1006
El Morro National Monument 892
El Paso 751-2
El Pueblo de Los Angeles 918
Eldon 671
Eldorado Canyon State Park 771
electricity 1132
Elephant Rocks State Park 664 elephant seals 956, 960, 966
Elko 837
Ellensburg 1044-5
Elsah 590
Ely 648
embassies 1140
Emerald Bay State Park 1004
Emerson, Ralph Waldo 80, 259
Empire Mine State Historic Park 1000
Empire State Building 161
Enchanted Hwy 676
Enchanted Rock State Natural Area 718 energy issues 129
Enterprise 1067
environment 105-30
environmental issues 27, 126-30, 247, 260, 600, see also sustainable travel
Erie 237
Erie Lakeshore 602-3
Escalante 882
Essex 283
Estes Park 775-6
ethnicity 69-70
etiquette 67, 100, 101
Eugene 1059
Eunice 492
Eureka 837, 997-8
Eureka Springs 498
Evanston 587
Evansville 596
events, see festivals & events
Everglades, the 519-22, 520
Everglades City 523-4
Everglades National Park 520-2, 118 exchange rates, see inside front cover
Exit Glacier 1094

F

Fairbanks 1101-3
Fairfield 673
Fairmount 594
Fairmount Park 220-1
Fallingwater 236
Fallon 837
Falls of the Ohio State Park 436, 596
Falmouth 262
Faneuil Hall 246
Fargo 674
farmers markets
  California 924, 959
  Hawaii 1121
  Massachusetts 255
  Missouri 661
  New Jersey 208,
  New York 160
  Washington 1034
Farmington 902
Faulkner, William 81, 465, 479
Fayetteville 383-4
Fenway Park 73, 258
Fenwick Island 357
Fernandina Beach 538 festivals & events 28, 1140, see also arts festivals, film festivals, food festivals, gay & lesbian festivals, literary festivals, music festivals, rodeos, sports events African American 448, 1140
  aliens 907, 14
  Atlanta 448
  Austin 713
  Baltimore 344-5
  beer 763, 1053
  Boston 253
  Charleston 410
  Chicago 577
  Cincinnati 609
  Denver 763
  Des Moines 670
  Detroit 614
  Hawaii 1112
  Key West 530
  Los Angeles 929
  Madison (WI) 631
  Miami 513
  Milwaukee 629
  Minneapolis 640
  Monterey 963
  Native American 28, 70, 413, 697
  New Orleans 481
  Newport 277
  New York City 176
  Philadelphia 221
  Pittsburgh 234
  Portland (OR) 1053
  Rockford 587
  San Francisco 980
  Seattle 1028
  St Paul 28, 644
  St Louis 660
  Washington, DC 331
Fiesta San Antonio 28, 723
film 82-3
  Academy Awards 922
  books 83
  culture 66 dance 90
  food 94
  gay & lesbian 513 genres 84
  history 54, 60, 62, 63
  internet resources 82, 83
  locations 31
  music 48, 76
  sports 74
  studios 923, 924
film festivals 82
  California 980
  Colorado 788
  Florida 513
  New York 176, 177
  Oregon 1053
  Utah 874
Finger Lakes Region 198-9
Fire Island National Seashore 31, 193-4 fish 123-4, 1082, 1083 fishing 141-2
  Alabama 462
  Florida 525
  Idaho 813-14
  Oregon 1070
  Wyoming 798, 803, 805
Fitzgerald, F Scott 81, 462, 643
Flagler, Henry 501, 518, 519, 523, 536
Flagstaff 847-9
Flaming Gorge National Recreation Area 877
Flathead Lake 806
Flattop Mountain 1089
Florence 462
Florida 500-54, 502-3
Florida City 522-3
Florida Keys 523-32
Florida National Scenic Trail 523
Floyd 379-80
Flume Gorge 299
folk music 77, 79, 277
Folly Beach County Park 411
Fontainebleau State Park 486

000 Map pages
000 Photograph pages

food 30, 93-104, 1141, see also farmers markets bagels 101
  barbecue 95, 667, 668, 718
  books 93
  buffalo wings 205-6
  Cajun 95
  cheesemaking 632
  children 26, 101, 1136
  chili 95, 610, 748, 904 cooking courses 102, 197, 480, 490, 894
  crabs 351
  Creole 95
  Cuban 515
  customs 100, 101
  fast food 100, 440
  films 94
  food carts 1054
  fried chicken 692
  glossary 102-4, 269
  Hawaii 96, 1115
  internet resources 93, 99, 102
  itineraries 37, 390
  lobster 94, 98, 263, 304, 309
  muktuk 1103
  museums 275, 512
  organic 96, 813
  oysters 264, 410, 491 pizza 580
  restaurants 99
  Rocky Mountain oysters 763 seafood 94, 96
  Slow Food movement 93
  Texas 714
  tipping 99, 1144
  tours 408, 577, 588, 621, 1028
  vegetarian & vegan 100 food festivals 98
  California 963
  Colorado 763
  Hawaii 1112
  Illinois 577
  Louisiana 491
  Maine 309
  Michigan 622
  Missouri 667
  New York 176
  Oregon 1069
  South Carolina 410
  Texas 748
  Wisconsin 631
football 74, 602
Ford, Henry 544, 611, 617
Forest Park 658
Forks, the 313
Fort Abraham Lincoln State Park 674
Fort Adams State Park 277
Fort Bragg 996
Fort Buford 676
Fort Clinch State Park 538
Fort Davis 749-50
Fort Davis National Historic Site 750
Fort Holme 623
Fort Jefferson 531
Fort Larned National Historic Site 694
Fort Lauderdale 517-18
Fort Leaton State Historic Site 748
Fort Mackinac 623
Fort Macon State Park 395
Fort McHenry National Monument & Historic Shrine 343-4
Fort Myers 544
Fort Pickens 554
Fort Point 976
Fort Raleigh National Historic Site 392
Fort Robinson State Park 689
Fort Ross State Historic Park 995
Fort Sill 700
Fort Snelling 645
Fort Stevens State Park 1068
Fort Sumter 407
Fort Union Trading Post 676
Fort Williams Park 306
Fort Worden State Park 1036
Fort Worth 741-4
Fort Zachary Taylor 528
Fountain of Youth 536
Four Corners Navajo Tribal Park 858
Fourth of July 65, 253, 331, 1140 four-wheel driving 393, 786, 850
Framboise Island 678
Francis Marion National Forest 415
Franconia Notch State Park 299-300
Frankfort 439, 440
Franklin 431
Franklin, Benjamin 215, 219
Franklin D Roosevelt Library & Museum 197
Franklin Mountains State Park 751
Frederick 353
Frederick Douglass National Historic Site 329
Fredericksburg (TX) 718-19
Fredericksburg (VA) 361-2
Freedom Trail 31, 252-3, 252
Freeport 307
Front Royal 376
Frost, Robert 287, 300
Fruit & Spice Park 512

G

Galax 380
Galena (IL) 587-8
Galena (KS) 694
Gallatin Valley 803 galleries, see museums & art galleries
Gallup 892
Galveston 731-2
Galveston Island State Park 732 gangsters 560, 572
Garberville 997
Garden of the Gods 767
Gary 597
Gates of the Arctic National Park 1103
Gatlinburg 434-5
gay & lesbian travelers 1141
  Albuquerque 889
  Atlanta 448
  Austin 716
  Baltimore 347
  beaches 355-6, 509, 717
  Boston 257
  Chicago 578
  Dallas 740
  films 513
  Florida 528
  Houston 730
  internet resources 1141
  itineraries 43
  Las Vegas 832
  Los Angeles 934
  Minneapolis 641
  Northampton 272
  Portland (OR) 1056
  Provincetown 265
  San Francisco 977, 986
  Seattle 1032
  St Louis 663
  Utah 867
  Waikiki 1116
  Washington, DC 335
gay & lesbian festivals 28, 1140
  California 980, 1140
  Florida 513
  Georgia 448
  Louisiana 481
  New York 177
  Oregon 1053
geography 121-2 geology 121-2
George Parks Hwy 1100
Georgetown 414
Georgetown University 329
George Washington National Forest 377

Georgia 385-9, 441-59, 386-7
Geronimo 700
Getty Center 926
Gettysburg 31, 229
Giant Forest 1010
giardiasis 1169
Gila Cliff Dwellings National Monument 905
Ginsberg, Allen 81, 967, 975
Girdwood 1093
Glacier Bay National Park & Preserve 1083-4
Glacier National Park 808-10, 807, 116
Glacier Point 1007
Glen Canyon National Recreation Area 857
global financial crisis 64, 68, 611
Goat Rock State Beach 995
Gold Beach 1070
Gold Country 1000-2
Golden Gate Bridge 978, 10
Golden Gate Park 977-8
Golden Isles 457-60
Golden Sands Beach 31, 1103
golf 412
Gone with the Wind 446
Gore, Al 129
Governor's Island 155
Graceland 417
Grafton Notch State Park 313
Grand Canyon National Park 851-6, 852, 105
Grand Central Station 161, 105
Grand Circle 47
Grand Coulee Dam 1042
Grand Forks 676
Grand Island 625
Grand Lake 776-7
Grand Marais 648
Grand Portage National Monument 648
Grand Rapids 619
Grand Staircase-Escalante National Monument 882
Grand Teton National Park 798-9, 795, 13, 113
Grandeur Peak 871
Grass Valley 1000
Grauman's Chinese Theatre 921-2
Grayton Beach State Recreation Area 553

000 Map pages
000 Photograph pages

Great Barrington 273
Great Basin National Park 837, 115
Great Depression 60-1
Great Falls National Park 359
Great Lakes 13, 555-650, 556-7
Great Plains 651-703, 652-3
Great Platte River Road Archway Monument 688
Great River Rd 9, 48-9, 588, 633, 673
Great Salt Lake 873
Great Sand Dunes National Park 784
Great Smoky Mountains National Park 402-3, 434
Green, Al 419
Green Bay 634
Green Country 702-3
Green River 877-8
Greenbrier Valley 384
Greenport 195
Greenville 467
Greenwood 467-8 gridiron 74, 602
Griffith Observatory 923
Ground Zero 156
Gruene 717-18
Guadalupe 958
Guadalupe Mountains National Park 753
Gualala Point Regional Park 995-6
Gulf Coast 470-2
Gulf Islands National Seashore (FL) 554
Gulf Islands National Seashore Park (MS) 471
Gullah people 28, 408, 412, 413
Gundlach-Bundschu 993
guns 66, 699
Gustavus 1084
Guthrie 699-700

H
Haines 1084-5
Haitian people 511
Halawa Valley 1129
Haleakalā National Park 1127
Hale'iwa 1118
Half Dome 1008
Half Moon Bay State Beach 966
Hamakua Coast 1121
Hampshire College 273
Hampton 371-2
Hampton Roads 370
Hamptons, the 194-5
Hana 1126-7
Hanalei 1128
Hanapepe 1129
Hanauma Bay Nature Preserve 1117
Hancock Shaker Village 273-4 hang-gliding 945
Hannibal 664
Hanover (PA) 230
Hanover (VT) 301
Harbor Country 619-20
Harding Icefield 1094
Harmonie State Park 596
Harmony 646
Harney Peak 685
Harpers Ferry 381
Harriman State Park 196
Harrison Bay State Park 433
Hartford 283-4
Harvard University 251
Hatcher Pass 1093
Hatteras Island 391
Havasu Canyon 856
Havasupai Indian Reservation 856
Hawaii 13, 96, 1104-30, 1106-7, 12
Hawai'i (the Big Island) 1118-23, 1107
Hawai'i Volcanoes National Park 1122-3, 107
Hawks Nest State Park 383
Hayden Valley, 797
Hays 693-4
Healdsburg 994
health 1168-71
Hearst Castle 960
Heber City 876
Helen 451
Helena 499, 804-5
heli-skiing 790
Hells Canyon National Recreation Area (ID) 815-16
Hells Canyon National Recreation Area (OR) 1067
Hemingway, Ernest 81, 528, 530, 587, 622, 812
Henry Cowell Redwoods State Park 965
Hershey 229
Hetch Hetchy 1008
Hibbing 649
High Country 400
High Point State Park 208
Highlands 209
hiking 106-7, 133-4, 1135, see also walking tours
  Alaska 1081, 1082, 1084, 1087, 1089, 1093-4, 1096, 1098, 1099
  Arizona 843, 847, 853, 855

  Arkansas 497
  Appalachian Trail 134, 135, 288, 314, 377, 403
  California 928, 952, 955, 962, 996, 997, 1002, 1007, 1008
  Chilkoot Trail 1087
  Colorado 767, 770-1, 774-5, 780, 782, 788
  Florida 523, 542
  Grand Canyon 853, 855
  Grand Teton National Park 798
  Hawaii 1111, 1122, 1128, 1129
  Idaho 815
  Indiana 592, 597
  Maine 311, 313, 314
  Massachusetts 277
  Michigan 621, 625
  Minnesota 649
  Missouri 664
  Montana 805, 808-9
  New Mexico 893, 902
  New York 198
  North Carolina 400, 403
  North Dakota 675
  Ohio 605
  Oregon 1051-2, 1061, 1066, 1067, 1070
  safety 1139
  South Carolina 415
  South Dakota 678, 681, 685
  Tennessee 434
  Texas 746-7, 753
  Utah 884
  Vermont 288, 291, 300-1
  Virginia 376, 377
  Washington 1027, 1036, 1040, 1043-4
  Washington, DC 329, 330
  West Virginia 382
  Wyoming 796, 798
Hill Annex Mine State Park 649
Hill City 683
Hill Country 13, 717-20
Hillsboro 694
Hillsborough 398
Hilo 1121-2
Hilton Head Island 412
hip-hop music 78-9
Hispanic people 68, 71
Historic Triangle 31, 367-70 history 51-64, see also African Americans, Civil Rights movement, Civil War, Lewis & Clark, Native American history, Revolutionary War, slavery, Trail of Tears books 51, 53, 54, 58, 59, 61, 62
  Cold War 62-3, 87, 384, 678, 865
  European exploration & settlement 51-5, 144, 213, 239, 316, 388, 392, 501 films 54, 60, 62, 63
  global financial crisis 64, 68, 611
  Great Depression 60-1
  Hurricane Katrina 63, 64, 388, 471-2, 476
  internet resources 55, 56, 64
  Iraq War 64
  Korean War 62, 326
  New Deal 60, 61, 86
  September 11 63-4, 145, 156
  Spanish–American War 58, 60
  Vietnam War 61, 326
  WWI 60
  WWII 60, 61, 326, 379, 478
hitchhiking 1145, 1165
Hither Hills State Park 195
HIV/AIDS 1169
HL Hunley 411
Hoboken 206
Hocking Hills State Park 605
Hohokam people 820, 838
Hoh River Rainforest 1035
holidays 1141
Hollywood 921-3, 930, 931-2, 922
Homer 1094-5
Homestead 522-3
Honolulu 1109-17, 1110, 1112
Hood River 1060
Hoonah 1082
Hoover Dam 833
Hope 496
Hopewell Culture National Historical Park 606
Hopi Nation 16, 820, 858 horse racing 438 horseback riding 108, 142, 538, 719, 748, 993, 13
Hot Springs (SC) 403
Hot Springs (AR) 495-6
Hot Springs (SD) 685
hot springs
  Alaska 1101
  Arkansas 496
  California 953, 978, 992
  Colorado 777, 783, 786
  Idaho 814
  Montana 801, 803
  Nevada 837
  New Mexico 899, 903
  New York 201
  Oregon 1059, 1066
  Texas 747, 749
  Washington 1035
Hot Springs National Park 496
House on the Rock 633
Houston 725-31, 727, 728
Hovenweep National Monument 880
Hubbell Trading Post National Historic Site 858
Hudson Valley 196-7
Hueco Tanks State Historic Site 752-3
Humboldt Redwoods State Park 997
Hunting Island State Park 412
Huntington Beach 939
Huntington Library 928
Huntsville 461
Hurricane Katrina 63, 64, 388, 471-2, 476
Hutchison 693
Hyannis 262-3
Hyde Park 574

I

'Iao Valley State Park 1126
ice skating 575, 659, 1008
Ichetucknee Springs State Park 550
Idaho 754-60, 810-16, 756-7
Idaho City 814-15
Illinois 555-90, 556-7
immigration 57, 58-9, 69, 145, 220, 863, 1152-3, see also Chinese people, Cuban Americans, Japanese people
Independence 668-9
Independence Day 65, 253, 331, 1140
Independence National Historic Park 214
Indiana 555-9, 591-7, 556-7
Indiana Dunes State Park 597
Indian Bayou 491
Indian Canyons 949-50
Indian Grinding Rock State Historic Park 1001
Indian Key Historic State Park 525
Indian Springs 992
Indianapolis 591-4
Indianola 467
in-line skating 175, 512, 575, 928
Institute of Contemporary Art 247
insurance 1141-2, 1163, 1168
internet access 1142
internet resources 32
  activities 131, 133, 1134, 1135, 1136
  airline tickets 1155 internet resources continued

  arts 85, 88
  blogs 72, 89
  books 80
  children, travel with 1137
  culture 67
  disabilities, travel with 1148
  environment 122, 128, 130
  films 82, 83
  food 93, 99, 102
  gay & lesbian travelers 1141
  health 1168-9
  history 55, 56, 64
  museums & art galleries 86, 88
  music 77, 78
  Native Americans 47, 48, 70 news 72
  road trips 44 sustainable travel 27
  TV 85
  theater 89
  wildlife 122, 123, 124
  wineries 97
'Iolani Palace 1111
Iowa 651-5, 669-73, 652-3
Iowa City 671-2
Iowa State Fair 670
Iraq War 64
Iron Range District 649
Iroquoi people 144
Islamorada 525-6
Island Beach State Park 210
Isle of Palms 411
Isle Royale National Park 625
Itasca State Park 650
Ithaca 198-9
itineraries 7, 33-43, see also road trips
  Alaska 41, 1077
  boat 41
  Boston 246
  California 113-4, 913
  Chicago 560
  cities 10
  East Coast 33, 112
  Florida 504
  food & drink 37, 42, 47, 390
  gay & lesbian travelers 43
  Great Lakes 558
  Great Plains 112-3, 656
  Hawaii 1108
  islands 43
  kitschy sites 14, 42
  Los Angeles 915
  Miami 507
  music 37
  Nashville 427
  Native America 16, 38
  national parks 112-14
  New England 39, 242
  New York, New Jersey & Pennsylvania 148
  Pacific Northwest 113-4, 1018
  Rocky Mountains 112-3, 759
  San Francisco 971
  skiing 759
  South, the 390
  Southwest 38, 113, 822
  Texas 708
  Washington, DC 321
  West Coast 34
  outdoors 12

J
Jack Daniel's Distillery 433
Jack London Historic State Park 993
Jackson (CA) 1001
Jackson (MS) 468-70
Jackson (WY) 799-800
Jacksonville 537-8, 1065
Jalama Beach County Park 958
James, Jesse 666, 669
James River Plantations 370
Jamestown 52, 53, 54, 316, 358-9, 369
Japanese people 921, 967, 1013
jazz music 48, 76-7, 79,
  Alabama 460
  California 963, 980
  Georgia 448
  Illinois 577
  Louisiana 481, 485
  Missouri 665, 667
  New York 188
  Oklahoma 701
  Rhode Island 277
Jean Lafitte National Historic Park & Preserve 473, 487
Jedediah Smith Redwoods State Park 998
Jefferson, Thomas 374
Jefferson Memorial 327, 11
Jefferson National Forest 377
Jekyll Island 458
Jenner 995
Jerome 850-1
Jersey City 206
Jersey Shore 208-10
Jessie M Honeyman State Park 1070
Jewel Cave National Monument 685
Jim Thorpe 230
John Day Fossil Beds National Monument 1066-7
John Deere 672
John Pennekamp Coral Reef State Park 524
Johnson's Shut-Ins State Park 664
Johns Hopkins University 344
Jones Beach 193
Joseph 1067
Joshua Tree National Park 951-2, 114
Julia Pfeiffer Burns State Park 961
Juneau 1081-3

K
Ka'anapali 1123-4
Ka'ena Point, 1118
Kaho'Olawe 1130, 1106
Kahului 1125-6
Kailua 1117
Kailua-Kona 1118-19
Kalaupapa National Historical Park 1129
Kamakou Preserve 1129
Kamas 876
Kanab 883
Kancamagus Hwy 299
Kansas 651-5, 689-95, 652-3
Kansas City 665-8
Karankawa 705
Kartchner Caverns State Park 865
Katy Trail State Park 664
Kaua'i 1127-9, 1106
Kaunakakai 1129
kayaking, see canoeing & kayaking
Kealakekua Bay 1119
Kearney 688
Kelleys Island 603
Kenai 1094
Kenai Fjords National Park 1094
Kenai Peninsula 1093-5
Kennebec River 313
Kennebunkport 304
Kennecott 1097-8
Kennecott's Bingham Canyon Copper Mine 873-4
Kennedy, John F 61, 62, 252, 262, 359, 735
Kennedy Space Center Visitor Complex 533
Kentucky 385-9, 435-41, 386-7
Kerouac, Jack 32, 81, 975, 1040

000 Map pages
000 Photograph pages

Ketchikan 1078-9
Ketchum 812-13
Key Biscayne 512
Key Largo 524-5
Key Underwood Coon Dog Cemetery 462
Key West 527-32, 529
Keystone 684
Kiawah Island 412
Kihei 1124-5
Kill Devil Hills 391
Killington Resort 290
King, Martin Luther 62, 326, 388, 417, 447, 463
King, Stephen 313
Kingman 859
Kings Canyon National Park 1010-11
Kisatchie National Forest 493 kite-boarding 393
kitesurfing 136, 1136
Kitt Peak National Optical Observatory 864
Kittatinny Valley State Park 208
Kitty Hawk 391, 393
Klamath 998
Klondike Gold Rush National Historical Park 31, 1025, 1085
Knife River Indian Villages 676
Knott's Berry Farm 938
Knoxville 433-4
Kodachrome Basin State Park 882
Kodak Theatre 922
Kodiak Island 1098
Koke'e State Park 1129
Korean War 62, 326
Ku Klux Klan 416, 460

L
La Brea Tar Pits 924
La Crosse 633
La Jolla 945
La Purísima Mission State Historic Park 958
Lafayette 490-1
Laguna Beach 939
Lahaina 1123-4
Lajitas 748
Lake Champlain 292
Lake Champlain Islands 293
Lake Chelan State Park 1041
Lake Cushman State Park 1035
Lake Erie 237
Lake Fausse Pointe State Park 491
Lake George 201
Lake Havasu City 859-60
Lake Mead 833
Lake Michigan 619-22
Lake Placid 201
Lake Ponchartrain 486
Lake Powell 857
Lake Quinault 1036
Lake Tahoe 1004-5
Lake Tahoe-Nevada State Park 1005
Lake Travis 717
Lake Waramaug 284
Lake Winnipesaukee 296-7
Lamar Valley 797
Lambertville 226-7
Lana'i 1129-30, 1106
Lancaster 228
Lander 793
Lanesboro 646
Langlade 635
Lansing 619
Laramie 792
Las Cruces 904
Las Vegas (NM) 898
Las Vegas (NV) 11, 822-33, 824, 11
  accommodations 828-30
  attractions 826-8
  casinos 826-7
  drinking 831
  entertainment 832
  food 830-1
  internet access 825
  medical services 825
  shopping 833
  tourist information 826
  travel to/from 833
  travel within 833
Lassen Volcanic National Park 1004
Laughlin 834
Laupahoehoe Point 1121
Lava Beds National Monument 1003
Lawrence 692
Lawrenceburg 440
Lawton 700
Lead 683
leaf-peeping 39, 354
Leavenworth 1040-1
legal matters 1142-3
Leggett 997
Legoland 948
Leland 467
lemurs 397
Lenox 273
lesbian travelers, see gay & lesbian travelers
Lewes 355
Lewis & Clark 31, 48, 56, 123, 755, 1015
  Missouri 658, 663
  Nebraska 685
  North Dakota 673, 675
  Oregon 1068
  South Dakota 678
Lewis & Clark National Historical Park 31, 1068
Lewisburg 384
Lexington (KY) 438-9
Lexington (MA) 53, 259
Lexington (VA) 377
Liberty Bell 214
Liberty State Park 207 libraries
  Baker-Berry Library 301
  Boston Public Library 247
  Carter Presidential Library & Museum 448
  Franklin D Roosevelt Library & Museum 197
  Henry Miller Memorial Library 961
  Huntington Library 928
  John F Kennedy Library & Museum 252
  Library of Congress 327
  Lincoln Presidential Library & Museum 589
  Navajo Nation Museum Library & Visitors Center 857
  New York Public Library 164
  Pennsylvania 219
  Provincetown Public Library 266
  Truman Presidential Museum & Library 668
  Woodrow Wilson Presidential Library 377 lighthouses
  California 944, 960, 961, 966, 988, 989, 996, 998
  Cape Cod 264, 265
  Florida 535
  Georgia 458
  Maine 306, 308, 309
  Minnesota 647
  New Jersey 209, 212
  New York 195, 197, 202
  North Carolina 392, 393, 394
  Oregon 1069, 1070
  Virginia 372
Lignumvitae Key Botanical State Park 525
Lihu'e 1127
Lime Kiln Point State Park 1039

- Lincoln (NE) 687-8
- Lincoln (NH) 298-9
- Lincoln (NM) 907
- Lincoln, Abraham 57-8
  - Illinois 588-9
  - Indiana 596
  - Kentucky 439
  - Vermont 288
  - Washington, DC 326, 328
- Lindsborg 692
- Litchfield 284
- Litchfield Hills 284-5
- literature 79-82, see also books
- literary festivals
  - Alabama 462
  - California 963
  - Florida 528
  - Louisiana 481
  - Maryland 343
  - Massachusetts 273, 283
  - Missouri 664
  - New York 196
  - Oregon 1065
- literary museums
  - Alabama 462
  - California 963, 975
  - Florida 528
  - Georgia 446
  - Maryland 343
  - Massachusetts 273, 283
  - Mississippi 465
  - Missouri 664
- Little Bighorn Battlefield 804
- Little Rock 494-5
- Living Desert State Park 908
- llama treks 1035
- lobsters 94, 98, 263, 304, 309
- Lockhart 718
- Loess Hills Scenic Byway 673
- Long Beach (CA) 927-8, 931, 933
- Long Beach (NY) 193
- Long Beach Island 210
- Long Island 193-5
- Long Key State Recreation Area 525
- Long Trail 135, 288, 291
- Longfellow-Evangeline State Historic Site 491
- Longs Peak 775
- Longwood Gardens 227
- Looe Key 527
- Lookout Mountain 432-3
- Loon Mountain 298
- Lopez Island 1039
- Los Alamos 898
- Los Angeles 11, 31, 914-37, 916-17, 919
  - accommodation 929-31
  - attractions 918-29
  - Beverly Hills 924-6, 930-1, 932-3, 925
  - bookstores 915
  - Downtown 918-21, 929-30, 931, 919
  - drinking 933-4
  - entertainment 933-4
  - Exposition Park 921
  - food 931-3
  - Griffith Park 923
  - Hollywood 921-3, 930, 931-2, 922
  - internet access 915
  - itineraries 915
  - Long Beach 927-8, 931, 933
  - Malibu 926
  - medical services 915
  - Mid-City 924, 930, 932-3
  - Pasadena 928
  - Santa Monica 926, 931, 933, 927
  - shopping 935-6
  - tourist information 917-18
  - travel to/from 936
  - travel within 918, 936-7
  - Venice 927, 931, 933, 927
  - West Hollywood 930, 932-3, 934
  - West Hollywood 923-4
  - Westwood 926
- Lost Coast 997
- Louisiana 95, 385-9, 471-93, 386-7
- Louisiana Purchase 54, 56, 471, 493, 654, 677
- Louisville 435-7
- Lovers Key State Recreation Area 544
- Lower Keys 527
- Lucas 693
- Luckenbach 719
- Lucy the Margate Elephant 15, 211, 15
- Ludington State Park 620
- lyme disease 1169

M

- Ma'alaea Bay 1124
- Mackinac Island 623-4
- Mackinaw City 622
- Macon 453
- Mad River Glen 290
- Madeline Island 635
- Madison County 671
- Madison Square Garden 165, 187, 189
- Madison (IN) 595-6
- Madison (WI) 630-2
- magazines 1132
- Magnificent Mile 568
- Maiden Rock 646
- Maine 98, 238-243, 301-14, 303
- Maine Woods National Park 314
- Makah Indian Reservation 1037
- Makena 1125
- Malibu 926
- Mall of America 645
- Mammoth Cave National Park 441
- Mammoth Country 794
- Mammoth Mountain 1012
- Mammoth Site 685
- Manassas 361
- manatees 124, 522, 543
- Manayunk 221
- Manchester (NH) 296
- Manchester (VT) 288-9
- Manhattan Project 61, 887, 898
- Manitou Springs 767
- Manteo 391, 392, 393
- Manzanar National Historic Site 1013
- maps 46, 247, 1143
- Marathon (FL) 526-7
- Marathon (TX) 750
- Mardi Gras (AL) 463
- Mardi Gras (LA) 28, 478, 481, 1140
- Marfa 749
- Marfa Lights Viewing Site 750
- marijuana 755, 997, 1018
- Marin County 988-9
- Marquette 625
- Marsh Rainbow Arch Bridge 694
- Marsh-Billings-Rockefeller National Historical Park 289
- Marshall Gold Discovery State Historic Park 1001
- Martha's Vineyard 268-71
- Maryland 315-17, 338-54, 318-19
- Mashantucket Pequot people 282
- Mass MoCA 274
- Massachusetts 238-74, 240-1
- Massachusetts Institute of Technology 251-2
- Maui 1123-7
- Mauna Kea 1120-1
- Mauna Lani 1120
- Mayflower 52, 265
- Mayflower II 260
- Mayo Clinic 646
- McCarthy 1097-8
- McDonald Observatory 749-50

000 Map pages
000 Photograph pages

measures 1132, see also inside front cover
medical services 1169
Medicine Bow Mountains 801
Medicine Lake 1003
Memphis 416-23, 418-19
Mendenhall Glacier 1082
Mendocino 996
Meramec Caverns 666
Mesa Verde National Park 16, 31, 789-90, 16
Meteor Crater 15, 848
Methow Valley 1041
metric conversions, see inside front cover
Metropolitan Museum of Art 170
Mexican Hat 881
Mexico 912, 939, 1158
Miami 505-17, 506, 508, 510
  accommodations 513-14
  attractions 507-13
  bookstores 505
  drinking 515-6
  entertainment 515-6
  food 514-15
  internet access 505
  itineraries 507
  medical services 505
  shopping 516
  tourist information 507
  travel to/from 516-17
  travel within 517
  walking tours 512-13, 512
Michigan 555-9, 611-26, 556-7
Middle Sister 1062
Middleburg 362
Middlebury 290
Milan 602
Milford 230
Millinocket 314
Milwaukee 627-30
Minneapolis 636-43, 638-9
Minnesota 555-9, 636-50, 556-7
Minnewaska State Park Preserve 196
Minot 676
Minuteman Missile National Historic Site 678-9
Minute Man National Historic Park 259
Mission Basilica San Diego de Alcalá 944
Mission Bay 944-5
Mission Beach 944
Mission Dolores 976
Mission San Juan Capistrano 31, 939
Mission San Luis 551
Mission Santa Barbara 956
Mission San Xavier del Bac 865 missions 751, 912, see also individual missions
Mississippi 385-9, 464-71, 386-7
Mississippi Delta 465-8
Mississippi Palisades State Park 588
Mississippi River 420, 471
Missoula 31, 805-6
Missouri 651-69, 652-3
Misty Fjords National Monument 1079
Mitchell 678
Miwok people 912, 1001
Moab 878-9
Mobile 463 mobile phones 1146
Modoc National Forest 1003
Modoc people 912
Mogollon people 820
Mohonk Mountain House 196
Mojave National Preserve 953-4
Mojave people 912
Mokelumne Hill 1001
Moloka'i 1129, 1106
Moloka'i Forest Reserve 1129
money 25-6, 1139-40, 1143-4, see also inside front cover
Monhegan Island 308
Monmouth County 209
Mono Lake 1012
Monongahela National Forest 382
Montana 754-60, 800-10, 756-7
Montaña de Oro State Park 960
Montauk 195
Monterey 962-4
Monterey State Historic Park 962
Montezuma Castle 898
Montgomery 462-3
Monticello 373-4
Montpelier 290-1
Monument Lake 523
Monument Rocks 692
Monument Valley 881
Monument Valley Navajo Tribal Park 16, 31, 858-9, 16
Moran State Park 1039
Morehead City 394
Morgantown 382-3
Mormons 866-7, 869-70
Morro Bay State Park 960
Morro Rock 959
motorcycles 628, 682 motorcycle travel 1157, 1158, 1161-5, 1162
motown 614, 616 mound builders 557, 590, 606
Mound City 606
mountain biking 109, 132-3, 134, 1134-5, see also cycling
  Alaska 1079
  Arkansas 498
  California 1005
  Colorado 770-1, 777, 782, 783, 785, 788
  Nevada 837
  Oregon 1051-2
  West Virginia 382
mountain lions 123
Mountain View 497-8 mountaineering 106-7
Mt Adams 607-9, 1044
Mt Anderson 1035
Mt Baker 1040
Mt Baldhead 620
Mt Greylock State Reservation 274
Mt Hood 31, 1061-2
Mt Jefferson 1062
Mt Katahdin 314
Mt LeConte 434
Mt Locke 749
Mt Magazine State Park 497
Mt Mansfield 291
Mt Marathon 1094
Mt McKinley 1098, 1100
Mt Monadnock 133
Mt Pleasant 411
Mt Rainier National Park 1043, 119
Mt Rogers National Recreation Area 379
Mt Rushmore 31, 683-4
Mt Sanitas 770
Mt San Jacinto State Park 949
Mt Shasta 1002
Mt Snow 287
Mt St Helens National Volcanic Monument 1044
Mt Tamalpais State Park 988
Mt Vernon (IA) 672
Mt Vernon (VA) 360
Mt Washington 300-1
Mt Washington Cog Railway 300
Mt Washington Valley 297-301
Mt Whitney 1013
Muir Woods National Monument 989
muktuk 1103
Mummers Parade 28, 221

Murphys 1001
Muscle Shoals 462
museums & art galleries, see also African American museums, car & truck museums, libraries, literary museums, music museums, Native American museums, sports museums
  Adler Planetarium & Astronomy Museum 567
  Albright-Knox Art Gallery 205
  American Museum of Natural History 167
  Art Institute of Chicago 563
  Baltimore Museum of Art 344
  Birmingham Civil Rights Institute 460
  Bishop Museum 1111
  Buffalo Bill Historical Center 792
  Civil Rights movement 417, 460, 462
  Cosmosphere & Space Center 693
  Creation Museum 439
  Fernbank Museum of Natural History 448
  Field Museum of Natural History 564
  Florence Griswold Museum 283
  Georgia O'Keeffe Museum 893
  Getty Center 926
  Headley-Whitney Museum 438
  Heard Museum Downtown 842
  Higgins Armory Museum 272
  High Desert Museum 1063
  HL Hunley 441
  Institute of Contemporary Art 247
  International Spy Museum 328
  internet resources 86, 88
  Isabella Stewart Gardner Museum 250
  Jewish history 215, 587, 975
  Los Angeles County Museum of Art 924
  Mariners' Museum 371
  Mass MoCA 274
  Metropolitan Museum of Art 170
  medical 577, 592
  MH de Young Fine Arts Museum 978
  Muhammad ali Center 436
  Museo Alameda 722
  Museum & White House of the Confederacy 363

000 Map pages
000 Photograph pages

  Museum of Contemporary Art 920
  Museum of Fine Arts 250
  Museum of Latin American Art 928
  Museum of Modern Art (MoMA)161
  Museum of the North 1101
  National Archives 327
  National Civil Rights Museum 417
  National Constitution Center 215
  National Cowboy & Western Heritage Museum 697
  National Cowgirl Museum 742
  National Museum of Mexican Art 572
  National Museum of the US Air Force 606
  National World War II Museum 478
  New York Historical Society 167
  Ogden Museum of Southern Art 478
  Paley Center for Media 926
  Peabody Essex Museum 260
  Peabody Museum of Archaeology & Ethnology 251
  Philadelphia Museum of Art 219
  Reynolds Center for American Art 328
  Ringling Museum Complex 543
  Salvador Dalí Museum 542
  San Francisco Museum of Modern Art 971
  Sixth Floor Museum 735
  Smithsonian Institution museums 325-6
  Solomon R Guggenheim Museum 170
  Space Center Houston 731
  Stark's Vacuum Museum 1052
  Steven F Udvar-Hazy Center 361
  Trash Museum 284
  Walter Anderson Museum 470-1
  Whitney Museum of American Art 160, 170
  William J Clinton Presidential Center 494 music 75-9, 478, 495, see also bluegrass music, blues music, jazz music country music 77, 428 folk music 77, 79, 277
  films 48, 76
  history 616
  internet resources 77, 78
  juke joints 466
  playlists 47, 48
  punk music 78, 495
  rock & roll music 76, 77-8, 79, 418, 466, 599-600
  soul music 418-19
  studios 418-19, 426-7, 495, 573
  zydeco music 492
music festivals 79
  Arkansas 498, 499
  California 963, 980
  Colorado 788
  Florida 513
  Georgia 428, 448
  Illinois 577
  Louisiana 481
  Michigan 614
  Mississippi 466, 467
  Missouri 660
  New Hampshire 297
  Ohio 609
  Oregon 1065
  Pennsylvania 221, 273
  Rhode Island 277
  Tennessee 421
  Texas 713, 715
  Wisconsin 629
music museums
  Alabama 460, 462
  California 920
  Georgia 453
  Illinois 573
  Kentucky 437
  Louisiana 492
  Michigan 614
  Minnesota 643
  Mississippi 464, 466, 467
  Missouri 667
  Ohio 599-600
  Oklahoma 701
  Tennessee 418-19, 420, 426, 428,
  Texas 747
  Washington 1026
Muskegon 620
Muskogee 702
Myrtle Beach 413-14
Mystery Hole 383
Mystery Spot 965
Mystic 282

N

Na Pali Coast State Park 1128
Nags Head 391-4
Nantahala National Forest 403
Nantucket 267-8
Napa Valley 991-2

- NASA 532-3
- NASCAR 74, 358, 399, 534-5, 743
- Nashville (IN) 595
- Nashville (TN) 11, 423-31, 425
- Natchez 470
- Natchez State Park 470
- Natchez Trace Pkwy 9, 432, 470
- Natchitoches 492-3
- National Air & Space Museum 325
- National Aquarium of Baltimore 342
- National Cherry Blossom Festival 28, 331
- National Civil Rights Museum 417
- National Gallery of Art 325
- National Mall 31, 321-6, 331
- National Military Park 468
- national parks 105-20, 125-6, 110-11
  - Alaska 1083-4, 1094, 1097, 1099-100, 1103, 109
  - Arizona 851-6, 859, 862, 852, 8, 105
  - Arkansas 496
  - California 951-2, 954-6, 998, 1004, 1006-11, 13, 106, 114
  - Colorado 16, 31, 774-5, 784, 789-90, 16
  - Florida 520-2, 531, 112, 118
  - Hawaii 1122-3, 1127, 107
  - Kentucky 441
  - Maine 310-11, 314
  - Michigan 625
  - Minnesota 649-50
  - Montana 808-10, 807, 116
  - Nevada 837, 851-6, 852, 115
  - New Mexico 879, 908
  - North Carolina 402-3
  - North Dakota 675-6
  - Oregon 1064
  - South Carolina 415
  - South Dakota 679, 685
  - Tennessee 434
  - Texas 746, 753
  - Utah 880, 881, 883, 884-5, 120
  - Virginia 359, 375
  - Washington 1034-6, 1041, 1043, 119
  - Wyoming 796, 798-9, 795, 13, 108, 113
- National Radio Astronomy Observatory 382
- National Steinbeck Center 963
- Native Americans 16, see also individual tribes & nations, Trail of Tears
  - arts & crafts 86, 1145
  - books 32, 51, 53
  - culture 70
  - festivals 28, 70, 413, 697
  - internet resources 47, 48, 70
  - itineraries 16, 38
  - Southwest sites 38
  - tours 408
- Native American history 51-3, 388, 557, 654
  - California 912
  - Colorado 789-90
  - Florida 525
  - Montana 804
  - North Dakota 755
  - Oklahoma 697
  - South Carolina 403
  - South Dakota 676
  - Wisconsin 633
- Native American museums 70
  - Arizona 842, 857
  - California 999
  - Colorado 761
  - Connecticut 282
  - Florida 523
  - Indiana 592
  - Kansas 691
  - Maine 311
  - New Mexico 887, 893
  - New York 156
  - North Carolina 403
  - Oklahoma 700, 702-3
  - South Dakota 678, 679
  - Washington 1037, 1042
  - Washington, DC 326
  - Wyoming 792
- Native American Scenic Byway 678
- Natural Arch Scenic Area 440
- Natural Bridge 378
- Natural Bridges National Monument 880
- natural disasters 1139
- Navajo Nation 16, 31, 47, 857-9
- Navajo people 70
- Nebraska 651-5, 685-9, 652-3
- Nevada 817-38, 818-9
- Nevada City (CA) 1000
- New Castle 357-8
- New Deal 60, 61, 86
- New England 94, 238-314, 240-1
- New Hampshire 238-42, 294-301, 240-1
- New Harmony 596
- New Haven 281-2
- New Hope 226-7
- New Jersey 143-5, 206-12, 146-7
- New Mexico 817-21, 885-908, 818-19
- New Orleans 63, 64, 472-86, 474-5, 480
  - accommodations 481-3
  - attractions 476-81, 482
  - drinking 485
  - entertainment 485-6
  - food 483-5
  - internet access 473
  - music 76
  - tourist information 473
  - walking tours 479-80, 480
- New Paltz 196
- New River Gorge National River 383
- New York City 11, 145-92, 150, 10
  - accommodations 177-80
  - attractions 151-76
  - bookstores 149
  - Bronx, the 173
  - Brooklyn 171-3, 180, 184
  - Central Park 166-7, 175, 168-9
  - Chelsea 160, 178, 182-3
  - Chinatown 157-8, 181, 152-3
  - drinking 185-6
  - East Village 158-9, 177-8, 182
  - entertainment 187-90
  - Financial District 151-6
  - Flatiron District 160, 178-9, 182-3
  - food 94, 180-4
  - Gramercy Park 160, 178-9, 182-3
  - Harlem 170-1, 180, 184
  - history 145
  - internet access 149
  - Little Italy 181
  - Lower East Side 177-8, 181
  - Lower Manhattan 151-6, 177, 180, 152-3
  - Meatpacking District 159-60, 178
  - medical services 149-50
  - Midtown Manhattan 160-6, 179, 183
  - money 151
  - Morningside Heights 183
  - NoHo 180-1
  - Queens 173-5
  - shopping 190
  - SoHo 156, 177, 180-1
  - Staten Island 175
  - Times Sq 161, 162-3
  - tourist information 151
  - travel to/from 190-1
  - travel within 191-2
  - Tribeca 156, 177, 180-1
  - Union Sq 160, 178-9, 182-3

New York City continued
  Upper East Side 170, 179-80, 184, 168-9
  Upper West Side 179, 183, 168-9
  Wall Street 155
  Washington Heights 171
  West (Greenwich) Village 159, 182, 152-3
New York City Marathon 175
New York Public Library 164
New York 143-206, 146-7
Newport (KY) 607
Newport (OR) 1069
Newport (RI) 276-9, 278
Newport News 371-2
Newport Seafood & Wine Festival 98
Newport State Park 634 newspapers 72, 1132
Newark 207-8
Newberry National Volcanic Monument 1063
Niagara Falls 203-4
Nickerson State Park 263
Nicodemus 692
Nicolet National Forest 635
Ni'ihau 1130, 1106
Ninilchik 1094
Nixon, Richard 62, 328-9
Nogales 865
Nome 1103
Norfolk (NE) 689
Norfolk (VA) 370-1
North Adams 274
North Avenue Beach 31, 569, 575
North Carolina 385-9, 389-403, 386-7
North Carolina Mountains 400-4
North Cascades National Park 1041
North Charleston 411
North Conway 297
North Dakota 651-5, 673-6, 652-3
North Fork 195
North Manitou Island 621
North Platte 688
North Sister 1062
North Umpqua River 1066
North Woodstock 298-9
Northampton 272-3
Northern Mines 1000-1
nuclear energy 130, 887
Nuevo Progreso 734

000 Map pages
000 Photograph pages

O
O'ahu 31, 1109-18, 1106
Oak Bluffs 269
Oak Mountain State Park 461
Oak Park 587
Oakland 989
Obama, Barack 64, 65, 70-1, 128
  Colorado 755
  Hawaii 1114
  Illinois 574
Obama, Michelle 93
Oberlin 602
obesity 66, 100
Ocean Beach 944, 978
Ocean City 212, 351-3
Ocean County 209
Ocean Grove 209
Ocean Springs (MS) 470
Ocmulgee National Monument 453
Oconee Forest Park 452
Ocracoke Island 391, 393
Ogunquit 302-4
Ohio 555-9, 597-610, 556-7
Ohio River 595-6
oil 129, 130, 705, 1074
Ojo Caliente 899
O'Keeffe, Georgia 893, 899
Okefenokee National Wildlife Refuge 459
Oklahoma 651-5, 695-703, 652-3
Oklahoma City 695-9, 698
Okmulgee 703
Old Faithful 794
Old Lyme 283
Old Man of the Mountain 300
Old Salem 398
Old Town State Historic Park 944
Old Ursuline Convent 477
Olympia 1034
Olympic National Park 1034-6
Olympic Peninsula 13, 1034-7
Omaha 686-7
Opelousas 492
opening hours 1136, see also inside front cover
Orange County 938-9
Orcas Island 1039-40
Oregon 1014-20, 1045-70, 1016-17
Oregon Caves National Monument 1066
Oregon Dunes National Recreation Area 1070
Oregon Shakespeare Festival 1065
Orlando 545-8
Osage people 654
Oscars, the 922
Oswald, Lee Harvey 61, 735
Ouachita National Forest 496
Ouray 786-7
Our Lady of Guadalupe Mission 892
Outer Banks 391-4
Oxford 464-5
Ozark Folk Center State Park 497
Ozark Mountains 497-9
Ozark National Forest 497
Ozark National Scenic Riverways 664
Ozarks 664-5

P
Pacific Coast Hwy 9, 34, 45, 9
Pacific Northwest 96, 1014-70, 1016-17
Pack Creek 1083
Padre Island National Seashore 31, 733
Page 857
Pa'ia 1126
painting 85-8
Paiute people 912
Palin, Sarah 1075, 1100
Palm Beach 518-19
Palm Springs 949-51
Palo Duro Canyon State Park 745
Panama City Beach 552-3
panthers 123
Papahanaumokuakea Marine National Monument 1130
Paradise Valley 803
Park City 874-6
Parks, Rosa 459-60, 462
Parthenon 427
Partington Cove 961
Parton, Dolly 434
Pasadena 928
passports 1152
Patrick's Point State Park 998
Pawleys Island 414
Pea Island National Wildlife Refuge 392
Pearl Harbor 61, 1117
Pelee Island 603
Pelican 1082
Pelican Island 533
Pemaquid Peninsula 309
Peninsula State Park 634
Pennsylvania 143-5, 212-37, 146-7
Pennsylvania Dutch Country 228-9
Pensacola 553-4
Pentagon 360
peregrine falcons 125
Petersburg 367, 589, 1080

Petit Jean State Park 497
Petoskey 622
Petoskey State Park 622
Petrified Forest National Park 859
Petroglyph National Monument 887
Pfeiffer Beach 961
Pfeiffer Big Sur State Park 961
Philadelphia 213-26, 216-17
  accommodations 221-2
  attractions 214-21
  bookstores 213
  drinking 224-5
  entertainment 224-5
  food 222-4
  internet access 213-14
  medical services 214
  tourist information 214
  travel to/from 226
  travel within 226
Phoenicia 198
Phoenix 839-47, 840-1
Phoenix South Mountain Park 843
phone cards 1147
photography 88, 926, 1144-5
Pictured Rocks National Lakeshore 625
Piedmont 373-5
Pierre 678
Piestewa Peak Recreation Area 843
Pigeon Key National Historic District 526
Pilgrims, the 52, 54, 71, 239, 260, 265
Pine Barrens 210
Pine Ridge Indian Reservation 679-80
Piney Woods 732
Pioche 838
Pioneertown 952
pirates 528
Pisgah National Forest 403
Pismo Beach 958-9
Pittsburgh 230-6
Pittsfield 273-4
Plaisance 492
planetariums 511, 567, 923 planning 25-32, 44, 1139-40, 1168, see also itineraries plantations & plantation homes
  Louisiana 487-8, 489, 492
  South Carolina 407, 411, 412
  Tennessee 427-8
plants 125, 496, 719, 1012
Playboy 569
playlists 47, 48
Plimoth Plantation 260
Plymouth 52, 260, 1001
Poconos 229-30
Poe, Edgar Allan 80, 343, 363 poetry 80, 748, 837
Point Arena 996
Point Lobos State Reserve 31, 962
Point Loma 944
Point Pleasant 209
Point Reyes National Seashore 989
Po'ipu 1128
polar bears 123 politics 755
Polson 806 polygamy 866-7
Popoi'a Island 1117
population 68-9
Porcupine Mountains Wilderness State Park 626
Port Angeles 1036-7
Port Aransas 734
Port Townsend 1036
Portage Glacier 1092
Portland (ME) 305-7
Portland (OR) 1046-58, 1048
  accommodations 1053-4
  attractions 1050-2
  bookstores 1047
  drinking 1055-6
  entertainment 1056-7
  food 1054-5
  internet access 1047
  medical services 1047
  shopping 1057
  tourist information 1050
  travel to/from 1057
  travel within 1058
Portsmouth 295
Portsmouth Island 394
postal services 1145
Poughkeepsie 196
Poverty Point State Historic Site 493
Prairie du Chien 633
Prairie du Sac 632
Prescott 851
Presley, Elvis 77, 417, 464
Presque Isle State Park 237
Prince of Wales Island 1079
Prince William Sound 1095-8
Princeton 208
Providence 275-6
Provincetown 265-8
public transportation 1165-6
pueblos 898
Puget Sound 1033-4
pumas 123
punk music 78, 495
puppets 448, 467
Puritans 54, 338
Pu'uhonua O Honaunau National Historical Park 31, 1119
Pyramid Lake 836

Q
Quad Cities 588, 671
Quechee 289-90

R rabies 1169-70
Rachel 838
Racine 632
radio 1132
rafting 135-6, 1134
  Alaska 1099
  Arkansas 498-9
  California 1000
  Colorado 771, 783
  Idaho 814, 815
  Maine 313, 314
  Nevada 834
  New Mexico 894, 900
  New York 202
  North Carolina 400, 403
  Oregon 1066, 1067
  Texas 748
  Utah 877, 878, 880
  Washington, DC 330
  West Virginia 383
  Wisconsin 635
Raleigh 396-7
Rapid City 681-2
raptors 289, 1080
Reconstruction 58, 388
Red Bank 209
Red Cliff 636
Red Earth Native American Cultural Festival 28, 70, 697
Red Fleet State Park 877
Red Rock Canyon 833
Red Wing 645
Redding 1002
Redwood National Park 998, 13
Rehoboth Beach 355-6
religion 71, see also Mormons
Reno 834-6
responsible travel 26-8, 525, 581, 1150-1, 1153, see also GreenDex
Revere, Paul 53, 247, 250
Revolutionary War 53, 55-6
  Georgia 441-2
  Massachusetts 247, 259
  New York 196, 239
  Pennsylvania 221, 227-8

Revolutionary War continued
  Vermont 285
  Virginia 369
  Washington, DC 316
Rhinebeck 197
Rhode Island 234-43, 274-9, 240-1
Rhyolite 955
Richardson Grove State Park 997
Richmond 362-7, 364-5
Ringling 632
Ringling Museum Complex 543
Rio Grande Gorge Bridge 900
Rio Grande Valley 734
River Rd 487-8
river running, see rafting
Riverton 694
road distance chart 1162 road trips 8-9, 28, 44-5, see also itineraries, Route 66
  Arizona 859
  Blue Ridge Pkwy 9, 46-7, 378, 401
  Colorado 767, 787, 1006
  Columbia River Hwy 9, 1061, 9
  East Coast 49
  Great River Rd 9, 48, 588, 633, 673
  Florida 9, 553
  Hawaii 1126
  Idaho 813, 814
  Illinois 588
  internet resources 44
  Iowa 671-2, 672-3, 673
  Maryland 352
  Massachusetts 262
  Minnesota 648
  Mississippi 48
  Montana 804
  Nevada 9, 837, 8
  New Hampshire 299, 300
  New Mexico 894
  New York 198
  North Dakota 676
  Oregon 1068
  Pacific Coast Hwy 9, 34, 45, 9
  South Dakota 678, 682
  Tennessee 9, 432
  Vermont 291, 293
  Utah 876
  Wisconsin 632
  Virginia 362, 373, 376
Roanoke 378-9
Roanoke Island 391, 392
Rochester 646
rock & roll music 76, 77-8, 79, 418, 466, 599-600
rock climbing 107-8, 135, 1135
  Arkansas 497
  California 952 1006, 1008
  Kentucky 440
  Maine 311
  Ohio 605
  Oregon 1062
  Washington, DC 330
  West Virginia 382, 383
  Wyoming 798
Rock Island 588
Rock Island State Park 635
Rocky Mountain National Park 774-5
Rocky Mountains 13, 754-816, 756-7, 13
rodeos
  Arizona 862
  New Mexico 889
  Texas 723, 726, 740, 742
  Wyoming 793
Roger Williams Park 275
Roosevelt, Franklin D 60, 61, 197, 294, 300, 327
Roosevelt, Theodore 160, 193, 205, 533, 673, 675
root beer 650
Rose Parade 929
Ross Lake 1040
Roswell 15, 907-8, 14
Route 66 9, 44-5, 8
  Arizona 859, 860
  California 954
  Illinois 563
  Kansas 694
  Missouri 666
  Oklahoma 696
  Texas 745
Rowan Oak 465
Royal 689
Rugby 676
Ruidoso 906-7
running 175, 575, 1059
Russian River Valley 993-4

S
Sabbathday Lake 313
Sackets Harbor 202
Sacramento 999-1000
Sag Harbor 194
Sagamore Hill 193
Saguaro National Park 862 sailing 135-6, 234, 253, 176, 310, 1134
Salem 259-60, 1058-9
Salida 783
salmon 123-4, 1082, 1083
Salmon's Middle Fork 815
Salmon Ruin & Heritage Park 902
Salt Lake City 867-73, 868
Salt Point State Park 995
Salt Springs Recreation Area 550
Salton Sea 15, 953, 15
Salvador Dalí Museum 542
Salvation Mountain 953
Samuel H Boardman State Park 1070
San Antonio 28, 720-5, 721
San Antonio Missions National Historical Park 722
San Carlos Borroméo de Carmelo Mission 961
San Diego 939-48, 940
  accommodations 945-6
  attractions 941-5
  drinking 947-8
  entertainment 947-8
  food 946-7
  internet access 939
  medical services 941
  tourist information 941
  travel to/from 948
  travel within 948
San Francisco 11, 966-88, 969, 972-3
  accommodations 981-2
  attractions 970-80
  bookstores 968
  drinking 984-5
  entertainment 985-6
  food 982-4
  internet access 968
  itineraries 971
  medical services 968
  shopping 986-7
  tourist information 970
  travel to/from 987
  travel within 987-8
  walking tours 978-80, 979
San Jacinto Monument 729
San Juan Island National Historical Park 1039
San Juan Islands 13, 1038-40
San Luis Obispo 959
San Simeon State Park 960
sandboarding 784
Sandhills 688
Sandia Peak Tramway 887
Sandpoint 816
Sands Point Preserve 193
Sandusky 602

000 Map pages
000 Photograph pages

Sandwich 261-2
Sandy Hook Gateway National Recreation Area 208
Sanibel Islands 544-5
Santa Barbara 956-8
Santa Cruz 964-6
Santa Fe 892-8, 895
Santa Monica 926, 931, 933, 927
Saranac Lake 201
Sarasota 543-4
Saratoga Springs 201
Saugatuck 620
Saugerties 197
Sault Ste Marie 624-5
Sausalito 988
Savannah 453-7, 455
Sawtooth National Recreation Area 813
scams 1139
scenic railways 1167
    Alaska 1078, 1085
    Arizona 849
    California 949, 965, 995, 996
    Colorado 767, 784
    New Hampshire 296, 297, 300
    New Mexico 887, 894, 902
    North Carolina 403
    Oregon 1060
    South Dakota 683
    Texas 742
    Utah 876
scorpions 1170-1
Scotts Bluff National Monument 689
Scottsboro 461
Scotty's Castle 955
scuba diving, see diving & snorkeling sculpture 85-8, 196, 272, 632, 635, 921 Seagrove 398
sea lions 962, 1069 seals 124, 956, 960, 966, 995
Sears Tower 566-7
Seaside 553
Seaside Heights 209
Seattle 11, 1021-33, 1022-3
    accommodations 1028-9
    attractions 1024-8
    bookstores 1021
    drinking 1030-1
    entertainment 1030-1
    food 1029-30
    internet access 1021
    medical services 1021
    shopping 1032
    tourist information 1024
    travel to/from 1032-3
    travel within 1024, 1033
SeaWorld (CA) 944
SeaWorld (FL) 547
Sedona 849-50
Selma 463
Seminole people 388, 523, 654, 702
Seneca Falls 199
Seneca Rocks 382
September 11 63-4, 145, 156
Sequoia National Park 1010-11
sequoias 1012
Serpent Mound 606
Seward 1093-4
Shaker Village at Pleasant Hill 439
Shanghai Tunnels 1050
Shasta Lake 1002
Shawnee National Forest 590
Shawnee people 435
Sheffield 462
Shelbyville 431
Shell Island 552
Shelter Island 195
Shenandoah National Park 375
Shenandoah Valley 375-8
Sherando Lake 378
Sheridan 801
Shiloh National Military Park 423
Shinnecock people 194 shopping 86, 1145, see also individual locations
Show Low 859
Shreveport 493
Sierra Nevada 1004-13
Siesta Key Beach 31, 543
Silver City 904-5
Silver Falls State Park 1059
Silverton 786
Simon Pearce 290
Sinks Canyon State Park 793
Sioux Falls 677
Sioux people 70, 654, 677, 679-80
Sisters 1062-3
Sitka 1080-1
Six Flags Magic Mountain 937-8
Skagway 1085-6
skiing & snowboarding 131-2, 1135-6
    Arizona 847
    California 949, 1003, 1004, 1008, 1012
    Colorado 771, 775, 777, 778, 780-2, 783, 784-5, 788, 790
    Idaho 812
    itineraries 759
    Michigan 626
    Minnestoa 647
    Montana 801, 803, 805
    New Hampshire 297, 298
    New Mexico 888, 893-4, 900, 906
    New York State 198
    Oregon 1061-2, 1063, 1064
    Utah 874
    Vermont 287, 290, 291, 298, 300
    Washington 1040, 1041
    West Virginia 382
    Wisconsin 635
    Wyoming 800
slavery 54, 57-9, 388
    Louisiana 477
    Missiouri 655, 658
    South Carolina 404, 405, 413
    Tennessee 420, 428
    Underground Railroad 31, 252-3, 420, 607, 692
    Virginia 374
    Washington, DC 317
    West Virginia 381
Sleeping Bear Dunes National Lakeshore 620-1
Sleepy Hollow Cemetery 259
Slide Rock State Park 849
Slow Food movement 93
Smith College 272
Smith Island 352
Smithsonian Institution museums 325-6
smokejumping 1042
Smokey Bear Historical State Park 907
Smugglers Notch State Park 291
Snake National Wild & Scenic River 815 snakes 395, 887, 1170
snorkeling, see diving & snorkeling
Snow Canyon State Park 884
Snow Hill 350-1
snowboarding, see skiing & snowboarding
Snowflake 859
Snowshoe Mountain 382
Sock Monkey Festival 587 solar power 130
solo travelers 1145-6
Solvang 958
Sonoma Valley 992-3
Soudan 649
soul music 418-19
South, the 94-5, 385-499, 386-7
South Beach State Park 1069
South Bend 597
South by Southwest 715
South Carolina 385-9, 403-15, 386-7

South Dakota 651-5, 676-85, 652-3
South Manitou Island 621
South Padre Island 734
Southampton 194
Southern Mines 1001-2
Southfork Ranch 735
Southwest 95, 817-908, 818-19
Space Center Houston 731
Space Coast 532-4
Spam Jam 98, 1112
Spanish–American War 58, 60
Spearfish Canyon Scenic Byway 682
Sperry Chalet 810 spiders 1170-1
Spirit Mountain 647
Spokane 1042-3
Spooner Lake 1005
sports 72-4, see also individual sports sports events 73, 74, 136, 1140
  California 929, 980
  Florida 535
  Indiana 595
  Massachsuetts 253
  Nevada 836
  West Virginia 383
  Wisconsin 635
sports museums
  California 964
  Indiana 592, 597
  Kentucky 436, 438
  Maryland 343
  Massachusetts 272
  Missouri 660, 667
  New York 200
  Ohio 602
  Rhode Island 277
  Tennessee 433-4
  Vermont 288
  Virginia 362
  Wisconsin 634
Spring Green 633
Springdale 884
Springfield (IL) 588-9
Springfield (MA) 272, 588-9
St Andrews State Recreation Area 552
St Augustine 536-7
St Charles 663-4
St Croix River 645
St Francisville 489
St George 883-4
St Helena 992
St Helena Island 412
St Ignace 623
St John's College 349
St Joseph 669
St Lawrence River 202
St Louis 656-63, 657, 659
St Martinville 491
St Marys 458
St Michaels 350
St Paul 643-5, 644
St Paul Winter Carnival 28, 644
St Petersburg 541-3
St Simons Island 458
St Valentine's Day Massacre Site 572
Standish-Hickey State Recreation Area 997
Stanley 813-14
Staples Center 921
Statue of Liberty 151, 10
Staunton 377
Steamboat Springs 777-8
Steens Mountain 1067-8
Stehekin 1041
Steinbeck, John 32, 61, 963
Stellwagen Bank National Marine Sanctuary 266
Sterling Hwy 1094
Stillwater 645
Stiltsville 511, 512
Stockbridge 273
Stockholm 646
Stone Mountain Park 451
Stowe 291-2
Strawberry 859
Sturgeon Bay 634
Sturgis 682
Sugarbush Farm 289
Sugarloaf Ridge State Park 993
Sullivan's Island 411
Sun Valley 812-13
Sundance Film Festival 874
Sundial Bridge 1002
Super Bowl 73, 74
surfing 136-7, 1113, 1136, 12
  California 928-9, 945, 964, 978, 995
  Florida 534
  Hawaii 1118, 1128, 12
  Michigan 620
  New York 176
Surprise Valley 1004 sustainable travel 26-8, 126, 525, 581, 1150-1, 1153, see also Greendex
Sutter Creek 1001
swimming 176, 928-9, 997, 1052

T
Tahlequah 703
Tahoe City 1005
Tahoe National Forest 1000
Tahquamenon Falls State Park 624
Tahquitz Canyon 950
Takelma people 1045
Talbot Islands State Parks 539
Taliesin 633
Taliesin West 842
Talkeetna 1100
Tallahassee 551-2
Tallgrass Prairie National Preserve (KS) 694
Tallgrass Prairie Preserve (OK) 702
Tallulah Gorge 451
Tamiami Trail 523
Tampa 539-41
Tanglewood Music Festival 273
Taos 899-902
Taughannock Falls State Park 199
telephone services 1146
Telluride 788-9
Tenakee Springs 1082
Tennessee 385-9, 415-35, 386-7
Terlingua-Study Butte 747
Terrapin 197
Texas 704-53, 706-7
Thanksgiving Day 52, 98, 370
theater 88-9
theme parks & amusement rides
  Coney Island 173
  Disneyland (CA) 938
  Knott's Berry Farm 938
  Legoland 948
  SeaWorld (CA) 944
  SeaWorld (FL) 547
  Six Flags Magic Mountain 937-8
  Universal Studios (CA) 924
  Universal Studios (FL) 547
  Walt Disney World (FL) 501
Theodore Roosevelt Inaugural National Historic Site 205
Theodore Roosevelt National Park 675-6
Thibodaux 491
This is the Place Heritage Park 870-1
Thomas Jefferson Memorial 327, 11
Thoreau, Henry David 80, 259
Thousand Islands Region 202-3
Three Oaks 620
Tijuana 939

000 Map pages
000 Photograph pages

Tilden Regional Park 990
Tilghman Island 350
time 1147
Timpanogos Cave National Monument 876
Tioga Pass 1011
tipping 99, 1144
Tolowa people 912
Tombstone 865
Topeka 692-3 tornadoes 690
Torrey 881-2
Torrey Pines State Reserve 945
Totem Bight State Historical Park 1079 tourist information 1147, see also individual locations tours 1158, 1166, see also walking tours
Trail of Tears 52, 388, 654
  North Carolina 403
  Oklahoma 695, 702-3
  South Carolina 404,
  Tennessee 415
Trail of Tears Country 702-3 train travel 45, 1157-8, 1166-7, see also scenic railways travel to/from USA 1152-8 travel within USA 1158-67, see also individual locations
Traverse City 621-2
Traverse City State Park 621 trekking, see hiking
Trenton 208
Triangle, the 395-8
Trinidad 998
Trinity Alps 1002
Truckee 1005
Truro 265
Truth or Consequences 903-4
Tucson 860-4, 861
Tulsa 700-2
Tumalo State Park 1063
Tunica Falls 489
Tuolumne Meadows 1008
Tupelo 464
Turtle Bay Exploration Park 1002 turtles 124, 522, 733, 734, 1119, 112
Tuscumbia 462
TV 66, 72, 83-5, 1132
  locations & studios 31, 165, 923, 924
Twain, Mark 81, 283, 664
Two Harbors 647
Tybee Island 458

U
UFOs 838, 907
Ukiah 997
Underground Railroad 31, 252-3, 420, 607, 692
Unicoi State Park 451
Union County 590
Universal Studios (CA) 924
Universal Studios (FL) 547
University of California, Los Angeles 926
University of California, Berkeley 989-90
US Holocaust Memorial Museum 325
Utah 817-21, 866-85, 818-19
Ute people 866

V vaccinations 1168
Vail 780-1
Valdez 1096-7
Valentine 689
Valley Forge National Historic Park 227-8
Valley of Fire State Park 834
Van Damme State Park 996
Vanderbilt University 427
Vassar 196
Vedic City 673
vegan travelers 100 vegetarian travelers 100
Venetian Pool 511
Vermont 238-43, 285-94, 240-1, 286
Vernal 876-7
Very Large Array 905
Vicksburg 468-9
video systems 1132, 1144-5
Viernes Culturales 509
Vietnam War 61, 326
Vikingsholm Castle 1004
Vineyard Haven 270
Virginia 315-17, 358-80, 318-19
Virginia (MN) 649
Virginia Beach 372-3
Virginia City 836
Viroqua 633
visas 1148
Vogel State Park 451
volcanoes 1122-3
volunteering 1150-1
Voyageurs National Park 649-50

W
Wabanaki people 302
Wabasha 646
Wabash River 596
Waccamaw people 390
Wadmalaw Island 412
Wai'anapanapa State Park 1126
Waikiki 1109-17, 1113
Wailea 1125
Wailua 1127-8
Wailuku 1125-6
Waimanalo Bay 1117
Waimea 1120, 1129
Waipi'o Valley 1121
Waitsfield 290
Walden Pond 259
walking, see hiking
walking tours
  Boston 31, 252, 252
  Chicago 575-6, 575
  Miami 512-13, 512
  New Orleans 479-80, 480
  San Francisco 979-80, 979
Walk of Fame 922
Wall 15, 679, 15
Walla Walla 1045
Wallace 816
Wallowa Mountains 1067
Walnut Canyon National Monument 847
Walt Disney World (FL) 501, 548-50
Wampanoag people 52
Warhol, Andy 87-8, 233
Warner Mountains 1004
Warren 290
Wasatch Mountains 874-6
Washington 1014-45, 1016-17
Washington, DC 11, 31, 315-38, 318-19, 322-3, 111
  accommodations 331-2
  attractions 321-31
  bookstores 320
  Capitol Hill 326-7, 332-3, 335
  drinking 335-7
  Dupont Circle 329, 334, 336
  entertainment 335-7
  food 332-5
  Georgetown 329, 334, 336
  internet access 320
  itineraries 321
  medical services 320
  National Mall 321-6, 331
  tourist information 321
  travel to/from 337-8
  travel within 338
Washington, George 56, 343, 360
Washington's Headquarters State Historic Site 196

Washington Island 635
Washita Battlefield National Historic Site 703
Wasilla 1100
water 130
water sports 109, 512, 575
WaterFire 276
Watergate 328-9
Waterloo 672-3
Waterpocket Fold 881
Waterville Valley 297
Watts Towers 921
weather 25, 1138
Weaverville 1002
Weeki Wachee Springs 540 weights 1132, see also inside front cover
Weirs Beach 296
Wellfleet 264
Weslaco 734
West Nile virus 1170
West Palm Beach 519
West Point 196
West Virginia 315-17, 380-4, 318-19
Wetherill Mesa 789 whale-watching 124, 141
  Californa 957, 963, 995
  Hawaii 1125
  Maine 308, 311,
  Massachusetts 247, 266
  Oregon 1082
Wharton, Edith 273
Wharton State Forest 210
Whidbey Island 1037-8
Whiskeytown National Recreation Area 1002
White House 328
White Mountain National Forest 299, 313
White Mountains 297-301
White River State Park 592
White Sands National Monument 905-6
Whitefish 806, 808
Whitefish Dunes State Park 634 white-water rafting, see rafting
Whitman, Walt 80
Whitman Mission 1045
Whittier 1095-6
Wichita 690-1

000 Map pages
000 Photograph pages

Wichita Mountains 700
Wild Horse Island 806
Wild Rogue Wilderness 1065-6
Wilder, Laura Ingalls 677 wildflowers 719 wildlife 122-5, 140, see also birds & birdwatching, individual animals wildlife refuges
  Alabama 463
  Alaska 1080, 1084, 1085, 1094
  California 966, 1003, 1004
  Connecticut 284
  Florida 527, 533, 545
  Georgia 458, 459
  Hawaii 1128
  Illinois 590
  Louisiana 487, 491
  Massachusetts 264, 266, 270, 271
  Nebraska 689
  New Jersey 210
  New Mexico 903
  North Carolina 392
  Oklahoma 700
  Texas 733
  Vermont 289
  Virginia 372, 373
  West Virginia 397
  Wyoming 799
Wildrose Peak 955
Wildwoods, the 211-12
Willamette Valley 1058-60
Williams 849
Williamsburg 367-9
Williamstown 274
Willis Tower 566-7
Wilmington (DE) 395-6
Wilmington (NC) 357
Wilmington (VT) 287
Wind Cave National Park 685
wind energy 130, 260
windjammers 310
Windley Key Fossil Reef State Geologic Site 525
Window Rock 857
windsurfing 136, 1117, 1124, 1136
Wine Country 991-5
wineries 97
  Arkansas 497
  California 958, 959, 991-5
  Connecticut 284
  Georgia 452
  Illinois 590
  internet resources 97
  Louisiana 486
  Massachsuetts 270
  Michigan 621
  New Mexico 907
  New York State 195, 199
  Ohio 603
  Oregon 1058
  Pennsylvania 227, 230
  Texas 718
  Virginia 368, 375
  Washington 1033, 1044, 1045
Winfrey, Oprah 572, 585
Winnemucca 837
Winona 646
Winslow 859
Winter Park 777
Winterthur 227, 357
Winthrop 1042
Wisconsin 555-9, 626-36, 556-7
witch trials 259
Wolfeboro 296-7
wolves 124, 648, 797
Women's Rights National Historical Park 199
women travelers 1151
Woods Hole 262
Woodstock (NY) 197
Woodstock (VT) 289-90
Worcester 272
work 1151
World Heritage Sites 127
Wounded Knee 53, 677, 679-80
Wrangell 1079-80
Wrangell-St Elias National Park 1097
Wright, Frank Lloyd 92
  Arizona 842
  Illinois 569, 574, 587
  New Hampshire 296
  New York 170, 205
  Ohio 602
  Oklahoma 702
  Pennsylvania 236
  Wisconsin 628, 632, 633
Wright, Richard 82, 469
Wright brothers 392, 606
Wrigley Field 73, 569, 585
WWI 60
WWII 60, 61, 326, 379, 478
Wyoming 754-60, 790-800, 756-7

Y
Yachats 1069-70
Yakima 1044
Yale University 281

Yankton 684
Ybor City 539-41
Ybor City Museum State Park 540
Yellow Springs 606
Yellowstone National Park 793-8, 795, 108
yoga 575
Yorktown 369-70
Yosemite National Park 1006-10, 1007, 106
Yountville 992

Z

Zilker Park 712
Zion National Park 884-5, 120
zip lining 298, 874, 1078, 1082 zoos
  Alaska 1090
  California 923, 943, 948, 950,
  Florida 513
  Georgia 447
  Illinois 569
  Louisiana 479
  Pennsylvania 221
  Maryland 344
  Michigan 614
  Minnesota 640
  Missouri 660
  Oregon 1052
  Tennessee 420
  Texas 734
  Washington, DC 331
Zuni Pueblo 892
zydeco music 492s

GreenDex

It seems like almost everyone is going 'green' in the USA these days. But how can you really know which businesses are ecofriendly and which are simply jumping on the bandwagon?

The following sights and attractions, activities, tour operators, outdoor outfitters, nonprofit and educational organizations, festivals, restaurants, coffeehouses, shops, accommodations, transportation methods and more have been handpicked by our authors because they are in harmony with sustainable-tourism goals. Some of those picked are involved in environmental conservation and cleanup. Others may be locally owned and operated, helping to preserve regional identity, arts and culture, especially that of Native Americans (including Alaskans and Hawaiians).

We want to keep developing our sustainable-tourism content. If you think we've omitted somewhere that should be listed here, or if you disagree with our choices, email us at talk2us@lonelyplanet.com.au and set us straight for next time. For more information about sustainable tourism and Lonely Planet, see lonelyplanet.com/about/responsible-travel.

ALASKA

accommodations
  Good River B&B 1084
  Pike's Waterfront Lodge 1102
  Qupqugiaq Inn 1090
attractions
  Alaska Discovery/Mt Sobek 1083
  Anadyr Adventures 1096
  Glacier Bay Sea Kayaks 1084
  Orcas Unlimited 1098
  Spirit Walker Expeditions 1084
  St Elias Alpine Guides 1098
  Tongass Kayak Adventures 1080
food & drink
  229 Parks 1100
  Bear Tooth Grill 1091
  Fresh Sourdough Express 1095
  Salmon Express 1091
  Snow City Café 1091 organizations
  Alaska Wilderness Recreation and Tourism Association 1076

CALIFORNIA

accommodations
  Adobe on Green B&B 965
  Asilomar Conference Grounds 963
  Big Sur Lodge 961
  Brewery Gulch Inn 996
  Cedar House Sport Hotel 1005
  Deetjen's Big Sur Inn 961
  El Capitan Canyon 957
  Glen Oaks Motel 961
  HI Hostel Obispo 959
  HI Marin Headlands Hostel 988
  HI Pigeon Point Lighthouse Hostel 966
  HI Point Montara Lighthouse Hostel 966
  Hotel Durant 990
  Jughandle Creek Farm 996
  Mar Vista Cottages 996
  Orchard Garden Hotel 981
  Red Victorian 982
  Tamarack Lodge & Resort 1013
  Yosemite Bug 1009
attractions
  Ancient Bristlecone Pine Forest 1012
  Anderson Valley Brewing Company 994
  Aquarium of the Pacific 928
  Armstrong Redwoods State Reserve 993
  Bartholomew Park Winery 993
  California Academy of Sciences 977
  Crissy Field 976
  Gundlach-Bundschu 993
  Indian Canyons 949
  Jack London Historic State Park 993
  Kaz Winery 993
  Living Desert Zoo & Gardens 950
  Monterey Bay Aquarium 962
  Porter Creek Vineyards 994
  Sundance Kabuki Cinema 986
  Sustainable Vine 958
  Tahquitz Canyon 950
  Will Geer Theatricum Botanicum 935
entertainment
  Shotgun Players 990
food & drink
  Ad Hoc 992
  Axe 933
  Aziza 984
  Boonville General Store 994
  Cactusberry 951
  Cafe Çest Si Bon 955
  Cafe la Haye 993
  Cheebo 932
  Cheeky's 951
  Chez Panisse 990
  Fig 933
  Fish & Farm 982
  French Laundry 992
  Frog's Leap 991
  Greens 983
  Hog Island Oyster Company 983
  Jardinière 982
  Linkery 947
  Magnolia Brewpub 984
  Mijita 983
  Mission Beach Café 983
  Montrio Bistro 964
  Moody's 1005
  Mountain Room 1009
  Namu 984
  Native Food 951
  Occidental farmers market 994
  Passionfish 964
  Real Food Daily 933
  Tataki 984

Ubuntu 992
Warming Hut 976
Wild Plum Cafe & Bakery 964
shopping
Angel View 951
Renga Arts 994
transportation
BART 987
Green Cab 988
MUNI 988
Sequoia Shuttle 1012
Simply Hybrid 1164
SunLine 951

FLORIDA
accommodations
Everglades International Hostel & Tours 522
attractions
Ah-Tah-Thi-Ki Museum 523
Babcock Wilderness Adventure 544
Big Cypress National Preserve 523
Canaveral National Seashore 533
Crane Point Museums & Nature Center 526
De Leon Springs State Recreation Area 550
Edward Ball Wakulla Springs State Park 552
Ernest Coe Visitor Center 521
Everglades International Hostel & Tours 522
Florida Keys Eco-Discovery Center 528
JN 'Ding' Darling National Wildlife Refuge 545
Lovers Key State Recreation Area 544
Marathon Kayak 526
Merritt Island National Wildlife Refuge 533
Mission San Luis 551
Mote Aquarium 543
National Key Deer Refuge 527
Pelican Island 533
Shark Valley Visitor Center 521

GREAT LAKES
accommodations
Arbor House 631
Earth Rider Hotel 633
Hotel Felix 579
Inn Serendipity 632
Pinehurst Inn 636
attractions
North House Folk School 648
entertainment
Butterfly Social Club 583
Sugar Maple 630
food & drink
Angry Trout Cafe 648
Big Water Cafe 636
Cafe Soleil & L'Etoile 631
Chicago's Downtown Farmstand 581
City Provisions 581
Clandestino 581
Dane County Farmers Market 630
Fromagination 631
Green City Market 581
Learn Great Foods 588, 621
Lula Cafe 582
Pure Detroit 617
Red Stag Supper Club 641
Slims 609
Village Bakery & Cafe 605
Winds Cafe 606
Zingerman's Delicatessen 618
Zingerman's Roadhouse 618

GREAT PLAINS
accommodations
Q Hotel 667
attractions
South Dakota Cultural Heritage Center 678
food & drink
Corn Exchange 682
Eden Alley 667
Farmers Market 691
Indigo Bridge 688
Local Burger 692
Magnolia 688

HAWAII
accommodations
Aaah, the Views B&B 1120
Hotel Renew 1114
Ka'awa Loa Plantation 1119
Mauna Lani Bay Hotel 1120
Tea House 1126
attractions
Pacific Whale Foundation 1125
Waikiki Aquarium 1111
food & drink
Alan Wong's 1115
I'O 1124
Ka'uiki 1126
Merriman's 1120
Nanea 1128
Postcards Café 1128
Town 1115
shopping
Mana Hawai'i 1116
Native Books/Nā Mea Hawai'i 1110
transportation
Bio-Beetle 1123
Speedi Shuttle 1123

NEW ENGLAND
accommodations
Race Point Lighthouse 266
attractions
Abbe Museum 311
Canterbury Shaker Village 297
Dolphin Fleet Whale Watch 266
ECHO Lake Aquarium & Science Center 292
Marsh-Billings-Rockefeller National Historical Park 289
Shelburne Farms 293
Sugarbush Farm 289
Trash Museum 284
VINS Nature Center 289
Wellfleet Bay Wildlife Sanctuary 264
food & drink
Bandaloop 305
Claire's Corner Copia 281
Farmers Diner 289
Flatbread Company 298
Flour Bakery & Cafe 256
Magnolia Bistro 294
McKays 312
Paul & Elizabeth's 272
Simon Pearce 290
Stone Soup 293

NEW YORK, NEW JERSEY & PENNSYLVANIA
accommodations
Adirondack Loj 201
attractions
New York City Audubon 176
Venture Outdoors 232
food & drink
Elmwood-Bidwell Farmers Market 205
Greenmarket Farmers Market 160
Trenton Farmers Market 208

PACIFIC NORTHWEST

accommodations
  Ace Hotel 1053
  Crater Lake Lodge 1064
  Eco Park Resort 1044
  Guesthouse Ellensburg 1045
  Lake Crescent Lodge 1035
  Lake Quinault Lodge 1036
  National Park Inn 1043
  Paradise Inn 1043
  Wayfarer's Rest 1039
attractions
  American Alpine Institute 1043
  Bainbridge Island Winery 1033
  Crater Lake National Park 1064
  Ebey's Landing National Historical Reserve 1037
  Ecotours of Oregon 1052
  Forest Park 1051
  Heceta Head Lighthouse 1069
  Hoyt Arboretum 1051
  John Day Fossil Beds National Monument 1066
  Moran State Park 1039
  Mt Rainier National Park 1043-4
  Northwest Museum of Arts & Culture 1042
  Olympic National Park 1034
  Sierra Club 1027
  Sol Duc Hot Springs Resort 1035
  Thomas Condon Paleontology Center 1066
  Timberline Lodge 1061
  Yaquina Head Oustanding Area 1069
food & drink
  5th St Public Market 1059
  Bagelry 1038
  Budd Bay Café 1034
  Caffé Vita 1030
  Fremont Sunday Market 1026
  Hopworks Urban Brewery 1056
  Morning Glory Café 1060
  Olympia Farmers Market 1034
  Pike Place Market 1024
  Portland Saturday Market 1051
  Queen City Grill 1030
  Roots Organic Brewing 1056
  Saffron Mediterranean Kitchen 1045
  Swan Cafe 1038
  Wild Rose Bistro 1070
transportation
  Seattle monorail 1026
  Transportation Bicycle & Pedestrian Program 1027

ROCKY MOUNTAINS

accommodations
  Boulder Outlook Hotel & Suites 771
  Grand Teton Lodge Company 798
  HI Shadowcliff Lodge 776
  Queen Anne Bed & Breakfast Inn 764
food & drink
  Bittercreek Ale House & Red Feather Lounge 811
  Chapter One Bookstore 813
  Coal Creek Coffee Co 793
  Kitchen 772
  New Belgium Brewing Co 774
  Trinity Brewing Co 768
shopping
  REI 1134

SOUTH, THE

accommodations
  21c 437
  Cedar House Inn and Yurts 452
  Forest Hostel 458
  Hiker Hostel 452
  Hutton Hotel 429
  Inn at Celebrity Dairy 398
  LeConte Lodge 434
  Shack Up Inn 467
  Stonehurst Place 449
  Treehouse Cottages 498
attractions
  Acadian Cultural Center 490
  Attic Gallery 468
  Audubon Zoological Gardens 479
  Backstreet Cultural Museum 477
  Barataria Preserve NPS visitors center 487
  Beidler Forest 415
  Dauphin Island Bird Sanctuary 463
  Foxfire Museum 451
  Georgia Sea Turtle Center 458
  KK Projects 478
  McIlhenny wildlife sanctuary 491
  Musicians' Village 478
  Nomad Supply 460
  Ogden Museum of Southern Art 478
  Outdoor Chattanooga 432
  Ozark Folk Center State Park 497
  Poverty Point State Historic Site 493
  Prairie Acadian Cultural Center 492
  River and Earth Adventures 400
  River Road African American Museum 487
  State Botanical Garden of Georgia 452 Wetlands Acadian Cultural Center 491
food & drink
  Cha Bella 456
  Early Girl Eatery 402
  ENO 449
  Farm 255 453
  Farmers Market 429
  FIG 410
  Five & Ten 453
  High Noon Cafe 469
  Hominy Grill 409
  Local 11 ten 457
  Ravine 465
  Rosetta's Kitchen 402
  Sentient Bean 457
  Watts Grocery 397
transportation
  Savannah Pedicab 457

SOUTHWEST

accommodations
  Arcosanti 845
  Earthship Rentals 900
  El Rey Inn 896
  Sheraton Phoenix Downtown 844
  Sheraton Wild Horse Pass Resort & Spa 844
  Silver River Adobe Inn B&B 902 Treasure Mountain Inn 875
attractions
  Earthships 900
  Escalante Canyon Outfitters 882
  Indian Pueblo Cultural Center 887
  Taliesin West 842
food & drink
  Brix Restaurant & Wine Bar 848
  D'lish Very Vegetarian 850
  Hell's Backbone Grill 882

MAP LEGEND ROUTES Tollway
Freeway Primary Secondary Tertiary Lane
Under Construction
Unsealed Road
One-Way Street
Mall/Steps Tunnel
Pedestrian Overpass
Walking Tour
Walking Tour Detour
Walking Trail
Walking Path Track
TRANSPORT Ferry
Metro
Monorail
Bus Route
CTA Station
MBTA Subway Stop Rail
Rail (Underground)
Tram
Cable Car, Funicular
HYDROGRAPHY
River, Creek
Intermittent River
Swamp
Mangrove Reef Glacier Canal Water
Lake (Dry)
Lake (Salt)
Mudflats BOUNDARIES International State, Provincial Marine Park
Regional, Suburb Ancient Wall
Cliff AREA FEATURES Airport
Area of Interest Beach, Desert Building Campus
Cemetery, Christian Forest Land Mall Market
Park Reservation
Sports
Urban POPULATION CAPITAL (NATIONAL) Large City
Small City CAPITAL (STATE)
Medium City Town, Village SYMBOLS
Sights/Activities
Beach
Castle, Fortress Christian Jewish Monument Museum, Gallery
Point of Interest Pool Ruin
Skiing
Surfing, Surf Beach
Trail Head
Winery, Vineyard
Zoo, Bird Sanctuary
Eating
Eating
Drinking
Drinking
Café
Entertainment
Entertainment
Shopping
Shopping
Sleeping
Sleeping
Camping
Transport Airport, Airfield
Border Crossing
Bus Station
Cycling, Bicycle Path
General Transport
Parking Area Petrol Station
Taxi Rank
Information
Bank, ATM
Embassy/Consulate Hospital, Medical Information
Internet Facilities
Police Station
Post Office, GPO Toilets
Wheelchair Access Geographic Lighthouse Lookout Mountain, Volcano National Park
Pass, Canyon Picnic Area River Flow
Shelter, Hut
Waterfall

MIX
Paper from responsible sources
FSC™ C021741
FSC
www.fsc.org

LONELY PLANET OFFICES

Australia (Head Office)
Locked Bag 1, Footscray, Victoria 3011
☎ 03 8379 8000, fax 03 8379 8111
talk2us@lonelyplanet.com.au

USA
150 Linden St, Oakland, CA 94607
☎ 510 250 6400, toll free 800 275 8555
fax 510 893 8572
info@lonelyplanet.com

UK
2nd fl, 186 City Rd,
London EC1V 2NT
☎ 020 7106 2100, fax 020 7106 2101
go@lonelyplanet.co.uk

Published by Lonely Planet Publications Pty Ltd
ABN 36 005 607 983

© Lonely Planet 2010

© photographers as indicated 2010

Cover photograph: Mt Rushmore with full moon, Randy Wells/Getty. Many of the images in this guide are available for licensing from Lonely Planet Images: lonelyplanetimages.com.

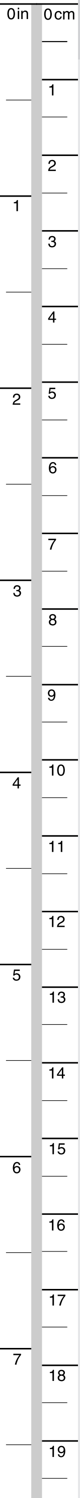
All rights reserved. No part of this publication may be copied, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted in any form by any means, electronic, mechanical, recording or otherwise, except brief extracts for the purpose of review, and no part of this publication may be sold or hired, without the written permission of the publisher.

Printed by Toppan Security Printing Pte Ltd
Printed in Singapore

Lonely Planet and the Lonely Planet logo are trademarks of Lonely Planet and are registered in the US Patent and Trademark Office and in other countries.

Lonely Planet does not allow its name or logo to be appropriated by commercial establishments, such as retailers, restaurants or hotels. Please let us know of any misuses: lonelyplanet.com/ip.

Although the authors and Lonely Planet have taken all reasonable care in preparing this book, we make no warranty about the accuracy or completeness of its content and, to the maximum extent permitted, disclaim all liability arising from its use.



QUICK REFERENCE

SEE DIRECTORY CHAPTER FOR MORE PRACTICAL INFORMATION

HOW TO USE THIS BOOK

Sleeping and Eating reviews are listed in budget order. For details of map symbols, see the Map Legend on the last page of this book.

☎	telephone
🕐	opening hours
P	free parking available
🚭	nonsmoking rooms/ areas available
❄	air-con available
💻	internet available
📶	wi-fi available
🏊	swimming pool
V	vegetarian-only menu
👶	child-friendly
1br	one-bedroom units
2br	two-bedroom units
apt	apartments
d	double rooms
dm	dorm beds
q	quad rooms
r	rooms
s	single rooms
ste	suites
tw	twin rooms

EXCHANGE RATES

Prices in this book are quoted in US dollars ($).
$1 = 100 cents
For current exchange rates see www.xe.com.

Australia	A$1	$0.87
Canada	C$1	$0.94
Euro zone	€1	$1.47
Hong Kong	HK$1	$0.13
Japan	¥100	$1.09
Mexico	10p	$0.75
New Zealand	NZ$1	$0.71
Singapore	S$1	$0.71
UK	UK£1	$1.63

PRICE RANGES

	Sleeping	Eating
Budget	<$80	<$12
Midrange	$80-200	$12-25
Top end	>$200	>$25

Sleeping prices in this book are full price in high season and include bathroom. Exceptions are noted in specific listings.

LONELY PLANET INDEX

Gallon of gas	$2.60
1L bottled water	$1.50
Pint of microbrew beer	$3-5
NYC hot dog	$2
Souvenir T-shirt	$10

For additional price information see Getting Started.

BUSINESS HOURS

Banks	8:30am-4:30pm Mon-Thu, to 5:30pm Fri, some open 9am-noon or 1pm Sat
Businesses	9am-5pm Mon-Fri
Bars	5pm-midnight Sun-Thu, to 2am Fri & Sat
Nightclubs	9pm-2am Wed-Sat
Post offices	9am-5pm Mon-Fri, some open 9am-noon or 1pm Sat
Restaurants	breakfast 7am-10:30am Mon-Fri, brunch 9am-2pm Sat & Sun, lunch 11:30am-2:30pm Mon-Fri, dinner 5-9:30pm Sun-Thu, 5-10:30pm Fri & Sat
Shops	10am-6pm Mon-Sat, noon-5pm Sun

Exceptions are noted in specific listings.

TELEPHONE

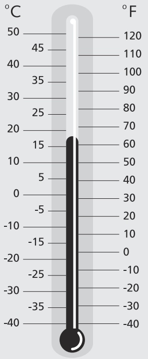
USA country code	☎ 1
Emergency	☎ 911
International access code from the USA	☎ 011
International directory assistance	☎ 00
Directory assistance – local numbers	☎ 411
Directory assistance – long-distance numbers	☎ 1-(area code)-555-1212

CONVERSIONS

1in = 2.54cm
1cm = 0.39in
1m = 3.3ft = 1.1yd
1ft = 0.3m
1km = 0.62 miles
1 mile = 1.6km

1kg = 2.2lb
1lb = 0.45kg
1g = 0.04oz
1oz = 28g

1 imperial gallon = 4.55L
1L = 0.26 US gallons
1 US gallon = 3.8L
1L = 0.22 imperial gallons



ISBN 978-1-74179-235-5
52999
9 781741 792355
6TH EDITION
Published Mar 2010
First Published Mar 1999
USA $29.99
UK £17.99

© Lonely Planet. To make it easier for you to use, access to this chapter is not digitally restricted. In return, we think it's fair to ask you to use it for personal, non-commercial purposes only. In other words, please don't upload this chapter to a peer-to-peer site, mass email it to everyone you know, or resell it. See the terms and conditions on our site for a longer way of saying the above - 'Do the right thing with our content.'

Guidebook Update: USA 6

Traveller Submitted Updates (Unverified) 3-Dec-2010

USA 6 / March 2010 / ISBN: 9781741792355

Send your corrections and updates here:
www.lonelyplanet.com/contact/general-feedback.cfm

Page	Traveller Corrections and Updates
187	Jul 10, Aaron Heflich Shapiro, "Off Broadway" actually refers to shows performed in theaters of fewer than 500 seats, not 200 seats as referenced in the book. (I have experience in this matter as I work in the theatre).
834	Dec 09, LIN CHEN, Laughlin Nevada: Flamingo was mentioned as one of the Casinos in Laughlin. It actually has changed owners and has been the Aquarius Casino Resort for the past 3 years.
1021	Dec 09, LIN CHEN, Sadly, Elliot Bay Books is planning to move its historic store to Capitol Hill in Spring 2010 - http://elliottbaybook.com/new-chapter

Please note: Updates are unverified by Lonely Planet. For full listing of PDFs: www.lonelyplanet.com/thorntree/thread.jspa?threadID=1621253